CITY TO GET $64,000 NEW REVENUE, ESTIMATE

Council Discusses Change in Parking Ordinance

LARGER ZONE AND LONGER TIME FOR MACHINES

Officials May Decide to Confer With Merchants On Automobile Law

REVISION of the parking ordinance was discussed last night by the City Council. The subject was brought up by Norton P. Buck of 100 West Broadway, proprietor of The Stocking Box. He called attention to the danger of accidents to motorists backing out from the curb on Broadway, especially between Brand boulevard and Central avenue, while fire apparatus is passing. As a safety measure, he suggested that no parking should be permitted on the north side of Broadway between Fire Station No. 1 and Central avenue and that parking on the south side of the street should be limited to an hour.

A meeting of merchants on Broadway to discuss the subject was suggested by Councilman C. E. Kimlin. Mayor Spencer Robinson added that they would probably do more business if customers could get near their stores to park long enough to do their shopping. Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of police, admitted that the three-hour parking ordinance provides an interval, at present, which is very hard to check up on.

One Killed, One Hurt, As Truck Leaps Cliff

EUREKA, Calif., July 20.—Harry J. Lynch of Westport was killed and Fred Haas of Needle Rock was probably fatally injured when a motor truck in which they were transporting lambs went over the bluff at Union Landing turn, dropping from 125 to 150 feet. The lambs were killed and Haas was found in a heap of the dead animals, his broken ribs protruding through his flesh. He has been unable to talk but it is believed Lynch, who was driving, went to sleep. Both men had been working overtime and had complained of being worn out. Lynch's watch stopped at 10:15 which is believed to have been the time the accident took place last night.

Former Ruler of Northern Mexico Is Shot to Death

EL PASO, Tex., July 20.—Francisco Villa, one time ruler of all northern Mexico as head of a bandit army, was shot to death today by his secretary, Miguel Trillo, in the Mexican mining town of Parral. Confirmation of the assassination was received by Mexican officials in Juarez, across the border, from many sources this afternoon, then announced. What caused Trillo to turn on his chief is not known. No more had the secretary fired than he, in turn, was shot by others of the Villa following. That was the signal for a general fight among those who were accompanying the former bandit on his visit to Parral. In the affray several were shot. What Villa's errand was in Parral, which is in the state of Chihuahua, could not be ascertained, although he was known to have gone there frequently from his ranch at Canutillo, in the neighboring state of Durango. Mexican officials in Juarez were of the opinion that the Council Plans To Spend $500 On Decorations

GLENDALE is to be all lighted up before August 3, in anticipation of the pilgrimage through the city of President Warren G. Harding. The City Council last night endorsed a motion by Councilman Sam Davis that $500 should be appropriated from the city treasury for decorative purposes—provided the Chamber of Commerce and the Credit Association agree to spend $250 apiece without individual solicitation. As a means of assisting motorists to keep out of police court, Mr. Davis later made a motion instructing Assistant Street Superintendent Leonard deWaard to paint all fire hydrants and the curb boundaries of the parking zones on either side of them a brilliant and fiery red. Remarks about painting the town red were strangled.

E. C. PENDROY BACK FROM MIDWEST

Prominent Business Man Tells About Conditions; California Lures

Earle C. Pendroy, of the Pendroy Dry Goods company, 158 South Brand boulevard, who returned Wednesday, July 18, from a week's trip through the middle-west, reports that conditions are not at all good in the farming districts, though the cities seem prosperous. Mr. and Mrs. Pendroy left Glendale Wednesday, July 11, by rail, stopping at Kansas City, Hutchinson, Wichita and other points in Kansas.

"The early prospects of bumper wheat crops have been blighted by the heavy June rains," Mr. Pendroy states. "The grain is not only small in yield but poor in quality, which will probably serve to drop the already low prices to new depths. Look to California. Everywhere you go, people look eagerly toward California and are hoping for the day when their affairs will be in such shape that they can come. "Kansas, moreover, was insufferably hot, with that humid, oppressive heat we never experience out here. Mrs. Pendroy and I were indeed glad to be back in Glendale. When asked what motive, in his opinion, chiefly actuated most easterners and middle-westerners in the desire to come to California, Mr. Pendroy replied that he believed it was the activity they knew existed out here. The climate, the mountains, the (Continued on page 6)

BRITISH NOTE READY FOR FRANCE TO CONSIDER

Some Indication There Will Be Sincere Effort to Make Concessions

LONDON, July 20.—It was understood in semi-official quarters that the British reparations note was dispatched this afternoon. According to word from Paris, it will be considered by the French cabinet tomorrow. The government has observed great secrecy regarding both the contents of the note and its delivery. It is known, however, that it requests an international conference to consider the reparations and Ruhr questions.

By DAVID M. CHURCH For International News Service LONDON, July 20.—The German embassy was instructed today to inform the British that the Berlin government cannot order cessation of passive resistance in the Ruhr unless French evacuation is guaranteed by the allies. Germany suggested that, if the June reparations offer of the Berlin government was accepted, "mortgages" guaranteeing indemnity payments would be delivered within six weeks. However, Berlin would expect evacuation by French and Belgian troops to commence as soon as the mortgages were delivered.

Cabinet Meeting There was another meeting of the cabinet at noon, when the reparations note again was considered. The cabinet was in session an hour and a half. There was no formal statement after adjournment. Premier Stanley Baldwin was hopeful that the draft of the British note could be finished up today. There has been continuous exchange of views between the British foreign office and Comte St. Aulaire, the French ambassador, in the past few days. The French are showing more willingness for concessions than at any time since the Ruhr was occupied last January.

Explains Delay Up to the present, however, the French concessions have not met the demands made by Germany as conditions for cessation of passive resistance. The Germans want restoration of civil authority in the Ruhr, but the French insist upon remaining in the form of "invisible occupation" until the reparations payments are started. The continued delay in the sending of the British note is due to a desire to couch it in such terms as will induce France to enter into a united reply to Germany's reparations offer of last June. Comte St. Aulaire, the French ambassador will go to Paris soon to confer with Premier Poincare on the reparations problem.

Sheriff's Slayer Will Be Hanged Aug. 31

SALEM, Ore., July 20.—George Parker convicted slayer of W. J. Dunlop, former sheriff at Albany, Ore., is in the state penitentiary here today awaiting the fatal hour of his execution. The sentence of the court yesterday, following a jury verdict of guilty in the first degree, was that he be hanged August 31. Sentence was immediately passed by Judge Percy Kelly after Parker waived his right to delay until Monday to receive sentence.

Panic Reigns as Bus And Street Car Crash

NEW YORK, July 20.—Eighteen persons, mostly women, were injured, seven seriously, today in a collision between a trolley car and a loaded municipal bus on the lower east side. The bus was hurled thirty feet by the collision and overturned, pinning passengers underneath. Panic reigned but passersby and police reserves extricated the victims.

Reserve Places At Banquet to C. of C. Members

RESERVATIONS that have been received indicate that the complimentary dinner that is to be given tonight to the new members of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce will bring together practically all of those who joined during the recent expansion campaign, in the auditorium of the Citizens' building. The new members will be welcomed by H. E. Hewitt, vice president, and the response will be made by Councilman W. A. Horn. D. H. Smith, vice president of the Pacific Southwest Trust & Savings Bank, will act as master of ceremonies at the open forum meeting at which the members will discuss the problems that confront the Chamber of Commerce, and every effort will be made to show the new boosters the manner in which the business of the organization is conducted.

ANTI-SALOON LEADER IS INDICTED

Superintendent of League Is Accused of Forgery and Grand Larceny

NEW YORK, July 20.—William H. Anderson, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, was indicted by the grand jury here today on charges of grand larceny and forgery. The indictments were filed with Judge John F. McIntyre of general sessions. The charge grew out of the alleged misuse of $24,700 of the Anti-Saloon League's funds. O. B. Phillips, a former collector for the Anti-Saloon League, was the principal complaining witness before the jury. Phillips told how he solicited funds, under Anderson's direction, being paid a commission on all money he secured toward the support of the league. Anderson, he charged forced him to "split" these commissions.

Extreme Bitterness The forgery charges grew out of the state's allegation, as presented by District Attorney Banton, that Anderson ordered the books of the Anti-Saloon League altered to cover up this "splitting" of commissions. The case, from the outset, has been marked by extreme bitterness between the dry leader and the district attorney. Charges and counter-charges were hurled back and forth in signed statements issued from both Anderson's and Banton's offices. The dry leader charged the district attorney was making political capital of the matter, and was seeking to build a platform upon which he could run for the governorship.

Churchmen Aid Sheriff's Slayer Will

Banton countered by inviting Anderson to waive immunity and appear before the grand jury in his own behalf. This the dry chief refused to do. Churchmen, identified with the league, appeared in his behalf, however, and charged that Phillips, in his testimony, was prompted by a spirit of "revenge" rather than justice. The indictment charges that Anderson misused the money he claimed was being spent for "publicity purposes." The larceny charge, as returned by the jury, is in the first degree, while the forgery is charged as "third degree."

ROME, July 20.—Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, today issued a public letter in the name of Pope Pius XI severely criticizing recent outrages that were perpetrated under the cloak of Catholicism in the Catholic communities of Pisa, Florence and other cities.

FLYER WILL AGAIN TRY TO CROSS COUNTRY

Aviator Plans to Hop Off As Soon as Officials Give Permission

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan will NOT be permitted to make another attempt at a dawn-to-dusk flight across the continent until next summer, it was announced officially at the war department this afternoon.

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo., July 20.—Despite the fact that he has twice failed to span the North American continent in a single day with his high speed army airplane, Lieutenant Russell Maughan today declared he is convinced he can succeed and will start the trip again just as soon as possible if officials at Washington will permit. He made this statement here today as he prepared to return east. The daring flyer was forced down here late yesterday almost within reach of his goal—the flying field at San Francisco, when a leaking oil line endangered his motor. A hurried examination by experts at the local flying field made it certain the trip could not be continued.

Rumors of Sabotage There were rumors of sabotage to the plane used by Lieutenant Maughan, but these were not generally credited, although it was known a code telegram of warning had been dispatched to all landing fields on Maughan's route. When asked whether he thought his plane had been tampered with somewhere along the route, Lieutenant Maughan replied: "That is absurd. The leak occurred at a place where it would have been necessary to remove part of the engine in order to get at it. "It was merely a case of the (Continued on page 6)

Aged Man Held After Girl Spurns Embrace

CHICAGO, July 20.—Sadly musing over the collapse of his plans to show pretty Jewel Smith, 17-year-old Terre Haute, Ind., girl, the sights in Chicago, an aged man who said he was Louis C. Yergin of Oakland, Ill., today occupied a cell here. He was placed there when Jewel fled down the fire escape of a prominent hotel and screamed for help after she said she had attempted to kiss her. The girl said she met Yergin on a train en route from Terre Haute to Peoria, where, she said, she had relatives.

W. B. Kirk Writes Of Life Aboard Ship on Atlantic

A LETTER written three miles out on the Atlantic from Copenhagen, was received today at The Glendale Evening News office from W. B. Kirk, "The Glendale Traveler," who, with his wife and daughter, are on tour of foreign parts. The last letter from Mr. Kirk was written upon sailing, and mailed at Boston. The letter today arrived, bearing Norwegian stamps and postmark. It was mailed at Christiansand, Norway. Mr. Kirk writes: "June 25, at sea: Our stop at Boston gave us a chance to see a little of 'Beantown,' for we were there about three hours. The family and I went up town and were able to do a little shopping in the way of replenishing the wearing apparel which was in the lost suitcase. "I haven't been able to learn whether the latter has been recovered or not. Unless it were stolen, it would seem that it couldn't fail to get back to Glendale because it had our name and address stamped on it in gold letters. "The Hellig Olav docked at the 'Commonwealth' pier, which, by the way, seems to be a very popular word in Boston. wealthy pier, which, by the way, seems to be a very popular word in Boston. We were able to get a little idea of the cow-path streets, and the splendid business blocks and union

"Our get-away brought a duplication of the parting scenes witnessed in New York, because we took on another lot of passengers and now have a full cargo of passengers and freight. "They Stop Eating "Saturday, the following morning found us with a rather heavy sea and a cold wind, and we began to realize for certain, that we were crossing the Atlantic. A few of the passengers began to be sick, and toward the afternoon the daughter and Yours Truly began to feel more or less uncomfortable. Through our porthole at night, however, came the most delightful breezes and we slept like logs. "Sunday brought a lowering sky and a pitching ship, not very bad, but sufficient to put a good many of us out of the eating business. Breakfast was all right for me, but at lunch, while I was brave enough to go to my seat at table, I wanted nothing but some sliced tomatoes and radishes, which, of course, proved to be the wrong thing. I discovered that my berth was a good place to be in, so I spent most of the afternoon in it, where I slept and had no further trouble. "During all this time the wife took it easy, lying down in her berth and in 'The Blue Room' a good deal, and to date she hasn't had a bit of trouble. "Misses Best Meal "I decided to omit the dinner last night and, of course, missed the best meal of the trip, as reported by the wife and daughter. They were good enough, however, to bring me a good big lunch of ice cream and some wafers, which I enjoyed to the utmost. "I attended the church service (Continued on page 6)

SURPLUS TO RESULT ON TOTALS IN BUDGET

Additional Moneys Will Be Received During Year Of 1923-1924

THE surplus between estimated revenue and the municipal budget for the fiscal year, which commenced July 1, will be approximately $64,568.16. City Controller H. C. Saulsbury is authority for the estimate which is contained in his report to City Manager W. H. Reeves and submitted last night to the City Council. Current taxes, it was estimated in the budget, would bring in a revenue of $190,000. It is now believed that the income from this source will be $214,978.33—a difference of $24,987.33.

Miscellaneous revenue, according to the budget, was expected to amount to $96,241.90. It is anticipated at the present time that this will amount to $139,402.11—a difference of $32,060.21. The total revenue was estimated in the budget at $286,341.90. It now seems likely to amount to $354,380.44—a difference of $68,038.54. From this must be deducted $4,598.27, which is the difference between the budget of $289,812.28, which it will probably cost to operate the city and the sum of $285,214.01, which was estimated in the budget as the expense of operating the city. To the result must be added $1,127.89, unappropriated out of the revenue from the last fiscal year. The result is $65,568.16.

Make Comparison A comparison of the cost of operating municipal departments, as calculated in the budget and estimated in actual operation, is as follows: Capital outlays: General Govt. $ 7,106.50 $ 7,409.47 Public Welfare... 1,518.00 1,147.11 Police Dept. 1,720.00 2,411.85 Fire Dept. 10,318.75 11,149.79 Public Works... 1,675.90 10,917.75 OPERATIONS: General Govt. 339,276.68 Public Welfare... 58,296.21 52,955.38 Police Dept. 32,143.30 57,788.42 Fire Dept. 32,950.00 34,716.59 Public Works... 73,879.55 78,441.98

Death of Skywriter Is Fake, Police Claim

SACRAMENTO, July 20.—A rigid police investigation was launched here today into the reported death of Jack B. Gregory, a Los Angeles aviator, in an accident near Lake Tahoe. Characterizing the story of the accident brought here by Harry Turner, who claimed to be a pilot of a skywriting airplane company, as false, the police were conducting a search for both Turner and Gregory. Turner checked out of a local hotel soon after wiring an account of the accident to Los Angeles friends of Gregory and telling of it locally. The statement made by Turner that he had taken his fellow aviator's body to Placerville was proved false by investigation in that city. Turner's claim that he landed at Mather field, near here, after returning from Tahoe, was also exploded.

Rodaire Club
One of Glendale's most enjoyable informal social organizations is the Rodaire club, which meets weekly and is composed of young women, who formerly lived in Green Bay, Wis.

The weekly meeting of the club
this week was on Wednesday night with Miss Eva Brehme at her home 806 North Maryland avenue. A feature of the evening was the reception of a new member, Miss Mabel Carlier, who arrived in Glendale a few days ago.

During the evening the club company was happily surprised by a serenade by a group of club husbands and escorts, who arrived at the Brehme home unexpectedly.

A quartet consisting of Ed O'Leary, Al Seeser, Francis and Ed Brehme, accompanied by Miss Eva Brehme at the piano, gave a group of selections. Other members of the party were Messrs. Ray Engle, Fred Duffey, Herman Psenner and Gordon Stewart.

Miss Zilda Cross of West Winsor Road is to be hostess Sunday at a special meeting of the club.
At that time Miss Carlier and Mrs.
P. M. Duffey, who has been with the club for the past few months, will be initiated.

The next regular meeting of the club will be Wednesday, July 25, with Mrs. Paul McCowan at 430
South Pacific avenue.

Study Club Meets
The Parliamentary Law Study club met at the Glendale public library this morning at 10 o'clock, Mrs. C. H. Whitney, the president, presiding. She expressed gratitude for the increased membership in the organization.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Opal Greenway, instructor, took charge of the parliamentary drill, teaching the members from her vast experience in public procedure.

"Efficiency of the President," was the topic of the meeting, each member discussing and demonstrating the ability of that officer in a most able manner.

Visitors at the session included Mrs. P. S. McNutt, who gave an authoritative talk on parliamentary law; Mrs. P. C. Mason and Mrs. W. H. Verity, the latter two giving talks on the necessity of every woman knowing parliamentary procedure.

These meetings, which are held each Friday morning, are open to all women interested, there being no dues. The object of the club is to equip newly elected officers of P. T. A. and other societies for their coming year's work.

The class will be continued throughout the year, it is stated.

Meet In Woodlands
The members of the Women's Society of the Glendale Presbyterian church were entertained yesterday at Verdugo Woodlands by the members of Circle No. 11 of which Mrs. G. G. Lemon is chairman. Invitations with the following verse were sent to each member:

"This little bag we send to you
With birthday greetings true
Just a penny a year
Will fill our hearts with good cheer."

A picnic dinner was served at noon, which was followed by a short business session. At this time the bag was opened and $35 was realized which will be applied on the society's pledge towards the building fund for the new church.

Later in the afternoon the missionary program was presented by the members of Circle
No. 5, of which Mrs. M. P. Harrison is chairman.

Guest at Guild Mrs. A. H. Montgomery was special guest yesterday afternoon at the informal social meeting of St. Mark's Guild in the Guild hall, and entertained the church women with a group of clever readings and an interesting account of her recent trip north.

Mrs. F. S. Card was hostess for the afternoon, featured by a short business session in charge of Mrs.
A. A. Bassett, followed by the informal social hour.

Mrs. Montgomery's readings were "A Very Funny Proposition After All" by George M.
Cohan and a little nature poem,
"The Mocking Bird."

The Guild is hoping to meet in August with Mrs. H. F. Speck of 618 North Howard street.

Collective Ad Will Bring Them Results Collective advertising by the several occupants of Jensen's Palace Grand Shops at 133 North Brand boulevard is similar to department store advertising, the various stores and shops having a very representative line of specialties.

For instance, the Jensen Drug store, Sherrod's Specialty Shop,
the Art and Gift Shop, Beauty Parlors, Barber Shop, Lewis Jewelry company and others are represented in a half page advertisement today.

LOSES HER HUSBAND
LOS ANGELES, July 20.— Mrs. Genevieve M. de la Ford, whose alleged escapades on two continents, have brought her frequently to public notice, failed to appear before Judge Crail to contest the suit for divorce of Dr.
George Paddelford, wealthy Hollywood oil man, and as a result she was minus a husband today.

SENTENCED TO DEATH
CAIRO, Egypt, July 20.—Five persons were sentenced to death today for conspiring against the government. Others were sentenced to imprisonment.

One taxicab manufacturing company in this country does a business of $25,000,000 a year.

PLAN TO INSTALL CEMENT GUTTERS
Will Form Part of Permanent Improvement on Central, Engineer States

The installation of cement gutters six feet wide on Central avenue between Broadway and Riverdale drive was approved last night by the City Council. City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy and City Attorney Ray L. Morrow were instructed to prepare the necessary proceedings in order that the work might be done before the rainy season.

Mr. Dupuy's report, recommending such action, stated:
"The gutter will be part of the permanent improvement of Central avenue and can just as well be placed at this time. The expense of this improvement will be about two dollars a foot on each side of the street and will reduce the cost of the permanent improvement almost as much."
He added that the cost should be assessed against the abutting property.

In regard to the plea by Charles B. Guthrie of 110 West Broadway that property owners on Central avenue were entitled to special consideration by the street department because the street had been paved by the city, Councilman Sam Davis expressed his opinion that the city is in the case. He said that their escape from an original street assessment was the most reasonable way they should be willing to pay now.

Probe Coast Records Of Suspected 'Ponzi'
LOS ANGELES, July 20.—Police along the Pacific coast from San Diego to Tacoma were asked by local authorities today if Robert E. Croke, asserted as being a young "Ponzi," who was arrested at Long Beach on information supplied by his young wife that he made away with $10,000 of her money, may have been responsible for waves of frozen finance which have struck cities along the west coast.

Searchlight Mystery Is Finally Elucidated
The solution of the searchlight mystery that has been puzzling Glendale people for several nights past has finally been reached, but not until it had involved an unlimited expenditure of effort and sleep on the part of the trained and untrained investigators who have been probing the mystery ever since the first flash of the long finger of light was seen in the sky.

It develops now that Manager B. E. Loper of the Gateway Theatre, Glendale's new amusement center on the San Fernando road, is the man who is responsible for the searchlight, using it as an advertisement to get folks to talk about his new place that opens with such a bang tonight. Of course, L. H. Wilson, the mayor of San Fernando road, knew what was going on all the time, but as it was in his own backluck he winked at the matter and never said a word that would have helped the folks from the northern part of the town to learn what it was all about.

Electric Power In U. S. Equals 21 Million Horse
INDIANAPOLIS, July 20.—It would require 21,000,000 horses working ten hours a day, 300 working days a year, to furnish the equivalent of the power produced in 1922 by the electric light and power industry of the country, according to the Indiana Committee on Public Utility Information.

Last year, the committee says, electric light and power companies delivered 65,000,000,000 horsepower hours of energy to their customers. During the year there was a tremendous increase in power plant facilities. If the nation's power demands are fully met it will be necessary to double existing equipment within the next five years.

Engineer Will Start Laying Sidewalks
The City Council last night instructed City Engineer Ben F.
Dupuy to start the necessary proceedings for the laying of the missing sidewalk north of Doran street. Motion to this effect was made by Councilman Asa Hall.

TRAIL SUSPECT IN MURDER CASE
Confederate In Oesterreich Death to Be Brought in At Preliminary

LOS ANGELES, July 20.—A sensational report was circulated at central police station today that detectives had picked up the trail of the so-called "confederate" in the murder of Fred Oester-reich, wealthy Milwaukee manufacturer, and they hoped to be able to produce him at the preliminary hearing next week of Mrs. Walburge Oesterreich, widow of the slain man who is accused of his murder.

A startling disclosure in the case today was the disappearance of the reports made by two patrolmen who were the first officers on the scene of the crime after the shooting. These reports gave a minute description of conditions surrounding the murder and also told how Mrs.
Oesterreich had apparently been locked in a clothes closet where she was found after the murder.

The reports also have an important bearing on the authenticity of the story told by the young widow concerning the shooting.
Late yesterday Mrs. Oester-reich had the experience of hearing her husband's voice again.
At her own request, a dictating machine formerly used by Oesterreich was taken to her cell.
Some of the old records were placed on the machine and compared with the ear-phones Mrs.
Oesterreich heard her husband dictating letters.

Mlle. Edith Giorgi, 17-year-old Hungarian Stage Star, Who Seeks Fame in Movies

BUDAPEST, July 20.—To the stars make stars? Not astral bodies, but stage luminaries. Wait and you shall see what you shall see.

For Mlle. Edith Giorgi, the seventeen-year-old film and stage sensation, is coming to the Los Angeles mecca of filmdom seeking the elusive will-o'-the-wisp, fame and fortune.

And the stars—not of the film variety—are sending the little Hungarian beauty westward.

For a seeress who is wont to commune with the heavenly bodies has advised the child actress that wealth, fame and perhaps even a handsome, millionaire, American husband awaits her in America.

Many aspiring girls have hied themselves Los Angelesward on less provocation.

Mlle. Edith has been on the stage eleven out of her seventeen years. She began her career under auspicious circumstances at the age of six by appearing before the late Emperor Francis Joseph in the days when Vienna was one of Europe's play spots.

From then on until the outbreak of the world war she was a favorite with the mighty princes of the Hapsburg regime and the idol of the dual monarchy.

Mlle. Giorgi is confident that success, fame, everything that the stars promise—according to the seers—will crown her work in the United States.

LATE INVENTION HELP TO MOVIES

Eliminates Rewinding and Other Processes That Injure Films

LONDON, July 20.—An invention which, it is claimed, will eliminate three of the most common causes of public dissatisfaction with the moving picture entertainment—the scratched or "rainy" film, which suggests that the photoplay is carried on under a perpetual deluge; the flickering film with the worn sprocket holes, causing the malady known to all movie fans as eye-strain, and the kind of projection which shows the winner of a horse race romping home at a hundred miles an hour—has been demonstrated in London by a young South African engineer.

The invention does away with the rewinding and other dust-collecting processes. It guides the film over sprockets and eases and around corners with all the tenderness of a mother and her infant. One film has been run through it 6,000 times and still shows no sign of wear.

It can be fixed to any existing

American Authors Are Popular With Russians

MOSCOW, July 20.—American authors are much in vogue in Russia. Jack London probably is most popular, while the works of Upton Sinclair are translated as fast as they appear. O. Henry's short stories also are gaining favor lately. Mark Twain and Edgar Allan Poe have been translated and have developed good followings. William James and John Dewey are well known, and Woodrow Wilson's "The State" was studied in Russia long before Mr. Wilson compiled the "Fourteen Points."

Maybe She Neglected To Plow the Orchard

ELWOOD, Ind., July 20.—All you novel-readers, chocolate-munching, porch-swing-loving femininity, hearken! Mabel Clark, wife of a Madison county farmer, does all of the housework, milks the cows, feeds the chickens, does the family washing, sewing and mending, cultivating a large garden, cares for five children and keeps the household expenses below $5 a week, she says.

type of projector and is confidently expected to save the movie industry millions of dollars a year.

FINISH OF RACE TOLD BY PHOTOS

Disputes Eliminated About Results as Camera Snaps Horses

PARIS, July 20.—The photographic system is about to be installed at the race tracks of Longchamps, St. Cloud and Maisons LaFite. It is based upon one which is working well in Belgium at the present time.

The operation is simple. A cord is stretched at a calculated distance in a manner to release the objective by the contact of the first horse. The plate takes impression at the exact moment that the nose of the horse passes the goal. After a race which is particularly close the judge will put up the word "Photograph," and as soon as possible the plate will give the result to the onlookers.

KIRK WRITES OF LIFE ON VESSEL

Glendale Man En Route to Europe Tells About Missing Meals

(Continued from page 1) on the deck in the forenoon, Lutheran of course, but earnest, spiritual and good. The hymns were very old-fashioned, sung to accompaniment by the ship's band. The first prayer was in English, by a Danish-American minister, but the sermon and balance of the service was in Danish, of which I couldn't understand a single word. But the earnestness of the speaker and attention of the audience lent sufficient emphasis to make it helpful to anybody. And there was quite a large number present, on the decks above, in the passageways, and on the hatches, and you would have been surprised at the number of Bibles and hymn books about.

"The folks from the steerage were there, and as clean, decent-looking as you can imagine. In fact, there is as orderly a crowd about as we could possibly desire. A lady was just telling me that a wealthy friend of hers went over last summer on a large Italian vessey and that, apparently, every officer on the boat from the captain down, got dead drunk.

"I have heard that most of the large liners are floating saloons and gambling dens, but there is nothing of that kind on this boat. True, liquor (principally beer) began to be served as soon as we had gotten outside 'the limit,' but here in the smoking room, where I am sitting, there is little of it to be seen, and I have noted only a few glasses at table.

Not Much Liquor

"I have told you that we took passage on this line because it was all we could get, but I think it has proven to be as good as we could possibly have selected. It is a slow boat, and for that very reason is very desirable for our purposes. It takes us directly to the countries we want to visit first, and it is cosmopolitan enough so that fine dressing is not required. "Withal, there are some very nice, much-traveled people aboard. Most of them are Scandinavians or of that descent. A young lady from Pasadena is among the number. Miss Inga Egeberg, who is a college friend of Miss Florence Heacock. Miss Quentin is another passenger from Pasadena.

"This boat is regarded as the best of the line by many who have known her. She is twenty years old, and during all these years has made eight round-trips a year across the Atlantic, without an accident so far. Many of her crew have been employed on her for years, and it was a source of no small comfort to me last night, as I looked out at the dashing waves in the beating rain, to think that the Danes are a seafaring people, and that our crew is probably much better skilled in navigation than the average mixed crew of other lines. And they are all Danes. I don't think there is a single deckhand or sailor of any other nationality.

Speak English

"One disagreeable thing is the fact that many of them can't speak a word of English. The chambermaid and the waiters, with whom we have to deal, don't seem able to 'get' anything we say until we repeat, make signs, and use every piece of ingenuity we can devise. "The Danes are a seafaring people, and that our crew is probably much better skilled in navigation than the average mixed crew of other lines. And they are all Danes. I don't think there is a single deckhand or sailor of any other nationality.

Flyer Will Try to Make Continental Journey

(Continued from page 1) After leaving Cheyenne Lieutenant Maughan in an effort to reach Solduro, Utah, his next scheduled stopping place where possible permanent repairs could be made, speeded his plane up to 170 miles an hour for 245 miles. Made Ill By Fumes Near Rock Springs the leak became so bad that it dropped from the cover in bucketfuls. Fumes from the burning oil, which Maughan very ill and realizing that his mount would be unable to negotiate the distance, circled over the almost deserted landing field and brought his plane to the ground.

Lieutenant Maughan said this morning that he probably would fly to Logan, Utah, to his mother, wife and children, after which he would return to Mitchell field by airplane. Lieutenant Maughan covered in all a distance of 1,680 miles at an average speed of 135 miles an hour. This distance is nearly two-thirds of the continent. He was in the air a total of thirteen hours and nine minutes and while very tired said that he could easily have finished the flight had his motor held up for him.

Police Guard British Docks From Strikers

LONDON, July 20.—Policemen equipped for riot service were on duty in the dock districts of British port cities today to prevent violence by dock strikers. The situation is serious.

Some of the workers have returned, but most of them are still holding out. The food shortage has improved slightly owing to the decision of the market workers to return to their posts on condition they are not asked to handle merchandise passing through the hands of strike-breakers.

COMMENT That's All

Not So Slow; Nor Too Fast Talented Glendale Children Philippine Independence Glendale Lures Investors

By Gil A. Cowan

WATCHING Lieut. Russell Maughan's cross country airplane flight yesterday as it came flashing in by International News Service leased wire from various stopping places along the route provided a real thrill for editors and others.

While the airman's bravery in facing death, although sickened by gas fumes, is a matter worthy of comment, the possibilities which his flight presented gave the greatest excitement.

Here was a man actually racing against the sun, literally endeavoring to defeat time in its flight. And, while he was losing a little each hour as he sped over this earthly terrain, yet it did seem possible that sometime a machine swift enough to follow the sun in its course will be able to arrive at its destination "the day before."

For it was actually amusing yesterday to note how we poor mortals figure time. He would be seen at one place at 11 o'clock say, and arrived at the next town at 10:30. When he had been in the air for thirteen hours he still had five more hours of daylight ahead.

All of which goes to prove we mortals are not so slow. But we still may go faster than Maughan!

Talented Glendale children—and this city has many—performed at the Glendale Theatre last night in Mrs. Pearl Keller Brattain's annual society vaudeville show, a thing of beauty which mere words fail to describe.

Little tots, one only 3 years old, danced delightfully and delightfully, while older students of the Keller school did steps which are seldom seen on the professional stage. And for eccentric work and specialties certainly this city is going to be a training center for talent of the future.

Every one of the children performed in a remarkable manner, according to those witnessing the event, and the training alone is well worth the interest of the public. For dancing is work and a good dancer is a good worker, also disciplined in mind to the extent that their presence lends a graciousness to almost any occasion.

While President Harding and his party are in Alaska hearing the problems of the people there the Filipinos have taken it upon themselves to make a noise loud enough for the President to hear when he reaches the coast.

Indeed, they have almost overturned Major General Wood's crew way out there in the Pacific and a wreck of the Manila ship of state seems imminent.

Independence of the Philippines means "exploitation of the Philippines" and it may be necessary for the United States to again give these island people a little medicine.

Candy is good, but too much is poison. Likewise, freedom for the Philippines is to be sought, but not obtained for their own good.

Again we have evidence of the attractiveness of Glendale from a financial viewpoint. The head of one of the oldest established banking houses of New York has resigned to come here and invest not only his own money but that of a large clientele built up through twenty years' experience.

More people, more money, more homes, more industry, more people, more money, more development and more homes is the cycle that is making Southern California the most prosperous place in the world.

A doctor, hospital treasurer and undertaker went fishing with a party of Glendale Kiwanis club directors to boost business, it is charged.

And it is further alleged the trio partook of pills to avoid the customary sickness, while the doctor left his prescription case at home.

There is no need to suggest that the kangaroo court of the Kiwanis club see that they pay well for their efforts to advertise their professions.

Say, folks, do you read Roy Moulton's column of nonsense every day on the magazine page of The Glendale Evening News? The writer gets a deal of pleasure out of the articles by the various satellites who shine on the magazine and woman's pages. Our own poor blundering efforts seem insignificant and yet we have compensations in our column.

First, we can say about what we please as long as it is something good.

Second, we do not have to write something that is dictated to us.

And last, but not least, we actually write it or tell where we got it if it is borrowed goods.

So, if you do not like our column, it's the writer's own fault.

And if you agree with our views there is no extra charge.

HOLD PARTY FOR 3RD WEDDING DAY

Guests Listen in on Radio as Marriage Is Held in Los Angeles Church

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McIntyre of 1011 East Lexington Drive enjoyed a unique feature on the celebration of the third anniversary of their marriage yesterday, when they "listened in" last night on a large church wedding taking place at one of the prominent Los Angeles churches. The McIntyres and their daughter Lorraine were honored guests at a family dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McIntyre at 137 North Cedar street, and after dinner the radio wedding entertained the company. The dinner table had a centerpiece, a huge wedding cake and decorations of pink and white sweetpeas. Places were marked for Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McIntyre and

Decries Possibility Of Breeding Supermen

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., July 20.—While it would be possible to "Burbank" a race of supermen, the process would defeat its own purpose. Dr. David Starr Jordan, noted scientist, declared today in a lecture on "The Evolution of Man."

"It would be possible for Luther Burbank to develop a physically superior group of human beings just as he has created other superior living things," Jordan said. "But in the end, however, such a scheme would defeat its own purpose, for the two greatest qualifications of men and women, individual initiative and romantic love, would be stricken out in the process."

LA CRESCENTA

BOY SCOUTS TO LEAVE FOR CAMP

Ten-day Outing at Site on Lake Arrowhead Waits La Crescenta Troop

The Boy Scouts of this district will leave in the morning for Camp Royl-Kent at Arrowhead lake, for a ten days' camping trip. The boys will be under the care of Albert Cox, as Scout Master. Ainger is unable to go with them at this date. Parents of the boys are cordially invited to visit them, while at Lake Arrowhead. Mr. and Mrs. Van Dussen and three small sons have returned from their camping trip in Lake Tahoe district. According to the vacationists the country up there is wonderful and of course that the fishing is, goes without saying.

Mrs. Foy and daughter Charlotte have gone to Long Beach for an indefinite stay to visit with Mrs. Foy's married son and family there.

On Fishing trip
Mr. and Mrs. Litton have left on a motor trip through the Owen's lake country and for other points where the fish are known to live, as Mr. Litton is an ardent fisherman and the harder they are to catch the better he likes it. Mr. Litton is in business in Glendale, being a member of the Hardwood company with offices on Broadway.

The officers of the Glendale and Montrose Railway hope the actual work of extending their tracks west to Pennsylvania avenue can be begun within the next thirty days.

TUJUNGA

PLUNGE REPLACES 'SWIMMING HOLE'

Kids and Old Folks, Too, Now Bathing in Pool at Garden of Moon

The old swimming hole in Big Tujunga canyon is mostly deserted these days, strange as that may seem for such perfect swimming weather. But the swimming hasn't stopped, merely moved to a more convenient pool. The Garden of the Moon is the scene of the most of the splashing done by the human fish, the pool there attracting all the local swimmers and many out-of-town parties. The place is filled not only with youngsters, but with those who stay young. Johnson is running the pool this summer and the patronage is a constant source of surprise to him, although his expectations were high in the beginning.

The dance floor space has again been enlarged to accommodate the increasing crowds that are drawn by the three-plate attraction magnet of the place—the dancing, the swimming pool and the refreshment parlor, none of which are excelled by any in the valley. Jake Wessner's orchestra has become a fixture of the place and is enjoyed, not only by the dancers and watchers, but by the residents for a radius of a mile up the hillsides surrounding the Garden of the Moon. The clarity of the air, peculiar to the hill country, makes the music sounds a great distance in the evening and many sit on their own doorstep and enjoy the strains of dance music wafted up from the oak grove where the Garden is located.

Hear McGroarty Speak
Tuesday night was San Gabriel night at the broadcasting station, of K H J and a program was presented by the Chamber of Commerce of that city. Tujunga listeners were especially interested in this program as one of their friends and neighbors, a rising young playwright-author, presented some of his own original numbers and also some of his entertainers who are struggling to make a success of his California classic, "The Mission Play." J. S. McGroarty is the playwright's name, no doubt familiar to a few in the immediate neighborhood. He believes the attendance at his show will warrant a week or two more of play. Some of the neighbors' boys' folks call him John and he doesn't seem to mind, in spite of his promising future.

Among the many excellent numbers presented by these amateur performers were songs by the Mission Play quartette, "Aloha Se" by Maria Eno, who appeared in the recent Chauve Souris at the Garden of the Moon, a dramatic recitation by Patia Power, leading lady of the play, entitled "The Two Mysteries," and "La Golondrina" was sung by the quartette. Mr. McGroarty was prevailed upon to give one of his original poems and chose "Just California," the sentiment of which expresses the poet's love for this state.

Another brush fire in the hills south of Tujunga took all available men out with shovels and hoses the first of the week. A large force turned out and the volunteers soon had the blaze under control.

A vote taken Sunday after the close of services at the Community church resulted in favor of building the 72 by 74 feet of additional room to the church and the building committee will let the contract soon, it is hoped.

Miss Bertha May Johnston and Mrs. George De Witt will have charge of the Junior Christian Endeavor during the absence of Miss Beulah Stotts.

Rev. C. E. Bodenhausen has resigned as teacher of the Men's Brotherhood class, to take effect October 1st.

Dr. Stotts has left for a month's vacation, most of which will be spent with his son in Humboldt county.

Owing to the difficulty of securing a speaker the Men's Brotherhood voted to omit the August supper and program and resume again on the first Tuesday in September.

An ice cream social will be given at the home of Mrs. J. A. Jenkins on Thursday evening, July 19, by the Ladies' Aid Society.

A record attendance turned out for the Sunday school picnic of the Community church at Brookside park, Pasadena, which was pronounced a huge success by all who attended and enjoyed the day.

Mrs. Emmet Farrel and children and Mrs. C. L. Cavolt and children spent the day at Brookside park, Pasadena, recently. They were joined in the evening by Mr. Farrel, Mr. Cavolt and Ralph Hamilton, the latter two being proprietors of the Tujunga Electric shop, which installed the new electric fixtures at the Garden of the Moon, in which are included streamers of colored lights on the oak trees surrounding the stage.

State's Coal Bill to Be $15,000 This Winter
SACRAMENTO, July 20.—California's state institutions will burn $15,000 worth of coal during the coming winter, according to State Purchasing Agent W. S. McMillin, who has just let bids for the entire supply.

The state's heaviest expense for fuel comes under the head of oil, McMillin said, the majority of the state hospitals being equipped with oil heating systems.

ATHLETES READY FOR LANKERSHIM

Heidler's Crew on Edge for Deciding Game in Valley League

Every player on the Glendale squad is reported to be in great shape, after workouts all week, for the big game against Lankershim next Sunday at the home park at Park avenue and San Fernando road. This is expected to be the most hotly contested game ever played in the valley as this is the play-off of the protested game two weeks ago and it will also be the deciding game of the Valley League championship.

The talk of nearly every semi-pro fan in southern California is about this game, which is sure to be a good one as the players on both teams will put everything they probably have into this contest. Manager Heidler expects to have the biggest crowd that ever attended any sporting event ever pulled off in the city of Glendale, as fans from all over Los Angeles and surrounding cities are expected here for this game.

Manager Walt will pitch this important game with Shriver behind the bat. Minkler pitching and Jensen behind the bat are the big two of Lankershim. "Show your appreciation to the home team," Heidler asks, "by being on hand at this game. Bring your friends and let's surround the field for this big game. The small price of admission for this game is 50 cents.

Manager Heidler requests that every member of the team be at the sport shop tonight for a special meeting in which important business will be taken up.

Luque's No Fluque

Adolfo Luque

There once was a player named Luque. Who won a ball game by a fluque. Then he said with a grin, "Hully gee, do I win? "Ye gods, little fishes, Gazuque."

But that wasn't Adolfo Luque, the earnest pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds. It must have been a cousin. For, as far as Adolfo can recall, he never had any such luck. He always loses them by a fluque—seldom by poor pitching. For this smiling gent from the land of iron-flowing liquor and waving palms is just about the best pitcher in the National league these days. Won nine out of the first ten games chalked up against him. And is still going strong. This is especially gratifying to Luque after going through a season of defeats that would put the ordinary pitcher in a padded cell or Class D league. Luque won the unsought distinction of losing more games than any other flinger in the National league last season. Dropped twenty-three while winning but thirteen. That Pat Moran realized that Luque deserved a better average is evidenced by the fact that the Irish leader didn't even consider parting with him. Luque would take his turn regularly. Just as regularly he would pitch good ball. Things would progress toward a pleasant conclusion until an infielder would play football with the slow grounder or an outfielder would go blind searching for a pair of green stockings in the grandstand. Then the ball game would change hands. Luque is now the only son of Cuba in the major pitching ranks. Gonzales and the others who preceded him have departed. Adolfo was born in Havana, August 4, 1890. It was while playing semi-pro ball in his native town back in 1912 that the idea struck him to try for a berth in the big leagues. He promptly set sail for New York and grabbed himself off a job pitching for a semi-pro team in Long Branch, N. J. Most of his teammates were

Cardinals' Home Run Batters Beat Giants

NEW YORK, July 20.—Mueller, St. Louis outfielder, almost single-handedly defeated the Giants, 3 to 0, Thursday, the second successive defeat at the hands of the Cardinals. All of the St. Louis tallies were the result of homers, Mueller crashing out two of them and Bottomley the other.

Brooklyn Breaks Reds String of Victories

NEW YORK, July 20.—"Dazzy" Vance, Brooklyn pitching ace, finally brought the winning streak of Cincinnati to an end Thursday when he bested Rube Benton in a pitching duel, blanking the Reds with only four hits. The final score: Brooklyn, 1; Cincinnati, 0. Deberry brought home the only Dodger tally in the second when he scored on a wild throw to Caveny.

The World Over
By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The defeat by Bobby Jones of Bobbie Cruickshank in the national open golf championships probably means a loss of $20,000 to the latter who is a professional and could have capitalized the fact that the victory had been his. Only close followers of sports realize the money value of a title. Those who have been following the careers of Dempsey and Kearns and the exorbitant demands they have been making—and getting—probably have some conception of how a championship can be commercialized.

A thumb nail sketch of Bobbie Jones, the national open golf champion of the United States reads as follows: He is 22 years old. At 16 years of age he won the southern states amateur championship. Two years later, in 1919, he was runner up for the national amateur title. The same year he made his debut in the open championship where he finished in eighth place. At Columbia the next year he finished fifth and last year at Skokie was tied with John Black for second place a stroke behind Gene Sarazan.

San Francisco has three and Seattle two of the five leading pitchers in the Pacific Coast league, with the following standings of games won, lost, runs responsible for and percentages:

	W.	L.	Rf.	Pct.
Courtney, S. F.	11	3	37	.786
Jacobs, Seattle	14	4	54	.778
Gardner, Seattle	15	5	53	.754
Geary, S. F.	12	5	59	.706
Shea, S. F.	11	5	64	.688

The announcement that a race has been arranged between Walter Hoover, holder of the Philadelphia grand challenge cup, emblematic of the world's amateur sculling championship, and Paul Costello, national sculling champion, for the United States title at the national regatta at Baltimore, August 3 and 4, makes this at once the most important and outstanding rowing event on the sports calendar. Hoover's accident in the Henley regatta on the Thames was most unfortunate, as it was believed that he again would capture the famous diamond sculls, the most sought for of the world's aquatic prizes.

To the rank outsider it seems a long way to go to Buenos Ayres to stage a Dempsey-Firpo battle when there are 100,000 New Yorkers ready to pounce up anything Rickard has a mind to ask to see the contest.

COUNCIL REFUSES TO CHANGE LINE

Petition Opposes Request of Property Owner for Street Alteration

The City Council last night opposed a change in the set-back line on the northwest corner of Viola and Stocker streets, although the subject finally was laid upon the table. M. B. Townman of 120 East Colorado street, who intends to erect a bungalow court on this corner, requested a change in the set-back line from twenty-five to sixteen feet. A petition protesting against this action was placed on file. Building Superintendent H. C. Vandewater declared that he did not think such a change would be wise. This opinion was endorsed by Councilman Asa Hall. The subject was about to be put to a vote when Councilman C. E. Kimlin suggested that the action be postponed for a week in order to give property owners interested time to come to an agreement. Mr. Bowman asserted that he was perfectly willing to do the fair thing. He added that he would not have made the request if he had supposed there would be any objection on the part of his neighbors.

Will Ask Farmers to Boost Officials' Pay

SACRAMENTO, July 20.—Declaring that the state department of agriculture is about to lose some of its most capable officials because of the inadequacy of salaries paid by the state, James Wills, head of the agricultural council, announced today that individual farmers will be asked to subscribe sufficient money to increase the pay of the agricultural workers. "The situation is very serious," Wills asserted, "We have already lost some of our most trusted workers and others have received offers which far surpass that which the state pays. The salaries of the agricultural department heads must be increased by the next legislature, and for the next two years we will endeavor to keep the department together by private subscriptions."

BAR TRUCKS OFF NEW LAID PAVING

Council Favors Suspension Of Heavy Loads Until Surface Settles

The City Council last night went on record as favoring action to keep heavy traffic off streets until the paving has become thoroughly settled. The subject was brought up by City Clerk A. J. Van Wie, who read the following communication signed by Rudolph Street of 346 Pioneer drive, president of the West Glendale Improvement association: "Inasmuch as the newly-finished paving on Doran street has been largely frequented by trucks and heavy traffic, threatening permanent damage to a freshly-improved street, the West Glendale Improvement association respectfully requests that the Glendale City Council issue an ordinance barring heavy traffic from Doran street." "Isn't that five-inch macadam?" inquired Councilman Sam Davis. "Where do they want us to send heavy traffic? On a dirt street?" City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy expressed his opinion that heavy traffic should be kept off any new street for ninety days.

Warn Truck Owners

Posting the street immediately with signs warning truck drivers to keep off was suggested by Mayor Spencer Robinson. He added that it might be well to write local truck drivers courteous letters requesting them to keep off this thoroughfare. The fact that a number of the trucks which make use of this street originate in Los Angeles was brought out by Councilman Asa Hall. Councilman C. E. Kimlin suggested that the matter should be referred to Col. F. D. Fraser, chief of police, and that he should be requested to delegate one officer to this work permanently—even if he had to employ a man especially for this purpose. He added later, when the question of expense was brought up, that he considered that the salary, which would be incurred, would be money well invested. "I think that is a mighty good idea," said Councilman W. A. Horn. Heaviest vertical lift span for a bridge ever built is claimed to form part of a new bridge over the Ohio river at Cincinnati.

RESOLUTION FOR AIRPORT KILLED

Plan to Establish Landing Field in Griffith Park Is Voted Down

The City Council last night went on record as not being interested in the establishment of an airport in Griffith Park. City Clerk A. J. Van Wie read a resolution, suggesting that the city administration should interest itself in the matter, from the West Glendale Advancement Association. Councilman Sam Davis said: "I move it be filed!" "I move it be filed!" repeated Councilman C. E. Kimlin. "Well," interrupted Mayor Spencer Robinson, "I think we ought to discuss that." "What was the motion?" inquired Mr. Kimlin. "I moved it be filed," replied Mr. Davis. "I second the motion," declared Councilman W. A. Horn. The resolution, which was signed by John R. Grey of 124 North Brand boulevard and William McCord of 561 West Harvard street has already been published in The Glendale Evening News.

Federal Reserve Rule Is Aid to Borrower

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The federal reserve board today placed millions of dollars in additional credit at the disposal of member banks of the reserve system, on real estate loan transactions, by modifying existing rules, and allowing the banks to meet the needs of prospective borrowers on more liberal terms. The board adopted a regulation which means greater borrowing capacity for every owner of real estate that is unencumbered, and it is equally favorable to investors interested in city and rural properties. Member banks of the reserve system are no longer required to cancel a real estate loan at its maturity. Banks are now permitted, the board said, to renew old notes and extend them for additional periods. This will be done without "red tape" formulas formerly set down in departmental rules. Gateway Theatre, Glendale's New Motion Picture House, Opens Tonight

WONDERFUL PIPE ORGAN FOR AMUSEMENT CENTER

Nursery Is Special Feature Where Mothers May Sit With Children; Harold Lloyd to Appear In "Safety Last"

By KATHERINE VIRGINIA SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff

"MEET me at the Gateway" is a slogan that will attract Glendaleans to one of the most brilliant and artistic spots in the city, the new Gateway Theatre on San Fernando road, just off South Brand boulevard, which will be initiated tonight with a grand opening, featured by shows at 7 and 9 o'clock. For the past week the brilliancy of the new moving picture house has been broadcasted to Glendaleans on the dancing beams of a mammoth searchlight, and tonight the new amusement center will become an established factor in the phenomenal development and progress of the San Fernando road district in the southern part of the city.

There are 1,000 seats in the new theatre and predictions are that they will all be filled for each of the shows tonight, when Harold Lloyd's superb comedy, "Safety Last" and organ music by L. Earle Abel, formerly of the California and Miller theatres of Los Angeles, will be features of the grand opening.

The Egyptian style has been adhered to in the interior decorating of the theatre and the artistic accomplishment is the work of Verne C. Laney.

Wonderful Organ
Comfortable loges and opera chairs, a nursery, the latest in projection equipment, the most modern lighting devices and a wonderful $20,000 pipe organ combine in the perfection of the new theatre.

The organ, which is a fine Robert Morton instrument, was made by the celebrated organ company of that name in Van Nuys. It has the improved double touch keyboard, enabling the organist by a slight additional pressure on the keys to bring into play an entire secondary range of instruments, thus producing almost an unlimited combination of tones.

One of the special features of the theatre is the nursery, located on the mezzanine floor, reached by a flight of stairs on your left, leading from the foyer. The nur-

Dairyman Returns to Renew Friendships

Chancellor Livingston of El Centro, who operates a dairy there, is a visitor in Glendale this week renewing acquaintances, having left here seven years ago to join the United States navy at the outset of the world war. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Livingston of Tujunga, his parents, are in the valley attending to his dairy business while he is vacationing.

EXPERIENCES IN ARMY SECRET SERVICE WORK

BY GIL A. COWAN

WHO won the war? Five years ago the Americans were stemming the tide of battle. Today it would seem that the battle between the allies and Germany is still going, from an economic standpoint. The reparations issue is the liveliest international news we have to read. Yet, to hear claims of some inventors in this country, you believe that they and the profiteers were responsible for America's achievement in breaking the German morale.

Personally, the writer is inclined to believe the Military Intelligence Division through its barrage of propaganda was one of the biggest American factors outside of the valorous fighting by the limited number of United States troops, who got a chance to spill their fighting blood at the front, if you will pardon Yankee pride.

Today, however, we will consider one inventor, an Ohio genius, who actually aided in the development of long range artillery gratuitously after he found the army was not to be "bluffed" out of a preposterous royalty. He attracted the attention of the Intelligence police when he served notice on general staff officers that he would sell his plans to the highest bidder.

Wrong Patriotically
Ordnance officers had explained to this inventor, who was of foreign birth, that no funds were available to buy a "pig in the poke," but they would be considerate of his demands if the new cannon construction was found practicable and advisable.

Of course, such terms were unsatisfactory, for only a test would reveal the worth of his invention and then the government would be in possession of his brain child, and "too many people were cheated by Uncle Sam," in his estimation, while manufacturers in Ohio and Pennsylvania were reaping a rich harvest in producing arms, ammunition and equipment, he claimed.

Perhaps he was right, but from a patriotic standpoint he was "all wrong." His description of the possibilities of his invention intrigued the officers, and when he served "carte blanche" notice of returning to his Ohio home to await developments action was deemed necessary.

Instead of embarrassing the young man with big ideas by arresting him, it was decided to "borrow" his plans, which were contained in a little black satchel which he carefully guarded.

He Is Followed
As the inventor left the State, War and Navy building he was followed by Helpful Henry of the Intelligence police, in which several Southern California men served during the war. It was up to Henry to "borrow" those plans so they might be photostated and returned in quick order. Both

PIANIST KUHNLE SENDS GREETING

Glendale Musician Enjoying Concerts in European Cities, He Writes

Wesley Kuhnle, Glendale pianist of 111 West Maple avenue, writes interestingly of the experiences he is having abroad, where he is taking up intensive music study.

Of special delight to him have been the operas and concerts he has been privileged to attend, and at admission prices that are very low in comparison with American fees.

In giving an account of his visit at Leipzig he tells of fine music by the boys' choir in the Thomas Kirche, where the great Bach took a prominent part, and of improvising on the organ.

He tells of orchestral concerts in the Gemandhaus, where Mendelssohn used to direct orchestra and chorus and where Schumann and Moscheles were well known. Although enjoying the company of the old masters, Mr. Kuhnle states that for weeks he has missed the sunshine enjoyed in Southern California.

In his letters he sends greetings to his many pupils.

Charge Low Prices On Shoes, Milk and Eggs

SACRAMENTO, July 20—While dainty "Tut" slippers are retailing as high as $25 a pair, California is producing shoes just as attractive and considerably more durable, for $2.18 at the Napa State Hospital farm, it was claimed today by H. E. Braden, member of the State Board of Control.

Braden also announced that the state dairy at Napa is producing milk at 17½ cents a gallon as compared with the current market price of 24 cents. As against today's quotation of 40 cents, state agriculturists are supplying the Napa Hospital with eggs at 8 cents a dozen.

Fortune Offered For Peace Plan

Edward W. Bok, Philadelphia, former editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, has offered a prize of $100,000 to the American who conceives the most practicable plan by which the U. S. may cooperate with other nations to achieve peace.

Legion Will Witness Boxing Bouts Tonight

Glendale legionnaires are going to gather tonight at the post hall on East Broadway for a meeting and several boxing bouts. The meeting is announced for 8 o'clock and it is possible that initiation will be held.

The program chairman announces that the boxing bouts will be three or four rounds, and will be feature demonstrations.

MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION SECRETARY GIVES WARNING

Before Cashing Paper for Strangers Refer to Office for Identification, Urges Official to All Local Dealers

GLENDALE merchants this week have been mulcted by bad check passers to the extent of several hundred dollars, according to Frank H. Pilling of the Glendale Merchants' Association. One man giving the name of James Collins has obtained more than $300 from ten local dealers, it is reported, the checks being made on the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of Los Angeles in amounts of $25 and $30. Officials of the company declare they are forgeries, the banking paper having been stolen from them, they believe. Other bad checks, including those coming back from banks marked "insufficient funds," also are appearing in great numbers, according to Mr. Pilling who is taking drastic steps to curb the practice of "papering the city."

He is having cards printed for members of the Glendale Merchants' Association referring all strangers to the credit association's identification bureau.

At the same time the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company detectives are working on the Collins case as similar alleged forgeries have been reported during the last twenty-four hours in Los Angeles. The peculiarity in the bogus check may be easily noted, the name of the president having been "rubber stamped" and the name of the vice president, George Cochran, forged by the clever swindler, it is alleged. In no case do both officials sign the checks, it is stated, and the fraud is easily detected.

Issues Warning
The William J. Burns International Detective agency also has been active in tracing forgers who have been active here, according to Mr. Pilling, while the banks are keeping close tab for indications of spurious paper. As a result of the co-operation of the merchants, the banks and the various concerns whose checks are being forged it is expected that Southern California will be an unsafe place for such frauds.

Boards Must Borrow Funds to Meet Needs

SACRAMENTO, July 20—Scores of state boards must negotiate loans before the end of this month to carry them through the period in which their funds will be tied up as a result of the budget tangle.

Two of the penniless state agencies—the state printing department and the state real estate board—have succeeded in securing loans to pay salaries.

From present indications, the tie-up of state monies will not be relieved for at least two months.

Every man carries his own muzzle and whip.

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

Hugh of Williston and a flaxen haired lad rode for their lives through the trails of a forest in the north of England in the days when Prince John was regent. For all of their desperate haste and precautions against discovery they did not escape. This net was too tight to allow even two to pass. They were bound and led to the castle of Stafford and there thrown into a gloomy room little better than a dungeon.

"There is this much in our favor," Hugh said gently, taking the hand of his companion. "They do not know who we are or they would not place us together here. They think of a certainty, you are a lad." He stood for a while in thought.

"It is likely the descriptions, as we were last seen, have been placarded in all parts of the realm, even up here. Stafford knows he must turn us whole and unharmed over to the prince, but if he knew you were the Lady Alison..."

"Sh!" The girl's finger went to her lips. "There may be some who listen."

There were two windows in the stone walls of the room, windows not wide enough for the passage of a man's body, but through which came enough light to illumine the place faintly. Hugh explored every corner, then stood a moment at one of the openings. He motioned his companion.

"See they ride away. There are others to be hunted out. That is good, too, for our guards must be few. If we are to escape it must be tonight."

A full hour he spent examining the walls, the doors, and the crevices which served as windows. "If this were a story out of the books which I grumbled, there would be a secret passage. Instead we are locked up in the room of some learned man, a scribbler." He pointed to some earthen jars. "In them are colors such as men who illumine letters use. A writer of books has been here."

The young man pulled the stopper from one of the jars and spilled a little of the liquid on the stone table. It was the color of blood.

"Look! There is a bare chance. Remember, if we have reasoned right, we are to be turned over unharmed. There is no way to break out, yet we must make them come in. Then he outlined a plan which brought, at first, protests and then acceptance.

From the room of the prisoners came the sound of scuffling, angry

DAILY FASHION HINT

A NEW PARIS INSPIRATION
Straight-line frocks in moire crepe, with deep flounced collars and flounces at the lower edge of the skirts, are the latest inspiration of Paris. This design in navy and sand is striking in its smart simplicity. The collar is of sand Georgette crepe, as is also the girdle. There are, of course, no sleeves, for Paris has nipped off the sleeves by degrees until there is nothing left of them on the ultra-modish frock. Medium size requires 4 1/4 yards 36-inch printed and 3/4 yard 36-inch plain material.

Pictorial Review Dress No. 1834. Sizes, 16 to 20 years, and 34 to 46 inches bust. Price, 45 cents.

LEARNING TO STAND WELL.
There are a great many women who make an excellent living (and one of them has made a small fortune) training other women how to stand, sit, walk and curtsy. The curtsy part is only taught those who are to be presented at some foreign court, where the graceful, elaborate curtsy of the old days is still a part of the ceremony. I think the curtsy part costs $5 a lesson, and one lesson should be enough for even the stiffest spine.

Paying money to learn how to curtsy does not surprise me, for these modern days the curtsy does not enter into everyday life. But paying money to learn how to stand or walk always amazes me. Every woman's duty to herself is to get through the every day motions of life gracefully. She should learn how to stand well and how to sit properly, and how to walk gracefully when she is a child, and should grow up instinctively graceful. It is a hard lesson to learn when she's older.

You can practice how to sit before a mirror, in fact, it is the only way for you to learn your faults. Remember that exercise of any kind tends to make you graceful by developing all the muscles used in action.

Mrs. William L. F.:—Any portion of the body can be reduced through persistent massage, but general reduction will bring results more quickly. For instance, when the face has grown heavy, as you say yours has, you must be very much overweight and a course of dieting will not only refine the features but will make your figure youthful also.

THE NEW IDEA IN PAJAMAS
Cleverly designed are these pajamas, and the additional touch of hand-embroidery on the surplice collar and flowing sleeves emphasizes their femininity. The coat closes at the left side-front, and the flowing sleeves may or may not be added, as fancy suggests. The lower edges of the trousers are rolled up to form cuffs, then embroidered to correspond with the collar and sleeves. Medium size requires 6 3/4 yards 36-inch material.

Pictorial Review Pajamas No. 1520. Sizes 36, 40, and 44 inches bust. Price, 35 cents.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

WHAT THE DEAF ENDURE
Which would you rather be, deaf or blind?
Don't say—"A little of neither, if you please, and I'm much obliged."

I know that already. But if you had to choose?
I suppose ninety-nine out of a hundred are saying that they would rather be deaf.

I certainly would, myself. But there is one thing about deafness that makes it harder to bear—The deaf person does not get one-tenth the sympathy and forbearance and understanding that the blind person does.

In fact, the deaf person has often to stand impatience and ridicule on top of his deafness.

If You Tried Hard Enough
When anyone says he can't see things no one doubts him.

But if you say you can't hear, people seem to think you are just being careless or inattentive and that if you tried hard enough you could hear.

I have a friend who has recently become quite deaf. Her mother-in-law lives in the home with her. When the telephone rings and my friend is upstairs, she does not hear it. It will ring and ring and ring and finally, spoon. Stir to avoid burning, and when soft and thick it is time to add the sugar. Mix well and boil slowly, until the juice is jelly-like when you test it by putting a few drops on a plate. Then turn the marmalade into hot, sterilized jelly glasses and cover, when cold, with melted paraffine.

wholesome food. Buttermilk and artificially soured milk are also wholesome foods and are more easily digested by some than plain milk.

As buttermilk is the product which is left from the cream after it has been churned to butter, it lacks the fat (with its growth-promoting vitamins) and has not the energy or caloric value of whole milk—only half as much. The energy value and the vitamin value of fermented milk depend upon whether they are made of whole or skimmed milk.

There is a common impression that a thunder storm will cause milk to sour. This is not true. It is the hot weather and not the thunder which causes the souring. The fact that the milk was at the point of souring at the time and the coincidence of the thunder gives rise to the impression. Milk that is cooled rapidly after milking, and kept cool, will not sour during a thunder storm (unless it is ready to sour). Heating milk which is nearly ready to sour will cause it to turn and curdle.

TODAY—Chicago—and Venice; The Pigeoner; Birds and Humans. TOMORROW—Poor Prince Regent; Finance Almost Stranger; the Guest Problem, by Duke N. Parry, Tokio.

By ROLAND KREBS, For International News Service

CHICAGO, July 20.—If everyone has heard about the pigeons of St. Mark's we can go ahead and tell this story of why a slice of Chicago resembles Venice.

It's not because of the drainage canal, over which ply barges and scows in gondola fashion, or because of the many bridges which span it, but because of the pigeons which inhabit, in flocks, the eaves and apertures of the Chicago Board of Trade building downtown.

Here—the financial district—is one of the busiest spots in one of the world's busiest cities.

The principal reason for the presence of the birds is the fact that they have been adopted, in sense, by a shabby individual who slinks out of the alleys to feed them daily, then slinks back to oblivion.

Pigeons, again—like humans, seem to care little for a stock diet. So, whenever they feel the need of a change or a bit of desert, they go foraging about the "L" stations.

On each of the station platforms are many glass containers for salted peanuts. A penny inserted brings out a handful.

The birds loaf about and beg until the first person treats them. Others usually follow his example, and soon the flock is eating peanuts by the handful.

He is a tall, gaunt man, and his clothes are frayed. His complexion is of olive hue, and he is about 35 years old.

"Your grandfather and grandmother are going on a long, long journey, away out to California, which lies along the Pacific ocean and is the country in which I was born," explained Daisy, the twins' other.

"I met your father out here when he was coming home from the Russian-Japanese war, and we were married out there, and I came back east with him, our Uncle Stubby and Button, whom you are so fond of, stood up with us. My, I should like to go back and see it all once again!

"Oh, mother," said one of the twins, "you are such a 'friday' at! I should think you would have enjoyed seeing all the things that you have seen."

"Easier said than done, my son," returned Daisy.

"Well, we are tired of sticking around here where nothing happens," said the other twin, "and we want to travel, so we are going to go with grandfather and grandmother."

"Yes, that is what we will do," agreed the other twin. "We are big enough now to take care of ourselves, and strong enough to walk miles and miles. Anyway, we can walk farther than grandmother, for now she always gets a rheumatic cramp in her leg when she walks very far."

"Oh, yes, you can take care of yourselves now," said their father. "How about the time Mr. Woodrow's big Dane dog came bounding out of the lane at you, and would have gobbled you up if I had not been there?"

"That would be all right for that time. But there are other great Danes, and people with long whips, and snarling little dogs that snap and bite at your heels, and big boys that throw stones, and oh, hundreds of other things you two are afraid of. You don't know what terrible things

RADIO BY FRANK CHAPMAN

HOW TO PROTECT YOUR AERIAL

Instead of being a hazard, your radio, when properly set up and protected, provides protection for your home. An aerial when grounded, forms an ideal lightning rod.

The above refers to the outdoor aerial, while the indoor aerial needs no mention as it is indoors and not subject to electrical discharges like the large outdoor type.

There are two common methods of protecting your aerial against electrical discharges, the switch and the arrester. The former usually consists of a single knife blade switch that can be thrown to the right or the left and is known as a single pole double throw knife switch.

One stage of tuned radio frequency will improve the tuning qualities of a single circuit set. Careful study of the why and wherefore of your set will amply repay you in signal strength.

There is nothing mysterious about radio, but common sense must be used to get good results.

"STUDY OF PRIMITIVE MAN WOULD HELP AVOID WARS," SAYS ETHNOLOGIST

Will science use anthropology to avoid racial conflicts as effectively as it is waging out disease with preventive medicine? That the world soon will give anthropological treatment to one of its most vital problems, the hope and belief of T. A. Joyce, eminent British ethnologist, who is here to assist in excavations at the ancient Indian settlement of Kechiapuna, New Mexico—the first archaeological expedition undertaken by Great Britain into the United States.

"The most advanced colonizing nations and nations that have internal populations of primitive races," said Joyce recently, "are now working out their administrative policies on a basis that recognizes the practical value of archaeological and social anthropology. This is especially true in the British colonial empire, which is confronted with so many and such difficult racial problems. And it is high time that science came to the rescue in the interests of peace and constructive colonization. Many of England's most costly wars could have been averted by an elementary knowledge of social anthropology."

A slight understanding of primitive thought may puncture social structure, for instance, would have removed the cause of the New Zealand war, which took a great toll of life, as the Maoris were first-class fighters. These people had no idea of personal property in land. The land "ta-

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories BY HOWARD R. GARIS

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy stepped out on the shady front porch of the hollow stump bungalow, where Uncle Wiggily was sitting in an easy chair.

"I don't like to disturb you, Mr. Longears," said the muskrat lady housekeeper, "but—"

"Oh, have this chair, by all means!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman quickly hopping up, and offering Nurse Jane a seat with a low and polite bow of his pink, twinkling nose.

"No! No! thank you! I don't want to sit down," explained Nurse Jane. "I just want to ask you to water the grass. We have had so much rain in a long time and the poor grass is so dried and withered that I am afraid it will die."

"I'll get the hose and water it," offered Uncle Wiggily.

"And be careful you don't water any of your friends or my friends who may be passing along," warned Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"Oh, I guess I know how to water with a hose without sprinkling any one," laughed Uncle Wiggily, and soon he was wetting the grass.

"Most as soon as the rabbit gentleman sprayed on the refreshment water, the green blades which had been dry and drooping, began to lift their heads.

"Ah, water is a wonderful thing, to thirsty grass as well as to thirsty animals," thought Uncle Wiggily, and then he saw a robin bird down on the lawn, looking for worms and bugs.

"Hello, Mr. Robin!" greeted Uncle Wiggily. "I know you like a little shower bath on a hot day like this, so I'll wet you."

"Uncle Wiggily jiggled the end of the hose and sprayed a little water on the robin, who liked it very much. But no sooner had Mr. Longears jiggled the hose than, from the other side of the nozzle, behind which stood the hollow stump bungalow, there came a voice, shouting:

"Hi, there! Look out what you are doing! You're wetting me! Oh, my goodness, there goes my tail silk hat!"

"Uncle Wiggily! Uncle Wiggily!" cried Nurse Jane from an upstairs window, "you've sprinkled Uncle Butter all over with water!"

"Bless my pink nose!" cried the bunny gentleman. He dropped the nozzle end of the hose and ran in front to tell the goat gentleman how sorry he was. But as Uncle Wiggily dropped the hose the end of it gave a flop and a lot of water sprayed over Nurse Jane at the window.

"Oh, look out! You're wetting Uncle Butter," squeaked the muskrat lady.

"I beg your pardon!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "And I beg yours, also, Uncle Butter, for wetting you," added the bunny as he ran around to the other side of the hedge fence and saw Uncle Butter all dripping wet, silk hat and everything.

"Who did this?" bleated the goat gentleman. "Who wet my new tail silk hat the very first day I wore it? Who did it?"

"I'm sorry to say I did," confessed Uncle Wiggily. "But, Uncle Butter," he quickly added, "do you know it will do your silk hat good to get wet?"

"No, will it?" asked the goat. "Yes," said Uncle Wiggily, "it will be so much cooler on your head when it is wet. Try it."

So the goat gentleman put on his wet hat.

"You're right, Uncle Wiggily," he bleated. "I'm glad you sprinkled me with the hose."

"Well, I got out of that trouble very luckily," whispered the rabbit gentleman, when Uncle Butter skipped along.

"But don't you sprinkle me again," squeaked Nurse Jane.

"Uncle Wiggily promised that he would not, but no sooner had he taken up the hose again, than along walked Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig. Mrs. Twistytail had on a new bonnet, and of course, Uncle Wiggily jiggled the hose and sprayed Mrs. Twistytail all over.

"Here! Stop it! Who is making it rain on me?" cried the lady pig, and Uncle Wiggily had to run around the hedge again and tell how sorry he was. Then he added:

"But it will do your bonnet good, Mrs. Twistytail, to be wet, for it will make you very cool."

"Oh, so it will," grunted the lady pig, and she went on without getting angry or scolding the bunny.

"You are very lucky," said Nurse Jane to Uncle Wiggily. "And just then along came the Woolly Wolf to nibble the rabbit, but Uncle Wiggily turned the hose on the bad chap and filled his mouth full of water, so all the Wolf could say was:

"Gurgle-urgle-urgle-gulp!" And away he ran.

"Now you are luckier than ever," laughed Nurse Jane, "but from this on you had better water the grass." And the bunny did, making the lawn fresh and green. He said it was lots of fun.

And if the pin doesn't try to stand on its head and stick its little sharp leg in the eye of the needle I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily in the hammock.

Bartlett crossed 500 miles of ice to Siberia with an Eskimo, got relief and returned to the island and on September 1, 1914, reached Nome, Alaska, with the fourteen survivors who had spent the winter there. He has received many medals, including the Hubbard gold medal of the National Geographic Society.

He has just come out of Newfoundland, where he spent the worst winter in fifty-two years seal hunting. He was rescued under his father's name, who is 72, about March 1 into the heaviest ice floes and gales that part of the world has known since 1870, and is now planning the earliest possible return.

Bartlett became the master of a sealer when he was 17, and now holds both American and English master's tickets. Born in Newfoundland in 1875, he became an American citizen fifteen years ago. His first Arctic expedition was in

EAGLE ROCK BOROUGH SYSTEM NOW ADVOCATED

Hollywood Man Tells Eagle Rock C. of C. About Advisory Plan

The "open forum" meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, held Tuesday night, July 7, is an indication of what may be accomplished in the future for Eagle Rock, predicts Donnel Montgomery, secretary of the organization. "One thing is certain," Mr. Montgomery states, "and that is we are going to require a more spacious meeting place, as it is obvious that these public meetings are filling a public need and will be well attended."

Godfrey Edwards presided over the meeting, in the absence of O. J. Root, president. Among the various interesting reports rendered and suggestions made, perhaps nothing interested the audience more than an outline by George Dunlop, ex-mayor of Hollywood, of the borough system of government, suggesting a borough board of five members, to co-operate with the officials of the larger city in an advisory capacity only, said board to be appointed by local civic organizations, and not elected.

Such a "borough council," he said, should have power to levy a small tax, so that they could take care of minor expenses without burdening the larger body. A resolution endorsing this form of government for the Eagle Rock district of Los Angeles was unanimously passed.

Building Market
 J. Grimesmann of North Townsend avenue is building five stores on the corner of Townsend and Colorado. It is understood that the Sam Seelig Grocery Company is to establish a market in one of the stores.
 J. Richard Haas of the firm of Haas & DeVol, realtors, 204 East Colorado boulevard, is vacationing on his 160-acre ranch at Big Bear lake, taking with him a sister who has recently arrived from St. Louis. Mr. Haas plans to be away about two weeks. On his return, H. I. DeVol of the above firm will motor to San Diego and other points in the vicinity, taking with him his family, together with Miss Haas, who is in California for the first time.

The Shell Oil Company is erecting a service station at the northwest corner of Colorado boulevard and Fairmont avenue.
 Mr. Candee, well known in Eagle Rock, where he was formerly treasurer of the water board, was here yesterday, looking over some locations with a view to settling in this vicinity once more. Mr. Candee lives in Arcadia at present. He spoke of the many developments in the months since he left.

Social and Personal
 Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Johnson of 225 West Ridgeway avenue are planning to leave July 23 for a two weeks' vacation in the High Sierras. They will make the trip in their car.
 Mrs. Ellis Rhodes, who is well known locally as June Hamilton Rhodes, is visiting her parents at their Central and Adams avenues home. She has been doing the publicity and advertising work for the Denishawn Dancers, who leave in the fall on an extensive trip through the east.
 Dick Koen is at Camp Bradford, near Redlands, for a two weeks' stay with the Western Rangers, at their encampment there.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Schinker of 230 North Victoria are spending a week at Elsinore Hot Springs, having just completed their building at Central and Ridgeway avenues.
 Mrs. I. E. Moore of West Sycamore avenue, is attending the nurses' conference of the Seventh Day Adventist denomination, in progress at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Mrs. William Elliott and son, Thomas Davidson, have been vacationing at Camp Baldy, with the

SECOND MATE ON RACE TO HAWAII

Claude Putnam Joins Flagship on Yacht Clubs' Dash to Honolulu

Commodore Claude Putnam of the Newport Harbor Yacht club, a resident of 424 North Glendale avenue, Glendale, will sail as second mate on Admiral Albert Soiland's flagship of the Pacific Coast Yachting association, the Viking IV, in the third annual race from Santa Barbara to the Hawaiian Islands.

The ships will take sail tomorrow at noon, Saturday, July 21, from Santa Barbara, with six entries in the race, according to Mr. Putnam. They are as follows:

Poinsettia, scratch schooner entered by the California Yacht club; Mariner, entered by the San Francisco Yacht club; Idalia, entered by the California Yacht club; Spindrift, flagship of the California Yacht club, commanded by Commodore Overton. Diablo, entered by the Santa Barbara Yacht club; Viking IV, flagship of the Pacific Coast association.

Wildley Is Officer
 Otto G. Wildley, well-known local realtor, will be third mate on the latter ship. Mr. Putnam states The yachts Casiana and Goodwill, both equipped with wireless apparatus, plan to accompany the racers as the entries will have their engines sealed and be without power other than lighting equipment.

The race terminates at Diamond Head, five miles out of Honolulu and from there the yachts will be towed into Honolulu harbor by tugs, as the coral reefs are difficult to navigate with a sailing ship.
 The Pacific Coast Yachting association, under whose auspices the race is being held, is composed of several groups of yacht clubs including those of southern California, San Francisco bay, also Seattle, but no northern entries have been made.

Record time for the race is 11 days and 6 hours, but it is not expected that this will be bettered this year, Mr. Putnam says.

OLD ICE HOUSES BECOME FEWER

Modern Scientific Methods Supersede Old Storage System in U. S.

"The old storage ice house, the rickety ice house, the old-fashioned ice house, that served none too well."

Perhaps some local bard can do better. At any rate, it is fitting and proper, and in line with the general tendency of poets, to immortalize things of the past, that a few lines be written regarding the ice house, a relic of days gone by which is rapidly disappearing.

Ice is now produced close to points of consumption, even if these are in climates where there is no such thing as freezing weather. Formerly ice was harvested during the winter in the far north, kept in ice houses, and transported southward by rail or boat. Now ice houses are becoming fewer as the mechanical production of ice has reached a high degree of perfection.

At the present time, the United States produces mechanically about forty million tons of ice annually, worth about two hundred million dollars. Five thousand plants turn it out. Fifty years ago, there were only three ice plants in the entire country.

Science is steadily supplanting nature, and has rendered it practicable to manufacture ice at any time, and well-nigh anywhere, of a quality distinctly superior to the product of pond or river. The whole art of ice making, as well as that of refrigeration generally, is moving forward steadily; and artificial ice has almost entirely supplanted natural ice. The result is that in many parts of the United States, people are today enjoying the convenience of a well filled refrigerator which could not be enjoyed not so many years ago.
