TYAn error committed in the office of the Parish Cou has been published in an advertisement inserted in our paper in which the name of Mr Victor Burtun was erroneously nentioned. We are requested to correct it in this manner-Mr VICTOR BATET versus his creditors. To the identity of the two first names the mistake is solely to be attributed.

An extra meeting of the city council will be held tomor fow evening, when members will sit in general committee to consider the best means of organizing that department of the city police relating to the office and duties of ward com missinners or constables. The members seem fortunatel to be unanimous with regard to the necessity of this measure; and it is earnestly hoped that the best means will be adopted to attain the end proposed. Halfway measures can not answer, when a radical change is required.

THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW, No 87 for April 18258 Boston, Charles Bowen.

We confess we have always read this quarterly review with estisfaction, from the instruction it usually affords. We had read some numbers of it in London-where it is as extenpively circulated as in many places in this country; and as soon as we had an opportunity of access to the public libragies of the east, we perused the whole series, as an accurate & admirable specimen of the state and advencement of the anational literature and events.

Formerly there were three literary reviews published quara terly in this country : the one before us published at Boston;

The April number of this North American Review contains ten articles; but we regret to find that of these ten only two have immediate or direct reference to the Interature or history of the United States:—these are one on 'Immigration' and one ion the publication called 'National portrait gallery of distinguished Americans.' The article on immigration is now particularly entitled to attention, from the very great influx of foreign paupers into this country; and that As a means of investment no railroad ever promised so medi. Sir—The New Orleans and Nashville railroal was taken up in November last by our citizens by the manifestation of more general interest for its success than has been even evinced by them for any other undertaking.

The object of this road is to open an intersourse by land with the States east and west of the mountains; and upon the success of the present effort five attainment of that great object depends. Nashville is 1350 miles distant by the river and 500 by land; and with the present improveding ans of intercourse can we submit to be limited to the route by water, subject as it is to interruption during more than half the unbject as it is to interruption during more than half the rear? This suestion was promptly decided in November ast by our citizens, and nothing more is now required than to follow up the steps then taken. The most effectual meato sullow up the steps them taken. The most effectual measures were then adopted to ascertain the nature and extent of the difficulties to be overcome. This has now been done; and the result must afford pleasure to every inhabitant of our country. The subjoined extract of a letter from the chief engineer of the company places the undertaking in a more avourable light than was expected by its most sanguine favourable light than was expected by its most sanguing supporters; with a knowledge of this important fact our cit zens are now invited to complete the work they so energetically bears, by subscribing to such portion of the stock as yet remains to be taken. This undertaking must receive its support from the great body of our citizens, and upon them now rests its successor its failure. It is within the them now rests its success or its failure. It is within the reach of almost every citizens to take from ten to fifty shares reach of almost every citizens to take from ten to fifty shares be the payment of only one dollar per share is required; so small as effect on the part of one thousand or more of our citizens would insure success; and would not fail to give the stock a high character in every market. Never had a community stronger inducements for action than on this occasion—a failure will lose forever to our city and state the case of the state of Mississipals to the rest work—in aid of the school fund of said parishes respectively.

reject the direct communication with our city which we offer them; and send their produce to the river to be subjected to the charge of drayage, commissions, insurance, and a freight in itself great to that on the railroad. But should our parishes fall in their support, our friends in the interior of Mississippi must unite in tavor of the roads to the river; and once fixed an interest in those improvements, the concurrence of that state is forever lost. That such a result is inavirable there can be no difference of oninion. It is now most obvisously the interest of two thirds of the planters of Mississippi to aid us in our great undertaking—they have done so

As the greatest trade is in that direction this will be favorable, and 1 think the road ought to be so constructed as to use engines drawing 800 bales of cotton, one starting morning and evening from each end of the line.
