JAPANESE SQUADRON WILL REACH ESQUIMALT HARBOR ON MONDAY AFTERNOON

Fleet of Three Vessels Under Vice-Admiral Hyakutake Has Been on Long Cruise; List of Engagements for Victoria.

Nearly 2,400 Japanese naval officers and men will be in Victoria from Monday afternoon until daybreak on Friday. They compose the personnel of the Imperial Japanese naval training squadron, which is now on a 20,000-mile cruise.

After a lengthy cruise off the American Coast, visits are to be paid to Victoria and Vancouver before proceeding to Honolulu, en route home. A wonderful reception has been accorded this week at the Golden Gate, and at no other port of call perhaps will it be possible to rival the enthusiasm, the cordiality, and the heartiness of the welcome at San Francisco.

The fleet will take up its anchorage in Esquimalt Harbor at 1 o'clock, and the first afternoon will be occupied in the round of formal visits. Hope had been expressed that the vessels could be brought to Orford Point, where they would be more accessible to the public, but this morning it was stated the plan was not practicable.

THE PROGRAMME. On Monday evening the Federal Government will give a dinner at 8 o'clock at the Empress Hotel to the Vice-Admiral, and his officers. While this function is in progress the smoker given by the city for 21 midshipmen at the Chamber of Commerce will be held, when it is expected that the visitors will give an exhibition of Japanese wrestling. The Sea Cadets Band will supply the music.

On February 3 the officers of the Naval Barracks at Esquimalt will entertain the Japanese Admiral and seventeen of his officers at luncheon, after which the visitors will be taken on a motor drive through the coast and enter the city at 10 p.m. That evening Consul L. Gange will give a banquet to about 150 ladies and gentlemen in honor of Admiral Hyakutake.

On February 4 the Canadian Club of Victoria will be hosts to Admiral Hyakutake and his officers at luncheon. (Concluded on page 2.)

ANTI-TOXIN IS TAKEN TO NOME BY DOG TEAM

Health Board Expects to be Able to Check Epidemic of Diphtheria

Five Deaths Reported to Date; Twenty-two Cases Known to Physician

Nome, Alaska, Jan. 31.—Five persons have died of diphtheria, twenty-two cases have been reported, thirty persons are suspected of having the disease and fifty others have come in contact with diphtheria patients during the epidemic raging here, it was announced to-day.

Leonard Sappella, who left Kaitia, 200 miles west of Nome, 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, was expected to arrive this afternoon with 300,000 units of anti-toxin, sent from Anchorage. The local health board expects to control the epidemic when the serum arrives.

DOG-TEAM RECORD

The best time made in the dog derby formerly run at Nome, and in which Sappella was a famous contender, was seventy-four hours and thirty-nine minutes for 400 miles. There were no relays in that event and but one driver finished with the dogs with which he started or with (Concluded on page 2.)

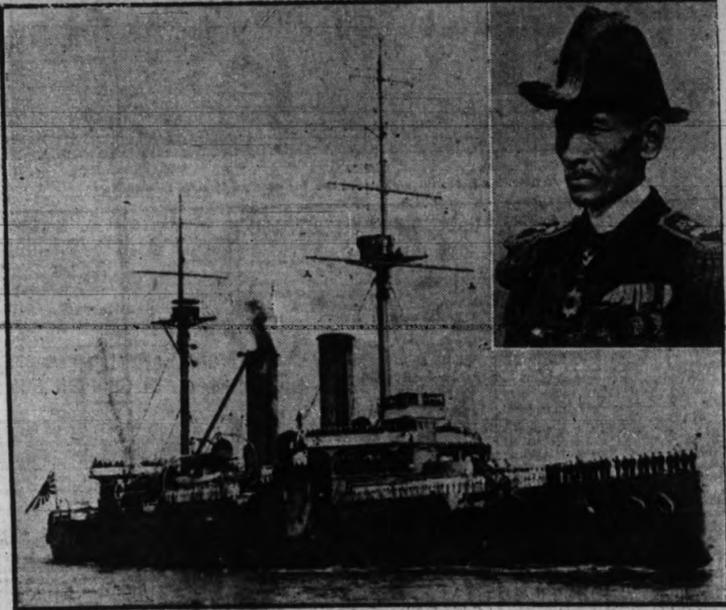

TRIBESMEN MADE RAISUL PRISONER

Moreoccan Bandit Leader in Hands of Rifian Fighters, Says Dispatch

Madrid, Jan. 31.—The Rifian tribesmen have captured Tazart, and Raisul, the bandit leader, is a prisoner in his house, guarded by soldiers of the shereff, says an official statement issued to-day. The statement declares that Raisul's position became considerably worse and he is believed to have been forced to surrender to those he fought.

The Spanish forces, it is added, are watchfully awaiting developments, but have thus far remained neutral, as they have not been affected by the fighting.

FIVE KILLED DURING FIRE IN CITY OF CHICAGO

Two Persons Missing; Four Were Injured When Apartment House Burned

Chicago, Jan. 31.—Five persons were killed and four injured when fire destroyed a four-story, sixteen-apartment building at Nineteenth Street and Blackstone Avenue here this morning. Two others of the approximately 100 in the building were reported missing.

The identified dead: Anthony Hardie, twenty-four, and his twenty-two-year-old wife, Olive, and Loretta Prior, sixteen. The bodies of a woman and a baby could be seen in the debris and were believed to be those of Mrs. Elixabeth Prior, mother of Loretta, and Doris, nineteen-months-old daughter of the Hardies. The woman was killed when she leaped from a third-story window.

BUILDING WAS OLD. The building was old, dating from Chicago World's Fair days, and was consumed quickly despite the efforts of more than a score of fire companies, summoned by extra and special alarms. The occupants had no time to dress for the below-zero temperature. University of Chicago students from nearby fraternity houses aided in rescue and relief work, as did guests of the adjoining Del Prado Hotel. Many of the apartment house residents were saved by leaps into fire nets, while others crawled to safety over planks thrust into their windows from the hotel.

SPARKS WIND AT TIME. Sparks from the burning building, whipped by a strong wind, ignited several other buildings, one three squares away, but no other serious damage was done.

Efforts of the college students and hotel guests in caring for the fire victims prevented a costly check, and the firemen said it was possible other bodies might be found when they searched thoroughly through the debris.

200 OLD COUNTRY INFLUENZA DEATHS

London, Jan. 31.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Influenza is causing considerable suffering throughout England and a good many deaths have resulted from the epidemic, though the death toll is not so high as it was a year ago when influenza was ravaging the country. However, the deaths in the principal cities and towns last week totalled nearly 200.

Bank clearings for the month ending to-day total $8,298,260, the clearing house figures show. For January 1924, the total clearings were $8,011,612. CHINESE HELD TO BE DEPORTED FREED BY RULING

Jung Sow Freed From Oakalla Prison as Result of Mr. Justice Macdonald

Legislation Passed by Parliament in 1918 Operates in Unexpected Way

Vancouver, Jan. 31.—Smiles wreathed the face of Jung Sow as he stepped from the gates of Oakalla prison a free man, after serving a sentence for having narcotic drugs in his possession and a further few weeks as the guest of the Minister of Justice of Canada pending deportation to China.

When J. R. Nicholson succeeded in satisfying Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald Friday that there was some strange freak of the law and given it to the Minister of Immigration and Colonization, he let the sunlight into the cell of Jung and incidentally caused rays to fall in a number of other Oakalla cells where Chinese await deportation.

Last evening, within a few hours of the handing down of the ruling by the court the warden at the prison was handed an official document signed by the Supreme Court judge. (Concluded on page 2.)

ABORIGINAL GUESTS RECEIVED BY SONGHEES INDIANS ON RESERVE

When the Indian keeps a festive season he does it well. Those few white men who were privileged last evening to unite with their aboriginal fellows in the cedar hewn community hall on the Songhees reserve, Esquimalt, were carried beyond the present day and generation. They saw the Indian in ceremonial dress and palaver as his ancestors exhibited themselves to the early navigators.

The occasion was a social gathering—it partook little of the rough scenes of the proscribed potlatch—at which the members of the Songhees tribe were hosts to Indians from all over southern Vancouver Island and from the adjacent islands, while here and there were aborigines from the reserves across the Strait of Fuca.

The scene was in keeping with this revival of venerable custom enlivened with the traditions of the tribes where the Indians celebrated the west of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway track, north of the new drydock, and rectangular in form, tiers of seats gave opportunity for the spectators to have a full view of the proceedings, while the flames and smoke rose from two fires at either end of the central space reserved for the performers. A vent in the roof carried the smoke into the open air. It was indeed worthy of a tribal council or ceremonial.

BARBIC DANCES. Those women who danced displayed the lithic form and grace of early womanhood, up to the wrinkled brow of age, while the chiefs of the tribes gave counsel to the young men in form and style as Maquinna lectured (Concluded on page 2.)

TANKER ADrift IN ATLANTIC; LOST PROPELLER CAUSE

New York, Jan. 31.—The British tank steamship San Dunston, bound for Southampton from Colon Canal Zone, lost her propeller last night and was drifting, according to a SOS message received by the Independent Wireless early to-day. The position of the vessel was given as "ten miles north of Louisiana, N.S."

The naval wireless station operator got the position as "off Louisiana, North Carolina." The San Dunston left San Pedro December 20 and after stopping at Colon, continued the voyage to Southampton on January 3.

944 PRESBYTERIAN GROUPS HAVE DECLARED FOR UNION AND 337 AGAINST NEW PLAN

Toronto, Jan. 31.—Reports received up to noon to-day by the Church Union Bureau of Information here, showed 944 Presbyterian congregations in Canada had voted for church union and 337 had voted against the United Church of Canada.

SIR R. FALCONER SPEAKS. "As a Presbyterian and a Calvinist—fundamentally a Calvinist—I believe man has very little to do with the direction of affairs and I believe the movement of human life are God-directed," said Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto, in a speech here on church union.

He drew a parallel between difficulties attending the union of the churches and those attendant upon the consummation of Confederation. To-day Canada was a nation of the same people from Halifax to Victoria. He saw the same future for the churches and for the country. (Concluded on page 2.)

TWO MEN HURT IN ACCIDENT ON ROAD

TRADES CONGRESS LEADERS LAY LEGISLATION REQUESTS BEFORE FEDERAL CABINET

Parliament is Asked to Provide at Forthcoming Session for Unemployment Insurance Throughout Canada; Geneva Eight-hour Day Plans Given Support; Proportional Representation in Federal Group Constituencies Suggested.

Ottawa, Jan. 31 (Canadian Press)—Abolition of the Senate, establishment of unemployment insurance and old age pensions and a request that Canada ask the United States Government to remove the discrimination between Canadian born and other Canadian citizens in the quota relations were among the legislative proposals submitted to the Prime Minister and Cabinet this afternoon by a deputation from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Other matters submitted were amendment of the Elections Act to provide for proportional representation in group constituencies and the transferable vote in single constituencies and the creation of a public holiday on election day or a better arrangement of voting hours for workmen's ballots.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY PLAN. The deputation urged that immediate effect be given to the eight-hour day convention of the International Labor Organization so far as lay within the power of the Government of Canada. This subject introduced by E. Hughes, Canadian vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

VIEWERS UNCHANGED. Speaking in favor of abolition of the Senate, J. T. Foster, vice-president of the Congress, stressed the Government there had been no change in the policy of the Congress since the last session, and that the Government would be doing away with the Senate. Labor would support the Government in any measure which would restrict the power of the Senate, especially involving legislation passed by the House of Commons, or would reduce the Senate's number or make it more representative and answerable to the people for its actions.

INSURANCE PLAN. In presenting unemployment insurance, James Simpson, vice-president of the Congress, stressed the endorsement of the numerous public bodies for a measure of this nature and the inability of the workers themselves to make provision against the recurring periods of unemployment. The opinion was again expressed that unemployment relief of age while the chiefs of the tribes gave counsel to the young men in form and style as Maquinna lectured (Concluded on page 2.)

While the transportation companies made determined efforts to overcome what was described as the worst storm in years, the telegraph and telephone companies undertook to patch up their broken wires and the population of the Eastern States in general stirred themselves to dig out of the snowbanks. NEW AMBULANCE IS ENTIRELY PRODUCT OF LOCAL CONCERN

Built by Cameron and Calwell For Service in Victoria

The latest addition to the big fleet of automobiles operated in this city by the Cameron and Calwell interests is a fast ambulance car, constructed along the lines of the most up-to-date machines and built entirely by local concerns. As something unique, it is attracting wide attention here. The chassis, supplied by Dodge Brothers, is equipped with special springs which make the riding quality of the car splendid and give the maximum of comfort.

The body of the car was built by experts in the Cameron and Calwell garage here, and the ash woodwork, the pieces being supplied by Lemon and Gonnason mills, gives the body a substantial interior finish which is most attractive to the eye and will stand up to all kinds of hard work. The paint and enamel, inside and outside, was supplied by the British-American Paint Company, and the finish on the machine is particularly good. The car is done in white, which sets off the fine glass work in the sides of the body to good effect, and gives the car a fresh, clean appearance. It is particularly good in that it is necessary in work in which it will be engaged.

The glass work, which is a feature of the new car, and the rubber tilling on the floor, is the work of the Wm. O'Neil Company, and the hardware came from the Drake Hardware Company.

NEW AMBULANCE IN SERVICE

Cameron & Calwell's beautiful ambulance car for emergency calls in Victoria.

with which the car is equipped, is of the very latest design, built in New York and shipped here direct. This stretcher, can, by means of various adjustments, be taken through very narrow doors, or crowded into a small elevator or carried up a narrow stairway with ease. It is built especially for the work to which it is now being put.

Within the ambulance is every modern convenience known for use in the emergency. There is hot and cold running water; two stationary chairs; excellent ventilation; plenty of light and other little comforts and conveniences.

The driver's seat, to the left of the car, with room for a helper to sit beside him, gives him a means of communication with the person or persons within the rear part of the car. In this way, anyone with whom he may be traveling can give instructions or ask for assistance if that be necessary.

The car rides smoothly over the worst roads on balloon tires, of Ames Holden manufacture, supplied by Tergeson Brothers of this city. The engine, the famous Dodge four cylinder, has the requisite power to give the maximum of necessary speed and the smooth running qualities for which this make of car is famous.

his braves before John Jewett more than a century ago.

Prior to the ceremonies of dance and lecture, festivities were made according to tribal custom.

Like most aboriginal gatherings, much of the success depended on the music, the performers helping the movement of the proceedings with a singular rhythm, at times a little barbaric, at others that of some more modern type which fascinated the mind of the tribesman. To stimulate that attitude of ecstasy which brought out the best in the dance, the music rose at times crescendo, the performers vibrating their message as the front rows beat time with their batons.

Chief Michael Cooper, of the Songhees reservation, and Louis Underwood and George, and others exhorted the crowd in turn. While it would be difficult to single out the dancers, perhaps the most charming was the debutante daughter of Chief George, who won much applause.

MONEY SETTLEMENT IN CHAPLIN HOME

McMurray to-day is quoted by The Times as admitting that financial negotiations "are in progress," though declaring "there is no connection between these negotiations and any contemplated action for separation or divorce."

CONFERENCES HELD

George Beebe, who looked after the legal interests of Mrs. Chaplin's grandparents for many years, is the other attorney who has represented the bride and her family in the negotiations to date, says The Times, adding that several conferences already have been held with Chaplin's attorneys.

NO INTERVIEWS

Requests for a personal interview with Mrs. Chaplin on the subject were met, according to The Times, with the statement from McMurray that she could only repeat what he had given out.

What part, if any, the anticipated arrival of an heir to the Chaplin fortune has played or will play in the negotiations was not disclosed, nor was any hint divulged of the possible terms of the settlement.

PRESBYTERIAN VOTE ON CHURCH UNION

"We are sorry there are people who do not see this with us. We know they have a hard task coming, though perhaps they do not know that the scattered congregations throughout Canada shut off from the great union movement."

"This is a period of great destiny, of great difficulty and of great trial. The church is going through such experiences as were gone through in other countries in the past. In the years to come those who have taken part in the present union movement will think of themselves as being fortunate to share in it."

COMES AS SURPRISE WHEN DISCOVERY IS MADE OF NEW LAW

The city tax rate will be reduced by half a mill, and the school rate increased by a corresponding amount, it was stated at the city treasury to-day. This is owing to the fact that under the amended legislation for liquor profits to be used for school purposes, the credits will go direct to the municipal treasury. This takes about $30,000 away from school credits in 1925.

West does not know anything of the problems of our new Western land. "Ninety-six per cent of the Western churches have voted themselves in to union and Mr. Parker, if he lives long enough, will regret he said that. Mr. Parker's statement will be flashed to the press and there they will know what the leaders of the anti-unionists of Ontario have to say of the West."

COMMUNIST BEARD

THE DEPARTURE OF Commander Beard

Commander Beard, who will leave Esquimalt for England early next week, will occasion genuine regret throughout this community.

As officer in charge of Esquimalt naval station Commander Beard has established a reputation for efficiency which extends far beyond local boundaries.

Commander Beard's many friends here feel that they are safe in predicting for him a highly successful naval career.

FRANCE AND DEBTS

IN A GENERAL SENSE there is not an individual in any of the Allied countries who does not appreciate the attitude which France is adopting towards the payment of her war debts.

In the first place official pronouncements are frequently made to the effect that instead of having an unemployment problem on her hands, France is actually experiencing a shortage of labor.

Flocks are on the down grade in the great wool-producing countries. The Yorkshire Post says that those of the Argentine have fallen from 80,000,000 to just half the number in less than thirty years.

Surely these facts mean something to the future of British Columbia with markets to which it ought to consider it has a right. They should also mean that Canada could profitably raise 20,000,000 sheep instead of the 2,000,000 she is raising at present.

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON

THERE IS NOTHING VERY SURPRISING

in the report that Earl Beatty and Mr. Winston Churchill do not agree on the sum that should be included in the estimates for the use of the navy.

The situation as now presented in dispatches from London, however, recalls an historical incident. Thirty-eight years ago last Tuesday the members of the British House of Commons listened while the late Lord Randolph Churchill's letter of resignation was read to them.

Nor must it be forgotten that unless some special effort is made to pay for this war, the limit that is extractable, its economic lesson will not be driven home to the people of this and the growing generation.

WE SHOULD GROW WOOL

BECAUSE HE IS IN THE business and naturally knows what he is talking about, particular importance attaches to the observations of Sir John Vicars, president of the Wool Growers' Association.

No doubt he is right. But it is also true that this Province should be a hundred times deeper in the sheep business than it is. Less than 60,000 of these important animals are grazing in British Columbia at the present time.

A correspondent in one of the Mainland newspapers discusses the great possibilities for developing the sheep-raising industry along the P.C.E. and in the Peace River district.

CHURCH UNION

To the Editor:—Mr. T. Menzies' letter of the 28th inst. calls for some comment. It is an old saying, "People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones."

Mr. Menzies is surely at his old game of "playing to the gallery," when he refers at such length to the Province of Saskatchewan. If the intention was to arouse antagonism between East and West, all I have to say is it is unworthy of a man in his position.

One other observation in regard to your correspondent's reference to Principal Fraser, and "an influential congregation in Toronto" wanting some guarantee as to doctrine. In regard to the former I can only say that Principal Fraser has on many occasions repudiated certain charges made against him by union advocates. In any event, whatever may be his personal opinions, he is not necessarily representative of the Presbyterian Church Association, and no one knows that better than Mr. Menzies.

MEMORIAL TO REV. MR. ANDREWS To the Editor:—At a meeting of the St. Mary's Church committee on Wednesday evening last it was decided that as the memorial window to the late rector, the Rev. G. H. Andrews, would be ready to install about the end of February, and that certain structural alterations were necessary before it could be placed in the church at the east end, and that as more accommodation is required in the chancel for the congregation and choir, as well as two vestries, it was no considered an opportune time to make the extensive alterations in the chancel.

ROUTIS FRENCH CHAMP Paris, Jan. 31.—Andre Routis was officially declared featherweight champion of France to-day by the French Boxing Federation, which last night informed Charley Ledoux, present champion, to get effect. The action is taken because of the refusal of M. Descaups, Ledoux's manager, to entertain an official challenge for the title endorsed and ratified by the ruling body of France, Descaups, the federation that he would let the championship go by default.

They do down the sluggish slow moving river, hearing the song of the rowers, then leaping and falling they shoot over the "Great Waterfall," at last reaching the sea, and from the tip of a wave out on the ocean vast they are drawn up by the sun to the soft clouds above to be crafted back to their lovely home high on the mountain side.

CAPITALIST GROUP TO VISIT CANADA

Party of British Manufacturers and Industrialists Coming

British Columbia Second on List For Dominion Chartered Companies

More British capitalists are looking to Canada, a report received by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce shows. Many reports have been received in the last few months of individual business men visiting the West to consider the advisability of establishing branch factories or making other investments in the Dominion.

The latest report received by the Chamber of Commerce states a party of them will pay a visit to Canada. A party of British industrialists and manufacturers will tour Canada in the near future to investigate the possibilities of the further use of Canadian raw materials and to study Canadian markets.

British Columbia led all provinces of Canada with the exception of Ontario in Dominion chartered companies, a report received by the Chamber shows. The authorized capital of new companies incorporated by letters of patent in Canada last year totalled $26,990,000. Dominion chartered companies totalled as follows: Alberta, $12,921,565; British Columbia, $9,511,000; Manitoba, $21,424,500; New Brunswick, $2,704,500; Ontario, $27,141,110; and Saskatchewan, $5,320,500.

British Columbia also led the four Western provinces in building during 1924, a Chamber of Commerce report shows. Building contracts to the number of 4,096 representing a value of $42,011,900 were issued in the four provinces during 1924. British Columbia was most active in new building, accounting for 2,094 contracts worth $23,161,100, followed by Alberta with 447 permits valued at $5,569,000; Manitoba, 909, $4,932,500 and Saskatchewan 626, $5,857,500.

Supporting the resolution will be Kenneth Ferguson, Kiwanis Club; Mrs. Tyrell Godman, Women's Canadian Club; Malcolm J. Macdonald and J. B. Woodruff, Oxford debating team.

Opposing it will be P. C. Abel, Rotary Club; Miss McKensie, Normal School; M. C. Hollis, Oxford debating team; and R. E. M. Yorburch, Victoria College.

Each of the eight speakers will be allowed fifteen minutes in which to make their plea. The chair will be taken by Harold Hinton. Prior to the debate Major Bullock-Webster of the B.C. Dramatic School, under whose auspices the Oxford debaters are here, will make a short introductory address.

This is the forty-fifth debate in which the Oxford team will have taken part in Canada, and incidentally their final appearance in debate on Canadian soil.

Wide interest has been created by the announcement of a two-hour debate between mixed teams composed of the Oxford debaters and local talent to be held to-night at the Anglican Memorial Hall, commencing at 7.45.

The question to be argued is: "That immigrants should not be admitted at a time of industrial depression."

Opposing it will be P. C. Abel, Rotary Club; Miss McKensie, Normal School; M. C. Hollis, Oxford debating team; and R. E. M. Yorburch, Victoria College.

Cougars Beat Regina And Now Lead League

Capitals, Without George Hay, Unable to Keep Pace With Victoria; Flashed Good Form in Last Two Periods; "Red" McCusker, a Regular "Tumbling Tom," Kept Score Down; Great Battle Expected To-night When Teams Fight it Out; Good Two-round Bout Last Night

Despite valiant efforts on the part of "Red" McCusker, goalie for Regina, Lester Patrick's Cougars scored enough goals to win last night's game at the Arena by three goals to one. Although they held a decided edge in the play the Cougars had to travel farther than usually necessary to get their goals because McCusker was in big league form.

The victory was particularly pleasing to the fans as it pushed the Cougars into undisputed possession of first place. Had Victoria failed the galloping Sheiks from Saskatoon would have been in the top berth this morning as they ran through the Edmonton Eskimos for a 4-0 victory and hurled Calgary. They are now in second place, one point in rear of the Cougars and going like the tail-end of a cyclone.

"Tumbling Tom" was a schoolboy character, but he visited Victoria last night in long trousers and with whiskers and as a regular ho-man. He turned out to be "Red" McCusker. Why they call him "Red" is hard to understand for in the moonlight his hair is fair. Perhaps he wears a red shirt. Anyway, McCusker proved a red-hot brick for the Cougars to handle. He turned in, if not a polished exhibition of goal-keeping, the most effective and spectacular display "Red" took no chance, but tumbled on the puck nearly every time he saw it coming his way and with the Cougars stampeding in like a herd of buffalo.

Regina was only dangerous twice during the entire game. For ten minutes in the second period the Capitals flashed their true form and only Holmes' brilliant work kept them out. Newell and Irwin went right in on top of the net, only to find Holmes as big as a mountain. "Happy" saved two shots, but that whizzed the Caps' sticks from six feet out. The Caps in their determination to score bored clean through to the net.

In the third period the visitors stormed around the Cougars goal for five minutes and scored their only goal. They could not stick the pace, however, and Victoria raced on to give McCusker a busy time for the rest of the evening.

In fairness to Regina it must be said that they were without their great scoring ace, George Hay, who was left in Vancouver yesterday moggling with a sore shoulder. Hay is the man who single-handed beat the Cougars in Regina on January 15. He scored three unassisted goals and played what Lester Patrick says was the best individual game he has seen this year.

Hay was injured in the game with Calgary in Regina last Monday night. He took a bad fall and wrench his shoulder. Manager Champ brought Hay along hoping that it would mend on the way to the coast, but yesterday morning it became very sore and Hay was left in Vancouver for treatment. Champ is hoping to have Hay here for to-night's game but would make no definite announcement. He is communicating with Hay on the long-distance phone.

The Capitals hope that Hay will be able to come over as his presence would give them the required punch on the forward line. The Cougars hope that another loss to-night will seriously affect their chances of making the play-off and they are determined to make the Cougars step along to win. The Caps have only two subs with Hay out of the game.

The Cougars scored their first goal when the game was but three minutes old, Fredericksen picking up a loose puck inside the Regina blue line, circling the defence and shooting McCusker with a shot from a distance. The way the Cougars came on it looked as though an avalanche of goals would follow, but McCusker did his "Tumbling Tom" stunt to perfection and no further scoring resulted.

SUCCEEDS DEMPSEY?

A little excitement was chucked into last night's game when the Victoria skipper engaged in a two-round bout with Art Gagne of Regina. It is not very often that Glem gets ruffled but when he does he likes to use his fists instead of his stick.

Sheiks Outclass Keats' Eskimos And Win Easily

Edmonton Has Not Yet Recovered From Two Hard Games With Victoria

Edmonton, Jan. 31.—Completely outclassed after the first period, the Sheiks were defeated by a four-nothing defeat at the hands of the Saskatoon Sheiks last night and slipped back into second division of the league standing for the first time this season.

The first period was scoreless, but in the second period the visitors cut loose and scored four goals, beginning to get into the game. The principals had just retired to their respective corners in the penalty box when they started talking again. In a flash they were slugging, and the game was halted as the players rushed off to see if they could be of any help. It was soon over, and the fight was declared a draw.

Mickey Ion had to keep his eyes open to prevent the players from getting into a general mix-up, and in Foyston, Newell, Fraser and Will Loughlin for two minutes apiece for questionable tactics.

To-night the same clubs will meet at the arena, and a rare little is expected. The Cougars are anxious to annex the game, as it will give them a working margin for their swing around the prairies. The Caps are equally as anxious to win in view of the fact that a loss will come pretty close to freezing them out of the play-off.

The Cougars will leave on Monday for Calgary, where they will meet the Tigers on Wednesday in the opening game of their tour. They will follow up with games in Edmonton, Saskatoon and Regina, returning here for a game with Calgary on Saturday, February 14.

The crowd last night was not as large as in previous games. The Caps are a good house but it is on hand to night to help pull the boys to victory and give them a rousing send-off for their last trip to the prairies.

The teams were: Victoria Position Regina Holmes, Goalkeeper; McCusker, Loughlin, Defence; Howell, Halderson, Defence; W. Loughlin, Meeking, Forward; Dutkowski, Fredericksen, Forward; Irvin, Hart, Forward; Gagne, Foyston, Forward; McVeigh, Anderson, Forward.

English Surgeon Proves Golf Star In First Tourney

Vardon Writes on Gilles Who Tas Just Beaten Tolley and Holderness

Is Thinking Gopher Who is Always Experimenting; Waits Just Long Enough

By HARRY VARDON H. D. Gilles has accomplished the first big performance of the year on the links by winning the annual tournament among members of the Oxford and Cambridge Golf Society, at Rye. A very fine performance it was, too, to beat such players as C. J. H. Tolley and Sir Ernest Holderness in the semi-final and final rounds.

Save when he is amusing himself by trying some experiment or other in an endeavor to discover how many ways there are of hitting a ball—and, I understand, is fairly often his ambition—Mr. Gilles is as good an example as I know among amateur golfers for the average player to watch and try to emulate. His style has no peculiarity. It is plain and sound down to the last detail.

Mr. Gilles carries out the principle of keeping the head still during the swing with a thoroughness which few people seem to realize. His concentration is complete. Without being slow, he never begins the back swing unless he feels that he is going to strike the ball exactly as he wishes. At any rate, he conveys that impression more pronouncedly than any other amateur I have seen.

The pace of his back swing in itself, among amateur golfers, is neither hurried nor funeral; it is just what we mean when we recommend the ancient maxim: "Slow back."

A friend of his suggested to me, the other day, a novel reason as to why it is that Mr. Gilles is so marked an example of concentration on the links.

He declared that the life of a surgeon was bound to develop this quality as few other careers would do because he had to be absolutely certain "before" he operated that he could make it in precisely the way he intended. I dare say that Mr. Gilles, like other mortals, is not free from nervousness, but there is very likely something in the idea that a man's everyday work has a good attitude towards golf.

It may explain why certain types of people who play a lot—let us say judges, professors, and so on—do not play as well as they should. They have to concentrate, but they are too sensitive to distractions among those whom they seek to control or entertain. They are in a third state of thought which produces the desired results in golf—and no doubt in a surgical operation.

It happens so often that you see a man play a shot in a way which suggests that he is playing it for the fraction of a second before he feels ready for it. The American headmen are the best in this respect. On the whole, they have unquestionably speeded up their methods—which used to be slow during the past ten or fifteen years, but before taking the club back they always look as though they had waited until they felt like playing the shot.

Football Match For City Title Ends In a Draw

Oaklands and George Jay School Teams Play to Draw After Overtime

After playing twenty minutes overtime the Oaklands and George Jay school soccer teams finished in a 2-2 draw at Beacon Hill yesterday afternoon in the final game for the city school championship. The brand of soccer dished up by the youngsters was good and provided lots of excitement for the many spectators.

In the first half the teams battled without any score being registered, each team showing some fine combination work, but the two goalies were right on the job and all shots were turned aside. About half-way through the second half, McGee, from the inside left, for George Jay, took a pass from Gibson and slipped the ball past Willoughby, the Oaklands' goalie.

From the kick-off the Oaklands boys pressed hard, and after a general scrimmage in the George Jay goal Chapman succeeded in booting the ball into the net with about a minute to play.

The deciding game will be played either next Wednesday or Friday afternoon.

Three hard-fought basketball games were seen last night at the Willows in the City Basketball League. The results were as follows: B men—Victoria College 22, Tillium 18.

A Ladies—B.C. Telephone 13, Victoria College 8. Exhibition—Tillium 33, Sooke 15.

In the first game both teams displayed fine combination work and splendid shooting. The College girls slipped the piskin into the net for the tying goal. For the remaining few minutes of play both teams tried hard to score, but the final whistle blew with the teams on even terms.

Horan refereed and the teams were as follows: Oaklands—Willoughby, Chapman, Revercomb, Alexander, Williams, Armstrong, Blackstock, MacKenzie, Johnson, Briggs and Chapman. George Jay—Breiter, Lore, McLean, Walker, Board, Warburton, Shoultice, G. Robertson, Gibson, McGee and McDonald.

Excitement Runs High In Roller Hockey Battles

Times, V.I. Midgets and C.P.R. Win Games; Fourteen Teams in New Classes

Three more roller hockey games were played last evening at the V.I. A.A. gymnasium, Victoria West. The results were as follows: V.I. Midgets 10, Simcoes 1.

Times Newsies 7, Central Stars 3. C.P.R. Social Club 2, Fernwood Falcons 7.

The game between the V.I. Midgets and Simcoes proved an easy victory for the former. The V.I. Midgets played well toward and were very fast, while Howard was the only scorer for the Simcoes.

The game between the Times Newsies and the Central Stars, found the former working well all through, and Pastro, their goalie, was a perfect marvel. Taylor and Robinson were also stars for the Newsies. The Central team were very good in action, but not in team work.

The last game was between the C.P.R. and the Fernwood Falcons. Both teams played well, and the game was the closest yet that has been played this season. The puck would not sooner go up the floor, than it would come down again, and there was a great deal of play in the centre.

Tom Rickinson handled the whistle. It is announced by W. H. Davies that the unrestricted teams will get in action again, as well as the Ladies and the seventy-five-pound Midgets. The entries have closed, and fourteen more teams have entered in these three new classes. The teams are as follows:

Unrestricted weight, C.P.R., V.I. Sheiks, Oakland, Okokans, Navy and Fairfield. Fitz's Wonders, Colquhoun, Ladies, 25 lbs., V.I.A.A., Victoria Wides, Seventy-five-pound class, V.I. Midgets, C.P.R. Simcoes, Foul Bay, Haultain.

This year there are 400 players in the league, and it goes to show how popular roller hockey is in Victoria.

Aitar Will Not Finish Dempsey, Says Kearns

Champion's Manager Intends to Keep Jack Boxing Until He Loses His Punch; Thinks if Dempsey, Quit a Black Man Would Soon Win Title; Gibbons Comes Out With Claim for Title and Will Fight Anyone

Los Angeles, Jan. 30.—When Jack Dempsey loses his punch he will be retired as heavyweight boxing champion, and Jack Kearns, his manager, will tell him when that is, Kearns announced last night in an interview giving his opinion of the hue and cry recently raised over Dempsey's repeated admissions that he and Estelle Taylor expected to be married soon and that he "would probably quit fighting" about the same time. Kearns admitted he was resigned to the fact that Dempsey intends to marry the motion picture actress, but his view of all affairs of the heart is tinged with doubt born of experience. He expects to hear wedding bells, but he cannot believe their jingle will sound the knell of Dempsey's ring career.

"I know Dempsey has talked about retiring for a long time," he said, "just like doctors, lawyers, bankers and others who get tired of the profession they are in. Jack has felt that way, but he sticks his teeth away in moth balls. He also has a conviction that there is no one in the game to-day capable of giving him a real fight."

"But Dempsey is too young to retire," he continued. "He is only twenty-nine and he has a lot of good fights in his system yet. Furthermore, I think I'll retire when I decide that he is strong as a fighter. Don't ever get the idea that our contract is up when Dempsey steps to the altar. I have no contract with him except his word with me. It's been good enough for both of us for eight years. I guess it will be good enough for some time to come."

"When I said fight, Dempsey fought," explained the champion's manager, recalling some of his experiences during the eight years he mentioned, adding that in all that time Dempsey never questioned his judgment or asked for an accounting in money matters. "The possibility of Dempsey's actually retiring appeals to Kearns almost too terrible to contemplate."

"Just suppose he did," he said. "Can't you see what would result? There is no outstanding heavyweight contender on the horizon among the whites. Tommy Gibbons would be bumped off by either Harry Wills or Godfrey and you would have another black champion—a return to the temporary days of Jack Johnson's reign and the black eye boxing received as a result of his escapades."

Late yesterday Dempsey said he would "probably quit fighting about May 30," which happens to be Miss Taylor's birthday and a date that appeals to both of them as a good date for a wedding. "With the exception of a few men in the world, however, that he was keeping in training and would be open for bouts until that time."

After the retirement from the ring, he said, he thought he might "go into pictures or open a gymnasium."

Detroit, Jan. 31.—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul heavyweight, is claiming the world's heavyweight boxing title that Jack Dempsey is discarding, and is willing to meet any man in the world to prove his right to the honors. "It is not a crime, claiming something that is dormant," Gibbons countered when asked why he was so sure of his right to the title. "I feel that I have as much right as anyone to the title," Gibbons declared, "and I am willing to box any man who is logical contending for the title to prove that right. I have definitely left the ranks of the light heavyweights. I expect to see a match to-night (with Tully Herman) and get down to 175½. That is as far as I can go."

Of the men who might be in with Gibbons to contest the title with him, Gibbons said he considered Wills the most logical contender and announced he will willing to box Wills. He also included Fritz Kennedy as another man of that class. Tommy Gibbons stopped "Tully" Tim Herman, Omaha, in the third round of their scheduled ten-round fight here last night.

Gibbons, who was introduced to the crowd as the "claimant" of the heavyweight title, almost finished the fight in the second round, when Herman was down three times for the count of "nine." With the beginning of the third, Gibbons landed one of his best punches, which sent Herman down for a "three" count and then the final punch, a solar plexus blow that lifted Herman out across the ring. Herman weighed 225 pounds and Gibbons 175½.

Three Hard-fought Hoop Games Seen at Willows Last Night

Victoria College Beaten by Telephone Girls and Sooke Falls Before Tillium

Three hard-fought basketball games were seen last night at the Willows in the City Basketball League. The results were as follows: B men—Victoria College 22, Tillium 18.

A Ladies—B.C. Telephone 13, Victoria College 8. Exhibition—Tillium 33, Sooke 15.

In the first game both teams displayed fine combination work and splendid shooting. The College girls slipped the piskin into the net for the tying goal. For the remaining few minutes of play both teams tried hard to score, but the final whistle blew with the teams on even terms.

Horan refereed and the teams were as follows: Oaklands—Willoughby, Chapman, Revercomb, Alexander, Williams, Armstrong, Blackstock, MacKenzie, Johnson, Briggs and Chapman. George Jay—Breiter, Lore, McLean, Walker, Board, Warburton, Shoultice, G. Robertson, Gibson, McGee and McDonald.

This year there are 400 players in the league, and it goes to show how popular roller hockey is in Victoria.

English Surgeon Proves Golf Star In First Tourney

Vardon Writes on Gilles Who Tas Just Beaten Tolley and Holderness

Is Thinking Gopher Who is Always Experimenting; Waits Just Long Enough

By HARRY VARDON H. D. Gilles has accomplished the first big performance of the year on the links by winning the annual tournament among members of the Oxford and Cambridge Golf Society, at Rye. A very fine performance it was, too, to beat such players as C. J. H. Tolley and Sir Ernest Holderness in the semi-final and final rounds.

Save when he is amusing himself by trying some experiment or other in an endeavor to discover how many ways there are of hitting a ball—and, I understand, is fairly often his ambition—Mr. Gilles is as good an example as I know among amateur golfers for the average player to watch and try to emulate. His style has no peculiarity. It is plain and sound down to the last detail.

Excitement Runs High In Roller Hockey Battles

Times, V.I. Midgets and C.P.R. Win Games; Fourteen Teams in New Classes

Three more roller hockey games were played last evening at the V.I. A.A. gymnasium, Victoria West. The results were as follows: V.I. Midgets 10, Simcoes 1.

Times Newsies 7, Central Stars 3. C.P.R. Social Club 2, Fernwood Falcons 7.

The game between the V.I. Midgets and Simcoes proved an easy victory for the former. The V.I. Midgets played well toward and were very fast, while Howard was the only scorer for the Simcoes.

The game between the Times Newsies and the Central Stars, found the former working well all through, and Pastro, their goalie, was a perfect marvel. Taylor and Robinson were also stars for the Newsies. The Central team were very good in action, but not in team work.

The last game was between the C.P.R. and the Fernwood Falcons. Both teams played well, and the game was the closest yet that has been played this season. The puck would not sooner go up the floor, than it would come down again, and there was a great deal of play in the centre.

Tom Rickinson handled the whistle. It is announced by W. H. Davies that the unrestricted teams will get in action again, as well as the Ladies and the seventy-five-pound Midgets. The entries have closed, and fourteen more teams have entered in these three new classes. The teams are as follows:

Unrestricted weight, C.P.R., V.I. Sheiks, Oakland, Okokans, Navy and Fairfield. Fitz's Wonders, Colquhoun, Ladies, 25 lbs., V.I.A.A., Victoria Wides, Seventy-five-pound class, V.I. Midgets, C.P.R. Simcoes, Foul Bay, Haultain.

AIR SHIP AND SEA SHIP UNITED—For the first time and under trying conditions, a ship of the air was moored to a ship of the water while both were under way. REASON FOR ECLIPSE—Last Saturday the moon in its tour around the earth passed between this globe and the sun, casting its shadow upon the earth. The above illustration shows just how an eclipse ensued and reveals why it was that, while partial obscuration of the sun was visible in most of the American area of the northern hemisphere, it was only in a narrow arc of territory that the eclipse was seen as total.

Victoria--An Ideal Residential City

INDIVIDUALITY AND CHARM STAMP MANY HANDSOME HOMES IN VICTORIA; ATTRACTIVE STUCCO BUNGALOWS SPRING INTO POPULARITY

With Advantages in Location and Climate Which Few Cities Possess Small Homes Can be Erected as Cheaply as in Any City of the West, While City is Also Selected for the Handsome Homes of the Wealthy.

Situated in the Pacific Northwest, a section famous for its beautiful homes Victoria has been frequently referred to as the city which, for its size, can lay claim to more fine residences than any other city on the Pacific Coast. While in some cities residential sections are pointed to with pride, in Victoria it is possible to visit virtually any section of the city and point to residences that would take their place with homes in the first home sections of any coast city. Victoria has its districts of beautiful homes such as the Uplands, Rockland Avenue, St. Charles Street and portions of Oak Bay, Cadboro Bay and other sections, but in addition outstanding homes of beauty can be found at many places in and near Victoria.

COSTS ARE LOW

Because Victoria is recognized as the premier residential city of the Pacific Coast there may be an impression that all homes in the city are mansions and land and buildings are expensive. In reality beautifully located building sites are cheaper in Victoria to-day than in any other Western city of similar size and with not half its advantages. During recent years in material and labor, houses cost less in Victoria than anywhere else on the Pacific Coast.

Many newcomers like to buy a house and lot, but there are others who have their own ideas, and ideas which they like to see take form in timber, stone or stucco as the case may be. Many of the most beautiful homes in Victoria, large and small, have been built by such newcomers, who, catching some new beauty of landscape, seascape or local environment have, aided by an architect, built homes that one feels are ideally suited to their settings.

INDIVIDUALITY

It is because of the resultant individuality in its homes that Victoria holds such a universal charm; for not only has every street some distinctive feature, but almost every house, bungalow and cottage.

While owing to the mild climate it is not necessary to have a dwelling built to withstand the rigors of the North, yet it is necessary to build a house that has the stability that is indicated in the Anglo-Saxon word "home." In consequence the great majority of Victoria homes are substantially constructed to delight and endure.

Outside of the city of Victoria should not be overlooked the fine country homes built right on the Spanish Arm, each with its own little bay where boating, bathing and fishing can be enjoyed the year round, should not be overlooked.

Victoria homes have won fame even as far as across the Atlantic. A year ago Professor Nobbs, F.R.I.B.A. of Montreal, wanted pictures of fine Canadian homes to use in connection with an address before the Royal Institute of British Architects in London. It was to Victoria that he turned for photographs, and those preferred of which Victoria is justly proud are of course not built every week. They are the homes of wealthy residents or visitors who have chosen Victoria as the spot above all others they prefer. The general tendency in home building now is for the five-room bungalow. Although last year was not one of the best building years in Victoria owing to the fewer large business properties erected in comparison with previous years there were probably more small attractive bungalows erected than for many years past. This year promised to see the number of those attractive stucco bungalows which have sprung up so rapidly in the last few years considerably added to. Prices are tending to drop and there has been a recent cut in lumber. Also the demand for bungalows of this type cannot be met at present. One of these comfortable homes as shown in the accompanying picture can be built in Victoria at a cost of as low as $3,500. In addition to the five rooms it contains a sunroom which can be used as a child's bedroom so that it may really be classed as a six-room bungalow. Stucco has won popularity here as in California. At first there were doubts as to whether it would stand the

CONTROVERSY WAGES KEEN OVER JUTLAND

Naval Critics in Britain Are at It Hammer and Tongs; Families Divided

It Has All Been Stirred Up Again by Admiral Bacon's "Scandal" Book

London, Jan. 31.—"Beatty was a hero, Jellicoe a—"

"Jellicoe was a hero, Beatty a—"

All England's doing it. Naval critics are at it hammer and tongs. Newspapers are warring. Families are divided. Father against son, brother against brother.

And it's all the fault of a man named Reginald Bacon who was not let sleeping dogs lie and has therefore stirred up the biggest war yet.

There are several parallels. In 1918 the United States were at war with Spain and had the Spanish fleet cornered in Santiago.

Cuba. In 1915 Britain was at war with Germany and the German fleet apparently was afraid to venture out in full force from its harbors.

In 1918 Admiral W. S. Schley fought the main action with his superior officer, Admiral W. T. Sampson, was fifteen miles away. Sampson came up in the closing phases of the battle and got all the credit from the government in charge.

The 1916 incident was different. Beatty, in charge of battle cruisers, lost two of his ships and had inflicted practically no losses on the Germans. Then his superior officer, Admiral Jellicoe, came up with the battleships and the tide turned. But it was Beatty and not Jellicoe who got most of the laurels from the government in charge.

In 1918 Sampson's friends claimed Schley had blundered in his tactics. In 1916 Beatty's friends claimed Jellicoe had blundered in his tactics. In both was a sharp and bitter public controversy over the matter ensued.

In England, Beatty merely was made a viscount, and Parliament gave Beatty £500,000 while Jellicoe only got half that amount.

Moreover, Beatty remained at home as First Sea Lord of the Ad-

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL "DANGEROUS STRUCTURE"

By Pantou House

LONDON (By Mail).—There is no need to fear that the unsafe state of St. Paul's Cathedral portends a precipitate realization of Macaulay's hackneyed speculation concerning a New Zealander standing upon a broken arch of London Bridge and sketching the ruins of St. Paul's.

The Cathedral is safe, but we intend to make it what it is not at present—sound," declared Archdeacon Holmes on a recent Sunday evening.

Other dignitaries of the Cathedral declare much the same. Nevertheless, the amount of publicity which has been given to the condition of the building is a goodly number nervous that if they venture inside St. Paul's the same fate may overtake them as overtook the worshippers of Dagon when Sampson bowed himself with all his might.

The trouble with St. Paul's is really very simple—and very serious. The mighty dome and the ball and cross surmounting it are supported on eight stone pillars. These pillars have never possessed truth in their eight ward parts. When Sir Christopher Wren was re-building St. Paul's it was quite likely that he had to keep down his estimates, for there was a power in making these pillars of solid stone throughout. When gave them a mere outer casing of stone and filled the interior with rubble from the ruins of the old cathedral. It hardly requires an architect to realize that this method of construction was hardly calculated to stand for 250 years with the traffic around it, that it should constantly increasing and with the surrounding under-surface being burrowed into for tube railways and other modern contrivances, is a matter for some surprise.

The city authorities have served the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's with a notice certifying that the Cathedral is, in the legal sense, a "dangerous structure." If no steps are taken within a reasonable time, the council have authority to shelve it in view outside work only. In the Acts, however, would seem to be apparently not to the ordinary public using the streets, at least not immediately—but to the worshippers and visitors of the Cathedral. The Acts do not appear to have been contemplated such a case as this, and there is doubt as to whether the corporation have any power to enter the Cathedral.

In any case, if the city fathers proceed to take in hand on their own account the making of St. Paul's secure, they will of a certainty undertake a job which will swallow up much of their surplus wealth. There is little doubt, though, that the generosity of private citizens all over the world will provide the necessary funds for safeguarding the building for posterity.

MEMORIES OF SOUTH AFRICAN WAR

THE South African War is very much a thing of the last generation now. The Great War has caused us all to revise our estimates of happenings within our own lifetime. A considerable amount of interest, however, has been aroused here by the decision to hold a reunion of the City Imperial Volunteers, in commemoration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the regiment. The C. I. V.'s, as they have always been known, were organized at the end of the "Black Week" of December, 1899, when on Saturday morning the War office and the world at large realized that within seven days the British forces in South Africa had suffered three serious defeats. The Government sent out Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener the following week, Canada organized her first South African contingent, and the City of London organized the C.I.V.'s—the first grade of volunteer regiment to leave England for service overseas. Every grade of volunteer worker—from banker to cooper—was included in its ranks. General Sir Henry Mackinnon commanded the whole regiment, and Colonel the Earl of Albemarle commanded the infantry. About 800 survivors are expected to attend the reunion supper in the Guildhall, over which the Lord Mayor will preside next month. Many who were privates in the regiment gained the rank of Brigadier in the Great War. The C.I.V.'s were disbanded immediately after their return from South Africa, and there has been no reunion since.

DOG DEATH SENTENCE APPEAL UP

THE law courts are to settle the question of whether there is any right of appeal for a dog condemned to death because the magistrates are satisfied he is dangerous to the public at large. F. E. Edwards of St. Albans, has a three-year-old airedale. The magistrates have ordered that he be destroyed, and when Mr. Edwards wished to appeal to the Quarter Sessions he was informed of no such right of appeal existed. The matter will be raised in the House of Commons, and the Canine Defence League intends to take the case to the highest court available.

ANOTHER incident which has just happened over a dog shows how much generosity there is running around among the British public if only the instinct is aroused. A widely-circulated illustrated paper presented a photo of a small boy fondling a dog through the bars of a cage. The caption on the picture stated that the boy was compelled to part with his pet because he had not the money to pay for the license, which had to be renewed at the New Year, whereupon the newspaper which printed and

$100,000,000 WHISKY TRUST, BRITISH PLAN

Three Greatest Distilling Companies Organizing Giant Merger, is Report

Liquor Prices on This Continent Likely to Rise as Result, it is Expected

London, Jan. 31.—A $100,000,000 whisky combination of three of the biggest distilling companies in Great Britain is reported here to be in the process of formation.

This belief found ground from the fact that a meeting of heads of the Buchanan, Dewar Co., John Walker Co., and the Distillers' Company, three concerns which control the manufacture of whisky both for home distribution and export, was held here for the purpose, it is said, of discussing a merger.

These three companies have subsidiary concerns representing more than $100,000,000 capital. For some months there have been reports of an impending amalgamation between these great firms, and the fact has been reflected in big dealings at rising prices of stocks in these companies.

Last year the Buchanan, Dewar Company paid 25 per cent. in dividends. The John Walker people paid 40 per cent. and the Distillers' Company paid 10. By far the greatest of these three companies is the Buchanan, Dewar combination which is capitalized at $45,000,000.

This concern bought control of the John Dewar Company and Buchanan & Co. in 1912. Buchanan & Co. controlled W. F. Lowrie & Co. Since the amalgamation the Buchanan, Dewar Company has been interested with other concerns in the purchase of the famous Haig & Haig concern and James Watson & Co. of Dundee, and last Autumn took over the business of Mackie & Co., Glasgow distillers. Its latest deal was to purchase the Peter Dawson Company for $10,000,000.

The capital of the Distillers' Company is $30,000,000. This is a combination of a number of grain distillers with big interests in years of production both in this country and the United States.

John Walker and Sons was floated as a public company in 1923, when its capital was £1,000,000. Its capital was increased to nearly $25,000,000. Several well known peers are closely identified with these three companies, notably Lord Gosford, Lord Dewar, Lord Woolavington and Lord Strathmore.

Whisky export circles, discussing the merger, express the opinion that if it concluded it would probably tend to raise the price of whisky in the United States and Canada.

London Whip-women Obligated to Abandon Ancient Custom

London, Jan. 31.—The whip-women of Covent Garden are going to abandon the precincts of this famous produce market for the same reason which has caused the market square to become an automobile salesman. The whip-women are among the picturesque denizens that go along with this market, and have been there for the last 300 years as an unbroken line of members of their families have checked the whips of the produce growers who frequent the market.

This concession of whip checking, which has supported many families for so long a time, was granted to the whip-women of the present-day whip-women in the sixteenth century when Covent Garden was really a convent garden of the Monks of Westminster, outside which the farmers brought their garden truck to sell. In that century half a dozen whip-women took charge of the whips of the farmers to keep them from the hands of thieves, and collected a penny from the owner at the end of the day. The number of whip-women has grown to six, and even though the price of checking whips is now three pence, the whip-women of to-day cannot make a living, they say.

The women decided recently to ask the authorities to grant them the right to ask sixpence for their custodianship, but the authorities refused. At a meeting they decided to let the whip thieves have the upper hand.

Shortly the familiar figures of the whip-women will disappear from Covent Garden just as the horse and the street criers have disappeared. The whip-women will be several bobbies who are to be assigned to look after the safety of the whips.

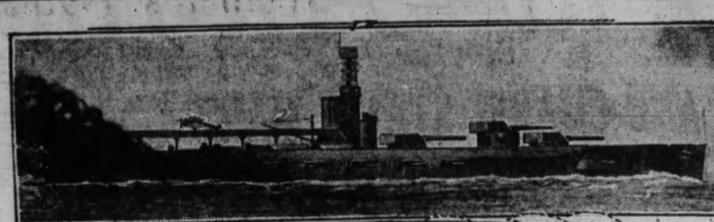

This supposedly pathetic description received postal orders and cheques for seven shillings and sixpence by the dozen. Inquiries showed that the photo was merely a pleasing but a purely idle study by an amateur photographer, who had no intention of arousing the sympathies of the public in the manner indicated. It has been impossible to return many of these contributions, as the senders enclosed no name or address.

ACTOR JOINS LABOR PARTY

ARTHUR BOURCHIER, the well-known actor, is among recent recruits to the Labor party. He holds the lease of the Strand Theatre, and has put the building at the disposal of the Labor party on Sunday evenings "for the expression of the ideals of Labor, not only by speech, but by music, drama and art in its highest forms."

On certain evenings well-known Labor members of Parliament will speak, but good music and some form of art will always be included in the programme. Among Mr. Bourchier's books are "E. F. Trevelyan," "The Minister for Education," "Tom Johnston," "Dundee," "Kobayashi Mitchell" (who treated Mr. Asquith), and "James Laxton (Clyde leader)." Co-operation of well-known actors and actresses has been secured.

SOCIETY HUNT BALL SEASON NEARING END

Social London Now Looks to Riviera For Entertainment and Escape From Fog

Duchess of York's Cousin Weds and so Does Brother of Earl Beatty

London, Jan. 31.—The hunt ball season is drawing to an end, and is in notable contrast to the four weeks in December, when as many as twenty of these gay entertainments were given in one night. There were only five important social events all this week, and only six or seven are scheduled between now and the end of February.

These functions, of course, are country affairs, but the social calendar in London is not much fuller. A dance, three or four weddings and home afternoon receptions represent the total of festivities given or held in the British capital during the last seven days. In fact, society here is looking for its amusements on the Riviera, in Switzerland and elsewhere, in places where the sun shines and there are no London fogs and rain with which to cope.

AMERICAN EMBASSY RECEPTION

Among the entertainments of the last few days must be reckoned a reception at the American Embassy for the American colony Thursday afternoon. This was the first ever which Mrs. Kellogg presided since news of the ambassador's appointment to be Secretary of State was received here. The Kelloggs were in Paris last week. Attendance at Crew House was rather larger than usual, many Americans, visitors and residents, going to the reception to offer congratulations.

The Alanson B. Houghtons, who are still in Berlin, are expected to arrive here some time in March. This is the daughter, the daughter, of the new Ambassador, are sure to be popular in social circles here, since they dance very well, and also ride, hunt, play golf and tennis enthusiastically.

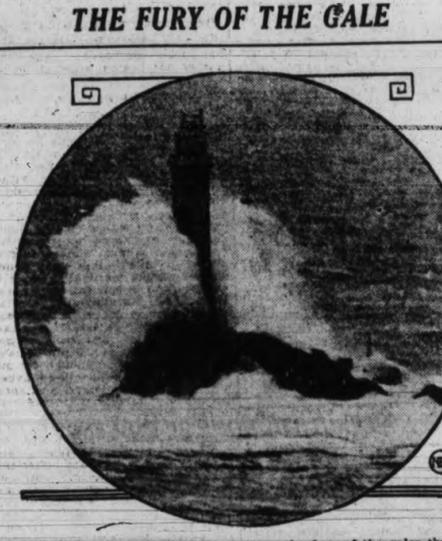

SOME NOTABLE WEDDINGS

Among the weddings was that of Miss Claire Russell to Commander R. G. Bowes Lyon on Saturday. By this marriage the bride became kin to royalty, for her husband is a cousin of the Duchess of York, the former Lady Elizabeth Bowes Lyon. Hon. Francis Bowes Lyon, the Earl of Strathmore's brother, and a distinguished sailor.

Earl Beatty's brother, Major V. V. Beatty, married the Hon. Sibell Fitzroy, daughter of Lord and Lady Southampton, the ceremony being held at Houghton, where the Southampton residence, Rockcliffe Park, is situated.

The wedding had sporting as well as social interest, for Major Beatty, who lives in Phantom House, Newmarket, has a string of racehorses. The bride wore a gown of dull gold tulle, and was followed to the altar by one bridesmaid only—her sister. Major and Mrs. Beatty followed the general stream south, and are now on the Riviera.

THE FURY OF THE GALE

The above picture graphically portrays the fury of the gales that sweep the British coast in winter. It shows an enormous wave breaking over the Longships Lighthouse off the Cornish coast at Penzance. The size of the wave can be estimated from the fact that the lighthouse stands 117 feet high on the highest rock of the cluster at Land's End.

HUMAN BRAIN GROWING SMALLER; CAVEMAN'S BIGGER THAN MODERN'S

Anthropologist Says That Primitive Man Needed Size-able One for His Problems; "Maybe We Should All Commit Suicide," He Pensively Adds.

London, Jan. 31.—Sir Arthur Keith, president of the Anthropological Institute, declares the human brain is growing smaller. "The brain of primitive man," Keith explained, "was bigger than that of man to-day. Man's brain through the ages has been gradually getting smaller."

"The villager who finds a country snowbound and wishes to walk to the next village has great difficulty finding his way, but once he arrives, he has made the way easier for the next traveler. Each traveler makes the path successively easier for the next. So primitive man, with no foot-marks to guide him, had to pioneer, and nature gave him a big brain for solving the initial problems whereby he should have dominion over all the world. We have grown upon the accumulated knowledge of our forefathers; there are fewer fresh problems for our brains to tackle. The brain has consequently dwindled in size according to its needs."

"When nature schemed to raise man above the beasts she had some idea of the dangers of intellect. Nature saw that if man's brain was to be all intellect he would become profoundly miserable. If the animal in us were entirely subjugated, and reason became supreme, the human race would soon cease to exist.

"Maybe we should all commit suicide. The fear of death and the love of life are the two bases of animal life. Reason would probably soon come to regard both as failures. So nature, that man might be happy, left him still largely an animal."

"Gradually" speaking, it is only through the animal in us that we get pleasure in life. When we were given a capacity to reason we lost much of our animal power of intuition. Intuition highly developed in people, notably in women. I mean it in no derogatory sense when I say that women have been left a larger share of intuition than men because they have a smaller intellectual capacity."

Britain to Save Herring Supplies

London, Jan. 31.—The humble herring, staple breakfast diet in thousands of British homes, has become the subject of much research, and two British scientists recently went to Norway to acquire a more detailed knowledge of his temperament and habits.

Fisheries authorities point out that the huge catches of herring in the North Sea of recent years have threatened the supply, and the migrations and seasonal distribution of fish of different ages is being studied in an effort to prevent the decimation of the runs, such as happened in the case of salmon in the Pacific northwest and British Columbia waters. Thousands of herring have been captured and marked for further identification, and fishermen are being notified to notify the Fisheries Development Commission if they are caught in the future.

BIRMINGHAM A THRIFTY CITY

Birmingham, Eng., Jan. 31.—Mainly through the activities of the Municipal Bank, this city is rapidly qualifying for the reputation of being the thriftiest in the country. Since its inception in 1919, the bank has handled $70,000,000, and the number of transactions total 3,000,000. Deposits amounting to $10,000,000 have $25,000,000 to their credit, and new accounts are being opened at the rate of 500 weekly.

DESIGNS TAKE SEA EXPERTS BY SURPRISE

Future Naval Construction Will be Completely Modified as Result of Them

Adopted to Aid Aeronautics, Increasing Effectiveness of Both Branches

London, Jan. 31.—The airplane-attackproof battleship is Britain's answer to the aviation threat.

Like waterproof paint, fireproof construction and foolproof devices of all sorts, the new British capital fighting vessels, the Nelson and the Rodney, of course may not prove to be 100 per cent. proof against bombardment from the sky.

But that was their designers' idea, and from all "naval intelligence" can learn, it will take more formidable aeronautics than are known at present to harm them much.

ALL ARMAMENT WELL FORWARD

Enough, however, is known now concerning the two newest British ships—the Nelson and the Rodney—to give naval experts something of a surprise.

To say the new boats will make all earlier capital fighting ships obsolete, as some accounts have it, may be going a little too far, the experts agree, but all admit they promise completely to modify future naval construction.

There has been considerable talk to the effect that, with aviation's present development, the battleship's days are past. The British evidently think not.

In the Nelson and the Rodney's design they prove that they give due weight to the value of planes as a "naval arm" for use against others, but in the same design they prove that they feel ample confidence of their ability to defend their surface vessels against enemy plane attacks.

The Nelson and the Rodney are of 35,000 tons each and each is armed with nine 16-inch guns. The treaty limits capital ships to 35,000 tons and guns to sixteen inches, so the British have taken their full allowance in both respects and in the case of both craft.

The peculiar feature of the vessels, as "naval intelligence" gets the news, is that their heavy armament is all well forward, in three turrets, instead of in the fore part, as for granted, is the fire control tower, and aft of the fire control tower the deck is said to be entirely clear of funnels, superstructure, everything, to enable airplanes to take off and land.

The guns are distributed three to a turret. Deck armor is tremendously strong, to resist damage by aerial bombs. Magazines and engines also are protected by turrets and the thick, tough steel deck, and at the sides by the extra heavy side armor from bow to amidships.

DECKS LEFT CLEAR FOR PLANE

Turrets, fire control magazines and engines always are especially subject to attack in a fight and by concentrating them, the size of the enemy's target is reduced. Further, as "naval intelligence" says, the shot striking that part of a vessel occupied only by living quarters, the two new ships presumably is lighter than elsewhere, permitting it to be piled on in still greater weight on deck and toward the bow.

"Smoke fumes from the ships' boilers, along with smoke screens are laid down in the same way."

Elimination of funnels atop not only leaves the deck clear for planes but eliminates the danger that an aerial bomb will hit one, crash through and explode inside.

The mouth of a funnel is a small target, but the disaster which would result if an airplane's missile fell inside always is in every naval commander's mind.

The new ships' hulls, of course, are provided with blisters, as safeguards against submarine attacks. Both vessels, in short, are as nearly invulnerable as naval science can make them and, when completed, certainly will be the most formidable craft afloat.

FILL DUAL PURPOSES

In a sense they fill the function of both battleships and airplane carriers. In one respect they are at a disadvantage in comparison with the carriers, in that they lack the full length of a deck on which aircraft may maneuver. Planes perhaps can take off from them as well as from a carrier's deck, but a carrier can "head to the wind" to receive returning planes, which such a vessel as the Nelson or Rodney could not do, since turrets and fire control tower would be in the way. The former might be decked over, but the latter would be in the way.

On the other hand, a carrier being invulnerable, must linger on the outskirts of a fight, so that its planes can serve only as scouts, while such a battleship as the two new ones can engage the air force into the midst of the engagement, and have it available for combat at any time.

mirally, while Jellicoe went way over to the other end of the world as governor-general of New Zealand.

And on the eve of his return to England a measure of justice was done him by making him an earl also. It was thought this New Year fiasco conferred by the King would finally settle all disputes.

But that's where Bacon stepped in. He is Admiral Sir Reginald Bacon, one of the most distinguished men in the British navy. During the war he had charge of the famous Dover Patrol, which protected from German submarines thousands of vessels crossing the English Channel to and from France.

Bacon has written a book called "The Jutland Scandal" in which he carries the fight right to the Beatty camp.

In it Bacon asserts: "FIRST—That the Germans escaped in the Dogger Bank battle through a series of errors made by Beatty."

"SECOND—That a serious tactical error on Beatty's part led to a strong battleship squadron not being in action in the first part of the Battle of Jutland."

"THIRD—That a failure on Beatty's part to keep in touch with the German fleet in this same battle deprived Jellicoe of

"DIXIE HANDICAP" BOASTS PLENTY OF RACING SCENES

Besides the realistic scenes shot at the international race at Latoria, racing sequences for "The Dixie Handicap," Reginald Barker's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, which is playing at the Dominion Theatre today, were taken at the Culver City and Riverside County Fair tracks. The Culver City track, passed into history directly after the Barker company finished work, the dirt track giving way to a new automobile speedway.

There are three different races in the Gerald Beaumont story. Dixie, the horse, has a part nearly as important as that of Claire Windsor, opposite her, and Lloyd Hughes, and John Sainpolis. Waldemar Young made the adaptation from the story by Gerald Beaumont.

Peter Pumpkin's nursery rhyme fame had a wife and couldn't keep her—but Reginald Denny goes him one better, and has a wife and can't get rid of her, in "The Fast Worker," in which he co-stars with Laura La Plante, their latest Universal feature, at the Capitol Theatre this week.

The new comedy-thriller is a friend's identity—and finds that the same identity includes a wife and family—all of which he has to pretend to be paternally to—and a sister-in-law, with whom he proceeds to fall in love.

Whereupon, things happen quicker than he ever could imagine! The new comedy-thriller is adapted from George Barr McCutcheon's "The Husbands of Edith," one of the best-known novels of the day. It is essentially a thriller—Denny does everything from climbing a fast wall to running a desperate race in an automobile and making a sensational leap to a ship. But it is a thriller relieved by uproariously funny situations. It is just the sort of a story in which Denny can best combine his daring, his athletic prowess, and his whimsical humor.

A splendid cast was assembled at Universal City and elaborate settings were constructed for the new play. Ethel Grey Terry plays the "wife" and Richard Tucker, noted stage star, is the "real" husband. Laura La Plante is the winsome sister-in-law who precipitates things. This is, incidentally, the first time she has appeared with Denny since "Sporting Youth," the picture which launched her on a career to stardom.

ARMY MULES GIVE MOVIE DIRECTORS VARIETY OF ACTION

One of the important scenes in "The Warrens of Virginia," now at the Coliseum Theatre, is an attack on a supply train going to the relief of General Robert E. Lee in the closing days of the American Civil War. As fate would have it, the attack was made by the famous seventh cavalry commanded by Colonel Fitzhugh Lee, a grand-nephew of the noted Confederate general. Before the attack Mr. Clifton told the commanding officers to advise the drivers of the mule wagons that he wanted a lot of action when the attack was made. The drivers were instructed accordingly.

The attack began and the troopers in their uniforms of Union-blue came over a hill at full charge, with old Civil War sabres flashing in the sun. The mules saw them first. They did not see the olive drab they were so long accustomed, lacking the courage to tell him she has a child from her former husband. But Billy also has a wife, and in trying to make peace between Jimmy Hlythe, with its prosaic furnishings, and the audience is introduced to Trizie Lorraine, who recounts to a former admirer, Billy Moffat, now married, how she has run away from her few-hours-old husband, lacking the courage to tell him she has a child from her former husband. But Billy also has a wife, and in trying to make peace between Jimmy Hlythe, the aforesaid few hours-old husband (and his oldest pal) and the fascinating Trizie, he lands himself into all sorts of trouble, in which his young brother-in-law assists by sub-letting the Moffat flat to Trizie unknown to them—a cheery flat with numerous doors through which every member of the family pops in and out, because—well, just the one person they do not want to see is there and appreciative house.

The farce is preceded by "Elegant Edward," a one-act play in which we are promised another wonderful character study by H. Saxon-Snell, who plays Burglar Bill.

"THE SPRING MAID" STAGED FOR LAST TIME TO-NIGHT

"The Spring Maid," the comic opera which made "Mitt" famous, was presented at the Royal last night by the Brandon Opera Company before a large and appreciative house.

"Two Little Love Birds" and the old favorites were received with ringing applause by a delighted audience.

The Brandon Opera Company is presenting "The Spring Maid" at this afternoon's matinee and will repeat the performance at 8.30 o'clock to-night.

DRAMATIC PROGRAMME

On Thursday night, January 29, at 8 o'clock, a good dramatic programme was staged at the Esquimaux Methodist Church by the Husters Club under the direction of Roy Hebbden. The programme commenced with selection by the Sunday School orchestra of the City Temple.

The opening scene was a representation of the election campaign for a Mayor acted by eight young men, five of whom acted the part of ladies. One will never forget the "negress" servant Eliza Goober, who certainly excelled in many ways the original in humor and wit. All the characters were good. Lester Parmenter (Mr. N. Goodwin) was the candidate for election, being in love with Eve Greenway he decides to "change his platform"; the result is a plot to stop him from attending the campaign meeting. The negress was to drug him and thus send him to sleep. Instead Eve Greenway takes the drug and the remainder of the comedy deals with her dream. It was a characteristic sketch of the ladies in power, mayor Mrs. Eve Greenway (Mr. L. Jeeves) did his part well, showing how for a five-pound box of chocolates the mayor fell into a trap to influence the trustees to buy chocolates for the public schools. It was interesting to see the ladies acting as mayor, chief of police, naval commander, and it was quite humorous to see them proposing marriage to the men and cooking, nursing, in the home. Those taking part were Mr. N. Goodwin, K. Bates, L. Hooper, L. Jeeves, P. Deaville, J. Minnie, L. Hole, G. Feldon, with Roy Hebbden, W. C. McEwan and W. Adams as directors.

During the intervals between the acts the Sunday School orchestra of the City Temple played selections.

New System of Fat Reduction

Here is a new way for all fat people to reduce. A new way to rid yourself easily and quickly of the burdensome fat which makes you miserable. Why should you let yourself go, resigning yourself to being fat, when by using Marmola Prescription Tablets you can become slender again? Thousands of men and women each year regain health, slender figures this way. You can take off your excess flesh in this same pleasant manner. No need for violent exercises or starvation diets. Just take one small Marmola Prescription Tablet after each meal and before going to bed. In a very short time your flabby flesh will begin to disappear and soon you will become the proud possessor of a slender, shapely figure. You will never be admired as long as you are fat—for fat people are always being made fun of. But don't let that worry you any more. One of the foremost physicians of his time discovered this Marmola Prescription for fat reduction and he also conceived the idea of putting it up in the convenient tablet form. All you have to do is to go to your druggist and get a box. Or, if you prefer, send the price—one dollar—to the Marmola Company, General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich., and a box will be sent to you postpaid. Start taking these pleasant little tablets now—you will always be glad that you decided to try them. Many of your friends have used them successfully. (Adv.)

The concert closed with the Nations Anthem.

"You've heard what the last witness said," persisted the counsel, "and yet your evidence is to the contrary. As I infer that you doubt her veracity?"

The polite young man waved a deprecating hand.

"Not at all," he replied. "I merely wish to make it clear what a liar I am if she's speaking the truth."

DUAL NATURE IS THEME OF FILM TO SHOW AT CAPITOL

"Flirting With Love," the first National comedy-drama, featuring Colleen Moore and Conway Tearle, which it to be shown next week at the Capitol Theatre, is based on the theory that certain persons have in reality two distinct personalities.

When Robert Louis Stevenson published his "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," which treated of a man who periodically changed from a mild, tender-hearted physician to a homicidal brute, skeptics ridiculed the author's declaration that such phenomena existed.

Students of psychology have since discovered that dual personality is not at all uncommon. Recently several cases have come to the attention of the scientific world to bear out the theory. One of the most recent was that of a woman in California whose mental aspect changed completely overnight, transforming her into an entirely different person, with changed tastes, changed likes and dislikes and changed opinions.

The picture deals with the romance of a stage actress who pretends to lose her memory and later feigns a dual personality in order to revenge herself on the man responsible for closing her show.

Colleen Moore in the role of the revengeful actress is given an excellent opportunity to display her rare comedy and emotional talents in this part. Conway Tearle has an ideal role in the character of the play censor, who later falls a victim to the wiles of the pretender.

The remainder of the cast of the picture, which was directed by John Francis Dillon, consists of these screen luminaries: Winifred Bryson, Frances Raymond, Alan Roscoe, John Patrick, William Gould and Marga La Rubia.

HUTCHISON COMEDY "NIGHTIE NIGHT" IS BIG DRAWING CARD

The popular English actor, Percy Hutchinson, will open an engagement with his London company at the Royal Theatre on Thursday, Feb. 5, for three days with a performance of the comedy "Nightie Night."

The reason that it appeals so strongly to its audience is that it is a farce, although it is a very human play, and Billy Moffat shows how, with the best of intentions, he manages to say the wrong thing at precisely the wrong time, and this with all the good intentions of the world.

NEW OAKLAND CARS CAUSE MUCH FAVORABLE COMMENT AND ARE UNIQUE MACHINES

Tait & McRae Have Sole Agency for This Line Here and Anticipate Heavy Sale During Coming Year; Oakland Factory Turning Out Nine Different Models, Giving Purchaser Wide Range of Choice.

The latest of the 1925 models of new automobiles to arrive in Victoria is the Oakland. This beautiful machine, handled here solely by Tait & McRae at their premises on Yates Street, is one of the most attractive cars on the market, according to connoisseurs who have inspected it of late. But a certain proof of attractive qualities and fine appearance is in the popularity of a machine with the public, and at no time has the purchasing public displayed such interest in a product of the Oakland car as it is doing at present, according to Mr. McRae.

The local agents are proud of their new cars. And they have reason to be. The sales prospects are excellent, the dealers say. Already they have some excellent prospects in line, and the first day the new cars arrived in town they sold one of them. The Duco finish seems to have made a great impression on the buyers of cars. Everywhere the cars that are finished in this way are proving good-sellers, and the Oakland automobiles are not exceptions.

In the new coach, besides the ordinary features of balloon tires and disk wheels, four-wheel brakes and other little things that go towards the utility and appearance of a machine, there is a one-piece windshield, automatic windshield wiper and dome lights. The cars, in all nine models, touring, sedan, coupe, roadster and coach, are geared up to a speed of 65 miles per hour and travel as slowly as one mile per hour in high gear.

In the open car models, the cars are equipped with permanent top, to which side curtains may be attached, making the car as warm and weather proof as the sedan.

All the models are six cylinder cars and all have equally fine features, so that there is very little choice between a coach, a sedan or a touring car. For the man who wants a smaller car, there is the coupe, in three or four passenger models, or a roadster, which is a beautifully equipped and unique little car, with Each part of the engine makes a fairly distinctive noise when it starts to wear, but it is generally possible by listening to the sound to tell what part this is. Any unusual noise about an engine should be investigated at once. For example, suppose you let the oil level in the crankcase run too low or have failed to keep the radiator filled with water; the engine will quickly start to knock and heat up, warning you that something is wrong. If you fail to heed this warning, the next thing you know the engine stops and you are very lucky indeed if you have not burned out some connecting rod bearings or scored the cylinder walls.

The most common knock in an engine is "carbon knock" which causes it to make a "clinking" sound when pulling hard or when accelerating. Carbon knock is always worse after the engine is heated up and can generally be stopped by retarding the spark lever. This is only a temporary cure, and the carbon should be removed at the first opportunity.

Valve tappets adjusted with too much clearance make a light tapping sound. When the engine is cold there will always be a certain amount of noise from the valves, because a slight space or clearance MUST be left between the valve stem and tappet to allow for expansion when the engine heats up. When the engine is warm the valves should make practically no noise, all you should hear is a soft purring sound. If you hear a noisy tap, tap, tap or a series of taps, it shows that some of the valves require adjustment.

Extreme care must be taken, however, to see that the valve tappets are not adjusted too close or the valves will remain partly open all the time and very soon the face of the valve and valve seat will be burned and the valve will have to be removed and ground in. On the other hand if the valve clearance is not adjusted close enough, the engine will be very noisy and will have no pep. The clearance varies on different engines, and if you are not familiar with the operation of adjusting valve clearance, have it done by a mechanic who is familiar with your make of car.

To locate which valve or valves are noisy, hold the rocker arm or push rod against the end of the valve stem while the engine is running and notice if it makes any difference in the sound. If you find the noise is reduced when you hold up a certain tappet, then that is one of the valves that require adjustment.

Worn little end connecting rod bearings make a rapping sound like a hammer tapping on steel. When the engine is pulling hard or you are travelling at a fast speed, you will hardly notice any noise, but immediately you slow down on the level to about 20 miles an hour or are coasting down a hill, worn connecting rod bearings will make a continuous rapping sound. To test for wear, insert the starting handle and after switching off the ignition, "see saw" each cylinder against compression. If any of the bearings are worn, you will both feel and hear them. Make this test when the engine is warm. Worn big end connecting rod bearing make a loud knock.

Worn main crankshaft bearings make a dull thudding sound especially when the engine is pulling hard. Unless they are worn badly you will not hear them at all when running on the level at a moderate speed. If you notice a dull thud, thud, thud when climbing a hill or when the engine is pulling hard, you can be fairly certain that the crankshaft bearings require attention.

When the piston rings and pistons begin to wear and the walls of the cylinders become worn, piston slap develops. This trouble is particularly noticeable just after the engine is started and is cold. When the piston slap is bad, you may be inclined to think that you have about a dozen old tin cans rattling about inside the engine for this is just what piston slap sounds like. Sometimes the piston rings will cure the trouble, but it is generally necessary to have a set of oversize pistons and rings fitted. In extreme cases the cylinders may be worn oval in which case they will have to be re-ground before the new pistons are fitted.

When your engine starts to knock suddenly, stop at once and make sure that there is enough oil in the crankcase and water in the radiator. If these are O. K. then test the cylinders for wet or dry friction. It is quite a common experience for a car to be brought into the service station with what the owner thinks is a knock in the engine only to find out that all that is wrong is a fouled spark plug which has been causing the engine to misfire. If you want to keep your engine quiet and free from knocks, remember to keep the oil in the crankcase at the correct level at all times and use the CORRECT GRADE of oil for your particular engine. In addition to this, it is not possible to run a car for long periods with fresh oil. After 500 miles the oil is badly diluted with gasoline and does not lubricate the engine properly so causing rapid wear.

NASH DEMAND IS BREAKING RECORD

Demand for the Nash Advance and Special Six series of cars was reflected at the New York automobile show in retail sales that eclipsed the best previous record in the history of Nash motors by a margin of forty-one per cent. Introduction of the new low-priced Nash Advance Six sedan and of the new Victoria, served to accentuate the demand which has kept the Nash plants busy day and night, practically ever since the announcement of the present line of cars August 1.

"The sales record established by the Nash line at the New York show following close on the heels of the greatest December in the history of the company is in step with orders on file at the factory from all sections of the country, which will make this the greatest January in the history of Nash motors," said E. H. McCarty, general sales manager of the Nash Six of the Nash Motors Company. "There is no question but that the Nash Advance Six sedan at its remarkably low price has been received by the public with frank approval. This has been demonstrated not only in New York but at all points throughout the country where the new model is on display.

Anticipating the possibility of a Spring shortage Nash dealers are arranging for deliveries in accordance with the dates on which orders are received. Those most familiar with the situation are of the opinion that there will not be cars enough to go around this Spring.

VISITS FACTORY

Tito Schipa, idol of music lovers, accompanied by Mrs. Schipa, was at the Nash motors factory last week to see for himself just how automobiles are made. Incidentally the famous opera star and his wife are now members of the great family of Nash owners.

Their inspection of the Nash plant, they described as "most interesting," both operations wondrous in the manual fold operations necessary to the construction of a motor car.

NEAT AND CLEAN

"It is so large, so much machinery and everything is such harmony like an orchestra," said Mr. Schipa as the party passed from the grinding room into the motor assembly department. "And it is, oh, so neat and clean, not like what you would expect in a factory," added Mrs. Schipa, expressing the feminine viewpoint.

Motor buses are becoming increasingly popular in Japan and young women are being employed to collect the fares. Above is a picture of one of the Tokio jitney buses, with the trim Nipponese who has charge of it.

NOW CARRIES ON BUSINESS IN NEW MODERN QUARTERS

Harry F. Davis is in More Central Location and Improved Station

Harry F. Davis, in his new premises at 847 Yates Street, has a electrical supply and repair shop which is second to none in the city of Victoria, and which probably is one of the best equipped stations of its sort on Vancouver Island. Mr. Davis' company has been named the distributor for the Auto Electric and Battery Company, and he has authorized factory service for Delco starting, ignition and lighting systems, authorized by the United Motors Service Incorporated.

Before he moved into the new, larger and more commodious quarters, Mr. Davis had built up for himself a business in Victoria which was second to none in the city of Victoria, and which probably is one of the best equipped stations of its sort on Vancouver Island.

Under his own personal care and supervision the major repair operations are accomplished, but he has a staff of competent mechanics and electricians in his employ whom he can depend upon to render excellent service. In this way anything that his shop undertakes to do, it does in a manner which is entirely satisfactory to all concerned, and for this reason his trade is steadily growing.

Mr. Davis is a firm advocate of good equipment.

"It pays," he says, "to have good tools to work with, because one gets a better job done. And good work brings good business."

This, in fact, is the firm's slogan.

Nude Parade Plans Startle London

London, Jan. 31.—Conditional on 150 more volunteering, 50 persons have offered to take part in the proposed nude parade of the Sun-Ray club in Hyde Park, to end with a dip in the Serpentine. The risk of arrest and imprisonment, club members say, depends on conviction of going naked for the purpose of annoying people. They claim that is not their intention, but merely to teach the world the useless tyranny of clothes.

A concession to the qualms of some of the club allows the first appearance for public nude bathing to be made in a single, non-articulated garment of some light material, not more than five feet by three in dimension, but this does not apply to the proposed Hyde Park appearance.

Big Lights Show Airway to France

London, Jan. 31.—In readiness for the night service to Paris, planned by the Imperial Airways, 41 new flashing beacons have been installed between London and the South Coast of England, to indicate the boundaries of the four airdromes and landing grounds on the route. Fed by acetylene gas stored in cylinders, the lights will operate for six months without attention.

New air expresses, each driven by a big engine in the nose of the machine and two smaller motors in the wings, to minimize the risk of forced landings, will be used in this service.

Support is Given Geneva Protocol

Ottawa, Jan. 31.—Real and permanent progress during the past year was reported at the annual meeting of the League of Nations Society of Canada here, yesterday. When Secretary Harold C. Richardson reviewed the year's work in an exhaustive and detailed annual report.

The meeting was attended by more than 100 delegates, representing, with affiliations, a membership of 250,000, including representative bodies of nearly all well known social organizations in Canada. The actual membership of the League of Nations Society in Canada was given as 5,250.

A resolution adopted unanimously asks the Parliament of Canada to ratify the Geneva disarmament protocol.

DELORME INSURANCE SUIT IN COURTS NOW

Montreal, Jan. 31.—That Raoul Delorme, half-brother of Father Adolphe Delorme, committed suicide on or about January 6, 1922, and that in consequence, the policy insuring his life for $25,000 in favor of the priest is now void, is the plea advanced in the Superior Court here by Le Sauvegarde Insurance Company. This company, contesting Father Delorme's claim for the insurance, declares the policy is also void because Raoul Delorme made false statements when it was issued.

The London Guarantee and Accident Company, Ltd., also filed its plea to Father Delorme's claim against it for $3,000 under a similar policy. This company pleads especially that the formalities required by the policy were not complied with.

"DOWN-AT-HEEL" TOWNS, "PAY-YOUR-WAY" TOWNS AT YOUR BECK AND CALL

Thrifty Towns and Borrow Towns, Which is Yours to be? Weekly Awards in Citizenship Contest

"What constitutes a good citizen?" This question asked of girls and boys of sixteen years of age and under in the Citizenship contest has drawn a sheaf of replies. Many contestants stray a little wide of the original purpose of the contest, one to draw attention to a citizen's duty to his or her community, and go into other fields.

A weekly award of one dollar is offered for the best answer to the question, with further prizes to follow at the close of the contest, February 28. Weekly entries must be in by Wednesday in each week, and all contributions will be judged for the final awards at the close of the entire contest.

For the benefit of new entrants the conditions of the contest are again outlined. Write in ink on one side of the paper only. State age, name and address, all three are important. The contest is open to those of sixteen years of age and under, and entries must be the original composition of those submitting them. Replies should not be longer than 300 words.

The question to be answered is "What Constitutes a Good Citizen?" not necessarily what makes a citizen good, but what qualities and ideals in the make-up of man or woman render them an asset to the community in which they live, instead of a liability.

Do not be swayed by what others have written, but think the thing out for yourself, and put it down in your own words. There is no formal handing-over of the community from one generation to the next, sons and daughters grow up and take charge of the established businesses, becoming in turn the citizens of today. School children to-day are the citizens of to-morrow.

Whether you live in city, town or hamlet you should have ideas about the welfare of your community. Every act you do, everything you say, and even what you think has some effect on the lives of those surrounding you. What is the duty of citizenship and how would you meet it?

A citizen should, contestants have stated, be one who is industrious, thrifty of money and of time; honest in all dealings; and wide-awake. Just how would you turn those and other qualities to account on behalf of the community in which you live? Think about it, make it your problem, and then put your thoughts in words.

Last week we talked of the Grumbledowns, whose citizens wept and grumbled alternately; complained of hard times, hard luck, and lack of everything to make life worth while. There are also the Joyvilles, where everyone plays, and nobody works at all.

This week we will talk about the Thriftytowns and the Borrowtowns. The folks in Thriftytown are a hardy race. They have their own tools, and pay for their boots. They are thrifty of their money and of their time. Their industries flourish, and their "spare time" is spent in some useful project. It is not always the making of dollars and cents, for that is one-sided thrift at best, but the making of happy, hard-working, and a bill-less community.

In Borrowtowns people cannot pay their way in time or money. Its citizens borrow from to-day's time. They should have been taken from yesterday to do its work. They borrow money from each other, money for their city, and never seem to pay it back. They borrow each other's

CULLED FROM CONTESTANTS

A citizen to be an asset to the community in which he or she lives should be:
1. Honest.
2. Industrious.
3. Wide awake.
4. Thrifty.
5. Uncomplaining.
6. Charitable.
7. Buy home products.
8. Courteous to all.

garden tools, automobiles and radio sets. They have never yet been known to return a cross-word puzzle dictionary.

Life in Borrowtown is a succession of I.O.U.'s. I owe you time, I owe you labor, I owe you money, and everything else. The checker of Borrowtown is always flat. It floats loans to meet yesterday's demands, and to-day will have to whistle for its money. Its sidewalks crumble, its drains rot in the ground, its citizens grumble, but then they made it so.

Cities, towns and hamlets, curiously enough, do not grow; they are made. In few cases could you put your hand on one man's shoulder and say, "He made this town." In most cases it was the large mass of the citizens, the Browns, the Joneses, the Robinsons and the Smiths; all working together to make something of their home town.

Next week we will tell you of the To-morrow towns and the Other-fellow towns. To-morrow towns never get started, and Other-fellow towns always seem better than your own.

There is no monopoly on brain power. School is the axe on which to sharpen your wits. These, your schooldays, are golden opportunities of setting yourself straight on the path of life. What you do now, will likely come to you.

Most things in this world worth having are worth working for. A good home town is one of these, and it takes thought to make one. What would you like your home town to be, and what are you prepared to put into it? Let that be your guide.

WINS WEEKLY AWARD

Miss Violet Aspray, R.M.D. No. 2, Victoria, B.C., wins the weekly award of $1 offered in the contest.

Citizens of To-morrow and What They Think About Citizenship

Here are just a few of the entries in the weekly postbag in reply to the question, "What constitutes a good citizen?" All entries cannot be published on account of space, but those cited are an indication of what young folks think about this subject.

This, from the pen of a twelve-year-old contestant, Miss Violet Aspray, R.M.D. No. 2, Victoria, B.C., might with credit be the creed of a more adult mind:

"The ambition of everyone's life should be to be a good citizen. Many people who deal in business cheat. Good citizens do not cheat. In every respect they help their country if they can. They are polite and amiable to all they meet, and to all who are traveling through their country. They help the poor and needy. They encourage home industry. They beautify their homes; and see that their children get a good education, for how are future citizens to be real citizens if they are ignorant of their duty to their country?"

What a kind little doctrine it is that is held by the seven-year-old contestant of 3 Beatty Street, Esquimalt, Percy Wickens, who wrote:

"Dear Editor—My idea of a good citizen is to be polite and kind to everyone, and not to leave smaller children. When you buy anything try and get the things made in your own home town; toys made by sick soldiers, and so on. To be happy and not to grumble at anything, especially the weather."

A plea for personal worth, coupled with a belief in the value of home industries and immigration is the reply of Miss Kathleen Gill, a ten-year-old citizen at 838 Princess Avenue, City, who says:

"My idea of being a good citizen follows: To hurt no one by word or deed; always to be ready to do good; to comfort the sick and needy; to be truthful and honest; to say kind words of people; to be polite; to be neat; to keep healthy; to encourage home industries; and to encourage immigration."

MACHINES REPLACE GLASS BLOWERS IN BRITISH FACTORY

The roar and the heat of gigantic furnaces; the white-hot glare of great masses of molten, liquid glass; the clang of giant machines performing miracles of workmanship before one's eyes—such are a few of the most modern and up-to-date glass-bottle manufacturing plants in Europe. Everywhere is the spirit of machinery, throbbing, pulsating; and in its midst man seems puny and insignificant. Yet, marvellous to relate, says Tit-Bits, the most wonderful of these machines is the sole creation of one man only, whose story is an illustration of what romance one may find even in such a humble line of mechanism. This machine is the invention of a man named Michael Owens. He began work as a boy, feeding coal into the furnace in a glass-works in America. At twenty-eight he became a glass-blower, working with the hollow blow-rod formerly used to make bottles at what was called the "glory-hole." Then he conceived the idea of using a piston-pump and gradually developed his wonderful machine. He began his experiments in 1883, and the first model cost $1,000,000. Some four years ago a number of old-established firms of glass-bottle manufacturers in Great Britain realizing that the old methods of mouth-blown bottle manufacturing were out of date, combined together, called themselves the United Glass Bottle Manufacturers, Limited, bought a number of these wonder-working machines, and set up the great plant in question at Charlton, near Woolwich. At the present time the factory is so busy that from one year's end to another they are at work almost continually—night and day. The whole process of bottle manufacturing has been simplified at these works to such an extent that even a child could understand it. At one end of the works, which are situated on the Thames bank, white sand brought from France, is unloaded from barges and is taken to large storage bins to be mixed, in course of time, with the other ingredients of which glass is composed, two of which are soda ash and cullet (broken glass). There are, of course, different chemicals required for different colors of glass. The mixture is then conveyed by electric railway to the furnaces, where it is heated until it becomes molten; and this molten mass is fed into the machines, which constitute the most marvellous part of the performance.

WRITE IN YOUR JOKES ON CARTOON AND WIN JIGGS SEATS

What is the matter with the above cartoon of our old friend Jiggs? The Victoria Daily Times is going to ask the boys and girls of Victoria to supply the ideas for the above cartoon, and will have those who submit the best answers as invited guests of this newspaper at the performance of "Bringing Up Father in Ireland" when it appears at the Royal Victoria Theatre on February 16, 17 and 18. Now here is the chance to show what kind of a cartoonist you will make, as the drawing is very simple compared to thinking up new and original jokes. Just fill in the blank spaces. PRINT—don't write—what you think Jiggs is saying to the pretty girl, and what Maggie is saying. Then mail it to the Jiggs Editor, Victoria Daily Times. To the winners The Times will give: First prize, six seats; second prize, four seats; third prize, three seats; fourth prize, two seats; fifth prize, two seats; sixth prize, two seats.

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

By Uncle Ray

FIRST PRINTED PICTURES

If you had to make twenty or thirty pictures of the same kind, I am sure you would get tired of the job. That is what often happened to the artists of the Middle Ages. They had to make pictures for many copies of the same book. For a long time they did not know what to do about it. Perhaps it was news from China which gave them the clue which was to make their work less tiresome.

The Chinese deserve the honor for making the first "wood-cuts."

What is a wood-cut? You may ask. It is a block of wood with a picture carved on it. If the wooden picture is covered with ink, it will make a print when pressed against paper.

The Chinese printed pictures with wood-cuts several hundred years before they were used in Europe. Very likely, travelers brought word of this Chinese custom to Europe. At any rate, wood-cuts began to be used there about five hundred years ago.

Here we see a woman writing. She appears to be using a quill pen. At her feet are two bound volumes.

You will be interested to hear how these cuts were made. This was probably the chief way:

A picture was made by an artist. He drew it on thin paper, which a person could see through. The picture was turned over and laid on a block of wood. Then the artist, or another man, took a sharp knife and began to cut to either side of each line, so as to leave ridges of wood instead of ink. After all the wood between lines was cut away, the "cut" was finished. It could be inked, and hundreds of copies of the picture could be made.

Wood-cuts were first used in Europe to make images of saints, pictures for playing cards, and large, fancy initials, letters. The initials, letters, were put at the start of hand-written chapters in books.

No one in Europe knew how to print books until almost the end of the Middle Ages, but there were quite a few written "volumes." That word "volume," by the way, at first meant roll. For a very long time, books were simply rolls of paper containing written words.

The most popular books in the Middle Ages seem to have been tales about love. In almost all of these, bold knights were supposed to win fair ladies.

Such love tales are often spoken of as "romances." They passed from hand to hand. A story might be written down only four or five times, but it was likely to be read by hundreds of persons.

Perhaps the most noted story of this kind was called the Romance of the Rose. It seems to have been read in almost every part of Western Europe. The "rose" stood for the love of a maiden. The hero held back a long time before getting near it. He feared Danger and Jealousy.

During a certain part of the Middle Ages, there seem to have been "courts of love."

These were, at first, groups of women who judged cases in disputes between husbands, wives and sweethearts. The head of each group was called the "Queen of Love."

Later on, men were allowed to join these courts. When a man was chosen at the head, he was known as the "prince of love" or the "king of love."

Richard the Lion-Hearted is said to have acted as a prince of love. Queen Eleanor of England took quite an active part for a number of years.

One case that came before Eleanor was in regard to presents. A knight had tried hard to win the love of a lady. She did not return his love, but she took the presents he gave her. She pretended she cared for him, but the knight found she did not. He complained.

The Queen said he had a good right to complain. She said a woman who did not love a man should not take his presents.

STAR-GAZING IS BUSY CALLING SEARCHING FOR MANKIND'S FUTURE NEEDS

Man, in the Heavens, May Read the Hand-book of This Planet

Who has not looked at a rainbow or at the gay colors of sunlight broken up by a piece of glass? Red, orange, yellow, green, blue, violet and all their intermediate colors are to be seen when the white light of the sun is split up into its component parts.

Early astronomers discovered the meaning of this, and perhaps it has been discovered and lost and re-discovered many times in the history of the earth. The colors thus split up into their components are called the spectrum of the sun, or solar spectrum.

At one end is the red and at the opposite end the violet, but beyond both other "colors" exist which are invisible to the eye.

These may be brought within the range of our vision by photography and other means. It is queer to think of a color you cannot see, but scientists tell us that what strikes the eye as color is a radiation with a definite wave-length. That makes it almost as easy as radio, doesn't it? On the radio circuits in almost universal use nowadays you may often hear, when tuning-in, the high-pitched tone of a distant station. Turning the dial a little more, or alter the wave-length of your set as it really is, the high note changes to a "lower one;" then to a rumble, and finally sinks to inaudibility. If you continue turning the dial the note will be brought back from the low to the high, and finally vanish again as a high-pitched note.

What you have done in this instance is to tune in to a succession of sounds within hearing. Beyond both ends of this scale there are "sounds" that you cannot hear, or to be more exact, wave-lengths which would produce sound in your ears if the human ear could catch anything that fast, or so slow, as the case may be.

Our eyes respond to "color" much as our ears to "sound." It would be foolish to expect that what we do not see nor hear does not exist. We know, on the other hand, that many things exist which we cannot sense without aid from some other instrument than those nature gave to us.

Thus, in connection with the eclipse of the sun last week, scientists were particularly interested in the color spectrum, a high-sounding name for the funny little colors we see in a glass prism.

Their interest is explained in many ways, but one easily to understand is that the very colors we notice in the rainbow are indications of just what goes into the make-up of the sun, the wonderful candle that gives us light, heat and life from a distance of a great many millions of miles away.

Certain elements in the chemical world when consumed or burnt, as we would say, give off a colored light. It is found that no two elements will give off the same color when burning. Early astronomy found out that much of the elements existing in the sun in some form or another were repeated in the earth. From this came man's knowledge of many of the metals and other substances at his hand to-day.

One of the best-known examples of this was given a practical expression of value during the war. Airships were found to be a wonderful adjunct to man's sight, but they were very apt to catch fire. Helium, a gas discovered in the solar spectrum through the isolation of its "color" was discovered on this planet.

This gas is now used in modern airships, rendering them immune from the old danger of fire. It is peculiar to think that one of the means of observing the eclipse of the sun on this occasion was a helium-filled airship carrying observers.

Thus in the close watch that is kept on the sun by scientists throughout the world much good comes to mankind in the knowledge of what is placed on this planet for his use. In this way, bit by bit, and almost unnoticed as far as the great multitude of people go, scientists are wrestling from similar observations truths which will be put to work for man in his many aims in the years to come.

What lies beyond the infra-red and the ultra-violet so rays? Mankind already has a glimmering of the value of extending by artificial means the length of his ear and the vision of his eyes. He can see the sun, at an unusual time, in an unusual light, is not a very interesting sight but a matter of great importance to man in his needs.

What will develop from the observations carried out last Saturday we are not yet told, but, perhaps, it may be another discovery as useful as helium or of even greater importance.

How much of this knowledge was once known by man, as far as we know, is not clear, but the fact remains that with each succeeding year man tries harder than ever to find out more about this planet and the spirit of man inside his bathroom window and catch him.

"Maybe you will, and maybe you won't," said the Bob Cat, non-committal like.

"Anyhow, I'm going to try," said the Fox, and off he started for the bunny's hollow stump garden.

"Just about that time Uncle Wiggily, as was his habit, went up to clean his teeth. He took the brush, wet it and it had put some nice tooth paste, and he rubbed it on his teeth, for one thing."

"Mistletoe and a holy wreath! It's jolly fun to clean your teeth!" Thus sang Uncle Wiggily. But, all of a sudden, his paw slipped, rubbed against his brush and a lot of the soapy tooth paste went in his eye.

"O-yo! yo! Not so good!" laughed the bunny, wiping his eye on a towel. "Just about that time the bunny rubbed his brush, and he was just going to clean his teeth when, all of a sudden, up the ivy vine, outside the window climbed the Fox."

"Ha! Ha! This is the time I have you!" snarled the bad chap. "I have sharpened my teeth, all ready to nibble your ear."

"Oh, ho!" cried the bunny. "You may have sharpened your teeth, but it is more polite to clean them. And, since you haven't done it yourself, I'll help you."

With that Uncle Wiggily aimed his brush at the Fox. The bunny drew his paw over the stiff bristles. Out shot a lot of the soapy tooth paste, right in the eye of the Fox. And the soap smarted his eyes greatly.

"Oh, wow! Oh, yo, yo!" howled the Fox, and he fell backward off the ivy vine, the way to the ground and bumped his head until he saw stars in the daytime.

"Ha, Ha!" laughed the bunny, looking out of the window. "Pooled again!" The Bob Cat will say "I told you so!" barked the Fox, limping off to the woods.

Then the bunny finished cleaning his teeth. And if potato pie doesn't trip the teapot up when it's trying to pour coffee down the back of the chair, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily blowing a horn.

A man once rented a plot of ground to a negro neighbor, upon which corn was to be planted, and at harvest time the center was to receive one-fourth of the yield. Meeting the negro during harvest time he asked:

"Look here, Sam, have you harvested the corn?"
"Yes, sah, boss, long ago!"
"Well, wasn't I to get one-fourth?"
"Yes, boss, that's the truf, but there wasn't no fourth!"
"Der was jes' three loads, and day was mine."

Mr. Hall—"John, I believe you are deceiving me."
"Well, I've been trying for fifteen years."

THE MARRIAGE SCALES
By MILDRED BARBOUR

luncheon and a round of golf with his California manager.
The two were old friends. Their business association had covered a long period of years. Charles had seen McPherson take into himself a bride, had duly sponsored, as godfather, one of the several little McPhersons, who made their advent in the course of years. He admired Mrs. McPherson. She had been as loving as Mariana when McPherson had married her, but she had developed into a splendid, sweet-tempered, sympathetic helpmeet.
Over the luncheon table, he had found himself confiding his own marital difficulties. The happy peaceful atmosphere of the Santa Monica house that overlooked the rolling blue of the Pacific affected him strangely. It contrasted so oddly with his own unhappy situation.
To thought unasily of Mariana, across a continent, going her gay, thoughtless way. Was she perhaps laughing with Craig Cullum, looking at him with adoration in her lovely eyes? Might it not be possible that Cullum, under the influence of her loveliness, would double-cross him? Even if he played fair, and Mariana was disinclined to re-open the black chapter of that afternoon.
She had learned—too late—she thought, McPherson had taken her back, but he had made her crawl every step of the way. She had learned her lesson, bitterly, inexorably. She had come to realize the precious quality of the thing she had tossed so lightly away. She would strive her best to re-open the black chapter of that afternoon.
All this she had told Charles. She had told him, too, how McPherson had received her when her restless wandering fancy returned to him.
"Just remember this," she admonished him. "Your wife will come back to you. I know it. But it rests with you whether you will be happy and serene, or merely a succession of these ugly episodes."
Charles returned to Los Angeles determined and thoughtful.

TIMES CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

This puzzle is built around one word—22 vertical. It's the word crossword puzzle made famous.

Cross-word Puzzle 017

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS-WORD PUZZLE
Every number in the form represents the beginning of a word, reading either horizontally or vertically. If there is a black square to the left of the number, the word is horizontal; if above it, the word is vertical. The same number may occur in both a horizontal and a vertical. The definitions for the correct words to fill the form are found below, with numbers corresponding to those on the form. Run through the definitions till you find one that you recognize, and put it in its proper place on the form, one letter for each white square. This will furnish several cross-clues to the words linking with it at right angles. Continue in this manner till the form is completely filled. If you have solved the puzzle correctly it should read both horizontally and vertically with words corresponding to the definitions. The correct solution of to-day's puzzle will be printed in the next issue of The Times.

GONE!
Doris, meanwhile was watching the Summer days go by with listless eyes.
She found it impossible to shake off the apathy which gripped her. She told herself it was the inevitable reaction after the strenuous weeks when she had devoted all her time to the pageant—all the time except that she gave to Craig Cullum.
But other worthy causes arose and failed to claim her interest. She withdrew her name from committees one by one. She wrote cheques, where heretofore she had given active personal service.
Isobel, who had serenely transferred her attention from the completed pageant to a campaign for the relief of homeless cats, tried in vain to strike a spark in Doris's humanitarian soul.
"I'll give you a cheque towards establishing a home for the poor beasts, but let me too tired to be around catching them in butterfly nets, or whatever you do," she told Isobel.
"Don't be a facetious fool!" snapped Isobel. "I want you to help me arrange a garden party at Mrs. Amos Hunter Deering's suburban place, the proceeds to go to the relief fund. You know so many wealthy people and you have such corking executive ability—it's criminal to hide your talent under a bushel!"
"I tell you I'm worn out," Doris insisted. "I had no vacation out of town last Summer and I've worked like a Trojan over the pageant. I must get away somewhere."
"London?" suggested Isobel slyly.
Doris flushed crimson, to her own annoyance, but she managed to express perplexity with her raised brows.
"Craig Cullum ought to be sailing soon," remarked Isobel casually. "I saw him on the street in front of the theatre yesterday. He didn't say until I spoke, and he was looking like he does in that big scene on the stage, perfectly ruthless and cruel, and mad enough to bite tacks."
Doris made no comment and Isobel went away more puzzled than ever.
That night Mrs. Amos Hunter Deering phoned Doris while Doris was sitting up in bed.
"My dear Doris," she cooed, "Isobel tells me the most appalling news. She says you refuse to help us with the Homeless Cat Relief Fund. I'm sure there must be some mistake. You've always been so active and so unselfish! Besides I'm counting on you to undertake the chairmanship of my pet charity next Autumn."
"I'm sorry. There's no mistake," Doris answered quietly. "Isobel was quite correct. I am going to withdraw from all my charities. I'm planning a trip around the world—or something."
"Tell her you're going to marry me," Doris put in, sotto voce.
"But Doris, you can't!" wailed Mrs.

"Two years."
"How can you tell?"
"By her horns."
"Oh, yes, I see. It has only two."
"Why don't you bob your hair?"
"I can't decide on the style," answered Miss Cayenne. "I don't know whether to have it look like a whisk-broom or a feather-duster."

ACCUSED KNEW NOTHING OF TEST OF JUROR'S HEARING
A clear cut denial by H. A. Maclean, K.C., that he knew of the test that was made in court as to the hearing capacity of one of the jurors at the Book trial, or that the accused himself had known of it, was the feature of the hearing before the B.C. Court of Appeal yesterday afternoon.
Mr. Maclean, who was counsel for Dr. Eric W. Book at the twelve-day trial, appeared robed before the court.
The Chief Justice—Mr. Maclean, the question has arisen here as to who took place at the Assize Court as to the deafness of a juror.
Mr. Maclean—I was present at the conference that took place in the judge's room, but after that night I had no communication on the matter nor did I know of any arrangement.
The Chief Justice—Did you understand a test was being made next morning?
Mr. Maclean—Certainly not. I did observe that His Lordship paid particular attention to the juror in question during the calling of the roll. I might say that I did not even mention the incident to my client.
Mr. Maclean's statement supported what had already been said before the court by W. J. Taylor, K.C., appellant counsel. B. Jackson, K.C., counsel for the Crown, had contended that counsel for the accused at the trial had been aware of the tests made, and that these were made with the full knowledge of all concerned.
CHARGE WAS FAIR
Mr. Jackson continued argument as to the charge. He had been entirely fair and proper, he would submit, urging that no single excerpt could be cited to the court without reference to the whole. Points raised by appellant as in favor of the Crown were not unduly so, and not to the prejudice of the accused.
Beyond all plea of irregularity and error it had to be shown by appellant that he had suffered injury and wrong as the result of the circumstances complained of.
There were, proceeded Mr. Jackson, endless authorities to show that the constitution of a jury after the period of challenge was something entirely within the discretion of the trial judge. His decision, one that he would proceed with the trial, was not subject to review, held counsel.
In support of his contention that the grand and petit juries had been

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE
By Genevieve Kemble
SUNDAY AND MONDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 2.
Sunday's astrological figure is an interesting one, prophetic of pleasant and profitable social and literary intercourse. Mystical and occult investigation should give results and there may be an unexpected change or journey.
Those whose birthday it is should have a year of unexpected change, with fair success in business and pleasant home and heart affections. Shun speculation. A child born on this day should be clever, well-behaved and popular.
Monday's horoscope holds augury of a rather quiet and uneventful day, with things moving slowly, although the disposition will be actively inclined. Those whose birthday it is may look for a quiet year, with events moving at slow pace despite all efforts to spur them up. A child born on this day, although having an active and lively disposition, will have a rather quiet career. It may have a leaning toward unusual pursuits, but will make its best success in the employment of others.

vital information which might have enabled him to win a crushing victory.
And he concludes his terrific arraignment of 150 pages with this Big Bertha at Beatty and his government supporters:
"Both Admiral Jellicoe and Admiral Beatty were leaders of men. Admiral Jellicoe possessed the entire confidence of a jury and the entire confidence of a jury. Beatty was looked on as a dashing leader, but for some time also as what sailors from their association with eastern waters call a 'Makee' Learner. His inexperience, like his gallantry, was fully appreciated in the fleet."
"If we take the whole of the above into quiet thought there is little doubt all will echo the short prayer, 'Thank God that Lord Jellicoe commanded the Grand Fleet both before and at the Battle of Jutland.'"
"Pardon me a moment, please," said the dentist to the victim, "but before beginning this work I must have my drill."
"Good gracious, man!" exclaimed the patient, "can't you pull a tooth without a rehearsal?"

will come under control in the not distant future. Although oscillations will in some measure continue, we can anticipate a great reduction in the frequency and severity of the depressions as greater knowledge of the principles of credit grows. Credit is a comparatively new instrument, and as our knowledge of it increases we will be able to use it more successfully to control," said the speaker in conclusion.

Saanich Wards Now Pay Costs of Lighting Streets

Saanich councillors were surprised last night when an itemized statement of street lighting costs, on a ward basis, was presented. The practice of previous years has been to pay lighting costs from general revenue, provided each ward paid installation costs for any lights put into service.

Everybody's Friend

Life Insurance has taken on a new importance. Everybody needs it, most people want it,—it is everybody's friend. As a result, people are asking themselves today:

"Am I insurable?"

"How can I get sufficient life insurance?"

IT DOES SEEM PECULIAR TO ME THAT AT YOUR TIME-OF-LIFE YOU DECIDE TO HAVE A PRETTY GIRL HOLD YOUR HAND-- YOU NEVER DEVELOPED THAT HABIT BEFORE TO MY KNOWLEDGE-- WHAT DECIDED YOU TO DO THIS?
