REMARKS.

It will be seen, by the statistical report herewith submitted, that notwithstanding the unparalleled openings in the missionary field and the great want of means to respond to the individual and the providential calls for missionary men and women to meet the wants of these new fields, we have, as a Conference—though God has been making large additions to our church—withstood all these appeals and gone on in our usual way. Our missionary collection is but $19.25 more than last year. And when we take into the account the two thousand and six hundred who have been added to the church during the year, our collection is actually smaller, in ratio, than last year. And yet we find, by comparison, that many charges have nearly doubled the subscription of last year, showing that many other charges, notwithstanding their increase in numbers, have paid actually less for the missionary work than they did the previous year.

These, dear brethren, are humiliating facts, and your Committee would not spread them out before you but for the hope of moving those who have been derelict, to a speedy and faithful performance of duty.

The feasibility and absolute necessity of the missionary work is established beyond all doubt. That it is the duty of the church to contribute liberally to the support of those missions, is a question which has been clearly settled before to-day. These questions are not to be obtruded upon us now. But the question which, as a church—answerable to God for the future spiritual condition of the heathen world—we are now called upon to answer in the glaring light of this day, is, how liberally ought we to contribute.

This can be answered when we make inquiry upon two points: What are the present wants of heathendom; and, what the ability of the church to meet these wants, both as relates to the accessibility of the heathen, and the means of the church, required in defraying the expense.

The last Annual Report of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church shows, very concisely and clearly, what we, as a church, are doing in this great work; while, at the same time, it maps out before our eye the almost boundless territory, with its waking, anxious millions. just opening their eyes, in the faint light which begins to herald the promised day, and straining them, in wild astonishment, towards the pale gleams which here and there invade the darkness of their long, unbroken night, as they look with interest, if not with impatience, to see what the morning will unfold—it spreads out before us this almost boundless territory, which, with all its great interests, God, in His good Providence, has unlocked and thrown wide open for immediate occupancy and cultivation by the Christian Church.

Suppose we turn to China, or India, or Germany, or Bulgaria, or Scandinavia, or any other missionary field, and ask what they need, and what we are doing, how shall we endure the reply?

According to a recent statement by the superintendent of our missions in China, if China were to have one missionary for every district of four hundred and forty-one square miles, each district containing a population of one hundred and twenty-five thousand, the number of missionaries required for China alone, would be two thousand nine hundred and forty-six.

The number apportioned to the M. E. Church in this country is one hundred and eighty-four, forty of which are needed immediately. And who will say that this demand is too great, or that it is beyond the ability of the church?

Twenty years ago the Roman Catholic Church had 8 bishops, 57 foreign priests, 114 native priests, and 303,000 converts in China. The M. E. Church, according to our last report, has but 4 missionaries with 9 assistants, and 15 members and probationers. It is a matter of thanksgiving to God, that we have accomplished so much, considering the efforts we have made. But it is a matter forever to be regretted, that we have done and are still doing so little.

As a church, we are supplanting in the foreign missionary field, 47 missionaries and 102 assistants. Among the Indians, 17 missionaries and 18 assistants. Among foreign populations in our own country, 272 missionaries with 196 assistants.

Now let us in all sincerity ask, Does this look like a suitable thank-offering to our Heavenly Father for the liberal hand with which he has been pleased to pour his blessings upon us as a church? Is it "bringing all our tithes and offerings into his storehouse, to see if he will not pour us out a blessing?"

There is extravagant expenditure of wealth enough by those who are members of the M. E. Church to-day, to pay a large portion of the expenses necessary to send out the missionaries which God by his Providence is loudly calling upon us to commission forth now. There is enough more wealth hoarded up in a miserly, wicked manner, to pay the balance, if God could only control it, without doing violence to men.

In view of these facts, may we not solemnly, and with propriety, ask, What do these church members expect to do with their thousands and their tens and hundreds of thousands, to which they cling with such tenacity? What right have they thus to cling to their wealth, when God has put tongues into so many millions of benighted hearts, all of which cry so loudly and so imploringly in His name, and the name of the perishing, for help? Nay, more than this, what good will it do a man by and by to feel that he has gained the whole world, while the consciousness rushes upon him that in order to do it he has been accessory, it may be, to the damnation and eternal loss of a thousand souls. Moreover, has not this wealth been consecrated upon God's altar? and is it not then His prerogative to say when and how it shall be used? And if there ever was a time when he was saying in a voice too audible to be understood, "Bring in now all your reserved wealth, for the great day of my power is at hand," is not this that very day.

And what shall be our reply? What shall we, as members of the Troy Conference, by our efforts, answer? What will the members of the M. E. Church, within this Conference, answer?

May Heaven help us to answer right.

During the last year the missionary report shows that in this Conference we have contributed but 33½ cents a member, and considerable of this has doubtless been contributed by those who are not members of the church.

Now, though we ought to be grateful that even so much has been done, yet ought we not to do much more?

Considering then the present wants of the world, the comparatively little which we have been doing, and the bountiful hand with which God has been blessing us, we solemnly ask: Is it too much to hope that the Troy Conference will, during the coming year, raise the sum of one dollar for each member? Can we not do it? Will not every preacher having charge of a congregation within our Conference make the effort? We hope the Holy Spirit may help us to use that very appropriate language which we so often urge upon sinners:

"I am resolved to try."
