

AT STATE CAPITAL

ASSEMBLY TO RECONSIDER FRIEDMAN BILL—VIVISECTION BILL WILL LOSE

SACRAMENTO, April 23.—A few days ago the assembly, without being aware of all that the bill provided, passed Assemblyman Friedman's bill to give a jury trial to those accused under the Redlight Abatement act. Later, by a vote of 37 to 26, the assembly declined to reconsider the vote by which it had passed the bill. Friedman claimed that the bill would not apply to the Redlight Abatement act, but he was the only one who made the claim, and it was disputed by a number of the lawyer-legislators in the assembly. The particular part of the bill in question reads: "In actions . . . for the abatement of a public or private nuisance . . . an issue of fact must be tried by a jury, unless a jury trial is waived." Merriam discovered the alleged intent of the bill just after it had passed and, as he had unwittingly voted for the bill, he gave notice of reconsideration. It is freely predicted that the bill will be killed in the Senate.

It appears certain to-day that the Prendergast vivisection bill, even though urged by a committee of the council of defense, will not survive the senate committee on public health and quarantine. Chairman F. M. Carr, it is understood, believes the bill hasn't one chance in 100 of being enacted. It was this bill that caused such a fight in the assembly—one of the hottest tilts of the session. Humane associations, antivivisectionists and others joined in an attack on the bill and it barely got through the lower house.

Chairman Carr has called the bill up for action in the Senate committee, but no one seemed to pay much attention to it. Prendergast himself, having secured personal satisfaction through the assembly's approval of the measure, is not greatly concerned in the bill's future. Numerous personal attacks had been made on Prendergast and when the assembly stood by him, Nick was satisfied.

Governor Stephens is being bombarded with inquiries as to the appointment of a supervisor for San Bernardino county to fill a vacancy. It was learned to-day that the governor will not give the matter consideration until after the adjournment of the legislature.

Tom Eby, secretary of the state board of equalization, is to be given a raise of $1,000 a year. The legislature will vote it. Eby has been in the employ of the state for more than 20 years and hasn't had a raise in the past ten years. His new salary will be $4,000.

Scott's bill carrying an appropriation for the support of the high school cadet companies is wobbly to-day. The original appropriation was $40,000 and it has been slashed to $20,000. Those interested in the high school cadets say the original $40,000 wasn't "half enough."

Objection was raised in the senate to the bill which gives the state superintendent of weights and measures power to appoint deputies in small counties, but it was passed, 24 to 3.

Salary increases in the attorney general's department totaling nearly $10,000 a year are refused by the senate finance committee.

Indications to-day are that the claims put in by exhibitors whose displays were destroyed in the state fair fire last fall, will not be allowed by the legislature.

NO UNIVERSAL EMPIRE

WORLD SUPREMACY DOOMED TO FAILURE SAYS PASTOR SNYDER

"Whether it be the scheme of a Napoleon or a Kaiser, world supremacy is fore-doomed to failure," according to Pastor George A. Snyder, who spoke at the Glendale Seventh-day Adventists church, Third and Isabel streets, last night, on the present world-struggle and the prophetic utterances of the Bible concerning the future. He said no universal empire will ever again be set up on the earth until Christ himself establishes His kingdom, and that this will not be accomplished by the amalgamation of the nations. Continuing, Mr. Snyder said:

"The great waymarks of world history down to its close were outlined centuries ago, during the supremacy of Babylon, the first great world empire. King Nebuchadnezzar saw in a dream a great image, with head of gold, breast and arms of silver, body and thighs of brass, legs of iron, and feet of iron and clay. The king was told by the prophet Daniel that the four parts of the image were symbolic of four great successive universal kingdoms including Babylon; that the mixture of iron and clay in the feet and toes of the image represented an ultimate division of the fourth kingdom into separate rival kingdoms, never to be reunited—even as iron is not mixed with clay—down to the time then the 'God of Heaven shall set up a kingdom,' after the feet and toes of iron and clay have been broken to pieces.

"Let us briefly glance over the past two and one half millenniums of world-history, and see how it tallies with Daniel's famous forecast. Babylon, represented by the head of gold, brings us down to B. C. 538. Medo-Persia succeeded Babylon, and swayed the scepter of world supremacy until B. C. 331, being succeeded in turn by Grecia under the leadership of Alexander the Great. Grecia in her turn bowed to the iron sway of Rome in B. C. 168. Rome, the fourth great world empire, represented by the legs of iron, continued undivided and supreme until broken up and parcelled out among the barbarians from the north between A. D. 350 and 500. The barbarian divisions of Western Rome are perpetuated in the great nations of Europe to-day.

"We are living in the iron and clay epoch of world history. The great nations of Europe do not cleave together, 'even as iron is not mixed with clay.' They not only do not cleave to each other, but they also seem unable longer to maintain those separate monarchical systems of government which have descended from times medieval. The international contagion abroad is rapidly spreading. Monarchical systems heretofore esteemed to be rock-solid are disintegrating. The clay is crumbling away from the iron, as it were, and some great, sweeping, overshadowing change in existing political systems seems to be imminent. 'Novus ordo seculorum' seems to be the order of the day. What is to be the final outcome? The answer waits on the tongue of Time.

"In closing, it may be well to add that the prophet said he saw a stone, cut out of the mountain without hands, smite the image on the feet of iron and clay, and break them to pieces. Then he saw that stone become a great mountain, and fill the whole earth.

"This stone he declared to be symbolic of the momentous fact that 'in the days of these kings shall the God of Heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed, but it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms and it shall stand forever.' From this language we may conclude that no nation will ever again rise to a position of world supremacy. Whether it be the scheme of a Napoleon or a Kaiser, it is fore-doomed to failure. These contending nations will continue to be rivals in some form until they are all broken to pieces and consumed by the setting up of that glorious kingdom of God, which is to be the next great universal world power. The swiftly changing panorama of events to-day is but the prelude to some great, overwhelming surprise to-morrow."

GOES TO EL PASO

Captain and Mrs. Harold Scott returned Sunday evening from a visit to the ranch of S. W. Corwin, a former Glendale resident. Captain Scott, who has been home on a two months' furlough, will leave to-day for El Paso, where he will report to Gen. Pershing for duty.

DECISION HANDED DOWN IN LAND CASES

SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN OPINION IN OREGON-CALIFORNIA CASE IN FAVOR OF GOVERNMENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The Supreme Court to-day rendered a decision in the Oregon and California land cases, in favor of the government. The case involved millions of acres of lands in Oregon and California granted to transcontinental railroads to be sold to actual settlers for not more than $2.50 an acre. Much of the land was mountainous and valuable particularly in later years for its timber. The railroad claiming it could not sell such lands—inaccessible and hard to cultivate—to settlers. It sold much of it to lumbermen. This fact was known for years. It continued, the railroad claimed, for nearly forty years with no objection from the government. Several years ago proceedings were started in Oregon courts. These held the land forfeited back to the government, but the decree was reversed. Then the Supreme Court handed down a complicated mandate which nobody understood and the fight was on again.

In June, 1916, Congress passed the Ferris act, "revesting" the land in the United States, allowing the railroads the $2.50 an acre for it they were authorized to charge in the grant, and opening the land to settlement. The proceeds from sale of timber lands were to be divided, 25 per cent. to the county in which the land was situated for schools, roads, highway bridges and port districts; 40 per cent. to the general reclamation fund, and 10 per cent. to the general fund of the Treasury.

SOPHOMORES WIN

FRANK BALTHIS VICTOR IN ORATORICAL CONTEST—PRIZE FOR BEST BOOTH

The annual oratorical contest of the Glendale Union High School is the most important event of the school year, and for the first time in the history of the school the honors for both the oratorical and the booth contests were won by the same class—the sophomores. This class already has won numerous honors in athletics, etc., and last year was victorious in receiving the honors for the most originally constructed booth.

Frank Balthis, the class representative, has the honor of being the youngest winner of any oratorical contest in the history of the school. His oration, "Woodrow Wilson—the Man of the Hour," was a masterpiece in composition and was delivered with perfect poise and easy flow of oratory, every word of which was clearly and distinctly heard in all parts of the hall. He was readily acknowledged by those present to be the winner, although the other contestants, Harland Durand, Olive Taylor and Harold Venske, representing the juniors, freshmen and seniors, respectively, were speakers far above the average and received most enthusiastic applause.

To the officers of the A-10 and B-10 classes much of the credit for this victory is due. The officers of the A-10 class are Robert Carmack, president; Mansford Barnes, vice-president; Cecelia Lyons, secretary; Roscoe Puffer, treasurer; Orville Williams, yell leader. Of the B-10, Daniel Campbell, president; Madeline Love, vice-president; Martha Ray, secretary and treasurer. The committee in charge of general arrangements for the oratorical this year was as follows: Jean Anderson, Grace Carson, Eloise Seaman, Mansford Barnes, Martha Ray, Madeline Love, Jack Jenkins, Margaret Lacom, Donald Snow, assisted by class president, Robert Carmack, as general chairman in charge.

Complying with the suggestion of the faculty that the classes this year construct their booths along patriotic lines instead of following the usual class color schemes, the sophomore class constructed, as the crowning feature of their booth, a perfectly constructed battleship, complete to the minutest detail, so built as to permit of the firing of cannons at various intervals during the evening's performance, and having as well complete serviceable searchlights and a working wireless apparatus. The particular committee responsible for the successful development of this scheme was Ralph Taylor, Paul Hodge, Sloan Freeman, Paul Caldwell; electrical apparatus and operating, Chester Weaver and Dan Campbell. The booth was outlined by red, white and blue pennants. Special decorations were in charge of Eloise Seaman, Ruth Ryan, Paul Richardson. Members of the class to the number of nearly a hundred were in uniform costume consisting of sailor outfits of pure white from head to foot, with ties made up in the national colors, making a most imposing picture as they marched into the hall. They were led by the mascot, Owen Dair, followed by bugler Orville Williams, drummers Charleston White and Jack Jenkins, and the standard bearer, Paul Caldwell. One of the best class songs ever given at an oratorical was written by Marian Addison and Bessie Jeter.

The largest attendance of any class, both last year and this year, is accredited to the sophomore class, due in great measure to the energetic work of the chairman, Harold J. Russell, who has had charge of this feature for the past two years, assisted by an exceptionally capable committee, composed this year of the following: Marcella Miller, Grace Carson, Charleston White, Frank Balthis, Martha Ray.

Much of the merriment and enthusiasm produced by the class was due to the exceptional ability of the very capable and popular yell leader, Fred Dodge.

At the close of the program the class president, Robert Carmack, and the various members of his committees were the recipients of most enthusiastic commendation from the guests present. The president emphasized the fact that the success of the class was unquestionably due to the splendid spirit of co-operation evidenced throughout the school year by the class members and that the credit should be given to the class as a whole.

ACTIVE GARDEN WORK

LOS ANGELES CHAPTER RED CROSS ENDORSES GLENDALE'S CO-OPERATION

At the last meeting of the directors of the Glendale Branch of the American Red Cross the president of the Glendale Garden Society brought up the matter of the cultivation of vacant lots and asked for the endorsement of the society in order to lend urgency to this propaganda.

The chairman, Mr. J. H. Braly, selected Dr. Henry R. Harrower to approach those in charge of the Los Angeles Chapter of the American Red Cross and the following letter has just been received and is reprinted here:

"Dear Doctor Harrower: "In reply to your communication of April 16th, regarding the endorsement of the Glendale Garden Society by the Los Angeles Chapter of the American Red Cross.

"The matter was discussed with our First Vice-Chairman, Mrs. W. A. Edwards, and various members of the Board of Directors, and I was instructed to communicate with you and express our approval of your endeavor to cultivate uncultivated lots in your city and plant therein such vegetables as are most valuable as food, such as potatoes and beans.

"We are interested in this movement as it is in line with our President's appeal, and are glad to endorse it.

"Very sincerely yours, (Signed) MARGARET E. SCOTT, Secy. Los Angeles Chapter."

The Glendale Garden Society desires to co-operate in every possible manner in stimulating an interest in a much more extended campaign for home gardening, and has done all in its power to interest its members and others in this all important work.

The papers are full of references to the statements of the President, various governmental officers and most recently by Mr. Herbert Hoover, lately director of the Belgian Relief Commission and now in charge of similar work in this country.

There is land ready for cultivation and few offer to cultivate it. There is food and money in the uncultivated soil, and none seem to be interested in it or taking it out. There are scores of acres of good land right here in Glendale that could be tilled with individual as well as national advantage. Eventually, you may be compelled to assist the country in this manner. Why not do it voluntarily and start now before it is too late?

ENTERTAINED SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASSES

Miss Ruth Wilson of 326 South Louise street was hostess to the members of the Episcopal Church Sunday School, to which she belongs, and their teachers on Saturday afternoon. The house was decorated with a profusion of red roses for the event and several prizes were awarded to the successful contestants in the games which were the feature of the afternoon. Miss Wilson was assisted in entertaining by her aunt, Mrs. C. A. Stockbridge. The teachers of the Sunday School are Misses Dorothy Hunt, Kathryn Phillips, Mattie Belle Provolt, Gertrude Champlain and Mrs. Farries. Besides these Miss Hunt entertained the following special guests: Miss Iris Bannock and Messrs. H. H. Farries, Alex Badger, Richardson White and Albert C. Reed.

DEATH OF MARJORIE EDITH STONE

She leaves besides her heartbroken parents, one sister to mourn her. She came to Glendale with her parents about a year ago and was greatly beloved by her little schoolmates and friends. Funeral arrangements have not been completed at this writing.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

The Broadway Parent-Teacher association held an interesting meeting in the school on Thursday afternoon of last week. After a short business session the program was turned over to Miss Wright, who is teacher of the kindergarten. Miss Wright had trained the little ones to the letter perfect point in a Mother Goose pageant and all of Mother Goose's children from Red Riding Hood to Wee Willie Willie were there and enacted their parts with great ability. After the program ice cream and cake was served in the large hall of the school.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, APRIL 23, 1917

IMPORTANCE OF ADVERTISING

In his proclamation designating April 30 as "Advertising Day," Governor Stephens says:

"The importance of advertising in our economic life is not to be overestimated. We of California have particularly come to have an appreciation of it because of the results achieved in increasing our population and in extending the markets for our products.

"In our general commercial life advertising is more and more attaining standards of integrity and art that justify recognition of it as an essential factor.

"I am glad to give encouragement so far as I may to those who are seeking to place the calling of the advertising man on the high plane which is the aim of the various advertising clubs that have been formed in our leading cities."

URGE STOCK BREEDING

Warning that California's supply of beef cattle is almost exhausted, that there are but few marketable swine in the State, and that because of lack of interest by breeders there is a scarcity of horses and mules, is contained in a report to the State Council of Defense by the State Veterinarian. According to the report compiled by State investigators, hog raising in California offers an opportunity for wealth. So great has been the demand that in many cases, when heretofore unheard of prices were offered, many ranchers sold their breeding stock. Through the Committee on Resources and Food Supplies, the State Council of Defense is urging ranchers to go back to stock breeding, not only of hogs but also of cattle, horses and mules.

PLANT HOME GARDEN

Plant a home garden and help relieve railroad congestion, is the plea of the State Council of Defense in putting California on a preparedness basis. Under present conditions railroads are kept busy hauling food supplies for the public. They may be needed at any moment for transportation of troops.

Every back yard can be made to produce a big share of table necessities, according to the Agricultural Department of the University of California, which is co-operating with Governor Stephens and the State Council of Defense in preparedness plans. If every householder will plant a home garden, they not only will aid in solving the State's food problem in an emergency, but they will be aiding the federal government by helping to have the railroads ready to mobilize U. S. troops.

Plant your garden now.

MILITARY RAILROADS FOR ITALY

Allied railroad commissions to-day are preparing to redraw Europe's railroad map. They are already planning the destruction of the allied dependence on the German lines in the "war after the war."

For example, a proposed railroad connects Bordeaux with Odessa, avoiding Middle Europe and passing through Turin and the Italian-to-be Triest. Other lines, perfecting the development of allied territory, are also in prospect.

French and English railroad officials are now in Italy, studying the situation with allied officials. The commissioners are making a careful tour of investigation throughout the allied countries, it is said, and work on the contemplated lines will be rushed to completion, as soon as the war ends.

$80 HAY IN OREGON

Eighty dollars a ton for hay, plus the cost of a long haul to his ranch on Metolius river, is the price Dan Heising of Rend, Oregon, is paying to-day to keep his sheep alive. Others in central and eastern Oregon have lost much stock because of the hay famine.

BRAZIL SPEEDS FOOD PRODUCTION

To increase its output of cattle and help feed the Allies the Brazilian National Society of Agriculture plans to open a great cattle congress here early next month. American packers have taken an interest in increasing the Brazilian export in this line and will aid in staging the exhibition.

"GREAT FOR GLENDALE"

That is what every one will admit, when all the facts are known. Last Saturday, General Passenger Agent Douglas White, of the Salt Lake Route, telephoned the Secretary of Glendale Chamber of Commerce, asking if he and the city representative could come down to see him on a matter of especial interest to Glendale, which could better be discussed in his office at 4:30 p. m. City Manager Watson's new Ford swiftly and smoothly wafted that efficient official and the Chamber of Commerce Secretary down to the Railroad Building, Sixth and Main, Los Angeles. (Pardon a pause in which to say that the joke about the Ford shaking more devils out of people in a day than Billy Sunday can in a month, does not apply to Manager Watson's glittering new bauble, at all.) Being in a Ford, of course, they arrived on time, in spite of the crowded streets and congested traffic at certain corners and regardless of the expletives of the pilots of other ships of the road that vainly tried to cut in and head off the two Glendale rustlers.

One Teutonic chauffeur's phyz would have been a good model for Dore's painting "Hate in Hades," but the journey was completed without any side declarations of war.

Late as it was, and Saturday afternoon, too, Douglas White was hard at work in his offices, surrounded by piles of letters and other documents. But with that affability which makes Salt Lake Route officials so popular, he told the good news in a way which made it seem like his guests were conferring a favor on him by listening to what inflated them with delight.

About May 23, the magnificent "Presidential-Preparedness" Train of the Salt Lake Route, rushing across county with bands and banners and big things generally, WILL COME TO GLENDALE. More anon.

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

G. U. H. S. REPORTER WRITES OF ANNUAL INTER-CLASS CONTEST

"Woodrow Wilson, the Man of the Hour." This was the subject of Frank Balthis' prize-winning speech delivered last Friday night at the eighth annual inter-class oratorical contest. Having selected the most appropriate subject that could have been taken by any one, Frank delivered his address in an almost flawless fashion, and well deserves all the honor which has been bestowed upon him by the sophomores, whom he represented. From the time that he addressed the audience until he took his seat his listeners were completely spellbound by the manner in which the young orator handled himself. He appeared to be as much at ease as if he were doing nothing more than making a recitation in Latin.

Now we will turn our attention to the other speakers. Although they did not win first place, the representatives of the other three classes made excellent showings, and certainly gave the winner a run for first place. Olive Taylor, the freshmen's champion, was the first speaker to be introduced by the chairman, Miss Ethel West. Her subject was "The Great Awakening," and dealt with the temperance question in the United States. By her arguments Miss Taylor showed that the nation is gradually coming to a state of absolute prohibition. As this was her first experience in public speaking, much is expected of her in the next two or three years.

The next speaker on the program was Harold Venske, the senior candidate, his subject being the "Railroads and the People." Considering the time spent in preparing his speech, Venske was second to none in his delivery. Being editor of the Stylus and one of the most prominent figures in the senior play, he was speaking under a severe handicap, and should be highly complimented on his showing.

The last but not the least speaker was Harland Durand (in whom the juniors pinned all their faith. His subject was "Social Welfare," and dealt with the social and economic conditions all over the country, always emphasizing social equality as the ideal of American manhood. As he is both a Socialist and a debater, Durand put forth some sterling arguments, and the other speakers felt quite nervous before the judges rendered their decision.

Besides the part of the program already mentioned, there was another prize given out, this being for the most prettily decorated class booth. The sophomores also won in this part of the contest, but only after much deliberation on the part of the judges. Having eliminated both the freshman and the junior booths it was finally decided to give the honors to the sophomores, although their booth did not surpass that of the seniors by five per cent. The prize-winning booth was surrounded by small American flags, and in the center there stood an exact reproduction of a United States super-dreadnaught. Special mention should be given this boat, as many said it was the most perfectly constructed craft of its kind that they had ever seen. Ralph Taylor, a member of the class, planned and supervised its construction. It was about twelve feet long and three feet wide, and had the guns, searchlights, etc., in exactly the same places as they are located on a warship. To make the scene all the more nautical, all the members of the class wore white sailor uniforms, making quite a formidable appearance around their ship of state.

The senior booth was representative of an army camp, being fitted up with tents, wireless apparatus, etc. The boys of the class wore regular army suits, while the girls were dressed as Red Cross nurses. They occupied the entire rear part of the auditorium, and made a fine appearance with the trees and foliage strewn about the scene.

The junior booth was carried out on the same idea as the seniors', except that they were located in a fort instead of a camp. Each corner of the fort supported a huge cannon, and these were fired at intervals during the evening.

The freshmen, wishing to have something different, had their booth decorated in a simple barnyard scene. They all wore farmers' uniforms and resembled hayseeds so much that, had their booth been more appropriately decorated, they would have undoubtedly won first place.

After the decisions had been rendered all of the classes, as guests of the juniors, were invited downstairs to the gymnasium, where delicious refreshments were served. So many responded to the invitation that the gym was overcrowded, and it was necessary to start a bread-line.

Now that the worries and preparations for the oratorical contest are over, the students are allowed once more to turn all their attentions to their studies. As there are just two more months of school, it is about time for the annual "crammers" to begin their spring session. This is about the time of year when people of this sort really get down to studying, the habit even penetrating down into the freshman ranks. However, the majority of these preparedness advocates may be found in the senior class.

After a fairly successful trip, our two tennis champs, Carlton West and William Balthis, returned Friday from Nordhoff, where they took part in the three-day Ojai Tennis Tournament. Although they did not get in the finals, both the boys made an excellent showing, considering the fast company that they were pitted with. West started out by defeating Chaffee, Ventura's first man; he followed this up by overwhelming his old South Pasadena rival, Supple. However, in the semi-finals he was beaten by Bricker of L. A. High by the very close score of 7-5, 1-6, 8-6. Balthis, being pitted against a better field, did not advance so far, although he displayed an excellent game. He defeated Houk, the Nordhoff marvel, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3. Special mention must be made here, as Houk was considered one of the serious contenders for the championship. Balthis' next opponent was Kinney of South Pasadena, and although he put a game fight he was finally overcome by his older rival. The boys lost their doubles match to Chafee and Chafee of Ventura.

The sophomores will hold a "big" class meeting this afternoon at 3 o'clock for the purpose of planning a celebration for their overwhelming oratorical victories. They have all decided to wear their sailor costumes to-morrow in order that they may have a picture taken of themselves.

GLENDALE CITY UNION

A large number of the members and friends of the Glendale City W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. L. M. Warner, 624 Adams street, Friday afternoon from 2:30 to 5 o'clock. After a short business meeting, Mrs. Ruby J. Smart gave a very helpful address on "The local union, the power house," saying it is not the national or state or county union but the local union that generates the power. The first W. C. T. U. was organized at Hillsboro, Ohio, in 1873. Some work had been done along temperance lines before that time through earnest, consecrated prayer, but the power was not really felt until after the organization of the first union. Then it began to spread until it has encircled the globe. It is the spirit of prayer in the heart of each member that gives power to the local union, then to the county, the state and national unions and thence to the world.

Mrs. Kara Smart Root, a former World's W. C. T. U. missionary to Japan, spoke on one phase of race betterment. Mrs. Root is chairman of the county committee of food values, home preserving, canning, etc. She made very clear to all present the great need of efficiency and economy in the homes these days of war and high cost of living. She quoted President Wilson on the subject and stated that we must mobilize our home resources and conserve our foodstuffs. The women are to act as a reserve force for our country in conserving and preserving foods. Glendale is the first city to take up this work under this department and the

"SOMEWHERE"

A few days ago five companies of naval militia and reserves, who had been drilling faithfully for weeks, entrained for the north and went somewhere. Soon letters began coming to the dear ones left behind—wives, mothers, sweethearts perhaps—all written from "somewhere on the sea," or somewhere in the United States. The writers were not allowed to say in their letters where they were. And as the dear ones here at home read the letters with teardimmed eyes, their longing hearts swelled high with pride that their loved ones feared not to have their breasts to the foe if need be in defense of home and fireside.

From a plain little home down on Oak street went the youngest of the household, a sturdy, handsome boy of 20, full of love for country and loyalty to the flag, an ideal soldier boy. The mother heart yearned for her gallant boy, the baby of her household, now a man among men, but she gave him gladly to her country. The father, who came of a long line of soldiers, smiled with stern joy as he saw his son march away. Then came the letters from "somewhere on the seas," and one night as he lay thinking of his soldier lad the words below came into his mind and, rising from his bed, he quickly penned them. And here they are:

"SOMEWHERE"
 "Somewhere" out on the ocean,
 Or "somewhere" in this broad land,
 Our boys are with the colors,
 A faithful and loyal band.
 Lonely we sit in the evening,
 About our fireside hearth,
 Our thoughts with our loyal legions,
 "Somewhere" upon the earth.
 "Somewhere" in foreign countries,
 "Somewhere" on the seven seas,
 Our boys will follow our emblem,
 As it ripples in the breeze.

We feel that the God of Freedom
 Has them in his loving care,
 And will again return them,
 From that mystic place—"somewhere."
 Believing that the sentiments here expressed will find an echo in many a heart, I give to the News this simple recital. O. L. K.

HOME CLUB THE VICTORS

The ball game between the Albert Cohn's (Tropico team) and the Harlow's Cafe team yesterday on the Tropico public playgrounds was a fine exhibition of ball and was full of pep from start to finish. The batting of Rogerson was even sensational, piling out four doubles in four times up. The result of the score was 2 to 6 in favor of the home team. This makes ten straight for the Grocers.

TATLOWS IN PASADENA

Mr. A. T. Cowan,
 Editor Glendale News.
 Dear Sir:

As you may have ere this learned, we are now full fledged residents of Pasadena. Of late years our interests at this point cumulated upon us and it seemed to be the logical move. Having spent within a few months of ten years on one patch in the Jewel City, we found as the days of our residence there drew to a close we became more and more reluctant to sever our connections.

We recall the day nearly ten years ago when we paid the city a casual visit and were so entranced with the mountain girdled valley that an hour had not passed ere we had deposited a forfeit upon the lot upon which we later erected a home and raised a family.

Many changes have taken place during the interim. The trolley line had been in operation but a couple of years; a single car and an hour schedule with but few stops; no street lights; not sufficient water for sanitary purposes; lawns burned out for the need of same; not a single good road for several years later; neither a respectable hall or school building in the valley; a dinky post office on Glendale Ave. and R. F. D.; about 500 in population.

It is necessary for one to get into a retrospective mood in order to appreciate the marvelous change which has taken place in so short a time. As we dwell upon the above named primitive conditions in contrast with the valley of homes; churches, assembly halls, amusement houses; many modern schools; its scores of miles of beautiful paved streets; the bountiful supply of pure mountain water; the splendid lighting system; our most magnificently planned, paved and lighted Brand Boulevard, unexcelled in America for its length; I say as one who came from one of the oldest towns in the United States (Burlington, N. J.) which did not make as much progress in two centuries, it is simply marvelous.

We still have interests in charming Glendale; glad that we are not far removed; more lovely neighbors can nowhere be found. Unalloyed prosperity to Glendale and happiness to her people is our hearts desire.

J. F. TATLOW.

A SOLEMN WARNING

Editor Glendale News:
 Our leaders at Washington, who have given deep study to the question, are telling us and reiterating it, that we must utilize every acre of ground this year and next if we are to avoid a world famine. And yet right here in Glendale are many acres of soil worse than wasted—they are growing useless weeds and grass. In some instances the owners positively refuse to allow them to be cultivated. In others, the want of water facilities makes it impossible to grow crops. Does not the exigency of the case demand that water be piped to all these lots and that they be taken by law if necessary? There is no immediate danger of famine, but there is a serious shortage of cereals. Wheat can scarcely be had and other grains are becoming scarcer every day. There is enough waste land in California alone to grow millions of bushels of foodstuffs. If there is no law by which these vacant lots can be commandeered from their selfish owners, cannot one be passed?

And right here let me record it as my firm conviction that the man or set of men who at this time worse than waste good grain by making of it the liquid damnation that sends men's souls to hell by the thousands every year, are worse foes to their country than the most pestilential German spy. All over this land should go up a mighty protest against allowing for a single day longer the diversion of precious grain from the use God intended it for, to that the devil planned, and which he is doing by the aid of thousands of recreant citizens. Think of the infamy of using the grain that ought to be made into bread for saving starving children's lives; thing of using this precious grain to make liquor to damn these children's fathers and brothers!

PROF. HEAD COMING

Prof. William H. Head, the dramatic interpreter, reader and impersonator, who will entertain us Tuesday evening at the High School, is spoken of as "the many men in one man." He has a large repertoire, covering both sacred and secular literature. To quote from some of the many press notices: "William Head is a born impersonator; he needs no costume. His face is better than a wardrobe."

"His readings and impersonations from James Whitcomb Riley were pronounced as equal to Riley himself."

"W. H. Head is one of the few readers worth hearing. He has an originality that removes his work from the common field of impersonation and imparts a life and freshness most gratifying."

Enjoy an evening with Prof. Head in his impersonations of characters immortalized by the beloved Hoosier poet.

FOOTHILL CLUB

Members of the Foothill club were entertained Friday afternoon at the pleasant home of Mrs. A. M. Hunt, 1201 Viola avenue. The house was prettily decorated with Cherokee roses and ferns and other seasonable flowers. The hostess had provided a delightful program for the afternoon. Miss Elvira Barnaby, well known in Los Angeles musical circles, gave several vocal selections. Miss Barnaby has a beautiful voice and she gave much pleasure to the members of the club. She was ably accompanied by Miss Loie Hunt, daughter of the hostess. Miss Helen Wright of Glendale gave several readings in her own charming style, among them being selections from Riley. Following the program the hostess introduced a clever advertising guessing game, in which Miss Maud Salisbury was fortunate in winning a handsome silk sewing bag as a prize. The club decided that hereafter instead of making their meetings purely social gatherings the members will devote their time at the monthly meetings to sewing for the Red Cross. Before dispersing, the guests partook of dainty refreshments served by the hostess.

Special guests of the afternoon were Mrs. Charles Homer Temple, Mrs. W. E. Evans, Miss Wright, Miss Barnaby and Miss Salisbury.

RARE TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB PROGRAM

Mrs. C. E. Harlan, the able chairman of program in the Tuesday Afternoon club, announces that one of the finest programs of the year will be given at the regular meeting of the club to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 at Masonic Temple. The program, in charge of the Art and Travel section, has unusual possibilities, and is sure to draw a large house.

Miss Margaret Grant, traveler and student, who is sojourning in Los Angeles till the war is over, will give a delightful travel talk with glimpses into India, China and Italy. Miss Grant, her friends say, has gone around the world so many times it makes one dizzy to think about it, has lived in three countries abroad, attended a University in Berlin, was graduated from Oxford, and finds her keenest pleasure in the intensive study of the architecture of foreign countries in which she is considered an authority. Miss Grant has appeared before many of the large clubs and her many interesting as well as startling experiences abroad are sure to delight her audience to-morrow. Miss Grant is planning another trip abroad the moment the war is over, and when she returns it is probable she will write a book describing conditions before and after the war.

But still another treat is in store for the members of the Tuesday Afternoon club and their friends in to-morrow's program in the appearance of Mrs. Carl Johnson, contralto, whose oriental recitals have so charmed our fine musical clubs. Mrs. Johnson appears in the costumes and sings in the languages of Egypt, India, Arabia, Chin, Japan and Hawaii. For six years she resided in the Orient, while her husband was stationed at Amoy, near Hong Kong, as American vice consul and port surgeon, and she is well versed in the ways and music of oriental countries. Mrs. Percy De Gaston will be Mrs. Johnson's able accompanist. It is hoped that club members will use their guest tickets freely and share this fine program with friends who as yet are not members of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

SPECIAL MUSIC TO-NIGHT

Two full houses greeted Evangelist Catherwood at the Baptist church yesterday, and the day was fraught with great spiritual blessing. He addressed the Bible School in the morning, using a striking chart to set before the children the "broad way" and the "narrow way" and showing the direction in which each led. He also used candles of different heights, which, when lighted, impressed in a forcible manner the importance of an early acceptance of Christ and the "narrow way." A large number of the young people manifested a deep spiritual interest, and nine of them made open confession of faith.

In the morning he gave a powerful exposition of Christ's famous invitation to the "weary" and "heavy laden," showing that therein lay a unique prescription for all human maladies. In the evening he held forth a solemn warning against the awful sin of neglect, showing that this little sin personified in human character was not only the "greatest thief in Glendale" but in the whole world.

A rich program is provided for this week, beginning with an added musical feature, as a specialty to-night. A number of Covina's best musicians will be in attendance to-night, and among the special numbers rendered will be a male quartette and a mixed sextette.

Mr. Catherwood has prepared a new and special sermon for the occasion. The meeting will prove specially attractive to the general public, which is cordially invited to be present.

VALLEY FEDERATION

The Board of Trade of Sunland, the Chamber of Commerce of Tujunga and the Improvement Associations of La Crescenta and La Canada, have joined together to form a Foothill Valley Federation.

This Federation is composed of five members who are chosen by each organization to represent them in this Federation. This Federation meets every three months to consider topics of interest to the community as a whole. They do not go into matters that pertain strictly to one locality but take up large questions of general interest. It is divided up into eight committees and each member serves on two committees. The Chairmanships of these committees are equally divided between the different organizations and as there are an equal number of representatives, it is entirely an unbiased body.

The business that has come before this Federation has been so great that they have had to meet nearly every month to keep up with the volume of business. Each man is appointed to a committee on which he handles the business in which he is best adapted to serve. It is suggested to the citizens of the various communities if they have suggestions that will be to the general interest of the Valley as a whole, that they should take them up directly with the committee that is working along that line. The Chairman is Mr. Ashby of Tujunga and the secretary is Mr. Johnson of La Canada. The Committees are as follows:

Highways and Bridges: Mr. Lancaster of Sunland; Mr. Blake of Tujunga; Mr. Bissell of La Crescenta; Dr. Nettleton of La Crescenta and Mr. Granger of La Canada.

Finance: Mr. Hopping of La Crescenta; Mr. Adams of Sunland; Mr. Hefflinger of Sunland; Mr. Jewett of La Canada and Mr. Cobb of La Crescenta.

INCREASE FOOD PRODUCTION

"Patriotism, Preparedness and Pep," not yet formally adopted, appeared to be the convincing slogan of the Los Angeles County Civil Service Commission County convention held yesterday afternoon in the flag-bedecked auditorium of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Glendale does not have to be the Geographical center of Los Angeles County to be the pivotal point of the two most popular and most necessary and efficient movements born of our war with the German nation—not with the whole of the great German people—thanks be to the Spirit of Human Brotherhood, which, in spite of War Demons, still inspires the vast majority of our race.

Those two vital movements are, First: For Increased Food Supply—actively and practically forwarded in Glendale long before we dreamed of our present war—because our wise promoters recognized the racial need.

Second: The initial campaign for an enabling act by the State Legislature, authorizing municipalities to tax the whole community to arm, equip and maintain Home Guards for local protection, without being subject to the call of State or Nation for use in other localities.

We note the central position of Glendale's able, faithful and practical representative on the County central committee, in charge of that most successful convention yesterday.

F. E. Doty, Chairman—(Secretary, County Civil Service Commission, Hall of Records; 60831—Main 2300; Sta. 130.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Glendale—Glen. 248.

Wm. Wood, Horticultural Commissioner, Hall of Records—60831—Main 2300—Station 74.

All who listened yesterday to her terse, tense, rapidly uttered statements and instructions, with flashes of wit and wisdom, could feel proud of Glendale's representation in that large assembly of thinkers and doers for the public weal.

The chairman said, "The idea is to hear from all those who are at work; and learning that the little city of Glendale has made most remarkable progress in this work, we shall be glad to hear from Glendale's official representative, Dr. Jessie A. Russell."

Seated at the rear of the hall, Dr. Jessie A. Russell had won the audience before she reached the platform, judging from the many glad hands that welcomed her.

She said, in substance: Do not judge of our Glendale by the little time allowed me. I will tell not so much of what has been done in Glendale, which speaks for itself—as what we will do. We have nine or ten workers—not dummies. In two days we had 150 land owners sign up to give us land for cultivation; and cultivators by the dozen are agreeing to work that land.

We are arranging for many meetings, to be addressed by speakers who know their subjects. We are successfully securing concessions on seeds. We are stimulating workers to begin NOW. Five or six boys have signed to begin on Saturday. Many others will follow their lead—as they are leaders.

Groups of girls are asking for lots; and are getting them.

Hearty co-operation promised by the High School and the other schools.

The Domestic Science departments will give most efficient aid.

We are arranging to get the lowest rates on water; and many who have water will give it gratis for use on vacant lots to be cultivated in their neighborhood.

We will get a flat rate for ploughing.

We want to get every man, woman, boy and girl to plant, or do something to help others plant and cultivate.

Great applause followed this volley of good things; which was equalled by no other speaker in that convention.

Later the Chairman called on Dr. Jessie A. Russell a second time, not limiting her allowance.

She promptly responded, and joyously said, "This is the first time I ever had the pleasure of speaking in a public assembly, without the fear of the Gavel. But I will try not to abuse the privilege. She well used the time giving the instructions officially adopted for local organizations, and answering questions. Those printed instructions were later distributed through the audience.

Glendale was unofficially represented in the audience by numerous citizens deeply interested in this most meritorious work. Among them were Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, President Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher Association; Mr. John Hyde Braly, President Glendale Auxiliary Los Angeles Chapter American Red Cross Society and Mr. Wait. Le Noir Church, Secretary and General Manager, Glendale Chamber of Commerce. The latter after repeated efforts, succeeded in recognition by the Chairman, when the meeting was thrown open to the public, and dozens were striving for utterance. Mr. Church said, in substance: "Mr. Chairman, my reason for insistent efforts to catch your eye, is that I have an important suggestion, not yet covered by anything thus far said in this meeting. I am Mr. Church, Secretary of Glendale's Chamber of Commerce. I have had opportunity lately to go over large sections of our county, and other counties. I feel confident that a great deal of perishable food will be produced under the inspiration of this big movement, which will be wasted for lack of available markets. A peck here, half a bushel or more there, in many places. In the canning season, cans will be scarce and dear. It would be wise to begin right now to get all the cans you can to can such surplussage, which in the aggregate will amount to a very large amount of good food, snatched, as it were, like a brand from the burning.

The suggestion was received with enthusiastic applause. So, once more Glendale scored.

But there was the third base hit, also. In the absence of another speaker, slated to represent Glendale, City Attorney, W. E. Evans, Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson called the chairman's attention to the presence of Prof. Harry L. Howe of the Glendale Union High School, who told of the sympathy of the High School with the work, and the efforts of the teachers to encourage both boys and girl to go into it heartily. He said it was good, as others started to grow even $4.00 worth of vegetables for $5.00. But it was much better still to grow $10.00 worth for $2.00, which could be done if the growers were rightly instructed.

STATE DEFENSE PLANS

Recommendations of a far-reaching effect, looking toward the protection of the State and the conservation of the State's resources, were adopted by the California Council of Defense at a meeting held in Sacramento last week, and were submitted to Governor William D. Stephens. All of the 33 members of the council, except Col. Frank W. Coe, were present at the meeting and great importance is attached to the deliberations and recommendations by the council.

Among the specific recommendations made was one calling for a State Defense Guard, to take the place of the California National Guard, which is now a part of the federal forces. In the event that the National Guard should be called from beyond the borders of the State, California would be without a local protective force and the proposed defense guard is to be organized to meet the emergency growing out of this phase of the war. The size of the proposed organization is left largely to the discretion of the governor, but is not to exceed 1,000 men. The governor, however, may reduce the size of the guard to whatever strength he may consider necessary to deal with the exigencies which may arise out of present war conditions. Apropos the proposed State Defense Guard and its purposes, the Council of Defense gave out the following statement:

"The Defense Guard will be used in the repression of enemy plots and for border defense. It is specifically provided that it shall not be used in industrial disputes or strikes. The creation of such a body of men is discretionary with the governor and is intended to vest him with authority to safeguard the State in the event the National Guard should be withdrawn to some point outside our borders. The proposed act gives Governor Stephens authority to create either one company, with a minimum strength of 25 men, or as many as ten companies with a maximum of 1,000 men, or 100 men to each company.

"The proposed act provides that only men between 30 and 50 years of age shall be members of the State Defense Guard, thereby preventing any conflict with enlistments in the National Guard or regular army. It also is intended that the age limit shall work to secure as members of this body, only men of mature judgment and poise."

Another recommendation proposes to vest in the governor authority to suspend any county sheriffs or constables who refuse to execute the laws during the period of the war. The law is intended only as a measure to be used as a last resort in removing such officers as might be lukewarm in their patriotism or who might do or permit things to be done which were prejudicial to the public safety.

It was the opinion of the Council of Defense that the aid for dependents provision in pending federal legislation, viz., that of $15 for dependent mothers and wives of soldiers, is altogether inadequate for their proper support and protection and upon the recommendation of Dr. John R. Haynes, chairman of the Relief Committee, a resolution was adopted urging Congress to increase this amount to $30 a month and to provide $10 a month additional for each dependent child.

Charles H. Bentley, chairman of the Committee on Manufactures, presented a report giving valuable information on the manufactures of the State. He recommended that California's representatives in Congress be urged to seek legislation limiting the export of tin-plate. California is facing a shortage of tin-plate, which is badly needed for the canning of food-stuffs, not alone by the canneries but by housewives throughout the State.

The Council of Defense also recommended that the governor appoint some representative to confer in Washington, D. C., with Secretary Lane in regard to various matters which the State must take up in connection with the federal government,

MAGAZINES AT LIBRARY

SUGGESTIONS ARE SOLICITED AND ARE GIVEN DUE CONSIDERATION

The magazine list at the Glendale library is very carefully selected. During the entire year Mrs. Danford makes note of the needs of the patrons of the library and adapts the magazine list to these needs. Many suggestions are received and these are given due consideration; in fact suggestions are solicited and special printed forms are provided for those who wish to make suggestions. Of course the fund for magazine subscriptions is not unlimited and the librarian is compelled to use her best judgment in making her selections but it is her earnest endeavor to best serve the needs of the greatest number in this as in all other lines of library work. At present the following magazines are being received at the Glendale library:

STEREOTYPED LOYALTY
By "GM"

A man came to us the other day and wanted us to sign a loyalty pledge. One of those men who are always trying to engrave the public mind on a community scratch pad with a neighborhood lead pencil. It can't be done.

It didn't seem to occur to him that a man might sign a dozen loyalty pledges a day and go out and plant a bomb at night if he chooses.

If a relative dies we're sorry; it takes neither crepe nor tears to let the neighbors know it. And all the mourning in the world won't keep the neighbors from knowing it if we're not.

Loyalty pledges don't mean a thing. Not a thing. Let's take ourselves a little more calmly and rely on our natural intelligence to discern the true state of affairs after this.

Some folks can't do anything without a brass band.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO PRESIDENT

At the meeting of the W. C. T. U. Sunday the following telegram was sent to President Wilson by the members of the organization:

"President Woodrow Wilson, White House, Washington, D. C.:
The W. C. T. U. of Glendale, Cal., earnestly pleads with you to speedily order national prohibition as a war measure. We mothers willingly give our boys in defense of the nation, but urge that conditions surrounding them may be made as safe as possible by eliminating all intoxicants.
(Signed) MRS. RUBY J. SMART."

GLENDALE PROTECTORS

Gentlemen:

Because the law forbids military training of armed guards is no reason we should not be prepared to meet the enemy should they approach Glendale. We are not a bunch of idiots that cannot fight and protect our homes just because we cannot right about face, shoulder arms, present arms, etc., like clock work.

Just because our age or physical ability will not permit us to do hours of training and marching is no sign we could not ride in an auto or shoot from behind steel breastworks.

Why not join the gun club or organize a gun club of our own, learn to handle the guns, learn to shoot from behind steel breastworks, learn to handle the "Auto Cavalry Equipment" crossing sand, streams, ravines and other difficult places? We should have machines engaged ready for any emergency. I will volunteer the services of my machine.

CLOTHES MAKE THE WAITER

Dr. John E. Finley, New York State commissioner of education, arrived about nine o'clock the other night at the Albany hotel where he was to be an after-dinner speaker. He asked the young woman at the desk how to find the banquet hall, and following her directions found himself in a serving room where forty waiters were busy.

"What do you mean by showing up here two hours late for work?" shouted the head waiter. "You're canned."

"All right," Dr. Finley replied. "I'll get out." He found his way to the banquet hall and by telling reminiscences of the previous few minutes drew the biggest laugh of the evening.
