Add to this a thorough knowledge of his country men, and a profound appreciation of the condition of things in Mexico, and you will form a tolerably correct tides of our Menuter of France.

With the exception of a few insignificant and abortive movements, the country is perfectly transpair in the misst of the crisis through which it is peasing. You have no doubt heard of the defeat and capitulation of the forces of Vincipion on the banks of the Rio Brayo. This gueritia chieftain is pretty much on its last tegs.

I shall exputate at length on the situation and prospects here as soon as communications are fully re-evaluabled between Vers Crizz and New Grickau.

Respecting the proposed demonstration against Naples, the only reliable information is given by the Need of Brassels, in the shape of a letter from Vienna, of date September 28, stating that the Austrian representatives at Paris and London had received urgent instructions from their governments to induce the Western Powers to adjourn the execution of their marktime demonstration, and to swall the result of the Austrian Bevoy's (Gen. Martini's) mission to Naples. The letter adde that there is every reason to believe that the Western Powers will allow sufficient that the Western Powers will allow sufficient that the expedition had been definitively countermanded, but these rumors are premature, if not unfounded.
