SHEFFIELD CHOIR REACHES THE COAST

CORDIAL WELCOME IN VANCOUVER YESTERDAY

Dr. Coward Talks of Advertising Value of Tour of Empire Choralists

(Special to the Times.)
Vancouver, May 15.—At two o'clock yesterday afternoon the special train of eleven cars bearing the 220 members of the Sheffield Choir drew up along side the steamship Zealandia and was welcomed by a gathering of over 5,000 citizens of the terminal city, while the 10th Regiment band played airs which reminded the visitors of their homes. Mayor Taylor and the members of the city council were present and extended to Dr. Coward a hearty greeting. Here, as everywhere on their trip, members of the choir found friends and acquaintances waiting to greet them.

Yesterday a party of Victoria and Vancouver newspaper men and those who have been looking after the business end of the choir's visit in both cities went out as far as Mission Junction and came back on the special, being the first to officially welcome the singers to this province.

The choir has traversed Canada and the large cities of the Eastern and middle states without any cases of illness or accident. Eighty per cent of the members have been present at any concert held, and some of them have never missed a rehearsal or concert. They are a happy party, keenly interested in all they see and anxious to learn all they can of the land they are travelling through. Many of them are seriously thinking of coming to Canada when the tour is over, being quite in love with the country. Thousands of pounds have already been invested in various parts of the Dominion by members of the choir, and at least one little romance will end in a wedding when the tour is done.

Coming from the centre of the choral singing in England, the formation of the choir has depleted many a church choir of its soloists.

The newspaper men met Dr. Henry Coward, the famous leader of this great body of singers, and his principal soloists. All are charmed with the kindness and courtesy which has been extended to them throughout.

Speaking to a Times representative Dr. Coward said:
"The trip is costing a lot of money and none of our members but will return home after spending a great deal of their own means, but we feel it is worth the money both to us and to Canada. If your government had voted the money to pay our expenses it would have been a fine investment, for every member of the choir will return home as a live advertising agent for the Dominion. After our last trip to this country over one hundred lectures on Canada were given. When we got to the ground and that we knew the best, but it has been a case of becoming greater and greater, and our stock of adjectives has been exhausted. It is indeed a glorious land. Coming through the Rockies no man with poetry in his soul and any imagination could help being impressed with their grandeur and beauty. There is not a doubt that this tour is going to mean much to the Dominion and that this reciprocity in music will help to bind closer the bonds between all parts of the Empire."

CAMPAGN FAILS

Seattle, Wash., May 15.—The whirlwind campaign to raise $600,000 for the Young Women's Christian Association building, ended Saturday, falling $250,000 short of the desired amount.

BUILDING OPERATIONS AT OTTAWA TIED UP

Builders Laborers Strike for Increase of Three Cents an Hour

(Special to the Times.)
Ottawa, May 15.—Four hundred builders' laborers went on strike on Saturday demanding 25 cents an hour, which the contractors refuse to pay. The men have been getting 25 cents an hour. The agreement at the latter figure expired May 1, and negotiations have been in progress since. All building operations are tied up. So great is the number of men out that Labor Hall was unable to accommodate them and some of them had open-air meetings on Carleton Square.

PRESENTATION TO ODD FELLOW.

Winnipeg, May 15.—Before returning to Vancouver Samuel Phillips, master mechanic of the C. P. R., formerly of Winnipeg, was the recipient of the veteran's jewel, on behalf of Minnehaha Lodge, I. O. O. F., Winnipeg, of which he has been a member for 27 years.

GERMAN EMPEROR ARRIVES IN LONDON.

IS ENTHUSIASTICALLY RECEIVED IN METROPOLIS

Aeroplanes Welcome the Royal Party on Arrival at Sheerness

London, May 15.—The German Imperial yacht Hohenzollern, with Emperor William, Empress Augusta Victoria and Princess Victoria Louise, arrived at Sheerness last night. The party entered London to-day and were welcomed with an enthusiastic greeting, which fully demonstrated the Emperor's personal popularity with Englishmen. The German royal guests are here for a week's visit to King George and Queen Mary, and primarily to be present at the unveiling of the national memorial to Queen Victoria, the Emperor's grandmother.

The King and Queen and other members of the British royal family met the visitors at the Victoria station and all were driven in state to Buckingham Palace. Enormous crowds thronged the route.

Sir Edward Grey, the German ambassador, and other diplomats, were present.

The national memorial which the statue crowns and completes, stands directly in front of the palace, the Queen facing down the hall. The memorial proper is a stately monument of marble and bronze, which it has taken nine years to complete at a cost of upwards of $1,000,000. The unveiling will take place to-morrow by King George.

Some significance may be attached to the state banquet to be given in honor of the German Emperor to-morrow evening. Before leaving Sheerness to-day Emperor William received a welcome from the aeronautic branch of the British navy from aeroplanes flying over the Hohenzollern.

The arrangements for the unveiling of the memorial have been completed under the general supervision of Colonel Sir Frederick Ponsonby, the King's visitor for the coronation. It is estimated that probably 1,000,000 visitors will be in London by Tuesday.

In addition to the opening of the Queen Victoria memorial on Tuesday, and the special performance of "Money" at Drury Lane the following day, the Emperor and Empress will attend a court ball next Friday night. They will leave England in the Hohenzollern on their return journey Saturday.

CHILD MAULED BY BEAR AT CALGARY

Succumbs to Injuries Inflicted by Animal Which Was Kept by Fireman

(Special to the Times.)
Calgary, Alb., May 15.—Lucille the 20 months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. F. Morrey died on Saturday night, a result of mauling received from a bear that was kept in a yard adjoining fire headquarters, on Friday. The child strayed to the fire hall menagerie and was pulled away from the big bear with which it was trying to play. A fireman took the baby home and left warning that it was not to be allowed in the yards again. Somehow the infant strayed in again and no one saw it until a fireman noticed the bear mauling its helpless body. Chief Smart had the animal killed at once.

(Special to the Times.)

(Special to the Times.)

CANTON SITUATION AGAIN SERIOUS

THOUSANDS OF PERSONS FLEEING FROM DISTRICT

Many Rebels and Suspects De- capitated—Bodies Left Lying in Streets

Hongkong, May 15.—There are alarming rumors of a revolutionary uprising at Canton and the surrounding districts planned for to-morrow. Europeans in Shanghai, the foreign Dispositions in Canton, are prepared to leave the city at once.

The revolt is said to cover a wide area and to be led by relatives of high Chinese officers who have been educated in Japan. More than $1,000,000 is said to be available to the rebels.

The leaders of the revolution in Formosa and Annam declare that they have enough dynamite to blow up the city of Canton.

TRIBUTE TO HEROES.

Regina, May 15.—Special memorial services in honor of Inspector Fitzgerald and Constables Carter, Kinney and Taylor of the R. N. W. M. F., who recently perished in the Far North, were held yesterday morning at the barracks when Rev. PREDICTS BUMPER CROP.

Toronto, May 15.—Premier Birt, of Alberta, is at the King Edward en route for England for the coronation. He spoke this morning enthusiastically of a bumper wheat crop in the west this season. "So far," he said, "it has been the best looking season we could possibly ask for."

WANT CAR SHOPS.

(Special to the Times.)
Calgary, May 15.—The town of Basano, midway between Calgary and Medicine Hat, where the Canadian Pacific Irrigation Company is building a huge dam at a cost of $7,000,000 to irrigate thousands of acres of land, is to have abundance electric power from the dam. The citizens claim the C.P.R. car shops building will be located there. Turbines are now being installed in the dam to generate 205,000 horsepower, and it is claimed this will be the power used. The citizens have been petitioning the C.P.R. authorities for some time relative to car shops.

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL CONTESTS

Competitions Will Be Con- tinued When Duke of Con- naught Comes to Canada

(Special to the Times.)
Ottawa, May 15.—Although nothing definite has been arranged, there is every probability that the next competition for the Earl Grey musical dramatic trophies will be held at Ottawa under the active patronage of His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught. The Duke has already evidenced great interest in the annual competition started by Earl Grey five years ago. Like Earl Grey he has done something in amateur theatricals himself and it is said that on at least one occasion the two had spoken high in the same play. It is the intention of the Duke to have the competition continued when he becomes Governor-General.

The first two competitions were held at Ottawa, and then went to Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg. The choice for next lies between Ottawa, Halifax and Vancouver and as the transportation of companies to Halifax or Vancouver would come very high it is most likely that the lot will fall to Ottawa. Should the competition be held here under such distinguished auspices it is certain to be a most successful and brilliant event.

TWO KILLED IN RIOT AT CLEVELAND

Fight Follows Attempt to Re- move Pastor of Polish Ro- man Catholic Church

Cleveland, May 15.—A riot in which two persons were killed and ten others injured from stone-throwing and fighting, resulted late yesterday when a delegation of the congregation of St. Casimir's Polish Roman Catholic church attempted forcibly to remove the pastor, Rev. Ignatius Piotrowski, because they were dissatisfied with the way he conducted the affairs of the church.

JAIL SENTENCES ARE SET ASIDE

JUDGMENT GIVEN IN CASE OF LABOR LEADERS

Court Holds Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison Were Errone- ously Sentenced

Washington, D. C., May 15.—Setting aside the sentences of imprisonment imposed by the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia for alleged disobedience to a boycott injunction, the Supreme Court of the United States held that Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, president, vice-president and secretary respectively of the American Federation of Labor, had been erroneously sentenced to jail on a charge of contempt of local court.

The court to-day unanimously held that the only sentences that could be imposed on the labor leaders were fines. In so holding, the Supreme Court of the United States found that the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia and Supreme Court of the district erred in treating the contempt case, as a criminal case and not a civil one. The court held that proceedings were civil and one which made jail sentences impossible. Hence the jail sentences had to be set aside.

To correct the error the case was sent back to the local courts with directions that it be dismissed.

OPIMUM SMUGGLERS CAUGHT.

Montreal, May 15.—With the arrest of an express messenger in Plattsburg, N. Y., to-day, customs officials of the United States and Canada announced they had run down opium smugglers who have operated throughout the country for months. WILL NOT WEAKEN TIES OF EMPIRE

W. M. AIKEN REPLIES TO TARIFF REFORMER

Says Suggestion That Reci- procity Will Mean Loss of Canada is Absurd

(Special to the Times.)
London, May 15.—W. M. Aiken, M. P., the Nova Scotian, replying to the assertion of W. A. S. Hewins, secretary of the tariff commission, that Mr. Aiken knew that reciprocity would cost the Empire the loss of Canada, said he considered the suggestion absurd.

"No one in this country save Hewins," he went on, "professes to know this. Such an assertion has not been made by any of Mr. Hewins's leaders; had been conspicuously absent from Mr. Balfour's speeches, and had been denied by President Taft, repudiated by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and ridiculed by Premier Asquith."

Discussing the same subject the British Western Daily News says: "This bolting and barring policy of Canada must necessarily bring about a weakening of the Imperial tie and pave the way to the establishment of a Canadian republic. All this might probably be avoided if the Canadian government would consent either to a general election or a referendum on the reciprocity issue. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, though, is apparently resolved to carry through reciprocity in the same relentless fashion that Premier Asquith is bringing about Home Rule."

The Times, discussing the status of foreign consuls-general, trusts that the home government would be prepared to discuss it at the Imperial conference, not merely with a clear grasp of the important issue involved, but with a proper understanding of the tendencies in the overseas dominions to regard this as a cause to be advanced.

"We are astonished to observe," the writer goes on, "that Lord Curzon recently warned his readers against designs upon Canadian autonomy, which apparently were to be sprung at the Imperial conference. No statesman of this country is desirous of limiting Canadian autonomy. There are interests of Great Britain and British subjects and British Imperial interests diverge and are there any questions of foreign policy which can be regarded as of Canadian interests alone? If so, British statesmen would certainly prefer to see them settled by the Canadian government alone."

ABYSSINIA HAS NEW EMPEROR

Grandson of Emperor Menelik Proclaimed Ruler—Will Be Crowned Later

Addis Ababa, Abyssinia, May 15.—Prince Lidit Jeassu, grandson of Emperor Menelik, was proclaimed Emperor of Abyssinia yesterday. The coronation ceremony will take place later. Prince Lidit was proclaimed heir to the throne May 18, 1909, when he was 18 years of age. Two days before he had been married to the Princess Moaman Oonke, the seven-year-old grand-daughter of the late Emperor John and a niece of Empress Taitu. At the same time Iaa Tessauna, who had taken over the affairs of the empire because of incapacity of Emperor Menelik, was appointed guardian of the heir apparent. The regent died on April 13 last. Menelik was born in 1844 and has long been in ill-health.

Walker and spread with lightning-like rapidity to adjoining houses. Notwithstanding the efforts of the local volunteer fire brigade, some time elapsed before the blaze was under control. The total loss is $75,000.

PEACE PROSPECTS GROW BRIGHTER

GOVERNMENT WILL MAKE CONCESSIONS

Report That Insurgents Will Be Allowed Four-Members in Mexican Cabinet

Mexico City, May 15.—Peace again loomed big on the horizon of Mexico's internal affairs to-day and led Foreign Minister Del Barrio, as he started for the national palace at an early hour, to remark: "We believe that we are making great progress toward peace."

WILL MAKE CONCESSIONS.

Junera, May 15.—Indirect assurance that the federal government is inclined to accept the propositions submitted unofficially within the last two days by the insurgents for peace were received here to-day by Rafael Hernandez, one of the go-betweens in the negotiations.

The government is believed to be ready to re-organize the cabinet and give the insurgents four members out of eight and to allow the revolutionists to name outright fourteen governors of 27 states and by mutual agreement settle the remaining thirteen governors.

More definite statements giving the attitude of the government are expected to-day.

It is not believed that Col. Rabago, who last night was reported to be marching on Junera, will provoke any engagement at this time, though the insurgents are taking no chances and are preparing to meet him.

Some reports have it that Rabago Villos and Terrazas are not far from Chihuahua and a week's march from here, awaiting orders. The belief exists that the federal government will not in that case send marching orders in view of the probable success of the present negotiations.

Resume Negotiations.
El Paso, Texas, May 15.—The end of the resolution in Mexico seems near. Judge Carbajal, federal commissioner, this morning received telegraphic instructions from Mexico City to proceed with negotiations along the lines proposed by Rafael Hernandez yesterday and based upon Madero's demands.

The telegram to Judge Carbajal is believed to be signed by President Diaz himself and it is rumored contains a formal acceptance by the president of the propositions suggested.

Shortly after the receipt of the message from Mexico City, Judge Carbajal got into communication with Dr. Vasquez Gomez, confidential agent of Madero, and the latter was informed of its nature.

Steps were taken at once to resume in a formal manner the negotiations interrupted ten days ago. It now seems probable that before nightfall representatives of the revolutionists and of the federal government will take up the problem of restoring peace.

The message from Mexico City was very long and partly in cipher and its translation required some time. It is known that the demands of the revolutionists upon which their proposition for a resumption of peace negotiations were based, were taken up in detail and from the good and pleased expressions of Judge Carbajal it was manifest that negotiations were anything but unfavorable.

An air of relief was evident, both among the revolutionist leaders and adherents of the federal government, who after many disappointments, finally were convinced that the provisional and Diaz governments of Mexico were at last on the way to settling questions that have stood in the way of restoration of peace.

WOULD EXPROPRIATE LION HOTEL SITE

Sale of Municipal Owned Lots Suggested by Mayor Morley to Provide Funds

Mayor Morley proposes to try and effect a compromise with Thomas Potter, owner of the Lion hotel in the neighborhood of the George Jay school, by which he hopes to see the license annulled and to prevent the new building proposed by Mr. Potter from being erected. The mayor's plan is that the city sell the Yates street pipe yard, the land where the dog pound is located, and with the funds appropriate the property owned by Mr. Potter. The Chambers street hotel is on land 120 feet on Chambers street by a depth of 240 feet, which is assessed by the city assessor at $40,475. The pound property is valued by the same official at $12,500, which with the addition of the value of the Yates street yard would bring the total to nearly sufficient to reimburse Mr. Potter. Mayor Morley, in the event of the plan being effected would establish the pipe yard, the dog pound and other civic quarters at the Lion hotel site. The mayor also suggests that the license of the hotel, valued at about $4,000, should be purchased by the city and cancelled. At the last meeting of the city council Mayor Morley mentioned the matter of the purchase of the license by the city, when Ald. H. M. Fullerton raised the objection that the city could not legally purchase a liquor license, but suggested Mr. Potter could dispose of it otherwise and have it transferred to another location. The city assessor is to report further on the plan. Thomas Potter applied for a permit to build a new hotel on his property and the permit was at first refused, owing to the nearness of the hotel to the George Jay school. The advice of the city solicitor, when sought, was that the city could not refuse the permit, and it was accordingly granted.

OPPONENTS OF HOME RULE ORGANIZING

Clubs in Ireland Now Have Membership of Over 200,000

London, May 15.—The recent speech of the Prime Minister, Mr. Asquith, on the perennial question of Home Rule has drawn attention to the rapid progress being made by the Irish Unionist party in organizing the country against any infringement of the Act of Union.

The political clubs which were formed throughout Ireland twenty years ago to carry on the fight against Home Rule have been revived in large numbers, and it is now declared that the membership exceeds 200,000, or 25,000 more than at the height of the Anti-Home Rule agitation of 1892. The Orange body is co-operating with the Irish Unionist association, and the whole country has been mapped out for the purpose of organization. The idea is to make it possible to marshal every able-bodied Unionist in Ireland and allot him his post in a few hours if need be. The organization is formed on the most up-to-date military lines, and lends strong color to the belief that the sage of the battle will be thrown down by Ulster in real earnest, if the government perseveres in its announced intention of introducing a Home Rule bill next year.

Ulster has already announced its intention to "obey neither the laws nor pay the taxes of an Irish parliament." The newly organized clubs are being linked up with leading British constituencies, and a vigorous campaign will be carried on both in England and Scotland in order to educate the electors in what the Unionists believe to be the true state of affairs. Although in political circles outside of Ulster the threats of "civil war" are not regarded seriously, in the province itself the matter is treated in any way but as a matter for joking. That the government is fully alive to the possibility of grave events developing in the future is indicated by the special steps it is taking to keep fully informed of the situation from day to day.

NO AGREEMENT IN CROW'S NEST PASS

Proposition Submitted by
Chairman of Conciliation
Board is Not Accepted

Fernie, May 15.—The conciliation board has closed its session here temporarily, after a fruitless attempt to get the parties together upon a proposition submitted by Chairman Gordon. Friday afternoon was spent in discussing this proposition behind closed doors, and when it was found that it was useless at this stage to try further to do anything in the line of conciliation the board adjourned at the call of the chairman.

Dr. Gordon and Mr. McNeven, who has acted as secretary to the board, departed for their homes on the east-bound train in the evening. The operators also left town for their homes, leaving the executive of the mine workers to remain a few days, tending to matters pertaining to the district affairs.

The proposition submitted by Chairman Gordon, and which was the basis of the afternoon negotiations, seems not to have met with favor from either side.

The chairman stated after the adjournment that he had not hoped too strongly for its acceptance, as the inquiry had not gone far enough to get results that would satisfy either party. He had made it in the interest of peace before taking a long adjournment, not wishing to lose any opportunity of securing an agreement between the parties.

In adjourning the board, the chairman complimented the parties upon the spirit manifested throughout the proceedings, and thanked the public for the good order preserved through the sessions. The present adjournment will last for several weeks.

THINKING THEMES BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

Every man has a creed, but few men know what their creed is. The formulas they repeat in church, the platitudes they utter in conversation, the mottoes they tack on the wall, usually have very little relation to the real principles that govern them.

For a man's principles are those convictions that lie concealed in his subconsciousness and work out to control his acts, as a bulb under the earth puts forth a flower in the air. I have known men who profess the most bloodthirsty theological beliefs and yet are kind and gentle. Who can imagine two people more antipodal in their acknowledged creed than General Gordon and Charles Darwin? Yet Huxley tells us that these two men made precisely the same impression on him, that of sublime unselfishness.

The last and poorest witness for or against a man is himself. Our notions about our own character are as absurd as our notions about the character of other people. Our actual springs of conduct are, to use Tennyson's words, "deep-seated in our mystic frame." They are what Milton calls the "utterless facts."

Science, in destroying the childish cosmogonies of former days, and tearing away the cheap and ready-made formulas that once explained the soul's existence and destiny, has but plunged us into still deeper mysteries, and prepared for us a more genuine wonder, with a psychology ought to be more self-reverent than the man with a catechism; and how much vaster the God of the telescope's heaven than the God of one tribe of one little world!

PROSECUTION SEEKS TO INDICT INFORMER

Application to Have Abbate-maggio Charged as Accomplice in Murder Denied

Viterbo, May 15.—The crown prosecutor has asked that Goparzo Abbate-maggio be indicted as an accomplice in the murder of Genaro Cuccolo and his wife. The request was founded on admissions made by Abbate-maggio at Saturday's session of the Camorrist trial, when he again was confronted by Enrico Alfano with being the actual head of the Camorra. President Bianchi declined to make the order. Saturday's exchange between Abbate-maggio and Alfano had to do chiefly with the actual murder of the Cuccolos. When Alfano repeated his testimony, Abbate-maggio replied that, wishing to be indicted, he could only imagine that his accuser had had dreams.

When Abbate-maggio was asked why his share of the proceeds of the murder was $31,000, the actual murderers received only $20 each, he replied: "Because the Camorrista fear to oppose." It was this last statement of the informer that led the crown prosecutor to ask for his indictment.

REBELS ENTER CANANEA.

Mexican Troops Surrender With All
Honors of War and Leave for Nogales.

Cananea, Sonora, Mexico, May 15.—All Cananea on Saturday night celebrated the occupation by the insurrecto army, and cries of "Viva Cabral" and "Viva Madero" fill the air. Possession of the town was gained by the insurrecto force without loss of life to either side.

The federal garrison, under command of Colonel Chitapas, having surrendered with all the honors of war, fled out as the triumphant insurrectos marched into the town at 3.30 Saturday afternoon. Mayor Arnold and all other local as well as federal officials accompanied the federal troops, who, as the agreement allowed, took with them their arms and ammunition. Immediately on leaving the town the federals embarked on a train, and at 4 o'clock left for Nogales.

Cabral's entrance to Cananea was triumphant. The entire population trooped out to meet him, most of them on foot, while every available carriage was pressed into commission and driven out to escort the rebel chieftain to his old home. Among the carriages, gaily decorated with flags and bunting, was one in which rode Juan Cabral, sr., the insurrecto leader's father, and other members of his family. Two bands headed the column of entering insurgents.

Cabral brought 200 men into camp with him, but stated that he had 1,200 more at his call. When the column reached the ball park on the edge of the town, where the greater part of the population had gathered, Cabral was almost dragged from his horse by enthusiastic admirers, and covered with wreaths of flowers, as were the officers of his command. The procession entered the town, and marched to a vacant lot adjoining the residence of Colonel Greene, head of the mining company, whose operations are the principal industry of the city. Patrols were immediately established by the rebel commander, and guards posted in front of all the

LIGHTNING STARTS FIRE.

Winnipeg, May 15.—During a violent electrical storm lightning struck the factory of the Metropolitan Tannery and Mattress Company. The fire was not discovered for several minutes, and when the first detachment of the fire brigade arrived flames were shooting from all the windows on the fourth floor. A general alarm sent in brought additional apparatus from five teams. Within an hour the fire had been drawn out, chiefly by lines from the high pressure plant, which were laid for over half a mile, the fire being brought under control by the use of the steam from the high pressure plant. The good portion of the building, but the loss will be approximately one hundred thousand dollars, partially covered by insurance.

FATUOUS CRITICISM.

The voice of Mr. G. H. Barnard, M.P., has again been heard in the parliamentary halls at Ottawa, and the member for Victoria figures in the debate on Bill No. 73, which is a bill to regulate the manufacture, storage and importation of explosives.

The frequent loss of life occurring in various parts of the Dominion during the past year by untimely and perhaps avoidable explosions has brought the necessity of such a measure forcibly before the attention of the House, and the bill aims at such inspection of explosives manufactured or imported as shall entitle its sale under the licensing provisions of the act.

On Mr. Barnard alone devolved the task of criticising the measure because its enactment might result in increasing the cost of explosives to the consumer. Reference was made in the debate to the recent explosion at Sand Point with its disastrous consequences, and to that at Hall, of comparative recent date, which by the merest chance occurred the day after enough powder had been removed from the magazines to have blown up Parliament Hill had it been in the stores when the explosion happened.

The several disasters within the province of British Columbia which have emphasized the dangers of explosives and pointed the moral for more stringent regulations as to quality, manner or storing, using and handling of these, were also referred to. But none of these things moved Mr. Barnard from the track of his criticism—the fear that the new law might increase the cost of production to the consumer or deter others from entering upon its manufacture.

It will be agreed, of course, that explosives are necessary. It may even be said that they are costly, and, where their use is in such quantities and imperative demand as in the various industries of British Columbia, the question of cost is an item. But we think Mr. Barnard, M. P., put the case very frankly when he said that the bill aims at preventing the continual sacrifice of human life by explosions.

Surely Mr. Barnard knows that all transportation problems involve the safety of human lives. He would not argue that any consideration of the cost of safeguards should influence one in the decision to make them absolutely secure. The sanitary and ventilating construction of buildings involves increased cost, but Mr. Barnard would not argue for cheapness at the possible sacrifice of life.

As Mr. Barnard admits, the use of powder within the province is extensive and the corresponding dangers incidental to its storage and use increased. No one will sympathize with an objection to a bill on the ground that increased safety to life and property will cost a few cents more, and Mr. Barnard has been most unhappy in his selection of his weapons of attack.

THE CANADIAN NORTHERN.

The Times took the position when the government of British Columbia announced that it had entered into a contract with the Canadian Northern Railway Company for the construction of a line through this province that the matter was properly one for the Dominion government to deal with—that the line to the Pacific coast would be built eventually without the province jeopardizing its credit for any such purpose.

MISCHIEF MAKING.

There crept into the news columns of the Colonist of Sunday morning a statement which it is but charitable to assume must have been unintentionally inaccurate. The morning paper says: "The local Board of Trade during the present week will forward a strongly worded recommendation to Ottawa urging such changes in the Dominion naval policy as will insure the West, in this particular, receiving the same political treatment as the East."

The facts are that at a meeting of the executive of the Board of Trade held last Friday a sub-committee was appointed with power to act on behalf of the board. The resolution making the appointment did not direct the committee to "urge such changes in the Dominion naval policy as will insure the West receiving the same political treatment as the East."

The Times is quite in accord with the instructions given by the executive of the Board of Trade to its committee and believes that much valuable information will be aligned and presented to the federal department. It sincerely believes that all of this information will be worthy of consideration by the department. But if further sincerity hopes, what is quite unnecessary, that the committee will not be led into making political capital out of its pleadings.

A distinguished authority on the etiquette of Royalty says: "People who invite the King and Queen to dinner must escort their Royal guests into the dining-room first and see that they are placed in the centre of one side of the table, with the principal guests on both sides of them. It is considered etiquette for people to address the King as 'Sir' and the Queen as 'Madam.'"

Promoting peace and shortening the duration of armed and sanguinary conflicts by tying up the money bags of the wealthy nations is a good one. It shows that not even the money kings are uninterested in the arbitration treaty. But has it come to this that the money bag is the determining factor in the question of world peace?

It seems a pity that the B. C. E. R. is being permitted to destroy the corner of Yates and Government in the manner which appears unavoidable if the new track curves are not to carry cars where they will knock people off the sidewalk. Rounded corners are becoming quite the thing in big cities, but the narrowing of a street corner sidewalk from 12 to 9 feet in order to accommodate a street railway company is an innovation unworthy of the Capital City.

SAYS MICHIGAN FAVORS RECIPROcity

Governor of State Offers His Services to President Taft

Lansing, Mich., May 15.—Governor Chase Osborne to-day sent a message to President Taft offering his personal services in favor of the proposed Canadian reciprocity treaty, and declaring that the Michigan farmers' representatives who have been opposing the treaty at Washington do not represent all the farmers by any means, and do not reflect the dominant sentiment of the state.

Hearing at Washington. Washington, D. C., May 15.—When the hearing before the senate finance committee on the reciprocity bill was resumed to-day H. Cowan, representing the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas and the National Livestock Association, was heard. He entered on a discussion of the free list bill and predicted ruin for the cattle industry of the country if the duty on meats was removed.

JETTISONED CARGO.

Boveric Had to Lighter Herself Before Floating Off Island.

San Francisco, Cal., May 15.—Advice brought here by the steamer Oceano, which arrived here Thursday night, state that the steamer Boveric, of the same line, which was ashore several days on one of the Friendly Islands, in the South Pacific, punched a good-sized hole in her bottom and was obliged to jettison a part of her cargo before she had been floated. The Oceanic company's steamer Boveric is a great part of the voyage from the South Pacific, but as she neared the coast steamed ahead. The Boveric is expected in a day or two. The Oceano was not damaged by her experience at Port Stephen.

She ran ashore on a sand pit inside Port Stephen while attempting to reach Salamander Bay to load a shipment of timber as a part of her San Francisco cargo. The Oceano reports that the Boveric made temporary repairs with much difficulty and will be permanently repaired on her arrival here. The British steamer Strathern arrived here yesterday from Java, with cargo for the Java Asiatic Company. She is under charter to the American Trading Company to load at Bureka and on the Sound for Sydney.

Seattle, May 15.—Officials of steamship companies operating between Seattle and Alaska ports were notified yesterday by the United States marine hospital service that modifications had been made in the order requiring all passengers to be vaccinated, which would greatly reduce the number which would be subjected to vaccination. In the future, passengers who believe they have not been exposed to smallpox will be allowed to make an

Certificates of Skill in Radio-Communication to Be Issued by United States

Washington, D. C., May 15.—To bring about greater efficiency among wireless operators on ocean-going vessels the department of commerce and labor will issue a certificate of skill in radio-communication to operators who pass the examination to be held at many of the United States navy yards within a few weeks. To secure a certificate an operator must qualify in the adjustment of the apparatus, correction of faults, change from one wave length to another, transmission and sound reading at a speed of not less than fifteen words a minute. American Moring, and twelve vessels carrying passengers are required July 1 to be equipped with wireless apparatus and competent operators.

RIVER STEAMER SINKS.

Strikes Rock in Yukon River—Cargo Lost—Crew Saved.

Dawson, Y.T., May 15.—The stern-wheel gasoline boat Christian, which left the foot of Lake Lebarge for the Iditarod to-day, was wrecked, with the cargo, after proceeding 30 miles down the Yukon. The boat, which was topheavy because of her large load struck a rock in United States bend and capsized. The vessel and cargo are a total loss. The crew of three men swam ashore. The average length of life of a native Paristan is 28 years.

After the meeting tea was served at Bishopsclose.

A large attendance heard the interesting programme, which was as follows: March, "His Majesty;" Boheme; selection, "Choccolate Soldier;" Strauss; romance, "Awakening of Spring;" Bach; overture, "Peter Schmolli;" Von Weber; mazurka, "The Cheppers;" Louis; grand selection, "Aida;" Verdi; valse de concert, "Spirit of Love;" Hall; grand coronation march from "Die Follinger;" Kretschmer; selection, "Mikado;" Sullivan; march, "The British Army;" Corri; "God Save the King."

Manager Quagliotti of the Romano theatre has secured an exceptionally fine programme of motion pictures for to-day and to-morrow. Nearly all the lovers of photoplays will remember Miss Florence Lawrence of Imp and Biograph fame, who for some time has not been appearing in the pictures owing to impaired health. She is now playing leading parts for the Lubin company, and will be seen at her best in "Her Artistic Temperament," a comedy film which heads the list on the programme at this theatre. The other films to be shown are "Locked Out," a comedy drama by the Reliance Co.; "A Good Doctor" (comedy); "I'll Lend You My Overcoat" (comedy); and "Nearly a Hero" (drama). Miss England will be heard in a new song and the Romano orchestra will furnish the music for the pictures.

NEW EMPRESS THEATRE.

The management of the above theatre are sparing neither money nor pains in trying to give their patrons something good in the way of amusement. They have secured at enormous expense, the services of Miss Marie Burnett, late of the Royal Carl Rosa Grand Opera Co. and the J. W. Turner Opera Co. in England, where she played leading parts. She possesses a very sweet mezzo-soprano voice, and the patrons of this house will have an opportunity of hearing one of the finest singers that ever came to Victoria. She will be heard to-day and to-morrow in a popular song. The programme of motion pictures is far above the average, consisting of "The Way of the Transgressor," Lubin drama; "The Road to Happiness," Selig feature; "Poetical Jane," comedy, and others.

W. Wilby, who has carried on a toy and stationery business on Douglas street for the past fifteen years, is now retiring. He does not contemplate opening up in any other branch of business.

The two chauffeurs, Herbert Thompson and Algernon Coombe, who were injured in the recent automobile accident on Rockland avenue, are now recovering very well. They are expected to leave the hospital to-day.

To-morrow afternoon the committee appointed to inquire into the circumstances of the Dallas Road Sea Wall dispute between A. E. Forman, the inspector, and the Pacific Coast construction company, the contractors, will be resumed.

The first guest day to be held at the New Alexandra club will take place on Wednesday when the Victoria Ladies Musical Society, the Canadian club and the Daughters of the Empire will entertain the members of the Sheffield Choir at a reception. Members of other societies will also have the privilege of inviting guests to the function. Music and refreshments will be provided at the function.

At to-night's meeting of the city council local improvement works for the following streets will be considered: Paving with asphalt Ontario street between St. Lawrence street and Dallas road and the construction of permanent walks and boulevards on both sides, the owners to pay four-fifths of the work and the total cost of the lateral sewer and water mains and surface drains; paving with asphalt Camosun street, between Pandora avenue and Yates street, with permanent walk on the west side from Pandora avenue to Yates street and on the east side from Rudin street to Pandora avenue, the owners to pay four-fifths of the cost; paving with asphalt Howe street, between May street and Oxford street, and permanent sidewalks and boulevards, the owners to pay four-fifths of the cost.

ADDITIONAL WING FOR THE EMPRESS

Seventy Bedrooms and Banquetting Hall Completed by End of Present Year

R. Marpole, chief executive of the C. P. R. in the west, has returned from Montreal with the information that the Empress hotel is to be extended at once by the addition of a new wing to be built on the foundations already laid at the southeast corner of the building, to cost between $175,000 and $200,000. Mr. Marpole went east to discuss the annual appropriations for the year of the C.P.R. in the west with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, and the fact that a considerable sum of money would be spent here was foreshadowed by William Whyte, first vice-president of the system, while here.

On the floor adjoining the palm room it is proposed to have a banquetting and a ballroom to accommodate 450 people. The plans of the addition, including the new feature, provide for six stories, containing 70 bedrooms and writing and reception rooms, and when complete the hotel will have an accommodation capacity of 250 bedrooms. The architecture will be the same as the present building.

ALEXANDRA CLUB OPENS.

Inaugural "At Home" Held This Afternoon—Husbands of Members Invited.

The Alexandra Club was formally opened for the use of the members this afternoon. To tastefully celebrate the occasion an inaugural "at home" was given to which members had the privilege of inviting their husbands. This finely appointed building which adds so much to the amenity of the particular locality in which it is situated, and not a little to the general aspect of the city, represents an achievement of which the ladies are justly proud. For some little time past the executive officers have been busily engaged in completing the final details. These, it is understood, are now practically completed and the building is ripe for the many social functions that are sure to grace its interior throughout the year.

CHEAP THINGS.

Everybody likes to buy things that are cheap, provided the article is good; but it must be remembered that very often things that appear to be cheap at first are dear in the end, while others not so cheap at first sight, are the cheapest in the long run. It is the "long run" that counts. A contractor of Victoria took out a life insurance policy in the year 1887—24 years ago, in the Mutual Life of Canada, on the limited-payment life plan. Had the policy become a claim by death at any time during the period, his wife would have received the full face value of the policy; and for the protection thus afforded him during the 24 years, the actual average annual cost has been at the rate of $13.50 per $1,000, so that even for the protection afforded, if nothing more, this insurance has proved to be cheap. But that is not all, for in addition to being protected for 24 years, should the policy-holder now wish to take the cash value for his policy, he can draw $17 in gold coin for every $100 he has paid the company; and further, should he wish to keep the insurance policy, it is paid up in full for its face value (an amount more than three times what he has paid in premiums); no more premiums to be paid, and instead he himself receives an annual cash dividend on the policy as long as he lives, and the full face of the policy will be paid at his death. Such grand results as these are only to be obtained in the Mutual Life of Canada.

Full particulars of the above mentioned policy can be seen in the records of our office, 918 Government street, The Mutual Life of Canada. R. L. Drury, manager. Fred M. McGregor, special agent.

MACDONALD CONCERT PARTY.

Attractive Programme Filled To-night in Metropolitan Methodist Church.

Under the auspices of the Epworth League an interesting concert will be given in the Metropolitan Methodist church to-night by the Ruthven Macdonald concert party. Those contributing to the programme are artists of high repute throughout the whole Dominion, and it is confidently anticipated that the musical standard attained will be a high one. Ruthven Macdonald, who heads the bill, is a bass singer of more than average ability. He combines a clarified enunciation with an excellent singing voice. While touring in the old country he made many friends and admirers by the richness of his tone and the culture of the style.

Miss Bertha May Crawford, of the Toronto Metropolitan Methodist church, a soprano vocalist of unusual range, power and flexibility, is the other star turn on the programme. Miss Crawford's reputation has preceded her west and the advent of her singing will be awaited with keen anticipation. In folk-songs of various countries she is particularly happy. Miss Irons, an accomplished pianist of considerable talent, is also included in the party, which is completed by Mrs. H. Ruthven Macdonald, who officiates at the piano.

Mrs. George Ager, Trutch street, will receive to-morrow, and not again until October.

There being no judge available in Victoria this week Victoria chamber applications will be heard in Vancouver. This is the text of a telegram received by the registrar to the Supreme Court, Victoria.

This is positively the last week of the J. N. Harvey, Ltd., sale of B. Williams & Co.'s high class clothing, hats and furnishings. So you must hurry if you wish to take advantage of the low prices prevailing.

PINCH HITTER WINS GAME FOR INDIANS

Cartwright Brings in Only Run in Eighth—Pitcher Walks

In Saturday's ball game the use of the pinch hitter was clearly demonstrated, for, although Cartwright fanned on his initial appearance at bat, on the second occasion he rapped out a clean single, bringing in the lonely run and winning the game for Spokane.

The Indians down for five innings. Holm was doing even better, the Islanders being retired in one, two three order in all but three innings. In the sixth Netzel led off with a single, Cooney flied to Reddick, Frisk was safe at first on a fielder's choice, Netzel being caught at second. Nordyke and Zimmermann both hit, filling the bases. Tauscher, a light hitter, was next to bat but Manager Ostdeck decided that the time was ripe for Cartwright to prove his usefulness. The latter had, with Bedford, been unimpaired and when called upon to fill his position as pinch-hitter was replaced by Willis. It was an anxious moment as the heavy hitter stood sizing up the pitcher and the base-runners waited on their toes for the hit they felt sure was coming. Starkell was not in the least perturbed by all these preparations and with calculating precision cut the corners once, twice, three, and a storm of hoots and hisses announced the fact that Ostdeck's strategy had been unavailing.

The Islanders had a chance in the seventh. Raymer singled and was sacrificed to second by Million. On Goodman's drive to the fence, Raymer rounded third and dashed for home. He should have been held at third, for Zimmerman, taking the ball on the rebound from the fence and making a beautiful throw to Hasty, pegged him with several feet to spare. With Goodman on second and Householder at the bat, there was still a chance for a run, but it almost died, when it was seen that Holm intended to walk the hard-hitting outfielder. The runners were advanced a base on a passed ball and then Kellar ended the suspense by going out on a grounder to Netzel.

The winning run for which Reddick was largely responsible by his slowness in getting the ball across and allowing Frisk a life, was scored in the eighth. Nordyke sacrificed and Zimmermann

STRAND WINS FOR SPOKANE YESTERDAY

Victoria Loses to Indians, 8-2—Beavers to Pippins—Giants to Tigers

Seattle, Wash., May 15.—The Spokane team playing fine ball behind Pitcher Paul Strand yesterday easily defeated the Victoria Islanders. Try as hard as they might, all Victoria could get off Strand's delivery was four singles, two in the second, one in the sixth and one in the ninth inning. Strand struck out ten men. Although the score looks one-sided, the battle was well fought, especially from the end of the first to the ninth.

Sage allowed only two hits after things went bad in the first until the latter part of the game. His support failed in several instances, and timely hitting put runs over for the Indians. Victoria got her first run in the second inning by Householder taking first when hit by the pitcher, Kellar lining to the left fence and Reddick putting a safe one over second. Dashwood went out on a liner to Netzel and Sage fanned.

Score by Innings. Spokane 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 1. Victoria 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0. Summary. Sacrifice hits—Nordyke, Million. Two base hit—Cartwright. Double plays—Reddick to Kellar; Kellar, Cooney to Nordyke; Dashwood to Kellar; Cooney to Nordyke; Netzel to Hasty to Nordyke. Struck out—By Holm, 5; by Starkell, 4. Bases on balls—Off Holm, 4; off Starkell, 1. Hit by pitched ball—Cooney, by Starkell. Passed ball—Hasty. Time of game—1:50. Umpire—Bedford, Cartwright and Willis.

Left on bases—Victoria, 5; Spokane, 8. Umpire—Baumgart.

GOLF IN IRELAND. Portrush, Ireland, May 15.—Playing against Scotland and England for the international shield on the links of Royal Portrush Golf Club Saturday, Miss Dorothy Campbell lost to Miss Cecil Leitch, four up and two to play. Miss Campbell drove poorly and this was responsible for her defeat. The United Kingdom beat the United States and the British colonies by seven matches to two.

BEAVERS OUTHIT ROADSTERS. Portland, May 15.—Vancouver to-day outhit the Roadsters, but lost the game before 2,400 fans, due to the weakening of Pitcher Gervais in the sixth inning.

Gervais was relieved by Brinker after walking two and allowing two hits, and Portland rapped in five tallies with the help of another walk and hit by Harris. Lamline was hit freely, but only in the one frame, the sixth, when Adams, Brashear and James hit in a row, for a tally, but during the rest of the game could not gather more than safety per innings. Brinker, Brashear and Mundorf were the slugging heroes, Brinker with three clouts in four time up.

Score by Innings. Vancouver 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 1. Portland 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0. Summary. Struck out—by Lamline, 2; by Brinker, 1. Bases on balls—Off Gervais, 2; off Brinker, 1. TIGERS BLANK GIANTS. Tacoma, May 15.—Tacoma took the last of the series yesterday when they defeated the Giants by a score of 5 to 0. It would have been a 1 to 0 game, four were counted. It was during this session that Mike Lynch demonstrated that it was possible to score from the second on an infield out, Kading to Seaton. Kading was slow. Longanecker had a rather bad day as far as the Seattle club was concerned, his close decisions being in favor of the home club. While he could not be said to have robbed the Giants, he had them in the air a couple of times.

RAFFERTY NO MATCH FOR LOCAL BOXER

Joe Rafferty is leaving early this week for Cumberland, where he expects to be able to arrange a fight.

Joe Rafferty was unfortunate in his second professional fight, inasmuch as his opponent of Saturday, Mike Rafferty, was no match for him, and, as a result, he will have hard work staging another match at Ladysmith for some time.

Saturday's fight was scheduled to go 15 rounds, but Rafferty threw up the sponge in the fifth. For the first three, Joe simply stilled, covering up and letting the Chicago boy do most of the leading. Rafferty followed up well, getting in a number of left jabs, but inflicting no punishment upon the local boy. In the fourth Joe slipped and went down, this being the only occasion of his going to the mat. It could easily be seen that the end was near when the boys entered the ring in the fifth. Rafferty was still panting, while Joe was as fresh as a daisy and evidently anxious to end the fight as quickly as possible. With several right uppercuts he sent Rafferty staggering around the ring, and the latter, seeing a sleeping potion coming in the near future, fled from the ring.

What's the use of you investing your money in a proposition which may or may not be reached by a proposed railroad?

The British Pacific Coal Company Limited is 80 miles from Prince Rupert, and lies immediately in the course of all coasting steamers and trans-Pacific liners.

Just as the completion of the Canadian Pacific railway main line to Burrard Inlet brought about the development of Vancouver into a great city, so will the laying of the last rails of the Grand Trunk Pacific to the harbor at Prince Rupert immediately cause to be built at its Pacific terminus a second Vancouver.

Therefore, if you identify yourself with the proposition which will play the most prominent part in the fuel supply of Prince Rupert and the Grand Trunk Pacific railway main line, then you will surely reap a handsome profit.

Do not confuse the British Pacific Coal Company, Limited, with other enterprises which are trading upon the possibilities of the fuel market of our new north country.

This means that coal may be shipped in boats from the property (as quoted by the engineer) in six months' time, having excellent transportation facilities by water.

The lack of transportation facilities has prevented the development of many coal fields.

The British Pacific Coal Company's properties immediately adjoins a coal mine on which there is a tunnel 690 feet in length, cutting six veins of coal aggregating 22 feet 6 inches, of which one vein is 12 feet in thickness, and being anthracite of the finest quality.

Bear in mind that the British Pacific Coal Company's property immediately adjoins this mine, being separated only by the imaginary line laid down by the surveyors, hence the guarantee of coal by the engineer.

Alexander Faulds, one of the greatest authorities on coal mining propositions, and a man who has spent a lifetime in the development of the coal fields of North America and Great Britain, in his report on the property of the British Pacific Coal Company, unconditionally and irrevocably states:

"Your properties are very valuable, being of adequate commercial assemblages and magnitude, and excellently located with their transportation facilities the possibilities of which, from the estimated quantities of coal they are likely to contain, are very vast and practically unlimited with depth."

"The value of 36,000,000 tons of bituminous coal in sight of your properties for one coal seam 6 feet thick should be not less than $120 per acre, and anthracite not less than $180 per acre, the mean ore average of which would be $150 per acre exclusive of agricultural and timber values."

These 8,320 acres or thereby are an excellent and adequate commercial assemblage for colliery operations capable of producing a daily output of 1,000 tons for about 144 years.

James Richardson, of the Geological Survey of Canada, reported on this property, as did the late Dr. Dawson, also W. A. Robertson, J. J. Landale (Edinburgh) and Prof. Deans of the Antiquarian Society of Philadelphia, also the eminent English coal mining engineer, James Parkinson.

Mr. Faulds in his report says: "Taking the estimated tonnage of 36,000,000 during the life of the mine at $1.00 per ton would give a clear profit of $36,000,000 or $22.50 for every dollar invested."

It goes without saying that the profit will be much more than $1.00 per ton, since ordinary bituminous coal carrying but from 45 to 60 per cent fixed carbon, sells in Vancouver to-day at $6.50 to $8.00 per ton, and at Prince Rupert at $11.00 and $12.00 per ton, which should bring a profit to the owners of the mines of at least 40 per cent.

Anthracite coal from the British Pacific Coal Company's property, carrying 83 per cent fixed carbon, will sell readily at $15 to $20 per ton, and will find a preference in the open market, since this coal having twice the volume of fixed carbon as ordinary bituminous coal, gives out twice as much heat and requires less stoking, and takes up but one-half of the space in the steamer's bunker or train tender.

This extra space could be used for freight and will mean a great deal of profit and saving of labor and space.

The public are offered the opportunity for a few more days to acquire shares in The British Pacific Coal Co. direct from the Trustee, T. R. Morrow, at 35c a share, in blocks not less than 100 shares.

Terms of sale are: 10c a share cash with application, balance in three equal monthly payments.

Those who buy at 35c have the assurance of the Trustee that the next issue of shares in The British Pacific Coal Company will be placed on the market at 50c, which means that those who buy to-day at 35c will actually make 15c profit, or 150% if they held 1,000 shares.

Bear in mind that the cash payment on 1,000 shares is but $100, balance over three months.

The fourth and last issue of shares to be offered to the public will be at price not less than 75c per share, and in all probability this issue will be offered at par—$1.00 per share.

The reader can readily see that he can count on a handsome profit through the advance in shares, if he buys to-day at 35c.

It is only a matter of days until the 35c issue will be fully subscribed. Make your application or reservation at once by mail or wire.

If you pay all cash a certificate will be issued at once, setting forth the fact that the shares have a par value of $1.00 each, and are fully paid up and non-assessable.

SPORT NOTES

On Wednesday evening there will be a meeting of the Victoria basketball league at the Y. M. C. A. rooms for the purpose of winding up the business of the season.

In a game in which any brilliant features were not conspicuous, the Vancouver Inshore season was ushered in Saturday afternoon at Recreation park when New Westminster met and defeated the North Vancouver combination by twelve goals to three.

This was the opening game of the season, and it was advertised as an exhibition match. There could be no question about it—there was certainly an exhibition about it.

Jack Donaldson, of South Africa, easily defeated C. E. Holway, the American sprinter, in three races, 75, 220 and 100 yards respectively, to-day. The 100-yard race was done in 9.4-5 seconds, a world's record for a grass track.

Electrical machinery with which a large lock on the River Seine is equipped enables the gates to be opened and closed by pressing a button.

ADVERTISE IN THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES

Co-Operation!

Recently we have taken occasion through these columns to offer a word of advice to Victorians as to the remarkable possibilities of Victoria and district and the need and desirability of co-operation in the building up of a greater Victoria by inducing people to come here and live.

It is gratifying to find not a little evidence that already the advice which we offered is bearing fruit. Only Saturday last we received a letter from Winnipeg from a gentleman with a wife and two grown up children, enclosing a copy of our advertisement and making enquiry with a view to permanent settlement here. We are going to advise this man and his family to come here to live and we trust that those well meaning Victorians who desire to conserve this charming city as a private preserve for their especial delectation will come out of their shells and receive this man and his family and rejoice in sharing with him the delights which nature has so prodigally bestowed upon this favored isle.

We think this an opportune moment to again point out the value of co-operation, which is of especial significance to the city of Victoria at this time.

The man who wants to see this city forge ahead in common with the rest of the province must do his share by word and deed to accomplish the desired end.

One sometimes hears it said that things are well enough as they are. Nothing is well enough which can be improved.

All over the city improvements are being carried out and the man who insists upon staying in the rut will have to be buried there.

With a wealth of climate and fertility of soil, this island empire would be charmingly comfortable with a million people and Victoria, the political, social and business centre.

A model city is not a dream. This is the psychological moment for Victoria. A spirit of co-operation will make her one of the most delightful as well as one of the largest cities of the Dominion.

RESUMING SAILINGS AFTER OVERHAULING

Joan Enters on Comox Run—Princess Mary in Nanaimo-Vancouver Service

After being off her regular run between Vancouver and Nanaimo for upwards of a month, during which time she has been in the hands of the Victoria Machinery Depot, the steamer Joan will leave this port to-morrow morning at 6 o'clock for the Coal City. Repairs of an extensive nature have been made to the C. P. R. vessel, her hull being strengthened, her engines thoroughly overhauled and her staterooms and other interior parts renovated.

Since the Joan was laid off the run the Princess Beatrice (Capt. Whiteley), up to a week ago, was operating between the two cities. At that time, however, it became necessary to relieve the Beatrice owing to the fact that she had to be overhauled to take the next sailing to northern British Columbia ports in place of the Arcturion, which will be the next boat to receive the attention of the shipyard. The Princess Mary was commissioned for the run and the City of Nanaimo went on the Comox route. The Princess Beatrice is to be hauled out on the ways shortly to have her hull scraped and painted, the painters now attending to all parts above the water line.

When the Joan leaves to-morrow morning she will adopt the weekly sailings of the Princess Mary from this port on the Nanaimo-Comox run. She is taking a large number of passengers and much freight. The Princess Mary has been placed on the Vancouver-Nanaimo run in place of the Joan.

One by one the C. P. R. steamers are being overhauled in readiness for the summer trade. The Princess Victoria will shortly be laid off the triangular run but she will not be equipped with oil as was at first expected.

RETURNS TO UNLOAD HER LOCAL FREIGHT

Blue Funnel Liner Teucer Back From Sound—Antilochus Sailing

To discharge cargo amounting to nearly 2,500 tons, brought from the Old Country and points in the Orient, the Blue Funnel liner Teucer returned from the Sound early this morning and tied up at the outer docks. The large consignment of freight for Victoria consists of general merchandise, including a great deal of Scotch whisky, machinery, furniture, rice and sugar. It will be several days before she finishes unloading her big cargo, and she will then sail for Vancouver, for which port she has 8,000 tons of freight.

With one of the most valuable cargoes that has left the Sound for many years, the Holt steamship Antilochus will leave here on Wednesday morning for Liverpool via the Far East. Her freight list is valued at $2,000,000, consisting of 2,500,000 feet of lumber weighing 5,000 tons, 2,000 tons of flour, 1,000 tons of oats, 500 tons of wheat, 1,000 tons of copper, 1,000 tons of knocked down boxes, 500 tons of machinery, 250 tons of scrap tin and the balance in general merchandise. She also has a large consignment of whale oil aboard, which she loaded at this port a week ago.

The next Oriental liner to dock here will be the Osaka Shosen Kaisha steamship Chicago Maru, which is due on Wednesday morning from Yokohama. She is bringing across the Pacific to the Sound about 2,500 tons of freight, of which about 200 tons will be discharged at this port. She has a rich shipment of silk for Tacoma, amounting to nearly half a million dollars. A number of first cabin and steerage passengers are aboard the vessel, many of whom are bound for Victoria.

Carrying the cannery tender Alsek, recently launched at Ballard, on her deck, 400 tons of British Columbia coal for consumers on the Alaska coast and a large cargo of shipments for the interior of Alaska, which will go forward at the opening of navigation, the freighter Latouche, of the Alaska Steamship Company sailed for the north Saturday. The cannery tender Alsek will be taken to Juneau and will go under its own power from that port to Dry Bay at the mouth of the Alsek river.

The Allan liner Toulstan arrived at Quebec on Friday from Liverpool and at Montreal on Saturday.

ORE CARGOES FROM BIG THING STOPPED

Trail is in Bad Condition—Princess May Returns After Uneventful Trip

Reporting an uneventful passage to the north, the C.P.R. steamer Princess May (Capt. McLeod) returned to port from Skagway and way points on Saturday night. The vessel encountered considerable rain and snow, but did not run into any heavy gales. She brought south-very little freight and had aboard about 30 passengers, the majority of whom left the ship at Vancouver.

Amongst the cargo brought south from Skagway by the May on former trips was a consignment of copper ore from the Big Thing mine for Lady Smith, but this time her hold did not contain any of the metal. With the warmer weather the snow trail from the mine to the town, from where it is shipped, has become in such poor shape that it is impossible for the company to get the ore out.

The officers of the Princess May report that there is great activity in all the northern towns, although at Skagway and other Alaskan ports the snow has not all disappeared. They report that the residents of Alaska are most optimistic and state that this year will be the most successful in the history of the northern colony.

Many passengers are going north on the May when she sails from here to-night. They are bound for various points, and the steamer will this trip make a special call at Wrangell to land passengers and cargo for the river steamer. She took on oil from the barkentine Fullerton at Esquimalt yesterday.

FOG TREACHEROUS TO PRINCE RUPERT

BROTCHIE LEDGE BELL BUOY NOT OPERATING

Master Could Not Get His Bearings—Takes North Many Passengers

As a result of the Brotschie Ledge bell buoy not being in operation this morning while the dense fog hung over the Straits, the Grand Trunk Pacific steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. Barney Johnson, on her way from Seattle, came near piling upon the rocks lining the entrance to the harbor, and only the alertness of her skipper prevented such an accident. The blanket was of great density and with no coast line or bell buoy to act as a guide, the task of bringing the big ship into the harbor was most difficult.

When passing the bell buoy at the ledge masters of steamers set their course by it for the harbor. Unable to pick up the sound of the bell, Capt. Johnson could not establish his location and went as far down as Macaulay Point. She was in close proximity to some of the rocks on several occasions and it was only due to the careful and skilful manoeuvring of Captain Johnson, that the vessel successfully made the entrance to the harbor.

The Prince Rupert docked here several hours late from Seattle, which was partly due to the fact that she left that port after her schedule time for sailing, owing to the large amount of cargo which had to be taken aboard, and also to the fog. She sails from here at 11:30 o'clock for Prince Rupert after taking on 60 tons of freight, and the following passengers: J. C. A. Long, A. G. Austin, F. Fieldhouse, J. Green, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mallett, L. B. Fitcher, F. Peters, A. J. Collison, W. P. Johns, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Heal, Miss M. Heal, A. Morley, A. Green, S. Dighton, H. B. Hayward, W. E. Dickson, J. Chard, E. A. N. T. Townsend, W. D. Slavert, F. McDonald, E. B. Nourse and J. Palmer. Included in the list of passengers is a party of prospectors who are being sent north by Gillespie and Green.

Her last trip to the north, which she completed on arriving yesterday morning, was void of anything startling. A large number of passengers came from Prince Rupert, including Capt. Nicholson, manager of the G. T. P. S. S. Co., who states that the rush of settlers up the coast this year is up the Skagit River Valley and to Hazelton, rather than to the Portland Canal and other points.

The unprecedented rush to the Skeena district is indicated by the fact that the Prince Rupert and Prince George have carried on the last couple of trips 186 and 179 second-class passengers to Prince Rupert, besides a large number of saloon passengers, most of whom were bound for up-river points. Since her navigation on the river had opened, Captain Nicholson said, every inch of room on the river steamer has been taken up with heavy cargoes of freight, and some of them had made a second complete trip to Hazelton. The result was the lessening of the congestion of the warehouses at Prince Rupert and Port Hazelton. The people of Prince Rupert were optimistic regarding the outlook for the season that is just opening.

WOODEN HOUSES

Are you going to build one? If so, we would like to call your attention to the cleanest and healthiest coating for the walls—one that is cheaper than paper and better from an artistic standpoint—dries like Flat Paint. This best of all decorations for the interior of wooden houses is.

Hall's Sanitary Washable Distemper

Some of Its Advantages

It is a strong disinfectant—should be used after infectious cases, as recommended by leading physicians. It destroys fleas, bugs and other pests. It is perfectly washable 3 weeks after being applied. It may be put on a damp wall, when it will stand better than oil paint. It can be guaranteed to contain 1/2 per cent of Cresylic Acid if desired. It is free from Caustic and Alkali. It will not scale off, and can be painted on or varnished. It is made in rich, deep colors as well as in tints—choice of seventy. It is non-poisonous, cleanly in working, and applied, very easily. White ceilings coated with it will not turn black with sulphur—it never cracks or falls off like ordinary whitewash. It requires no solution or liquid other than water—hot or cold—to mix it ready for use. For covering power and durability it surpasses anything else procurable. It is the most suitable of all coatings for the interior and exterior of wooden houses. One coat gives an even and solid color, and is all that is usually required.

Call here and allow us to demonstrate its many merits more thoroughly. Or, if you wish one of our staff shall call upon you and give you an estimate of what it would cost to decorate your house with this sanitary water paint.

CANADA NEITHER TO BE WON NOR LOST

Sir Alfred Mond Discusses Conditions of Dominion's Attachment to Empire

At the annual meeting of the Free Trade Union held in London last month, the following resolution was adopted: "This meeting affirms its unwavering belief in free trade as the chief cause of the increasing commerce of Great Britain, and condemns the policy of tariff reform now three times rejected by the nation, as a grave menace to employment and prosperity, a direct attack upon the poorest taxpayer of this country, and an unwarrantable interference with colonial freedom."

Sir Alfred Mond in seconding the resolution made reference to the Canadian situation in these terms:

On a poster to-day in Victoria street I saw a legend, "Shall we lose Canada?" I wonder what the man who produced that heading thought, and whether he was thinking of anything more except selling some of the tariff reform productions.

What is meant and what is implied by the phrase "Shall we lose Canada?" First, I would like to point out that Canada is not to be lost. Canada is neither to be won nor lost. It is part of the British Empire, as firmly a part as the Isle of Wight and I tell you as the result of my visit to Canada that the people there resent bitterly that this label should be used with regard to themselves, that they are to be won or lost, that they are to be bribed or cajoled, inhabited by a most virile race, whose affection to the Mother Country is deep and sincere, and they will be neither divided nor cajoled into doing anything they do not want to do. And that is the mistake the tariff reformers always make. They think these great dominions are back yards to Great Britain, a dumping ground for the goods no one else will buy, to be kept in a ring fence to buy from us what we don't want. If anyone is so foolish as to imagine that it would be possible at any time to induce the Canadian government to enter into any form of treaty which would deter the Canadian people from making treaties with France or the United States or any other great power that they think in their interests, they are deluding themselves and following a will-o'-the-wisp.

Canada to-day is loyal to us through affection. Canada will pursue, as she has pursued in the past, the policy of reducing her duties by increasing her preference with us; but do not let us imagine that Canada at any time will be willing to let go of her hands the free economic developments of that great country, which is still in its infancy, in any kind of reciprocal bargain. If any such bargain is made it will be an evil thing for this country and a still more evil thing for the Imperial connection. What is implied in the bargain? It means that you will raise in this country the price of food and of living to the poorest part of the community. You will protect the interests of the great Empire with dearer bread and dearer meat, and subject the country always to agitation, and at times to distress and to feelings of resentment and bitterness. Such an arrangement, if it should be made, will be a continual and fretting link such as preference was when we abolished it in 1846. Let me take a picture on the other side. Take the farmers of Canada. You say to the farmers of Canada, "You are never to be allowed in the future to buy your agricultural implements cheaply from the United States by keeping the duty down. You will never be in a position to get the best market you can for your produce in America or anywhere else. You are tied in your actions, and whatever you want to do you cannot do it." Such a bond would lead to exactly the same results as when we had our previous experience. This is not new; it is old.

We had the whole system in operation in 1838, and in Blue Book, reporting the proceedings of the committee of the House of Commons in 1840 is very interesting to us to-day.

In the last phrase the resolution before us refers to the "unwarrantable interference with colonial freedom." I have been endeavoring to point out to you that this tariff arrangement would not only interfere with the colonial freedom of trade, but with the fundamental principles of our whole Imperial arrangement, namely, the right of each community in the Empire to frame its own system of taxation, to levy its own taxes, and to vary them whenever they wish. It is most important to remember, and I have never seen it pointed out, that this scheme, which has been so much belauded mistakenly as the bond of union, would strike at the root of our whole Imperial system, which consists in every part of the Empire making and revising its taxes whenever it wants to. The one fundamental fact is that taxation is the function of each individual state, and liberty in taxation is the greatest liberty of the British subject. Any freedom which impairs in the slightest degree that principle is bound to fail.

FOR INSUBORDINATION.
Salt Lake City, Utah, May 13.—Official announcement was made to-day by the council of twelve apostles of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints that former Apostle Matthias F. Cowley had been deprived of the right to exercise any of the functions of the priesthood, for insubordination to the government and discipline of the church. Mr. Cowley was dropped from the quorum of apostles several years ago, being charged with polygamy.

At the same time Apostle John W. Taylor was also dropped for a similar offence, but was not deprived of his priesthood until last month.

The taking away of the priesthood is in line with the church declaration that the practice of polygamy is not countenanced.

The big show for to-day and Tuesday will be found high-class in every respect. "The Mission Carrier" shows the carrier from old Mexico arriving at the famous mission in California. Meeting there a young lady he is much impressed with her beauty and as the result of their first meeting they exchange rings. But another young lady who also has met the handsome carrier, through jealousy vows to separate the lovers and she is successful in doing so. Later when the carrier is riding over the mountains he is attacked by Indians but is saved by the timely arrival of mission people.

"Teaching Dad to Like Her," depicting the young son of a wealthy widower, infatuated with a show girl and knowing very well that a marriage without dad's consent would jeopardize his chances of the future. In trying to get dad's consent many humorous scenes arise. "Charlie and Kitty in Brussels," an attractive travel picture representing the progress of two children who start alone to the city. "Hoboe's Christmas," a humorous story of some tramps who stole a quantity of turkeys from an express car and proceeded to eat them.

Bijou Theatre.

The new programme starting this afternoon will be the best seen at this theatre for some time. J. Chase, Bates and his popular company of comedians have been pleasing the patrons with good clean farce comedy and will present another laugh maker in two acts entitled, "Other People's Money." The story tells how a young man succeeds in winning his sweetheart who is an heiress and whose father and mother desire her for a rich old man. The young man manages by stratagem to gain the co-operation of the father, under whose instructions he elopes with the girl, the old gentleman believing he is planning the elopement of a stranger. All comedies produced by this company are clean and refined, nothing being said or done that would offend any lady or gentleman. For a special added feature during the coming week, Delmar, in his great size act has been engaged. This is one of the best novelty acts now being offered to the public. Between acts Miss Helen Kerwood will sing and the latest motion pictures will be shown.

Empress Theatre.

The enterprising management of the above theatre are sparing neither labour nor money in giving the theatre-going public the very best possible in the way of amusement. They have secured at enormous expense, the services of Marie Burnett, the noted Mezzo-soprano singer, Miss Burnett was until recently with the J. W. Turner Opera Co., in England, also the Royal Carl Rosa Grand Opera Co., playing leading parts in both. She possesses a very sweet, yet at the same time, powerful voice, and the patrons of this popular picture house will have an opportunity of hearing one of the finest singers that ever came to Victoria. She will commence singing tomorrow, and will be heard in popular songs.

New Grand Theatre.

Frank Graham and Edith Randall commence to-day at the Grand theatre with "A Gay Old Boy" as the headline act for this week's bill, and it will be found there is fun spread pretty generally and much to please in the act. Miss Randall brings on this tour a Parisian wardrobe and a charming hat. Frank and Edith are xylophone artists and carry a full line of stage and light effects with which they produce their masterpiece, "The Village Smithy," a stage picture taken from Longfellow's poem. La Vier is a European athlete with an artistic act and set of apparatus. All his work is in the air. Phenomena is a singer with five distinct voices and is a most remarkable puzzle for the musical world. The other act of this week's bill is Edward Barto and Florence Clark who are showing in "Sixty-five on the Second Floor Back," a hodge podge of patter, dancing and melody. The Grandiscope has new pictures.

THE MIDDLEMAN'S PROFIT.
Long Linked Chain Connects Buyer With Seller.

It takes a chain of five middlemen to market the products of the American fruit-raiser, says the Montreal Star. Possibly they are not all essential, but they each have a hand—and fairly large hands they seem to be—in the absorption of the profits. Consequent on the fact that four out of every five cents the people of the United States pay for their apples or their peaches or their plums go into the pockets of men whose only knowledge of fruit-raising is derived from a familiarity with its purely commercial aspects. Now it is all likely that any of the five will voluntarily relinquish his connection with the trade as long as there is a dollar to be made out of it. The investigation was set on foot by an inquisitive apple-grower who could not altogether understand how it was that the box of apples for which he was lucky to get 38 cents, sold in the city for an even $4.00. A short inquiry showed him how it was not the way. First came the Fruit Growers' Association, which bought the apples for shipment to New York. Following it, the commission merchant, to whom they were consigned, made his "fair profit" and to him succeeded the broker who knew the wholesale market. After the wholesaler had, in turn, done his little part in completing the transaction, all that was left was for the retailer to dispose of them to the ultimate consumer and the transaction was ended. That is what became of $3.12 out of a $4.00 purchase.

GHOST-IN-BLACK-TIGHTS.

Scion of Russian Court Perambulates Under Odd Disguise.

It is announced at Berlin that one of the most dangerous international swindlers, Count Ostrovsky, has been arrested at Nice. This man is well known to the Berlin police as the perpetrator of a series of daring robberies in various continental hotels.

He was famous for a while as "the Black Ghost from the Kaiserhof" on account of the melodramatic manner in which he went to work in the Berlin hotel of this name. It was his custom to ingratiate himself with ladies who were in evident possession of jewelry.

At night he divested himself of his ordinary clothing and arrayed himself in a suit of black tights. With a master key he opened the rooms of his victims and made a clean sweep of all the jewelry within reach. It was proved that in some cases ladies who were awakened and saw this "ghost" in their rooms were too terrified to scream, and for quite a long while Ostrovsky managed to escape.

He is undoubtedly a count, born with large estates in Russia. He returned himself by play in various European capitals, and taking to theft and card-sharpping he became well

In addition to forming a beautiful and unique decoration scheme, these escutcheons will promote the succeeding generations to study the meaning and application of the word at the head of this article, and to trace the symbolism and interpret the mottoes which carved in the enduring rock will ever remain to meet their inquiring gaze.—Halifax Herald.

BLAST REVEALS RICH ORE LEDGE

Rich Strike in Tunnel of the Elkhorn Mine Near Greenwood

Phoenix, May 12.—One of the richest strikes of ore ever made in the Boundary district occurred in the Elkhorn mine, one mile north of Greenwood, near the famous Providence property.

The strike made was an 18-inch ledge of ore which will return values of $100 to the ton. Samples taken from the property will assay all the way up to $5,000, being impregnated with free gold and native silver.

The Elkhorn mine was operated in the years 1903 to 1907 during which time about 900 tons of ore were shipped which returned a value of about $90 to the ton. About two weeks ago the property was sold at a tax sale to a syndicate composed of James McCreath, A. S. Black, J. L. White, J. Kinny and others of Greenwood. They put a man to work cleaning up the property and one blast of dynamite in the face of the tunnel uncovered ore of brilliancy—free gold on one side and native silver on the other.

A strike of good values was also made at the Argo tunnel at Greenwood. While a number of men were making a wagon road across the property a lead of about 12 inches thickness was encountered, which is particularly gratifying to those interested in the property.

RETIRING OFFICER HONORED.

Fernie, May 12.—The chief official of the operating departments of the Crown's Nest Pass Coal Co., waited on James Ashworth, the retiring manager, to wish him God-speed and to present him with a handsome token of their regard.

Supt. Fraser, Michel, in making the presentation, said that they wished to give Mr. Ashworth a small token of their regard for him, and in so doing he might call attention to the great improvements which had been effected in and about the collieries during the last twelve months under his direction. These improvements were plainly evident to commercial as well as mining men, by referring to the output figures, which disclosed the fact that the tonnage of coal gotten from the mines had been increased by 200,000 tons per annum bringing the total for the year up to a record of 1,200,000 tons. This record would have been much greater if the demand for coal and coke had been equal to the supply. The ventilative power of the mines had been greatly enlarged at both camps, and the mines had been extended and prospected with a view to the maintenance of a large output.

Mr. Fraser presented Mr. Ashworth with a very handsome gold hunting watch, complete with fob, locket and monogram, inscribed inside as follows: "Presented to James Ashworth by the officials of the Operating Department of the Crown's Nest Pass Coal Co., Ltd., Fernie, B. C." Also with a substantial purse of gold.

Mr. Ashworth, in reply, said that he was extremely obliged to Mr. Fraser for the very kind remarks he had made on behalf of the whole operating staff and he could assure them that he did not know how to adequately thank them, either for their warmth of feeling or for the very handsome present they had handed over to him. Parting from friends was always a painful experience, and he felt it most acutely on this occasion, because he had never had a more efficient staff under his command or officials in whom he could repose greater confidence.

MALE TEACHERS

Nelson, May 12.—If the theories advocated at the special session of the school board are adopted, the Nelson public school will ere long cease to be co-educational in the higher departments. W. H. M. May, principal of the public school, during a discussion on the need for more male teachers, remarked that after a certain age the sexes should be separated, as it promoted efficiency, and also assisted morals. He added that in the upper classes in the Nelson public school there were enough pupils to justify such a division.

There was a general murmur of approval, indicating that the young people have a parting ahead of them. On the matter of infusing more masculinity into the public school staff, there was a general unanimity, and Principal May and Mr. Hoadley will be joined by Albert Cullen, who arrived recently from England. It will be necessary for the board to apply to the department of education for a permit for Mr. Cullen, as he has no British Columbia certificate as yet. This was arranged for.

SEEKING INFORMATION.

Roseland, May 12.—A. B. MacKenzie, secretary of the Roseland Board of Trade, has received the following telegram in reply to the lengthy resolution forwarded recently to the council of board: "Representations of your board of trade considered, as also any other facts you care to submit."

Mr. MacKenzie desires it to be made known, to remove an erroneous impression prevalent in the city, that the board in its resolution desired to emphasize the need of a full supply of empty cars in order that the men might be enabled to work steady time, and not only about half time, as was the case.

The board desired that the question of contract rates and their bearing on the price of coke be considered. It was generally conceded that the company day men were entitled to and would receive an increase in wages.

CHURCH SOLD.

New Westminster, May 12.—A deal has been closed out whereby George Adams disposed of the site and building of the old Sixth Avenue Methodist church, at the corner of Sixth Avenue and Twelfth Street to Frank Mandeville, of this city. The price paid was something over $5,000, all in cash. The purchaser proposes erecting a large business block on the property which is 100 feet square, with stores below and offices and apartments above. The church was erected about 18 years ago by the Presbyterians, and after changing hands a number of times was purchased by Mr. Adams about one year ago. The Sixth Avenue Methodist church board is now engaged in erecting a new church on the adjoining lot. Until this is completed they will probably hold service in the old school near there on Speilth Street. Application for permission to do this will be made to the school board at once.

FIGHT IN BOX CAR.

Nelson, May 12.—There was a mix-up in a box car, used as quarters by a section gang on the C. P. R. track near the depot, which resulted in Mike Bostyich, a Pole, clubbing a Chinaman over the head with a stick of firewood. The Chinaman was temporarily put out of business, while Bostyich appeared in the police court before W. H. Bullock-Webster, stipendiary magistrate, in answer to a charge of assault. He was remanded for eight days in order to give the Chinaman an opportunity to recover sufficiently to give evidence.

The Pole, who is alleged to have committed the assault, walked into the police office and told Constable McLeod that he had committed what he believed was a serious assault, and said that he wanted to give himself up. Constable McLeod investigated the case and found practically all Chinatown collected around a box car in which the fracas occurred. Inside was the Chinaman. He had a pretty bad scalp wound and seemed incapable of giving any account of the affair.

Bostyich's story is that he had some row with the Chinaman, who acted as cook for the section gang, regarding some food. The altercation ended, claims Bostyich, in the Chinaman making a move as if to attack him with a big bread knife. He retaliated, in self-defence, he says, with a stick of firewood.

SUPPRESSING OPIUM TRAFFIC IN CHINA

ROYAL EDICT FORBIDS SALE OR CONSUMPTION

Narcotic Power Over Oriental Greater Than Whiskey Demon Among Occidents

Western peoples are only just beginning to appreciate the enormity of the task China has assumed in her effort to rid herself of the awful incubus of the opium smoking evil. In a general way opium smoking is associated with the Chinese, but few persons realize the nature and extent of the hold the evil has gained on the Chinese people; for instance, that in the province of Szechuan, in the cities, half the men and a fifth of the women were addicted to the habit; that in the country the proportion are fifteen per cent. and five per cent. respectively; that in Kansuh three men out of four were smokers, while in Shensi there are districts where nine-tenths of the women above forty are addicted to the pipe. Whole populations have given themselves up to the seductive pipe and are sinking into a state of lethargy, misery and degradation.

Edward Alsworth Ross, writing in Everybody's Magazine, tells of an experience in West China. He was travelling with a United States consul. Their sedan chairs were some distance in the rear, and being uncertain of the road the consul hailed a peasant:

"How far is it to Paokli?"
 "No answer."
 "How far is it to Paokli?"
 "The man turned his head a little. The third asking brought a glimmer of speculation into the vacant eyes. On the fourth asking he caught the idea "Paokli." The fifth punctured his mental fog with "How far?" And slowly and thickly, as from a sleep-walker, came the reply, "Forty li."

It must not be assumed from this incident that the Chinese are by-nature stupid. It illustrates merely the deadening effects of opium smoking.

The pipe has a peculiar seductiveness for the Chinese because their lives are so bare of interest. They indulge in none of those innocent associations of men and women which contribute such a charm to the life of the west. There are no outdoor games in China or, indeed, any games except in a gambling sense. Absolute dullness and drowsiness prevail everywhere. The Chinese as a race has "toiled" for millenniums in an effort to maintain a dense population, until the faculty of being amused has become atrophied, and all that remains is a sense of desire to spend leisure in placidity, that blots out from memory for a time all sense of the fitness of existence. And nothing contributes so much to this as opium.

A month's travel by sedan chair gave to Mr. Ross some light on why the coolie hankers for the pipe. His chair and baggage coolies took with them no wraps nor change of clothing, and eight successive days of rain brought them to a state of utter misery. After twelve hours of splashing and slipping up and down the mountain roads in a cold drizzle, under a weight of seventy or eighty pounds, the coolie would come in at evening, utterly exhausted, to a cheerless, comfortless Chinese inn. No fire, no clothing save his two soaked cotton garments, no bed save a brick "kang" with a ragged mat on it, no blankets. For supper nothing but rice and bean curd or macaroni. What wonder that, after eating, the poor fellow curled up on the mat with a tiny lamp beside him, rolled the black bead, and sucked the thick smoke till he passed beyond the reach of cold and weariness!

Once see the poppy in her pride, and you realize that there is nothing drab or homespun about opium raising. Among plots of sordid beans or wheat or cabbage, the poppy field stands out like a flame. At full bloom its splendor befits a crop that is to lure and ruin men rather than nourish them. The dominant note is snow-white, but bells of all gorgeous hues are to be seen—purple and ruby, crimson, scarlet, and pink besides white blossoms tipped or streaked with these—a riot of color. For rich, prodigal beauty, no field crop under the sun can match it. The flowering poppy is vivid, dramatic, and passionate, like some superb adventuress alluring troops of lovers and vampire-like, sucking out their souls with her kisses.

Nor is the harvesting commonplace. When the poppy's time has come, all you see is thousands of spherical pods one or two inches through, erect each on its slender, reed-like stem. A man with a small knife follows the rows, cutting lightly around every pod. Drop by drop a juice exudes, milky at first, but in a day or two turning brown and gummy. Then the reaper goes about, scraping from the pods this precious gum. Just a few pounds of drug to the acre—that is all there is to it. And the stalks dry and bleach like the cast-off skin of a rattlesnake until they are gathered for fuel, and the pods are threshed for the poppy seed, which will be ground for food or pressed for oil.

In most parts of China the cultivation of the poppy has been spreading at an alarming rate within our own time. It is especially, however, the interior provinces, shut away by mountain ranges from the commercial highways that have gone over to poppy-growing. The reason is that opium is the one crop that can be got to market without most of its value being eaten up in the cost of transportation. A coolie will trot a picul (133 pounds) of opium to market over several hundred miles of atrocious roads without seriously adding to the cost of the drug, which sells for from two to ten dollars a pound. No mere food product of the same soil could profitably be carried a twentieth of the distance to find a market.

When the Empress Dowager took opium by the throat, in 1906, and by royal edict forbade its cultivation, sale and consumption, half the acreage of certain interior provinces was given over to the poppy during its season. So much had the plant cut into the production of food that the cost of the necessities of life was crowding the local laboring people to the verge of starvation. There was more money in opium than in anything else. To many a farmer the relinquishment of the poppy would spell blue ruin. The stopping of opium-growing looked about as simply and feasible a proposition as to stop wheat growing in the West by act of parliament.

The ins and outs of the fight on the poppy are full of the "Arabian Nights" flavor. When the magistrate proclaims the anti-opium edict and announces that he intends to see it obeyed, the cultivators in a body call upon him, that he is the "father and mother" of them all, and beseech him to save them from ruin by letting them grow their poppy just this season. Of course, there is a fat bribe lurking in the background for the official who is asked that sort of persuasion. The cultivator is the reformer at heart, or else afraid of losing his place, he is not wholly obdurate. The salary of the mandarin is nominal, and he has somehow to squeeze a living income out of his district.

But if opportunity avails not, the farmers resort to ruse. They raise the poppy in small patches in out-of-the-way places, or in a body call upon him, that he is the "father and mother" of them all, and beseech him to save them from ruin by letting them grow their poppy just this season. Of course, there is a fat bribe lurking in the background for the official who is asked that sort of persuasion. The cultivator is the reformer at heart, or else afraid of losing his place, he is not wholly obdurate. The salary of the mandarin is nominal, and he has somehow to squeeze a living income out of his district.

At Kin Kiangai, in Kansuh, the prefect who had sworn to destroy the opium was set upon in the official inn, and beaten nearly to death. In a few weeks, however, several of the leaders of the riot were beheaded after a public trial, and the overawed farmers hastened to dig up their poppy fields. At Wenchow in Chekiang, when the magistrate appeared with a company of soldiers and proceeded to destroy the evil crop, about two thousand farmers attacked his force, and a number of rioters and soldiers were injured. Three hundred troops and a gunboat were presently dispatched to the scene and the law-breakers were quelled.

The soldiers remain, however, that in Szechuan, which was raising a third of the opium produced in China, the acreage has been cut down by eighty per cent. No more incontestable evidence of suppression can be offered than the great upward leap in the price of opium. In Honan it doubled in a year and was worth more than its weight in silver. At Tsinghai, where no poppy grew last year, it was selling for two and a half times its weight in silver. At Hwachow, in the same province, it was six times as dear as the year before. At Sianfu in Shensi, it sold at fifty cents an ounce, three or four times the price of the previous year. At Peking, in Szechuan, where there is no poppy, the price was 1,600 cash an ounce as against 120 cash two years ago!

It is a striking fact that in four of the great poppy provinces prohibition has been followed by a season of wonderful harvests, which have gone far to compensate the farmers for their sacrifice, and so reconcile them to the reform policy. The missionaries see the hand of God in this record wheat crop, running from thirty to forty-five bushels to the acre. This, and the restoration of so much land to food-growing, has made food more plentiful and cheaper than it has been for years. New trade is springing up, as the Hupai merchants, who were wont to drift through far Kansuh buying the opium crop, are now bringing back with them goat skins, eagles' wing pig bristles, and donkey hides, in place of the poison.

When Peking allowed ten years for the cleansing of the land from the opium habit, it little dreamed of the enthusiastic response its initiative would call forth, or of the rising spirit of patriotism that would come to its aid. The accomplishment of the four years elapsed has surpassed all anticipations. The production of opium in China has certainly been cut down seventy-five or eighty per cent., and the reform leaders even insist on a ninety per cent. Millions of smokers are breaking off because the price of the drug has risen clear out of their

"An Inspiration of Genius"

"It is a joy to see and feel and handle the New Encyclopaedia Britannica. The change from the ponderous forbidding volumes of the past to this charming India paper issue represents nothing less than an inspiration of genius. The Britannica was a work of reference—now it is a book which one takes down for the pure pleasure of reading it."

The India Paper, Flexible Binding Format of the New Encyclopaedia Britannica

(11th Edition)

The Interesting Story of India Paper

INDIA paper is the name given to a very thin and light but tough and opaque kind of paper used for making books of which it is desirable to reduce the bulk and weight to a minimum without impairing durability or affecting the legibility of the type. The name was originally given in England, about the middle of the 18th century, to a soft absorbent paper imported from China, where it was made by hand. The name probably originated in the prevailing tendency of those times to describe as "Indian" anything that came from the Far East (as for example, Indian ink). This so-called India paper was used for printing the earliest and finest impressions of engravings, hence known as "India proofs."

How It First Came from the Far East

The name of India paper is now chiefly associated with European (especially British) machine-made, thin opaque printing papers used in the highest class of book-printing. In 1841 an Oxford graduate brought to England from the Far East a small quantity of extremely thin paper, which was manifestly tougher and more opaque for its weight, than any paper then made in Europe. He presented it to the Oxford University Press, which, in 1842, used it for 24 copies of the smallest Bible then in existence—diamond 24mo. These books were scarcely a third of the usual thickness, and were regarded with great interest; one was presented to Queen Victoria and the rest to other eminent persons.

Re-invented in England

In 1874 a copy of the India paper Bible fell into the hands of Henry Frowde, and experiments were instituted at the Oxford University press-mills at Wolvercote with the object of producing similar paper. In 1875 an impression of the Bible, similar in all respects to that of 1842, was placed on sale by the Oxford University Press. This feat of compression was regarded as astounding, the demand was enormous, and since then hundreds of thousands of these India paper Bibles have been printed by the Press both of Oxford and Cambridge.

Tests at the Paris Exposition

The marvels of compression achieved by the use of India paper created great interest at the Paris Exhibition in 1900. Its strength was as remarkable as its lightness; volumes of 1,500 pages were suspended for several months by a single leaf, as thin as tissue, and when they were examined at the close of the Exhibition, it was found that the leaf had not started, the paper had not stretched and the volume closed as well as ever. The paper, when subjected to severe rubbing, instead of breaking into holes, like ordinary printing paper, assumed a texture like that of chamois leather, and a strip 3 in. wide was found to support a weight of 28 lbs. without yielding.

Materials and Production

The material used in the manufacture of India paper is chiefly rag, with entire freedom from mechanical wood pulp. The remarkable opacity of modern India paper is mainly due to the admixture of a proportion of mineral matter which is retained by the fibres.

There is no India paper produced on this continent. In the whole world there are only nine mills that manufacture it—two in England, two in Germany, two in Italy, one in France, one in Holland, and one in Belgium.

Adoption by the Encyclopaedia Britannica

The adoption by the Cambridge University Press of India paper (with flexible bindings) for such a huge and profusely illustrated work as the New Eleventh Edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, marked a veritable revolution in the making of large books. The innovation, of course, was not decided upon until thoroughly convincing tests had been made of its complete practicability. The public of the English-speaking world has been quick to see the advantages of the new format. Eighty-nine per cent. of the 30,000 orders so far received for the new 11th Edition have been for sets on India paper, and subscribers have shown the greatest satisfaction and enthusiasm over the light, thin, beautiful volumes of the India paper edition. These volumes, though they each contain about 1,000 pages, are only 1 inch thick. The whole set of 29 volumes occupies only 30 inches of shelf-space, whereas the edition on ordinary book-paper requires nearly seven feet.

Far-reaching Effect of the Innovation

It is the confident belief of the Syndics of the Press of the University of Cambridge (England) that the new Britannica, in the light, flexible, easily handled India paper format, will not only be referred to more often than was its cumbersome predecessor, but that it will henceforth be read and studied with far greater ease and comfort and, therefore, much more profitably.

Special Features of the 11th Edition

- I. The new edition is being published by the Press of the University of Cambridge, England.
- II. It comprises some 40,000 articles, 41,000,000 words, more than 7,000 illustrations, 480 full-page plates, and over 500 maps.
- III. Though a lineal descendant of ten editions of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, the new work is in no sense a revision of the obsolete text of its predecessor. It has been completely recast and re-written, and is an absolutely fresh, authoritative and up-to-date survey and exposition of the whole field of human knowledge.
- IV. The plan of the Encyclopaedia has been thoroughly reorganized with a view of combining comprehensiveness with brevity, exhaustive treatment of major subjects with the greatest facility of reference in the case of minor subjects.
- V. Something like 15,000 new headings have been added.
- VI. The articles have been written by 1,500 contributors—scholars of the highest distinction, and expert and practical men and women whose authority in their special subjects is unimpeachable.
- VII. A large and distinguished staff of editors (constituting with the 1,500 contributors a virtual College of Revision) has been at work for eight years on the production of the new edition; and the organization and editorial control have all along been so perfect that an unprecedented congruity and coordination have been attained.
- VIII. Each article is right up to date, and all the latest discoveries and results of research have been incorporated.
- IX. The whole work has been written simultaneously, and is being published practically at one time, not volume by volume as heretofore.
- X. To an extent never before realized the work is cosmopolitan—universal. Each article is the work of a first hand authority, irrespective of whether he happened to live in Great Britain, Canada, France, Germany, the United States, Japan or any other civilized country. On the list of contributors are to be found the names of 131 members of the staffs of 42 Canadian and United States Colleges and Universities.
- XI. The problem of bulk has been happily solved by the issue of an edition on India paper with flexible bindings. In this format the volumes, though containing from 960 to 1,664 pages each, are only 1 inch thick. There is also an impression on ordinary book-paper.

Advance-of-Publication Prices to be Withdrawn May 31st

All subscribers who register their applications before May 31st will effect a very substantial saving and will acquire the world's foremost work of reference at a price which has never before been possible.

Vols. I to XIV are now being delivered to early subscribers, and Vols. XV to XXIX are expected to arrive from England shortly. Complete publication will therefore soon be effected, and the "advance-of-publication" terms will be withdrawn on May 31st next.

Illustrated prospectus (40 pp.), 50 specimen pages on India paper, 4 specimen plates, and form of application showing the special advance terms, will be sent on receipt of request.

NOTE.—Those who possess copies of previous editions of the ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA (now out of date), are requested to advise us of the fact, stating which edition they possess (giving name of publisher and number of volumes), and if they wish to purchase the new edition, they will be informed how they can dispose of their old editions at a fair valuation.

C. M. DANIELS, THE HUMAN MERMAN

CHAMPION of America for Eight Years and Winner of 520 Races Out of 520 Starts Tells of His Two Narrowest Escapes from Defeat and Laughs at His Marvellous Skill

The Start of a 100 Yard Swim.

Copyright, 1911, by the New York Herald Co. All rights reserved.

A LONG, lithe young man stood on the edge of the swimming pool in the New York Athletic Club. His physical architecture, his smooth movements, the slipping of the fat muscles, almost snakelike, under his skin, reminded one of the agility and quickness of a panther.

There was a streak and a flash. The man cleaved the water as a knife blade might. There was no hint of a splash. The smooth surface of the pool was hardly rippled by his entrance. There came a working of arms as the propeller kicks over in a speed boat. His legs churned and he moved through the water like a long, low motor craft, with his head for the prow. No wasted energy was there. Every action was clean cut. Only once did he lift his head out of the water for air before he reached the far end of the pool. There he crawled out and stood smiling in his scanty suit.

The man was C. M. Daniels, of the New York Athletic Club, for eight successive years the swimming champion of America. Never before was there a swimmer like him. He seems to be part fish. The water is surely his home. Twice he has won the hundred yard championship of England. Only twice he has tried. After this year he is going to retire, while the glory of his swimming is in full bloom. He is not going to see himself fade until he is finally beaten, not by a better man but by age, which beats them all some time if they stay long enough.

Mr. Daniels is the most approachable man in the world. He laughs at his swimming ability, says that it is nothing. His modesty is ingraining. Try to talk to him about swimming and he will endeavor to discuss chess. He is one of the few persons who doesn't think that he is a marvellous swimmer.

"Speed?" he said, in reply to a question. "I don't know how I got speed. I simply kick my feet up and down as fast as I can and pull my arms out and dip them in again as rapidly as possible. It's a sort of knack that I seem to have. You see, by working the legs up and down there is no pull back to stop the progress through the water. It is the American crawl."

"Did you invent it?"
"Well," replied Mr. Daniels, "I couldn't exactly say that I invented it, but I used it first."
"There is another thing that I want made plain. I did not learn to swim because my father would not let me go fishing until I did. That story has been printed several times. It is not true that he threw me off a pier. I never cared for fishing anyway. There is too little action on the far end of the pole. The fish have to do too much and the man too little to supply real entertainment. I like action—lots of action."

"How did I really learn to swim? The instructor in Gebhardt's baths, which used to be at Fifth avenue and Forty-fifth street, taught me. I was twelve years old then, and I learned in twelve lessons. You see, an even dozen was my lucky number. I had always wanted to be a speed swimmer, but I never showed any tendencies that way until the fall of 1903. It came to me all of a sudden. In the fall I was a very mediocre swimmer, and in the spring of 1904 I won the national championship. I slipped from the bottom to the top in three months. Since then I have never lost a race. The speed came to me all in a flash. It was so sudden that I hardly recognized it or realized that I had acquired it until I was beating all the first class men. I was as surprised as they were, and you may take my unadorned word for it that some of them got a start, it had been so easy to beat me before."

"Swimming," continued Mr. Daniels, "is a sport that gives a man all around development. He has to be sleek and trim. He cannot bulge there and be weak here, for it exercises every muscle in the body. That, perhaps, is the reason why there are so few successful swimmers. A big muscled, big boned, oppressively robust man seldom makes a fast swimmer. Big knots of muscles and speed in the water do not go together."

Mr. Daniels seemed to be a living example of his theory as he stood there in his bathing suit, slim and straight, without a knot or kink in his smooth sliding muscles. It was all hidden power, not the potentiality of the truck horse but that of the thoroughbred.

"Of course, in a race a great deal depends on the take-off," he resumed. "As in any other race, a man cannot be left at the post and hope to be successful against competitors of almost equal ability. I do not try to dive a great distance into a pool, simply a clean dive, and I start to kick as soon as I hit the water. The force of the dive gives a man his initial velocity if it is clean. I know just how many strokes it will take me to reach the other end of the pool in the New York Athletic Club here. I breathe only twice in a fifty yard race, and as I come up for air I glance around to see where the other contestants are. If I see some man almost on even terms with me or ahead then I dig down into the water and shove. I put more force into my kicks and strokes. As I said, I have never been beaten, but I have had two close squeezes."

His Narrowest Victory.

"Just a few weeks ago, in the national championships, in this very pool here, Perry McGillivray, of Chicago, almost beat me in the hundred yard race. I only won by the touch, about three or four inches. A man doesn't hear the cheering when he is swimming except when he pulls his head out of the water. In the national championships this year I got away to a good start. With the report of the gun I grabbed a couple of lungs' full of air and hit the pool. In a hundred yard race I breathe twice going up the pool and twice coming back. I know just how many strokes it will take me to reach the end of this pool. I know in any pool after I have swum in it two or three times."

"The first time that I breathed in the championships this year McGillivray was right at my shoulder, but I was not worried. His lane was next to mine. We turned and kicked off at the end of the pool almost together, and I started back even with him. I expected him to die on the return. The first time that I pulled my head out of the water on the way back he was just a little ahead. I could hear the crowd shouting at me.

"For the first time in my life I was scared—that is, for the first time since I had won the championship. I put my head down under the water and dug as I never had before. I'll hand it to him. He made me extend myself to my very limit. I never looked up until I touched the end of the pool. His hand followed mine almost as the shadow does the object which casts it. I had won by perhaps three inches. The crowd gave me a great ovation. There is something sentimental about a crowd, I guess. It hates to see an old champion go. It has been so often proved that one never comes back.

"But I'll fool the public if I last through this season. I am going to stop racing after this spring. The only time that I am going to swim after this season is for pleasure. The only other influence which could be brought to bear on me would be the upsetting of a boat in which I am a passenger a mile or so from shore with no life preservers available. Understand, after I retire. If there are life preservers enough to go around I shall simply crawl into one and float until some kind-hearted soul picks me up. No, sirree; I won't even swim ashore.

"Should think you would need a freight car for the purpose."

"Oh, no," answered Mr. Daniels. "They are small."

"Are there any tricks to swimming?"

"Well, of course, there are tricks in getting the best take off and the best turn, but as for little, unfair tricks, there are very few. You see, so little opportunity is offered to a man for this sort of thing on account of the very nature of the sport. Each man has his own lane, and he has to keep in it. A man cannot josh a competitor or try to get him to lose his temper by means of conversation, as in other sports, because he needs all the breath that he can suck in for purposes of locomotion and has none to spare for repartee.

"The only really unsportsmanlike trick that I think I ever saw tried in a race took place in the half mile swim in St. Louis in 1904. A Dutchman—what is the use of mentioning names?—drew in a mouthful of water and squirted it into the face of a competitor in the next alley to try to make the man lose his temper."

"What would you do if a man did that to you?"
"If a man was such a poor swimmer that he had to try to win in that way I think that I would swim away from him where he could not squirt water at me. Later I would bring the matter to his attention in the dressing room delicately, but still in such a way that he would not try to repeat it. Swimming is a clean sport—no, that is not a pun—and I hate to see a man try to do a thing like that. The men in the game, for the most part, are the best fellows in the world."

"What makes the difference in the time of races in the same pool at the same distance for the same men?"

Swimmers' Slow Tracks.

"A slow track. That sounds like a paradox, but it is true. The water seems to vary at different times and is either fast or slow. It does not mean that the pool is dirty," added Mr. Daniels, with a smile. "Most pools are very clean. But what swimmers know as a fast track depends on the quality of the water. It is an indefinable something that a swimmer cannot explain. It may be the hardness or the softness of the water, but all swimmers speak of a slow or fast track. Of course, I am referring to pools now. All the big races are held indoors at short distances. Outdoor conditions depend on the weather. A rough day makes the going slow, or 'muddy,' as we say. I seldom swim out of doors."

"I have never trained at all since I started racing. Of course, you understand, that I don't abuse my body, but I never train. I smoke all the time, and, if I want to take a drink, I do it. It doesn't seem to hurt me at all. You see, I swim only the short distances. I never swam more than a mile in my life. What's the use of a man making a ferry boat of himself? There is no particular speed and skill in swimming fifteen miles, for instance, and heaven knows that it is no fun. Life is too short for those long races, and I believe that it shortens a man's life to swim for fifteen miles. It takes everything out of him—all his vitality and strength."

"Sometimes I swim half a mile, but seldom. I don't like to do more than two hundred and twenty yards. That is the limit distance at which I can go and use the American crawl stroke, the fastest way for a man his step that implies the athlete. He has the strength of slowness—not robust, but sloping, powerful shoulders. His summers are spent in the Adirondacks, where he swims in the lakes. He says that he does not like salt water. He came down to New York for only a few races last summer and declares he will be seen in none at all this year. So if one cares to get a glimpse at this wonderful swimmer in action against rivals one must see him before he goes away for the summer. He says that he will have swum in his last race then.

Mr. Daniels is married. He is in the insurance business downtown, and swimming has not so much interfered with his work that he cannot drive his own car. He is an automobile enthusiast, but no one ever hears about that because his swimming is so far removed from his other accomplishments. He says that after this spring he is going to try to get people to forget that he is a great swimmer and have them recognize him as something else. There is a great chance of his admiring forgetting what a swimmer he has been. They call him "Danny." Generations will probably pass before another man with his speed in the water is found. Many experts declare him to be the greatest swimmer that the world has ever known.

In direct contrast to Mr. Daniels' brilliant, dashing style of swimming are the long, plugging strokes of the life savers who hold the annual swim to Coney Island each year. These men might be called the ocean liners of the sport. Mr. Daniels is the speed boat. Most of them are necessarily big and husky, with endurance that seems to be inexhaustible. They are the men who are supposed to be able to keep afloat and make speed under any conditions. Not the greyhounds, but the St. Bernards who bring help to those who need it. They are the men who can swim for miles with the weight of one or two persons on their backs—the men who can keep afloat all day. Many interesting anecdotes are told of these men in their annual race to Coney Island.

In 1907, a life saver, John Kerns, attached to one of the stations along the South Shore of Long Island where three or four times each winter some wrecked schooner was hauled up on the bar in a gale and a volunteer is asked to go out through the surf in the breeches buoy to the ship—this John Kerns had the Coney Island race all but won. He was a big, powerful man, and he was swimming easily one-half mile from the finish, with his nearest rival more than a quarter of a mile behind. It was a rough day, with the sea rolling in from the southeast and splashing the swimmers in the face. A party in a sailboat was watching the race. Suddenly the boat heeled under a puff and a girl went over.

The Racer's Dilemma.

The skipper was an amateur, and before he could bring his boat up into the wind his erstwhile passenger was left far astern. She came up struggling and kicking. It was evident that she could not swim. Her idea of the way to maintain buoyancy was to open her mouth and try to scream, only to swallow a lot of water and go down struggling. Kerns saw the waste proceeding. The girl was perhaps fifty yards from the boat, directly away from the finish boat. Without hesitating at all, he turned and swam back over the long, hard yards that he had gained, to the sinking woman. He was the first to reach her. With the professional's knowledge of such things he grabbed her by the hair as she went down. With deftness as she tried to close in on him with the instinct of a drowning woman he held her out at arm's length, with one hand under her chin. In this way he brought her to one of the boats that followed. He saved the woman, but he lost the race, that victory coveted by all life savers. This man, who had come fourteen and a half miles, when within sight of his goal had abandoned easy victory to save a woman whom others might have rescued.

"Why did you do it?" he was asked when he was pulled into the boat, too.
"That's the helluva question," he answered in his gruff way. "It's my profession. Winning a race is only fun, and I am still old fashioned enough to put business before pleasure."

Almost every one can swim a little—that is, splash about and keep afloat, but there are few persons who know the fine points of the game. The graceful speed swimmer is a rarity. The man with endurance is seldom found. Not only does the man who takes a long swim have to combat the natural fatigue of the body, but he has to fight the cold as the swimmers begin to get numb and cramped.

There are almost as many strokes as there are swimmers. It is funny to watch the throng at Atlantic City on a warm Sunday in August and see the variety of ways in which a human being can keep his head above the water. Some of the swimmers splash along like the Mary Fowling with a sort of side wheel action that makes as much wobble as a Lackawanna ferryboat. Others use their arms like fins, giving the impression that if the water was not there it would be just as easy for them to fly.

Still others paddle, dog fashion, and here and there a fat man floats about on his back, like some great log, with one of those beach straw hats on his head, smoking a cigar, which by its aroma hints that whatever friend presented it to him did not get enlargement of the heart when he purchased it. In near shore you see the beginners. And there just a little further out one sees a thin man with every confidence in himself as a swimmer in a most up to the minute bathing suit. He is making as much effort with his arms and legs as a windmill does with its wings in a gale. Grimly he sets his teeth. He thinks that he is going somewhere and moving fast. Theoretically he should be leaving the heart when he pulls his head in the water. Yet takes some stationary point and watch him pass it. He appears to be on an aquatic treadmill. He is getting absolutely nowhere, standing as still as a tombstone. But his wife or his sweetheart or his sister comes down the beach. He stops his splashing and contentedly agrees to teach her how to keep afloat.

Watch this heterogeneous mass of splashing and puffing humanity some day and then look at Daniels in the water. There seem to be rhythm and music and poetry in his swimming. Somehow this mob of furious swimmers with the wild strokes and discordant kicks gives one the shudders after watching Daniels.

CHARLES M. DANIELS.

The Start of a One Mile Swim.

"When was the other close squeeze that I had? It was in the hundred yard championship in England in 1906. I won that by about a foot, but I didn't know the pool. That makes a lot of difference. A swimmer may have all the speed in the world, but if he has not acquired the knack of turning quickly he will be beaten every time. To do this well one must be intimate with the pool and know exactly how many strokes will carry one the length of it. Then one knows just when to prepare for the turn and when to kick off. That kick from the end means a lot. But practice gives it to a man. As I say, I did not know the pool for the English championships and I misjudged the number of strokes that would be required to give me transportation to the terminus. I got a bad turn and it almost cost me the race."

"How many races have I won since I have been swimming? Altogether I have nosed home first five hundred and twenty times."
"That is, out of a possible five hundred and twenty?"
"Yes."
"What do you do with your medals?"
"I keep them in a cabinet."

to propel his body through the water. Above the two hundred and twenty yard mark I use the trudgen stroke. That is over with the hands, but one must draw the legs up. I don't like the stroke half as well as the American crawl."

"Does it do any good to grease the body?"
"As far as getting more speed by doing it I think that it does not help at all, although there are swimmers who believe that it does. I can't see that the body slips through the water any easier, and it stops up the pores, which is a bad thing. I tried it once and I shall never do it again. Many swimmers who are going a long distance outdoors do it to keep warm. That is closing the pores and makes the body warm. That is the great danger in a long swim—the cold. Grease prevents a swimmer feeling the cold as soon, but as for giving him more speed, I should say that it decidedly didn't."

Refusing to talk any more about himself and his art, Mr. Daniels slipped into the water as noiselessly as any native of the deep could. With a few strokes, apparently without effort he swam back to the far end of the pool. Perhaps there are no mermaids, but in the smoothness and grace of his motions, seemed to be a merman.

Mr. Daniels is twenty-six years old, lithe as a panther and straight as an arrow. There is a spring in

MARINE NOTES

The first full cargo of lumber ever shipped from Puget Sound to New York via the Panama route will be dispatched on the steamer Mackinaw, under charter to the California Atlantic Steamship Company, Bates & Chesbrough, which is expected to arrive at Seattle from San Francisco next week. The Mackinaw will carry about 900,000 feet of lumber and shingles from various Puget Sound mills, and will depart for Panama about the end of this month.

According to the weather map issued by the Dominion meteorological service, the weather in this province for April was generally fine and exceptionally dry, with the mean temperature from 3 deg. to 7 deg. below the average, and the precipitation deficient, except perhaps on the Western Coast. Night frosts were fairly frequent in the Nanaimo and Cowichan districts, and also in Victoria and over the Lower Mainland, where springlike conditions were later than usual. Victoria, 24 hours of bright sunshine; wind mileage, 6,890, with two gales.

Sending a boat ashore at Midway Island to get some fresh fruit and provisions, the officers of the British barque Antiope, which has arrived at San Francisco from Newcastle, Australia, found that the few inhabitants of the lonely cable station had received no supplies from the outside since last Christmas. Although they were short themselves those on the island gave the Antiope some provender. The Antiope brought 2,973 tons of coal to Blind Bay, where the barque has just arrived. Capt. Matheson reported headwinds and long spells of calms to account for the slow passage of 87 days, during which 10,900 miles were logged. The call at Midway Island was made on April 4. Two weeks later the barque passed through great masses of "Portuguese man-of-war," a strange species of sea life found in tropical waters.

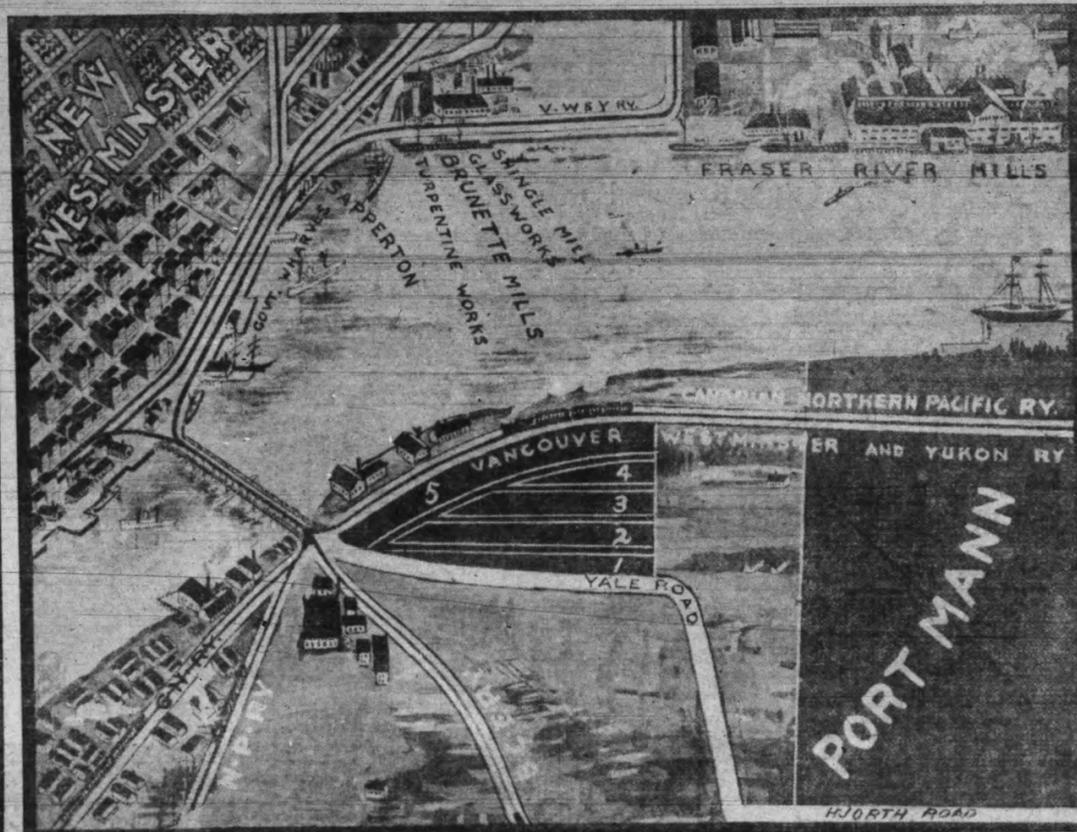

Capt. H. W. Burgess, well known on the waterfront and formerly master of the British barque Lord Templeton, is now master of the ship Reuce, which has just been sold to the Columbia River Packers' Association by the California Shipping Company. In a letter received from Capt. Burgess from Astoria, where the Reuce has just arrived, he says the Reuce may tow north to Chiknik, as she is taking the place of the wrecked ship Jabez Howes, and she is needed in the north as soon as possible. The Reuce left San Francisco April 3 and arrived at Astoria April 5, towing up the coast behind the steamer Francis Laggett.

British owners of sailing vessels are looking forward this year to better profits than have been the rule in several seasons past, according to a letter received at Seattle yesterday by Capt. W. Frank Andrews from John S. DeWolf, of Charles E. DeWolf & Co., of Liverpool, owners of the well known British canvas fleet which comprises the Blythwood, Engelhorn, Glenalvon, Gleneslin, Haddon Hall, Lyderhorn and Senator. The letter also conveys news that the well known British ship Riverside, recently sold to South African owners, was damaged and forced to put into Falmouth for repairs while en route from Puget Sound to Hamburg carrying a valuable lumber cargo.

The steamer Umatilla of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, is preparing at San Francisco for her annual trip to Nome. She is scheduled to get away for the Alaska points June 1, and will carry several hundred passengers in addition to a capacity cargo of merchandise and provisions. Capt. Tom Reilly, who has taken the Umatilla north for many seasons, is seriously ill and it is doubtful whether he will take the vessel in Victoria in answer to constant mail enquiry.

CONFERENCE ON CITY PLANNING

Delegates From American and European Cities Meet at Philadelphia

Philadelphia, May 15.—The third national conference of city planning will be formally opened in the city hall this afternoon with delegates in attendance from many American and European cities. The great feature of the conference is the magnificent international exhibition of city planning, the first of its kind ever held under municipal patronage in America. The exhibition consists of models, perspectives, photographs, plans, maps, etc., illustrating the growth of city planning in America and Europe. The marvelous growth of the boulevard system of Paris, the beautiful cities of Europe and the great docks of Liverpool and Antwerp, Rotterdam and Bremen are shown. In the exhibition are also the drawing for the replanning of Chicago, the drawings for the development of Washington, and drawings for the improvement of New York city, Boston, Cleveland, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Portland, Ore., and other cities.

Re Prince Rupert Property

I leave for Prince Rupert May 17th on a short business trip and shall be glad to execute any commissions for anyone owning property there.

Having had a special survey made for my own information, I am thoroughly familiar with the townsite, and my firm—Pattulo & Radford—at Prince Rupert specialize in the care and management of the property of absentees.

It is my belief that property bought in Prince Rupert to-day will return many times the investment during the next five years, nor do I think that there will be a more advantageous time to buy than this year.

Everybody counts upon buying just a little ahead of the completion of the railroad. The essence of shrewd real estate investment is to buy a little ahead of everybody else.

During the past two years I have purchased a lot of Prince Rupert property for clients who have never seen the property, but I guarantee it to be just as stated.

Some particularly good buys are to be had at this time and I shall be glad to make any investments entrusted to me.

There are a great many people in the southern portion of B. C. who do not appreciate the resources of Northern B. C., and the certainty of development at the metropolis of the north, Prince Rupert. To them I would say that they are overlooking not only absolute safety of investment but a similar certainty of profit.

I should be pleased to consult with either present or intending holders of Prince Rupert property and may be seen at the offices of R. V. Winch & Co., Limited, Temple Building, Fort street.

sel out this year. The Pacific Coast Company's steamer Senator will leave in a few days for Seattle, from where she is to steam June 1 for Alaska points. She will be in command of Capt. John Scooby, who has had the steamer Eureka.

Figuratively speaking, the residents of Nome are preparing to tie a tin can to tin cans when the steamship Corwin, which left Seattle on Wednesday night, appears in the offing, for the sturdy little vessel is bringing tons of fresh eggs, cabbages, apples, oranges, bananas, lemons and other delicacies which the citizens of the Northern metropolis have for the last seven months been extracting from the interior of the meek and lowly air-tight. When for seven months the Norwegians have been preparing breakfast, luncheon and dinner from tin cans and have used the empty receptacles for constructing everything from parlor furniture to musical instruments, they feel inclined to cast them aside. The dedicated egg is a worthy institution, but after seven months of dedicated eggs the people of Nome pine for a nice fresh egg from the cold storage plant in Chicago.

TO HAVE LUXURIANT HAIR

You Must Cultivate It

Beautiful hair does not come by chance. This is a law of nature. Man how often we see women who would have ever had to devote care and study, otherwise be called beautiful, marred by the neglected appearance and dried up condition of the hair.

Providence has made it possible for every man and woman to have beautiful hair, but demands that it be cultivated and cared for. Neglect your hair and it becomes thin and lifeless. It then commences to fall out and just at the time you should be looking your best you are old looking and unattractive.

Hair must have proper nourishment or die. Parisian Sage is a hair nourisher and one that is fully guaranteed by D. E. Campbell, who will refund your money if it fails to cure dandruff, stop itching of scalp, hair falling out and promote a thick and luxuriant growth. Comfort for skin-tortured babies and rest for tired, fretted mothers.

Is your little one a sufferer from itching, burning eczema or other torturing, disfiguring skin eruption? Are you, yourself, worn out by long, sleepless nights and ceaseless anxiety? And have you tried treatment after treatment without avail? Then read in these remarkable letters proof of what Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have done, throughout the world, for just such cases as yours.

Canada

When my boy was about three months old, his head broke out with a rash which was very itchy and ran a watery fluid. We tried everything we could but he got worse all the time, till it spread to his arms, legs and then to his entire body. He got so bad that he came near dying. The rash would itch so that he would scratch till the blood ran. I had to put ointment on his hands to prevent him tearing his skin. He was so weak and run down that he took fainting spells as if he were dead. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin like claws.

England

If it had not been for Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, I think my baby would never have gotten over her eczema. For five months she was covered with it, beginning with her head, and going right down to her feet. It started with white pimples, then they filled up, burst, and when we washed her, she used to bleed. We had her under the doctor's care for seven weeks, but he did her only temporary good, then she would be as bad as ever, suffering terribly with itching and burning.

Australia

The trouble that affected my little girl started in her head like ringworm. Then it went all over her head. The head swelled, and it went in the form of matter and all the hair came off. It was very itchy. She could never sleep, and I began to think she would never get better. I tried a lot of advertised remedies but all to no avail. She was like this for over three months until I tried a pot of Cuticura Ointment. I had not used that pot before she was completely cured. The hair grew again, and you would never know that there had been anything wrong with her head. (Signed) Mrs. F. J. Collins, Melbourne, Rumbly St. N., Ballarat East, Victoria.

Scotland

When our little boy Andrew was four months old, little red spots came on his head and face. Then they spread all over his head, so I took him to my doctor and he gave me an ointment to use. The spots became broken sores, and the ointment didn't do any good. Then I took him to the hospital. They gave me ointment which did no good. He would scratch the sores till they bled, so we had to tie his hands. The child was crying all the time with the terrible sores. Then I saw Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertised, and tried them. I saw a great difference in a few days, the sores healed up quickly, so I kept on using Cuticura Soap and Ointment perhaps every other day. Now the child is completely cured, he is healthy and sleeps well. He suffered for about seventeen months before I tried the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. We had given him up as hopeless, and someone said he would be better dead, his suffering was so terrible. I was almost out of my mind. For I could get no sleep for him always crying. Cuticura Soap and Ointment did him a world of good, and now there isn't a mark on him. (Signed) Mrs. Greig, 24, Windmill Lane, Edinburgh.

United States

I have a little baby almost a year old. When it was two months old it got eczema on top of both her hands, on her face and inside her nose and mouth. She refused to drink and one of her eyes almost closed up. A hard crust formed and would crack open. The blood ran out. It itched so frightfully that the poor little girl could not rest. We had scratching at her face and her mother was forced to sit in a rocking chair with the baby day and night. We had a very good doctor and he did all that he possibly could to relieve the baby's torture but the results were not what we had looked for.

Trial Treatment Free

That all may try without expense this treatment which, for more than a generation, has maintained its position as the speediest, simplest, and most economical for skin and scalp humors of young and old, a liberal sample of Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment with 32-p. book on skin troubles, will be sent, post-free, on application to: WATERBURY DRUG & CHEM. MADERO TELLS OF TROUBLE IN RANKS

Provisional President Issues Statement—General Navarro Safe at El Paso

Juarez, May 15.—General Navarro, the defeated federal commander, whose life was threatened Saturday by angry mobs of insurgents, was spirited away by Francisco I. Madero, Jr., himself, to the American side of the Rio Grande, and is safely ensconced in the home of friends in El Paso.

A plot deeply laid and suspected by the rebel leaders as the cause of the near riot in front of the Madero headquarters Saturday, and some Maderists freely venture the opinion that it was a sinister scheme on the part of those who are trying to break up the organization of the revolution to foster the opinion throughout Mexico that the movement is one of banter and anarchy. Provisional President Madero, in a statement issued Saturday night, charged that General Orozco's actions were incited "by persons interested in bringing about disunion among us."

"Orozco, excited by the victory, probably from the adulation and had advice of persons interested in causing disunion among us, committed a fault which fortunately had no consequences. He complained that the troops did not have sufficient provisions and wanted to lay the fault upon the persons designated by me to provision the army; but the truth is that in the store houses we have more than enough provisions, so the fault is with the provider of his corps, who has not attended to his duty."

"He told me also that he did not like the persons whom I had designated as cabinet officers. But I answered that it was not he who should tell me whom I should appoint."

"There being present a considerable number of soldiers at the place where we met, it appeared to me opportune to address them and explain to them what was transpiring. They all showed that they were well disposed to concord, and in order to terminate the small and disagreeable incident before them, Orozco and I clasped hands and forgot everything, as I took into account that although it was true that he had just committed a fault, on the other hand he had given good service to the country."

"This incident, in itself disagreeable, has furnished me with more data to assure me that I can count on my soldiers, in any case whatever, and that the officers, although they may go astray for a moment, never disobey my orders. As I feared that ill-advised soldiers might commit an outrage against General Navarro, I took him from the beginning to my house; but I could not be at his side constantly, and with what passed I began to fear that he would be injured in my absence. In order to avoid it, I took him personally to the bank of the river, so that he might pass over to the American territory, where he continues as my prisoner of war under his word of honor."

"In honor of Orozco, I should say that he simply proposed to me that we should act in this manner from the beginning, and even Villa himself, when I told him my intention to grant Navarro his life, told me with all submission that what I did was right—done in honor. It is not true that any of the officers have demanded his life of me, as not even the soldiers have attempted to do it, although I have heard that here and there some one expressed that opinion, but it is not the general desire of my soldiers, who are brave in battle and magnanimous in victory."

MANY BIDS IN FOR C. N. CONSTRUCTION

Contracts for Work Between Hope and Kamloops Will Not Be Awarded for Weeks

Vancouver, May 15.—A very large number of tenders for the Canadian Northern construction work between Hope and Kamloops was received at the executive office of the company in this city. Several belated bids from out-of-town came in by mail on Saturday and several others are understood to be on the way. For this reason T. G. Holt, executive agent, declined to give out any statement respecting the bids until all had been received.

There will be a good deal of clerical work involved in the tabulation of the various bids, as various schedules will have to be extended. It is understood that the figures, and probably the tenders, too, will be forwarded to the head office of the company, as no official information of the intention of Sir Donald Mann, vice-president, to visit the Coast at an early date has been received. Sir Wm. Mackenzie, the president, is in England.

LAYS CLAIM TO MILLIONS

The "Urquhart millions" left by a Scotsman who emigrated from Dingwall to Australia three-quarters of a century ago, and who amassed a great fortune as a railway contractor and died without issue, are now being claimed by a Salford resident named William Urquhart, who contends that his grandfather was brother of the Australian millionaire.

The claimant's life story is one of strange adventure. He is 38 years old. As a sailor he declares he was shipwrecked six times.

He also says that at one time he was "bugler to the Admiral of the Argentine fleet at Buenos Ayres," and was sentenced to ten years' detention at the Fire Island penal settlement for cutting off an officer's ear with the officer's own sword. This was because the officer was beating a young sailor with his sword at the time.

Urquhart states that he made his escape from the ship, and eventually started a bakery shop with a partner, but his partner died of fever, and then Urquhart sold up and went to Melbourne, where he was confined to hospital with typhoid fever.

His adventures, according to his own account, include his serving in the South African war, and he also says he was in Cuba during the Spanish-American war.

The Evening
Chit-Chat

By Ruth Cameron

The Butterfly Girl, who was presiding at the charming dith at our Sunday night supper, started quickly when someone spoke her name unexpectedly, and I upset the salt. It tipped in the direction of Molly, the little stenographer lady.

"Oh, dear," wailed Molly, "look what you've done, and I don't want to quarrel with you a bit, because I like you, and anyway, I hate to quarrel. It makes me feel queer in the pit of this stomach. Here, take some of this stomach and throw it over your shoulder."

The Butterfly Girl obeyed laughingly, but the author-man's wife broke in tartly: "Really, Molly, I should think you'd be too sensible for such a silly superstition. Positively, I cannot understand it."

"There, my dear," said the lady-who-always-knows-somewhat, turning to the author-man's wife with suspiciously animated friendliness. "There, that reminds me. You remember the day you stopped at my house on your way to town—and you told me you had put your petticoat on wrongside out, and you simply couldn't bear to change it for fear of ill luck, and yet you were afraid the tailor would see it. Do you think he noticed it?"

The author-man's wife turned a dull red. "No, he didn't," she admitted. "Come to think of it," admitted the Butterfly Girl, kindly curtailing the laugh by her admission. "Come to think of it, I needn't have laughed at Molly. I don't mind spilling salt or changing things that I put on wrongside out, but I must say, I'm heart-broken if I see the new moon over my left shoulder."

"Tooh," said the author-man. "There's nothing in that. Why, just last month I saw the new moon over my left shoulder, through glass and with not a cent in my pocket, and I had three manuscripts accepted within the next week. No, take it from me, that moon business is all nonsense. But I'll tell you something that isn't. I never yet had a story that I began on Friday accepted. You can pooh-hoo all you want, but that's not superstition; that's real experience."

The wants-to-be-cynic turned appealingly to the lady-who-always-knows-somewhat. "Surely," he pleaded, "surely, you, the priestess of common sense, will assure us that you, at least, are free from this maudlin, medieval mania of superstition." (The wants-to-be-cynic is crazy about alliteration and looked proudly about for someone to pat him on the back after this effort.)

"Well, I don't mind keeping anything on wrongside out if I were paid for it, and the only thing I notice about the new moon is whether it's a wet or a dry one, and as for Friday, I've had some of the best luck I ever had on that day, but I must say that I do not like to sit down with friends at a table. I really think I have some justification in that. For I've known two cases where the thirteenth person died within a year."

"Old people," inquired the cynic.

"Well, along in life," admitted the lady.

"And yet you believe that nonsense. Lady, I'm disappointed in you," said the wants-to-be-cynic. "Does this actually mean that I'm the only person in this crowd who is absolutely free from superstition?"

"No, it doesn't," said the author-man dryly. "Not by a good deal. That is, unless you've changed your mind about some things since I bunched with you a month ago, and you took the head right off of your scrubwoman for breaking your shaving mirror. You were most particular so say that the thing didn't cost much, and it wasn't the value you minded at all, but you didn't like the idea of being saddled with bad luck for seven years."

The wants-to-be-cynic turned three shades redder than the author-man's wife had.

"Dear me," sighed Molly, when the meeting had come back to comparative order. "We must be remarkably foolish people—not one of us without a superstition."

"Not a bit remarkable, Molly," said the lady-who-always-knows-somewhat. "I don't believe you'll find one person in five hundred who hasn't at least one pet superstition. Maybe, some people won't like to acknowledge it any better than some of us, but if you could live a year with them you'd be sure to find it."

Which—as you may have suspected—is my own opinion and my thesis. Try some time in a company of real sensible people, and if you can get them to be honest, I don't believe you'll find one but, though he laugh to scorn all other superstitions, has some pet one of his own tucked away.

MODEL FOR THIN MATERIALS

With spring officially arrived, one must of necessity turn with a greater degree of earnestness to the making of summer frocks. Above suggestion is very effective for summer fabrics and gives chance for the popular girle with long ends. Embroidery insertion is prettily used on the dainty and youthful bodice and—youthful—bodice of tucked white battistes and valencien-nes insertion.

Lady Buller's Gift to Be Used for Prize at Kettle Valley Rifle Meet

Nelson, May 12.—At a meeting of the Kettle Valley Rifle Association it was decided that the donation made to the association by Lady Buller should be expended this season in the purchase of a rifle, the prize to be shot for at the 500-yard range at the annual shoot.

Work on the new C. P. R. steel car barge has been commenced at the ship yards at Fairview. The barge will be the first one of steel construction on these lakes, and it will hold 15 cars on its three tracks. The only wood in its construction will be the exception of the tower, which the local ship yard force will probably erect. It is expected that the barge will be ready for service about the middle of July.

The second quarterly dividend of 2 1/2 per cent. was declared by directors of the British Columbia Copper Company at a meeting in New York, the distribution to shareholders was made on June 1. As there are 953,000 shares outstanding par value $5, this disbursement amount to $4,765,000. This will be the third dividend paid by the company. The first quarterly dividend of a similar amount was made on February 1 of this year, and 40 cents per share was paid in September, 1907, so that the total amount of dividends to date amounts to $328,950.

NEW POLICE COURT

Prince Rupert, May 13.—New police court and police office accommodation will be provided at once, and while the building will be but temporary, it will be a vast improvement on the present limited quarters.

The new home of justice will stand at the rear of the government lot opposite the corner of Third Avenue and Pulton street. This was decided at a meeting of the police commissioners.

The report presented by Chief Vickers shows for the month a total of $1,578.52 for police salaries, nearly double the amount of last month's expenditures. This has been due to the disturbance created during the strike.

Chief Vickers made special mention of the commendable conduct of the police, and the mayor as chairman of the commission agreed that Chief Vickers was to be commended for the creditable manner in which all matters coming under his care had been dealt with.

AUDITOR FINED

Mr. Moses Cotsworth, Who Put in Belated Appearance at Trial, Fined For Contempt.

New Westminster, May 12.—Moses B. Cotsworth, provincial auditor for the city of New Westminster, and until recently of the municipality of Burnaby, was fined $10 and costs by his Honor Judge Hewart for contempt of court.

Mr. Cotsworth was summoned to appear as witness in a civil action being tried, and did not appear. Sheriff Armstrong was detailed to produce Mr. Cotsworth. Mr. Cotsworth expressed regret that he had been late, as he said he thought the case was to be tried the following day. The judge, however, condemned the excuse as too flimsy, and imposed the fine.

NEW COURT HOUSE

Revelstoke, May 12.—Plans for the new provincial court house have arrived in the city. The building itself will be constructed of rich dark red pressed brick with lavish white marble ornaments and trimmings. Entrances are provided for from three streets and the front entrance which faces Kootenay street is approached by a series of six or eight steps. The plans provide for the occupancy of a whole block, and the grounds will be laid out very artistically.

IN DREAD OF SOMETHING

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

NATURE EXPELS FISHHOOK.

Child Carried Barb Three Years Before Relieved by Natural Processes.

An unusual operation was performed at Bellingham, Wash., on little 7-year-old Anna Hurbit, daughter of Attorney C. H. Hurbit, as a result of which she was successfully freed of a fishhook that became imbedded in her right foot three years ago.

On August 3, 1908, the little girl, then 4 years old, stepped on the fishhook, which was driven deep into the muscles, breaking off above the barb. Dr. Solon R. Boynton, who treated the child, advised that the hook be permitted to remain in an operation at that time, which would have been exceedingly painful and more or less dangerous.

Dr. Boynton believed that the hook would eventually be ejected by nature and his belief was confirmed when the condition of the child's foot indicated the presence of the hook in close proximity to the surface of the skin.

A visit to the doctor developed the fact that during the three years since the accident occurred the hook had worked its way through the muscle tissues following the streamlines of the muscles until it reached a position from which it could be readily removed.

"The Girl From Rector's"

"Uncle Joe" Cannon is responsible for a new word which promises eventually to find its way to the English vocabulary. During the 200 nights' run of "The Girl From Rector's," at Weber's music hall, Uncle Joe stepped in after the first act, and sat in a box and began to enjoy the show. His laugh during the last act caused a ripple through the house because its volume destroyed the hearing of many of those close about him. After the performance, the manager of the house asked him what he thought of "The Girl."

"It's a snipper," he answered.

"What does that mean?" was the query.

"Quick, entertaining, delightful—great, in fact."

"I never heard the word before," ventured the manager.

"Neither did I," returned Uncle Joe.

Rennold Wolf, the well-known dramatic authority of the New York Morning Telegraph, declared "The Girl From Rector's" the most entertaining production he had ever witnessed. In his review of the piece the morning following its premiere at Weber's music hall, he said: "I have seen it once—only once, naturally—but I shall see it many times before it quits New York. It should have a record run." Mr. Wolfe's prophecy came true, for "The Girl From Rector's" remained at Weber's for over 200 nights. It will be seen at the Victoria theatre on Tuesday evening.

Sheffield Choir.

There are few who realize from what small beginning was evolved the famous Sheffield choir, which sings here on May 17, 18 and 19 in the drill hall.

Henry Coward, at that distant date a school master in what was little more than a ragged school of Sheffield, manufactured from his tatterdemalion scholars the nucleus of the Sheffield choir, now conducted by Henry Coward, Mus. Dec. Oxon. In the intervals of this hard daily routine, the school master learned the tonic sol-fa system, and after a brief association with a primitive little choir, organized one of his own. The little choir became a big one.

The material was there, for there are few greater lovers of music than young operatives of Lancashire and Yorkshire, cutlers, artisans and factory hands though they be. It only needed the wizard hand to open their lips, and that hand was Dr. Coward's. And today the Sheffield choir stands alone as a wonderful musical entity, no less democratic in its composition parts than of yore, but a harmonious unit, disregarding of social distinctions and working only for music.

YOU WOULD NOT HAVE THIS CHANCE

If the proprietors did not feel that they had earned retirement. This offer involves a private hotel that has no equal in the city. It contains all modern improvements and is always besought by more guests than it can accommodate despite the highest rates. The property, 60x120, will be worth the price in a few years without the house and the latter is good for many years to come. The returns from this business are very large. There is also room on the property for the addition of bachelors' apartments if desired.

Property commands splendid view and has ornamental and fruit trees and shrubs and necessary out-buildings. House contains 20 rooms, is hot water heated and very solidly built. You can handle this with $5,000 cash. The balance will be extended over years as arranged.

CORELLI HAS TALK OVER RAILOPHONE

Inaugural of Von Kramer Wireless Train Telephones Possibilities of Invention

A new era of telephonic convenience—or terror, as the case may be—was begun when Miss Marie Corelli, seated in a basket-chair in a marquee outside Stratford-on-Avon railway station, spoke through a wireless inductive telephone to the mayor of Stratford, who sat with a receiver to his ear in a railway carriage on the adjacent line.

A wire from the instrument to the tent was joined up with a wire running alongside the railway line, and from this wire beside the line the wireless waves jumped across space to a parallel wire beneath the footboard of the train, and so conducted Miss Corelli's honeyed words into the receptive ear of the proud chief magistrate of Stratford-on-Avon.

The railophone, as it is called, came triumphantly through its pleasant ordeal, and Miss Corelli, in turn, placed a receiver to her own ear, and smilingly listened to a reply made by the mayor.

"I cannot tell you all he said," the famous novelist and citizen of Stratford laughingly told the company who were gathered in the tent. But she declared that what the mayor did say she heard distinctly.

Stratford is nearly as proud of Miss Corelli as it is of Shakespeare, and a gathering of enthusiastic admirers outside the Stratford and Midland Junction station greeted her with the clapping of hands when she rode up in her splendid blue motor-car. She was received with something like homage when she stepped into the marquee, where some of the leaders of Stratford society grouped themselves in a court of honor round her chair.

After a little explanatory statement by Mr. Hans von Kramer, the inventor of the new system, the Queen of Stratford was escorted from the chair of honor to the chair of telephony, and spoke these words to the mayor: "Are you there, Mr. Mayor?"

Mr. Mayor said he was, and Miss Corelli continued the conversation. "I send you hearty good wishes," she said, "for the success of the railophone. I hope that all railway companies will quickly adopt Mr. von Kramer's wonderful invention, which means complete safety for passengers and more perfect control of railway traffic. I am very pleased to inaugurate what I believe will prove a great boon to the travelling world."

Miss Corelli afterwards inspected the installation in the train. Mr. von Kramer's railophone is now installed over a section of the railway between Stratford and Kington. At one part the ground wire runs beneath the soil at the side of the track, and in another it is fixed on low posts. The wire is connected with the signal boxes, and this may be joined up with the telephone system of the whole country.

The adoption of the railophone by the railways will enable a passenger to ring anyone up, far or near, while he is travelling across country at any speed, and also to receive calls from anywhere.

An office in London, for instance, might ring up a man who was travelling across Westmorland in the Scotch express, and a man in a train in Cornwall might talk to another man in another train in Yorkshire.

Besides its extraordinary possibilities for purposes of talk between passengers and persons off the line, the railophone promises a new era of safety for trains.

Mr. von Kramer says that it can be used for signalling purposes, and that, by its use, a signalman who had forgotten a train or a signal might retrieve his error and so perhaps prevent a disaster.

NEW INCINERATOR WANTED.

Present Method of Garbage Disposal is Inadequate.

The inadequacy of the present mode of disposing of garbage collected in the city is at present agitating not only the minds of the medical health officers, but of the mayor and aldermen as well. Up to the present no definite steps have been taken to improve the method of disposal, but several schemes are under consideration.

Mr. Foster suggested that the matter would be discussed by the premier with the authorities while in London and Mr. Fielding replied that it would probably come up at the Imperial conference.

Private bills were then considered.

Ottawa, May 14.—The committee which is to inquire into the charges against Hon. Frank Oliver will meet next Wednesday. It is not known yet whether the committee will proceed at once with the hearing of witnesses or whether this will be delayed until after the resumption of parliament in July. If witnesses are called at once, it is probable that D. McGillivuddy will give first testimony.

San Francisco, Cal., May 15.—Diving from a dock near Port Costa yesterday to save Henry McGregor, a seven-year-old boy who was drowning, Arthur Taylor, son of a prominent business man of Seattle, Wash., became entangled in the branches of a sunken tree and forfeited his own life. C. Cordery, a witness, managed to rescue the boy with grappling irons. Taylor's body was found after the bay had been dragged.

THIRD MAN IS DISABLED BY SHOCK

Express Driver and Man Who Went to His Assistance Are Killed

Vancouver, May 15.—Two men met instant death within a few seconds of each other just after 1 o'clock this afternoon at the corner of Robson and Bidwell streets. The name of one was Charles Dubrau, an expressman, said to be in the employ of the Vancouver Transfer Co., while the other is Tom Costello.

Dubrau had been called to move a trunk to a residence near the corner mentioned. He was passing around his wagon when his head came in contact with a wire dangling from a pole. He commenced to fall.

Costello, who appears to have been passing within a few feet rushed to the others' assistance and caught hold of both fell to the ground together and lay quiet. A third man ran to the assistance of both and received a shock that disabled him. But by this time the wire had been disengaged from Dubrau's head and several people who came running from different directions carried the men toward the sidewalk.

The first two were, however, dead. The wire was a lead messenger cable, which, however, had not lately been used. The upper end of this wire had come in contact with the 2,000 volt wire of the lightning circuit. The lower end dangled within five feet of the ground. How long it had been in that position no one seems to know.

CANADA AND THE BAHAMAS.

Ottawa, May 15.—Replying to a question by G. E. Foster at the first morning sitting of the Commons today, Hon. W. S. Fielding said there had been no official negotiations looking to the absorption of the Bahamas by Canada.

Mr. Foster suggested that the matter would be discussed by the premier with the authorities while in London and Mr. Fielding replied that it would probably come up at the Imperial conference.

FOUR MEN INJURED BY FALLING WALL

Bryan Williams, Provincial Game Warden, Among the Victims

Vancouver, May 15.—Four men were injured when a section of the brick coping wall on the top of one story block, at the northeast corner of Granville and Pender streets, fell at 11 o'clock this morning. The injured:

William Oton, 1606 McLean Drive, badly injured internally and ribs broken.

George B. Hana, 74 Eleventh avenue west, broken leg.

Bryan Williams, provincial game warden, broken leg and other injuries.

Thomas Main, 1848 Park Drive, injury to head, not very serious.

The part of the wall which fell was on the end of the building towards the rear of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. For a distance of more than 20 feet the coping came down, the part falling being to a depth of nine or ten bricks. They covered the Granville street sidewalk.

A great crowd gathered within a few moments. The fire department, as well as the police patrol was called, and as soon as the injured people could be got out of the way the firemen began tearing off a further section of the wall so that no more of it may accidentally come down. The building belongs to Jonathan Rogers.

PRINCIPAL SIPPRELL.

Head of Columbian College is Granted Two Years' Leave of Absence.

Vancouver, May 15.—Following the reading at the Methodist conference this morning of the annual report of Columbian College, Principal Sipprell said that he had been given two years' leave of absence and intimated that this would practically mean his severance from the work of the college. He said that by the time his leave of absence was up the college would be removed to Point Grey, and that it would be then a theological and not an arts institution. As such, it would be affiliated with the university and he did not feel that he could be expected to stay at the head of the primary institution.

These Want Advertisements Will Make It Easier to Find Work or Workers To-Day

There are still a few lots left in this delightful spot, and they are as good as any that have been sold. The municipal council is now arranging to grade and macadamize Gonzalez avenue and a petition is out for Victoria avenue. As soon as the streets are commenced the prices will advance considerably for there are no other lots in the neighborhood of Victoria just as good as these. The sites are at the top of the prettiest hill in Oak Bay. The view in every direction is superb.

BRINGING SONG BIRDS.

Consignment of British Songsters to Arrive Here Next Spring. Word has just been received by the Natural History Society from James Anderson, late deputy minister of agriculture, to the effect that it will be impossible for him to purchase the song birds in England at this time, as the British Wild Birds' Protection Act prohibits the capture and confinement of song birds during the breeding season. Mr. Anderson was appointed purchasing agent for the society in this regard. In view of this unexpected inability to carry out the behests of the society he has entrusted the duties to the Hon. J. H. Turner, agent-general for British Columbia in London. A. S. Barton, chairman of the bird committee of the society, will be in London in August and will arrange with the dealers to have a supply of song birds shipped to Victoria so as to arrive here in the early spring of next year.

PRISONERS PLAN TO ESCAPE.

Seattle, Wash., May 15.—To saw through the bars of his cell, set upon the night jailer as he made his rounds and either kill or otherwise put him out of the way, to force the jailer in the outer corridor to open the big door under pain of death, and then to take his keys and liberate every prisoner in the place, was the plot outlined by four of the most desperate criminals at present confined in the King county jail. But Sheriff Robert Hodge and his head jailer, A. J. Stark, nipped the scheme in the bud, and the quartette are meditating in the semi-darkness of the "solitary" cells.

MIXING THE BABIES.

An extraordinary case of mistaken identity, caused by the mixing up of babies in a Glasgow hospital, is reported. It is alleged that a two-year-old child named Georgina Fyfe, daughter of parents residing in the Townhead district, was removed to the hospital some time ago suffering from bronchitis and whooping cough. At the same time Matilda Fyfe, belonging to parents residing in Bridgeton, was admitted to the same ward. What the children were sufficiently well to be removed the Bridgeton parents called and took away one of the two. A few days later the Townhead parents called, but the mother immediately repudiated the child offered to her, and it was under protest that she took it away. Her husband, however, refused to accept the child as his, and a photograph of his daughter Georgina was sufficient to prove to all concerned that the child offered to him was not his.

MIXING THE BABIES.

The Townhead parents searched every quarter of the city for several days, and at length the services of the detective department were enlisted, and the Bridgeton couple were traced to a house in the city. About two o'clock in the morning the babies were exchanged, to the delight of the respective parents.

LOOK AT THE TRADE MARK

Mr. Husband, She Knows All About the Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet—Buy Her One

Did you ever have a merchant tell you, "This cabinet is better than the Hoosier?" They do it—often.

You see, only one merchant in town can sell the Hoosier Cabinet. The price is fixed at the factory. Every other merchant knows what it is.

A lot of factories sell their entire output to merchants who would rather have the Hoosier if they could. These merchants have to sell some kind of kitchen cabinet. It is not necessary for these other makers to be particular about quality if they meet the price.

Many of them are not particular.

It is not the other merchants' fault. He would sell you a better cabinet than the Hoosier if he could get it. He can't.

To protect yourself, see that the Hoosier trade mark is on your kitchen cabinet.

THE HOOSIER SPECIAL

But Imitations Can't Compete

When an article becomes standard, it is imitated. Practically every kitchen cabinet made is modelled nearly as possible after the Hoosier. But you won't find in any kitchen cabinet the high grade material, the splendid craftsmanship, the fine, durable finish that distinguishes every kitchen cabinet with the Hoosier trade mark.

Hoosier Kitchen Cabinets are made to last a lifetime—and to save a few thousand steps and two hours' time, every day.

Particular people use them—they cost no more.

Only $40 Only $40

The Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet gives you more for your money than any other cabinet. Notice how much MORE goes with the Hoosier with NO EXTRA CHARGE.

Metal flour bin, with sliding glass panel and removable sifter. Bin holds 55 pounds. Self-feeding metal sugar bin. When a scoopful is taken out the same quantity drops down. Six crystal glass spice cans with aluminum lids. Crystal glass tea and coffee jars with aluminum lids. Hoosier patent "clock face" want list. Great aluminum sliding work table, larger and higher than a kitchen table. White wood cutting board for bread and meat. Metal bread and cake box. Plate racks, sliding shelf, big cupboard, large compartment for pots and pans, entery, linen drawer, handy hooks, copper door fasteners and drawer pulls.

The cabinet is 70 1/2 inches wide. The depth of the lower section is 28 inches. The cabinet is on pressed steel ball-bearing castors. Note the pure aluminum extension top of the Hoosier—the work table that you draw out. No other cabinet has an aluminum top. You can knead bread on the Hoosier's pure, clean aluminum top, with no fear of poisonous oxides. It is as safe as gold or silver.
