ONE BIG UNION LOSES IN TERMINAL CITY

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—"Practically all except one or two organizations that are definitely with the One Big Union have withdrawn from the old central labor body in this city," said Andrew Farnioe, organizer for the American Federation of Labor, speaking at a meeting of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council (International) last night in the Labor Temple. A referendum vote had been taken by the postal workers, said Mr. Farnioe, this union still being affiliated with the old labor body, and the result of this vote would be announced on August 25.

The longshoremen of the city had withdrawn, but they had not yet been asked to join the new organization. The street railwaymen also were expected to act on this question through a referendum. The hotel and restaurant employees had joined the new council after taking a vote. Some of the steam engineers, about 100, were carrying on under their old international charter.

Credentials for membership had been received and accepted from the teamsters, milk drivers and dairy employees, boiler-makers, machinists, musicians, hotel and restaurant, barbers, bookbinders, butchers, steam and operating engineers, progressive home workers, boot and shoe workers and theatrical stage employees.

HIGHER RENTS ANGER WINNIPEG VETERANS

Winnipeg, Aug. 22.—The Winnipeg branches of the Great War Veterans and the Army and Navy Veterans' Association are conducting an inquiry into the general increase in rents of apartments and houses in this city, with well-defined threats that something will be done to combat the general increase, which in some cases reaches thirty to forty per cent.

Even violence is predicted in some quarters. An official of the Great War Veterans said that the passing of resolutions condemning the raising of rents and the cost of living having failed in their effect, "some other method must be adopted in combating these increases."

MORE LEGISLATION ON POPULAR LINES

Lloyd George Informs British Press of Further Proposals

London, Aug. 22.—Mr. Lloyd George has written to the press to the effect that the discussion of certain highly controversial points in his recent speech in the House of Commons has obscured other parts which are of vital concern to the country and deserve full discussion before Parliament is asked to legislate thereon. He accordingly furnishes a summary of the Government's programme as set forth in his speech, adding several proposals to which he says he did not have time to refer in his speech.

One proposal is to establish a Department of Standards to promote and assist standardization in technical trade matters which he regards as increasingly important to British industry.

Another point is his intention to introduce legislation to secure adequate measures permanently to protect the public from the harmful effects of trusts and combines, should such a plan become advisable. His mention of this subject in his speech referred to only a period of six months under the Profiteering Act.

Hours and Wages.
The bill regarding the hours and wages for employment of workers and the minimum rate of wages to be paid, and providing for the appointment of a commission to regulate the same, which was introduced in the House of Commons on August 15, contains an order that the number of working hours shall be exclusive of the intervals provided for meals, and that any working week shall not exceed forty-eight hours.

Power to grant exceptions is given to the Home Secretary or the Minister of Labor when recommended by the Joint Industrial Council, a conciliation board or trade boards of organizations of employees and employers. Any time worked in excess of the statutory working week shall be regarded as overtime.

Overtime.
The decision regarding overtime which may be worked rests with the Home Secretary or the Minister of Labor, and payment for over time shall in no case be less than twenty-five per cent. in excess of normal time rates.

The bill authorizes the appointment of a commission for the purpose of inquiring into and deciding rates of wages, having regard to the cost of living in various districts, and the adoption of methods for bringing such rates into operation; also for inquiring into and granting exceptions to the rates fixed in the case of infirm or incapable workers and other exceptional cases, and making recommendations with a view to the introduction of necessary legislation.

HIS PARENTS WERE ON THE VERGE OF GIVING UP ALL HOPE

Harold Farthing Seemed to Be Wasting Away; Tanlac Builds Him Up

"Only mothers will ever know how grateful I am to Tanlac for making our boy well and strong after we had almost given up hope of ever being able to raise him," said Mrs. E. Farthing, whose husband is a well-known employee of the Canadian National Railroad, and who lives at 828 Alexander Avenue, Winnipeg.

"It was two years ago, when Harold was thirteen years old," she continued, "that he was taken with rheumatism, and soon after the first attack rapidly grew worse. He finally got in such an awful condition that he was unable to stand alone, and he suffered so much when anything rough came in contact with his body that we had to keep him wrapped in cotton batting all the time. We tried specialists, electrical treatments, and even sent to the States to get medicines that promised relief, but nothing reached his case. My heart was simply breaking as I saw him wasting away while I was unable to get anything to help him. He did not eat enough to more than keep a bird alive, and his suffering was so great both day and night that for months he got no sound restful sleep, but would only be able to doze and get cat naps from time to time. He finally got so thin that I don't believe he weighed as much as seventy-five pounds. Just as his father and I were on the verge of despair we heard about the wonderful good that Tanlac was doing right around us, and decided to try it, and now I want to tell the whole world that it is the greatest medicine that ever was made by the hand of man. My neighbors say that if they hadn't seen the change with their own eyes they wouldn't have believed it. Tanlac took hold of Harold right from the start, and as he began to build up the rheumatism began to leave, and now he hasn't an ache or a pain. He is up and around and as strong and healthy as any other boy his age, and has such a tremendous appetite that he cannot wait until meal time to eat. He has gained at least forty pounds in weight, and sleeps as soundly as a normal boy of fifteen years should. He certainly doesn't look like the same boy. When I see him so robust and ruddy now, I think how terribly he suffered for two years. I just bless the name of Tanlac, and wish that I could tell every woman who has a boy with the same trouble mine had what I know Tanlac can do."

Tanlac is sold in Victoria by D. E. Campbell, corner Fort and Douglas—Adv.

NO CONCERN ABOUT WHEAT AT OTTAWA

Belief There Is World Price Will Be Higher Than $1.80

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—A story to the effect that the British Government has fixed the price for wheat at $1.80, and that the United States and Canadian Governments will in consequence be responsible for the difference between that amount and the figure paid to the farmers is not causing any concern here.

In the first place, it is pointed out that it is not within the power of the British or any other government to say what price shall prevail for wheat this year. The price will be governed by the world market, and the present indications are that the price will be considerably higher than $1.80.

The explanation given by Sanford Evans in Winnipeg that the $1.80 mentioned in a London dispatch is the amount which the Government will ask of purchasers in order to insure the turning out of a four-pound loaf for nine pence is accepted in official circles here as being correct.

This means that the loss will fall not upon the Governments of the United States and Canada, but up to the limit of the home consumption will be assumed by the British Government.

Statement by Foster.
Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, said last night:

"In so far as I have any knowledge of the fixing of a price of $1.80 a bushel for Canadian wheat by the British Wheat Commission, it is entirely a matter of internal arrangement by the British Government.

"For the last two years the British Government has been buying the whole of the wheat imported and reselling the grain to the British mills. Now, with the idea of giving the public a ninepenny loaf, it has been decided to sell Canadian wheat to the miller for $1.80 a bushel, and the British Treasury will bear the cost of the additional sum which must be paid in buying wheat to be imported to Britain."

Initial Payments.
In regard to the payment of an initial price of $2.15 a bushel for wheat to the Canadian farmers by the Canadian Wheat Board, the Or-ground Mons which, he said, had been ordered by Marshal Foch, who ordered that there should be no relaxation in the pursuit of the enemy.

The first battalion to enter Mons, said General Currie, was the 42nd Highlanders of Montreal, who as a Black Watch battalion thus retrieved the fact that the last British battalion to leave Mons in the retreat of 1914 was the Black Watch.

"The reason Mons was taken," said General Currie, "was that we obeyed the orders of Marshal Foch that we should go on until we were ordered to stop. That is a thing that means much to Canada. It was a proud thing for our race that we were able to finish the war where we began it, and that we, the young whelps of the Old Lion, were able to take the ground lost in 1914." (Cheers.)

Militia. "I hope your officers are all continuing your interest in the organization of our militia," said General Currie. "I firmly believe that there are influences at work in Canada which are trying to tamper with the good spirit, patriotism and loyalty of the returned soldiers. These sinister influences realize that one of the hopes of our country is the returned soldier, and they are trying to win him from his present high ideals. The relations between the officers and men at the front were of the happiest, and they went over the top and took their chances together, and I would deprecate strongly anything that would tend to break this happy relation."

"I want the officers now to interest themselves in the welfare of the men just as much as they did at the front. I hope the regimental affiliations will be maintained and in any dangers or difficulties that have to be met, I hope and believe that we can trust that the officers and men of the old Canadian Corps will be found fighting side by side for what is right. We do not want militarism but a regard for discipline and order and the spirit of duty that ensue the ideals we stand for and have fought for. All I ask for is that the returned officers and men should work together to this end and unite in service for the common good."

Addressed Veterans. At a reception tendered General Currie in the grounds of the old Khaki Club quarters, Dorchester Street, during the afternoon, which was attended by 2,000 veterans, the General addressed the gathering, after repeated requests for a speech, as follows: "I am very happy to be here this afternoon. You know me well enough to appreciate that I am not a speaker nor a politician seeking an opportunity to get a vote. I do not know what you would really like me to say, but the welcome I have received in Montreal and the reception tendered me this afternoon make this event one of the happiest in my life. "Nobody knows better than you boys that any success with which my name has been associated was won for me by you in the field. The Canadian Corps was one big machine and it was the spirit of co-operation that won for us success. If there are any problems to be confronted in Canada or any difficulties to be overcome, the only way to meet them is by standing together again, and if we stuck by one another in the field, we can do the same in civil life. We are all comrades here, as we were all comrades there. His Purpose. "The rest of my life, so far as I am able, will be devoted first to helping the widows and orphans of those who are not coming back (cheers), and next to helping you boys who exposed your bodies as a living bulwark against the dangers that threatened the world. You are the men who made for Canada her place as a nation, and you are the men to whom Canada owes the greatest debt. I do not know what your problems are—whether you have been able to get work; whether your employers are prepared to take you back, and if you are getting more money than before—but when I become familiar with all these things I shall not hesitate to speak and speak very plainly. I have always called a spade a spade. When a man was good I promoted him if I could, and if he was not good I fired him."

London, Aug. 22.—(Reuter's).—The Times forecasts that the Dardanelles Commission's final report will find that insufficient consideration was given to ensure proper safety at the time of the original landing in 1914. The difficulties at the same time were greatly underestimated, and the Commission strongly criticizes the attacks made at Anzac and Suvla. The failure is largely attributed to faulty leadership, the report censuring several commanders, particularly at Suvla. The report unhesitatingly agrees with the decision to evacuate, but states that the decision was unduly delayed, and expresses the opinion that Monroe's view, confirmed by Kitchener, ought to have been decisive. The Commission adversely criticizes the breakdown of the water supply and the arrangements for evacuation of the wounded.

MONTREAL WARMLY WELCOMED CURRIE. Currie Spoke of Fine Work of This Country's Army. Montreal, Aug. 22.—Glorious weather favored the reception given to General Sir Arthur Currie by the civic and military authorities in Montreal yesterday afternoon. Pictures of General Currie draped with Union Jacks occupied prominent places along the streets through which the parade passed. Banners with messages of welcome stretched across the narrow downtown streets, from the Place Viger station, and along the route of the parade, the eye was greeted with a blaze of color. The C. P. R. shop whistles were heard as the special train bearing Canada's first soldier passed the Angus shops. Punctually to the moment, the train pulled into the station at 2.30. The band struck up the general salute, eight bars of "O Canada," the men stood at attention, and General Currie, with Lady Currie, descended to the platform. Brigadier-General Armstrong, C. B., C. M. G., G. O. C., stepped forward and, saluting the General, welcomed him on behalf of the military authorities. With General Currie came Major-General Sir Edward Morrison, K. C., M. G., D. S. O., Major Willis O'Connor and Captain the Hon. W. J. Shaughnessy. As the General emerged from the station, cheers burst forth from thousands of throats, and these were repeated and increased in volume as the General took his course along Craig Street. General Currie rode a charger belonging to Lieut-General C. C. Ballantyne. Banquet. Following the civic reception tendered General Currie during the afternoon, one of the most notable military and civilian demonstrations ever held in Montreal took place at the Ritz Carlton Hotel last night, when General Armstrong and the officers of No. 4 District gave a banquet in honor of the Canadian commander. All those notable in the civilian and military population of Montreal attended one of the most brilliant functions in the annals of this city. The General's health was proposed by General Armstrong, who spoke of the work done by the Canadian commander. The other notable address was by Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, who proposed a toast to the soldiers who had not returned. This was drunk in silence. The function was ended by the singing of the National Anthem. Cheered by Audience. General Currie was given a memorable reception when he rose to reply to the toast, the audience rising and cheering him again and again. General Currie gave a series of reminiscences of the war, and concluded with an explanation of the last few days of the conflict, pointing out why the Canadian army had persevered in the fight to the last moment, taking and occupying Mons at a time when the announcement came that the armistice had been signed and the enemy beaten. This, General Currie said, had been done under direct orders from Marshal Foch. Tribute to Loomis. Gen. Currie paid a warm personal tribute to Major-Gen. Sir Frederick Loomis, remarking: "There was no officer in the Canadian Corps in whom I placed more implicit confidence than I did in Loomis. He was always ready for a fight, and so were his men, while he took care that his supply depots were filled with the things his men needed, not gramophone records. When I entrusted him with an attack I always knew that he would attain his objective with a minimum loss, and that was his record—one continued success in difficult circumstances with every possible care for the lives of his men." Ypres. General Currie told of the heroic work of the Canadian troops at the Second Battle of Ypres, and said that after that fight General Smith-Dorrien had told him that had it not been for the marvelous defence by the Canadians, it might have been the greatest disaster that had ever befallen British arms. "The Canadians just 'held on' then," said he, "and made a name for themselves with the Germans as the hardest-fought force to conquer amongst all the Allied troops, a record they held to the end of the war, when they were not being beaten, but beating the enemy." (Cheers.) After sketching briefly the general work of the Canadian Corps at the front, General Currie came to deal with the final hundred days of the war. From the Cambrai victory, won by troops largely composed of the division under General Loomis, General Currie passed to the final operations

MEMBER FOR GOLDEN WANTS IN LAND FOR RETURNED MEN

I. A. Buckham, M.P.P., Goes Into Several Questions at Parliament Buildings

The beauty of the Columbia Valley and its capabilities as a stock-raising and mixed farming country have no warmer or more active advocate than John A. Buckham, M.P.P. for Columbia, who in the city to-day from his home in Golden to discuss matters of concern to his constituents with several of the Provincial ministers and departments. Mr. Buckham is especially interested in seeing soldier settlements established in the Valley, which he considers admirably adapted for the needs of the returned men.

Up to the Dominion.
One of the matters he is taking up here is that of the acquisition of two large Indian reserves which lie in the valley bottom, and this he discussed yesterday with the Minister of Lands, Hon. Mr. Pattullo. Mr. Buckham was heartily in favor of this Act but pointed out that action would have to come from the Dominion Government, which holds and administers these reserves in trust for the Indians. If the Dominion will remove the Indians off the two reserves in question and give the land to soldier settlement purposes, Mr. Pattullo said, the Province stands ready to waive its reversionary rights for the benefit of returned men, as it does in the case of other Indian reserves that the Dominion desires to utilize for this purpose.

"These two reserves are a fair sample of the choice lands of the Columbia Valley," said Mr. Buckham to The Times this morning, "and their retention out of cultivation for the benefit of a handful of Indians is greatly resented by the people of the Valley. There are just 144 natives, men, women and children, on the two reserves, and their presence is regarded as a hindrance to the development of seven thousand acres of as fine country as is to be found. It is particularly annoying that this should be so when so many of our boys who have come back want to go on the land in suitable locations.

"One of the reserves is the Shuswap No. 1, which is close to Atholmer, and contains 2,736 acres. It has water in abundance running through it, the soil is splendidly adapted for mixed farming, the main trunk road from Golden to Cranbrook and the Crow's Nest Pass passes through it, and altogether it should be an ideal place for soldiers to settle. Kootenay No. 2 reserve lies between Windermere and Fairmont, along the lake, and contains 5,358 acres. It is a slightly heavier soil than the other, but well suited to the growing of all sorts of root and grain crops. There are several creeks flowing through it and back of it are thousands of acres of good range land. The Indian Commission proposed to add 4,900 acres to the 11,095 already held for the bands, which would have given over one hundred acres head of land to the area being held out of production.

Little Expense Entailed.
"Having roads already built, plenty of water, practically no clearing to do, and ready means of transport by road and rail, there would be little expense in establishing a soldier community. The boys want to see it done, and the people of Columbia consider that the Indians should be moved to some other reserve, as could easily be done."

Mr. Buckham will see the Minister of Agriculture this afternoon to interest him and the Grazing Commissioner in a visit to the Columbia Valley to look into the grazing possibilities there, a visit which he has been urging for some time. Mr. Buckham says there are very extensive ranges through the Columbia and the Kootenay valleys, capable of carrying thousands of head of stock, both cattle and sheep. All the conditions of a cattle range are to be found, and Mr. Buckham is very keen on the matter.

GREAT MANY THRILLS AT BIG AERIAL MEET
Motor and Motorcycle Races as Well as Death-defying Stunts in Air

There will be an abundance of thrills at the aerial meet to be held at the Willow on Labor Day. Three aeroplanes will be over from Vancouver, and with the Pathfinder 2 will give a series of stunting exhibitions as well as executing the many manoeuvres of a fighting squadron. Arrangements have now been made to have motor and motorcycle races and it is expected that many local speed demons will try their luck on the half-mile track.

There will be a ten-mile race for "Bullets" and a five-mile race for motorcycles. All local racers who wish to try for the prizes and incidentally the championship races of Vancouver Island are asked to apply to the secretary of the Aerial League, 204 Union Bank Building.

Prizes will be offered for the best bicycle rigged out as an aeroplane. The cycle must have wings covered with some fabric or paper and should have a propeller which revolves when the wheel is in motion.

In connection with the aerial meet a display of aerial gymnastics will be given by a local flyer. It was originally intended to bring Harry Fieldhouse over from Vancouver to give the crowds a thrill but a Victoria boy has offered to do the stunts. He was up on Wednesday evening and performed the many dangerous moves.

Reunion Dinner.
On the occasion of the first general meeting of the Aerial League a reunion dinner will be held at the Empress Hotel on September 2 for all officers, N. C. O.'s and mechanics of the Royal Air Force. It is hoped that His Honor the Lieut.-Governor will be able to attend the reunion.

COLUMBIA

As Rose Peters in "From Headquarters," the thrilling police story in which Anita Stewart is starred on the Columbia screen again to-day, the charming star has a fascinating role.

Rose Peters believed in man. She looked on the protestations of love of one of the species as gospel. She was one of thousands who were yet to be stung by the wasp of doubt, disillusionment. In that maddening moment when the mask fell from the face of the smiling-too much smiling-Lathrop, she typified outraged womanhood - holding within her power and her palm the thing called retribution. And when that inscrutable force called circumstance put her own father, an emissary of justice, on a trial that doubled back to his own home, there to find his daughter cowering, with the fear in her eyes that told him that she had looked on that which was a semblance of Death, did he execute the warrant which would publicly place on her forehead the brand of Cain?

ROMANO

"The Way of the Strong," a powerful play of the Great Northwest, in which Anna Q. Nilsson is starred, yesterday and proved to be of unusual popularity. The story deals with the strong natures and passions of those who spend their lives amidst the grandeur of the open spaces and snow-clad mountains of the Yukon - where convention is a word that finds no place but where people believe that good is good and that bad has no other name. Miss Nilsson enacts two roles - characters as varied as two women could possibly be. First she appears as the wife of a Yukon prospector - a woman of

PANTAGES

Joe Jackson, one of the few really original tramp comedians in vaudeville who headlines an unusually diverting bill at the Pantages this week has added a few pieces of stage business to his act which brings it far above the ordinary in the class of turn which he presents. In the main, it is a laughable collection of studies in irresistible, his feet can give a physical demonstration of indecision of mind, that is perfect, and his baggy clothes and dilapidated bicycle in which he is continually becoming entangled, add to the combination, which makes the best pantomimic act in vaudeville.

Port Alberni and Shore Road.

Believing that negotiations have been carried far enough without arrival at a satisfactory understanding, the Port Alberni City Council has sent an ultimatum to the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway Company in connection with the disputed ownership of the Old Shore Road, says the Port Alberni News. It was decided at the last Council meeting to advise the railway company that unless an agreement was reached by September 1 the Council would apply to the Board of Railway Commissioners for a decision. This action was taken following the read-

Lydia Barry will sing some songs that will be sure to please.

Lydia Barry is a fine example of the theory of heredity. Her father before her was one of the best comedians of his day, and his daughter after him is one of the finest comedienne of her day. Her songs are always of the superlative kind and she sings them perfectly. Another act that will appeal to Victorians is Boyce Combe. Boyce Combe is a native son of Victoria and it will be of great satisfaction to the people who witness his performance to see how well he has got on in his chosen profession. His comedy efforts are real humor. In a quite natural manner he sings and chats assisted by Burton Brown. As Ponce de Leon discovered the fountain of youth, so has Billie Burke discovered the fountain of novelties, and apparently he has capped his fountain so that now he can draw from the spicket at will. The result is that Billie Burke has given vaudeville several delightful novelties, the newest of which is "Levitation" with Prof. J. Edmund Magee, and is the funniest act yet produced.

Will J. Ward and his Five Symphony Girls will be another attraction. Mr. Ward is well known in vaudeville. He has had several acts of the grille variety but never has succeeded in assembling a set of charmers who have been of as much assistance as are the five Symphony Girls.

SAYS FOUNDATION OFFICERS ANXIOUS TO BACK SCHEME

Bayly Hipkins to Place New Shipping Proposals Before Board in New York

WANT TO HOLD FORCE HERE INTACT

The Foundation Company will back and take a large financial interest in the company that it is proposed should be formed here to own and operate from Victoria a new series of vessels built at the Foundation yards, Bayly Hipkins, Northwest manager of the company, told The Times before leaving for Anxox, B.C. He will return to Victoria in ten days to further the organization here. He will then leave for New York to meet the board of directors of the company to make final arrangements with them.

Will Back Proposal. "I cannot say to what extent the directors of the Foundation Company will back the proposed organization with the company's resources, but I am one of the directors and you can take it from me that it will be no slight amount of backing," said Mr. Hipkins. "The whole matter will be taken up by the board as soon as I reach New York and I will place definite proposals before them. The situation is that no more foreign contracts are contemplated at the present time. We have been negotiating with foreign countries for some time but nothing has been consummated. Realizing this situation and the valuable asset in the organization and equipment we have in these yards in Victoria, the Foundation Company is making every effort to keep the plant in operation. We realize that we must act quickly and aim at arriving at a decision before it is necessary to deplete our forces.

Proud of Forces Here. "We want to hold together these forces of ours here. It has taken time and an expensive process of elimination to secure the forces and organization we have here now, and they are second to none. I have been in the shipbuilding business twenty-seven years and know. I am not ashamed to have the products of this yard compared with those from any other country as regards workmanship and speed. I will back these men here against those of any shipyard in the country. I am going into this new scheme so strongly and confidently because they are capable. My idea is to permit anyone who is desirous to do so to participate in the operation and ownership of the vessels we would build. Would Extend Interests. "My idea in the proposed series of vessels is that they should duplicate the vessels at present being constructed here with slight modifications to increase the cargo capacity. The number of vessels to be built will depend on the backing and the imports and exports available. We would aim first to serve British Columbia and the Western Canadian Provinces in the export of the agricultural, mineral products, giving them a ready and economical outlet to all parts of the world. Then we would go to wherever cargoes are available."

Mr. Hipkins explained that the Foundation Company, now that it is well established in British Columbia, is ambitious to perpetuate and increase its interests here. Although the headquarters of the company are in New York and although it is primarily an engineering concern it has already extended its operations through fifteen States and up into this Province. Here operations have been extended to all forms of contracting and development work. Mr. Hipkins said that because the company has been so successful in its first venture here its officials are anxious to continue here and participate in and take advantage of the development and marketing of the resources of this part of Canada.

PREPARE FOR HEAVY UP-ISLAND TRAVEL

Development Association Lining Up Hotels at Points on E. & N. Railway

To make arrangements for the proper handling of up-island tourist travel, Secretary W. A. McAdam, of the Victoria and Island Development Association, went north by motor car this afternoon. He was accompanied by W. H. P. Sweeney, vice-president, and Ernest J. Down. The party will go as far as Campbell River, investigating hotel accommodations at all centres on the way. They will return to the city on Tuesday.

Mr. McAdam is making preparations for heavy travel, other than that of tourists with motor cars, following the introduction of the special $10 round trip fare that the Development Association has induced the C. P. R. to grant from Seattle to Victoria, up the Island by train to Nanaimo, then across to Vancouver and down to Seattle. This ticket has stop-over privileges of thirty days at any point.

With the information about hotels that he is gathering on this trip and which will be published in pamphlet form, Mr. McAdam expects that many excursionists from Sound cities will make the trip up Vancouver Island. Officials of the C. P. R. say that the introduction of the new ticket will induce many persons who would otherwise stop off here only for a couple of hours between boats, to spend several days or a couple of weeks on the Island. Tourists will have the privilege of stopping off on their way up the Island at the hotels at such places as Shawnigan Lake, Duncan, Cowichan Lake, Ladysmith and even go on to Alberni or Courtenay.

MAY TRY TO FLOAT STRANDED MARIPOSA

Officials to Visit Scene of Wreck

Seattle, Aug. 22.—Whether the former crack Alaska liner Mariposa will ever again plough the high seas out of Puget Sound or any other port will be decided by the visit of inspection now being paid the scene of the wreck by R. E. Pierson, Superintendent of the Alaska Steamship Company, owners of the palatial craft which lies partially submerged on a rock-strewn coast of Chicagoff Island, where she struck in November, 1917. Numerous attempts have been made to judge of the feasibility of salvaging the one-time popular liner, which before entering the Alaska service, was one of the best known trans-Pacific liners out of San Francisco to the Orient and Australia. Supt. Pierson, in the steamship Redondo, is on his way to the scene of the wreck, and will thoroughly inspect the condition of the ship as well as her position on the rocks. The Redondo is to bring down the remaining cargo of ore left aboard the ship that bleak November night when she struck the reef which may have ended her career entirely. No attempt was made to salvage the vessel last year because of war costs, the almost total absence of salvage ships rendering the cost prohibitive, as well as because tidal conditions in the vicinity of the wreck were not advantageous for any length of time. Supt. Pierson and Capt. Jeremiah Flynn, the latter being master of the steamship Redondo, will thoroughly inspect the wreck. It will be Mr. Pierson's first visit to the scene since the ship struck nearly two years ago, and between them they will pass upon the practicability of floating the vessel.

PRINTERS' HOME AT COLORADO SPRINGS DESCRIBED BY INTERNATIONAL OFFICERS NOW IN VICTORIA ON INSPECTION TOUR

OFFICIAL VOICES DISAPPROVAL OF NEWS CENSORSHIP

International Secretary of Typographical Union on Vancouver Sun Incident

O.B.U. ISSUE DECLARED A FLASH IN THE PAN

"The Typographical Union international officers," said Secretary John W. Hays, of Indianapolis, "viewed with surprise the action taken recently in Vancouver, during the strike, when the compositors of The Vancouver Sun refused to work, declining to set material which they alleged reflected upon the strike leaders.

"The composing room, we maintain, had no right to interfere with any material which might be submitted to it for publication. Men working in a newspaper office often find themselves at variance with the policy of the management, but that is not regarded as good ground for refusal to perform their duties. We, therefore, disciplined the union in Vancouver for taking the attitude it had on this subject, interfering with the publication of a newspaper where the men were employed. The union has never asserted the exercise of news censorship as a right.

"On the other hand, as citizens, those men felt that such material might be an inflammatory character during the time of the excitement, but such opinions were merely those of the average citizen, and in no sense could influence the compositor in the discharge of his duties.

Mr. Hays, who arrived here yesterday, pointed this out during his visit to the Union members in Vancouver. He was accompanied by W. W. Barrett, the first Vice-President of the International.

War's Effect.
 Mr. Hays said that the effect of the war on the Typographical Union had been to demand a higher standard of production. Business men expected a better class of workmanship, and they were getting it.

In answer to a question from The Times he pointed out that members of the craft were more extensively employed in proportion to membership than ever before, and that more men could readily be engaged if they could be secured.

Mr. Hays explained the visit by stating that it had been decided that no further international conventions should be held during the war, a decision which had resulted in no convention being held this year. Hence the international officers had had this year a little spare time which they would not have possessed if the convention had taken place.

"A flash in the pan" is the way Mr. Hays characterized the One Big Union movement, which he says was a revolutionary move.

Meeting Last Evening.
 Mr. Barrett and Mr. Hays attended a meeting here. They have traveled across Canada and visited the fifty locals in the Dominion. Both were born in Canada and understand Canadian conditions.

Mr. Hays said that there was still a great deal of discontent in some quarters over the present wages paid, which did not begin to keep abreast of the increase in cost of living. This made fruitful soil for the growth of such movements as the O. B. U. and the I. W. W.

Unless employers and employees get together in a spirit of agreement on a basis of stabilization of industry the unrest will continue, he claimed. "It is only by taking a common sense attitude on the part of employer and employee that general prosperity can be assured," he said.

"The cost of living has gone up by leaps and bounds, and wages have not increased in proportion. Until something is done to bridge the gap the unrest is bound to continue, and it will be justified.

"It is up to those engaged in an industry to see that both capital and labor get fair returns. In only this way can the gap be bridged. I don't believe it can be done by legislation, but by the co-operation of the capital invested in industry, and those employed in industry.

Benefits of Fund.
 Numerous matters were discussed at last night's meeting. It was shown that under the Old Age pension plan
