Fight Promoter 'Bunked' In Plot To Show Films

Teachers Honor Dean of U. S. Educators on 90th Birthday

TEX RICKARD TELLS PACT TO SPLIT RECEIPTS

Paid for 'Influence' to Have Law Passed to Allow Pictures Displayed

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Tex Rickard, famous fight promoter, gambler and miner, who has chanced millions of dollars in sporting and mining ventures, told the Senate committee investigating Harry M. Daugherty today that he had been "bunked" in the conspiracy to show the Dempsey-Carpentier fight films.

For once in his life, Rickard admitted he fell for stories of supposed influence in Washington, and split the proceeds of the fight films with a trio of men who assured him they could get a law passed in Washington that would permit nationwide exhibition of the films.

Row With Wheeler
"But I think I got bunked," said Rickard, naively. Rickard became embroiled in a row with Senator Wheeler within thirty minutes after taking the stand.

Wheeler accused him of "trying to hide behind the disabled soldiers" after Rickard said the films were first taken from New Jersey to New York to show the soldiers.

"Wait a minute," said Rickard, "let me tell my story."

Wheeler refused to listen, and an uproar ensued with both men (Continued on page 8)

PAVING FOR CENTRAL IS PETITIONED

Improvement 66 Ft. Wide Is Sought; Proceedings of City Council

A petition carrying the signatures of fifty-nine per cent of the property holders on Central avenue between San Fernando road and Broadway was presented to the City Council this morning asking that the curb on each side of the road be set back to allow a roadway sixty-six feet between curbs, and that the entire street be paved with Warrenite paving.

The petition also covered sewer connections, water mains and the installation of an ornamental street lighting system.

While this was being discussed the matter of widening Broadway from Central to Pacific was again brought up, but the council declined to take any definite action on this pending the receipt of a recommendation from the city (Continued on Page 7)

RED AMBASSADOR MUST QUIT CHINA

Brusque Demand for Soviet Recognition Is Cause of Order to Leave

LONDON, March 20.—The Chinese government has ordered the Soviet representative, M. Karakhan, to leave the country as a result of the ultimatum served upon China by Soviet Russia demanding Chinese recognition within two days, said a Peking dispatch to the Daily Mail today.

A tense situation is developing between China and Russia. The Bolshevik control Mongolia and fears are felt in Peking that Russia will invade Manchuria. Russian officials claim that America prevented China from ratifying the recognition protocol.

REJECT ALAMEDA NAVAL BASE SITE

Committee In House Turns Down Offer by Vote Of 13 to 6

WASHINGTON, Mar. 20.—By a vote of 13 to 6 the House naval affairs committee today rejected the offer of a site for a naval base at Alameda, Calif. The vote came after extended hearings before the committee.

Those who voted for Alameda were: Britton, Illinois; Dyer, Pennsylvania; Swing, California; Miller, Washington; Drane, Florida; Patterson, New Jersey. Those voting against were: Buckley, Pennsylvania; Stephens, Nebraska; Burdick, Rhode Island; Andrews, Massachusetts; Matee, Pennsylvania; Vinson, Alabama; McClintock, Oklahoma; Woodruff, Michigan; Drury, Virginia; Logan, South Carolina; Sanders, Texas; Quayle, New York; Taylor, West Virginia.

Report Eighteen Men Alive In Sunken Ship

TOKIO, March 20.—Eighteen men are still alive in the Japanese submarine No. 43 which was sunk off Sasebo yesterday with forty-four men on board, according to information received here. Rescuers established communication with the survivors by telegraphic signals tapped on the shell of the submarine.

Centenarian Bobs Hair to Celebrate 100th Anniversary

MONTEBELLO, Cal., Mar. 20.—Hundreds of residents of Montebello joined today in the celebration of the one-hundredth birthday of Mrs. Elizabeth Goodrich. Mrs. Goodrich, who wears her hair bobbed and is as lively as persons many years her junior, has three rules for reaching the century mark. They are: Work hard outdoors. Don't forget to play. Never lose your temper.

DUFFEY AT HEAD OF IRISH FORCES

Free State Officials Split Over Attitude Toward Mutineers' Group

DUBLIN, March 20.—General Owen Duffey, former commander of the civilian guard, assumed complete control of the Free State army today, succeeding General Richard Mulcahy, who resigned yesterday. Mulcahy's duties as minister of defense in the Free State cabinet have been taken over by William T. Cosgrave.

A serious split has developed within the Free State government and leading officials who formerly opposed the "mutineer group" of army officers, are now sympathetic towards them.

Debate upon the dissensions in the army continue in the Dail Eireann, while the government investigates the grievances of the army group headed by Major-General Liam Tobin and Colonel Dalton.

CAPTURE BOOZE SHIP

KEY WEST, Fla., March 20.—A Cuban schooner, the Isabel, has been captured off the coast near Fort Myers, Fla., with a number of aliens aboard and a large shipment of liquors, according to wireless messages reaching here this afternoon.

V. B. Stone Is Appointed Permanent City Manager

By the provisions of a resolution introduced by Councilman Sam Davis this morning, and adopted unanimously by the City Council, the appointment of V. B. Stone as city manager was made permanent. Mr. Stone was temporarily chosen for this office two months ago, when W. H. Reeves resigned. His appointment caused a split in the council, Councilmen Hall and Horn voting against him. They explained that in their opinion the man to hold the position until a man was selected for the office should not be one of the candidates.

LATEST NEWS

DRY WORKERS FIRED FOR DISHONESTY
WASHINGTON, March 20.—Nearly half of the 796 employees of the internal revenue bureau who have been discharged during the past three years for dishonesty were connected with the prohibition enforcement service, Charles R. Nash, assistant commissioner of internal revenue, testified this afternoon before a special Senate investigating committee.

JOHNSON MANAGER ADMITS COOLIDGE WINS
FARGO, N. D., March 20.—The Hiram Johnson headquarters here, in a formal statement issued at noon today, conceded the victory of President Coolidge in the North Dakota primaries. The latest tabulation of returns show that 1294 out of the 2058 precincts give: Coolidge 38,960; La Follette 23,696; Johnson 23,403.

TRACE POCKET KNIFE USED IN MURDER
KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 20.—Dillard Devis, negro janitor at the "mystery house" in which pretty Dr. Zoe Wilkins was found slain last Tuesday night, owned the rusty pocket knife which was lying beside the mutilated body, police were told this afternoon. The information was regarded as the first tangible clue in the case which has mystified police for three days. Sam Russell, junk yard employe, who gave the information to the police, was brought to police headquarters for further questioning.

DR. CHARLES W. ELIOT as he is today and a photo of him taken when he first became president of Harvard in 1869. Educators of the country are doing honor today to Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard, and dean of American teachers. He is 90 years old today.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot of "the five-foot bookshelf" fame, president emeritus of Harvard university and dean of American educators, celebrated his 90th birthday today in his home at Cambridge, Mass. The great teacher became president of Harvard in 1869. Customs in thought as well as dress have changed much since then, but this "grand old man" has been like a lighthouse on the stormy, rockbound coast, sending out a clear radiance through the darkness, that has guided over five decades of young men and women midway through the tortuous channel on whose right shore lay anarchy and on whose left lay stagnation.

CHURCHILL LOSES PARLIAMENT RACE

Former Minister In British Cabinet Defeated by Tory Opponent

LONDON, March 20.—Otto Nicholson, a Tory, has been elected to the House of Commons in the Westminster district, defeating his three opponents, including former Minister Winston Spencer Churchill, it was announced this afternoon.

The Westminster by-election was held yesterday and a heavy vote was cast. Churchill ran upon an anti-labor platform. Until the downfall of the Lloyd George government, Churchill was regarded as virtually a fixture in the cabinet and parliament. He had served as lord of the admiralty (head of the navy) and secretary of the colonies.

NAVY'S NEW HEAD LEAVES FOR POST

Wires President on Taking Oath of Office In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—Riding for the first time in a naval automobile, Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur was taken to the train today on which he will travel to Washington to assume his new duties. It was furnished by the twelfth naval district.

The new head of the navy took the oath of office late yesterday in the supreme court room, whose bench he vacated as chief justice. His first official act was to write a telegram to President Coolidge notifying him that he had taken the oath of office.

WEEKS WILL TELL ARMS SHIPMENTS

War Secretary Directed to Furnish Senate With Mexican Data

WASHINGTON, Mar. 20.—Secretary of War Weeks was directed in a resolution by Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, passed by the Senate today, to furnish complete information regarding the sale of arms and ammunition to Mexico. The resolution particularly called upon Weeks to cite the "statutory authority by which he sold and delivered" the arms and ammunition.

SAILORS IN DASH TO U. S. EMBASSY

March Across Honduras as Call Comes for Aid To Americans

WASHINGTON, March 20.—American Marines have been fired on in Honduras, the state department was advised this afternoon. The fire of the natives was not returned by the American forces and there were no casualties.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 20.—The American bluejackets who landed in Honduras and marched across country to the aid of the American embassy force in Tegucigalpa, which has been beleaguered there because of the revolution, have arrived safely, according to a dispatch to the state department today.

French to Elect New Deputies on May 11

PARIS, March 20.—The French cabinet today fixed May 11 as the date of the general election to choose a new Chamber of deputies.

POLL NOT COMPLETE.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Senator Ladd, Republican, North Dakota, chairman of the Senate oil investigating committee, announced today that he had yet to poll five members of the committee on the nomination of Samuel Knight of San Francisco as one of President Coolidge's special oil attorneys.

Annual Jinx Day Friday At Glendale High School

Tomorrow the King of Carnival will hold court at both the Broadway and Harvard street plants of the Glendale Union High school. It is "Jinx Day" and teachers as well as students, in many instances, will come adorned in motley. For years that go back beyond the memories of the students and the recollective faculties of the teachers, Jinx Day has been an annual spring event of importance at the G. U. H. S. To be exact, it was about seven years ago the custom started. While the regular classroom routine will be maintained throughout the day, according to A. L. Ferguson, vice-principal, an effort will be made to wind things up a few minutes early, to give an opportunity for the jolly throngs to take snapshots and in other ways enjoy to the fullest their annual bizarre fiesta.

SEEK RELEASE OF CONDEMNED BOY

Attorney Will File Writ of Habeas Corpus, Youth Ordered Hanged

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—A writ of habeas corpus, asking release from San Quentin prison of William Hard, California youth sentenced to be hanged on May 23, will be filed in the state supreme court tomorrow, according to O. V. Willson, Los Angeles attorney, who arrived here today to prepare papers in the proceedings. Absolute freedom for the youth, convicted of first degree murder, will be asked by Attorney Willson, who declared that he would show that Hard was under 18 years of age, and could not be hanged and secondly that he was not within the jurisdiction of the court. Willson said that if a stay of execution were granted and a new trial ordered for Hard, he would again ask the release of his client on the grounds that his life cannot be placed in jeopardy more than once.

COOLIDGE HEADS BOYS' WEEK MOVE

Lays Down Rules for Daily Conduct in Talk to Youths' Committee

WASHINGTON, March 20.—President Coolidge today accepted the honorary chairmanship of National Boys' Week, which is to be observed throughout the United States from April 27 to May 3. The invitation was extended by William Lewis Butcher, of New York, who is leading the movement. Butcher called at the White House this afternoon, accompanied by several boys and in a brief speech the president told them there were only two rules for boys—"work hard and behave themselves."

COMISKEY RESTS AFTER OPERATION

Recovery of Chicago White Sox Owner Feared on Account of Age

CHICAGO, Mar. 20.—Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, was reported resting comfortably at 10:30 today following an operation for gall stones earlier in the day. The old Roman was on the operating table 45 minutes and with effects of the anaesthetic and was rallying rapidly, physicians said. He is 65 years old and because of this and the fact that his health has been poor for months his friends had feared for the result of the operation.

He will spend a few days in Fresno, Oakland, San Francisco and other northern points.

AIRPLANES TAXI GUESTS TO HOTELS
 California Chain Inaugurates Sky Service for Rich Tourist Travel
 SANTA BARBARA, March 19.—Aviation taxi service de luxe will be organized in the near future between D. M. Linnard hotels at Pasadena, Santa Barbara and San Francisco, it was announced this morning by Manager Wallace Vail of Hotel Samarkand.
 Santa Barbara will be the pivot point for the service. The aerial transportation "system" will be from the Maryland, Huntington and Vista del Arroyo hotels at Pasadena, north to Santa Barbara, and from the Fairmont and Whitcomb hotels at San Francisco south to this city. It is not yet decided whether or not there will also be "through" service.
 Local Service, Also
 Vail's plan, which already has received the endorsement of Linnard, is two-fold, for in addition to the aerial express, aero taxi service is also to be a permanent feature of the Samarkand. There is a landing field in process of construction next door to the hotel and arrangements have been made with Dave Matthews, local flyer and member of the Santa Barbara Aero club, to conduct the sky jaunts of local guests.
 Several patrons of the Samarkand saw Santa Barbara and vicinity from the sky during the past week, inaugurating the new service. They "hop off" and land within a hundred feet of the door of the hotel.
 Arrangements for landing fields in San Francisco and Pasadena are practically completed, Vail said, and it remains to be decided only what type planes will be used in the "through" service. There will be a fleet of at least four ships, according to Vail.

SOCIAL EVENTS
Pretty Wedding
 At one of the prettiest informal weddings of this season Miss Mary Edith Wells became the bride of Ralph Van Houten McKee, the ceremony taking place Tuesday, March 18, 1924, at 2 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ella Wells, 350 West Elk avenue. Rev. C. P. DuBois of the Second Presbyterian church of Los Angeles officiated.
 Baskets of freesias of shades varying from white to rose, with delicate ferns and heather, were combined in lovely floral decorations. The wedding party stood beneath a canopy of green, and a beautiful wedding ball covered with bridal wreath.
 Before the bridal party entered, "O, Promise Me" was sung by Miss Lillian Criswell, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Wilbert Warriner.
 The bride wore a gown of apricot georgette with bead trimming, a bandeau of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of tea roses.
 The maid of honor, Miss Hazel Jacquiss, wore green tulle. Harold Wells, brother of the bride, was best man.
 The bride's mother wore a handsome gown of blue and grey, and the groom's mother a very becoming brown.
 Following the ceremony light refreshments were served, a pink and white color scheme being carried out in the appointments, single orange blossoms giving a bridal touch to the dainty menu.
 The young couple left immediately by motor for a tour through the north. After their return they will be at home for the present at 350 West Elk avenue, and expect to make their home in Glendale.
 Mrs. McKee has a large circle of friends in the city, where she has made her home for some time. Mr. McKee, who recently moved here from Serra Madre, is manager for the territory for the Triangle Oil company. He is a brother of Edward, C. S. and Norman R. McKee, well-known business men of the city.
 Those present at the ceremony were Mrs. Laura McKee, Mrs. Ella Wells, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. McKee, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton S. McKee, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McKee and daughters, Mrs. Wilbert W. Warriner, Mrs. Oliver Lentz and daughter, Misses Bell Jacquiss, Hazel Jacquiss, Lillian Criswell, Myrtle Masterman, Mr. and Mrs. John Usilton, Mrs. Olive Kee, Mrs. Quentin Bertin, Mrs. Harry Kee, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Wells, Mrs. E. D. Dunn, Rev. and Mrs. C. P. DuBois, Clarence Beckner.

Officers Chosen
 At the meeting yesterday of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle, officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Chairman, Mrs. H. V. Henry; first vice chairman, Mrs. C. H. Crawford; second vice chairman, Mrs. E. B. Moore; social secretary, Mrs. D. F. McCormick; advertising and press chairman, Mrs. Charles H. Bird; assistant press chairman, Mrs. C. L. Viereck; purchasing agent, Mrs. Marshall; treasurer, Mrs. McLean; secretary and recorder, Mrs. Florence Wintersgill; auditor, Mrs. A. H. Brown.
 The following committees were appointed at the meeting: Follow-up committee, Mesdames G. W. Campbell, Shinner; hospitality committee, Mesdames A. M. Rowe, Hensel, L. H. Van Hoorbeck, C. M. Taylor, Mae Rosenberg; chairman of current educational trend, Mrs. E. G. Pomeroy.

Birthday Affairs
 To assist in the celebration of her husband's birthday anniversary, Mrs. R. A. Holmes invited a coterie of congenial friends to their home 604 West Wilson avenue, Tuesday evening.
 St. Patrick motifs were artistically carried out in the decorations. Green and white flowers attractively arranged were used in profusion. The refreshment table appointments were also carried out in the same color scheme.
 During the evening Dr. Holmes was presented with a beautiful bath robe from the guests present and was also the recipient of a number of other lovely gifts.
 The diversion of the evening was five-hundred. Later in the evening refreshments of ice cream with a green shamrock moulded in the center was served with the birthday cake.
 The invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. John Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Brown, and Fred Brown, Jr., Mrs. Fay Brown, Miss Ruth Randall, Johnny Powell, Worth Alexander of Glendale and Peter McMahon of Boston, Mass., E. J. Couch of Hollywood and Miss Bertha Wicke of New York City and the honoree Dr. R. A. Holmes and Mrs. Holmes.

Couple Honored
 Mr. and Mrs. James F. McBrayer were hosts Tuesday night at their home, 108 East California avenue, at a smart dinner party, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Eugene J. Wix, who were recently married.
 Early spring blossoms in pink and white were used in decorating the dinner table. Each guest was presented with a clever comical favor, tied with dainty pink ribbons. Place cards, bonbon baskets and other table appointments were also carried out in a pink and white color scheme.
 After dinner an informal social evening and a radio concert was enjoyed.
 Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Eugene J. Wix, Dr. and Mrs. E. T. Remmen, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. James F. McBrayer.

Review Plays
 The drama department of the Tuesday Afternoon club is to meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the palm room at the clubhouse.
 Plans are to be made for the annual department play, and also for the play to be given at the federation convention. Mrs. Max Lynn Green, curator, will be in charge.
 The program will include two play reviews. Mrs. A. M. Hunt will review "Icebound," by Owen Davis, and Miss Katherine Crow of the Cumrock School of Expression will review "Suppressed Desires," by Susan Gastell.
 Mrs. Harry James and Mrs. C. H. Temple will be hostesses.

Law Club Meets
 The Parliamentary Law club of Glendale, of which Mrs. Harry Greenwalt is president, will meet Friday at 12:30 o'clock in the rooms of the Public Library on Harvard street. The study for the day will be on the subject of "Recommendation."
 Mrs. R. N. Stryker will give a two-minute talk on "Organization."

Son's Birthday
 Eugene I. Baldwin, Jr., was honored at a delightful affair yesterday afternoon, when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene I. Baldwin, entertained with a party in the celebration of his birthday anniversary, at their home, 559 West Harvard street.
 Baskets of pink and white sweetpeas attractively arranged were used in decoration. Pink streamers reaching from the corners of the room and fastened to the chandelier in the center from which was suspended a shower of pink roses formed an artistic effect. The lights were shaded with delicate pink shades casting a soft glow over the refreshment table, which was also decorated in pink and white color scheme. Bonbon baskets and favors in pink marked the guests' places. A beautifully decorated birthday cake with pink roses and candles formed the centerpiece for the table.
 During the afternoon games were played, including the game of pinning the tail on the donkey, for which Lawrence Williams was awarded first prize and George Bell the booby prize.
 The guests included Katherine Bell, Ella Barber, Elvira Harrington, Elaine Champion, Pauline Zehring, Dorothy Johnson and Helene Lorraine Baldwin, 16-month-old sister of the honoree, and Harry Lambert, Kenneth Staub, George Bell, Lawrence Williams, Jack Bell, Albert Harrington and Mrs. Rose Z. Pillsbury and W. A. Baldwin of Los Angeles, grand parents of the honoree; Mrs. J. P. Huffsmith of San Diego and Mrs. Paul Zehring of Glendale.
 Before the guests departed, a picture was taken of the little guests seated around the beautifully decorated table.
 The guest of honor was the recipient of many lovely gifts from relatives and friends.

Elect Officers
 Annual election of officers will be the main interest tomorrow of the all-day meeting of the W. C. T. U., at the home of Mrs. C. W. Ingledue, at the corner of North Jackson street and East Wilson avenue.
 The morning meeting will begin at 10 o'clock, with Mrs. Ruby J. Smart, presiding.
 All those attending are to bring lunches and cups and spoons.

Los Angeles Guests
 Members of Chapter A. H. P. E. O., were entertained yesterday at the home of Mrs. Henry P. Goodwin, 833 South Plymouth avenue, Los Angeles.
 Baskets of spring flowers in soft shades of many hues were employed in the decorations. The luncheon table decorations were carried out in the pastel shades.
 After luncheon a short business session was held, presided over by the vice-president, Mrs. W. W. Worley, followed by a pleasing musical program. Musical numbers were given by Mrs. H. J. Williams, Mrs. Wayne Smith and Mrs. R. W. Carmack.
 The members had the pleasure of entertaining three visitors, Mrs. Garner of Chapter DV, Iowa Falls; Mrs. Goodwin of Chapter BN, Los Angeles and Mrs. H. Stamps of Chapter BA, Glendale.

P. E. O. Meeting
 The recently organized P. E. O. chapter, DJ, was entertained at the home of Mrs. Schenck, 326 Oak street, yesterday afternoon. A short business session was held, with Mrs. Anna Danielson in the chair. Mrs. Frank Parr read a paper of much interest to members of the organization, her subjects being "Our Vows."
 An invitation was accepted to be the guests of Chapter CJ on April 3, at the home of Mrs. Roy Kent. The next meeting of the chapter will be at the home of Mrs. H. C. Jaacks, 404 South Glendale avenue, with luncheon at 12:30 o'clock.

Birthday Party
 Everett McClellan was happily surprised at a party given last Tuesday night by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. McClellan, at their home, 630 West Wilson avenue, in the celebration of his birthday anniversary.
 St. Patrick's green and favors were used in the decorations. Arrangements of green carnations were used in profusion. The refreshment table decorations were also carried out in the same color scheme with a beautiful birthday cake, lighted with green candles, forming the centerpiece.
 Games were played, and later in the evening refreshments were served.
 Those present included Virginia Endicott, Geraldine Keleher, Barbara Worth, Gertrude Sooy, Harry Conover and George Ward and the honoree, Everett McClellan.

Meeting Friday
 The Pythian Sisters will meet Friday night, March 21, in the Knights of Pythias hall, Park avenue and Brand boulevard, at 8 o'clock, for their regular meeting, it is announced.
 A number of members will be initiated, and all members are urged to be present. A cordial invitation is extended to all visiting Sisters to attend.

Banquet Tonight
 The City Teachers' club of which Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan is president, will meet for a banquet tonight at the Tuesday Art-ernon club, presided by Richardson D. White will be the principal speaker.

LEGEND IN INDIA SAYS WOMAN HAS HAS COME TRUE UNEQUAL CHANGES

Railroads Were Poles of Discriminatory Laws Are Metal Bringing Book Pointed Out by of Knowledge National Leader

HOLLYWOOD, March 20.—In the hills above Kentung, India, there is a legend come down from the mists of dead centuries, that "archaic laws remain." "Existing in every state are discriminations against women which belong to a period long since past, when marriage meant the 'suspension of the very being or legal existence, of women,' declared Miss Vernon.

"In practically every state services of the wife belong to the husband. As a result, the husband, not the wife, is the one entitled to sue for damages in case of injury to the wife. In some states the earnings of a married woman, though the work of her own hands, belong to her husband. In other states a married woman must go through a complicated court procedure to 'determine her capacity' to carry on a business of her own.

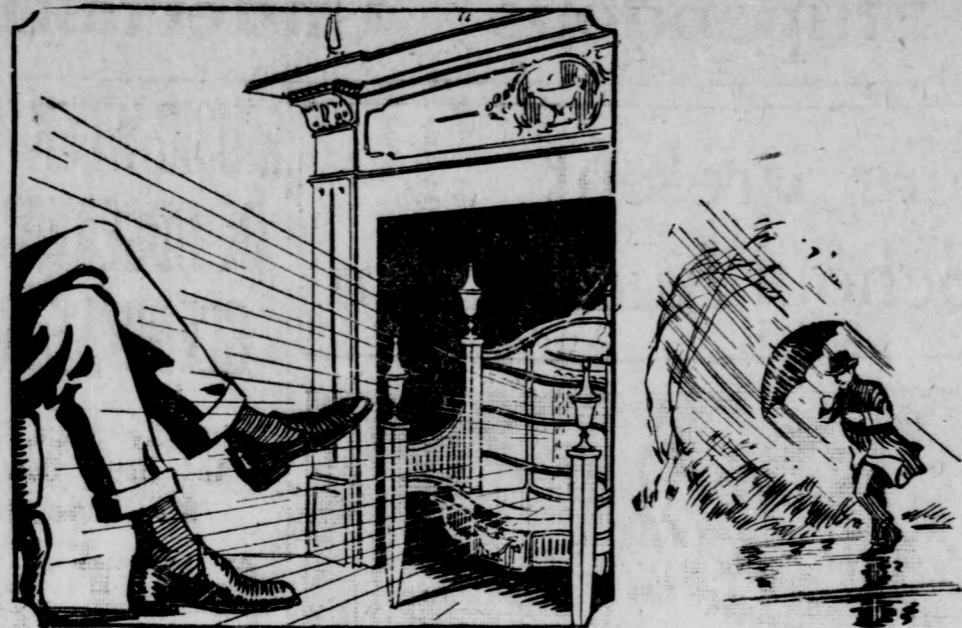

"As mothers, women suffer from equally incomprehensible discriminations in the laws. In several states the father is the 'sole natural guardian' of minor children. In Maryland and Georgia it is legally possible for the father to will away the custody of a child from its own mother. The law gives the father greater rights than the mother over the legitimate child; but, in the case of the illegitimate child, practically all states leave the father in the background and put the weight of responsibility on the mother.

"The Woman's Party is striving to remove every artificial handicap placed upon women by law and by custom," said Miss Vernon. "A national amendment is more inclusive and more permanent than state legislation."

most prolific exportation was brands! And of her husband trips to the jungle for weeks at a time, leaving her to hold the fort alone.
 Picturesque contrast is given in the splendor of the native crown prince, "San Kawng Tai," and his wife, for whom he will not have Caucasian customs and when the stork pays a visit. "Sawbaw," his father, lives in royal state, with 100 elephants valued at $300 for each foot height—and each elephant to feet tall.

Because of the English physician attached to the mission, the local royalties are civil, having a wholesome respect for knowledge. The younger prince have already had two years' education in an English college, of which helps.

Artists' Section
 The artists' section of the Glendale Music club, of which Miss Gertrude Cleophas is chairman, will meet Friday, March 21, at the home of Mrs. Nathan Rigdon, 224 West Doran street, at 8 o'clock, it is announced.
 A Beethoven program will be presented at this time, which will include a paper by Mrs. Evelyn Labadie of the Emerson School of Self-Expression, violin selections by Miss Evangeline Quackenbush and Miss Clara A. Wolter will render piano selections.

OLD WELL FAILS TO YIELD GHOST

Ancient Essex Tradition Is Blasted, But Antiques Are Unearthed

By LUTHER A. HUSTON.
For International News Service.
LONDON, March 20.—Vandal spades, probing the historic soil of Essex, apparently have shattered a legend that has been handed down from mediaeval times to dwellers at Barnet.

The legend concerned a chest of gold and precious jewels and the ghost of Geoffrey de Mandeville, Earl of Essex, who lived in the twelfth century. The treasure-chest, according to the story, was buried at the bottom of an old well in Camlet Moat, Trent Park, Barnet. The ghost of Geoffrey de Mandeville, the story ran, has guarded the chest through the centuries.

In the year 1130 Geoffrey de Mandeville was Constable of the Tower of London. He was false to his trust, history alleges, and was attainted for high treason to King Stephen and Queen Matilda. He fled to Trent Park and lay hidden for many months. One night as he was trying to escape he stumbled into a well in a corner of Camlet Moat and perished. Since then, the country folk declare, he has guarded the gold and jewels the well-was reputed to contain.

Investigate Legend
Sir Philip Sassoon, one of the wealthiest young knights of England, recently acquiring the Trent Park estate, containing Camlet Moat, which surrounded the ancient Manor House of Enfield, the former seat of the Earls of Essex. The manor house, however, was demolished centuries ago. The legend was told to Sir Philip, however, and he determined to investigate.

Excavators were put at work, and they dug for months in the ancient moat. They failed, however, to unearth the treasure chest.

"We reached the foundations of the well at a depth of seventy feet," Sir Philip said, "but there was no sign either of the ghost or the treasure. Both—if they ever existed—have mysteriously disappeared."

The work of the excavators did not go for naught, however, for many valuable historical relics were discovered buried in the ancient moat. The foundations of the original manor house were uncovered, and the drawbridge which spanned the moat was revealed. Its timbers, all of oak and a foot square, are excellently preserved.

Find Other Curios
In addition to these discoveries, the excavators also brought to light a dagger mounted in gold, some Roman sandals, curious horseshoes and many very old tiles bearing quaint designs.

These discoveries are of great interest to English historians, as Enfield Manor was rich in the political and social legend of the nation. Dick Turpin is said to have used the manor as a hiding place, and Sir Walter Scott immortalized it by laying there the scene of the murder of Dalgarno in "The Fortunes of Nigel."

Although his digging crew failed to find the legendary chest, Sir Philip has not lost faith entirely and plans to resume excavations in the Spring. Some thrust of a spade may yet unearth the treasure or some other relic of material or historical value.

Blame Speculator for Textile Price Jumps

LONDON, Mar. 20.—Gambling on the cotton and wool exchange is said to be responsible for the rapid rise in price of clothes and other articles made out of cotton and wool in England.

Many cotton fabrics have risen 20 per cent in the last few months, while wool has risen from 60 to 70 per cent in a year. Further jumps are predicted in the fall.

ARTIST TO GIVE ORGAN PROGRAM

International Compositions Will Be Presented at Church Tomorrow

Lovers of organ music are to have the opportunity of hearing an excellent program tomorrow night at the Congregational church at North Central and East Wilson avenues, where Miss Lilla Litch, talented organist will give a recital. There will be no admission charge and the public is invited.

Miss Litch announces her program as one representing composers of all nations. It will include:

Denmark, "Allegro Risoluto" (Gade).
Sweden, "Romanze" (Svendsen).
Norway, "Crescendo" (Lasson).
England, "Andante Maestoso" (Sullivan).
Germany, "Spring Song" (Mendelssohn).
Scotland, "Auld Lang Syne" paraphrase by Wilkins.
America, "Starlight" (MacDowell).

Miscellaneous group, "West African Dance," "Plantation Hymn," "American Indian Melodies" and "Eskimo Song."
"International Fantasy" (Rogers).

Assisting with the program will be Beatrice Huntley Cavanah, who will give as contralto solos, "Pritemps qui commence" from "Samson and Delilah" (Saint-Saens), "The Great Awakening" (Kramer), and "Good-Bye Yesterday" (Bronson).

Residences Robbed as Owners Attend Show

Burglars took advantage of the American Legion entertainment last night and robbed two Glendale homes while the occupants were attending the program at the Broadway school.

O. M. Johnson, 729 East Raleigh and John D. Rogers, 525 East Raleigh, reported that their homes had been entered. In the former a lady's dress and ruby ring were taken and the Rogers' home was thoroughly ransacked. The loot was quite heavy. A complete list will be given the police today.

Entrance was gained in each case by forcing a rear window.

Police Hunt for Man Posing as Assessor

M. C. Jackson, 627 North Isabel street, reported to the police yesterday that a man posing as an assessor had visited his home and stated that he was around to collect taxes, after assessing the property. Mr. Jackson's "taxes" amounted to $19, which he did not pay.

On inquiry at the assessor's office the police were informed that the deputies were empowered to collect for the tax on personal property, but not on real estate.

LIFE AND DEATH THEORY ADVANCED

Milwaukee Scientist Says Suction and Pressure Ruling Factors

CHICAGO, March 20.—Another key to the realms of immortality and a solution to the infinite mystery of life and death has been offered here by Alfred W. Lawson, of Milwaukee, scientist and inventor, after a series of physical experiments.

Lawson's theories take no account of disease, except as an inconsequential factor, in the ending of life. Death, he claims, is all a result of the victory of "pressure" over "suction." Could some method be found to equalize these two, Lawson claims, there is no reason why man could not live indefinitely.

"Suction and pressure," according to Lawson, who built the passenger airliner which made the trip from Milwaukee to New York and back in 1919, "are the basis of life; without them man cannot live. The suction of air into the lungs causes man to live by enabling him to overcome the pressure from without. Pressure is the destroying element, suction the one that builds up."

"Through childhood the power of suction is the stronger, and this remains true up to maturity, when the two, suction and pressure, are equalized. Then gradually the pressure from without takes the lead and eventually destroys the power of suction. Then death occurs."

Lawson goes further in his "suction-pressure" theory by tracing it back to "penetrability," which, he claims, is the basic law of movement. "That is, according to Lawson, something must penetrate something else before there is any movement."

"The act of penetration," Mr. Lawson said, "as man penetrating the air, a fish penetrating the water, causes suction which moves everything with it. Scientists claim the cause of movement is vibration; but I claim vibration is only a minor factor resulting from penetrability."

"The act of penetration," Mr. Lawson said, "as man penetrating the air, a fish penetrating the water, causes suction which moves everything with it. Scientists claim the cause of movement is vibration; but I claim vibration is only a minor factor resulting from penetrability."

Persia to Give Rare Turquoise to Chicago

CHICAGO, March 20.—The largest, purest and most valuable turquoise in existence is to be presented to the Field Museum here by His Excellency Hayozoun Hohannes Topakyan, Grand Vizier of Persia. Announcement of the proposed gift was made by the vizier during a visit here.

The stone, mined in Persia, was presented to Topakyan by the present Shah. It is said to be virtually priceless.

Topakyan, when in Chicago at the time of the World's Fair, presented the museum with a sixteenth century Kula rug.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

GLENDALE PROPERTY I ADVERTISE NOTHING BUT GLENDALE'S BEST BARGAINS HOUSES AND LOTS—I have lived in Glendale for a great many years and know every piece of property in it, and can tell you what it is worth. Let me know what you want and I will tell you the location, terms and price to suit you.

IF YOU HAVE $1000 I can arrange to build you a four, five or six-room bungalow on a very choice lot, well located, and furnish the plans if you like. Balance around $60 a month.

WONDERFUL OPPORTUNITY—There are still 2 pieces of property in the proximity of NEW CAR LINE at Glendale Ave. and Broadway, which can be bought at a price far under value at the present time and which will double in value in a short time. These are chances of a lifetime.

MRS. M. L. TIGHT 510 N. Glendale Ave., Glen. 1657

$1000 CASH New 5 rooms strictly modern; all rooms bright and airy; hardwood floors built in effect; tile mantel, porch; garage. Price $6850; will take first mortgage or good trust deed.

W. E. MERCER 624 E. Broadway

STOP, LOOK and READ! SAN FERNANDO BOULEVARD BUSINESS PROPERTY—NEW CAR LINE. Only $100.00 per front foot, 50 ft. by 124 ft. for $5000.00. Dandy bungalow, 2 bedrooms, 2 bathrooms, SIERLY FACTORY, where a large number of people will be employed. A lot that lets you in on the ground floor.

HOW ARE YOU
going to stop Glendale from growing when you are making money? Think this over, then ask the Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Santa Fe who they are making up new trains and extra equipment and pushing them into the east. Do you suppose these men are guessing that the east is making up new trains? They know. Therefore, you'll have to get busy and buy something. These lots are priced to sell and well located:

IN STREET PLAN

Project to Link Glendale Avenue With Boulevard Is Frowned Upon

The opening of a connecting street between Glendale boulevard and Glendale avenue, from the corner of Brand boulevard and Forest avenue to the corner of Glendale avenue and Cerritos avenue, will not be pushed at this time by the Glendale Advance-ment association, it was decided at the regular weekly meeting of the organization held today noon at the Harriett Mae tea room.

To ask that this connecting street be laid out and paved might have a tendency to prevent the paving and improving of Forest avenue, it was pointed out at the meeting. Threatening litigation over the opening of the proposed street would keep the case in the courts for three or four years, it was said.

The block contains land donated to the school board by the Richardson estate, to be used only for school purposes, and members of the association fear an attempt to have the street opened across this land would result in the heirs of the estate recalling the property.

Need Transportation
Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, who presided at the meeting, instructed the members of the public utility committee to take the necessary steps toward securing some sort of a transportation line to serve northeast Glendale, after residents of that section of the city reported inadequate transportation facilities.

This committee will also work in conjunction with similar committees of other organizations toward securing better telephone service in Glendale, President Ingledue announced.

The meeting was given over to reports of various committees, the chairman of which outlined plans on numerous civic projects endorsed and advocated by the association.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones appealed to the members for support of the orator, "Elijah," to be given by the Glendale Music club next Tuesday. She announced the Chamber of Commerce had furnished the banners being displayed on street cars which advertised the oratorio and Glendale.

PETITION SEEKS CENTRAL PAVING

West Broadway Improvement Not Yet Reported on By Commission

The petition to set aside as a commercial district property at the corner of Broadway and Wilson avenue was denied, on the recommendation of the city planning commission that this action be taken by the council.

Ornamental Lights

Petitions were read asking for the installation of ornamental lights on Los Feliz road from the westerly city limits to Glendale avenue, and asking for the improvement of Fourth street from Winchester to Justin.

Wait for Report

O. M. Newby addressed the council on the status of the proposed widening of West Broadway. He stated that he wanted to work with the City Planning Commission, but did not want the widening of that thoroughfare from Central to Pacific jeopardized by the failure of the proposed extension to San Fernando road to go through. He was assured that the matter would be taken up on the matter as soon as they had a report from the members of the commission.

Fliers Reach Seattle In Daring Journey

son, flying plane No. 4 from Eugene. Lieutenant Nelson is expected to join the squadron at Seattle.

Major Martin was first in the air in the big Douglas flight plane No. 1. He was followed in the take-off closely by Lieutenant Smith and Lieutenant Wade. About 150 people were on hand to wave a second farewell to the globe fliers.

Time of arrival in Seattle will depend entirely on weather conditions encountered en route. Major Martin said before mounting the cockpit. Reports stated that a heavy fog prevailed about Oxbow, Wash.

Indications were that the birdmen would have to proceed somewhat cautiously in order to assure a safe trip to Seattle.

Decision to turn back yesterday was reached by Major Martin after fog bank near the mouth of the Cowitz river. At the time the planes were flying at about 500 feet. Major Martin, Lieutenant Wade and Lieutenant Smith spent the night in Portland and returned here early today, eager to make the jump to Seattle. The Douglas planes were gone over carefully by mechanics after the return here yesterday and are in fine shape for the flight today.

EVANS' BUILDING TO COST $23,000

Permits for March Are Over $600,000; Year's Total Is Now $2,442,659

The granting of a permit this morning to W. E. Evans for the erection of a building to contain, in addition to stores and markets, an auto service station, at 214 South Brand boulevard, costing $23,000, brought the total of permits for the month to over the $600,000 mark.

With permits in excess of $60,000 issued yesterday, the total for the month to noon was announced as $607,430 by H. C. Vandewater, municipal building superintendent. The total for 1924 is $2,442,659.

The building which Mr. Evans plans to erect will be 100x125 feet, one story in height. Lucius A. Phillips of Los Angeles is the architect.

The following permits were issued recently:

RECEPTION HELD FOR REPUBLICAN WOMEN LEADERS

Coolidge Delegates to May Primary Entertained at Los Angeles

Representative Republican women of Los Angeles county held a reception this afternoon at the Los Angeles Coolidge headquarters, for Mrs. Florence Collins Porter, Mrs. Helen Mathewson Laughlin and Mrs. Laura Taylor Kelley, Coolidge delegates of the May primary. This reception was attended by more than 100 leading women.

Following the reception conference of members of the executive committee of the women's division was conducted by Mrs. Porter, who is chairman of the women's activities.

Organization of the Young Men's Coolidge for President club was effected at a meeting last Thursday evening and plans were made for conducting an intensive campaign among the younger voters of Southern California. According to the plans which were agreed on at this meeting a woman's division is to be organized at once.

At Huntington Park

Coolidge Republicans of Huntington Park opened their campaign on last Thursday evening with a rally in the American Legion hall. This was one of the most largely attended meetings outside of Los Angeles. Mrs. Porter and W. E. Evans, also a Coolidge delegate, addressed this gathering.

The second instruction meeting of the Southern California speaking bureau was conducted last Wednesday, March 19, at the Clark hotel in Los Angeles. Professor H. J. Stonier, of the University of Southern California, gave a second lecture on the bonus plan. These meetings are to be continued regularly each Wednesday. A number of evening meetings will also be held.

Sawtelle Meeting

Sawtelle Coolidge Republicans had an enthusiastic rally on Tuesday evening, March 18, in the woman's clubhouse of that place. Reports from this meeting indicate that the membership of this club has been increased at a rapid rate during the past few days. The membership drive which is now in progress by the body has for its goal 1,000 persons active in the campaign work.

Reservations have commenced to come in to the Los Angeles Coolidge headquarters for the luncheon which will be conducted on Tuesday, March 25, at which Congressman Walter Lineberger and John D. Fredericks were the principal speakers. These Southern California representatives are the first of a series of nationally known speakers who are expected to address Southern California audiences during the next few weeks in behalf of President Coolidge's campaign.

RICKARD ADMITS HE WAS 'TRIMMED'

Tells Senate Committee of Paying Film Receipts To Secure Law

Reveals Agreement

Rickard said he entered into an agreement with "Jay" Muma, a friend of Attorney General Daugherty; Ike Martin, a Cincinnati promoter, and William A. Orr, New York, to divide the proceeds from showing the films.

"What made you pay 50 per cent to Muma and Martin?" asked Senator Wheeler.

"Well, they said they could get this law passed," said Rickard. "Do you want us to understand you fell for such bunk as that?" said Wheeler. "Did you think they could have a law passed in a few days?"

Law in Two Weeks

"No," said Rickard. "I thought it would take about two weeks. I don't know yet that it couldn't be done."

"You thought Muma had influence in Washington?"

"Yes, he was a newspaperman, and I thought he has some influence."

Rickard said he had never been prosecuted by Attorney General Daugherty for his part in showing the films, "but he threatened to."

"When was that?" said Wheeler, sharply.

"In November, 1921," said Rickard. "At least that is what Quimby told me."

Quimby was part owner of the pictures.

$25,000 for "Influence"

Rickard admitted there was a lot of money that Quimby had never accounted for, but he denied that he thought Quimby had paid any out to "fix things."

"You paid Orr $25,000 to fix things up with the censorship commissioner in New York, didn't you?" barked Wheeler.

"No," said Rickard, "not to fix things. It was just for his influence."

Rickard was closely questioned about the "missing profits."

"You say Quimby took in money which was never accounted for?"

"Well, we took in $25,000 in Chicago, and they said the expenses were $35,000. That didn't seem right."

"You didn't know that some of that went to Jesse Smith?" asked Senator Brookhart, Republican, of Iowa.

"No."

"What other instances were there when Quimby didn't account for money?"

Trip to Germany

"Well, we took in $100,000 in New York and there was only $10,000 profit. That looked like bad business to me. Quimby went to Germany just afterwards."

"You think he went on the money he made out of the picture deals?"

"I guess he did."

Wheeler turned Rickard over to Daugherty's attorneys for examination.

"We have no questions," said Paul Howland, one of the attorney-general's counsel. Rickard was then excused.

Montana Stockmen to Convene Next April

HELENA, Mont., Mar. 19.—Although the event will not be held until next April, plans already are being made for the annual convention of the Montana Stock-growers association, which this year will be held in Dillon. It will be the greatest event of its kind ever held there, and will be attended by stockmen from all parts of Montana and the west. A livestock show will be held also. Substantial cash prizes will be offered.

CRIMES OF BOYS LAID TO LUXURY

All World In Mad Rush For Pleasure, Opines Juvenile Judge

PHILADELPHIA, March 20.—Love of luxury, which has spread to the young, is chiefly to blame for the increasing seriousness of crimes for which boys are arrested today, according to Judge James E. Gorman, of the juvenile court here, who for ten years has been studying child criminology. "Ten years ago," Judge Gorman declared, "most of the boys brought before me were arrested for some petty misdemeanor, such as stealing fruit or breaking windows, or till-tapping—all trifling offenses. Malignant mischief, delinquency and truancy were the majority of the charges. Today there is an increasing seriousness of the crimes committed by boys. Automobile stealing is prevalent. Thefts of a serious nature, burglary and the carrying of firearms are common charges brought against boys under sixteen years old.

Carry Guns Now

"The most dangerous sign, in my opinion," he continued, "is the carrying of firearms. Only the other day a boy was brought before me for threatening his mother with a revolver. I don't remember any case ten years ago when a boy was caught with firearms.

"In part, the example of the 'movies' is to blame, but more so the general love of luxury that has spread to the young in these modern times. All the world is in a mad rush after pleasure. Naturally the boys have been affected by the craze. Most of the boys caught in crime come from poor families. They can't have spending money, so they go out and steal. Of course, the same was true ten years ago, but the pleasures then were much simpler, and naturally the means of getting them were not so serious."

Cases of boys being organized into gangs and schooled by some modern Fagin, although rare, exist, Judge Gorman said.

Scratch-backs, long instruments with claws at one end, were once considered indispensable articles of toilet and were carried by ladies of high society even to the theatre box.

A motor driven eraser made it possible to correct an error in printing on 200,000 postcards.

ARGUE MERIT OF SCHOOL UNIFORM BEFORE MOTHERS

Members of League Discuss Proposal at Meeting of P.-T. A. Members

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
 Of The Evening News Staff.
 However the vote on uniform dress may go today at the Glendale Union High school, the mothers will make the decision unanimous if judgment is based on action taken yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Parent-Teacher association at the Harvard High school.

High school mothers gathered yesterday at the Parent-Teacher association meeting, went on record as being neutral, pledging themselves to advocate the type of dress chosen by the high school Girls' League today by votes of the freshman, sophomore and junior girls.

And no wonder these mothers yesterday were neutral, for they had as guests and speakers two high school misses, who, in addition to being eloquent and convincing speakers pro and con, on the uniform dress subject, were faultlessly dressed, Bonnie Jean Lockwood in one of the neat uniforms advocated, and Charlotte Busby in an equally as neat tailored sports dress.

Describes Uniform
 Miss Lockwood spoke first, stating that the proposed uniform plan calls for every high school girl wearing a dark blue wool skirt, white middie blouse with blue collar and cuffs, black regulation tie and black shoes and stockings. That from April to November white skirts will be permitted and that four times a year, or once a quarter a "Civv Day" will be observed, when the girls can wear what they please to school. A "uniform board" will be chosen by the Girls' League every year, and violators of the uniform dress law will be given extra periods.

She said that uniform dress had been voted into Glendale High school several years ago, but had never been carried out. She added that now the plan is to make it a permanent part of school life. "It is practical, will eliminate class distinction, create a democratic spirit, be economical and be of great value to the girls and to the school," declared Miss Lockwood.

In closing she said that uniform dress is being worn in many high schools.

Thrills And Laughter At Legion Benefit As Stars Present Varied Program

By AL DIX
 Of The Evening News Staff.
Glendale has not forgotten! Neither has the Hollywood film colony!

Before a crowd that filled the Broadway High school auditorium to overflowing last night, a company of stage and screen stars headed by Miss Virginia Pearson, thrilled their hearers with their versatility. At times the roars of laughter rolled out like thunderclaps, again the silence was profound as some of the most tragic scenes ever presented in Glendale were portrayed by the actors.

Resulting from the combined efforts of the stars, the people of Glendale and the members of the Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, under whose auspices the show was given, the fund for the relief of disabled veterans and the club house budget have materially increased to the extent of some $2000. The exact amount netted from the benefit will not be known until all tickets have been turned in and checked.

Rogers is Absent
 The only disappointment of the evening was the non-appearance of Will Rogers, who was called out of town on business and found it impossible to attend. Joseph A. Wilson, post commander, and W. H. Beeglin, vice commander, called upon him at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in an effort to have him reconsider his decision, in order that the audience might not be disappointed. But the business was of such an important character that he could not alter his arrangements. He sent along a good sized check for the fund, but this did not make up for his absence from the program.

The stars present, however—arose to unexpected heights in their efforts to entertain the crowd. From the moment that Lionel Belmore, master of ceremonies, thrust his head through the curtain at 8:30 to announce the opening act, until the last fade-out on the picture, "A Prince of a King," which ended the program at 12:45, there was constant action.

"Wolf," the famous police dog, decorated for bravery under fire by Marshal Foch, opened the program. While not a dog performing a number of routine tricks, at the command of his master, Jere Evans, Wolf showed a great amount of intelligence. His efforts to play leap frog with a number of small boys called to the platform especially pleasing to the crowd.

Little Jackie Parker's dissertation on lolly-pops, and his close-ups of the at-home characteristics of several prominent members of

WHAT THEY SAID

Here's what some of the movie stars at the American Legion benefit last night had to say, solemn and otherwise:

LIONEL BELMORE—We regard it as our duty to be here tonight. We can never repay the debt we owe the men who offered their lives in the defense of the country.

HARRY TIGHE—I had a girl who was a milliner in a milk factory. She put caps on milk bottles.

I've got a friend in Hollywood who has drunk so much hair tonic since the country went dry that he has dandruff in the roof of his mouth.

LEW CODY—You know I'm king of Raisin-Day at Fresno. Some one has advised me to take my raisins straight.

When all the movie people went north to San Francisco to the Wampas ball, the Chamber of Commerce there had cars awaiting us at the station. On every car there was a banner with the names on it of those riding in the machine. I was riding with Barbara La Marr, consequently the sign read, "Barbara La Marr and Lew Cody."

As we passed one corner a little nigger chap about 10 years of age and the sign read, "There sure goes a carload of sin."

HERBERT HAWLINSON—But I am not out here to talk politics. And it's a good thing, I guess, Lord, ain't they in an awful mess at Washington? For once they missed Hollywood. I don't know how it was, but I've heard him say that stuff I don't know what they would have done to us.

I have an English actor friend in Hollywood. The other night he was going home with two bundles under his arm. A policeman stopped him and asked him what he was carrying. "One is sugar for my tea and the other is sugar for my coffee," replied the Briton. The cop drew out his night stick, hit him on the head and said: "There's a lump for your cocoa." In explaining the incident to me the next day the Englishman said, "But the joke of it is, old chap, that I don't drink cocoa."

There was a man and his wife who lived together in Hollywood. (Laughter). Yes, sir, that's true. I lived in Glendale in 1910. At 900 East Lomita avenue.

While Herb was speechifying, the amateur electrician back stage pulled the wrong switch and plunged the entire house in darkness. He was equal to the occasion, and remarked: "Gee, a nigger must have been passing the power house."

VIRGINIA PEARSON—Divorce is so bad in Hollywood, isn't it? Here is my husband, Sheldon Lewis. I've been married to him for thirteen years. Scandalous, isn't it? We're still living together.

Many of my friends who wanted to be here tonight could not come on account of production work. Mae Murray sent along a handsome check for the fund, with me.

I find human nature is just about the same wherever you come in contact with it. Don't blame the entire film colony just because a few happen to get their names on the front pages of the paper.

There are thousands of good men and women in Hollywood engaged in movie work who have the fear of God and the love of mankind in their hearts just the same as people in any city of the United States. We're not all bad, you know.

NEW BOOKS TELL OF U. S. HISTORY

Volumes on Government is Now Available at Library For Students

Glendale students and others who are interested in the study of American history and government, will be pleased in an announcement coming from Mrs. Alma J. Danford, librarian of the Public Library, of a list of new books now available at the library.

These books are: "Citadel of Freedom" (Leigh); "Essays on Constitutional System" (Willoughby); "The Framing of the Constitution" (Farrand); "An Economic Interpretation of the Constitution of the United States" (Beard); "American Government and Politics" (Beard); "The Federalist" (Hamilton); "A New Constitution for a New America" (MacDonald); "The Constitution of the United States" (Schuyler); "The Story of Our Constitution" (Tappan); "A History of the Presidency from 1788 to 1916" (Stanwood); "The Constitutional History of the United States" (Holst); in eight volumes; "Commonwealth" (Bryce); "The Constitution of the United States, Its Sources and Its Application" (Norton); "Modern Democracies"

CONVENTION TO HEAR ACCOUNT OF CLUBS' WORK

Limited Time to Be Allowed Organizations to Tell Main Activities

Reflecting the work and accomplishments of individual clubs throughout Los Angeles county, the program at the twenty-third annual convention of the Los Angeles district, California Federation of Women's clubs, April 8, 9 and 10 at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse in Glendale, will be devoted in a great degree to reports from individual clubs pre-eminent in interest and helpfulness in club work.

This pre-view of convention activities comes from tentative program plans outlined by Mrs. Charles H. Toll, district president and chairman of the convention program.

Equalize Reports
 If all the clubs in the district report and are given three minutes each, nine hours will be consumed, but these will be distributed throughout the three days, with those clubs numbering ninety-nine or fewer, allowed two minutes; those numbering from 100 to 500 two and a half minutes; those up to 1000 members, three minutes, while the six clubs in the district numbering over 1000 will be given three and one-half minutes.

Clubs of similar size will report at the same session to avoid contrasting the work of a small club with that of a large one. Serving on Mrs. Toll's program committee are Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club; Mrs. W. F. Mabee, district chairman of music; Miss Lloy Galpin, district chairman of international relations; and Mrs. Mab Copeland Lineman, district chairman of legislation.

Additional Appointments
 Other appointments made by Mrs. Toll on Tuesday are Mrs. Charles F. Van de Water, president of the Long Beach Ebell club, chairman of the resolutions committee, assisted by Mrs. A. L. Woodin, Mrs. Charles Steera, Mrs. F. A. Fysh, Miss Vera E. Best and Mrs. Chester C. Ashley; credentials and badges, Mrs. A. J. Derby, Mrs. Daniel J. Baptiste, Mrs. E. H. Edwards, Mrs. L. P. McClellan, Mrs. T. A. Gould, Miss Nellie M. White and Mrs. Warren Holden; revision committee, Mrs. Charles S. McKelvey, Mrs. W. J. Lee and Mrs. R. G. Dupuy; rules and regulations, Mrs. McKelvey; federation courtesy, Mrs. J. B. Lorbeer, Mrs. Alton L. Drown, Mrs. John Woods Dorrance, Mrs. C. J. Trusseler and Mrs. O. C. Houghton.

"Education for Peace" is to be the dominating theme of the convention.

Special features of the convention will be an art exhibit arranged by Mrs. Kathryn W. Leighton, district chairman of art; the annual press banquet at the Elroy Village, for 100 press chairmen, president and club editors, in charge of Mrs. Leland A. Irish, district press chairman, and Miss Eva Daniels, chairman of publicity for the Tuesday Afternoon club; and the annual federation banquet, for club delegates and their husbands, Mrs. Emil Johnson of Glendale in charge of reservations.

Realtor Describes Station As Important Asset to City's Growth

James W. Pearson, realtor, with offices at 715 South Brand boulevard, writes The Glendale Evening News regarding the new Southern Pacific station as follows:

"Glendale has at last a station to be proud of. A station of Spanish and Egyptian architecture with beautiful colors blending with our California; large waiting room with beautifully decorated beam ceiling and barred windows; modern equipment in every detail; commodious seats for the weary; exterior pergolas which will in time carry leafy vines and roses; spacious graveled walks and parking spaces; ornamental post signs at either end of the great walks bearing the name Glendale; post electrolators on all sides of the station and over the pergola at the east end of the station which shades and lights more comfortable seats; in fact, everything that can be thought of for the comfort and convenience of the traveler. This is what the Southern Pacific has provided for Glendale. It will serve us for many years to come. The traveler going through Glendale and seeing this new and commodious station will at once be curious to find out more about Glendale."

THE EVENING WRAP
 Not everyone has use for an elaborate evening wrap, therefore a splendid suggestion is for a cape that may cloak a street or afternoon frock just as suitably as it can an evening dress.

GET NO REST IN WINTER MONTHS

Circus Stars Appear In Screen Productions

Not all the actors who appear before the movie camera draw down as big checks each week as does Joe Martin, monkey star de luxe, shown here with his trainer and best pal.

"CAMERA!" That's a word the 2000 moving picture actors with the A. G. Barnes circus and wild animal show, coming to Glendale on Saturday, March 29 are quite familiar with, for nearly all the performers with the troupe took a whirl before the West Coast movie cameras last winter.

The greatest movie star of them all—Joe Martin, himself—has received record sums for his services in Hollywood and Culver City but you never hear him talking salary, high-priced cars or costly bungalows.

All of the Barnes' movie actors were cast in a big jungle picture in a Hollywood studio. They motored to work, too—in shifting cages on trucks. Then the cameramen motored to Culver City, the winter home of the A. G. Barnes circus zoo and "shot" pictures of (Continued on page 6)

Play Centers About 'Days of Forty-Nine,' Wear Old Costumes

"Days of old, days of gold, days of Forty-Nine" was the theme of the program of the literature department of the Tuesday Afternoon club when they entertained the members of the club and friends in the Italian tea room of the clubhouse, yesterday afternoon.

With a courtesy that was much appreciated, the literature department invited the history and landmarks committee to present the program for the annual guest day. Mrs. Geo. H. Rowe is chairman of the history and landmarks committee and the members assisting in arranging the afternoon were Mesdames T. H. Addison, Edgar Leavitt, Thos. McDougal, Frank Brown and Chas. Hahn.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. H. C. Wilcox, curator of the literature department; Mrs. Vernell Rapp, chairman of the social committee of the department, and Mrs. Thos. McDougal of the history and landmarks committee, assisted by the following members in costume, Mesdames Herbert D. Fortier, H. S. Garinghouse, Geo. H. Rowe, R. W. Mottern, T. H. Addison, W. H. Verity, Edith Fessenden, J. A. Bolton and Miss May Lyon.

Old Costumes Worn
 Mrs. Wilcox wore a costume of 1840, once worn by a member of the "F.F.V.," a little scarlet-brided jacket and "nosegay" of the same brilliant color, with a white lace poke bonnet framing her piquant face. Mrs. Rapp was in a little frock of pink with wide blue sash and drooping hat. Mrs. McDougal wore a little black gown with quaint collar and shawl. Mrs. Fortier, who later took part in the program, wore (Continued on page 6)

Your foods need ICE!

Up and down, up and down—that's a thermometer in March! But it's a serious matter to expose your foods to sudden changes in temperature—especially if there are children in the house. Each rise in temperature means that millions of germs get busy, robbing the food of its nutritive value, perhaps causing sickness. Don't take chances—take ice! A well-filled refrigerator is the best Spring tonic you can get.

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

By LUTHER A. HUSTON, For International News Service

LONDON, March 20.—Warriors of the future will go forth like those of Shakespeare's story, on "barbed steeds to fright the souls of fearful adversaries," according to General Sir Ian Hamilton, noted British soldier and veteran of the Boer War and the Great World conflict.

Armor clad, like the Crusaders of old, and bullet proof, the legions of the future will sweep forward and laugh at the crude methods of what is now regarded as modern warfare.

"The next time our boys go over the top," said General Hamilton, in addressing a meeting of the British Legion, "we want to see them do it like gentlemen, in their cars, clad in bullet-proof armor. We want them to scorch through the barrage at twenty miles an hour, tearing through the wire as if it were gossamer and laughing at the rattling of the rifle bullets."

"We don't want them to endure the misery we suffered on the Western front—exhausted, drenched with mud, loaded up with rations and munitions; crawling over the bloody ground, held up for hours on end, a mark for the fire of the murderous machine guns; hung up at the end like flies in webs of barbed wire. We want them to have a chance in battle."

The surest way to prevent repetition of the horrors of the last war in the conflicts of the future, General Hamilton declared, is to mechanize the army. His proposal is that the mechanical branches of the army should be organized as distinct units, with their own chief, their own uniform. The status of the mechanical engineer, he declared, must be recognized.

"The mechanical engineer," he said, "must be the mainspring of the new model army. We must have a united body of experts standing by to catch the ideas of men of science as to work them out in metal."

Unless folks quit regarding "Back to Methusalem," the play which takes five nights to perform, as a joke, George Bernard Shaw, who wrote it, threatens to write one that will take a month to perform.

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

WAIFF TO BECOME KING OF GYPSIES

Queen Will Surrender Throne to Daughter

Katherine Williams and George Adams

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—An American boy, who a few years ago was a waif in the Chicago streets, is going to marry a kingdom.

When George Adams, now 16, attains his majority, he will receive the hand of the fairest of American gypsy princesses, and the ephemeral crown of the king of Romany tribes in North America.

A few days ago more than 2,000 gypsies from all parts of North America assembled at Woodland, Calif., for a convale in which the betrothal of George and Katherine Williams, daughter of Queen Julia Williams, ruler of 560 families, was officially proclaimed. Queen Julia will surrender her scepter to George on his wedding day.

It is the queen's own arrangement that the betrothal, the Romany mode of life may be as gloriously romantic as it used to be, but it has felt the iron stamp of progress. Most of the 2,000 who gathered for the convale came by motor.

On the Spur of the Moment

It is 1925. The literary censorship has been established.

A petition having been submitted and properly passed on, the officer of the law designated for the purpose will now read poetry for one-half hour, as prescribed by the penal code. All minors will leave the room.

Dispatch from Detroit says Ford has absolutely eliminated waste. Why can't he find a use for the rattle, too?

Speaking of Cognomens After all, what is in a name? The Real name of Al Jolson is Asa Yoelson; of Ina Claire, Ina Fagan; of Marie Dressler, Lella Koberer; of Mitzl, Magdalena Hajos; of Conway Tearle, Frederick Forley; of Robert Warwick, Robert T. Bign; of Lew Dockstader, George Alfred Clapp; of Henry Miller, John Pegge; of Shirley Mason and Viona Dana, sisters, Shirley and Viola Flugrath, Willard Mack is really Charles McLaughlin; Eddie Foy, Edward Fitzgerald; Hazel Dawn, Hazel Tunt; Nora Bayes, Nora Goldberg; and Trixie Friganza, Della O'Callahan.

We Have To Be Skeptical It seems to be common supposition that the big business men of New York are the superiors of business out in the "provinces."

After reading the New York papers with their stories of little boys being entrusted to carry hundreds of thousands of dollars through the streets, and their stories about big business men and their loves and love letters, we doubt it.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SUGAR BREAD

"Are you sure you don't mind staying at home today, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one morning.

"Oh, not at all," answered the bunny rabbit gentleman. "I'll stay, and you can go out. I dare say I shall not be in very long."

So the muskrat lady house-keeper left the hollow stump bungalow and Uncle Wiggily Longears remained at home, not going for that was this:

The day before, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy had gone down town shopping to buy a new piano. The gentleman dog in the piano store had promised to send it home next day.

But, all of a sudden, next day, while Nurse Jane was waiting for the piano to come, she found she needed a new pair of stockings.

"Oh, Wiggily!" she cried to Uncle Wiggily. "What shall I do? I ought to go buy a new pair of stockings. Yet if I go, and they bring the piano, they can't leave it, for you will be away adventuring."

"No, I shall stay home," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll stay home in the bungalow until they bring the new piano. You go get your stockings. After the piano comes I'll go out."

So that's the way it was, and that's why Uncle Wiggily was staying in the hollow stump bungalow. After Nurse Jane had gone he walked out and fro in the bungalow, saying:

"I wish they'd bring that piano!" He heard, suddenly, a ring at the door bell.

"Please buy a needle!" squeaked the mouse man. "I have a wife and seven little mice children and—"

"Give me a hundred needles!" cried Uncle Wiggily, trying to keep the tears from trickling down his pink nose, because he felt so sorry.

After the mouse peddler had gone, the bell rang again.

"I guess this is the piano," said the bunny.

But it was a little pussy girl selling holders for hot flat irons, and she looked so cold and hungry that Uncle Wiggily bought six.

Upon and down the floor walked the rabbit gentleman, when, all of a quickness, came another ring at the bell.

"I guess this is the tinkler," said the bunny, giving the piano a new name. But it wasn't. It was Baby Bunty.

"Hullo, Uncle Wiggily!" laughed the little rabbit girl. "Will you please give me some bread and sugar. I'm hungry. Please—a nice, big slice of bread with sugar sprinkled on it."

"Oh, come in!" chuckled Mr. Longears. And then he sang "I hope that you have tied your shoe, sugar is sweet and so are you!"

"I'll give you a kiss for that!" cried Baby Bunty, and she did. Then Uncle Wiggily went out in the kitchen and began making a slice of bread and sugar for the little rabbit girl. He spread just enough butter on the bread to hold the sugar from sliding down hill off it, and Baby Bunty sat in a chair and ate.

"Oh, but it's good!" she murmured. "Why don't you take some yourself, Uncle Wiggily?"

"I believe I shall," spoke the rabbit gentleman. "I may have to stay in all day waiting for the piano."

So Mr. Longears made himself a slice of sugar bread and he and Baby Bunty were sitting there eating, and having a very jolly party, when, all of a sudden, the door bell rang again.

"I guess that's the piano this time, sure," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll open the door, Bunty, but you mustn't put your sugar sticky paws on the piano keys."

"No, I'll be careful," promised Bunty. But when Uncle Wiggily opened the door it wasn't at all the nice new piano from the store. Instead, it was the bad old Bob Cat with his silly little tail.

Uncle Wiggily cried: "Oh, dear me!" "Baby Bunty was just saying: 'Oh, how good his bread and sugar is! Nothing is lovelier than bread and sugar!' I wish everybody in the world had some of Uncle Wiggily's bread and sugar!"

And just then she saw the Bob Cat pop in and Baby Bunty was so frightened that she screamed: "Oh, dear me!"

Then she dropped what was left of her bread and sugar on the floor. In came the Bob Cat and his silly little tail came to nibble ears," he said with a smile, "but first I

An old Kentucky negro insured his tobacco barn and shortly afterward it was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Uncle Mose looked forward to the handling of a considerable sum of money as a result of the loss, but instead the insurance company built him a new barn, and showed a clause in his policy which permitted the company to either pay the money value of his loss or provide the equivalent.

Shortly afterwards a life insurance agent called on Uncle Mose and wanted him to take out a policy on his dusky wife, Aunt Eliza. Uncle Mose chased the agent off the premises and said, "I know what you-all gwan to do in case I takes out this surance on 'Eliza and she dies. I don't get no money, no sah. LA CRESCENTA X-RAY TO REVEAL GIRL'S INJURIES

Leoma Crowell, Dragged by Truck, Resting Easily; Father Is Hurt

Leoma Crowell, who was injured Monday afternoon, is resting as easily as can be expected. She was taken to the hospital for X-ray. Dr. Wemple states her collar bone, shoulder and jaw bone are all broken.

On Monday, Mr. Crowell, father of the injured child, fractured two of his lower ribs. Leoma is the youngest Girl Scout in La Crescenta valley. She was dragged thirty feet when run down by a truck on her way home from school.

The school picture show was an immense success, practically all the seats in the school auditorium being full. Next week the picture shown will be "Hunting Wild Animals in Africa," with some good comedy to liven up the bill.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark S. Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collins were luncheon guests at the Oakmont Country club yesterday, the occasion being Mrs. Mark Collins' birthday.

The revival meetings being held at the La Crescenta Community church are being well attended. Rev. Miller has spoken to the children at school, and also extended a cordial invitation to them to attend the services and bring their parents. The fact that Rev. Miller sings and plays his own accompaniments on a tiny organ appeals to the kiddies, who like him.

Dr. Keiso, pastor of the church, earnestly desires every one who is able to come to the evening services held at the church at 7:30 p. m. every evening. On Friday afternoon the services will be for women and girls only.

Entertains Sister Mrs. Charles Collins entertained with a birthday party in honor of her sister, Mrs. Mark Collins, yesterday. Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. A. MacDonald of Highway Highlands, Mr. and Mrs. George Carson, Miss G. Fogg, Miss Annie and John Carson, Mr. and Mrs. F. Billingshast, ex-Governor and Mrs. Plisted of Maine, Miss A. T. Curry, Professor and Mrs. Newton Redfield, Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collins, Mark Collins and the honoree, Mrs. Mark Collins.

An exceptionally large number of ladies attended the Missionary sewing circle and spiritual healing meeting held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Seymour Thomas. Aprons for little girls were cut out and sewed by the ladies of St. Luke of the Mountains Guild. At 3 o'clock Mrs. Willey, assistant of Dr. Benson of Eagle Rock, read from the Scriptures, as Dr. Benson was unable to be present.

Mrs. Mary B. Darron announced that next week's meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Vilma Walker, 135 East Prospect Avenue, and all future meetings will be held there, as the materials will be left in charge of Mrs. Walker. Mrs. Darron requests all who have portable machines, electric or otherwise, to bring them on next Wednesday at 1:30 p. m.

Mrs. Scoles Pours Tea was served at the meeting. Mrs. Emily Scoles of Flintbridge presiding at the tea table, while Mrs. Thomas Minford of Verdugo Knolls and Mrs. Sam Woolwine assisted Mrs. Seymour Thomas in serving.

After tea the guests dispersed to the studio to see the splendid model of the proposed church. This model was built by Seymour Thomas and is complete in every detail. The church carries out the Mission idea and is particularly adapted to the surroundings. The corner stone of the church, "St. Luke of the Mountains," will be laid Easter Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Bishop Johnson will officiate.

Tonight is the La Crescenta night of Community sing. Every one is cordially invited to attend. Manager Hopkins has procured Miss Ruppel of Sunland to give a program of diversions. Director Prosper is still in need of some more voices. The meeting will be held at La Crescenta school auditorium and will start at 8:00 p. m. promptly.

Thomas S. Brown and family are the proud possessors of a new automobile. The car is fitted out to the minutest detail, nothing being overlooked to provide comfort for the rider, even to an electric lighter, and a vanity case for the fair members of the family.

Mrs. Jessie Hansen attended the all Borden auction held in Alambra on Tuesday. Boys Build Radio The enterprising boys of the local school are rigging up a radio set at the school with the help of the principal, A. T. Blanford. In about two or three weeks this district will be heard over the radio as the Glee club is to sing and some accomplished pupils will play in a Los Angeles broadcasting studio.

Mr. Blanford is giving the children of the community the latest improvements in education that are being used in the city schools. Mr. C. Howard is erecting the new garage building for Fred Anderson, realtor, on his Montrose property on Honolulu avenue. The building when completed will house the new Studebaker agency to be run by the Leach brothers.

Are Women Grown Mannish With Sports And Smokes? Vogue Of Shawl Answers No

By MME. LISBETH

Are women more masculine than they used to be in grandmother's day? Or are they merely taking advantage of the freedom of the age to get healthful outdoor exercise and to be better companions to their husbands and children and to keep their youth? Well, leaving out the extremists who ape men's manners, habits and clothes and are, I am sure the exceptions that prove the rule, in my opinion women were never more truly feminine at heart.

And if the love of pretty things—clothes especially—is the criterion of their tastes, women never indulged in more colorful, truly feminine things than they do today. Their sports clothes are simple in build and allow freedom of motion but they cannot truly be called mannish—not even the knicker suits.

One of the prettiest of little sports suits is shown on the left of this illustration. Striped flannel is the material used and the way in which the stripes are placed, running vertically in the skirt and horizontally in the jacket, represents the very latest in trimming effects. Gray and black is the color scheme and the jacket is one of the sleeveless models with a narrow grey belt. The skirt is straightline and a pretty washable blouse is worn with the suit.

Another but quite different sports suit is shown on the right. It is one of the knitted suits with a plain skirt and long tunic that slips over the head. It is developed in peach color and the tunic is embroidered in green and rose. A narrow sash of self material ties on the right side for a change. The usual tie is to the left.

These two sports suits surely do not exhibit any undue tendencies toward masculinity. In the center is one of the most truly feminine of all garments—the shawl. Its present vogue is another argument for the love of women for soft, clinging garments and draperies. The one shown is elaborately embroidered in a floral pattern and edged with long, silky fringe.

COMMENT That's All

Glendale Center of Traffic Wanted—Summer Tourists Also, Empire Builders Smile at the Pessimists

By Gil A. Cowan

The future holds much in store for Glendale in the matter of railroads and motor traffic. The opening of the new Southern Pacific station next week is but a step toward the ultimate in the growth of a greater metropolitan district. Pasadena, Hollywood—more than that, Glendale—will have to look to this city for their outlet in this respect.

Already the motor routes are carrying all the traffic that they can bear through Glendale and its environs. As time goes on the system will be strengthened by Riverside drive, which will have its laterals into this city. It is topographically natural for the ebb and flow northward from Los Angeles to center here.

More important, however, from the standpoint of city building, is the seeming surety of the Santa Fe coming south through the mountains from Bakersfield and passing through Glendale. William B. Storey, president of the system, was in Bakersfield this week and announced that a survey had been completed. He did not venture to say when work on the cut-off would be started. Nevertheless, there is every reason to believe that the Santa Fe is now planning a $30,000,000 expenditure on this line within the next few years.

An authority on railroading told the writer yesterday that there is every reason to believe the Santa Fe will enter Los Angeles through Glendale, due to the peculiar topography of the San Fernando valley and its relation to the Los Angeles river. Certainly it would seem that the Santa Fe is interested in Glendale, it having established a city ticket office here.

With an additional transcontinental railway, as well as two interurban lines, Glendale would have all the transportation service available to other southland cities. And all because it is logically located. We must not forget that paramount fact in telling the story of "the fastest growing city in America."

The winter tourist season is coming to a close. Many of our eastern friends who have sojourned in the southland, are now planning their return to the less favored climes. No doubt they would be pleased to remain, but business calls them to the middle west and east. However, may we not suggest that they tell those people seeking an ideal summer vacation that the Pacific coast offers "all-year" entertainment.

Southern California is particularly ideal during the months of May, June and July. A motor trip through the west is a liberal education. It is too bad that more cannot make it than those who do, for it gives the kiddies an idea of the vastness of this nation.

Here another season rolls 'round it is to be hoped that Glendale will have one or more large tourist hotels. Due to the larger profits made in homebuilding, this need has not been met by otherwise willing investors. Glendale and southern California need capital for such enterprises.

Our friends returning to the east will confer a favor on those here by "all-year" entertainment. They are the disgruntled ones—not those who are enjoying life in California as they never knew it before.

The call goes out for empire builders now, as well as summer tourists. We need both in the southland. Once upon a time—you may imagine this is a story, yet it is true—there was a plumber who was wooing a telephone operator. He was reported to be very married. The writer proceeded to do the young couple justice. Instead, we were the victim of a terrible mistake. As Mark Twain might have remarked, "The report of their marriage was greatly exaggerated."

The plumber walked into the office and mistook the writer for a piece of gaspipe. He endeavored to forever choke the flow of words from their source. Death stared us in the face, but, for some unknown reason, this near tragedy was humorous. We laughed.

Now there is nothing quite so disconcerting as optimism. A hearty laugh relieves many a serious mood. The smile drives dull care away. And certainly it saved our precious life in Jerome, Ariz., on the particular day the plumber took offense at his obituary—beg pardon, we meant to say marriage—which didn't happen.

There are pessimists who would like to choke our prosperity. They are like bear traders. Nobody knows how they get that way, but they are. Some of them having things to say to do. They are easily scared out. All you have to do is scorn them with a smile.

And you might throw in a handful of odious comparisons when they start their talky talk. Room and board in Hutchinson, Kan., for $4 a week. Three times that much is paid here. More than a million men are out of work in the British Isles. Try to hire a brickmason or a plumber or a finish carpenter here. Some there may be, but they are not complaining. Fact is, they are getting such high wages that many people are deprecating building.

Real estate is moving, now that the income tax is out of the way for another year. Why, you ought to have heard the prosperous traders in real property crying over the taxes they had to pay.

Equal Rights Act Unnecessary, Says Woman Politician

Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton

The "equal rights" amendment for which the National Women's Party is campaigning is unnecessary, declares Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, vice chairman of the Republican national executive committee, therefore she goes on record against it. "I am particularly opposed to it," she explains, "because it will do away with the protective laws for women for which we have worked for so many years."

Circus Folk Rush to Assist Former Star

NEW YORK, Mar. 20.—News that Billy Showles, once champion bareback rider of the world, lay dying at Bellevue hospital, brought a score of circus folk to his bedside yesterday. The former star of the tanback is in delirium. Again he lives the days of glory he once knew. Billy Showles was the star of the "big tops," the featured attraction with Barnum and Bailey, Ringling brothers and Forepaugh-Sells. He made $400 a week then. For thirty-five years he was the envy of his profession.

A few days ago hospital authorities found "William" Showles, elevator operator, suffering from an incurable disease in a tiny east side flat. He sought to conceal his identity.

Denies Contract Made With British for Oil

WASHINGTON, Mar. 20.—Edward L. Doheny, oil magnate involved in the senate's investigation into the leasing of the naval oil reserves, late yesterday passed the "lie" to Henry Woodhouse, New York writer who testified on Tuesday that Doheny had entered into an agreement with the British government whereby Great Britain got "first call" on oil from naval reserve No. 1. "The statement of Woodhouse is an unqualified falsehood," declared a statement issued here by Doheny's attorney, Frank J. Hogan. "When Woodhouse says he has seen a contract guaranteeing such sale, he simply lies."

L. A. Utility Company Gives Revenue Report

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 20.—The Los Angeles Gas and Electric corporation, operating in Los Angeles, Pasadena and vicinity, reported to the railroad commission late yesterday that its operating revenue for the year 1923 was: electric $3,926,340.59; gas $8,651,951.44, a total of $12,578,292.03. Its operating expenses were electric $2,097,291.17, and gas $6,296,042.89, a total of $8,393,334.06; giving a net operating revenue of electric $1,829,049.42 and gas $2,355,908.75; a total of $4,184,958.17. Miscellaneous non-operating revenue amounted to $139,150. Interest, rent and other deductions totalled $2,175,098.08.

Hold Two in Death of Woman at Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Mar. 20.—Two men are being held for further questioning in connection with the murder of Dr. Zoe Wilkins, who was found stabbed to death in her home Tuesday night. They are Charles Wilkins, brother of the slain woman, and Dillard Davis, negro janitor at the Wilkins home, the last person to see the doctor alive last Saturday.

Macdonald Will Ask Prince Not to Ride

LONDON, Mar. 20.—Premier Ramsay Macdonald will appeal to the Prince of Wales to give up horse riding because of the risk, according to the Star.

In the old Scottish Hallowe'en game each took home the stalk of a cabbage and laid it behind the outside door; the first person to enter next morning was the future husband or wife.

SEND ACCOUNT OF TRIP TO FRIENDS

Mr. and Mrs. Ritchey Relate Wonders of Countries Visited by Them

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Ritchey of Maywood avenue, now on a world tour, write to their local friends from Singapore, under date of January 29, stating that they made an eleven day run from Honolulu to Yokohama, and that on their ship, which was in mid-ocean on Christmas day, they had turkey "and all the fixin's" just as though they had been at home.

"Our run through the inland sea was very beautiful," they write. "We stopped at the sacred isle of Miyajima, one of the three great sights of Japan, to see the temple there. Dogs, gasoline rickshas, births, deaths, and telegrams are tabu on the island. Buddha rules supreme. Here we saw the famed Geisha dance given in our honor and the way they gave it was graceful and interesting.

"Our stay in Java was very interesting. In the tropical country is here in all of its beauty. Our first day we went to the famous botanical garden at Buitenzorg, 40 miles inland. Java is under Dutch rule, has been for 300 years. On the whole they seem to have done a good part for the natives. We went to Garoet, up in the mountains, where we saw rice growing and the mountains terraced clear to the top. All of the land is in cultivation. The people are clean and contented with better houses than in some other countries.

Notables on Board "We are now on our way to Calcutta and Bombay, then a five day trip to Agra and Delhi, then to Jerusalem, March 3rd, Naples March 10th. Our ship has about 410 passengers on board, coming from 42 states and several foreign countries. Among them are: Mr. and Mrs. Young from South America; Senor Blasco Ibanez, author of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," from Spain. Several French people and Mrs. Alec Tweedy, the English authoress, Rev. Ritchie, wife and mother from Leicester, England, besides other English people. There are several ex-governors and Congressmen from our country and Mr. Bryan's grand-daughter on her bridal trip. We have had two deaths among the seamen, one buried at sea. We have romance too. One engagement has been announced and the marriage will occur soon and others may be announced later. It is a great trip for us and we are thankful for the opportunity of it."

Plan Long Trip Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rublee of Ellenwood drive have left for San Francisco, where they will embark for Honolulu on a month's vacation trip. Mr. Rublee is a teller at the First National bank of Los Angeles. The First National Bank of Los Angeles, entertained

BURBANK

SUGGEST FILLING WATER CHANNELS

City Planning Commission Favor Making Kenneth Road Smoother

The city planning commission has adopted a resolution suggesting to the Board of Trustees that the deep water channels at the intersections along Kenneth road and Sixth street be partially filled up, so that they may not continue to aggravate the motorist public, who regard them as needless "thank-you-Marms."

The channels were constructed to carry off flood water from the hills but F. Curt Miller, city engineer, says that they will serve this purpose even when partially filled up.

"Particularly in view of the county planning commission's plan to make Kenneth road a foothill boulevard for the entire San Fernando valley, and a connecting link in the great Mulholland "sky-line" drive now under construction," says Mr. Miller, "it would be wise to make it as smooth as possible."

City Can't Buy Site The law is cited by City Attorney E. E. Kirk to show that Burbank cannot vote the proposed bonds and purchase the fifty-acre industrial site under consideration. A holding company may be formed to do just this, however. Mr. Kirk points out. The opinion was rendered in response to a request from the Chamber of Commerce, as to the legality of the contemplated action.

Municipalities may purchase real estate only for municipal purposes, declares Mr. Kirk, and he gives a number of citations to prove the point. It is thought that the committee on industrial development will now approach the matter from another angle, possibly forming such a holding company as outlined.

Greet Newbyweds Mr. and Mrs. William A. Pfeiffer of 727 Santa Anita avenue, had a big surprise awaiting when they returned to their little "love nest" last week, after a brief honeymoon at Big Bear lake. Nailed up over the front door was a sign reading "Just Arrived!" While other examples of the sign maker's art, tacked here and there about the premises, read "Mama Love Papa!" "Two Hearts that Beat as One," etcetera.

But this was only the start of the jokers' efforts. The newlyweds next beheld on the roof of their little domicile all the movable property on the premises, including a wheelbarrow, automobile tires, step-ladder and sundry and other implements of husbandry. The bride was Miss Petzold, Mr. and Mrs. Rublee with a farewell dinner last Wednesday night. Nine of the members of the department with their wives and friends were guests.

WANT INELIGIBLE ALIENS KEPT OUT

Californian Delegations in Capital Ask Passage of New Laws

WASHINGTON, Mar. 20.—The California congressional delegation meeting with representatives of the American Legion, California Federation of Labor, the State Grange and the Native Sons of the Golden West adopted a resolution recommending the exclusion as permanent residents of all aliens now ineligible for citizenship. The meeting was attended by Ex-Senator Phelan, Republican of California; V. S. McClatchy of Sacramento and State Attorney-General Webb. The conference urged the passage of the House immigration bill in its present form, because it contained a clause barring ineligible aliens.

Japan has protested against this legislation and she is the only nation which has protested," said a statement adopted by the conference. "The measure is not discriminatory against Japan for it applies to half the population of the globe."

Would Cancel Treaty The Californians also urged cancellation of the "gentleman's agreement" on immigration with Japan. They termed this agreement as "surrendering to Japan the sovereign right of the United States to determine what immigrants shall enter our borders."

They denounced the agreement as having been violated. They recommended that in the future the United States should determine which aliens should enter, making allowances only for tourists, students and merchants.

San Francisco Kids See First White Deer

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—Presenting a picture familiar to the heart of every child who has read Grimm's fairy tales, two white deer, the first ever seen in California, have arrived here from Nicaragua.

Juan B. Molina, owner of a big plantation at Estell, Nicaragua, brought the white deer here as a gift to his son from the only herd of its kind in the world. Molina set out twenty years ago to breed the animals. He crossed the lightest colored animals he could find, and eventually a pure white deer was produced. He continued with his experiment until he had a fixed breed. In his herd of white deer the fawns all come true to type now.

Molina's son plans to present the two albino deer, a buck and a doe, to one of San Francisco's parks. Aluminum splints that can easily be adjusted, are being advocated in the middle west.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Keys to the Calories"

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

J.:—You say you have to be fed through a rubber tube inserted in an opening in your stomach because the esophagus (tube leading to the stomach) is closed up from the burns caused by swallowing a mouthful of strong ammonia water. You ask me if something can be done for you.

If the esophagus is not wholly closed up by scar tissue, physicians are sometimes able to stretch the opening by the insertion of gradually increasing sizes of instruments called bougies. I presume in your case the tube must be wholly closed.

If you are not satisfied that your physician has done all he can for you, ask him to call in a consultant. You might have to go to one of the larger cities, where they have what is known as bronchoscopic clinics. I had an article a short time ago, warning mothers that washing fluids are poisonous.

Unfortunately, washing fluids are not always labeled with poison-scare labels, as they should be, and mothers do not realize what terrible disasters can come from leaving these things around, or in not carefully rinsing the dishes which they use for measuring the fluids.

Individual mothers, parent-teacher organizations and women's clubs should write to their state representatives calling attention to this urgent need of a law compelling the manufacturers of such fluids to label them with poison-scare labels (if yours is one of the states which still have no such law).

I wish I could hold out more hope to you, J. I sincerely hope you will not have to continue being fed as you have to be now for the rest of your life—but if you have to be, try not to let it spoil your life. The fact that you have lived seven years since the accident shows that you can get enough nourishment this way, and one thing is certain, you will escape a lot of disorders that our F. F. F. (friendly frat fraternity) fall heir to.

Mrs. W. H.:—The primary cause of the formation of stones and gravel in the kidneys and bladder is not fully known. But, whatever the primary cause is, the immediate cause is the over-saturation of the urine with waste minerals or a change in the composition in the urine, so that its solvent power is lessened.

Stones in the gall bladder often seem to come after a bacterial infection, such as typhoid; but, according to Stevens, the bacterial infection does not seem to be the cause in kidney and bladder stones.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

KEPT AT HOME

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a girl nearly 16 years old. My parents will not let me go out with boys or even talk to them at church. I am a junior at high school and yet they say that I will have to wait until I am old enough to earn my own living. They won't even let me dance. Do you think that this is right. Don't you think that I ought to be able to go to high school entertainments? What could I say to them to persuade them to let me go with boys?

I have many girl friends who are just as old as I am and several younger who go with boys to high school entertainments. Don't you think that I ought to be able to go?

S. J. C.

There is a boy who goes to our school and I like him very much. I have never met him. How could I get acquainted with him?

S. J. C.

It seems to me that you ought to be allowed to attend school entertainments since you are a junior. Of course you are rather young to be so far advanced in school, but since you are and the social side of school life has its value, too, it seems to me a mistake to keep you away. Your parents, however, have a right to decide the matter, and without a doubt they believe they are acting for your good. Do not argue the matter much. Study hard and be obedient, and then when a party takes place ask them again to let you attend.

It is not necessary for you to have an introduction to a schoolmate. When you see the boy on the street, speak as you would to any of the other boys at school. If he is interested he will make an effort to further the acquaintance, but if he is not, there is nothing for you to do.

HE WAS MARRIED

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am engaged to a young man who has been going with me for three years. He seemed to be a nice boy.

The other day I received a letter from his wife. I was so surprised when I heard he was married and had three children. He came to see me and I showed him the letter. He threw it at me when he saw the handwriting, for he knew who it was from. He denied being married, but I wouldn't let him come to see me any more.

I still love him and know he loves me.

He is going with another girl now. Do you think it better for me to tell the girl about him or not? Please tell me, as I am anxious. WORRIED WILMA.

First, let me take time to commend you heartily for your courage and principle, both in showing the young man the letter and in refusing to see him any more. Do not tell the young woman he is now deceiving. That would put you in a very false light. However, there could be no harm in letting the wife know so she could do again as she did with you.

Be thankful for your moral stamina and forget the man. He does not love you, being incapable of real love, apparently. He is certainly unworthy of even your merest thought and you are too fundamentally fine to waste time on him.

HEARTBROKEN: You need legal advice. By all means consult a lawyer. There are so many points of importance in a case like yours, that I cannot be of help to you. A lawyer could tell you how much of a case you have

BEAUTY CHATS

Yesterday when talking about facial massage we got as far as treating the eyes and forehead. You are using two fingers of each hand and the skin has been thickly coated with a nourishing cold cream. You have already massaged all the lower part of the face and neck, raising all the sagging muscles around the mouth. Place the fingertips on the eyelids at the nose, stroke very gently over the eyelids, so gently that there is no pressure at all on the eyeball. In fact, the fingers should pass just under the eyebrow. At the end of the eyebrow where all the crows' feet spread, press quite firmly and continue the pressure under the eye to the nose and directly upwards across the forehead to the hair. The end of this stroke follows the little wrinkles that so often come between the eyes and across the three deep furrows that form on the forehead. When you have finished the massage of the eyes stroke across the forehead once more from the top of the nose outwards fanwise to the hair until you have covered all the skin.

These directions are specifically for wrinkles. But if you are massaging the face merely to stimulate the skin or to take away a tired expression you need not bother with these elaborate directions. In this case use two or three fingers of each hand, whichever is more convenient, and use a circular movement. This is most stimulating and is the best form of massaging for sallowness and a sluggish condition of the skin. It is also good if the massage is to work cleansing cream into the skin to eliminate blackheads.

After any kind of massage wipe over the face with a cloth wrung from hot water to remove the superfluous cream. End with a cold rinse, or spray the skin with toilet vinegar or toilet water.

Smiley—I do not know of any preparation to make teeth sparkle.

Marie—Witch hazel is often used to close the pores after cleansing or shaving. It would be of no use in clearing the skin of blackheads. If you have enlarged pores use very cold water or rub with a small piece of ice, after you have cleared the skin of all soil.

Anxious Inquirer—There are a number of preparations similar to the one you mention, and they are mixtures of henna and dye.

A Reader—Your red hands may come from poor circulation or from digestive troubles. Build up your health in any way that may be needed. Drink plenty of water between meals and try to improve the circulation in the hands through massage. Massage each finger, then palms and back of hands, continuing the motion, which should be rotary, all the way up the forearm to the elbow.

P. M.—At 19 years, height five feet, two inches, weight should be 115 pounds.

Tomorrow—The Feet in Spring

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

With the Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

We hear a great deal of criticism of the modern girl. Men and women who are at the head of institutions of learning are surely in a position to know something about that young person—the girl of today. Listen to what some of these people have to say about her:

President H. N. MacCracken, president of Vassar college:

Miss Mary E. Woolley

Miss Mary E. Woolley, president of Mt. Holyoke college: "Notwithstanding the fact that the modern girl's sport clothes would have seemed remarkable ten years ago and her manner somewhat frank and outspoken, I find her just as responsive and earnest as the girl of yesterday, and perhaps more self-reliant and independent."

Miss Ada L. Comstock, president of Radcliffe, mentions restlessness alone as a possible danger to the steady development of the modern girl. "She is, on the whole," she says, "more intelligent than her mother."

Try This Way To Get Relief From Head Colds

Nothing to Swallow—You Just Melt a Little in a Spoon and Breathe in the Healing Vapors.

To stop a head cold, try this simple, direct method. Melt a little Vicks in a spoon and inhale the penetrating Vapors of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Juniper Tar, etc. Also put a little up each nostril and sniff well back.

Another method is to heat a tin cup, put in a teaspoonful of Vicks and inhale the vapors that way. As fast as the vapors lose their strength, throw out the melted Vicks and add fresh.

Mothers prefer Vicks for their children because it avoids so much internal dosing. It can be used with perfect safety on the youngest child.

Advises Ordinary Buttermilk for Wrinkles and Enlarged Pores

This Good Looking Young Woman Uses Old Time Recipe of Buttermilk Cream in a New Way—A Gentle Massage with Fingers Before Retiring All That Is Necessary.

The old-time application of Buttermilk and Cream to whiten and preserve the skin and remove harsh little wrinkles and ugly sallowness is in grandmother's recipe and women throughout the country are again using it to ensure a beautiful complexion and snow-white hands and arms.

Buttermilk, however, is not always obtainable, but a specialist has at last perfected a method of concentrating buttermilk and combining it with a perfect cream, which you can buy in small quantities ready to use at any first-class drug store by simply asking for "Howard's Buttermilk Cream."

There is no secret about it nor is there any doubt about the result—it's just a common ordinary buttermilk in the form of a wonderful cream. That's all. Howard's Buttermilk Cream gently massaged with the finger tip around the corners of the eyes and mouth.

To get the best effect, be sure to follow the simple directions. Druggists guarantee a noticeable improvement after the first application or they will refund the money.

ROPEAN MITT ARMADA PLANS AMERICAN COUP

Levine to Tote String of Highly Touted Ring Boxers Here Shortly

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
of International News Service

ONDON, March 20.—Invasion of America by European boxers here to have been undertaken by individual scrappers, a mass attack upon American prestige is shortly to be effected by an imposing array of world knuckle-dusters.

The generalissimo of the invading army is Harry Levine, who aged Angie Ratner, the American middleweight, during his European last year. He will be assisted by John Alf, a French manager and trainer, and star of the stable which Levine and Alf will transport across Atlantic is Billy Mascarot, the European featherweight champion. Mascarot's objective in the United States will be a match with Johnny Dundee for the old's featherweight title. Since retirement of Eugene Criqui, has come to the front as best of the European featherweight and he believes he is good enough to give Dundee a run for money. Mascarot is not only a stranger to American boxing fans, as he has performed before.

Two Belgians in Stable
Two Belgian mitt-wielders will be included in the entourage. One of these is Pete Hobin, a welterweight, who is eager to take on key Walker in a championship fight. Hobin also has been in the United States before, and claims to have once knocked out Walker in the seventh round in a bout before Mickey had acquired welterweight title. The other heavyweight, who has made quite reputation in European circles, chief claim to distinction being twenty-round draw with Criqui. If the claims of the European "made" are correct Luis Angulo has a new rival in the heavyweight ranks, who, curiously enough, also hails from south of equator. Included in the Levine-Alf menage is Ramon Rojas, who is a native of Chile, but who absorbed most of his fighting in Europe. Rojas is a young man with large ideas, thinks it is incumbent upon him first to demonstrate that he is not "Desa" of London, is the name of the creme of South American heavyweights. Having accomplished this, he is perfectly willing to allow public opinion to see him into a bout with Dempsey, provided the promoters talk financial language he can understand.

Rumors, Denials, Alibis

By F. A. GRAHAM

On account of rain the other day the Angels were forced to be idle all day. Some wag suggested that they play parlor games and entered "robber" as his choice, but none of the players knew the game and there were no umpires present to coach them, so it had to be abandoned.

"Two Golf Events in the Next Ten Days." The excitement will kill us!

The public not having taken the ball in sufficient numbers, De Palma and Haugdahl will now have to do their much advertised stunt all over again.

Johnny Hodge is bemoaning his luck in a recent round of golf on the Wilshire course when one of his drives hit a seagull and killed it, causing the ball to drop dead and spoiling a perfectly good drive. This is extremely hard tack, especially for Johnny and the ball. Probably this is what the cow pasture billiardists call "getting a birdie."

Then again it might be what the jawbone league calls by another name.

Les Fannen is a ball player and considered quite some cracks in semi-pro circles. Les Fannen is just what the fans are looking for, especially in critical moments when there are men on and two down.

Emmett Crowell laughed himself to death in a Reading, Pa., theater recently, according to a news item. Musicians have been a personal appearance of a prize fighter.

Coast league umpires are rumored to be in hiding during the advent of Al G. Barnes' circus.

Eleanor Woodford, noted girl runner, recently bobbed two pounds of her locks, she bemoaned the fact that she had not done so long ago, saying that she might have become a world champion if she had shaved the weight of those two pounds when running in college meets. Red Killefer should make a fast sprinter if the absence of hair has anything to do with it.

Spiritualist says that when a man of many friends dies their spirits are waiting to meet him. If this is correct dope only guy who will meet umpires will be the celestial traffic cop.

Student Body Heads To Settle Supremacy

Leslie Cummins, president of the student body of the Southern Branch of the University of California, has issued a formal challenge to Harold Wagner and Harry Silke, presidents of the student organizations at Occidental college and the University of Southern California, respectively, during them to appear at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon on Moore field, S. B. U. C., and enter into a three-cornered presidential race for the title of settling the ancient dispute over the athletic prowess of the three institutions, declares Cummins. "There has long been a feud over our respective abilities on the athletic field and it must be settled now," said the contestant from the Cub institution.

Both Wagner and Silke have accepted the challenge with delight and are in strict training for the track meet. The challenger is in the pink of condition and ready to go. He has chosen a day most convenient to him and when the entire University male population will be on hand to cheer him in his proposed victory.

Robber Is Felled by Boy With Scantling

BELOIT, Wis., March 20.—Two negro bandits made the mistake of holding up David Wilson, of Blue Island, Ill., in front of his fraternity house and trying to make away with his wealth, amounting to twenty-seven cents. The robbers had barely covered two blocks when they were overtaken by a posse of pajama-clad Beloit College students who had come to the rescue of their companion.

Facing the fire of a 32-caliber revolver held by one of the stick-up men, three of the students advanced and, while Carl Beerwald, of Milwaukee, argued with him, Robert Irvine, of New York, attacked him from the rear, and Teddy Scurota came in on the flank and downed him with a well-aimed blow on the head with a two-by-four. After recovering the 27 cents from him, the bad man was turned over to the police. The other bandit escaped, but was taken into custody the following day.

"That's the spirit that won the war," said the Rockford chief of police, who is an ex-service man.

Two Sox Players Are Injured on Diamond

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 20.—Roy Elsch, substitute second baseman for the Chicago White Sox, and Amos Strunk, White Sox right fielder, were injured here yesterday when they collided while chasing a high fly from the bat of Outfielder Nixon of the Boston Braves during an exhibition game. Elsch was badly cut over his left eye and at first seemed to be severely injured. Strunk was less severely hurt but both players left the game.

NEED BANCROFT ON GIANT SQUAD

Baseball's Best Shortstop Would Help Infielders, Jackson Slipping

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Mar. 20.—Between the lines of training camp masterpieces from Sarasota, Fla., has run a rather poignant note to the effect that all is not well with Travis Jackson, the young man John McGraw esteemed so highly that he traded one of the best shortstops in baseball right before the eyes of the team.

McGraw made moderate claims of greatness for Jackson and intimated that while Dave Bancroft was a most worthy individual, his passing from the so-called "million dollar" infield would prove a mere nothing.

It is insinuated now, however, that our Mr. McGraw may have committed a faux pas.

Jackson is neither hitting nor fielding after the manner of his 1923 performances. In fact, there is some talk of a general shift in the Giant array.

May Shift Frisch
If Jackson continues in his slump it is said that McGraw will revive attempts to cull an experienced infielder from the possession of some other National league club. Falling in this, the report has it he may shift Frank Frisch to shortstop and try to get results at second base from Fred Maguire or Fred Lindstrom, recruits, or else bring Ross Young in from the outfield.

All of these have the outward appearance of desperate moves, calculated to weaken the defense of what was an extremely efficient infield combination.

Frisch, a great second baseman, might be a flop at shortstop. Maguire is a good fielder but cannot hit, at least he has given no evidence of the fact that he can. Lindstrom seems to be a fine prospect but you cannot tell a book by its cover nor gold by its glitter. Young was once an infielder but thought better of it. Perhaps he was right.

Groh Not Certain
Unless Jackson comes through, the great infield of the Giants will be no more. Two of its remaining members, in fact, are not altogether certain of themselves. Heinie Groh is hitting and fielding well, according to reports, but has not recovered from his operation to the extent that he is letting himself out. Fear is felt that Groh will be unable to stand up under the strain of 154 ball games.

George Kelly at first base has failed to strike his stride to date and is being considerably worried by the pernicious activities of Bill Terry, Toledo recruit, who is fielding acceptably and hitting like a mad man. Still, it is hardly likely that Kelly will be replaced or that Groh will fail to start the season at third base.

It is simply the fact that a certainty has become very uncertain. With Bancroft at shortstop the difficulty would be largely eliminated. He isn't.

It would seem therefore that McGraw has placed all of his chips on one card and perhaps has overplayed his hand.

Mexico is to send representatives to compete in the Olympic games in Paris next summer. Retraites of the revolutionists will be watched by experts in the hope of picking out some star runners.

K. C.'S NEW TEAM TO PLAY SUNDAY

Glendale and Long Beach to Tangle at Local Park in League Game

By NORMAN E. BROWN
WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 20.—There's a merry little battle being staged on the White Sox baseball oasis here for the honor of substituting for Ray Schalk, veteran catcher of the White Sox and the ultimate laurels of filling his shoes when age takes its toll.

The word oasis fits admirably. The playing field is of Kentucky grass. This green spot lies on the edge of town in a sandy waste. The auto roads leading to the grandstand are merely hubdeed groves in white sand.

But the field itself is in superb shape. The outfield is one of the best in the baseball state. Like the diamond of the Boston Braves in St. Petersburg, the top layer of soil for the base paths is of imported material.

To get back to the catching, there is no thought now that Schalk will not carry the White Sox's burden behind the plate at least another season. He may be slipping a bit, but he still has several miles to volplane was not better than fair, his big league baseball combination. However, Ray himself realizes that he cannot carry the whole burden forever and is working with Manager Chance and his aides in developing a relief man and eventual successor.

The three young hopefuls who are now striving to prove that they have the makings are Clyde Crouse, Jim Burns and Dooley Ferguson.

Burns comes to the Sox from the Shreveport club, Crouse from the Muskegon, Mich., team and Ferguson from the college ranks in Texas.

Burns Has the Edge
All three have yet to cut their eye teeth. Burns seems to have had the most experience. With the Shreveport club in the Texas league last season he worked in ninety-three games behind the bat. While his fielding was not better than fair, his whip attracted attention. He accepted 430 chances—311 putouts, 102 assists and seventeen that he booted. He led the league by a big margin in assists. Bischoff, working in over 100 games for Wichita Falls, collected but eighty-two. Burns had but fair success with the bat, hitting only .243 in 115 games. This poor record was due partly to a batting fault in the opinion of Sox vets.

Crouse, a Muncie, Ind., kid, was given a tryout by the Sox last season and then shipped to Muskegon in the Michigan-Ontario league. He not only showed promise behind the platter but socked the ball for a .293 average.

Ferguson is a newcomer in professional baseball. He made quite a rep around Texas, however, and the thing that impresses Ed Walsh, for one, is that the kid handles himself well behind the plate, keeping himself behind every ball and getting his throws away without loss of time.

Schalk's helping all three of the hopefuls with the generous spirit that is typical of him. "If you guys will only get going maybe I'll get a chance to pitch," says "Cracker."

Has Pitching Pains
The wizard catcher apparently mothers a long growing ambition to take the other end of the firing line. Ray might get away with it, at that. He has several pitching faults however. "One is that he can't get the ball past the batter—when he gets it in the general direction of home. This can be remedied, however, so can his wildness. Lee Fohl once got Grover Lowdermilk to pitch three strikes in a row by having him aim at first base.

Ray also has a foot fault. He raises his left leg with all the grace of a motion picture star but there the matter—and the leg—

GROOM FISH FOR 440 YARD SPRINT

High School Athletes Take Stiff Training Course For Track Meet

Coach Normal Hayhurst was too busy yesterday afternoon putting his athletes through the hoops to stop and talk much track, but after following him around for about half an hour, we did get hold of the fact that he expects Fish to make the rest of the Central league look sick from now on.

Mr. Fish specializes in the 440, and twice has nipped it off in 53 flat, which is not so bad for a high school performer at this time of the year. Hayhurst expects that he can clip a few seconds off of this if the occasion demands it, and is grooming him as a sure point winner in the big event to be staged in May at Patterson Field.

Hayhurst's dash men have got to speed up if they expect to get in on the points. Purdy looks like the best bet in the century, and with a little development might be able to place well in future competitions. Lavelle is hurrying the discs so far it would take a retriever half a day to bring it home, and ought to be good for some counters in this event. The vaulters have not been setting the upper part of the universe afire as they cleared the bar, but are showing improvement.

Coach Butterfield and his diamond proteges are in hopes of bringing home a pennant this year. With eleven of last year's veterans on the roll and several promising youngsters working out, the competition has been very keen. The pitching is well taken care of and Butterfield has been able to look after his infield and outfield. He has been giving the youngsters stiff hitting practice this week, endeavoring to locate their eyes on the old apple.

NEED BANCROFT ON GIANT SQUAD

Baseball's Best Shortstop Would Help Infielders, Jackson Slipping

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Mar. 20.—Between the lines of training camp masterpieces from Sarasota, Fla., has run a rather poignant note to the effect that all is not well with Travis Jackson, the young man John McGraw esteemed so highly that he traded one of the best shortstops in baseball right before the eyes of the team.

McGraw made moderate claims of greatness for Jackson and intimated that while Dave Bancroft was a most worthy individual, his passing from the so-called "million dollar" infield would prove a mere nothing.

It is insinuated now, however, that our Mr. McGraw may have committed a faux pas.

Jackson is neither hitting nor fielding after the manner of his 1923 performances. In fact, there is some talk of a general shift in the Giant array.

May Shift Frisch
If Jackson continues in his slump it is said that McGraw will revive attempts to cull an experienced infielder from the possession of some other National league club. Falling in this, the report has it he may shift Frank Frisch to shortstop and try to get results at second base from Fred Maguire or Fred Lindstrom, recruits, or else bring Ross Young in from the outfield.

All of these have the outward appearance of desperate moves, calculated to weaken the defense of what was an extremely efficient infield combination.

Frisch, a great second baseman, might be a flop at shortstop. Maguire is a good fielder but cannot hit, at least he has given no evidence of the fact that he can. Lindstrom seems to be a fine prospect but you cannot tell a book by its cover nor gold by its glitter. Young was once an infielder but thought better of it. Perhaps he was right.

Groh Not Certain
Unless Jackson comes through, the great infield of the Giants will be no more. Two of its remaining members, in fact, are not altogether certain of themselves. Heinie Groh is hitting and fielding well, according to reports, but has not recovered from his operation to the extent that he is letting himself out. Fear is felt that Groh will be unable to stand up under the strain of 154 ball games.

George Kelly at first base has failed to strike his stride to date and is being considerably worried by the pernicious activities of Bill Terry, Toledo recruit, who is fielding acceptably and hitting like a mad man. Still, it is hardly likely that Kelly will be replaced or that Groh will fail to start the season at third base.

It is simply the fact that a certainty has become very uncertain. With Bancroft at shortstop the difficulty would be largely eliminated. He isn't.

It would seem therefore that McGraw has placed all of his chips on one card and perhaps has overplayed his hand.

Mexico is to send representatives to compete in the Olympic games in Paris next summer. Retraites of the revolutionists will be watched by experts in the hope of picking out some star runners.

Sport Crucible

By DAVIS J. WALSH

Yes, We Have No Alibi
Some attempt has been made to account for the defeat of the United States hockey team by the Canadians in the Olympic games by declaring that the result was the fruit of team work rather than individual brilliancy. This is as so much malarkey, according to the best informed sources.

The latter account for the American defeat as follows: 1. Inferiority in a man-to-man analysis of the two teams. 2. Inferiority in team work.

That would seem to cover the situation like a chattel mortgage. Also, it is said that some of the best American "amateurs" were not members of the Olympic team; that these men deemed it more profitable to remain at home.

This, if true, rates not only the amateurism by the sportsmanship and patriotism of these worthies at somewhere less than nothing.

A New York critic is responsible for the statement that Charley Weissmuller, the swimmer, is in for a big year. Yes, and we can see the same thing for Charley McGraw and Charley Evers, well known baseball figures; Charles McCormack, the tenor; Charley Dundee, featherweight champion, and Johnny Paddock, the sprinter.

Bedtime Story:
Once upon a time there were two wrestlers who did not battle three hours fifty-five minutes and eighteen seconds to a draw. They had to catch a train.

According to Clark Griffith, the celebrated squeeze play was invented impromptu, at lib and on the spur of the moment by Jack Chesbro and Willie Keeler, both members of the Yankees while Griffith was manager of that club. It is supposed to have happened as follows:

Chesbro was on third base, Keeler at bat and Addie Joss pitching. The base runner, obeying that impulse, started toward the plate with the wholly laudable idea of stealing home. Half way down the base line he realized he couldn't make it and shouted to Keeler to "lay it down."

Willie did and the runner scored, standing up.

"That was the first squeeze play," Griffith declared at the recent American League schedule meeting, while Chesbro, a member of the group, nodded agreement. "We pulled it for a month or more after that before any of the other clubs realized what a valuable scoring play it was and began to use it themselves."

Joe Page, another old timer, takes violent exception to Griffith's claim, however.

"They were working the squeeze play before Griffith saw a major league ball park," says Joseph.

Hal Chase Again
The discredited Hal Chase was the greatest pitcher the game ever knew on the bunting end of the play, in Griffith's estimation.

"We used to bet all kinds of money that no pitcher could throw a ball past Chase, provided he wanted to hit it and the ball could be reached," quoth Clark. "He could foul them off, even if you threw them under his arm pit. He would get his bat in there and 'tick' them, somehow."

"I saw him sign for the squeeze eight times in succession against such a great pitcher as Joss and get away with it. Addie knew he was signing for the play but he couldn't prevent Chase from protecting the runner with a foul tip."

"Then, on the ninth pitch, Chase hammered out a two-base hit."

It is noted that Battling Siki, the open-at-the-throat model from the African jungles, is a consistent loser as he descends the fistic ladder, rung by rung and bum by bum.

Perhaps he never amounted to anything, yet the fact remains that he was a world's champion twelve months ago and cannot yet.

The next football season's awful long way off but Columbia students and grads are already wearing long faces and sad looks. For the dope comes from Bosting town that Percy Haughton, the Moses selected to lead the Columbia grid squad out of the bushes, will not return to that institution next fall. Percy signed a one-year contract a year ago and a new one hasn't been drawn up as yet.

Ninety per cent of the pitchers trying to make good in the majors and in the minors, too, cannot pitch. They scarcely know the first thing about pitching." You have that on the authority of Iron Man Joe McGinnity, who pitched for thirty years and finally gave up at fifty-odd years. Which ought to give the opinions some weight.

The year holds little that can interest us. We waited with bated breath for the outcome of the Wilson-Greb match. Now that that is over, what thrill can there be? Certainly the year will not see anything worse.

J. F. Hillerich, the pioneer bat manufacturer and maker of the famous "Louisville Slugger" bat, is dead. The interest in this item is that it calls most of us back to the "old days" when we would have given our eye teeth to have sported a "Low-y-ville Slugger" bat. For one thing, the kid that owned one always got first rap. If he didn't the game was off.

One reason why the Cleveland Indians failed to be interested in the chance to recover the services of outfielder Elmer Smith when the Yanks cast him adrift is that "Tris" Speaker counts on young Homer Summa, former Western leaguer, to deliver the bang in right field the coming season. Summa showed his mettle last fall. Spoke himself will roam center as per usual and Charley Jamieson will continue to star in left.

A minute later he was working with Burns behind the plate while the pitchers lobbed them over for batting practice.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"Hell's Hole," a William Fox production, with Charles Jones, Ruth Clifford and a strong supporting cast, directed by Emmett J. Flynn, from a story by George Scarborough, shows at the Glendale theatre today, Friday and Saturday.

The story has to do with Tod Musgrave (played by Charles Jones), to whom we are introduced as he sits disconsolately in one of those western cabarets where pulchritude reigns and where men fight for their lives at the bat of an eyelid.

"Hell's Hole" takes rank with the screen's most novel and thrilling photoplays. Charles Jones carries off the honors of the day with superb exhibition of trick roping and riding, endurance and vitality. The romance winding throughout the red-blooded action provides a lovely balance.

THE GATEWAY

"When a Man's Man," First National adaptation of the noted Harold Bell Wright novel, featuring John Bowers, Marguerite de la Motte and George Hackathorne, shows at the Gateway theatre today, Friday and Saturday.

The main theme of the story is the rejuvenation of a man's soul, and this is accomplished. In the end of the picture we see Patches wave farewell to his friends and former sweetheart and disappear into the Arizona mountains with only the reformed cattle rustler for companionship.

It is the story of an indolent young clubman, who is suddenly brought to the realization of the futility of his life, when the girl of his heart turns him down.

In the end he finds a real purpose in life.

REALTORS CHANGE OFFICE LOCATION

Twining & Myers Take Larger Quarters as Business Resumes Activity

The change in offices from 227-A South Brand boulevard to 108 West Broadway was made today by Twining & Myers, realtors, who moved to the latter address, while J. F. Stanford, who has been occupying the West Broadway address, moved down on South Brand boulevard.

The move was made necessary for Twining & Myers on account of the program of expansion that they have undertaken in connection with their general real estate business and by the activity that has already manifested itself in their three subdivisions, Woodland Park, Mesa Crest and Burton Heights, all of which, Mr. Twining declares, are indicating a revived interest on the part of home seekers and investors for property of the class embraced in these properties.

Mr. Twining will devote his attention almost entirely to the subdivision side of the business, while L. H. Myers will be in charge of the general run of insurance, rentals, residences, etc., and each of these departments will be headed by an expert in his particular line.

Shows Beauties of Hawaii In Lecture

Franklin Skinner, principal of one of the leading junior high schools in the Hawaiian Islands, gave an illustrated lecture at Occidental college yesterday morning on "A Trip Through the Hawaiian Islands." Mr. Skinner told in a very entertaining and interesting manner of the country and its characteristics. He showed colored slides of the important points of interest and related many incidents regarding the natives and their land. Some splendid natural colored pictures of the volcanoes were presented.

RECALLS ROMANCE OF 'FORTY-NINERS'

Early Days of California Form Theme of Program Given at Club

A historic gown which had been worn by the actress, Mrs. Maggie Holloway Fisher, over thirty years ago, while playing "Mrs. Micawber" in "David Copperfield," and nearly every article of attire worn by these members was an heirloom and had a most interesting story.

Just previous to the program, led by Mrs. Daniels, the speaker of the afternoon, in a flowered gown with bonnet and shawl of the 1839 period, the members in costume passed in review before the guests giving them opportunity to observe the costumes more closely.

With most gracious words of welcome Mrs. Wilcox gave as the keynote of the afternoon "friendliness," and opportunity was afforded each guest to shake hands cordially with her neighbor. Mrs. Wilcox presented Mrs. Geo. H. Rowe chairman of the history and landmarks committee, who, in turn, presented the speakers of the afternoon.

Mrs. Herbert Duke Fortier told the romance of the San Fernando valley under the title of "The Daughters of the Snows." Mrs. H. S. Garlinghouse related a legend of Eagle Rock and Mrs. Edgar Leavitt told "How Glendale Was Named."

PUPILS TO STAGE 4-ACT OPERETTA

"Hansel and Gretel" Chosen By Colorado St. Students For P.-T. A. Benefit

"Hansel and Gretel," an operetta in four acts, is to be presented by the pupils of Colorado street school, Saturday, March 22, in the auditorium of the Glendale Avenue school. There will be a matinee performance at 2 o'clock and a second performance at 7:30 in the evening.

Leading parts of "Hansel and Gretel" will be taken by Fred Puseman and Elnora Melgreen, pupils of the fifth grade, of which Miss Muriel Wilson is teacher. Katherine Girard will impersonate the "witch."

Approximately fifty children are in the cast, and members of the faculty have directed rehearsals and the preparations for staging the coming event.

The kindergarten orchestra of Colorado school, and an orchestra made up from other city schools under the direction of Miss Elsa Brennaman, will furnish special music numbers between acts, varied with dancing numbers by talented children.

'PRE-SCHOOL AGE OF CHILD' THIRD TALK OF SERIES

Lecture Under Auspices of P.-T. A. Scheduled for Friday Morning

Miss Madeine Veverka, one of the foremost educators as well as one of the most interesting speakers in the educational field, will speak tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the auditorium at 323 North Brand boulevard, to the Glendale women who are attending the lecture series under the auspices of the Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher associations.

Miss Veverka will speak on "The Pre-School Age of the Child," a subject that will follow in harmonious sequence the preceding lectures on "Nutrition and Growth" and "The Period of Infancy."

Experienced Teacher
The educational experience of Miss Veverka has a wonderful background of study and training, for she is a graduate of the Teachers' College in Colorado and Columbia University, and has done work in the School of Education at the University of Chicago.

She has been a teacher in the elementary grades, in kindergarten and in a normal school, has served as county superintendent of schools and is at present supervisor of kindergarten and primary work in the Los Angeles city schools.

Deadly Monotony
Wavy blonde bobbed hair, a sweet smiling face, a neatly tailored red flannel sports dress with white collar and cuffs and black tie, and black hose and shoes, were enough to shatter Miss Lockwood's arguments, when Charlotte Busby, in her soft southern voice, told the mothers that uniform dress would be "deadly monotonous."

She cited Glendale as a city of moderate means and Glendale High school as a democratic institution, where the girls' dress was conservative and not in need of change.

When she had concluded her arguments and was questioned as to her real feelings in the matter, she truthfully admitted that, while a few days ago she had been a strong opponent of uniform dress, after a delegation of girls from South Pasadena, had visited Glendale High school to speak on their uniform dress ruling, she was converted.

Mrs. C. H. Whitney, president of the Parent-Teacher association, was in charge of the meeting. Mrs. P. O. Lucas served as secretary in the absence of Mrs. J. I. Wernette.

Play Nets $804
A report from the treasurer showed that the recent production of "Dulcy" had added $304 to the treasury and that at present there is $168 in the treasury. The students who took part in the play, the entire cast and assistants, are to go to Los Angeles tonight to be guests of the Parent-Teacher association at the production of "The Merchant of Venice."

of making golf balls appear out of the thin air he recommended to fat men who consistently drive into the rough.

Amid the sighs of the feminine members of the audience and the rapt attention of the masculine element, the master of ceremonies introduced Anita Stewart, Priscilla Dean, both stars of the first magnitude. He said they believed that movie stars should be seen and not heard. They merely made their bows and retired like good little girls.

Jekyll-Hyde Scene
In what was probably the finest bit of character impersonation ever witnessed in Glendale, Sheldon Lewis made a hit with two scenes from Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. Especially in the second scene when the ravings of a drug-crazed mind prompted Mr. Hyde to confess to the murder, was he extraordinary. This work had been pronounced by the New York critics as one of the fine bits of acting ever presented at the metropolitan stage. The present last night evidently occurred in their opinion.

The flappers had their innings next when Herbert Rawlinson entertained with a good brand of chatter. His stories were witty and right up to the minute. He kept on talking until Lionel Belmont punched him with a stick through the curtain.

Miss Virginia Pearson, who sponsored the entertainment, was the last artist to appear. After thanking all the stars for their appearance and the audience for their attention, she gave Kipling's "Fulham Fisher's Boarding House."

Concluding the program was the picture, "A Prince of a King," a Selznick production, starring Miss Pearson.
