Foss Owes His Nomination For Governor To Fitzgerald and Lomasney

Are you willing to have the appointment of your public officials dictated by the Boston Democratic Machine?
Are you willing to see the Boston Police Force, the Boston License Commission and the Civil Service Commission dominated by the same sinister influence?
Governor Draper has given a business administration. He has been fair to organized labor, to organized capital and the whole people.
Under a Republican administration the people of Massachusetts are today employed, new mills are in process of construction, and the savings banks deposits indicate a prosperous and thrifty people.

ON THE FARM

This column is worth more than $2.00 a year to you. Subscribe for the Gazette.

Don't let the apples or potatoes freeze. Sort out the rotten ones.

When the world wants good cows, horses, sheep, hens and hogs it sends out to the farms and gets them.

Time is saved by doing now much of the work usually done in the busy spring, such as hauling stones, clearing away trees and brush, fixing the grape arbor, etc.

Let's not begin to coddle our hens with the first whiff of frosty weather. That softens them and makes them tender for the real cold that is coming.

The cultivating season is over and all tools should be cleaned up and housed. One winter's exposure to the weather will do more harm than several years' use.

Too much coarse fodder should not be fed at once. Hundreds of horses are ruined every year by too much hay at a feed. It must be borne in mind that the stomach of the horse is small.

The experienced poultryman breeds only from his best winter layers. It is then when prices are at their best, and profits are to be counted upon in the poultry business.

Late in the fall dig and thoroughly clean the livers and slice thinly and set on plates near the range, where it will become dry without heating or it will lose its strength. Pound or grind to a powder and store in jars for winter use.

Dried cod fish, parsley, etc., may be stored the same way for flavoring soups and stews.

The asparagus beetle has nearly destroyed the asparagus industry in some localities. Many remedies have been suggested, among them applying lime freely over the bed late in the fall, after the tops and bed have been burnt over, with an other liberal application of lime in the spring.

With the latter days of October and the early days of November comes the proper time for farmers to practice a special wisdom by selecting their seed corn for another year. By doing so, we are looking into the future eight months, and are thereby providing against possible failure so far as human agency is concerned.

It would surprise the average farmer to actually know the hens which are not paying their way through the year. Some hens scarcely ever lay eggs. From now on through the winter is the time to watch the hens and to cull out the non-producers. Those which lay well through the winter should be selected and penned the latter part of the winter to furnish egg for future producing flocks.

One of the most serious leaks on the farm is in the poor care taken of farm implements when not in use. As soon as the season is over binders and other machinery, no longer needed this year, should be carefully cleaned, the grease and dirt should be removed from the bearings, and these should be carefully oiled and all bright parts greased to prevent rusting. Preparations should be made for replacing any broken or defective parts.

One of the most important duties at this season is to cull out the youngsters and discard all the runt, puny specimens. Keep only the best and you will make a better profit this winter, when prices are high. The wide-awake poultryman knows that it will be only a few weeks now until the price of eggs will begin to rise, until the climax of high prices is reached about Christmas, and one should therefore be getting his flocks in shape to supply as many of these high priced eggs as possible.—Agricultural Epitomist.

On most farms pasture is either lacking or is overabundant, owing to variable weather conditions, and the farmer is unable to adjust the amount of stock he keeps to the inconstant pasture supply. It is rare to find a mixed farmer who is not too short in pasture at some period of the season, and the prudent man will provide for such lack by a catch-crop of some kind.

Carefully conducted experiments at the Massachusetts Experiment Station tend to show there is no loss in richness when the manure is spread broadcast in the winter. A difference is always noted for the better in this method over the other way of waiting until spring and then spreading. Even though the lumps of manure freeze while in the field, it has been shown that this is just what the manure needs. The action of the weather on the various constituents is just what is needed to make the manure more available as a plant food.

GRAPE CULTURE

In its crop report for October, the final issue of the season, the State Board of Agriculture includes an article on "Grape Culture" by Mr. Edward Farrar, of Taunton, Mass. This bulletin can be obtained on application to J. Lewis Ellsworth, Sec. State Board of Agriculture, and those wishing it can have their names placed on the mailing list, to receive copies of the reports when the work is resumed in 1911.

In this article Mr. Farrar says: "For the commercial growing of grapes two things are essential, aptitude for the work and a favorable location where the late spring or early fall frosts are not likely to destroy the crop. If either of these is lacking one will do well to give his attention to the lower level crop. Cold air settles on the lower level, and as decomposition is the result of germ action, carbon is a deodorant also.

Carbon has various other uses as a disinfectant and germicide. You can obtain carbon at your drug store in 10c, 25c and 50c bottles. It is so powerful that even a small bottle will last a long time.

You can obtain a sample of carbon free of charge by addressing the Barrett Manufacturing Company, 297 Franklin street, Boston, Mass."

needed for grapes, preferably with a southeast exposure. If there is a body of water at the foot of the hill so much the better, as the air moving down over the water is warmed and rises, giving a current of air which will occasionally save a crop. The slope and character of the land should be such as to ripen the fruit early, as the price drops very materially when the New York or western grapes come into the market, making it difficult to dispose of our crop at a profit.

Mr. Farrar goes on to describe the soils necessary for grape growing, the proper fertilizers and the varieties which should be grown, with the descriptions taken from the publications of the New York Agricultural Experiment Station. He also treats on the planting and pruning of the vines, including summer pruning, and gives directions for grafting, thinning the fruit and spraying and marketing.

Household Hints.

HOW TO DO DIFFICULT CLEANING.

Things that are hard to clean with soap and water are usually greasy in their nature. Water and grease won't mix and that is why soap and water cleaning is not effective. In some cases a little carbonol should be mixed with the water to make it dissolve the grease. Oil stains that you thought could not be removed at all will vanish quickly where a little carbonol is used.

A kitchen sink is hard to clean on account of the grease. Put in a spoonful of carbonol and scrub it around and the grease will vanish immediately.

The garbage can is impossible to keep clean without a grease solvent. Rinse it out with carbonol and water, however, and you will get good results at once.

Carbonol is a coal tar product which you can buy at the drug store. It is very cheap and has in addition to its grease dissolving power, the property of killing all germ life and as decomposition is the result of germ action, carbonol is a deodorant also.

Carbonol has various other uses as a disinfectant and germicide. You can obtain carbonol at your drug store in 10c, 25c and 50c bottles. It is so powerful that even a small bottle will last a long time.

You can obtain a sample of carbonol free of charge by addressing the Barrett Manufacturing Company, 297 Franklin street, Boston, Mass."

Ask the Woman who uses one

Congressman for 12th Massachusetts District

HON. JOHN W. WEEKS

This does not come to us as a political advertisement, nor is it written at the request or suggestion of the candidate, but purely and simply and in dead earnest in the interest of Weymouth.

Six years ago when the Hon. Samuel Powers declined to further serve as member of Congress from the 12th Mass. District, Capt. John W. Weeks of Newton became the nominee and in accepting the nomination said:

"But while I have sought this nomination, I have not in the remotest sense bargained for it, and I will therefore be free, if elected, to give to the district the best there is in me. If I fail to satisfy you or fail to satisfy myself, which in a way is quite as important, I shall be ready to relinquish the trust which you are confiding to me at the end of my term."

We have no means of knowing whether Capt. Weeks has "satisfied himself" or not but we do know that while at the beginning of his service Capt. Weeks was almost unknown in Congressional circles and legislative work, he has by his business ability and laborious efforts made more rapid strides in advancement and became a more important factor in Washington than any man the state or nation now has in Congress and, you may ask, what has that to do with Weymouth?

Our answer is this: never was there a time when Weymouth has had so much at stake as now. The National Government has taken the best of our Back River, over 500 acres of land in Hingham, and more than 100 acres of our best shore front and now demands that we should reconstruct the so-called Hingham bridge and at a cost of from $60,000 to $100,000 dollars and while the government demands and may enforce its demands the city of Quincy and the towns of Weymouth and Hingham are going to make a strenuous effort to have Congress come in and relieve the situation by paying a part or all of the expense, and for this reason, if for no other, a man of Mr. Weeks' experience and high standing among his fellow Congressmen, would, in the very nature of the thing, have a much greater influence than a new and unknown man, and for this reason if for no other should have the solid vote of Weymouth irrespective of party. If Weymouth casts 2,000 votes on election day there should be no blanks or other votes cast than those for Hon. John W. Weeks, the present Congressman from the 12th Massachusetts District.

There are now but four days before the election and whatever your political preference may be let us have four days of as many, continuous and respectable work as was manifested at the Republican rally last week.

In reading the Boston paper of last night regarding the visit of Mr. Foss to Weymouth people are learning much in regard to the political standing of some of the "off-long republican" alibi-ists as now coming out for Foss.

Our weather prophet makes the following predictions for next week:

Monday high wind.

Tuesday sunny, and a large number of snowed under, balance of week variable, sunny or cloudy as you happened to be on the winning or losing side.

In this political campaign there are too many men who seem to have got down to the level of the Indian chief who said "I fight not to defend myself, I fight to get the girl I love."

To see the white man fall?

His only battle cry is "down with the white man" even though he may be their best friend.

Back River Bridge.

As is well known the General Government has taken large tracts of land on either side of Weymouth Back River for a naval magazine and now asks the City of Quincy and the towns of Weymouth and Hingham to reconstruct the bridge with fifty foot spans and efforts are being made to have the government, through these municipalities, bear the expense. At the meeting of the Weymouth Board of Trade in September a committee was appointed to take action on this matter and on Monday evening, last, this committee and at the selection's rooms in Back Weymouth with a similar committee from Quincy and Hingham for the purpose of furthering the work. The committee organized with the choice of A. P. Worthen as chairman; Louis A. Cook, clerk and M. E. Hawes, treasurer.

After discussion A. P. Worthen, Town Council member of Weymouth, J. W. McManamy, solicitor of Quincy and J. O. Burdett, Town Council member of Hingham were appointed as a committee to take such action as may be necessary to present the matter to the next Legislature of Massachusetts, and this committee with the addition of George L. Shaw and Frank P. Crane of Quincy, George L. Barnes and Louis A. Cook of Weymouth and George Long and Wm. W. Hersey of Hingham were appointed as a committee to bring the matter before the Massachusetts Congressional delegation, both Senators and Representatives, and invite them down to look over the situation.

Weymouth Board of Trade.

The November Board of Trade meeting was held in Masonic building last night and was largely attended. Supper was served at 4:45 with Mr. Wm. L. Johnson, ex-member State Board of Health, as special guest.

As Mr. Johnson was to return to Boston, routine business for a while was postponed and for an hour the gathering which included a large number who were not members of the Board, listened to a very interesting talk by Mr. Johnson on water supplies in general and Weymouth water in particular. Much valuable information was gained and many suggestions for improvements made.

Following Mr. Johnson, D. M. Easton of the Water Commissioners, made extensive remarks in regard to the plans of the Commissioners and urged the support of the voters in carrying out those plans.

Louis A. Cook of the Telephone and Telegraph committee reported progress and said the new rates of the telephone company had been further postponed and might be materially changed.

A. H. Worthen of the bridge committee made a report of progress and the efforts being made to have the general government pay for the reconstruction of the Back River Bridge.

E. B. Nevin speaking for the Whale Island Club offered its hospitality for entertaining the Congressional delegates and committee when they shall come to view the two rivers on which Weymouth once depended for much of its prosperity.

The president, W. P. Denbroeder, offered some suggestions in regard to future meetings, and at a late hour one of the best, and it is hoped, profitable meetings of the Board of Trade adjourned.

1885—October 27—1910.

On Thursday evening of last week, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Dowd, formerly of North Weymouth, celebrated the twentieth anniversary of their marriage at their home, 307 Central street, West Quincy.

Many guests were present from Manchester, N. H., Somerville, Dorchester, the Weymouths and Quincy.

During the evening the Misses O'Rourke orchestra favored the guests with selections from "H Traveller" and "Fanny's" Vocal selections were rendered by Miss Alice Bond of Manchester, N. H., and Miss Mae Donahoe of Dorchester.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Dowd were assisted in receiving by their children—Helen, Mabel, Claire and Ambrose. Mrs. James O'Dowd is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Ann McCoole, 64 Can Avenue.

For Senator from First Norfolk District.

George L. Barnes.

Weymouth this year has the opportunity to send two men to the Great and General Court—one to the Senate and the other to the House.

For the Senate and House.

Weymouth presents two of her sons who merit the honor and will honor her.

Both of these young men are in every sense Weymouth boys, born here, graduates of our high school, and interested and active in everything that benefits the town. They are strong, able and honest, and, if elected, this town will have representation in the Senate and House of which she will be justly proud.

The opportunity to secure the senatorship is open to Weymouth this year. There are many matters coming before the next Legislature in which Weymouth is deeply interested, such as the new bridge for Weymouth Back River and additions to the bridge over the Fore River. It would be unfortunate for Weymouth, having such a vital interest in these matters, if the senatorship should go to any other town or city this year, and for this reason every voter of this town should support Mr. Barnes.

For representative, John W. Cronin has the confidence and respect of everyone who knows him. His only pledge of promise is, if elected, to represent this town faithfully and to the best of his ability. When a young man like Mr. Cronin, born and reared here, has by his own diligence and industry reached the point he has already attained, he is deserving of the encouragement and support of all the people of Weymouth. He is worthy of your votes on November 5.

WILLIAM J. HOLBROOK,
Chairman Republican Town Committee.

Shaw—Loud.

The home of Mrs. Clarence Loud on Park avenue was the scene of a quiet but beautiful wedding last Wednesday evening, when Miss Clara B. Loud and Mr. George H. Shaw were united in marriage by the Rev. Mr. Harry W. Kimball.

Mrs. Shaw is the only daughter of Mrs. Clarence Loud and was employed as a bookkeeper by the United Shoe Machinery Co. of Boston and is well known in social, religious and musical circles. Mr. Shaw is the son of Mrs. Henry Shaw of Union street and is employed as a driver by A. M. Eldridge of Rockland and is also owner of the Wildly Lodge, 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, of South Weymouth.

The couple were unattended. The bride was attired in a beautiful dress of white crepe-de-chine, trimmed with pearls and emerald-green, carried a beautiful bouquet of bride's white roses.

The house was decorated with palms, chrysanthemums and paper flowers, and the couple were the recipients of many presents.

They left that evening for trip to Niagara Falls and Chicago and on their return will take up their residence in their new home on Union street.

Dorothea Dix Tent No. 32. D. of V.

The Dorothea Dix Tent No. 32 Daughters of Veterans celebrated its fourth anniversary by holding a supper and dance in the Masonic Hall, East Weymouth, last Monday evening.

The committee of arrangements consisted of chairman, Mrs. Clara Maynard; Mrs. Mary Brazel, Mrs. Ida Farrington, Mrs. Adelaide Beane, Mrs. Blanche Briggs, Miss Margaret Looney, Miss Cora Loring, Mrs. Florence Damon, Miss Hannah Barnes, Mrs. Nellie Purchase, Miss Nettie Gertrude Moore.

The invited guests were Mrs. Mary Holbrook, Junior Vice President of the Woman's Relief Corps No. 102; Commanders from Camp No. 36, Sons of Veterans; the president of the Ladies Foot 38, G. A. R.; and Miss Nina Littlefield of Cambridge who instituted the Dorothea Dix Tent in this place and is now its inspector.

At six-thirty o'clock, about two hundred fell in line and marched to the banquet room to the music of Maxine's cold roast turkey, creamed potatoes, sauces, salad, coffee, rolls, cakes and loaves was served.

Much merit was due to the committee in regards to the elaborate decorations of the hall, which were very suggestive of the Halloween season and favors of black and yellow paper cuts were given to the guests. After the supper the floor was quickly cleared when dancing was enjoyed until twelve o'clock.

Old Colony Club.

A very fine concert was given last Thursday afternoon in the Union Church under the direction of Stuart Mason, who gave selections on the Piano and Organ; Miss Doris Greenburg, soprano; Clarence Fisher, violin.

The costume party Halloween night was a grand success both socially and financially. The hall was handsomely decorated with Cedar and Pine trees, constables, pumpkins and quantities of black cats. The object was to raise seventy-five dollars to continue the sewing in the public schools and that amount is now ready.

The next in the Club Calendar is a lecture November tenth, by Rev. Harry Kimball on "safeguarding the Home and Old Age."

For Representative from Seventh Norfolk District.

John W. Cronin.

THIRTY THREE YEARS AGO. GATHERED UP.

Following Are a Few of the Items Which Appeared in the Gazette Thirty Years Ago This Week.

An apple tree on the premises of Mr. Wm. Thayer has blossomed this fall and apples have formed.

Mr. Willard Loud is running a team between Nash's Corner and the churches every Sunday, for the accommodation of those who live at a distance.

A lady who was sick after the Weymouth Club supper, said she only ate some lobster salad, roast turkey, chicken salad, ham, tongue, strong cup of coffee, celery, five kinds of cake, ice cream, sherbet, frozen pudding, grapes, one banana, and a glass of ice water.

About 2 o'clock Wednesday morning the dwelling house of Mr. Dennis Quinn, on Mt. Pleasant was discovered to be on fire. An alarm was given, and the Amazon Engine was soon brought to the locality, putting on a stream in 15 minutes, and by the exertions of the firemen the flames were confined to the lower part of the house.

Middle street is still suffering from the want of rain, as well as the inhabitants, many of the wells being dry.

The Eureka Hook and Ladder Co. held a meeting Monday evening at the shop of Captain Oliver Barrell. Several new members were added, making the company full. Officers of the company were elected last week as follows: Oliver Barrell, captain; W. B. Raymond, 1st asst.; C. W. Hayward, 2d asst.; clerk and treasurer, L. W. Cain; steward, Henry Vogel.

The Active boys after their return Thursday evening of last week from the trial at the Fair, were exceedingly jubilant, and was warmly greeted by the residents of this village. After general congratulations on the success of the company were exchanged, the company with a large number of friends, together with a number of years, has been East Weymouth Landing, adjacent to Harmon Hall, where a supper of the most inviting kind was found to be in readiness. The fair trumpet went by the Active at the Fair, is on exhibition at the store of J. W. Bartlett.

Miss Malvina Loring Dead.

Mr. Henry T. Anglin and Miss Grace A. Tirrell both of Brockton, were united in marriage on Tuesday afternoon at the Old South church parsonage South Weymouth by the pastor, Rev. Henry C. Alvord.

Mrs. Anglin is the only daughter of Mrs. Edward P. Tirrell, former residents of Main street, South Weymouth and was well known here in social and religious societies. Mrs. Anglin is well known as a real estate broker in Brockton.

A Tree Climbing Dog.

A government official in Bavaria connected with the forestry department has a wonderful dog, which is accustomed to climbing trees as a cat. If his master fastens a handkerchief up in the tree tops the animal will clamber up after it in the simplest way and never fails to bring it down. He was taught by his mother, who was famous as a tree climber. The clever animal has won several medals by his extraordinary talent and takes particular delight in climbing silver birches, the easiest tree in the world to scale, for the trunk is particularly smooth and slippery.—Wide World Magazine.

Church Unity in One Town.

"Prætor, Vermont, has solved the problem of church unity, one union church housing the representatives of all the Protestant denominations," writes Rev. F. E. Davidson, in Suburban Life for November.

"Prætor" is a cosmopolitan village, and there is, in consequence, a gathering of nationalities like that in Jerusalem on the Day of Pentecost. These people came from the uttermost parts of the earth and they are influenced by his heterogeneous aggregation, Norwegian, Bohemians, and doubtless other nationalities.

The Alternative.

has attained on Beacon Hill because of his ability and unflinching integrity.

Having proved his worth in his two years' service as your representative, and with a record which is unassailable from any viewpoint, the insistent demands of those who want and appreciate good service have forced Mr. Dwyer, against his wishes, to again be a candidate for the honor of Representative.

Now, it remains our duty to encourage faithfulness in our public services by retaining, for another year, this tried and true man in the office which he has filled with entire satisfaction to all.

JOHN F. DWYER of Weymouth has voted "yes" or "no" on 170 roll-calls during his two years' service on Beacon Hill. He missed one roll-call out of 74 in 1909 and one out of 74 during the past session. It was because John F. Dwyer was always "on the job" that Speaker Walker named him as one of the monitors of the house this year. As a monitor he never had his count of a vote questioned, which is in itself quite a distinction. He is a type of legislator none too plentiful. To have his count of the roll-calls questioned would be a cleaner record than John P. Having proved his worth in his two years' service as your representative, and with a record which is unassailable from any viewpoint, the insistent demands of those who want and appreciate good service have forced Mr. Dwyer, against his wishes, to again be a candidate for the honor of Representative.

Now, it remains our duty to encourage faithfulness in our public services by retaining, for another year, this tried and true man in the office which he has filled with entire satisfaction to all.

JOHN F. DWYER of Weymouth has voted "yes" or "no" on 170 roll-calls during his two years' service on Beacon Hill. He missed one roll-call out of 74 in 1909 and one out of 74 during the past session. It was because John F. Dwyer was always "on the job" that Speaker Walker named him as one of the monitors of the house this year. As a monitor he never had his count of a vote questioned, which is in itself quite a distinction. He is a type of legislator none too plentiful. To have his count of the roll-calls questioned would be a cleaner record than John P. Dwyer would carry on Monday evening, the party which was extended by her friends at her home on Grand street, was very much in evidence.

The guests indulged in the various stunts and amusements appropriate for the occasion, and Henry Litchfield, Parker Bates and Miss Ella Curtis carried away the honors in the "mystery" game.

The party at the home of Mrs. M. J. Bartlett was very much in evidence. The guests indulged in the various stunts and amusements appropriate for the occasion, and Henry Litchfield, Parker Bates and Miss Ella Curtis carried away the honors in the "mystery" game.

The degree staff of Stoddard-Rebekah Lodge will hold a whist party in Old Fellows' Hall next Monday afternoon from 2-4 to 4-45. The regular meeting of the lodge will be held in the evening at the club of which the whist party is an entertainment, also a cake and candy sale. Supper will be served at 6-30. Members please bring pastry.

Mrs. Verle Prescott of Wilton Me., is making a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. Winslow M. Merrill.

"WHY DIDN'T YOU JUMP WHEN YOU TOLD ME?"

morning of Thursday, the sixth since the... The young soldier who on the... of this time for the... of his previous Friday night...

With Thursday noon came resumption of the long stalled communication... afternoon came "wires" from Arnold... the father, begging to know...

"What now?" thought the sleepy major as he scuttled downstairs... "It is Mayhew, she said a solemn voice..."

"Good God!" said Stannard. "Come in!" And he leapt forth with his agitated... trembling comrades within doors...

"Where did you say Ennis was now?" Ennis heard the doctor ask as they re-joined him.

"He was in the rear of the main barracks, booming black against the... northward sky. Others could be seen...

"If you'd be so good, doctor, she'll send me home. I was going over in search of her now."

"I'll have him out," said the corporal of the guard and ran round to the south end and presently came back triumphant.

"I thought so," said he, then grabbed the nearest orderly by the coat collar... "Who took that thing?" demanded he...

"There was a colonel named," said Bob, with a grin of mingled anguish and satisfaction.

"Give my compliments to the colonel, will you, and tell him that my questions being all abated, I'd like an extension of arrest."

"Then Stannard and Stannard came in, tumultuous, and ordered him down, and Blake and Curtiss and the rest of the card party came tearing over and beat him... not to be an ass."

"And thus we brought to the... morning of Thursday, the sixth since the... of this time for the... of his previous Friday night..."

WEYMOUTH'S BIG VOTE.

Some Things Which Happened in Weymouth on Tuesday.

The State election of the year 1910 for officers for the ensuing year took place on Tuesday and Weymouth got in line with the rest of the State starting early and strong; for the first two hours moving things with a rush. The two leading parties left no stone unturned to get out the last man and at 1 o'clock the curtain dropped on the voters, the counting began and the final result was as follows:

ON THE FARM

This column is worth more than $2.00 a year to you. Subscribe for the Gazette.

Pure air, pure water, clean food, and a clean place to sleep make horses profitable.

Some of the cracks in the stable can be stopped up more cheaply than you can feed oats to keep the horses warm.

If you have any little potatoes, the hens can make good use of them. Boil them up soft, and feed a ration now and then.

Leaves can now be gathered and stored under a shed where they will keep dry. A few arnuffs each day will keep the hens busy.

At this time of year, just before cattle go into winter quarters, a citizen can replenish his dairy by buying heifer calves often at great bargains.

Don't feel corn, except, perhaps, occasionally on the cold weather sets in. Then feed it every night. If parched occasionally the hens will enjoy the change.

Take care of the plows. Get them under cover. Clean and grease bright parts so that when wanted next spring they will scower and save the time so many farmers lose in putting their implements into working order.—Farmers and Drivers' Journal.

A tank heater for heating drinking water for live stock will pay for itself, time and again, in one winter, in the saving of extra feed required to restore the animal lost through taking in drafts of icy water.

Formerly it was supposed the apples ought to sweat before they were stored, but investigations indicate that any ripening which takes place between the picking time and the storage house is injurious to the keeping qualities of the fruit.

The apple crop in Western Massachusetts this year is estimated to be about 15,000 barrels of first quality apples in Western. The good crops this year are due to the care given to the trees last fall by spraying.

After the insect season is over, secure green bone from the local butcher and cut it in a bone cutter for the laying hens. A feed about three or four times a week, in small amounts, is sufficient. Where you have no bone cutter you may purchase prepared bone as chicken feed of dealers in poultry supplies, and also of other supply houses. It runs in price from $2 to $3 per 100 pound sacks.—Journal of Agriculture.

Roosts as well as nests are best made removable. It facilitates cleaning out the droppings and the poles are more easily washed. Some of them are hinged to the wall so they may be hooked up out of the way.

Careful attention to roosts and nests is essential to good results at all times, but particularly so during the winter months, when the hens are confined to the house much of the time.—Agricultural Epitome.

By keeping the hens busy scratching among the litter, or trying to obtain a portion of their food from cabbage root and other refuse by furnishing them with a varied diet of grains, vegetables, meat and lime; by giving them sun and dust baths; by disinfecting the houses and keeping them clean, diseases may be avoided, health promoted, vicious habits prevented and an abundance of eggs obtained, which means that poultry raising will be a source of pleasure and profit.—Kansas Farmer.

What is needed to increase crop production is more intelligent and systematic effort in farm operations. The farmer should understand the composition of his soil and know the plant food elements in which it is deficient. He should manage the land with a system of crop rotation which would increase and not impoverish the productivity of the soil. Carefulness in the selection of seeds, intensive cultivation and the use of the right fertilizers will greatly enlarge the volume of the harvest to the financial advantage of the farmer. No soil is inexhaustible and re-formation of fertility is necessary to promote increased production.—Farmers and Drivers' Journal.

The farmer has a low-lying piece of muck land that produces flags, cattails and rushes that produce no revenue, but if he is gifted with enterprise he drains it and therefrom derives a source of income. The farmer who does not improve his opportunities will carry waste land in his estate which, if reclaimed at small expense, will add great value to his property and increase the annual revenue of the farm. Too many farmers dislike to make the mental effort to get out of the routine of antiquated agricultural methods and therefore do not prosper according to the promise of their opportunities.

LETTERS BY WAYS.

Two paths go up the hill of life. One way is strewn with toil and strife. The other decked with flowers bright.

Leaving looks the path of wrong. One sends a wave of ribald song. The other less of mirth and light.

It is the goal, and not the road. The pilgrim needs must keep in view. The path that lures the lighter load. It is not safer to pursue.

Wider, wider, my soul, The winds through the pine tree blow. 'Tis the Word of God that moveth abroad, And deep to deed will go.

Open thy doors, O my soul, And the furie stress and the pettiness, Will vanish into air.—Edward Arthur Wicher, in Sunset Magazine.

CRYING FOR HELP

Lots of it in Weymouth But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys cry for help. Not an organ in the whole body so delicately constructed.

Not one so important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood. When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous.

There can be no health where there is poisonous blood. Backache is one of the first indications of kidney trouble.

It is the kidneys cry for help. Heed it. Don't's Kidney Pills are what is wanted. Are just what overworked kidneys need.

They strengthen and invigorate the kidneys; help them to do their work; never fail to cure any case of kidney disease. Mrs. J. Boyle, of Marsh Street, Quincy, says: "I have used Don's Kidney Pills, and can say that they are unequalled for kidney disorders. They built up my general system and in six weeks, freed me from kidney complaint from which I had suffered for a long time."

An Unwelcome Visitor.

A bold, bad skunk patronized Main and Exchange streets through the busy section of the town Saturday evening, and it would seem that he performed the whole village with an odor far from other roses. The skunk, in a way, was not wholly to blame for the wide circulation of scent, especially on the inside of some of the houses, which is attributed to C. F. Bigelow's fox terrier. Mr. Bigelow, hearing a disturbance in the rear of the express office, found his dog, and what he thought was a cat, in a fierce battle. On trying to separate them he decided it was skunk. The dog seemed to be extremely affectionate after the bath and took particular pains to call on his many friends. His reception was not as cordial as usual. The skunk was finally killed on Exchange street by L. S. Billings. Mr. Bigelow didn't like the idea of burring his pet dog, and so invested in a bottle of Carbolic. The dog was given a good washing in it, and his bed saturated. It was a cure and the next morning Toby was on a par with any sweet scented lap dog in the village.—Athol, Mass., Chronicle.

How To Stuff The Thanksgiving Turkey

"New England Stuffing—Remove the hard, outside crusts from a small state loaf of baker's bread," says Fannie Merritt Farmer in Woman's Home Companion for November. "Cut in slices and toast until delicately browned, then put in oil, should be about half cup, adding hot water to moisten. Add one third of a cupful of finely-chopped fat, salt, pork, one egg well beaten. Salt, pepper and sage to taste.

"Broad-and-Crusty Stuffing—Remove hard, outside crusts from a state loaf of baker's bread and break in pieces. Add one third of a cupful of finely-chopped fat, salt, pork, one egg well beaten. Salt, pepper and sage to taste.

"Potato Stuffing—Mix two cupfuls of hot mashed potatoes, two cupfuls of cracked crumbs, one third of a cupful of melted butter and sausage fat and one half cupful of cooking fat and water and season with salt, pepper and sage."

Monday Club.

On Monday afternoon November 7, 1910 at the Davis Clapp Memorial hall, East Weymouth, the Monday Club, monthly meeting, was held.

The pleasure of listening to two addresses. The first was given by Mrs. Mary Lathrop Tucker, chairman of the Forestry Dept. of Mass. State Federation, whose subject was the "Conservation of our Natural Resources" and she caused her listeners in the hearts of many of her hearers by telling them of the enormous amount of waste which is constantly taking place in the use of our forests, our minerals, our woods, our waters and even in our soil. She administered a grain of comfort however, by stating that the waste of coal is being somewhat diminished. Our interest and enthusiasm was so aroused that we felt like starting immediately on a crusade to help in the problem of conservation. Our second address was given by Mr. Elmer L. Curtis of Hingham a member of the Civil Service Commission, who held the attention of his audience for what seemed a very short half hour, during which time he addressed us on the subject of "Civics," anything which is of value to those men, who impressed upon the minds of their friends and neighbors, the importance of exercising their privilege of voting, and then a day or two before "Election Day" packed their "grapes and started off on a "vacation," they losing their own opportunity.

"Consistency is a jewel." Mr. Curtis has had much experience in educational matters, and so knows whereof he speaks, and he made this statement, that in all the courses of study which he had examined, and these included those for Grammar High schools (and Colleges) there was only two which contained anything in regard to Civics, anything which provided for teaching the young of this nation in regard to the laws, the institutions and the government under which they are living. To this rich program was added several songs by Mrs. Adams of Rockland which seemed to put the finishing touches to an extremely interesting and profitable afternoon.

NEW JERSEY TEA.

Red Root, That Did Good Service in Revolutionary Days.

You housekeepers of today which your favorite brands of Orange Pekoe, English Breakfast, India and Ceylon, etc., are diffuse their fragrance over your tea table would hardly suppose that tea, or willow-leaves, or any substitute for it, was once made from the leaves of one of our prettiest New Jersey wild flowers. Yet so it is in the old tradition, when the American Revolution broke out, and so much trouble over the imported article and used various beverages as substitutes for that to which they had become accustomed.

New Jersey tea, or red root, as it is also called, is a low-growing shrub with many branches, seldom over three feet high, and is found from Canada to Florida, growing usually in dry wooded sections. It is very abundant in New Jersey, for which it is named. It blooms profusely in July and is so showy, with its many pale yellow flowers, as to be quite worth a place in the garden as an ornamental shrub. It has a dark red root, with leaves downy beneath and very much valued by wild life is easily distinguished from the pure tea. An infusion of the leaves prepared in the same manner as the genuine article has somewhat the taste of ordinary wild tea, but it is not supposed to possess any of its stimulating properties.—Exchange.

Keep Up The Whistling.

Keep up the whistling and cling to the song; Life is so short, but love lasteth long, Dark though the world be, And weary the way; Keep up the whistling and cling to the song; Hard though the struggle and bitter the blow, Love helps the toll if you sing as you go. Sing on and whistling, anything which is of value to those men, who impressed upon the minds of their friends and neighbors, the importance of exercising their privilege of voting, and then a day or two before "Election Day" packed their "grapes and started off on a "vacation," they losing their own opportunity.

Laugh at the shadows, And scoff at the loss; The white willies in the end, O'er the cross. Keep up the whistling and don't mind the night; The song leads the way to the loved lips of light. The old drowsed conflict, The sorrows, The woes, They lie at the footstep of Song on the stairs.

The song of the wayside—a rose by the gate, She leans in the twilight to wait for you, while I keep up the whistling, And cling to the song; With the red lips to suffer And life to be strong.—Baltimore Sun.

PROCLAMATION FOR A DAY OF THANKSGIVING

By the President.

"This year of 1910 is drawing to a close. The records of population and harvest which are the index of progress show vigorous national growth and the health and prosperous well-being of our communities throughout this land and in blessing lands, but where she was a busy, she fell and cut her lip, producing a wound that in healing left a scar, giving a very disagreeable expression to her face.

Edith could see in the faces of those she met a repugnance occasioned by her expression. At first she tried to obviate this by smiling, but she saw at once by the further refusal of the one looking at her that she was only heightening the disagreeable impression. Such physical blights usually have one of two effects, either the blighted person is unconscious of the defect or becomes painfully sensitive concerning it. Edith was of the latter class. She would not go to the social gatherings of her own age. More and more she shrank within herself. Then, becoming conscious that it was a disfigurement she would be forced into a life of seclusion, she began to devote her attention to the improvement of her face.

"Now, therefore, I, William Howard Taft, President of the United States of America, in accordance with the wise counsel of the civil magistrates since the first settlement in this land, and with the law established by the foundation of this government, do appoint Thursday, Nov. 24, 1910, as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer, enjoined on the people for the praise of Almighty God and to return heartfelt thanks to him for all his goodness and loving kindness.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this fifth day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and ten, and of the Independence of the United States, the one hundred and thirty-fifth.

WILLIAM H. TAFT, President of the United States. ALVEY A. ADAMS, Acting Secretary of State.

By The Governor.

"In accordance with custom, and by and with the advice and consent of the Council, I appoint Thursday, the 24th day of November, as Thanksgiving Day.

"For nearly three hundred years a day of thanksgiving has been observed in Massachusetts. There has been no time for the past many years of such an observance than the present. In many parts of the world dissatisfaction with governmental and economic conditions is showing itself by great unrest, and in our country, complaints of existing conditions are heard. To these, there are many who are seeking other lands are seeking other lands as a dwelling place to better their conditions and be relieved from the oppression and suffering which have been their lot in their earlier homes.

"The principles which were the reason for the founding of Massachusetts were never forgotten. The motto of our Commonwealth is guaranteed the right to worship God as he sees fit; and all the rights guaranteed to him by the constitution are secure. There is no place of equal area in the world where the rights of the people are more safely guaranteed than here in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

"Recognizing these facts, I call upon all people to take some part of Thanksgiving Day in which to thank Almighty God for the blessings which are vouchsafed to them.

"Given at the Council Chamber, this second day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and ten, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-fifth. EMMET S. DRAPER, Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

"By His Excellency, with the advice and consent of the Council, WILLIAM H. OLIX, Secretary.

"God save the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

Mayor Howard, in an easy fluent manner, held the close attention of the audience. Anecdotes of a ludicrous nature were frequently interspersed, much to the amusement of the audience.

Manchester Critic.

Howard caught Swampscott as he caught Salem. His story, told modestly and unassumingly with the fun shining in his face, sparkling in his eye and occasionally playing about his mouth, was the richest entertainment the members of the Swampscott Club have listened to.

ON THE FARM

This column is worth more than $2.00 a year to you. Subscribe for the Gazette.

Is the harness tied up with strings any where? Take them off and do the best job of repairing you ever did.

Look out carefully for the drainage of the hog pen. Where does it go? Surely it must not find its way to the well or into a stream!

Farmers believe so thoroughly in the gospel of work that they even work their butter; and, like all else, it is the better for being worked.

When the ground freezes hard enough to hold a horse in the time to match the strawberry bed with straw or marsh hay. Don't be in trouble a hurry.

When hens acquire the feather pulling habit they should be prepared for market at once, as it is almost impossible to stop them.

If the leaves of your apple and peach trees show dark green the growth is vigorous, you know that the soil is all right.

Are all the tools, from screw-driver to thrashing machine, singly looked for the winter? They should be, but if not it is not too late to bring them in. Better do it now.

Meat scraps put up, especially for the hens may be had in almost any market, and it is a very necessary egg producing feed at this time. Crushed oyster shells are needed, also.

Begin to take the chill off the water you give the horses when the weather gets cold. You can heat it cheaper on the stove than you can in the stomach of the horse.

Farming demands fitness—preparation, if you please. Most any man may 'mine land but no fool can farm it. Never before has there been such a time when agricultural information was so easy to get or so necessary.

The pear tree will continue bearing fruit for several centuries. These bearers are remembered when at least 200 years old are not uncommon. They are much longer lived than the apple which rarely lasts more than 100 or 150 years.

This is the age for intelligent farming only and the man who refuses to progress or to learn progressive methods is simply lacking in intelligence. There is nothing practical about it, it is too often the case that the preliminary work of preparing for a farmer's institute is done by the local bankers and merchants and land dealers rather than by the farmers who are most benefited by the institutes.—Northwestern Agriculturist.

There has been a general awakening among the farmers of this state to the possibilities of fruit raising which is largely due to the efforts of the state board which has sent out literature of the highest order relative to the treatment of the orchards both to rejuvenate the old trees and the cultivation of land heretofore unprofitable, by the setting out of new trees under scientific, up to date methods.

Of course, if a young man really believes that he will have better opportunities for himself and for what he would do for humanity by going to the city, he should go. He can succeed as scores who have preceded him as a success. But let him remember that farm work is just as honorable, just as clean, that it requires just as much ability and that it is just as remunerative as any work he will find to do.

In journeying among farmers one is constantly impressed with the multitude of things preserved that have survived their usefulness. There are tool-houses full of discarded and almost useless tools, there are wrecks of wagons and carts, there are sheds and buildings in ruins, worthless fruit trees, small inclosures the use of which has been forgotten, while the fences are also in ruin. If your place is one now is a good time to overhaul it.

Where the keeping of swine is made something of a specialty on the farm there should be warm, comfortable quarters for them in cold weather. If the barn stable is large enough, pens may be put in for the brood sow and pigs, as well as for those that are older and which it is desirable to keep thrifty and growing. Housed in this way there should be little difference in the growing and fattening of pigs in cold or warm weather, because the conditions are so nearly alike.

It is stated without contradiction that the food value in the corn plant is in the proportion of 55 percent in the fodder and 45 percent in the ears. These figures will seem incredible to those who have long believed that the fodder had little food value. The main difficulty in utilizing the corn fodder has been to get it in such shape that the stock would be able to consume most of it. The modern shredder will accomplish this in a satisfactory manner, and in most farming sections men are making a business of shredding the fodder for those who have no machines.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do to you is likely to be permanent. It is entirely safe and reliable. It is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Price, 75c per bottle. Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

GATHERED UP.

He that would have fine guests, let him have a fine wife.—Johnson.

Thou must esteem a man of many words and many lies much alike.—Fuller.

Temperance, indeed, is a brittle of gold; and he who uses it rightly, is more like a gold than a man.—Burton.

You'd win an honored name— When this joy's earned; You can't inherit fame; It must be earned.—Detroit Free Press.

We put hobbies in a horse to keep him at home; but the hobby skirt is not intended for any such purpose.

Too often instead of being sorry for our misdeeds we are merely ashamed that we have been found out.

Fidelity in small things is at the base of every great achievement.—Wagner.

It is admittedly a difficult affair to be the wife of a great man; but we think that it must be worse to be the husband of a famous woman.—Art de la Mode.

When you decide more than once to do a thing it is a sure sign that you will do it sooner or later.—Athenian Globe.

Boxing is now made a part of hazing in female seminaries. Our women will soon be athletic enough to stand up in street cars without complaining.

A witty lawyer once jocosely asked a boarding house-keeper the following questions: "Mr.— If a man gives you $2000 to keep for him, and dies, what do you do for him? Do you pray for him?" "No, sir," he replied, "I pray for another like him."

It is observed in the course of worldly things, that men's fortunes are often made by their tongues than by their virtues; and more men's fortunes are overthrown thereby than by vices.—Sir W. Raleigh.

"You are in my pew, sir," said Mr. Upjohn, stily.

"Then I am sitting in the seat of the scornful!" replied the stranger, getting out of it with alacrity, and taking a seat further back in the church.

Father—Henry, don't you think it is time for you to be doing your share of the world's work? Son—I suppose it is dad. If you'll make over to me what you consider my share of the world's surface I'll work it for all it's worth.—Chicago Tribune.

Let the world give thanks in proportion as it is able to discern God's goodness and mercy for Adams' race, that eventually through the channel of the glorified Church the Divine blessing will be extended to every member of Adam's race, elevating with full human perfection and an everlasting Eden upon this now sin-cursed earth.

"Mr. Lowbrow does his best to be agreeable," said the sympathetic young woman. "It's too bad that he has so little tact."

"I understand that Miss Coddletrap refuses to speak to him. He sent her a box of candy and she fed it all to her pet terrier. So he tried to be still more kind and thoughtful and sent her a box of dog biscuit."

ARMS AND THE MEN.

"I see you have your arm in a sling," said the inquisitive passenger. "Broken is it?"

"Yes, sir," responded the other passenger. "Meet with an accident?"

"No. Broke it while I was trying to pat myself on the back."

"Great Scott! What for?"

"I see. Never could happen to me, could it?"

"No."

"And if it did I wouldn't be blame fool enough to tell it."

Then there was silence in the car.—Chicago Tribune.

A LIGHT ON MOTHERS.

The late William James, Harvard's famous psychologist, would often illuminate a misty subject with an appropriate anecdote. Discussing motherhood in a lecture on psychology, Professor James once said:

"A teacher asked a boy this question in fractions: 'Suppose that your mother baked an apple pie and there were seven of you—the parents and five children. What part of the pie would you get for your portion?'

"A sixth, ma'am," the boy answered. "But there are seven of you," said the teacher. "Don't you know anything about fractions?"

"Yes, ma'am," said the boy. "I know all about fractions, but I know all about mother too. Mother'd say she didn't want no pie."

POP'S PREFERENCE.

The Prince of Wales of Pope's time once said to the poet:

"Mr. Pope, do you not like kings?" "Sir," replied the poet, "I prefer the lion before the claws are grown."

No More Ashes To Lug

No clumsy pan to spill dust and dirt on the kitchen floor.

The Glenwood Ash Chute solves the problem. It is located just beneath the grate and connected by a sheet iron pipe straight down through the kitchen floor to an ash barrel in cellar. No part is in sight. Not a particle of dust can escape. Just slide the damper once each day and drop the ashes directly into the ash barrel. This is only one of the splendid improvements of the new plan.

Once a Sailor Always a Sailor. Charitable institutions often find it hard to learn the occupations of those admitted. A man who has followed several trades when asked his occupation names the one he regards as most dignified, even if he has not followed it for years. The Survey tells of a case that happened in the Cook County infirmary. The man "at the age of nineteen was a sailor for one year. His career as a sailor ended with an accident on the ship by which he lost a leg. For the next thirty-six years he took various jobs as caretaker and the like, such as a crippled person can obtain. Yet when after thirty-six years of independence he was finally forced to take refuge in a poorhouse he puts himself down on the entrance card as a sailor, and one feels in that word the pride of a Norse son of the sea."

A Nickname For Barrett. Lawrence Barrett, the tragedian, was subject to dyspepsia, and when he was suffering from that disorder he was cold and distant toward his company. One irreverent fellow always refused, however, to be suppressed. He said one day: "Just look at Cassius. He looks as solemn and righteous as if he'd swallowed the sword of justice. Let's call him the Scabbard." And the Scabbard was out of his hearing—for the rest of that season.

He Told Her. "What is it, do you suppose, that keeps the moon in place and prevents it from falling?" asked Araminta. "I think it must be the beams," replied Charlie softly.

A Pearl in the Trough. "How are you today? Feeling well?" "Do you really care a rap?" "Not a rap. I merely asked out of politeness that I see was quite wasted."—Pittsburg Post.

Grand Visitation of District Lodges. One of the most interesting and marked visitations ever held by the International Order of Good Templars.

A brief business session was held by the entertaining lodge and Chief Templar Arthur C. Bicknell.

An interesting program was presented which included numbers from the visiting lodges and members of the following: Homeboys for James L. Hingham.

For lack of time, a part of the program was necessarily omitted as also the installation of the newly elected officers.

Nothing is so effective for freshening up the house as the use of a little Carbolic in the water that is used for washing and scrubbing.

In cleaning carpets, sponge them very lightly with a cloth wet with a carbolic solution. Carbolic will dissolve the grease which accumulates upon them.

A Midsummer Night's Dream.

One of the most unique entertainments which opened the lecture course of the Social Club of the Town Church of Weymouth.

It is a daring undertaking for one man to attempt to interpret and impersonate all the characters of a play, especially one containing dukes and lords and maidens and fairies and rustles and eldons.

Leaving the lovers there, he introduced next a scene in a cottage, under the great elm tree, where the young man and woman were assembled to rehearse a play.

CZAR OF HIS SHIP

The Captain of an Ocean Liner Is a Real Autocrat. HIS WORD IS ABSOLUTE LAW.

He May, if He Deems It Necessary, Put a Passenger in Irons or Clap Him in a Cell, and in Cases of Emergency Is Empowered to Take Life.

Imagine a mayor or a judge of a circuit court or a county sheriff or a town marshal of a village of 2,500 population stepping out into the street and finding a floating island, having a population of 800 employees and looking after the welfare and safety of perhaps 3,000 passengers.

There's the captain, it is whispered, at a moment's notice to the captain's bridge. He must have his maximum of training for six or seven months before he is called to the foot of the ladder.

As to the captain's authority: One midnight, when in a fog the White Star Baltic struck the German oil steamer Standard, the Baltic needed its captain and crew.

The historic city of Delhi, India, is not the oldest, although it lays claim to a respectable middle age, dating from 1000 B. C.

Don't depend upon the frost-bitten pasture; there is nothing in it.

If a team of horses pull together they are sure to accomplish something and the same is true of men.

Bull thistles, common in pastures, can not always be killed by mowing. Mowing tends to prevent maturity of seed. Cutting off the top of the plant just below the surface of the ground two or three times a year will effectively eradicate them.

There should now be an extra allowance of corn given at night. Corn furnishes heat to the body as it is slow to digest. For comfort during winter, the crop should remain perfectly filled during the entire night.

Proper moisture conditions are necessary to the securing of best results from fertilizers. In most places moisture conservation is best accomplished by the soil or dust mulch maintained by frequent tillage. Where tillage is inadvisable, it can also be done very satisfactorily with a good mulch of foreign materials, such as straw, chaff, leaves, manure or dead weeds.

Give the cuts and dogs a warm, straw-lined, covered box in a shed, where prowling cuts can not get to them. These biting insects are cruel to our dumb friends; and I never could lie in my warm bed, knowing that anything was shivering with cold. Some men (I am not one of them) but I can not—From November Farm Journal.

One reason why we do not get rid of the weeds on our farms is because we try to cultivate too much land. To keep weeds down crops must be cultivated all the time, and if we have more land than we can cover as often as needs be, the weeds will get the better of us every time. Except our grain farmers, whose large acreage is necessary to make money we believe in the "small farm, well tilled," rather than the big farm half worked and crops smothered by weeds.

The doctor, lawyer, civil engineer and other professional men are never content with present knowledge and attainments. They are close students of literature that appertains to their profession. The same is true of the enterprising farmer. He is a subscriber for agricultural journals and is ever alert for the acquisition of knowledge relating to scientific agriculture. He will turn to account hints which his less observant neighbor ignores. It is a combination of small things that achieves success.

A good soil is needed for peach trees, but a soil that is deficient in the food elements needed can grow the tree. The ground must be in proper condition. The peach tree needs no fertilizing until it has set a crop; then fertilizing should be applied freely, so that the vigor of the tree may be preserved and that it may grow the most perfect fruit. Wood ashes, 5 to 10 pounds per tree, is very good. Stable manure applied in the fall or early winter, but never in the spring, unless the land is very poor and the trees are weak is excellent.

It is not too early to select the hens you intend using next season as breeders. It will be too late about the time you are ready to set the first eggs, if raising early and productive stock is your object. Then you will not know which pullets matured quickly, and laid early and persistently, nor the hens that hurried through the molt and came back to business quickly; now is the time to select these. Visit the henhouse occasionally and band the pullets found to be laying; you will soon learn to know those that lay often without looking at their band numbers. These should be used as breeders next season.

PREMISE.
Profoundly impressed with the truth that the National Grange of United States should proclaim to the world its general objects, we hereby unanimously make this Declaration of Purposes of the Patrons of Husbandry:

GENERAL OBJECTS.
1. United by the strong and faithful ties of Agriculture, we mutually resolve to labor for the good of our order, our country and mankind.
2. We heartily endorse the motto "In essentials, unity; in non-essentials, liberty and in all things, charity."
3. We shall endeavor to enhance our cause by laboring to accomplish the following objects:
"To develop a better and higher manhood and womanhood among ourselves; to enhance the comforts and attractions of our homes, and strengthen our attachments to our pursuits; to foster mutual understanding and co-operation; to maintain inviolate our laws, and to emulate each other in labor to hasten the good coming; to reduce our expenses, both individual and corporate; to buy less and produce more, in order to make our farms self-sustaining; to diversify our crops, and crop no more than we can cultivate; to condense the weight of our exports, selling less in the bushel and more on hoof and in fleece; less in lint, more in warp and woof; to systematize our work and calculate intelligently on probabilities; to discontinue the credit system, the mortgage system, the fashion system and every other system tending to prodigality and bankruptcy.—From the National Grange."

GATHERED UP.

You never lift up a life without being yourself lifted up.—Emerson.

The street urchins of today are the leaders of tomorrow.

Anyway, the man in jail doesn't have to worry about the weather.

Though a moth is very fond of dress, it is not at all particular as to style.

Cheerfulness is an oshoot of goodness and wisdom.—Boyer.

It is ever true that he who does nothing for others does nothing for himself.—Goethe.

Never forget that the nearest approach to perfect domestic happiness on earth is the cultivation of usefulness.

Your neighbor can't understand why you're not just like him.

The only man that never makes a mistake is the man who never does anything.—Theodore Roosevelt.

If we were as good as we think we are we'd attract more notice outside.

They are making some fuss out in Chicago because some count had to ride in a patrol wagon after his arrest on the charge of disorderly conduct. Should there be a special hurry-up cart for "counts"?

Romantic young lady, spending the summer on the farm: "Just hear those old trees in the orchard moaning and groaning, they sound like human wails."

Little boy: "Well, I guess you'd mean and groan if you were as full of green apples as they are."

HARDLY.
A Sunday school teacher, after reading the story of Ananias and Sapphira to the juvenile class, asked, "Now, children, why doesn't the Lord strike everybody dead who tells a lie?"
"Cause," answered a bright little fellow, "there wouldn't be anybody left hardly."—Chicago News.

PRESIDENT.
"Mr. Smith," spoke up the young lawyer, "I come here as a representative of your neighbor, Tom Jones, with the commission to collect a debt due him."
"I congratulate you," answered Mr. Smith, "on obtaining so permanent a job at such an early stage in your career."—Success Magazine.

SHOPPING TROUBLES.
"Tomorrow is my wife's birthday, and I want to buy a present that will tickle her."
"We have a nice line of feather bos." "No, no. I mean something that would make a hit with her."
"Anything in hammers?"
"You misunderstand. I want something striking that."
"Ah, you wish a clock."
"That's all."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A BIT TOO CLEVER.
Holman Hunt used to tell how a carpenter saved one of his best known pictures from a serious error. The man was doing some odd jobs about the house and was found frowning at "The Shadow of the Cross" in the studio a picture which Christ, who has been sawing a plank in the workshop, rises to his full height and stretches, his shadow forming a crucifix.
"Well," asked the artist interrogatively, "Don't think much of it, mister," was the blunt comment.
"Why?" demanded Hunt, amused, but a trifle nettled.
"Any one that can saw wood without making any sawdust is a slight cleverer any I ever seen," was the answer.
It was true—the floor was clear beneath the bench.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. "Hunt's Quality Post Cards"

There are some men that always keep before the public eye. Because of some magnetic power. Which we cannot deny. For instance, Theodore Roosevelt. And Taft, our president. And Henry Cabot Lodge who has become so prominent.

Governor Hughes of New York state. And John L. Sullivan. And Eben Draper, governor. And has produced a splendid man. John F. Fitzgerald, Boston's mayor. And J. P. Morgan, bond. Jeffries and Johnson fighters big. Like Speaker Cannon, old.

These men with all their prominence. No better work have done. Than Geo. L. Whitcomb, who for years Has public favor won.

His broad and rolls, his pies and cakes. Do more than speeches grand. For they with constant favor meet And supply a great demand.

Way to Treat Venison.

The sportsman was explaining to a few of his uninitiated friends, "If you don't like venison," he said, "it is because it has not been prepared properly. I think I know the kind you are tried to eat, and I agree with you it is not fit. After the deer has been shot the carcass probably has been allowed to lie around until the blood has discolored the meat and there has almost certainly been hunters dress their game carefully enough. As soon as a deer is killed the carcass should be thoroughly bled, skinned, the entrails removed and the meat hung up in the dry air for some hours. Thorough and prompt bleeding is of the utmost importance. Venison prepared in this way is comparatively light in color, that is, it is a clean, bright red, and the fat is white and clean. There is no strong, rank taste." New York Press.

"Stop! The brakes of the motor were suddenly applied, a pandemonium of whirling wheels ensued, and the motorist came face to face with Constable Coppens, who had been hiding in the hedge.
"Excuse me, sir," said the portly policeman, taking out his notebook and pencil, "but you exceeded the speed limit by two miles over a measured piece of road."
"I have done nothing of the kind," retorted the motorist, "and, besides—"
"Well, if you don't believe me I'll call the sergeant, 'beats' as it was 'im' as took the time. He's in the pigsty yonder."
"Don't trouble, Robert," the other hastened to reply, "I would sooner pay fifty fine than be taken to court for several years."

Faithful Woman.

I tell you that I never saw a rule, or more faithful than that of a woman who pursues her wife into the very ditch and dust of degradation and take her in his arms. I never saw a man stand at the shore where she was wrecked, looking for the waves to bring back her corpse to his arms, but I have seen a woman with her white arms lift a man from the mire of degradation and hold him to her bosom as if he were an angel—Ingersoll.

Way to Treat Venison.

The sportsman was explaining to a few of his uninitiated friends, "If you don't like venison," he said, "it is because it has not been prepared properly. I think I know the kind you are tried to eat, and I agree with you it is not fit. After the deer has been shot the carcass probably has been allowed to lie around until the blood has discolored the meat and there has almost certainly been hunters dress their game carefully enough. As soon as a deer is killed the carcass should be thoroughly bled, skinned, the entrails removed and the meat hung up in the dry air for some hours. Thorough and prompt bleeding is of the utmost importance. Venison prepared in this way is comparatively light in color, that is, it is a clean, bright red, and the fat is white and clean. There is no strong, rank taste." New York Press.
