A motion was made in the House of Commons, on the 14th of June, (which es aged our nouce on Tuesday.) for d unears connected with the commerci Trefations of England and Portugal. The object was to show, that the effect b - a injurious to both countries; pro-England of the good and cheap-wines of France, and the advantages of an extended intercourse with that great country. Mr. H. Villiers, the mover, observed, that "from 1080 to 1695, the wine tradwith France was free, and the annual? when the treaty of Methuen was concluded, the importation of French wines creased, and that of Port rose to 8445 tons. He also made some startling statements with respect to the adulteration of Port wine, and mentioned one instance, in which 135 pipes shipped at Guerney, on reaching London, were multiplied into 2545 pipes.

Mr. Courtenay perfectly concurred in a great portion of the statements of *the Hou. Member, and said that government was prepared to revise the trea- reign. ty of Methuen on the first favorable op-
