

ELECT GLENDALE MAN

PASTOR J. ADAMS STEVENS IS MADE PRESIDENT OF SO. CAL. CONFERENCE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

FRESNO, June 7.—Pastor J. Adams Stevens of Glendale, Cal., was yesterday morning elected by the delegates at the biennial convention of the Central California Conference of the Seventh-day Adventists at Recreation Park here, as president of the conference, to succeed Pastor N. P. Neilsen. Pastor Stevens is executive secretary of the home missionary department of the Pacific Union conference, but will be released from this position to take up his new duties in the local field.

Pastor Stevens was for several years president of the Northwestern California Conference of the Adventists, with headquarters in Santa Rosa. His efficient leadership led the nominating committee to report his name for consideration yesterday morning. Previous to his position in the northern part of the state, Mr. Stevens was superintendent of the Nevada Mission. He is well known to the Adventists throughout California and Nevada.

Pastor Neilsen has accepted a position as president of the Danish-Norwegian Seminary of the Adventists at Hutchinson, Minn. He will leave Fresno at once for his new work.

The other officers elected this morning to administer the Adventist church work in Central California are: secretary and treasurer, and secretary of the Central California Bible House, W. F. Field; missionary secretary, G. A. Wheeler; educational secretary, Mrs. A. M. Mann; young people's secretary, Richard R. Breitigam; field secretary, C. L. Davis; Sabbath school secretary, Myrtle B. Hudson; executive committee, J. Adams Stevens, E. H. Adams, F. E. Brown, G. A. Grauer, Nis Hansen, P. J. Wolfson, M. L. Rice.

Mr. Field succeeds Mr. Wheeler as secretary and treasurer of the conference. The executive committee will administer the conference business in the interim between the close of the present conference, and the convention two years hence.

That the Christian world of today counts it heresy to believe what is written in the law and the prophets, was the declaration of Pastor John W. Christian, of Glendale, president of the Pacific Union Conference of the Seventh-day Adventists, in his discourse at the camp-ground last night. He drew a parallel from the apostle Paul, quoting that orator's words that he had "lived in all good conscience before God and man," but that "after the way which they call heresy, so worship I the God of my fathers, believing all things that are written in the law and the prophets."

"There is a vast difference," said Mr. Christian, "between teaching heresy and teaching what some people call heresy. I think I am safe in taking my stand upon the same foundation as the Apostle Paul, and every Christian man and woman would do well, without any reference to their own pre-conceived ideas and wishes, to take their stand upon the same platform. It is the only secure place to stand."

COLORADO BOULEVARD P.-T. A.

The last meeting of the Colorado boulevard P.-T. A. for this school term was held June 6th, President Mrs. Frank Chambers presiding. Flag salute was led by Mrs. B. L. Cline.

The report on war activities for schools showed that our school is certainly 100 per cent patriotic. Miss Waite announced that the school building would be opened one day each week through the summer months for the purpose of giving out work to all who can take work home, also for the sale of Thrift Stamps. It is hoped that the same enthusiasm that has prevailed through the school months will continue during the summer, for the need is very great. The sum of $25.00 was donated to the Junior Red Cross to purchase material to be made up for the Belgians.

Installation of officers for the following year came next.

Mrs. B. L. Cline, president.

Mrs. Frank Chambers, vice-president.

Mrs. F. W. Kille, secretary.

Mrs. C. A. Cole, treasurer.

After the business session we were entertained by the sixth grade girls, who gave a portion of a patriotic medley, which they had recently given at a school entertainment. Tolleriver McClammy also gave a comic reading entitled, "Johnny's History Lesson." The program was fully enjoyed by all present.

MOTHER'S LETTER

HILL MCGILLIS WRITES COMFORTING WORDS FROM FRANCE

Hill McGillis, now in France, writes a beautiful letter to his mother. Suppose all young men, not cripples or feeble minded, are in the service. Evidently the boys "over there" have no respect for slackers. Here are extracts from his letter:

Mothers' Day, 1918, France.

My Darling Mother:

"Mothers' Day." What is it? Why set aside a certain day of each year in commemoration of our mothers? These are questions probably asked by those who perhaps have never known what a real mother was. "Mothers' Day" is observed even where one is in close touch with the brave woman who has tried to teach us to be men and women, but when one is so far removed—7000 miles—from the one so dear to him, this day implies ever so much more. It is then that one begins to realize what a mother is. She it is to whom he owes his life, the one who watched over and cared for him during illness, the one who always took his part, no matter what the trouble might be, and last, but by far not the least, the dear one who continually prays for our proper guidance through life's many evil temptations that we may be kept clean and pure.

If I were back in the U. S. today I would be wearing the symbol of the day we are observing, but here I can not wear the white carnation. Still, not for a single hour, dear mother, have I lost thought of you.

Over here in France the Y. M. C. A. has offered the American soldier every obtainable facility for writing to his mother. Preparations have previously been made and an ample supply of paper is on hand. It seems as though every one in ..... is trying to send home a message to his mother. Every table and bench is occupied and some of the boys are sitting on the floor using the stage as a writing desk. Others are sitting on the ground outside of the barracks using a box or a can as a table.

General Pershing has issued an order—not an order, either, but a suggestion—that every one write to his mother today. Such a suggestion was very appropriate, but I believe—in (Continued on Page Four)

LIGHT REGISTRATION

The registration of men who have reached the age of 21 since the registration took place in 1917 was expected to yield at least 200 recruits for Uncle Sam's army in this district, but only 94 reported at Lankershim, San Fernando and Glendale where registration offices were opened. The chief explanation for the shortage is found in the fact that so many men have entered the service by special induction instead of waiting to be called. On this account California has vastly exceeded her original quota and we can not expect big registrations from now on. So says Chairman Lanterman. The local Board of Exemptions has received no instructions as yet in regard to the filing of questionnaires by new registrants.

PLEASANT OUTING

Mrs. P. A. Wells of 328 South Maryland street and Mrs. Kingsbury of West Broadway combined business and pleasure in a trip to San Pedro last Friday. They were joined at Wilmington by Mr. and Mrs. Offutt and motored from there to the office of Contractor Darling to give the glad hand to Mr. Wells. They then drove to Point Firmin where a picnic dinner was enjoyed. The remainder of the day was spent in driving through the harbor district, seeing the ships, both steel and wooden, visiting the barracks where the boys are busily preparing to go "over there," in driving on the long beach, and back to Wilmington, where Mrs. Offutt served the entire party with a delicious dinner which was immensely enjoyed by all. The evening was spent at the Offutt home in a general good time, the party returning to Glendale at a late hour, tired but happy and feeling that it was "the end of a perfect day."

The guests who enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Offutt's hospitality were Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Kingsbury, Mrs. John Jensen of San Pedro, Mr. and Mrs. Parsons of Glendale.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR U. S. MARINES

ADVANCE WITH FRENCH NORTH OF CHATEAU THIERRY AND REPEL VIOLENT GERMAN ATTACKS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

(By Lowell Mellett, United Press Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES IN FRANCE, June 8.—American marines and French forces advanced north of Chateau Thierry this afternoon and several German counter attacks were blocked by the American advance. Amid violent artillery action the marines attacked the enemy right wing south of Belleau wood. A number of prisoners were sent back, but details of the attack have not been fully reported as yet. However, it is indicated that the Americans eliminated the enemy from their positions north of the sunken road between Torcy and Belleau on a mile front. The Germans attempted to advance this afternoon. Their infantry was supported by artillery, machine guns, gas shells and their new poison smoke clouds. The marines donned their gas masks and stopped the Germans four hundred yards from the American trenches with artillery and rifle fire. Simultaneously the Germans attacked an adjoining unit, but were sanguinarily repelled with inconsequential American losses. An hour later the enemy attacked the Americans holding Boresches, but the marines having been reinforced last night easily repelled them. Last night the Americans advanced over half a kilometer to the right of Torcy over a corpse-strewn field. The Germans are apparently being reinforced to hold the Americans.

LIEUTENANT LESTER MEYER DEAD IN FRANCE

MESSAGE FROM WAR DEPARTMENT TO MR. AND MRS. A. MEYER OF GLENDALE BRINGS THE SAD NEWS OF THE DEATH OF THEIR SON, A LIEUTENANT IN THE U. S. FLYING CORPS

Glendale is in mourning today for the first of her noble and stalwart sons to make the supreme sacrifice in the cause of justice and humanity on the western battle front, but the heaviest burden of sorrow rests upon the home at 1016 Maple avenue, where Mr. and Mrs. A. Meyer are mourning for their beloved eldest born and Russell, Archie and Martha are longing for the return of a dear brother who will never come.

Lester Meyer was among the very first to offer his services to his country when the United States entered the war. A successful young business man with the ability to make good and the brightest outlook on life, he immediately gave up all his personal plans and hopes for the future and early last June put in his application for a commission in the aviation corps. He awaited his summons with impatience and when ordered to report at Berkeley August 27 for training as a cadet officer he entered upon that work with the same enthusiasm with which he undertook every duty and pleasure in life. He completed the course at the ground school, which he described as "strenuous" but mighty interesting, the latter part of October and came home for four days before reporting to the flying school. We were all proud of Lester in his natty uniform and knew he was made of the stuff that would not hesitate in the face of duty or danger. On October 30 he reported at Berkeley once more and was sent to Rockwell Aviation Field, North Island, San Diego, for flying instruction. After less than five hours with an instructor Lester was turned loose to fly "solo." He had a natural adaptability for that work and made rapid progress. He liked the work because as he said it was individual work and gave him a chance to do his own thinking, use his own initiative and made him dependent upon himself.

He received his lieutenant's commission in January and left Rockwell Field February 18 on the big adventure. He sailed March 2 for France. His parents and friends here have received many characteristic letters from him, bubbling over with enthusiasm and hopefulness. He was made commander after reaching France and wrote that he was flying at a height of 15,000 to 20,000 feet and making two miles a minute in a scout machine. The message that came Friday afternoon brought no details of his death. But we in Glendale all know how Lester Meyer died. He lived a fine, clean, manly life, he had no fear, and his sacrifice was made a year ago when he gave himself to his country and knew then that he was offering his life if need be. Some of us here in Glendale never realized what the war meant until yesterday when the word came, "Lester Meyer is dead in France." The loss of this one splendid young man seemed almost too great a price to pay even for the world's redemption. Lester Meyer (Les as we all knew him) was born in New York City July 27, 1895. Less than 23 years of age, a boy in years, but manly in spirit and action. He received his education in the schools of New York and in Montreal, where his parents moved during his childhood. Later they came to Los Angeles and three years ago the family established their home in Glendale. Mr. Meyer with his son as his partner took the agency for the Overland automobile and Lester proved himself a very efficient and progressive business man. The responsibility of the business was gradually shifted to the younger man's shoulders and it was a hardship to Mr. Meyer in more than one sense when Lester decided that his country needed him. Lester became a member of the Glendale Elks in March, 1917, and was greatly loved by his brothers in the lodge, who have enjoyed the letters he has written to them. Lester's friends were many and the hearts that are bleeding with sympathy for his stricken parents and brothers and sister are innumerable. Lester's memory will long be enshrined in the hearts of our people as the gold star on our service flag reminds us of his great sacrifice and ours in losing him.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

In celebration of her husband's birthday, which fell upon June 6th, Mrs. Clifton Taylor of 1547 Ivy street, arranged a surprise party for him Thursday evening which proved a delightful affair for all concerned, especially for the honoree, who received many useful and beautiful gifts. Games and sociability pleasantly diverted the guests, who were served with delicious refreshments at the close of the evening. Shasta daisies were effectively used in floral decoration for the occasion. The guest list included the following friends: Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Taylor, Mrs. Jack McIrvin, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Taylor and their little daughter, Myrtle Taylor, Misses Evelyn and Gladys Taylor, Messrs. Zumbart Zum Brunnen, Lindley and Fred Taylor of Los Angeles, Mrs. N. L. Swallow and son, Master Wilbur Swallow, of Hollywood, Misses Emilie and Rose Stauffer of Monticello, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. R. L. His mother and his sister, Ellis, who formerly taught here, have moved to San Pedro for the convenience of his two brothers, who are employed in the shipyards there.

VISITOR FROM CULVER CITY

William A. Gibson, industrial agent of Culver City, visited Glendale Friday and came with L. T. Rowley to call at the office of the Glendale Evening News, after having made a little tour of the city with Mr. Rowley. He reported that affairs are rather quiet at Culver City, as they are in most parts of California, that the ban which the government puts on new industries which are not necessities has discouraged the establishment of any new enterprises recently and that the conservation of wheat has interfered with the output of the Globe Milling Company, the Macaroni Factory, and the Cakes Factory. Their most recent industry is "The Boy City Film Company," established by Judge Brown, who came there from Salt Lake City, where he was engaged in juvenile court work. The judge writes the scenarios and they are produced by the juveniles of his Boy City, which is a little municipality by itself on the order of the George Junior Republic.

Another comparative new development in Culver City described by Mr. Gibson was started last October in the hills north of the town in a beautiful tract of 106 acres with an old farmhouse which has been converted into a club house, with a dancing pavilion and other desirable adjuncts. It has a golf course of 18 holes and many fine club features.

Testimonial

Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Briggs— "I am very pleasantly reminded of you by the notice of the maturity of the Endowment Policy which has been sent to me for signature. * * * *"

I have always been a great admirer of the Provident Life & Trust Co. and their policies and have recommended your Co. and yourself to a great many people. * * * *"

Sincerely Yours, W. H. SMITH, Jr. May 2, 1918.

Note: This policy was a ten payment Endowment at 60, issued in 1888, at age 30. The annual premium of $58.10 per thousand was paid for 10 years, totaling $581.00. The annual dividends aggregated $249.50, making the net cost $331.50 for each $1000 received IN CASH, beside 30 years of protection.

Don't you believe this? I admit it does sound like a fairy tale, but we can prove it.

THREE SOCIETIES MEET

The regular meeting of the three women's societies of First Methodist Church was held Thursday in the church parlors. A delicious lunch was served at noon by the July division of the Ladies' Aid. Then the missionary societies held their business meetings as they industriously sewed for Belgian children. The Home Mission Society closed up their year's work with all pledges paid and everything in fine shape, which they consider very good with all other work to be done. New officers were elected for the coming year as follows:

- President, Mrs. C. W. Ingledue. Vice-President, Mrs. A. Jud Shepard. Recording Secretary, Mrs. E. H. Harding. Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. C. D. Lusby. Mite Box Secretary, Mrs. Henry Nicholas. Secretary of Literature, Mrs. G. H. Jordan.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC RECITAL

So great a success was the recital given by the Health and Success Club at Hurts' Hall Friday evening, that the chairs in the auditorium were insufficient to accommodate the audience. From the standpoint of enjoyment, socially and otherwise, it realized the hopes of the program committee and it was also a financial success.

All the numbers were excellent, but the solo by Mr. Kuhn was exceptionally pleasing.

The characterizations of Mrs. Goetz were done with finish and left no doubt as to her ability to characterize nationalities. All of the music was of a classic character and so well rendered that members and friends of the organization asked how soon they might have another entertainment, but declared it would be difficult if not impossible to have a better program.

BEN DURHAM SAFE

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Durham of 1679 West Seventh street are happy parents because they have received a telegram announcing the safe return to New York of their son Ben Tevis Durham. It will be remembered that he was transferred from the Aviation Ship Huntington in Pacific waters to the supply ship Wachusett, which sailed with Ben April 9th. After two months of anxiety his mother is immensely relieved to have this message, which also states that he will soon send them a German helmet which he secured in France. Ben was a High School boy and has many friends here who will share the satisfaction of his relatives in this good news. He will remain on the Atlantic coast subject to orders.

WORKERS BANQUET

Members of the British Ambulance Society spent a pleasant evening on Thursday at the Jewel City Cafe, where an especially prepared dinner was served by the hostess.

The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers and the walls were draped with the flags of Great Britain and the United States.

Proceedings were opened by the president, Mrs. Edgar Pack, who made some well-chosen remarks, and the singing of the national anthems of England and America.

Sixty members of the society were present and after listening to a report, the members were entertained by selections by Mr. and Mrs. Cotton of Casa Verdugo, accompanied by Mrs. Wright. The selections were well rendered and encored.

Dr. Buddington of Los Angeles was the speaker of the evening and expressed the opinion that the Glendale branch should be proud of its able president, Mrs. Edgar Pack, and its secretary, Mrs. Helen I. Campbell. He spoke of the proposed amalgamation of the different British societies engaged in war relief work in order to handle more efficiently the work put upon them by the war. He further pointed out the power for good that had been brought about by the bringing together of the great Anglo-American brotherhood.

The evening was finished by a good social time among the members of the society, and it is probable that more get-together meetings like this will be enjoyed in the future.

SENIOR DANCE

The party for the seniors of Union High, which is an annual affair given by members of the Alumni Association, and which was this year combined with the annual banquet which the juniors always give as a farewell festivity for the seniors, was a very great success socially and also financially; for this time, as a matter of patriotism, it was a public affair for the purpose of donating the proceeds to the Red Cross.

Between 175 and 200 guests were present who were entertained by a program and dance given in the banquet hall of the Elks' club house. For those who did not dance, games were provided in the ladies' parlor. Miss Dorothy Hobbs, president of the Alumni Association, and Miss Ruth Lathrop, president of the juniors, were general chairmen for the affair, with Miss Martha Ray in charge of the program and Miss Ruth Ryan supervising the punch table.

The program, which was interspersed with dancing, included patriotic songs by Miss Lulie Beall Beattie, who gave the "Knitting Song" and "My Wish."

Miss Terry, the dramatic art teacher of Union High, contributed readings which included "In May" and "Angelina."

Whistling solos were given by Miss Eva Green, who delightfully rendered "Chimes of Normandy" and "Uncle Sam Will Take Care of the Boys."

There were eighteen numbers on the dance program, mostly fox trots and waltzes.

Red flowers and flags featured the decorations.

Miss Hobbs reports that the returns for the Red Cross are expected to amount to $45 to $50.

REASON FOR PROTEST Rev. James S. O'Neill requests the publication of the following editorial under the above head from "The Columbian," as it explains the attitude taken by him and his people in requesting that High School commencement exercises be not held in a church: "We have noted several announcements from different parts of the country of baccalaureate sermons and commencement exercises of public schools that will take place in Protestant churches. We have no reasonable right to object to a Protestant minister giving a talk to the public school graduates if he does so as an American citizen. We do protest against public school exercises being held in Protestant churches. "It would not be difficult to imagine the storm that would be raised if a baccalaureate sermon or graduating exercise of a public school were held in a Catholic church. In the first place, there is no reason for holding a school commencement in a church. There is equally no reason for having a clergyman preach a sermon to the graduates. It is no part of the commencement exercises. We are supposed to stand for separation of Church and State. It is a violation of the spirit, if not the actual letter, of the Constitution to compel a Catholic graduate to attend a Protestant sermon. These baccalaureate sermons are another evidence of the desire of the sects to impress the idea that there is some union of Protestantism and State. In many instances the very preachers who are the quickest to resent any apparent recognition of the Catholic Church are the ones who are giving these sermons and proffering their churches for the commencement exercises. The Catholics of any community in which such an attempt is made should make prompt and vigorous protest. "No matter what the people of a locality may think, the public school is not a part of any church. Those who are to graduate should refuse to attend these baccalaureate sermons if they are given by a Protestant clergyman in his capacity as a minister of religion or in a Protestant church. It is unfortunate that many of our Catholic people have not the moral courage that they should have to resent such impositions on their rights."
