

MENACE TO AMERICA

E. B. FISH DISCUSSES FORCES THREATENING AMERICAN INSTITUTIONS

Growing interest and enthusiasm for the Chautauqua Course drew to the tent on Maryland avenue an audience of about six hundred persons Wednesday afternoon to enjoy the music furnished by Raul Pereira and his string quintette, with which the program opened after preliminary announcements had been made, and the fine address by E. B. Fish on "Americanism and Industry." The music of the afternoon was wisely provided as a sample to whet the appetites of patrons for the concert of the evening at which Mary Adel Hays, American soprano, was the soloist delighting a large audience with her beautiful voice.

In the course of his talk Mr. Fish, who gives every impression of culture and who is certainly a magnetic and easy speaker, explained that he is "a plain laboring man" who was employed in the manufacture of engines in connection with shipbuilding for the government during the war. He then came to see how labor was being led astray and labor organizations being undermined by the insidious propaganda we know as I. W. W. and Bolshevism and was the author of a petition of protest against it for circulation among his fellow workmen. He also made several follow-up addresses which attracted attention and led to his being asked to carry his message to workingmen all over the country through the Chautauqua platform. He told how the plea was reinforced by workingmen who came to him and urged him to do what he could to restore the vision of their fellow workers and free them from the conspiracies of propagandists inaugurating strikes everywhere in defiance of national union officials and accomplishing their purpose through trickery, threats, intimidation and every other vicious means. Said he:

"After I had been talking two or three months I discovered that instead of having a few disturbances incident to the problems of reconstruction we had a far greater menace facing the institutions of the United States and it sailed under many different flags but particularly under the flag of the working men of America. Imagine my surprise when I began going out to address them."

DISCOMFORTS OF LIVING IN HOUSE ON THE WING

A. H. Fuelscher and family have had rather an annoying experience of late. The large house they are living in was moved from the corner of Broadway and Orange to 118 N. Orange, five lots up the street and they remained with it during the entire operation, living in the middle of the street one night. The house is now in place in the new location, but though it started from the old location two weeks ago, the gas connection has not been made yet where it now is and the Fuelschers are getting tired of eating cold meals. The light and water connections were made soon after the new location was reached, so conditions were not unbearable.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

Chapter L, P. E. O., met with Mrs. Border, 217 North Louise St., Wednesday, in rooms charmingly decorated with roses. Mrs. Ramsay, Mrs. D. H. Smith and Mrs. H. D. Goss were assisting hostesses. The business session was held in the forenoon as usual and a two-course luncheon served at noon. Attention was called to the State Convention to be held May 18th, 19th and 20th in the Wilshire Christian Church, Los Angeles. Mrs. Warren Roberts and Mrs. Dorothy Weller will attend the convention as delegates from Chapter L. It was decided that the next meeting of the Chapter be an afternoon meeting at the home of Mrs. Genevieve Goss.

The afternoon program was in the form of a musicale and was in charge of Mrs. Warren Roberts. Mrs. Roberts read an interesting program on American composers. Mrs. Ann P. Bartlett gave a synopsis on Victor Herbert's opera, Natoma. Miss Isabelle Isgrigg sang very charmingly with sympathetic accompaniment by Mrs. Harriet Randall, five selections from this opera, "Legend of the Amulet." (Continued on Page 3)

GLENDALE WINS

SANTA MONICA TEAM GOES DOWN TO DEFEAT IN FINE GAME

Glendale baseball fans, especially those belonging to the student body of the High School, and this, of course, included every member, were worked up to a high pitch of excitement over the opening game for the Inter-Scholastic League championship of Southern California high schools yesterday afternoon on the home grounds. Glendale, champion of the central district, and Santa Monica, winner in the bay district, were the contenders, and it was a pretty game from start to finish, ending also in a manner highly pleasing to Glendale enthusiasts. Santa Monica is a little bit livelier on the bases than the Glendale boys and did more hitting, but they also failed to bunch hits except in the second inning, and made some costly errors. Their main pitcher, Swartz, is a Southpaw with a rather slow delivery, but not hard to solve. He was replaced at the opening of the 7th inning by Charles, who struck out the first three Glendale batters to face him, and two more before the game ended. Fred Jenkins pitched a very steady game and was never rattled at any time. Glendale has a mighty well-balanced team and they played a consistent game all through. Especially fine work was done by Herman on first, both in fielding and batting and others of the boys distinguished themselves.

The pleasing feature of the game was the entire absence of rowdiness or quarreling. A spirit of fairness prevailed at all times and this was especially in evidence toward the close of the game when Paul Jenkins, declared safe on first, was later declared out on a reversed decision, when the umpire, who failed to see the play, took the word of the two coaches and the interested players. Art Kruger, a former player in the Coast League, umpired very fairly.

Coach Shutt, formerly of Pomona College, Manager Louis Scherb and 16 others from Santa Monica accompanied the team. Following is the score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Glendale	0	1	0	3	1	0	0	0	*	5

STOLEN FORD RECOVERED

As Al Land of the Ford agency was coming down to work yesterday morning he saw a stripped Ford car standing by the roadside at the junction of Glendale avenue and Verdugo Road. All the tires were gone. He notified the agency and the car was towed in. By the register number it was found that the car belonged to R. R. Bray of 2205 West Sixth St., Los Angeles. The Auto Club sent out and had the car towed into the city for delivery to the owner, from whom it was stolen a few days before.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Mrs. Morris Cook of 219 East Eulalia street recently entertained as a surprise for her husband in celebration of his birthday. Guests numbered about twenty-four and all came dressed as children, which created great amusement. Dancing and games constituted the amusements and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess at small tables where a lavender color scheme was carried out in candles and shades, flowers and menu. Most of the guests were from Los Angeles but one couple present claim New York as their home. Mr. and Mrs. Cook have just bought a commodious five-room cottage at Big Bear lake where they have already spent several pleasant week-ends and expect to have much pleasure the coming summer.

ENTERTAINING VAUDEVILLE ARTIST

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Howe are with Mr. Howe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Howe, of 727 East Windsor Road, for an indefinite stay. Mrs. Howe was formerly Miss Lola Francis, a member of the Alla Moskova Russian Ballet which toured the Orpheum and other vaudeville circuits, and was later one of a trio of featured dancers in Julian Eltinge's Revue which played at the Mason Opera House last August. During their stay in Glendale Mrs. Howe may organize an out-door class for Howe's lovely grounds.

WEATHER FORECAST: Mostly cloudy tonight and Friday. Possibly local showers.

REBELLION IN MOSCOW

UNCONFIRMED REPORTS OF REVOLUTION IN SOVIET CAPITAL CREDITED; RADIO STATION SILENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, May 13.—Ukrainian troops have occupied Odessa, according to a News Agency dispatch received today. The continued silence of the Moscow wireless station caused considerable speculation here on what may be happening in the Russian soviet capital. An unconfirmed Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen said that private advices had been received there that a great rebellion was under way in Moscow. There were many fires, the report said. Officials here are inclined to credit this report because of the silence of the Moscow radio station. The last message was received here Sunday when a wireless call intended for all stations was suddenly interrupted.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PITTSBURG, May 13.—The reported strike of engineers and firemen of the three railroads entering Pittsburg which was to have become effective this morning, failed to materialize, railroad officials claimed today.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

President Carranza, the advices said, refused to surrender despite the fact that the revolutionists offered him safe conduct to Vera Cruz. The battle was described as particularly violent with about 20,000 men engaged. Carranza has about 6000 men, advices received here indicated. The revolutionists, it is declared, are confident of victory.

PATRIOTS CHALLENGED

RESOLUTION TO GIVE AMNESTY TO POLITICAL PRISONERS AROUSES MR. WILLISFORD

Wednesday afternoon the thirty-fourth annual meeting of the Southern California Congressional Conference, which had been held at the First Congregational Church in Los Angeles, came to an end. In attendance from here were: Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Willisford, Dr. and Mrs. H. T. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Chubbuck, Mr. and Mrs. Blake Franklin, Mrs. George E. Adams and Mrs. Ray Phillips. Dr. Willisford is one of the directors of the Conference. Mr. Chubbuck gave a valuable report on Indian affairs in California.

One of the most interesting addresses of the Conference was made by Dr. Graham Taylor of Chicago, who was the founder and is still connected with the widely known social settlement, Chicago Commons.

At the concluding session resolutions were presented, one of which created a great deal of discussion. It proposed amnesty to all political prisoners and on its face was perfectly innocent and unobjectionable. Dr. Willisford had learned, however, from the author of the resolution, that it would favor the liberation of Eugene V. Debs and other men of similar type. It was upon this ground that he opposed the resolution. He said in substance that he had the highest regard for true conscientious objectors to taking up arms and actually participating in the shedding of blood, and that he would do all he could to aid such men to secure their liberty; that he wanted justice done to all political prisoners and if any had been imprisoned without due regard to the principles of justice he would be as strenuous as any other citizen in urging the review of their cases and their liberation if the facts justified.

But for those who by act or word defied our government and its lawful institutions or who had made it difficult for our nation to perform its part in preparation for or execution of its warlike measures, he had nothing but contempt. He said he did not believe that any such should be granted amnesty; that he believed each case should be determined on its own individual merits. He considered it an injustice to the two millions of loyal American youth sent overseas, and to another two millions who were preparing in American camps for like service when the armistice was signed; that it was an insult and injustice to the brave men who had suffered and died not only that the Allies might win the war but that America might be preserved from the aggression of the brutal Hun. This protest by Mr. Willisford precipitated an earnest and animated discussion which resulted in the defeat of the resolution.

DEATH OF H. W. WATKINS

H. W. Watkins died at his home, 1635 South San Fernando Road, Tuesday, 10:30 a. m., of liver trouble, after an illness of two months. He was 60 years of age. Mr. Watkins was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., but came to San Francisco with his parents when six years old and spent all the remainder of his life in California. In 1883 he married Miss Maggie Benninger of Sacramento. They moved to Glendale two years ago to be nearer Mr. Watkins' work, which was in the S. P. shops in Los Angeles, and because they wanted to live in beautiful Glendale. He was master car builder for the S. P. for several years. The three children of the family, a son living in Burlingame and two daughters, one living in Berkeley and the other in San Francisco, were at their father's bedside when he died. Funeral services will be held in Masonic Hall, Los Angeles, tomorrow.

DEDICATE NEW HOME

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Kimball, who formerly resided on West Maple St., but who have been established in their new home at 339 West Lexington Drive for about three weeks, entertained on Sunday, Mothers' Day, with a family dinner party, the first function that has taken place under their new roof. The guest list included their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hinchcliffe, and children, their son, Robert Kimball, and family, Mrs. Barry and son, Gilbert Barry—mother and brother of Robert Kimball—and Miss Stevens from Illinois, who is the house guest of the host and hostess. Covers were laid for twelve and roses centered the table. Following the dinner guests remained for a social afternoon.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoffman, who formerly lived on Wilson avenue and are now on a 16-acre ranch in Beaumont, were Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Esterly.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Brown and Mr. Brown's sister, Mrs. Brennan, and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Clark were entertained Wednesday evening at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. John Baum on North Louise.

Mrs. James Ewins of 615 South Verdugo Road has had the pleasure of entertaining within the past week her sister from San Diego, Mrs. Montgomery, and her brother, Edward B. Brady, who returned to their homes the first of the week.

John Cotton, the artist, of North Glendale, who has had an exhibit of etchings at the Ebell Club in Los Angeles for the past two weeks, gave a talk before the club this morning on the history and development of the etching.

Mrs. H. V. Ellis of 106 East Wilson is spending all the time she can spare at Santa Monica at the bedside of her mother, who is seriously ill. She was in Glendale Wednesday, but expected to soon go back to the beach city.

At the last pay assembly held in the High School auditorium, on Tuesday afternoon, a rare treat was given the pupils. Frederick Warde, the great tragedian, headliner in the Mission Play, gave an address on oratorical expression, which he illustrated with many readings from plays of Shakespeare.

Leigh Bancroft has come down from the north on a brief business trip but will return to the bay city this week. Letters from Mrs. Bancroft indicate that for many reasons she and Mr. Bancroft like Frisco very much, but there is just a little suggestion of homesickness for Southern California and Glendale.

Mrs. E. H. Johnson of 214 E. Lomita is in considerable perplexity what to do. The house in which she has been living has been sold and she will soon have to surrender possession. She does not want to leave Glendale but has not yet found what she wants to rent though she has been looking conscientiously.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Heald are expecting the arrival of their daughter, Mrs. Albert De Berry, from San Angelo, Tex., within the next month to make them quite an extended visit. It is possible she will be accompanied by her brother, Willis Heald, who is also in San Angelo and in the same bank in which his brother-in-law is employed.

Mrs. T. C. McMillan, who before her marriage was Miss Emma Esterly, and who is now living in Scott City, Kansas, finds that the climate of the Sunflower State is agreeing with her in spite of the fact that she does not like it as well as that of Southern California. She misses the vegetables from our winter gardens as well as the climate and is very busy trying to make the ground ready for a garden as soon as the frost leaves the soil.

Mrs. William Bell and little son, William, Jr., of Pasadena, and Mrs. Bell's mother and sister, Mrs. Frank Kamp and Miss Kamp, of Hills, Pennsylvania, were luncheon guests of Mrs. John Elmer Fife, 510 West Colorado boulevard, on Wednesday. The Kamps came to Southern California from Pennsylvania on January first and have spent most of the time with Mrs. Kamp's daughter in Pasadena. They expect to go East next week.

Mrs. Florence Byrns of Los Angeles was the dinner guest of Mrs. Marian Wood, of 217 East Chestnut street, Sunday.

Edward H. Smith, Jr., of 1415 E. Colorado reported the theft of his Packard bicycle from the rear of the High School main building, night before last.

W. J. Stone of Paso Robles made a hurried business trip to Los Angeles today and could not resist the temptation to come out to Glendale to visit old friends and spend the night.

W. C. Estes of Hollywood is in Glendale attending to business matters for his daughter, Mrs. E. V. Chamberlain, preparatory to her moving into the bungalow she recently purchased from Mr. McAtee at 904 East Acacia.

A shifting of the current on the P. E. trolley wires during the rush time last evening held up quite a number of Glendale trains for several minutes, causing considerable worry to commuters and to their families who were awaiting the return home from work.

BUSY BEE CARD PARTY

A most gratifying success was the whist party given by members of the Busy Bee Club at the White Inn Wednesday evening as a benefit for the Holy Family Catholic Church. The lady's prize was won by Mrs. May Hunter, the gentlemen's favor going to Randolph Doll. About 80 were present and there were sixteen tables arranged for those who wished to play. At the end of the contest refreshments of coffee and home-made doughnuts were served and made a great hit. Guests were enthusiastic over the pleasant social evening they had enjoyed and a goodly sum was realized for the church fund.

R. A. PUFFER'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED

Rosecoe A. Puffer's 43d birthday was celebrated last evening by a pleasant little party given for him by his wife at the family home, 452 Vine street. It was in the form of a dinner at which he was the guest of honor. Decorations were of yellow roses and the table was centered by a beautiful birthday cake. Covers were laid for eight—H. L. Wiley and wife of El Paso, Texas, residents for many years of Los Angeles, where Mr. Wiley was engaged in the manufacture of ice cream; Mrs. James Saunders of Chicago, who is visiting in Los Angeles; Roscoe Arthur Puffer, Jr., and his charming bride of five months, who lately returned from the East and are now living in Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Puffer and their younger son, Walthor.

THE LUTHERAN SUPPLY PASTOR

Dr. H. C. Funk of San Francisco, who has come to Glendale to occupy the pulpit of Rev. R. W. Mottern during his absence in the East, is a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Esterly of Salem street. In old-fashioned parlance he is a "man of parts"—a man of versatility. He was born and reared in Litchfield, Illinois, took his degree of A. B. at Carthage College, and is a graduate of Wittenberg Seminary at Springfield, Ohio. Dr. Funk is also a physician, being a graduate of the American School of Naturopathy and consulting physician of the College of Naturopathy. He is also superintendent of Missions and travels extensively. He is described as a forceful and attractive speaker and is frequently called upon to lecture.

vocation, "Great Manitou," "Lullaby" and "Beware of the Hawk."

Mrs. Roberts gave a biography by Charles Wakefield Cadman interspersed with interesting personal touches which she received from Mrs. L. C. Makinson, of Los Angeles, who sang on the Cadman program before the Tuesday Afternoon Club. This biography was followed by a synopsis of the opera, "Shanewis" by Cadman. Miss Margaret Lusby sang very sweetly, "Spring Song of the Robin Woman" and "Her Shadow," both selections from Shanewis.

Mrs. Dorothy Weller read a biography of Edward MacDowell, and Miss Lacy, of Chapter L., Rocky Ford, Col., a house guest of Mrs. Randall, interpreted MacDowell's Prædelium very charmingly.

Mrs. Alma J. Danford gave two readings, "A Tribute to James Whitcomb Riley" and "Tomorrow." Both were very well received.

Miss Isgrigg, accompanied by Miss Lacy, sang Cadman's "Land of the Sky Blue Water."

A tribute was paid to the memory of Florence Nightingale, the centenary of whose birth occurred May 12th, and a photograph of this beloved woman was passed around by Mrs. Roberts.

Guests of the afternoon were Mrs. Cross, Mrs. Case, Mrs. Archie Parker, and Mrs. Stamps of Chapter B. A.; Mrs. Humphrey of Chapter U. of Burbank; Mrs. Lacy of Chapter L., Rocky Ford, Col.; Mrs. Putnam of Chapter A. T., Los Angeles.

TEACHERS' SALARIES

"The first requisite in public schools is a staff of good teachers. The teachers must be provided for properly."

This statement was made in Los Angeles a few days ago by Peter A. Mortensen, superintendent of schools of Chicago and one of the country's leading educational authorities. Mr. Mortensen was brought to Los Angeles by the Chicago Association of Commerce as a "Representative and spokesman for the next generation of Chicago citizens." He led the fight for an adequate remuneration for the teachers of his city and won the support of every business man's organization in the Windy City.

The nation will judge Los Angeles county by what it does for its teachers," declared Supt. Mortensen. "As a matter of fact, it is not asked to help the teachers as much as to guarantee the safety of the educational system, the teaching of good citizenship, the Americanization of the next generation. The teachers are not appealing for themselves for the labor market in all lines is open to cultured, ambitious, loyal people. The teachers, in reality, are appealing for the schools. The teachers can sell their services for more. The schools will be only barren buildings without teachers of experience."

Meanwhile organizations of public nature in every section of Los Angeles county are endorsing the plan for an adequate compensation for teachers. Citizens in every community are sending postcards to their county supervisors requesting that the supervisors take action which will insure efficient teachers holding school positions for the coming year. There is no minimizing the danger for many schools will be unable to secure competent teachers for next year unless there is a readjustment of salaries. Teachers can make more money in many other lines of endeavor.

Your Community Is No Stronger Than Its Schools

To the Citizens of Los Angeles, City and County:

An increase in the County common school tax rate is an imperative necessity.

The rate should be made 50c.

Careful computation shows that the County high school tax should be increased to 35c, to enable the high schools to do their work efficiently and successfully.

Such action will support both schools and teachers and guarantee the full exercise of the functions of our educational system.

(Signed) MARK KEPPEL, Supt. of Schools Los Angeles County.

dress working men to find that in the audiences were men against whom I had to be protected, who threatened my life. As the days went on and I studied the situation I began to slowly come to the conclusion that we are facing an attempt to ruin the institutions sanctified by prayer and sacrifice and handed down to you and me by our forefathers. It was not a question of shorter hours, more pay or better working conditions, not a question of reconstruction nor of disturbance due to the high cost of living, but rather a well-organized, vigorous minority bent on the disruption not only of American labor but of American institutions, bent on sweeping our country into the same kind of a maelstrom of anarchy that Russia has been swept into. I saw spokesmen for labor, papers, pamphlets and books professedly official coming to the ranks of labor tinged with I. W. W. and Bolshevik propaganda. So for fourteen months I have been carrying this message to working men primarily. I had the pleasure today of addressing three thousand shipyard workers at San Pedro, and I like to talk to working men.

"Ninety-two and one-half per cent of the people of America are outside of organized labor and organized capital or employers, not on either side of this controversy. This 92½ per cent has been doing the suffering, doing the walking when the carmen struck, doing the freezing when the coal miners struck, doing the paying when the raises in wages were granted, paying the bills and keeping their mouths shut. I think we are a great big bunch of good-natured lubbers. (Applause). And I think the time has arrived when this 7½ per cent or 6 per cent or 1½ per cent should be made to realize that America was never given to the world in the interest of any organized class, but that this country stands for the good of the whole. No class, be it a class of organized labor or a class of organized capital is good enough or big enough or wise enough to run the 92½ per cent of the population of this country. (Applause). If I can once arouse a small proportion of the people I talk to, a small proportion of the one hundred and one millions, to see that their safety and their homes and their prosperity are being threatened by this kind of warfare, I shall have accomplished my purpose this summer and shall be grateful for the opportunity of the Chautauqua platform.

"It is not," he declared, "a question of reconstruction growing out of the return of the soldiers to civil life. They went overseas to save the world to democracy and then had to come back to fight the battle over again to save their country to democracy, some of them giving up their lives. In Centralia in the cause. The American Legion has put the fear of God into the hearts of red-handed radicals more than any other organization in the country," he declared. "They are home and have to fight again the enemies of democracy. These men are not making any serious problems. They are not the cause of industrial disturbance."

He refused to entertain the proposition that the disturbances are due to the efforts of working men trying to better their condition, declaring that 95 per cent of the working men organized and unorganized are as loyal to the United States as any element in our population. (Applause). He referred to the outlaw strikes and the attitude of organized labor in taking the places of the strikers as "scabs" and demonstrating their lack of sympathy with the Bolshevistic propaganda back of them.

He declared the truth of the statements made with reference to the propaganda going on in factories to slow down production and introduce the theory of making the job last as long as possible by doing as little work as possible, not realizing that such methods of reducing the efficiency of the worker and increasing the cost of the product are more suicidal to industry than to the employers.

He paid his respects to the profiteer as a greater menace than the I. W. W. and a greater traitor than Benedict Arnold. He declared that every American found guilty of profiteering as well as every syndicalist should be sent out of the country. (Applause).

After naming the slowing down of production in factories by the propaganda referred to as one of the causes of the high cost of living because the workman does not turn out his margin of production over and above consumption, he named extravagance as one of the causes of the high cost of living, saying: "There is sweeping over the United States an epidemic of spending such as this nation never knew in all its history, and unless you and I pull up our purse strings and stop spending, we will face a panic in a few months such as you never dreamed of in your wildest nightmare."

He jeered at the phrase, "the poor working man," declaring statistics show that one man in fourteen the country over has an automobile, and among the "peasant" farmers of Kansas it runs still higher—one auto to every sixth man. If they were all Fords, every man, woman and child could ride, he declared, because every Ford will carry fifteen people without a grunt.

Referring to the folly of the overall and wooden shoe fads he urged frugality in dress, declaring that he did not propose to spend any money for a new suit of clothes until he had to in order to avoid trouble with the authorities.

Of the cure for the Bolshevism and I. W. W.ism menacing American institutions, he said: "I believe America is afflicted with a disease more contagious than the small-pox, more fatal than the bubonic plague and that it cannot be corrected until the 92½ per cent arise and apply the cure. There is but one cure and that is to return to the old-fashioned, clear-brained, up-standing, hickory-spined Americanism and practice it in every activity of our lives. Those early Americans believed in the existence of God. There is not a radical in the country today that is not an atheist. They believed in the justice and right and sovereignty and integrity of Jehovah. I have discovered they tried to order their lives according to the teachings of Jesus, the carpenter of Nazareth, the greatest champion of democracy the world has ever known and tried to live up to the great principles of democracy announced by Jesus. Then it was I saw that America was not simply a place to make money, that Americanism meant a spiritual attitude and quality of soul, that it meant a recognition of the universal fatherhood of God and brotherhood of man, and when I saw that I saw the plainer that you cannot save America by organizations, that the more people organize to do things the less they do them. When the employer practices the golden rule and the worker practices the golden rule with his employer and his fellow workers and we all practice it in politics, in the home, in the street, in the shop; when we go back to the real meaning of what America stands for, when we recognize that we are brothers and endeavor despite our imperfections to live and practice Americanism, in every day life, we will have started the cure and will have lifted the nation up to the measure set for ourselves as individuals."

The evening session was given up entirely to music, Raul Pereira and his quintet giving several beautiful numbers, including a repetition of "Forgetmenots," by request, and Mr. Pereira's dance composition that was very bright and catchy. The cello solos were highly pleasing, also, and Miss Mary Adel Hays captured all hearts with her beautiful songs. Perhaps the one most thoroughly enjoyed was the bell song with its beautiful accompaniment. Her marvelous voice was shown to greatest advantage in this, especially in the high notes.

HONEY A VALUABLE SUBSTITUTE FOR SUGAR

Mrs. Lola A. Elliott, of 1331 East Colorado, says that orange blossom honey is an excellent substitute for sugar in these troublous times. With sugar at 25c a pound and honey at 24c, or even more, there is a distinct advantage in the substitution as the honey goes much farther than sugar and the latter should be saved for canning purposes as canned fruit will be scarce this year and necessarily higher than ever. Honey can be used for sweetening cereal foods, beverages, puddings and pies, and for making marmalades. A very little need be used and then it is much more healthful than sugar. Housewives should give serious attention to making this substitution of honey for sugar.

Chautauqua Presents "Kindling"

Splendid Dramatic Production by the Maurice Browne Players

The production of "Kindling" by the Maurice Browne players which is scheduled for the fifth night of Chautauqua, will be one of the big events of the assembly. Not since Margaret Illington brought this great drama to the Coast has "Kindling" been produced in the West. Then it registered a big success, and on its return to New York started on a sensational run lasting for two years. Maurice Browne, under whose supervision this production has been made, is known widely as a pioneer of the Little Theater movement in America. He is now producing the "Medea" of Euripides with his wife in the title role at the Garrick theater, New York. This potent drama by Charles Kenyon, is admirable as a work of art, but it is even more important as a social document. It probes deep into the problems of social justice. In the hands of Maurice Browne players, every detail is handled with consummate skill and artistry. The Maurice Browne players will be seen in the big Chautauqua tent, corner Maryland and Wilson avenues, FRIDAY EVENING, May 14.
