FIRST PICNIC BY REALTY BOARD TO SHRINE CLUB IS LIVELY EVENT

Caravan Invades 'Desert of Verdugo' and Big Time Lasts Until Late

The Glendale-Verdugo dusty desert yesterday afternoon and evening was transformed into a lively oasis for the first annual picnic and frolic of the Glendale Shrine club. Gasoline camels began to "hump" into the corral about 2 o'clock to get the camp ready for the night. The main caravan, however, did not nose into the stockade until about 5 o'clock. From then on until midnight there was something doing every second. All agreed that the outing was one of the liveliest affairs ever staged by the local Shriners. Nobles from Hollywood and Pasadena were the special guests of the occasion, but representatives from Los Angeles, Long Beach and other southern California communities complimented the local club by their presence. Bed fezes were very conspicuous. Most of them were worn by members of the Al Malika Temple of Los Angeles, but the following shrines were represented: Salaam, El Maide, Mohammed, Tangars, Arat, El Korum, Hella, Kam, Lulu, Assyrian, Syria, Nile, Tebala, Antioch Akdar and Moca.

Everybody Happy

The open-air pavilion was the scene of the evening's activities. This was comfortably crowded with Shriners and their families all of whom seemed to be having a most sociable time. The dancing was interspersed with special events.

Illustrious Potentate Louis W. Cole of Los Angeles who is the highest official of Al Malika Temple, congratulated the local club upon its progress and expressed a hope that other clubs in the vicinity would follow its example.

Charles Edward Hoag, president of the Hollywood Shrine club, was called upon also for a short speech. He felicitated the local club upon the occasion.

REALTY BOARD TO FIGHT AGAINST 'EXCURSIONS'

Local Organization Opposes Autobus Solicitations to Inspect Propositions

The soliciting of passers-by on the public streets of Glendale for "excursions" to inspect outside real estate, oil properties, or whatsoever will be eliminated if the Glendale Realty Board can find a way to do it. This was indicated at the board's weekly luncheon meeting yesterday noon, following an animated discussion of realty ethics, contaminating influences and so on.

Mayor Spencer Robinson and City Manager William H. Reeves, who were present, gave information concerning present restricting ordinances and appeared to favor further limitation of the street-soliciting practice by those who here property for sale.

An animated discussion of the luncheon was a lively affair from the standpoint of discussion, although the attendance numbered less than a score. High temperature, election aftermaths, and vacations were responsible for the absentees.

In the absence of the president, W. A. Horne was chosen chairman. Several applications for membership were presented. The question of multiple listing, favored but not promoted, was brought up by Secretary Hayward for the Nth time. No action.

Invitation Accepted

An invitation from the Glendale Exchange club to participate as guests at a gathering to be staged in Glendale-Verdugo city park September 9, was accepted with thanks by the board.

It was voted as the sense of the meeting that each member be a voluntary individual subscriber of the Community Picnic fund. A minimum of $2 per member is required to meet the deficiency.

Better Homes Show

The representative of a company organized to put on "suburban home exhibitions" was presented and offered his concern's plan, under which the proposed show would be under the auspices of the Realty Board. October 9 to 14 was suggested as a desirable time for the exposition. The following committee, by action of the board, was appointed to investigate: (Continued on Page 8)

Hip, Hip, Hooray! Deed Is Exposed! Hipocracy Hipped!

Mayor Spencer Robinson of Glendale has an eagle eye and a sensitive "smeller" of which hip-pocket transporters may well beware. At yesterday's Glendale Realty Board luncheon, the mayor caught Lloyd Wilson with something on his hip—but it was a deed, not a "dud."

W. A. Horne, who was presiding, had just caused an uproar of laughter by suggesting that certain information he handed to Secretary Hayward "after the services." Mr. Horne's endeavor to correct "services" to "meeting" served but to call attention to the error of habit—for Horne presides at certain church functions regularly.

During this laugh, in which Lloyd Wilson joined, the latter was on his feet to speak and a bulge of his coat tail just over his pocket—labeled and used before—Volstead—was in line with Mayor Robinson's vision. As the mayor reached over to raise the coat-tail, others caught the significance of the act and laughed.

Wilson joined in the merriment believing they were still laughing at Horne's slip of the tongue.

The hip-pocket-racy of Wilson consisted of a legal document which looked like a deed. "He did the deed, but we can't convict him," murmured the mayor.

AUTHORITIES FOIL ALLEGED PLOT TO WRECK TRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—An alleged plot to dynamite and wreck the Western Express, a New York to Chicago train of the New York Central railroad, was frustrated, according to police, through the capture early today of three men. Detectives were searching for two other men said to have been involved in the plot and were also endeavoring to locate a large amount of explosive said to have been concealed in this city. The train was to have been wrecked between Gary, Ind., and Chicago, police stated. The men under arrest are Frank R. Hartman, alleged to have been the brains of the plot, J. J. Boyle and C. A. Kaglan. Private detectives, posing as railroad strikers, are said to have secured the information of the plans to wreck the train.

CONTINUE DRIVE TO RESCUE 45 ENTOMBED MINERS

JACKSON, Cal., Aug. 31.—Hope was running high in Jackson today that rescue of the forty-five miners entrapped by fire in the Argonaut gold mine early Monday is near at hand. Efforts to reach the men were carrying a climax today. The crew digging from the Kennedy mine were hopeful that if no ill luck is encountered they will soon be in position to tap the Argonaut level. Another drive for the Argonaut shaft from the Kennedy was started today as a precaution in case the first one should encounter insurmountable difficulties in the form of an extraordinary rock formation or rock fall. The fire which entrapped the miners was reported today to be virtually out. It will be some time, however, before it will be possible to enter the shaft to do rescue work from that angle. The heat and smoke is still terrific and repairs must be made to the shaft where its lining was blasted away to stop the spread of the blaze. While some experienced miners hold that the little band of forty-five are long since dead, others hold that they are alive and rescuers will reach them in time to prevent them dying from starvation. F. L. Towell, engineer for the state industrial accident commission, believes that the men will be found alive. He is convinced that they are safely bulkheaded in the lower reaches of the mine where, he says, there would be enough air to sustain them for some time.

Beefsteak Dinner in Park Proves Hit

Mrs. John T. Crampton and Mrs. Charles H. Hallett entertained with a beefsteak dinner at Griffith park last night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Marchant of Mansfield, Notts, Eng. It was an occasion long to be remembered by all present. Mr. and Mrs. Marchant have been the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Isitt of 509 North Maryland avenue for the past six weeks.

The long tables illuminated with the headlights of seven automobiles presented a festive appearance, and, needless to say, everything was most heartily enjoyed by the twenty-four people who attended. After the dinner, Mr. Marchant, in most elegant language, expressed his appreciation of California and for the hospitality in general with which he and his wife have been entertained during their stay here. This speech was followed by several delightful ones from other guests. The evening closed with the joining of hands and singing "Auld Lang Syne."

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Marchant of England, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Isitt and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. ## JOHNSON CARRIES EVERY COUNTY IN STATE BUT 4

Senator's Majority to Run Close to 90,000, Belief on Count Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—As the count of the ballots cast at Tuesday's primary nears a close, the indications are that Friend Richardson's majority over William D. Stephens for the Republican nomination for governor will approach 20,000. The majority for Senator Hiram W. Johnson continues to grow. It may be close to 90,000 when all figures are in. Thomas Woolwine's majority over Mattison B. Jones for Democratic nomination for governor continues to increase.

Los Angeles, Aug. 31.—The extent of Senator Hiram Johnson's victory in Tuesday's primaries over C. C. Moore, who was contesting the senate on the Republican ticket, grew as the returns came in. It appeared today that Johnson's majority would run 85,000 to 90,000 instead of 70,000 as at first estimated.

With approximately 1000 precincts yet to be heard from Johnson was today leading by slightly more than 65,000.

Loses Four Counties

Senator Johnson carried every county in the state with the exception of Los Angeles, San Diego, Santa Clara and Kings. In San Diego and Santa Clara the result was so close as to be almost even.

The state today had hardly recovered from its surprise over the result of the gubernatorial contest. Gov. W. D. Stephens, picked to win by 200,000, went down to defeat at the hands of Friend W. Richardson, present state treasurer, who will win the Republican nomination by about 20,000. Richardson will be opposed by Thomas Lee Woolwine, who won the Democratic nomination.

Woolwine Reported 'Wet'

It was reported that Thomas L. Woolwine would campaign on a "wet" platform. Friend W. Richardson was said to be decidedly dry.

Whether the Ku Klux Klan will figure as an issue also remains to be seen. Woolwine has declared his unalterable opposition to the organization and already brought down its enmity by his prosecution of the Klan members in the Inglewood raid.

Justice Curtis A. Wilbur apparently will win the chief justiceship of the supreme court in his friendly contest with Justice William P. Lawlor. Judges Frank H. Kerrigan and Judge Emmet Seawell appear the probable winners in the contest for nomination of justices of the supreme court.

P.-T. A. Goes Out on Shopping Expedition

A group of workers from the Parent-Teachers associations of the Glendale schools spent Wednesday morning selecting rugs for the offices and rest rooms of two of the new Glendale school buildings.

Miss May Cornwell, principal of the Acacia Avenue school, Mrs. Robert H. Lord, Mrs. Arthur Wilson and Mrs. C. M. Sudlow represented the Acacia Avenue school and after purchasing the rugs spent some time in selecting other furnishings for the new rooms at the school, for which purpose the Acacia Avenue P.-T. A. has raised over $100 during the summer.

Miss Gladys Sharpe, representative of the Glendale Avenue Intermediate on the buying expedition and Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, was also a member of the party.

RICHARDSON LEAD IN L. A. COUNTY ABOUT 20,000

Moore for Senator to Take Section by Same Total, So Figures Indicate

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31.—With approximately 100 precincts in Los Angeles county yet to be heard from, tabulation of returns from Tuesday's primary election showed that Friend W. Richardson probably will carry Los Angeles county over Governor Stephens by more than 20,000 votes.

Political observers today were still dazed by the tremendous vote given Richardson and the complete overthrow of the Stephens administration forces throughout the state.

Walter Brinkop carried Los Angeles county for state treasurer. For associate justice, William A. Sloan, incumbent, ran high in Southern California with Frank H. Kerrigan second and Charles C. Shurtleff third. Emmet Seawell of Sonoma county, also received a heavy vote in the south.

Curtis D. Wilbur overwhelmed William P. Lawlor for Chief Justice of the supreme court in Southern California.

Victory for Johnson

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 31.—Senator Johnson was cutting down the slight lead of C. C. Moore here today as returns from the county districts trickled in. Complete returns from 219 of the 240 precincts gave Moore 8,801; Johnson, 8,457.

Johnson's strength here is considered remarkable when it is recalled that he never carried a primary in San Diego county and that six years ago Willis Booth was given over 3,000 majority.

Other figures:
Richardson, 10,904; Stephens, 6,286.
Millan, 14,682; Johnson, 1,315; Brinkop, 414.
Young, 8,605; Rominger, 5,279.

BOND ISSUES TO COME UP AGAIN

City Administration Plans to Place Projects on the Ballot in November

Hope has been abandoned for the public approval of bond issues for a city hall annex and a public comfort station.

Although these two measures did not secure a two-thirds majority at the recent election, it is expected that they will be placed on the ballot again at the general election.

"The council is highly gratified to see that the majority of people in favor of these measures," stated City Manager W. H. Reeves. "We are not at all discouraged. The vote showed that the public is right with us on these matters."

Sectionalism did not influence the municipal vote according to Judge P. H. Love. This morning he tabulated the election returns in such a way as to prove that sixty three voters on the west side of Brand boulevard favored the city hall annex while on the east side sixty one voted for it. Of those voting against it, fifty seven live on the west side and fifty one on the east side.

The Riddle of the Frozen Flame

By M.E. & T.W. HANSHEW

"I can't do it, Mr. Headland," returned Doctor Bartholomew, firmly. "I won't lend myself to a plot to inveigle this poor boy, to ruin his life."

"And I demand it—in the name of the Law!" He motioned to Petrie and Hammond, who through the whole length of the inquiry had stood with Dollops, beside the doorway. They came forward swiftly. "Arrest Doctor Bartholomew for treating the Law with contempt—"

Cleek held up a hand.

"Yes," he said, "I agree with you. But a very necessary one. Besides"—he smiled suddenly into the seamed, anxious face of the man—"who knows but that bullet may prove Sir Nigel's innocence? Who knows but that it is not the same kind as lie now in this deadly little thing here in my hand? It lies with you, Doctor. Must I arrest him now, and take him off to the public jail to await trial, or will you give him a sporting chance?"

The doctor looked up into the keen eyes bent upon him, his own equally keen. He did not know whether he liked this man of the law or not. Something of the man's personality, unfortunately, had been his revelation during this past trying hour, had caught him in its thrall. He measured him, eye for eye, but Cleek's never wavered.

"I've no instruments," he said at last, hedging for time.

"I have plenty—upstairs. I have dabbled a little in surgery myself, when occasion has arisen. I'll fetch them in a minute. You wait."

The doctor stood up between the two tall policemen who had a hand upon either shoulder. His face was set like a mask.

"It's a damned outrage, but I will," he said.

Dollops was gone like a flash. In the meantime Cleek cleared the room. He sent Merriton off to the smoking room in charge of Petrie and Hammond, and Borkins with them—though Borkins was to be kept in the hallway, away from his master's touch and voice.

Cleek, Mr. Narkom, and the doctor remained alone in the room of death, where the doctor set to his gruesome task. Outside, Constable Roberts's burly voice could be heard holding forth in the hall upon the fact that he's been after a poacher on Mr. Jimmeson's estate over to Saltfleet, and wasn't in when they came for him.

And the operation went quietly on.

In the smoking room, with Hammond and Petrie seated like deaf mutes upon either side of him, Merriton reviewed the whole affair from start to finish, and felt his heart sink like lead in his breast. Oh, what a fool he had been to have these men down here! What a fool! To see them wilfully trumping up a charge of murder against himself was well, it was enough to make any sage man lose hold on his reason. And "Toinette!" His little "Toinette!" If he should be convicted and sent to prison, what would become of her? He would break her heart. And he might never see her again! A sudden moisture pricked at the corners of his eyes. God!—never to call her wife! . . . How long were those beasts going to brood in there over the dead?

And was there not a chance that the bullet might be different? After all, wasn't it almost impossible that the bullet should be the same? His was an unusual little revolver made by a firm in French Africa, having a different sort of cartridge. Every Tom, Dick and Harry didn't have one—couldn't afford it, in the first place. . . . There was a chance—yes, certainly there was a chance.

His hand began to hammer in his veins again, and his heart beat rapidly. Hope went through him like wine, drowning all the fears and terrors that had stalked before him like demons from another world. He heard, with throbbing pulses, approaching footsteps in the hall. His head was swimming, his feet seemed loaded with lead so that he could not rise. Then, across the space from where Cleek stood, the revolver in one hand and the

HOW FAST DO YOUR BONES MOVE

The famous German physicist, Dr. R. W. Schulte of Berlin, has declared that health and character depend to a certain extent upon the rate of articulation of the bones and the joints. The test was made with a sprinter as the medium, and a specially devised recorder. The photo shows the sprinter making a demonstration of how much quicker joint action and bone movement he possesses, than has an untrained person.

RADIO EXPLAINED

BY LIEUT. JOHN R. IRWIN
INSTRUCTOR U. S. AIR SERVICE

GENERAL CARE OF TRANSMISSION TUBES

Although the principles of construction and operation in the larger power tubes are no different from those applying to the use of smaller ones, many effects that are negligible in the latter are somewhat magnified in the case of larger tubes. The manufacturers of the Radiotron tubes have offered some excellent precautionary suggestions for the care of tubes looking toward longevity.

The majority of accidents to power tubes and to their auxiliary apparatus occur during the period of development of circuits and testing and adjustment, rather than during operation, and a little care in making these adjustments will prove of advantage.

The following points, briefly enumerated, are all of importance and will lead to better results if studied by the experimenter when putting his set in operation.

AUDIO FREQUENCY AMPLIFYING TRANSFORMERS

An audio frequency amplifying transformer of good design and sturdy construction is described. Material used in construction has been chosen so that the least of the undesirable features are noted by their absence. The usual four connections are taken off the primary and secondary terminals and the construction is such that these four terminals come out on top of the mounting. Highest possible amplification is given without squeal or howl, or in any way cause noisy circuits. Works with high efficiency in all circuits and handles voltages up to 500 volts with a high safety factor.

Imports for July were lower than for June, May and March,

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND LAPPIE'S DRESS

Once upon a time there was a cat lady who was very poor. She had a little girl named Lappie, who was called that because she used her red tongue so prettily in licking up the milk. One day another pussy girl, who was not so poor as Lappie, came over from the fields to the poor cat lady's house.

"Good morning, Mrs. Mew," purred the not-so-poor-pussy girl. "Where is Lappie?"

"She has just gone to the store for me," answered Mrs. Mew, who was rather surprised to get a visit from this pussy girl, whose father had quite a lot of money for he worked in a cheese factory. "But Lappie will soon be coming home, Fluffy." The name of the other pussy girl was Fluffy.

"Well, I'll not wait to see Lappie," mewed Fluffy, "but I called to ask her to come to a little party I am giving day after tomorrow. Mother said I might have a little party myself."

"Oh, Mother, dear! It was lovely of Fluffy to ask me, but I can't go to her party!"

"Why not?" asked Mrs. Mew.

"What nonsense," laughed Mrs. Mew. "There is your blue dress, the best one you have."

"Yes, it is the best one I have," said Lappie sadly, "but it is not nice enough to wear to a party. I have worn it so many times that it isn't at all new, and all the other animal girls would laugh at me if I came in that old, blue dress."

"Don't look sad, Mother," begged Lappie. "I know it isn't your fault that we are poor, and

"Oh, how I wish I had one! I don't mind wearing old dresses—only I don't want to go to a party with them."

"Oh, I am so sorry!" softly said Mrs. Mew. "I did hope you could go to the party Fluffy is going to give. Well, I know what it is to want to look nice in a new dress, and not be able to. I am sorry, Lappie. Perhaps something may happen so you may get a new dress for the party."

"Oh, if it only would!" exclaimed Lappie.

And from then on all she thought of was getting a new dress.

But new dresses, even for pussy girls, do not grow on bushes, and Lappie's father was too poor to buy her one at the five-and-ten-cent store. So, though every time she walked through the woods or even the fields Lappie would say, "Oh, I wish I had one! I wish I had one!" no new dress came.

She was saying this out loud the day on which the party was to be held when Uncle Wiggily happened to be hopping through the woods close to where Lappie was sitting under a tree. The bunny rabbit gentleman heard Lappie sighing:

"Oh, I wish I had one! How I wish I had one!"

"Dear me!" thought Uncle Wiggily. "I wonder what it is Lappie wants?" He knew the little pussy girl; so, going up to her, he asked: "What is it you are wishing for, Lappie? Is it a lollipop or an ice-cream cone?"

"Neither one! It's a new dress so I may go to Fluffy's party," answered Lappie.

"Hum!" said Uncle Wiggily, with a twinkle of his pink nose. A lollipop or an ice-cream cone I could buy for you, but I know nothing about new dresses." Lappie, who had begun to be hopeful, looked sad again, but Uncle

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENCE

"Dear Doctor:
"Have been troubled for some time with a bad breath. My teeth are in a perfect condition, but I am troubled with mucous in my throat. I am also subject to constipation. Kindly advise me what I should do, as I am very upset over my condition. Am 20 years old.—Mrs. J."

Yesterday we gave an article on tonsils that are chronically inflamed and furnish cheesy debris. Such tonsils may be the cause of the bad odor of the breath, as they are very offensive. Are your tonsils in good condition? The mucous in your throat shows that you have a catarrhal condition of the mucous membrane, and there may be some decomposition from that. I would suggest that you go to a nose and throat specialist. We have recently given several papers on constipation. If you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope, through the paper, I will send the information to you.

"Dear Doctor Peters:
"Beauty, I believe, is usually only perfect health; therefore, I write to you."
"I reached the marvelous age of 17 one week ago, and also the weight of 155 pounds. Don't grieve, it isn't as bad as that. I am almost 5 feet, 8 inches tall, and I reached that weight from 180, so don't I deserve your plaudits?"

My mother (who, by the way, is more fat than stout) insists that I am crazy to reduce, that I looked much better plump. But I don't see why I should look like an understudy to a barrel, do you? I've trained myself so that I can pass a window full of the most beautifully tinted, indigestible French pastry, without more than a tiny sigh. I intend to keep passing the window, too. I don't intend to be fair, fat and forty. I intend to be fair, slim—and never reach forty—until I'm over fifty, that is.

"However, what I wish to ask you is this: When I was about seven, I heard an aunt of mine say that she never used soap! Therefore, I didn't. She used cold cream, of course, but I, in the summer and as many winters, never thought of such a thing. I reached the high school and

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

RED BOXES AND LEAD PENCILS

As I started, the other day, to throw into the waste basket a little red box in which a leather belt had come from the shop, the Authorman stayed my hand, took the box and examined it.

"A good looking box," he said, and then as he turned it over, added: "I often look at little containers like that and think how much time someone has spent planning them out and how carelessly and indifferently we throw them into the waste basket.

Much to Decide

"Take this one, for example," he went on. "Someone had to decide just what color it should be and just what shape, whether it should open at both ends the way it does, or be a flat box with a cover; what advertising should be printed on it, and what color the printing should be done in and what type. No one person decided it all. Very likely there were discussions among several people. Possibly there were hot arguments. Maybe the thing when it was done didn't look the way they expected it to. Or maybe it looked better. And we"—he suited the action to the word—"throw it into the basket, with hardly a glance.

"Why do they bother so much, then?" I asked. "Why waste all that time and thought?"

All Business Like That

"Oh, it isn't wasted," he said. "I didn't mean that. If we didn't like it we should notice; if the color offended us, or the box wouldn't open easily, or it wasn't of good stuff, and went to pieces in the mails. And, in a way, we are impressed by that lettering and design. They leave some kind of tract in our subconscious mind. I didn't mean it wasn't worth it, I only meant to make you visualize the infinite details that the manufacture of the simplest article involves."

It is an interesting thought, isn't it?

The simplest article that you buy represents so much thought and time, so many processes, so much planning and hoping, so many men's labor, so many problems and decisions.

A Pencil Touches Innumerable Lives

Take, for example, the lead pencil with which I just corrected that sentence. Somewhere, I suppose, there is a big factory at which that pencil is made. Around that factory center the lives of hundreds of men and their wives and children. Somewhere else in office buildings are agencies for the selling of that pencil. And still somewhere else are factories where the machinery by which the pencil is made are manufactured. And to go back still farther are gathering together of the wood, the lead, the rubber and the brass that enter into that pencil touch hundreds and thousands, nay, hundreds of thousands more lives.

That Famous Rice Pudding

It is like the pudding that the story book uncle serves to his nephews and nieces. He promised he would give them a pudding that had required the services of hundreds of people to produce, and it turned out to be rice pudding. And, according to the story, the tale of the growing of rice and sugar and the preparing of them, and shipping of them, gave the rice pudding such a savor that the children were not disappointed. There is infinite interest and romance. And when one pulls at some thread like the lead pencil what a sense one gets of the vastness and the almost terrifying intricacy of that thing we call civilization.

(Tomorrow—Money or Time.)

The hurdy-gurdy grinders of New York City rent their pianos by the day. These pianos are stored in a warehouse and the people who rent them are up at dawn for the first to arrive are the best instruments, and the latest tunes. They rarely make more than $3 a day and must pay $2 a day rental for the instrument.

GREAT BOOM IN STEEL

In May, 1919, during the big boom, the steel mills produced only 1,999,024 tons of ingots. In May, 1922, the output was 2,711,141 tons. Let those who are around seeing things through blue spectacles take notice. The country soon will be producing as much as during the post-war boom—if strike trouble cuts.

LETS THEM GET AWAY

When scores of persons were killed or injured in the Knickerbocker movie house at Washington last winter by its collapse, due to faulty construction, all

Book Reviews

"Pirates' Hope," by Francis Lynde, opened with Bontek Van Dyck planning a trip to an island in the Caribbean, in order to get beneath the veneer of the seemingly polite society of a group of his acquaintances. He doubts the genuineness of people on account of their deference to him because of his wealth.

A fake mutiny aboard the ship had been planned by Van Dyck at the island called "Pirates' Hope." One of the reasons for this was so that the woman of his choice, who, with her father was a member of the party, might find a "planted" treasure of gold which he had buried there, having told the members of his party a popular tale of pirates' gold buried on the island.

The story tells how Madeline finds the real hidden treasure of Spanish gold, instead of the planted treasure. The mutiny, instead of being a faked one, turns out to be a real mutiny, and the provision supply does not last. The thrilling story of the finding of the treasure, the interplay of character and circumstance, hardships and danger, and how each individual reacts to it in his own way, produces one of the most absorbing of recent romances.

It's A Fact

SAVED BY LOLLIPOPS

A year ago receivers for a New Jersey candy factory were racking their brains for a means of saving it from bankruptcy incurred by buying large quantities of sugar in 1920 at profiteering prices. The receivers decided to revive the old-fashioned lollipops, otherwise known as all-day suckers. It was a happy thought. A sudden passion for lollipops was developed among Eastern flappers and proved a life-saver for the concern. The nearly bankrupt candy factory has made a clean profit of $4,000 in the last twelve months, helped by the lollipops and flappers.

CROP CONDITIONS

Stocks of iron and steel and cotton goods in Manila are practically normal with increasing demand, says the department of commerce. Speculative buying of cotton goods is reported as a result of adverse industrial conditions in the United States and a reported shortage of the American cotton crop.

The local hemp market is quiet, with small demand from America and Europe, though improvement is looked for by August or September. Stocks now on hand in Manila and Cuba amount to 218,000 bales, or approximately 19,075 tons.

$40 NUGGETS ON FARM

Gold nuggets, worth as much as $40 apiece, are found on the Dr. Harrison farm near Canton, Ill. Great excitement in the neighborhood. It proves to be a false alarm. The nuggets, geologists say, were brought down from the far North by glaciers during the ice age and nobody knows where the glaciers picked them up.

The Harriett Wilson Shop

Cordially Invites the Ladies of Glendale and Vicinity to Attend the Fall Opening of Millinery Sept. 1st and 2nd

The woman whose taste is sure, unhesitatingly recognizes that rare union of style and quality which characterizes our Millinery. Our designers, skillful as they are, could never produce such real creations without the underlying quality that this shop puts into the materials used, at moderate pricings. Come and look! You are under no obligations.

A Pleasant Surprise

S. J. Mills announces the opening of an exclusive Fur Department in The Harriett Wilson Shop, Sept. 1st, with a complete and beautiful line of high-grade furs. Full equipment has been installed to insure you of every modern process used in the making or remodeling.

Mr. Mills' experience in this business extends over a period of thirty-five years. Before coming to the Coast, he was established in Illinois, where he gained an enviable reputation, not only for his ability, but for his integrity. For the past fourteen years Mr. Mills has been associated with Colburn's, Los Angeles, as designer, pattern maker and foreman. It is his intention to give to Glendale the benefit of his wide experience, at prices that will be an inducement to patronize home industry.

Russian Wives Are Loyal to Husbands NEW YORK—Eugenia S. Banskardner, writing in the New York Times, says: "In studying the women who fled from the Bolsheviks, in the Russian restaurants of Constantinople, I met two high allied officers connected with the governing forces. They have undertaken to look after the refugees as best they can."

"Our own waitress, a charming and pretty woman, made her report to these two men, who, in their official capacity, are able to do a great deal. Her husband, grown desperate, had developed a habit noted by students of psychology for the first time among Russian men, usually so gentle and patient. Angered and humiliated by inability to find work, equally angered and humiliated by his wife's ability to support him, he had become brutal and cruel, upbraiding and striking her if she brought home no money, equally angry and brutal if she did."

"Why does she not leave him?" I asked. "They never do, you know; no matter how brutal the husband may be, nor how much we insist it would be the better thing to do," said one of the officers. "In this case, as it happens, he saved her from the Bolsheviks; she was alone; the man offered her his protection; they were married and came here. She perhaps realizes better than we that his trouble is mental—'ravagepsychoses'."

"The situation is hard on the Russian men, hard from every point of view. They love their women and are utterly dependent upon them. In these restaurants one may be employed, or he may stroll in to sing or play, or he may sell flowers at the door. Always he must be a witness to the efforts of his wife, or the woman he loves, or the woman who is his friend, to bring men to her table and to charm them into returning, for on her success depends her income. Failing, she will soon be replaced."

Blind Boy Secures Honors at School HONOLULU—Scholastic leadership at the University of Hawaii for the college year which has just closed goes to a blind boy, Henry Bindt, a third year student in the college of arts and sciences.

Because obtaining an average grade of ninety-three in all his studies during the year, thus leading the entire student body in scholarship, Bindt took an active part in college activities, being elected president of the student body for the ensuing year, president of the literary club, and president of his class. He was also one of the few students to be chosen as charter member of the newly organized student honor society.

What does his studying by the aid of readers and a dictaphone, using also text books printed in the American Braille system of raised letter writing. He takes no lecture notes, depending entirely on his memory, which his instructors say is remarkably developed.

The honor system was adopted at the University of Hawaii during the last year largely as a result of Bindt's efforts in lecturing to students and faculty on the advantages of the system. The blind boy received his early schooling in the California School for the Blind at Berkeley, California.

LUSITANIA EASILY RAISED, CLAIMS COUNT LANDI

Wade Killefer's pennant drive continued in all of his fury yesterday when the Angels socked the slipping Seattle club for their consecutive win of the series. Doc Crandall, an ancient and reliable as ever, was the big show of the day. Besides pitching in top form he brought in the first Los Angeles run with a two-bagger to the left field fence and scored the final and winning tally a few moments later.

Elmer Jacobs did the hurrying for the Swishes and was invincible in every inning except the eighth, when both runs were scored off him on a many hits. Seattle's lone run was made in the fourth, at which time it was apparent that it would be enough to win the game.

"Big Bill" James, one of the Tiger pitching aces, was given a rude reception yesterday in Sacramento when Charley Pick's lovely Solons suddenly came to life and larruped Bill Essick's hired men to the disgraceful tune of 9 to 4. The going was about even until the third inning, when the Sacs went on a rampage and scored four runs in the fourth.

Count Landi does not appear disturbed by the report that an American firm is already proceeding across the Atlantic to salvage the Lusitania.

"Perhaps not," the salvager replied. "I expect to find her engines disabled by the torpedo that severed her main steam pipe, thus instantly stopping all her mechanical functions when she was hit. Had that fatal torpedo struck thirty feet farther forward the Lusitania would never have sunk. She would have limped along those few miles and been safely beached."

SPORTS CHATTER By BILL UNMACK PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The Wichita Falls baseball team has just established a record for the Texas league in the matter of consecutive victories that has only twice been exceeded by any league in the country—major or minor. From July 21 to Aug. 13 the Wichita Falls team won 25 consecutive games and was stopped on the latter date going down to defeat 4-1 to the Dallas team.

Only four times in the history of baseball have teams won 20 or more games in the minors and only twice has this been done in the major leagues. The world's record for consecutive games won is twenty-seven and in both these instances the records belong to minor league teams.

There are many teams which have won or lost 15 to 19 games in a row, but those which have reached the 20 or higher mark are few and far between.

That the interest in swimming continually is on the increase is shown by the fact that the officials of the recent Pacific coast swimming and diving championships held at Coronado Tent City, stated that a new record of endurance for the coast had been established.

LOCAL TEAM AND CLEARY CLUB TO PLAY IN L. A.

Large Number of Glendale Fans Will See Contest Sunday Afternoon A great crowd of fans from Glendale is expected to journey to Los Angeles Sunday afternoon to see the Glendale Merchants play their third game of the season against the Cleary Athletic club there.

The game involves some old accounts which both Cobb, managing the Merchants, and Cleary of the Los Angeles declare will be settled once and for all. On Sunday, August 6, the two teams staged their first game on the Merchants' diamond, and Glendale defeated the visitors 5 to 3.

Closely Matched If it doesn't mean anything, and it doesn't mean much, the two teams are evenly matched, the Clearys having, if anything, a little edge on the Cobb boys.

Since the last Cleary game, the Merchants have met and defeated both Los Angeles and Joe Pirrone's All-Stars, both among the best in the Southland. The Clearys are not rated any higher than Pirrone's bunch, because no team is. So it is hard to say how the game Sunday will depend on which of the teams keeps in the best shape, and takes advantage of every opportunity.

Harris, the tall boy who twirled during the last Cleary game, will occupy the mound for the Merchants. Harris has a world of speed and control of the ball when he's feeling happy. Gets mad, loses his head and gets mad, though, almost anyone can find his offerings. This explains the string of runs brought in during the seventh and later innings of the last Cleary game, when Harris wanted to stage an old-fashioned duel with the batter.

Cobb promises that Harris will keep his head this Sunday, and that his deliveries will be up to his usual form. Ira King, the "Big Bertha" of the Merchants, will hold down the receiving end of the battery.

It is possible that Jack Ferlin, formerly of the Modesto Reds, who is to join up with the Merchants soon will be in the game Sunday, contributing his share of stick work to the batting average of the team.

A large number of Glendale baseball fans are making arrangements to go to the game Sunday in private cars. Cobb announces that these who are not so fortunate as to possess cars will be able to make the round trip on a special rate established by the Glendale Tax Service.

Law May Force 'Em to Legal Flapperdom

LONDON—"Her golden hair was hanging down her back," by order of the British government, under the terms of a law which is now being introduced with compulsory flapperdom.

In Great Britain, it must be remembered that a flapper is a young person who wears her hair in a Marguerite plait. There is a measure now before the British House of Commons which is going to make it a punishable offense if any girl under the age of 16 wanders abroad without her hair flowing down her back.

The bobbed-haired damsels are in a quandary. The great legal question of the moment is the settlement of the point as to the category of women which bobbed hair comes. Is it up or down? If the measure is passed the great question can only be settled by the learned and mighty law lords in the house of lords.

In order to protect British manhood from the blackmailing mix which has been found with coiffure by F. A. Macaulisten, M. P., a well known Scottish lawyer, has given notice to an amendment to the effect:

"Every female of the age of 16 years or under shall wear her hair either loose or plaited, and hanging down her back, and such female who is sixteen or under that age who shall wear her hair up shall be liable to the penalties of this act, and upon a third conviction shall be confined to a Borstal institution until she reaches the age of 16."

ROCHESTER, N. H.—A pet dog of Elsie Horne, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Horne, who live on a farm near Farmington, saved the life of its young mistress by driving away three enraged young heifers that had attacked the child. The heifers became enraged at a red hair ribbon the girl wore. She was badly bitten before the dog arrived.

In 1877, Thomas A. Edison spoke into the first model phonograph speaking mouthpiece: "Mary had a little lamb." Upon examination of the found indentations on the tin foil records, replaced the record, turned the crank and back from the cylinder came a thin voice but without a word of the recitation missing. Thus was born the phonograph.

OLD KALEM PLANT HERE BEING RAZED
Astra Studio Closing Forever Memories of Early Days in Movie World
 Soon the old Kalem plant on Verdugo road will be no more. One of the original cradles of the motion picture industry, situated on the Woodbury ranch in the eastern section of the city, is giving way to progress and the barnlike buildings of the "best western street" are being wrecked by the Whiting-Mead Company, it is understood.
 For the last several years the plant has been known as "Astra Studio," where many photoplayers of note have worked. More than one star and many directors got their first lessons in filmmaking at the place and as they speed by in their high powered motor cars during the next few days a wistful feeling of regret will fill their hearts, for they loved the old Kalem lot.
 In the good old days, a decade ago, Carlyle Blackwell, and George McIlford, and Marin Sais, and Helen Holmes, and Olive Kirby Larkin and heaven knows what a host of others fitted across the stages or madly rushed through the "company street," shooting everything from the Boer war to railroad and western thriller.
 In the closing of the studios recited about a score of permanent residents have had to shift into other work or go to Hollywood for employment.

REPORTS DENIED BY LEGION POST
Committee Hard at Work on Plans for Improvement at Broadway Site
 The Glendale Evening News is requested to publish the self explanatory communication:
 Editor The Glendale Evening News—As you doubtless are aware, Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, has been working consistently along the lines for improving the Glendale Sanitarium site with a magnificent group of buildings to provide itself with a suitable club and the city with a municipal auditorium, which will be a credit and great asset for Glendale.
 There is a vast amount of detail and work connected with an enterprise which will ultimately cost more than half a million dollars and the Legion wishes to make this project a memorial monument, clean, beautiful and a pride to all of us.
 There are some individuals in Glendale who for reasons known only to themselves are circulating "rumors" that this project is a "fizzle" or has "fallen through."
 The administration committee of the Legion desires to condemn these rumors as "absolutely unfounded and manufactured out of whole cloth. Architects are now completing drawings and working plans, all details of financing are completed and it will be but a short time before the working committees are instructed to proceed with their duties.
 If it is humanly possible the American Legion is going to give Glendale a monument which will be a source of satisfaction to every citizen in the community and by methods which will cause none a moment's worry or regret.
 Sincerely yours,
 (Signed) CHAS. B. GUTHRIE, Chairman.

 Mrs. Orma V. Naudain, junior past matron of Glen Eyrle chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, was the guest at an elaborate luncheon party given in Los Angeles yesterday at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Wheeler, past grand matron of the state of California.
 Mrs. Wheeler was assisted as hostess by Mrs. Roy Musser, wife of the junior past grand patron of California, and Mrs. Maude Sibley, grand conductress. The luncheon was given in honor of the 1921 matrons of the southern jurisdiction.
 The coldest spot in the world is in Washington, D. C., where 515 degrees below zero was registered in the laboratory of the Bureau of Mines where scientists are trying to liquify helium gas.
 The will was filed for probate by John J. Sammon on behalf of Charles Ellis, whose petition says he knew Murray for twenty-five years.

Makes Unique Will on Back of Photo
 NEW YORK.—Written on the back of a photograph and minus the signatures of witnesses usually required, one of the most unique wills on record has been admitted to probate in the surrogate's court here.
 The document disposes of the effects of James Murray, master sergeant of airship school detachment, U. S. A., who was one of the enlisted men killed in the airship Roma accident at Langley field last February. The photograph on which the combination will and letter is written was taken May 14, 1913.

As a news territory Glendale is situated in foothills of the Sierra Madre range—commonly known as the Green Verdugo hills— which entails fifty miles of travel by fast motor car to expeditiously obtain reports.
 In the city itself the Sycamore canyon precinct polling place is seven miles from the one on San Fernando road this side of Burbank. Only a person who has a lot of time on their hands can appreciate what magnificent distances this big small city boasts.
 In New York, Philadelphia or Chicago, for instance, they cram 30,000 people in the tenement houses, covering less than a square mile, approximately the territory occupied by the Casa Verdugo section which soon will vote on annexation to Glendale.
 Here, where practically every family has a house and lot and lot in the tenement houses, the ice man, paper carrier and delivery boy has some "shag," as they say in the parlance of the street.
 Due to this condition electric lights, gas lines, water mains, telephone wires and every other public service necessarily involves greater investment than in congested areas.
 But on these hot days—and they have heat in Chicago and New York, too—the price we pay, which isn't so much, is worth the privilege of living in bungalow-land.
 It appears that California will have a newspaper man as Republican nominee for governor.
 Friend W. Richardson, like President Harding, claims the distinction of being a successful small city publisher.
 Beyond a reasonable doubt any person who can carry the burdens of a financially and editorially sound newspaper is competent to fill about any office.
 Many politicians, however, interest themselves in newspapers for the sole purpose of providing themselves with a weapon.
 Soon such sheets lose the confidence of the people, for, being basically wrong, insofar as good business is concerned, they are knocked from pillar to post until they finally land in the junk heap.
 The old Kansas City Journal, the Salt Lake Herald, the Boston News, the Los Angeles Tribune, and numerous others, stand as examples of this rule.
 At the same time no one will deny that great publishers like Arthur Capper do not have a great deal of political power because of their independence from domination by interests inimical to the welfare of the people.
W. S. GAMBLE, DELEGATE
 W. S. Gamble of 125 West Los Feliz road will leave tomorrow morning for Eureka, California, as delegate from Jewel City Branch No. 1983, National Association of Letter Carriers, to attend the state convention there on Labor Day and the day following. Mr. Gamble expects to be gone from Glendale a week.
