P R E F A T O R Y .

THE evidences of the progress of this city for the past twelve months as presented in this, the tenth volume of the SAN FRANCISCO DIRECTORY issued by its present proprietor, exhibit a condition more prosperous than at any other period of its history. In all the different elements composing its population and commercial wealth, an unusual degree of confidence exists, while the near approach of the completion of the Pacific Railroad promises for its future a prominent position among the first commercial cities of the world.

The number of references in the present issue is nearly sixty thousand, of which over fifty-three thousand are males over twenty-one years of age. These figures indicate an increase over those of 1867 of thirteen per cent., and over those contained in our issue of 1864 of nearly forty per cent. The Business Directory contains nearly eighteen thousand business firms arranged and classified so as to be of easy reference.

The population of San Francisco, July, 1868, is estimated at one hundred and forty-seven thousand nine hundred and fifty, of which forty-five thousand are whites, male and female, under the ages of twenty-one and eighteen respectively. The females over eighteen are estimated at thirty thousand. These figures are based upon the most reliable data, and they may be regarded as a fair approximation in the absence of an official canvass.

The number of buildings erected during the year ending June 30th, 1868, is estimated at nine hundred and seventy-five, of which two hundred and forty are of brick—total number in the city and county, eighteen thousand and nine. In addition to these figures, there are a number of costly buildings commenced in 1867 and completed during the past year. The value of improvements for the year ending June 30th, 1868, is estimated at over ten millions of dollars, exclusive of the amount expended by the Department of Streets and Highways of one million five hundred thousand dollars.

The Appendix contains a variety of information connected with our municipal organization. The Consolidation Act with its amendments arranged under each appropriate head, Acts of the Legislature Changing the Time for Holding the Municipal Election, Organization of the Paid Fire Department, Improvements and Grades of Streets, Reorganizing Justices' Courts, Registry Act, Maintaining an Alms-House and Establishing a Quarantine, etc. There will also be found in this department of the work a large number of references to the different organizations in this city, embracing lists of the Federal, State and Municipal Officers, notices of Local Societies and Associations, Churches, Military Organizations, Incorporations, etc. Attention is invited to the new Street Directory, including the new system of numbering the buildings, which has been compiled from official sources and compared with each street named therein.

The Introductory and General Review present a diary of the interesting local events of the year, brief notices of Schools—public and private—Benevolent Associations, Cemeteries, Railroads, Banks and Insurance Companies, and an extensive description of the different mechanical enterprises in operation at the present time in this city, together with other subjects worthy of special mention, with historical data of present interest, and well calculated to make the book a valuable work of reference to future generations. But the particular features of this department of the work, are the tables presenting a correct census of the city and county for 1860, 1861, 1863 and 1868, a review of the improvements made during the year ending June 30th, 1868, and a statement of the number of buildings within the city limits.

The compiler would respectfully tender his thanks for the prompt coöperation extended by public officers and others, who have been applied to for information for the work. To his numerous patrons for their substantial evidences of good will, and to Messrs. BACON & COMPANY, to whom the typographical department was intrusted, he would especially offer his thanks.

The eleventh volume of the SAN FRANCISCO DIRECTORY will be issued early in the autumn of 1869.
SAN FRANCISCO, October 20th, 1868.

PROGRESS OF THE CITY.

THE City of San Francisco, was for the first time, incorporated by the Legislature in May, 1850, the organization of the County having been effected in the month previous, by the election of a Sheriff and other officers, thus establishing two distinct systems of government. The Consolidation Act took effect on the first day of July, 1856. Under its stringent provisions our municipal affairs have been administered with energy and fidelity, and a thorough reform has resulted. The enormous outlay consequent on the dual system of government has been entirely abolished or seriously reduced, while the checks upon lavish expenditure were so well devised as to defy evasion, and the contraction of debts has been inhibited. The financial history of all this is sufficiently indicated in the exhibit* of the Aggregated Annual Expenditures of the City and County of San Francisco, from 1850 to 1868—since the first legislative organization of the government—exclusive of the sums paid in liquidation of the principal and interest of the bonded debts :

Population, 1861.*

Believing that the National Census of the City and County of San Francisco, completed during the year 1860, did not truly represent the number of our population, and at the urgent solicitation of numerous patrons of this work, the following exhibit has been carefully prepared from the returns of the different canvassers engaged in collecting information for the present volume. The plan adopted to obtain the necessary data was the same as that so successfully carried into effect in the months of April and May, 1859, the results of which were published in the "San Francisco Directory" of that year, as follows: "To arrange and classify each sex in three divisions, viz: MALES: First Class—the head of each family, and members thereof over twenty-one years of age; Second Class—those between five and twenty-one; Third Class—those under five years of age. FEMALES: First Class—those over eighteen years of age; Second Class—those between five and eighteen; Third Class—those under five years of age. Also, to collect such other information as would furnish an approximation of the different elements composing our population not included in the foregoing classifications:—"

Population, July, 1868.

The following table, compiled from the most reliable data, is presented as an estimate of the population of San Francisco, July 1st, 1868, and in directing attention

* From the SAN FRANCISCO DIRECTORY, 1861-2.

(a) The number of names in the Directory 1861-62 exceeds thirty thousand, of which nearly three thousand are composed of non-resident partners of firms doing business in this city, females, Chinese, and colored.

(b) This is from actual count, and is composed of a class of population who have no permanent place of abode.

(c) This estimate has been arrived at by careful investigation. Number of hotels and lodging-houses in the city, 340.

(d) The number at Fort Point, Alcatraz, and Presidio in June last.

(e) This number is composed of persons sailing from this port who have shipped from this city.

(f) This number has been obtained from actual enumeration.

City Improvements.

It is now about ten years since the prices of real estate in San Francisco, after having reached a point of extreme depression, began to appreciate. With this advance in values, building and other enterprises looking to the expansion of the city, and which for several years had been nearly suspended, were again resumed—improvements of every kind having for the past four or five years progressed at a rapid and constantly accelerated pace. So considerable had been the rise in the prices of property, and so rapid the growth of the place, that it was generally supposed, and by many confidently predicted more than a year ago, that both must receive a severe check within a brief period from that time. Instead of these auguries having been realized, however, the advancement made both in improvements and the prices of real estate has been more marked during the past twelve months than ever before—a result due, not to speculation or an over-weening confidence in the future of the city, leading to a premature growth and an unwholesome inflation of prices, but to its geographical position and other inherent advantages, pointing to it as likely soon to take rank among the great commercial and industrial centers of the earth. That these hopes, though to some they may seem without solid foundation, are not destined to prove illusory, or this confidence ill-founded, the convergence at this point of all the great ocean, interior and overland routes of traffic and travel, our fast increasing population, growing trade and multiplied manufactures are a sufficient warrant; there being perhaps no other city on the face of the globe, whose progress would just at this time appear to be so much an inevitable necessity as that of San Francisco. Lying centrally in the zone of the highest civilization and of the most active and intensely energized exertion, she has already gathered to her wharves a good share of the commerce of the Pacific Islands and the Orient, and is fast establishing channels for securing the trade of the entire Pacific slope of the Continent—while she draws to her by rail a portion of that from the Atlantic seaboard, and Europe. To look then for a sustainment of real estate values and a steady progression in the growth of this city, rapid as it has been, is by no means chimerical or extravagant.

In its growth, San Francisco has spread during the past year in every practicable direction, the greatest expansion being necessarily towards the south and west. Many valuable improvements have, however, been made, meantime, along the city front, both on the north and east. The final adjustment of the question of title to the city's outside lands has given a fresh impulse to house-building in a westerly direction—while the more favorable conditions that exist for the establishment of manufacturing, mechanical, and other active pursuits, in the southerly part of the town, have led to the inauguration of many new industries in that quarter. Nearly every suburban town and hamlet, and even villages lying more remote, vitalized by her progress, have participated in this growth of the metropolis.

* The school census of July, 1868, (see page 30-31) gives the number of children under 15 years at 39,728. The number of males between 15 and 21, and females between 15 and 18, is estimated at 5,272, making the aggregate 45,000 of all ages.

As particular mention of each individual structure or block of buildings erected during the past year would occupy too much space, only the more costly and important can be specially noticed, and even many of these can be considered only in groups. It may be stated, however, as preliminary to the subject, that enterprise in this direction has not been confined to any one class or line of improvement, it having extended alike to dwellings, stores, places of amusement, factories, wharves, streets, railroads, and, in short, to every department of recreation and business; the additions made to the former number of spacious and costly wholesale stores, fine private residences, places of amusement, literary, social, and eleemosynary institutions, wharves, warehouses, etc., having been larger than usual, while those made to the hotels and railroads have been less than in some preceding years, the accommodation in this respect having already been ample to meet all local requirements.

It may further be observed that the character of the material employed in building, as well as the style of architecture, has been gradually improving, year by year, ever since the founding of the city; until they have at length attained a grade and an excellence, no wise inferior to those noticeable in the larger towns on the Atlantic seaboard. From the fragile wooden structures of the early day followed by those equally rude and still more cheerless, built solely with a view to protection against fire, and which in turn were succeeded by others only a shade more light and comely, San Francisco can now point to as many elegant and substantial edifices as almost any other city of her size.

The following statistics, derived from the Annual Report of Mr. George Cofran, the very efficient Superintendent of Streets and Highways, exhibit the large amount of improvements and the heavy expenditures made in that department during the official year ending June 30th, 1868:

The increased amount of grading and macadamizing, the past year, has been marked, as the heavy sums charged to these items of expenditure denote. A great extent of sewerage has also been constructed, the entire length of sewers in the city reaching over thirty-eight miles, twenty-seven of which have been built within the past four years.

While, as before stated, the improvements made, the past year, have been generally diffused over the city, the more costly have been chiefly confined to a section bounded by Broadway, Dupont and Market streets, within which space a large number of splendid stores, many of them designed for wholesale business, together with a number of theaters, halls, and other buildings, have been erected.

Among the noteworthy buildings, partially constructed during the preceding, but completed only within the year, now under review, and which were briefly described in the last number of the City Directory, are the following, viz :

THE NEW MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE—situate on the corner of California and Leidesdorff streets, and, next to the Bank of California, the most expensive edifice, as it is also one of the most elegant and spacious in the city; its entire cost having been $190,000, while the lot on which it stands is now estimated to be worth $200,000. Since being completed it has been occupied for the uses of the Merchants' Exchange, by the Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Brokers, and for offices of various kinds. The building consists of three stories, besides attic and basement, the latter mostly above ground. The first story is constructed after the Doric style of architecture, the second after the Ionic, and the third after the Corinthian, these several orders being well preserved in each. The second story is set back about ten feet on the first, and the third the same distance on the second, forming outer galleries which, faced by a highly-ornamented balustrade surmounted by vases, imparts to the façade of the building a magnificent appearance. This edifice is said to compare favorably with modern structures of the kind in the Atlantic States and Europe.

THE MERCANTILE LIBRARY BUILDING—located on the north side of Bush, between Sansom and Montgomery streets, is another of those improvements so creditable to the city—begun in the preceding but finished only within the present year, its final completion having been effected in June, 1868. This building, comprising three stories and attic, has a frontage of sixty-nine feet on Bush street, with a depth of one hundred and thirty-six feet; and cost, lot and furniture included, $236,236. It is modeled after the modern Italian style, surmounted by a Mansard roof. The front, which has an elevation of sixty-five feet to the cornice, is composed largely of iron, wrought into elegant and elaborate designs. The ground floor is occupied by stores and an extensive lecture-room, with supper-room, dressing-room, etc., adjoining. On the second story is the library-room, smoking and chess-room, ladies' parlor, and apartments for the use of the officers of the Association. The third floor is devoted to the reading-room, museum, and art gallery, while the attic, consisting of twenty-four rooms, is let for various purposes, many of the apartments being used as studios by some of the leading San Francisco artists.

In this category may also be placed the Pacific Insurance Company's Building, corner of California and Leidesdorff streets; the Fireman's Fund Insurance Company's Building, corner of California and Sansom streets; and that of the Merchants' Mutual Marine Insurance Company, on California street, between Montgomery and Sansom—the former costing $80,000, and the two latter, $60,000 each, together with the large four-story iron-front block, erected on Sansom street by Murphy, Grant & Co., at a cost of $170,000; and the Lick House addition costing $175,000.

Of buildings begun and finished, or brought nearly to completion within the year, we are considering the most important:

HAYWARD'S BUILDING—corner of California and Leidesdorff streets, fronting fifty-eight feet on the former, and running one hundred and thirty-four feet on the latter. It comprises three stories and basement; is of the same style of architecture as the Merchants' Exchange situate near it; and is at present principally occupied with insurance, brokers, and other offices, though constructed with a view to serving for banking purposes, being supplied with three burglar proof iron vaults of unusual strength and capacity. This building cost $170,000, exclusive of the lot on which it stands, it having been put up with almost extravagant solidity.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION BUILDING.—This elegant and commodious structure, situate on Sutter street, between Kearny and Dupont, has a frontage of fifty-four feet, with a depth of one hundred and twenty feet. It consists of two stories and basement, with Mansard roof overlooked by a tower, and contains a Reading Room, Lecture Hall, Library, lodging and bath rooms, with gymnasium and other facilities for physical recreation and intellectual improvement. The front is composed of blue sand stone wrought after the Venetian style. The building and lot, which cost about $75,000, are now valued at $100,000.

THE NEW CALIFORNIA THEATER—On Bush, between Kearny and Dupont streets, now in course of construction and to be completed about the end of the present year, promises to be one of the most massive and substantial edifices in the city, having a frontage of one hundred and sixty-five by a depth of one hundred and thirty-seven and a half feet, the foundation walls being four and a half feet thick. Two and a half million bricks and an immense quantity of iron have been employed in the construction of this building, which, when finished, will cost over $150,000, the value of the lot being estimated at an equal sum. The theater, which is to occupy the rear portion of the lot, the front being devoted to business purposes, will be eighty by one hundred and sixty-five feet, a broad corridor which forms the main entrances giving access to the lobbies, which are also very spacious. Near the main entrance to both the parquet and dress circle are parlors and cloak rooms. A corridor passes entirely round the dress circle, ample doorways leading from it into the auditorium, which has a width of seventy with a depth of eighty feet. The gallery is approached by a broad stairway opening into an extensive lobby, whence by another flight of stairs the upper tier is reached. Care has been taken to insure good ventilation, while ample exits have been provided enabling the house to be emptied in a few minutes should occasion require. The ceiling will be fifty-one feet above the main floor. The stage, eighty feet wide by seventy deep, is to be furnished with all modern improvements and every appliance requisite to secure scenic effect. The proscenium will be forty feet high and forty-two feet wide, surrounded by a panel of grand proportions.

Over the stores there is to be a hall fifty feet by ninety, and thirty feet high, to be used for concerts, lectures, etc. A hall, forty by fifty feet, at the west end will constitute the stage entrance and scene-room, with a picture-gallery above. The front of the building will be in the Corinthian style, with a rustic basement forming a massive and imposing façade, the whole having been designed by S. C. Bugbee & Son, the architects of the work.

THE ALHAMBRA THEATER—On Bush street, above Montgomery, covers an entire lot eighty-six by one hundred and thirty-seven feet in dimensions. It is three stories high, the front being used for saloons, stores, etc. The building cost $56,000; fitting up, $20,000; and the lot upon which it stands, $63,000—making for the entire establishment an expenditure of $139,000. The place, since its opening in the early part of the summer, has been in successful operation, giving delineations of negro character, and other light performances.

THE NEW BELLA UNION THEATER—Near the corner of Kearny and Washington streets, in the rear of the old establishment, covers an area of forty-eight by one hundred and fourteen feet. It contains a parquet, dress-circle, and galleries; has a stage thirty-one feet deep, supplied with a handsome drop-curtain, scenery, etc.—being well adapted for the representation of light pieces for which it is intended. The galleries are subdivided into boxes—the whole numbering twenty-three, of which four are proscenium boxes. The place is well ventilated, and the entrances easy and capacious. The cost of the house has been about $23,000, besides stage-fixtures, etc.

CHINESE THEATER.—This establishment, put up during the past summer and to which considerable additions have since been made, is located on the north side of Jackson street, above Kearny. The main edifice, a gloomy and uninviting structure, stands back from the street; being approached by a long passage-way flanked by Chinese bazaars. It cost, with enlargements, $20,000. It has dormitories, dining-rooms, etc., below, for the accommodation of performers, attachés, and managers—the establishment being, in this respect, complete in itself.

PLATT'S AND BROOKS' HALL.—A large, brick structure, recently erected, stands on the northwest corner of Pacific and Kearny streets. It has an elevation of four stories, and a frontage of seventy feet on the former; and extends on the latter, one hundred and thirty-seven and a half feet. The upper portion of the building is designed for a hotel, the lower being subdivided into stores, while a very neat and commodious theater has been constructed in the rear. It is furnished with a parquet and dress-circle, and has a capacity to seat about one thousand persons. The entire outlay upon this improvement will reach nearly $100,000, the theater alone having cost $20,000. The lot is valued at $130,000.

MOZART HALL—On Post street, between Kearny and Dupont, is a large and substantial brick building, three stories high, covering a lot fifty by one hundred feet. The lower floor is used for a livery stable, shops, stores, etc.; the second story, mainly for a concert hall and similar purposes; the upper story being subdivided into rooms occupied by various clubs, societies, etc.

REDMAN'S HALL—Erected for the accommodation of the Society of Red Men, an association similar in its aims to that of the Odd Fellows and Masons, stands on Bush street, a little above Kearny. It consists of three stories and a basement. The two upper stories are devoted to the uses of the society, the lower to general business purposes. The building, which covers nearly the entire lot, twenty-nine feet nine inches by one hundred and thirty-seven and a half feet, is of the modern Italian style of architecture. The walls, which are of unusual thickness, are masticated on the outside, the front being mostly composed of cast iron.

The following buildings, all of recent construction, though designed for less public uses than the foregoing, are, nevertheless, entitled to special mention, both on account of their magnitude and cost. The hotel of Morton & Brothers, fronting on Post street and St. Mark's Place, between Kearny and Dupont, three story brick with basement, contains over one hundred well-lighted and ventilated rooms, complete in all the appointments of a first-class hotel. The house, covering a lot one hundred by one hundred and twenty-two and a half feet, cost $85,000; lot, $50,000. St. Mark's Building, corner of Kearny and St. Mark's Place, sixty by seventy feet, four stories high, with basement. Lower floor used for merchandising, being subdivided into large stores; upper part, for boarding-house; cost, $35,000. Britton's, Kelley's, Harpending's, Coye's, Coffey & Rison's, Land's, Livingston's, Tucker's, Kimball's, Webb's buildings, the Oriental Block, the Dooly Block, the buildings on the northwest corner of Kearny and Commercial street, on the southwest corner of Market and First, on the northwest corner of Second and Folsom, and of the San Francisco Savings Union; the Brooklyn Hotel, Seigfried's Hotel, the Alamo House on the Ocean Road, Friedlander's and Scott's Warehouses at North Point, are all large, and in every respect first-class improvements, varying in cost of construction from $30,000 to $200,000. The most of these, which are built of iron, stone, and brick, from three to four stories high, are situate in or near the principal business centers of the city, and are devoted mainly to wholesale merchandising, hotel purposes, etc.

Several new churches have been erected in the city during the period we are contemplating, the principal of which are the Calvary Presbyterian, having an outside measurement of one hundred and sixteen feet on Geary street, by seventy-six feet on Powell street, erected at a cost of about $90,000, exclusive of the lot, valued at $50,000. This church consists of two stories, the lower designed for lecture, class, library, and Sunday-school uses, and the upper for pastor's study and regular services. The building, which is surmounted by ten small towers, partakes of a combination of styles, the Grecian being predominant. Though massive and substantial it is not devoid of elegance, comparing favorably with the many handsome ecclesiastical edifices situate in that part of the city. The Trinity, Episcopal, a commodious wooden structure, situated on the corner of Post and Powell streets, having schools, lecture-rooms, offices, etc., attached. The interior of St. Francis' Church, Vallejo street, has been completed and various additions made thereto, at a cost of $14,000. A neat and commodious house of worship has been put up on Powell street, between Bush and Sutter, for the use of the Colored Baptist Congregation; cost $13,000. A Presbyterian Church, of small dimensions, has been erected on Howard street, near Twenty-fourth; a neat and substantial edifice, by the Catholics, on Columbia street, near Twenty-fourth; and a new Episcopal Church, (St. Luke's) on Pacific street, near Polk, at a cost of $7,600. The acquisition of Alaska having increased that element of our population worshipping according to the forms of the Greek Church, a society has been formed with a view to erecting an edifice for their accommodation.

The new building, constituting the main edifice of the Ladies' Protection and Relief Society, only a wing having been before constructed; the new Alms-House, a worthy monument to the generosity of the citizens of San Francisco; and the School House of the Sisters of Presentation, lately built at a cost of over $30,000, and capable of accommodating seven hundred children, and their teachers, are among the recent improvements that deserve notice as reflecting creditably on the humanity and intelligence of our people.

Before dismissing this branch of our subject, it is due some allusion should be made to the California Market extension, whereby more than one-fourth has been added to the former capacities of that establishment; the extension consisting of eighty-one and a half by one hundred and twenty-five feet added on the West, having involved an outlay of $80,000; as well as to the Mechanics' Institute Pavilion, erected for the Exhibition held during the months of August and September, 1868, and in the construction of which a larger amount of lumber was employed than upon any other building ever erected in the city. This immense edifice, located on Union Square, is two hundred and seventy-two feet long by one hundred and eighty wide, independent of the Art Gallery, two hundred and five feet in length by thirty-five in width. The height of the building is seventy-five feet. The quantity of lumber, originally required, amounted to over 600,000 feet, besides 700,000 shingles; an addition of 50,000 feet of lumber having subsequently been used in preparing the building for other purposes. The entire cost of the Pavilion, including additions, fixtures, and fitting up, fell but little short of $60,000. In the latter part of the summer of 1868, the long-deferred work of completing the Masonic Temple was resumed, the contemplated tower having been erected and the exterior of the building covered with cement, and sanded in imitation of stone. With these finishing touches this noble structure presents a magnificent appearance, supplying the most perfect example of the light or Medieval Gothic style of architecture to be found in the city. The top of the tower is one hundred and forty, and the eaves of the building eighty feet above the sidewalk. The entire cost of this edifice, including late improvements, amounts to nearly $200,000; the lot on which it stands, bought eight years ago for $45,000, being now valued at $250,000.

The principal industrial establishments, docks, wharves, etc., constructed during the year, subject to notice, consist of the Pacific Rolling Mills, situate at Potrero Point, having capacity to manufacture iron of every description, and all varieties of sheet and rod copper and brass. These works are of the most extensive character and are now in full and successful operation.

The Lead Smelting Works, at Black Point, erected and placed in successful operation during the past year by Messrs. T. H. Selby & Co., is one of the most important additions to our home industries. Large quantities of ore from this State and Nevada have been reduced at these works, and ample evidence shown of their capacity to supply the demands of this coast.

Dry Docks.—The California Dry Dock Company, incorporated August 31st, 1868, have two docks completed and in working order in San Francisco. They are both situated at Hunter's Point, in the southern part of the city—the one being a stone and the other a floating dock. The stone dock is four hundred and twenty-one feet in length, one hundred and twenty feet wide on top and sixty feet wide at the bottom, and has a depth of twenty-two feet of water on miter sill at mean high tide. It is cut out of the solid rock, is perfectly water-tight and will accommodate any ship afloat, the "Great Eastern" excepted.

The floating dry dock which is strongly constructed of the best Oregon pine, is eight hundred and twenty-one feet wide by two hundred and ten feet in length, and will take up ships of 1,800 tons and under. It is moored between two piers about seventy-five yards distant from the entrance of the stone dry dock.

The capital stock of this company is $1,000,000. The cost of their works when completed will be large, everything having been executed in the most approved and substantial manner under the supervision of A. W. Von Schmidt, the planner and one of the most active promoters of this enterprise.

The following are the officers of the company: Lloyd Tevis, President; B. B. Minor, Secretary; W. C. Ralston, Treasurer; James Pollock, Superintendent; S. F. Butterworth, I. Friedländer, Oliver Eldridge, Charles E. McLane and Lloyd Tevis, Trustees.

During the past year a floating dry dock has also been built at North Point, at a cost of about $50,000, having capacity to receive vessels of 1,000 tons burden. The proprietors are the Merchants' Dry Dock Co., of which Jabez Howes is president.

During the year the Rison Iron Company erected extensive works on the corner of Beale and Howard streets, the main building three stories high, reaching two hundred and twenty-five feet on Beale street, and two hundred and seventy-five on Howard street. The works of the company cover nearly the whole of two fifty-vara lots; about $100,000 having been expended within three months after they first commenced building. A new Market with a frontage of seventy feet on Clay street and one hundred and thirty feet deep, two stories high, with basement, was erected in the block bounded by Clay, Sansom, Merchant and Montgomery streets, at a cost of $25,000 besides the lot. The Italian Benevolent Society commenced with the expectation of finishing in March next, what is to constitute a portion of an extensive hospital. This structure is located in the vicinity of Noe and Dale streets; the main edifice having a frontage of two hundred and sixteen feet on the former; it will cost $40,000, the entire expense, including two wings to be added hereafter, being estimated at $100,000. The proprietors of the Phoenix Iron Works have put up a large two story building on Fremont street, near Market, for the manufacture of iron doors, safes, vaults, etc. The Pacific Oil Company have more than doubled the capacity of their former works. The Samuels' Wood Preserving Company have erected extensive works near the junction of Long Bridge and Fourth street, and commenced operations at that point. Several large saw and planing mills, carriage factories, machine shops and similar works have been built, and additions made to others previously erected. The Union Pacific Salt Company's new mill on Sacramento street, three stories high, covering an area of fifty by one hundred and twenty feet, having capacity to grind fifty tons of salt per day, and which through the employment of an improved kiln and cleaner saves more than half the expense of attending, scouring and drying by any other process.

The proprietors of the Golden Gate Flouring Mill, doing the heaviest business of any in the city, have torn down their old establishment on Pine street, and built a new mill of increased capacity, on First street near Mission. Many water lots along the city front have been filled in during the year, and capacious stores, warehouses and other buildings erected on the same; the private residences put up having exceeded both in number and cost those built in any former year. The State Asylum for the Deaf, Dumb, and Blind, formerly located at the Mission, having been removed to Oakland, a capacious and handsome edifice has been erected on the site selected for the new institution.

Early in the month of October a Small-Pox Hospital, capable of accommodating eighty patients, was completed by the city. It is located on the Potrero, occupying a healthful site, is conveniently arranged and every way well suited for the purposes for which it is intended. The extensive improvements of Hatton & Kobler's Recreation Grounds were also about the same time brought to completion, supplying those fond of out-door exercises and games an admirable place for indulging those recreations.

In the matter of style as well as the excellence of the material employed, the buildings recently erected in San Francisco compare favorably with those in any other city of its size in the Union, while they surpass them in solidity and cost. While due regard has been given to all the requirements of ornamentation and taste, convenience, health and durability have not often been sacrificed by a too strict adherence to any particular order of architecture; permanency in the erection of this class of structures being in most cases especially consulted.

The widening of Kearny street, a project that had long been agitated as indispensable to the public convenience, and which for the preceding year had been in active prosecution, has at length been brought nearly to completion, to the great accommodation of travel, the beautification of this important thoroughfare, and the immense appreciation of property situate along and near it. Kearny street, along the line of this lateral extension, reaching from Broadway to Market street, is now not only one of the handsomest but also one of the best streets for retail business in the city, the prices of property along it having advanced from four to six hundred dollars per front foot. Throughout the whole extent of this enlargement it presents along the west side a splendid façade, not equalled in varied and elegant architecture by any equal stretch of buildings in the city. On the opposite side some splendid edifices have also been erected, and there is little doubt but the entire line of buildings on both sides of this street will soon be made to conform to the slightly and well proportioned structures already put up. The increased value of property caused by this improvement is estimated at nearly two millions of dollars. At the present time the widened portion of this street has been brought to the required grade, a double-track rail-road laid down with the Nicolson pavement and asphaltum sidewalks throughout nearly its entire length; further adding to the comfort of travel and enhancing the value of property along it.

The contemplated Montgomery Street Extension, a work rendered formidable not only on account of its inherent magnitude, but because of the strong opposition urged against it and the willingness of many, even of those destined to be benefited by its accomplishment, to take advantage of the public necessities, after being initiated in the early part of the summer by the appointment of Commissioners who had appraised the damages and completed a map of the property to be affected by the proposed improvement, was delayed by legal proceedings, which it is expected will be disposed of at an early day, determining the probable fate of this measure for the present.

BOARD OF TIDE LAND COMMISSIONERS.—This body, created under a law of the State Legislature at its last session, having organized on the seventeenth of June, proceeded to the discharge of their duties, which consist mainly in establishing the water front of the city south of Rincon Point, and disposing of the State's interest to the land inside of that line. The Board have caused surveys for ascertaining the depth of water to be made, and set apart reservations for all needed docks and wharves; but the duty having been imposed upon them of examining and determining all claims to ownership in these submerged lands, as well as of fixing the prices at which they shall be sold, the progress of their labors has been necessarily delayed—about thirty notices having been served upon them by adverse claimants, up to the middle of October. These claims are based upon possession, improvements, school land warrants, etc., and in the aggregate cover nearly the whole of Mission Bay inside the line established for the city front. The Board, consisting of B. F. Washington, H. P. Coon and L. L. Bullock, have their office on the southwest corner of Clay and Kearny streets.

SEA WALL.—Two sections of the Sea Wall to extend along the city front, commenced early in September, 1867, had by the middle of the following month of September been completed except in so far as the embankment might require further filling up in consequence of its settling. These two sections extend, the first from the northern line of Union, along Front to the northern line of Vallejo street, six hundred and fifty feet, and the second from the southern line of Pacific, along East to the southern line of Washington street, seven hundred and forty-three feet, making the total length of the embankment completed and ready for receiving the wall, one thousand three hundred and ninety-three feet. This work complete and including dredging for the foundation, was performed by A. H. Houston, the first section for $141,030 being $217 per lineal foot: and the second section for $206,554, being at the rate of $278 per lineal foot. Early in October proposals for bids to build the third section of the embankment, extending along East from the southern line of Washington street to the southern line of Market street, seven hundred and twenty-nine and a half feet, was advertised by the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, to whom the business of letting contracts has been intrusted, and a contract was made therefor at the rate of $219 per lineal foot. So far as constructed, this work seems likely to fully answer the best expectations of the Commissioners and its projectors. The plan of constructing this Sea Wall, the outer edge of which corresponds with the city water front, is briefly as follows: A channel seventy-five feet wide is excavated by dredging out the mud, into which loose rock is thrown and allowed to settle until it has reached a firm foundation. This rocky embankment is to be seventy-five feet wide at the bottom and seventeen on top at an elevation of seven feet above mean low tide. When it has sufficiently settled, a body of concrete two feet in thickness and ten feet in width is to be laid upon it. On this mass of concrete the Sea Wall, seven feet three inches wide at the bottom, and nine feet eight inches in height, composed of granite, is to rest. The top of the wall will be four inches below the city grade, and its face forty feet back from the line of the water front; it being the intention to extend wharves out from it as far as its slope may render necessary. Through the wall a brick sewer with granite facings is to be constructed at the center of every street crossed by it. Every precaution has been taken that the material employed in building this Sea Wall should be of the most durable quality, and the work performed in the most approved style, both of which objects are likely to be attained through the prudent management of the Board of Commissioners, and the able direction of William J. Lewis, the superintending and constructing engineer.

COMMERCIAL STATISTICS, SAN FRANCISCO.—The following figures compiled from the Evening Bulletin, July 10th, 1868, will illustrate the importance and extent of the trade and commerce of this city for the six months ending June 30th, 1868. Imports: foreign, value, $8,000,000; domestic, $22,457,000. Tonnage: arrivals, vessels, 1,550, representing a tonnage of over 500,000. Passengers: arrivals, 32,186; departures, 11,367; gain, 20,819. Exports: merchandise, foreign, $6,563,000; domestic, $3,182,000. Total exports for the year ending June 30th, 1868, amount to $62,764,337, of which $16,400,458 were for California products, and $40,727,922 for bullion and coin.

REAL ESTATE IN SAN FRANCISCO.—The number and amount of real-estate transactions for the year ending July 31st, 1868, is largely in excess of any previous year. In August, 1867, there were 578 sales: value, $1,422,648; September, 409 sales: value, $1,296,565; October, 440 sales: value, $1,511,896; November, 487 sales: value, $1,721,365; December, 393 sales: value, $1,335,056; January, 1868, 433 sales: value, $1,713,997; February, 614 sales: value, $2,669,875; March, 731 sales: value, $2,825,943; April, 693 sales: value, $2,365,267; May, 522 sales: value, $2,107,283; June, 484 sales: value, $2,148,071; July, 506 sales: value, $2,265,567—total sales, 6,290: total value, $23,383,533. The sales for the year ending July 31st, 1867, numbered 5,213, with a value of $15,383,196.

The great increase in the sum which was paid out this year for city property, shows how the value of our real estate is appreciating. These advances are justified by the increased population, and the consequent extension of residences to places in the outskirts that were surrounded by the desolation of sand-hills one or two years ago. The marked increase in our real estate is as much to be attributed to the great accumulation of capital in this city, as to our unsurpassed natural location, and the late gratifying progress which all our industries have exhibited. It cannot be denied that a cheap money-market has in some instances tended to produce inflation in prices. This is particularly true of prospective business property in the southern portion of our city—but which is at present not even desirable for private residences, and certainly will not for years become good business property. Excitement, speculation, and inflation are the three features which have brought about unjustifiable high prices occasionally noticeable in the sales, the past year. Yet, as contrasted with the aggregate transactions of the year, the sales were few at which unjustifiable prices prevailed; and, in nearly every case, they were of prospective business property. The prosperity of the city and of the State is being laid upon the stable foundations of agriculture and manufactures, while our mineral interests are receiving their due proportion of care. In the days when gold was our sole product, real estate in San Francisco was subject to the most violent fluctuations. It was up to-day and down to-morrow. But that time has passed. There cannot now be a general decline in its value, save in the not probable event of great inflation taking place. Improvements, both for private and business purposes, and for the accommodation of our rising manufacturing establishments, have increased more during the past year than in any other year of our history. On every hand, therefore, there is abundant reason why the value of real estate in our city should have advanced as it has done during the past year, with astonishing rapidity. The real estate interests of our city have derived more benefit from the progress of the Pacific Railroad than any other interest on the Coast, and will certainly be more enhanced by its completion than any other can be.

NEW BUILDINGS.—The number of buildings erected during the year ending June 30th, 1868, is estimated at 975—of which, 240 are brick; total, in the city and county, 18,009—of which, 4,097 are of brick, and 13,912 are of wood.

HEALTH OFFICE.—This office went into operation in November, 1865, with Dr. James M. McNulty as Health Officer, who appointed W. Picknol Scott as Clerk and keeper of records. During that portion of the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1866, comprising a period of seven months and twenty-two days, there were 1,519 deaths from disease, 62 from casualties, and 11 from suicides, making a total of 1,592; of these 1,037 were males, 555 females; the proportion of adults was 878 against 714 minors; 928 were natives of the United States, and 664 were foreigners. This year the sanitary condition of the city was very much improved by extending the sewerage in the streets, and the filling in of vacant lots.

In January, 1867, Dr. Isaac Rowell succeeded Dr. McNulty as Health Officer, reappointing Wm. P. Scott as Clerk. During the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1867, there were 2,522 deaths, including 200 casualties and suicides; 1,669 of these were males, and 853 females; 1,398 were adults, and 1,129 minors; the nativities were, United States, 1,487; foreigners, 1,035. This year a large amount of sewerage has been constructed, which, together with the abatement of nuisances, has caused the death record to be far below the ratio of any American city of equal population.

This year Doctor Isaac Rowell remained at the head of the Health Department with Wm. P. Scott as Clerk; the death record of this year shows that San Francisco is the healthiest city in the Union. The death record for the fiscal year ending June 30th was as follows: white, 2,329; copper colored, 171; black, 77; of which there were 1,704 males, and 873 females, making a total of 2,577, being a fraction over that of last year, with a largely increased population; but unfortunately we have that dreaded disease the Small Pox amongst us, which will doubtless add its quota to our next years' mortality report; but the Board of Health and the Board of Supervisors are combating it manfully with prophylactic measures, which will doubtless lessen its insidious advances.

GENERAL REVIEW.

Public Schools.

San Francisco has maintained a system of Free Public Schools since the first organization of a city government in 1849. In the earlier years of the city, the schools were held in every room, small, ill-ventilated, and unsuited in every way, for school purposes; but at present the children are nearly all accommodated in convenient school houses erected on the school lots fortunately reserved for school purposes by the City Council, as early as 1851. The public schools have always been crowded to their utmost capacity, and at times it has been impossible to admit all the children applying. The school department has generally been limited in its usefulness, from lack of sufficient funds; still, comparatively speaking, the schools have been as liberally provided for as in other large cities in the United States.

The Board of Education consists of twelve School Directors, one from each Ward, one-half of whom are elected annually for a term of two years. They receive no salary.

The City Superintendent of Public Schools, under a special law of 1867-8, will, in December, 1869, be appointed by joint ballot of the Board of Education and the Board of Supervisors, to hold office for the term of two years, instead of being elected by the people, as heretofore, at the city elections.

The Superintendent receives a salary of $4,000 a year.

The Board of Education has the entire control of the School Department; determines the annual rate of school tax, not to exceed thirty-five cents on the hundred dollars; and erects school-houses, subject, however, to the veto of the Board of Supervisors.

The first public school, as appears from the records of the City Council, was opened by John C. Pelton, in December, 1849; though it is claimed that a public school was taught on the Plaza, in 1848, by Thomas Douglas. The first City Superintendent of Schools was Thomas J. Nevins, appointed in 1852; and the second, Wm. H. O'Grady, appointed in 1853, both of whom are deceased.

The following statistics of the average daily attendance, taken from the Report of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, 1865, will exhibit the growth of the public schools from 1852 to 1868, inclusive: 1852, 445; 1853, 1,182; 1854, 1,272; 1855, 1,638; 1856, 2,516; 1857, 2,155; 1858, 2,521; 1859, 2,829; 1860, 2,837; 1861, 3,377; 1862, 3,786; 1863, 4,389; 1864, 5,229; 1865, 6,718; 1866, 7,949; 1867, 10,177; 1868, 11,890.

The total amount expended for public schools from 1852 to 1868, inclusive, is $3,291,000; of which $1,627,000 was paid for teachers' salaries; $880,000 for school-houses; and the remainder, $784,000, for rents and incidental expenses. The estimated value of the school property of the city, including lots, is not less than $1,500,000.

The receipts of the School Department for the school year ending June 30th, 1868, were $387,456.19; expenditures, $415,839.60, showing a deficit of $28,383.11, which was provided for by an Act of the Legislature, authorizing a special tax of five cents on the hundred dollars to be levied for the fiscal year 1868-9. The estimated school revenue for the present school and fiscal years is $405,000.

The schools are classed as follows: two High Schools, eight Grammar Schools, twenty Primary Schools, two Training Schools, three Ungraded Schools, and one Chinese School. Whole number of teachers, 284.

The total number of different pupils enrolled on the school registers during the year was 18,000; the average number belonging to the schools for the year was 12,681, and the average daily attendance, 11,890.

According to the returns of the School Census, taken in June, 1868, the whole number of children between five and fifteen years of age was 23,386. According to the same returns the number of children between six and fifteen years of age attending public schools was 13,756; children between six and fifteen attending private schools, 4,008; making a total of 16,342 children attending school.

The number between five and six years of age, not allowed to attend public school—six years being the minimum age fixed by law—was 1,824, which, added to the number attending school, makes a total of 19,588, which, taken from the whole number of children (23,386,) leaves 3,798 children who did not attend school during the year.

The Census Marshals reported 3,365 children as not attending any school.

Thus it appears that one-seventh of all the children in the city, between five and fifteen years of age do not attend school.

Of this number, however, and probably a great majority, have attended school at some time, but left school between the ages of twelve and fifteen to go to work.

The number of children under five years of age was 16,342, making a total under fifteen years of age of 39,728.

Private Educational Institutions.

Notwithstanding the largely increased attendance on the public schools, and the disbanding of some of the smaller private schools, the better class of private seminaries, boarding schools and college schools, never were in a more prosperous condition. The interests of private institutions and public schools are not antagonistic. The better the public schools, the larger will be the attendance on the higher grade private schools.

In thoroughness of instruction and excellence of discipline many of the private schools of the city are in no respect inferior to the public schools.

By reference to statistics, it will be seen that about one-fourth of the children in the city who attend any school, go to private schools. This ratio holds good in most American cities.

The whole number of private educational institutions in the city is about sixty, of which twelve are under the control of the Catholic denomination.

According to the School Census returns, June, 1868, the whole number of children between six and fifteen years of age attending private schools was 4,008. To this number may be added, say five hundred children under six years of age attending infant schools, and about the same number over fifteen years of age, attending the higher private schools and colleges—making a total of 5,000 attending private schools.

The average number of children attending the twelve Catholic Schools is about 2,000; the Industrial School, Protestant Orphan Asylum and Catholic Orphan Asylum, seven hundred; City College, Female Seminary and Bates' University School, four hundred; and 1,900 attending other private schools and infant schools.

CITY COLLEGE.

This is the name by which University College, incorporated in 1863, is popularly known; and it is used to designate both the College and the College School. It is, in fact, the name of the city department of University College, for, besides the large and valuable lot on the corner of Stockton and Geary streets, the Trustees own an extensive site for University buildings four miles from the city, near the terminus of the Bay View Railroad. This site is known as the University Mound; and the first of these buildings, a large structure of French Gothic style, will be ready for the reception of students early in 1869.

The City College was established in 1859 by the Rev. Geo. Burrowes, D.D., in the basement of Calvary Church, from which it was removed to its present location in 1862. To the buildings then erected, additions have since been made, as they have been needed, until nearly the whole front of three hundred feet on Stockton and Geary streets has been occupied with the main College building, the Chapel and the Chemical Laboratory. The Trustees are eighteen in number, and are empowered to confer degrees and academical honors. They have pursued a liberal and enlightened policy in promoting the interests of the institution, not only by providing ample buildings, admirably situated and furnished with chemical and philosophical apparatus, but also by employing a body of highly competent professors and teachers to conduct the instruction. Since the resignation, in 1865, of Dr. Burrowes, on account of the failure of his health, the institution has been under the direction of the Rev. P. V. Veeder, A.M., formerly tutor in Union College, Schenectady, N.Y., who, to the qualifications acquired by experience in teaching adds those derived from extensive personal observation of the best schools in Prussia. The Chemical Laboratory on Stockton street is under the care of Professor Thomas Price, M.D., formerly Professor of Chemistry in the Normal College, Swansea, Wales, The Classical Department is under the care of Rev. Thomas Kirkland, a graduate of the University of Edinburgh. Instruction is given in Mathematics by Professor T. A. Robinson; in Physics, German and Spanish by Professor G. C. Arnold, a graduate of the University of Erlangen, and in French and Drawing by Professor A. Coulon, of the University of Paris. The Preparatory, English and Classical departments and the Primary school are amply provided with able and faithful teachers, and are well attended.

The whole institution is graded according to the best system practicable in this country. The courses of study are systematically arranged, and are such that a student may commence with the alphabet and steadily advance from grade to grade, until he has obtained a complete College education. In the Preparatory department he may be fitted for business or for College, and in the College he may pursue either a classical or a scientific course, terminating in the usual degree of Bachelor of Arts.

In the Laboratory on Stockton street, the best facilities are afforded to graduates and others for obtaining a thorough practical knowledge of Chemistry in all its applications to Assaying, Mining, Pharmacy, the Manufacturing Arts, and Qualitative and Quantitative Analysis. A good number of practical miners, as well as others, have availed themselves of its advantages.

On the playground, in the rear of the College buildings, is an open Gymnasium for the use of the students. Shelter from rain is provided by means of sheds. Attention is paid to the physical as well as mental and moral culture of the pupils.

ST. IGNATIUS' COLLEGE.

This well known literary institution, located on Market street, between Fourth and Fifth, which is conducted by the Fathers of the Society of Jesus, was first opened for the reception of students on the fifteenth day of October, 1855, and was incorporated under the law of the State on the thirtieth of April, 1859, and empowered to confer the usual degrees and academical honors. Since its commencement, this institution has been attended with the highest degree of prosperity and success. The course of instruction pursued is thorough, and comprises a complete classical, mathematical, and philosophical course of training calculated to prepare the pupil for entering upon the study of any of the professions, or commencing any business vocation. The college is provided with an extensive laboratory, comprising all the necessary appliances for the assaying of metals and making chemical analysis, which is an important feature not generally found in institutions of this character.

The founders of this institution, foreseeing the rapid progress of the Queen City of the Pacific, purchased some years since the property upon which the magnificent college edifice has since been erected. This lot has a frontage of two hundred and seventy-five feet on Market, and the same on Jessie street, with a depth of three hundred and fifty feet. The college building at present consists of a center and one wing; the former is one hundred and five by fifty-six feet, and the latter, in which is the college Hall—used temporarily as the church, until that building shall be erected on another portion of the grounds—is one hundred and seventy by sixty feet. The present building, the cost of which, independent of the lot, was $120,000, although one of the finest architectural ornaments of the city, is only one-third of the extent contemplated. When the extensive additions are made, the entire structure will rival anything of the kind to be found in this portion of the country. The present building is admirably adapted to the purposes for which it was designed, being abundantly lighted and well ventilated in every portion; the ceilings are lofty, and spacious halls run through the building. A large playground is attached with a commodious shelter from the rain, affording ample means for the physical exercise of the pupils. In fact, nothing has been neglected which is at all conducive to mental and physical training. The number of students in the college at present is four hundred.

ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.

This institution is situated near the county road to San José, at a distance of four miles and a half from this city. The college building covers a space of two hundred and eighty feet front by a depth of fifty feet, which, in the center, is increased to a depth of seventy feet; one hundred and ten feet of the building will be three stories high, and the remaining portion four stories high. The pension is exceedingly moderate, not exceeding one hundred and fifty dollars or one hundred and sixty dollars a year for board and tuition, thus placing the advantages of the institution within the means of all.

In addition to the three Colleges already referred to, there are several institutions of learning in this city conducted with ability and success. The University School on Post street, established by Mr. George Bates, A.M.; Grace Female Institute, Miss D. S. Prescott, Principal; City Female Seminary, under the charge of the Rev. C. R. Clarke, and the Home Institute, Miss I. G. Prince, Principal, are worthy of especial mention.

TOLAND MEDICAL COLLEGE.

The annual course of lectures at this institution commences on the first Monday of June, and continues four months. The college building is commodious, well located, and in every other respect admirably adapted for the purposes to which it is dedicated.

During the regular term the students will have an opportunity of visiting the various hospitals of the city, under circumstances which will enable them to observe medical and surgical treatment, to listen to clinical teaching, and make records of the progressive development of diseases, with the results of medicine and hygiene.

The faculty desire to call attention to the following local advantages: 1st. There is no climate, perhaps, in the world which has a more invigorating effect upon persons coming from the interior of our States and Territories, thereby qualifying the votaries of study with essential health and inspiration. 2d. No city of the same population has more ample hospital facilities, or greater opportunities for organizing and maintaining the very best elements of clinical teaching. 3d. The singular characteristics of our climate are such that every branch of medical study can be prosecuted during the entire year. In winter or summer, dissections can be made without detriment to the health of the student.

H. H. Toland, M.D., President, Professor of Principles and Practice of Surgery; James Blake, M.D., Professor of Obstetrics and Diseases of Women and Children; L. C. Lane, M.D., Professor of Anatomy; Campbell Shorb, M.D., Professor of Physiology; J. F. Morse, M.D., Professor of Clinical Medicine and Diagnosis; Thomas Bennett, M.D., Professor of Principles and Practice of Medicine; Henry Gibbons, M.D., Professor of Materia Medica; Thomas Price, M.D., Professor of Chemistry; Thomas Bennett, M.D., Dean of Faculty.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL.

The Act of the Legislature March 24th, 1866, appropriates the sum of sixteen thousand dollars biennially for the support of the State Normal School, located on Market street, near Fifth, in this city. Its management is entrusted to a Board of Trustees, consisting of the members of the State Board of Education "who are empowered to continue said school for the purpose of furnishing free instruction to such persons residing in this State, as may desire to prepare themselves for the profession of teaching."

Pupils are admitted from the several counties of the State, in proportion to the representation of each in the Legislature. Average number, one hundred and twenty-five.

Teachers: Rev. William T. Lucky, A. M., Principal; Miss E. Houghton, and Mrs. D. Clark, Assistants.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

Created by Act of March 23d, 1868.

Regents of the University (ex-officio)—Henry H. Haight, Governor and President of the Board; Wm.

Holden, Lieutenant-Governor; C. T. Ryland, Speaker of the Assembly; O. P. Fitzgerald, Superintendent Public Instruction; Chas. F. Reed, President State Agricultural Society; A. S. Hallidie, President Mechanics' Institute of San Francisco. (Appointed by the Governor) Samuel Merritt, term 2 years; Jno. T. Doyle, 4 years; Richard P. Hammond, 6 years; Jno. W. Dwinelle, 8 years; Horatio Stebbins, 10 years; Lawrence Archer, 12 years; William Watt, 14 years; Samuel B. McKee, 16 years. (Members chosen by the ex-officio and appointed Regents) Isaac Friedlander, term 2 years; Edward Tompkins, 4 years; J. Mora Moss, 6 years; S. F. Butterworth, 8 years; Jno. S. Hager, 10 years; A. J. Bowie, 12 years; Frederick F. Low, 14 years; Jno. B. Felton, 16 years.

Officers of the Board—Henry H. Haight, President; Andrew J. Moulder, Secretary; William C. Ralston, Treasurer.

The site of the University is at Berkely, in Alameda County, four miles north of Oakland, on the one hundred and sixty acres of land donated by the College of California. The University will embrace a College of Agriculture, a College of Mechanic Arts, a College of Mines, a College of Civil Engineering and a College of Letters. The Regents have determined to organize these at once, and to have them in operation by the first of October, 1869. In addition, Colleges of Medicine, Law and other like professional Colleges are to be established as soon as means will permit.

The endowment of the University consists of the following property and funds: The site of one hundred and sixty acres of land, valued at $80,000; the Seminary and Public Building Funds, $100,000; Prospective receipt from sale of Tide Lands, $200,000; other property from College of California, $10,000; total, $420,000. Besides this, the 150,000 acres of Agricultural College Lands belong to the University. These are expected to realize at least five dollars per acre.

None of the officers of the University have yet been elected. They will consist of a President and some fifteen first class Professors, besides special Instructors and Tutors. The only salaries fixed as yet are of the President of the University, $6,000 per annum, and of the Professor of Physics, $3,600 per annum—both in gold.

Religious and Benevolent Societies.

The people of California, and of San Francisco in particular, have ever been distinguished for a free and bounteous liberality; responding with an open-handed fullness to almost every appeal made to their sympathy or benevolence. None have ever given so munificently or with so little hesitation as they. Indifferent to the eclat that is apt elsewhere to prompt to good deeds, and often with scarce sufficient regard to the merits of the recipient, they bestowed their charities at first with a spontaneous and careless freedom not often practiced in older and more cautious communities. Having been for years without any organization to serve as the almoner of this princely and impulsive generosity, whereby it was frequently perverted and almost always shorn of half its efficiency, our citizens began to form associations and societies for rendering it more potent for good; the number of these institutions now in existence in San Francisco being larger, perhaps, in proportion to her population, than in any other city in the world; the most of them being liberally supported by popular contributions, aided in some instances by Municipal or State appropriations; a few also having, in part, permanent endowments to depend upon. In their character and aims, these institutions are both protective, educational and eleemosynary; some being subject to a purely secular, while others are governed by an administration partly or wholly religious. It is but just to observe, however, that the latter are apt to be controlled by a broad and catholic spirit, the usual asperities of sectarianism being here toned down and softened by the cosmopolitan character of our population. Almost every leading nationality and order has in this city its hospital or asylum; many of the religious sects also having their own schools, cemeteries and benevolent societies. As yet, not much has been accomplished towards securing an education for the indigent, or for the reclamation of the unfortunate and erring; though a first-class Industrial School has been provided for youth requiring the care and restraints of an institution of that kind; while a comfortable and well-regulated Home has been furnished for the Inebriate.

Foremost among the great philanthropies of San Francisco, being untrammelled by considerations of creed, color or nativity, stands The Ladies' Protection and Relief Society, one of the earliest founded, and most efficient of all her public charities. The field of its labors is broad and diversified; its aid being extended to all worthy applicants, due care being taken to discriminate between the meritorious and the undeserving. The patrons and managers of this society belonging to a class naturally of warm and active sympathies are apt to seek out and assist many, who though really needy, are restrained by a sense of delicacy from applying to others for gratuitous aid, but who, for this very reason most require it. In the cautious and economical application of its means, its prudent management and truly catholic spirit, the patrons of this institution have ample guaranties that their bounty will be wisely and effectively distributed. In the San Francisco Benevolent Association, the Young Men's Christian Association and the Ladies' Seaman's Friend Society, the charitable of all nationalities and sects can also find safe and capable almoners for disposing of all contributions committed to their charge.

The British Benevolent Society, the German General Benevolent Society, the French Benevolent Society, each fill a wide field of usefulness in its appropriate sphere, their operations being confined to the natives of the countries they severally represent.

The Scotch, Welsh and Irish, as subdivisions of British subjects, have each their society for the protection and relief of the sick and indigent of their own race; the Russians, Scandinavians, French, Italians, Portuguese, Slavonians, Swiss, Mexicans, Colored People and the Chinese also having each a society or association dedicated to the performance of similar offices; the whole, in connection with the various other benevolent and protective institutions of the city, such as the several Orphan Asylums, Woman's Hospitals, Magdalen Asylum, Lying-In and Foundling Hospital, Prison Association, Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, etc., constituting a far-reaching and efficient system of charities highly creditable to the enterprise and humanity of its inhabitants.

The following annual appropriations to the Benevolent Societies of this city were made by the Legislature of this State at its session 1867-8: Orphan Asylum, (Protestant) $9,000; Orphan Asylum, (Catholic) $7,000; Foundling Home, (Catholic) $2,250; Ladies' Protection and Relief Society, $9,500; Magdalen Asylum, (Catholic) $2,000; Prison Commission, $1,000.

For complete list of the various societies, Religious, Benevolent, etc., see page 746.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

This association, founded in 1853, has for its object the moral, mental and social improvement of young men. It has at its elegant building on Sutter Street, a fine reading-room, library, gymnasium, lecture-room, etc. It is also the design of the association to provide, so far as possible, employment, a place of social comfort and resort, and a local point of pleasant attraction for young men arriving here, without other acquaintance than those made here. The library contains about 2,000 volumes of well-selected and valuable works, embracing all branches of literature; and the reading-room is supplied with the best newspapers and leading periodicals of the country.

The regular meetings of the association are held on the third Monday evening of each month, when the usual business is transacted and, when there is not a pressure of business, literary exercises, debates, etc., are held.

The building of the association is on the north side of Sutter, between Kearny and Dupont Streets; is built of brick with a massive and ornate stone front; and is one hundred and twenty feet deep by fifty-four and a half feet wide. The basement and ground floors are occupied by stores, the second floor by the library, reading-room, ladies' rooms, chess-room, ante-rooms, and a hall for lectures, etc., which has a capacity for seating seven hundred and fifty persons. Beneath the lecture-room is a gymnasium; and in the third story are committee rooms, hall for meetings of the association, and apartments for offices, etc., for rent. The edifice is well arranged with every convenience for comfort and for the purposes for which it was designed.

At the date of the last Annual Report, (August, 1868) there had been 1,441 members admitted into the association. Since its organization and during the year just preceding, one hundred and fifty had been admitted.

To become a member, the name of the applicant must first be proposed for membership at a regular monthly meeting, by a member of the association, which proposal will be acted upon at the next monthly meeting: provided, said applicant has paid the yearly dues which, for an active member, is five dollars, and for an associate, three. No initiation fee is charged. Members of evangelical churches in good standing, only, may become active members. Life members are constituted by the payment of one hundred dollars at any one time. Only active and life members are qualified to vote and eligible to office.

The rooms of the association are open, every day in the year, from eight A.M. to ten P.M. The library is open daily, Sunday excepted, from three to ten P.M.

Sabbath Schools.

The Sabbath Schools connected with the different churches continue in a prosperous condition. The report of the average attendance during the year 1867, of the twenty-one schools connected with the Sunday School Union, is as follows:

SAN FRANCISCO BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION.

Of all the benevolent institutions established in our city none have been productive of more real, substantial and lasting good in proportion to the means employed than the San Francisco Benevolent Association. Although less than four years old—filling up, as it has done, a most important hiatus in the benevolent institutions of the day—this association has, in a quiet and unpretentious way, been productive of incalculable good. It was organized at a time when the want of such an institution was most severely felt and its aid most essentially needed. While our City and State were eliciting the admiration of the entire Union for the liberality of their largesses to the various funds for the relief of the sick and wounded soldiers, there was here at home in our very midst, a large amount of suffering which was unrelieved and unprovided for.

The number of persons assisted since its organization is as follows: From April, 1865, to April, 1866, 7,632; April, 1866, to April, 1867, 7,405; April, 1867, to April, 1868, 6,782. Making a total of 21,819.

The amount of money dispensed for charitable purposes during the same period amounted to $93,403 44, or at an average cost of about four dollars a month for each person assisted.

The particular business and objects of the Association are the elevation of the physical and moral condition of the indigent; and so far as is compatible with these objects, and the means at control, the relief of their immediate necessities.

Officers—Robert B. Swain, President; J. W. Stow, Treasurer; I. S. Allen, Secretary. The rooms of the association are at the corner of California and Webb streets.

CALIFORNIA LABOR AND EMPLOYMENT EXCHANGE.

This institution, designed to furnish labor for all applicants, irrespective of sex or nationality, was organized in the early part of April, 1867. No fees are exacted from those to whom employment is furnished, the expenses of the Exchange being defrayed by the subscriptions of its members and the contributions of the public. From the commencement of operations until the end of September, 1868, employment had been supplied to 7,168 persons, 1,332 of whom were females. The applicants were made up of all nationalities and callings, the greater portion consisting of farm laborers and mechanics, though situations were secured for persons of every vocation, where practicable. The most of the applicants consisted of recent arrivals, more than one-half having come into the country since the first of January last. The current expenditures of the Exchange have thus far averaged about $700 per month—income $500, the difference having been drawn from a fund of $2,000, accumulated by first collections. The revenues of the institution are derived from dues of members, amounting to $1.00 each per month, and such donations as may be obtained from other sources. The office and headquarters of the Exchange are at 319 Battery Street, where the very efficient Secretary of the establishment, H. C. Bennett, and his assistants, will be found in attendance.

Masonic, Odd Fellows and Red Mens' Orders.

Among the most prominent of our public institutions are these benevolent orders. There is, probably, no city in the Union where these associations are in a more flourishing condition than in San Francisco. Each of these orders owns a handsome property—fine building with handsome halls for the use of the association. In the elegant building owned by the Masonic Order, built by a joint-stock association of the members, there are four large halls for the use of the lodges, and a large banqueting hall, with ante-rooms, committee rooms, and offices. This structure is one of the handsomest public buildings of our city.

The Odd Fellows' Order is also in a most flourishing condition, having recently purchased and fitted up for the use of the Order the property on Montgomery Street, between California and Pine, known as Tucker's Hall. The library of this institution is one of the best in the city, abounding in rare works, relating especially to the history of our State.

The Improved Order of Red Men have erected recently a commodious hall on Bush Street, near Dupont, for the accommodation of the different lodges in this city.

For list of the different associations, and the officers of each, see Appendix, pages 753, 758, 759 and 761.

Hospitals.

In so far as numbers and size are concerned, the hospitals of San Francisco will compare favorably with other cities of its extent and population. Private institutions abound. The Germans and French each have fine hospital buildings, the Sisters of Mercy own a large structure on Rincon Hill and the Italians and Swiss have lately made arrangements for the care of the sick of their own countrymen. The special purpose of these hospitals is to provide for the necessities of certain classes of our population, but all who desire to avail themselves of their advantages are admitted. The buildings are not only commodious but are well adapted for the purposes designed. It is to be regretted that the same remark cannot be made of the one belonging to the city. We are the more ready to make this admission in consideration of the fact that steps have already been taken which will eventually give us a City and County Hospital that will be a credit if not an ornament to our city. One of the buildings in present use was constructed for a school-house and converted into a Hospital in 1857. Since then a large wooden building—little more than a barn—has been put up on a part of the same lot. As the city grew and the number of "indigent sick" increased, various means were adopted to supply immediate necessities. In 1867 a large Alms House was commenced near Lake Honda, which has already cost $120,000. The removal of the superannuated and permanently disabled to this place, from the city and county Hospital where they had been accumulating for years, relieved the latter of a serious inconvenience and increased its capacity for those actually sick, nevertheless the city greatly needs the new Hospital in contemplation, for which $250,000 has been appropriated. The lot upon which it is to be erected, adjoins the Potrero Small-Pox Hospital property and is eight hundred and sixty-six by four hundred and eighty feet. The building will be three stories and an attic high and is to measure four hundred and forty-five feet front, including two front wings. It is to have two rear wings each one hundred and twenty feet long and is so arranged that other wings may be added at any time, if required.

The United States Marine Hospital, at Rincon Point is the largest structure of the kind on the Pacific Coast, and is capable of accommodating about eight hundred patients, though it rarely has over one hundred inmates. When built in 1853, it was far out of town, but now the city has so extended around it, as to render its site exceedingly desirable for commercial purposes. Extensive grading of the surrounding property has left the building upon a high embankment and so impaired its foundation, that it will be necessary to tear it down. It is considered, however, to be sufficiently secure to last a year longer, when it is the intention to secure an appropriation from Congress, and build another hospital at a more suitable location.

The French Hospital occupying a one hundred vara lot in the southern portion of the city, is having a second story added to it, by which its capacity will be more than doubled.

During the year the Foundling and Lying-In Asylum, the Italian and Swiss Hospitals, and the San Francisco Woman's Hospital have been established, through the munificent aid extended by our citizens; and the State Woman's Hospital, already established, has been incorporated. Besides these a new Small-Pox Hospital, capable of accommodating over eighty patients, has just been completed at the Potrero.

As a rough estimate it may be stated that our city hospitals, public and private, can accommodate from one thousand eight hundred to two thousand patients, and that the average number which they actually contain does not vary much from one thousand.

Cemeteries.

There is, perhaps, no feature connected with a prominent city that occupies a greater degree of interest in the estimation of strangers and visitors than its cemeteries. One of the most attractive spots to the visitor to the great American metropolis is the "City of the Dead" at Greenwood. The peaceful shades of Mount Auburn have a melancholy charm to those who make a pilgrimage to the great capital of the Bay State, and no one enters the City of Brotherly Love without seeing the classic monuments, tastefully laid out, beautifully adorned, and admirably-kept grounds at Laurel Hill. Other cities of lesser extent and fewer years exhibit equal taste and regard for the depositories of their dead. Spring Grove at Cincinnati, Mount Hope at Rochester, the Albany Cemetery, and numerous others, are examples of taste in the selection of the location and beauty of adorning and arrangement. In all modern places selected for the repose of the departed, good taste has retained the primitive forest trees—the monarchs of the groves themselves being fitting monuments "not made with hands." In point of beauty of locality, our own Laurel Hill and Calvary Cemeteries, situated as they are in full view of that grandest of all monuments, the mighty ocean, are nowhere surpassed. There is a fitness and sublimity in their contiguity to the waves of the Pacific and the entrance to the Golden Gate, that never fails to impress every beholder. In the way of monuments erected to the memory of the departed by the hand of affection and regard, many may be found in the city cemeteries which are alike models of artistic elegance and pure and refined taste.

There are eight cemeteries in this city. The Mission Burial Ground, (no longer used as a place of interment) established in 1776; Laurel Hill (late Lone Mountain) in 1854; Calvary in 1860; Masonic in 1864; Odd Fellows in 1865; Neval Shalome in 1865; Gibboth Olom in 1865, and the San Francisco Cemetery Association established in 1867. The latter is a new organization, which has purchased an extensive tract of land, a portion of the San Miguel Rancho, situated south of Lake Honda, and will soon have it ready for cemetery purposes.

Associations—Protective, Literary, Etc.

For a description of the different associations the reader is referred to the Appendix, page 764, in which will be found the officers and operations of each during the past year. The progress made by many of these associations reflects credit upon the members thereof, and is worthy of the liberality so generously exhibited in their support.

Fire Department.

The new paid Fire Department has been in operation since December 3d, 1867, and has fully met the expectations of those under whose direction its management is placed. On page 730 of this volume will be found the law organizing the Department, and on page 647 is a description in detail, in which will be found a mass of information concerning the different companies, useful to its members and interesting to every citizen.

Mechanics' State Council of California.

The establishment of the eight hour system in the City of San Francisco, is an important event, and the following brief outline of its rise and progress will be both valuable and interesting:

Prior to the third of June, 1867, a number of trade associations had been organized, and their members working but eight hours per day, and on that day the feeling in its favor culminated in a grand procession started by the house carpenters, who had organized a League, on the twenty-eighth day of January, 1867. All of the eight hour associations were invited; and those that sent delegates and took part, were the associations of the house carpenters, plasterers (protective), riggers, lathers, bricklayers, stonecutters, ship and steamboat joiners, gasfitters, and the "Laborers Protective Benevolent Society," in all amounting to 1850 men. In the line of procession there were, of the Military Companies: Company F, Light Guard, Union Guard, and McKenzie Zouaves; also the Stuart Street Lumbermen, Mechanics' and Workingmen's Protective Association, Painters' Society, House Carpenters Eight Hour League No. 2, James Brokaw, and Miller & Haley's employees in wagons, representing their business. The last named firm, owners of extensive planing mills, had declared in favor of eight hours per day.

In carriages were the President of the Day, Secretary, Orators, and Phonographic Reporter. The procession was a complete success, and the celebration closed with several speeches at Union Square.

The morning of the fourth of June was hailed with great joy, and over two thousand persons commenced working but eight hours for a day.

It was soon discovered that unity of action was essential to success—committees of conference were appointed to present some plan. They came together in a spirit of compromise, and for a more perfect union, adopted the constitution of the "Mechanics' State Council." That association has, and still continues to exercise a wonderful influence upon the political parties, and without joining either party, both have been forced to respect their rights and grant their demands.

Fifteen associations took part in the adoption of the constitution. Now there are nineteen associations represented in the council.

The council sent two delegates to reside at Sacramento during the session of the Legislature of 1867 and 1868—and succeeded in having passed three very stringent reform laws; they were, "an Act to limit the hours of labor;" "an Act for securing liens of mechanics and others;" and "an Act to protect the wages of labor;" also a National eight hour law was approved July 3d, 1868. All of this was accomplished in less than eight months.

The Leagues and associations that have delegates in the Council, contain in the aggregate over 6000 members, all enjoying the benefits of the eight hour system, and working in harmony with each other, while the people have witnessed the organization and success of the eight hour element in this city with feelings of astonishment.

Officers and Delegates—A. M. Winn, President; Henry S. Loane, First Vice President; J. C. Parks, Second Vice President; W. D. Delany, Recording Secretary; C. C. Terrill, Corresponding Secretary; A. M. Grey, Treasurer; Samuel Smith, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Trustees of Mechanics' Eight Hour Exchange—A. M. Winn, President; A. M. Grey, Secretary; J. P. Hoctor, W. D. Delany, Samuel Smith.

DELEGATES IN COUNCIL.

Ship Calkers' Association.—Organized 1857, and commenced working eight hours, December 5th, 1865. L. Comyns, H. McKay, J. T. Ryder.

Journeymen Ship Wrights' Association.—Organized April 23d, 1857. Commenced working eight hours, December 18th, 1865. W. D. Delany, P. Hudson, J. L. Reilly.

Journeymen Ship and Steamboat Joiners' Association.—Organized March 21st, 1857. Commenced working eight hours, January 12th, 1866, and incorporated March 5th, 1867. George Cavan, John Hutchinson, Henry S. Loane.

Ship Painters' Protective Union.—Organized July 11th, 1865. Commenced working eight hours, March 1st, 1866. A. M. Grey, George Andrews, John H. Ward.

Plasterers' Protective Association.—Organized November 5th, 1861. Commenced working eight hours, August 6th, 1866. M. H. Nicholson, J. P. Hoctor, C. P. Scott.

House Carpenters' Eight Hour League, No. 1.—Organized January 28th, 1867. Commenced working eight hours, June 4th, 1867, and incorporated August 11th, 1868. A. M. Winn, Charles C. Terrill, George A. Grant, J. B. Levet, E. A. Learned.

Sailmakers' Eight Hour Association.—Organized May, 1852. Reorganized June 17th, 1867. Commenced working eight hours, the next day. Fred. Coyan, T. R. Houston, S. B. Hammond.

House Painters' Association.—Organized June 10th, 1867. Commenced working eight hours, June 24th, 1867. George J. Smith, S. S. Boynton, M. J. Donovan.

Plumbers and Gasfitters' Protective Benevolent Association.—Organized in 1864. Commenced working eight hours, July 1st, 1867. S. N. Grubb, James McMauns, James Wilson.

Metal Roofers' Eight Hour League.—Organized March 10th, 1867. Commenced working eight hours, July 10th, 1867. John C. Roberts, John Layton, E. C. McMullen.

Oakland House Carpenters' Eight Hour League.—Organized January, 1868. Commenced working eight hours, May 1st, 1868. Zeno Kelly, E. L. Wetmore, C. M. Beunett.

Oakland Bricklayers' and Plasterers' Association.—Organized March, 1868. Commenced working eight hours, same date. Bernard Radican.

Laborers' Eight Hour League.—Organized May 12th, 1868. J. D. Connelly.

Railroads.

While no new railroads have during the past year been built within the city limits, a number of extensions have been made and other important improvements effected on those previously laid down. The North Beach and Mission Company have put down a double track, extending on Kearny, from Geary street to Pacific, and the Omnibus Company have extended their track from Sixteenth street south to Twenty-fifth street, while the Potrero and Bay View Company have, by the removal of the obstructions that formerly existed at the deep cut in Potrero Hill, opened their road throughout its entire length, cars now running to Bay View, a distance of five miles from the City Hall. Intersecting this road near Bay View, a branch track is now being built, already more than half completed, leading in a westerly direction two miles to the grounds of the University Extension Homestead Association, a locality that is fast being improved and settled with a desirable population. In a number of instances the routes of the city roads have been altered, in order to secure easier grades, large sections of the track having also been taken up and relaid with better material or upon more permanent foundations, adding greatly to their security and value. Several city companies have charters authorizing an extension of their roads, some of which have already been commenced, while others will be prosecuted as soon as the streets along which they are to run, are declared open by the proper authorities. Thus the Central Company will probably, during the coming year, extend their road out on Cemetery Avenue, with a view to carrying it ultimately to the Ocean beach. The Front Street, Mission and Ocean Company, have already adopted measures looking to the early extension of their road to Fort Point, and subsequently thence on to the sea shore.

Among the various railroads not confined to the city limits, though tending towards or terminating within them, is the San Francisco and San José road, the business upon which has been largely augmented during the year, both the freight and passenger traffic having been increased beyond the most sanguine expectations of the proprietors. Extending south from San José and reaching to Gilroy, a distance of thirty miles, another piece of railroad has been graded, and is now ready for the superstructure, a portion of which has been laid down, it being the intention of the company owning it to have the whole completed and the cars running to Gilroy in the month of January next. As this new section, though considered a portion of the Southern Pacific, will practically operate, at least for the present, as an extension of the San José road, the business of the latter must through its agency be materially increased.

During the summer the Southern portion of a railroad designed to extend from Saucelito north into Humboldt county, was surveyed and some work done upon the same, the projectors of this road expressing a determination to proceed with its construction at an early day. The track of the California and Pacific railroad, extending from Vallejo to Sacramento with a branch to Marysville, is now laid to a point within twelve miles of Sacramento, to which place it will be completed in the course of a few months. Should this road be extended south to the contemplated terminus near Yerba Buena Island, it would become an active feeder to the commerce of San Francisco, which in any event, it must greatly promote. Labor, at present suspended on the Western Pacific railroad, really a continuation of the Central Pacific from Sacramento to this city, will shortly be resumed and pushed speedily to completion; it being the intention of the Central Pacific Company, who now own this work, to concentrate their immense working force upon it as soon as this force can be spared from the other and more important enterprise now in hand. The Suscol and Calistoga road, extending a distance of forty miles, has recently been completed and is now transacting a profitable business. The San Francisco and Oakland road and that reaching from Alameda to Hayward's, have both done a prosperous business during the year, encouraging the planning of similar works leading to other suburban localities, some of which will no doubt be practically entered upon within the coming year.

Homestead Associations.

Owing to the number and general success that has attended the formation of these institutions, they may be considered one of the features of San Francisco, having been developed here on a grand scale and served as powerful auxiliaries in hastening forward the city's expansion. These associations, though inaugurated some years since, have been rapidly multiplied during the past two years, the list of those having their headquarters in San Francisco numbering about sixty, the lands of the greater portion of these being also situate near the city, though in a few instances they are at points more remote. So manifest had this plan of combining small amounts of capital for the purchase of land at wholesale prices become, that recently it has been adopted for securing not only city homes, but also tracts for horticultural, vinicultural, and even farming purposes; the sites for these objects being mostly chosen in the large agricultural valleys that surround the Bay, and occasionally in the more southern or interior counties. Among other existing causes tending to encourage this method of acquiring small parcels of real estate has been the large aggregations of land growing out of the former system of Spanish grants, which, being held mostly by men of wealth, could only be purchased in extensive tracts, thereby placing it beyond the reach of parties of small means. Again, while the desire of the people of San Francisco to become real estate proprietors, at least to the extent of possessing their own home, may not be stronger than elsewhere, there can be no doubt but they possess the means for gratifying this desire in an eminent degree; their individual earnings being large as compared with those realized by the masses in other large cities of the world. It is, moreover, the case that house rent has always been one of the most oppressive items of family expense in this metropolis; serving as an additional incentive for householders exerting themselves to secure a place of residence free from these continued exactions. Hence the alacrity with which they have taken shares in the various Homestead Associations set on foot, and the general, and, in most cases, marked success that has attended these movements.

It not being our object in this place to speak specifically of the properties or operations of these institutions, we can only remark in a general way that they have almost always resulted in great benefit to their founders and original shareholders; no examples of decided failure having yet occurred among those undertaken in San Francisco, while the advance in the value of real estate so secured has generally been marked and rapid.

For complete list of the Homestead Associations transacting business in this city, see Appendix, pages 780-781.

Savings and Loan Societies.

Since the organization of the first savings and loan society, July, 1857, in this city, their operations have been attended with results of the most encouraging and beneficial character. Previous to their establishment, men of small means and moderate earnings were much given to indulge the idea that they were too limited ever to accumulate into sums sufficient for any considerable undertaking, and were prone to lavish their earnings as fast as gained. The growth and influence of these organizations in San Francisco has been in keeping with the progress made in other fields of business. The volume of capital concentrated in savings banks affords facilities for carrying out gigantic operations which would otherwise remain in abeyance. Depositors, who are mostly of the laboring and artisan classes, not only receive a liberal rate of interest for their money, but are doubly benefited by the employment which their combined capital enables large operators to offer. These institutions are conducted upon a very safe basis, loans, in most instances, being made upon first mortgage security, and the sum obtained for a term of years is so apportioned as to make the amount repayable in equal monthly installments, thus making it comparatively easy for the borrower, paying off his indebtedness almost without being aware of its liquidation.

The last semi-annual reports of the San Francisco Savings and Loan Societies were made on the first day of July, 1868. It will be observed by the annexed interesting statement that the deposits in these institutions have trebled within the past two and a half years, rising from $7,000,000 to nearly $20,000,000, the last year showing an increase of nearly $6,000,000, and that an apportionment of these funds to the total number of depositors would give to each the sum of $755.

SAVINGS AND LOAN SOCIETY.

Incorporated July 23d, 1857. Office, 615 to 619 Clay.

The management of the Savings and Loan Society reflects high credit upon those who have it in charge, and its advantage to the masses can scarcely be estimated. By its means and under the admirable system devised, depositors are made perfectly secure, thrift is encouraged by accumulations of interest, small capitals are aggregated, and enterprise stimulated by the facilities thus provided. The savings of the laborer thus invested, also aid in producing a general prosperity in which he is himself a sharer; and doubtless it is a conviction of these truths, with confidence in the fidelity of those in charge, which have obtained for this society the unparalleled success of which we have spoken.

HIBERNIA SAVINGS AND LOAN SOCIETY.

Incorporated April 12th, 1859. Office, northeast corner Montgomery and Market Streets. This association was formed for the mutual benefit of the members, who through it are enabled to find secure and profitable investment for small savings, and on the other hand have an opportunity of obtaining from it at reasonable rates the use of a moderate capital, upon giving good and sufficient security for the same. The affairs of this association have been managed with the utmost prudence and economy, and its business has been gradually increasing. Its success and healthy condition reflect the highest credit upon the management of the concern.

SAN FRANCISCO SAVINGS UNION.

The Legislature having passed an Act on the 11th of April, 1862, framed with a special view to the formation of savings societies, a few gentlemen of well-known character and standing in this community took advantage of it to incorporate themselves under the above name. To depositors it offers the security of a guarantee capital of $100,000, to be increased as the business increases by a reserve fund of equal amount, which bears all losses, and neither of which can be withdrawn under any circumstances until every dollar deposited has been repaid to the depositors; in compensation for this guarantee, the stockholders receive a fair share of the net profits, and it is from this share, not from the profits of depositors, that the reserve fund is formed. To borrowers it offers the facility of repayment by easy installments, spread over from twelve to forty-eight months, (the law allows six years) according to the circumstances of the case. To men of small means seeking to obtain a homestead, experience has shown this facility to be invaluable.

THE CALIFORNIA BUILDING AND SAVINGS BANK

Was established by Mr. T. Mooney, in 1861, for the purpose of helping industrious persons to erect dwellings in the suburbs of the city and abate the heavy rents which they have been accustomed to pay. This society has been very successful, having begun with a few hundreds of capital; it has now in operation one million and a quarter of dollars, has purchased the Granite Building, opposite the Bank of California, in California Street, and is to all intents a flourishing Bank. The company is formed on the plan of the Scotch Joint Stock Banks, has a Board of nine Directors, allows interest on deposits and makes loans on real estate in the city for improvements. Thomas Mooney, President.

FRENCH MUTUAL PROVIDENT SAVINGS AND LOAN SOCIETY.

This institution was organized February 12th, 1860, and the same general remarks which we have made in reference to the other societies apply to this one. The names of its officers, which we subjoin afford a sufficient guarantee that the affairs of this society will be faithfully administered. Deposits and sinking fund, $1,822,554.13. Office, 533 Commercial Street.

Officers—G. Drouaillet, President; C. Martin, Treasurer; G. Mahé, Director.

FARMERS' AND MECHANICS' BANK OF SAVINGS.

This institution, with a capital of $150,000, has recently commenced operations in this city. The gentlemen to whose care its business is confided is a sufficient guarantee of its permanence and success. Office, 225 Sanson Street.

Officers—N. C. Fassett, President; G. H. Wheeler, Cashier.

THE GERMAN SAVINGS AND LOAN SOCIETY

(Deutsche Spar-und Leih-Bank) was incorporated on the 10th day of February 1863, with a guarantee capital of $200,000, represented by 200 shares of $1000 each, which are all owned by prominent and well-known German citizens. These $200,000 form the capital stock of this society, and all losses, which said society may incur, must be borne by and paid out of this capital stock, and out of the reserve fund, formed by the 5 per cent. of the net profits of the society, to be set aside semi-annually for that purpose, in accordance with the laws of the State of California, guaranteeing, in this way, to the depositors, under any and all circumstances, the full amount of their deposits and dividends.

It is thus impossible for a loss to occur to the depositors, and by a prudent management of the capital, and the reserve fund, which, of course, will be loaned out, as are the other moneys of the society, the depositors will enjoy the benefits of the very funds which go, at the same time, to form their security.

Deposits are received in the bank of the society in sums from $2,00 and upwards, and dividends on such deposits are declared semi-annually in January and July of each year.

Though less than four months in operation on the 1st of July, this year, the society was enabled to declare on that day a dividend on ordinary or call deposits, which are payable after demand, of 9½ per cent. per annum, and on term deposits, for the withdrawal of which six months previous notice has to be given, of 11-2-5 per cent. per annum.

The money of this society is loaned out on good real estate security, United States bonds and such other collateral securities as the Board of Directors may find proper, either for a term of from one to four years.

CALIFORNIA TRUST COMPANY.

This company, incorporated December 4th, 1867, with a capital of $1,000,000, is established and conducted on the same principles as those of the Trust Company and the Safe Deposit Companies of New York, two of the most successful financial institutions in the country. It offers advantages not presented by any of our city associations, and its success thus far evinces a proper appreciation of its usefulness and safety.

Officers—Henry L. Davis, President; De Witt C. Thompson, Cashier; Thomas B. Ludlum, Auditor. Office, 421 California Street.

Banking Institutions.

Most of the banking operations in this city are conducted by private firms; that is to say, they are not incorporated. The business is carried on upon a coin basis, this being the currency of the State. No National Banks, as in the East, with a currency (greenback) issue, have yet been established in our midst. The principal incorporated institution is the Bank of California, which does the largest business on the coast. This establishment has paid a regular monthly dividend of one per cent. on its capital stock, amounting to $50,000 during the past year.

Our various local incorporations, such as banks, insurance and mining companies, water and gas companies, etc., disburse about $400,000 per month in dividends, to which must be added those of our savings and loan societies, which now hold over $20,000,000 of deposits paying 10 per cent. per annum interest, which for the first nine months of 1868 will aggregate $1,500,000, making altogether about $5,000,000 paid out in dividends. Our City and County Treasury, at the close of business on the thirty-first of September, 1868, held a cash balance of $678,892.

Among the foreign banks having branches in San Francisco, are the Bank of British North America, with a capital of £1,000,000, Messrs. J. G. Shepperd and Thomas Menzies, Managers; The Bank of British Columbia, with a paid up capital of £1,500,000, under the management of Wm. H. Tillinghast; and the London and San Francisco Bank, (Limited) with a capital of $1,000,000, Milton S. Latham, Manager. These institutions have done a very successful business during the past year, and enjoy the full confidence of the business community in a high degree.

Local Insurance Companies.

On the thirty-first of December, 1867, the statements of our home insurance companies were made in accordance with law, and from these we gather the following summary:

Capital.....	$4,836,000
Premiums on all outstanding risks.....	1,080,372
Net surplus, less 50 per cent. for reinsurance	418,857
Cash assets.....	5,783,763
Risks covered.....	121,453,589
Risks in force.....	77,381,466
Income.....	2,324,245
Net premiums received.....	1,746,420
Losses paid and reported.....	1,167,657
Dividends paid in 1867.....	622,627
Other expenditures.....	487,706
Percentage of Losses to Premiums.....	67
Percentage of Expenses to Premiums...	28
Percentage of Assets to Risks in fore...	74

When the above reports were made, eleven local insurance incorporations were in operation. Before the expiration of the first six months of the present year, the "San Francisco" and "National" discontinued, and are now winding up their business. The above totals have been carefully copied and calculated from the sworn reports of the several companies. The premiums on outstanding risks were estimated by applying to the outstanding risks the average rates of premium on the whole year's business, as calculated from the "risks covered" and "net premiums received."

Foreign Insurance Companies.

There are thirteen foreign fire and marine insurance companies doing business in this city. For the year ending June 30, 1868, these companies received $493,445 in gross premiums, upon which a tax of two per cent. has been paid to the State, amounting to $9,869. Nineteen foreign life insurance companies have agencies in this city, who received $956,958 in gross premiums during the year ending June 30, 1868, and paid a two per cent. tax upon the same of $9,570.

Libraries.

It may be set down as a fixed fact that there is no surer indication of the progression and prosperity of a community than the number and condition of its libraries. In this department San Francisco may safely challenge competition with any city of its age in the range of civilization. The Public Libraries are numerous and respectable, and notwithstanding the activity and energy exhibited by her citizens in every department of life, the statistics of these institutions prove beyond controversy that they are at the same time essentially a reading people. Not physical alone, but mental activity is a prominent characteristic of our population.

In addition to these libraries, several of the hotels of the city are provided with large and well selected collections of books for the use of guests. That belonging to the What Cheer House numbers about 6,000 volumes of well selected works, connected with which is an extensive cabinet of specimens in natural history, and a large number of paintings, with a marble bust by Powers, copied by that artist from his statue of California, and a fancy head in marble by Gault, an eminent sculptor, which works of art, selected by the proprietor, Mr. Woodward, during his tour in Europe, reflect credit upon his taste and liberality.

Want of space prevents a reference in detail to the numerous public libraries in this city, prominent among which may be named the Mercantile Library Association, containing 27,000 volumes; Odd Fellows', 18,000; Mechanics' Institute, 10,000; Young Men's Christian Association, 5,000; California Pioneers, 2,500; San Francisco Verein, 4,000.

Water Companies.

SPRING VALLEY WATER WORKS.

Capital stock, $6,000,000; in 60,000 shares of $100 each.

Officers—W. F. Babcock, President; Henry Watson, Secretary; Lloyd Tevis, Charles Mayne, John Parrott, N. G. Kittle, W. F. Babcock, Chas. E. McLane and James D. Walker, Trustees.

The present organization is formed by a consolidation of the San Francisco City and Spring Valley Water Works companies, which took place on the first of January, 1865.

The San Francisco Water Works Company filed its certificate of incorporation on the nineteenth day of June, 1857, and on the twenty-seventh day of September of the year following introduced the water of Lobos Creek into the lower portion of the city, and in January, 1860, the permanent works were completed for the supply of the entire city with water. The Spring Valley Company was incorporated in June, 1858, and in July, 1861, the water from Islais Creek was introduced into the city.

The present works receive their supply from two sources—Lobos and Pillarcitos creeks. Lobos Creek is a stream of pure, fresh water, emptying into the bay near Point Lobos, which supplies two millions of gallons daily. The distance of the stream is three and a half miles in a direct line from the Plaza. The receiving reservoir, with a capacity of 800,000 gallons, is located at Black Point, on the bay, from which the water is elevated by four double-acting pumps, with a capacity of 2,000,000 gallons daily, propelled by two steam engines of two hundred and fifty horse power each, to the distributing reservoirs on the adjacent hills, the highest being three hundred and fifteen feet above high-water mark, located at the corner of Hyde and Greenwich streets; the second, which is situated immediately below, at the intersection of Hyde and Francisco streets, is one hundred and forty-five feet above high-water mark. The capacity of the first is 5,000,000 gallons, and that of the lower 8,000,000.

Pillarcitos Creek is situated in the coast range of mountains, distant from San Francisco about fifteen miles in a southerly direction. The water is taken at an elevation of seven hundred feet above the level of the sea, through the main coast range by means of a tunnel 1,600 feet in length. A large dam is now constructed on the Pillaritos Valley below the tunnel, which dam is seventy-eight feet in height and two hundred and twenty-eight feet between the abutments. This will cause the water to cover ninety-two acres of land, and makes a reservoir that will contain 900,000,000 gallons, which will be filled during the winter season of the year, and be drawn from as required in the city reservoirs, making this the great retaining reservoir. From the east end of the tunnel the water is conducted around the hills into another large reservoir—Lake Honda, back of the Mission Dolores—by a flume eighteen by thirty inches, with a grade of seven feet to the mile, being thirty-two miles in length. Of this distance six miles are laid of iron pipe, and when the flumes are to be replaced, it will probably be done by iron pipe, of which about fourteen miles would be required to make the entire route of iron. Lake Honda is a fine natural reservoir, three hundred and seventy feet above the sea, with a capacity of 52,000,000 gallons, from which place the water is brought to another distributing reservoir, corner of Buchanan and Market streets, by means of sixteen and twelve-inch cast-iron mains. The Market Street Reservoir is constructed on a high hill, two hundred feet above the sea, and is made of brick and cement; capacity, 1,750,000 gallons. This is the main distributing reservoir, and supplies four-fifths of the city. The upper part of the city is supplied direct from Lake Honda pressure, which will give a good pressure to almost every grade of the city. As to the quality of the water, it is now over five years since it was first introduced, and has been carried to every quarter of the world, and given the greatest satisfaction to all who have used it. The Brannan Street Reservoir, also used by the company, has a capacity of 500,000 gallons.

The main dam above mentioned is completed. The company has also completed a tunnel under the mountain separating the San Mateo from the San Andreas Valley, which will be 3,350 feet long—it will save nearly eight miles of the present flume—reducing the main line of conduit from thirty-two to twenty-four miles in length. This twenty-four miles will eventually be reduced to about eighteen miles—as proved by recent surveys. The company is now at work substituting thirty-inch sheet iron pipe for the flume.

The amount of pipe now laid in the city proper, reaches seventy-eight miles.

SAN MATEO WATER COMPANY.

Incorporated September, 1866. Capital, $1,000,000. The object of this company is to supply the City and County of San Francisco, and the several towns along the San Mateo Valley contiguous to the railroad, with pure mountain water. The sources of supply, which are situated about thirty-five miles from San Francisco, are several streams on the east side of the mountains, in San Mateo County.

Officers—William E. Barron, F. D. Atherton, Thomas H. Selby, Simon M. Macy, and Benjamin Lathrop, Trustees.

NEW WATER COMPANIES.

Several new enterprises, having for their object the supplying of this city with water, have been incorporated recently. The San Francisco Water Company, organized July 24th, 1867. Capital $6,000,000. Messrs. James T. Boyd, Milo Hoadley and John H. Turney, Trustees. Bay View Water Company, organized July 13th, 1867. Capital $1,000,000. Messrs. A. W. Von Schmidt, Thomas Hardy and W. H. Patterson, Trustees. Tamalpais Water Company, organized January 17th, 1868. Capital $5,000,000. Messrs. O. L. Shafter, James McM. Shafter, Trustees.

Manufactures.

During the past year, the manufacturing interests of San Francisco as a rule have been developing in magnitude more than increasing in number. The results, in the aggregate, have been very satisfactory to parties pecuniarily interested in these enterprises, while at the same time the public have not only been benefited by the larger volume of manufactures, steady prices, and the retention of coin for other purposes in this city, but a much larger field for labor has been opened up, the result of which is a healthy increase of a stable and valuable population. Besides the increased production of old established manufactures during the period above named, there has also been the successful inauguration of several important branches of trade, which enterprises a year since were scarcely in their incipency. These now have become practically tested, and rank among the most valuable on the Pacific Coast. The most prominent of the new manufactures are the Pacific Rolling Mills, now in successful operation at the Potrero; the lead smelting and refining works of the San Francisco & Pacific Lead and Shot Works at Black Point, where pig lead is obtained from the crude ores of California, Nevada and Arizona Territory; and the Pacific Woolen Mills at the Mission, which latter was the only enterprise of the three that had commenced manufacturing a year ago. All of the above named enterprises have achieved results fully equalling the most sanguine expectations of their projectors, and have already given convincing proofs, by the excellence of their productions and moderate cost, that they can successfully compete with importations from the Atlantic States and Europe.

The market for these domestic productions is also materially extending through increased demand from foreign countries bordering on the Pacific, as well as from the increased population that the agricultural resources of California during the past year have drawn so largely from the less favored States on the Atlantic Coast and in the Mississippi Valley. In view of the speedy completion of the Pacific Railroad, the two branches of which, the Atlantic and Pacific ends, are being constructed with a rapidity heretofore unknown in the annals of railway engineering, the manufactures of San Francisco are promised a prosperity and increased stimulation that, with adequate investment of capital, will in a decade enable her to rank second to no other city in the Union. The intelligent reader, who has watched the remarkable progress made in manufactures in this city during the past ten years, noted the peculiar local advantages of climate for uninterrupted labor, and the facilities for commerce which are unrivalled on the Pacific Coast, will consider the above statement no vain boast, but a prediction that will prove an assured reality.

Among the most prominent local events of the past year, in connection with the manufactures of San Francisco, has been the holding of an Industrial Exhibition by the Mechanics' Institute, during the months of August and September, 1868. This association, which, through similar enterprises held in 1857, 1858, 1860, 1864 and 1865, had done so much to stimulate a public spirit and generous rivalry in manufactures in this city, erected a building on Union Square, which for convenience for the intended purpose is said to have only been surpassed in the United States by the iron and glass structure erected for the celebrated World's Fair held in New York in 1854. The Fair building erected on Union Square is 350 feet in length and 240 feet wide. It consists of a main building with nave 288 feet long, 80 feet wide, with north and south wings each 272 feet long and 50 feet wide. The nave has an average height of 63 feet, the wings being 28 feet in height at eaves, and 40 feet at junction with nave. At the northeast and southeast corners, there are two rooms 60 feet by 35 feet, and on the west end a building 205 feet long by 30 feet wide, which were used respectively for piano room, art gallery, and restaurant. These, with boiler and agricultural machine rooms, contained an area of over 67,000 square feet, the whole of which space, with the exception of necessary passage ways for spectators, was completely filled with manufactures and works of art, nearly nine-tenths of which were produced in this city. The articles exhibited, as a rule, were of superior excellence in both material and workmanship, and in some branches of manufactures are believed to have been unsurpassed by any display heretofore made in the older States of the Union.

The exhibition, as a whole, surpassed in magnitude, variety and excellence of displays, the expectation of the public, and presented evidences of progress in range of manufactures, as compared with the last fair held by the Association (in 1865) that surprised the best informed among our people.

WOOLEN MANUFACTURES.—Prominent among the important manufactures of this city is that of woollen goods, the local mills turning out fully two-thirds the entire quantity produced on the Pacific Coast. These fabrics have attained so high a reputation for excellence of material and workmanship, that the name of the mill being mentioned, the quality of the goods is often considered satisfactory in advance of inspection by the buyer. In some styles, such as blankets and fine flannels, the products of our city mills are considered unapproachable in quality by imported goods, and they have now a virtual monopoly of this market. The cassimeres, tweeds and broadcloths produced by our local mills are also admitted to be superior in wearing qualities to similar goods imported, the great advantages being their manufacture from wool of finer quality than is used elsewhere for the purpose, and entire freedom from admixture of "shoddy," which latter is used in more or less quantity by most manufacturers in the Atlantic States and Europe. In connection with this is the notable fact that the local Woollen Mills now take about 4,000,000 pounds of the finest clips of wool out of about 10,000,000 pounds, which is the entire crop of the State for 1868, as marketed in this city. This fact is so well established that all the largest clips of fine wool are offered for purchase to the agents of these mills before being submitted to competition among buyers for shipment to the Atlantic States, and also the withdrawal of buyers for home consumption is regularly followed by an average decline of from two to three cents per pound on best grades of wool when shippers are the only purchasers in the market. The great improvement in the grade of wool clips in California during the past ten years can be distinctly traced to the demands of the San Francisco mills, which are constantly stimulating wool growers to the importation and raising of varieties of still finer wooled sheep.

The first woollen mill erected in California was the Pioneer Woollen Mills, of this city, which commenced to manufacture the common grades of blankets and plain flannels in 1858, the wool then raised in the State being of quite inferior quality, and not suitable for making better classes of goods. These mills were located at Black Point, and were destroyed by fire in 1861. They were soon afterwards rebuilt in a more substantial manner, and now employ a capital of $300,000. The original mills were erected by the firm of Heynemann, Pick & Co., but after the fire the enterprise was resumed by the same parties in connection with others, as an incorporated company, with the above named capital. Year by year the manufactures of these mills have increased in variety and fineness until at the present time they produce fabrics that are unexceptionable in the grades represented. At the late Fair of the Mechanics' Institute this company occupied one hundred feet of wall space, with table adjoining and two large tables near by, the whole being covered and adorned with an assortment of woollen goods of such excellence as would be a credit to any State of the Union. Among others were an almost endless variety of blankets of all colors and qualities, varying in price from two to forty dollars per pair, broadcloths, cassimeres, tweeds, flannels, plain and fancy colored ladies' cloakings, etc. These goods, with those of the other mills on exhibition, were located in the south wing of the main pavilion, and as a single branch of industry almost made a fair by themselves. Too much credit can hardly be given to the managers of the Pioneer and other woollen mills in this city for the public spirit and enterprise that have characterized all their business transactions, the result of which in the aggregate has given profitable employment for fully 1,200 operatives, and has virtually rendered us independent of importations from abroad. The machinery of the Pioneer Woollen Mills requires a 150 horse-power engine, which drives 18 sets cards, 8 mules, 14 jacks, 72 looms, and 6,000 spindles, employing 350 hands.

The Mission Woollen Mills in this city are located at the corner of Sixteenth and Folsom Streets, and in all their ramifications make use of nearly ten acres of land, belonging to the company. Though not established until 1861, the personal enterprise of their originator and part proprietor, Donald McLellan, soon made them take the lead in woollen manufactures on the Pacific Coast. Starting with a very limited capital, this gentleman soon essayed the manufacture of the finer grades of blankets and flannels, as well as cloths, cassimeres, etc., which until then had not been attempted. These manufactures being unexceptional as to grades soon established a very high reputation in the market, which, in connection with the difficulties attending importations from the Atlantic States, caused by the late rebellion and the demand for clothing for State militia and United States troops on the Pacific Coast, stimulated these mills to the highest capacity for production. To meet the demand the facilities for manufacturing were increased by the importation of additional machinery, while the mills were run night and day almost constantly for a period of four years. From being a personal enterprise the Mission Woollen Mills were changed into a stock company, of $500,000 capital, the house of Lazard Freres and Mr. McLellan being the largest owners. The Mills have run uninterruptedly since their establishment, the motive power being two steam engines of 150 horse power aggregate capacity, which drives 11 sets cards, 6 mules, 13 jacks, 50 looms, and 6,000 spindles, the whole employing 425 operatives. These mills sent specimens of their manufacture to the Great Exposition, held in Paris in 1867, and received the highest award in their class—a bronze medal—for blankets and flannels over all other competitors from the United States. Owing to the limited market here for various styles of woollen goods the proprietors of these mills have been compelled to manufacture a greater variety of fabrics than is said to be the case in any one establishment elsewhere. The display of goods made by the Mission Woollen Mills at the late Mechanics' Institute Fair is believed to be the best ever made on the Pacific Coast. The exhibit among other articles comprised all known varieties, styles, and colors of blankets, and plain and fancy flannels, as well as a great variety of broadcloths, cassimeres, tweeds, cloakings, shawls—traveling and others—buggy robes, a great variety of ladies' plain and fancy cloakings, and two-ply and super carpets, the whole forming an assortment of great beauty and worth. The display occupied 110 feet wall space, and adjoining table and a side table 30 feet long by 10 feet wide.

All the articles exhibited were of great excellence, and made one of the most attractive and valuable displays made at the Fair. The manufactures of these mills took the first premium at the State Fairs held in Sacramento in 1867 and 1868, no award being made as to the relative excellence of the exhibit in that department or class of the Mechanics' Institute Fair of this season.

KNIT WOOLEN GOODS.—The only manufactory of knit woollen goods on this coast is that of the Pacific Woollen Mills, of this city. These mills are located on Folsom street, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets, Mission Dolores. The first manufactures were offered in the market in August, 1867, and comprised the cheaper grades of goods. These were found to be much superior in quality to similar styles imported, and at once found ready sale, orders at times being much in advance of ability of the mills to deliver. During the spring of this year machinery for the finest styles of goods imported was received and put up, and the mills are now turning out styles of wear that have no equal in the manufactories of the United States and no superiors imported. The Pacific Woollen Mills now manufacture two hundred and thirty styles and varieties of knit goods. These articles are manufactured from the finest wool obtainable in this State and Oregon, while a still finer quality is imported from Australia, to make into the very best shirts, drawers, and socks. At the Mechanics' Institute Fair this year the manufactures of these mills occupied seventy-five feet wall, and the same length of table, making a display that excited the surprise and admiration of all who saw it. In view of the importance of the manufacture and excellence of material the Board of Managers of the late Mechanics' Fair awarded a gold medal to the Pacific Woollen Mills.

COTTON BATTING.—The manufacture of cotton wadding, batting, etc., was introduced by I. C. Mayer & Son, who have their mills on the south side of Turk, between Scott and Pierce Streets, in this city. These mills make all varieties of cotton batting and wadding from imported cotton, the quality of their manufacture being equal to the best from the Atlantic States.

Another cotton batting mill was put in operation during the past year by Messrs. S. Folk & Co., at the corner of Fifth and Market Streets. This mill is run under a new patent process, the batting being made from old canvas and other heavy cotton cloth.

CORDAGE.—The only hemp cordage manufactory on this Coast is that of the Pacific Cordage Company, owned by Messrs. Tubbs & Co., and located at the Potrero. It was established in 1856, and by the addition of improved machinery is at present capable of consuming 3,500,000 pounds hemp yearly. The manufactures of this Company are not surpassed in the United States, the cordage excluding all competition in this market.

ASSAYING ESTABLISHMENTS.—The assaying and refining establishments located in this city are both numerous and extensive, the great bulk of the gold and silver product of California, Nevada, Oregon, and portions of Idaho and Montana Territories, being assayed and refined in San Francisco. The principal works are those of the San Francisco Assaying and Refining Company, on Brannan Street, and the Pacific Gold and Silver Refinery, located near the Mission Dolores. Messrs. Hentsch & Berton, G. E. Rogers, Rhein, Hemme & Co., are also engaged in the same business, and assay large amounts of bullion annually.

CHEMICALS.—The production of chemicals in San Francisco is both quite extensive and varied, mostly owing to the large demand for acids, etc., used in the reduction and refining of the precious metals.

Almost the entire supplies of acids used by private assaying and refining establishments on the Pacific Coast, as well as the U. S. Branch Mint, are furnished from chemical works in this city. The productions of these works are notable for their purity and strength, in both of which particulars they are said to possess great advantages over the bulk of similar articles formerly and to some extent now imported. The first works of this description erected on the Pacific Coast, was the San Francisco Chemical Works, located at the Mission Dolores. These works erected in 1856, supplied the most of the acids used in the U. S. Branch Mint, and private refining establishments, up to the commencement of 1867. They in common with other local establishments derive their supplies of nitrate of soda from Iquiqui, Peru, and at first also imported their sulphur, but now mostly use the latter article procured from Lake and Colusa counties.

During 1866, the Golden City Chemical Works were completed, and for the last two years have produced largely of acids and other chemicals, the works being very extensive and perfect.

The Pacific Chemical Works commenced manufacturing in 1867, their works being located on Sixteenth, between Folsom and Harrison Streets. The establishment is a most complete one, comprising furnaces, evaporating baths, and chemical apparatus suitable for the manufacture of drugs, medicines, etc., required by druggists, physicians, and the mercantile community in general. The proprietors are Messrs. Falkenau & Hanks, who have one of the most complete laboratories on the Pacific Coast. Mr. Falkenau also being the State Assayer.

Crane & Brigham have quite extensive chemical works, located at Hunter's Point, near South San Francisco. These works produce largely sulphate of copper or blue vitriol, which is used very extensively in the refining of silver as also by our farmers for preserving wheat from smut. The quality of the sulphate of copper produced by these works is most excellent, it being free from the adulterations so common in the imported article. One feature of these works is the production of sulphate of copper from low grade copper ores, which is said to be the only instance of the kind in the United States. The sulphate of copper made by Crane & Brigham took the first premium at the late Mechanics' Fair in this city, and the State Fair at Sacramento, in 1867.

The Bay View Chemical Works, located at the Potrero, in this city, also exhibited at the late Mechanics' Fair, some fine specimens of sal soda crystals made from imported soda ash, the quality being unexceptionable.

OIL WORKS.—The Phoenix Oil Works owned by C. H. Harrison, and located at 517 Front Street, are the only ones of their kind in the State. They refine whale, sperm, and elephant oils, having a capacity of about 4,000 barrels per annum.

GLASS CUTTING AND STAINING.—These branches of manufacture have largely increased during the past year, the representation of the different varieties or styles of art at the late Mechanics' Fair, being highly creditable and of greater extent than before known. The displays of ground, stained, and cut glass, made by John Mallon and Thomas O'Neil were very fine, and showed conclusively that the requirements of our people can be supplied by domestic manufactures. R. Mills exhibited both stained and embossed glass of fine designs. Noble & Gallagher, embossed glass; and A. Mussard, engraving on glass, all showing great merit.

SAW TEETH.—There are two manufactories of patent saw teeth in this city, those of N. W. Spaulding, and Miller's Adjustable Saw Tooth Co. The establishment of Mr. Spaulding is located on Fremont Street near Market, and employs 13 men, making 30,000 teeth per year, the manufacture for circular saws being in great demand among mill men, orders being received from all parts of California, Nevada, Oregon, Washington Territory, and even from Central America. Miller's patent saw tooth is a comparatively new invention, and so far has not been extensively manufactured. Both teeth are of California invention, and are said to be better adapted to the purpose required than any made in the Atlantic States.

Saws.—The only manufactory of saws on the Pacific Coast is that of the Pacific Saw Manufacturing Company, located on Fremont Street near Market, in this city. This establishment manufactures all kinds of saws used on the Pacific Coast, and although only established in the summer of 1867, has already achieved a very high reputation for their goods in this market. All kinds of saws are made by this Company, their works being very complete, and having a capacity equal to the entire wants of the Pacific Coast. With the exception of steel plates, which are imported from England, the saws made are entirely of California production. At the late Mechanics' Fair in this city this company made a remarkably fine exhibit of their work, which, for its great merit, was awarded a silver medal. The manufacture of saws by this Company is already so extensive as to injuriously affect importations from the Atlantic States and Europe.

GLUE AND NEATSFOOT OIL.—These articles are manufactured by Dana & Codington, whose establishment (the only one in this city) is located near the Lagoon. Large quantities of both glue and neats-foot oil are produced at these works, the latter being of especial fine quality. Almost the entire product of both of these articles is shipped to the Atlantic States for a market.

MIRRORS.—The only establishment for manufacturing silvered mirrors on the Pacific Coast is that of Whittier, Fuller & Co., located on the corner of Pine and Front Streets, in this city. These works were commenced by Cameron, Whittier & Co., in 1863, with one silvering and two polishing tables. Since then the superiority of home-made silvered mirrors over all others imported has been so decided that the works have been enlarged four-fold, and have completely put a stop to importations from the Atlantic States. The tables of Whittier, Fuller & Co. are about the largest in the United States, they being able to silver mirrors 110 by 144 inches. For their excellent quality the mirrors made by this firm were awarded a silver medal at the late Mechanics' Fair.

PIANO FORTES AND OTHER MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.—There are two manufactories on the Pacific Coast, both of which are located in this city. The pioneer pianoforte maker was Jacob Zech, who commenced manufacturing in 1857, and still continues in the business, notwithstanding strong competition from importers, and at times severe rivalry by other domestic manufacturers. The establishment of Mr. Zech is located on Ninth Street near Folsom, and has a capacity to produce one piano per week. The instruments made by this party have been celebrated for their excellent quality of tone as well as fineness of finish. Four instruments from this manufactory were exhibited at the late Mechanics' Fair, viz., two upright and two horizontal pianos—the former taking the highest prize, a gold medal, over all other competitors. The manufacture of pianos by this firm is about to be merged into a joint stock association, with $150,000 capital, under the name of the Zech Piano Forte Manufacturing Company. With this accession of capital it is believed that a very vigorous competition will be carried on against importers, which ultimately will drive the latter from our market.

The other piano forte manufactory is that of G.

Rodolph on Post Street, who exhibited two fine upright pianos of his own make at the late Mechanics' Fair, which obtained a second premium.

Flutes manufactured by John G. Dawes, of this city, were exhibited at the Mechanics' Fair, of superior tone and finish, and were awarded a diploma.

Accordeons, Flutinas and Concertinas of good quality made by C. C. Keeue, Montgomery street, were also exhibited.

ORGANS.—The pioneer and only organ manufactory on the Pacific Coast is that of John Mayer in this city. Several of the largest instruments made by him are in use in San Francisco, the principal one being in the Unitarian Church on Geary Street.

GLASS.—The only glass works on the Pacific Coast are those of the Pacific and the San Francisco Glass Works, both located in this city. The Pacific Glass Works were the pioneers, and were erected in 1863 at the Potrero. They confine their manufactures to colored glass, the furnace being what is known as a seven-pot open furnace, and only suited to make one kind of glass. The works are now leased to Bennett & Co., who employ about forty-five men and boys, making, when in full work, about $2,000 assorted glass per week. The works have been enlarged during the past year so as to increase their capacity about twenty-five per cent. John Taylor & Co., Washington Street, are the agents.

The San Francisco Glass Works, located on Townsend, near Third Street, were partially destroyed by fire in July, 1868, and up to the time of writing, have not been rebuilt. These works contained an eight-pot covered furnace, and produced all kinds of white flint and colored glass, at the rate of $1,800 value weekly. They employed an average of forty men and boys, constantly, and using a patent glass smelting pot, invented by the proprietor, Carlton Newman, were enabled to make all kinds of glass in the same furnace. At the time of their partial destruction by fire, engagements for druggists' and other white glass had been made ahead sufficient to tax the producing capacity of the works for between four and five months. Efforts are now being made by Mr. Newman to erect a new establishment of increased capacity, and more suitable, to meet the entire wants of the Pacific Coast. With exception of a peculiar clay used for making smelting pots, which is imported from Great Britain and Germany, and soda ash from the former country, all the materials for making glass are to be had, produced in this State. By the use of the patent pot the demand for soda-ash is much reduced, as the refuse of nitrate of soda, known as salt-cake, produced by the local chemical works, can be used in making any variety of colored glass. The exhibit of glass made by these works obtained the gold medal at the Mechanics' Fair. A silver medal was also awarded for the patent pot.

IRON FOUNDRIES AND BOILER SHOPS.—The iron manufactories of San Francisco are among the most prominent of her industries. The peculiar favorable climate of the city, and its position as the only port of entry of importance in the entire State, causes a centralization of industry in this branch of mechanics. As a consequence, iron foundries and boiler shops of extent suitable for the requirements of the whole Pacific Coast have been erected, which employ in the aggregate nearly 2,000 men. These manufactory all kinds of machinery needed, not only for the home demand, but also largely for export to the Sandwich Islands, Mexico, and other foreign places. The requirements of this varied trade are very large, and give quite a cosmopolitan character to our machine shops, in some of which at the same time there is being manufactured machinery for quartz-mills, sugar-mills, saw-mills, marine and stationary engines, with a locomotive steam engine occasionally thrown in. The rapid construction of the Central Pacific Railroad towards Salt Lake City is now opening up a new market for the industry of our people, as thereby Montana and Utah Territories will become larger consumers of the products and manufactures of this coast. A vast mineral region in Eastern Nevada and Utah also will be opened up to prospectors and become developed, the requirements of which in machinery must also be supplied from the foundries and machine shops in this city. Looking forward to the important events which promise to take place in a few years after the completion of the trans-continental railway, observers of the progress made hitherto by our people can readily see that the industries in metal in this city are on the threshold of a stimulation and development unprecedented in the annals of any manufacturing city of the Union. It needs only the discovery of extensive deposits of iron ore at convenient points of access along the coast to complete facilities for iron manufactures which are not enjoyed by any commercial city in the Union. Among the most prominent and important foundries in this city are the following, all of which are so extensive in their appointments as to be able to do any work in their line that may be required.

THE UNION FOUNDRY.—These works, located on the northeast corner of Mission and First Streets, were first established in 1849 by James and Peter Donahue, who were the pioneer foundrymen in the State. Possessing the smallest foundry facilities at its commencement, it has steadily increased in its equipments, until it now occupies an area of over 50,000 square feet, and gives constant employment to three hundred men. The foundry is now conducted by H. J. Booth & Co., who are the pioneers in manufacturing locomotive engines, two of which, weighing thirty-two tons each, were delivered in 1865. These locomotives, "California" and "A. A. Sargent," have been doing constant service on the San Francisco & San José and the Central Pacific Railroads, and are considered by railroad experts to be equal in capacity and workmanship to the best of their class produced elsewhere.

THE MINERS' FOUNDRY.—This foundry is located on the east side of First Street, near Folsom, and in extent and quality of appointments, ranks in the first class of such establishments in this city. The proprietors are Messrs. Howland, Angell & King, who have made a specialty in manufacturing mining machinery and stationary engines, among which latter is included the Hicks engine, for which they are the sole agents for the Pacific Coast. This firm are also contractors for the ornamental and other iron work to be used in the construction of the new State Capitol now being erected at Sacramento city. When in full operation, the Miners Foundry gives employment to about two hundred and seventy-five men, and from the style of work made, consumes more raw material than any other establishment on the coast.

THE PACIFIC FOUNDRY.—These works are located on the east side of First, opposite Minna Street, extending, as is the case with the other foundries mentioned, through to Fremont Street. The manufactures of this foundry are very varied in their nature, but are specially noted for the production of sugar mill and refining machinery, and marine engines, a large number of the first named, including vacuum pans, having been supplied to the Sandwich Islands; and quite a number of the latter of large size and power furnished to vessels employed in the bay and coast trade. The firm, consisting of Messrs. Ira P. Rankin, Albert P. Brayton, and A. C. Austin, transacting business under the name of Goddard & Company, are also sole agents for the manufacture of the celebrated "Hartford" engines, which are favorably known on this coast.

THE VULCAN IRON WORKS.—These works, located on First near Natoma Street, were established by George Gordon and Steen, who, in 1855, transferred them to an incorporated company under the above name. The demands for manufacturing have now increased so largely that it has not only caused the extension of the original works through to Fremont Street, but also the erection of buildings of equal extent on the opposite side of the latter named street. These works now occupy the most space, and are as complete in their appointments as any other foundry in the city, boilers and mining engines being the specialty in manufacture.

RISDON IRON AND LOCOMOTIVE WORKS.—This company was incorporated during the present year, with $1,000,000 capital stock, comprising among its names some of the most important steamship proprietors on the Pacific Coast. Since the incorporation it has absorbed the large boiler establishment of Coffey & Risdon, whose proprietors are connected with the operations of the new company. The works are located at the southeast corner of Beale and Howard Streets, and occupy an area of two hundred and twenty-seven and a half feet square, on which is a boiler shop of one hundred and thirty-seven and a half by ninety-six feet, foundry one hundred and thirty-seven and a half by forty-five feet, and machine shop ninety six by ninety-eight feet, the latter being galleried three stories high. Although only completed in May, 1868, the works are first class in appointments, the lathes and other tools having no superiors in size or other requirements. The proprietors claim to have the largest lathe on the Pacific Coast, it being able to finish shafts forty-eight feet long and twenty-five tons weight. Some idea of the magnitude of the operations of these works can be formed from the fact that they are now engaged in furnishing the Spring Valley Water Company, under contract, with 40,000 feet boiler iron pipe, thirty inches diameter, which is to take the place of the Company's present wooden flume.

The works have a patent riveting machine for making boilers, which is said to rivet equal to hand work, and is the only one of its kind on the coast. There are two hundred and seventy-five hands employed in these works, who, in addition to other work, turn out five hundred feet of the water-pipe above named per diem. Steel boilers, the first made on this coast, was exhibited at the late Mechanics' Fair by these works.

GOLDEN STATE FOUNDRY.—This foundry is located on the east side of First near Market Street, and is owned by Messrs. Palmer, Knox & Co. Employment is given to eighty men, amalgamating pans and mining machinery being produced in large quantities.

THE ÆTNA FOUNDRY.—This foundry is located on Fremont Street near Natoma; Messrs. Hanscom & Co., proprietors. Mining machinery, force and lifting pumps and turbine wheels are manufactured in large quantities, the last being a specialty. They also produce the Hanscom improved steam pump for feeding boilers, Carvalho's steam super-heater, and the celebrated Pengergast white iron stamp, shoes and dies.

THE FULTON FOUNDRY.—This foundry is located on Fremont, opposite Minna Street, Messrs. Hinckley & Co. being proprietors, who do a very extensive business in iron castings, steamboat and mill machinery, and force and lift pumps. The works are very complete in tools, and of size sufficient to supply most all kinds of machinery needed.

EMPIRE FOUNDRY.—This foundry is located at 221 Mission Street, Messrs. Flynn & France proprietors, who manufacture all kinds of castings in a satisfactory manner.

PORTLAND BOILER WORKS.—These works, now the largest of their kind in this city, are located on Mission Street, between Fremont and Beale. The largest boilers required can be manufactured at these works, which have excellent facilities for the purpose.

THE PACIFIC ROLLING MILLS.—During the past year these works, located at the Potrero, and so much needed by our people, have been so far completed that all sizes of rod and bar iron can be made. A forge capable of making the largest sized shafts required for steamers and other work has also been in operation for the past twelve months. Though the machinery for the mills is not yet all in place, sufficient evidences have been given that the establishment will produce manufactured iron equal in quality to any similar grade imported, and also that the producing capacity of the works can be made to equal the entire requirements of the coast. Samples of bar and rod iron of most excellent quality were exhibited by these mills at the late Mechanics' Fair, where they were awarded a silver medal. These mills are intended to roll railway bars, and also manufacture boiler iron of first quality, in addition to other work.

The introduction of these new branches of iron manufacture is of unusual importance, as hitherto the various railroads in the State have shipped their old rails to the Atlantic States for sale, and the cost of boiler-making on this coast was much enhanced from inability to have boiler plate made to order, to suit the requirements of the trade, as is the case in the Atlantic States. The value of local mills to roll boiler plate to required shapes and sizes is estimated by experts to cause a saving of nearly one-third material. The rolling mills at present depend upon old scrap and other iron to manufacture as material, of which they have nearly 4,000 tons already on hand. The successful inauguration of an iron furnace in Oregon, which produces pig iron of remarkably fine quality, promises to prove of great value in this connection. It is claimed that the pig iron thus produced has peculiar fineness of quality and tenacity of fibre. Experiments are to be made of it at the Rolling Mills, and if the results are satisfactory, manufactures of large amounts of the various grades of bloom, sheet, bar, rod and plate iron will be engaged in. Among other machinery, it is said, will be a complete set of rolls for making copper in rods and sheets for ship building, sheathing and braziers' use, all of which are much needed to manufacture the products of our copper mines, which are now entirely shipped to the Atlantic States and Europe, there to be manufactured and in part returned to this coast.

BRASS FOUNDRIES.—The brass foundries of this city are the only ones of note in the State. From manufacturing originally the commonest styles of work, the foundries have increased in efficiency until at the present time all varieties of brass work of the most finished description are produced. Importations from the Atlantic States have of late very much decreased, and there is a fair prospect of total discontinuance within a few years, the local foundries at present supplying fully two-thirds of the demand. The total consumption of brass goods on the Pacific Coast, at present, is estimated at fully $300,000 per annum, with prospect of a great increase.

The largest brass foundry, in this city, is that of W. T. Garratt. At the late Mechanics' Fair, Mr. Garratt exhibited a very large and full assortment of brass goods of almost all kinds used, including sheathing, nails, cannon and bells, all of excellent workmanship, and the bells of large volume of sound and good tone. For the merit and extent of this display a silver medal was awarded.

Gallagher & Weed also made a very fine exhibit of brass work. The other brass foundries of note are those of Garvey & Kimball, Morris Dobzensky, Greenberg & Moore, and Tay, Brooks & Backus, the latter in connection with other metal manufactures, producing largely of plumbers' brass work.

IRON DOORS, SHUTTERS AND SAFES.—The manufacture of these articles has become a comparatively important branch of trade in this State. All the workshops are located in this city and give steady employment to a large number of men. In addition to the city demand, a very large trade in iron doors and shutters is done with the towns, villages and mining camps of the interior of the State and Nevada, where, owing to the absence of water-works and fire apparatus, the only means of safety from sweeping conflagrations consists in having truly fire-proof buildings. The remoteness of California and adjacent States and Territories from the safe-manufactories of the Atlantic States also causes a large demand for fire and burglar-proof safes for banking institutions, where unusual shapes and sizes are required to suit the peculiarities of buildings and business. The exhibition of fire and burglar-proof safes, at the late Mechanics' Fair, was a most valuable and interesting one; the articles for materials, workmanship, and security of contrivances against theft being such as would do credit to any place or people. The manufacturers of safes in San Francisco are Messrs. Kittredge & Leavitt, Nutting & Son, Jonathau Kittredge, and L. Chellis. The largest manufacturers of iron doors and shutters are Kittredge & Leavitt, John R. Sims, Nutting & Son, Jonathau Kittredge, and J. J. Gallagher. Iron railings and fences of both wrought and cast-iron are made extensively by Wm. McKibbin.

LEAD MANUFACTORIES.—The only manufactory of lead work on the Pacific Coast is that of the San Francisco and Pacific Lead and Shot Works, in this city. These works are carried on by Thomas H. Selby & Co., who are the proprietors, and who supply fully half the demand for lead pipe, sheet lead, shot and other lead manufactures in this State and adjoining States and Territories. The quality of the articles produced is unexceptionable, and as a result they are fast driving importations out of the market. Up to the present year the supplies of crude or raw lead were all imported, mostly from Spain. Attention having been drawn to the numerous lead mines discovered in California, Nevada, and Arizona Territory, and the metal having been found in extensive deposits, Messrs. Selby & Co. erected lead smelting works at Black Point, in this city. At these works large amounts of galena-bearing ores from Nevada and Arizona have been smelted with favorable results, so that importations of pig lead have almost entirely been discontinued. One valuable feature connected with the smelting works at Black Point, is the saving of large amounts of other useful metals and minerals which are found mixed with the galena ores. These latter often contain silver, antimony, and other metals, which without scientific knowledge and extensive and costly apparatus, such as is contained in the smelting works, would otherwise be lost. The total consumption of lead manufactures and shot on the Pacific Coast is estimated at 2,500 tons annually, of which the San Francisco and Pacific Lead and Shot Works furnish nearly three-fifths; their capacity for manufacturing, however, being equal to 4,000 tons per annum, assorted work.

WIRE ROPE AND WIRE WORK.—The manufacture of wire rope in this city was commenced in 1857, by A. S. Hallidie & Co. This firm have built quite a number of wire suspension bridges in this State, Oregon, Idaho and British Columbia. They have also supplied nearly all the principal mining companies in Nevada, as well as many in this State, with wire cables for hoisting purposes, besides considerable wire cordage for shipping. Owing to the unfavorable operation of the internal revenue tariff, the manufacture of wire rope in this State has of late largely decreased, it being found more profitable to import standard sizes of wire cordage from Great Britain, the manufactures of which are now mostly used on this coast. All the wire consumed in making cordage by Messrs. Hallidie & Co. is imported, but is redrawn by them prior to use. They have complete machinery for the purpose, and at one time intended making wire from "bloom" iron, but as yet have not done so. The pig metal, made of the Oregon iron ore, is said to possess peculiar properties which may admit of making wire, and if favorable results in working it into "bloom," at the Pacific Rolling Mills, are obtained, it may possibly be used for the purpose. The works of Messrs. Hallidie & Co. are of sufficient capacity to meet the entire requirements of the coast, if necessary; single length cables, seven and three-fourths inches in circumference and 3,500 feet long, and flat ropes for hoisting purposes, four inches wide, five-eighths thick and 1,500 feet long, having been already made.

The only other manufacturer of wire is Joshua Gray, whose works are on Brannan, near Third Street. This firm confines its business to making broom wire, samples of which, exhibited at the Mechanics' Fair, were of excellent quality.

WIRE WORK.—The only manufactory of wire work is that of H. T. Graves, 412 Clay Street. All kinds of wire screens, sieves, cages, etc., are made at this establishment, which supplies fully two-thirds the requirements of the Pacific Coast.

CUTLERY.—There are quite a number of cutlery establishments in this city, Messrs. Will & Finck and M. Price being the only ones who manufacture for sale as contradistinguished from the others who manufacture only to order.

Messrs. Will & Finck, in addition to table cutlery, also manufacture dental and surgical instruments, besides barbers' and other cutlery. This firm made a display at the Mechanics' Fair of the different kinds of goods manufactured by them, which, for material, workmanship and adaptability for the purposes intended, would do credit to any manufactory in the Union.

M. Price also exhibited a very superior assortment of table cutlery, that attracted very favorable attention.

BELLOWS.—There are two bellows manufactories in this city, the principal one being that of C. W. Thomas, 22 California Street. The domestic manufacture for blacksmiths' use has a high reputation, and has almost driven importations out of the market.

RICE MILLS.—There are two rice-cleaning mills in this State, both of which are located in this city—viz., India Rice Mills and those of Flint, Peabody & Co., on Battery Street near Greenwich. These mills are capable of cleaning all kinds of rice, their principal employment being cleaning and recleaning cargo and other rice imported from the Sandwich Islands and Asia—mostly for Chinese consumption. These establishments have machinery capacity for cleaning 30,000,000 pounds rice per annum, but as a rule are not employed one-quarter the time, the great bulk of rice coming from China in a cleaned state, and ready for consumption. With a climate and soil both admirably fitted for the favorable production of rice, no attempts have as yet been made to raise that grain in California. The annual consumption of foreign rice on the Pacific slope, all of which is sold in the city, is estimated at about 26,000,000 pounds, the whole of which, and even ten times that amount additional, could be raised profitably on the swamp and overflowed lands of the State. These lands possess every natural requisite for the successful production of rice, and it only needs the enterprise and attention of any intelligent farmer to make rice-growing a success. Land suitable for rice cultivation can, at present, be purchased at low rates, and the successful raising of only one acre of rice in the State would, in three years afterwards, be the cause of employment to thousands of Chinese, and add millions of property to the assessment rolls for taxation. The General Government at this port collects about $750,000 duties on imported rice per annum, the entire value of which, when cleaned for consumption, may be set down at fully $1,500,000 annually. A vast field is thus open to the enterprise of the farmer or capitalist, which, in the other States of the Union, would have long since been availed of.

SAW MILLS.—The Saw Mills located in this city are both extensive in their working capacity, and of great value to various branches of business. The rapid increase in buildings, most of which, and especially in the newer portions of the city, are entirely constructed of wood, and the requirements of business for cases and boxes of various kinds caused the re-sawing of fully 10,000,000 feet lumber during the past year. The principal mill for the sawing of pine and other soft lumber is that of Hobbs, Gilmore & Co., which turned out about 5,000,000 feet during the past year, the largest part of which was manufactured by that firm into packing boxes of various kinds.

A large amount of Spanish cedar is sawed to make boxes for the domestic cigar trade, and also considerable quantities of Oregon maple, California laurel and other hard woods into veneers, etc., for furniture and wainscoting purposes. These branches of trade are increasing rapidly in their operations, and promise to soon attain very extensive proportions.

FLOUR MILLS.—The most extensive flouring mills in the State are located in this city, which mills have in great part supplied the export trade, their brands of flour enjoying a most enviable reputation in the Atlantic States, as compared with all other competitors in those markets.

The wheat of California possesses such excellent keeping qualities, on account of its great dryness, that flour made from it can be transported in perfect safety to any portion of the globe. It is also superior in some respects to most of the wheat grown in other countries, being preferred by bakers on account of its greater strength, and increased quantity of bread produced per barrel. These advantages make California flour much sought after, and the care taken by our city millers to produce a strictly good article has already caused a very extensive export trade, which promises to be largely increased in the future.

Another cause which promises to stimulate the shipping of flour of our local mills, instead of grain, to the Atlantic States, is the constant practice there of mixing their inferior wheat with that of California in grinding. The flour thus made has been of lower grade than that produced by our local mills, and consumers in the Atlantic States prefer our city brands in consequence.

It is, therefore, safe to assume that exports of California flour will be increased in the future in proportion with the manufacturing facilities of our mills, which as a rule have, during the past year, been employed to the fullest extent possible. The principal flouring mills in San Francisco are the National, Golden Gate, Capitol, Golden Age, Genesee, Pacific, Commercial, Pioneer and Alta, all of which enjoy a deservedly high reputation for their manufactures.

STEAM MARBLE WORKS.—The only steam marble works on the Pacific Coast are those of the Pioneer Steam Marble Works, located on Jackson between Montgomery and Sansom Streets. These works, although established but a short time, have shown the great economy in sawing and polishing stone by steam as compared with hand labor, and promises to do more to develop the numerous deposits of marble in the State than all other means combined. The works are run by a fifteen horse power engine, which drives a gang of 20 saws, besides polishing wheels, and employs 30 men. The Pioneer Steam Marble Works were at first formed by a number of firms engaged in the marble trade, who combined together for purposes of economy in labor, etc. At present the works are owned by M. Heverin, who continues the business as vigorously as his predecessors. The most of the marble sawn at these works is obtained in California, clouded white and grey marble coming from Indian Diggings, El Dorado county, a very nearly white variety from Drytown, Amador county, and Columbia, Tuolumne county, and a fine mottled or variegated black marble from near Colfax in Placer county. Mantels made of the last named variety of marble were exhibited by Mr. Heverin at the late Mechanics' Fair, where they attracted much and very favorable attention.

SUGAR REFINERIES.—The only sugar refineries in the State are located in this city. They are of large capacity and perfect machinery, making varieties of refined sugar and syrup equal to the best imported. During the past year the supplies of raw sugar for refining have been obtained mostly from the Sandwich Islands, the balance coming from Manila and Peru. There are three refineries in this city, viz: San Francisco and Pacific, Bay, and California.

The largest and first established is the San Francisco and Pacific Sugar Refineries (combined in one,) which is located on Harrison and Eighth Streets. This has sufficient manufacturing capacity to refine 36,000,000 pounds raw sugar per annum, which is equal to the entire wants of the Pacific Coast. The quality of sugars and syrups made at this refinery is unexceptionable, large quantities of crushed sugar being exported to foreign markets as well as supplying in large part the home demand.

The Bay Sugar Refinery is located at the corner of Battery and Union Streets adjoining the Bay. During the past year very little refining has been done at this establishment, owing to its being leased to the San Francisco and Pacific Sugar Refinery. The establishment, however, is maintained in complete working order, ready to commence refining at a week's notice, should the demand of the trade require its production. The capacity of the works is equal to refining 9,000,000 pounds raw sugar per annum. At this refinery during the past year experiments made by Mr. Claus Spreckels were successful in the production of sugar from beets, the article made being of excellent quality, and the entire result satisfactory as to the profitable cultivation of beet for sugar-making purposes.

The California Sugar Refinery is the best built and is the smallest of the three, its capacity under the old system being equal to refining about 8,000,000 pounds raw sugar yearly. It has, however, lately adopted a new patented system of refining, which produces sugar in less than half the time necessary under the old practice. The sugar is produced in slabs, is of extra quality, and at the late Mechanics' Institute, in connection with syrups from the same refinery, was awarded a silver medal in competition with the products of the San Francisco and Pacific Sugar Refineries. The works are located at the corner of Eighth and Brannan Streets.

BRUSHES.—The manufacture of brushes for almost all domestic purposes is increasing in California, the work of the establishments in this city enjoying a high reputation and interfering seriously with importations. The bristles used are procured in large part from our local slaughtering establishments, which, although not supplying the finer sorts, still furnish all of that article required for the medium and common grade goods. In addition to bristles, quite a large quantity of the fibre of the soap root is also used either mixed in or in its pure state to make brushes, the fibre possessing a great advantage over other materials from its stiffness and elasticity after long use with water. Messrs. Feldmann & Co., manufacture largely all kinds of brushes and made a very full and large exhibit of their goods in the late Mechanics' Fair. Messrs. Feejer also made a very creditable exhibition which for their merit received the highest award.

MACCARONI AND PASTE.—The manufacturers of edible paste in this city, now supply the entire wants of the Pacific Coast to the exclusion of importations. The quality of the domestic made article is fully equal to that of the best made in France and Italy with the additional recommendations of freshness and freedom from mustiness and staleness so common in importations. The peculiar variety of wheat which makes the best paste is grown around the Bay, manufacturers of paste supplying the necessary seed to farmers and engaging their crops at fixed prices at time of planting. The principal manufactory is that of Messrs. Brignardello, Macchiavello & Co., located on Sansom near Jackson Street. This firm, besides supplying in large part the domestic demand, also export in considerable quantities to Mexico, British Columbia and other foreign markets, where their brand is well and favorably known. The exhibit made by this firm at the late Mechanics' Fair was both large and meritorious, it receiving the highest award. Messrs. Ravenna, Ghirardelli & Co., of this city, also manufacture edible paste in large quantities of excellent quality.

YEAST POWDERS.—The manufacture of yeast powders is a most important one among our minor industries. The peculiarity of the location of mining camps and the agricultural population in California early made a great demand for yeast powders, immense importations of which were received from the Atlantic States. The demand for this article which sold at highly profitable prices caused a comparatively large export of treasure and as a result attempts at home manufacture. Among others, the firm of Donnelly & Co., were the first to be successful in meeting the demands of the market. This firm still continues as leading manufacturers of yeast powders, as well as preparing large quantities of cream of tartar and bi-carbonate of soda.

W. M. Boyd, has also manufactured yeast powders to a considerable extent, which for their superior quality received the highest award at the late Mechanics' Fair.

MUSTARD.—The production of mustard early attracted attention in California, where a black variety is indigenous, and in some portions of the State is produced in immense quantities. This native mustard possesses remarkable pungent qualities, being much superior in that respect to all other varieties that are cultivated. For medicinal uses it is esteemed more than any other on account of its superior strength. It is now in general use in the hospitals of the Pacific Coast, and has been used largely in the Eastern States in similar places. The exports to New York amount to thousands of sacks annually; and in view of the growing demand there and the rapid settlement of the southern portion of the State, the shipping of mustard promises to attain very large proportions. Besides the native or black variety, other varieties of mustard are cultivated with great success, the domestic article being highly valued and completely stopping importations from Europe.

GOLD AND SILVER WARE AND JEWELRY.—The manufacturers of precious metals and jewelry have attained large proportions in this city. The great mineral wealth of California in its early stages of development caused a demand for specimen rings and other common varieties of jewelry, which demand increasing, from the continued prosperity of our people and their State pride, soon stimulated manufacturing to a degree of perfection not surpassed in any city in the Union. Among other articles manufactured was a gold service made by J. W. Tucker, in 1854, which was presented to Cornelius K. Garrison on the occasion of his retirement from the mayoralty of this city. The set consisted of fifty pieces in all, and cost over $50,000 to manufacture, it being the most beautiful and costly set of plate ever manufactured in the United States. The principal manufacturing jewelers in this city are Messrs. J. W. Tucker & Co., Shreve & Co., Braverman & Levy and Barrett & Sherwood, who also have at various times manufactured considerable quantities of silver ware of unexceptional beauty of design, intrinsic value and perfect workmanship. The most extensive manufactories of silver ware in this city are those of Messrs. R. B. Gray & Co., Vanderslice & Co., and F. R. Reichel, who produce largely; their manufactures being highly esteemed, and from their increasing volume gradually driving out importations from this market. Messrs. Vanderslice & Co. made a very large, beautiful and valuable display of their manufactures at the late Mechanics' Fair, which for merit was awarded the gold medal in its class or department.

TYPE.—There are two foundries engaged in the manufacture of type in this city—Messrs. Faulkner & Son and J. B. Painter & Co. Though in operation but little more than a year, the foundry of Messrs. Faulkner & Son has already made almost all varieties of type used in general book and newspaper printing. Foreman's patent improved type machine, invented by A. Foreman of this city, is used at this establishment, for which is claimed many advantages over other machines now in use in the Atlantic States and Europe. Mr. Foreman for this invention was awarded a silver medal at the Mechanics' Fair. The foundry of Messrs. Painter & Co. has been in operation but a few months, but in that short time has given the best evidence of its capacity to compete successfully with the most celebrated establishments at the East.

STOVES, JAPANED AND TINWARE.—The manufactories of stoves and grates in this city are those of Messrs. Tay, Brooks & Backus, John G. IIs and A. C. Taylor. The stoves made by these firms are of good workmanship and are fitted for the peculiar wants of our people. Messrs. Tay, Brooks & Backus make what is known as the monitor stove, which is suited for restaurant and steamboat purposes, while the other parties mentioned manufacture stoves for family use. The exhibit of stoves made by A. C. Taylor at the Mechanics' Fair in this city was most excellent and attracted great attention. Messrs. Tay, Brooks & Backus are the only manufacturers of Japaned and planish ware in this city, their establishment being very large and complete, and is claimed by them to be the third largest of its kind in the Union.

BROOMS AND WOODEN WARE.—The broom manufactories in San Francisco not only supply the local demand but also considerable quantities for export to the Islands of the Pacific and contiguous foreign countries. The broom-corn raised in California is considered the best in the United States, and at times large quantities of it have been shipped to the New York market, where it is held in high favor; about 25,000 dozen brooms are made yearly in this city, of which large amounts are shipped to the interior. Among the principal manufactories is that of Messrs. Palmer, Gillespie & Co., on Davis Street, near California. The only manufactories of wooden ware on the Pacific Coast are those located in San Francisco, and owned respectively by Messrs. Elam & Howes and Armes & Dallam, who supply the whole domestic demand as well as furnishing considerable quantities to foreign countries. These firms also manufacture syrup and powder kegs in vast quantities, the powder works in the State being supplied by them. During June 1868 the manufactory of Armes & Dallam was destroyed by fire, but have since been rebuilt. Messrs. Elam & Howes made a very fine exhibit of all kinds of wooden ware at the Mechanics' and State Fairs this year. This firm was awarded the gold medal at the former for the merit of their manufactures, which were considered the most valuable in their particular class.

BOX MANUFACTORIES.—The manufacture of boxes of all kinds required for packing purposes in this city has attained vast dimensions. This branch of trade gives employment to several hundred men, and fully half the lumber re-sawed in this city is used in box making. The largest box manufactory is that of Hobbs, Gilmore & Co., who supply fully three-fourths of the local demand. L. Racouillat and John S. Gibbs also manufacture largely, while F. Korbel and Abraham Waldstein are manufacturers of cigar boxes.

PETROLEUM REFINERIES.—There are two petroleum refineries in this city, viz: Hayvard, Coleman & Co's, at Steamboat Point and Stanford Bros' at North Point. Both of these establishments are of large manufacturing capacity but have been unemployed during the entire year past, importations of refined oil from the Atlantic States having glutted the market at low prices.

LINSEED AND CASTOR OILS AND PAINTS.—The only mills for the manufacture of linseed and castor oils and paints are those of the Pacific Linseed Oil and Lead Co., located on King Street near Third. These mills are of very large manufacturing capacity and the oils produced enjoy a high reputation in this market. When constantly employed the works will be able to meet the entire wants of the Coast for oils and also furnish a large supply of lead and zinc paints. The great difficulty heretofore has been the difficulty of procuring stock, the larger part of the linseed and castor beans having to be imported. During the last year, however, the domestic product has largely increased and it now looks probable that in three or four years time enough linseed and castor beans will be raised in the State to meet the wants of the trade. The oils exhibited by this Company were awarded the gold medal in their class at the late Mechanics' Fair.

BILLIARD TABLES.—There are only two billiard table manufactories in this city, both of them producing work which enjoys high reputation. With exceptions of the cushions and stone beds all portions of billiard tables are made at our manufactories. The tables of Messrs. Strable & Hughes are supplied with Phelan's patent cushions, while those of P. Liesenfeld are of Kavanagh & Decker's invention. During the past few years large quantities of Oregon maple and California laurel have been used in the manufacture of billiard tables to the exclusion of imported woods. The exhibit at the late Mechanics' Fair by both the above named firms were highly meritorious, the tables of P. Liesenfeld being awarded a silver medal.

SOAP AND CANDLES.—The local manufactories of soap have now almost entirely driven importations from our market. The soap made in this city enjoys a very high reputation and supplies in large part the demand from the interior of this State and Nevada. The principal works are those of J. H. C. Portmann, Lucy & Hynes, J. J. Bergin, Eureka Soap Co., Challenge Soap Co., Standard Soap Co., J. P. Dyer, John Fay, C. Peterson, and Smith, Lucy & Co., whose establishments have an aggregate manufacturing capacity of 750,000 pounds per month.

The manufacture of candles is now largely engaged in by the San Francisco Candle Co., and to a limited extent by the Standard Soap Co. The candles made by the San Francisco Candle Co., compare favorably with the best average brands imported from the Atlantic States. During the first nine months of the present year this company made candles valued at $64,000, and their exhibit at the Mechanics' Fair was awarded the first premium.

MATCHES.—The local manufacturers of matches now supply nearly the whole demand for that article on the Pacific Coast. The principal manufacturers are the Eureka Company, Percussion Match Company and Newbauer & Co. The two first named exhibited at the Mechanics' Fair—the Percussion Match Company receiving a first premium for their matches.

TANNERIES.—The tanneries of San Francisco are of very great manufacturing capacity, but owing to unfavorable circumstances have not been as fully employed during the last year as usual. The advantages of the equable climate in the coast counties and superior strength of the native tan bark has enabled our tanners to produce sole, hose and harness leather which is more highly valued by manufacturers in the different branches of the leather business than the same articles made in the Eastern States. The manufactures of leather, which are very large in this State, are now entirely supplied by our local tanneries, while shipments of sole leather, aggregating over 5,000 sides, have been made within the past year.

SADDLERY AND HARNESS.—The manufacture of saddlery and harness has steadily increased during the past year, finer grades of work as a rule being made than has been the case heretofore. At the present time, almost all qualities of domestic made harness and saddlery can be had, and importations from the Atlantic States are being largely diminished. The heaviest manufacturers of saddlery and harness are Messrs. Main & Winchester, who are located on Battery Street. The other principal firms are C. H. Mead and J. C. Johnson & Co., who do a large business.

HOSE AND LEATHER BELTING.—The manufacture of leather hose and belting is attaining large proportions in this city, almost the entire demand for the former for the Pacific Coast being supplied by our local manufacturers, John J. Fulton and M. M. Cook & Son. These firms are the only makers of leather hose on the Pacific Coast and by the merit of their manufactures, after a long struggle, have driven all Eastern competitors from the market. The only makers of leather belting are the firms of H. Royer and M. M. Cook & Son, whose belting is fast taking the place of the imported article in many of the largest manufacturing establishments on the coast. The latter also manufacture horse collars to a considerable extent.

BOOTS AND SHOES.—The largest manufactures of boots and shoes on the Pacific Coast are located in San Francisco. The commoner goods made by them are considered of better quality than similar grades imported from the Atlantic States, and command better prices. Some of the local manufactures now use all California leather, but the larger number make the upper portions of their work of Philadelphia and French calveskins. The most noted boot and shoe manufactures are the Pacific Tannery and Boot and Shoe Company with $100,000 capital, on Folsom Street, nr Eighteenth, (salesroom 306 California St.) run by steam power; Messrs. Wentworth, Hobart & Co., 210 Pine Street; John Bray and Buckingham and Hecht, on Battery Street. Considerable quantities of boots and shoes are also manufactured at the State Prison for George K. Porter, who was the pioneer in the trade. At the late Mechanics' Fair the Pacific Tannery and Boot and Shoe Company made a most complete display of their manufactures, embracing all varieties of boots and shoes made for women, children and men's wear, the merits of which were so great as to be awarded the highest prize in the Fair—"the institute Gold Medal"—as against all other competitors.

BREWERIES.—The breweries of this city are both numerous and of extensive manufacturing capacity. About 80,000 barrels of ale and beer are manufactured yearly, the larger portion of which is consumed in this city. The largest breweries are those of Lyon & Co., John Wieland and Spreckles & Co. Although California produces excellent hops and barley, well suited for making light ales and porter, comparatively no efforts of consequence have been made to export those beverages to compete with the brewers of Great Britain and Germany, in the markets of foreign nations bordering on the Pacific.

SPARKLING WINES.—Sparkling wine or champagne made by natural fermentation in the bottle is made in this city by Isidor Landsberger, and by the Buena Vista Vinicultural Society at Sonoma. There are numerous establishments in San Francisco where a spurious sparkling wine is made by forcing carbonic acid gas into still wine in bottles by the use of soda water apparatus. The compound thus made is, however, very unhealthy and lacks the flavor and beneficial medicinal effect produced by a good champagne. There is also a new compound made in this city of wine and water, with the addition of tartaric acid, bi-carbonate of soda and alum. This is still more unhealthy than soda fountain-made wine. The wines made by Mr. Landsberger possess the best points of superior imported champagnes. He has made great improvements in wine making during the past year, during which time his manufacture has grown in great favor with the public. The sparkling wine made by Mr. Landsberger was awarded the first prize, a silver medal, at the late Mechanics' Fair.

FURNITURE.—The manufacture of furniture is becoming of great importance, and is steadily increasing in both quality and quantity. Our local manufactures now produce a great variety of furniture, some of which for quality of material, beauty of design, and excellence of workmanship, have no superiors in the United States. During the last two years native hard woods, such as Lower California rosewood, Oregon maple, and California laurel, have been made quite extensively by some of our furniture manufacturers, and the results being both attractive and valuable, the manufactures in these woods promise to be largely increased. The most prominent manufacturers of furniture are Messrs. N. P. Cole & Co., Goodwin & Co., W. G. Weir, Field & Co., and Wigmore & Palmer, while the Pacific Elastic Sponge Co., Jacob Schreiber and J. F. and H. H. Schafer do a very large manufacturing business in beds and bedding.

At the Mechanics' Fair, the display of furniture made by Messrs. N. P. Cole & Co. were awarded a silver medal. Goodwin & Co. were awarded a silver medal for upholstery, and Wigmore & Palmer a gold medal for a Pompeian secretary, which for workmanship is claimed to have never been equalled on the Pacific Coast. In wood polishing, John D. Boyd, for display of polished laurel wood was awarded a silver medal, the specimens exhibited by him being remarkable for their beauty and finish. Mr. Boyd has also been engaged to fit up a passenger car inlaid with laurel, for the Central Pacific Railroad Company, who intend to send it to New York on the first through train after the completion of the roads.

From the well known skill of Mr. Boyd in working California laurel, it is believed that the car will attract great attention in the Atlantic States, and thereby be the means of bringing the excellence of the wood for cabinet purposes prominently before the Eastern public.

PATENT SPONGE.—The American Patent Sponge Company received their letters patent November 16th, 1866, since which time the business has assumed large proportions until it has reached nearly or quite a million dollars a year. The Pacific branch was organized and commenced operations in this city in April, 1868, and its business has so increased that at this present date it amounts to thousands of dollars per month and is constantly increasing. The company claim for the Elastic Sponge a superiority over any other material in the following particulars: 1st. Durability excepting feathers, and equal to them. 2d. Cleanliness. 3d. Freedom from all insects. 4th. Healthiness, sick persons being able to lay on it longer and with more comfort than upon any other bed.

CIGARS.—The manufacture of cigars in San Francisco is very extensive, the aggregate footing up several millions monthly. The quality of the cigars made is superior, large amounts of Havana or Cuba tobacco being imported to make the best grades. The largest manufacturing firms are B. C. Horn, Weil & Co., Mayrisch & Co., and Kullman & Arn.

CLOTHING.—The manufacture of clothing in this city is steadily increasing, the larger portion of the products of our local woolen mills, besides considerable quantities of imported cloths, etc., being used for the purpose. About seven hundred persons are employed by the several firms engaged in the trade. The firms of Weidenrich & Lehman, Simon Reinstein, Berliner & Co., are the most extensive.

SHIRTS.—Comparatively large quantities of white shirts are made in this city, although importers supply the great bulk of the demand. The largest manufacturers are G. F. Falkenstein & Brandt, M. Esberg & Co., and the Women's Coöperative Union, the shirts made by the latter being awarded the highest premium at the Mechanics' Fair.

CARRIAGES.—Carriages and other wheeled vehicles are manufactured largely in this city, and from the favor they meet from the public, promise soon to drive out importations. The principal firms engaged in the business are the Kimball Carriage and Car Manufacturing Company (incorporated during the past year), Black & Miller, Albert Folsom, and Saul & McArron. The first named company are making Kimball's patent wood springs and axles, which are considered superior to all others. The exhibition made by this company at the Mechanics' Fair was most extensive and meritorious, it being awarded the gold medal belonging to its class.

SILVER PLATING AND ELECTROTYPING.—Silver plating has during the past year become quite an important minor industry. The following named parties exhibited silver plating, in its various branches of excellent quality, at the late Mechanics' Fair, John Martel, silver plated coach materials, Wm. Lynch, national coat of arms; R. F. Rocciocioli, silver plated and gilded goods, O. B. Oakley, silver plating; and Pacific plate works, the latter receiving the premium for electro-plating and gilding. These works were commenced in May 1868, and now employ steadily fourteen operators, making all varieties of plated and gilded ware. The standard quality of its work is equal to the best imported, but it manufactures heavier plating to order as required. For beauty of design and perfect workmanship, the goods exhibited by Haynes & Lawton, agents, were said to be equal to any ever imported to this coast.

CALIFORNIA BUSINESS UNIVERSITY.—This school is different in its nature and plan of operation from any other mentioned. It is designed, as its name indicates, to impart instruction upon business matters; and is intended to supply the same facilities to those desiring to enter the mercantile profession as the medical college to the student of medicine. It is conducted upon what are termed "Actual Business Principles," each student becoming for the time being an actual bookkeeper, merchant or banker, and performing all the duties pertaining to those offices. This system gives a practical knowledge of the various branches taught, by means of which students are enabled to pass directly from the school-room to the counting-room. This institution was established by E. Heald, who first introduced the system upon this coast five years since. It is now located at the corner of Bush and Montgomery Streets, in the rooms lately occupied by the Mercantile Library Association. The yearly attendance at this school numbers about five hundred students, among whom are representatives from every county in this State, as well as many from Oregon, Nevada, Idaho, Montana, Mexico and the Sandwich Islands. The branches taught include single and double entry bookkeeping, arithmetic, penmanship, correspondence, commercial law, political economy, banking, railroading, phonography, telegraphy and modern languages.

The Fluctuations of Trade.

The following table has been prepared for the purpose of showing the changeable character of our business community. Only the leading branches of trade have been included, but these may be regarded as a fair indication of the whole. The yearly changes among the small dealers will not fall short of forty per cent. per annum

CURRIER & WINTER,

Nos. 211 KEARNY STREET, FOUR DOORS NORTH OF SUTTER.

Of all the great curiosities which attract the most attention in 1863, are the wonderful improvements which are now attached to the well-known Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine, without the competition of the others. This is the only family sewing machine with the new silent feed motion. It makes one thousand button-holes per day, on linen, cotton, or woollen goods. It sews on the binding of a dress, without previous basting, in four minutes; and while sewing on one tuck makes the line of marks for another; gathers and sews on at the same time; hems silk or woollen goods with equal facility; cords and braids with surprising quickness; makes articles for men's as well as women's wear; takes two thousand stitches per minute, which is fifteen hundred stitches more than any other lock-stitch can make. This wonderful machine has no shuttle to thread five or six times before starting, which is a great saving of time. It is a positive fact that Wheeler & Wilson's Family Sewing Machines will do all the same kind of work that the other machines now on sale will do—will make the same single-thread loop-stitch that ravel out; also the double loop-stitch, which also ravel out very conveniently, because you can sew with one yard of thread all day long, sewing in your thread, then raveling it and sewing it in again, and so on—all right and very convenient; but you will find that the same Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine that does all these wonderful things, makes also the only straight, solid lock-stitch which cannot be raveled; perfectly safe to walk to church with clothing made with this stitch; also, this machine will make the three-thread embroidery stitch, which is the loop-stitch and lock-stitch combined, and forms the most beautiful ornamental finish, perfectly secure against raveling, and very durable. The American Institute, New York, reports: "This machine makes the lock-stitch, and ranks highest on account of the elasticity, permanence, beauty and general desirableness of application." This report was in accordance with the previous—the stitching when done and the wide range of its awards at the Fair of the United States Agricultural Society, at the Fairs of the American Institute, New York; Mechanics' Association, Boston; Franklin Institute, Philadelphia; Kentucky Institute, Baltimore; Mechanics' Association, Cincinnati; Mechanics' Association, St. Louis; Mechanics' Institute, San Francisco; Met. Mechanics' Institute, Washington. At the State Fairs of Maine, Mississippi, Kentucky, New Jersey, Virginia, Illinois, New York, Indiana, Tennessee, Connecticut, Ohio, Wisconsin, Vermont, Missouri, Michigan, Iowa, Pennsylvania, California; and at hundreds of country fairs. W. M. Stoddard, Agent for Pacific Coast, office No. 435 Montgomery Street, San Francisco.
