THOUSANDS ATTEND SERVICE IN HONOR OF GLORIOUS DEAD

Armistice Day Observation Grows In Importance; Vast Crowd Followed Representative Parade to Open Air Service in Parliament Square

Commemorating the fifth anniversary of the day on which a war-torn world received the wonderful news that over four years of bitter strife had ended, Victoria yesterday, with a sincerity undimmed by the intervening years, paid homage to the thousands who laid down their lives on the battlefields.

With Thanksgiving Day and Armistice Day proclaimed a joint day this year, three days were devoted to mark the occasion. Saturday and Sunday were set aside as days to honor the memory of the glorious dead.

Impressive Quiet During Two-Minute Armistice Period

Two minutes of impressive silence was generally observed in Victoria Armistice day. The gun at Work Point sounded to announce the time when Victoria would join with the rest of the Allies in what has been established as a period when every possible activity shall cease for a brief spell to pay homage to the men who died in the great war.

Open Air Service Sunday, ex-service men's associations, the service clubs and virtually every organization and society in the city joined in services of thanksgiving for peace and honor to the fallen at the churches of the city or at the main event of the day, the brief but impressive open air service at Parliament Square arranged by the Armistice Period Committee.

To-day will be appropriately given over to rejoicings to mark the anniversary of the day when the war clouds rolled away. Danes will be held at the Armories and at the Empress Hotel, the joint army and navy ball at the Drill Hall and the annual poppy ball at the Empress Hotel.

Prior to the Sunday afternoon service outside the Parliament Buildings a representative parade formed up at Blanshard and Yates Street. Sergeant-Major F. Hatcher acted as marshal, assisted by Sergeant-Major Freagar, the permanent force being in charge of their own officers.

The parade was headed by the sixteenth Canadian Scottish band and the sixteenth Canadian Scottish pipers. Members of the Royal Canadian Navy, the military forces, both on land and sea, followed. The Victoria Fire Brigade (Concluded on page 5.)

BRITISH M.P.'S TO MEET TO-MORROW

Difficult Situation Faces Baldwin and His Ministers

Conservative Press Beginning to Oppose Election Scheme

London, Nov. 12.—A comparatively new Premier is believed seldom to have been called upon to meet such an embarrassing and confusing set of circumstances as Stanley Baldwin, the British Premier, will be called upon to face when Parliament, which was only elected about a year ago, reassembles Tuesday.

Reports Not Denied Mr. Baldwin himself has never announced a general election. All he said was that a protectionist policy was impossible until Parliament was dissolved.

European Unrest The Conservative press is now beginning to advise the Ministry to retrace the steps on the ground that it would be inadvisable to dissolve Parliament while Europe is in such a grave state.

VAN HORST, SMITH AND BURTON ARE AGAIN IN PENITENTIARY CELLS

Three Convicts at New Westminster Who Disappeared Saturday Afternoon Were Discovered on Roof of Building This Morning and Recaptured by Guards; Had Climbed a Twenty-five Foot Stone Wall

Vancouver, Nov. 12.—Hungry, cold, wet and dispirited, three long-term convicts who disappeared mysteriously from the New Westminster penitentiary in the fog Saturday afternoon about four o'clock were discovered by guards at 7.30 o'clock this morning on the roof of the building.

Without a struggle the men, whose ringleader was George Van Horst, desperate convicted murderer and life-sentence man, surrendered and were placed securely behind the bars.

Ronald H. Smith, seventeen years old, and Herbert Burton, fifteen, were Van Horst's companions in the daring attempt to escape. Smith is serving a fifteen-year sentence for the killing of Lionel Lorenz, a Victoria bank clerk, and Burton six years for highway robbery.

Van Horst, now aged forty-five years, in his term of incarceration made two escapes, one on July 19, 1920, when in company with Mario Montanari he eluded guards at the penitentiary and escaped detection for a year. He was discovered twelve months afterwards operating a grocery store in Seattle.

affirm the right of the Dominions to make treaties independently, it lays down the following principle: "It is desirable that no treaty should be negotiated by any of the Governments of the Empire without due consideration of its possible effect on other parts of the Empire, or the Empire as a whole."

The committee also says that before any steps are taken for concluding a treaty, any other part of the Empire likely to be interested is to be informed.

Signing of Pacts
Treaties imposing obligations on one part of the Empire only should be signed by the representative of the Government of that part; but where the treaty imposes obligations on more than one part of the Empire, it should be signed by one or more plenipotentiaries on behalf of all the Governments concerned.

GERMAN EX-PRINCE

Brussels, Nov. 12.—The Belgian Government will support any measures or penalties agreed upon by the Allied Council of Ambassadors regarding ex-Crown Prince Frederick William under Article 23, Paragraph 2, of the Treaty of Versailles, which requires Germany to surrender war criminals. The Belgian Ambassador to Paris has been instructed to this effect.

German Declaration
Berlin, Nov. 12.—Speaking at Halle yesterday, Chancellor Stresemann said the return of the former Crown Prince, whom he characterized as not the worst of Germans, to his German home, could not be refused. The decision was purely a question of international policy and one which the German people could not allow to be taken from their hands.

Referring to the Munich revolt, the Chancellor said Germany would have had to suffer a long time for the damage that would have resulted had Hitler become a ruler of Germany's fate. The Chancellor remarked that the behavior of General Ludendorff in the affair was highly regrettable.

London, Nov. 12.—The return of Friedrich Wilhelm Hohenzollern to Germany has caused speculation as to whether more is behind the incident than would be implied merely by a consideration of his personal insignificance.

Some commentators argue that his personality has little to do with the situation. The Morning Post says he is neither an heroic nor an honorable figure, but that history shows a small person is sometimes used to launch a great enterprise and that it is impossible to dissociate his return from the outbreak in Munich.

Promise Disregarded
The Daily Chronicle thinks his presence in Germany must immediately create a "focusing point" for monarchist plots. No one attaches much importance to the undertaking of the ex-Crown Prince given the German Government that he will abstain from meddling in politics and there is a pretty general assumption that his return means a bid for the throne.

The Daily Telegraph's diplomatic expert says Chancellor Stresemann engineered the return of Frederick William, Stresemann, the article says, persuaded his colleagues that the safety of the present regime in the Reich lay in splitting the ranks of the monarchists. William in Silesia would neutralize Rupprecht in Bavaria.

LONDON OBSERVED ARMISTICE DAY

London, Nov. 12.—The peace and quiet of Sunday added to the solemnity of the fifth observance of Armistice Day. London's streets, which usually are deserted on Sunday, were crowded with persons going to Westminster Abbey and toward the Cenotaph, erected to the memory of Great Britain's war dead.

King George and Queen Mary attended the service in Westminster Abbey. The King laid a lone wreath of laurel, bound with poppies from the fields of Flanders, on the grave of the Unknown Warrior, while the Prince of Wales placed a similar wreath of flowers at the foot of the Cenotaph.

criticism leveled against the Act was that it excluded a widow owning a house at an assessed valuation of over $1,500 regardless of the number and age of her children. It was claimed by the convention, eliminates many worthy applicants.

Changes are also sought in the Municipal Act regarding the burial of the poor and destitute. It is desired to make the municipality of which deceased was a member, responsible for burial expenses when no person appears to claim the body. A change in the Hospital Act is sought to make municipalities responsible only for the poor and destitute who have been resident in the municipality for twelve months.

BRITISH SESSION

that nothing could have so welded together the two wings of the Liberal Party and Labor as to uphold the flag of free trade.

The Cabinet itself is hopelessly divided on the subject of protection, though a majority of its members favor a tariff policy. And in this condition of affairs it is considered exceedingly likely that Premier Baldwin will decide to postpone the election indefinitely, awaiting a better opportunity after the country has undergone a further process of education.

MURDERERS' VICTIMS THREE IN NUMBER

Men Shot at Rooming House in Aberdeen, Wash.

Man Arrested Has no Remembrance of Crimes

Aberdeen, Wash., Nov. 12.—Three men lost their lives, another lies seriously wounded in a hospital and a fifth is confined in the county jail at Montesano as the result of a shooting affray here Saturday night shortly before midnight. The dead: C. Tolomi, 1706 Hume Street, Aberdeen; John Ritti and Joe Buerich, roomers at the Tolomi home. Tolomi was shot and instantly killed as he went to the window of the house, the assailant firing six shots from the front porch, all of which took effect in the upper part of Tolomi's body. Ritti, who was in the same room as Tolomi, was struck three times. The dead body was found three hours later in a shack back of the house. Buerich's jugular vein was cut, the assassin having evidently wielded a knife after emptying the automatic which was in which the shooting was done. Buerich ran for three blocks after being wounded, finally collapsing on the sidewalk. He died in a hospital, as he was being placed on the operating table.

Carlo Pellegri, the injured man, was shot in the neck. His condition is reported critical. The street was closed for several hours. Police said he refused to make any statement concerning the shooting. Cuida Grassi, also a roomer at the Tolomi home, was arrested by detectives four hours after the shooting. Police said he appeared to be rational when arrested, but seemed to have no remembrance of the shooting.

HAVANA TAXICABS CHARGE LESS THAN LAW ALLOWS THEM

Havana, Nov. 12.—Running side by side with prices in its stores and hotels that would do credit to any American winter resort, Havana boasts the cheapest transportation service within its city limits—of almost any modern city in the Western hemisphere. The street fare is five cents, and there are more than 5,000 small taxicabs that will take one or two passengers anywhere in the downtown zone for twenty cents. Legally the taxicabs could charge thirty cents, but the drivers make experiments and found more money could be made at the lower rate. Occasionally the driver of a more pretentious machine insist upon thirty cents, but the ordinary taxi, or "Fotingo," as the Cubans call them, bears a sign announcing the fare at twenty cents, and the driver never seems to expect a tip unless he does something out of the ordinary.

Nearly all the machines are embellished. Red or green leather trappings adorn the doors and seats of a dainty piece of lace decorates the back seat. Sometimes the ornament consists only of a bunch of fresh flowers in a crude tin container tacked to the rear of the back seat, but nearly always the "Latin touch" is there, be the car fresh from the factory or old enough to fall to pieces.

LIVING BRIDGE GAVE SPECTACLE

Novel Pageant in Yorkshire Depicted Human Cards

London, Nov. 12.—Gay and ever-shining color, the vivacity of youth and lively music were combined in the spectacle which, described as a game of living bridge, members of prominent families in Yorkshire presented and attended at York.

The object was to augment the funds of the Lord Roberts Memorial Workshops where war-disabled men are trained as employes. The company being assembled, the marshal, in hose and black and gold doublet, with flashing wand and sweeping cloak of Wedgwood blue, called for the game to begin. The ace of each suit led in her followers up to the "ten," and when these were all in line formation the sheriff's trumpets sounded a fanfare upon their silver trumpets to herald the entry of the court cards. The spades were headed by the Hon. Mrs. Egerton as Queen and Sir William Inghly as King. The diamonds by Viscountess Mountgarret and Captain Egerton, the hearts by Lady Grimthorpe and Colonel Bannerman, and the clubs by Lady Inghly and Mr. Campbell-Fraser.

Each queen was attended by two little girl pages, who carried her train. The Queens were stately in their royal robes, but the aces—the Hon. Ivx Stapleton, the Hon. Charlotte Stourton, Mrs. John Shaw, of Warrington Hall, and Miss Maria Lane-Fox—were even more commanding figures. Shuffle and Deal

The whole pack first presented color formations in exact design, and to the accompaniment of military music. But the changing beauty of these movements was surpassed by the gay and rapid motion of the shuffle and deal.

After this wheeling and circling and merry dancing the playing of the cards was a restful interchange, directed by four men before whom the "deal hands" were formed up. The hands were played to music, and to the spectators the game was quite interesting to follow merely as an exhibition of bridge with human beings as the cards.

U.S. RED CROSS CAMPAIGN HELD

President Coolidge Urges Increase in Membership

Washington, Nov. 12.—The annual membership roll call of the American Red Cross is now in progress. Until November 29 special efforts will be made to increase the membership of the organization.

In a message to the people of the United States, President Coolidge as president of the American National Red Cross, said:

"During the World War the volunteer effort of the American people to assist the Government in providing for the welfare of our military and naval forces at home, on the seas and overseas, was expressed largely through the American Red Cross, which also rendered incalculable assistance to the armed forces of our associates in the war and to their civilian populations within the invaded areas during and after the war. Japanese Aided

"The recent calamity which befell Japan, when millions of her people suffered dire distress following the earthquake, has served again to reveal to the people of the nation the readiness of the American Red Cross to respond immediately for service in a great emergency and to apply the generous gifts of our people to the amelioration of human suffering. In rendering assistance wherever duty calls, the American Red Cross, in addition to its work in foreign lands administers relief in times of disaster in our own country, helps to solve the problems of public health, is ever active in other humanitarian projects and, above all, renders welcome assistance to the Government in the care of our disabled veterans of the World War.

In Times of Emergency "Through its charter granted by Congress, the American Red Cross is charged with specific duties in relationship with the army and navy and with the people at large in times of emergency and distress, and it has never failed to perform those duties. Since the war, and as a result of experience acquired in the war, it has expanded its welfare operations in all regions of our country. The Red Cross seeks only to serve, not to usurp the prerogatives of other institutions or governmental authorities, but to co-operate with all others in service to humanity.

CURRIE URGES VETERANS UNITE

Montreal, Nov. 12.—A plea that Canadian ex-service men unite into one great organization in order to maintain and promote the ideals and spirit of sacrifice created by the late war was voiced by General Sir Arthur Currie, who commanded the Canadian Corps, in an address at a dinner of the United Services Club held here Saturday.

General Currie said the world had fallen on evil days and the spirit of patriotism and sacrifice that animated Canada in 1914 should be maintained in readiness for the future if the need should arise. Addresses of a similar kind were made by Lieut.-Gen. Sir R. E. W. Turner, V.C., and Major-Gen. Sir A. C. McDonnell.

MACKENZIE RIVER BUFFALO RESERVE

Ottawa Government Will Move 2,000 Animals From Wainwright Park

Deer Are to be Set Free in Northern Woods

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—(Canadian Press)—Reports that cruel methods of killing buffalo were employed at Wainwright Park recently to add a touch of the spectacular to a scene which was being photographed by movie picture interests were absolutely denied by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, in a statement issued here explaining the whole incident.

The Minister explained that the shooting was done under the supervision of Federal Park officials by the same marksmen who carried out the task last year. It was true, Indians were photographed in the wake of the herd to add a dash of primitive color to the scene, but the Red Men had nothing whatever to do with the killing of the buffalo. Mackenzie River Reserve

Next year the Department intends to remove 2,000 young buffalo to a reserve on the shore of the Mackenzie River. This will still further relieve the congestion at Wainwright, Mr. Stewart stated. To Free Deer

Deer in the Federal game reserves of the West had become so plentiful that something would have to be done to thin out the herds, he said. It was proposed that a large number of these animals should be turned into the northern woods after the hunting season was over so they would have a full year to become accustomed to their new environment and to develop a fear of man.

ARMISTICE DAY WAS OBSERVED IN VERNON

Vernon, B.C., Nov. 12.—Vernon citizens observed Armistice Day by holding a service in Market Square, which was conducted by members of the Ministerial Association. Veterans paraded from their clubrooms to the square, led by the city band. Following the downtown service, the parade returned and marched to the cemetery, where the G.W.V.A. burial

LECTURES ON POLITICS FAILED

Paris, Nov. 12.—Parisians will accept accounts of the doings in the Chamber of Deputies in their newspapers, for they can read or not as they feel inclined, but they have made it clear they don't want politics thrust upon them. An enterprising proprietor of a music-hall hired a member of the chamber, Charles Bernard, who keeps a drug store in Montmartre, to give brief and witty talks on what went on behind the scenes among the deputies. He made three appearances, but each time he was howled down. "We did not come here to be bored," the audience shouted.

MAN HELD ON NARCOTIC CHARGE IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Nov. 12.—Arrested on Saturday night on Hornby Street, Harry Wallin, suspected of being connected with a narcotic drug peddling ring on the Coast, is held by the police pending further investigations. The authorities have been given information to the effect that quantities of drugs have been shipped by mail to Seattle during the past few months, investigations made by the postal authorities and the police leading, it is said, to both the source and the destination of the drugs. Acting on advice from Seattle, the local police traced Wallin to Hornby Street, where his arrest was effected.

HOW CAME THEY TOGETHER?

The attempted escape of George Van Horst, Ronald Smith and Herbert Burton together from the penitentiary on Saturday afternoon suggests a number of queries the answers to which will be awaited with unusual interest by the general public.

KING GOT MORE THAN THE REST

Some critics have informed the people of Canada that the Prime Minister went to the Imperial and Economic Conferences without a policy and in a negative mind.

THE POTATO SHOW

To the average individual a potato show may be of little interest. The domestic and wholesome "spud" is regarded as a necessary and useful commodity to be purchased at so much a pound or so much a sack.

Some idea of the inner meaning of this event will be gleaned from the fact that it is the intention of the Department of Agriculture to foster the greater production of seed potatoes for export—especially to the United States.

ought to compensate. On this account we bespeak cordial support for the event which opens on Wednesday.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT

No former member of the Canadian Expeditionary Force would waste any sentiment on the average Prussian soldier. But there seems to have been at least one glaring exception from the general rule in the case of Sergeant-Major Willie Hatzmann—a Prussian cavalryman who did his level best to make the lot of a number of Canadian prisoners-of-war in Germany as comfortable as circumstances permitted.

STILL PROMISING

Although Mr. Bowser stated emphatically some time ago that he was "through hammering these fellows over the Bay," and from then on he would be discussing with the people of the Province the policies he would inaugurate "when we are returned to power," the electorite is still without the slightest inkling of what the Leader of the Opposition had or has up his sleeve.

Note and Comment

Saturday was the tenth day of November and yet the sun of June shone warmly and brilliantly for several hours.

Yes, there are many matters a great deal more important than "booze" and the allegations of wrongdoing in respect of the Pacific Great Eastern that the Legislature might discuss with profit.

Canada certainly has good cause for thanksgiving. Prosperity reigns in the land; her dollar can look its first cousin in the face without blinking; unemployment is almost unknown; she has just harvested the biggest crop in her history; the old world—its money and its people—has turned its eyes to the West; the great migration across the Atlantic will soon be in fuller swing—what else does the average Canadian crave?

Those political commentators who imagined that Mr. Lloyd George would line up with the protectionists because he was a supporter of the Safeguarding of Industries Act are no longer in doubt as to where the former Prime Minister stands. He has returned from his tour of this continent with his mind made up and his political decks cleared for action.

Some Thoughts for To-day

We do pray for mercy; And that same prayer doth teach us all to tender The deeds of mercy. Shakespeare. He went like one that hath been stunn'd, And is of sense forlorn; A sadder and a wiser man, He rose the morrow morn. Coleridge. God in his harmony has equal ends; For cedar that resists and reed that bends; For good it is a woman sometimes rules, Holds in her hand the power, and manners, schools, And laws and mind; succeeding masters proud, With gentle voice and smiles she leads the crowd, The somber human troop. Victor Hugo.

Our Contemporaries

THE HABIT LINGERS Calgary Albertan:—The Prince of Wales is still showing the effects of the informality of life on the E. P. Ranch. He has appeared at a reception in Dundee in a lounge suit and bowler hat and has even incited others to do likewise. THE SAFE KIND Farmers' Advocate:—Alberta farmers this year should beware of the deluding effects of big crops and remember that whereas big wheat crops come only once in a period of years, the surety of mixed farming, with its varied sidelines, is much greater year in and year out.

VACCINATION

To the Editor:—It is with great pleasure I answer Mrs. F. D. Sinclair's letter regarding vaccination. I was going to answer Dr. Price's letter myself, but I thought I would first see if there were anyone else in Victoria gritty enough. There was, and a woman at that. I myself have been vaccinated four times, and place all the blame for chronic catarrh and throat trouble from which I suffer, on vaccination. In the Army when I was a child, at the least little outbreak of anything, we were rushed to the hospital to be tortured, and if I am not mistaken, we were vaccinated from some other man's so-called healthy arm. Now suppose we used a monkey, would it not be reasonable to expect us to take monkeys? It would be well for the Government to remember that God gave us our bodies and we are at least entitled to that much. Let those who believe in it get it done, but for God's sake let the others alone. ADELAIDE MARSHALL.

CELEBRATED ANNIVERSARY

Nanaimo, Nov. 10.—The twenty-third anniversary of Silver Leaf Temple No. 2, Pythian Sisters of Nanaimo, was celebrated with a social tea at the close of the regular Temple meeting, there being a large attendance of members of the Sisters and Knights of Pythias. George Johnson, P.O.C. of the K. of P. occupied the chair and in his remarks referred to the growth of the order and paid a tribute to the stalwarts of the Temple, including Mrs. C. Wilson, who was the first Most Excellent Chief of the Nanaimo Temple and who had been given the highest honor in the gift of the Grand Temple including that of Supreme Representative.

OUR BANKING SYSTEM

To the Editor:—There is just one fundamental to successful banking; that is to so use banking resources that in each community the banks may have a prosperous clientele who carry on and expand business. While in recent years corporations have acquired great volumes of business, yet it is still true, and necessarily always will be true, that individual enterprise will largely exceed corporate enterprise in volume of business transacted and in volume of funds accumulated. Therefore, to cater to corporations and to throw out individuals is one sure way to bring about a collapse of any banking system. Deflation brings about a run on a banking system just as surely as stoppage of payment. While deflation takes longer to get in its work still when it once brings about a loss of the public confidence in the business possibilities of a community, the crash of the banking system is irreparable. This is true in every country and in respect of every system of banking. One safeguard against irresponsible deflation in any community is to have banks managed by men with local knowledge and local interests and ambitions. Nearby instances are San Francisco, California, Portland, Oregon and Seattle, Washington. Suggest to these communities that they turn over their banking system to long distance Chicago management and they would know you are crazy. Government insurance of deposits on a safe and sound basis of adequate insurance rate and efficient government inspection is the only way to restore successful banking in Canada, and to give Canadians the ambition to engage in business in Canada instead of looking on life in Canada as a stopping place en route to success in the United States. H. C. HALL.

CHURCH UNION

To the Editor:—In your issue of October 31 there appeared a statement by Rev. Dr. W. L. Clay, which makes certain claims in which the public are concerned. Referring to Dr. Welsh's affirmation of the spiritual freedom of the church to determine her own action (with which Dr. Clay is in hearty accord), he declares that any such freedom, real or supposed, possessed by the Presbyterian Church was abandoned when the General Assembly adopted the report of its Union Committee to the effect that a "union to be real and lasting must carry the consent of the entire membership." This statement was an expression of the union leaders in the early stages of the movement and embodied the hope that such an achievement might be realized within a reasonable time. It was not a declaration that the union movement ought to be dropped until absolute unanimity was reached. With such a declaration the movement was continued. But when the opponents of union recognized the value of such an assertion for obstructive tactics they not only persistently quoted it, but set to work to make absolutely sure that such unanimity would be an utter impossibility during their lifetime at least. But did the adoption of such report carry with it the abandonment of the right, power or authority of the church to proceed along constitutional lines? Every Presbyter-

Turkish Women in First Dance With Foreign Partners

Constantinople, Nov. 12.—For the first time in Turkey Turkish women have taken part in a dance with foreign partners at a charity soiree organized by Shukri Nalli Pasha, the commander of Constantinople.

Turkish women will also shortly be allowed to appear on the stage in Constantinople.

The movement for the emergence of Turkish women from their traditional cloistered seclusion has made considerable progress since Mustafa Kemal Pasha, the Nationalist leader, has been the ruler of the country. His own wife, who was educated in England and France, does not wear the veil, and accompanies her husband everywhere, frequently discarding skirts for riding breeches and top boots.

Victoria Women's Institute.—The monthly social meeting of the Victoria Women's Institute was held last Friday afternoon. The committee in charge provided a splendid programme. A most interesting demonstration of the Branston violet ray generator and its many uses was shown by A. R. Colby. Piano solos were given by Mrs. Deaville, and a musical sketch by Misses Pearl Kewdrop and Lily White. Two very amusing contests were also enjoyed by the many members present.

Earl's "Follies Girl" Bride Leaves With Him For England

New York, Nov. 12.—Lady Jessica, one-seventy-six, of Cosham, Hampshire, has just married her seventh husband. She is a native of London. The marriage took place at Portsmouth registry office, and the bridegroom was Frederick Sydney Whall, sixty-three, a widower and a carpenter. Her last "husband" was convicted of bigamy. She now wears five wedding rings on her left hand and two on her right. The last three ceremonies have taken place within six years.

After her marriage Mrs. Whall said, "I have known Mr. Whall for nearly a year. He has brought sunshine into my home and will attend to my garden, which I value very much."

Every Other Baby Dies in West Africa

Infants up to a year old in 1922 were dying at the rate of 502 for every 1,000. The cause of the high death rate is the lack of adequate medical care. The medical officer of health, in his report on the Colony of the Gambia (West Africa) for last year, "Tetanus accounted for thirty-two per cent. of the deaths."

Poor housing on damp sites contributed to the high mortality. Families in the rainy season sometimes could not find a large enough dry area to make a fire on. Sometimes the bed was almost the only article above water.

GREATER INTEREST IN PUBLIC HEALTH

Dr. Helen MacMurphy is Visitor to Victoria

Close co-operation with the Provincial Departments of Health is helping Canada to benefit from preventive medicine. Dr. Helen MacMurphy head of the Child Welfare Division of the Federal Department of Public Health, told The Times yesterday morning.

Dr. MacMurphy came to the coast to speak at a Women's Institute Convention on the Lower Mainland, and will also give an address at Nelson for the Kootenay institutes. Her time was very limited in Victoria.

Arriving Saturday night, she left again this afternoon.

Dr. MacMurphy stated that the Federal Department of Public Health entered the field of activity at a time when the provincial bodies were well organized. There were, however, a number of matters of a national health character pertaining to the whole country, apart from strictly Federal questions such as inspection of immigrants, and prevention of the introduction of disease from foreign countries. These problems are now organized under a series of departments, and in preventive work the closest effort is made to keep in touch with the work of the provincial health services of each province, and in that way the Dominion enjoys the benefit of thorough protection.

Child Welfare Work

The particular department of which she is the head, Dr. MacMurphy said, is assisted by the growth of public opinion favorable to child welfare. The sources and distributors of pure milk has received great attention, and its increasing use through agencies in the school as well as the home has been of the utmost benefit to the child of this generation.

On account of the short period Dr. MacMurphy was in the city, she was unable to accept an invitation to address the Women's Canadian Club. Twice before she has visited the city, in 1919, and 1921, and on both occasions her public activities have received due recognition.

G. McPhillips, Sonny Bowker and W. Toimie.

Mrs. Douglas McConnan, the well-known dramatic soprano, will sing two interesting groups at the Ladies' Musical Club concert Wednesday evening at 8.30 at the Empress Hotel. The Misses Joy and Una Calvert will contribute piano and violin numbers to this programme.

Dupre Dedicated Immense Organ

Marcel Dupre, the brilliant organist at Notre Dame, Paris, who is to appear in this city on Sunday evening next at the St. Andrew's church, Blanshard Street, after church hours, dedicated the new organ at Westminster Cathedral, London, in July last, with three recitals, one of which was with the famous choir of the cathedral, and attended by the high dignitaries of the church. This instrument, when completed, will be one of the largest in Europe, and will cost over $50,000. The organ is being built in sections. It was the first section, costing $30,000, which was dedicated by Dupre.

In England Dupre has won a position of esteem and affection such as no foreign organist has ever attained, with the possible exception of Alexandre Guilmant, his friend and teacher. This is in itself a great tribute to Dupre's exceptional genius, for England herself boasts of many organists of splendid attainments, and ever since the days of Handel, has possessed a critical appreciation of the organ and organ music surpassed by no other country. English critics have accorded Dupre universal praise for his purity of style, unassailable technique, brilliancy of registration, remarkable memory and phenomenal improvisations. The Manchester Guardian reported, "His playing is so far removed from the normal English manner, that the educational value of the recitals is of the first importance."

No lover of music should miss the opportunity to hear the man who has left behind him nothing but enthusiastic praise whenever he has played, and the fact of the recital being held in the cathedral, known for its beautiful acoustic properties will in itself assure a supreme and inspirational evening not soon to be forgotten. Tickets are now at Fletcher Bros' music store and will be available up to Saturday night.

ARMORIES BALL IN AID WAR MEMORIAL

Officers of the army and navy permanent forces sponsoring the ball which is to be held this evening at the Empress Hotel, and the affair promises to be one of the most brilliant of the season. Dancing will commence at 9 o'clock and Ozard's orchestra will furnish the music. The proceeds will be used to start a fund for the erection of a permanent and suitable war memorial for Victoria, to keep green the memory of the men who gave their lives in the Great War.

VANCOUVER PLANS CENTENNIAL SHOW

Historic Washington Town Had Close Relation With Victoria

An announcement from Vancouver, Washington, intimates that it is the intention to celebrate the foundation of Fort Vancouver, which took place nearly 100 years ago. When the Hudson's Bay Company in 1820 held its first series of celebrations throughout those cities of Western Canada, which had been closely identified with its history, an invitation was extended to the pioneer residents of Fort Vancouver to participate in the function here, and the delegation brought with them the souvenir of that visit in the form of a small flag which once prevailed between the city on the Columbia River and Victoria in its early days, and later this city received a tangible presentation of the City Council gave made from wood of the first apple tree which was ever planted by the white man on this coast. Most extraordinary feature of this is the fact that the tree still blossoms, and this Spring had a fine showing of the pink flowers.

The ground upon which the original Fort Vancouver stood is part of the Vancouver barracks property, and it is desired that the United States Government should restore the fort to something like its former glory.

The Vancouver (Washington) City Council has decided to organize a centennial committee, and there is little doubt that Victoria should assist in such ceremonial in view of the close relationship which once prevailed.

It is proposed to hold the gathering in 1925, in fact for five years it has been determined that the Summer of that year would be the best for the function.

The history of the early years of Fort Vancouver is one of the most interesting pages in the early history of the Pacific Northwest.

YOUR HOME AND YOU

By HELEN KENDALL

The Awkward Age

The front door banged, fresh young voices were heard in the hall, and presently into the living-room came the son of the house, half leading, half shoving one of his boy friends.

"Mother," said the young son, "I want you to know one of the fellows at school. I brought him home to dinner."

A sheepish grin spread over the face of the visitor. A huge, bony red hand was extended awkwardly, two feet suddenly went pigeon-toed, two shoulders wriggle with embarrassment.

"Blub," said the young gentleman, "Wah—how'd—hes—glad—yuh, thanks, blub." "Simpel, wriggle, hitch, slump, pull up, hitch, wriggle, simpel."

The mother, keeping her face straight with an effort, rescued her "blub" from the young man's hands, and made her son's friend welcome. Afterward she gave her husband an imitation of the performance, amid his roars of laughter and said severely: "That is the mother thinking of not to give him plenty of training and practice in social customs and conventions. Why, our Robert has been introduced and made introductions himself since he was ten. I've taught him how to behave at parties, with girls, with

OCEAN AND COASTWISE SHIPPING

EMPRESS OF ASIA BRINGS LARGE CHRISTMAS CARGO

Brought Over 30,000 Bundles of Japanese Oranges, Marking First Shipment This Season; Passenger List Totalled 304, While the Silk Cargo Is Valued at $4,000,000.

With 4,800 measurement tons of Christmas commodities, including a large shipment of silk goods and raw silk, and a passenger list of 304, the Canadian Pacific Empress of Asia, Captain L. D. Douglas, R.N.R., arrived at quarantine this morning at 6.30 o'clock and docked at Pier 2 at 8.30 o'clock.

The Asia brought varied cargo of Christmas supplies. For Victoria alone she had sixty tons of Christmas supplies, a feature of which was a large shipment of oranges. There were 1,000 cases of Japanese oranges for the holiday season. This is the first consignment this winter. There was also a large shipment of nuts, firecrackers, bonbons, toys and other Christmas supplies. Other of Victoria's cargo in addition to the Christmas stock is 300 bags of rice.

mail brought the total mail discharged here to 200 bags. Two thousand bags of mail were for transhipment at Vancouver.

Passenger List
There were fifty saloon passengers aboard the Asia. Of this number fifteen departed here. In the second class cabins there were seventy-five passengers, while traveling third class were 180 Asiatics.

The Victoria landing list was as follows: Mrs. Carl Crow, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Fleisher and Miss Fleisher, Miss D. I. Lee, T. Miyake, E. E. Parsons, Mrs. A. Paul and Master Paul, E. Schweiniger, K. Tsutsumi and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wilson.

Among the prominent passengers aboard the vessel was a party of journalists. Mr. Wilson, accompanied by his wife, is a noted fiction writer for the Saturday Evening Post, while C. K. Van Riper, accompanied by his wife, is another member of the journalistic party.

H. S. Kirkland, well known in Vancouver business circles, was a passenger on the Empress of Asia. To The Times this morning Mr. Kirkland stated that he was returning on one of his periodical tours of the Orient. A seasoned traveler, Mr. Kirkland classed as a good trip voyager that emptied many saddles in the dinner stakes.

Vancouver Cargo
Cargo for discharge at Vancouver totals 4,740 tons and includes 2,244 bales of raw silk, 90 cases of silk goods and 15 bales of silk goods. This makes a total of 3,094 packages of silk valued at approximately $4,000,000.

Vancouver's list of Christmas supplies is a large one. It includes one of the largest shipments of Japanese oranges that has been brought from the Orient on one ship for many years. There are 30,539 bundles of Japanese oranges for discharge at the terminal pier. This makes a total of over 70,000 boxes of Japanese oranges. Walnuts and peanuts are another feature of the Christmas list. There are 325 sacks of walnuts and 1,260 sacks of peanuts. A large consignment of ginger is another feature. There are 784 packages of ginger, while a big shipment of Chinese firecrackers complete the Christmas list of supplies. Other cargo for Vancouver comprises 4,800 bags of rice, 80 packages of waste silk, 118 packages of rugs and an exceptionally large shipment of tea, totaling 124 cases. A large shipment of Chinese wines features the general cargo. There are 702 cases of wine. Another large shipment of lily bulbs valued at $50 a case was included in the cargo list. There are 2,485 cases of lily bulbs. Captain Douglas reported a fair trip with several days of bad weather in mid Pacific.

Navy Observes Armistice Day

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—Observance of Armistice Day in the Canadian navy was very simple, and Canada acted in accordance with regulations promulgated by the admiralty of the British navy. In both cases the anniversary of the cessation of hostilities was remembered at 11 o'clock this morning. Throughout the dockyards as well as on board warships there was absolute silence, and, where feasible, the engines stopped.

AUSTRALIAN SMELTER HAS LARGE OUTPUT

Commonwealth Firm Seeks Markets For Lead and Silver Concentrates

Traveling in the interests of the Broken Hill Associated Smelters of Australia, E. J. Kitching, of Melbourne, was a passenger on the C.P.S.S. Empress of Asia, docking here this morning from the Orient. Mr. Kitching is routed through to Montreal and then to New York. His mission will end at London, England, the headquarters of the smelter interests.

While not yet at pre-war normalcy, trade conditions in Australia are brightening, he stated to The Times to-day. The cost of the essential commodities was still above pre-war figures, but salaries were correspondingly up. Machinery is one of the few classes of manufactured goods imported in any quantity. A large business is being built up in the automobile industry, but it is only the chassis that are imported into the country, and Australian body builders are using mainly American makes of cars.

Speaking of his firm, Mr. Kitching said the Broken Hill Associated Smelters, of Port Pirie, had practically inexhaustible ore deposits behind it. The lead concentrates run sixty-four per cent, and the finished lead takes to market ninety-nine per cent pure. The ore is carried a distance of 200 miles by rail, while the coal to operate the smelter is carried five days by water to the furnaces.

The Electrolytic Zinc Company, of Risdon, Tasmania, and the Associated Smelters between them employ about 3,000 men with 1,500 of these engaged at Port Pirie. The output of these interests is 8,000 tons of lead and 600,000 ounces of silver per month. On the way through the Broken Hill States, Mr. Kitching went into trade possibilities with a view to the expansion of export shipments by his company.

PLATING COMPLETED ON R.M.S. AORANGI

Canadian-Australasian Liner Will be Almost as Big as Empress of Canada

The new motorship 'Aorangi', at present under construction at the Fairfield yards on the Clyde, has all her plating completed, according to a representative of the Canadian-Pacific Company, who was in Victoria to-day to meet the Empress of Asia, in from the Orient. The Aorangi is being built for the New Zealand Shipping Company of New Zealand for operation in the passenger and freight trade between Australasia and Victoria.

The Aorangi will have internal combustion engines of 32,000 horse power. The vessel, when completed, will be very similar in design to the Canadian Pacific Empress of Canada. The new motorship will have accommodation for many more passengers than the Niagara and Makura carry, and will make better time from Sydney to Victoria.

ISLAND'S WAR MEMORIALS DECORATED ON SUNDAY

C.P.R. MEMORIAL

ALMONTE, ONT.

MANY FINE MONUMENTS ON ISLAND DECORATED FOR ARMISTICE SERVICES

of Their Honored Dead; Shafts Scene of Services Vancouver Island Communities Pay Tribute to Memory On Sunday

Vancouver Island has its full complement of war memorials, from Victoria to Courtenay, some of them of very fine design, which are cared for by patriotic people in keeping with memorials in other parts of the world.

The Imperial War Graves Commission placed at Ross Bay Cemetery last year a fine monument, the Cross of Sacrifice and naval heroes memorial, which was unveiled by Lord Byng, the Governor General, in August, 1922.

At Sooke Harbor is one of the first of the monuments placed in position on the island, which is carefully tended and where patriotic exercises are periodically held.

Comox district who died in the Great War. This cairn has a particular interest in view of the fact that it represents the united efforts of the whole district, and expresses community effort in a special way.

At most of these memorials special services were arranged on Sunday. The various chapters of the Daughters of the Empire took the lead in planning the decorations of the memorials, in conjunction with joint committees of the ex-service organizations.

Guards of honor of the various service organizations were formed, and accompanied the participants of the services held at the various points.

Esquimalt possesses a temporary memorial, which is now the subject of endeavor to be replaced by one of a more permanent character, representative of the township.

At Cobble Hill, Chemainus and Parkville central locations in the settlements have been selected for the shafts, which are well marked and given careful attention.

VICTORIANS AIDED SENIOR SERVICE

The Esquimalt Naval Station, during the war was under the command of Vice-Admiral W. O. Story, until the latter was transferred to Halifax, when the late Captain E. H. Martin C.M.G., assumed command. Large numbers of Victorians were trained at Esquimalt, and then proceeded to England where they joined the Royal Navy.

Many served in the motor boat patrols. In Mesopotamia Victorians performed valuable services with the shallow draft steamers of the Inland Water Transport, operating from Basta to points on the Tigris.

There were many Victorians engaged in the North Sea mine sweeping operations; many served in trawlers; and not a few on the torpedo boats. Mystery ships engaged the activities of others. On every sea and in every branch of naval service Victorians served with credit and distinction.

band headed the Boys' Naval Brigade, corps of school cadets, Girl Guides and Boy Scouts. The Salvation Army band headed a good representation of ex-service veterans in the rear of the parade.

Accompanied by several thousand citizens, the parade marched to the Parliament Buildings.

Impressive Service

At the Buildings the I.O.D.E. standard bore at the head of the steps made a fitting background for the procession, which distributed in front of the building. The vast crowd gathered on the lawn.

The service opened with the hymn "O God Our Help in Ages Past," followed by invocation by the Rt. Rev. C. de V. Schofield, Bishop of Columbia.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Dr. J. Campbell.

Addresses

The address was given by the Rev. J. T. White, an ex-army chaplain. He described the great war as resulting through the exaltation of might over the exaltation of right. Germany thought no force could combat blood and iron, he said, but Britain believed that justice and right must triumph and fearlessly answered the challenge. The War Lords of Germany found other forces than material forces to be contended with. They were confronted with the spirit of the people, a sense of justice and liberty and traditions. They were all proud to think Canada played its part. Half a million from its noblest and most virile sons answered the call to arms. They did so because they had inherited the spirit from a proud ancestry.

In thanking God for the great victory they could never do adequate honor to the memory of the dead who fell not only to save the British Empire but the whole world from the greatest calamity that could ever befall it. "Greater love than this hath no man, that he gave his life for his friend." They endured hardships and played their parts like men. They were faithful unto death.

POPPY DAY

For them the poppies bloom,
Our glorious dead; their flower's
Whose scarlet thrills us like a flashing November's glow.

For them the rest is deep,
Who craved it not, but fought
Through blood and flame,
After the pain and tumult One who Gave His beloved sleep.

For us the grief and loss,
Who brave must live, nor dare forget
Too soon;
Not from the poppies may we beg
Their boon.

They bloom beside our Cross.

IN FLANDERS FIELDS

In Flanders' fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing,
Fly,
Scarce heard amid the guns below.
We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, fell down, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders' Field.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you, from falling hands we throw
The torch; Be yours to lift it high;
If ye break faith with us who die,
We shall not sleep, though poppies blow
In Flanders' Field.

—Lt.-Col. John McCrae,
France, 1917.

IN FLANDERS NOW

(An answer to Lt.-Colonel John McCrae)
By Edna Jacques

We have kept faith, ye Flanders dead,
Sleep well beneath those poppies red,
That mark your place.
The torch your dying hands did throw,
We've held it high before the foe,
And answered bitter blow for blow
In Flanders fields,
And where your heroes' blood was spilled,
The guns are now forever stilled,
There is no moaning of the slain,
There is no cry of tortured pain,
The blood will never flow again
In Flanders fields.

Forever holy in our sight
Shall be those crosses gleaming white,
That guard your sleep.
Rest you in peace, the task is done,
The fight you left us we have won,
And "Peace on Earth" has just begun
In Flanders now.

and may their names live forever in the annals of the country as an inspiration to young generations.

After paying a glowing tribute to the nursing sisters, unflinching in their devotion, the speaker urged his audience to perpetuate the spirit of the men who died, and let the sacrifice not be in vain.

After the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers," Bishop Schofield pronounced the benediction and the service concluded with "God Save the King."

afternoon detachments of several units marched to Wesley Church, where Brig.-Gen. Victor Odium unveiled a bronze tablet in memory of church members who died in the war. Most of the churches held special services morning and evening.

SERVICE AT DUNCAN

Duncan, Nov. 12.—The service began at 10.50 a.m. promptly, so that the silence was observed at the same time as elsewhere all over the world. The hymn, "O God Our Help in Ages Past," was sung and sentences were read by the Rev. W. H. Gibson. The two minutes' silence followed.

Prayer by the Rev. Bryce A. Wallace and reading of scripture by the Rev. John R. Hewitt preceded the address by the Rev. Arthur Bischoffberger. Then followed the hymn, "The Supreme Sacrifice."

Archdeacon Collison led the Lord's Prayer. The Rev. F. G. Christmas gave the Benediction. The National Anthem concluded the service. An offertory was taken in aid of the

THE WOOD OF THE EVIL NAME

I met with Death in his country,
With his scythe and his hollow eye,
Walking the roads of Belgium,
I looked and he passed me by.

Since he passed me by in "Flanders"
In the wood of the evil name,
I shall not lie with the heroes,
I shall not share their fame.

I shall not be as they are,

Since I looked on death in Flanders,
And he did not look on me.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH MARKS ANNIVERSARY WITH SILENT TRIBUTE

The service in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Sunday morning was in keeping with Armistice Day. For the first time since 1918 the anniversary came on Sunday, and church-going people had the opportunity to observe the two-minute silence during service. The congregation of St. Andrew's marked the occasion fittingly. The opening devotions closed at 11 o'clock, and the congregation remained standing in perfect silence for the two minutes. Then Rev. Dr. Clay's voice broke the silence and he pronounced the day's solemn, holy, sorrowful memory, and leading the people to renewed consecration and service.

Later in the service Mrs. Jesse Longfield sang, very effectively, Dean Wells's rendering of "In Flanders Field." Dr. Howard Taylor, the Chinese missionary, gave an address on "Sacrifice," based on Mary's gift of "precious ointment" to Jesus. The address was replete with illustrations from his work in China, and was greatly enjoyed.

MAKE MEMORIAL AVENUE A PERPETUAL TRIBUTE IS PLEA OF COMMITTEE

At the close of an energetic campaign to have the Shelburne Street War Memorial Avenue recognized on a more permanent basis by the four municipalities of Greater Victoria, the Memorial Avenue Committee headed by Brigadier-General B. P. Clark has now placed the matter before civic authorities with a plea for definite action. The City Council has already authorized the planting of many additional trees on the avenue, to take advantage of the correct time for transplanting shrubbery.

The committee, in a definite plan put before the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee Friday, asked for a fixed donation yearly to be provided for in the estimates. With this financial aid, it is stated, the upkeep and care of the Memorial Avenue would be assured. The committee has decided to take the question up with individual councils.

It was also suggested that more be done from one corner of the world to another have set their seal on the great memorial project by planting trees there in the name of those who gave their lives in the Great War. Such names as Field-Marshal Joffre; Baron Byng of Vimy, the Governor-General; General Sir Arthur Currie, Principal of McGill University, and many others have implanted the roots of trees that bear their names.

Committee's Report

In a report made to the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee on the subject, the Memorial Avenue Committee have this to say: "When this was first started it was hoped that the Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee would, with some assistance from the municipalities of Victoria, Oak Bay and Saanich, see it through. After a start was made it was, however, found that no further funds were available and then, what turned out later to be a fatal step, was made when the Victoria Chamber of Commerce undertook to plant the trees themselves by community effort. In spite of repeated attempts this has been found not practical, and the present state of the avenue fully confirms this and needs no further comment.

"Now it has come back to your committee with this much progress: Probably one mile of trees have already been planted; about twenty per cent. of the trees are dead, and need replacing; half a mile of holes

UNABLE TO SLEEP—DEPRESSED AND NERVOUS

Quickly Relieved by Wincarnis

"For several years I had been in a weak and run-down condition, I had frequent fainting spells which always left me almost completely exhausted. I suffered so with nervousness that the least little thing would make me jump and it got to be almost impossible for me to get a good night's sleep. I would get terrible fits of depression which would last for days. I had taken doctors' medicines and tonics without number, but nothing seemed to do me much good. I saw Wincarnis advertised and decided to try a bottle. In an incredibly short time I got back my strength, my nervousness disappeared and I could sleep peacefully as a child. I really believe Wincarnis is the greatest of all tonics."

Members of the committee in charge of the Poppy Day sale on Saturday are well pleased with the result of their undertaking and are waiting for returns from several outside districts before making a financial statement. Every where in the streets on Saturday, in button-holes and on cars, the scarlet emblem was in evidence. The sale was splendidly organized under the direction of R. Macnicol, chairman of the committee, and ladies of various organizations gave invaluable and much-appreciated assistance in the sale.

While the congregation was about to gather for morning service fire broke out in the boiler room of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church yesterday. The flames were noted eating their way through adjoining wood-work at 10.30 a.m. A hurry-up call was sent to the headquarters of the fire department and Chief Vernon Stewart, on his way to church, saw his own car racing past on the street bound for the fire. The chief ran after the car and jumped on the running board and attended a fire instead of a service at church. The flames were quelled before the damage was more than nominal. Luckily the fire occurred in advance of the service, and there was no panic.

Guests Entertained by Dr. Brown at Quarantine Station

A most enjoyable evening was spent on Friday at the residence of Dr. C. P. Brown, at William Head, the occasion being a social gathering of the "Metchosin Tennis Club" and members of the Quarantine Station staff. The hostesses were Mrs. C. P. Brown and Mrs. Bradford, who very charmingly entertained the visitors. Dr. Brown exhibited some really interesting photos on the screen, being assisted by the Rev. F. Comley. All the pictures shown were the work of the popular doctor, taken by him during his travels abroad. Cards and games were indulged in, after which dainty refreshments were served. A silver shower amounting to $17 was realized for the tennis club funds.

Match Between Wests and Esquimalt, Which Attracted Good Crowd, Ended Abruptly When Referee Lock Ordered Sid Sherratt to Leave Field and He Refused to Go; Navy Gains First Points of Season

Football ran into another snag here on Saturday afternoon when the Victoria Wests, league leaders, and the Esquimalt seven, who have been showing surprising form of late, engaged in a game that failed to result to a satisfactory conclusion. The score stood at one all when Referee Lock, dissatisfied with the conduct of Sid Sherratt, ordered him to leave the field. When he refused to go Referee Lock tooted his whistle and called the game.

This makes the second unfortunate incident to mar First Division football in Victoria this season. Two weeks ago the Wests and Veterans mingled in a game that did not leave a very pleasant taste in the mouth of the fans.

What will be the outcome of Saturday's game remains for the meeting of the Victoria and District Football League to decide at its meeting to-morrow night. In view of the recent announcement that future offenders against football ethics would be punished, it is expected that there will be a lively discussion at the meeting.

Only one other game was played on Saturday afternoon, the Navy scoring its first win of the season at the expense of the North Wards. The scores on Saturday were as follows: Victoria Wests, 1; Esquimalt, 1. Navy, 2; North Wards, 1.

What promised to be the most interesting display of soccer so far this season—that between the slick, fast-stepping boys from Esquimalt and the hitherto unbeaten Victoria Wests—ended in a fiasco. At the Royal Athletic Park a good crowd assembled on Saturday afternoon and were not enthused with the exhibition served up for their entertainment.

When the teams took the field it was seen that the spin of the coin favored the clean-limbed, athletic youngsters from the navy town, who kicked off with the sun at their backs. The absence of Fegan and Wale necessitated some changes in the Wests' lineup and the inclusion of a new-comer, boasting the name of Stillwell, who filled the left back position.

The play that the Wests obtained possession and worked the ball nicely down the field only to finish up with Waddington missing badly. A free kick against the Wests relieved the absence of Fegan and Stillwell with a swift grounder. Excitement had a deteriorating effect upon the quality of the fare supplied by the Esquimalt boys, but as time wore on their play improved and free kicks were awarded in the space of five minutes, and as a result found Esquimalt exerting severe pressure on the Wests' defence.

A few words of friendly advice from the referee to one of the players had a temporary soothing effect and when play recommenced, Nichol, in the Esquimalt goal, saved a daisy-cutter from Jimmie Sherratt.

As the result of a fine piece of combination play by the Wests' forwards, Muir scrambled the ball through from a melee in front of goal. Later the same player made the mistake of hugging the ball too long when he was nearly through. Sid Sherratt, who was sent into the net while he was playing basketball, for he was penalized, twice for this infringement. A free kick for Esquimalt looked dangerous, but the ball was driven straight at the goal and the danger averted. The fleet-footed Esquimalt outside left then slogged the wrong side of the Wests' net with a hard drive. The first corner came to Esquimalt, but the defence remained intact. An exciting moment in the navy town's goal area was witnessed when their custodian left his charge to dispose of Toulson, the ball going out to Jimmy Sherratt, who kicked it high over the bar. The combination play of the Esquimalt boys several times mesmerized the opposition, but they could not put the finishing touches to these movements. The only player who could do anything with their swift passing was Charlie Thomas, the Wests' centre half. Stillwell did not seem at all comfortable, for both he and Popham were guilty of faulty clearances.

Imitated One Another Baker no doubt erred in passing back to Sherratt, who allowed the Esquimalt outside left to encircle him and send in a beautiful drive just over the bar. Several times the Wests' defence was beaten and helpless, for time after time the Esquimalt boys were right on their goal-line, but could not score. Sid Sherratt then accurately placed free kicks that were safely countered. Imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, and each team was guilty of this act. At one stage a free kick against Esquimalt for hands was immediately followed by another against the Wests for the same offence. At another stage a corner for the Wests preceded one for Esquimalt, but no further scoring occurred. The only play that was a robbery of Youson of the ball while he was in the net, the Esquimalt forwards made a sensational run down the field, it being left to Shandley to turn aside the final effort. For this save he divided the generous applause of the fans, who were not slow in recognizing good play.

The Second Half Short and bitter it proved to be; short because of the length of his duration, and bitter because of the fact that Esquimalt were one goal down and were prepared to fight the issue to the bitter end. The Wests' defence did not please the crowd by continually kicking out of play when hard pressed. An unfortunate incident then occurred, which resulted in Archie Muir being sent off the field. Give-and-take play followed, each side saving many miraculous escapes, and excitement became intense. Baker showed flashes of his old form and several times was the saviour of his side. Fourty a rush on the Wests' goal, Shandley came into collision with an opposing forward, a halt being made until his recovery. From the throw-up the Wests pressed, Jimmie Sherratt's effort beating the goalkeeper, only to be kicked off the line by Carmichael in the nick of time. For a few minutes the Esquimalt goal underwent continual bombardment, but the Wests could not increase their lead. With the Esquimalt forwards sweeping down on the opposing goal like an avalanche, Stillwell erred in trying to stop them, and a penalty was awarded against him. J. Watt was entrusted with the spot kick and made no mistake with a terrific rising shot, which struck the inside of the crossbar and bounced into the net. Sid Sherratt was then ordered to leave the field, and refusing to do so, the referee had no alternative but to call the game off. At this stage the game stood at one goal each.

The Referee To err is human, and a football referee does not enjoy any immunity from some of its worst ills, especially during the excitement of some games. He has to please the crowd and the players, and satisfy both of them regarding his impartial feeling towards the teams engaged. Few will be found to condemn the action of E. R. Lock, who was designated to handle the game. Although the offenders may come to the conclusion that they were too severely dealt with, their actions received very scanty support from the fans.

The Navy Soccer Eleven scored their first win of the season when it defeated the Wests at Esquimalt on Saturday afternoon by the score of two goals to nil. The Wards were again under a handicap, being one man short. After about ten minutes of play the Navy secured their first goal as the result of a well placed corner kick, which was booted into the net, giving Sweeney, the Wests' goalkeeper, no chance to save. The Navy commenced their attack at the start of the second half, and they kept bombarding the opposing goal with hot shots. They were unable to play the pigskin to the post until near the end of the game, when Hennessey, playing outside right, sent in a beautiful centre. Sweeney saved, but was unable to clear before the ball rolled into the net. Robbins refereed.

Wanderers Score Freely in Second Half and Win Out Making a great recovery in the second half the Wanderers inter-mediate rugby team defeated the J.B.A.A. fifteen on Saturday afternoon at Oak Bay, by the score of 19-6. The game was one of the fastest and best that has been played in the intermediate league this season. At half time the Wanderers were leading by 6-5, and their lead might have been greater but for poor attempts at place kicking. The Wanderers came back strongly in the second half, and as a result of their win the Wanderers have practically clinched the intermediate championship.

In the first half the match was very evenly contested. Cabeldu got across for the Wanderers, and Goodacre placed the leather between the posts. A few minutes later "Red" McDonald made an excellent run along the line, and passed the ball to "Hank" Cameron, who took it over. Hooking failed to convert the try for goal. Immediately following Stan Moore crossed the line once more for the Wanderers, and again the kick failed. The half-time whistle blew with the Wanderers on the long end of a 6-5 score. In the final half Graham crossed the line for the Wanderers, and the try was converted. A few minutes later Cabeldu scored his second try, and before the final whistle blew the Wanderers were winning by 19-6.

The Maple Leafs beat the Foresters more easily, the latter team being no doubt a little handicapped by the absence of one of its best forwards, Bruce McNeil. On Wednesday more league games will be played off. Garages vs. Foresters in the senior league, and two intermediate and two junior matches. On Friday the senior A team will be matched against the Crusaders, of Victoria, and the senior B team against Chalmers.

Fidelis Girls Show Rare Form In Opening Game

Last Year's Champions in Ladies' Basketball Too Fast For St. Andrew's

St. John's Score Close Win Over Congos; Bays Squeeze Through to Victory

S.S. Basketball Results Intermediate girls—St. John's 8, Congos 5. Senior girls—Fidelis 17, St. Andrew's 5. Intermediate "A" boys—Adanacs 23, Centennials 14. Senior men—James Bays 18, On-we-gos 16.

Judging by the fine game played by the Fidelis senior girls on Saturday night at the O.A.S. Hall gymnasium these girls will again be the favorites for the Sunday School League championship this season. The Metropolitans also may climb to the top later on, but at present the Fidelis seem to have the edge on them all.

The addition of Hilda Best, formerly of the Dunoan High School girls' team, and Marjorie Breckenridge, who was absent last season, gives the Fidelis girls a remarkable fast collection of basketballers. Their opening game on Saturday night gives them a good start for the season, as St. Andrew's girls with Jean Burridge and Belinda Hamilton absent proved no match for their opponents.

Saints Lack Forwards The first five minutes of the game were closely contested. Dorothy Melville, Helen Cruickshanks and Helen Boyce checked well. Lack of forwards to replace last season's attacking force will leave St. Andrew's weaker for a time at least. Iola Worthington being the deadliest shot on the team at present.

St. John's Open With Win The Congos' intermediate girls met the Fidelis in a very close game, both sides showing a splendid appearance in the Sunday School League games. The Congos had a lead most of the game, and with about a minute left to play were leading 5 to 4, only to have St. John's forwards break through and score two baskets, which decided the game in their favor.

The teams were: Congos—G. Sayer, M. Davidson, V. Schofield, D. Thomas and T. Ellis. St. John's—E. Stoddart, E. Nichol, A. Carter, P. Hecroft and B. Archer. Bill Huxtable refereed.

Adanacs Play Well Professor Russell had his Adanacs marvelling in "high" for forty minutes without changing gears, consequently the Commodore and his famous Centennial wizards had to acknowledge defeat after an exciting race. Russell showed remarkable speed and agility, keeping his team at top speed throughout the whole game. McEwan and Dixon engineered some rapid fire plays which kept the Centennials right on the heels of the Adanacs. Adanacs finally won 23 to 14. Bill Erickson refereed.

The teams were: Adanacs—Paterson, Logan, Russell, Dick and McEwan. Centennials—Hooper, Holman, Dixon, Turner and McEwan.

Bays Win Their Opener James Bay Methodists won their opening game in the senior men's division from the On-we-gos by 18 to 6. The game was one of the fastest and best that has been played in the intermediate league this season. At half time the Bays were leading by 6-5, and their lead might have been greater but for poor attempts at place kicking. The Wanderers came back strongly in the second half, and as a result of their win the Wanderers have practically clinched the intermediate championship.

In the first half the match was very evenly contested. Cabeldu got across for the Wanderers, and Goodacre placed the leather between the posts. A few minutes later "Red" McDonald made an excellent run along the line, and passed the ball to "Hank" Cameron, who took it over. Hooking failed to convert the try for goal. Immediately following Stan Moore crossed the line once more for the Wanderers, and again the kick failed. The half-time whistle blew with the Wanderers on the long end of a 6-5 score. In the final half Graham crossed the line for the Wanderers, and the try was converted. A few minutes later Cabeldu scored his second try, and before the final whistle blew the Wanderers were winning by 19-6.

Maroons and Mets Will Meet In Opener To-night

King Hockey Will Hop On to Stage at Vancouver and Make His Inaugural Bow to Coast Fans; Both Teams Reported to Be in Top Form; Matte Will Replace Cook on Defence

Vancouver, Nov. 12.—To-night will see the start of the thirteenth annual season of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association, when King Hockey will again assume his throne as King of Winter sports. The occasion will be celebrated in fitting fashion at the Vancouver Arena, when the Maroons will entertain the Seattle Mets in the first game of the season's campaign. When Mickey Ion calls the opposing gladiators into action at 8.30 o'clock, hockey followers will have an opportunity of looking over two of the niftiest aggregations and talent in big time hockey.

Several new faces will be on Muldoon's lineup. Reports from Seattle state that it is probable Jack Arbour, the Met player obtained from the Calgary Tigers, will fit in at left wing with Frank Foyston and Jack Walker on the forward line. Lloyd Cook, it is expected, will not start in his regular defence berth for the Maroons show, and consequently did not get a chance to practice. Joe Matte, the prairie star, will fill in on the defence beside Captain Art Duncan, it is expected.

Hec Fowler, goalie of the Cougars, arrived in town yesterday and attended the work-out of the team at the Arena this afternoon. He was given plenty of practice, the boys flipping the puck at him in order to let him get his eye in. He will only have one more work-out before the opening game. Manager Patrick will call the Cougars together to-morrow afternoon for their final practice and they will devote most of their time to peppering away at Fowler with the puck.

The Cougars will leave on to-morrow afternoon's boat for Seattle, where they will engage the Mets in the first game on Wednesday evening. The Cougars are in fine fettle for the fray and are going to give the Mets plenty to worry about.

J. O. Anderson Finds Davis Cup Tennis Too Costly; Will Quit

Sydney, N.S.W., Nov. 12.—J. O. Anderson, one of Australia's best tennis players, has announced his retirement from future international competitions. It is understood Anderson informed the Australian Lawn Tennis Association that his recent Davis Cup trip to the United States cost him £500 more than the allowance granted him by the association.

George Simpson Shows a 75 in Qualifying Round of Championship

With two rounds disposed of it being seen as though "Big" Wilson would be the victor in the final for the Colwood Golf Club. When the second round was finished yesterday Wilson and Thomas along with J. A. Sayward and J. Y. Simpson were bracketed in the semi-finals which are being played to-day.

The qualifying round of the championship was played on Saturday and George Simpson surprised the field by flashing home with a 75, which was five strokes better than his nearest competitor, H. G. Wilson. Wilson, however, went under in the first round when "Big" Wilson defeated him.

George's card in his historic qualifying round was as follows: Out 4 4 5 4 4 5 4 39 In 4 4 5 4 4 5 4 39 The scores in the qualifying round were as follows: G. Y. Simpson, 75; H. G. Wilson, 80; J. A. Hamilton Tigers At Last Crowned Rugby Champions

Ten Points Behind and 12 Minutes to go Team Vanquished Great Argos

McGill Springs Surprise by Beating Varsity; Queen's Score Easy Win

Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 12.—Hamilton Tigers are champions of the Big Four. They knocked Argonauts from the pinacna when they defeated the Argos here on Saturday 17 to 15. Going into the final period with a lead of ten points, the score being fifteen to five in their favor the Toronto Argonauts appeared to have won their fourth successive title. Three minutes of the final quarter into history and the scullers raised the flag over the Hamilton Tigers' goal line. The Bengals' fabled two thrusts at the line and Hughes dropped back for a kick.

Tigers broke through and blocked Hughes' attempt and Burton dribbled the ball down the field. Players of both teams set off in pursuit with Burton and Munro setting the pace. The pair raced down the field elbow to elbow and the ball was dribbled over the scullers' goal line. Packy MacFarland fell on it for a touch. Argos protested the try but it was allowed by the officials and Tuck converted.

Their First Title Argos started an offensive after MacFarland's try but lost ground when one of Hughes' kicks was turned. Gibbs was entrusted with a plunge and he made six yards, and on the next down converted a ten-point try that put Tigers in front and gave them their first championship since 1913. The ball hit the cross-bar on the attempt to convert, but Gibbs increased the count by a long run to the deadline. The losers made a determined effort to overtake the Bengals, but the rally started too late, and time was wasted after the game progressed about thirty yards and were well on the Tigers' side of mid-field.

There is the story of the greatest comeback in the history of the Canadian game. Within twelve minutes a team that had been outplayed and outkicked had overtaken a ten-point lead by a team that has established a reputation as a strong finishing aggregation and one which, on the entire game, was the better team.

Regina Team Champions Regina, Sask., Nov. 12.—By defeating the Winnipeg team in the Regina Saturday eleven to one the Regina team recovered possession of the Hugo Ross Cup, emblematic of the Western Canada championship and earned the right to enter the Dominion rugby finals. For the first half of the game the Winnipeg team made splendid showing against Regina, but in the final quarter they were unable to lack of condition and games against stiff opposition, faded badly.

Queen's Easy Winners Ottawa, Nov. 12.—Queen's rugby team, Dominion champions, had little trouble in defeating the Ottawa twelve here Saturday afternoon. The game ten to nothing. The students were masters of the situation throughout and appeared to be playing with pleasure in reserve policy an early lead and at half time sent in four or five substitutes but this did not seem to weaken them to any great extent.

It was a good exhibition of inter-collegiate rugby as opposed to "Big Four" style. One the line Ottawa was unable to place the leather between the posts and the final whistle blew with the military men the victors.

The teams were as follows: Services—Morse, Freeman, Robinson, Lewis and Ward; McGill, Biss and Bryson; Kirk, Crump, McDougall, Armstrong, Hall, Little and Mason. "Civilian"—Ginger, Blythe, Robertson and Campbell; Huxtable and Sibbald; McCann, Christie, Allen, Shaw, Caviness and Loavris. Referee—Parsons.

JUNIOR RUGBY Regina, Sask., Nov. 12.—Arnold Work, Calgary, was elected president of the Western Canada Rugby Football Union at the annual meeting held here prior to the Regina-Winnipeg game Saturday. Other officers elected were:

McGill Beats Varsity Toronto, Nov. 12.—McGill sprung the surprise of the inter-collegiate rugby series Saturday when it secured a commanding lead in the early stages of its league rivalry here, they had the edge for the middle periods and successfully held off the rally of the Varsity in the final frame. The game ended sixteen to eight for the visitors. Except in the last quarter the visitors were better in almost every department of the game. They made their yards on many occasions, while Varsity usually had to kick on the third down. The feature of the game, however, was the masterly kicking by Hughes in the final period. Varsity eventually carried the ball over the visitors' line, following with two rouses, but McGill held off the further attacks.

VICTORIA LADIES WIN The Victoria Golf Club's ladies' team, which played the Uplands ladies on the links of the latter on Saturday, scored an overwhelming victory, every visitor but one winning her match as usual. Victoria Golf Club—Mrs. Hutcheson, 1; Miss Ross, 1; Miss Mara, 1; Miss Wiseman, 1; Mrs. Lennox, 1, total, 7. Uplands Golf Club—Miss Kinloch, 9; Miss Wilson, 9; Miss Boyd, 9; Mrs. Pooock, 9; Mrs. Mitchell, 9; Miss M. E. Young, 9; Miss K. Wilson, 9; total, 63.

Inter-City Amateur Hockey Games OK'd

George Warren, Places Proposal For New League Before Annual Meeting of B.C. Amateur Hockey League and It Is Approved; L. C. Macken, of Vancouver, Succeeds Percy Watson As President; Interior Heard From

Vancouver, Nov. 12.—L. C. Macken, of Vancouver, was elected president of the British Columbia Amateur Ice Hockey Association at last Saturday's annual general meeting held here. He succeeds Percy Watson, of Victoria. Other officers were elected as follows: Honorary president, A. F. Cronk, Vancouver; honorary vice-presidents, Fred Scott, Cranbrook, and Mr. Leigh, of Vernon; vice-president, George Warren, of Victoria; secretary, Russell Davidson.

George Warren, the president of the Victoria Amateur Ice Hockey League, attended with a proposal from that league that a series of inter-city games be arranged during the two weeks that the professional teams are away on the prairie. Provided the B.C. association gave its sanction for these games to be played he thought it would stimulate interest in the hockey fans and in amateur sport generally.

He declared Victoria had already endorsed the proposal, and he was going on from the meeting to Seattle with a view to interesting the amateur leagues in that city. He further stated that possibly one of the interior teams could be induced to participate in the series.

The proposal was favorably received, and the city leagues were given permission to make all the arrangements for the games.

Provincial Playoff George Murray, of Trail, representing the interior teams, brought up the matter of provincial playoffs. The teams in the interior wished him to ask the association to wish the arrangements for these playoffs placed on an equitable basis. He contended that if the association wished to have a real provincial championship series it must bear some of the burden. He declared the interior teams could not be expected to come to the coast as they did last year and bear a heavy financial loss. The natural advantages of the interior would allow those teams to give the coast teams all the competition they were looking for, and he hoped the association would see its way clear to have the finals played in the interior every second year. It was only a question of justice and he thought an arrangement would see its way clear to come to the coast each year after year on the chance of getting a good game. If such arrangements could be made it would mean that the East team would be drawn together in one playoff, and the winners of that playoff, would meet the winners in the Okanagan league.

A Big Chance Continuing, he said the association had a chance that evening of becoming one of the strongest provincial bodies in the Dominion, but unless the interior hockey leagues were given some consideration in the provincial finals he was afraid the association would only become an obscure body. Mr. Murray assured the meeting that amateur ice hockey leagues would be drawn together in one playoff, and the winners of that playoff, would meet the winners in the Okanagan league.

Mr. Murray's suggestion was adopted and the details were left to the executive committee. L. C. Macken read the treasurer's report, which showed the association had a net balance of $292.

The meeting decided to ask the various affiliated leagues to form committees with a view to encouraging Junior hockey players. The question of inter-collegiate playoffs was left to the executive committee.

Status of Fernie Mr. Murray also brought to the notice of the meeting a matter affecting the Fernie team. This team, he said, was hoping to cast its lot with the Alberta association, and yet the baseball team of Fernie was affiliated with the B.C. body. It would be essential for the B.C. team. It would be fair to the other teams in the district if Fernie was allowed to go to the Alberta association. The chairman assured Mr. Murray that the association would take care of the matter.

FORD CARAVAN TO TOUR ISLAND

To Visit All East Coast Points, Reaching Victoria About November 21

The Ford caravan will arrive in Victoria in connection with the Island tour about November 21. Mayor Hayward was informed to-day in a communication from the Reverend Motors Ltd. All towns on the east coast from Courtenay to Victoria will be visited.

The Ford caravan is a traveling motor show, in which each vehicle has been selected on account of its adaptability to the territory where it is displayed. Each piece of equipment used in the demonstrations has been chosen because it has proved particularly well suited to local transportation, industrial or agricultural purposes.

The caravan will include a Lincoln sedan, a touring car, a runabout, a light delivery car, a coupe and a Ford sedan.

For municipal authorities a demonstration of road work will be given by the Fordson tractor, drawing a Wehr road grader and maintainer.

For delivery purposes there is a Ford truck equipped with Ruckstell axle—an axle with four speeds ahead and two reverses—for hauling purposes.

For the agriculturists the Fordson tractor in conjunction with other ploughs and cultivators will be demonstrated at some farm in the vicinity of the city.

thing and it would have no legal validity. Dr. Clay quotes this particular deliverance of the Union Committee as having great weight. Why does he not quote many later resolutions to the effect that the time had come for action? Is the one more binding than the others? He quotes the action of this early assembly as of special importance, but why does he not quote several later deliverances to the effect that the time had come for the forward step? He knows that the action of any Assembly may legally be modified by another Assembly if it sees proper, always following the regular procedure. Since that earlier resolution was submitted much new light has come and the policy of co-operation urged by the anti-unionists has created a new situation. The attitude of some anti-unionists make plain that they have finally decided never to join the union. Is the action sufficient authority for adopting a policy which would paralyze every movement if a minority objected?

Dr. Clay tries to make it appear that the people have been ignored on this question. Dr. Welsh is on solid ground when he claims the government of the Presbyterian Church is representative, reaching its legal and moral authority through its courts. But in addition to all the legal and proper steps the question was submitted to the people twice—first on the general question, and next on the question of union on a basis then submitted, with the definite statement that the decision would be reached on the result of the vote. In both instances the people decided for the proposed union which, having been sent down to presbyteries under the Barrier Act, received the requisite authority for final action. The present bills but give the legal effect to the basis of the union. Whilst some of the anti-unionists have claimed there are other forms of legislation to give effect to the will of the church as embodied in the basis of union, when challenged to suggest such there has been no response.

But Dr. Clay is not yet satisfied and urges a "mandate" or "vote" of the people. And here the public ought to know the facts. There has been no united voice from the anti-unionists asking for such, but from ocean to ocean, in popular speeches and newspaper articles some anti-unionists urge a vote. The anti-unionists have not taken the responsibility of asking the Assembly for another vote. After the rally of the anti-unionists in Toronto last year Principal Fraser, the president of the Dominion Presbyterian Church Association, issued the following statement over his own signature: "Mention was made in some press reports of another referendum, but we have not asked for such a referendum, and the report which states that if there was a majority in such referendum we would cease our opposition is wholly mistaken and untrue." Will Dr. Clay tell the public why he urges another vote when the official head of the Presbyterian Church Association declares they have not asked it and even if it was taken and a majority given as formerly it would not be accepted by the anti-unionists? Will he explain what would be the value of such a vote when it is well known that a large section of the anti-unionists have bound themselves by a solemn covenant never to accept any such union? It is but right to add that when suggestions of another vote were made that efforts were made to get some assurance from the opposition whether they would accept the verdict or what verdict they would accept. All such have failed for the reason they do not want a vote and if granted would not accept the verdict. In view of these things the continuous reference to another vote can only be interpreted as so much subtle propaganda, lacking alike the support of the anti-unionists and the desire that the public seriously by the church. Dr. Clay goes so far as to say that if in the event of such a vote the opposition showed any material weakening he would say nothing further against the consummation of union. But surely Dr. Clay does not mean to suggest that a church like the Presbyterian Church ought to set aside all its procedure, the voice of the presbyteries, its members and adherents and be governed by a fluctuating minority. Such a thing would mean the life and progress of the church would be paralyzed by the dead hand of a reactionary minority and anything involving change or even the wider union he and all Christians desire would forever be unrealized, for there has never been any great spiritual movement which has not been opposed on the ground of disloyalty to the mother church.

Hudson's Bay Company

INCORPORATED 20th MAY 1870

ARCHIVES TO BE MADE ACCESSIBLE

Secretary of Hudson's Bay Company on Visit to City

The marvelous collection of documents and papers dealing with the early history of Western Canada, owned by the Hudson's Bay Company, as a result of 25 years of association with the development of the country from the Great Lakes to the Pacific Ocean, is to be placed in a position of accessibility to the students of historical research. This statement is made by Major J. Chadwick Brooks, O.B.E., secretary of the Hudson's Bay Company, who arrived in the city Saturday in the course of an inspection of the interests of the company in the West.

Major Brooks made the announcement in answer to a question by The Times with regard to the progress of Sir William Schooling's history of the company, which brought him to Victoria for several weeks recently. Major Brooks said the company intended to assemble and catalogue its archives, so that they might be available for research. The history of the company, the visitor said, is expected to be issued by the end of 1925.

Major Brooks has spent a few days in Vancouver, and was here until this afternoon. During Saturday he met officials of the stores and lands department.

He said the company looked to the substantial development of trade from Britain, by way of the Panama Canal and had already made some shipments of a satisfactory character that way.

Your wife's salary—what is it?

WE ask the question to emphasize the fact that wives do not get salaries; they just work for their board and clothes. They can't lay aside anything for times of sickness or old age. Their husbands are supposed to do that for them.

It is selfish of a man not to make provision for his wife in the event of his death. To be sure the law gives her a definite portion of his estate; but supposing he leaves no estate? Business risks, bad investments, hard times, luxuries—these may eat up the estate and leave her penniless.

An Imperial Life policy will provide the one definite, sure and easily obtained provision for your wife; and she deserves something definite and sure—doesn't she?

To-day—while you are insurable—ask us to send you our free booklet "The Creation of an Estate." It explains how you can in this way make provision for your family if you die, or for your own old age.

British Veterans Marched For Movies in Hollywood Film

Camera-land Saw Unusual Sight in "The Light That Failed," Now at Capitol.

A British army recently invaded Hollywood! Flags waved, hats were thrown in the air and crowds of spectators on the sidewalks gave the Romans a tumultuous welcome. Regardless of the regulations forbidding foreign troops to carry arms in the United States, the Royal Warwickshires, with complete equipment, marched along the streets to the martial roll of drums.

The street was a section of old London reproduced at the Paramount studio and the marching men were all British veterans of the Great War called back into uniform to take part in George Melford's Paramount production of "The Light That Failed."

duction of "The Light That Failed," Rudyard Kipling's famous story, which will be shown at the Capitol Theatre this week.

Among the scores of English, Scotch, Irish, Canadians, Australians, New Zealanders and South Africans who answered the call for British veterans to take part in this parade there were men who represented many of the most famous regiments in the British army. The Coldstream Guards, Irish Fusiliers, Black Watch, Gordons, Princess Patricia's, Seaforth's, Scots Greys, London Scottish and many others were included in the uniformed ranks.

For the picture a street of London houses and shops were constructed. Particular care was given to the selection of the persons who watched the troops march by. London "boots" boys in the Eton hats, naval officers, costers and the multitude of types which make up a London street crowd cheered the marching troops.

Thomas Meighan Stars in George Ade Production

"Woman-Proof" Title of Interesting Attraction at Dominion Theatre.

More than six months were spent in research, in revising the plot and in selecting the cast for Thomas Meighan's new Paramount star vehicle, "Woman-Proof," before a scene was filmed. The story was written by George Ade, noted humorist and short-story writer, and it was revised again and again until in its present form it is claimed to be perfect in plot, drama and heart interest.

This Paramount picture will be the feature attraction at the Dominion Theatre all this week, directed by Alfred E. Green. While the picture is filled with comedy situations, it has a vein of seriousness which mirrors modern American life. It is one of the first Paramount pictures to be produced under the company's policy of fifty-two pictures a year instead of the usual productions of from seventy-five to eighty photoplays.

The story concerns a young civil engineer, Tom Rockwood, the part played by Thomas Meighan, who is too busy with a big industrial project to think of matrimony. The boy's father had left a will stipulating that all his sons and daughters must marry and settle down before they can inherit his fortune of several million dollars.

Dempsey-Firpo Fight Films at Columbia Theatre

Regular Showing is "The Man From Lost River"; Fight Films Added to Bill.

"I have never yet played in a picture that wasn't clean and wholesome," says House Peters, one of the screen's best-known actors, who plays the leading role in "The Man From Lost River," a Frank Lloyd production for Goldwyn, which will be shown at the Columbia Theatre for six days, commencing to-day.

Mr. Peters takes the position that there are so many decent stories in the world that he sees no reason why the other kind should be produced. He said that his latest production gives him the type of strong, virile part which he likes to portray.

Another thing about House Peters is that he will never accept an engagement to play in a picture without first having read the part. No matter how much money he is offered he will not take it unless he considers that it offers him an opportunity to show his talents to the best advantage.

Mr. Peters was born in Bristol, England, but came to the United States when he was only sixteen years old. He has lived an adventurous life, which has brought him the story of the Irish outlaws, such as are seen in "The Man From Lost River." He served in the Boer War with the New Zealanders, and has at various times lived in different parts of the world. In the backyard of his California home he has a great collection of birds, chickens, dogs, squirrels and even a big gopher snake.

Power, "The Great Divide," "Lying Lips" and "Isobel." Pictures of the Dempsey-Firpo bout for the heavyweight title of the world are shown as an additional offering on a specially strong bill.

Boys Are Invited To Become Theatre Magnates For Day

The management of the Royal is going to put on a unique contest for the schoolboys of this city. Six boys will be selected to run the theatre for one day, the conditions being that the boys who write the best essays on how to manage a theatre are to be given this position.

The conditions are that they must still be attending school, must not be less than ten years of age and not over fourteen years. Their duties will start after school and finish when they think their work is done. The attraction for that week is particularly adaptable for the younger element to manage, being Jackie Coogan in "Circus Days," whose engagement will be at the theatre November 19.

All essays must be sent or delivered to the theatre on or before Thursday, November 15. There is no doubt that this form of contest will create a great deal of interest among the younger element and should produce some unique ideas of how to manage a theatre. W. Lemm, of The Times; Alex Stewart Jr., of The Colonist, and C. Denham, manager of the theatre, will be judges of the essays.

Now boys, here is a chance. Get busy and become a manager of a theatre.

Richard Barthelmess WITH Dorothy Gish

Of the many characters created by Barthelmess we believe his pantomimic artistry is most appealing in this story of a young American's encounter with the impulsive Cuban Lady of the Bright Shawl. A drama of hearts, flowers, swords—and a great soul. Screen adaptation by Edmund Goulding.

Comedy News

To make "The Bright Shawl," the entire company spent several months in Cuba. It represents sincere artistic effort while striving for the maximum of popular entertainment. See it! Joseph Hergesheimer's brilliant romance of an American boy and a radiant Cuban dancer—a seductive saint with painted lips and flashing heels.

Royal Showing
Features Fire of Cuban Romance

Old Days in Revolutionary Period Provides Excellent Theme for Richard Barthelmess.

Viewing such a motion picture as Richard Barthelmess's new vehicle,

"The Bright Shawl," which began an engagement at the Royal Theatre today, one instinctively recalls his previous productions for purposes of comparison.

"To-able David" was, of course, a masterpiece; "Sonny" almost its equal; "Fury" a classic among sea pictures.

But "The Bright Shawl" is a screen epic, the finest thing this talented young actor has yet given the public.

It is another Joseph Hergesheimer story, directed by no less a master than John S. Robertson. The colorful locale is Cuba in those hectic days of Spanish domination that preceded liberation. The star is seen as a wealthy young New Yorker, Charles Abbott, in Havana in quest of adventure. Angered by Spanish atrocities, he embraces the cause of the Cuban rebels. Also, he falls in love with Narcissa Escobar, lovely daughter of a rebel leader.

La Clavel, ravishing dancer, whose beauty has made her the idol of Havana, becomes infatuated with the good-looking American. He pretends to return the dancer's affection, because through her he is enabled to get valuable information. Santacilla, hated Spanish officer, suspects the pair. He ensnares them, cold-bloodedly stabbing La Clavel. In the struggle that follows, with Abbott the dispirited Santacilla succumbs to a heart-attack.

Brings the beautiful La Clavel gives the American her bright shawl as a love token. Abbott reaches the rebels in time to prevent them from carrying out the attack that Santacilla had schemed to have them make. Thus he saves them from annihilation. Returning to Havana, he goes to the annual negro-orgy, the dancin-

From the gallery he witnesses the murder of his friend, Andres, by La Pilar, a feral spy, who is wearing the bright shawl, which she has stolen. She sees Abbott in the gallery and accuses him. There is a rush and he is seized. De Vaca, the Spanish captain in command, admiring the courage of the young American, challenges him to a duel. Abbott, a poor swordsman, battles valiantly, but he is a toy for De Vaca to play with. They fight until Abbott drops unconscious from sheer exhaustion.

On a ship at sea Abbott recovers consciousness. A note from De Vaca commends Abbott for his courage, but adds that Cuba is no place for the American and that he is being sent home with his possessions.

The latter includes Narcissa, who now fully understands the reason for Abbott's attentions to La Clavel, and—the bright shawl.

Dorothy Gish, as La Clavel, is bewitching; she is seen in the greatest emotional part of her career, and her work is a revelation. Mary Astor makes a charming Narcissa. Anders Randolf is convincing terror as Santacilla. Jeta Goudal, as La Pilar, the spy, brings a new type of vamp to the screen. Others who distinguish themselves in the cast are Andre de Berger, Margaret Seddon, Louis Alberni and William Powell.

Summed up, "The Bright Shawl" is a First National picture of the finest calibre.

Music Lovers' Night at Royal

The programme of music selected for music-lovers' night to-night at the Royal Theatre will more than confirm those that hear it. An appropriate programme has been selected to give the right color to the feature attraction, "The Bright Shawl," featuring Richard Barthelmess and Dorothy Gish. Some of the numbers to be rendered during the evening are as follows:

- Overture, "The Earl and the Girl" (Ivan Cayre).
- Waltz, "Espance" (Waldteufel).
- Spanish March, "A Bunch of Roses" (Chopin).
- Two Preludes (Chopin).
- "Kamenor" (Trow) (Rubinstein).
- Suite from "Carman" (Bizet).
- March, "Carnavalesque" (Frimb).
- Seniada (Tosello).

Special Benefit This Week at The Playhouse

"Cappy Ricks" and "Grumpy" to be Presented by Compton Comedy Company.

A successful inducement to keep Mr. Compton and his talented company in Victoria for at any rate one more week, having been made, the Playhouse will open to-night with "Cappy Ricks."

This bill is to be played also on Wednesday and Thursday nights. On Friday and Saturday nights, and Saturday matinees, "Grumpy" will be presented. Thus Mr. Compton will take leave of Victoria in roles in which he has scored two of his biggest personal successes, and in two plays of the highest power of entertainment. As it is to be in the nature of a banquet week for Mr. Compton, his many friends and admirers will welcome the opportunity of attending en-masse to bid him adieu. Mr. Compton will have almost the same support in these two plays as he had when they were formerly produced. Miss Peggy Dundas will repeat her charming and artistic performances of Florence Ricks and Virginia. Herbert Leslie will star in his sterling qualities as Skinner and Ruddle, while Miss Agnes Burton will give Lucy Ricks and Susan in her own priceless manner. Bruce Bredin, who scored so heavily as Cecil Pericles Bernard, will repeat his clever performance, and again play Ernest Heron and George Durham will play Matt Peasley and Mr. Jarvis. Miss Belle Eilers will be Ellen Murray again, and W. Campbell will play Mr. Wolfe in "Grumpy." G. Gibson Gunn will be seen in both plays. The presentation of two plays in this manner is a matter of some magnitude, but Mr. Compton is anxious that his benefit week should be one of variety, and desira to give the highest satisfaction to his many patrons.

Pantages Bill This Week is Clever Offering

Eddie Borden and Prominent Cast Will Feature Lively Programme.

Eddie Borden holds head-line space in the Pantages bill this week in a sketch entitled "Moments Humorous." The Pantages showing opens to-morrow evening at nine o'clock for the usual matinee and evening performances will be given on Wednesday and Thursday. Eddie Martin and Hazel Maye assist Borden in a sketch that will be well received.

Elsie and Paulsen, heralded as "originators of the Apache dance on ice," promise some novel feats on skates. They are said to be supreme in their line.

Jose Saxon and Jack Farrell will appear in their novelty satire, "The Elopers." Some very laughable dialogue and comic situations are said to be found in this clever skit.

"Bright Bits of Musical Comedy" will be the offering of Pearl Evans and John B. Wilson, two well-known vaudeville entertainers. A programme of comedy patter, interspersed with song, is promised.

Julia Edwards will appear in a novelty programme of gymnastics, interspersed with bits of comedy, talk and song.

Bill and Blondy, in "Just Boys," are a couple of clean chaps offering a very speedy programme of comedy acrobatics and unusual balancing. Their style of working is out of the ordinary and presented in a very clean manner.

The Pantagescope will show a New Century comedy entitled "Fashion Follies," featuring the Gorham Follies girls.

Next week will be a real red letter week in the history of Pantages vaudeville in Victoria, for Mr. Pantages is trying the experiment of sending one of the big unit shows, which have always hitherto skipped the smaller cities, including Victoria. This one is the biggest and nicest expense that has yet been over the circuit and is composed of thirty colored musical comedy stars who put on one big two-hour show they call "Plantation Days," of which The Chicago Evening Post says, "It is speedier than 'Shuffle Along.'" Further early and full announcements about this big event will be made during the week, but it is apparent even now that the capacity of the "Pan" will be taxed to the limit at every show of the three days next week, including the nine o'clock show on Tuesday night.

Capitol Audiences to Hear Celebrated Singer This Week

An unique musical innovation, forming part of this week's Capitol entertainment, will be the appearance of Madame Marguerite Gentile, a singer new to Victoria and possessing remarkable talent. Madame Gentile is an artist pupil of Signor Inzerillo, a famous operatic singer who has appeared with all the leading opera companies, and has also been heard in the Victoria Opera House.

The following is the programme: (a) Vieni Sub Mar, Over the Sea; (b) Gipsy's song from Il Trovatore; (c) O Bocca Dolorosa, Mournful Lips; (d) Love Sends a Gift of Roses.

Percy Burraston, the Capitol concert organizer, has arranged a specially attractive programme for the feature attraction.

ERRATIC MARKET IN NEW YORK STOCKS

(By British American Bond Corp. Ltd.)
New York, Nov. 12.—A rather erratic market prevailed throughout today's session in the stock market. The first hour's trading was at higher prices generally, but the leading issues did not make any new highs for the present movement. Not much attention was paid to the belated optimistic remarks of some prominent Wall Street people regarding the immediate future of prices. Some of these people were quite bullish two weeks ago. While copper, motor and steel issues are strong, the advance of the past few days would seem to have discounted to some extent the prevailing change sentiment. Profit-taking was seen throughout the list after the first hour, and the leading speculative favorites lost ground slowly up to within a half-hour of the close. Then the inherent strength of the market made itself felt and a quick rally brought most issues back to around opening levels. The low priced oils lagged during most of the session, due to lower gasoline prices, while the cheap rails were just the reverse. The Erie and Great Northern were the strongest in the latter group, due to much improved earnings reports. The close was steady, with net changes for the day confined to fractions in most stocks.

McMANUS URGES BUYING

(By B.A. Bond Corp. Ltd.)
New York, Nov. 12.—McManus, of A. A. Houseman & Co., says: "Would continue to buy stocks on any setback. I like Davison and some American Internationals and Pan Americans."

(By British American Bond Corp. Ltd.)
Chicago, Nov. 12.—The strength in corn futures again featured the trading in to-day's grain market. Cash corn was little changed, the old selling at $1.14 while the new was off a cent. Receipts of corn are increasing from the northwest, although the percentage of contract grade is very small. Receipts to-day were 149 cars and only eight cars graded contract. Wheat was under pressure throughout the session, but did not display as much weakness as on Saturday. When compared with corn, however, wheat is very weak. Liverpool came a fraction lower for wheat and export sales were again reported as being very small, although North America exported 12,900,000 bushels of wheat last week. Sentiment favors the purchase of corn but is indifferent as to the trend in wheat. Closing prices showed a loss of half a cent in wheat and a gain of nearly a cent in corn over the week-end.

TRADERS SWITCHING TO SHORT SIDE

(By B.A. Bond Corp. Ltd.)
Chicago, Nov. 12.—The Chicago Tribune grain news says to-day: "The heavy tone of the wheat and corn futures market at the close made the trade more bearish and caused many to switch from the long to the short side. Liquidation was the heaviest of the week, and the support came only from the shorts. The trade is looking for that liquidation and irregularly lower prices. Longs who went out of corn a few days ago have in numerous cases liquidated, while those who have taken the short side were securing profits." Number of the big commission houses were on the selling side of both December and May corn. One of the leading bulls said at the close that while prices may go lower, he believes that ultimately they will be much higher."

STOCK GOSSIP

(By British American Bond Corp. Ltd.)
New York, Nov. 12.—Following are the brokers' opinions at to-day's opening.
A. A. Houseman & Co.—Irrespective of the fact that trade reports covering the October reveal no apparent change in the general situation, the buying forces at work in the market seem to have their case well in hand and are able to dominate the trade. Working from group to group may be for the purpose of giving tired stocks a rest, but it is effective in showing that the market as a whole is susceptible to the encouragement that comes from buying. For several weeks it has been a question of running along on next year's prospects. Last week's statement that the leading rails intend to continue intensive development is causing some reverse of sentiment toward the equipments, and it is easily possible that the same cause to influence the steel stocks. Pressure on the rails, which is said to come from abroad, came mostly at the end of the week. We are recommending Erie pd.

UNSETTLED MARKET IN AFTERNOON DEALINGS

(By Burdick Bros. Ltd.)
New York, Nov. 12.—The unsettled tonnage figures of the United States Steel Corporation for the month of October were somewhat of a disappointment to the street but in spite of them prices in the morning advanced to new high ground in the current up-movement.
The list was active and strong in the forenoon.
The passing of the dividend on Crescent Pipe and the reduction of the dividend on Ohio Oil were influences that caused a moderate amount of selling in the oil stocks. The announcement of new financing by the Consolidated Gas Company started some selling and this gave an unsettled appearance to the general list in the afternoon dealings. Profit taking in volume were also in evidence.
The market maintains a very firm appearance as prices rallied early in the last half hour on a moderate amount of buying. The market, of course, after the recent sharp advance would seem to be entitled to some rest. We do not think this, if it gets under way, will be extensive, and accordingly believe that judicious purchases on any soft spots that may develop would seem to be more advisable.

WINNIPEG CLOSED

Winnipeg grain markets were closed to-day because of the Thanksgiving holiday in Canada.

SELLING CONTINUES IN GRAIN MARKET

(By Burdick Bros. Ltd.)
Chicago, Nov. 12.—The open interest in December wheat is supposed to be unusually large it is the general belief, as the trade has been encouraged to think there would be some relief measures put in effect that would make a bull market.
Supply and demand conditions in themselves leave little hope for the bulls. Not only is there no export demand of consequence but the domestic trade is also becoming slow, while visible stocks are still increasing. This last feature is discouraging from a bull standpoint, especially as there is quite a liberal primary movement as well. This would indicate that the crop was not so short as supposed in some sections. Moreover, the movement reflects a willingness to sell on the part of the producer.
Foreign demand are not much changed. Europe is getting plenty of wheat and Canada shows no signs of decreasing her movement from the far west, while Argentine crop reports suggest a record yield. Russia is offering a good deal of wheat and rye from Black Sea ports and this is becoming more of a factor all the time. It is understood also that the acreage of winter wheat and winter rye in Russia will show a big increase.
Prices abroad are pretty well stabilized. Liverpool fluctuations have been moderate but there is no disposition to advance the current quotations.
Pending the outcome in a price way of the December liquidation, the market is likely to be nervous and barring unusual developments at Washington the price trend should be lower.

DIG HOLDERS NOW REGAIN CONFIDENCE

(By British American Bond Corp. Ltd.)
New York, Nov. 12.—A. A. Houseman's week-end review says: "Unusual interest was seen during the past week with each day of strength adding to the confidence of those who believe that the present movement is not yet ready to withdraw their active support. The position of some companies has been so strengthened during the past week that the possibility of dividends or extra payments rests on something more solid than stock market expediency. The sugar companies, for example, have a substantial recovery from the disasters of 1920 and 1921. It is now the talk that American Beet Sugar will pay dividends in a few months. The advance in Maxwell Motors is also attributed to rumors of a dividend on the class 'A' stock although those in the class 'B' and 'C' are not quoted as denying that such is contemplated at present.
A better tone came into the copper, sugar and rubber shares late in the week, along with a slight firming up in the prices of the commodities.
While there is still considerable difference of opinion on the oil situation, the action of the week, the stronger companies indicates that many believe the worst has been passed.
Loans have been made at five to five and one-quarter per cent, but the lower rate is more difficult to obtain. Actual transactions have been small. Commerce has a somewhat with an active demand but the supply has been rather limited. Names are now fairly evenly divided between 5 and 5 1/2 per cent. Call money has ruled at five per cent.
Sterling's sharp drop to below $4.40 a new low for the year, combined with the unsettled situation in Germany and what is believed to be a virtual abandonment of the reparations conference proposal had an adverse effect on the bond market and on cotton, but stocks were not depressed. Well informed quarters believe that the uncertainties abroad may even be helping our markets. The chances are pointed out that we find this market a safer and more profitable one than London.

CALGARY GIRL WAS RESCUED

Abduction Scheme of Two Men Foiled at Minneapolis
 Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 12.—Attempted abduction of a fourteen-year-old Canadian girl was frustrated here Saturday night when a patrolman and a federal immigration agent rescued the girl from a train at the Great Northern station in Minneapolis. The girl was on her way from her home in Calgary to St. Paul. She said she had been induced to leave Canada by two men on the promise of meeting relatives in St. Paul. The men also said they would buy her from the Calgary and jewelry.

The rescue of the girl followed a telegram to the Minneapolis police from the police authorities in Calgary, who had been asked by her father to search for her. When she was taken to police headquarters the girl gave the name of Lila Havel. She said the men who had induced her to leave Calgary had accompanied her as far as Minot, N.D., before leaving the train they had instructed her to go as far as St. Paul and wait in the Union Station there until Sunday, when friends would call for her.
 Detectives are searching for the persons who were to meet the girl.

 Into the presence of the King and Queen he led his chosen bride. "This is the girl I have chosen for the future Queen," he boisterously said. "She is lowly born, but I will have no other."
 The rage of the King was terrible to see, while all the nineteen Princesses looked on and scornfully smiled at poor Pearl, who stood with hanging head beside her lover.

THE STEP ON THE STAIR

BY ANNA KATHARINE GREEN

But he loved him; of that I grew more and more assured as I noted that there was not a room in the great mansion, no, nor a nook, so far as I could see, without a picture of him somewhere on desk, table or mantel. There was even one in my room. Photographs all, but taken at different times of his life from childhood up, and framed in lavishly expensive which we only bestow on what is most precious.
 I spent a great deal of time studying these pictures. I may have been doing so and I may not, having no premonition as to what was in store for me. My interest in them sprang from a different source than a casual onlooker would be apt to conjecture. I was searching for what gave him such a hold on the affections of every sort of person around her when he came in contact. There was no beauty in his countenance, nor in so far as I could judge, from the various poses in which these photographs had been taken, any distinction in his build or bearing. He brought me nothing but a haunting quality which sometimes makes an otherwise ordinary countenance unforgettable. Yet during the fortnight of my first stay under my uncle's roof I never heard this cousin of mine mentioned in the house or out of it, that I did not observe that quiet illumination of the features on the part of the one speaking which betrays lively admiration if not love.

Was I generous enough to be glad of the favor so unobtrusively shown him by those who knew him best? I fear I must acknowledge to the contrary in spite of the prejudice it may arouse against me. For I mean to be frank in these pages and to present myself as I am, faults and all, that you may rate at their full value the difficulties which afterwards beset me.
 I was not pleased to find my cousin, unknown quantity though he held no firm grasp on my uncle's regard, especially as—but here he interrupted me with a moment's halt while I speak of one who, if hitherto simply alluded to, was much in my thoughts through these half-pleasantly half-troubling days of my early introduction into this family. Orpha did not return, nor was I so happy as to come across her picture anywhere in the house, which, considering the many times that she was in my uncle's study, which fact afforded an explanation; perhaps, of why I was never asked to accompany him there.

Two months from that day I was given a desk of my own in a broker's office in New York City and the saying is—'as soon as making good.' This favorite statement of the world of finance I owed entirely to my uncle, without whose influence, and I dare say, without whose money, I could never have got so far in so short a space of time. Was I pleased with my good fortune? Was I even properly grateful for the prospect it offered? In my heart of hearts I suppose I was. But visions would come of the free and easy life of the man envied, beloved if not approved and looking forward to a continuance of these joys without the sting of doubt to mar his outlook. I had seen my uncle several times, but not my cousins. They had remained in C—, happy, as I could well believe, in each other's companionship.

With this conviction in mind it was certainly wise to forget them. But I was never wise, and, moreover, I was a very selfish man in those days, as you have already discovered, consisting of a representative of each organization in the community with Mayor Busby as chairman. This committee is to meet at once and and without the least warning, a startling change took place in my life and social condition. It happened in this wise. I was dining at a restaurant which I habitually patronized, and being alone, which was my wont also, I was amusing myself by imagining that the young man seated at a neighboring table and also alone was my cousin. Though only a part of his profile was visible, there was that in his general outline, highly suggestive of the man whose photograph I had so carefully studied. What might not happen if it were really he? My imagination was hard at work, when he impetuously rose and faced me, and I saw that I had made no mistake; that the two Bartholomews, Edgar Quentons both, were at last confronting each other; and that he as surely recognized me as I did him.

 In another moment we had shaken hands and I was acknowledging to myself that a man does not need to have exceptionally good looks to be absolutely pleasing. Though quite assured that he did not cherish any very amiable feelings towards myself, one would never have known it from his smile or from the seemingly spontaneous warmth with which he introduced himself and laughingly added:

 "I was told that I should be sure to find you here. I have been entrusted with a message from those at home."
 I motioned him to sit down beside me, which he did with sufficient grace. Then, before I could speak, he burst out in a matter-of-fact tone:
 "We are to have a ball. You are to come." His hand was already fumbling in one of his pockets. "Here is the formal invitation. Though—in fact, we both thought—that you would be more likely to accept it if it were accompanied by some pretty hery acquaintance. I think between us two, Say, cousin, I think it is quite fortunate that you are a dark man and, I a light one: for people can now see the dark Mr. E. Q. Bartholomew or the light one, which will quite preclude any mistakes being made."
 I laughed, so did he, but there was an easy confidence in his laugh which was not in mine. Somehow his remark did not please me. Nor do I flatter myself that the impression I made upon him was not any too favorable.

THE LOVE POTION—Part II
 The old witch had kept watch that night at the edge of the woods near the poor woodcutter's hut and when the stork had placed the basket on the steps the witch caught it up before the baby boy could cry and give warning he was there.
 Back to her cave in the deep woods she hurried with the child asleep under her cloak, and when the stork came along with the basket for the Queen she begged him to let her peep at the little Princess.
 Then before his eyes she waved her magic cane and without the poor stork knowing anything about it she cast over him a spell which kept him from seeing the baby Princess and slip in the soon which belonged to the wife of the woodcutter.
 Then waving her cane again, she sent the stork on his way while she went back to the hut on the other side of the woods and left at the woodcutter's door the royal baby.
 The babies grew and all went well in palace and hut until one day the young Prince was riding on the other side of the woods and saw the beautiful daughter of the poor woodcutter and fell in love with her.
 Then waving her cane again, she sent the stork on his way while she went back to the hut on the other side of the woods and left at the woodcutter's door the royal baby.

CLOCK LOST SECOND IN THREE YEARS
 Cleveland, Ohio, Professor at Work to Correct Error
 Cleveland, Nov. 12.—Cleveland possesses one of the most accurate clocks in the world.
 In a series of international tests, the clock in the physics building at the Case School of Applied Science won its title. According to Dr. Dayton C. Miller, Professor of Physics at Case, the clock has lost one second in three years.
 The clock is so delicate that it and its surroundings must be kept at a constant temperature and air pressure are unvarying. Dr. Miller is devoting much of his time to an attempt to correct the one second error.

Christmas took the chair. Final arrangements were made for the annual sale of work which will be held in the Agricultural Hall on Saturday, December 1. The usual badminton tournament will be run in competition with it and there will be numerous stalls of fascinating and useful articles for sale, not forgetting a bran tub for the kiddies and afternoon tea.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

 Mrs. Edwood read an excellent paper on Home Economics, touching upon many subjects first giving special attention to Home Industries, particularly rug making, and speaking briefly on basket weaving and raffia work. Illustrating her remarks by some beautiful examples of home-made articles.

 It is the intention of the Institute to hold millinery classes in the near future. Announcement of dates will be made as soon as arrangements are completed.

LOST HIS CAR
 Parksville, Nov. 11.—Recently at his fishing cottage at Stamp River, General Mulvaney had the misfortune to lose his Chevrolet car, which is demolished. Preparatory to leaving for home, he went inside for some belongings and while there heard a noise like a tree falling and on coming back to where he left the car found it gone. The brakes had not held and the car started coasting, going over a fifty-foot bluff and was smashed to atoms.

NEW NANAIMO HOSPITAL
 Nanaimo, Nov. 11.—A motion to proceed with the erection of the new hospital was adopted at a meeting on Friday of the committee.
 Dr. G. A. B. Hall pointed out that the present building was inadequate. The facilities available were poor, so much so that there had been cases where life was nearly lost by lack of proper facilities; and he wished to warn the public that lives would be lost which otherwise could be saved unless steps were taken at once to remedy present conditions.
 Trustee John Shaw suggested that the whole trouble seemed to be a lack of representation on the board. He would therefore suggest that there was to be a revision of the constitution shortly, the committee revising the same should insert a clause which would allow every medical committee in the district and every fraternal society to have a representative on the board. This suggestion met with the approval of the meeting, and eventually a nomination committee was appointed, consisting of a representative of each organization in the community with Mayor Busby as chairman. This committee is to meet at once and

Nice Teeth

They mean so much that you should learn how millions now attain them

You see whiter teeth now everywhere, and people smile to show them. Compare them with dingy teeth—teeth coated with a film. Mark how much those prettier teeth add to charm and beauty.
 Then make this test and you will learn how this new beauty came.

That cloud is film
 The cloud on teeth is film—the viscous film you feel. Much of it resists the tooth brush, clings and stays. Soon it becomes discolored, then forms dingy coats. That is why teeth lose luster.
 Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.
 Under old methods, very few people escaped those film-caused troubles.
 Dental science has found two ways to meet this situation. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. The other removes it without harmful scouring.

 Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then a new type tooth paste was created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.
 That tooth paste has brought a new dental era to millions of homes the world over.

Folks see and feel the new effects
 Pepsodent brings other new results. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva—the neutralizer of mouth acids. It multiplies the starch digester in saliva—there to digest starch deposits.
 Old methods reduced these protective agents. This new method gives them multiplied power.
 These results are quickly seen and felt. No one can doubt them, none can question their benefits.
 Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.
 You will be surprised and delighted. Cut out coupon now.

Protect the Enamel
 Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a firm combant which contains harsh grit.

PREPARE TO ASK FOR LEGISLATION

Union of B.C. Municipalities Leaders to Come Here Soon

Steps have been taken by Reeve Lockley, president of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, and ex-Mayor A. W. Gray, the secretary, to gather the parliamentary committee of the Union together for the annual effort to bring before the Executive Council and members of the Municipal Committee of the Legislature the need for amendments to existing legislation.

A LETTER TO MY SISTER

My dear Gladys:—The first time I ever saw you working, you were bending over a wash tub. It was twelve years ago, but I have never forgotten the picture you made. You were such a little woman and the wash tub was so big.

You were getting out a big Monday washing for your family. It was a wonderful sight. You scrubbed with such energy and determination. There were mountains of clothes, but you made nothing of that. You attacked them with fury—with heroism. You plunged your arms into the steaming suds and rubbed away as if you were rubbing out sin and wickedness itself from the world. You wrestled with those clothes as if they were Evil Spirits. And when you finally had them, row on row, snow white and spotless, on the line, one felt as if one had witnessed a battle and a tremendous victory.

That battle has been fought by you, week after week, for twelve years. Fifty-two weeks in a year—six hundred and twenty-four triumphant washdays. Not one of them has ever got the better of you. A splendid, miraculous achievement!

What I am wondering about today is whether you have had to pay too much for it, whether all the women like you have had to pay too much.

Yesterday I saw you as you crossed the street after finishing a day's work.

You are still a comparatively young woman; but you looked like an old woman then; old, old and tired.

One can drive a willing horse too hard, and that is what life has done to you. All that splendid energy and enthusiasm that you have poured out week by week on the wash-board, poured away in all those tubfuls of dirty soap-suds. What a pity that you have had to spend it all on a mechanical task; that more of that priceless commodity could not have been saved for human living.

Your loving brother,
Jerry.

NOTABLE CEREMONY AT HIGHWAY OPENING

Representatives of British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and California grouped in front of the Union Jack and Stars and Stripes at Olympia, Wash., to celebrate the completion of seven hundred miles of paving on the Pacific Highway in British Columbia, Washington and Oregon.

PACIFIC HIGHWAY IS LONGEST PAVED STRETCH IN WORLD

A. E. Todd, of Victoria, Pathfinder in Project Now an Established Fact

FATHER OF HIGHWAY

ALDERMAN A. E. TODD

Seven hundred miles of the finest pavement in the world was officially thrown open to traffic when the silken cord across the Pacific Highway was severed by Governor Louis F. Hart at Olympia on October 25.

In telling the story of the Pacific Highway it is necessary to go back to 1914, when a meeting in Seattle was packed to overflowing with good roads enthusiasts from King County, C. E. Rensberg, Claude C. Ramsey, Samuel Hill, Will Parry, Judge Hanford, Gen. Tibbets, W. W. Beck, W. P. Ferrigo, L. Frank Brown, Henry Parry, James Y. Hart, Frank Terrace, C. E. Rensberg, Claude C. Ramsey, L. B. Stedman, Alfred Battie, Herman Chapin and R. H. Collins were listed among those present.

Seattle in 1914 is what makes that meeting of such importance in the history of the highway development in the state.

Father of Highway

Alderman A. E. Todd, of Victoria, honorary life president of the Pacific Highway Association, is generally credited with being the father of the Pacific Highway idea. It was in 1910 that Mr. Todd came forward with a proposal to construct a modern highway from Vancouver to the Mexican line. He and his associates began organizing and boosting British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and California all finally well into line.

Previous to this time Samuel Hill, Frank Terrace and others had been active in the organizing of the Washington Good Roads Association, but this meeting held in 1914 stands out as the real beginning of the present highway system of the state of Washington, which made the Pacific Highway possible. As a result of this gathering a committee composed of Samuel Hill, Judge Hanford, Alfred Battie, Frank Terrace and others made an exhaustive study of the road laws of other states with the result that a comprehensive measure providing a basis for the development of the state highway system was prepared and placed in the hands of Representative Claude C. Ramsey to be submitted at the following session of the Legislature. The measure was passed by the Legislature the session of 1917. The fight was bitter. On February it was defeated by a vote of forty-seven to twenty-nine, but Ramsey kept up the fight.

Papers all over the State were filled with attacks equally as bitter. Other papers favored the measure. Good roads advocates were aroused. They flocked to Olympia. Ramsey proposed to the roads committee of the House that the measure be made a committee bill. This was done and thereby greater support obtained from the committee. On March 6, 1917, the measure finally passed.

L. B. Consulting Engineer Samuel Lancaster declared, "No other state has as complete, satisfactory and accurately drawn road laws as those of Washington, recently acquired."

The measure thus passed is the foundation of the present highway system of Washington, and that it had its inception in the meeting in

At first the work was spasmodic. A stretch was constructed here and another there—from Seattle to Tacoma, from Chehalis to Centralia, from Everett to Seattle, from New Westminster to Vancouver—but finally it began to take more tangible form. The breaks in the pavement were gradually swept away. It was Oregon that completed her program first. British Columbia had the stretch from Blaine to New Westminster and Washington had the Kelso to Kalama span to complete at the beginning of 1923.

British Columbia celebrated the completion of the highway in that Province September 3, and Washington from Mexico to Vancouver the highway is complete with the exception of 115 miles in Northern California.

Longest Stretch in World

The highway as it stands to-day is the longest continuous stretch of paving in the world. When completed its length will be more than doubled.

It passes through that portion of America most replete with scenic grandeur and Nature's charm. At one end is America's Summer playground, at the other is Winter's Mecca. It leads the way to five of America's great national parks. Mount Baker, Mount Rainier, Mount Hood, Mount Shasta and numerous lesser peaks gaze down upon it from their snow-capped and forested summits. From rhododendron land in the North to the stretches of orange blossoms in the south, it winds its way, one great boulevard of fascinating charms, upon which millions will travel in years to come.

It stands to-day as the most colossal road-building feat in the history of the world. There is nothing on the entire continent that will do more to attract tourists in the years to come than this great highway.

Space forbids the mentioning of the many that played important parts in its construction. Mention must be made of the famed Ernest Lister, who while Governor gave the project his earnest support and valuable assistance. Samuel Hill is another, and the names of Jim Allen, the best highway engineer Washington ever had. They stand out among the many. Claude Ramsey's part has been too long forgotten.

The Washington Good Roads Association, the Automobile Club of Washington and the Pacific Highway Association played important parts in the work of this state.

Frank Fretwell, the secretary of the then Seattle Automobile Club, now the Automobile Club of Washington, headed the movement to sign mark this route from Vancouver, B.C., to Sacramento. The Auto Club was assisted by the Pacific Highway Association, headed by Ernest Lister, in the work of this undertaking. The Packard and White companies furnished trucks for the work. This was in 1912. A. E. Todd's pathfinder and logged the route.

The completed Pacific Highway means much to the Pacific Coast. Possibly Pacific Avenue is a better name to use.

The entire length of the Pacific Highway is 1,442 miles from Vancouver to Panama. All that has been paved save 115 miles in northern California, work upon which will be soon begun. Only a few years ago forty miles a day was considered a fast traveling and the ride was then more arduous than after a 300-mile jaunt over the Pacific Highway to-day. Time has made possible changes in the mode of transportation and the roads upon which one travels. Chicago has its Broadway, New York its Fifth Avenue. Its wonders will be the writer's theme and poets will sing of its glories—a 1,400-mile avenue! An accomplishment worthy of the men that conceived, of those that made it possible and of them that executed it!

Tolmie to Come Here This Week

Hon. S. F. Tolmie, M.P. for Victoria and national organizer of the Liberal-Conservative Association, will arrive in Victoria this week. Dr. Tolmie will speak at the annual convention of the Vancouver Conservative Association on Saturday, when he will appear on the same platform with W. J. Bowser, K.C., leader of the Conservative Party in British Columbia, and H. H. Stevens, Conservative member for Vancouver Centre.

FARMERS PROTEST ASSESSMENT PLAN

Provincial Bank Advocated by Farmers' Institutes Delegates

The present system of assessing land for Provincial land taxes was strongly condemned by the Provincial Board of the B.C. Farmers' Institutes in session here Saturday. Delegates declared that the existing system consisted of assessing improvements on land although these improvements should not be assessed. The board decided to present the assessment goes up, many delegates declared. Strong representations against these conditions will be made to the Provincial Government.

The board approved of the proposed tax on gasoline, provided that the tax should not apply to gasoline used for domestic and industrial purposes. The exemption desired by the farmers would include gasoline used in fishing boats.

The Government will be urged by the board to fight for the adoption of the export rate on prairie, grain and foodstuffs as the local rate, meaning a reduction from forty-one and a half cents a hundred to twenty-two and a half cents.

The board decided to fight for the removal from the Land Act of a clause excluding non-residents from pre-emption privileges in this Province.

It was decided also to protest against the existing system of enforcing a penalty of one per cent. a month for delinquent taxes. The board will make a vigorous plea for the reduction of taxes on farm property from one per cent. to one-half of one per cent.

The board also decided to appoint to the Game Conservation Board, the farmers' delegates decided. Strong desire to co-operate in every way in the enforcement of game laws was expressed. The farmers will discuss game

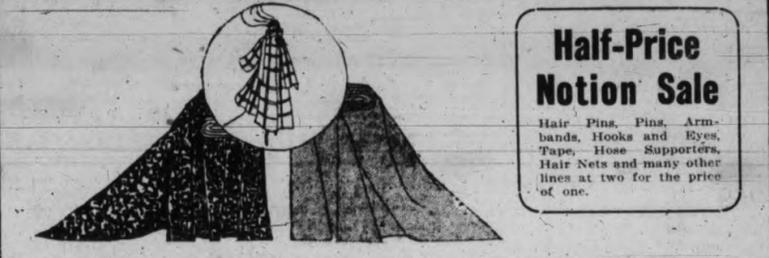

STRETCH OF PACIFIC HIGHWAY

Seven hundred miles of unbroken pavement in British Columbia, Washington and Oregon, was dedicated with elaborate ceremonies on October 25. The above cut shows a typical scene of the last bit of paving laid in Washington. In the foreground will be seen a sign inviting motorists to come to Victoria.

TO HEAR ADDRESS ON "SCOTTISH WIT AND HUMOR" TUESDAY

"Scottish Wit and Humor" will be the subject of an address to be given by the Rev. J. Smith Patterson to the members of the Victoria Burns Club on Tuesday in the Knights of Pythias Hall. He will be followed by Dr. D. Donald, Langford, on another subject of interest to Scottish people. There will also be a short musical programme, and members and their friends are promised a delightful evening.

Although the membership limit has not yet been reached, many new members have recently been enrolled and the prospects for the club's future are very bright.

The appointment of James MacFarlane as secretary, and Donald McAdie as treasurer, completes the establishment of officers for the year. January 25 is still a long way off, but the executive has in mind plans to make the 165th anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns a big and memorable affair.
