HEALTH-AGAIN TALKS
By Dr. Otey
Pain is a symptom. It simply serves notice that the body mechanism needs expert attention. Don't deaden the pain with dope. Let the Osteopath remove the cause. There is a difference between RELIEF and CURE. Take your choice.

Why does Osteopathy lay so much stress on adjustment?
Two hundred bones enter into the construction of the framework of the human body. They are bound together by hundreds of ligaments, moved about by over five hundred muscles and every one of these structures and many organs and other parts must have a continuous blood supply coming through an artery that must be free from pressure or other interference throughout its entire course. Every one of these structures must have a vein supplying drainage to carry away waste matter through the returning blood stream.

When you consider that every structural part of this intricate machine is operated by a nerve coming to it from the brain or spinal nerve centers you can begin to realize the importance of precise adjustment of every part.

Perfect health can result only when every muscle is relaxed, every ligament pliable, every joint freely movable, and every bone and other structure in its proper position, thus keeping the channels of circulation free from pressure and allowing the vital fluids and forces of the body free play.

To establish this condition is the function of Osteopathy. If you desire to know whether it would reach your case, phone Glendale 2201 for home or office appointment.

SOCIAL EVENTS

High School P.-T. A.
The High School Parent-Teacher association held their regular business meeting yesterday afternoon in the cafeteria of the school with Mrs. W. Q. Widdows, president, in charge.

The afternoon's program was opened with several selections from H. Brewster, of the high school dramatic department, and an announcement regarding the National play week was made by Mr. Tucker of the Community Service Organization.

Delegates for the convention to be held in Los Angeles on April 26 and 27, were appointed as follows: Mrs. L. T. Rowley, chairman; Mrs. E. B. Wyman, Mrs. Stofft, Mrs. Horner and Mrs. Sawyer.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. H. W. Farick and the courtesy committee served refreshments.

The cake sale, which was held by the association yesterday under the direction of Mrs. C. J. Higgins, chairman of the finance committee, proved to be very successful and a considerable sum of money was added to the treasury.

Mrs. A. H. Brown made an announcement relative to the Parliamentary Law class which will be directed by Mrs. P. S. McNutt, urging all members to join.

Cards and Music
The success of the card party and musicale given by Mrs. McNaughton Barnes, Mrs. James Cunningham, Mrs. F. A. Archer and Mrs. Roy Bancroft, at the home of the latter, 121 West Eulalia street, Wednesday afternoon, utterly refuted the commonly accepted idea that a postponed affair is a disappointment. Planned as an Easter affair, the benefit for the building fund of the Thursday Afternoon club proved to be a very delightful May party.

May baskets filled with fragrant spring blossoms of many hues were used most effectively in decorating the rooms. Of especial beauty was a large basket of extra, the gift of Mrs. H. Reeve Darling, Mrs. G. W. McDonald, of Richardson, sent a beautiful basket of daisies, and the lovely gayer used so artistically in the decoration was the gift of Mr. Bancroft, who sent them from Oakland. A pretty pink-and-white color scheme was carried out in the ices and cake served by the hostesses of the occasion. Delicious fruit punch was served during the afternoon.

A very enjoyable entertainment was offered by three of Glendale's talented artists. Miss Frances Cline sang "Elegie," in French, and "By the Waters of Minnetonka" (Lecture), accompanied by her mother, Mrs. W. M. Cline. Mrs. Evelyn P. Pierce gave several readings. The first group included a selection from the poems of Poley and "Kitty Casey's Graduation." In the second group the selections were "An Automobile Ride," "Fishing" and "At the Box Office." Mrs. E. J. Weston, accompanied by Mrs. C. L. Peckham, sang "I Love You Truly" and "Asthore."

Two tables were reserved by Mr. Roy Bancroft and Mrs. Leigh Bancroft, of Oakland, who wished to show their interest in the club building, although absent from Glendale.

Delicious nosegays, with their lady frills, were presented to the entertaining artists.

About fifty guests enjoyed the afternoon. Bridge and Five Hundred were played at twelve tables. In Five Hundred, Mrs. Facey was the winner of the first prize, and Mrs. Snyder of the consolation prize. Mrs. Peckham had the highest score in Bridge, winning the first prize, and Mrs. Coleman received the consolation prize.

The hand-painted score cards, forty in number, were the artistic work of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft.

To Offer Plays
The members of the Drama Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club are busy rehearsing for their three one-act plays which they will present in the auditorium of the clubhouse Friday and Saturday evenings, April 27 and 28, as a benefit for the stage equipment for the clubhouse.

Mrs. K. E. Chase, curator of the section, is personally directing all rehearsals and reports very satisfactory results.

One of the plays, "Finders-Keepers," by George Kelly, a tense dramatic playlet, dealing with the psychology of honesty, was first presented at the Palace Theatre, New York, and had a successful tour over Keith and Orpheum circuits.

The author, Mr. Kelly, is a brilliant young playwright and his one thought is to elevate the stage. He has the following successful plays to his credit: "The Weak Spot," "The Flattering Word," "The Intelligent Thing," "Mrs. Wellington's Surprise," and "The Show Off," which is now playing in New York. Another one of his plays, "Mrs. Ritter Appears" in which Mrs. Chase appeared for a season in the east, has been re-written and is now playing as "The Torch Bearer" at the Tremont theatre, in Boston.

The other two plays which the section will produce are "The Dream Maker" and "The New Crusade."

The casts for these plays will be announced later.

Concert Is Event
On Tuesday night, April 24, at 8 o'clock, an exceptionally fine concert will be given in the Presbyterian church, corner of East Broadway and Cedar streets, by Miss Elizabeth Mottern of 211 North Adams street.

Miss Mottern is well-known in Glendale, having been a resident here for the past eight years. She graduated from the local high school in 1913, and was awarded the first musical scholarship given by the high school. Her ability as an accompanist and vocalist at the University of Southern California was recognized by electing her an official accompanist of the College of Music. Miss Mottern has appeared in Glendale musical circles and is widely known for her sweet soprano voice and musical ability in general.

All music lovers and personal friends will be pleased to hear Miss Mottern and the other musical features of the program. There will be no admission charge, but a treat with refreshments will be taken during the evening.

ISSUES DENIAL
SAN FRANCISCO, April 19.—The industrial accident commission in a statement issued declared there was no foundation for reports that various small mines would have to close down because of the alleged stringency of new mine fire control safety orders which have now been in operation for a month. They were adopted as an aftermath of the Argonaut mine disaster. Officers of the Sphyl mine, Shasta county, $4.95 of the mines reported to have shut down, advised the commission that the mine is not being abandoned and the report untrue.

MONTROSE MONTROSE REALTY WINS INVESTORS

Demand for Lots Continues Brisk; $14,000 Home at Sparr Heights Tract

Emil Peterson of La Crescenta is making plans to build and operate a real estate office on the southwest corner of Honolulu and Rosemont avenues in Montrose. He expects to be occupying it in a short time and will devote his attention to a general real estate business.

C. P. Cook, salesman for the Howard-Merwin Realty Company, of 521 Verdugo road, Montrose, reports the sale of three lots yesterday in the Orange Manor tract; The first to Fred L. Woelfel of Hynes, the second to Mrs. Lottie Woelfel of 229 South Jackson street and her sister, Mrs. Lauretta Schwab; and the third to Mrs. Eva Woelfel and Mrs. Pauline Holm of Chicago. Mr. Cook says that this shows what a little boosting on the part of one member of the family will do.

Plans $14,000 Home
A. J. Bishop, who now lives at 2621 South Hoover street, Los Angeles, has purchased a large lot in Sparr Heights near the home of H. E. Baraum, which is now under construction, and has announced his intention of erecting a $14,000 home. Plans are now being drawn by Architect Fred De Bois of Hollywood.

The sale of $70,000 worth of real estate Monday in Sparr Heights proves that the Heart of the Verdugos is not losing its popularity, according to H. E. Baraum, member of the firm of Baraum & Walters Company.

Charles East of Montrose has just about completed his new real estate office opposite the post office at La Crescenta. He hopes to have it ready for business the first of next week.

Miss M. J. Christison, postmistress of the La Crescenta post office, states that the amount of mail has almost doubled in the last few months.

Sprint King Defies A. A. U. Racing Ban

NEW YORK, April 19.—It was reported that Charlie Paddock, world's champion sprinter, denied the permission to compete abroad by the A. A. It is said that Paddock takes the stand that he is a college man, and therefore amenable only to the rulings of the National Collegiate Association.

United States has nearly a third of the world's railway mileage.

Plan Recital At Congregational Church Friday

DR. RAY HASTINGS of Los Angeles, who will give an organ recital Friday night at the Congregational church.

Dr. Ray Hastings, organist of the Philharmonic auditorium, Los Angeles, who is to give a recital this Friday night at the First Congregational church, on the new Hinners' organ recently installed, has arranged a program of varied interest, calculated to bring out to a remarkable degree the tonal qualities of this fine organ.

The program will be interspersed with two groups of songs by Glendale's well-known contralto soloist, Mrs. H. E. Cavanaugh, and it is the desire of the committee in charge of this concert that the church be filled to overflowing, on Friday night, states A. G. Angier.

No admission fee will be charged, but a free-will offering will be taken during the evening. "This concert," says Mr. Angier, "is something music-lovers cannot afford to miss. Dr. Hastings is one of the best organists in southern California, and our new organ will compare favorably with the finest anywhere."

LA CRESCENTA

Dean Culbertson, wife and daughter, Janet, have moved into Glendale till the end of high school term.

"The Mount" reports a busy time as more guests come every day.

Mrs. Burkey of Los Angeles avenue has as her guest, Miss Frances Street of Chicago. Miss Street is an illustrator of notes and is engaged to present an illustration for a new copy of Arabian Nights, soon to be published.

Mr. Charles Easton has a new real estate office just completed. It is situated on Michigan boulevard opposite the post office.

Change Dinner Plan For C. C. Committees

The original plan that was suggested in connection with the meeting of the members of the various committees of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce on Friday night, April 27, that the meeting should be preceded by a dinner, has been abandoned, and the gathering will be a straight business meeting at which the plans for the coming year will be discussed and when the duties of the different groups will be outlined.

EAGLE ROCK REV. C. S. PROUT MAKES ADDRESS

Adventist Pastor Speaks at Tabernacle in Eagle Rock Wednesday Night

"The second coming of Christ will mark the beginning of a long vacation for the devil," declared Rev. C. S. Prout at the Seventh-day Adventist Tabernacle on Myrtle avenue, Eagle Rock, Wednesday night. "The devil will take this vacation not because he wants to, but from necessity, since he will be confined to this earth, which will be left without a human inhabitant after Christ appears and gathers His saints, who will be caught up to meet him in the air, as we learn from 1 Thess. 4:16, 17.

"This will be the much-talked-of millennium, or period of one thousand years, during which the earth, having been desolated by the seven last plagues described in Rev. 16, and reduced to a chaotic state by the convulsions of nature attending Christ's return in glory, will be the abode of Satan and his host of evil angels. The condition of the earth during this period is described in Jer. 4:23-26. All the righteous being in heaven at this time, and all the wicked living on the earth at Christ's return having been slain by the sword of Satan's wrath, and he will have nothing to do for a thousand years, except to meditate upon what he has lost by his rebellion against God, and look forward to a fearful retribution at the inevitable hour when he will meet the record of his deeds.

Bring to Life
"The second coming of Christ will bring to life all the righteous dead, and destroy all the wicked living when he appears. Thus there will be two resurrections of the dead, the first of which will include the righteous only. This resurrection marks the beginning of the millennium. These two resurrections are described in the twentieth chapter of Revelation. "The rest of the dead," after the righteous have been raised, says verse 5, "lived not again until the thousand years were finished." We learn from verse 4 of this chapter that during this thousand years the righteous will be sitting with Christ in judgment, which judgment must relate to the punishment to be meted out to the wicked, including Satan and his angels. "When the thousand years are expired, says verse 7, 'Satan shall be loosed out of his prison.' During the millennium he has been bound, not by literal chains, because no such fetters could hold an angel, but by a chain of circumstances which has resulted in putting all human beings beyond his reach. But the resurrection of the wicked at the end of the thousand years gives him another opportunity to work, and he goes out to deceive the nations and gather them together to battle, as stated in verse 8. Also, the holy city, the New Jerusalem, has descended from God down to the earth, and Satan gathers his hosts around the city to make an assault upon it. Verse 9. But, says this same verse, 'Fire came down from God out of heaven and devoured them.' This fire overwhelms the earth, and makes a final end of this present world and of all the wicked, after which God will bring forth a new heaven and a new earth, which will never pass away."

Sleepless Marathon Students End Test

PALO ALTO, Calif., April 19.—Five Stanford university medical students are back at their classes after twelve hours' sleep, feeling no ill effect after their sleepless marathon in which they kept wide awake for forty-eight hours in order that the effect of exercise and loss of sleep upon the blood might be recorded for science.

Dr. Norris W. Rakestraw declined to express an opinion on the effect that marathon dancing has upon the system.

"We did not have that in mind in making this experiment," he said. "Our experiment will not be completed for some time. In order to secure the proper checks we will make another test in two weeks, and it will not be until after blood tests taken then are analyzed that we will be able to announce our findings."

Former Mayor Loses Suit Against Tribune

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 19.—The Illinois supreme court affirmed the action of the Cook county circuit court in dismissing the $10,000,000 libel suit brought by William Hale Thompson, former mayor of Chicago, against the Chicago Tribune.

Thompson charged the Tribune with publishing false statements concerning the city's financial condition, thereby destroying the city's credit.

There Is Only One Reason Why a Public Utility Company
Should Exist—That Reason Is

S E R V I C E

Unless an organization such as the Southern California Gas Company is prepared to render prompt and efficient service, no matter what the demands may be, it has forfeited its right to exist and its place should be taken by some organization that IS prepared to deliver constant and reliable service to its patrons.

Consider the Record of the Southern California Gas Co. In Glendale

Thirteen years ago this company owned 5 miles of gas mains and served 761 consumers.

Today it is serving 9273 customers in Glendale city alone, handles a total of 12,681 accounts, and owns 105 miles of mains.

That growth and the present success of this company have been based on one thing only—SERVICE.

But, today's position only marks a stage on the road that we have mapped out, the road that MUST be followed if we are to merit the support and confidence of our constantly growing list of clients, and if we are to keep abreast of the growth of the city of Glendale. There are many stations on this road, but the name of every last one of them is SERVICE.

We are here to render SERVICE. We need your co-operation, your advice and your constructive criticism, if we are to meet the needs of our patrons, and we want to meet and must meet, every reasonable demand that you and the rest of the consumers, present and future, may make upon us.

OUR NEW HOME IS OPEN

The investment of $45,000 in our new place of business at 124 North Maryland street, has been rendered obligatory in order that we may continue to render the service that has built up our business in Glendale to its present proportions.

This new home of ours is fitted in every detail to take care of your needs in a more efficient manner, to expedite your transactions with every department of this organization, to save you and ourselves time, and to make real and actual in every particular the ideal of SERVICE. That is our reason for existence.

We were happy to make you comfortable during yesterday's sudden cold snap.

Woman's Page

A Question of Accuracy

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

The office of Old Accuracy was just off of Main street. In it, with the aid of Maje Tripp and two girls, Old Accuracy transacted all of the business which concerned a goodly number of deals in bonds, mortgages, insurance and loans. Occasionally someone stopped to fix a notary's seal on a paper or issue a fishing license. It was a business of many details, but, sooner or later, they all came to the desk and the book of Maje Tripp for accounting. The Maje and Old Accuracy had been friends for years and, as friends, enjoyed the privilege of quarreling.

The sign on the door read "Ackerman and Tripp," the Ackerman standing for the senior partner, whose exact habits won him the name by which all Minden knew him.

"He is so particular," it was agreed, "he would fire a girl quick as a wink for forgetting to cross a t."

The records did not show Ackerman had dismissed many employees, but had there been any minutes taken of the office proceedings they would have contained many lectures on the old man's hobby.

"There is no excuse for carelessness," Old Accuracy would say. "There's a right way to do everything and a wrong way, and one is as easy as the other. What I demand in my service, from the lowest to the highest, is absolute accuracy." His gaze by this time was fastened upon Miss Elwell, the other half of the working force and "highest" by one dollar a week. Then it was his habit to clear his throat and add impressively and, as he explained privately to Tripp, for the good of office morale: "I cannot even contain my inaccuracy for my partner, Mr. Tripp would not think of committing an error in his figures, nor would I expect him to remain silent if I transgressed."

This was always an impressive ceremony, and after it Old Accuracy usually walked briskly around the block to allow the employees time to absorb his words.

"If anyone can tell me of inaccuracy ever paying I will reward him—er—handsomely."

One day Tripp took up the challenge.

"In my youth," he said, "I was a golf player. I used to leave my home town about once a year to try my prowess against others, and usually I finished along with the tag-enders. There was a girl, then," the Maje's voice took on a tender tone, "a most peculiar and beautiful girl. She wanted me to step into a place of prominence, made me dress up like Sunday every day, and was a sort of press agent in my behalf. Without realizing it, she took over my ambitions, mapped my course, and spurred me on. First thing I knew she was more interested in the golf championship than I was. By the time I was ready to go to Ordway to play, it was understood just as well as if we had talked it out, that unless I won she would never marry me. You may be sure I tried as I never tried before." Maje Tripp paused and looked out of the dusty window.

"The home town paper had never been strong on golf because no one in the town, except me and one or two others, played at it, but they made arrangements to have a dispatch sent from Ordway carrying the results. When I heard about that I felt proud and also thankful I wouldn't have to telegraph Marie."

"It was a great game, but you see our links was not much more than a pasture with a corner of an orchard thrown in, and I was not up on the latest tricks in hazards and bunkers. I didn't do so bad, at that. It was the other fellows who did better."

"The scores came into the home town newspaper by wire. There was a list of us, with the number of strokes we took following. It read like this: Jones, 71; Peters, 72; Campbell, 85; and finally, Tripp 132. I could just see Marie reading that at the other end and hesitating somewhat before I took the train for home."

"Well, when I got home Marie met me with a kiss and slipped me a copy of the paper. The headlines said I won the game, that I had scored more points than any of the others and my mark of 132 would stand for some time as the record of the links. So, you see, I was married—and it was the inaccuracy of that paper which was responsible for the twenty years of happiness that followed." Maje Tripp looked long out of the window, and Old Accuracy sneaked out for his walk around the block.

"That ought to hold him for a while," Maje said, as he winked elaborately at the girls. "I don't know a golf stick from an alpenstock. And, as for Marie, had there been one, she would have married me for my good looks."

THE PRE-EMINENCE OF GREEN

Paris seems definitely committed to frocks that are green, especially Lanvin green. She fashions the first frock in this shade and gives to the skirt a circular flare by the insertion of side gores that fall below the hem in points. The front of the blouse is slashed, either side being rolled back to form a rever. The collar is of self-material. The little loops that finish the edges of the revers are in green and gold braid. Medium size requires 5 1/2 yards 36-inch material.

A suggestion for an all-day frock is featured to the right, very dark forest green wool crepe being used for its development. The dress crosses and closes at the left side, the buttons oddly taking up their position below the narrow belt. A long, two-piece collar finishes the open neck, while the flowing sleeves are rolled at the lower edge in cuff effect. Medium size requires 4 1/2 yards 40-inch material.

First Model: Pictorial Review Dress No. 1380. Sizes, 34 to 46 inches bust. Price, 35 cents.

GOITER—The tablets which I said Dr. Kimball advised to be taken once a week by adolescent girls in the goiter regions would have to be prescribed personally by a physician.

Mrs. L. K.—It is best for you to see a baby specialist about your baby. Its not sleeping may be due to many things. Being spoiled by being taken up every time he cries may be one of them.

Are you sure he is warm enough? Babies get uncovered easily. Get some horse-blanket safety pins and pin the clothes down, but be sure not to pin them down too tight. Give him plenty of room to wiggle. Sometimes babies get deformed feet from being pinned down too tightly around the feet. Be sure that he is comfortable.

BEAUTY CHATS

The other day I asked an expensive beauty shop for a harmless, reliable cure for moles. I was sold one tiny dark glass bottle of liquid and a tiny china jar of cream, along with elaborate directions. All this had a fancy price attached. The tiny dark glass bottle contained nothing but hydrogen peroxide, and the china jar nothing but a lanoline cream. If you wish to cure moles and don't wish to pay a fancy price for the treatment, try this:

Purchase a small amount of peroxide of hydrogen and keep it, if possible, in a number of very small, dark glass bottles. Remember that every time either air or light reaches peroxide it weakens it and makes it less effective. Therefore, if you have it in tiny bottles you are drawing on a fresh supply whenever you open a new bottle.

Now purchase some lanoline. One ounce is quite enough, and melt this with one ounce of olive oil. Pour this off in an empty cold cream jar. Now you are ready to treat the moles.

Moisten a tiny bit of absorbent cotton with peroxide and put it over each mole. Let it stay on five minutes. Repeat this treatment morning and evening. This will irritate and scale the skin unless you follow the treatment by rubbing in a small amount of the lanoline cream.

Here is a suggestion for warts: Ask your doctor for some formalin, which is a 40 per cent solution of formaldehyde. Put an orange-wood stick in this liquid and rub it wet over the wart. This is usually painless, though it will smart a bit if the skin is particularly sensitive. After two or three applications the wart will begin to shrink and will drop off, leaving no scar.

Ann: Persistent bleaching is the only way to keep freckles off the face, but why do this as they are natural to your type and probably not a detriment at all? The only thing that is sensible to do is to lighten the shade if the freckles are very dark. An occasional treatment of lemon juice or buttermilk will be mild enough not to irritate the skin and will bleach off the worst of the freckles.

Anxious: A curling fluid is made by dissolving gum tragacanth with hot water, and then using it on the hair when forming it into curls. It will be like a muciage which will hold the hair into shape while it dries, after which the curls will be set and the hair may be combed out again without spoiling the curling.

Pansy: If you send me a stamped addressed envelope repeating your request, I shall be glad to mail the formula for bust development.

Tomorrow—Nicely Waved Hair.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Now make a sauce by heating one-half cup of milk and thickening it with one tablespoon of butter which has been creamed with one tablespoon of flour; when this thickens, add to it one tablespoon of grated or chopped mild cheese, salt and pepper to season, one tablespoon of top milk, the beaten yolk of one egg, and the cooked asparagus tips. Boil this mixture slowly for five minutes, then fill up the toasted rolls with it. Sprinkle grated cheese over the tops and serve at once.

KITCHENS OFFER EFFICIENCY NOW

Gas Stove Proves of Big Help in Cooking and Household Work

By JOHN A. DIGGMAN
Campaign Director for Gas Stove and Water Heater Week, April 16-21
What has become of the old-fashioned "hired girl," the Tillie or Emma of a generation ago? Hard-working, good-natured, she smoothed off the rough edges of the household machinery, which in that day was crude indeed, and made us comfortable.

She is gone—to the factory, the shop and the office, but her place is not vacant. Glance into any modern kitchen—kitchens have an astounding similarity whether in mansion or cottage—and you will see that it is planned for an intelligent, efficient woman. Though there is an appointed place for every conceivable piece of kitchen equipment, there is not an inch of space for a drudge.

The one tool above all others which is responsible for the change is the modern range. A large part of "Tillie's" time was spent in shaking down ashes, lugging in coal, manipulating drafts and dampers, and always and eternally cleaning up the mess of it.

Just As Easy
Now, the building of a fire means only the simple lighting of a match and the opening of the gas cock, with a fire hot, moderate or low, as the cooking requires, or even a combination of all three heats, on the one stove. The oven never cools when the cake is half baked, and when once the simmering starts on the top burners, the food may almost be forgotten, so steady and dependable is the heat.

But perhaps the greatest advantage of all, in the eyes of the modern woman, is the cleanliness of the gas range. "Tillie" was wont to hide her grimy hands under her apron when they were not busy at kitchen tasks. The housewife of today, and even the trained kitchen worker, boasts white, well-groomed hands, quite at home over the bridge table or on the piano.

The clear blue flame of the well-regulated gas burner leaves not the slightest trace of smoke on shiny utensils. The smooth enamel finish of the stove is as easy to wash as a china dish. What wonder that the housewife prefers to rule the kitchen herself rather than trust it to the careless ministry of a "hired girl?"

Builders' Exchange to Meet on Friday Night

An open meeting to which all interested in any phase of the building industry are cordially invited is scheduled for tomorrow, Friday, at 8 o'clock p. m., by the Builders' Exchange of Glendale.

The meeting will be held in the exchange, 119 North Maryland street, and similar meetings will for the time being be held every Friday.

"Open discussion upon all matters of mutual interest, whether members or not, is the rule at these meetings, as the exchange is desirous of getting the opinion of all who attend," states Henry Holz, secretary-manager. "The essentials of our success is in the exchange meeting the conditions which brought it into being—organization, co-operation and strict adherence to the rules and principles laid down to maintain the standard set for membership, as well as to achieve the high ethical conditions demanded thereby."

"At this Friday's meeting a code of ethics will be adopted, and it is the hope of the officers, as well as myself, that the meeting be well attended, so that this code when once adopted will have the unanimous indorsement of the entire membership, as well as those considering same, since our efforts are common to all and for the general good."

Pays Off Creditors After Twenty Years

CINCINNATI, April 19.—In a private dining room at a club, fourteen business men met last night for what probably was the most peculiar feast ever attended by any of them. It was arranged with mystery concealing the identity of the host, but each guest was a creditor—whom he repaid after twenty years of effort to "come back."

The presentation of checks for the principal with interest for two decades recalled to each of the guests the name of Foster Butler, former Lexington, Ky., produce dealer, who failed in business in 1903 and left for the west.

Presented by the toastmaster, who had arranged the dinner at his telegraphed request, the host explained that he had succeeded as a produce grower at Roseburg, Oregon. He told of his struggle to regain a footing and thanked each creditor.

Turk Troops Ready For War, Says Kemal

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 19.—Mustapha Kemal Pasha, head of the Turkish national government, in a review of the Turkish troops yesterday, declared that Turkey is ready to go to war at once, if necessary, to maintain her sovereign rights.

"If the Near East negotiations bring about the necessity for a resumption of hostilities, the army will be prepared to do its duty in the sacred struggle," said Kemal.

Woman War Heroine Faces Deportation

Madame Evdokia Parnoutieff, wearing decorations for bravery in battle as a trained nurse, faces deportation from the immigration station on Ellis Island, New York, because she arrived here after the Russian quota of immigrants for March had been exhausted. Her husband, who came with her, was a colonel in the Russian royal army, and he, too, will be deported unless the government makes an exception in their case on the ground that both will be executed by the Bolsheviks if they return to Russia.

MUSIC FEATURES CLUB'S LUNCHEON

Varied Program Entertains Exchange Members at Weekly Meeting

A musical program was the principal feature yesterday noon in the Harriet Mae Tea Room at 201 East Harvard street of the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Exchange club.

Adeline Woodbury, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Woodbury of 275 South Central avenue, played "Asleep in the Deep" and "When You and I Were Young, Maggie, Blues" upon a baritone saxophone. She was accompanied by Miss Pansy Corp of the Brunswick Shoppe. Adeline has been playing this week at Grauman's Million Dollar Theater in Los Angeles and played Tuesday night over the Examiner radio.

Miss Hazel Linkogel of 214 East Chestnut street played three violin selections which were much applauded. One of them—Krasler's "Old ReRAIN" was especially praised. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Pearl G. Curran.

The Shrine club orchestra was represented by its director, A. M. Kelly of 1011 East Wilson avenue, violin; C. J. Donaldson of 123 West Acacia avenue, clarinet; and Mike Kaufman of Hollywood, piano. They played several popular selections of jazz.

Mr. and Mrs. William Neal of Toledo, Ohio, were guests at the luncheon. Mr. Neal is chairman of the extension committee for the National Exchange club. He stated that the idea of a national luncheon club, which later developed into the National Exchange club, was first conceived in 1896 but that the club was not actually organized until April, 1911—two months after the organization of the Rotary club.

"Unity for Service" was emphasized by Mr. Neal, who stated: "There is absolutely nothing selfish about the Exchange club."

Navy Airplanes Stage Battle Over Beaches

LONG BEACH, Calif., April 19.—A spectacular air battle took place yesterday over Long Beach, San Pedro and other beach cities between two squadrons of airplanes.

It appeared and sounded realistic, but it wasn't. The affray was a sham battle between naval plane squadrons which arrived from San Diego at the harbor for a three-day stay.

The group of fifteen planes reached the harbor at 10 o'clock in the morning and immediately commenced the battle, which lasted all day. The roar of the planes was distinct to persons on the ground though the craft were flying at an altitude of several thousand feet. The airplanes will maneuver with the fleet today and Friday.

Film Favorite Denies Betrothal to Singer

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—Emphatic denial has been made by Constance Talmadge, motion picture actress, to the published report that she was to marry John Charles Thomas, famous singer, in June.

"It is absurd and laughable," the screen luminary told International News Service, when asked about the report.

Miss Talmadge expects to receive her final divorce decree in June from John Paalogue, tobacco king, her first husband, and from whom she was granted an interlocutory divorce decree several months ago.

PUBLICITY GREAT NEED, IS CLAIM

Realty Board Hears of Plan To Turn Greater Spotlight on Glendale

The necessity for a comprehensive and sustained campaign of advertising for Glendale was the main topic of discussion at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Realty Board at the C & S Cafeteria yesterday, when W. L. Twining, chairman of the advertising committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, W. A. Reeves and H. C. McCormack appeared before the board and asked that its members submit recommendations as to what they considered the best methods of keeping this city before the eyes of the public.

Mr. Twining, in presenting the subject stated that this city is suffering from the lack of effective and systematic publicity. No folders, he declared, are to be found in any of the information bureaus in Los Angeles, nor is any attempt being made to present the advantages of this city and its surrounding territory to the newcomers who are flooding the Southland throughout the year, whereas other localities maintain lecturers in the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, send out folders and advertising literature in a steady stream, and by other means keep themselves before the people of the country.

Urges More Action

This condition, Mr. Twining declared, must be remedied if Glendale is to maintain its present position and is to travel at the rate at which it has been going for the past few years. He quoted figures showing the amount raised in various localities in Southern California for Chamber of Commerce purposes. El Monte came first in the list with over $4 per capita, with Glendale away down in the list with 61 cents per capita of its population for Chamber of Commerce purposes. The solution of the difficulty, he stated, is for the Glendale Realty Board to get behind the Chamber of Commerce and aid in building up a fund that will be used for no other purpose than that of advertising the city, in order to keep the newcomers to the Southland coming to Glendale through the employment of a publicity expert.

H. McCormack stated that the Los Angeles newspapers are ready to afford space to news of Glendale if it is furnished them in such shape that it can be used without the necessity of their detailing any members of their staffs to rewrite it, and he added his recommendation to that of Mr. Twining that an expert advertising man be employed on full time to look after this branch of the Chamber of Commerce work. He also submitted the outline of a plan that he and the other members of the committee will advocate at the meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow evening for the formation of an advertising club which would be an auxiliary of the Chamber of Commerce, using all of the dues to be collected from members of the club, except a small portion for office expenses, for no other purpose than advertising, and for keeping Glendale before the public by every possible means.

System Proves Out

This plan, he stated, would not interfere with any of the members of the Chamber of Commerce retaining their association with that body, but others who are not members of the Chamber of Commerce, or who would prefer to center their work on advertising Glendale, could do so and still present a united front to the world.

This system has been proven of actual value in other localities. It is claimed, and its adoption will be urged on the directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

On the motion of A. M. Yale, vice-president, it was agreed that the Glendale Realty Board recommend to the Chamber of Commerce that a budget system be adopted by which a certain amount of the receipts be set aside for advertising each year. This motion was strenuously opposed by Peter Hansen, who asserted that he considered it out of place for the Realty Board to attempt to dictate to the Chamber of Commerce how its business should be run, but this point was smoothed out by the proposal that the suggestion come from the Realty Board as a member of the Chamber of Commerce and not from the individual members of the board.

What helped further to insure the passage of Mr. Yale's motion was the statement from Mr. Twining that he and the other members of his committee had sent to the meeting yesterday to ask for suggestions as to the best methods of advertising the city, and to ask for harmonious co-operation between the two bodies.

Boosts Fun Revue

Mrs. Nanno Woods was present and urged that the members of the board bring their families and friends to the performance of "The Fun Revue" that is to be given at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse tonight and tomorrow, in aid of the American Legion. The play is being presented by the Glendale Community Players, and Mrs. Woods explained the objects for which the organization has been formed and the good that it will do Glendale in spreading its fame abroad as a center of culture.

Dr. Jessie Russell was appointed as chairman of a committee to insure a proper representation of the Glendale Realty Board at the district conference that is to be held at Long Beach on Saturday. A number of communications were read by President C. D. Thom in the absence of Secretary E. P. Hayward.

WILL CLOSE OUT REMAINING LOTS

Owners of Wing Orange Grove Tract to Dispose of Property Left

A closing-out sale of the few remaining lots in the Wing Orange Grove tract is now announced by Marvin Smith, sales manager, with prices and locations such as to command attention.

"Not without the best of reasons has this tract set a new record for rapidity of selling, number of re-sales, houses already under construction, improvements going in on the property, adjoining improvements and other similar activities," says Marvin Smith.

"If there is such a thing as luck, this has been a lucky tract. But if you substitute the broader word 'vision' for luck, you will have the real explanation. We out here saw a vision, when we secured and opened up this tract. We saw the chance to acquire and offer to the public one of the finest residential sections in Glendale, right in the very heart of the development, and within three blocks of schools, cars, bus lines, markets, stores and other conveniences.

"We knew when we secured this tract that we were going to be able to convert it into homesites at prices way below the market, and still make a reasonable profit. This we have done, and in so doing have passed along the opportunities for profit to the public.

"The remaining lots are among the finest in the tract. There is no way to describe them that will measure up to what you can see for yourselves. So I want you, the people of Glendale who are looking around for home-sites or investments, to come out and let us show you what we have.

"After all, when you are investing money, common sense must be your guide. Common sense will tell you, once you have seen these lots, that a home-site in the Wing Orange Grove tract gives you not only absolute safety of your principal but an interest rate whose only limitation is the limitation of Glendale's growth—and you know there isn't much of a limitation there, for the next few years.

"Another important thing to remember is that there is no time like the present to invest in Glendale real estate. Now is the period of great growth. If you let the next five years go by and see prices double, treble and quadruple, and at the end of that time are still hesitating—you will have no one but yourselves to blame.

"There are two things to remember. First, buy now. And second, thoroughly investigate the Wing Orange Grove tract."

Marvin Smith's headquarters are on the above tract, at 1290 East Colorado, and the tract office is open daily and on Sunday, it is announced.

Live Cole Class Will Meet Friday Night

COMMENT That's All

Promise of Great Crops Woman Wins Once More California Gets Boost Watch Ads for Bargains

By Gil A. Cowan

MORE rain for California during the last day or two means more prosperity. While farm work in the northern and central portions of the state is delayed, the crops promise to be most bountiful.

When one stops to consider the weather conditions prevailing in this state, anywhere from Siskiyou to San Diego, you cannot help but believe that the Almighty Ruler of the Universe is giving California more than its share of sunshine, rain, fair winds and good weather.

For, in reality, there is no unpleasant weather in California. People go about in the rain without umbrellas or coats—thriving just like the flowers of the field.

Even in the Imperial valley, where rains are infrequent occurrences, the mighty Colorado river's flow, fed by the snowfall on the mountains, provides the waters with which to irrigate, and the sun brings forth untold crop wealth.

And an Imperial valley sunny day is not at all unbearable. It is a dry heat that is not the least oppressive, and the residents go smilingly about their work—if not hastily.

So it is all over this Golden state of ours.

Again the woman wins. She has property rights equal to man in California, for Governor Richardson signed the community property bill.

All of which is but another step in the evolution and emancipation of the female. And at the rate the women are taking hold of things, a family of daughters will be necessary to defend mere man.

At that, the women are deserving of a lot more than they ever get. And most of them are not shy in letting it be known, especially when their "aggravatin' papa" is around.

National magazines now are turning their attention toward California. In the last issue of the Saturday Evening Post three stories had their locale in the Far West, and one was entitled "The Californians." Lowell Otis Reese, the author, showed his ability as a press agent.

And in the same issue of the Post there were two other articles which literally advised the people to go west—to beat the New York game. What more could one want from this popular weekly publication?

Yet we see no reason why legitimate real estate advertising is refused in the columns of the Curtis publications. It has been repeatedly stated that California development campaigns cannot obtain space at any price.

All the more reason for the legislature to enact a law permitting the real estate commissioner to certify projects after a thorough investigation.

There is one harp solo to be played in this column every so often. That is, "Buy at Home."

Trading with your local merchants builds this city, while spending your money in a nearby metropolis makes it greater.

But if you will read the ads in every issue of this newspaper and realize the bargains and opportunities afforded you here, there is no doubt but what you will "buy at home."

All we want you to do is to remember these three words.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle now admits that one of the spirit photographs he displayed was a fake. This after two or three demonstrations that such camera frauds were possible.

Had he ever worked around a commercial photographer the author would have learned the many fanciful tricks, both explicable and mysterious.

Just for ordinary proof, some of the most homely people look well in pictures, while many more of fine features and good personality are literal ghosts in the photographic likenesses.

With nothing greater to argue about, the scientists are now profoundly discussing the Einstein theory of relativity. To the layman it means little, other than that all science is to be doubted.

Science experts will tell you this, another that, and so on. All think that know, but in ignorance there is bliss.

For those who desire to concentrate their minds to higher thought, it is all right to consider the stars and such, yet if you have to earn a living in the world today, it is much better to study your own business.

Further, arguments usually are useless would rather die than lose an argument. A nation will go down to defeat for a false principle.

Then, when all is said and done, the world worries on, not caring a rap whether Einstein is right or wrong.

Huge Still Captured In Prohibition Raid

SAN FRANCISCO, April 19.—Seizure of what was described as the largest still ever taken in the west, was announced today by Prohibition Director Rutter. The raid was made on a ranch below Belmont in San Mateo county, and Sam Schwartz, Max Hoffman, Virgil Maggi and N. A. Peres were arrested. The still had a capacity of 500 gallons, the dry raiders said.

Miners are being killed at the rate of 2400 a year in this country.

How to fix that dingy floor

CARMOTE FLOOR VARNISH

Old floors that are stained and marred can be made bright and attractive again by using Carmote Floor Varnish. Just apply with a brush—it stains and varnishes at the same time. Or if your floor is only dull and scratched you can get Carmote Floor Varnish clear—without coloring.

Carmote Floor Varnish is also recommended for furniture and interior finish—it hardens quickly and never becomes soft or sticky.

TODAY—David M. Church quotes Sir Eric Geddes on the disparity of English railroad efficiency with that of America, and points out that reduced rates might help revive British trade.

By DAVID M. CHURCH For International News Service

LONDON, April 19.—British trade is being held back by high railroad rates and an energetic campaign is being made to obtain lower tariffs, under the direction of Sir Eric Geddes, head of the Federation of British Industries.

Greater freedom from governmental control would make it possible for the railroads to grant lower rates, Sir Eric declares, and he points out that in the United States, where there is less government control, tariffs are much lower.

Sir Eric quotes the following statistics: Freight charge, per ton—U. S., 8 cents; Britain, 18 cents. Capital cost per mile of track—U. S., $80,000; Britain, $150,000. Density of traffic in tons per mile per year—U. S., 1,300,000; Britain, 500,000.

Average car load in tons—U. S., 23.5; Britain, 5.4. The administration of the British railroads cannot be blamed for this unfavorable comparison, Sir Eric said, but there are many contributory causes, the main one being the statutory system upon which the railways have been developed.

"Today railway rates are roughly 75 per cent above their pre-war level," Sir Eric said. "This figure compares unfavorably with the general level of wholesale prices, which, according to the economic figure, is 57 per cent above the pre-war."

"In many cases this high rate is hampering trade. "Saving the possible effect of the Ruhr trouble, trade has been steadily improving and we believe that we are not asking too much when we seek a reduction in rates of 33 1-3 per cent."

A keen struggle, such as has gone on in Washington since the war, is in progress in London between the admiralty and the air force for the control of the naval armaments.

The air force and the air ministry demand that they shall have the sole control over naval armaments, while the admiralty insists that naval fliers shall be solely under naval control.

Electric Measurements. In the immediate preceding articles are several simple methods detecting the current in a wire and the direction of the current flow and magnetic effect. These methods also provide us with means of current measurement.

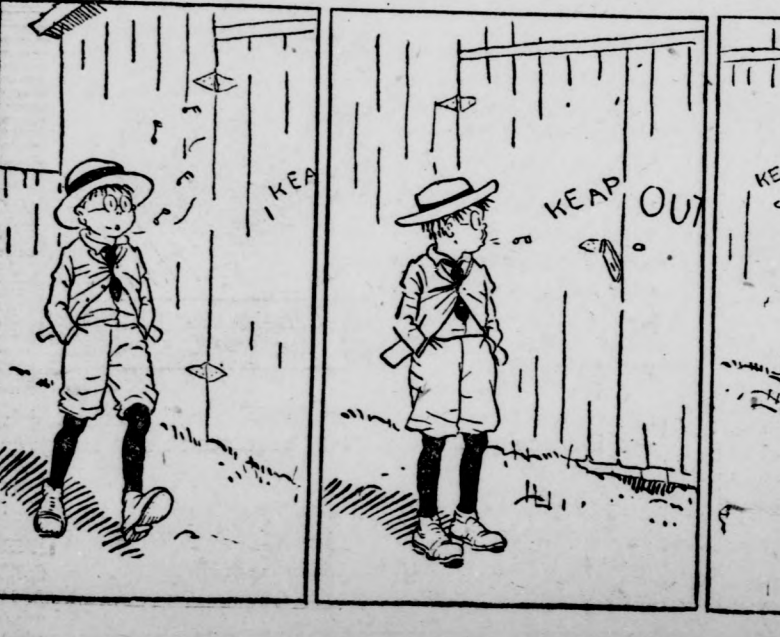

The heating effect of the current is utilized in hot wire instruments where the increase in length of the heated wire is utilized to move a pointer over a dial. These principles are used in a great variety of instruments for the measurement of current.

The amount of current is read from the dial or scale of the instrument. The scale is usually graduated at the time when the instrument is standardized, in a unit called the "ampere." The instruments are called "ammeters."

The ampere is a unit of the magnitude of which has been defined by international agreement. In its definition the method previously described of attaching the ends of a charged wire to two metallic plates immersed in a solution of some substance like copper sulphate. There will be chemical change in the solution accompanied by a deposition of the metal copper on one of the plates.

The mass of a metal which is deposited out of a solution by an electric current depends on the product of the strength of the current by the time it is allowed to flow. Thus a certain current flowing for 100 seconds is found experimentally to be able to deposit as much of a metal as a current 100 times as great passing for one second, etc.

CLEANING SPARK-PLUGS. The only part of a spark-plug which it is essential to keep clean is the surface of the porcelain, lava or mica core that insulates the center or live terminal from the shell or grounded portion. It is unnecessary to clean the sparking points themselves, despite the general belief to the contrary, although any deposits that bridge between the points should be removed. Plugs will not become dirty except in engines using over-rich mixtures or which allow loose oil to collect above the piston.

OVERLOADED TIRES. T. E. R. asks: I get very low mileage from my tires, although I take good care of them, and am extent and it is considered advisable to apply to it a liquid containing ingredients designed to restore these qualities. A suitable quality of furniture polish, such as is used on pianos and other finely varnished surfaces, is considered good for automobile bodies, once in a while. Before applying it, the car body should be absolutely free from grit, or scratching put on in a very light coat, with a piece of cheesecloth and wiped off and gently polished with another piece of dry cheesecloth.

FLAT TIRES. O. B. T. asks: Is there any danger in a tire becoming punctured without the driver knowing about it?

Answer: When a front tire goes flat the car steers hard and the car tends to veer toward the side the flat tire is on. There is also a peculiar jar transmitted from the affected wheel to the steering wheel and the lamps on the affected side are likely to rattle. When a rear tire becomes flat there is an almost continuous jar especially on the affected side, more or less unusual rattling is heard and often there is a notice able grinding noise from the gears and rear bearings. A deflated tire makes more power necessary and seems to make the car "drag," taking away the buoyant, springy action, which it ought to have and giving it a tendency to skid. A flat tire on a front wheel is much more dangerous than one at the rear.

POLISH FOR BODIES. E. T. H. asks: Should polish be used upon a car, and if so, what kind is best?

Answer: After a car has been in service for a time, the varnish tends to lose its qualities to some

It may be used, however, in any set using conductively coupled circuits, such as an oscillation transformer coupling the primary and secondary circuits of spark transmitters.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE INDIAN TURNIPS

"Ker-choo! Ker-choo! Ker-choo!" sneezed Nurse Jane in the hollow stump bungalow. "Hack! Hack! Hack! Hee-hee-hee!" coughed the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"My goodness!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "What a dreadful cold you have, Nurse Jane. I'm going to Dr. Possum's drug store and get you a bottle of cough medicine."

"Thank you, Uncle Wiggily, but you don't need to—ker-choo—do that," spoke Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "If you will kindly—hack-hee-hee—if you'll kindly hop out in the woods, and dig me up an Indian turnip or two, they will cure my cough."

"Indian turnip!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Do you mean the root of the Jack-in-the-pulpit?"

"That's — ker-zoo-zoom — that's what I mean," sneezed Nurse Jane. "That root of the Jack-in-the-pulpit—Indian turnip, I call it."

But that is very smarty and biting," objected Uncle Wiggily. "I tasted some when I was a little rabbit boy, and it burned my mouth and throat and puckered them up so I could hardly speak."

"Perhaps you didn't mix the Indian turnip root with molasses," said Nurse Jane. "Perhaps—ker-zoo—Oh, hack-hook-whoop—Oh, what a cold I have!"

"I'll take good care not to eat any of this root," said Uncle Wiggily to himself, as he washed the bulbs clean in a brook near by. "With molasses it may be all right for a cough, but by itself it's terrible!"

The bunny rabbit gentleman was about to hop on his way back to his hollow stump bungalow and he was thinking how sorry he felt for Nurse Jane, with her cold and cough, when all of a sudden, there was a rustling in the bushes and out popped the Skilley, Scallery Alligator, with the double-jointed tail.

"G'ah, good-day," gargled the 'Gator. "A bad day when I see you," spoke Uncle Wiggily gloomily. "Bad for you, perhaps, but good for me," giggled the 'Gator, for he was rather a silly chap. "I hope you have some good nibbles on your ears today, Uncle Wiggily," he went on, "for I am going to—Ah, what have you there?" he asked, seeing the roots in the bunny's paw.

"Indian turnips for Nurse Jane's cold," spoke Mr. Longears. "Give them to me!" rudely gasped the 'Gator. "I am fond of turnips and I shall eat these before I nibble your ears." Then, most impolitely, the Alligator with the double-jointed tail snatched the Jack-in-the-pulpit roots from Uncle Wiggily and began to eat them.

But he had not taken more than five, or perhaps five and a half nibbles, before, all of a sudden, the 'Gator began to roll his eyes about. Then he began to rub his claws on his stomach. Then he began to dance around on the end of his tail and finally he opened his mouth and tried to pull out of it the Indian turnips he had swallowed. But it was too late.

"Oh, wow! Why do I burn so? I'm on fire inside!" growled the 'Gator. "Why is it? Why is it?" he roared at Uncle Wiggily.

"Perhaps," laughed the bunny, "perhaps it's because you were so greedy that you didn't mix molasses with the Indian turnips as you should have done. Yes, I'm quite sure it's because you forgot the molasses!" chuckled the bunny. "Molasses!" howled the 'Gator. "Molasses? It's ice water I need! Oh, double wow!" and away he ran, lashing his tail from side to side, trying to cool his burning mouth.

"Well, Indian turnips are good for something else than curing coughs and colds," said the bunny. He dug some more roots for Nurse Jane and took them home to her. And when she grated the roots up with molasses they didn't burn her at all, but cured her cough.

So all was well, and if the feather duster doesn't tickle the legs of the gas stove and make it dance with the dustpan, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Billie's horns.

REED FURNITURE IN GREAT VARIETY

C. E. Lambert, Expert, Tells Of Stock; Spacious Store At 223; South Brand

"Every Need in Reed," is the slogan of Lambert's Reed store, which has opened at 223 South Brand boulevard with a stock of in excess of 1500 pieces of reed furniture, embracing every style and every room in the house.

C. E. Lambert, proprietor of the store, explains that every stick of furniture in his stock is genuine reed, which comes from the East Indies, Sumatra and Batavia, and is not to be confused with cheap imitations of fiber and willow, with which the markets are flooded.

"My stock is the product of the Santa Barbara Rattan works, a California industry employing sixty men and turning out a large volume of high grade reed furniture. There is no better reed made than the product of this plant, and there is no other shop in southern California carrying the large stock I am carrying at this store."

Attractive Show Room Mr. Lambert explains that he comes to Glendale from Los Angeles, where he had three stores, closing out there because he felt this city to be a more centrally located point for the distribution of furniture, and because he already had a very good business here and throughout the valley.

The show room of Lambert's Reed store at 223 South Brand boulevard is very spacious and well able to accommodate the many specimens of his stock that Mr. Lambert keeps on display, the room being 50 by 150 feet.

Among the dozens of attractive pieces to be seen there are the complete sets for the living room, library, bed room, sun porch, dining room, den and other rooms, and the individual pieces include chaise lounges, extension tables, bed beds, library tables, chairs, rockers, dressers, tables, etc.

As an added specialty, Lambert's Reed store carries a full line of genuine Navajo blankets that the proprietor believes will have a particular appeal for Glendale women.

It was declared in the annual report to stockholders today.

The report declared the operations of the corporation in 1922 were "characterized by greater earnings, increased financial strength and steady expansion of business and facilities, domestic and foreign."

Current assets of the corporation as of December 31, 1922, were given as $70,373,335, more than eight times the liabilities.

With the completion of improvements now under way, the report stated, the gasoline output will be increased approximately 200 per cent.

Giants Take Contest From Boston Braves BOSTON, April 19. - The world champion Giants scored their second victory over the Boston Braves yesterday afternoon 7 to 4, Pitcher Jack Scott helping to win his own game by punching out a homer in the fourth inning. Jimmy O'Connell, the $75,000 prize of McGraw, made a triple. Only two thousand fans witnessed the game.

Forget-me-not received its name from the last words of a knight who was drowned in an attempt to pluck the flower for his lady, according to tradition.

The Tigers hit Urban Shocker very hard in gaining a 9 to 6 verdict over the Browns, getting to him for six hits in the opening inning. The Browns started the season without George Sisler.

RUTH HITS ONE AND GAME HALTS

Babe Scores Two Runs Ahead of Him by Hard Slam; Others Tally

NEW YORK, April 19. - Babe Ruth, Yankee slugger, got off to a running start yesterday when he slammed a line drive into the right field bleachers in the third inning of the game with the Boston Red Sox, scoring two men ahead of him.

More than 70,000 fans in the stadium, a new record at a baseball game, went into a frenzy of excitement, and the game was delayed several minutes while the Babe, grinning broadly, doffed his cap and bowed repeatedly to the vast assemblage.

Mann Gets Homer CINCINNATI, April 19. - Leslie Mann smashed out a homer for the Cardinals yesterday afternoon in the first of the third inning of their game with the Reds. Rixey was the Cincinnati moundman.

First of Season PHILADELPHIA, April 19. - Jimmy Dykes, hard baseman for the Philadelphia Athletics, opened the American league home run season when he plastered one of Walter Johnson's shoots out of the park in yesterday's opening game with the Washington Senators. The smash came in the second inning.

Grimm Makes Circle CHICAGO, April 19. - Grimm got a home run off Alexander in the first half of the seventh inning in yesterday's game with Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Here's Another One BROOKLYN, April 19. - Sands got a home run off Grimm in the first half of the ninth inning in yesterday's game between Brooklyn and Philadelphia.

Home Run No. 2 BOSTON, April 29. - John Scott poled out the National league season's Giants. It came in the second half of the fourth inning.

Over Field Fence CHICAGO, April 19. - Johnny Kelleher lifted a homer over the pickets in the last half of the third inning yesterday. Boehler was tossing for Pittsburgh.

TAGGING ALL BASES The "big bum" is now the "big bam again." Stepping into one of Howard Ehmke's slow curves in the fourth inning, he crashed the ball into the right field bleachers, scoring Witt and Dugan in front of him, and in consequence the Yankees won the opening game from the Red Sox, 4 to 1. A crowd of 74,200 graced the formal opening of the new stadium. Bob Shawkey held the Sox to three hits.

Going into the ninth four runs to the bad, the Dodgers climbed aboard Head, Hubble and Meadows for the winning runs before a man was retired and the Phils lost, 6 to 5. Heinie Sands smashed one over the right field wall.

Dykes' home run gave the Athletics a 1 to 1 decision over the Senators by way of celebrating the Phils' inaugural, Harris out-pitching Walter Johnson in a pitcher's battle.

The Indians came from behind in the ninth to score a 6 to 5 victory over the White Sox, hits by Wamby, Summa and Sewell gaining the decision.

John Scott gained the conventional revenge of the athlete discarded. He pitched the Giants to a 7 to 4 victory over the Braves and contributed a home run with a man on first.

The Tigers hit Urban Shocker very hard in gaining a 9 to 6 verdict over the Browns, getting to him for six hits in the opening inning. The Browns started the season without George Sisler.

Government Acts in Rising Sugar Prices

Fraud Is Charged In announcing the details of the government's legal campaign against the persons and organizations accused of manipulating the market to boost sugar prices, Seymour said the department of justice now has under consideration the question of beginning criminal proceedings against directors of the sugar exchange in addition to the equity suits.

The petition filed at New York by District Attorney Hayward for the government charges fictitious sales of sugar made on the defendant have caused an increase in the price of raw sugar, and increased prices of refined sugar to the consumer since February 1, on an average of more than $2 per hundred pounds. The government alleges these speculative operations have been carried on for the purpose and with the intent of unduly enhancing the price of both raw and refined sugar thereby causing an unlawful combination and conspiracy in restraint of foreign trade and commerce.

The court is informed that unless the defendants are restrained the sugar market operations will continue to result not only in the continued enhancement of the price of raw and refined sugar, but also in a diminished demand, thereby lessening the traffic in these commodities.

Government Backs Suit The government said the combination and conspiracy alleged to exist in the violation both of the Sherman anti-trust law and the Wilson tariff act and "operate to the detriment and hurt of the people of the United States and in derogation of their common rights, and contrary to the public policy of the United States."

Seymour said pleadings in the case filed today have had "a liberating and thorough consideration," and that Attorney-General Daugherty has urged this form of action. Seymour said the opinion of the supreme court on Monday in the grain futures case contained many features applicable in the sugar case.

Seymour said he had made a careful analysis of the grain futures case decision. "In that case," he declared, "the bill filed to contest the validity of the act of congress was based on the contention that the boards of trade permitting dealings in grain futures should not be interfered with because a large part of the future trading is done by speculators who make a study of market conditions affecting prices and trade to profit by their judgment as to future prices."

The government's petition today asked that writs of subpoena be issued to directors, officers and managers of the sugar exchange directing them to appear in court and answer the allegations of unlawful conduct. The court was asked to hear the government's application for a preliminary injunction within 10 days after the defendants have been served with notice.

"Showers of Gold" Ranchers and farmers of Burbank and vicinity, and, in fact, all residents who have even a little patch of garden, a flower bed or a fruit tree or two, are today congratulating themselves on the rains that have so happily moistened the soil, bringing many dollars in potential profits into the tills of those conducting their enterprises on a commercial scale, and generally cheering up the whole countryside.

Soil experts have been insistent this year in stating that the rains have been insufficient to reach the subsoils, where roots of trees take their drinks of vital nourishment, but it begins to look as though Neptune would have a heart, after all.

And, as with truck farmers and gardeners are concerned, it is said that they are having rain in such happy parcels as to make for bumper crops. And where irrigation plants are installed, there is also rejoicing, as it means that they will have less trouble and expense. Rain means gold in the San Fernando valley.

Friend of Sinners Is Evangelist's Theme "Did you ever feel that you were living a dog's life? That no one cares for you? That you are turned down by those whom you have trusted most?"

Jerry Jeter opened up on his crowd like that last night at the tabernacle of the Broadway Methodist church. His text was "This Man Receiveth Sinners."

"Will you be there?" "Oh, boy! We'll say!" And then the local merchants, where you get the tickets—why, say, they're doing a land-office business. Have you yours yet?

Better step on the gas, Buddy! Nearly every business house in the city has 'em on sale. But don't delay. It might be fatal to your happiness! You'd hate to stand outside tonight or tomorrow night, and see that big auditorium just holding its sides and rocking with laughter. Inside is where the fun is—that's where the Fun Revue is!

If you have a good grouch and don't want to spill it, stay away, is the advice being passed out. But if you'd like to sort of get that dark cloud of gloom off the old brain, why, trot along in and join the most fetching of costumes, in rainbow hues.

Many special features are on the bill. One is a "Rainbow Song and Ballet," written in memory of the wonderful work of the Rainbow Division "over there," and a lot of pretty girls are promised in the most fetching of costumes, in rainbow hues.

"Genius is 1 per cent inspiration and 99 per cent perspiration," according to Thomas Edison. With this idea in mind, Miss Majors concentrated her attention upon the preparation of her oration—at a time when most of the high school girls had their minds centered upon new spring clothes. All during the Easter vacation she busied herself compiling and collecting material for her speech. When this had been carefully written, she was not content, but arose early each morning before the contest in order that she might edit and perfect it. "The Citadel of Freedom," a book by Randolph Lee of Los Angeles, who is interested in the contest, was the basis for the oration.

The grand prize for the winner of the entire contest is a trip to Europe with all expenses paid or $1500 in cash. The second prize is a check for $400. EAGLE ROCK

Sunrise Civic Club Will Widen Scope Of Activity To Cover All Eagle Rock

THE meeting of the Sunrise Civic Club at the East school Tuesday night was one of vital importance to the future of this organization, which has filled an important position in civic affairs of Eagle Rock since its formation one year ago. The question brought up for discussion by the president, G. C. Mattison, was whether or not the club should continue as it had in the past, or merge with either or both the Chamber of Commerce and the West End Improvement Association.

After an open discussion on the matter, it was unanimously voted that the club take steps to organize a greater improvement association to take in the whole of Eagle Rock. With the adoption of this plan, a date was set for a meeting to be held May 1, at the Central school, when residents of Eagle Rock will be given the privilege of joining with the members of the club in forming this new association.

As a result of the above decision, the election of officers was dispensed with and will be a matter to come before the newer and larger organization. Though many of the members were divided in their opinions upon the subject of opening their doors to all comers, everyone was agreed upon the question of going on with the club in some capacity. G. C. Mattison then addressed a few remarks to the members, stating that it had been an extreme pleasure to him to act as president during the past year, but that it was his opinion that the Sunrise Civic club, with its present membership of between eighty and ninety could not cope with the problem of securing the needs of Eagle Rock, after it becomes a part of Los Angeles.

Preceding the discussion, delightful music was furnished by Mrs. J. S. Kraus, who sang several numbers; and Miss Christine Pape Myers, violinist, accompanied by Mrs. A. R. Rose. Both entertainers received enthusiastic applause.

Dr. A. S. Johnson, H. I. De Vol, Mrs. F. M. Runge, and a number of others expressed their opinions upon the questions at issue. Following the adoption of the plan for the May 1 meeting, Mrs. Runge was named chairman of a committee of eight, appointed by the president, to give the meeting publicity and arouse the interest of the Eagle Rock public in the new organization. It was announced that the fees as now planned, would continue to be one dollar a year.

Plan C. of C. Drive
The Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce, meeting at the City Hall last night, discussed plans for securing a paid secretary and initiating a drive for a $2000 fund to take care of current expenses, according to members who attended the meeting.

The drive is to begin immediately, with a special drive for membership. O. J. Root, president, has expressed himself as being confident of the future of the Chamber of Commerce, providing the membership campaign is successful, but has many times stated his opinion that the organization cannot continue without an appreciable increase in bona fide membership.

With plans adopted for a beautiful Spanish style, stucco church building under way, members of the Seventh-Day Adventist church met Tuesday night with Rev. C. S. Prout, pastor, to develop plans of raising funds for building.

The new place of worship is to cost in the neighborhood of $20,000 and will have a seating capacity of 500. The members, who now number over 200, are meeting temporarily on West Myrtle in the tabernacle which has been erected recently.

"Our church is growing at a gratifying pace," stated Rev. Prout. "We now have a membership of over 200, and about 300 are attending our services at the City Hall, added another spur to his laurel wreath yesterday, by discovering the whereabouts of 7-year-old Marian Bryan, who alarmed her mother, Mrs. A. Bryan of South Sierra Vista avenue, by failing to return from school at the expected time."

The Eagle Rock police were notified that the child was missing, and that it was thought that she had ridden away with a man in a machine. McClay immediately jumped into his machine, and after a brief but thorough search located the child in the backyard of a neighboring house, playing with some other children. He directed her to his car, and took her home to her mother.

Mrs. Bryan surprised the deputy by accusing him of stealing her child, mistaking him for the man whom she originally charged with the act. McClay finally managed to assure the mother, by displaying his badge and other credentials, that he was not the guilty party.

Mr. McClay said, in reporting the case, that, although he had been called upon many times to aid in the search for missing children, this thing of being accused when the child is found, was a new one to him.

One of the catchy banners that will be seen on the machine to be driven by a member of the Realty Board of Eagle Rock en route to Long Beach Saturday, to attend the District Real Estate convention, will contain the words: "Just married: Eagle Rock and Los Angeles. Have you seen the bride?" Another will read, "Anxiously and happily." The members of the Realty board plan to give Eagle Rock a real advertisement before the representatives from

YOUTHFUL DANCE ARTISTS BOOKED

Legion Post's Vaudeville Show Will Include Lots Of Talent

The plans for the coming vaudeville show to be given by the American Legion, Post 250, at Bolton Hall, Tujunga, Thursday and Friday, May 3 and 4, are being completed in time to give all the rehearsing necessary. Besides several acts that will be presented by local favorites who have entertained in the past with success, three juvenile artists have been booked from the Kreamer and Egan schools of Los Angeles.

Elina Noyes, seven years, is one of the tiniest and most promising pupils from these schools, having attended both. Elina in her ballet costume resembles nothing so much as a kewpie with bobbed hair. She is taking dancing and promises to be one of the future stars.

Elaine Rugg, 9 years old, is another promising little youngster who is also taking dancing and elocution. She has promised to dance and give a recitation which has proved a headliner at their previous showings.

Yankee Doodle Dance
Helen Rugg, while only 13 years old, is the aunt of these two little ones and a dancer of advanced ability. She has one number in her repertoire that has been well received at all previous appearances called "The Yankee Doodle Dance." When this is presented it is always necessary to have an encore in readiness, as it never fails to bring down the house.

These small girls, together with their classes, have appeared before some of the most distinguished audiences in Los Angeles and Pasadena, having danced before the Masons, at the Hotel Alexandria, the Hotel Huntington, Pasadena, and many others, including the Philharmonic Auditorium in Los Angeles. At all of these places their presentations were marked successes and the Post 250 boys count themselves very fortunate in securing them for their show in May. They are becoming so popular that it is almost impossible to book them under six weeks' notice.
