Foreword

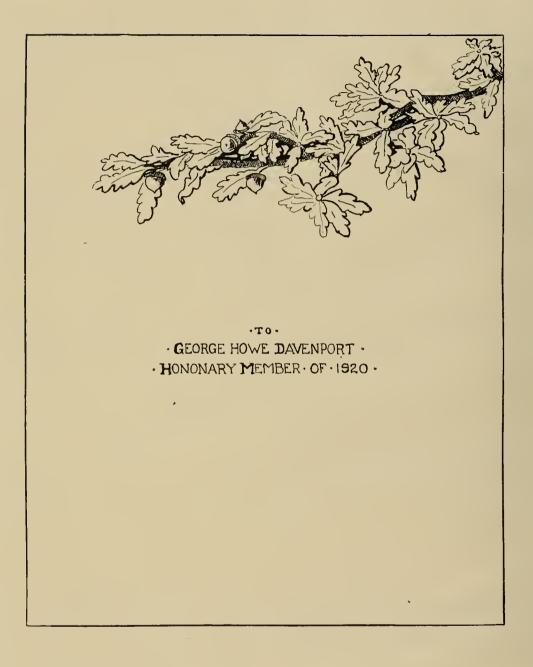

This is the memory book of the Class of 1920. Within these covers we have tried to bring to= aether the thousand and one things that can touch the spring of a train of association and recall the happy, gravely irresponsible days of our college years. If, after many college genera= tions have come and gone, some busy member of the Class of 1920 finds time to look over this book and in it lives again her undergraduate days—then its purpose will have been fulfilled.

BOUND COPIES of the

YEARLY RADIATOR 1916 - 1920

The Yearly Radiator is a new paper published by a group of feeble-minded individuals who ought to know better. None of the news is new; it has all leaked out during the last four years (from which we take our name). But at any rate we offer it to the public for whom it is intended—337 of the most interesting people we know of—and trust that subscriptions will be fast and furious.

THE EDITORS.

Note: For the benefit of any subscribers who may be more feeble-minded than the editors, we print the following glossary:

YOUNGER SET ENTERTAINED

On the evening of October 1 the Home Missionary Association en-tertained the Younger Set at a general barn-warming. Four hundred and ninety invitations were issued, but the big Barn was capa-ble of holding them all. The names of the prominent members of the community were placed on every-one's cards and so the evening passed. Messages from absent friends added to the pleasure of the occasion for the older folks and the informal treading of toes and murmuring of names was en-joyed by the Younger Set. This was the first appearance of the Younger Set in a body, aside from gatherings at the Hemenway Country Club, and the affair was most successful,

RUFFLED ONES SERENADE

On October 21 at 7:30, 440 of the younger set were chanting vociferously in front of the Birches (incidentally enchanting the onlookers). At 7:31, they were ready to go; at 7:32 they had started. One of our prominent citizens, Miss Margaret Alder (formerly of Montclair), es-corted by the Misses Shepard and Skerry, poised herself gracefully on a wheelbarrow, and wielded her baton with the grace of a Tree Day mistress.

The procession was impressive in ruffed (due, doubtless, to green ruffs). With green lanterns pre-cariously waving, they "Tramp, tramp, tramped" everywhere, and ended up at Miss Pendleton's house which they serenaded as she was not there. Then they went rapidly home and ate food before finally turning in.

LOCAL TALENT THRILLS PUBLIC

On the night of November 17 several of the Younger Set made a debut in a marvelous production at the Barnswallows Playhouse, entitled "The Prince Chap." Their friends were more than proud of Miss Kathryn Collins, who was superb in the role of the London slavey and Miss Dorothy Black, who was a fetching trunk heaver. The star of the even-ing, however, was Miss Hayes, a stranger in these parts. She won the hearts of the entire audience, especially those of the Younger Set who were easily impressed, by her faith-ful depiction of the leading role. Everyone went home wishing that she looked like Miss Hayes or at least that she had hair that could be rolled under.

BIG ELECTIONS

At a recent gathering of the Younger Set the following illustrious people were chosen to guide the course of events throughout the year: Miss Charlotte S. Hassett. President Miss Helen C. Barnard..... L'ice-President Miss Rachel M. McCormiek Recording Secretary Miss Mabel N. Barber Corresponding Secretary Miss Catherine Hughes....Treasurer Miss Margaret E. MISS PENDLETON SHAKES HANDS

Kind indeed is our community to its newcomers. On October 7 a remarkable reception was accorded them, given in the palatial Barn and graced by Miss Pendle-ton and Miss Waite of the Higher Stratas. The Younger Set was thrilled by being introduced once again to the many charming hos-tesses, who shook hands genially with each and every person present. The ushers murmured names with startling rapidity and seemed to enter thoroughly into the spirit of the evening. Speeches were made on timely subjects and telegrams from sympathizers of the hostesses were read and applauded. The most striking por-tion of the program, however, was the dancing, which was remark-able for its variety and persis-tence. Although it is rumored that one or two frail oues were carried out after the fourth extra, this in no wise altered the ardor of the survivors.

CHARMING DANCE

The Smart Set entertained the Younger Set at a large dance given the afternoon and evening of November 26. The young strangers were greatly impressed with the prominent members of the Smart Set who stood in line and extended a cordial hand to each and every person who ap-proached them. The Female Orches-tra furnished the remarkable music, and the dancing was furnished by all. A remarkable feature of the evening was the programs which had on them the names of all the intimate friends of the Smart Set. The younger ones hoped to be able to see a few of these interesting people, but soon found that this was impossible, owing to the crowded conditions.

NEW SONG MAKES DEBUT

Tuesday evening, October 4, the community held a step-singing, the first of the year. Beautiful songs were murnured by all in both major and minor keys. The feature of the evening was the pre-sentation by the Younger Set of a new song, entitled "Oh, see that 1920 a-standing in a line," of Baetier origin. The offering received Reel, written by our fellow citizens, embarrassing applause and was dutifully desired again by those who are traditionally partial to the Younger Ones.

OBITUARY

On November 8 the Younger Set had the unique experience of wit-nessing the town's last forensic burning. How the thing was done we may not exactly tell. The funeral was all too duly respected and the procession rode by in quiet dignity, and the Debutantes were rather pleased.

In the evening a Ghost Walk was rendered by the triumphant Debs. It was awe inspiring in its mysterious spookiness. The long line of white figures did a grotesque snake walk, and glided away, leaving a perfect "W" of sparklers shining on the Green.

MISS SWORMSTEDT THRILLS AUDIENCE

On the evenings of December 8 and 9, the Debutantes presented 5, A big political rally was held on "Alice-Sit-By-The-Fire" at the Stock Company Play House. One night was given over to the townspeople Prohibitionists and The Risen Powand the other performance was particularly for the children of the village, who appreciated the honor and The play were very enthusiastic. was a great success and the home talent displayed is worthy of praise. Miss Helen Swormstedt pleased the Younger Set, some of them responding later in flowers.

MID-YEAR VACATION

January 31 marked the beginning of what is known in the Higher Stratas of our community as the midyear vacation. This period is recognized by a long stream of unhappy maidens passing from hall of residence to Library and from Library to hall of residence. Other symptoms are a common subject of table conversation, marked consideration of the Higher Stratas whenever they are encountered, and a frequenting of unnatural and uninhabited sections of buildings. The community emerged from this crisis slightly reduced in numbers but stronger for the fray.

INTELLIGENT DEBATE HELD

The young folk and the Smart Set busied themselves over the affairs of play of dry-goods.)

the Nation on the evening of March 8, in an intelligent debate. The judges, members of the Higher Stratas, sided with the Smart Set, but condescended to praise the de-livery, if not the reasoning, of the other side.

OPERATIC SUCCESS

An operetta, The Romance Off the and presented on February 27 at the Opera House, proved unusually successful. The songs were charmingly well rendered as were the encores which had previously been well rehearsed. The solo dancing surpassed even Nazimova, and the choruses were superbly trained. Candidly, we seen no reason why our Stock Company should not spend a winter on Broadway.

The members of the Mt. Holyoke Debating Team met with our local team on Saturday, May 17. The victory went to our own team.

BIG POLITICAL BALLY

We have reason to be proud of the high-spirited public demonstration made by our townswomen, and we may say that the gentlemen of Harvard and Yale had better look to their laurels as the ladies are coming forward fast in the world of politics. A big political rally was held on Prohibitionists, and The Risen Power, the Suffragettes. A torch light procession wended its way from East Lodge to the Green. The line of march was beaded by four leaders of society; a brass band came next, followed by an elegant float (Columbia, reclining on a couch). Important features of the parade were an effective Negro Division, and a band of Princetonians, who gave their cheer from time to time, in high with us, and speeches delivered by Charles E. Hughes (Miss Edith Mat-son), Col. Roosevelt (Miss Helen Hershey), and President Wilson (Miss Marion Sawyer). Each ora-tion was lustily cheered by the faithful few. Bryan (Miss Florence Johnson) was not permitted to make his speech. He rose and bowed, a bottle of refreshing grape juice in his hand, but he was hissed by the multitudes who feared he would be too dry an orator.

The address of Mr. llughes was popular because of its human appeal. (Mr. Hughes strongly advocates a reform in paper-bag lunches-offering chicken and fudge-cake to the Younger Set in place of the usual dis-

FEMALE FIGHT GIVES ZEST

Crow-bars and trap-doors figured conspicuously in a notable fray which took place in Billings (and outskirts) on March 14. The Misses Gibson and McCreery, promi-nent members of the Smart Set, were ejected from the organ loft whither they had retired to listen to the Younger Set's music uninterrupted. Misses Wilcoxen and Hughes lost no time in throwing these ladies out the door in a calm but efficient manner. As soon as this was accomplished the Younger Ones proceeded to the real business of the day which was to improve upon the Debs' cheer and identify themselves forever with a pleasant bugle-call known in common parlance as a musical cheer. They also were taught by Miss MacLean to warble in a manner distinctly "up-ward, far, and free." This done they rushed to the suburbs in a body and described the whole performance vividly to their respective Settlement The Workers.

> February 12, 1917. Mrs. Henry Fowle Durant, the wife of our founder, died at her home here. The funeral was held in the Chapel.

YOUNGER SET WARBLES

For the first time in the history of this town, the Younger Set was to take part in vespers, so almost everybody went to the evening service on December 10. The Younger Set, dressed in white, sang as beautifully as they looked. Although there were 350 in the choir, they were so re-sponsive to previous instructions that they rose, en masse, at the proper times, and made no more noise with their shoes than is made by the skillfully trained Community Choir. Much to our surprise and pleasure we had the privilege of listening to a harpist and a violinist. Altogether the service was very unique, and we are grateful to Citizen MacDougall whose enthusiasm and interest made it possible.

FAIR HUGE SUCCESS

The Barn doors were thrown open the afternoon and evening of December 16 to the public of this town. The booths, which offered a vast display of articles, ranging from popcorn to books, autographed by our local celebrities, were gracefully festioned, and presided over by at-tractive young ladies in black and white. Tea was served and entertainment provided.

Oh no, you mustn't flirt round here, For really no one ought;

But keep your eyes wide open, dear, And you'll see Tower Court.

$1000.00 RAISED BY YOUNGER SET

An extraordinary week indeed was that from January 25 to February 1. The Younger Set became imbued with a determination to raise an unheard of sum for war-relief in the week allotted to them and incidentally to show the rather apathetic Elder Ones that something quite un-Their spirits were dampened, it is true, by the Higher Strata, who were so inconsiderate as to forbid the selling of ice cream cones in classes to relieve the monotony, also the making of the Dean's bed at 5:30 every morning for ten cents a day. The ingenuity of those pushing the campaign was therefore taxed to the utmost to invent lawful ways of earning money, but we are glad to state that the stipulated sum, which was a thousand dollars, was raised by the end of the week. For some time after that the Younger Set figured in the Snooze as a model of behavior, and Miss E. Clark's spirits soared.

YOUNGER SET SERVE AS MAIDS

On February 10 the Debutantes treated themselves to the first Hop of our history. A portion of the Younger Set were asked to look beautiful (having been chosen for their ability in that line) and remove the wraps of the Imported Ones, which they did with such conscientious devotion to duty that it was said that many of the I. O's. became confused as to who really was responsible for them. Miss Pendleton's overshoes are rumored to have disappeared in the melée.

MISS STEVENSON TAKEN OFF BY LOCAL WIT

On the morning of March 15 one of the foolish members of our town appeared after chapel on the cheering green, clad in the meagre costime one instinctively associates with Tree Day dancing. Were it not for this connotation we hardly think the Younger Set would have recognized that Miss Johnson was impersonat-ing Miss Margaret Stevenson, the new Tree Day Mistress. As the weather was extremely chilly and the winds raw, the Smart Set did not let its favorite remain long exposed. The party broke up with the usual inusical sounds.

MISS BARRETT GIVES CUPS

After waiting for favorable weather, a pageant was given on the lake on the evening of June 13. Before the pagent itself, crews of the neighborhood competed for honors, the Elder members winning. Miss Emma Barrett, the noted athlete of the Four Hundred gave cups and blue felt the pageant, which was patriotic in nature, one of the Younger Set taking the leading part, as Democracy. The youtliful members of society also christened their boat "Kilowa" in a touching ceremony, performed by the agreeable Miss Hassett.

Hints To The Hopeless

Miss M. T. Bean will be glad to answer questions pertaining to difficult problems. Anyone desiring to know anything under the sun need not be reticent. "M. T. knows."

Dear Miss Bean:

I went away to college with a desire to do something for my almamater and so I decided to run for class president. But my plans were all upset by some unforseen enemies who did not nominate me and so spoiled it all. What would you advise²

The Barnswallows Stock Company presented Baby Ben here the night of March 24, to a capacity house. The play, by Miss Daisy Atterbury, whose visits to us in 1916-17 and 1917-18 some of the oldest of us will remember with pleasure, was unusually delightful. Interest in its production was intensified by the fact that one of the Younger Set, Miss K. Taylor, appeared in the leading role.

VIOLETS GIVEN TO YOUNGER SET

An Easter party was given very unexpectedly by the Four Hundred to the entire community on the morning of March 29, after the morning church service. Everyone was presented with an appropriate token which was the cause of much hilarity. The Younger Set, however, was handed a beautiful bouquet of violets by the thoughtful Miss Lange, one for each Little Sister.

TEARS SHED AT SERENADE

The Younger Set was honored and ask for a new vote. She will be sure delighted to be serenaded by the Four to give it to you if you make your Hundred on the night of Saturday, position clear to her. June 2. Nevertheless, there was a sadness in the occasion; the thought of losing their Uplifters and Sustainers brought tears to the eyes of many little folks. Pocket-handker-chiefs were in great demand.

EARLY NOTES ON EARLY SOCIETY

Infantile paralysis has become vitally connected with football games and theater parties this week.

Miss Pendleton made five or six speeches to the Younger Set the other afternoon.

The Settlement Workers, under the leadership of Miss Helen Potter, have been holding office hours for questions concerning registration.

Lines were in vogue this week. Those who were not in a schedule line were paying their tuition. The rest were in another line at the Hemenway Country Club. Here at least is one place where an intense and flattering interest is manifested in "ou as an individual not to mention your personal history and that of all your extant relatives.

QUEEN OF MAY CROWNED

On the afternoon of May 5, in spite of the threatening aspect of the weather the Village Playground rang with the shouts of happy little ones. The youngsters, carefully chaperoned by nurses and doubting mothers, were turned loose to amuse themselves. A very pretty feature of the afternoon was the crowning of the Queen o' the May, Miss Charlotte Hassett, by the King o' the May, represented by Miss Dorothy Spellissey.

1920 Motto......"Life and Light 1920 Cheer..."Wellesley! Rah! Rah!

'20! Hoorah!

1920! Wellesley! After all was over the beautiful song which we reproduce below was rendered by the Younger Set. It was composed by the Misses Scott and Pratt:

All hail, our Wellesley beautiful,

Far may thy woodlands ring!

From hill to hill repeat the praise Thy loyal daughters bring.

Chorus:

All hail to thee, our Wellesley, alma mater!

1920 answers to thy call!

With loyal hearts we bear thy banner onward.

Forward lead-to rise and never fall. O crimson blows the glory of the roses.

Flashing ever upward far and free!

To lead us on in purpose all united-

To live, to learn, to strive, to serve

For our Wellesley!

Then far across the future years We'll hold in love and awe Thy liberty in government, The beauty of thy law. Chorus.

Dr. Eugene C. Howe opened his clinic on Monday. As usual his doors were crowded. At the end of each session those present handed in flattering testimonies of their gratitude to him.

Social Notes

On October 24 those who were not financially embarrassed (and some who were) acknowledged publicly their pecuniary debt to society and joined a long list of clubs and asso-ciations. They had not been warned and knew no better. The Alliance and Deutscher Verein had a heavy enrollment from the Younger Set.

Mr. Winston Churchill, the author, spoke at the Vesper service November 1. The usual multitude sat under the pulpit and in the doorways, as is the custom when we have distinguished guests.

The Four Hundred carried off most of the laurels at the annual athletic contest on November 4. But the Younger Set's goat, who faithfully followed them from the Suburbs, was the undisputed feature of the day

The famous Indian poet, Rabindranath Tagore, spoke to us the afternoon of December 1 and read from his poems. Those who understood him were delighted with his reading. Those who did not concentrated on his flowing robes.

Hon. William Howard Taft addressed the Sunday morning assem-hlage on May 20. All present were fascinated by his famous chuckle and described it with illustrations to their families when they wrote home that afternoon.

Poet's Corner THE PERFECT ROW

When you come to the end of a perfect row,

And you sit alone with your wool, And your bosom heaves with a rhythm slow For the joy that you've followed the rule.

Do you think what the end of a perfect row

Can mean to a tired heart,

- When you've dropped each stitch since you learned to purl,
- And you lost three more at the start?

Well, this is the end of a perfect row,

- And the end of a sweater, too.
- Though it's for a man that is big and strong,
- It will be pretty tight, 'tis true.
- But toiling has rendered this perfect row
 - A piece of the knitter's art,
- And 'twill stand at the end, still strong and firm

STOCK JOKES IN VAUDEVILLE

Seldom has there been seen so much undeniable talent as was displayed in the meritorious vaudeville on September 28, by the Town Stock Company. The singing and dancing surpassed even the stars of Keith's Circuit, while the jokes were superb. It was quite an event, and duly impressed and pleased the Younger Set, for whom it was given.

BIG DANCE FOR THE YOUNG

On November 17 the Smart Set gave an inexpensive dance to the Younger Set in the Barn. This is an annual affair in our town but this year it surpassed anything seen be-fore, in music, furnished by the famous orchestra, Miss Pauline Ilolmes, in variety of costume, and in dancing. Miss Frances Parsons, the noted beauty, stood in line with Miss Jeanne Halsted and Miss Edna Bowen who graciously allowed themselves to be introduced to any who desired it. Manila cards were obliged to figure as programs, from the nature of the affair, it being a war year. Nothing was elaborate but the dancing.

SHALL WE BE FARMERS?

On December 13 Miss Margaret Ferguson of the Higher Stratas spoke to an enthusiastic audience in the palatial Barn on the subject of Farming for Women. It seemed to heard to remark that she had written be the consensus of opinion that the community retire for the summer to a quiet country nook, provided by Miss Ferguson and there cultivate peas and potatoes for next winter at a reasonable recompense.

CARROT PATRIOTISM

On March 9 the Smart Set appeared at Step-singing and advocated the buying of Bonds by the rest of the community. Miss Kathryn Col-lins, the famous actress, impersonating a '20 carrot, was wheeled in on an uncertain vehicle. As the S. S. B. was rendered by those who knew it (and many who did not) the Carrot arose and stood on the place where her feet should have been in token of her patriotism.

BIG PROCESSION

On October 9 Miss Ellen Fitz Pendleton's sixth anniversary as resident of our town was celebrated by a procession and many songs, most of them of the "Serenade" variety. Miss Pendleton was then escorted to the Chapel by all the celebrities that could be mustered together and a good time was had by all.

HALSTED ELECTED

A lively dispute was indulged in (in written form) on October 18 in the G. L. R. One weary soul was "Ilalsted" five times, "Cox" five times and "Gay" five times and was now totally discouraged because she had to go back to "Halsted" and go through it again. Nevertheless her going back proved the deciding vote. for the popular Miss Halsted in the garb of a Puritan gentleman was torn from the Barn portals and borne aloft on the shoulders of her supporters, at which point she delighted all present by delivering a small speech.

The Smart Set has decided that the following members of its coterie will do very well as leaders for the season:

Miss Jeanne B. Halsted President Miss Edna 11. Bowen.....

..... Vice-President Miss Olive Atterbury ..

Miss Lucia P. Barber....Treasurer Miss Mary L. Boomer, Miss Emily T. Holmes, Miss

Emily T. Holmes, Miss Claire Treat ... Executive Board

Miss Helen Shoemaker, Miss Eleanor Skerry ... Advisory Board

SMART SET TRAMPS

On the evening of October 6 the Smart Set did some social work en masse by singing to the Younger Set in the Suburbs. They were dressed in costume, and to the tune of "Tramp, Tramp" they traversed the town. They met with an enthusiastic audience at every turn. This custom is deemed a worthy one.

SMART SET RUDELY TREATED

There was a great deal of excitement on a certain afternoon this week, and more so the following morning. The Younger Set had a gathering which a member of the Smart Set attended, secure in the thought that hospitality is the first law of courtesy. Such did not prove to be the case, for to her amazement she was forcibly requested to depart and when she stopped to consider the question she was stepped on by prominent members of the Younger Set until she finally realized that she was indeed not popular. The news being conveyed to a similar gathering of the Smart Set, a few daring ones volunteered to repair to the Suburbs or dwelling places of the Younger Set and glean what they could. Miss Dorothea Douglass, the famous expert on ministers, distinguished herself in quite a secular way on this occasion by doubling herself up for several hours under a certain bed, thereby satisfying herself that it was worth it. That night Miss Halsted's room was crowded to the closet with returning scouts, each of whom felt that she had discovered the one important fact. The next morning there was a pleasant fist fight between members of the Smart Set and, we blush to have to print this, the Debutantes. They, feeling that this earthly plane was too low for them, essayed to climb to the heights of certain works of art placed on high by the Smart Set, with disastrous results. Miss E. T. Holmes was bruised in several places by one of her most intimate friends of the Debs and Miss Margaret Mac-Naughten became not quite herself.

OVER THE COBBLESTONES

On April 6 the entire community departed to Boston to take part in the scrimmage known as the Liberty Loan Parade, which began on Commonwealth Avenue and continued for ten or fifteen miles to Filene's. We were there personally and recall becoming more and more confused as we endeavored to find our places, until suddenly discovering Miss Tufts standing at the head of several lines, we realized that we had at last reached our destination, and became part of a line ourself. The parade was a distinct success in spite of the rather confusing directions handed out by those who were managing our section. (We recall one ardent person calling in stentorian tones: "Keep your head to the front and pass it along!") After a little run over the cobblestones of Lower Boston, the party broke up and went home in fragments.

DISTINGUISHED CUEST

In the presence of the entire community and more besides, the Aren bishop of York, the Most Reverend Cosmo Gordon Lang, gave a brief address on the afternoon of March 21 in the Village Church. NEW PLAN FOR WOMAN'S CLUBS

A Forum for those interested in becoming members of the Woman's Clubs was held on May 16. The Smart Set turned out in full array and learned a great many things they had never dreamed of being told. A new plan was outlined by prominent agitators, but did not seem to please everyone. In fact, from the general spirit of the gathering, one was led to believe that few of those present were pleased with anything. However, the Smart Set enjoyed the remarks made by their prominent friends and saved them up to use when they should be in societies themselves.

ENDS IN SPLASH

On May 23, the Debutantes chal-lenged the Smart Set to a mighty tug across Longfellow Pond, Every safety device was at hand. OBITUARY

The evening of April 22 was a memorable one for the Smart Set. After weeks of whispering and starting when spoken to by Debutantes the DEED was done and the dead buried. The funeral procession was up-to-date in every detail, black sackcloth being worn by the pall-bearers and numerals by those who followed in their wake. The Green was the scene of loud wailing and lugubrious groaning. Just as the procession was about to retire for the night a noise suggestive of Debutantes was heard and forth from Shakespeare Club came the Debutante Leader. Miss Eleanor White, who managed to get in one or two late cheers for the de-parted. The interment had already been made in a semi-unknown spot.

FRIVOLITY SCOUTED

No village pranks were played on the Green this May-day. Instead of usual festivities, our towasfolk repaired to their respective homes, where the dining-room doors were opened to the public from 1:30 to 5:30, and competition took place in the making of surgical dressings. The exact number of bandages made will never be known for rumor carried it out of all bounds.

Miss Emily Tyler Holmes represented the Smart Set and was characteristic in her role. We reproduce the speeches elsewhere.

FOUR HUNDRED WARBLE

The Four Hundred, gowned in black, chose the night of June 1 to bid the community a tearful though tuneful farewell. The Smart Set were especially sorry to see these particular ones depart for they had always taken the former's part and hence were very handy.

The Debutante Play, "The Chinese Lantern," was considered by re-nowned town critics an excellent presentation. Misses E, Bell and M. Hamblet caused shricks of laughter to come from those who were sitting on the footlights.

Never before has the town seen so many of its women gathered together at once as there have been at the weekly drills. Some of the younger ones seem to enjoy watch ing their superiors perform.

On December 2 the Smart Set gave a party at Stone to its new members. This novel idea proved to be a happy one. People from every section were there in costinne. Miss H. Strain gave an original Indian war-dance (she has since informed the editor that it was nothing of the sort but something tecknickle) and merriment was rampant.

On the evening of December 24 the Smart Set defeated the Younger Set at a heated debate on academic freedom.

The Phi Sigma, one of the Woman's Clubs, gave a masque on the evening of December 14. The invitation list was very exclusive, but some of the Smart Set managed to be present.

The Baruswallows Stock Company, for the first time in its history, has undertaken the presentation of a double bill "The Golden Doom," by Lord Dunsany, and "Help Wanted: Female," by a well-known member of the Four Hundred. The contrast was beautifully done.

- 20 (stepping forward)—The merits of our sisters stand unquestioned now to fame
 - (To '18 and '19) We therefore beg that you'll agree to umpire in this game

('18 and '19 kneel at sides.) Come, '21, let's hear you state

Your cardinal virtues up to date.

- 21—Fve dug to some purpose you must agree,
- For even you sing of my verdancy, 20—Well, 1920 passed its math we
- trust you are aware Without the interceding aid of a Bible teacher's prayer.
- 21—The roots of equations have not confined
 - My efforts at digging, I think you'll find.
 - What of the War Garden work I share,
 - Haven't I toiled in the lime light there?
- 20—At overlooking garden beds your work is most successful,
- But when you overlook your own, results prove more distressful,

- (Knave of Diamonds rises and bows.)
- 21-We, too, would mention one thing more
- Before we tally up this score Remember our Chapel bike parade, And consider our beautiful Tree Day maid.
- '20-In connection with chapel this notice we find
 - To the Heretic's Bullying Board consigned.
- "Lost-the key-by 1921-at step singing

- You'll grant we were keyed up all right.
- 20 (brushing aside former discussion)-
 - Our general information may be in question, too
 - Now here are certain roll calls we would propound to you.
 - Why should the math department incline toward hy-giene?
- 21—They're both concerned with figures, that's plainly to be seen.
- 20—Had Philonus proved to Hylas the existence of the soul

When Moses took the tablets and Ezekiel swallowed the roll? 21 (protesting)—In view of the pres-

- ent great shortage of wheat,
- We think that all roll calls should take a back seat. '20 and '21 (in unison).
- In view of the present great short-
- age of wheat We agree that all roll calls should take a back seat.
- ('20 turn to look at the score which the Joker has totaled to 1920 for '20 and 192- for '21.)
- 21-Stay-1920, one thing more Must be accounted in the score. For we are to the good one year Ahead of 1920 here One year more of Wellesley fun
 - When 1920's race is run.
- (Joker adds 1 to '21's score and totals it 1921.)
- '20-Our husky keeper of the score records the game as done
 - Your score will always be ahead as it is now, by one
 - But in your triumph don't forget that still a pun's—a pun And some will take that score to
 - mean that 1920-won!
 - But since you are the Knave of Spades we offer you (offering spade)-this prize,
 - This trusty blade will be your aid for future enterprise.
- 21-With pleasure we accept your gift
 - Our efforts will be made

To ever follow '20's lead

And call a spade—a spade.

(Exit—'21 shoulders spade. Goes out arm in arm with '20. '18 and '19 follow. Joker dances last carrying balloons and wearing a card-Finis.)

A TALE OF MISTAKEN YOUTH

- In days when men were common things,
- And often seen about,
- A student once to dinner asked
- A flip young Harvard sprout.
- Quite flattered was the gentleman, To all his friends he told
- How he had won the young girl's heart-
- So big and brave and bold!
- He pictured in his blissful eye
- A table set for four,
- His hostess and two charming friends
 - To meet him at the door.
- His ring was answered by a maid,
- Who stopped him in the hall.
- "Who do you want to see?" she growled
- "This ain't no time to call!"
- "I came to dinner, ma'am," he said,
- Slightly subdued by fear. "I'm dining with Miss Bessie R----, Please tell her I am here."

But hardly had he sat him down And tried to calculate,

Than through the house a fearful sound

Loud did reverberate.

And then a hundred doors did bang-He sat tight in his chair—

While hosts of tall, athletic maids Came crashing down the stair.

Some glanced, some stared, while others laughed-

But none our youth ignored He tried to seem oblivious

To look a trifle bored.

But on his helpless countenance There came a greenish gloom,

A look of sheepish misery Was all he could assume.

And now a voice is heard above

The chatter and the din-

"Come on! You've got to meet the Head,

Before we dare go in."

He caught a glimpse of tables long Each set for ten or more,

He saw the line of hungry maids-Hungrier than before.

It was enough, with courage swift, He plunged out that front door,-

And swore within that he would be A recluse evermore.

DEBS DEFEAT ALL

In spite of the high hopes of the Four Hundred, who were confidently expecting to be victors in the annual athletic meet held on November 2, the Debs scored a complete victory. The skill and physical prowess manifested by these young women amazed not only their opponents, but called forth the heartiest commendation from themselves.

POSSIBLE PEACE PARADE

The entire community went to Boston on the afternoon of November 7 to celebrate a possible peace. They marched in parades and mingled blissfully with the proletariat on curbstones besides spending all they had at Durgin & Park's, only to discover on arriving home that they had been celebrating nothing at all. The disappointment equalled the amount spent.

GENUINE PEACE PARADE

November 11-the great day of peace,--- was heralded in with mighty blast at the early hour of four in the morning. The joy of the village folk could hardly be restrained. To give vent to the exuberance of their spirits, the townspeople marched singing songs to the nearby villages and back to the Church for joyous song and thanksgiving. The great day closed, tired but peaceful.

OMELET AND OATMEALIA

The Stock Company gave another Pliscoda on Saturday night, Nov. 9. The play given was very tragic, but well produced. "Omelet and Oat-mealia" will always be remembered as a stirring melodrama. To counteract the effect of the play on the audience, singing followed, led by Citizen MacDougall.

TEAMS MEET INDOORS

The Debutantes held up their reputation at the annual Indoor Meet on April 19 at the Hemenway Club, where they defeated the Four Hundred in different ways.

THE GIRL AND THE GOB

On February 20 the Stock Company produced a motion picture play entitled "The Girl and the Gob," in which the peculiarities of our com-munity were delectably presented.

This year's Debutantes have chosen to be led by the following capable and gifted young ladies:

Miss Margaret H. Cooke. . President Miss Muriel Starret. . Vice-President Miss Anna A. Russell

Recording Secretary Miss Brenda P. Cameron

BIG CAMPAIGN SUCCESSFUL

On November 14, the town awoke with a great awakening to the United War Work Campaign. The famous writer and soldier, Coningsby Dawson, spoke to us at the Town Meeting House, in a stirring address. Other celebrities spoke, among them, that notable leader of the Four Hundred, Miss Crane. The watchword "Give" was carried to such a degree that our quota of $20,000 was oversubscribed to $21,545.

Bored walks still continue to be popular in Wellesley,

FARM PLAN WORKS WONDERS

Those of our number who engaged in the back-to-nature venture this summer have returned to the comforts and noises of civilization full of enthusiasm. They have succeeded in making one of the Woman's Clubs look like a dairy and have otherwise mussed up the orderly arrangement of the town, but they did raise a potato or two and presented to the community a new collection of songs, some of which we print elsewhere. These ardent cultivators of the soil clad themselves in "joyous rompers" -we quote the words of a write-up in our rival, the Transcript-and sped about the country in a particularly skittish Ford runabout, driven by Miss Ferguson, of the Higher Strata, whose heart was in the venture. It is said that it was also in her mouth when she turned the corner of Weston Road and it is further rumored that paint on the northeast corner of Fiske is worn off, but these statements are neither here nor there.

"PLISCODA" ADDED TO TOWN VOCABULARY

A pliscoda was greeted on October 26 at Billings Meeting Hall by a large and enthusiastic audience. A skillful presentation of "The Lost Silk Hat," by Lord Dunsany, opened the program. The scenery was noticeable chiefly by its absence. The play was succeeded by a clog by that artist, Miss Florence Johnson. The program was concluded by Mr. Brown, of the Boston Camp Community Service, who led us in singing the popular camp songs and who made a large hit with all.

THOUSANDS IN LINE

The week before February 22 there were two or three dozen lines to be seen emerging from Billings Meeting Hall. Some of the constituents of these lines had gotten up before midnight and hence were in a dazed condition, as were also those who were selling tickets. It is said that out of the 1600 odd who applied to become part of these lines, but 300 succeeded. These 300 doubtless took paper-bag lunches and slept under the organ.

MISS SCHAEFFER BEHIND FOOTLIGHTS

"Billeted," given by the Debutantes, on December 14, was a fine specimen of what a new Stock Company can do, and was considered by many of* our friends to be the best play ever produced at the Barnswallows Thea-ter. Miss Edith Margaret Smaill coached the performance and should be complimented on its complete success.

The cast was as follows: Betty (Mrs. Terradine)...

Miss R. McClive

Penelope Moon Miss M. Hornbrook Peter Rymill..... Miss E. Schaeffer The Reverend Ambrose Liptrott.

Miss M. Shurtleff Mrs. LiptrottMiss E. Chandler Colonel Preedie Miss S. Sayre Mr. McFarland......Miss K. Scott RoseMiss D. Calvert Mrs. BraceMiss K. Collins

He appeared after the morning service and won the hearts of all by his engaging manner. A reception was given him by Miss Cooke at one of the Woman's Clubs, where he bravely met six or seven hundred of his fellows, the Debs.

"BABUSHKA" VISITS TOWN

One of the most enthusiastic receptions ever accorded any visitor to our town was given to Madame Breshkovsky on the afternoon of February 19. The Little Grandmother of the Russian Revolution made an appeal that reached the heart of her big audience. The following morning she was escorted to service by the Four Hundred in formal dress while an informal dance was done for her at the home of Miss Pendleton by Misses Krupp, Kenyon and Jacoby.

PRIZE FIGHT PLEASES ALL

On March 1 the Smart Set and the Debs indulged in an impromptu prize fight which became more and more involved as the day wore on. The Smart Set began it by rudely On April 24 the Debutantes an- removing the Debs' banner and then asking them to find it. As no one

Disinterested spectators had their collars and side-combs unceremoniously removed, while intimate friends scratched maps of their displeasure on each other's countenances. The Younger Set-bless their little hearts!-tried nobly to help their friends the Debs and were prevented only because there wasn't room for them underneath. Gym. bloomers and taxi-drivers figured conspicuously in the Grand Finale. The results were such that a general

BARNARD AND KINGSBURY VICTORS

The enterprising Debutantes provided a complete surprise for the community on the evening of May 15 at the usual gathering of warblers. It is even stated that some of the Four Hundred were so entirely in ignorance of what was about to come off that they remained out on the lake while the whole show was going on and later became incensed at certain of the Debs for not warning them. But this is neither here nor there. As soon as the crowds had settled down to quiet enjoyment of the scene, the crimson banner was seen swinging up the road to the accompaniment of a new marching song, created by the Misses Stewart and Holmes. No sooner had the Debs taken their wonted place on the steps than Father Time himself appeared, gowned in sheets and made up by Miss Russell (the other one) to exactly resemble one so ancient. With a sigh of combined age and make-up the gentleman, who was recognized from his walk as Miss E. T. Holmes, proceeded to narrate the Debs' illustrious history, with illustrations from life, who appeared at his bidding. Miss Charlotte Hassett, formerly in charge of the Debs in an executive way, was the first to arrive, and she charmingly led the eager ones in the explosion which was once known as the Younger Set's cheer. Then came the lovely Miss Halsted, who gamboled in followed by her famous pack of hares. Even as she left, came Miss Cooke, the present incumbent, with husky victors in the athletic contests in her wake. (It was noticed that the Four Hundred sniffed scornfully here.)

And now an expectant hush came over all. Father Time bade the obliging bugler to buge, but the latter forgot his cue and stared foolishly before him. For fully five minutes Father Time endeavored to hold the situation. His efforts were growing feebler and feebler but he was spared utter ignominy. For suddenly a motor glided up and out therefrom sprang the Misses Helen Barnard and Alison Kingsbury, about whom the fuss was all made in the first place. To the tune of shouts and cheers from everyone present these popular ladies were proclaimed the Leaders of next year's Society, and the Debutantes, pleased with their selection and with their manner of announcing it went home to pursue the academic. We print the new song below :

We're 1920 marching by,

Our crimson banner borne on high! We'll bring true honor to our college As others have in years gone by! Devotion strong Through ages long, We pledge to yon, Wellesley, alway! Loyal service true We will render you

As we cheer-'20 for aye! '20 for

2000 GUESTS SIT ON BANK

For the fourth time in history a pageant was given by all loyal members of the town to unfold the mysteries of the Trees before the public. About two thousand guests were entertained for the event, the proceeds going to the Red Cross. "A Song of Waban" was the title. It was twice presented on—May 31 and June 7.

Social Notes

Miss Isabel Boyd of the Four Hundred has been conducting a market in the basement of one of our prominent buildings for the purpose of getting rid of Math, books and Syllabi. In spite of the fact that she almost did not make enough money to pay for her signs, the entire community owes her a vote of thanks for her unselfish but convenient impulse. The "odd" members of our com-

The "odd" members of our community won the farm contest on September 21 and were presented with a string bearing a cabbage and two potatoes beautifully arranged.

October 6 was a day of nervousness on the part of the Four Hundred and Debutantes. At four P. M. the Quadrangle became the scene of screaming and embracing, while greenhouses grew on everyone.

At the recent polling Miss Margaret Cooke was elected leader of the Debutantes, defeating Miss Frances Brooks, who did not seem to mind.

Mr. Coningsby Dawson of England and Newark spoke to us for several hours on the evening of November 13. He was admired by all.

A fine production of Monsieur Beaucaire was given on November 29 by our local Stock Company. We are more than proud of the histrionic Miss Ellin, who was truly convincing in her acting. Between acts, Miss E. R. King vivaciously sold posters for the United Drive fund.

On Mondav evening, Dec. 2, our townsfolk had the privilege of hearing Mr. Louis Calvert, an English actor of high repute, who lectured on the Shakespearcan drama.

On December 5, Miss Helen Wilson of the Smart Set was the recipient of a call from her cousin, who appeared in an acroplane and excited the rest of the community in a manner hitherto imprecedented. He circled over the public buildings and left a pleasant and enviable impression behind.

December saw several resignations from the Woman's Clubs on the ground that they were not democratic. The Clubs did not like it, but have now become accustomed to it and pretend not to mind. It is the opinion of those who are versed in these matters, especially those in the Clubs, however, that the departed ones are going to miss the refrigerators more than the companionship.

Miss Grace Bissell, formerly nurse at the City Hospital and a member of the Wellesley Unit, related some of her experiences in France on January 17.

Although Radcliffe won here and we lost there in the Debates of March 15, our town is proud of the attitude shown by our prominent citizens in respect to the League of Nations and Free Trade.

The village stock company presented two plays on March 21 and 22. The village is proud to name the play-wrights as citizens of this community. The stock company was assisted in their interpretation by the writers themselves.

On April 11 Mr. Robert Nichols read to us from his own poems and from the works of other war poets, some of them his friends. His appeal was especially strong, as he has been wounded twice, suffering shellshock the second time, and is the only member of that little group of English war poets who has come through the war alive.

Due to the superhumanly brilliant playing of the Four Hundred on April 26, the magnificent "nine" of the Debutantes was defeated in indoor baseball by the close margin of 47 to 19.

"Marina" was presented by the Shakespeare Club on the successive evenings of April 26 and 27. The audiences were large, and enthusiastic over the greater part of the cast.

Among the famous visitors to our town, came the poet, Vachel Lindsay, on the evening of February 6. He emphasized the fact that poetry should appeal to the ear, by singing most of his poems in a very original fashion. Long will we remember the Congo and forever boom it.

Our community had the pleasure on December 5 of listening to Sir John Foster Frazer lecture on the Great War,

Miss Edith Wynne Matthison again come to our town on May 16, and enchanted her audience with her reading.

SPORT ON GREEN

On May 5 the old grew young, and the young staved young to frolic on the Green. Children danced around may-poles, played tag, sucked candy and flocked about Miss Emmavail Luce where she was crowned May Oueen.

Dear Miss Bean: I am a member of the Social Service Bureau in my town and I am at present engaged in placing people out with their friends. This is my problem: Miss A wants Society 1, but she also wants to be with Miss B. who desires Society 2. Now Miss A doesn't want Society 2, but she can't say so, and Miss C, who wants Society 3, wants particularly to be with both Miss A and Miss B. On the other hand, Miss D and Miss E, who are bosom friends, are afraid they will be separated because Miss D's second cousin on her mother's side belonged to Society 4 and Miss E's sister-in-law's niece belonged to Society 5. What shall 1 do?

ACADEMIC SPLENDOR

The afternoon of May 10 a rakish procession, strangely familiar, came out of the Shakespeare Club and walked, strutted, waddled, sidled or scooted, according as they felt was compatible with their appearance, to Billings. Amused members of the Higher Strata followed, each one trying to see which one was supposed to be she. After each member of the procession had found her seain Billings a noise arose outside, the voice of left out Debutantes who would not be comforted. A scufile ensued during which a shade or two was broken and the Four Hundred Leader became enraged at a particu-larly energetic Deb, but as soon as order was established by important-looking members of the Smart Set, the show went on undisturbed.

Social Notes---continued

Among the clever musical comedies of the season, "Away Out in Persia' was decidedly the hit of the year. Two performances were given at the Stock Company Opera House, on the evenings of May 9 and 10. The thrilling love tale, set in a background of luxurious oriental finery added to the attraction of the splendid musical numbers.

On the evening of May 24, Tau Zeta Epsilon, one of the Woman's Clubs, gave a charming art exhibit. Copies of masterpieces were shown and admired.

At a teary gathering the other evening the Four Hundred generously gave over their choral seats to the up feelings. Then the Orchestra Debs, who accepted them with rude alacrity. The Children were seen to weep properly when their respective Settlement Workers appeared in the out-going procession and a miserable time was enjoyed by all.

TECHNICAL OBSERVATIONS AT GLEE CLUB

(Genuine write-up by a Tech youth with journalistic misinclinations, who was present.)

The concert began with the scenery and a bugler. The former was done in lilac, with rose overhangings, and the latter was a MAN. Presently the self-possessed members of the Glee Club and Orchestra were wafted in. They stood gracefully for a few minutes tuning up in order to give the audience an opportunity to observe the glorious galaxy of gowns. which adorned each and every one of them and which harmonized startingly with the scenery.

There was a pause; and then from the Orchestra (followed by an understanding burst from the audience) came the good old S. S. B. Everyone stood and gave his or her private rendering of this classic which was the occasion of much applause. "The Dancers" was then rendered by those not in the audience. With an intermission only long enough to allow a murmur of satisfaction and the exit of the singers through two stage doors (part of the scenery) the Orchestra picked up the strains of an unfinished Symphony, evidently beginning where they had left off at the final rehearsal. They finished it, however. During the applause a group of fascinating maids removed the orchestra tools.

Next came the Glee Club, one or two at a time (some clapping), preceded by a beautiful blue velvet robe, in which was the Leader. She took her stand on a small platform and with a slightly professional shrug of ber general architecture started the bunch singing. After three nice little songs, everyone disappeared quietly.

A few minutes were granted the listeners to give vent to their pentcame in and was started upon a series of three lighter classics by another Leader (also a MAN). He rapped smartly with his baton on the music stand which had been arranged there purposely by the maids. (It may be remarked in passing that these maids were exceptionally chic, and always noticed the Reporter.) As is customary the Leader assumed the role of debtor and acknowledged the applause with a graceful bow.

During the next intermission it became necessary to send word to that portion of the audience in which was the Reporter to remain quiet during the show. He was waxing a bit too enthusiastic.

"Snowflakes," by the Glee Club followed; then without more ado, a light Scotch rendition. During this song parts of the personnel of the Glee Club were silent, but they kept up their end nobly by beaming graciously at the audience, notably the Reporter).

The Topical Song was by far the hit of the evening. (The Reporter knew the author.) It presented a trifle gloomy aspect of Wellesley, but was overwhelmingly appreciated by the male members of the audience, the Reporter included. During the encore a lovely maiden appeared and jazzed all by herself in a clever dramatization of the song. She made a large hit with the audience, but a larger one with the Reporter. The Leader smiled en exit, and the maids again cleared the stage for action.

With remarkable unobtrusiveness the Orchestra got on the stage again. This selection was Teutonic and had an unsavory flavor of Hun atrocities. A maid at the door relieved the Prussian atmosphere, however, by smiling at the Reporter, whose imagination was in the act of runing away with him, causing him to wish he had got overseas.

The Glee Club came in to strengthen the Orchestra for the Grand Finale. The Reporter was disconcerted for a moment by the couple on his right, who were childishly sticking postage stamps on the tooprominent coat-tails of the gentleman in front, but he speedily regained his composure. A young girl relieved the MAN at this juncture and put him to shame by conducting the entire efforts of the two clubs in a semiwar song. As a finishing touch the audience arose and thirstily and tune-"woods and waters," after which came the well-known Wellesley yell, rendered in both major and minor keys. The audience was then told by a bald-headed gentleman to remain seated while the seats were being removed. Difficult as this may appear to be it was accomplished. The Reporter knows nothing more as he then began to DANCE.

Editor's Note: [Hereafter there will be a large notice posted at all college activities: Positively No Re-porters Allowed. Since this mis-guided one managed to slip in, it would seem a trifle harsh to consign his efforts to the flames. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.]

PULL AGAIN

Again on May 13 our most prominent members demonstrated the worth of a certain kind of pull. This time it was the Smart Set who took a spring dip in Longfellow Pond and the Debs who blushed as victors. Meantime two Chandlers, several Ludingtons as well as numerous Metzgers sported around enthusiastically while onlookers searched in Set claims to have clawed seven vain for the Misses Cox, Gaston, countenances during the recent con-Holmes and Gregory.

HIGH-CLASS MOVIES

The first movies ever seen in our town were given at the Barn Theater on November 6. The seating capac-ity was crowded both afternoon and evening, and from the behavior of the audience it could be seen that the affair was a huge success. There was a hushed silence as the villain began to lick his chops and a tremor of fear as the hefty heroine leaned almost too far out the window. As the picture drew to an end and it be uncultivated in a rising crescendo. became evident that the heroine was going to forget her troubles and actually accept the hero, after calling him names for three reels, a smile went around among the spectators, and they sank back in their seats with a feeling of relief, staying only long enough to make sure that the hero agreed to being accepted.

Between the break-downs Miss Margery Borg, gowned in her usual clothes, made stirring speeches for the Red Cross.

ADDRESSES THRONGS

The community has been very fortunate of late in having the oppor-tunity of hearing really famous speakers. On November 11, Mr. Hugh Walpole, the novelist, gave a brief review of his life and spoke on short-story writing. Captain James Norman Hall, the aviator, gave a lecture on "The Romance of Flying" on November 21, while on the 24, Vicente Blasco Ibanez, the famous Spanish novelist, spoke to an interacted aviance interested audience.

FIRST TIME IN FOUR YEARS

The afternoon of February 6 was an interesting one. Telephones fignred conspicuously and many youths in Boston and vicinity were kept on the ragged edge of suspense for hours at a time. Finally Miss Barnard negotiated a deal with the town physician and the party was on. In spite of goloshes the Four Hundred managed to convey themselves to the Hotel Somerset where they were met by every known variety of man and many previously unknown. Society's leaders graced the occasion, among whom may be mentioned Miss Barnard and Miss Stevens, both of whom shook hands with any who desired it. Miss Tufts and Mr. Davenport sat at one end of the spacious room and Mr. and Mrs. Halsted, parents of the noted Miss H., were seen in the balcony. The decorations were renark-able for their simplicity, and the gowns, many of which had been on exhibition for months before, beggar description. Between two numbers a member of the orchestra instructed the young ladies in regard to a personal matter of where they should leave their goloshes overnight, after which the charming couples broke up.

Social Notes

The Settlement Workers, led by Miss Katharine Taylor, are working hard on the Village Improvement Campaign. It is said that the 320 survivors of the new system of admittance are more or less pleased with the results themselves.

The Four Hundred this year are as confident as others have been before them that they know quite how to run the community. Miss Charlotte Hassett has already begun her talks to the Suburbans, while Miss Frances Brooks goes to Church every morning and remains in the Missionary Office when she can.

A few days ago a certain select number of our community were told by the Higher Stratas that they already knew enough and more to graduate, and were promised small six. keys as a reward upon the receipt of five dollars.

Our town went 100% for the Red Cross, thanks to the stump speeches of courageous ones and the ardent canvassing of good-natured ones.

At a meeting held in time-honored Billings Hall, the Four Hundred voted forcefully to have a respectable Prom and the kind of Commencement that everyone dreads but feels she must have for the sake of the family.

On the nights of December 12 and 13, the Phi Sigma Club gave a Christmas Masque to an exclusive audience. The leaders of society were all present.

On the evening of September 25, an extraordinary funeral was held on the Church steps, at which there was both wailing and passing around of blanks. We hope that no one drew a blank.

The Debutantes held a secret elec-tion on October 2, at which one or two of the Four Hundred were present. Miss Ludington, the leader of the Debs, received a beautiful bouquet from the generous Four Hundred and an encouraging telegram.

On October 11 the community had the honor of hearing four college presidents, all of whom spoke at the same time. They were careful, however, not to interrupt each other.

The Smart Set, who are the smartest this community has seen for two years, gave a pleasant serenade to Democratic Ticket for General everyone on the night of October 24. ager of World Reconstruction. They sang a heautiful song to the Four Hundred which depicited feelingly their interest in them.

Mr. Robert Frost, the poet, gave a reading from his poems on October 3I.

Personals

Miss Florence Kite received a flunk note the other day by mistake. She took a good look at it for curiosity's sake, so that she could tell when her friends got them.

Miss Alison Kingsbury thinks that she has been elected to Society Phi Beta Kappa but as she has not seen her marks for some time she thinks there must be some mistake.

Miss Marion Bastedo is planning to walk home to Detroit for the Christmas vacation in order to save railroad fare.

Miss Katharine Adams was seen in a racer of the newest make the other evening.

Miss Emma Anderson announces that she will limit her activities to chairman of no more than four committees and member of no more than

Miss Ruth Baetjer announces that she has moved to the elevator table for the rest of the year.

Miss Helen Strain managed the Dartmonth Concert and announces that she would like to do it again.

Miss Rachel Jones expects to make a tour of Europe after graduation during which she will make addresses on "The Improvement of Man."

Miss Elisabeth Lustig having been elected the cleverest young lady in the Four Hundred is trying to live down her reputation.

Miss Elizabeth Manchester has undertaken the reformation of her friend, Miss E. T. Holmes, and it is said that the results are encouraging

Miss Eleanor Clark has applied for a position on the staff of the Pathé Weekly, whose slogan she admires.

Miss Frances Brooks, who is President of the town's religious organization, is trying not to be frivolous and desires her friends to cease reminding her of former days when she had time to go on house parties.

Miss Margaret Wiedenbach is suffering from shifting scenery. Miss Katharine Taylor has the Younger Set very well trained; it is rumored that she had five birthday parties.

The Misses Alison Kingsbury and E. T. Holmes announce that they desire after graduation to be no longer connected with scenery or jokes, respectively.

Miss Dorothy Ellin has announced that she is willing to run on the Democratic Ticket for General Man-

Miss Eleanor Skerry announces that she will hold office hours for objectors to the Snoozc's policy.

Miss Ruth Roche is leaving for Nova Zembla as a medical missionary.

Miss Elizabeth Spaulding gave a tea the other day for all the Busi-ness Managers of the leading Technology periodicals. She enjoyed it greatly.

Miss Helen Barnard is distributing nuts among her friends, evidently feeling that there are not enough of them around.

Miss Charlotte Wood has contributed some rare specimens of rodents to the Bronx Park Zoological Gardens.

Miss Agnes McLouth, the seriousminded spinster of Beebe, has decided to go to Arabia after graduation to do research work for the Department of Biblical History.

Miss Dorothea Mepham is making a great success of her attempt to reform conditions in the village. Miss Ruth Bolgiano has written an expansive paper for the improvement of the Higher Stratas. which has been published in our rival, the "Extravaganza."

Miss Helen Bailey is leaving for China as soon as she can decide whether to go there or to India.

Miss Ethel Schaeffer has discovered to her horror that her fiance is cracked.

Miss Jeanne Halsted announces that she will tolerate no jokes in any publications on her inability to see puns.

Margaret McNaughten has Miss applied for the position of General Housekeeper at the White House as soon as one is needed.

Miss Emily Edwards, of the Town Fire Brigade, announces that she will supply the community with hose.

Miss Dorothy Bell has accepted a position in high-class vaudeville.

Miss V. Ridley Berryman chaper-oned her flock to Natick for a small repast the other evening.

Miss Martha Richardson announces that she has not announced her engagement.

Miss Emily Case has become an excellent sleight-of-hand performer. She gave a demonstration before a gathering of the Four Hundred the other evening and was loudly acclaimed.

Miss Jeannette Beall has returned from New York for a few days.

Miss Josephine Clark, the tragedian, announces that she would like an inspiration for a bit of light comedy

Miss Marion Gaston is in Princeton for a brief stay.

Miss Elizabeth Cox has removed the band from her head as her intellect was becoming too confined.

Miss Margaret Gray caught a burglar in Claffin the other night. The entire community is indebted to her foresight and bravery.

Miss Carolyn Willyoung, the playwright, visited the Natick Delmonico's for dinner the other evening.

Personals---continued

Miss Marjorie Shurtleff attended Church the other morning. Miss Shurtleff will be remembered as the creator of Rev. Ambrose Liptrott, in one of the dramatic hits of last season.

It is rumored that Miss Elizabeth Blake is thinking of renting the West Woods for the season for purposes of letting off steam, as her usual place of abode gives her no opportunities for this.

Miss Florence Winner has not yet recovered from the green suit.

Miss Ruth Baetjer lately appeared before the public with a bruised countenance. The coincidence that her Club was at that time holding initiations is of course a fancied one.

Miss Helen Barnard has arranged to come to meals fifteen minutes ahead of time in order to be able to go out with the rest.

It is rumored that Miss Hart is considering the purchase of an eartrumpet for purposes of hearing Miss Scott.

Miss Edith Williams has accepted the position of nurse to Miss E. Bancroft.

Miss Margery Borg has accepted a few dozen invitations for the holidays, but she announces that she expects to spend a quiet vacation.

Miss Elizabeth Peale is suffering from the Snooze.

Miss Rachel Rathbun ran down to Woonsocket between classes the other day and took all her friends with her.

Miss Eleanor Skerry accepted three invitations to lunch recently on the same day.

"Hungry?"

"Yes."

"C'm on down to Lake Waban." "Why?"

"Oh, for some college ice."

"But, my dear, it's Sundae."

"Well, then, I guess we'll wait for the weak daze."

DARTMOUTH IN TOWN

On November 26, a startling event took place. The Dartmouth Musical Clubs combined with local talent to offer a concert of unusual merit. They combined after the concert also, when a dance was held, which Miss Tufts chaperoned.

A TRUE TALE

A sun-bronzed face pops from the walk,

And peers at you and me; It is a triffe startling—but,

You surely must agree The tunnel we possess these days Adds snappiness along our ways, trudge along the moonlit walks, When all at once, here at my feet, I see a most familiar head

Bob up serene and scan the street.

There's nothing strange in this, my dears,

For, low, beneath the campus sod, Our President—to view the Plant— Doth take her evening promenade.

THE POWER BEHIND THE LANTERN

There is a man in Farnsworth And he is wondrous clever; The Tuscan and the Romanesque— He gets 'em twisted never.

He knows the Bluebeard tombstone Down at the Erectheum; To tell a trefoil from a cusp He doesn't have to see 'em.

He spots the flying buttress on The Baths of Caracalla, And "Early Christian" quails him not, Nor to his cheek bring pallor.

But the he is so learned In brands of architecture— The sweetest words he utters are— "Don't let that quiz upset yuh!"

Hints to the Hopeless

Miss M. T. Bean will be glad to answer questions pertaining to difficult problems. Anyone desiring to know anything under the sunneed not be reticent. "M. T. knows." Dear Miss Bean:

Can you tell me where I may buy one of those flat tasseled hats which are so commonly worn around here? I have tried everywhere to get one, but the stores in town are all out of stock. I thought perhaps you might be able to direct me to the source of supply, as I have taken a fancy to them.

A Newcomer.

If you send in an order now and watt a few years, you will have no trouble in getting one. I should advise paying for it each year in semiannual instalments.

Dear Miss Bean:

I am a politician of mild convictions, but I find it difficult to see that my ideas are carried out in a certain body, because I am engaged in subduing it most of the time. What would you suggest?

A. A. Russell.

Have the town fire whistle blown whenever you find that they are getting away from your control. They will thus be diverted for the time,

ATHLETIC HONORS FOR FOUR HUNDRED

On November 1 the Four Hundred again carried away the athletic honors of this section of the country. Miss Hering, gowned in a sweater and sport shoes, spoke beautifully of everyone who sat around her.

THE YEARLY RADIATOR

OUR TOWN FORTY YEARS AGO

(Extracts from the Book of Regulations of Wellesley College in 1876)

"Students will punctually attend all College Exercises, viz.: Prayers, Recitations, Bible Classes, Chapel Service on Sunday and such other exercises as shall be officially appointed."

"Students will neither make nor receive visits during any religious service or from 8:30 P. M. until after breakfast."

"Fifteen minutes morning and evening will be observed as strictly silent time. Its use will be voluntary with each student, but she must be alone, and sacredly regard the rights of others."

"Students will neither join nor leave a department without permission from the President."

"Students will not be permitted to attend places of public amusement without permission from the President."

"Excepting the parents, brothers and sisters, students will receive no visitors without presenting to the President letters of approval from the parents or guardian, and receiving a note of permission, to be left at the office upon the arrival of the friend."

"Students come to the College pledged in honor neither to buy nor receive in any manner whatsoever any confectionery or eatables of any kind not provided for them by the College."

"Every study parlor must have a thermometer, which should never be above sixty-eight degrees."

"The students are expected to make it a point of honor to preserve unblemished their beautiful home."

"The gas must not be allowed to smoke." (Even the gas!)

"No papers nor rubbish of any kind should be thrown from the doors or windows."

"The price for board and tuition will be $250 a year." (1s it possible?)

"Extraordinary circumstances excepted, they will receive visitors on Saturdays only."

"Students will carefully refrain from unnecessary noise in the corridors or other public places in the building."

"THE LJBRARY: The students are reminded that these valuable books are entrusted to their safe keeping, in confidence that they will be preserved in a manner befitting a library used by young ladies."

"Ink must not be used in the Library excepting by the librarians."

Miss Shackford (reading): "She had ruby lips, sapphire eyes, pearly teeth"—quite a stony countenance, I should say!

Occupational Disease.

Mrs. Diff—How's your good husband getting along.

Mrs. Biff—Fine! Gone to work again at good pay.

Mrs. Diff (astonished)—But 1 thought he had St. Vitus dance?

Mrs. Biff—He has; but he learned to play a saxophone and then got a swell job with a jazz orchestra in a cabaret.

Spaulding and the possibility of another ad

Jeanne (reading list of newly elected Legenda officers) : "Elizabeth Spaulding. Bus. Manager." Oh. are they going to have a flivver?

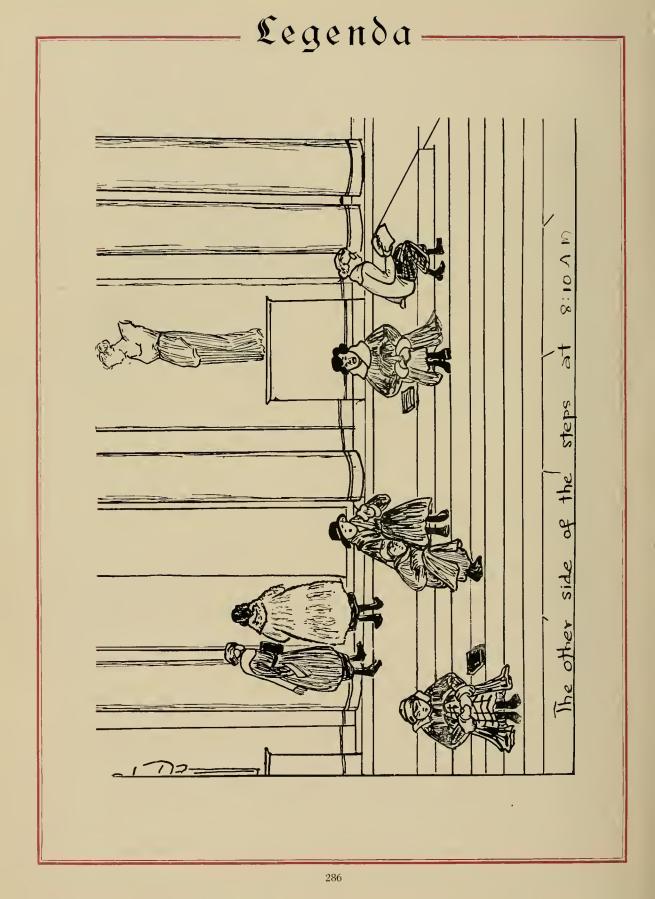

Freshman (to Mr. Monaghan) : 1 haven't taken the canoe test, so will you please give me a sponsor?

New Boating Rule: All those wishing to embrace in canoes will please hug the shore.

Harassed News Reporter (to another H. N. R.): Did you get the write up of that food lecture?

Other (calmly): No. we don't need to. He is going to give us a digest of it afterwards.

Kindhearted Mother (to Anna Baetjer the first week of college): Your hadge says "Ask me"—will you tell me where the station is?

Baetj: Right here, madam.

K. M. (handing out tip): You are very kind. Keep this.
