POETRY.

The Revenge of the Flowers.

On her soft and downy pillow
Lies a maiden bound in sleep;
Drooping fell her long, dark lashes,
And her cheeks are purpling deep.

Gleaming stands a crystal chalice
On its frame of osier wrought:
Flowers fresh, the cup adorning,
Spread their petals, perfume fraught.

Sultry vapor fills the chamber,
Brooding on the languid air;
Closed the lattice, fled the zephyrs,
As they feared the summer there.

While around still silence reigneth,
Hark! a whisper faint and slight,
From the leaflets and the blossoms,
Murmuring, humming, soundeth light.

From the vase now softly gliding,
Bearing shields, and helmet-crowned,
Woven of the mist their vestments,
Shadowy forms are floating round.

From the rose's couch of crimson
Rises up a lady fair,
Far the gems of dew are flashing
In her quickly waving hair.

From the tiny cowl and sombre
Of the dark-leaved aconite
Leaps a bold and fearless rider,
Sword and casque all glittering bright.

Firm his step and high his bearing,
Well-beseeming his array;
On his crest are nodding proudly
Heron-plumes of silver gray.

From the sweet and bending lily
Trembling steps a maiden fair:
Light the veil that floats around her—
Dewy web in summer air.

From the Turk's cap, fierce advancing,
Strides a haughty Moor and bold;
Gleaming bright, the golden crescent
Lights his dark-green turban's fold.

Stately moves a sceptre bearer
From the crown imperial deep:
Following from the rich blue iris,
Heavy-armed, his rangers sweep.

From the bowing, pale narcissus
Flies, with threatening brow, a youth;
Many a fiery kiss he presses
On the slumbering maiden's mouth.

Now around her couch they gather,
Circling wildly dance and sing,
Sad the words and low the cadence
Of the song they join to sing.

"Maiden—maiden! thou hast torn us
From our long-loved dwelling place—
Brought us, cruel one! to perish
In thy fair but hated vase.

"Happy, once, and glad we rested
On the bosom of the earth,
Where, through leafy arbors stealing,
Sunbeams kissed us in our mirth.

"Where the kindly breezes fanned us,
Wandering in our pleasant bowers;
Where by night we often sported,
Bathed in dew and gentle showers.

"Now amid the turbid waters
Sink we fast and soon must die;
Maiden—thoughtless, cruel maiden!—
Vengeance, vengeance draweth nigh!"

Hushed the song; the band, now bending,
Close the sleep-chained maiden round;
With the sometimes dreary silence
Comes again the murmuring sound.

List the hum of whispering voices!
How the maiden's cheek now glows,
While her foes all breathe about her
Breath that burns as round it flows!

Golden opens the eye of morning,
With the night the elves are fled;
On her couch still lies the maiden—
Sleeping now as sleep the dead.

On her cheek the rose-hue lingers,
She herself a faded flower;
With her drooping sisters died she,
Through their fatal perfume's power.

AN AWFUL MUDDLE.—A correspondent of the Columbia (S. C.) Times gives the following melancholy illustration of the uncertainty of the types. A young gentleman by the name of Conkey having been united in the holy bonds of wedlock, sent the marriage notice, with a verse of his own composition to the printer for publication, as follows:

"MARRIED.—At Gosham, July 28, A. Conkey, Esq., Attorney at Law, to Miss Euphemia Wiggins, both of Gosham.

"Love is the union of two hearts
That beat in softest melody:
Time, with its ravages, imparts
No bitter fusion to its ecstasy."

Mr. Conkey looked with much anxiety for the issue of the Gosham Sentinel, in order to see his name in print. The compositor into whose charge the notice was placed happened to be on a spree at the time, and made some wonderful blunders in setting it up, thus:

MARRIED.—At Gosham, July 38, A. Donkey Esq. Eternally at Law, to Epeuhemia Piggins, both of Gosham.

"Jove is a onion of two heads
That belts in softest melody;
Time with its cabbages imparts
No bitterfeed to an extra day."

LITTLE HORSES—Four horses, alleged to be the smallest in the world, were recently taken to Windsor Castle for presentation to Queen Victoria. They are from Africa, and perfectly symmetrical, being all of a dark brown color, and the tallest of them scarcely thirty-one inches in height.

The human mind is so fond of striking contrasts, that when a man is praised for some extremely high qualities, the first thought of many people is to ascertain what are his lowest ones.

A ROMANTIC LOVE STORY.—The Count de St. Croix, belonging to one of the noblest families in France, became engaged to a lady, his equal in position and fortune, and famous for her beauty. Shortly after the marriage day was appointed, the Count was ordered to the siege of Sebastopol. He girded on his sabre, and at the head of his regiment marched to the battlefield. During his absence it happened that his beautiful fiancee contracted the small pox, and after hovering between life and death recovered, to find her beauty lost. The disease had assumed the most virulent character, and left her not only disfigured, but seamed and scarred to such an extent that she became hideous to herself, and resolved to pass the remainder of her days in the strictest seclusion. A year passed away, when one day the Count, immediately upon his return to France, accompanied by his valet, presented himself at the residence of his betrothed and solicited an interview. This was refused.—He however, with the persistence of a lover pressed his suit, and finally the lady made her appearance, muffled in a double veil. At the sound of her voice the Count rushed forward to embrace her; but stepping aside she tremblingly told him the story of her sorrows, and burst into tears. A smile broke over the Count's handsome features, as, raising his hands above, he exclaimed, "It is God's work—I am blind!" It was even so; when gallantly leading his regiment to the attack, a cannon ball had passed so closely by his eyes that, while it left their expression unchanged, and his countenance unmarked, it had robbed him forever of sight. It is almost unnecessary to add that their marriage was shortly afterwards solemnized. It is said to this day may often be seen at the Emperor's receptions an officer leaning upon the arms a lady closely veiled.—French Paper.

"FATHER" Maguire, of Pittsburg, was, many years ago, very popular, both in his private and ministerial life, with all classes and denominations. He was a genial, warm-hearted old Irishman, fond of a joke, and the following was one of several good ones on himself, which he relished very much in telling:

He was riding out on the Butler road one hot summer's day, when he stopped at a house by the way-side to get a drink of water and rest awhile. While in conversation with the woman of the house, he picked up a Bible, and asked her if she read it often.

"Yes," she replied. "I have read it through often."

"And do you understand all you have read in it, my good woman?" said his reverend.

"Yes, I do," said he.

"Well," said he, "I have been reading and studying it all my life, and I find a great deal in it which I cannot understand."

"Well," said she; "if you are a fool, is that any reason that I should be?"

Sure enough, What could Father Maguire say to that?

PASTURING HORSES.—Few of the writers who have discoursed upon the management of horses have said anything about the summer grazing of these animals. Yet there are some points connected with it well worthy of consideration. Youatt says:

"The spring grass is the best physic that can be given to a horse. To a degree which no artificial aperient or diuretic can reach, it carries off every humor that may be lurking about the animal. It fixes down the roundness of the legs, and, except there be some bony enlargement restores them to their original form and strength. There is nothing so refreshing to their feet as the damp coldness of the grass into which they are turned, and nothing so calculated to remove every enlargement of sprain, as the gentle exercise the animal voluntarily takes while his legs are exposed to the process of evaporation that is taken place from the herbage on which he treads. The experience of ages has shown that is the most skillful physic of veterinaries. It is the renovating process of nature when art of man fails."

PLANT ONLY GOOD TREES AND VINES. Most people are apt to look to the price of Trees and Vines, rather than to the goodness, variety, or form and health of the article, purchased. The purchasing of cheap trees, or trees in lots, for cheapness, is the poorest kind of economy; better, indeed it is for a purchaser to go to a Nurseryman of good standing, pay the highest price, and get a choice article. The increase of the quantity and quality of the fruit, even in its first and second years, will pay ten times the cost of a good article; while a poor one requires even more care to save it, and the crop is mere nothing.—Cal. Farmer.

A DISTINGUISHED friend of ours says that "poetry is everybody's coin which one man jingles." But we are afraid that it is generally a coin jingled most by those who have no other to jingle.

A CLERGYMAN ON THE THEATER.—In sober truth, it redounds to the credit of human nature, and to essential purity of art, to the wholesomeness of public amusements, and the self-elevating character of the theater, that under this terrible reputation and moral eclipse—deserted by the good and cherished by the evil—the drama has maintained a decency, exerted an influence, and produced a class not indictable, however hypocritically we may say so, by the ordinary standards of society, but only by the special class who seek to maintain a dogmatic standard.—The voices of the theater have universally been those of the time—no more, no worse, bad enough. The theater has had no voice of its own, like trade, with its fraud and perjury; like the church, with hypocrisy and arrogance. The mirror of bad times, it has reflected the vices that passed before it, not those that it originated.

Drunkenness has carried its victims, licentiousness its votaries into its precincts. Profanity and coarseness from the pit and boxes, have required profanity and coarseness from the stage, while vulgarity and ignorance have demanded rant and fustian. What is the theater, that we should expect it to be wise and moral, and pure, and reverential, to an audience, that, by the theory of the class I address, cares little for these qualities, and when it has no character to lose by any pandering it may practice to the degraded tastes of the rabble or the reckless? Were the church itself frequented only by the ignorant and wicked, how long do you imagine the pastors would be pure and the doctrines sound? No interest, no class can bear the withdrawal of the virtuous portion of society. The theater has borne it quite as well as the church would, as the state of religion in Mexico or in France, even in portions of Protestant Germany might testify.—Rev. Dr. Bellows.

AN INCIDENT OF LIFE IN THE GOLD REGIONS.—Among the deep defiles of the Rocky mountains, lately, a company of men stood around the new made grave of a dead companion. With heads uncovered, they listened attentively to the words of the preacher as he offered up a prayer. While in the midst of it, one of the company discovered "the color" in the earth at his feet, thrown up to make room for the remains of the deceased. In a loud whisper he communicated the rather exciting intelligence to his companion. All heard it, even the clergyman, who, suspending his prayer, opened his eyes to see the auditory scatter in every direction to stake off gold claims. Calling in a loud voice to stake him off a "claim," he reclosed his eyes, hastily concluded his prayer, and started off on a run to join his fellows in securing a claim.—Atlantic Paper.

ADVANTAGES OF POVERTY AND ADVERSITY.—You wear out old clothes.—You are not troubled with many visitors. You are excused from making calls.—Bores do not bore you. Sponges cannot haunt your table. Itinerant bands do not play opposite your window. You avoid the nuisance of serving on juries. No one thinks of presenting you with a testimonial. No tradesman irritates you by asking, "Is there any other little article to-day, sir?" Begging letter writers leave you alone. Impositors know it is useless to bleed you. You practice temperance. You swallow infinitely less poison than others. You are saved many a deception—many a headache; and, lastly, if you have a true friend in the world, you are sure, in a very short space of time, to discover the agreeable fact.

NEWPORT has been excited with a buried money mystery. A rock was discovered at Codrington's Grove, upon which was some kind of an inscription, and this being removed or lifted, a piece of gold was found underneath. It was of antique coinage, and worth about $10. The discoverers thought it was a specimen only of a large amount buried by Gibb's the pirate, but all their digging has revealed no more.

A LADY making inquires of a boy about his father, an intemperate man, who had been sick for some time, asked whether he had regained his appetite.—"No ma'am," replied the hopeful "not exactly—his appetite is very poor, but his drinkette is as good as ever."

"I SAY, Sambo, does ye know what makes de corn grow so fast when you put the manure on it?" "No, I don't hardly." "Now, I'll jist tell you. When de corn begins to smell de manure, it ob, de like de fumery, so hurries out ob de ground and gits up high as possible, so as not to breathe de bad air."

WHY should a young lady refuse to wed a Son of Temperance? Because he might refuse to sup porter.

The difference between a speech and an essay should be something like that between a field of battle and a parade.

ORIGIN OF WINE.—The Persians tell the following story: Jemsheed was the first who discovered wine. He was immoderately fond of grapes and desired to preserve some, which were placed in a large vessel and lodged in a vault for future use. When the vessel was opened, the grapes had fermented; the juice, in this state, was so acid, that the king believed it must be poisonous; he had some vessels filled with it, and poison written upon each; these were placed in his room. It happened that one of his favorite ladies was affected with nervous headache; the pain distracted her so much that she desired death; observing a vessel with poison written on it, she took it and swallowed the contents. The wine—for such it had become—overpowered the lady, who fell down in a sound sleep and awoke much refreshed. Delighted with the remedy, she repeated the doses so often that the monarch's poison was all drunk. He soon discovered this, and forced the lady to confess what she had done. A quantity of wine was made, and Jemsheed and all his court drank of the new beverage, which is to this day known in Persia by the name of the delightful poison.

THOMAS MOORE.—He was a very well-dressed, bright, sparkling-looking little man. It is a disenchanting phrase to apply to a sentimental poet; but I must say, in his general appearance, there was something that very nearly approximated to what is now denominated as "jolly." He had a dark and most vivacious eye, hair of the same color, and in sufficient abundance, glossy and nicely arranged; a broad commanding forehead; a complexion fresh, clear, and ruddy; small, but well defined features; a mouth that seemed made alone for mirth and brimming smiles; an extraordinary play and expression of countenance, whose changeable variety yet ever betrayed the genius within; a quick, brisk, active gait; merry, joyous laugh; and the generally diffused impress of a happy, easy, healthy man—one contented with the lot he had in life, and in perfect amity and peace with those about him. Such was the aspect Moore presented when I first saw him.—From Traits of Character.

GOOD ADVICE.—Girls, let us tell you a stubborn fact. No young woman ever looks so well to a sensible man, as when dressed in a plain, neat, modest attire, without a single ornament about her person. She looks then as though she possessed worth in herself, and needed no artificial rigging to enhance her value. If a young woman would spend as much time in cultivating her mind, training her temper, and cherishing kindness, meekness, mercy, and other good qualities, as most of them do in extra dress and ornaments, to increase their personal charms, she would at a glance be known among a thousand—her character would be read in her countenance. That's so.

PRINTERS' errors are sometimes laughable. A young clergyman printed a sermon, the subject of which was the necessity for moderate and rational recreation, in which occurred the passage, "Men should work and play too." The simple want of a stroke across the t ruined it, and the religious world was scandalized by reading, "Men should work and play loo."

"I STILL LIVE."—Daniel Webster, on his death-bed, exclaimed: "I Still Live!" Wau-ke-taw, Chief of the Yuba Indians; recently reported dead by the Marysville Democrat, writes:

"SIR:—You make paper say me dead. Me no dead—me live. My sister he dead—my sister muchee dry. Tell 'em make paper say Wau-ke-taw no dead. My wife, Sue, got sick hand, but Wau-ke-taw no dead.

"Yours, good Injun, WAU-KE-TAW."

"WELL, Dinah," said a would be belle to a black girl, "they say beauty soon fades, but do you see any of my bloom fading? Now, tell me plainly, without any compliments."

"Oh, no, missa, but den me kinder tink—"
"Think what, Dinah?—you're bashful."
"Oh, no, me no bashful, but den me kinder tink as how missa don't retain her color quite so well as colored lady."

A PASSENGER train on the Northern Railway, a few days since, ran over an intoxicated fellow on the track. He was so insensible to the magnitude of the misfortune, as to remark to the conductor, while he looked at his lacerated limbs, "This is too bad; I didn't mean to hinder the train."

PEOPLE stare much more at a paper kite, than at a real one.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.—On Monday next the Board of Supervisors will hold their regular meeting at Cacheville.

We are pleased to announce the permanent location of the State Agricultural Society at Sacramento was finally settled, on Wednesday last, by the unanimous voice of the assemblage.

RECOLLECT Valentine's Day comes on next Thursday week. Call and select your valentines in time. You will find all kinds at Raveley's Book and Stationery store.

SILVER ICE BOWL.—We had the pleasure the other day of handling the fine Silver Ice Bowl presented to Z. Gardiner, proprietor of the Eagle Steam Flour Mill at this place, by the State Agricultural Society of California last year. We have often said that it was the best mill in the State and our words have been confirmed by the above.

NOTICE.—By reference in another column to the advertisement of the California Steam Navigation Company, will be found the great reduction in freight from San Francisco and Sacramento to Knight's Landing. Prices are now from San Francisco to Knight's Landing, $6.00 per ton, and from Sacramento to Knight's Landing, $4.00 per ton.

GOOD DRAWING.—The total amount of warrants drawn on the General Fund by the Controller of State since the first day of January is $79,000. We would like to have a chance in the drawing. Can't somebody sell us a ticket cheap.

We would call attention of our readers and the public generally, to the new advertisements in to-day's NEWS:

Cal. Steam Nav. Company; R. H. McDonald & Co., wholesale and retail Druggists, 139 J street, Sacramento; T. W. Strowbridge, Boot and Shoe store and agent for Wheeler & Wilson's sewing machines, corner 5th and J streets, Sacramento; Dale & Co., importers and dealers in Music, Pianos and Brass Instruments, &c., 155 J street, Sacramento; Charles F. Robbins, importer and dealer in Printing Material, Presses &c., 111 and 113 Clay street, San Francisco; Rathbun & Co., dealers in all kinds of Candies, Fruit &c., 141 J street, Sacramento; J. R. Ray, Seed and Nursery Warehouse, 106 J street, Sacramento; O. V. Chapman, wholesale and retail dealer in Clothing and Furnishing Goods, 39 Front, between J and K streets Sacramento. Cash paid for Hides by S. W. Raveley, Knight's Landing.

THE HESPERIAN.—The Hesperian for this month is a very fine and interesting number, giving a description of the great crater of Kilauea, the volcano of Mauna Loa, Hawaii, which is represented in a fine engraving in front of the Magazine.

THE LAST GOVERNMENT LOAN.—“Independent” writes to the Philadelphia North American:

“About $1,200,000 of the remaining portion of the $10,000,000 loan, on which Mr. Cobb had given an extension of thirty days, was paid in New York and in the large cities. Some $2,200,000 was not met. Messrs. Riggs & Co., of this city, who had subscribed $3,000,000 for themselves and other parties, did not complete the payment of the other half, upon the ground that their relations to the Government, and of it to them, were changed since the original subscription, by the ordinance of secession of South Carolina. This reason may have operated on others of the subscribers, who concluded to default rather than pay $100 to redeem obligations which will only bring about $86 in the market. It remains to be seen, however, what view bankers and business men will take of this sort of practice, which heretofore has not been recognized as quite within the rules of strict dealing.”

TRIAL AND CONVICTION OF HOBSON.—The trial of William F. Hobson, for assault to kill Thomas Gardiner, occupied the Court of Sessions all day Monday.—C. Cole and N. Green Curtis conducted the prosecution and Loud & Hereford the defence. The whole morning session was consumed in expounding the following jury: J. N. Gillis, M. T. Crowell, William Johnson, J. H. C. Walmath, T. Terry, James Maddux, Robert Carson, G. W. Colby, M. Torrey, R. Forsyth, J. Carr, and O. F. Anderson. The testimony on the first trial having been published we deem a repetition of no interest. The jury returned into Court about 10 o'clock last evening with a verdict of “Guilty, as charged in the indictment.”—Sac. News.

Roads.

We desire to call the attention of our Board of Supervisors to the fact that a very commendable zeal is now being manifested by our farmers in fencing their land, and that some of the most public thoroughfares are consequently closed, and others are soon likely to be closed unless the necessary and legal steps are taken soon, it will be impossible to travel through the County. Our Express facilities which has now become a necessity and also the U. S. Mail will, on some of the routes through the County have to stop unless public roads are opened.

Now what is to be done to open public roads? So long as the occupants of the land on the route are willing to give the rights of way and make the necessary fences at their own cost—the trouble is not great; but many of them are not willing to do this; some are not able, and hence if damages are awarded to some, all will claim damages and we will have no roads soon in some portions of the most densely populated portions of the County, except the County pays for them. Then, in view of these facts, (and they are facts beyond question,) it becomes the duty of the Board of Supervisors to levy a road tax for this year of sufficient magnitude to open the necessary roads. Let the Board at its sitting next week see to it.

STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—The annual election of officers for the State Agricultural Society, was held on Thursday last at Sacramento. The following were elected: Jerome C. Davis, of Yolo President, O. C. Wheeler, Corresponding Secretary; N. A. H. Ball, Recording Secretary; and A. K. Grim, Treasurer.

BOARD OF MANAGERS.—T. Hansbrow, Dr. Light and Peter Donahue.

VICE PRESIDENTS.—1st District, Abel Stearns; 2d District, Pablo de la G.erra; 3d District, F. F. Fargo and S. J. Hensley; 4th District, M. D. Boruck; 5th District, Dr. Holden and H. Hamilton; 6th District, A. P. Smith, J. F. Morse and A. Runyon; 7th District, A. Haraszthy; 8th District, Jas. T. Ryan; 9th District, John P. Haynes; 10th District, Charles Justus; 11th District, J. R. Nickerson, Mr. Dameron of Placer, and M. Stevens of Yolo. 12th District, J. A. Banks of San Francisco and D. Deniston of San Mateo; 13th District, G. Counts, Samuel Merritt and O. K. Smith; 14th District, Niles Searls, Charles Marsh and F. M. Hawley; 15th District R. J. Walsh and John Boggs; 16th District, A. Heywood; 17th District, Mr. Thompson.

PACIFIC RAILROAD BILL.—W. B. Farwell, the Atta's Washington correspondent, formerly its editor, and now Senator Baker's Secretary, writes under date of Jan. 1st. as follows:

The railroad bill is set for the special order in the Senate for next Wednesday. It is my opinion that it will pass that body just as it came from the House, for it is generally looked upon as a conciliatory Union measure, and there is a disposition on the part of the Senators who are really in favor of preserving the Union, to accept it as such, and to enact it into a law. I believe we can “count noses” enough to ensure its passage now, and unless some unforeseen event occurs, it will probably pass. So much may safely be said on this subject, by way of consolation to the people of the Pacific Coast.

It will be the aim of the friends of the bill to keep it free from any and all amendments, as, however imperfect it may be, amendments will only have the effect of endangering the whole affair, without resulting in any good. The bill is as perfect a one as could be made, all circumstances considered, and no one will embarrass it with amendments, provided he be a true friend to the measure. Gov. Stevens, of Washington territory, is making strenuous efforts to work in his extreme northern route proposition, which, if successful in the Senate, I am fearful will kill the bill in the House. Certainly there is no objection to the proposition in itself, save that in its practical results it would accomplish no good, and may be productive of the failure of the whole.—This, one would think, ought to be sufficient to induce non-action upon the Northern Route proposition at present.

MORE GOLD DISCOVERIES IN WASHOE.—A dispatch from Silver City dated Jan. 25th, says:

Three new and important discoveries have just been made in Gold Hill mining district, Washoe, near Silver City. The Romeo Company struck an extensive and well-defined vein, ten feet in width, of decomposed quartz prospecting large in coarse and in fine gold. The Company is fully organized, and will commence operations immediately for developing the vein and crushing the ore. The Senasco has also proved an extensive vein, very rich in both gold and silver, and the Hewett, a rich vein of both gold and silver bearing quartz, about four feet wide; great excitement; prospecting parties numerous.

GARDEN SEEDS of all kinds for sale at this office.

HOBSON SENTENCED.—Wm. F. Hobson, convicted of an assault to murder Thomas Gardiner, was brought before the Court of sessions Thursday for sentence. His attorney, Frank Hereford, moved for a new trial, and for an arrest of judgment. The motion was overruled. Hobson was then sentenced to two years' imprisonment in the State Prison. After hearing his sentence he asked permission to address the court, and spoke for a considerable length of time, giving a history of his marriage, his subsequent domestic relations, his troubles with Mr. Gardiner, and of the circumstances connected with his recent trial. He reflected on N. Greene Curtis, one of the opposite counsel, and on the press of the city, which he thought was under the control of Mr. Gardiner. His discourse was rather disconnected, dwelling incoherently on the alleged wrongs which he had suffered. At the conclusion of his remarks he was taken in charge by the Sheriff.—Union.

[Communicated.] Roads and Highways.

It is unfortunate for public convenience in many sections of California that few (and in some places no) public roads have been laid out according to law. Hence, frequently the traveling public are compelled to undergo great hardships, which a little foresight in the former acts of the citizens might have rendered wholly unnecessary. There is not as much concession and unanimity in regard to this matter of public roads as there should be. Private interest weighs too heavily against the public good; very often we find that mere caprice prevents the accomplishment of a great public benefit, without any, much less a corresponding equivalent to the private party interested.

Perhaps, in no other section in the State is there fewer public roads (lesse secundeum) than in our county, yet there is no just reason why this is so.

A little more public spirit and concession, (and must we say it, patriotism is wanting.) We hope the people will think of this matter and act according to the interest of the community. If they should their own interests will be augmented. TRAVELERS.

By Order of County Judge.
STATE OF CALIFORNIA, ss.
COUNTY OF YOLO, ss.
In the District Court of the Eleventh Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the County of Yolo,

THE People of the State of California, to John Anderson, greeting:
You are hereby summoned to answer the Complaint of John Koon in said Court, filed against you, within ten days from the service of this writ, exclusive of the day of service, if served on you in this County, but if served on you without said County, then in forty days from such service, exclusive of the day of service, in an action commenced on the 28th day of January, 1861, in said Court.—Who sues to recover the sum of $565 and interest thereon, at six dollars per month, from the 14th day of January, 1861, due upon a promissory note, executed by you, to him, on the 14th May, 1857, for the sum of $300 75, payable one day after date, with interest at six dollars per month until paid, and for his costs and such other relief as to equity belongs.—And you are hereby notified that if you fail to answer the complaint as directed, Plaintiff will demand judgment by default for said sum and costs.
In testimony whereof, I, I. T. Daly, Clerk of the Eleventh Judicial District Court aforesaid, do hereunto set my hand and impress the Seal of said Court, at Office in Cacheville, this 28th day of January, A. D. 1861.
I. T. DALY, Clerk.

HOP ROOTS—FIRST PREMIUM.

J. R. Ray, 106 J Street, Sacramento, has for sale a limited stock of those superior Roots, from his old Hop Yard, thirty miles below Sacramento, where the sample sack was raised that took the first premium at the late Fair of the State Agricultural Society.

As much has been said about male and female plants, and often to mystify the subject, it may be well to say that purchasers of Roots will be provided with the proper proportion of each, with directions for planting, if desired.

The plants which we offer roots are five years old, having been brought from one of the best hop yards in the Atlantic States. As the stock of Roots from my yard is limited this season, it may be well for those contemplating planting to advise me early. Send for a circular giving direction for cultivation. J. R. Arrival of the Pony Express!

Dates to January 14th.

From the Union's Telegraphic Report.

St. Louis, January 11th.

The Committee of Thirty-three stands adjourned, subject to call of the Chairman when he will submit a report, and the question will be tested whether the Republicans are willing to compromise. It was reported, January 9th, that two prominent Republicans were disposed to compromise.

It is reported that the Vice President abandons all hope, unless Crittenden's proposition passes.

It is also reported that the President is determined to purge the Executive Department of everyone who preaches secession.

Miscellaneous.

Military movements are still going on at Washington for the protection of the Capitol. Three companies of flying artillery arrived, January 9th, and two companies of marines immediately after.

In accepting Thompson's resignation, the President says Thompson is certainly though honestly mistaken in alleging that a conclusion was reached in the Cabinet as to sending troops to Fort Sumter.

A meeting was held in New York Jan. 9th, to organize a military force in readiness for the call of the Government to sustain the laws. Many names were enrolled. A committee was appointed to draft by-laws.

A meeting of working men out of employment was held in New York Jan. 9th, and caused apprehensions of disturbances. They were avoided by Union speeches, and resolutions in favor of Crittenden's compromise, and supporting Maj. Anderson.

Captain Randolph, of the Navy, has resigned, and tendered his services to the Governor of Alabama.

A number of editors and compositors have gone in companies from Alabama to Pensacola.

A company of marines, with forty muskets, took possession of Fort McHenry, Jan. 9th.

Active measures were in progress for the defense of Fort Monroe.

A schooner from Staten Island was seized in Chesapeake Bay, for a violation of the Virginia Inspection Laws.

Lieutenant Chapman and Master Mills, of sloop-of-war Brooklyn, resigned before she put to sea.

The Kansas Legislature organized at Leecompton January 8th, by the election of Republican officers.

John Williams, Englishman, died of starvation in Madison street, New York, January 8th. His wife and three children were nearly dead when found, of the small pox.

Two policemen were stabbed in a house of ill fame at Cincinnati on the night of January 9th. One is since dead.

Filligan Hanna and wife were murdered for their money.

At Greencastle, Ind., Jan. 8th, the tobacco establishment of James Adams Biennello was burned, and the Literary Institute and College at Woodstock, Canada, on Jan. 5th.

One Day Later.

St. Louis, via Fort Kearny, Jan. 12 M. Congressional.

Congress did nothing yesterday. Senator Hunter made a speech, declaring it was too late to save the present Union. It was necessary for patriots to reconstruct a new and more enduring one out of the fragments. It produced a deep sensation.

In the House, Sherman said Southern men would have an opportunity for discussion Monday.

The Alabama secession ordinance passed yesterday, by a vote of sixty-one to thirty-nine. It invites the slave States to meet in Convention at Montgomery, on the 4th of February, for the purpose of consulting other States as in the most effectual method of securing peace and security. The ordinance will be ratified on Monday, when, it is believed, other delegates will sign it.

A bill for the State was presented by the lady and raised on the capitol. It is said the enthusiasm was intense.

A meeting was held of the Co-operationists, and a pledge given to support it. Cannon were fired and the city illuminated.

The Florida Convention passed a secession ordinance, Jan. 10th, by a vote of sixty-two to seven.

AUGUSTA, GA., Jan. 11th.—Salutes were fired in honor of the secession of Alabama and Florida.

The North Carolina Legislature was in session. In Convention, a bill caused some dissension on the subject of local reform.

Littlejohn's resolutions were amended in the New York Senate, declaring that as defined in the Constitution exists in one or more States, and passed, 28 to 1. They were immediately telegraphed by the Governor to the President.

The Arsenal at Catahouche was seized by order of the Governor of Florida on the pretext of the commanding officer removing arms. It is rumored that the Federal troops have abandoned all the forts in Pensacola harbor except Fort Pickens, where three hundred men are concentrated.

Baton Rouge Arsenal was surrendered to six hundred Louisiana troops after a parley between the Governor and Major Hawkins.

Lieutenant Talbot arrived at Washington with dispatches from Major Anderson, and reports the condition of Fort Sumter not so favorable as the Government believed, but may hold out two months.—The statement of abundant supplies is supposed to have been made to quiet apprehension.

It is said the Administration is determined to send supplies at all hazards. The Brooklyn will assail the hostile battery, while another war vessel takes in the Star of the West.

At Norfolk, yesterday, a steamer took powder from the federal magazine and put to sea. Her destination is unknown.

The President had ordered the Government patronage withdrawn from the Constitution newspaper, consequent upon an assault on him for ordering reinforcements to Charleston.

Letter writers report a difficulty between General Scott and Senator Toombs. At a private dinner party, January 10th, Toombs expressed the hope that the people of Charleston would sink the Star of West. Scott asked if it was possible that as an American he desired such an event. Toombs replied in the affirmative, and that those who sent her should be sunk with her.

Another account says General Scott rose to resent the insult, when Gwin interfered and parted them. A challenge passed. The matter is in the hands of seconds.

The New York Times' correspondent says Buchanan will veto the Pacific Railroad Bill if passed—not on account of objections to the measure, but because of the great debt created and the present condition of the country.

Two Days Later.

St. Louis, Jan. 14—10 P. M.

The Star of the West arrived safely at New York. No person was hurt. The troops landed at Governor's Island.

A Charleston dispatch states that the sloop-of-war Brooklyn had arrived off the harbor; that disaffection exists in the troops at Fort Sumter, and its evacuation is contemplated; that Colonel Hayne, in behalf of South Carolina, and Lieutenant Hall, from Fort Sumter, had left for Washington for further instructions.

Seward spoke on Saturday. His speech is regarded as very conciliatory. Nothing further is known as to the policy of the Administration.

A Convention Bill passed the Tennessee and Virginia House of Representatives. The action of the Convention is to be submitted to the people for ratification. In Tennessee the vote was unanimous.

Fort Barancas, in Florida is seized.

Dix is confirmed as Secretary of the Treasury.

It is rumored that W. O. Butler is Secretary of War.

The Ohio Legislature passed a resolution tendering the aid of the State to the General Government, if needed to uphold the law.

St. Louis, via Fort Kearny, Jan. 14.

Charleston Affairs.

CHARLESTON, Jan. 12.—Mr. Gourdin, a member of the South Carolina Convention, went to Fort Sumter this morning and held a private parley with Major Anderson. All kinds of rumors prevail as to the cause of sending a flag of truce by South Carolina last night. Some say that dissatisfaction exists among Major Anderson's men, and others that a surrender of the Fort is contemplated, and that it will be evacuated. It is believed that negotiations at Washington are going on for a peaceable surrender of the Fort, and for the cessation of the warlike attitude. Good authority credits this opinion.

LATER.—The steamboat Exel has come into port with the news that the sloop-of-war Brooklyn is off the bar. This is certain. Col. Hayne on the part of South Carolina, and Lieut. Hall on the part of Major Anderson, left for Washington with proposals and to obtain further instructions.

Florida.

PENSACOLA (FLA.), Jan. 12.—Fort Barancas and the Navy Yard was taken yesterday by the Alabama and Florida troops.

NASHVILLE (TENN.) Jan. 12.—The House unanimously passed a bill calling a Convention for the 18th of February, and if the Convention resolves to withdraw from the Union, then the action is to be submitted to the people for ratification or rejection. The same bill passed a second reading in the Senate, and will undoubtedly pass the third reading on Monday.

Virginia.

RICHMOND, Jan. 12.—The banquet to Governor Floyd took place last night. Gov. Floyd made a speech and related the conversation he had with the President, showing a breach of faith on the part of the President, leading to his (Floyd's) resignation. Governor Floyd counseled resistance to Federal coercion. Secession speeches were then made by Lieut. Gov. Montague, Attorney General Tucker, Joseph A. Leaddon and others. The temporizing policy of the Legislature is severely commented upon. Great enthusiasm prevails.

RICHMOND, January 12th, P. M.—T₂ House has passed the Convention bill, with the amendment to refer the action of the Convention relative to secession back to the people. No action has yet been taken on the bill by the Senate.—There is increased excitement at the Capitol to-day.

Maryland.

BALTIMORE, January 12th.—The Convention of Delegates, from counties of Maryland, to consider the crisis, reassembled this evening, and passed resolutions requesting the Governor to issue a proclamation for the people of the State to vote on the last Monday in January, whether they want a State Convention or not, and if the question is decided in the affirmative, to hold an election for delegates for the Convention, to meet the first Monday in February. They also passed unanimously, a resolution approving of Crittenden's proposition, and then adjourned. It is understood that a meeting is to be held to-morrow to oppose the Government troops entering Fort McHenry.

Mississippi.

JACKSON, MISS., January 12th.—The Convention was occupied in the appointment of Commissioners to Virginia, the discussion of the regulation of postal affairs, etc. The speech of the Commissioners from Alabama was postponed. Artillery was ordered to Vicksburg early this morning by the Government, to hail and question all passing steamboats.—Fifteen guns were fired last night on receipt of the news of the secession of Alabama and Florida.

THE Knight's Landing News.

Mad Elephant.

COCHIN, Aug. 18.—The inhabitants of Trechoor, (a few miles hence,) are just now in a great fright, owing to a newly-trained elephant having gone mad and become ungovernable. It has already killed three men, and occasioned considerable damages to property. One of the men seems to have fallen a victim to its fury through his own folly. It appears that while himself and his elder brother (who were both trainers of the animal, were on their way down a hill with the elephant, it suddenly revolted and attempted to seize them. Finding every effort to calm it unavailing, they took refuge on the top of a huge tree close by. The animal pursued them, but after a few minutes fruitless endeavors to knock down the tree, it descended into the paddy-fields below, and committed great devastation in the place. Afterward, while it was directing its way to the village, the young brother, heedless of his elder's remonstrances, came down from the tree, and hastened toward the elephant, intending to recall it to obedience, in order to avert further mischief. But the animal, as soon as it caught sight of the man, furiously chased him, who, after running desperately about the field for nearly an hour, hid himself among the tall paddy shoots in a somewhat secluded place. The elephant awhile, after missing his object, was about resuming its course to the village, when the ill-fated man suddenly rose to see whether his pursuer was gone. The noise of the water, and crush of the leaves, occasioned by his rising, made the elephant, which was not far off, to turn round, and he was discovered. The infuriated monster at once rushed upon him, and within a few seconds, the unfortunate man was torn limb from limb, in the very sight of his brother, who still continued on the tree. The animal soon after proceeded to the village, where, within the space of an hour, it killed two other persons (Poolichs), destroyed several houses, and ruined the bazaars, which were deserted by the merchants on hearing the approach of the host; at length it entered the spacious premises of the pagoda, which is enclosed by lofty granite walls of considerable strength and durability. Immediately on its entrance, which was effected by the manœuvres of its keepers throwing stones, etc., on its heels, and other vulnerable parts, all the gates were closed and strongly barricaded, to insure public safety. It would appear that several expert elephant trainers were also in the enclosure who voluntarily undertook the perilous task of quieting and taming the animal, by dint of professional management. The pagoda, which has already sustained a good deal by the attacks of elephant, is their only refuge; and if that is demolished, the fate of the trainers is inevitable. The only alternative I see now, is either to destroy the beast at once by bullets, or to starve it to a degree which would render it powerless, that the trainers may effect its capture.—Bombay Times.

COLD WEATHER.—The Mountain Messenger says that the weather at La Porte for the past few days has been extremely cold—that "cold" is altogether too tame a word to be used in describing the sort of weather we have been receiving during the week. Day and night it has been keenly freezing, and even in midday, when the sun has been shining with a beautiful brilliancy, ice has formed upon our water bucket a half inch in thickness. "The oldest inhabitant" shakes his knowledgeable head, says "cold, sir, cold," and leaves you to imagine that he has never seen anything to equal it since he has lived in these mountains.

WE presume that women's preference of men with small hands and delicate fingers had its origin while the English law was in force, allowing every man to beat his wife whenever he pleased with a stick not thicker than his little finger.

IN Norway, eagles destroy oxen by the following contrivance: They dive into the sea, and then roll themselves in the sand, afterward, by flapping their wings and shaking their feathers into the eyes of an ox, they blind it and overcome it.

A YOUNG apprentice to the shoemaking business asked his master what answer he should give to the often-repeated question, "Does your master warrant his shoes?"—"Answer, Thomas," said the master, "that I warrant them to prove good; and if they don't, I'll make them good for nothing."

MEN of the world hold that it is impossible to do disinterested action, except from an interested motive—for the sake of admiration, if no grosser, more tangible gain. Doubtless they are also convinced, that when the sun is showering light from the sky, he is only standing to be stared at.

THE Romans used to say of an argument or opinion which spreads rapidly, that it takes the popular mind. I should rather say, that the mind takes the argument or opinion. Takes it? Yes; as one catches a fever; catches it, rather as one catches a fever. For truth, like health, is not communicated; but diseases and errors are contagious.

IN view of their increasing number, we would suggest amputating a few limbs of the law.

CALIFORNIA EXPORTS FOR 1860.—During the year 1860, our exports, exclusive of treasure, amounted to $8,421,067; in 1858, our exports were $4,896,836; increase in two years, 3,524,231 quarter sacks of flour, and 1,786,769 sacks of wheat; in 1858, we exported only 227,882 quarter sack of wheat.—As each sack of wheat weighs 100 pounds, it follows that 178,976,900 pounds of that article, or 89,488 tons, of 2,000 pounds each, was exported during the past year; the weight of flour exported was 23,865,850 pounds—a little over 11,932 tons. Just look at these figures; in 1850, California did not produce enough breadstuffs to feed one thousand people; in 1860, she exports 101,420 tons of breadstuffs, and has a large surplus still left! Quite a contrast! But in addition to this, during the last year we exported, of oats and barley, 37,745 tons. The value of our grain exports, during the year, is as follows: wheat, $1,957,765 79; flour, $590,763 56; barley, 205,879 83; total, $2,830,701 82. Call.

"WHAT does a man think of when he thinks of nothing?" said a young lady to a gentleman with whom she had broken an engagement. "He thinks, miss, of a woman's promise."

"WHY does father call mother honey?" asked a boy of his elder brother. "Can't tell, 'cept it's because she has a large comb in her head."

RISKING HIS BOOTS.—A chap being awakened with the announcement that he must not occupy his berth with his boots on, very considerably replied, "The bugs won't hurt 'em, I guess; they're an old pair. Let 'em rip!"
