THE unavoidable delay which has occurred in the completion of this INDEX has been eventually useful; having afforded the opportunity of again and again recurring to a minute examination of the whole Work, and of noticing occasional errors both of the pen and of the press. Some of these might have escaped the Reader's observation; and others would have been readily excused and corrected*. By far the greater part, however, are improvements derived from subsequent researches and communications; having received from several intelligent Friends substantial evidence of their honouring the "Anecdotes" by an attentive perusal. Those remarks I was gradually incorporating for the press, and had actually printed more than 50 pages; but such is already their extent, that they would appear wholly out of place at the end of an Index in which they could not be included. As the only alternative, therefore, I have determined to continue the "Typographical Annals" by One more Volume; to which the various "Additions" may conveniently be appended. Two or three of the Errata graviora must in the mean time here be corrected.

In Vol. II. p. 240, there is a material error respecting the Epitaph on Mrs. Mason †.

* "Whoever thinks a faultless piece to see,
Thinks what ne'er was, nor is, nor e'er shall be."

† Which should have been printed thus:

"MARY the daughter of

WILLIAM SHERMAN, of Kingston-upon-Hull, Esq.

and wife of the Rev. WILLIAM MASON, died March 27th, 1767, aged 28.

Take, Holy Earth, all that my Soul holds dear;
Take that best gift, which Heav'n so lately gave;
To Bristol's fount I bore with trembling care
Her faded form; she bow'd to taste the wave,
And died. Does Youth, does Beauty, read the line?
Does sympathetic fear their breasts alarm?
Speak, dead MARIA! breathe a strain divine;
Ev'n from the grave thou shalt have power to charm.

Bid

In vol. II. p. 285, l. 22, the Rev. Stephen White, rector of Holton, Suffolk, is said to have "died

Bid them be chaste, be innocent, like thee;
 Bid them in Duty's sphere as meekly move;
 And if so fair, from vanity as free,
 As firm in friendship, and as fond in love.
 Tell them, though 'tis an awful thing to die,
 ('Twas ev'n to thee); yet, the dread path once trod,
 Heav'n lifts its everlasting portals high,
 And bids "the pure in heart behold their God!"

The Author of a late "Account of all the Watering Places," mentioning Southampton and Romsey, speaks of "Lord Palmerston's monumental inscription on his Lady at the latter as too long to transcribe;" but, "holding it right to do justice to his Lordship, as the original Author of some Lines of Poetry on her death, which have been ascribed to others," subjoins those printed in Vol. II. p. 240, with the addition of the following lines:

"Ordain'd to lose the partner of my breast,
 Whose virtue warm'd me, and whose beauty blest;
 Fram'd every tie, that binds the soul to prove
 Her duty friendship — and her friendship love.
 But yet — remembering thus the parting sigh
 Appoints the just to slumber, not to die;
 The starting tear I check'd — I kiss'd the rod,
 And not to earth resign'd her — but to God."

These lines, originally published under the title of "Inscriptive Verses, written by a Gentleman whose Lady died at Bristol Wells" (see Genl. Mag. vol. XLVII. p. 240), have occasioned several strange mistakes; and certainly were not Lord Palmerston's, whose Epitaph on his Lady, wholly in prose, is in these words:

"In the vault beneath are deposited the remains of FRANCES Viscountess PALMERSTON, daughter of Sir Francis Poole, Bart. She was married to Henry Viscount Palmerston, October 6, 1767; and died in childbed June 1, 1769. — With the nobler virtues that elevate our nature, she possessed the softer talents that adorn it: pious, humble, benevolent, candid, and sincere, she followed the duties of humanity; and her heart was warm with all its best affections. Her sense was strong, her judgment accurate, her wit engaging, and her taste refined; while the elegance of her form, the graces of her manners, and the natural propriety that ever accompanied her words and actions, made her virtues doubly attractive, and taught her equally to command respect and love. Such she lived, and such she died; calm and resigned to the dispensations of Heaven, leaving her disconsolate friends to deplore her loss, and cherish the dear remembrance of that worth they honoured living and lament in death. To the memory of the best of wives, the best of friends, he, for whom she joined those tender names, dedicates this marble."

The verses in p. 240, it now turns out, were written by Dr. Hawkesworth (not on the death of his own wife, who long survived

Oct. 24, 1755, aged 71." This observation belongs to the Rev. John White, rector of Nayland*.

A very strange blunder occurs in volume III. p. 183; where (by an accidental transposition of some lines in the final correction of a proof-sheet) an unfavourable account is given of the latter days of Sir Joseph Ayloff's grandfather; which account, in fact, belongs to a licentious cousin of Lord Lyttelton †.

Having had occasion (in vol. III. p. 545.) to mention that Caxton was a Mercer, and not a Stationer; I hastily added, that "Caxton opened a shop, in 1464, at the Sun in Fleet Street." But the earliest book that is known to have been printed by Caxton is the Recueil des Histoires de Troye, which was not completed till 1471, during his abode on the Continent. His residence when he returned to this country was in Westminster; where Wynkin de Worde succeeded him in business, and removed afterwards to the Sun in Fleet Street.

survived him, but) on the death of Mrs. Jordan, wife of Thomas Jordan esq. of Pheasant Lodge, Chislehurst, Kent, and mother of Mrs. Udney, late Sub-governess to Princess Charlotte of Wales. Gent. Mag. vol. LXXXIII. pp. 14. 219.

* The following inscription is from a monument at Holton:

"To the memory of
the Rev. STEPHEN WHITE, M. A. Rector of this Church;
who, in the 76th year of his age,
departed from a life dedicated to the service of God.
He was adorned with the virtues
of Faith, Orthodoxy, and Devotion;
and, as a Minister of Christ,
was laborious and charitable.
On April 12th, 1773, being Easter Monday,
as he was officiating in the Church,
he was suddenly called away from his labours, to receive their reward;
and expired in that School which his piety had raised.
*Blessed is that servant whom his Lord
when he cometh shall find watching.*
ANNE WHITE, his Relict, departed this life
Dec. 31, 1781, aged 82."

† From "who during," l. 34, to "death," l. 38, should have been introduced after "blush to read," p. 182; and the word "years" should be "year," as it was only during the greater part of the last year of his life that Captain Ayloffe resided at Kirk Ireton.

One

One article more shall be noticed, though it is rather an omission than an error.—In vol. I. p. 351, the name of my good friend Andrew Strahan, esq. should have been joined to that of his worthy Father, as an instance of a Printer and Bookseller being a Member of the Great Council of the Nation; and, to the honour of the profession, Joseph Butterworth, esq. a Law Bookseller of first-rate reputation, has since been chosen a Representative in the present Parliament for his native City of Coventry*.

Of GILES HUSSEY, Esq. the “Pictorum Princeps” of Dorsetshire, a separate Article and Portrait will appear in the Eighth Volume—with Portraits of my late much-respected Friend GEORGE ALLAN, Esq. Bp. CREWE, Dr. BROWNE WILLIS, the Rev. Sir JOHN CULLUM, Bart. and the late Mr. JAMES BASIRE.—Those of some other WORTHIES will probably be contributed by surviving Relatives.

I must repeat my acknowledgments to the young Friend by whose skill and assiduity this full and satisfactory Index has been completed; the extensive Work which it illustrates being of so desultory and miscellaneous a nature, that such a key to it became indispensably requisite. Having been employed, for nearly twelve months, in revising the sheets through the press, I confidently anticipate that those who can best appreciate its merits will be the most ready to pardon occasional defects.

May 17, 1813.

J. N.

* Not to mention the Churchills and the Tonsons of old times, three other Members of the Company of Stationers have also been honoured by Seats in Parliament—Sir Matthew Bloxam, Sheriff of London 1787, and Alderman in 1803; Richard Ramsbottom, esq. and George Longman, esq.—Of Lord Mayors, they may boast of Sir John Davis, Sir Stephen Theodore Janssen, Thomas Wright, esq. William Gill, esq. John Boydell, esq.; and they look forward with no small degree of satisfaction to Michaelmas-day 1813, when Mr. Alderman Domville, one of their most meritorious Assistants, is next in rotation for that high and important office.—Of Sheriffs they have had an abundant harvest; (see Gent. Mag. vol. LXXIV. p. 965); and Mr. Alderman Magnay and George Longman, esq. late M. P. for Maidstone, stand prominent for the ensuing year.

PREFACE TO THE INDEX.

IN presenting to the Publick this Index to the LITERARY ANECDOTES, the Compiler feels himself under the necessity of apologizing for the time that has elapsed in completing it. Some excuse, it is hoped, may be derived from its great extent, and from the difficulty of combining, and reducing to any kind of order, the rich fund of entertainment and useful information which is scattered through six large miscellaneous volumes. An Index on a less extensive plan might indeed have sufficed; but the Compiler confidently trusts that the labour bestowed in endeavouring to give a concise view of what is to be found in the pages referred to, will not be considered as thrown away; as such minuteness may direct the Reader with little trouble to what he may be in search of, or prevent a fruitless waste of time in searching for what is not to be found. It must, however, be confessed, that, in pursuit of this object, very many instances occur, where much room is occupied with articles comparatively of small importance. But a mere reference to pages would in most cases, it is presumed, have been ill adapted to the present work.

With respect to the Plan of the Index—it was intended to notice every personal name, as well as literary publication. Where a regular and connected memoir of an Author occurs, it has been thought sufficient to specify the pages where it begins and ends: the publications, therefore, that may be incidentally inserted in other places will generally be found in the memoir also, though not particularly pointed out. In all instances, it is believed (whether included in a regular memoir or not) extracts from the Writings of the Author treated of,

as well as original Letters, have been particularly noticed, and the subjects they comprise pointed out.

It has not been thought necessary to specify the various periodical publications included in the list in the Fourth Volume; but the names of publishers and authors merely have been taken, except in a few instances which appeared worthy of distinct enumeration.—The Titles of Books have generally been given in the words and language of the Author, without being condensed under one general head: for example, notices relative to Typography will be found, not only under that head, but also under Imprimerie, Printing, &c.; and so in similar cases.

The principal difficulty has been that of identifying persons of the same Surname, many of whom occur without the Christian name, or any peculiar designation; but, connected as they are in the Index, a greater degree of precision became necessary, and has been generally attempted. In many cases, however, the name being only incidentally mentioned, this exactness has been impracticable; and in a few it has been overlooked. For instance, in the article Child, the celebrated “Goldsmith” was the same person who was afterwards “Sir Francis” and “Lord Mayor,” and consequently should have formed but one article. On the other hand, it is possible that two persons of the same name may have been blended together. But these, it is hoped, are cases which have rarely occurred.

It would ill become the Compiler of the Index to pass over in silence the great improvement it has received from the hand of the Author of the Work. In innumerable instances it may be clearly distinguished; but the Compiler discharges one only out of many debts of obligation (some of which, of a far superior kind, it is impossible for him ever to discharge) by acknowledging that whatever degree of merit may be attributed to the Index, the much greater share will be due to the unwearied attention of the Author.

* Non est acutissimi, fateor, ingenii, non altissimæ eruditionis, Indices contexere. Majorem tamen sibi molestiam cultori, nil lectori utilitatem affert; cumque rei cujuslibet necessitas ex ipsius utilitate oratur, et in eadem consistat; quidni affirmem nihil fere esse magis necessarium? Non itaque sum sollicitus quantum esse ingenio, quam parum eruditione videar valere, dum literatorum commodis quomodocunque inserviam. In construendis ædibus, operarius hujusmodi, non minus architecto prodest.” Maittaire's Epist. ad D. P. De Maittaire; cited at large in
 vol. IV. pp. 561--565 of these Anecdotes.

“An Index is a necessary implement, and no impediment of a book, except in the same sense wherein the Carriages of an Army are termed Impediments. Without this, a large Author is but a labyrinth, without a clue to direct the Reader therein. I confess, there is a lazy kind of Learning which is only indicat; when Scholars (like Adders, which only bite the Horse-heels) nibble but at the Tables, which are colces librorum, neglecting the body of the Book. But, though the idle deserve no crutches (let not a staff be used by them, but on them); pity it is the weary should be denied the benefit thereof, and industrious Scholars prohibited the accommodation of an Index, most used by these who most pretend to condemn it.” Fuller, Worthies of England, 1811, vol. II. p. 136.

ADVERTISEMENT.

ON a retrospect of the Volumes now before the Reader, I feel with deep regret the loss of many justly-valued Friends, whom I hoped to have gratified by the respectful mention of their names. These, alas! are no longer LIVING AUTHORS; but their "good works" will long survive.

In the short space of time in which this INDEX has been preparing for the Press, I have had to record the deaths of the Rev. Dr. JOHN CALDER; JAMES EDWARDS, Esq.; the Rev. Dr. THOMAS EVANS, Archdeacon of Worcester; the Rev. Dr. SAMUEL HENLEY; WILLIAM HUTTON, Esq.; JOHN COAKLEY LETTSOM, M. D.; the Rev. Dr. COLIN MILNE; the Rev. THOMAS MONRO; JOSEPH PALMER, Esq.; the very Rev. Dr. WILLIAM VINCENT, Dean of Westminster; FRANCIS WEBB, Esq.; JOHN EARDLEY WILMOT, Esq.; the Rev. Dr. THOMAS WOLLASTON, of Chiselhurst; and the truly venerable Dr. THOMAS ZOUCHE, Prebendary of Durham.

To an Advertisement prefixed to the NINTH VOLUME I have little now to add, unless it be to repeat my thanks to the Compiler of the present and preceding INDEX, for his diligence and accuracy; and to a nearer Relation, for the attentive zeal with which he has continued to facilitate to me the labour of research, and the prevention of mistakes; which, after all, I fear, may be so numerous as to require an apology. The best, perhaps, which I can make is, that I have entered into a seventy-second year. — "Manum de tabula," the Reader will naturally exclaim. But it is not possible. Such employment has through life been my principal recreation; and I still can truly say, "Labor ipse voluptas." — I feel an irresistible impulse to proceed.

The

The "Literary Anecdotes" are now finished ; but, as has been suggested in a former Advertisement, another Work is in the press, which (I will not attempt to disguise) is in reality, to those who choose so to consider it, a CONTINUATION of the former, though under a different Title, and an entirely independent Publication. Two Volumes of the new Work are actually in the press, under the title of "Illustrations of Literature;" consisting of Biographical Memoirs and Original Letters of Eminent Persons* who flourished in the Eighteenth Century — principally from materials supplied by various Friends, who are themselves among the brightest Ornaments of Literature. JOHN NICHOLS.

Feb. 14, 1816.

* "The most useful and valuable lessons are often contained in those private papers which eminent men leave behind them, and wherein their minds have thrown off all reserve." NORTHNOTE.—The Extracts in Vol. V. pp. 646—650, beginning with "The Discourse," &c. and ending with "men of wit," are from Letters addressed, not to Dr. Birch, but to a very eminent Scholar ; a subject which I hope to illustrate in a future Publication.

* This benevolent Divine received his education at Eton, of which seminary he was a distinguished ornament; was elected from thence to King's College, Cambridge, in 1728; B. A. and fellow there, 1731; M. A. 1736; was sometime bursar, and by the provost and fellows, when senior fellow, was presented to the rectory of Greenford, Middlesex, 1770. In 1771 the provost and fellows of Eton elected him to a vacant fellowship in that society. So unexceptionable was his life, that he may truly be said to have made no enemy in the progress of it. Of manners gentle, of friendship most susceptible, of knowledge extensive, he acquired the praise and commendation of all men. His fortune was not extensive, yet his liberality kept more than equal pace with it, and pointed out objects and things to which it was impossible for his nature to resist lending his assistance. In his life-time he gave 2000*l.* for the maintaining the botanical garden at Cambridge, thereby encouraging a study which did peculiar honour to his taste, and materially benefited mankind. So humane was his disposition, that he founded and endowed a charity-school in his own parish; and this most nobly in his life-time, when avarice might have forbid it, or the fear of want might have excepted against it. He was exemplary for his meekness of mind, for his complacency, moderation, and affability: no pride, except that of being an honour to human nature, manifested itself in him. As in his life he indicated the most extensive liberality, so at his death he exhibited a lasting record of his gratitude. Impressed with the highest sense of the munificence of the Royal Founder of Eton, within whose walls he had imbibed the first seeds of education, he by his will directed a statue of marble, in honour of Henry VI. to be erected at the expence of 600*l.* And, in order infallibly to carry his purpose into execution, he contracted a few months before his death with a statuary (Mr. Bacon) to execute it, so very grateful was his disposition, that he could not content himself without this instance of displaying it: an example worthy of all imitation. He died Nov. 24, 1783. The Statue of the Founder was soon after executed by Bacon, and placed in the Chapel at Eton with this inscription, "Posuit Edvardus Betham, Collegii hujusce Socius." Reader, if you scrutinise the actions of his life, they will excite your imitation; if you contemplate him when expiring, you will honour his gratitude. Few men lived more respected, or died more deservedly regretted. Hence, contemplate his virtues! Forget not the asylum he has erected for distressed innocence! "Go, and do likewise."

* This amiable Prelate, "on whom the learned world have long looked with high respect, for his talents and erudition as a Scholar, and with a feeling better than respect for his candour as a Critick," was born at Odiham, Hampshire, about 1735. He was a Wykehamist, like Dr. Huntingford; and, like him, distinguished over Europe, from a very early age, for his great attainments in Greek Literature. He was a scholar, and afterwards fellow and tutor of Corpus Christi College, Oxford; where his republication of Hooker's "Ecclesiastical Polity, Book 1." ix 135. Sermon at his Consecration, 737. letter to Mr. Nichol, acknowledging Mr. Tyrwhitt's generous patronage of him in early life, 756; allusions to him, viii 329. ix 736. his communications to this work, ix v. Engh, Mr. —, a friend of Dr. Bentley, ix 324. Burghers, Michael, Oxford. Shipley's promise to prefer Stockdale, 1b; commended his pamphlet on Education, 26. his Speech for the better security of the independency of Parliament, &c. 37. a friend of Mr. Crabbe's, 128; whose Poem, "The Library," was submitted to his correction, 90. Crabbe's eulogium on Burke, ibid. introduced Crabbe to Sir Joshua Reynolds and Dr. Johnson, 91. Mr. Payne Knight in answer to, ix 116. remarks on his Reflections on the French Revolution, 200. Answer to the Reflections, by Mr. Christie, 389. dedication to him, 665.

letter to Mr. Malone, on Reynolds's obligations to Johnson and Mudge, and character of the letter, 576. allusions to him, viii 61, 64. ix 595. Burke, T. engraved portrait by, ix 753. Burleigh, Fred. publisher, viii 424. Burlington, Charles Boyle, second Earl of, humorous letter of Pope to, on his journey to Oxford, with Lingot, viii 170; the letter illustrated, 304. copy-right of Gay's Epistle to, 396. Richard, third, Earl of, viii 304. Lady Dorothy Saville, Countess of, print designed by, viii 428. Burns, Dr. Richard, his "Ecclesiastical Law," and "Justices' Law," viii 237. his History of Cumberland and Westmoreland, 724, 740. allusions to, 256, 705. See Thos. Robinson. Burman, allusion to, ix 324. Burnaby, Dr. Andrew, Archdeacon of Leicester, viii 89. Procopian at Leghorn, 394. memoirs of, ix 678. a sister of, married to the Rev. John Cole Gallaway, viii 46. Charles, his, "Lady's Visiting Day," viii 394.

where, when scarcely a Bachelor of Arts, he published new and capital editions of Burton's Pentalogia, and of Dawes's Miscellanea Critica, 1782 (to which he prefixed a most elegant Preface.) In 1782 he obtained the Chancellor's Prize for "An English Essay on the History of Antiquities;" and in that year he took the degree of M. A.; B. D. 1791; and D. D. 1803. The proofs of his uncommon scholarship obtained him the patronage of Bishop Barrington, to whom he became chaplain when at Salisbury; and who took him into his entire confidence, and carried him with him to Durham, where he gave him a prebend, and a rectory. Here he continued his studies with unabated industry, and gave the publick several excellent tracts in his profession, as well as in classical erudition. At length, when he least expected it, a mitre having become vacant by the sudden death of Lord George Murray in the flower of his age, in the Spring of 1803, his old school-fellow, the Premier Addington, with whom he had had little intercourse for some years, most nobly, and without the slightest solicitation, sent Dr. Burgess a letter, offering him the promotion; and he was accordingly elevated to the Bishoprick of St. David's. The Premier's conduct to Dr. Huntingford has already been mentioned; and these acts of well-exercised power will ever be jewels in the coronet of Lord Sidmouth. It is said that this excellent and very learned Bishop has made a resolution to decline any translation; and to close his life in the see of St. David's; having most benevolently planned and founded a Society for the foundation of a Provincial College within that Diocese, for the education of members of the Welsh church, who have not the means of an University education. (Biographical Peerage.) — Besides the works already noticed, Bp. Burgess has published a new Edition of Hooker's Ecclesiastical Polity, Book 1. 1798. "Conspectus Criticorum Observatio-num in Scriptores Græcos et Latinos, 1788," 8vo. "Initia Humerica, 1788," 8vo. "Remarks on Josephus's Account of Herod's rebuilding of the Temple at Jerusalem." "A Sermon on the Divinity of Christ, preached at Oxford," 1790. "The Truth, to which Christ came into the world to bear witness, and the testimony of Christ's contemporaries to his declaration of his Divinity, confirmed by his discourses, actions, and death: a Sermon preached at Llanarth and Carmarthen, Sept. and Oct. 1814; being a Sequel to a Sermon preached at Oxford, 1790." "Gravina Opuscula," 1792, 8vo. "Initia Paulina, sive Introductio ad Læctionem Pauli Epistolæ, 1804." "Evidence of the Divinity of Christ, from the literal testimony of Scripture," containing a Vindication of Mr. Sharp's Rule from the Objections of the Rev. Calvin Winstanley; with Observations on right principles of Interpretation, Second Edition. "The Bible, and nothing but the Bible, the Religion of the Church of Eng-land; being an answer to the Letter of an Unitarian Lay-Secedar." "Three Addresses to Persons calling themselves Unitarians, in answer to Mr. Belsham, 1815," 12mo. "Excerpta ex Chrysostomi Libro de Sacerdotio, 1815," 12mo, &c. &c.

Domville, Sir William, honours conferred on during his Mayoralty, ix 706. portrait * painted by William Owen, Esq. Royal Academician, in consequence of a request from the Company of Stationers †, ib.

* Under this Portrait is the following inscription:

“Sir WILLIAM DOMVILLE, Bart. Master of this Company in 1804, Lord Mayor of London in 1814: In the Robe which he wore, when he rode before His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, the Emperor of Russia, the King of Prussia, and the other illustrious Personages who dined at Guildhall 18th June 1814; and again before the Prince Regent, attended by both Houses of Parliament, to St. Paul’s Cathedral, on the Public Thanksgiving for Peace, 6th July 1814.”

Under that of another Portrait, its companion:

“JOHN BOYDELL Esq. Master of this Company in 1784; Lord Mayor of London in 1790; a generous Encourager of the Arts, and a liberal Benefactor to this Company.”

† “At a Court of Assistants, held the 1st day of February 1814:

“It was Resolved unanimously, That the Members of this Court, being sensible of the many advantages that the COMPANY OF STATIONERS has experienced from the long and unremitting attention to its interests, which has uniformly been manifested by the Right Honourable WILLIAM DOMVILLE, in the several Offices of Stock-keeper, Assistant, Warden, and Master, and of the honour it derives from his being now the Lord Mayor of London; request, that he will do them the favour of sitting to some eminent Artist, for his Picture in his Robes as Chief Magistrate; that they may have in their possession, and transmit to their Successors, the Portrait of a Gentleman, who, whilst his talents have commanded their respect, has, by the politeness and affability of his manners, obtained the regard and esteem of all who have had the happiness of associating with him at the Stock-board and in this Court.”

“At a Court of Assistants, held the 9th day of August 1814:

“It being represented to the Court, that, in the London Gazette of the 26th July last, the following notification appeared; viz.

“Whitehall, 19th July, 1814.—His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, in the name and on behalf of his Majesty, being desirous of manifesting the Royal approbation of the good and loyal Services of Sir WILLIAM DOMVILLE, of St. Alban’s, in the County of Hertford, Baronet, Lord Mayor of the City of London; and particularly of the very dutiful, respectful, and dignified manner, in which the said Lord Mayor, in his high Office, received His Royal Highness, and His Majesty’s illustrious Allies and Visitors, His Imperial Majesty Alexander Emperor and Autocrator of All the Russias, and His Majesty Frederick William the Third, King of Prussia, accompanied by many illustrious and highly-distinguished Personages, at a Banquet in the Guildhall of the said City, on Saturday the 18th day of June last, in commemoration of the glorious Successes which have attended the Arms of His Majesty and His Allies, and, under the blessing of Divine Providence, effected the deliverance of Europe from a System inimical to the repose, freedom, and happiness of mankind, and conduced to the establishment of Peace on solid foundations: His Royal Highness has thought fit to evince the Royal approbation of the said good and loyal Services of the said Sir William Domville, and also his Royal Highness’s sense of the loyalty and public spirit manifested by the Corporation and Citizens of London, in a manner so highly honourable to themselves, and becoming the Metropolis of this Great Empire, by granting His Majesty’s Royal Licence and Authority, that the said Sir William Domville Baronet, and his Descendants, may bear the Armorial Ensigns following; that is to say, ‘A Lion bearing a Sword representing the Sword of the said City, and on a Chief of honourable augmentation three Crowns radiated and encircled by branches of olive; and as a Crest, out of a Mural Crown a demi-Lion issuant, supporting a Shield charged with three Crowns also radiated;’ as a lasting memorial to his Posterity, of an event which will ever distinguish his Mayoralty in the Annals of the said City; such Armorial Ensigns being first duly exemplified according to the Laws of Arms, and recorded in the Heralds’ Office:—otherwise his Majesty’s said Royal Licence and permission to be void, and of none effect.—And also to order that this concession and especial mark of His Majesty’s Royal favour be entered in His College of Arms.”

Resolved unanimously, That it be referred to the Committee appointed to carry into effect the Resolution of the Court respecting the Portrait of the Lord Mayor, to cause his Lordship’s Arms to be properly emblazoned, with the notification in the London Gazette written under it, to be framed and glazed; and to be hung up either in the Court or Stock Room.”

* In a much earlier letter to Mr. Nichols, Dec. 31, 1796, he says, "It is useless to write upon any subject till the inclination prompts, and that with urgency. I have, for many years, been strongly attached to that grandest of all pieces of antiquity left us by the Romans, Severus's Wall; and am already determined to write its History." "Perhaps Thirty Authors have written on the subject, but few have seen it. I know of none during the last threescore years, except Mr. Gough's Additions to Camden. I have procured all the English Writers I know, have made considerable progress in the work, and design, when Spring returns, to travel it carefully on foot from one end to the other, make my own observations, finish the book next Summer in a small 8vo volume; and joyfully make you a present of it if you please. — I calculate, it will cost me one week to go and return in the stage, and two to traverse the Wall. — I think some remarks may be made which have escaped every print writer; and I am confident no man has attentively travelled the whole length on foot during the last 1600 years on about a Wall." — — In a subsequent letter, April 18, 1802, Mr. Hutton says, "On consulting my son and daughter, both of a bookish cast, we are all convinced that a Map of the Wall

* This respectable veteran died at his house, at Bennett's Hill near Birmingham, at the age of 92, Sept. 20, 1815. His very intelligent daughter, after communicating the event to the Editor of the Gentleman's Magazine, adds the following interesting particulars. "He owed much to Nature, and nothing to Education. He began the world with three guineas and a half, which he borrowed of his sister, and a chest of old books, which were sold to him on unlimited credit. Talents, industry, and economy, three qualities that do not often meet in the same person, jointly, made his fortune. His capacity was sufficient to embrace three objects at once, and to pursue them all with avidity and perseverance. He attended to the minutest concerns of his business, at the same time that he was purchasing estates with its profits, and writing books for his amusement. Mr. Hutton had retired from business twenty-two years; but, after he had ceased to receive any emolument from it, he attended it with the same regularity, first for his son, and afterwards for his grand-nephew, to whom it was successively given, that he had done for himself. Six days in the week he walked to the scene of his old employment, and back, a distance of four miles and a half; on the seventh, he walked to worship his Maker, and his carriage brought him home. One day, when he wanted but five days of completing his ninetieth year, his strength failed before he reached his house, and he was carried home in a chair. He went to Birmingham no more. He then took to walking round the drive before his own house; where he regularly walked, and counted, his four miles a day. Winter drove him to walk in the house; Spring again took him out; but time had cut short his walks. He had numerous falls; but he was only raised up to walk again. At length, having fallen three times in eight days, he submitted to lean on a servant. The late summer he chiefly passed between his bed and his walk; going four walks every day, of a quarter-of-a mile each. He was dragged along, rather than led, by a servant; but nothing could prevail on him to give up his exercise. "This diurnal motion continued till within three days of his death, when he could not finish his last walk. He was then confined to his bed and a sofa; and all that remained was to die. He was so happily constituted, that ninety-two years had scarcely the power to make a wrinkle in his face. He has left behind him the History of his own Life, which he intended for publication." A Portrait of Mr. Hutton is prefixed to his "Poems," and a view of his house at Bennett's Hill may be seen in Gent. Mag. vol. LXXXV. Part F. p. 201.

Hints

* I had fondly indulged the hope of gratifying Dr. Lettson with these little notices of a few only of his very numerous acts of beneficence. This excellent man was an Israelite without guile; and may be truly said to have carried his heart in his hand. From "his undeviating friendship," I have for nearly half a century "derived many of the most grateful and rational enjoyments of my life;" and I can truly assert, that, during this long period, Dr. Lettson was an "ornament to society;" the liberal friend to merit; and an example of beneficence to every avenue of human distress. He died Nov. 1, 1815, at the age of 71.

The Rev. THOMAS ZOUCH, D. D. P. L. S. Prebendary of Durham, and rector of Scrayingham, Yorkshire, died, at Sandal, near Wakefield, Dec. 17, 1815. This venerable Divine was born in 1737, at Sandal, near Wakefield, Yorkshire; and in 1757 removed from the school of the latter place to Trinity College, Cambridge. In 1760 he was elected into one of Lord Craven's scholarships, along with Mr. Joah Bates, celebrated afterwards for his skill in musick. The year following, Mr. Zouch took his degree of B. A. and was classed as the third Wrangler. Having been chosen fellow of his college in 1763, he was appointed assistant tutor, which office he discharged with extraordinary credit; though his assiduity so much impaired his health, that he was obliged to quit the University: on which, his College presented him in 1770 to the rectory of Wycliffe in the North Riding of Yorkshire. In this country retirement he continued till 1793, performing the office of a parish priest with great diligence, and augmenting his knowledge of natural history. His botanical excursions, in a pleasant and romantic part of Yorkshire, contributed not a little to invigorate his constitution. In 1791, he was appointed deputy-commissary of the archdeaconry of Richmond; and in 1793 was chaplain to the Master of the Polls, and rector of Scrayingham. By the death of his elder brother, the Rev. Henry Zouch, in 1795, he succeeded to an estate at Sandal, where he resided till his death. On the demise of Dr. Smith, the Master of Trinity College, one of the most learned mathematicians of his age, he was requested by the Vice-master and Senior Fellows to deliver a Latin Funeral Oration in honour of his memory, which is said to have been much admired for the classical elegance of its language. In 1798, Mr. Pitt had an idea of appointing him to the Mastership of Trinity; which design, however, was set aside in favour of the present Bishop of Bristol. But, April 9, 1805, the same Minister gave him the second Prebend in the Church of Durham, and in the same year he took his degree of D. D. In 1808, the See of Carlisle was offered to Dr. Zouch; but, in consequence of his advanced age and retired habits, he thought proper to decline the acceptance. Besides some anonymous publications, he was the author of, "The Crucifixion, a Seaton Prize Poem," 1763, 4to.—"A Sermon preached at the primary Visitation of William Lord Bishop of Chester, held at Richmond, in Yorkshire, August 21, 1789," 4to. "An Inquiry into the Prophetic Character of the Romans, as described in Daniel viii. 23.—25." 1792, 8vo.—"An Address to the Clergy of the Deaneries of Richmond, Catterick, and Boroughbridge," 1792, 4to. "A Discourse delivered to the Clergy of the Deaneries of Richmond, Catterick, and Boroughbridge, within the Diocese of Chester, at the visitation held June 20 and 25, 1793, and published at their request," 4to.—"The good Schoolmaster, exemplified in the character of the Rev. John Clarke, M. A. formerly fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge, and successively master of the Schools of Skipton, Beverley, and Wakefield," 1798, 4to.—"An Attempt to illustrate some of the Prophecies of the Old and New Testament," 1800, 12mo.—"A Sermon preached in the Cathedral Church of Durham, at the Assizes holden July 30, 1806," 4to.—"Memoir of the Life and Writings of Sir Philip Sidney," 1808, 4to.—"Memoir of the Life of John Sudbury, D. D. Dean of Durham," 1808, 4to.

Dr. Zouch was also the Editor of, 1. "Love and Truth: in two modest and peaceable Letters concerning the distempers of the present times. Written from a quiet and conformable Citizen of London, to two busy and factious Shopkeepers in Coventry: with notes and a preface by the Editor," 1795, 8vo. This edition of a tract written by Isaac Walton, is dedicated to Mr. Henry Zouch. 2. "The Lives of John Donne, Sir Henry Wotton, Mr. Richard Hooker, Mr. George Herbert, and Dr. Robert Sanderson; by Isaac Walton: with notes, and the Life of the Author," 1796, 4to. An octavo edition appeared in 1798.

In a volume intitled "Odes on Peace and War, written by many eminent and distinguished persons," London, 1795, are three poems, one by Henry Zouch, B. A. Trinity College, and two by Thos. Zouch, B. A. Fellow of the same College, and University Scholar. Mr. Henry Zouch died at Sandal, June 17, 1795; and is commemorated by his brother Thomas in our vol. LXV. p. 700.

The following inscription on a tomb in the Church-yard of Sandal, displays the pious veneration of Dr. Zouch for the memory of a near relation:

Hic requiescunt ossa Caroli Zouch, A. M.
per 36 annos indignissimi
hujusce parochiæ
ministra. Ob. 27mo die
mensis Julii, anno 1754.

En vici sanctissimi modestia,
qui Epitaphium re indignum
inscribi voluit, cum vita
et meritis ejus laudes omnes
longè superarent.
