Wiki Camp

		1. Please specify for your program	2. Ideas for evaluation
Changes beyond the target group (impact)		More entries to wiktionary. Increase youth age editors	More family / friends begin editing.
Change in condition/ situation		Make hip / Cool / Popular to edit WP. Young people integrated as insiders to WP community (150 young people).	FB group and likes (# members) Social media shares (hashtags) Wiktionary groups - ask parents?
Change in action		Continued editing.	Tracking usernames and wikimetrics. Article tracking for quality.
Change in skills, knowledge or motivation		Participants motivated to edit and how to do it. Understand 5 pillars.	Survey measure of self-report. Observation of editor retention (WIkimetrics).
Satisfaction		How did they like the camp / General satisfaction	Surveys and interviews. Desire / Register for next camp.
Participation		New editors - 60 first camp, 75 in the second camp, 200 in the third round. Experienced wikipedians: 5-6 trainers (volunteers)	User contributions by new editors (registered list) 5,000 bytes per day across group.
Activity		Daily prizes given (competition monthly with metrics) 4 hour blocks of editing + training. (daily) 2 week residential camp + community building	Metrics of editing "best quality article" "most editing"
Inputs/ Resources		* volunteers to organize (experienced camps) * time for proposal to APG = $ * prizes * Partnership for Western America Camp * venue and $15 per participant for food and access. Promotion through social media and TV. Co-sponsor for TV ads.

Target group: Students aged 14 - 20. Other: 12 year olds encouraged to Wiktionary.