The assured will thus always have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at death, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and rendering unnecessary any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurances.

Every policy issued on this plan will be without any conditions as to voyaging, foreign residence, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections before referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become of more positively valuable as actual securities.

In addition to the foregoing statement of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurance—a matter of great importance where policies are held as collateral security.

The Prudential Assurance Company possesses an income of £220,000 a year, its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the kingdom. Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1868.

IN PURSUANCE of the Bar Scheme, the Council submit to the Profession a Report of the working of the system of Reporting under their control during the past year, together with a financial statement. It will be seen by the latter that the receipts for Subscriptions during the year 1868 amounted to the sum of 22,067*l.* 10*s.* 6*d.*—the receipts during the year 1867 were 21,360*l.* 16*s.* 4*d.*—thus shewing an increase in income in 1868 over 1867 of 206*l.* 14*s.* 2*d.* In reference to the expenditure, the Council are glad to observe that some economical arrangements lately made have already proved beneficial; thus, the cost of the printing and delivery of THE LAW REPORTS has been less by 1087*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.* in 1868 than it was in the year 1867, and the debit cash balance has been reduced from 3324*l.* 10*s.* 7*d.* to 292*l.* 8*s.* 2*d.* The Council, with a view to economy, have also directed certain changes to be made which came into operation in the early part of this year, and a considerable saving in expenditure will, it is hoped, be thereby effected without impairing the efficiency of THE LAW REPORTS.

The yearly income, as stated in the former Report, is more than sufficient to answer all necessary requirements, including the payment in 1868 of 5346*l.* 5*s.* to the staff of Editors and Reporters; and although the surplus receipts have not been sufficient to pay them the maximum salaries, it is hoped that the time is not far distant when the state of the Subscriptions will enable the Council to do so; but it rests mainly with the Profession, by increased Subscriptions, to enable the Council to accomplish this object.

The Accounts for the year 1868 have been duly audited by Auditors appointed by the Editors and Reporters.

Two separate Digests of the Equity and Common Law Cases included in THE LAW REPORTS from the time of their commencement were in a forward state of preparation in the early part of this year, when the Council came to the determination that there should be one Digest only, which should embrace all the Cases. This consolidation of the two Digests into one has unavoidably caused a delay in the publication which the Council regret; but the Digest will be delivered to the Subscribers for 1869 as soon as practicable.

The Council offer their thanks to the Lord Chancellor and other Law Lords, to the Members of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and to Her Majesty's Judges at Law and in Equity, for the assistance they have kindly afforded to the Editors and Reporters, by giving them access to their written judgments, and in revising the proof sheets.

They also express their thanks to the Bar and Solicitors for the facilities given by them to the Reporting Staff in the discharge of their duties by the loan of briefs and papers.

THE LAW REPORTS have now been in existence more than three years, and experience has proved that the Bar Scheme has, upon the whole, worked satisfactorily, although further improvements still remain to be effected in Law Reporting which the Council desire to see accomplished.

The Council observe with satisfaction the establishment of kindred institutions in other countries founded upon the Scheme of THE LAW REPORTS, and they regard the same as unequivocal manifestations of the soundness of the principles on which that Scheme was founded—namely, independent professional control, and the exclusion of all proprietary profit. The Legal Profession in Ireland was the first to follow the example, and with signal success; more recently a similar system has been established in Bengal; and it is now proposed to introduce the same system into the United States, where, in the language of one of its supporters, the expediency of applying the new system “is of even greater urgency” than in this country.

Besides the changes which have taken place in the ex-officio members of the Council, the Honourable Mr. Justice Hayes has resigned his seat in consequence of having been appointed one of Her Majesty's Judges, and the Council have with regret lost a member who has always shewn a very sincere and active interest in their proceedings. His place at the Council has been supplied by Mr. Serjeant O'Brien.

Under the Bar Scheme it is provided that one of the members of the Council, appointed by the Inns of Court and Incorporated Law Society respectively, should retire at the end of every two years, but that all members so retiring should be eligible for re-appointment. The period contemplated by the Scheme having expired in the month of February last, a communication was made to the different Legal Societies, calling attention to the matter; but the several gentlemen who retired have all, with their consent, been re-appointed, with the exception of Mr. Lewin Taverner. He having expressed a wish to withdraw on the ground of ill-health, the Honourable Society of Gray's Inn has appointed Mr. J. A. Russell, Q.C., in his place.

Chairman.

Now ready, in one thick vol., medium octavo, price 42s., Starkie's Treatise on THE LAW of SLANDER and LIBEL, including the Pleading and Evidence, Civil and Criminal, with Precedents: also MALICIOUS PROSECUTIONS, CONTEMPTS OF COURT, &c. Third Edition. By H. C. FOLKARD, Esq., Barrister-at-Law.

It bears traces of the most conscientious and industrious examination of the cases. It is well that such a Treatise should have been re-edited, and it is well that it should have been edited by so careful and painstaking a man as Mr. Folkard. — Law Magazine and Review.
 No one can say that Mr. Folkard has failed in the full discharge of his onerous duty, and we are sure that he will earn, as he will obtain, the gratitude of the profession. — Law Journal.

A valuable addition to the Lawyers' Library, which for many years has been much needed. — Justice of the Peace.

We recommend Mr. Folkard's work to the attention of the profession and the public. It is, as now edited, very valuable. — Law Times.

The present edition deserves very high praise. It has been most laboriously executed. Whatever has been decided on the law of libel will be found here. — Solicitors' Journal.

MAINE ON ANCIENT LAW.

Now ready. 3rd Edition. 8vo., 12s.

ANCIENT LAW:

ITS CONNECTION WITH THE EARLY HISTORY OF SOCIETY, AND ITS RELATION TO MODERN IDEAS:

By HENRY SUMNER MAINE,

Member of the Supreme Council of India, formerly Reader on Jurisprudence and the Civil Law at the Middle Temple, and Regius Professor of the Civil Law in the University of Cambridge.

'Professor Maine is probably the first Englishman who, with any authority, has applied the "historical method" to legal subjects so successfully employed abroad; and his prominent example will have a tendency to establish a connection between the study of the philosophy of law and those branches of philosophical history whose foundation lies in philology and her sister sciences.'—London Review.

'A contribution to scientific legal literature of singular value. It would be superfluous to say that it indicates an intimate acquaintance with the knowledge of ancient law which has come down to us. It possesses the far higher method of arranging, reconciling, and reconstructing, with remarkable power of discrimination and generalization, the ideas of which but fragments and traces have reached us. It discovers to us the simplest and earliest ideas of mankind, on questions of justice and law; follows them in their expansion, and exhibits the mode in which they became ultimately obscured and lost.'—Daily News.

'A text-book for all English students of jurisprudence. It presents elementary ideas in a distinct shape; it shows how endless are the ramifications of the history of jurisprudence which can be followed by learned ingenuity; it handles law in a large and free spirit; it clears up points as to which an obscurity prevails in the minds of many writers and readers, and it is written with singular clearness.'—Saturday Review.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, Unforfeitable,

Unconditional, and Unchallengeable, issued by the PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Established 1848.

The Directors of this Company, in deference to an objection not infrequently urged by persons invited to assure, that the ordinary mode of life assurance is in their opinion defective or uncertain, by reason of the operation of the customary conditions, have resolved to promulgate the present tables, and to issue assurances under them which shall be absolutely unforfeitable, unconditional, and unchallengeable.

For the reason referred to, many persons hesitate or decline to assure on the ground that, in the event of inability or unwillingness to continue payment of their premiums, the assurance will become forfeited. To this class of the public the system now introduced will especially commend itself, being entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture on account of non-payment of premium, or from any other cause whatever; while at the same time it absolutely guarantees at death, even when a default is made in payment of the premium, a fixed sum in respect of every premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the total amount assured as the number of premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted to be paid.

Besides this important advantage, every policy will expressly state what sum can at any time be withdrawn on the discontinuance of the assurance.

The assured will thus always have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at death, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and rendering unnecessary any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurances.

Every policy issued on this plan will be without any conditions as to voyaging, foreign residence, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections before referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become at once positively valuable as actual securities.

In addition to the foregoing statement of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurances—a matter of great importance where policies are held as collateral security.

The Prudential Assurance Company possesses an income of £220,000 a year, its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the kingdom. Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1868.

IN PURSUANCE of the Bar Scheme, the Council submit to the Profession a Report of the working of the system of Reporting under their control during the past year, together with a financial statement. It will be seen by the letter that the receipts during the year 1868 amounted to the sum of 22,067*l.* 10*s.* 6*d.*—the receipts during the year 1867 were 21,860*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.*—thus shewing an increase in income in 1868 over 1867 of 206*l.* 14*s.* 2*d.* In reference to the expenditure, the Council are glad to observe that some economical arrangements lately made have already proved beneficial; thus, the cost of the printing and delivery of THE LAW REPORTS has been less by 1087*l.* 8*s.* 6*d.* in 1868 than it was in the year 1867, and the debit cash balance has been reduced from 3824*l.* 10*s.* 7*d.* to 292*l.* 8*s.* 2*d.* The Council, with a view to economy, have also directed certain changes to be effected which came into operation in the early part of this year, and a considerable saving in expenditure will, it is hoped, be thus effected without impairing the efficiency of THE LAW REPORTS.

The yearly income, as stated in the former Report, is more than sufficient to answer all necessary requirements, including the payment in 1868 of 5846*l.* 5*s.* to the staff of Editors and Reporters; and although the surplus receipts have not been sufficient to pay them the maximum salaries, it is hoped that the time is not far distant when the state of the Subscriptions will enable the Council to do so; but it rests mainly with the Profession, by increased Subscriptions, to enable the Council to accomplish this object.

The Accounts for the year 1868 have been duly audited by Auditors appointed by the Editors and Reporters.

Two separate Digests of the Equity and Common Law Cases included in THE LAW REPORTS from the time of their commencement were in a forward state of preparation in the early part of this year, when the Council came to the determination that there should be one Digest only, which should embrace all the Cases. This consolidation of the two Digests into one has unavoidably caused a delay in the publication which the Council regret; but the Digest will be delivered to the Subscribers for 1869 as soon as practicable.

The Council offer their thanks to the Lord Chancellor and other Law Lords, to the Members of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and to Her Majesty's Judges at Law and in Equity, for the assistance they have kindly afforded to the Editors and Reporters, by giving them access to their written judgments, and in revising the proof sheets.

They also express their thanks to the Bar and Solicitors for the facilities given by them to the Reporting Staff in the discharge of their duties by the loan of briefs and papers.

THE LAW REPORTS have now been in existence more than three years, and experience has proved that the Bar Scheme has, upon the whole, worked satisfactorily, although further improvements still remain to be effected in Law Reporting which the Council desire to see accomplished.

The Council observe with satisfaction the establishment of kindred institutions in other countries founded upon the Scheme of THE LAW REPORTS, and they regard the same as unequivocal manifestations of the soundness of the principles on which that Scheme was founded—namely, independent professional control, and the exclusion of all proprietary profit. The Legal Profession in Ireland was the first to follow the example, and with signal success; more recently a similar system has been established in Bengal; and it is now proposed to introduce the same system into the United States, where, in the language of one of its supporters, the expediency of applying the new system "is of even greater urgency" than in this country.

Besides the changes which have taken place in the ex-officio members of the Council, the Honourable Mr. Justice Hayes has resigned his seat in consequence of having been appointed one of Her Majesty's Judges, and the Council have with regret lost a member who has always shewn a very sincere and active interest in their proceedings. His place at the Council has been supplied by Mr. Serjeant O'Brien.

Under the Bar Scheme it is provided that one of the members of the Council, appointed by the Inns of Court and Incorporated Law Society respectively, should retire at the end of every two years, but that all members so retiring should be eligible for re-appointment. The period contemplated by the Scheme having expired in the month of February last, a communication was made to the different Legal Societies, calling attention to the matter; but the several gentlemen who retired have all, with their consent, been re-appointed, with the exception of Mr. Lewin Taverner. He having expressed a wish to withdraw on the ground of ill-health, the Honourable Society of Gray's Inn has appointed Mr. J. A. Russell, Q.C., in his place.

Chairman.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, Unforfeitable,

Unconditional, and Unchallengeable, issued by the PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Established 1848.

The Directors of this Company, in deference to an objection not unfrequently urged by persons invited to assure, that the ordinary mode of life assurance is in their opinion defective or uncertain, by reason of the operation of the customary conditions, have resolved to promulgate the present tables, and to issue assurances under them which shall be absolutely unforfeitable, unconditional, and unchallengeable.

For the reason referred to, many persons hesitate or decline to assure on the ground that, in the event of inability or unwillingness to continue payment of their premiums, the assurance will become forfeited. To this class of the public the system now introduced will especially commend itself, being entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture on account of non-payment of premium, or from any other cause whatever; while at the same time it absolutely guarantees at decease, even when a default is made in payment of the premium, a fixed sum in respect of every premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the total amount assured as the number of premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted to be paid.

Besides this important advantage, every policy will expressly state what sum can at any time be withdrawn on the discontinuance of the assurance.

The assured will thus always have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at decease, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and rendering unnecessary any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurances.

Every policy issued on this plan will be without any conditions as to voyaging, foreign residence, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections before referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become at once positively valuable as actual securities.

In addition to the foregoing statement of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurances—a matter of great importance where policies are held as collateral security.

The Prudential Assurance Company possesses an income of £220,000 a year, its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the kingdom. Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, Unforfeitable,

Unconditional, and Unchallengeable, issued by the PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Established 1848.

The Directors of this Company, in deference to an objection not unfrequently urged by persons invited to assure, that the ordinary mode of life assurance is in their opinion defective or uncertain, by reason of the operation of the customary conditions, have resolved to promulgate the present tables, and to issue assurances under them which shall be absolutely unforfeitable, unconditional, and unchallengeable.

For the reason referred to, many persons hesitate or decline to assure on the ground that, in the event of inability or unwillingness to continue payment of their premiums, the assurance will become forfeited. To this class of the public the system now introduced will especially commend itself, being entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture on account of non-payment of premium, or from any other cause whatever; while at the same time it absolutely guarantees at death, even when a default is made in payment of the premium, a fixed sum in respect of every premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the total amount assured as the number of premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted to be paid.

Besides this important advantage, every policy will expressly state what sum can at any time be withdrawn on the discontinuance of the assurance.

The assured will thus always have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at death, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and rendering unnecessary any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurance.

Every policy issued on this plan will be without any conditions as to voyaging, foreign residence, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections before referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become at once positively valuable as actual securities.

In addition to the foregoing statement of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurances—a matter of great importance where policies are held as collateral security.

The Prudential Assurance Company possesses an income of £220,000 a year, its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the kingdom. Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, Unforfeitable, Unconditional, and Unchallengeable, issued by the PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Established 1848.

The Directors of this Company, in deference to an objection not unfrequently urged by persons invited to assure, that the ordinary mode of life assurance is in their opinion defective, or uncertain, by reason of the operation of the customary conditions, have resolved to promulgate the present tables, and to issue assurances under them which shall be absolutely unforfeitable, unconditional, and unchallengeable.

For the reason referred to, many persons hesitate or decline to assure on the ground that, in the event of inability of unwillingness to continue payment of their premiums, the assurance will become forfeited. To this class of the public the system now introduced will especially commend itself, being entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture on account of non-payment of premium, or from any other cause whatever; while at the same time it absolutely guarantees at decease, even when a default is made in payment of the premium, a fixed sum in respect of every premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the total amount assured as the number of premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted to be paid.

Besides this important advantage, every policy will expressly state what sum can at any time be withdrawn on the discontinuance of the assurance.

The assured will thus always have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at decease, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and rendering unnecessary any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurances.

Every policy issued on this plan will be without any conditions as to voyaging, foreign residence, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections before referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become at once positively valuable as actual securities.

In addition to the foregoing statement of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurances—a matter of great importance where policies are held as collateral security.

The Prudential Assurance Company possess an income of £220,000 a year, its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the Kingdom. Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

THE STUDENT'S BLACKSTONE, Price 7s. 6d.

COMMENTARIES ON THE LAWS OF ENGLAND.

IN FOUR BOOKS

BY SIR WILLIAM BLACKSTONE, KNT.,

One of the Justices of the Court of Common Pleas.

ABRIDGED AND ADAPTED TO THE PRESENT STATE OF THE LAW,

BY ROBERT MALCOLM KERR, LL.D., BARRISTER-AT-LAW,

"Mr. Malcolm Kerr, whose edition of Blackstone's 'Commentaries' has almost attained to the rank of a legal classic, has remodelled for Mr. Murray the 'Student's Blackstone.' The new work is a true abridgment, and contains, in a small compass, the real substance of the larger work. Need we add that Mr. Kerr's 'Blackstone' is an exposition of English law, in which the latest legal information is conveyed in accurate and yet intelligible phrase?—The Athenaeum.

"That present day has a great deal for which to thank Mr. Murray. Modern and ancient history, the Latin and Greek languages have, by his zeal, been brought within the reach of many, to whom they were before inaccessible. And now we have unfolded to us the difficulties of the law.

"This edition of 'The Student's Blackstone' is more complete than any that has yet been published. The editor has not only abridged from the original, but altered; and it is not too much to say that we have here before us a really valuable book of substance upon which dependance may safely be placed, since the various recent changes in legislation have all been carefully noticed.—The Reader."

MAINE ON ANCIENT LAW.

Now ready. 3rd Edition. 8vo., 12s.

A N C I E N T L A W :

ITS CONNECTION WITH THE EARLY HISTORY OF SOCIETY, AND ITS RELATION TO MODERN IDEAS.

By HENRY SUMNER MAINE,

Member of the Supreme Council of India, formerly Reader on Jurisprudence and the Civil Law at the Middle Temple, and Regius Professor of the Civil Law in the University of Cambridge.

'Professor Maine is probably the first Englishman who, with any authority, has applied the "historical method" to legal subjects so successfully employed abroad; and his prominent example will have a tendency to establish a connection between the study of the philosophy of law and those branches of philosophical history whose foundation lies in philology and her sister sciences.'—London Review.

'A contribution to scientific legal literature of singular value. It would be superfluous to say that it indicates an intimate acquaintance with the knowledge of ancient law which has come down to us. It possesses the far higher method of arranging, reconciling, and reconstructing, with remarkable power of discrimination and generalization, the ideas of which but fragments and traces have reached us. It discovers to us the simplest and earliest ideas of mankind, on questions of justice and law; follows them in their expansion, and exhibits the mode in which they became ultimately obscured and lost.'—Daily News.

'A text-book for all English students of jurisprudence. It presents elementary law in a distinct shape; it shows how endless are the ramifications of the history of jurisprudence which can be followed by learned ingenuity; it handles law in a large and free spirit; it clears up points as to which an obscurity prevails in the minds of many writers and readers, and it is written with singular clearness.'—Saturday Review.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES. Unforfeitable, Unconditional, and Unchallengeable, issued by the PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 22, Leadenhall Hill, London, E.C. Established 1848. The Directors of this Company in reference to an objection not unfrequently urged by persons invited to assure, that the ordinary mode of life assurance is in their opinion defective or uncertain, by reason of the operation of the customary conditions, have resolved to promulgate the present tables and to issue assurance policies which shall be absolutely unforfeitable, unconditional, and unchallengeable. For the reasons referred to, policyholders desirous or desiring to insure on the ground that, in the event of mortality, or of withdrawal, or of forfeiture of their premiums, the assurance will become forfeited. To this class of the public the system of absolute security will be especially commended, as it is entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture on account of non-payment of premiums, or from any other clause whatever; while at the same time it absolutely guarantees, at death, even where a default has occurred in payment of the premium, at a certain amount of every premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the total amount assured as the number of premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted to be paid. Besides this important advantage, every policy will expressly state what sum can at any time be withdrawn on the discontinuance of the assurance. The assured policyholders have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at death, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and rendering unnecessary any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurances. The assured policyholders will be without any conditions as to traveling, foreign residence, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections before referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become at once positively valuable as actual securities. In addition to the foregoing statement of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurance—a matter of great importance in such cases, and held as collateral security. The Prudential Assurance Company possesses an income of £200,000 a year; its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the Kingdom. Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

MAINE ON ANCIENT LAW.

Now ready. 3rd Edition. 8vo., 12s.

A N C I E N T L A W :

ITS CONNECTION WITH THE EARLY HISTORY OF SOCIETY, AND ITS RELATION TO MODERN IDEAS.

By HENRY SUMNER MAINE,

Member of the Supreme Council of India, formerly Reader on Jurisprudence and the Civil Law at the Middle Temple, and Regius Professor of the Civil Law in the University of Cambridge.

'Professor Maine is probably the first Englishman who, with any authority, has applied the "historical method" to legal subjects so successfully employed abroad; and his prominent example will have a tendency to establish a connection between the study of the philosophy of law and those branches of philosophical history whose foundation lies in philology and her sister sciences.'—London Review.

'A contribution to scientific legal literature of singular value. It would be superfluous to say that it indicates an intimate acquaintance with the knowledge of ancient law which has come down to us. It possesses the far higher method of arranging, reconciling, and reconstructing, with remarkable power of discrimination and generalization, the ideas of which but fragments and traces have reached us. It discovers to us the simplest and earliest ideas of mankind, on questions of justice and law; follows them in their expansion, and exhibits the mode in which they became ultimately obscured and lost.'—Daily News.

'A text-book for all English students of jurisprudence. It presents elementary law in a distinct shape; it shows how endless are the ramifications of the history of jurisprudence which can be followed by learned ingenuity; it handles law in a large and free spirit; it clears up points as to which an obscurity prevails in the minds of many writers and readers, and it is written with singular clearness.'—Saturday Review.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, Unforfeitable,

Unconditional, and Unchallengeable, issued by the PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Established 1848.

The Directors of this Company, in deference to an objection not frequently urged by persons invited to assure, that the ordinary mode of life assurance is in their opinion defective or uncertain, by reason of the operation of the customary conditions, have resolved to promulgate the present tables, and to issue assurances under them which shall be absolutely unforfeitable, unconditional, and unchallengeable.

For the reason referred to, many persons hesitate or decline to assure on the ground that, in the event of inability or unwillingness to continue payment of their premiums, the assurance will become forfeited. To this class of the public the system now introduced will especially commend itself, being entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture on account of non-payment of premium, or from any other cause whatever; while at the same time it absolutely guarantees at decease, even when a default is made in payment of the premium, a fixed sum in respect of every premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the total amount assured as the number of premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted to be paid.

Besides this important advantage, every policy will expressly state what sum can at any time be withdrawn on the discontinuance of the assurance.

The assured will thus always have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at decease, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and rendering unnecessary any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurance.

Every policy issued on this plan will be without any conditions as to voyaging, foreign residence, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections before referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become at once positively valuable as actual securities.

In addition to the foregoing statement of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurance—a matter of great importance where policies are held as collateral security.

The Prudential Assurance Company possesses an income of 2,220,000 a year, its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the kingdom. Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

THE STUDENT'S BLACKSTONE, Price 7s. 6d.

COMMENTARIES ON THE LAWS OF ENGLAND.

IN FOUR BOOKS.

By SIR WILLIAM BLACKSTONE, KNT.,

One of the Justices of the Court of Common Pleas.

ABRIDGED AND ADAPTED TO THE PRESENT STATE OF THE LAW,

By ROBERT MALCOLM KERR, LL.D., BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

"Mr. Malcolm Kerr, whose edition of Blackstone's 'Commentaries' has almost attained to the rank of a legal classic, has remodeled for Mr. Murray the 'Student's Blackstone.' The new work is a true abridgment, and contains, in a small compass, the real substance of the larger work. Need we add that Mr. Kerr's 'Blackstone' is an exposition of English law, in which the latest legal information is conveyed in accurate and yet intelligible phrase?—The Athenaeum.
 'The present day has a great deal for which to thank Mr. Murray. Modern and ancient history, the Latin and Greek languages have, by his zeal, been brought within the reach of many, to whom they were before inaccessible. And now we have unbid to us the difficulties of the law.

 'This edition of 'The Student's Blackstone' is more complete than any that has yet been published. The editor has not only abridged from the original, but altered; and it is not too much to say that we have here before us a really valuable book of reference upon which dependence may safely be placed, since the various recent changes in legislation have all been carefully noticed.—The Reader.'

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, Unforfeitable, Unconditional, and Unchallengeable, issued by the PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Established 1848.

The Directors of this Company, in reference to an objection not unfrequently urged by persons invited to assure, that the ordinary mode of life assurance is in their opinion defective or uncertain, by reason of the operation of the customary conditions, have resolved to promulgate the present tables, and to issue assurances under them which shall be absolutely unforfeitable, unconditional, and unchallengeable.

For the reason referred to, many persons hesitate or decline to assure on the ground that, in the event of inability or unwillingness to continue payment of their premiums, the assurance will become forfeited. To this class of the public the system now introduced will especially commend itself, being entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture on account of non-payment of premium, or from any other cause whatever; while at the same time it absolutely guarantees at decease, even when a default is made in payment of the premium, a fixed sum in respect of every premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the total amount assured as the number of premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted to be paid.

Besides this important advantage, every policy will expressly state what sum can at any time be withdrawn on the discontinuance of the assurance.

The assured will thus always have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at decease, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and rendering unnecessary any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurances.

Every policy issued on this plan will be without any conditions as to voyaging, foreign residence, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections before referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become at once positively valuable as actual securities.

In addition to the foregoing statements of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurance—a matter of great importance where policies are held as collateral security.

The Prudential Assurance Company possesses an income of £220,000 a year; its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the kingdom. Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

INNS OF COURT EXAMINATION.

GENERAL EXAMINATION.—MICHAELMAS TERM, 1869.

The Council of Legal Education have approved of the following Rules for the General Examination of the Students.

THE attention of the students is requested to the following rules of the Inns of Court:—

"As an inducement to students to propose themselves for examination, studentships shall be founded of fifty guineas per annum each and twenty-five guineas per annum each respectively, to continue for a period of three years, and one such studentship shall be conferred on the most distinguished student at each general examination, and one such exhibition shall be conferred on the student who obtains the second position; and, further, the Examiners shall select and certify the names of three other students who shall have passed the next best examinations; and the Inns of Court to which such students as aforesaid belong may, if desired, dispense with any Terms, not exceeding two, that may remain to be kept by such students previously to their being called to the Bar. Provided that the Examiners shall not be obliged to confer or grant any studentship, exhibition, or certificate, unless they shall be of opinion that the examination of the students they select has been such as entitles them thereto."

"At every call to the Bar those students who have passed a general examination, and either obtained a studentship, an exhibition, or a certificate of honour at such examination, shall take rank in seniority over all other students who shall be called on the same day."

"No students shall be eligible to be called to the Bar who shall not either have attended during one whole year the lectures and classes of two of the Readers, or have satisfactorily passed a public examination."

"That not more than four Terms under any circumstances be dispensed with in favour of students coming from India or the Colonies, with a view to return to residence there, and that it is not expedient to dispense with any Terms for such students except on the following conditions, viz:—

1. That students from India do satisfactorily pass an examination in Hindu and Mahomedan Law, the Indian Penal Code, the Code of Civil Procedure, the Intestate and Testamentary Act, and in such other Codes or Acts as may from time to time become law in British India; and, in addition to such examination, do pass such examinations, and abide by all such rules and regulations as are now in force for students seeking a Pass Certificate, by examination, for call to the Bar.
2. That students from the Colonies do pass such an examination as is required, and do abide by all such rules and regulations as are now in force, in order to obtain a Certificate of Honour.
3. Provided that each of the four Inns of Court be at liberty to dispense with the above conditions in such very special circumstances as they may think fit, and that such circumstances be stated in the Certificate of Call to the Bar given to every such student. The benchers of each inn, subject to the foregoing limitations, being guided, in the dispensation of Terms, by the circumstances of each particular case."

RULES FOR THE EXAMINATION OF CANDIDATES FOR HONOURS, OR CERTIFICATES, ENTITLING STUDENTS TO BE CALLED TO THE BAR.

An examination will be held in next Michaelmas Term, to which a student of any of the Inns of Court, who is desirous of becoming a candidate for a studentship, an exhibition, or honours, or, of obtaining a certificate of fitness for being called to the Bar, will be admissible.

Each student proposing to submit himself for examination will be required to enter his name at the Treasurer's office of the Inn of Court to which he belongs, on or before Thursday, the 21st day of October next, and he will further be required to state in writing whether his object in offering himself for examination is to compete for a studentship, exhibition, or other honourable distinction, or whether he is merely desirous of obtaining a certificate preliminary to a call to the Bar.

The examination will commence on Thursday, the 28th day of October next, and will be continued on the Friday and Saturday following, except as regards Hindu Law, &c., to be held on Monday, the 1st day of November.

It will take place in the Hall of Lincoln's Inn, and the doors will be closed ten minutes after the time appointed for the commencement of the examination.

The examination by printed questions will be conducted in the following order:—

Thursday morning, the 28th of October, at 10, on Constitutional Law and Legal History; in the afternoon, at 2, on Equity.

Friday morning, the 29th of October, at 10, on Common Law; in the afternoon, at 2, on the Law of Real Property, &c.
 Saturday morning, the 30th of October, at 10, on Jurisprudence and the Civil Law; in the afternoon, at 2, a paper will be given to the students, including questions bearing upon all the foregoing subjects of examination.
 Monday morning, the 1st of November, at 10, on Hindu and Mahomedan Law, and on the Laws of India.

The oral examination will be conducted in the same order, during the same hours, and on the same subjects, as those already marked out for the examination by printed questions, except that on Saturday afternoon there will be no oral examination.

The oral examination of each student will be conducted apart from the other students; and the character of that examination will vary according as the student is a candidate for honours, or a studentship, or desires simply to obtain a certificate.

The oral examination and printed questions will be founded on the books below mentioned, regard being had, however, to the particular object with a view to which the student presents himself for examination.

In determining the question whether a student has passed the examination in such a manner as to entitle him to be called to the Bar, the Examiners will principally have regard to the general knowledge of Law and Jurisprudence which he has displayed.

A student may present himself at any number of examinations until he shall have obtained a certificate.

Any student who shall obtain a certificate may present himself a second time for examination as a candidate for the studentship or exhibition, but only at the general examination immediately succeeding that at which he shall have obtained such certificate: provided that, if any student so presenting himself shall not succeed in obtaining the studentship, his name shall not appear in the list.

Students who have kept more than eleven Terms shall not be admitted to an examination for the studentship.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, Unforfeitable,

Unconditional, and Unchallengeable, issued by the PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 52, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Established 1848.

The Directors of this Company, in deference to an objection not unfrequently urged by persons invited to assure, that the ordinary mode of life assurance is in their opinion defective or uncertain, by reason of the operation of the customary conditions, have resolved to promulgate the present tables, and to issue assurances under them which shall be absolutely unforfeitable, unconditional, and unchallengeable.

For the reason referred to, many persons hesitate or decline to assure on the ground that, in the event of inability or unwillingness to continue payment of their premiums, the assurance will become forfeited. To this class of the public the system now introduced will especially commend itself, being entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture on account of non-payment of premium, or from any other cause whatever; while at the same time it absolutely guarantees at decease, even when a default is made in payment of the premium, a fixed sum in respect of every premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the total amount assured as the number of premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted to be paid.

Besides this important advantage, every policy will expressly state what sum can at any time be withdrawn on the discontinuance of the assurance.

The assured will ~~themselves~~ have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at decease, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and rendering unnecessary any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurances.

Every policy issued on this plan will be without any conditions as to voyaging, foreign residence, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections before referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become at once positively valuable as actual securities.

In addition to the foregoing statement of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurances—a matter of great importance where policies are held as collateral security.

The Prudential Assurance Company possesses an income of £220,000 a year, its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the kingdom. Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

A GENTLEMAN in practice in the Black Country, and who is obliged to part with his Bill Clerk (who has been with him nearly ten years) on account of the climate not suiting his health, is anxious to obtain a like situation for him in one of the Southern Counties. He can recommend him most highly as perfectly competent and desirable in every respect. He is, however, very dear, but which has never been found a disadvantage to his employer (and in some respects otherwise); but in consequence of which he would take a smaller salary. ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, Unforfeitable,

Unconditional, and Unchallengeable, issued by the PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Established 1848.

The Directors of this Company, in deference to an objection not unfrequently urged by persons invited to assure, that the ordinary mode of life assurance is in their opinion defective or uncertain, by reason of the operation of the customary conditions, have resolved to promulgate the present tables, and to issue assurances under them which shall be absolutely unforfeitable, unconditional, and unchallengeable.

For the reason referred to, many persons hesitate or decline to assure on the ground that, in the event of inability or unwillingness to continue payment of their premiums, the assurance will become forfeited. To this class of the public the system now introduced will especially commend itself, being entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture on account of non-payment of premium, or from any other cause whatever; while at the same time it absolutely guarantees at decease, even when a default is made in payment of the premium, a fixed sum in respect of every premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the total amount assured as the number of premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted to be paid.

Besides this important advantage, every policy will expressly state what sum can at any time be withdrawn on the discontinuance of the assurance.

The assured will thus always have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at decease, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and rendering unnecessary any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurances.

Every policy issued on this plan will be without any conditions as to voyaging, foreign residence, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections before referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become at once positively valuable as actual securities.

In addition to the foregoing statement of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurances—a matter of great importance where policies are held as collateral security.

The Prudential Assurance Company possesses an income of £220,000 a year, its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the Kingdom. Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

MONEY promptly advanced on personal or any available security.

A moderate interest, repayable by instalments; no preliminary fees. Real and Personal Advance Company (Limited). Established 1858. 3, Tavistock Street, Covent Garden, and at 14, Southampton Row, Bloomsbury, W.C. Hours 9 to 6. Bills discounted. Forms free. F. J. HARBVEY, Secretary.

LAW.—PARTNERSHIPS.—Solicitors who in consequence of increase of business, retirement of partners, or for other reasons, may be desirous to form new connections, are respectfully requested to communicate in confidence to Messrs. HOOPER & SON, whose extensive intercourse with the profession enables them to introduce, without delay, gentlemen possessed of adequate means for premium and capital. 45, Fleet Street.

GENERAL ORDER OF COUNCIL RELATIVE TO CONTAGIOUS AND INFECTIOUS DISEASES AMONG ANIMALS.

10th Aug. 1869.—Whereas by reason of the passing of The Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act, 1869 (in this Order referred to as the Act of 1869), and of the making of an Order of Council, bearing even date herewith, whereby all former Orders in force relative to contagious and infectious diseases among animals in Great Britain are revoked, it has become expedient to renew such of the provisions of former Orders as are intended to remain in operation, and to make some further provisions for better preventing the introduction or spreading of contagious or infectious diseases among animals in Great Britain:

Now, therefore, the Lords and others of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, by virtue and in exercise of the powers in them vested under the Act of 1869, and of every other power enabling them in this behalf, do order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows:—

Preliminary.

1. This Order may be cited as The Contagious Diseases (Animals) Order of August, 1869.

2. This Order extends to Great Britain only.

3. In this Order

The term "master" includes any person having the charge or command of a vessel:

Other terms have the same meaning as in the Act of 1869.

Foreign Animals.

4. Foreign animals shall not be landed except at such places, in such manner, within such times, and subject to such supervision and control, as the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Customs from time to time direct.

5. Subject to any Order of Council to the contrary (either of even date herewith or hereafter made), all the regulations of the Fourth Schedule to the Act of 1869 shall apply to cattle brought from any port of any of the countries comprised in the Schedule to this Order, and subject as aforesaid, all such cattle shall be slaughtered within ten days after the landing thereof, exclusive of the day of landing.

6. The landing of foreign cattle elsewhere than at a part of a port defined by Order of Council as a landing-place for slaughter, shall be subject to the following conditions:—

First. That the vessel in which they are imported has not, within three months before taking them on board, had on board any cattle exported from any port of any of the countries comprised in the Schedule to this Order.

Secondly. That the vessel has not, since taking on board the cattle imported, entered any port of any of those countries.

Thirdly. That the cattle imported have not, while on board the vessel, been in contact with any cattle exported from any port of any of those countries.

And foreign cattle shall not be landed elsewhere than at a landing-place for slaughter, unless and until—

(1.) The owner or charterer of the vessel in which they are imported, or his agent in Great Britain, has entered into a bond to Her Majesty the Queen, in a sum not exceeding one thousand pounds, with or without a surety or sureties, to the satisfaction of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Customs, conditioned for the observance of the foregoing conditions in relation to cattle to be landed under this Order from the vessel; and

(2.) The master of the vessel has on each occasion of importation of cattle therein satisfied the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Customs or their proper officer, by declaration made and signed, or otherwise, that none of the cattle then imported therein have been exported from any port of any of the countries comprised in the Schedule to this Order, and that the foregoing conditions have been observed in relation to all the cattle then imported therein.

7. Foreign animals landed from a vessel elsewhere than at a landing-place for slaughter, shall not be moved therefrom or be allowed to come in contact with any other animals until they have been examined by the Veterinary Inspector appointed in this behalf by the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Customs; and according to the result of such inspection the following consequences shall ensue:—

(1.) If the inspector certifies that all the animals landed from the vessel are free from contagious or infectious diseases, they shall thereupon cease to be deemed foreign animals.

(2.) If the inspector certifies, with respect to any one or more of the animals landed from the vessel, that it or they is or are affected with any contagious or infectious disease, all the animals then imported in the vessel shall be dealt with in such manner as the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Customs direct.

8. If a vessel arriving at a port has on board the carcass of a dead animal (including a horse) which was taken on board for the purpose of importation, but has died on the voyage, the master of the vessel shall, immediately on arrival, report the fact to the principal officer of Her Majesty's Customs at the port.

No such carcass shall be landed or discharged from the vessel without the permission in writing of the principal officer.

The master, if the principal officer so requires, shall proceed to sea, and shall throw every such carcass overboard into the sea at such place or at such distance from shore, at such state of the tide, and within such time, as the principal officer directs.

9. Where it appears to the principal officer of Her Majesty's Customs at a port, with respect to any foreign animal (including a horse) or any hay, straw, fodder, or other article, brought by sea to the port, that contagion or infection may be thereby conveyed to animals, he may seize and detain the same, and he shall forthwith report the facts to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Customs, who may give such directions as they think fit, either for the slaughter or destruction or the further detention thereof, or for the restoration thereof to the owner on such conditions, if any (including payment by the owner of expenses incurred by them in respect of detention thereof), as they think fit.

Discovery and Prevention of Disease.

10. Every person having in his possession or under his charge any animal (including a horse) affected with a contagious or infectious disease, shall observe the following rules:—

(1.) He shall, as far as practicable, keep such animal separate from animals not so affected.

(2.) He shall with all practicable speed give notice to a police constable of the fact of the animal being so affected.

Such police constable shall forthwith give notice thereof to the inspector of the Local Authority, who shall forthwith report the same to the Local Authority and to the Privy Council.

11. Where an inspector finds any contagious or infectious disease to exist in his district, he shall forthwith make a return to the Local Authority and to the Privy Council of the number and description of all animals being on the farm or in the shed or other place where the disease is found, which he considers liable to be affected with the disease, distinguishing those that are healthy from those that are actually affected with the disease, and shall continue to make a similar return on the Saturday of every week until the disease has disappeared.

12. Where under Section Sixty of the Act of 1869, a horse or animal is buried, its skin shall be first so slashed as to prevent its being of any use. The Local Authority may, if they think fit, use for the purpose of such burial, any place on the premises of the owner of the horse or animal.

13. Where a Local Authority is authorized by licence from the Privy Council to destroy, under Section Sixty of the Act of 1869, horses or animals that have died or been slaughtered as therein mentioned, every such horse or animal shall be destroyed in manner following, namely,—the carcase thereof shall be disinfected, and shall then be removed in charge of an officer of the Local Authority, to a horse-slaughterer's or knacker's yard licensed for the purpose by the Privy Council, or other place so licensed, and shall be there destroyed by exposure to a high temperature, or by chemical agents. In every such case the Local Authority shall report to the Privy Council the fact and mode of destruction.

14. Where a Local Authority exercise the power of causing premises to be cleansed and disinfected, conferred on them by Section Sixty-one of the Act of 1869, the occupier of those premises shall give all facilities for that purpose.

15. A Local Authority may, from time to time, with the view of preventing the spreading of contagious or infectious disease, make regulations for the following purposes, or any of them:—

For prohibiting or regulating the movement of animals (including horses), on to, from, and through, and the keeping thereof on commons and wastes and commonable and other lands whereon there exists a right of common or other right in the nature thereof.

For preventing any person from driving animals (including horses) under his charge, or allowing them to be driven or to stray, into an inclosed field or place without the consent of the occupier thereof.

For preventing the propagation of any such disease by means of dogs, and for causing for that purpose stray dogs to be destroyed or otherwise disposed of.

16. Any officer authorized in this behalf by a Local Authority, or any constable or police officer, may stop and detain any animal (including a horse) which is being moved, or which he has reasonable grounds for suspecting is being moved, in contravention of the Act of 1869, or this or any other Order of Council, and may apprehend, without warrant, the person in charge thereof, and bring him before a Justice, who shall inquire into the case in a summary manner, and may, if satisfied that there are good grounds for so suspecting, by writing under his hand direct the animal to be detained, and the person in charge thereof to be brought before two Justices as soon as practicable.

On such person being brought before two Justices they shall adjudicate on the case in a summary manner, and if satisfied that the animal was being moved in contravention as aforesaid, may direct it to be disposed of in conformity with the provisions of the Act of 1869 and this or any other Order of Council.

17. Any officer authorized in this behalf by a Local Authority, or any constable or police officer, may inspect any railway truck, cart, boat, or other vehicle used by land or by water, in which animals (including horses), hay, manure, litter, straw, and other articles used for or about animals are usually or at the time of such inspection carried, and may examine the person in charge thereof, with a view to ascertain whether any animals or articles are being moved or carried in contravention of the Act of 1869, or this or any other Order of Council; and such officer may, if he has reasonable grounds for suspecting that such animals or articles are being moved or carried in contravention as aforesaid, apprehend, without warrant, the person in charge thereof, and bring him before a Justice, who shall inquire into the case in a summary manner, and may, if satisfied that there are good grounds for so suspecting, by writing under his hand direct the same to be detained, and the person in charge thereof to be brought before two Justices as soon as practicable.

On such person being brought before two Justices they shall adjudicate on the case in a summary manner, and if satisfied that the animals or articles were being moved or carried in contravention as aforesaid, may direct the same to be destroyed or otherwise disposed of in conformity with the provisions of the Act of 1869, and this or any other Order of Council.

18. Any person having charge of any animal (including a horse) or thing that is being moved on a highway, railway, canal, navigation, or river, for the moving whereof a licence is requisite, shall, on being so required by an officer of a Local Authority authorized in this behalf, or by a constable or police officer, produce the licence (if any) for the moving of that animal or thing.

19. A constable or police or other officer detaining any animal (including a horse) under the Act of 1869, or this or any other Order of Council, shall cause it to be supplied with requisite food and water during its detention; and any expenses incurred by him in respect thereof may be recovered in a summary manner from the person in charge of the animal or from its owner.

20. Any inspector or other officer empowered to carry the Act of 1869, or this or any other Order of Council into effect may, if authorized in this behalf by general or special Order in writing of the Local Authority, enter, for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of such Act or Order, any field, stable, cowshed, or other premises within his district, where he has reasonable grounds for supposing that any animal affected with cattle plague or sheep-pox has been, or has been buried or otherwise disposed of.

If any person refuses admission to, or obstructs or impedes, or aids in obstructing or impeding, such inspector or other officer, he shall be deemed guilty of an offence against this Order.

Cleaning and Disinfecting of Pens, Trucks, &c.

21. Every pen, carriage, truck, horse-box, vehicle, or boat used for the carrying of animals on land, or on a canal or inland navigation, shall be cleansed and disinfected once in every twenty-four hours during the time when it is used for any animal, in manner following:—

By sweeping out and effectually removing all dung, sawdust, litter, or other matter, from the pen, carriage, truck, horse-box, vehicle or boat, and then by thoroughly washing the same with water, and then by applying to the floor and to all parts above the floor of the pen, carriage, or truck, and to the sides, floor, and ceiling of the hold of the boat, and to every other part of the boat with which animals or their droppings come in contact, a coating of limewash made up by mixing good freshly burnt lime with water, and containing in each gallon of limewash either one-fifth of a pint of carbolic acid, or one-fifth of a pint of creosylic acid, or four ounces of fresh dry chloride of lime, such limewash to be prepared immediately before use.

The sweepings shall be well mixed with quicklime, and effectually removed from contact with animals.

General Provisions.

22. If any person fails to give, produce, do, or observe any notice, licence, thing, or rule, which he is by this Order, or any regulation of a Local Authority thereunder, required to give, produce, do, or observe, he shall in every such case be deemed guilty of an offence against this Order.

23. Every Local Authority shall send to the Privy Council a copy of every Order or regulation made by them under the Act of 1869, or this or any other Order of Council.

24. Every Local Authority shall forthwith after the making of this Order report to the Privy Council the names and addresses of their inspectors, under Section Twelve of the Act of 1869, and the districts or parts of districts for which such inspectors are appointed to act, and shall from time to time forthwith report to the Privy Council any changes therein.

25. A Local Authority shall provide and supply, without charge, printed copies of documents or forms requisite under this or any other Order of Council.

26. Every regulation made by a Local Authority under this or any other Order of Council shall (where no other provision is made for the publication thereof) be published by advertisement in a newspaper circulating in the district of the Local Authority.

ORDER OF COUNCIL FOR METROPOLIS RELATIVE TO CONTAGIOUS AND INFECTIOUS DISEASES AMONG ANIMALS.

10th Aug. 1869.—Whereas by reason of the passing of The Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act, 1869 (in this Order referred to as the Act of 1869), and of the making of an Order of Council bearing even date herewith, whereby all former Orders in force relative to contagious and infectious diseases among animals are revoked, and of another Order of Council also bearing even date herewith relating to contagious and infectious diseases among animals in Great Britain, it has become expedient to renew such of the provisions of former Orders relating to the metropolis as are intended to remain in operation, and to make some further provisions for better preventing the introduction or spreading of contagious or infectious diseases among animals in or through the metropolis:

Now, therefore, the Lords and others of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, by virtue and in exercise of the powers in them vested under the Act of 1869, and of every other power enabling them in this behalf, do order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows:—

Preliminary.

1. This Order may be cited as The Metropolitan Contagious Diseases (Animals) Order of August, 1869.

2. This Order relates to the metropolis only; and the provisions thereof are supplemental to and not in substitution for those of The Contagious Diseases (Animals) Order of August, 1869.

3. In this Order, words have the same meaning as in the Act of 1869.

Foreign Cattle.

4. With respect to foreign cattle landed in the port of London, the following regulations shall have effect, in addition to those contained in The Contagious Diseases (Animals) Order of August, 1869:—

1. If the place of landing is a landing-place for slaughter defined, as in that Order mentioned, and is not within the metropolis, the cattle shall, unless slaughtered at the place of landing, be removed thence by railway to the metropolis, and not otherwise or elsewhere.

2. They shall be brought along the railway in trucks appropriated for foreign cattle, and having a red stripe two feet wide all round to distinguish them as so appropriated, which trucks shall after each occasion of use be cleansed and disinfected in manner provided by Article Twenty-one of that Order.

5. Foreign cattle brought within the metropolis shall be forthwith taken, either to lairs licensed in that behalf by the Privy Council, or to the Metropolitan Cattle Market, and in either case shall be slaughtered within ten days after landing, exclusive of the day of landing, and, until taken to be slaughtered, shall be kept in lairs licensed in that behalf by the Privy Council.

MAINE ON ANCIENT LAW.

Now ready. 3rd Edition. 8vo., 12s.

ANCIENT LAW:

ITS CONNECTION WITH THE EARLY HISTORY OF SOCIETY, AND ITS RELATION TO MODERN IDEAS.

By HENRY SUMNER MAINE,

Member of the Supreme Council of India, formerly Reader on Jurisprudence and the Civil Law at the Middle Temple, and Regius Professor of the Civil Law in the University of Cambridge.

'Professor Maine is probably the first Englishman who, with any authority, has applied the "historical method" to legal subjects so successfully employed abroad; and his prominent example will have a tendency to establish a connection between the study of the philosophy of law and those branches of philosophical history whose foundation lies in philology and her sister sciences.'—London Review.

'A contribution to scientific legal literature of singular value. It would be superfluous to say that it indicates an intimate acquaintance with the knowledge of ancient law which has come down to us. It possesses the far higher method of arranging, reconciling, and reconstructing, with remarkable power of discrimination and generalization, the ideas of which but fragments and traces have reached us. It discovers to us the simplest and earliest ideas of mankind, on questions of justice and law; follows them in their expansion, and exhibits the mode in which they became ultimately obscured and lost.'—Daily News.

'A text-book for all English students of jurisprudence. It presents elementary ideas in a distinct shape; it shows how endless are the ramifications of the history of jurisprudence which can be followed by learned ingenuity; it handles law in a large and free spirit; it clears up points as to which an obscurity prevails in the minds of many writers and readers, and it is written with singular clearness.'—Saturday Review.

ONE PENNY PER FOLIO. Fair Copy. HOOPER & SON, 45, Fleet Street.

A GENTLEMAN in practice in the Black Country, and who is obliged to part with his Bill Clerk (who has been with him nearly ten years) on account of the climate not suiting his health, is anxious to obtain a like situation for him in one of the Southern Counties. He can recommend him most highly as perfectly competent and desirable in every respect. He is, however, very dear, but which has never been found a disadvantage to his employer (and in some respects otherwise); but in consequence of which he would take a smaller salary. He is also a good Conveyancer, and in the habit of making himself very useful. Apply to A. Z., Messrs. Hooper & Son, 45, Fleet Street, E.C.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, Unforfeitable,

Unconditional, and Unchallengeable, issued by the PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Established 1848.

The Directors of this Company, in deference to an objection not unfrequently urged by persons invited to assure, that the ordinary mode of life assurance is in their opinion defective or uncertain, by reason of the operation of the customary conditions, have resolved to promulgate the present tables, and to issue assurances under them which shall be absolutely unforfeitable, unconditional, and unchallengeable.

For the reason referred to, many persons hesitate or decline to assure on the ground that, in the event of inability or unwillingness to continue payment of their premiums, the assurance will become forfeited. To this class of the public the system now introduced will especially commend itself, being entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture on account of non-payment of premium, or from any other cause whatever; while at the same time it absolutely guarantees at death, even when a default is made in payment of the premium, a fixed sum in respect of every premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the total amount assured as the number of premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted to be paid.

Besides this important advantage, every policy will expressly state what sum can at any time be withdrawn on the discontinuance of the assurance.

The assured will thus always have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at death, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and rendering unnecessary any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurances.

Every policy issued on this plan will be without any conditions as to voyaging, foreign residence, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections before referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become at once positively valuable as actual securities.

In addition to the foregoing statement of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurances—a matter of great importance where policies are held as collateral security.

The Prudential Assurance Company possesses an income of £220,000 a year, its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the Kingdom. Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

MONEY promptly advanced on personal or any available security. A moderate interest, repayable by instalments; no preliminary fees. Real and Personal Advance Company (Limited). LAW.—PARTNERSHIPS.—Solicitors who in consequence of increase of business, retirement of partners, or for other reasons, may be desirous to form new connections, are respectfully requested to communicate in confidence to Messrs. Hooper & Son, whose extensive intercourse with the profession enables them to introduce, without delay, gentlemen possessed of adequate means for premises and capital. 45, Fleet Street.

LAW PARTNERSHIP.—A Gentleman with an Old Established Business, but whose capital is insufficient to carry it on, desires the co-operation of a Gentleman with means adequate for the purpose. Address, stating amount of capital at disposal, A. B., The Model Dockyard, 31, Fleet Street, E.C.

MAINE ON ANCIENT LAW.

Now ready. 3rd Edition. 8vo., 12s.

A N C I E N T L A W :

ITS CONNECTION WITH THE EARLY HISTORY OF SOCIETY, AND ITS RELATION TO MODERN IDEAS.

By HENRY SUMNER MAINE,

Member of the Supreme Council of India, formerly Reader on Jurisprudence and the Civil Law at the Middle Temple, and Regius Professor of the Civil Law in the University of Cambridge.

'Professor Maine is probably the first Englishman who, with any authority, has applied the "historical method" to legal subjects so successfully employed abroad; and his prominent example will have a tendency to establish a connection between the study of the philosophy of law and those branches of philosophical history whose foundation lies in philology and her sister sciences.'—London Review.

'A contribution to scientific legal literature of singular value. It would be superfluous to say that it indicates an intimate acquaintance with the knowledge of ancient law which has come down to us. It possesses the far higher method of arranging, reconciling, and reconstructing, with remarkable power of discrimination and generalization, the ideas of which but fragments and traces have reached us. It discovers to us the simplest and earliest ideas of mankind, on questions of justice and law; follows them in their expansion, and exhibits the mode in which they became ultimately obscured and lost.'—Daily News.

'A text-book for all English students of jurisprudence. It presents elementary ideas in a distinct shape; it shows how endless are the ramifications of the history of jurisprudence which can be followed by learned ingenuity; it handles law in a large and free spirit; it clears up points as to which an obscurity prevails in the minds of many writers and readers, and it is written with singular clearness.'—Saturday Review.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, Unforfeitable,

Unconditional, and Unchallengeable, issued by the PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Established 1848.

The Directors of this Company, in deference to an objection not unfrequently urged by persons invited to assure, that the ordinary mode of life assurance is in their opinion defective or uncertain, by reason of the operation of the customary conditions, have resolved to promulgate the present tables, and to issue assurances under them which shall be absolutely unforfeitable, unconditional, and unchallengeable.

For the reason referred to, many persons hesitate or decline to assure on the ground that, in the event of inability or unwillingness to continue payment of their premiums, the assurance will become forfeited. To this class of the public the system now introduced will especially commend itself, being entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture on account of non-payment of premium, or from any other cause whatever; while at the same time it absolutely guarantees at death, even when a default is made in payment of the premium, a fixed sum in respect of every premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the total amount assured as the number of premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted to be paid.

Besides this important advantage, every policy will expressly state what sum can at any time be withdrawn on the discontinuance of the assurance.

The assured will thus always have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at death, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and rendering unnecessary any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurances.

Every policy issued on this plan will be without any conditions as to voyaging, foreign residence, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections before referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become at once positively valuable as actual securities.

In addition to the foregoing statement of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurances—a matter of great importance where policies are held as collateral security.

The Prudential Assurance Company possesses an income of £220,000 a year, its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the kingdom. Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

MONEY promptly advanced on personal or any available security. A moderate interest, repayable by instalments; no preliminary fees. Real and Personal Advance Company (Limited). Established 1866. 3, Tavistock Street, Covent Garden, and at 14, Southampton Row, Bloomsbury, W.C. Hours 9 to 6. Bills discounted. Forms free. F. J. HARVEY, Secretary.

THE WESTMINSTER CHAMBERS.

These noble SUITES OF CHAMBERS at the end of VICTORIA STREET are admirably adapted as Offices for Solicitors, Engineers, Public Companies, and Persons connected with Parliamentary Undertakings. They are most eligibly situated close to the Houses of Parliament, and within two minutes' walk of the Park Street Station of the Metropolitan District Railway, now being continued along the Thames Embankment to the Temple and the City. They are divided into suites of four, five, or six rooms, with every convenience separately attached to each. A Capital Restaurant on the premises. Several sets are now to be let at very moderate rents, and would be sub-divided for tenants requiring only one, two, or three rooms. To view, and for further particulars, apply to the Secretary, Mutual Tontine, 4, Westminster Chambers, Victoria Street, London.

Absolute Security Policies, Unforfeitable, Unconditional, and Unchallengeable, issued by the PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Established 1848.

The Directors of this Company, in deference to an objection not unfrequently urged by persons invited to assure, that the ordinary mode of life assurance is in their opinion defective or uncertain, by reason of the operation of the customary conditions, have resolved to promulgate the present tables, and to issue assurances under them which shall be absolutely unforfeitable, unconditional, and unchallengeable.

For the reason referred to, many persons hesitate or decline to assure on the ground that, in the event of inability or unwillingness to continue payment of their premiums, the assurance will become forfeited. To this class of the public the system now introduced will especially commend itself, being entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture on account of non-payment of premium, or from any other cause whatever; while at the same time it absolutely guarantees at death, even when a default is made in payment of the premium, a fixed sum in respect of every premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the total amount assured as the number of premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted to be paid.

Besides this important advantage, every policy will expressly state what sum can at any time be withdrawn on the discontinuance of the assurance.

The assured will thus always have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at death, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and rendering unnecessary any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurances.

Every policy issued on this plan will be without any conditions as to voyaging, foreign residence, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections hitherto referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become at once positively valuable as actual securities.

In addition to the foregoing statement of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurances—a matter of great importance where policies are held as collateral security.

The Prudential Assurance Company processes an income of £220,000 a year, its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the Kingdom. Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

MONEY promptly advanced on personal or any available security. A moderate interest, repayable by instalments; no preliminary fees. Real and Personal Advance Company (Limited). Established 1864. 3, Tavistock Street, Covent Garden, and at 14, Southampton Row, Bloomsbury, W.C. Hours 9 to 6. Bills discounted. Forms free. F. J. HARVEY, Secretary.

LAW PARTNERSHIP.—A GENTLEMAN (aged 29, and admitted in Trinity Term, 1868), who was articled to a first-class London firm, and who has for the last two years been engaged as Conveyancing and Chancery Clerk without supervision to a firm of high standing and extensive practice in Birmingham, is desirous of obtaining a junior partnership in a well-established and first-class business in London or the Country, and will be prepared to pay a good premium. The advertiser would not object to make an engagement to act as Clerk for a limited time with a view to a partnership. Unexceptional references given and required. Address, "A. Z.," Mr. W. HALL, Law Stationer, 42A, Lincoln's Inn Fields, London, W.C.

MAINE ON ANCIENT LAW.

Now ready. 3rd Edition. 8vo., 12s.

A N C I E N T L A W :

ITS CONNECTION WITH THE EARLY HISTORY OF SOCIETY, AND ITS RELATION TO MODERN IDEAS.

By HENRY SUMNER MAINE,

Member of the Supreme Council of India, formerly Reader on Jurisprudence and the Civil Law at the Middle Temple, and Regius Professor of the Civil Law in the University of Cambridge.

'Professor Maine is probably the first Englishman who, with any authority, has applied the "historical method" to legal subjects so successfully employed abroad; and his prominent example will have a tendency to establish a connection between the study of the philosophy of law and those branches of philosophical history whose foundation lies in philology and her sister sciences.'—London Review.

'A contribution to scientific legal literature of singular value. It would be superfluous to say that it indicates an intimate acquaintance with the knowledge of ancient law which has come down to us. It possesses the far higher method of arranging, reconciling, and reconstructing, with remarkable power of discrimination and generalization, the ideas of which but fragments and traces have reached us. It discovers to us the simplest and earliest ideas of mankind, on questions of justice and law; follows them in their expansion, and exhibits the mode in which they became ultimately obscured and lost.'—Daily News.

'A text-book for all English students of jurisprudence. It presents elementary ideas in a distinct shape; it shows how endless are the ramifications of the history of jurisprudence which can be followed by learned ingenuity; it handles law in a large and free spirit; it clears up points as to which an obscurity prevails in the minds of many writers and readers, and it is written with singular clearness.'—Saturday Review.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, Unforfeitable,

Unconditional, and Unchallengeable, issued by the PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 52, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Established 1848.

The Directors of this Company, in defence to an objection not unfrequently urged by persons invited to assure, that the ordinary mode of life assurance is in their opinion defective or uncertain, by reason of the operation of the customary conditions, have resolved to promulgate the present tables, and to issue assurances under them which shall be absolutely unforfeitable, unconditional, and unchallengeable.

For the reason referred to, many persons hesitate or decline to assure on the ground that, in the event of inability or unwillingness to continue payment of their premiums, the assurance will become forfeited. To this class of the public the system now introduced will especially commend itself, being entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture on account of non-payment of premiums, or from any other cause whatever; while at the same time it absolutely guarantees at death, even when a default is made in payment of the premium, a fixed sum in respect of every premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the total amount assured as the number of premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted to be paid.

Besides this important advantage, every policy will expressly state what sum can at any time be withdrawn on the discontinuance of the assurance.

The assured will always have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at death, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and rendering unnecessary any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurances.

Every policy issued on this plan will be without any conditions as to voyaging, foreign residence, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections before referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become at once positively valuable as actual securities.

In addition to the foregoing statement of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurances—a matter of great importance where policies are held as collateral security.

The Prudential Assurance Company possesses an income of 2,230,000 a year, its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the kingdom. Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

MONEY promptly advanced on personal or any available security. A moderate interest, repayable by instalments; no preliminary fees. Real and Personal Advance Company (Limited). Established 1856. 3, Tavistock Street, Covent Garden, and at 14, Southampton Row, Bloomsbury, W.C. Hours 9 to 6. Bills discounted. Fees free. P. J. HARVEY, Secretary.

LAW PARTNERSHIP.—A GENTLEMAN (aged 29, and admitted in Trinity Term, 1846), who was articled to a first-class London firm, and who has for the last two years been engaged as Conveyancing and Chancery Clerk without supervision to a firm of high standing and extensive practice in Birmingham, is desirous of obtaining a junior partnership in a well-established and first-class business in London or the Country, and will be prepared to pay a good premium. The advertiser would not object to make an engagement to act as Clerk for a limited time with a view to a partnership. Unexceptional references given and required. Address, "A. Z." Mr. W. THE CONTAGIOUS DISEASES (ANIMALS) ACT, 1869.

ORDER IN COUNCIL.

1st Sept. 1869.—The Lords and others of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, by virtue and in exercise of the powers in them vested under The Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act, 1869, and of every other power enabling them in this behalf, do order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows :

Preliminary.

1. This Order extends to Great Britain only; and words in this Order have the same meaning as in The Contagious Diseases (Animals) Order of August, 1869.

Milch Cows in Vessels.

2. Article 5 of The Contagious Diseases (Animals) Order of August, 1869, shall not apply to any milch cow brought from a port of any of the countries comprised in the Schedule to that Order, provided the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Customs are, on each occasion of the same being so brought, satisfied that the same has been taken from Great Britain to that port, and has not been landed at that port, or at any other port of any of those countries; and in relation to the landing, on any occasion, of any such milch cow in Great Britain elsewhere than at a part of a port defined as a landing-place for slaughter, the condition secondly stated in Article 6 of the said Order, to the effect that the vessel has not, since taking on board the cattle imported, entered any port of any of the countries aforesaid, shall not operate, provided the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Customs are, on each occasion, satisfied as aforesaid; but, subject to the foregoing exception, all the provisions of Articles 6 and 7 of the said Order shall, on each occasion, apply to every such cow and the landing thereof and the vessel bringing the same.

Landing-places for Slaughter.

3. Where by any Order of Council the regulations contained in the Fourth Schedule to The Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act, 1869, or any of them, have been applied, with any exception or modification, to any foreign cattle, every such exception and modification (as well as the regulations or regulation so applied) shall extend and apply to all other kinds of foreign animals for the time being within the same defined part of a port, so that all kinds of foreign animals for the time being within the same defined part shall be subject to the same regulations.

4. Where Regulation 6 of the Fourth Schedule to The Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act, 1869, is in operation, the Local Authority and all constables and police officers shall enforce the same, and do or cause to be done all things from time to time necessary for securing, as far as may be, the effectual isolation of the defined part of the port in respect of the movement of foreign animals.

Port of London.

5. The Order of Council of the 10th day of August, 1869, defining the parts of the port of London within which foreign cattle may be landed for slaughter, shall be read and have effect as if in the paragraph thereof defining the landing-place No. (1) an Order of Council of the 11th day of October, 1867, instead of the 11th day of October, 1869, had been referred to.

MAINE ON ANCIENT LAW.

Now ready. 3rd Edition. 8vo., 12s.

A N C I E N T L A W :

ITS CONNECTION WITH THE EARLY HISTORY OF SOCIETY, AND ITS RELATION TO MODERN IDEAS.

By HENRY SUMNER MAINE,

Member of the Supreme Council of India, formerly Reader on Jurisprudence and the Civil Law at the Middle Temple, and Regius Professor of the Civil Law in the University of Cambridge.

'Professor Maine is probably the first Englishman who, with any authority, has applied the "historical method" to legal subjects so successfully employed abroad; and his prominent example will have a tendency to establish a connection between the study of the philosophy of law and those branches of philosophical history whose foundation lies in philology and her sister sciences.'—London Review.

'A contribution to scientific legal literature of singular value. It would be superfluous to say that it indicates an intimate acquaintance with the knowledge of ancient law which has come down to us. It possesses the far higher method of arranging, reconciling, and reconstructing, with remarkable power of discrimination and generalization, the ideas of which but fragments and traces have reached us. It discovers to us the simplest and earliest ideas of mankind, on questions of justice and law; follows them in their expansion, and exhibits the mode in which they became ultimately obscured and lost.'—Daily News.

'A text-book for all English students of Jurisprudence. It presents elementary law in a distinct shape; it shows how endless are the ramifications of the history of jurisprudence which can be followed by learned ingenuity; it handles law in a large and free spirit; it clears up points as to which an obscurity prevails in the minds of many writers and readers, and it is written with singular clearness.'—Saturday Review.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, Unforfeitable,

Unconditional, and Unchallengeable, issued by the PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Established 1848.

The Directors of this Company, in deference to an objection not unfrequently urged by persons invited to assure, that the ordinary mode of life assurance is in their opinion defective or uncertain, by reason of the operation of the customary conditions, have resolved to promulgate the present tables, and to issue assurances under them which shall be absolutely unforfeitable, unconditional, and unchallengeable.

For the reason referred to, many persons hesitate or decline to assure on the ground that, in the event of inability or unwillingness to continue payment of their premiums, the assurance will become forfeited. To this class of the public the system now introduced will especially commend itself, being entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture on account of non-payment of premium, or from any other cause whatever; while at the same time it absolutely guarantees, even when a default is made in payment of the premium, a fixed sum in respect of every premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the total amount assured as the number of premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted to be paid.

Besides this important advantage, every policy will expressly state what sum can at any time be withdrawn on the discontinuance of the assurance.

The assured will thus always have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at decease, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and rendering unnecessary any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurances.

Every policy issued on this plan will be without any conditions as to varying, foreign residence, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections before referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become at once positively valuable as actual securities.

In addition to the foregoing statement of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurances—a matter of great importance where policies are held as collateral security.

The Prudential Assurance Company possesses an income of £220,000 a year, its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the kingdom. Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

THE STUDENT'S BLACKSTONE, Price 7s. 6d.

COMMENTARIES ON THE LAWS OF ENGLAND.

IN FOUR BOOKS.

By SIR WILLIAM BLACKSTONE, KNT.,

One of the Justices of the Court of Common Pleas.

ABRIDGED AND ADAPTED TO THE PRESENT STATE OF THE LAW,

By ROBERT MALCOLM KERR, LL.D., BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

'Mr. Malcolm Kerr, whose edition of Blackstone's "Commentaries" has almost attained to the rank of a legal classic, has remanded for Mr. Murray the "Student's Blackstone." The new work is a true abridgment, and contains in a small compass, the real substance of the larger work. Need we add that Mr. Kerr's "Blackstone" is an exposition of English law, in which the latest legal information is conveyed in accurate and yet intelligible phrase?'—The Athenaeum.

'The present day has a great deal for which to thank Mr. Murray. Modern and ancient history, the Latin and Greek languages have, by his seal, been brought within the reach of many, to whom they were before inaccessible. And now we have within us the difficulties of the law.

'This edition of "The Student's Blackstone" is more complete than any that has been published. The editor has not only abridged from the original, but altered; and it is not too much to say that we have here before us a really valuable book of reference upon which dependence may safely be placed, since the various recent changes in legislation have all been carefully noticed.'—The Reader.

JOHN MURRAY, ALBEMARLE STREET.

MAINE ON ANCIENT LAW.

Now ready. 3rd Edition. 8vo., 12s.

ANCIENT LAW:

ITS CONNECTION WITH THE EARLY HISTORY OF SOCIETY, AND ITS RELATION TO MODERN IDEAS.

By HENRY SUMNER MAINE,

Member of the Supreme Council of India, formerly Reader on Jurisprudence and the Civil Law at the Middle Temple, and Regius Professor of the Civil Law in the University of Cambridge.

'Professor Maine is probably the first Englishman who, with any authority, has applied the "historical method" to legal subjects so successfully employed abroad; and his prominent example will have a tendency to establish a connection between the study of the philosophy of law and those branches of philosophical history whose foundation lies in philology and her sister sciences.'—London Review.

'A contribution to scientific legal literature of singular value. It would be superfluous to say that it indicates an intimate acquaintance with the knowledge of ancient law which has come down to us. It possesses the far higher method of arranging, reconciling, and reconstructing, with remarkable power of discrimination and generalization, the ideas of which but fragments and traces have reached us. It discovers to us the simplest and earliest ideas of mankind, on questions of justice and law; follows them in their expansion, and exhibits the mode in which they became ultimately obscured and lost.'—Daily News.

'A text-book for all English students of jurisprudence. It presents elementary law in a distinct shape; it shows how endless are the ramifications of the history of jurisprudence which can be followed by learned ingenuity; it handles law in a large and free spirit; it clears up points as to which an obscurity prevails in the minds of many students, and readers, and it is written with singular clearness.'—Saturday Review.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, Unforfeitable, Unconditional, and Unchallengeable, issued by the PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 52, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Established 1848.

The Directors of this Company, in deference to an objection not unfrequently urged by persons invited to assure, that the ordinary mode of life assurance is in their opinion defective or uncertain, by reason of the operation of the customary conditions, have resolved to promulgate the present tables, and to issue assurances under them which shall be absolutely unforfeitable, unconditional, and unchallengeable.

For the reason referred to, many persons hesitate or decline to assure on the ground that, in the event of inability or unwillingness to continue payment of their premiums, the assurance will become forfeited. To this class of the public the system now introduced will especially commend itself, being entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture on account of non-payment of premium, or from any other cause whatever; while at the same time it absolutely guarantees at death, even when a default is made in payment of the premium, a fixed sum in respect of every premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the total amount assured as the number of premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted to be paid.

Besides this important advantage, every policy will expressly state what sum can at any time be withdrawn on the discontinuance of the assurance.

The assured will thus always have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at death, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and ready for use, as necessary, any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurances.

Every policy issued on this plan will be without any conditions as to voyaging, foreign residences, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections before referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become positively valuable as actual securities.

In addition to the foregoing statement of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurance—a matter of great importance where policies are held as collateral security.

The Prudential Assurance Company possesses an income of £220,000 a year, its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the Kingdom. Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

MONEY promptly advanced on personal or any available security. A moderate interest, repayable by instalments; no preliminary fees. Real and Personal Advance Company (Limited). Established 1856. 3, Tavistock Street, Covent Garden, and at 14, Southampton Row, Bloomsbury, W.C. Hours 9 to 6. Bills discounted. Forms free. P. J. HARVEY, Secretary.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, Unforfeitable,

Unconditional, and Unchallengeable, issued by the PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Established 1848.

The Directors of this Company, in reference to an objection not unfrequently urged by persons invited to assure, that the ordinary mode of life assurance is in their opinion defective or uncertain, by reason of the operation of the customary conditions, have resolved to promulgate the present tables, and to issue assurances under them which shall be absolutely unforfeitable, unconditional, and unchallengeable.

For the reason referred to, many persons hesitate or decline to assure on the ground that, in the event of inability or unwillingness to continue payment of their premiums, the assurance will become forfeited. To this class of the public the system now introduced will especially commend itself, being entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture on account of non-payment of premium, or from any other cause whatever; while at the same time it absolutely guarantees at death, even when a default is made in payment of the premium, a fixed sum in respect of every premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the total amount assured as the number of premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted to be paid.

Besides this important advantage, every policy will expressly state what sum can at any time be withdrawn on the discontinuance of the assurance.

The assured will thus always have the option of retaining either an ascertained fixed sum payable at death, or, in case of need, of withdrawing a certain amount, according to the duration of the policy, such amounts being set forth on every policy, and rendering unnecessary any future reference to the Company on these points, as is the case with ordinary assurances.

Every policy issued on this plan will be without any conditions as to voyaging, foreign residence, or other usual limitations. By this freedom from restrictions of all kinds, the objections before referred to will be entirely removed, and the policies will become at once positively valuable as actual securities.

In addition to the foregoing statement of advantages, the number of premiums is strictly defined. The longest term provided for is twenty-five years, and the shortest five years, as shown by the tables. Thus, bankers, creditors, and others holding policies of this class as security, may always know the utmost amount they may be called upon to advance, so as to maintain the full benefit of the assurances—a matter of great importance where policies are held as collateral security.

The Prudential Assurance Company possesses an income of £220,000 a year, its position is unquestionable, and it obtains the largest amount of new business of any office in the kingdom. Special Agents Wanted.

SHORT SUMMARY OF THE POSITION OF THE

PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, 62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Branch Office—7, King Street, St. James's.

The Annual Premium Income of the Company at the close of 1868 was £280,978 ss. 10d., and the total Amount Assured £4,832,197.

THE BUSINESS IS DIVIDED UNDER TWO HEADS—

1st—The General or Ordinary Business, being the same as that transacted by other Companies.

2nd—The Industrial or Working Class Assurances.

The Premium Income of the General Business was £52,432, and the sum Assured £1,622,000. The present value of the liability of this Branch by the Carlisle 3 per cent. Tables, throwing off the entire loading, was £139,322 16 8

The Premium Income of the Industrial Branch was £169,546, the sum Assured £3,169,237, and the Estimated Reserve 50,000 0 0

£189,322 16 8

The liability of the Industrial Branch does not admit of being estimated in the same way as that of the General Branch, on account of the very large proportion of policies which constantly lapse, so that the bulk of the Assurances are, in fact, risks for short terms only; the estimated reserve for the liabilities of this Branch of the business is shown by the result of 14 years' experience to be abundantly sufficient.

The Assurance Fund on 31st December, 1868, was £241,301 12 4

The average duration of the whole of the Industrial Policies was considerably under three years.

The average age of the Assured in the Industrial Branch was 19 years.

A detailed list of Assets can be had on application.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, UNFORFEITABLE, UNCONDITIONAL, and UNCHALLENGEABLE, are issued by this Company.

These Policies enable the assured to go to and reside in any part of the world without extra Premium, and contain a table of withdrawals showing at one glance the sum that may at any time be withdrawn.

THE STUDENT'S BLACKSTONE, Price 7s. 6d.

COMMENTARIES ON THE LAWS OF ENGLAND.

IN FOUR BOOKS.

By SIR WILLIAM BLACKSTONE, KNT.,

One of the Justices of the Court of Common Pleas.

ABRIDGED AND ADAPTED TO THE PRESENT STATE OF THE LAW,

By ROBERT MALCOLM KERR, LL.D., BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

'Mr. Malcolm Kerr, whose edition of Blackstone's "Commentaries" has almost attained to the rank of a legal classic, has remoulded for Mr. Murray the "Student's Blackstone." The new work is a true abridgment, and contains, in a small compass, the real substance of the larger work. Need we add that Mr. Kerr's "Blackstone" is an exposition of English law, in which the latest legal information is conveyed in accurate and yet intelligible phrase?'—The Athenaeum.

'The present day has a great deal for which to thank Mr. Murray. Modern and ancient history, the Latin and Greek languages have, by his zeal, been brought within the reach of many, to whom they were before inaccessible. And now we have exhibited us the difficulties of the law.

'This edition of "The Student's Blackstone" is more complete than any that has yet been published. The editor has not only abridged from the original, but altered; and it is not too much to say that we have here before us a really valuable book of reference upon which dependence may safely be placed, since the various recent changes in legislation have all been carefully noticed.'—The Reader.

SHORT SUMMARY OF THE POSITION OF THE PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY,

62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Branch Office—7, King Street, St. James's.

The Annual Premium Income of the Company at the close of 1868 was £220,978 0s. 10d., and the total Amount Assured £4,832,197.

THE BUSINESS IS DIVIDED UNDER TWO HEADS—

1st—The General or Ordinary Business, being the same as that transacted by other Companies.

2nd—The Industrial or Working Class Assurances.

The Premium Income of the General Business was £52,452, and the sum Assured £1,682,960. The present value of the liability of this Branch by the Carlisle 3 per cent. Tables, throwing off the entire loading, was £139,322 15 8

The Premium Income of the Industrial Branch was £169,546, the sum Assured £3,169,237, and the Estimated Reserve 50,000 0 0

£199,322 15 8

The liability of the Industrial Branch does not admit of being estimated in the same way as that of the General Branch, on account of the very large proportion of policies which constantly issue, so that the bulk of the Assurances are, in fact, risks for short terms only; the estimated reserve for the liabilities of this Branch of the business is shown by the result of 14 years' experience to be abundantly sufficient.

The Assurance Fund on 31st December, 1868, was £241,301 12 4

The average duration of the whole of the Industrial Policies was considerably under three years.

The average age of the Assured in the Industrial Branch was 19 years.

A detailed list of Assets can be had on application.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES UNFORFEITABLE, UNCONDITIONAL, and UNCHALLENGEABLE, are issued by this Company.

These Policies enable the assured to go to and reside in any part of the world without extra Premium, and contain a table of withdrawals showing at one glance the sum that may at any time be withdrawn.

SHORT SUMMARY OF THE POSITION OF THE PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY,

62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Branch Office—7, King Street, St. James's. The Annual Premium Income of the Company at the close of 1868 was £220,978 0s. 10d., and the total Amount Assured £4,832,197.

THE BUSINESS IS DIVIDED UNDER TWO HEADS—
1st—The General or Ordinary Business, being the same as that transacted by other Companies.
2nd—The Industrial or Working Class Assurances.
The Premium Income of the General Business was £52,432, and the sum Assured £1,652,950. The present value of the liability of this Branch by the Carlisle 3 per cent. Tables, throwing off the entire loading, was £139,322 15 8
The Premium Income of the Industrial Branch was £168,546, the sum Assured £3,169,237, and the Estimated Reserve 50,000 0 0
£139,322 15 8

The liability of the Industrial Branch does not admit of being estimated in the same way as that of the General Branch, on account of the very large proportion of policies which constantly lapse, so that the bulk of the Assurances are, in fact, risks for short terms only; the estimated reserve for the liabilities of this Branch of the business is shown by the result of 14 years' experience to be abundantly sufficient.

The Assurance Fund on 31st December, 1868, was £221,801 12 4
The average duration of the whole of the Industrial Policies was considerably under three years.

The average age of the Assured in the Industrial Branch was 19 years.
A detailed list of Assets can be had on application.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, UNFORFEITABLE, UNCONDITIONAL, and UNCHANGEABLE, are issued by this Company.

These Policies enable the assured to go to and reside in any part of the world without extra Premium, and contain a table of withdrawals showing at one glance the sum that may at any time be withdrawn.

Special Agents Wanted. HENRY HARBEN, Secretary.

THE STUDENT'S BLACKSTONE, Price 7*s*. 6*d*.

COMMENTARIES ON THE LAWS OF ENGLAND

IN FOUR BOOKS.

By SIR WILLIAM BLACKSTONE, Knt.

One of the Justices of the Court of Common Pleas.

ABRIDGED AND ADAPTED TO THE PRESENT STATE OF THE LAW,

By ROBERT MALCOLM KERR, Esq., Barrister-at-Law.

"Mr. Malcolm Kerr, whose edition of Blackstone's "Commentaries" has almost attained to the rank of a legal classic, has remodeled for Mr. Murray the "Student's Blackstone." The new work is a true abridgment, and contains in a small compass, the real substance of the larger work. Need we add that Mr. Kerr's "Blackstone" is an exposition of English law, in which the latest legal information is conveyed in accurate and yet intelligible phrase?"—The Athenaeum.

"The present day has a great deal for which to thank Mr. Murray. Modern and ancient history, the Latin and Greek languages have, by his zeal, been brought within the reach of many, to whom they were before inaccessible. And now we have within us the difficulties of the law.

"This edition of "The Student's Blackstone" is more complete than any that has been published. The editor has not only abridged from the original, but added; and is not too much to say that we have here before us a really valuable book of reference upon which dependence may safely be placed, since the various recent changes in legislation have all been carefully noticed."—The Reader.

LECTURES.—(6.0 TO 7.0 P.M.)

THREE COURSES of LECTURES on CONVEYANCING and the LAW of REAL PROPERTY, EQUITY and COMMON and MERCANTILE LAW, will be delivered in the HALL of the Society's Rooms, during the Months of November, December, January, February, March, April, May, and June next.

LAW CLASSES.—(4.30 TO 6.0 P.M.)

In connection with the Lectures, Classes will be conducted under the guidance and superintendence of the Lecturers, and will be concurrently with the Lectures. A number of Classes will follow each Lecture, and be of such duration as shall provide for the efficient instruction and examination of Students. The teaching of the Lecturers will thus be amplified, and impressed on the memory by the Classes; and the system of examination will test, from time to time, the progress made by the Students.

ADDRESS ON THE ORIGIN AND HISTORY OF THE ENGLISH LAW,

By JOHN MARSHALL HAYMAN, Esq., BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

Before the above Courses of Lectures are commenced an Address will be delivered by JOHN MARSHALL HAYMAN, Esq., Barrister-at-Law, in the Hall of the Society, on 'The Origin and History of the English Law.'

Mr. HAYMAN proposes to trace, so far as the limit of time will allow, the Origin and History of some of the leading principles of the English Law. He will invite attention chiefly to that element of our system which is derived from the Law of the Roman Empire. It may be convenient to take at least one Illustration from each of the main divisions of our Law which are the subjects of the Courses of Lectures about to be commenced.

The proposed Illustrations are:—(1) The Derivation of our System of Equity from the Jus Prætorium of Rome.
 (2) The Law of Contract, and particularly of Bailment.
 (3) Title by Prescription.

Time will not allow of more than very brief reference to the other great element of our system, which is of native or feudal origin. The Address will be delivered on Monday the 1st November next, at 5 o'clock; and in addition to the Members of the Society, all persons now serving under Articles, whether Subscribers to the Lectures and Classes or not, will be admitted gratuitously.

PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY,

62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Branch Office—7, King Street, St. James's. The Annual Premium Income of the Company at the close of 1868 was £220,975 2s. 10d., and the total Amount Assured £4,832,197.

THE BUSINESS IS DIVIDED UNDER TWO HEADS—
1st.—The General or Ordinary Business, being the same as that transacted by other Companies.
2nd.—The Industrial or Working Class Assurances.
The Premium Income of the General Business was £52,432, and the sum Assured £1,662,956. The present value of the liability of this Branch by the Carlisle 3 per cent Tables, throwing off the entire loading, was £130,322 15 8
The Premium Income of the Industrial Branch was £168,546, the sum Assured £3,169,237, and the Estimated Reserve 50,000 0 0

The liability of the Industrial Branch does not admit of being estimated in the same way as that of the General Branch, on account of the very large proportion of policies which constantly lapse, so that the bulk of the Assurances are, in fact, risks for short terms only; the estimated reserve for the liabilities of this Branch of the business is shown by the result of 14 years' experience to be abundantly sufficient. The Assurance Fund on 31st December, 1868, was £241,301 12 4
The average duration of the whole of the Industrial Policies was considerably under three years.

The average age of the Assured in the Industrial Branch was 19 years. A detailed list of Assets can be had on application.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, UNFORFEITABLE, UNCONDITIONAL, and UNCHANGEABLE, are issued by this Company.

These Policies enable the assured to go to and reside in any part of the world without extra Premium, and contain a table of withdrawals showing at one glance the sum that may at any time be withdrawn.

SHORT SUMMARY OF THE POSITION OF THE PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY,
62, Ludgate Hill, London, E.C. Branch Office—7, King Street, St. James's.
The Annual Premium Income of the Company at the close of 1868 was £220,978 0s. 10d., and the total Amount Assured £4,832,197.

THE BUSINESS IS DIVIDED UNDER TWO HEADS—
1st—The General or Ordinary Business, being the same as that transacted by other Companies.
2nd—The Industrial or Working Class Assurances.
The Premium Income of the General Business was £52,432, and the sum Assured £1,642,960. The present value of the Liability of this Branch by the Carlisle 3 per cent. Tables, throwing off the entire loading, was £139,322 15 8
The Premium Income of the Industrial Branch was £168,546, the sum Assured £3,169,237, and the Estimated Reserve 50,000 0 0

The liability of the Industrial Branch does not admit of being estimated in the same way as that of the General Branch, on account of the very large proportion of policies which constantly lapse, so that the bulk of the Assurances are, in fact, risks for short terms only; the estimated reserve for the liabilities of this Branch of the business is shown by the result of 14 years' experience to be abundantly sufficient.
The Assurance Fund on 31st December, 1868, was £241,301 12 4
The average duration of the whole of the Industrial Policies was considerably under three years.

The average age of the Assured in the Industrial Branch was 19 years.
A detailed list of Assets can be had on application.
ABSOLUTE SECURITY POLICIES, UNFORFEITABLE, UNCONDITIONAL, and UNCHANGABLE, are issued by this Company.

These Policies enable the assured to go to and reside in any part of the world without extra Premium, and contain a table of withdrawals showing at one glance the sum that may at any time be withdrawn.

AND

EDWARD A. HADLEY, M.A.,

OF LINCOLN'S INN, BARRISTER-AT-LAW; LATE FELLOW OF TRINITY COLLEGE, CAMBRIDGE.

. This Work is mainly founded upon Blackstone, the chief aim having been to produce such a version of his celebrated Commentaries their author, if now living, would have produced.

THE STUDENT'S BLACKSTONE, Price 7s. 6d.

COMMENTARIES ON THE LAWS OF ENGLAND.

IN FOUR BOOKS.

By SIR WILLIAM BLACKSTONE, KNT.,

One of the Justices of the Court of Common Pleas.

ABBRIDGED AND ADAPTED TO THE PRESENT STATE OF THE LAW,

By ROBERT MALCOLM KERR, LL.D., BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

'Mr. Malcolm Kerr, whose edition of Blackstone's "Commentaries" has almost attained to the rank of a legal classic, has remodeled for Mr. Murray the "Student's Blackstone." The new work is a true abridgment, and contains, in a small compass, the real substance of the larger work. Need we add that Mr. Kerr's "Blackstone" is an exposition of English law, in which the latest legal-information is conveyed in accurate and yet intelligible phrase?'—The Athenæum.

'The present day has a great deal for which to thank Mr. Murray. Modern and ancient history, the Latin and Greek languages have, by his zeal, been brought within the reach of many, to whom they were before inaccessible. And now we have within us the difficulties of the law.

'This edition of "The Student's Blackstone" is more complete than any that has been published. The editor has not only abridged from the original, but added; and is not too much to say that we have here before us a really valuable book of reference upon which dependance may safely be placed, since the various recent changes in legislation have all been carefully noticed.'—The Reader.
