What is a wikimedian local group ?

A local group is an unofficial gathering of wikimedians built to create a regional network of wikimedian activities (partnerships, training session, editathon) based on a free-will.

WIKIMEDIA
FRANCE

Why ?

- Meet-up IRL (friendliness)
- Imagine local action with a strongest impact
- Developping personal relationships with partners (GLAM)

Who ?

Any people, contributors or no, Wikimedia France member's or no, could integrate a local group.

L'ÉDITO

Vous avez sous les yeux le nouveau format de Wikilettre : les rubriques existantes (Actualité régionale, Zoom sur, Échos du mouvement et Du côté de l'asso) demeurent, la principale nouveauté réside dans la mise en page.
Bonne lecture.

ACTUALITÉ RÉGIONALE

Toutes les actions menées par les bénévoles en région.

Benefits of local groups

- A strong local identity = Non-Cabale de l'Ouest /Cabale de la quenelle/ Cubale
- Autonomisation with partners
- QG (le Node, Bordeaux/ Le Kotopo, Lyon)
- Specialisation :
  - Local group of Paris = GLAM
  - Local group of Lyon = Wiktionnary
  - Local group of Lille = University
- Link between wikimedians and other communities (OSM, Linux,)
- Montpell'Libre (Local group of Montpellier)

What is a « referent » ? (1)

To facilitate the exchange of information, between Wikimedia France and a local group, one person, inside the group is chosen by the others to have a special contact with employees of the chapter.

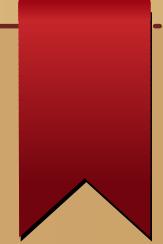

- Project with GLAM
- Asking for some materials (photo)
- Help with organisation of an Editathon/Forum/Conference
- Asking for remboursment (Train,Car...)

What is a « referent » ? (2)

Referents of local groups took part of special days organize by Wikimedia France to think about wikimedian's needs, strategic developpement of regional activites and keys to welcome new participants.

Local groups and the beginning of the Wikimedia France crisis

A will to overcontrol of the local groups :

- ED and Board decide that the referent could only be a member of Wikimedia France
- ED and Board wrote a carta that all referents have to agree (referent have to be confirmed by the Board)
- ED and Board ask to the referent to sign a declaration about conflict of interest.

May 2017 = Some referent asking the resignation of the Board.

June 2017 = 90 % of the referents quite

July 2017 = Local group of Lyon publisched a text where it remembers that the group is independent in its own organisation from Wikimedia France.

During the next month, we will be able to think and create a new collaboration between the chapter and the local group.
