The Ragged Soldier.

A TALE OF THE REVOLUTION.

Just at the close of the revolutionary war, there was seen somewhere in one of the small towns of central Massachusetts, a ragged and forlorn looking soldier coming up the dusty street. He looked about on the cornfields tasseling for the harvest, on the rich, bright patches of wheat for the sickle, and on the green potatoe field, with curious eyes; so at last thought Mr. Towne, who walked leisurely behind him, going from reaping to his supper.

The latter was a stout farmer, dressed in home made brown linen trousers, without suspenders, vest or coat. The ragged soldier stopped under the shade of a great sugar maple, and Mr. Towne, overtaking him, stopped also.

"Home from the wars?" he asked.

"I am just out of the British clutches," replied the man. "I've been a prisoner for years." He rejoined suddenly, "can you tell me who lives in the next house? Is it yours?"

"No," replied Towne, "Tompkins lives there. That house and lot used to belong to a comrade of yours, I suppose; his name was Jones, but he was shot at Bunker Hill, and his young widow married again."

The soldier leaned against a tree.

"What kind of a man is he? I mean what kind of people are they? Would they be likely to let a poor soldier have something to eat?"

"If Tompkins is out, you'll be treated first rate there. Mrs. Tompkins is a nice woman, but he is the snarliest cur that ever gnawed a bone. He is a terrible surly neighbor, and he leads her a dog's life. She missed it in marrying the fellow; but you see she had a hard time with the farm after Jones went off soldiering; and when my son came back and said he was dead—he saw him bleeding to death on the battle field—she broke right down, and this Tompkins came along and got into work for her, and he laid himself out to do first rate.

He somehow got on the blind side of all of us, and, when he offered himself to her, I advised her to have him, and I am sorry I did it. You had better come home with me. I alwas have a bite for a poor fellow that's fought for his country."

"Thank you," kindly returned the soldier, "but Mrs. Tompkins is a distant—a sort of old acquaintance. The fact is, I used to know her first husband, and I guess I will call there."

Mr. Towne watched him as he went up to the door and knocked, and saw that he was admitted by Mrs. Tompkins.

"Some sweetheart of hers, may be," said Mr. Towne, nodding to himself; "he comes too late. Poor woman, she has a hard row to hoe now."

Then Mr. Towne went home to supper, and we will go on with the soldier.

"Could you give a poor soldier a mouthful to eat?" he asked of the pale nervous woman who opened the door for him.

"My husband does not allow me to give anything to travelers," she said, "but I always feel for the soldiers coming back, and I'll give you some supper if you won't be long eating it;" and she wiped her eyes with her white and blue checkered apron, and set about with alacrity providing refreshments for the poor man who had thrown himself into the nearest chair, and with his head leaning on his breast, appeared too tired to remove his hat from his face.

"I am glad to have you eat, and I would not hurry you for anything," she said in a frightened way, "but you will eat quick, won't you? I expect he will be in, every moment."

The man drew his chair to the table, keeping his hat on his head, as though he belonged to the Society of Friends; but that could not be, for the Friends do not go to war. He ate heartily of the bread and butter and cold meat—and how long he was about it.

Mrs. Tompkins fidgeted

"Dear me," said she to herself, "if he only knew, he would not be so cruel as to let Tompkins come in and catch him."

She went and looked from the window uneasily, but the soldier gave no token of his meal coming to an end.

"Now he is pouring vinegar on the cold cabbage and potatoes. Oh! dear, how slow he is! Hasn't the man any teeth?" At last she said mildly: "I am very sorry to hurry you, but couldn't you let me spread some bread and butter, and cut you some slices of meat to take away with you? My husband will use abusive language to you, if he finds you here."

Before the soldier could reply, footsteps were heard on the door stone at the back door, and a man entered. He stopped short, and looked at the soldier as a savage dog might look. Then he broke out in a tone between a growl and a roar:

"Hey-day, Molly; a pretty piece of business. What have I told you, time and again, madam? You'll find you had better mind your master. And you, you lazy, thieving vagabond, let me see you clear out of my house and off my land a good deal quicker than you come on the premises."

"You house! your land!" exclaimed the soldier, starting suddenly up, erect and tall, and dashing off his hat with a quick, fiery gesture. His eyes flashed like lightning, and his lips quivered with indignation, as he confronted the astonished Tompkins. The latter was afraid of him; and his wife had given a sudden nervous shriek when the soldier first started to his feet and flung off his hat, and had fallen trembling and half fainting in a chair, for she had recognized him.

"You hain't any business to interfere between me and my wife," said Tompkins sulkily, cowed by the attitude of the soldier.

"Your wife!" exclaimed the soldier, with the very concentration of contempt expressed in his voice.

"Who are you?" asked Tompkins, with an air of effrontery.

"I am Harry Jones, since you ask," replied the soldier, "the owner of this land, which you will leave this very hour. As for Molly," softening his tone as he turned to the woman, now sobbing hysterically, "she shall choose between us."

"Oh, Harry!" said she, while Tompkins stood dumb with astonishment, "take me—save me!"

With one step he was at her side, holding her in his arms. "What did you mean by treating this poor child so? Did you this because she had no earthly protector—did you think that there was not a God in Heaven against you? No man who is cruel to a woman is ever truly brave," and Tompkins slunk away like a beaten spaniel.

The next day had not passed away before everybody in the town knew that Harry Jones had come, alive and well, to rescue his much enduring patient wife from a worse constraint than that of a British prison; but what they all said, and what Harry said, and what Molly said, and what Molly felt, I must leave you to imagine, for here the legend ends.

How to Tell a Lady's Age.

All our readers are aware that to ask a lady her age is equivalent to a declaration of war. We have always looked upon it as such; still we have an irresistible desire to know the age of some young ladies, but, bless their souls, we would not ask them for the world. We have at length come across a method by which the sweet ones may be made to divulge the great secret without knowing what they are about; and thus young gentlemen can learn whether they are paying their devoirs to seventeen or thirty. The following table will do it. Just hand this table to the lady, and request her to tell in which column her age is contained. Add together the figures at the tops of the columns in which her age is found, and you have the secret.

Thus, suppose her age to be seventeen. You will find the number seventeen in two columns, namely, the first and fifth, and the top figures make seventeen. (It is proper to state to the reader, that this table will not indicate the age of any young lady or gentleman over sixty-three.)

Here is the magic table:

SUGGESTION to affectionate wives.—Should you find it necessary, as many of you undoubtedly will, to chastise your husbands, you will perform this affectionate duty with the soft end of the broom, not with the handle.

A NATIVE of the "Emerald" the other day applied to a recruiting officer to enlist, saying that he wished to join the "66th Regiment, so as to be near his borther, who was in the 65th."

The Cincinnati Hero.

The Hoosiers and Cornercrackers of Ohio are a brave and wily race. On a raw October morning, a young man, in seedy black, appeared on the broad sloping shore at Cincinnati, and elbowed his way through the crowd to the water-side.

"Been on a bust?" said one of the bystanders.

"Going to take a bath?" said another.

The young man heeding no one, turned up his eyes to Heaven, clasped his hands together, muttered some inarticulate words, probably of despair, and dashed himself into the river.

The loafers were appalled; but, ere a foot had moved, a second young man, more roughly dressed, ran into their midst shrieking wildly, and demanded if any one had seen his brother.

Suddenly his eyes fell on a man in seedy black floundering in the water, who was now some yards from shore.

"There he is, there he is!" he cried, "I'll save him or die. Ah!"

And away he dashed into the turbid Ohio, striking out manfully. He soon reached his brother, fought with him in the water, and eventually dragged him to the shore by the hair of his head; amid three irrepressible cheers from the spectators. The hero was exhausted—the would-be suicide almost insensible.

"No, he lives!" shouted out the shivering hero, "he lives! Again have I saved him! Ah!"

The sufferer was carried to the nearest store, and there, before a cheerful fire, soon restored to consciousness.

"Brandy, or he perish—my brother!" cried the hero.

A dozen philanthropists ran for brandy.

"Whisky, or I die of cold!" said the hero.

And a dozen more ran for whisky.

"Oh, the agonies, gentlemen," said the hero, "I and my brother has suffered for the last ten months! Oh, the penury, the scorn, the starvation! But I draw a veil over the horrid past—for why should I give your feeling hearts one unnecessary pang?"

"Go on!" shouted twenty voices.

"But, gentlemen, should I be ungrateful for such sympathy? Should a miserable pride bride my tongue? We have seen better days; yes, sure, better days, but repeated losses have so weakened my poor brother's brain, that this is the second time I have saved his life this week. Ah!"

A moist eyed man, with red hair, here stepped forward, and with apologies, laid a silver dollar on the table (the rescuer bowed and went on talking; his half-drowned brother was moody and depressed). A second man put down a two, a third a five dollar bill; there was soon a respectable pile, and all for the faithful youth who had risked his own life to save a brother's.

"Smart chaps," said a bystander from a suburban village, who saw the two brothers depart, cheered by a sympathizing crowd.

"Why, do you know them?" said a second man, who had just laid down the dollars pretty freely.

"Know them, to be sure I do. Why, those are the two fellows as go about saving each other's lives every day or two. They are the two smartest swimmers you can find this side of the Alleghany mountains."

MISS MOLLIE and Miss Peggie are sisters. Miss Mollie is the elder. She is not a member of any church, but like all well-bred young ladies, says her prayers before retiring. One night she carried with her to her room a pickle and laid it upon her bureau, thinking she would eat it after her devotions. She knelt at the foot of her bed for the purpose. Peggie entered the room, and seeing her sister deeply absorbed, thought to appropriate the pickle to her own use. She had bitten off a piece, but in chewing it made a noise, which her sister heard, who, wishing to know the cause, looked up, and seeing Peggie devouring the pickle, hurriedly arose, exclaiming:

"O, Lord, excuse me a moment; Peggie is eating my pickle."

WE once knew a Quaker who was forced into a fight with a quarrelsome neighbor. After a little scuffling, the Quaker's nose came into a violent contact with the other main's fist, causing our friend's nose to bleed profusely. Quaker became enraged, and immediately took his opponent down, and getting astride him, addressed him thus: "My friend, I won't hurt thee, neither will I strike thee, but I will my nose bleed in thy face;" which he did entirely to his own satisfaction, and to the great disgust of his adversary.

A LIVERPOOL attorney kissed a pretty barmaid—she looked so tempting he couldn't help it—and when her mamma remonstrated, he kissed her too, the family pleased him so, for which offences a magistrate fined him £5.

A Newspaper Story.

Some fellow—a collector for a newspaper and other periodicals—lately threw up his commission, and sent back the unpaid accounts, with notes, which the spirit happened to lay hold on, and they were presented in a tangible shape to the world. As they are living pictures, met here and elsewhere, we make extracts. The collector says:

TO THE EDITOR—Sir: You furnished me, as you recollect, with a list of one hundred and seventeen owing subscribers. I have called upon one hundred and four of them, and have the honor of paying to your order the sum of three dollars and twelve cents, being the amount to which you are entitled. I return you the list numbered from one hundred to one hundred and sixteen, and give the reply of each.

No. 1—Is a minister. He says, in the first place he never got one-half the numbers (a lie according to the account of the postmaster,) and in the next place your joker's column was too scurrilous. Besides he knows by the tone of your editorials that you drink. He wants nothing more to do with you—never wants to hear from you again.

No. 2—Is in jail for debt. He has not seen a half dollar for a year. Says he would pay with the utmost cheerfulness if he had the money, but he had to borrow a shirt to put on last Sunday. Admires your paper wonderfully, and hopes you will continue sending to him. He wishes you to take a bold stand in favor of the abolition of imprisonment for debt, as he thinks it would be a very popular move with gentlemen in his situation. Sends his best respects.

No. 3—Is a young doctor. Says your paper is beneath the notice of a gentleman. Would not give a d—n for a cart load. Says you inserted an article reflecting upon the profession. Only wishes he could catch you here—would make you smell—. Is going to persuade everybody that takes your paper to stop it. Cussed your bill, and says you may get it the best way you can.

No. 4—Is an old maid. Says you are always making a fling at single ladies of an uncertain age. Wouldn't pay you if she was rolling in wealth, and you hadn't enough to buy a crust of bread. Sent all the papers back a month ago, and says now she has sent them she don't owe you anything. Says she is even with you, and intends to be so to the day of judgment.

No. 5—Is a gambler. Says he got completely cleaned out last week at the races. Couldn't accommodate his grandmother with half a dime if she was standing. Likes your paper tolerably—would like it better if you published more races, and would occasionally give an account of a cock fight. Hopes you won't think hard of him for not paying you now, but has a prospect of having some loose change soon, as he is after a rich young greenhorn, who arrived here last week. Will pay your bill out of the pluckings.

A CLERGYMAN, who enjoys the substantial benefit of a fine farm, was slightly taken down, a few days ago, by his Irish ploughman who was sitting at his plough in a potato field, resting his horse. The reverend gentleman, being a great economist, said, with great seriousness:

"Patrick, wouldn't it be a good plan for you to have subsythe here, and be hubbing a few bushes along the fence, while the horse is resting?"

Pat, with quite as serious a countenance as the divine wore himself, replied: "Sir, wouldn't it be well for you to have a tub of potatoes in the pulpit, and when they are singing to peel 'em, to be ready for the pot?"

The reverend gentleman laughed heartily, and left.

A USEFUL DOG.—"I say, stranger," said a cottage urchin to a peddler, "don't whistle that dog away."

"Why, he ain't no use, no how; he's too homely."

"Oh! but he saves heaps of work."

"How?"

"Why, he cleans the plates and dishes, so that they never want washing, and mother says she wouldn't part with him no how; for our new dog ain't got used to mustard yet."

KEEP OUT OF DEBT—out of quarrels—out of law—out of politics—out of idleness—out of thin soled shoes—out of damp clothes—out of the reach of brandy—out of public office—out of matrimony, unless you are in love—and keep clear of the mon-trous sin of cheating the printer out of his just dues.

AN Irish gardener is described as being requested to set his master's watch by his sundial, when he forthwith planted it in the ground close to it.

To the Dutch, the ladies of all nations are indebted for the invention of the thimble. This great achievement occurred about the year 1690.

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER.

SATURDAY, MAY 17, 1862.

Justices Blanks,
Blank Affidavits, Undertakings, Writ of Attachment and Subpoenas, under the NEW LAW, for Sale at this Office.

THANKS.—To the Hon. A. A. Sargent, Member of Congress, for Documents of 1861 and 1862.

WE call attention to the advertisement of J. & J. W. Baldwin, in another column.

FRESH Strawberries and all kinds of fruit for sale at Raveley's, opposite the Steamboat Landing.

STRAWBERRIES in this neighborhood are the finest we have ever seen. Chas. St. Louis brought the first lot to market.

FAVORS.—We are under obligations to the Hon. J. A. McDougall, U. S. Senator, for Message and Documents of the second session of the Thirty-seventh Congress, and other documents.

WE call attention of our readers to a communication in this number, on Churches and School-Houses. The subject is worthy of attention.

PREACHING.—To-morrow by Rev. Jas. E. Barnes, at 11 o'clock A. M., and early candle-light in the evening. Sabbath School at 3 o'clock.

TEACHERS CONVENTION.—At Cacheville, to-day, for the examination of applicants. Superintendent Gaddis presiding.

DISTRICT COURT JUDGE.—By an act which passed the Legislature last winter, Yolo county was taken from the 11th District, and added on to the 6th District. This change gives us Judge McKune of Sacramento, for District Judge, instead of Judge Myers, of Placer county.

SHELDON'S EXHIBITION.—On Saturday last the world renowned Fairy Queen La Petite Belle and the Cosmorama Views, was on exhibition at the Union Hotel, and on account of the bad weather, the attendance was small. The next time the Deacon comes, we hope he will have fine weather. He left here for Colusa.

MAIL CONTRACT.—John O'Keefe, of this town has again got the Contract for carrying the mail from Sacramento to Woodland and Cacheville. We think he well deserves it. During last winter his route was obstructed by the high waters, and for the accommodation of the citizens of the above places, he carried it by the way of this town twice a week, which was the only accessible point to get at during the high water.

COUNTY COURT.—On Monday next the 19th May, is the regular time for the meeting of County Court. We are unable to say whether there will be a County Judge in attendance or not. Up to this time we have not heard of any appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge Smith; and unless Judge Davis should hold over, we presume the term will go over, by adjournment, to a future day.

A MAN named Alexander R. Mitchell was accidentally killed last Wednesday at Cary's ranch, in this county, ten miles from Sacramento. He went out to the corral to lasso a horse. Sometime afterward his body was found dead and cold. The noose of the lasso was around the horse's neck, and the other end around his own. It is supposed that as he threw and caught the horse, the other end of the line turned around his neck and that he was suddenly dragged to the ground. His neck was broken. He was about thirty years of age, a native of Columbus, Ohio, and without a family.

UPON petition, the Swamp Land Commissioner, in November, 1861, constructed a District out of that portion of Yolo Co., bounded on the South by Cachecreek Slough, on the East by the Sacramento River, ending on the North at Knight's Landing. A. Mathews who was appointed Engineer of the District, has just finished the location of a line of levee along the river to this place. It is proposed by the landholders, that in case the Swamp Land Fund is not sufficient to advance the deficiency, and have the work completed this Summer. Most of the property holders are showing a liberal spirit, and a levee will be the result.

The Proposed Bridge Across Cache Creek.

It is, no doubt, the intention of the Board of Supervisors to make an appropriation towards building a bridge across Cache Creek, and the great question is, at what point on that stream can the bridge be built to accommodate the greatest number, and be of the greatest benefit to the county at large. Had the County seat remained at Washington, we should have been in favor of the bridge being built at or near Cacheville, but since the removal of our seat of Justice to Woodland, it becomes the imperative duty of the Supervisors to see the access to this point shall be as convenient as possible. Every tax payer has a real interest in the county seat of his county, and is compelled to make several visits there every year on county business, and it is beyond controversy that the people of the section of the county, lying from Fremont to Knight's Landing, and extending back, including the townships of Grafton and a large portion of Cache Creek, would be much better accommodated by a bridge at or near Harbin's Crossing on Cache creek, than any other point; further, if the citizens of Woodland ever expect the people of these sections to aid them in permanently establishing the county seat at their point, they, in turn, must exert themselves to give us a strait and good road to their town; for, should the bridge be located at Cacheville, we of Knight's Landing, and the thickly settled portion adjoining, would be little, if any better accommodated, than if our seat of Justice was at Washington. For instance, the actual distance to Cacheville from Knight's Landing is only about five and a half miles on an air line, whereas the road now goes it is fully eight miles, and a good deal of the way, a poor thirty foot lane—impassible with mud in winter and nearly so in summer, by the deep dust—making a trip there at any time a disagreeable necessity; and from the location of the farms on the route, we see no hopes of a change for the better. Then we say it is extreme folly for the county to appropriate a dollar for a bridge to a town that is literally fenced in, as Cacheville is, and where no one would be benefited but the few who live right in and around it. The people of this section have long prayed and plead for another road out of Knight's Landing; we are willing to work and pay our money for this object, and if the Supervisors will build a bridge across the creek at Harbin's crossing, we will then be enabled to get a straight and good road to it; and we will also do a liberal part towards building the bridge, and if the citizens of Cacheville want a bridge there, we have no objection,—the more bridges the better, and as some of the citizens of that town have obtained a charter—which we understand they value considerably—let them demonstrate its value by carrying through their enterprise, and not try to induce the county to accept it as something of consideration, when in reality, for the real interests of the people at large it is worthless.

Hard Travel in the Mountains.

The Territorial Enterprise publishes the following extracts from a letter portraying the difficulties incident to a trip over the mountains at the present time:

PLACERVILLE, May 1, 1862.

Arrived here at four o'clock this afternoon, pretty well used up. The roads are awful.

I took Wells, Fargo & Co.'s stage from Carson to Van Sickles; then had to ride the stage horses to Friday's, (almost digging our way through the snow) then took stage again to the Front Creek Ranch, (five miles) then the sleighs to Yank's; thence took the stage horses—horse-back—over the Summit to Strawberry Valley, which place we reached about ten o'clock at night. Next morning we rode the horses on to Webster's, where we again took the stage and kept it until we arrived here.

The snow is deep on the Summit, but is thawing very fast. I went under several times, horse and all. In one place three mules packed with bullion went down, one on top of the other, and it took nearly two hours to dig them out. There was a lady passenger with us, who, not being a very good horsewoman went down in the snow so often (the horse sometimes rolling on her) that she was obliged to lay over at Strawberry to recover from her bruises.

One hundred and fifty soldiers (cavalry) arrived here to-day from below; they are going over your way. I think they will have a hard time crossing the mountains.

Many of the pack-trains which were going over have unloaded their goods on the mountains and turned back. There is any amount of freight laying along the trail on the snow.

County Seat.

This migratory institution was removed on Saturday last, from Washington to its new location at the town of Woodland. An effort was made, we understand, to throw out the vote of one or more of the precincts taken at the special election on this question, but the Supervisors overruled the objections, and counted the vote, which showing a majority of 190 votes for Woodland, they made an order for the immediate removal of all the County Records, Books and offices. We can't say we feel that this is a final settlement of the vexed question, and have no doubt an effort will be made before long to give it another location—change of air is said to be good for invalids—but we don't see wherein this change can favorably affect the County Seat of Yolo, especially in a pecuniary sense.

Coroner's Inquest.

Two Inquests were held in town on Saturday last, by Coroner Rodolph, on the bodies of the two men, O. S. Colgrove and Robt. Dickinson, who were drowned by the upsetting of a skiff during the storm of Saturday, the 3d inst., in the Tules, on Grand Island.

The Jury in the case of O. S. Colgrove, found he was a resident of Colgrove's Landing, Sutter county, about 38 years of age, and from Shellsburg, Wis., where he leaves a daughter. He was a widower, and possessed of considerable property. Cause of his death—accidental drowning.

In the case of Robt. Dickinson, the Jury found he was an Englishman by birth, age about 30 years, and a resident of Sutter county. Cause of his death—accidental drowning. On his person was found $8 37.

The bodies were both interred, by order of the Coroner, in the Knight's Landing Cemetery.

ALARM ON THE LOWER TRINITY.

The residents along the lower Trinity, commencing at Cox's Bar, and running to the South Fork, a distance of 30 miles, are in constant dread of an attack from the Indians. The volunteer forces now in Humboldt are fast driving them from that county into Trinity, and that portion of our county adjacent to Humboldt being sparsely populated, offers a fine field for their savage depredations. The women and children are being fast removed from the threatened district, and the farmers and miners along that portion of the river feel justly indignant at the bad management of the State and Federal authorities that will permit some 400 or 500 troops, now operating in Humboldt to drive the savages into a defenceless neighborhood, to re-enact the bloody scenes of the past winter in our neighboring county upon the citizens of southwestern Trinity. Any one knowing the geography of the two counties, and possessing four grains of sense, would at once see that one of five companies now operating in Humboldt would be of infinitely more service if stationed in or about the section of country lying between Trinity and the South Fork. There they would act as a guard and protection to the citizens of the lower portion of this county.—Weaver's Journal.

A DEFAULTING BANKER.—We mentioned a few days since that one of the faro banks in town had won $10,000 from one of the betting fraternity. Well, after that and other winnings, the bank in question contained some $20,000, and there were three stockholders in the bank. The funds were left in charge of the principal banker, and he defaulted, and drove his co-partners to grief. All day Tuesday the defaulting banker was not to be seen. At night his absence created surprise; the safe was broken open, and lo, and behold! the $20,000 were missing also! From the fact that the missing faro banker was the other day making particular enquiries of a gentleman just from Mexico, as to the possibility of getting into Texas by way of Acapulco, it is surmised that the missing man and money are now on board the steamer Sonora, making good time for a Mexican port.—S. F. Journal.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S LABORS.—A London letter writer says that to spare the Queen of some mechanical trouble, Ministers have brought in a bill to relieve her from signing army and other commission. In every instance, whether it be a first commission or a promotion, the Queen writes her name three times—on approving of the appointment or promotion; on ordering the commission to be made out; and on the document itself when made out. In the army of India alone, the Queen's signature is now required for 6,000 commissions, and some hundreds of other commissions have waited for months to be signed. The mere mechanical labor must be great.

THE Prince of Wales, owing to the insurrectionary troubles in Greece, has abandoned his intention of visiting that classic land, and has proceeded to Syria and Egypt direct.

Churches and School Houses.

The Churches and School-houses of a village, town or city, are the first buildings that we look for, as proper representatives of the moral and religious character of the inhabitants. These interests are indispensable to the well being of any community. But we design to speak more particularly of our own Town of Knight's Landing. A few years ago there were but few settlers in the place, and they, perhaps, had but little thought of stopping long; but notwithstanding, they felt the pressing necessity of having a place of worship and a school-house, in which they might have their children taught. Hence, they went to work with a resolution competent to the task, and built a house, costing several hundred dollars, for the twofold purpose of a Church and School-house. That building has served its intended use, and stands to-day a monument to the moral and religious feelings and character of those who accomplished such a work under such circumstances. But since the time that Church and School-house was built, Knight's Landing has given so many inducements to those who were seeking business, that the population has increased every year, and in the last year more rapidly than ever before. In fact, the richness and largeness of the country—the activity of the farmers—the accommodating and business character of our merchants and tradesmen—all of which combined, give unmistakable prospect of the future growth and prosperity of this town. Every circumstance points it out as the main trading and shipping town of Yolo county.

With all of these facts before us, may we not enquire: has not the time come when we should have a Church and School-house separate? Mr. Reed has done nobly in giving the lot on which the Church and School-house stands, to the cause of religion and schools. But it is certain that a school kept in that part of town, would be an annoyance to some of the citizens who live near the house, while the children will be deprived of sufficient play-ground, to be either pleasant or healthy for them. But how shall we secure a School-house and Church? We believe that the interest felt in the common school by our citizens, is sufficient to warrant the holding of an election, and the voting of a tax for common school purposes. This done, the common school in our district would assume a more prosperous character. When this work was done, and the school could be kept in a house built for that and only for that purpose, then, by the consent of those who are yet living in the community, that contributed to the building of the house, it could be repaired at a small expense, so as to be a commodious house for religious and Sabbath School services.

EXPORT OF HIDES.—Up to the end of May, says the Alta, by which date the ships now loading for New York will have sailed, the export to that port from San Francisco will reach 200,000 since the first of January. The shipment of the first five months of the year will thus be in excess of almost any one year before for a long time past. There is little doubt with those interested in the hide business that the number of hides received in San Francisco from cattle drowned by the floods of last winter will exceed the enormous number of 100,000.

FLOUR is selling at twenty dollars per hundred at Carson City, and potatoes at twelve cents per pound. It must be rather expensive living in that locality.

BY OVERLAND TELEGRAPH.

The following dispatches are from the Sacramento Union of May 15th:

TROY (New York), May 11.—The fire yesterday destroyed between five and six hundred buildings, and burned over fifty acres of ground. In the Second, Third and Fourth Wards, most of the buildings consumed were private residences, being among the best in the city. The loss approximates to $3,000,000; insurance $1,400,000. The business part of the city suffered comparatively little. Several lives were lost—among them, Dr. Carry and Ransom Haight, merchant. Some ten persons are missing. One thousand feet Ransselaar and Saratoga Railroad bridge was destroyed. The wind blowing a gale carried the burning brands to various parts of the city, setting fire to a number of places. In consequence of the fire department being so scattered it could not do much to stop the conflagration.

LOUISVILLE, May 11.—A squadron of rebel cavalry, at noon to-day, captured a train of freight and passenger cars at Cave city, Kentucky, and destroyed all but two passenger cars and the locomotive, which they allowed to bring the passengers through. Along the route, the people in nearly every instance have left.

Cumberland, a small town on the Pominky river, two and a half miles from here, has been burned by the rebels.

In the engagement yesterday between our advance and the rebels, near Slatter's Mills, three miles from here, fourteen rebels were killed and a number captured.

Howell Cobb was here last night and left here this morning.

It is said the rebels on the Chickahominy will make a stand near its head waters, forty-five miles from Richmond. McClellan is rapidly following and is within a few miles of them.

MONTEREY (Tenn.), May 10.—Deereters from the Louisiana regiment in the fight on Friday just arrived state that the rebel force making the attack on the left wing Friday night was 35,000 strong, with thirty pieces of artillery, under Bragg, Van Dorn, Hardee and Price, their object being to overwhelm and drive our left wing into the river. Their loss in officers and men was very heavy. Ours, so far as ascertained, is thirty killed and seventy wounded. All is quiet in front.

CAIRO, May 11.—News has been received from Pittsburg Landing to Saturday noon. A reconnaissance of four companies of Illinois cavalry fell into a rebel ambuscade on Tuesday, but cut their way out, losing a Major killed, and four wounded. A deserter since arrived says the rebel loss is thirty killed and wounded. On Friday a superior force attacked Gen. Paine's division, left wing. An engagement lasting an hour ensued, when the rebels having had reinforcements Gen. Paine retired to Farmington. Our loss is stated at one hundred and fifty killed, wounded and missing.

NEW KENT, (Va.), May 11.—Eleven thousand bushels of grain were seized last night by a company of Federal cavalry, at White House, on the Pamunkey river, twenty-three miles from Richmond. Gunboats arrived at the Pamunkey this morning, and are now on the way to White House. The rebels had blockaded two miles below here by sinking vessels. They were blown up without much trouble. The rear guard of the enemy is at Tannis depot, five miles from White House.

CAIRO, May 13.—By the steamer Meteor, from Pittsburg Landing Sunday morning, it has been definitely ascertained that General Lovell from New Orleans had arrived at Corinth with 30,000 troops. Instead of the rebels abandoning their intrenchments, an innumerable force of negroes were at work felling trees and forming an abatis and strengthening the earthworks—everything indicating a determination on the part of the rebels to fight. On our side preparations on a grand scale continue. Roads are being cut through the woods for the movements of the different divisions. Siego guns are being mounted in great numbers.

NEW YORK, May 13.—A dispatch from Lynchburg dated May 8th, says Jackson is still at Staunton. It also mentions the receipt of a report that the Confederate forces were falling back from Green Brier into Roanoke county, Va.

The Petersburg Express of May 9th says a rumor is in circulation which needs confirmation that the Yankees were landing forces yesterday [Gen. Burnside's] at Smithfield, with the intention, doubtless, to march across the country to take possession of Suffolk, a distance of eighteen miles.

The Atlanta Confederacy says: Our judgment is, that Beauregard is well nigh flanked on both sides. He has a large army but not so large as the enemy. It is idle to conceal the fact that we have fears for the result.

The Petersburg Express contains the following:

MOBILE, May 8.—The advance of Commodore Porter's mortar fleet, consisting of seven vessels, is off Ft. Morgan. Ten more are off Heron Island moving eastward. They fire occasionally, apparently feeling for masked batteries.

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 8.—The Republican says the Yankees were reconnoitering the river and coast batteries all the morning.

The Memphis Avalanche of May 6th says: The telegraphic news from Richmond is painfully significant. McClellan seems to be preparing the same fate for Richmond that Butler and Porter got up for New Orleans.

Of affairs at New Orleans, it says the Mayor and all the Aldermen were arrested and sent to prison on their refusal to take the oath. Great distress prevails in the city. Food of all kind is extremely scarce.

The Memphis Argus of the same date says the Confederate loss at Shiloh is 7,000 killed and wounded. It says also, the Confederate attempts with their gunboats have been a disgusting fizzle.

The Avalanche of same day (7th) says advices from New Orleans of Saturday state that General Butler [Picayune Butler, as they called him] occupied the St. Charles Hotel as his headquarters.

Federal pickets have been extended out as far as the crossing of the Jefferson and Jackson Railroad.

Four gunboats and one transport started for Baton Rouge on Saturday morning. Seven Federal regiments have been landed at New Orleans.

CAIRO, May 12.—The Skylark, from the fleet has arrived. At the time she left, a furious cannonading was heard in the direction of Ft. Wright. It could be heard plainly after the steamer passed Tiptonsville.

MONTEREY, Tenn., May 10.—General Pope's official report of the affair on Friday states that the rebel forces were 20,000. Our brigade occupying the further side of the creek held them in check five hours, when finding themselves pressed in front and on the flank, they withdrew to this side of the creek. The conduct of the troops was excellent, and they withdrew reluctantly.

NEWMARKET, Va., May 10.—Several arrests have been made to day of persons coming into camp to settle accounts with the Quartermaster. They are suspected of giving information to the rebels.

PADUCAH, Ky., May 10.—An expedition of two thousand cavalry left yesterday to act in conjunction with a force sent from Hickman in pursuit of the rebel cavalry which had been committing depredations in Western Kentucky and Tennessee recently.

CAIRO, May 13.—In the naval engagement on Saturday the gunboat Cincinnati was more seriously damaged than was at first reported. Finding herself in a sinking condition she was run ashore in shoal water. The last arrival from the fleet says she had four feet of water on her gun deck. A wrecking derrick has gone down to raise her. It is expected she will be floated to-day. The gunboat Mound City was struck by the rebel ram and run into shoal water and settled. Her bottom has been pumped out, and she arrived here to day for repairs. During the heat of the engagement one of the rebel boats got hold of one of the bomb vessels, but after a short engagement the gunboat Benton compelled her to release the prize. On the Cincinnati one was killed and three wounded. One of the latter was Captain Stumble, who was shot through the neck. The wound is not considered dangerous.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The resolution of the Confiscation Committee to consider the expediency of providing that our soldiers be entitled to bounty land out of the real estate of rebels was laid over.

In the House, the bill prohibiting slavery henceforth and forever in all Territories now existing, or hereafter formed, passed—85 to 50.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The Etna has arrived from Queenstown with dates to May 1st.

The Paris correspondent of the London Herald writes that a strong feeling is growing here in favor of intervention in America. The impression is so powerful as to cause uneasiness among the Northern party in Paris. It is believed serious overtures have been made by the French Cabinet to Palmerston, with a view of joint action to put an end to the war, which according to official information received is as far from terminating as ever. The Daily News correspondent gives a similar rumor, derived from both French and American sources, and says the two Governments are giving serious consideration to the question of intervention. The Times claims that England has observed a most self-denying course, and concludes by asserting the real question rests entirely on whether the heart of the South is set on separation.

THE Knight's Landing News.

As BROAD AS 'TIS LONG.—A romantic traveler was talking of a church he had seen in Spain a mile and a half long. "Bless me!" said Garrick, "how broad was it?" "About ten yards," was the reply. "This is, you'll observe, gentleman," said Garrick to the company, "not a round lie, but differs from his other stories, which are generally as broad as they are long."

"I say, friend, your horse is a little contrary, is he not?" "No, sir." "What makes him stop, then?" "O, he's afraid somebody will say whoa and he won't hear it."

An old criminal was once asked what was the first step that led him to ruin. He answered: "Cheating a printer out of two year's subscription." The devil was sure of him after that.

If June has its foliage, January has its fire-places, and each is welcome for its beautiful gift.

Thrashing Machines.
Also, the following

Reapers and Mowers,
Improved for the harvest of 1862:

Burt's Eagle Combined Machine; New York do.; McCormick's do.; Heath's Eagle do.; Kentucky Harvesting Machine; Haines' (Illinois) do.; Ball's Ohio Reaper and Mower; Manny's Improved Machine.

Esterly's Improved Machine; Rugg's Combined machine; Vermont mowing machine; Buckeye do.; Bay State do.; Molly Stark (Ohio) Mower.

And sole agents for the celebrated Nourse, Mason & Co's

Ketchum's Improved Mowers,
With or without Reaper attachments—the best mowing machine in use. They will be furnished this season at greatly reduced prices, bringing them within the reach of every farmer. These machines are very much improved, and never fail in the matted or lodged clover—cutting with equal ease the tall or tangled grass without clogging or breaking; and so close that it will save from one to five dollars' worth of hay per acre more than any other machine. They are furnished with Reaper Attachment, at small cost—making them a good and serviceable combined machine; and when all other machines have failed in the tangled grain, the work has been done by the Ketchum machine to the perfect satisfaction of all. The one horse machine cuts four feet; the light two-horse machine cuts four and a half and five feet—two sizes; the heavy two-horse machine cuts five and five and a half feet, two sizes. Any boy capable of driving the team can manage the machine; it is not liable to get out of order.

The New Bay State two-wheeled Mower.—We have purchased the patent right to the New Bay State Mower for the State of California. It is one of the many machines lately invented, and stands far ahead of all others in point of excellence as a two-wheeled mowing machine, having all the new improvements that have been fairly tested. It is very light, strong, durable machine, and cuts full four and a half feet.

The Vermont Mower.—Also, a two-wheeled machine. It is made mostly of iron, simple in construction, and can be managed with ease.

The Buckeye Machine has two driving wheels like the Vermont machine, and is simple in its construction.

The Molly Stark Mower, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a very light mower, of the Buckeye pattern.

Ball's Ohio Harvester, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a two-wheeled Reaper and Mower. Has two cutter bars—one for reaping and one for mowing. We have imported a few for trial this season.

The Kentucky Harvester cuts about five and a half feet. Said to be a very good machine.

McCormick's Reaper and Mower—a very good reaper—intended for four large horses.

Burt's Eagle Reaper and Mower,
(Improved for 1862.) Baker & Hamilton, sole agents for this machine in California and Oregon.

We have imported these machines for the past two years, which were furnished to some of our neighboring farmers and thoroughly tested. They gave general satisfaction both in cutting grain and grass. The style is very much the same as the celebrated Esterly's machine, except that they are better made; have a strong iron finger bar; are hand-raking reapers and have no side draft. They have a large four foot driving wheel. The outside grain wheel is thirty inches in diameter. The driver's seat is over two iron truck wheels, each thirty inches in diameter, and the machine may be turned round without crowding the horses, as there is no weight upon their necks. They have two sets of gearing for fast and slow motion; a smooth knife for mowing, and a sickle for reaping; the back of each is made of hammered cast steel. They cut about six and a half feet, and can be worked with two light horses. We have but a few for this season's trade, owing to the fact that the great demand at the factory made it impossible for the manufacturer to fill our orders for a large number in season for shipment to this market.

Rugg's Reaper and Mower, cutting six and nine feet. This machine cuts in advance of the horses, and the cutter can be raised by the driver from one to twenty-four inches. Sold very cheap.

Haine's Illinois Harvester, or Header, cuts ten feet. Improved for the harvest of 1862. We have also imported complete sets of trucks, or running gear for header-wagons, with neck yokes and whiffletrees complete.

P. Manny's Improved Combined Reaper and Mower.—This is a new style of machine, very light, yet strongly built, lately patented by P. Manny, in which there are many valuable improvements. We are willing to guarantee this Combined Reaper and Mower in every instance.

We have imported a large stock of extras for repairing Reapers, Mowers and Thrashers, all of which will be sold cheap for cash.
