

NEED CO-OPERATION

PEOPLE OF GLENDALE ARE ASKED TO ENTERTAIN C. E. WORKERS

in Whittier with the determination to ask that the 1917 Convention be held in Glendale.

They were pledged the support of the Glendale churches, Chamber of Commerce, and other public organizations and officials, and many letters and telegrams were sent to the "Place of meeting" committee urging that the 1917 Convention be held in Glendale.

Long Beach was our opponent in the contest, and a fighting bunch we found them to be, but finally the announcement came that the next Convention would be held in Glendale and it immediately met with an enthusiastic greeting, showing without a doubt that Glendale was the proper choice. Previous years the Convention had always been given to one of four cities, namely, Pasadena, Long Beach, Pomona or Whittier, and Glendale's well-conducted campaign to land the 1917 Convention soon met with the heartiest approval of the delegates.

To entertain an annual convention of the Los Angeles County Christian Endeavor Union is no small matter and perhaps it would be well to pause long enough to give some particulars of the Union.

There are over eleven thousand Endeavorers in the county, composing three hundred and fifty societies of many denominations. There are twelve local unions in the county and the work of L. A. County Endeavorers is known throughout the United States.

Since early in December preparations for the Convention have been going on in Glendale. Many committee meetings have been held and those on the committee have spent many evenings getting the machinery for the great gathering in order.

As many of you know, the tent, which will seat three thousand, has been erected at the corner of Colorado and Louise. The City Trustees have voted out one hundred dollars to decorate the city and many orders for bunting have been placed by the local business firms. Special cars will bring many of the delegates to Glendale. All the restaurants have been notified to make preparation to help feed the crowd. That this is to be a banner convention is the opinion of those who have worked in former conventions. The lowest estimate that is being made is that at least thirty-five hundred delegates will register. Already over eight hundred advance registrations have been received and the money has been deposited in one of the local banks.

The biggest problem facing the committee now is that sufficient entertainment be secured for the delegates. Last year Whittier, a town smaller in all ways than Glendale, cared for almost one thousand delegates, and Glendale, to care for this record crowd, must house fifteen hundred.

By entertainment is meant that the delegates be given sleeping places for Friday and Saturday nights, and if possible, breakfast on the following mornings, or money to pay for the same.

To make this convention, which is the biggest gathering which has ever come to Glendale, a success, we must have the hearty co-operation of every resident in Glendale. Let's open our homes to the enthusiastic body of young people and unite in giving them a royal welcome, notifying at once any of the following how many of the delegates you will entertain.

- Mrs. Homer B. Miller, 1462 1534 Burchett.
- Miss Laura Donnell, Garv. 1178 326 Rowland Ave., Eagle Rock.

U. S. SENATORS COMING

SENATE WILL CONVENE IN GLENDALE—PROMINENT MEN TO SPEAK

On Tuesday, March 13th, Glendale will be honored by the presence of Vice-President Marshall and some of the most prominent United States Senators. It will be a rare spectacle to see such figures as Senators William A. Borah of Idaho, Albert B. Cummings of Iowa, J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, and Ollie James of Kentucky entering Masonic Temple dressed in all their regalia of state, even to the fastidious details of silk hats and frock coats.

Their business at Masonic Temple will be to argue before the ladies of the Tuesday Afternoon club such important national questions as "entangling alliances," the "Monroe doctrine," etc. The fact that certain ladies of the Parliamentary Section may be conspicuously absent from the club rooms during the afternoon may give rise to some slight suspicion, and when Vice-President Marshall is introduced by Mrs. Helen Campbell he may be found to bear a striking resemblance to Mrs. W. E. Evans. Or Senator Albert Cummins may remind the audience very forcibly of Mrs. A. L. Weaver; or some may say that surely Senator Borah has just the same manner of debating as has Mrs. Harry Greenwalt. But then, who knows. These ladies may some day be senators in reality, since woman's suffrage is the order of the day. However, they and several others are going to get a little practice and also show the non-parliamentary members of the club just how a hot debate would be conducted in the United States Senate. Following are the ladies who will take part in the program and the senators they will represent:

- Vice-President Marshall, Speaker of the Senate, Mrs. W. E. Evans.
- William A. Borah, Mrs. Harry Greenwalt.
- J. Hamilton Lewis, Mrs. A. M. Hunt.
- Albert D. Cummins, Mrs. A. L. Weaver.
- Ollie James, Mrs. Ella Richardson.
- John D. Works, Mrs. C. E. Harlan.
- James D. Phelan, Mrs. H. Lee Clotworthy.
- Henry Cabot Lodge, Mrs. J. R. White.
- James A. O'Gorman, Mrs. F. L. Church.

Mrs. Bartlett, president of the club, desires a large attendance on next Tuesday as the question of raising the amount of dues and entrance fee will come up for final action. The soloist of the afternoon will be Mrs. Clifford H. Cunningham, who is one of the first soloists in the Lyric club and chairman of music of the Lyric club. Mrs. P. S. McNutt, district chairman of parliamentary usage, will be present and conduct an informal parliamentary drill from the floor. Tea will be served at this meeting.

CORNERSTONE LAYING

SERVICES ARE HELD AT NEW LUTHERAN CHAPEL, FIFTH AND MARYLAND

Yesterday was a most auspicious day among the Lutherans and their many friends in Glendale, when the cornerstone of their new chapel, corner of Fifth street and Maryland avenue was laid. Notwithstanding the raw coolness of the weather, there was a large and very appreciative gathering to witness and enjoy the first services held in the chapel. It was a glad and very happy occasion, especially to the little congregation that, after a hard discouraging struggle for five years to realize it, was at last soon to come into possession of one of the most tasty and beautiful church chapels in Southern California. The chapel will be finished in white cement, like the dainty parsonage on the same lot.

The special services were opened with a beautiful anthem by the church choir, "The Earth Is the Lord's." The congregation then sang most heartily, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." The present pastor, Rev. R. W. Mottern, and Rev. M. F. Rinker, familiarly known as "Father Rinker," who has the honor of having been the organizer and first pastor, read the services of Invocation. Dr. E. H. Willisford, representing the Glendale Church Federation, read the Scriptures. Rev. W. S. Dysinger of the First Lutheran of Los Angeles led the congregation in a very fervent and soul uplifting prayer. Two of the talented and youngest girls of the Sunday School, Lavinia Thede and Ruth Colcord, played a very fine violin selection.

The address of the hour was given by Rev. J. E. Hoick of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Boyle Heights. His subject was, "Peter's Confession, the Foundation of the Church." It was a most profound and inspiring Gospel message, enjoyed by all and commented on by many.

Rev. Dysinger had charge of the finances and he handled them in a masterly manner. The result of the same was a great surprise when it was learned that about $600 was realized in cash and subscriptions. The chapel is estimated to cost about $2000. When completed the total value of the entire property will be about $7500.

At the close of the services all assembled at the outside of the building, where the pastor dedicated and laid the cornerstone, depositing the various articles in the same. A photograph was taken of the whole assembly. The Lutheran clergymen present were Revs. Derr of Pasadena, Jesse W. Ball of Los Angeles, W. S. Dysinger of Los Angeles, J. E. Hoick of Boyle Heights, Los Angeles, Rev. Willisford and "Father Rinker" of Glendale and Dr. Julius Soper of Casa Verdugo. All were very happy at the successful outcome of the day's services, praising the pastor and congregation for their push and wisdom in securing such a fine location and the rich prospects before the Lutheran church of this city.

The congregation expects to worship in the new chapel for the first time on Easter morning, although the building will not be entirely completed at that time.

WILL BUILD NEW GARAGE

Bids will be opened to-morrow and the contract let for the beautiful new garage and auto show room to be built on the corner of Colorado street and Brand boulevard for Packer and Roman, who will handle the Studebaker car in this territory.

A. F. Priest of North Glendale has designed a building that is architecturally beautiful and is modern in every way and well adapted for the purpose for which it is to be used. It will be 50x150 feet. The location chosen, the lot on the northwest corner of Brand and Colorado street, owned by R. L. Phister, is one of the best in the city. As soon as the contract has been let, work will be begun on the building and it will be rushed to completion and occupied as soon as completed.

In the meantime the new firm is not waiting for the completion of the building before they begin to take orders for Studebakers. A large shipment of cars will reach here to-morrow, including 4 and 6 cylinders and roadsters, and there will be a parade of the new cars through the streets about four o'clock. The new firm is composed of Stephen Packer and John Roman, both business men of ability, who will no doubt make the Studebaker a more popular car than ever.

Until the completion of the new building these cars will be stored at various places.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Tuesday. Heavy frost Tuesday morning. Westerly winds.

P. E. O. BIRTHDAY

CHAPTERS B. A. AND L. CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARIES WITH UNIQUE PARTY

At the beautiful home of Mrs. Chas. Guthrie, 523 W. Ninth street, Saturday, March 10th, members of Chapter B. A. P. E. O., bewitchingly attired as little girls in short frocks and huge hair ribbons, greeted and entertained members of Chapter L in celebration of the joint birthdays of the two chapters.

The fancy costumes of the hostesses furnished the keynote of the afternoon's entertainment, a program of juvenile readings by Mrs. E. H. Willisford and Mrs. A. L. Weaver, musical numbers by Mrs. H. H. Parker and Mrs. Eva Cunningham, recitations by Mrs. Arthur Cross and Mrs. Wade Gray and a number of cleverly rendered readings by Miss Lorraine Elder, a talented young lady of Los Angeles. A unique prize was awarded Mrs. Marian Garvin, winner at progressive conversation.

In the great dining room, elaborate refreshments made evident the fact that Orange Day was being celebrated the golden fruit appearing in ices, pastries and confections.

Committees to whom credit for the success of the afternoon is due were: Program, Mrs. H. H. Parker, Mrs. Freeman Kelley; refreshments, Mrs. Arthur Cross, Mrs. Archie Parker; decorations, Mrs. Walter Stamps, Miss Leta McCoy and Mrs. Chas. Guthrie, whose attractive home furnished an ideal setting for the festivities.

Besides members of Chapter L, the following guests also enjoyed the delightful function: Mrs. Marian Garvin of Los Angeles, State Organizer of P. E. O., who installed Chapter B. A. March 11th, 1916, Mrs. Wade Gray of Santa Barbara, Miss Lillian Jennings, Miss Dorothea Morse, Miss Mary Klinkhammer and Miss Lorraine Elder of Los Angeles.

BURBANK DAY AT INTERMEDIATE

Burbank day was observed Wednesday at the Intermediate school with a most interesting program arranged by Miss White and Miss Thayer.

Because of their superior knowledge in woodcraft the Boy Scouts of the school, who assembled in a body, were able to make valuable contributions to the exercises in the form of talks relative to the purpose of Burbank day. Three palm trees purchased by the school board were planted by the seventh grade agricultural classes. As representative of the latter, Doris Packer made a fitting presentation speech. To conclude the exercises a talk was given by Miss Thayer on lumbering, illustrated with a series of stereopticon views depicting this industry as carried on in Oregon.

The complete program was as follows:

- "How the Forests Help Us," Scout Mills.
- "How Forest Fires Start," Scout Fairchild.
- "How to Fight Forest Fires," Scout Colburn.
- Song, Girls' Glee Club.
- A Presentation, Doris Packer.
- Recitation, "The Accessory," Mary Young.
- Pictures and talk on lumbering, Miss Thayer.

Thursday a special auditorium assembly was held, at which Mr. Marcy gave a stereopticon lecture on Yellowstone Park. The views were shown from a choice collection of colored slides representing the points of interest one would witness in a complete tour of the park. Such illustrated talks as this are of vital educational value.

FREE FLORAL EXHIBIT

The Glendale Garden Society announces its first free floral exhibit of 1917 to be held Saturday, March 17, at 318 S. Brand, next door to the post office. A special silver cup has been offered by Mrs. Walter Ross for the most artistic arrangement of any kinds of flowers in a bowl or vase, to be judged by an artist. The exhibit will be free to the public, and will be especially adapted as a "rest bower" for the Christian Endeavorers. Glendale residents are invited to send in flowers, ferns, etc., for exhibit, in order to co-operate in making this a beauty spot for the pleasure of 3000 visitors, and for the boosting of Glendale. Flowers for contest and exhibit should be brought Friday afternoon or evening, or before 9 o'clock Saturday morning, preferably Friday. THEY STUDY STRANGE WORLD WHERE SEA-CREATURES DWELL

In what sort of a world do the sea-creatures dwell which swarm in infinite variety and number off the coasts of California? Some of the answers to this question being discovered by the Scripps Institution for Biological Research are set forth in an "Interpretation of Hydographic Observations" written by George F. McEwen and just issued in the University of California Publications in Zoology.

A satisfactory census of the sea must include not only knowledge of its inhabitants, but of the conditions under which they live, so Mr. McEwen, as Hydrographer for the Scripps Institution, has been at work for five years, cruising about in the waters off the coast of Southern California, making thousands and thousands of soundings and hauls, and studying variations in the sea as regards temperature, light, saltness, gas content, movement of currents, etc. Knowledge of these factors is necessary for true understanding of the behavior and distribution of the living creatures of the sea.

Great valleys, deep beneath the ocean, are revealed by the soundings close to the California coast. A few miles west of Catalina, for instance, is a submarine valley into which a mountain a mile high could be dropped and still ships could sail safely over its summit. The mountain-tops of Catalina are as high above the ocean-floor as the Sierra peaks above the Owens river valley. These submarine depths are very different from surface waters. Two hundred feet down, there is scarcely one per cent. as much light as there is three feet below the surface. Thirteen or fourteen hundred feet below the surface the temperature, summer or winter, is about 44 degrees F. and stays about the same the year round, while on the surface, a few miles west of the Coronado Islands, for instance, the water varies in mean monthly temperature from a minimum of 57 up to 68 degrees F.

Now it has been proved that as a result of the displacement of surface waters by prevailing winds and consequent changes in pressure, the colder waters from the depths of the sea come welling up along the California shores and play a great part in producing the cool summer temperatures which are such a blessing to the coast region.

A striking example of such up-welling of colder waters along the coast is that the water just off-shore from Point Dume, at the northern end of Santa Monica Bay, is nearly ten degrees F. colder than the water in the open channel over toward Catalina Island or San Clemente. At the same moment the water along the bathing beaches of Santa Monica Bay will be nearly ten degrees warmer than the water close by at Point Dume. The explanation is that from Point Dume, Point Vicente, and Point Fermin submarine cliffs and mountain-sides go plunging down beneath the sea, until within a short distance a depth of more than two thousand feet is attained. From these deep submarine valleys colder waters up-well. The same phenomenon prevails from Mendocino county to a point far down the Lower California coast.

How greatly sea-water may vary in temperature within a short distance is shown by the fact that with water at the harbor-mouth of San Diego Bay at a temperature of 66 degrees F., the shallow waters in the bay off National City registered 80 degrees F. A curious fact is that a difference of several degrees has frequently been observed in the temperature of the water in samples taken not sixty feet apart—near the Coronado Islands, for instance.

The surface sea-water off the coast of California is coldest in February, and warmest in August, but sea-water is coldest in May at depths below a hundred feet, and below 170 feet warmest in November. As regards saltness, the salinity of the surface waters is least in February and greatest in July or August, while at a depth of 230 feet, say, it is least salty in November and most salty in April.

It is worth a sea-bather's while to know that the prevailing daily variation of the waters near the coast is only about two degrees, the water being coldest between one and two a. m. and warmest between 5 and 7 p. m. Below eighty feet there is practically no daily variation in temperature, but shallow waters on sunny days of course vary greatly.

The elaborate tables regarding the hydrographic, plankton, and dredging records of the Scripps Institution published by Scientific Director William E. Ritter, Ellis L. Michael, and George F. McEwen in the University of California Publications in Zoology in July, 1915, and in November, 1916, together with this "Summary and Interpretation of the Hydrographic Observations," just published by Mr. McEwen, are valuable fruits of the biological survey of the waters along the Southern California coast begun by the Marine Biological Association of San Diego in 1901 and carried on by the Scripps Institution since its establishment in 1912. The great aim in view is understanding of the life of the sea and of the conditions under which the creatures of the deep live and develop. Continuation of these hydrographic observations for a number of years to come will be needed in order properly to interpret the biologists' explorations as to the whys and wherefores of the habits and behavior of the creatures of the sea.

That the famous "Japan Current," long credited with affecting the climate of California, apparently does not reach California at all and has no effect whatever on its climate, is one conclusion resulting from Mr. McEwen's studies of the currents and sea conditions off the coast of California.

THE FAIR PLAY PLAN

The more and more we human mortals do real sensible thinking, the more and more we come to the conclusion that there is nothing works quite so well in this world of many people of many ways as fair play. The great trouble is to have an understanding as to what is meant by fair play. Most of us think that fair play means when it is fair to ourselves, without considering whether the other fellow is getting fair play. Fair play means fair to all concerned.

NEW ENTERPRISE AT FOREST LAWN

In Sunday's Times views were given of the beautiful new mausoleum-columbarium to be built at Forest Lawn cemetery in Tropic and the new chapel, to be known as "The Little Church of Flowers." The Times says of this big new improvement to be made in Forest Lawn:

Important improvements costing in the aggregate over $250,000 are to be completed in the Forest Lawn Cemetery near Tropic within the next few months as the result of a financial and business merger recently conducted in this city whereby that property has come under the fiscal control of a new corporation known as the American Security and Fidelity Company. The old Forest Lawn Association has been completely reorganized under the arrangement, the scope of its operations having been extended to include every form of disposition of the dead common to this country. The name of the cemetery itself has been changed to one more expressive of its wider service, namely, Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

The American Security and Fidelity Company is composed of men of wide experience in the building and maintenance of mausoleums, columbariums and crematories, with whom have been associated several prominent local capitalists. Included among the latter are Carroll W. Gates, W. I. Hollingsworth, Hubert L. Eaton, Erasmus Wilson, Motley H. Flint, David Llewellyn and Frank D. Hamilton. The company, as fiscal agent and banker for the cemetery property, will have charge not only of its future development, but of the financial side of its maintenance.

The corporation, according to its local representatives, proposes to make of the beautiful foothill city of the dead the most complete institution of its kind in America, giving the public the advantage of a service covering every possible mortuary requirement. T. Patterson Ross, a San Francisco architect, has just completed plans for a combined mausoleum and columbarium which will be started within the next few days on a commanding hillside site in the property. A chapel with a crematory and receiving vaults adjoining at the rear is now under way, ground having been broken several days ago.

The mausoleum-columbarium, it is declared, will be the largest and most imposing edifice of its kind in the country. The structure will in reality consist of four massive buildings constructed against a hillside of solid rock, each occupying a terrace of its own. The upper building or story of the huge pile will have a stately colonnade across the entire front, this forming the dominating architectural feature of the design.

The exterior of the great edifice will be of solid granite. The plan for the interior marks a departure from accepted mausoleum types, the specifications calling for the use of varicolored marbles, instead of the flat white stone so common to such structures. The introduction of warmth and color as a relief from the cold white of ordinary usage, it is believed by the projectors, will be a pleasing innovation. In the daytime the corridors will be lighted through richly-colored glass in the roof, while an elaborate system of indirect lighting has been devised for the night. The splendid colonnade, which crowns the upper terrace, will be illuminated every day at dusk, making of the edifice a landmark at all times.

The new chapel will occupy a slightly plot of ground in the center of the property and will be known as the "Little Church of the Flowers." Its design is declared to have been adapted from that of the little house of worship which inspired Gray's immortal "Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard." The building will be of stone and is to be lighted by windows of cathedral glass that will diffuse a soft, mellow light. Down either side of the nave will extend a series of cloistered recesses, in which will bloom the flowers from which the little kirk will take its name. A pipe organ will occupy a special alcove. The new crematory and receiving vaults will open directly from the chapel.

The site of the memorial park in which these improvements are being installed, was opened as a cemetery ten years ago and is a large tract of great natural beauty at the juncture of San Fernando road and Glendale avenue, midway between Los Angeles and Pasadena. Nestled against the foothills, the cemetery has sufficient elevation to command a sweeping view of the surrounding

Facts and Comment

The Burbank Review reports that Los Angeles parties invested in property there the first of last week to the amount of $20,000.

Miss Lucile Burch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Burch of 141 Paloma avenue, Eagle Rock, became the bride of Paul H. Kuhns of Denver on March 6.

The laying of the cornerstone of the Woman's club building at Van Nuys, which event was postponed from February 22 on account of rain, will take place on Friday, March 16. The program will be practically the same as planned for February 22.

A brick cafeteria building, 110x110 feet in size, is to be erected at the new Los Angeles High school now in course of construction on Country club drive between Wilshire boulevard and Pico street. It will contain dining quarters for the faculty, boys' and girls' lunch rooms, complete kitchen equipment, etc.

Los Angeles architects have prepared plans for a museum building to be erected on Pasadena avenue near the Southwest Museum for the Hispanic Society of California. It will be an exact replica of the old Spanish residences. It will contain twenty rooms and will be 112x112 feet, built around a court 74x74 feet.

Two hundred fruits, for which he has been offered $1 each, is the season's record for one avocado tree on the place of a Hollywood grower, C. F. Wagner of Crescent Heights. The variety is known as the surprise avocado and is unusually large and hardy. A specimen taken to the Hollywood chamber of commerce weighs twenty-three ounces.

At the recent annual convention of the San Fernando District Sunday School at Van Nuys, S. D. Percy of Tujunga was elected president, S. E. Goodall of Owensmouth and R. R. Edwards of Van Nuys vice-presidents, N. C. Johnson secretary and J. E. Delmarter of Acton treasurer. A resolution was adopted at the convention favoring the bill in the legislature that will allow the reading of the Bible in the public schools.

The Hollywood Business Men's club Wednesday launched a movement to raise $20,000 for an armory. At a meeting Tuesday attended by nearly 150 Hollywood business men about 1000 was subscribed and the club agreed to see that the $20,000 is forthcoming and more if necessary. It is the purpose of the club to form a corporation to build the armory, the same to be leased to the Seventeenth company artillery reserve corps.

At the election held in Eagle Rock recently that city almost unanimously endorsed the proposition to vote $65,000 for the purpose of erecting three new school buildings. The vote for the bonds was 508 and against the bonds 69. The chamber of commerce special committee and committees from the Parent-Teacher association and Women's Twentieth Century club joined in the campaign for the school bonds and there is general rejoicing in our sister city over the result.

CIVIC BETTERMENT

Our Glendale members attending the Music Section of Los Angeles District Federation Friday were Mrs. Wm. Herman West, Mrs. E. C. Frank, Miss Alice Frank, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett and Mrs. Ella W. Richardson. The discourse would convince any one that music, civics, and art go hand in hand. Everything is educational that we see, read or think. It educates either up or down. Let us educate everybody up.

We learned from the speakers that Los Angeles is the only city of its size in the United States that does not have a budget for municipal music. The hope was expressed that public opinion would so spread on this subject that the city's pride would be aroused, that she would find it a much pleasanter way of spending money than on police courts, detectives, juvenile probation officers, etc.

A municipal building was stated to be the first need, where all organizations could meet. Good fellowship would open channels for good thoughts to unfold and develop each one of our citizens. We would all be lifted out of our small, petty ways through co-operation. Indeed, it would be putting together what centuries have put apart. What we do we must do through co-operation.

We were told to start in a small way, but do something in the eternal Now, not the Future.

Glendale City Hall would be our logical place to house the first efforts in Glendale, because it is a place owned by the city. Eventually music and art would be fostered by the city as well as civics. We hope soon every one in this beautiful out-of-doors city will realize how recreation of this sort is far superior to any other. Let us start with music. Let us have music.

All people need recreation. Some sit in closed rooms to drink and gamble or sit down to brood or be distressed over the petty, every-day problems that they have to meet. It will give them time for clear thinking in an environment that is helpful. Music above all is a great social factor. Let us have community singing, which affords an opportunity for individual expression.

"The response that music awakens, not that which comes to us, but what develops in us, is what makes better men and women," said Judge Smith.

Prof. Pasquale said: "This is an age of newspapers, an age of electricity, an age of machinery, an age of putting together what centuries have put apart. What we do we must do through co-operation. Therefore, every person should be awake to the need of a civic center."

Prof. Vincent Spencer told the Federation the facts of a bill now pending at Sacramento, which every citizen should fight. The governor is to appoint seven men at large to examine and license every person who teaches music. For this the music teacher must pay a registration fee of one dollar and license each year one dollar. If a mother or any one should teach without this license there would be a fine of twenty-five dollars or fine and imprisonment. All moneys collected are to be used to finance the office of the seven. This bill will be mailed in full to the Glendale News and will furnish interesting reading to the music lovers of Glendale.

ATHLETICS

The Intermediate School's first track meet of the season was held Thursday when Tropico's Grammar school team arrived to try conclusions on the field. Surprising ability was demonstrated by the athletes of either school, but the Glendale team was found to be a better all around aggregation than their adversary. During the meet Tropico accumulated 22 points while Glendale's total reached 43.

Volley ball is the present athletic object of interest among the girls of the school. In a match set of games the 8th grade won two straight from the 7th grade by scores of 12-21 and 15-21.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

Special evangelistic services will be held at the Casa Verdugo M. E. church for the week beginning Sunday evening, March 18. The speakers will be Rev. C. E. Sweet of the Fifth Street Mission, Los Angeles; Rev. C. A. Norcross, pastor of the West Glendale M. E. church; Rev. R. W. Mottern, pastor of the Glendale Lutheran church, and Rev. B. D. Snudden, pastor of the First M. E. church of Glendale.

NOTICE

That we should need money is surely not strange. For in our new kitchen we'll need a gas range; So, a dollar or more and tell how it was made Will you bring March 15th to the "Ladies Aid"?

We would be better pleased if you tell it in rhyme, "Twill insure for us all a jolly good time. We can not pay you interest as they would at the banks, But surely will give you our most sincere thanks.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENTS

A charming card party was the medium through which the Misses Mattie Belle and Clara Louise Provolt announced to their friends their engagements on Saturday afternoon at their home, 608 North Central avenue. The living room was prettily decorated with calla lilies and fruit blossoms and the afternoon was very pleasantly spent by the guests in cards, the first prize being awarded to Mrs. John White Garber and the consolation prize to Mrs. Whitcomb. At the conclusion of the games the dining room doors were thrown open, revealing two long daintily laden luncheon tables. The centerpiece was a bride surrounded by a wreath of pink and white plum and peach blossoms and pink nut basket favors were tied with tulle, carrying out the pink and white color scheme. A miniature bride stood at each place and the place cards were hand-painted kewpies with outstretched hands holding a white ribbon. At the end of each ribbon were two hearts, the outside bearing the guest's name and the inside bearing the names, Mattie Belle Provolt and Norman N. Badger, thus revealing the interesting fact that wedding bells were soon to ring for one of the hostesses. At the conclusion of the refreshments little Frederick Lott of Chestnut street came in dressed as Cupid, bearing a gold basket trimmed with pink bows and containing little white envelopes daintily tied with pink bows in which were cards announcing the engagement of the other hostess, Clara Louise Provolt, to Kent McCoy King of Alpha, Idaho. The little Cupid presented one of these envelopes to each guest. The Misses Mattie Belle and Clara Louise Provolt were assisted in entertaining by their mother, Mrs. T. S. Provolt, Miss Bessie Provolt and Miss Christine Schenck of Santa Ana.

Those present were Mrs. Jos. Stagner, Mrs. Gus Heiman, Mrs. N. N. Badger, Mrs. H. H. Faries, Mrs. Earl Johnson, Mrs. James L. Flint, Mrs. Edwin Stauffacher, Miss Gertrude Champlain, Mrs. Harold Harrison and Miss Ethel Land of Glendale; Mrs. Raymond Dick, Miss Miriam Reynolds, Miss Winnie Reynolds, Miss Amy Bowerind, Miss Ruth Huntington and Mrs. Mary King of Los Angeles; Mrs. Taine, Miss Vernon and Miss Jepson of Lorba Linda; Mrs. John White Garber of Torrance and Miss Christine Schenck of Santa Ana.

THE COLORADO POTATO KING

Mrs. Nanno Woods, president of the Glendale Garden Society, announces with pleasure that she has been so fortunate as to secure a very great attraction for the Glendale public. Mr. Eugene Grubb, the Colorado Potato King, has consented to give a stereopticon talk on Wednesday upon agriculture in general and potato culture in particular. Professor Moyle, who feels that the entire student body of the High school should profit by this unusual opportunity, has arranged with the Garden Society that this lecture shall be given in the High school auditorium on Wednesday afternoon at 2:15 sharp. Following the stereopticon talk Mr. Grubb will give a practical demonstration on the High school agricultural garden plot on how to cut and plant potatoes, both Irish and sweet. It is believed that hundreds of people will attend this practical demonstration. Ranchers from Burbank and all surrounding territories are cordially invited to meet Mr. Grubb and to avail themselves of this rare treat.

WALL STREET'S WAY

Here's a paragraph from "The Accountant" of London, England. It strikes as worth salting down for future reference in case you may later have some idea of getting into "the market":

"The successful stock broker was asked: "What is your rule of business—your maxim?" "Very simple," he replied. "I pay for something I can't get with money that I haven't got, and then I sell what I never had for more than it cost."

But, of course, the British never had a sense of humor.—Collier's Weekly.

This Boy Had to Save

Good Fortune is often disguised as Misfortune. A number of years ago a boy of fifteen was hit by an auto and seriously injured. While slightly injured for life, he recovered and was paid $1600 damages.

By law it was impossible for him to receive this money until he was of age. The 4% compound interest paid by the bank on this account increased the amount the young man received over 25%, giving him a Bank Account of over $2000 on his 21st birthday.

You don't have to meet with an accident in order to save—this story simply illustrates how quickly the 4% interest paid by this Bank helps your Savings Account to grow. Try it—but keep out of the auto accident.

Business Prudence It is the part of good business prudence to make a connection with a bank where you can enjoy a personal acquaintance with the officers of your bank and be able to transact your business with them. The business of the world to-day is done on the basis of commercial credit—and very often upon the extent of that credit depends success or failure. If you are known here as a reliable depositor—and if you ever need to borrow—your request will be given every consideration.
