CROWN ASSERTS WILL SHOW BLOOD TRACES ON BOAK AUTOMOBILE

Opening Session of Trial Featured by Preliminary Address of M. B. Jackson, K.C., for the Crown; Lady Jurors Retired on Challenge by H. A. Maclean, K.C. for the Defence.

That the Crown was prepared to show that traces of blood and human matter were found on the Boak car after the accident on North Quadra Street was the assertion of M. B. Jackson, K.C., crown counsel, in one of the most concise and exhaustive preliminary addresses to the jury in the hearing of Rex versus Boak, before Mr. Justice Murphy in the Assize Court.

The trial opened this morning, the accused, Dr. Eric W. Boak, facing two counts of manslaughter, in connection with the death of David Ballantyne, and Alexander McLaughlin, found dead on the side of the road at North Quadra Street on the night of August 20 last.

H. A. Maclean, K.C., counsel for the defence, protested against a separate conduct of the two charges, the defence retreating both ladies members of the number enrolled on the ground that the trial would be a lengthy affair and hard on women.

In the selection of the petit jury each side challenged six witnesses, the defence retreating both ladies members of the number enrolled on the ground that the trial would be a lengthy affair and hard on women.

No Trace Found of Two Men Operating "Beryl G"; Evidence Points to Fight

Considerable anxiety is felt for the safety of Captain Gillis, of Vancouver, and an unknown assistant, occasioned by the finding of an unmanned gas boat by a lighthouse keeper off the San Juan group of islands three days ago.

The boat, the Beryl G, is a small gasoline cruiser of Vancouver register, and found deserted, though with very faint traces of occupancy. The boat was engaged, habitually, in towing logs for a lumber firm at Nitinat, and was at first thought to have broken loose from her moorings at that point.

him Friday, July 25, I administered the final dose of poison and he grew worse. He died July 28. The final dose was mixed with tomato soup. Every time Hight came to the house during Wilford's illness he gave me encouragement to give Wilford more poison.

INFATUATED

I did not know and he did not tell me when he poisoned his wife, but when she became ill and died, I supposed he had poisoned her. Until I became infatuated with Hight I had led a blameless life and had always been a true wife and mother. It is true, so help me God.

"Selected" Elsie Sweetin, Dr. Lawrence M. Hight, Methodist minister, confessed to-night that Mrs. Elsie Sweetin was his accomplice in crime.

It was infatuation for her that was the motive for poisoning Wilford Sweetin, husband of the woman and Mrs. Hight, wife of the minister.

BROKE DOWN

Mrs. Sweetin was brought to jail here to-night. Early to-day Dr. Hight confessed to the double murder, but swore on the Bible he had used his wife's pulpit that the woman was innocent. To-night he broke down when Dr. C. C. Hall, presiding elder, visited him in his cell at the county jail here and demanded that he tell the truth.

"It's no use shielding her any longer," cried the minister. "God knows she is as guilty as I am. She poisoned her husband with arsenic I purchased for her."

Deputy Sheriff Joel Holcomb flashed word of the confession implicating Mrs. Sweetin to the state's attorney, Frank G. Thompson. The state's attorney ordered the immediate arrest of the woman.

WOMAN COLLAPSES

Mrs. Sweetin had to be carried to the sheriff's office by two deputies. She broke down completely and was in no condition to be questioned at length. Sheriff Grant Holcomb declared.

A crowd of villagers from Ina followed the automobile bringing Mrs. Sweetin to Mount Vernon, but no attempt was made to molest the sheriff's party.

The minister told of the love pact and the plot to poison Sweetin and Mrs. Hight. He said:

"I was madly in love with Mrs. Sweetin and she seemed to be with me. Several weeks ago we made an agreement to kill Sweetin and my wife. After he died I poisoned Anna, my wife. Elsie and I were then going to leave and get married."

To-night there was rumbling of

DEGREE OF D.D. IS CONFERRED ON REV. JOHN CAMPBELL

Veteran Minister Signally Honored on Jubilee of His Ordination

In recognition of his fifty years in the ministry, Rev. John Campbell, M.A., was conferred with the degree of Doctor of Divinity by the Senate of Westminster College last evening, the interesting ceremony taking place in the First Presbyterian church. A big congregation assembled to do honor to the veteran minister, who from the time he came from Eastport, Canada thirty-two years ago until his retirement from active ministry twelve years ago was in charge of the First Presbyterian Church.

In addition to the presentation of the degree, Dr. Campbell was presented by James Forman and John Fullerton with a purse of gold from the old parishioners, and Mrs. Campbell received a beautiful bouquet of roses, the presentation being made by Mrs. Wilson, whose husband, the late Alex. Wilson, was one of the charter members of the church.

The purse was accompanied by the following address read by Mr. Forman: "Reverend and Dear Sir—Your former parishioners, members and adherents of First Presbyterian Church desire to join with the many others who to-night are gathered to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of your ordination to the holy ministry."

"Some of us are able to recall with interest the evening of your induction into the pastorate of this congregation on the 22nd day of June, 1874, and can look back with pleasure to the time of your coming amongst us.

"We desire to place on record our deep appreciation of your long years of faithful ministry, of your kindly sympathetic zeal as a pastor, and most of all your tenderness and devotion in times of trouble and sorrow. You shared with your people their burdens when the outlook was dark and uncertain, and rejoiced with them when the better days began to dawn. In times of adversity you were the first to contribute more than your share to the support of our churches among us, and only those who beside you lived through the dark days from 1893 to 1895 can know your part in holding together the organization which made the greater work and service of to-day possible in this congregation.

"We recall with pride your personal service to our King and country in time of war and your splendid gift of four brave sons who gave themselves mightily for the cause of liberty and justice.

"We congratulate you on the completion of fifty years of service, for the Master in the ministry of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and pray Almighty God that you may still be spared to enjoy the evening of life among the many friends who surround you on every side.

"To Mrs. Campbell also we tender our congratulations. She has stood beside you to sustain and help in her quiet, modest retiring way, and yet how great her contribution to your life and work, and how great her contribution to our nation when in time of stress and danger she parted with her sons and gave them so splendidly for the common weal.

"Will you, Dr. and Mrs. Campbell, please accept the accompanying slight tokens of our esteem and regard. May you long be spared to journey together in peace and happiness along life's common way before entering into the rest that remaineth for the people of God."

Among those on the platform were Principal W. H. Smith, D.D., of Westminster Hall; Rev. J. G. Lister, moderator of Victoria Presbytery; Rev. W. G. Wilson, M.A., of First Presbyterian Church; Rev. W. E. Claxton, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church; Rev. J. Smith Patterson, of St. Paul's, Victoria West; Rev. Dr. MacLennan, of St. Joseph's, Victoria; Rev. Daniel Walker, and Rev. Dr. John A. Logan of Westminster Hall.

DR. CAMPBELL'S PREBRYTERY GREETINGS. Rev. Dr. McCoy, officially representing the Victoria Presbytery, brought greetings from that body and wished for long years of continued activity. Dr. McCoy recalled the days when he and Dr. Campbell had been fellow-students at Knox College, Toronto, and also touched upon his record during his long ministry in this city.

Many messages of congratulation to the aged minister were read by Rev. Dr. Wilson, including greetings from former parishioners, from Dr. C. M. Davies and the congregation of the City Temple and from the Ministerial Association.

Announcement of Westminster Hall's decision to confer the degree of Doctor of Divinity was made by Principal W. H. Smith, D.D., who reviewed Dr. Campbell's years of service in appreciative terms.

DR. CAMPBELL. Rev. Mr. Lister devoted two minutes to eulogizing Dr. Campbell as a "preacher and Christian gentleman."

Dr. Logan brought greetings and congratulations from the Presbyterian Synod of British Columbia, and alluded to the excellent reports which Dr. Campbell had from time to time given before the Synod on the matter of home and foreign missions.

Rev. Dr. W. L. Clay added his congratulations, pointing out that the distinction conferred upon Dr. Campbell was no small one.

The hood having been placed about his shoulders by Principal Smith, Dr. Campbell took his place on the platform and in happy vein acknowledged all the good wishes, and thanked his many friends for their kind greetings. He briefly touched upon the physical, moral and social changes he had observed during his thirty years in Victoria.

Special music was rendered by the choir under the leadership of Jackson Hanby, with Donald Fraser in the solo part; Mrs. Gregson and J. G. Brown also sang solos. The evening closed with the serving of refreshments by the ladies in the school-room.

SUNDAY SERVICES. Dr. Campbell occupied the pulpit at First Church on Sunday morning, his text being "The Still Small Voice." Speaking in reminiscent vein and drawing his illustrations from personal incidents in his own ministry, the preacher tried to show that it was the spirit of God in man that made man strong, courageous and hopeful.

In the evening Dr. Logan of Westminster Hall was the preacher, and very appropriately chose as his text "A hoary head is a crown of glory." This was a sermon in praise of age. This, the twentieth century, called the young people's century. Education had made them its chief object; the young were stressed in every avenue of life. Without depressing this the minister recalled attention to the fact that there were a good many old people in the world as well, and for these he discovered some of the compensations of old age.

CROWN ASSERTS IT WILL SHOW BLOOD TRACES ON BOAK AUTOMOBILE

Human brains were found on the pavement and in the ditch and Mr. Jackson, between the points where the car of the accused came back on to the pavement and left for the ditch.

On that day Dr. Fraser held a party at Brentwood which was largely attended. Medical students and local doctors attended the affair. Shortly before 9 p.m. or thereabouts the party broke up and the guests departed for their homes. The distance from the Fraser home to the site of the accident was twelve miles, or 12.10 miles to be exact, continued Mr. Jackson.

The Crown proposed to show that certain doctors, in cars, left the function in the neighborhood of 8.50 p.m. and arrived in Victoria about 9.30 p.m. Others left at 9 p.m. and arrived in Victoria at or between 9.20 and 9.45 p.m. The Crown proposed to show that certain of these cars were passed by the car of the accused in the twelve-mile stretch mentioned.

Evidence would be brought to show that between 9 p.m. and 9.20 p.m. two cars were seen speeding close together in the neighborhood of Hamaterley Lakeside Farm. A few rods from the scene of the accident the Crown would show, two cars were seen traveling at an extreme speed, either racing or attempting to pass one another, a matter of a few minutes after 9.15 p.m.

There would be evidence, continued Mr. Jackson, to show that the car of the accused attempted to pass that of Dr. Duck. The time factor in the case would be the most serious one to determine.

Mr. MacLennan rose to object that Mr. Jackson was anticipating the time and location of a final address to the jury, but Mr. Jackson continued unflinched.

The same watch with which Mr. McLaughlin had taken the time at 9.15 p.m., continued Crown counsel, was found in a pocket of his dead body, stopped at 9.20. Evidence would be shown that the sound of brakes was heard in that general period of time, very shortly after 9.15 p.m.

TIME CHECKED

The Crown would bring a young woman who checked time with an alarm clock she was setting for the following morning and heard shortly after a crash on the road. This witness would say that she turned out her light and looked from the window to see the lights of a single car at the scene.

It was a starlight night, clear and dry. This witness would say she saw a man walk from the railway track up toward the lights of the car at the scene. The Crown would show that the accused proceeded to telephone at the house of a nearby resident, which took place between 9.30 p.m. and 9.45 p.m., the Crown would allege.

Turning to the nature of the injuries the Crown would show that the head of the late Mr. Ballantyne had been gouged out in a long narrow channel by some instrument that spread his brains on the road.

The outmost handles of the accused's car were T-shaped. The grip pieces were broken off on the left side. Evidence would be given as to the finding of pieces of door handle, one of which it would be alleged bore traces of human remains and blood. It was unfortunate that the cars had not been kept in the relative positions, but the doors of the Boak car would be shown in exhibit to the court. The Crown would produce the evidence of pathologists that blood and human remains were found on the Boak car, declared crown counsel.

The Crown did not seek a "no-mans-land" verdict on the whole affair. Mr. Jackson concluded one hour after his opening remarks.

FIRST WITNESS

The first witness called led the court into a considerable deliberation over the plan of the scene. Hubert H. Allen, Saanich municipal engineer, told of making a plan from measurements taken at the scene at daylight the next day. His measurements were based on information given to him, as to this exhibit and that, by the Saanich police then on the scene.

The jury, counsel and court examined the plan in detail, the work taking some time owing to the intricate nature of the detail. Mr. MacLennan objected to written detail on the plan, which he said was in the nature of written evidence, and not in order. The point was reserved. The hearing proceeds with the calling of witnesses by the Crown.

The petit jury called to hear the case consists of James H. Penketh, foreman, Edward Agar, Harry H. Edwards, William Hall, William Norledge, George Keown, William Jacques, John R. Clements, Albany Jeffery and Thomas Henry Adams.

The session this morning was attended by crowded galleries. The public filled every seat in the courtroom allotted for that purpose and overflowed down the stairways. Witnesses and jurors in other hearings were released until Monday next at 11 a.m., on the understanding that the present hearing consume the time meanwhile.

Perfidious Savages

IN THE Torres Straits Islands in the East Indies, there are no trees suitable for canoe building. So the natives, a cruel, treacherous race, import their canoes from the Fly River Delta in New Guinea —another place with an unenviable reputation. The distance between these two places is over four hundred miles, and no native in that region travels even one-quarter of that distance.

The word is simply passed on from tribe to tribe. On the strength of this vague order a canoe is built. Then it is relayed back. Each tribe of bloodthirsty cannibals tests and discusses it before passing it on. Finally the payment, shell necklaces, spear points, arm bands, makes its way to the canoe builders in the same leisurely fashion.

There is reason for this honesty in savages to whom perfidy is natural. If any of the parties in this complicated transaction were to risk being dishonest, their credit would be ruined. And though these natives may kill and eat each other, they hold barter inviolate.

Even savages understand that in commerce it pays to be honest, and to let the world realize your honesty! So in modern business. Advertising must be honest and it is a proof of honesty. A product's advertising is the best guarantee of its quality, usefulness and value.

The man who advertises is inviting your inspection. He is letting his goods stand on their own merit. He can't afford to deceive you. You can depend on him. That's why it pays to read advertising and to buy advertised goods.

AVIATORS TO RACE FOR $50,000 PRIZES

Big Military Union of Flying Men at International Races Next Month

Dayton, O., Sept. 23.—Aviators who flew together over the German lines in the World War, and others who waited for that opportunity, will meet here in one of the biggest military reunions since the armistice, when the International Air Races are held at Wilbur Wright field, October 2, 3 and 4.

The Army Air Service has given assurance that flyers and officers throughout the country will be permitted to attend, and approximately 400 from almost every military post and field have already signified that intention.

Arrangements for the reunion are being made by Major A. W. Robins and John F. Curry, commanders of Wilbur Wright and McCook fields, and Major George Breit of Wright field.

The International Air Races, the chief attraction here, will include twelve racing events, for which $50,000 in prizes have been offered.

SAIL TO RESCUE LUCKLESS WOMEN

Special to The Times

Sydney, Australia, Sept. 23.—If the two white women reported to be survivors of the wreck of the steamer Douglas Mawson, on the north coast of Australia, are prisoners in the hands of the blacks in the far north, the chances of releasing them by a Government expedition are small.

The expedition will take weeks to get to the scene of the wreck, for it is making its way from Darwin to the Gulf of Carpentaria in an ancient steamer that can make only a knot an hour. Already the steamer is three weeks on its voyage and has not yet arrived. It carries no wireless; the captain refused to sail; and the police party has no black trackers to assist in trailing the supposed survivors of the Douglas Mawson.

Already the Government is under fire for its slackness.

PRaises WORK OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS

U.S. Expert on Economics Reports on Financial Mechanism

Geneva, Sept. 23.—Following an extensive visit to the Ruhr, Berlin and Vienna, Harold G. Moulton, an American expert on economic and director of the Institute of Economics at Washington, came on to Geneva and spent some time investigating the economic and financial mechanism of the League of Nations.

Mr. Moulton expressed the opinion that the world owes a profound debt of gratitude to the League for the excellent work it has accomplished in connection with the economic reconstruction of Europe. He said that the numerous statistics and economic analyses made by the economic section of the secretariat have been of invaluable aid alike to independent students and to governments charged with the responsibility of effecting a solution of post-war economic problems.

"The Austrian and Hungarian reconstruction plans," Mr. Moulton declared, "originated by the League and administered under League auspices, represent the first constructive European finances. Without the pioneer work of the League, the League of Nations had accomplished nothing else, its work in Austria and Hungary would have justified its existence many times over."

YEAR'S CROP SHOWS EXCELLENT QUALITY

Sixty-five Per Cent of Wheat Loaded Has Been Certified Contract Grade

Winnipeg, Sept. 23.—Showing excellent quality, sixty-five per cent of the wheat loaded in Canadian Pacific cars and inspected by Dominion officials since August 1 has been certified contract grade (No. 3 Northern or better), according to figures obtained from the transportation department of the company this morning. Wheat inspections totaled sixty-three per cent of all grades in 1920 Canadian Pacific cars examined, 3,441 of them were wheat and the remainder coarse grains. By grades it was shown that there had

"Nerves in Bad State Could Not Sleep"

Mrs. H. N. Tardell, Harrowsmith, Ont., writes:

"My nerves were in a very bad state, and for nearly six months I did not know what it was to have a good night's rest. I could not eat, and never felt well. I heard about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and thought I would try it. After taking it for a few days I began to feel better, and soon was able to sleep well at night. My appetite also returned, and I felt stronger and better, and after taking three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was quite well. I have also given the Nerve Food to my little girl, with good results."

ZEPPELIN VISITOR TO BRING HEAVY MAIL

Friedrichshafen, Sept. 23.—German air post stamps for mail to be sent to the United States on the ZR-3 have been going like hot cakes here lately, the government post office department having given notice weeks ago that "it would be wise to do your Zeppelin mailing early."

Stamp collectors were hopeful that special stamps would be issued for the trip, but the department did not do so, advising customers to use the ordinary air postage stamps. Letters on one mark, twenty-four cents, and post cards twelve cents.

PASSPORT BUSINESS PROVES PROFITABLE

United States Has Collected $12,000 a Day During Summer Months

Washington, Sept. 23.—The passport business has been a flourishing one for Uncle Sam this Summer. The great majority of the claim of attaches of the Division of Passport Control of the State Department that theirs is the one unit of the department that more than pays for itself. During the first seven months of this year, passport applications averaged between 1,200 and 1,400 a day. Figures for August are not yet complete, but it is estimated that the number of applications written in Washington, only a few emergency ones being issued in the field. The abnormal rush this year was occasioned by certain conventions abroad, and the competition among steamship lines to secure the traffic by offering lower passage rates.

IRELAND COLLECTS

All the countries of Europe, save Belgium, Switzerland and Holland, require visas for which a charge of $10 is made, and which must be obtained by the visitor before entering the country. The Irish Free State has been the latest country to fall in line and asks the customary "ten spot" from sojourners in the Emerald Isle. Uncle Sam started charging in the first few issues of passports in July, 1920.

Although no passport or visa is officially required for Americans traveling to Ireland, Canada or Cuba, the State Department gets numerous applications for them as a protection.

A passport is valid for one year and is subject to renewal for a second twelve months at the end of that period. Americans traveling abroad may get new passports by applying to American consular offices.

NEW COMMISSIONER AT FREIGHT INQUIRY

Hon. H. A. McKeown Takes Seat at Crow's Nest Hearing

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—Hon. H. A. McKeown, Chief Commissioner of the Railway Commission, took his seat yesterday morning when the hearing resumed in the Crow's Nest Pass agreement case. He was welcomed on behalf of the bar by Eugene Lafleur, K.C., doyen of counsel present. Mr. Lafleur, in the chaste language of the agreement, was welcomed to the distinguished services of the new chairman on the bench and as commissioner in the Home Bank enquiry.

In reply, chief Commissioner McKeown expressed his desire to continue the high standard maintained by his predecessor if yet complete.

Argument was opened by H. J. Symington, K.C., counsel for the prairie provinces. It was common ground he said that tariffs of Customs had been filed, it was imperative for the commission to relieve the discrimination and moreover, he argued, the commission had no authority to raise freight rates higher than the Crow's Nest Pass maximum.

Appearing to English cases, Mr. Symington claimed that the Canadian Railway law in 1897, when the Crow's Nest agreement was signed, prohibited discrimination and that therefore by entering into the Crow's Nest agreement the Canadian Pacific Railway had been aware it had created certain rate standards above which it could not go.

Mr. Symington went on to argue that the practice followed by the Canadian Pacific Railway since 1897 had shown it felt itself bound not to discriminate by the making of higher rates on commodities affected by Crow's Nest standard. As each branch of the C.P.R. was opened, he said, rates were made on the Crow's Nest basis and when the short line was built the Crow's Nest rates were reduced to the short line basis. Further rates on the Crow's Nest basis were made on the Crow's Nest basis and when the short line was built the Crow's Nest rates were reduced to the short line basis.

Mr. Symington's argument was met by Mr. Symington's argument that the contentions of railways was upheld which would in no manner limit the reduction of grain eastbound to points on the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1897.

HORSE RACING AT CORTENAY SHOW

Successful Gathering is Assured to-morrow and Thursday

Cortenay, Sept. 23.—The stage is set for the annual fall fair of the Commercial and Industrial Association which will be held on Wednesday and Thursday. Thursday will be the big day, as then all exhibits will have been located and the sports programme takes place on that day.

The sports programme is in the capable hands of a committee comprised of A. R. England, H. S. Baker, R. Hughes, J. Crockett and J. H. Parkin. They have been preparing a programme which will include a number of horse races, the track for which has been put in shape this week. It is a number of years since horse races were held here and some keen contacts are bound to be witnessed. Several owners of ponies have already signified their intention of being on the job. W. A. Urquhart will be officiating under the supervision of James Parkin, Stuart Baker and Jack Crockett, and they are working hard on a satisfactory prize list.

The entries are coming into the hands of the secretary, Felix Thomas, in good volume, and there is every in-

RIDDING PALESTINE OF FEVER SCOURGE

Jerusalem, Sept. 23.—The scourge of malaria is gradually but surely being subdued in Palestine, according to an official government report making public the proceedings of a recent meeting of the Anti-Malarial Advisory Commission. Colonel Heron, Director of Health of the Palestine government, presided.

It was stated that there had been less malaria throughout Palestine in 1923 than in any previous year, and that nowhere did it appear in epidemic form. This was due to some extent to the small rainfall during the preceding winter, but chiefly to anti-malarial measures taken.

The opinion was expressed that the conditions now prevailing in Palestine were the most favorable for the application of preventive malarial work.

The government is being assisted in this work by the Jewish Colonial Research Unit financed by the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee of America, the Unit being in charge of Dr. L. J. Kligler.

Municipalities are readily assisting in anti-malarial work in the towns where they provide the necessary unskilled labor and tools.

Farmers and Hunters Happy to See Break in Season

Special to The Times

Ladysmith, Sept. 21.—The funeral of Elizabeth, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell, Jr., Extension, took place this afternoon at the Ladysmith Cemetery. Rev. Father McLennan conducting the services. The greatest sympathy is felt for the father and mother in their sad loss.

C. Walters, of the well known dry goods firm of Walters & Aikens, returned home yesterday from a business trip to Winnipeg and other prairie points. Mr. Walters reports a fair crop of the prairie this year, practically all of which will be shipped to Vancouver. A number of prairie farmers are speaking strongly in the Peace River country for grain growing.

Ladysmith and surrounding district will certainly welcome the rainfall which arrived last night. For several days the smoke made a screen over the town which was anything but pleasant. In addition to putting out the various fires which have been burning in this district it will also be welcome to the farmers and others who are so busy with the autumn season. It will also be a boon to the hunters for the woods were so very dry that it made it practically impossible to hunt, due to game being able to hear the hunters so easily.

Fire on Saturday evening destroyed the five-roomed residence of August Schivardi of Extension. Mrs. Schivardi and children were away from the house at the time and Mrs. Schivardi was not in the house when she noticed her home on fire. The origin of the fire is a mystery because the kitchen fire has not been located. In addition to putting out the fire started in one of the bedrooms. The house and its entire contents were completely destroyed, a shotgun was burned, the loss being partly covered by insurance.

This is the second time that Mr. Schivardi's home has been on fire, the former being when the mattresses were discovered on fire, under suspicious circumstances. Extension is a good attendance at a top for and new residents are invited to attend.

A meeting of the Chemainus Hospital W.A. will be held on Wednesday, in the Anglican Parish Room. A good attendance is hoped for and new residents are invited to attend.

THE MEMORIAL

THE people of Victoria are about to be asked to find the money for this city's war memorial.

It is nearly six years since the armistice was signed and there are very few places in the British Empire which have not erected some monument to the valor of the men who fought the common enemy.

This district gave liberally of its man power and wealth. No city in Canada did better than Victoria in proportion to population and resources.

It is essential, therefore, that a fitting reminder of that proud fact should take tangible form with as little delay as possible.

The people of this community are already assured that the design of the memorial which will eventually grace the grounds of the Parliament Buildings will do credit to the capital city of British Columbia.

It should be remembered that the collectors are giving their time and labor to the process of obtaining the necessary subscriptions.

Their task may be made lighter and more pleasant by ready response.

This should be assured, for the memorial is an acknowledgment by the people of their great debt to their fallen protectors.

FOOLISH ARGUMENT

SOME people are trying to convince themselves that still more horse racing in this community would be a short cut to better times and permanent prosperity. They argue that it is just the kind of diversion to attract the tourist and make him a permanent resident.

Put bluntly, the people of this community must decide which of two courses they intend to follow. Either they are going to get right down to business and finish with betting on the present scale, or else they will encourage the establishment of a Tia Juana here.

There can be no half measures. Victoria needs every cent of business it can get. Business and prolonged horse racing are like oil and water. They cannot be mixed.

ASKING FOR TROUBLE

MUSSOLINISM is beginning to annoy the Italians.

Spain has waited in vain for the reforms which Primo de Rivera promised. Matteotti's cruel murder by Fascist agents outraged the consciences of millions of Italians. Spain's continued reverses in Morocco have destroyed most of the faith which the people put in the military directorate.

Italy and Spain are heading straight for civil war. Mussolinism represents a political formula which puts a man or a party in a position of saviour of the country and gives him unlimited power to deny all right of opposition. The bloodless revolution led by Primo de Rivera was intended to put an end to political corruption in Spain and turn a long series of military disasters into speedy conquest of the Moors.

In both these countries constitutional government, the bulwark of liberty and progress, has been suspended. The will of the people is playing second fiddle to the political aggrandizement of the few. Men of democratic and liberal mind in Italy have adapted themselves to a fashion of violence which takes no account of the difference between crimes committed by the few, outside the law, and those perpetrated by the ruling party which administers the law. Would-be liberators of Spain have become intoxicated by the taste of political power.

There is only one end to this sort of government—the rising of the people, civil war, anarchy and chaos.

BUY THEIR WARES

IT IS declared that unless more orders are given to the disabled veterans who are trying to rehabilitate themselves at the Red Cross Workshop their hours of labor will have to be cut down and much of the beneficial effect of this form of sheltered employment will be lost.

This is an important matter for the men themselves and it should be

DR. FRANK CRANE

ON "PRACTICAL PACIFISM"

ALL who are pacifists do not desire to deprive their country of any of its power and take it. They desire to protect their country and think that this can better be done by a working agreement with other nations than by war.

It is constantly held and stated that pacifism means the absence of love for one's country. But a pacifist can love his country as intelligently as any militarist. It is only a question of judgment.

The method of protecting their country by increasing its attacking power has been tried over and over again and has failed. It would seem that some other method should be tried.

Perhaps it will take a long while to grow up a sentiment that shall properly back the effort to bring the nations together. The idea must come by its inherent common sense and against all forms of misconstruction and misstatement.

America is essentially a peace-loving country and the people of every country are peace loving. They do not go into war except as their passions are inflamed and as men upon their feelings of nationalism and pride.

Whatever, therefore, can help to increase the intelligence of a people and of the diplomat who represent them, whoever can establish the spirit of compromise, without which no peace is possible, must help a little.

It is certain that no nation, just as no individual, can maintain its superiority over all others; it must give way a little. It must abate some of its pride or its vanity for the sake of peace.

Whatever shall bring the nations of the world together and lead them to act for the good of all, instead of their own separate countries, will be of value.

Labor and art and commerce are more and more absorbing the interests of the people. War as a profession is losing ground and in time the efforts of every population will be directed rather toward making the individual country serve the world than to dominate the world.

The love of peace has always been disastrous. The love of service makes for peace.

THE PRINCE COMES HOME

THE Prince of Wales seems to have had an excellent time on Long Island. If he has not had as much rest as he expected and desired, the pleasant diversions which his numerous hospitable hosts provided for him appeared to have been duly appreciated by him.

The fortnight which His Royal Highness proposes to spend at his ranch in Alberta will be quite a different form of holiday. He will be more or less at home and wrapped up in the details of what he considers his serious Canadian investment. Stock awaits his inspection, various details of expansion are to be discussed, the general business of the enterprise must be gone over with that respect for incidentals which is part and parcel of successful enterprise on Canada's broad acres.

Outside of business, however, the Prince expects the holiday in Alberta to be a real pick-me-up. At the Dominion Day banquet in London he said "Canada is my tonic." He will therefore now be able to take in the invigorating air as freely as he likes. And he will be amply safeguarded against the exactions of snobs.

An old-timer near Victoria objects to jazz; he says it sounds like profanity set to music. Not a bad description.

Mr. Larkin's address to the Canadian Club revealed something of the nature of a Canadian High Commissioner's task in London.

Those migrants who come to Canada and expect to find a land flowing with milk and honey should remember the old adage that elbow

REWARD OF "INDIVIDUAL INITIATIVE"

From The Star (London).

The infant just born to Lady Woodhouse, wife of Lord Kimberley's son and heir, has brilliant prospects. The child is not rich, but Lord Woodhouse is ultimate beneficiary to a Cornish manor which includes a large portion of a flourishing borough. The ground rents on this land have increased enormously in value in the last seventy years, and when the leases fall in there will be a huge windfall to the freeholder, which will materially increase the family fortune of the Earls of Kimberley.

SONG FROM A GYPSY LORE ANTHOLOGY

The wind whistles over the heath. The moonlight licks over the flood. And the gypsy lights up by his fire in the darkness of the wood. Hurray!

In the darkness of the wood. Free is the bird in the air. And the fish where the river flows. Free is the deer in the forest

And the gypsy wherever he goes. Hurray! And the gypsy wherever he goes.

Sidelights on a Great Industry

THE MENACE OF UNEMPLOYMENT

SHUT DOWN OF MILLS WOULD RELEASE ARMY OF LUMBER EMPLOYEES

Royalty Act Takes Wage Appropriations Instead of the Worker

It is no secret that the emigration of skilled labor from this province is causing the authorities serious concern.

The inability of a community to maintain the quality and quantity of its skilled labor supply is a sure and certain sign that its industrial forces are in economic difficulties.

The forest industries of British Columbia, which give direct employment to a fourth of the male population of this province, are making gallant efforts to combat overtaxation and at the same time keep intact the great industrial army nominally dependent upon them.

The further levy on the raw material of the British Columbia timber industry which will automatically take place at the beginning of next year, will mean the shut down of the mills and the release from employment of the largest body of workers in the history of the province.

Workers themselves will realize that in the event of the present Royalty Act remaining in force, considerably more than the extra taxation it provides for will be spent in the alleviation of unemployment conditions.

THE WAR MEMORIAL

To the Editor—To Mr. H. W. Hart are due the thanks of all right-thinking people for the stand he is justly and finely taking in upholding an unassailable principle, viz. that all the public should be permitted to subscribe to all parts of a public monument.

It is indeed an odious, as well as an unprecedented thing that the principal and crowning portion of a memorial of so sacred a kind should be reserved for the purse of one rich man and only the rest of it permitted to be contributed to by the public at large, many of whom, including myself, have suffered deeply in their families and their fortunes by the ravages of the war.

The fact that the memorial commemorates a contribution towards a real public monument to our fallen heroes, will refuse to recognize such an arrangement which is a desecration of ideals and draws such a grievously offensive and unheard-of line between the rich man's purse and the poor man's hand.

All honor to you, Mr. Hart! Public sentiment supports you in insisting that those principles of true democracy for which our sons gave their lives shall be maintained upon their monument.

FATHER OF SOLDIERS

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 19, 1924.

STEVENSON MEMORIAL

To the Editor—Years ago when Rudyard Kipling was visiting Victoria he remarked ironically to one of his party as they motored past Mount Folmie, "Oh, they have blasted out a suburb or two."

What would have said could he have seen the desolation known as the gravel pits, a great hole in the earth filled with sorts of rubbish—a horror heightened by being set in one of the most beautiful cities of the world, and looking north from which is a most attractive view. To the citizens who never visit this district I might add that this spot lies back of the new High School, bounded on the south by Gladstone street, and on the north by Fernside street, as we were taught to describe countries when I went to school. This desolation is passed by hundreds of school children daily, surely some of us understand the effect of beauty on the mind that is forming.

The Stevenson Memorial Committee desire to make of this eyesore a children's playground. The city will assume the necessary filling in as a condition precedent to the contemplated beautification of the spot, provided that the Memorial Committee will equip the playground to be with the necessary apparatus, fencing, copnet paths, etc. Money will be raised by various features—a wading pool, cement circle for roller skating, swings, slides, shelter, and fencing. The opportunity is accorded to well-to-do citizens of public spirit, and generous soul to aid in this permanent memorial to one of their noblest citizens, Rev. William Stevenson of precious memory and help with this work. The three high inducements are: The perpetuation of the memory of a great Victorian, who never failed in helping others; the enhancement of the beauty of one of the most attractive cities on the continent, and lastly to add to the health and joy of the children, for the universal impulse to play is a divinely ordered thing. If God gives the instant, man ought to provide the playground.

In dealing with the problem of crime in youth, we shall make progress just in proportion as we appreciate the absurdity of limiting our remedies to the court, the hangman and the jailer.

LOOKING INTO LIQUOR LAWS

Western Australian Visitor is Making Second World Tour

The lax enforcement of prohibition in the United States and the decay of moral responsibility has very much impressed Archdeacon L. G. Smyth, V.P., of Bunbury, Western Australia, who is staying at the Empress Hotel. He is keenly interested in the administration of Government control in British Columbia.

The reverend visitor has been making a prolonged stay in California and is now completing his second tour round the world, during which he is observing men and affairs. As the prohibition question is likely to become an important issue of state politics in his own country, he is particularly interested in the liquor administration.

The repatriation of the soldiers and the settlement of British immigrants in colonies on the rich wheat-growing areas of Western Australia have been lively issues, he points out, and unfortunately, he says, a large number of the British immigrants have drifted to the towns, the loneliness of the bush being too much for them after the excessive urbanization of the Old Country.

Soldiers' repatriation has been very expensive and large sums have been loaned by the Commonwealth to the states to enable them to place soldiers on the land.

True Bills Returned In Assize Hearings

Grand Jury Finds Case to Meet in Rex Versus McNaughton and Rex Versus McAdam

A true bill against Wallace L. McNaughton, charged with seduction, and true bills on all three counts in the case of Rex versus McAdam, charged with rape, seduction and indecent assault were returned by the grand jury this morning, upon reporting back to Mr. Justice Murphy in the Assize Court.

The grand jury also reported a problem. One witness, the father of the complainant in the case of Rex versus Eastman, had refused to talk, and stated that he wished to see the Attorney-General about having the case withdrawn.

Mr. Hardiman was brought in to face the court, when he was told in no uncertain terms that his evidence would have to be given freely and without delay or he would be committed to prison himself until he changed his mind. Mr. Hardiman accepted the advice of the court and retired with the Grand Jury, when again took the case of Rex versus Eastman under advisement.

Are You Fat? Just Try This

Thousands of overfat people have become slender by following the advice of doctors who recommend Marmol's Prescription Tablets. If too fat, don't walk—go to your druggist now and for one dollar (the same price the world over) procure a box of these tablets. If you prefer you may secure them direct by sending price to the Marmol Co., General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich. They reduce steadily and easily. lucky life, came to the Vanderbilt. Ann Harding, to this juror's mind the most beautiful young girl on Broadway, plays opposite that veteran actor George Marion.

The piece centres about a horse-thief (Marion) and his daughter (Miss Harding) whom he left in the care of relatives when a tot. The girl, who has become a lawyer, is appointed to defend the horse-thief. The punch comes when they realize the identity of each other.

To a veteran theatregoer it seemed that one person wrote the first two acts, then turned the third act over to another. Seldom does a play fall in quality so quickly as the "Thoroughbred," between the second and third acts.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Broadway is restless. It is impatient. It is unwilling to accept the early, unsatisfactory plays as a criterion of what is to come.

It knows that behind the barrage of early productions lie the Big Berthas—the really good productions of the season of 1924.

Seventeen plays came two weeks ago. Thirteen a week ago. Five more last week. But those who pay know that the Big Berthas, the heavy artillery, lie behind.

William Faversham opened in "The Man and the Face," a free translation from the Italian comedy, "La Mascara E Il Volto." Continental humor is one thing and American humor is another. The two will not jibe.

Faversham plays a count who is sensitive to the ridicule of others. He vows before his friend that he will kill her, but let the man go free. Suspicion is cast on the wife, quite unjustly, but the count feels he must go through with his threat.

Instead of letting her go as he says, he tells his friends he strangled her and threw the body in the sea. He is arrested, spends ten months in prison and is finally tried and acquitted.

To his amazement he returns to normal life to find himself a hero. In the end the wife shows up and that's all there is to it.

Continental is their humor seriously. Perhaps it is too subtle for Americans, but it is heavy laughter. If so we're out of luck. At any rate, half of the laughter in the audience seemed to be laughter at the actors, rather than at the play.

If Faversham continues to accept roles in plays like this one it will not be long until his drawing power will vanish.

Other new productions were: Earl Carroll's "Vanities of 1924," an able musical comedy; "High Stakes," a Willard Mack play; "Conscience," a serious piece snatched from Greenwich Village by Al Woods.

"The Green Beetle," from the pen of John Willard, bids fair to have a long run on Broadway. This will cause no surprise when it is known Willard also wrote "The Cat and the Canary," one of the most popular mystery plays ever to reach the public. "The Green Beetle" features Florence Fair.

Elsie Janis has just returned from Europe.

WEDDING WAS SMART AFFAIR

Mr. Haggerty from California is a visitor in the city.

Mr. J. M. Wardle, of Banff, is registered at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Dolan, of Pasadena, are guests at the Empress Hotel.

Nuptials Saturday of Edward Nanton and Miss M. Eachern

Winnipeg, Sept. 22.—Margaret, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McEachern, was married to Edward Augustus Nanton, eldest son of Sir Augustus and Lady Nanton of "Killmore," Winnipeg, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Augustus's Church. Dr. Leslie Pidgeon, assisted by Ven. Archdeacon Fortin, officiated. Asters, chrysanthemums, and roses, shading from pale to deep blue, were used for the church interior decorations. Mrs. E. M. Counsell sang McDermaid's "Sacrament" during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a soft clinging gown of rich white satin sheba, which fell in graceful folds and was caught in a side cascade of drapery. The court train was rounded at the foot and showed a succession of flounces and an entire border of white meshed tulle was an immense circle of lily-of-the-valley, with a side cluster of palest pink orchids. The only ornaments were a string of pearls with a diamond clasp, the gift of Lady Nanton, and a diamond and platinum wrist watch, the gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Constance Nanton, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Misses Muriel Smith, Marguerite Nanton and Gladys Pennock. Miss Elizabeth Cameron of Vancouver was a flower girl. Mr. Richard Bonnycastle was groomsmen and the ushers were Mr. Paul Nanton, Mr. John McEachern, Mr. Harry Smith, Mr. Stanford Pepler, Mr. Eric Vibert, Mr. Campbell Harstone, Mr. Jeffrey Loucks and Mr. Donald McEachern.

The maid of honor's gown was of white satin trimmed with flounces of real lace. The bridesmaids were dressed alike in frocks of the same material with neck mantles and panels of real lace. They all wore coronets of the lace, outlined with silver tissue and centered with a cluster of blue French flowers. They carried sheaves of belladonna blue delphinium and silver sheaves.

The bridegroom wore a tuxedo with a white frock of white baronet with box-pleated ruffles of Valenciennes lace. She wore a blue and silver wreath in her hair and carried a basket of delphinium and rose petals.

As the ceremony ended, the chimes from St. Luke's church, with which the bridegroom is identified, pealed forth, following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Roslyn Road.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Nanton left for a honeymoon trip to the East. Going away the bride wore a three-piece suit of rosewood lustrous, trimmed with Jap mink, with a small toque of leather and felt in matching colors. COLORED WOMAN IS SAID TO BE OVER 110 YEARS OF AGE

"Grandma" Godson Attended Church Here Sunday; Born in Slave Days

One of the most interesting figures at the special service for aged people which was held at the Metropolitan Methodist Church on Sunday morning was "Grandma" Godson, an old colored lady whose age is reported to be anything from 100 to 116 years. This little bent old lady was the cynosure of all eyes as she came out of the church, and a crowd of the parishioners gathered around her to offer congratulations on her attendance at church.

Mrs. Godson is a survival of the days of old Virginia when most of the colored population worked on the plantations under conditions of slavery; when the word of "mammy" was law, and before "Uncle Tom's Cabin" brought to light conditions which led to the abolition of this feudal system.

If Mrs. Godson's age is indeed 116 years, she is undoubtedly the oldest woman in Canada. Taking the year of her birth as 1908, she would be seven years of age when the Battle of Waterloo was fought, and has lived under the following Presidents of the United States: William McKinley, Theodor Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson, Warren G. Harding and Calvin Coolidge.

Mrs. Godson claims the distinction of having cooked dinner for "Abe" Lincoln, the president who in 1862 issued the proclamation which led to the emancipation of slaves in this country. It is quite probable that Mrs. Godson may have had the privilege of serving President Lincoln, although allowances have to be made for the vagaries of memory in old age.

But whatever may be the length of her passage beyond the century mark, there is no doubt that "Grandma" Godson is a remarkable woman. Slightly crippled with rheumatism, she still retains her faculties and energy to an amazing degree, and her command of the English language is shown that she was able to follow with extraordinary interest and intelligence.

She is nimble enough to be able to stoop and pick a pin off the floor and would scorn the use of glasses for any purpose, her eyes being still keen enough to distinguish objects across the street. Her hearing is slightly impaired, but her speech still retains the soft Southern accent, and her frequent little chuckles, which age has not impaired her sense of humor.

Mrs. Godson's well-preserved physique is all the more amazing when it is considered that her life must necessarily have been a Spartan one. She has worked all through her life and until comparatively recently could do the chores with "the crotch of them," but now she will spend her declining years in comfort with relatives in this city, finding consolation for the passing years in old associations in the twilight of memories, and in the thought, to use her own words, that "The Good Lord must still have some use for me or I wouldn't be here."

WINTER SERIES OF DRAMATOLOGUES OPEN

Impressions of "Chauve-Souris" Feature of Delightful Programme

The series of dramalogues which proved such a successful feature of last Winter were resumed yesterday afternoon at the Empress Hotel when the first of the season drew a large and interested audience. Major Bullock-Webster in a brief speech welcomed the audience and thanked them for their support of his efforts to encourage an interest in the best literature and the dramatic arts.

The programme opened with an introduction and analysis of "The Cornwell" by Capt. Thorpe-Double, R.N., followed by the reading of the play by Mrs. Guy Goddard and Major Bullock-Webster, both interpreting Bullock-Webster, both interpreting the beautiful old legend with sympathy and dramatic force. The interpretation of chants arranged by Miss Barbara Gibson and sung by Mrs. A. J. Gibson at the piano, enhanced the quaint character of the production.

A brilliant impression of "Chauve Souris," the Russian production, was given by Miss Marjorie Lane, whose happy gift of expression brought vividly before her hearers a convincing picture of the company.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24

An active and fortunate day is forecast from the prevailing stellar operations, but good management should be exercised in order to bring forth the most propitious conditions. Changes or travel of importance would nullify the most favorable aspects and there should be the desire to remain calm. Under the excellent Jupiter figure there should be growth in business and increase of money, especially in those connections having to do with publishing, writings or contracts.

Those whose birthday it is have the forecast of a prosperous and gratifying year, with the fulfillment of many ambitions and desires, but they may well refrain from radical change or travel. It is a good time for renewing contracts and pushing for more money. A child born on this day should be popular, ambitious, versatile and should rise in life through its own efforts. It will be generally fortunate in its undertakings, but must be well-trained.

STRIKE IS THREATENED AMONG CREWS OF N.Y.K. SHIPS IN NEW DISPUTE

Unrest Among Seamen of Japanese Line Indicated by Walk-out of Stewards of Liner Katori Maru at Yokohama To-day.

Spread of the N.Y.K. shore dispute to the men afloat, following the wholesale resignations of company officials on a question of company policy, is indicated by the latest information from Tokio on the situation.

A cable dispatch from the Japanese capital to-day points to the first sign of unrest among the ship crews as the stewards of the European liner Katori Maru are reported to have walked out.

The Katori Maru was formerly in the Yokohama-Victoria service of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, and is well known at North Pacific ports.

SAMUEL SEA IS CALLED TO LAST HAVEN OF REST

Had Many Experiences in South Seas; Lived Here Sixty-two Years

Another veteran of Victoria has passed in the death of Sunday if Samuel Sea, at the residence Burnside Road, at the age of eighty-seven years. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at St. Michael's, Royal Oak, where services will be conducted by Rev. A. L. Nixon at 2 o'clock. Interment will follow in St. Michael's cemetery.

Born at Sittingbourne, Kent, England, he was apprenticed as a ship-builder to carpenter leaving Chatham dockyard in 1862 in a sailing ship, the Silesia, which took 128 days around the Horn from Liverpool to Victoria.

A HOPEFUL TIME It was a time of high hope and sanguine ambition. The Cariboo excitement had succeeded to the torpor after the Fraser valley campaign, and the colony had not yet experienced those years of depression which made the path of Confederation a possibility.

RETURNED TO VICTORIA He built ships and traded in the South Seas for some years. Among those he built were the Woodside and Cambria, the former a steamer, the latter a schooner.

FAMILY OF FOUR Up until a few years ago he was still engaged in his avocation, turning farmer after abandoning the sea.

He was an adherent of the Church of England, and held membership in the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

In a town of Ohio a certain justice of the peace has to hear and judge cases, and also to perform marriage ceremonies. One day a couple came to him demanding to be married.

"Do you take this man to be your husband?" he asked the bride.

"And you," he continued, addressing the bridegroom, "what have you to say in your defence?"

SHIPS ON PACIFIC

At the present time the N.Y.K. maintains a fleet of eight steamships in the Victoria service. Whether or not this service will be affected by the dispute is a matter for conjecture.

The following cable was received from Tokio to-day: "The entire foreign organization of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha has been rendered virtually useless by more than 800 resignations, including those of foreign branch managers."

Every foreign branch of the company has been affected excepting Shanghai, where the company officials are expected to resign shortly.

The first sign of the spread of internal unrest in the company's staffs came to-day with the reported walk-out of the stewards on the company's liner Katori Maru, now at Yokohama and scheduled to sail for London on Thursday.

It was precipitated by President Ito dismissing eleven employees of the company who signed a protest to the directors demanding the resignation of President Ito.

ITO'S DAUGHTER ABOARD President Ito's daughter is a passenger on board the N.Y.K. liner Yokohama Maru, which is due here tomorrow afternoon from Yokohama, according to information learned to-day by A. H. Hebb, local agent for the Great Northern Railway.

Yokohama Maru sails from Yokohama on September 14. She has one first-class and seven third-class passengers and 125 tons of freight for Victoria. There are also thirteen Sakamoto and seven third-class passengers bound to Seattle.

SAKAMOTO IN EAST Seattle, Sept. 23.—S. Sakamoto, Seattle manager of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, left Seattle September 5 for Montreal to attend a conference of the Oriental trade. He is still in the East, and no one at the Seattle office of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha could speak with authority concerning the dispatch from Tokio saying he has resigned.

Prof. R. S. Baker and Capt. Kirkwood returned to Victoria yesterday afternoon and brought back the big enclosed gasoline yacht of Prof. Baker which got into the equinoctial storm on Sunday at the islands and was nearly engulfed in the fifteen-foot waves.

The Sunday storm was so severe that Capt. Kirkwood and the two Kirkendales boys had to be brought back to Victoria by land. They were given every assistance in the storm by the Adventist brothers and sisters at Reethaven.

Prof. Baker found that his yacht was not injured, although he said he never expected to see it reach shore again when it was being buried in wave after wave.

COUNSEL PRESENT CROW'S NEST PASS DISCRIMINATION

Board's Decision to Raise Rates Limited by Agreement, Says Symington

S. B. Woods, K.C., Presents Case for Cities of Edmonton and Saskatoon

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—Accuracy of part at least of the argument of H. J. Symington, counsel for the prairie provinces in the Crow's Nest Pass case, was admitted before the railway commission this morning.

Mr. Symington had reiterated the railway position involved the necessity of a reversal of previous decisions of the board, and then was proceeding to argue that practices and recognized principles of jurisprudence had demanded the board should reverse its own decisions.

He had quoted several English cases in one of which the judge followed a previous decision, although he believed himself in support of his claim, and was going to cite further authorities when Chairman H. A. McKewen intervened and after conferring with his colleagues informed Symington it was unnecessary for him to argue that point further.

HELD UP AT YOKOHAMA BY STRIKE OF STEWARDS

George Monteth, of 215 Maitland Street, passed away at his home on Monday afternoon at 4:25 o'clock, following an illness of three months. The immediate cause of death was cancer of the liver.

Mr. Monteth came to Victoria from Maitland, Nova Scotia in 1889, and was engaged in his work as a shipwright in the yards of Esquimalt and the city, taking charge of the work on many of the larger boats built here.

There were other suggestions offered by the plaintiff lawyers, but all of them were passed by witness, who said that the greatest chance for safety that he had had was by pursuing the course he did.

Witness—"I couldn't do that. That would not have been possible. That was the attitude taken by Capt. Gosse."

To all appearances, and from the number of witnesses yet to hear from, the case in the Admiralty Court will continue for some time.

CONTRADICTORY EVIDENCE IN MAKING THE CANAL. The conflicting evidence in the Admiralty Court to-day, sitting before Mr. Justice Martin, was taken up by cross-examination of Capt. J. Gosse, of Victoria, who gave evidence bearing upon the damage action brought by the owners of the Norwegian ship Augvold against the American ship Steel Scientist.

CAPT. J. GOSSE HEARD IN ADMIRALTY COURT CASE TO-DAY

Pilot of Steel Scientist at Time of Collision with Ss. Augvold, Gives Evidence To-day.

The greater part of the morning session of the Admiralty Court to-day, sitting before Mr. Justice Martin, was taken up by cross-examination of Capt. J. Gosse, of Victoria, who gave evidence bearing upon the damage action brought by the owners of the Norwegian ship Augvold against the American ship Steel Scientist.

Capt. Gosse is a pilot whose many years of experience in British Columbia coast waters have won him a reputation rarely attained, and his testimony carried considerable weight.

Martin Griffin conducted the case for the plaintiff, and his endless stream of questions, following up those of E. C. Mayers, for defendant, were trying for the witness.

Witness asserted that there was difficulty to be encountered no matter what he did in order to avoid the Augvold, but this did not appear so great until the Princess Ena blew three warning blasts and was sighted backing out into the harbor.

George Monteth, of 215 Maitland Street, passed away at his home on Monday afternoon at 4:25 o'clock, following an illness of three months. The immediate cause of death was cancer of the liver.

Mr. Monteth came to Victoria from Maitland, Nova Scotia in 1889, and was engaged in his work as a shipwright in the yards of Esquimalt and the city, taking charge of the work on many of the larger boats built here.

There were other suggestions offered by the plaintiff lawyers, but all of them were passed by witness, who said that the greatest chance for safety that he had had was by pursuing the course he did.

Witness—"I couldn't do that. That would not have been possible. That was the attitude taken by Capt. Gosse."

To all appearances, and from the number of witnesses yet to hear from, the case in the Admiralty Court will continue for some time.

CONTRADICTORY EVIDENCE IN MAKING THE CANAL. The conflicting evidence in the Admiralty Court to-day, sitting before Mr. Justice Martin, was taken up by cross-examination of Capt. J. Gosse, of Victoria, who gave evidence bearing upon the damage action brought by the owners of the Norwegian ship Augvold against the American ship Steel Scientist.

CAPT. J. GOSSE HEARD IN ADMIRALTY COURT CASE TO-DAY

Pilot of Steel Scientist at Time of Collision with Ss. Augvold, Gives Evidence To-day.

The greater part of the morning session of the Admiralty Court to-day, sitting before Mr. Justice Martin, was taken up by cross-examination of Capt. J. Gosse, of Victoria, who gave evidence bearing upon the damage action brought by the owners of the Norwegian ship Augvold against the American ship Steel Scientist.

Capt. Gosse is a pilot whose many years of experience in British Columbia coast waters have won him a reputation rarely attained, and his testimony carried considerable weight.

Martin Griffin conducted the case for the plaintiff, and his endless stream of questions, following up those of E. C. Mayers, for defendant, were trying for the witness.

Witness asserted that there was difficulty to be encountered no matter what he did in order to avoid the Augvold, but this did not appear so great until the Princess Ena blew three warning blasts and was sighted backing out into the harbor.

Supposedly Drowned Sailor Finds Wife Married

Two passenger ships of the Admiral Oriental Line, the President Jackson and President Madison, laden with passengers and products of the Orient, will arrive within a four-day period. It was learned from representatives of the company to-day.

There was a sequel in the divorce court, for Mrs. McCay not hearing from her husband and having read of his supposed death in a newspaper had married again. Mrs. McCay admitted that she had done the same and that he had been living in Norfolk Island and Australia for years.

The divorce judge thought that in the circumstances he should give a decree.

STEAMER LOST AND ALL HANDS PERISH

Australian Coaster Sailed But Never Returned; Captain's Body Found

Wellington, New Zealand, Sept. 22.—When the little coastal steamer Ripper with twenty and much livestock on board went out through Port Phillip Heads in the morning, it was thought she was in peril for she had faced many such. She never arrived at port. The wreckage was found on the beach, and the story. There was not a single survivor.

Labor members in Parliament complained that the radio receiver not having provided wireless for the steamer.

RADIO GOLF IS NOW LATEST AMUSEMENT

Novel Form of Entertainment Discovered by Society Leader

The modern hostess is never at a loss when unexpected guests arrive. She has a radio receiving set, and few guests cannot be entertained with radio. It is the hostess an opportunity to prepare other forms of amusement, but one of the most prominent social leaders has created quite a furore with her radio parties.

Invitations to these are eagerly sought. The unique use of the radio receiver might prove of interest to owners of loud speaker sets.

Tally cards are prepared as follows: Draw six lines lengthwise on a card about four inches wide by six inches long. At the top of the first column, place the dial number. In the second column, "City," "Dial No.," "Dial Two," "City," and last, "Time."

A radio map, showing the locations of the stations, takes up the card in addition to glass-head pins to be put in the map as the stations are heard by the dial number.

Prizes are given to the one receiving the greatest number of stations within five minutes' mileage. To the one failing to operate under the city, a "booby" prize is awarded.

THE RULES OF THE GAME are quite simple. The radio receiver is tuned to some station, with the loud speaker turned on, so those in the room may know it is functioning properly. Five minutes are allowed each station, and a record is kept of the stations and data connected with the stations brought in. The committee of three takes up the card, one operating the set in order that the next contestant cannot see the dial numbers and thus tune in to the same station with greater facility than the previous contestant.

Prizes are given to the one receiving the greatest number of stations within five minutes' mileage. To the one failing to operate under the city, a "booby" prize is awarded.

EXPLOSION SINKS SEATTLE TUGBOAT

Seattle, Sept. 23.—En route to Bremerton in tow of the tug Margaret, the tug Albion sunk Tuesday night when her 16,000-gallon oil tank exploded. Earlier her crew of two had been rescued off Poughkeepsie Bluff, Admiralty Inlet, and a fire on board apparently extinguished. The Albion was going to the salmon fishing banks when she caught fire. The Margaret was not injured.

Prof. R. S. Baker and Capt. Kirkwood returned to Victoria yesterday afternoon and brought back the big enclosed gasoline yacht of Prof. Baker which got into the equinoctial storm on Sunday at the islands and was nearly engulfed in the fifteen-foot waves.

Prof. Baker found that his yacht was not injured, although he said he never expected to see it reach shore again when it was being buried in wave after wave.

COUNSEL PRESENT CROW'S NEST PASS DISCRIMINATION

Board's Decision to Raise Rates Limited by Agreement, Says Symington

S. B. Woods, K.C., Presents Case for Cities of Edmonton and Saskatoon

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—Accuracy of part at least of the argument of H. J. Symington, counsel for the prairie provinces in the Crow's Nest Pass case, was admitted before the railway commission this morning.

Mr. Symington had reiterated the railway position involved the necessity of a reversal of previous decisions of the board, and then was proceeding to argue that practices and recognized principles of jurisprudence had demanded the board should reverse its own decisions.

He had quoted several English cases in one of which the judge followed a previous decision, although he believed himself in support of his claim, and was going to cite further authorities when Chairman H. A. McKewen intervened and after conferring with his colleagues informed Symington it was unnecessary for him to argue that point further.

JACK MINER

Poet, Preacher, Philosopher and Author

By THOMAS HAMMOND

"Jack" Miner is my topic. Do you know him? I doubt it. Like many of my readers, I have heard his name mentioned, but I have not met him. He is a philosopher and an author, and he has a soul attuned to nature.

He is not of the birds that I wish to comment in this letter, for my readers doubtless know more about "Jack" Miner's birds than they do about him.

It was evidently a pleasure for Mr. Miner to show us over his wonderful archway, and the same was true of the birds that he really cared for.

WORLD IS REACHING A REGENERATIVE ERA

Interesting Lecture on Ailments of Man Given by Dr. Dorchester, of Vancouver

For two thousand years the world has failed to read the lessons of Christ, and since the fall of man humanity has gradually lost those restorative and self-healing qualities which were its natural birthright, until humanity has reached a point where it is entirely dependent on extraneous sources of health according to a statement made by Dr. Dorchester last night during the course of the first of his three lectures that he will deliver in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce.

Although Christ fasted forty days and to do this we are going to step on the gas with both feet. Here's the proposition: With every sale of wax a pound or a ton—we are going to present a book free on the proper treatment of floors, woodwork and furniture. Wax and Book worth their weight in gold.

J. L. BECKWITH TELLS OF RECENT TOUR

Kiwanis Club Enjoys Summary of British and French Conditions

At today's luncheon of the Kiwanis Club at the Chamber of Commerce ex-Mayor J. L. Beckwith gave a resume of his recent trip to England and France, arriving at Vancouver he had noted less activity than had prevailed a quarter century ago, there was much unemployment and not the evidence of progress which he had expected.

Mr. Beckwith spent ten days in Scotland, only one being free from rain, but he toured sufficiently to be convinced of the beauties of the Scottish west coast.

WAR MEMORIALS

Edinburgh, Liverpool, Birmingham and Manchester were visited, and Mr. Beckwith noted that all communities are proud of the memorials to a prominent site in the business district to a beautiful memorial monument to the war dead. These were generally buried in fresh flowers.

At Wembley Fair he was impressed with the great range of the British exhibits in the industries and Machinery Buildings, but agreed that all Canadians are proud of the impression made by the Canadian group of buildings and displays housed therein.

THE BATTLEFIELDS

After a day in Paris Mr. Beckwith visited the battlefields and inspected the restored territories and the many beautiful memorials to the soldiers. The Big Bertha cannon captured by the Canadians is still preserved, while the Newfoundland Government has taken over a section of the trenches, fenced it off and has men working to maintain it as a practical reminder of what the fighting men had to endure.

MEMBERS WELCOMED

Over a dozen Kiwanians who have joined in the past year were formally welcomed to the club, Rev. Dr. Wilson giving a short and witty address in which he pointed out that if the newcomers did not find friends among the membership of the club, a certain amount of introspection was in order, as his own experience had been a warmth of fellowship among the clubmen. "If you do not put much in it is certain you take very little out. Attendance at the weekly luncheons is a permanent weekly appointment which should have priority over all other business," he advised.

MINING NEWS

DEVELOPMENT AT TRAIL

An eighteen months' construction programme at the Trail smelter is being put into force by the Canadian Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company. It includes 13 tons additional capacity for the lead refinery, a dressing and casting plant for the lead furnace, and additional roasters. A substantial increase in the zinc refinery is being made. Enlargement of the silver refinery is taking place and a plant installed in connection with it for recovering antimony.

MINING AMALGAMATION

An amalgamation of the operations of the New Hazelton Gold Cobalt Mines Limited, the De la Roche and Delta Mines on Roche Du Boule Mountain near New Hazelton is being planned states Nichol Thompson, of Vancouver.

Three properties have rich ore, including gold, cobalt and arsenic, but is has now become apparent that their operation can be most profitably and practically carried out by an amalgamation. A great deal would be saved especially as regards transportation.

Mr. Thompson indicated that it is the intention of the company consisting of Vancouver businessmen who control the Gold Cobalt Mine to continue development work thereon.

ORE SHIPMENTS

The Hudson Bay mine, at Selmo, shipped for the first time this year to Trail smelter, during the week ending September 7.

The Selmo thought, at Silverton, the Rambler-Cariboo, at Rambler, and the Cork-Province, at Zwicky, which have been shipping lead ore here all year, each made the shipment of zinc for the year during the past week. GOLD FROM BLACK SAND

The plant being installed at Massett by the P. E. C. Mining Limited for the extraction of gold from the black sands is almost completed and should be running in about three weeks' time, stated Herman Block of Vancouver, at Massett, in a dispatch to the Prince Rupert News. Mr. Block said he now had no doubt as to the ultimate success of the project. The plant now being completed will be capable of handling 150 tons of concentrates per day. It is the intention of the company in the very near future to extend its operations so as to handle 1,000 tons per day. There will be more than one plant. The pure gold will be shipped through Prince Rupert.

Some extraction work already being done at the company's smaller plant at Rose Spit but, not having official final returns, Mr. Block was not inclined to make a definite statement as to the results. There has been no gold shipped yet.

Most of the machinery has already been installed in the Massett Inlet plant. Mr. Block reported and the laboratory is incomplete. D. S. Willemar, formerly of Hazelton, is manager at Massett as well as assayer and chemist. C. T. Cabrera is in charge at Rose Spit.

A combined meeting of Wards Four and Five, respectively, will be held at the long evening right from the start. Large range of coverings.

IS NOW WORKING AT FULL CAPACITY; JORDAN RIVER POWER HOUSE

Surprising results followed Sunday and Monday's storm at Jordan River, which in forty-eight hours' rain added forty feet in the main reservoir in the Bear Creek reservoir. It began raining about 6 o'clock Sunday morning and continued until this morning. On Sunday evening the steam plant at Brentwood was shut down, and there is now an abundance of water for hydro-electric energy after a long period of shortage at Jordan River, which recently required the use of the auxiliary steam plant at Brentwood.

STAGES WRECKED REHABILITATION OF SAANICH LINE

Company Shows That Heavy Loss on Operation and Investment Has Occurred

Exclusive of the loss on operation in the past seven years of over $350,000, apart from no return on investment, the Saanich Interurban Line has been steadily losing money, according to the official organ of the B.C. Electric Railway here.

After reviewing the agitation for an electric railway on the peninsula, and the construction of the line which was opened in June, 1913, the statement issued yesterday says: "Instead of traffic picking up after the war, it remains very much as before, and has been steadily dwindling ever since. The loss on operation alone has amounted to over $350,000, and this does not include any return on the investment whatsoever."

"One of the chief reasons for the decrease in travel is the many miles of good paved roads in sections of the peninsula, the increasing number of privately owned automobiles, and the motor stages and jitneys running in competition with the interurban line. It must be remembered that when the line was first opened there were no paved roads in the district, which meant that the operation of motor stages would have been impossible, or at least at a cost that would have been prohibitive. This is a mere statement of fact, and is in no way intended as a criticism of the different motor stages that now are, or have been in operation."

"As to the efforts made to keep the line in operation, fares have been reduced several times in the hope of stimulating the volume of travel; publicity has been given the several resorts along the peninsula—Brentwood, Experimental Farm, the Observatory, Deep Bay—with the object of attracting travel. While this met with a certain amount of success, it never reached sufficiently large proportions to be profitable."

"Just recently a bold step was taken, and one that was unique in the annals of Canadian interurban electric railway experience—the conversion of the system from two to one-man operation."

"Beyond proving the possibility of operating an interurban line with one-man cars safely and efficiently, it did not achieve the desired results."

"More recently still, in the hope of stimulating travel, a thorough trial was given the weekly pass system. The general features of these passes were well known and need not be described at this time. While they were in use the number of passengers carried did show a slight increase, but there was no corresponding increase in the revenue."

TO BUILD LARGER COOPERAGE PLANT

Plans for the reconstruction of its big plant in Esquimalt, which was destroyed by fire a short time ago, were announced by the Canadian Western Coopers, Limited, last night. The new plant will have a capacity of fifty per cent, greater than that of its predecessor.

Negotiations for a new and larger site for the plant are being carried on now. W. W. Eastman, local manager, stated. The old site, he said, was not large enough to accommodate the company's growing business. Construction, he added, would commence next month.

Would Hunt Hair Seals and Sea Lions On West Coast

Inquiries have been received from an Ontario manufacturer who wants data with regard to a suitable location to hunt hair seals and sea lions on Vancouver Island.

The inquiry comes through W. A. McAdam, of the Agent-General's office in London to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, and from what the letter says, the inquiry seems anxious to start in business as soon as possible.

He desires to see an opportunity also prevail for the growing of oil plants adjacent to his industrial undertaking, and suggests that the location should be on the West Coast.

Day of Jazz Over; German Hangs by Strap of Bass Drum

Berlin, Sept. 23.—The days of jazz music are gone and as there is nothing else to do I have decided to hang myself. I was the farewell words of Kurt Kranzier, bass drummer in a Berlin jazz band. Kranzier was discharged because he persisted in dominating bands performances by too lusty an application of his drumstick and cymbals. He was found hanging by a strap taken from his bass drum from a tree in Grunewald.

TO THE ladies of the quilt, bless 'em! Month in and month out, they top the men in the list of best sellers. As witness the present month—"So Big" by Edna Ferber at the head, followed in order by Margaret Wilson's "The Able McLaughlins," Rose Macaulay's "Told by an Idiot" and Dorothy Canfield's "The Home-Maker."

Ferdy Marks gains fifth place by "The Interpreter's House," by Struthers Burt; "Old New York," by Edith Wharton; "The Call of the Canyon," by Zane Grey; "Heirs Apparent," by Philip Gibbs, and "Lammox," by Fannie Hurst.

Frank Parker Stockbridge in "The Bookman" is moved to headlines over the missing Edward Bok's autobiography from the list of non-fiction and Gertrude Atherton's "Black Oxen" from the fiction list.

Bok's autobiography has been in the list of non-fiction best sellers since late in 1920. H. G. Wells' "Outline of History" is in its fifth year in the list. The other best sellers in that classification are "Life of Christ," by Papini; "My Garden of Memory," by Kate Douglas Wiggin; "The Heart of the Matter," by Edith Wharton; "The Dance of Life," by Havelock Ellis; "Etiquette," by Emily Post; "Galapagos; World's End," by William Beebe; "Tight Off the Chest," by Nellie Revel; "The Outline of Literature," by John Drinkwater, and "The New Decalogue of Science," by Albert Edward Wiggam.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

From a pen that has written such a book as "Certain People of Importance" more is expected than is found in Kathleen Norris' latest work, "Rose of the World."

The characters are unreal and the theme an old one. Rosalind Kirby and the son of her employer, Jack Talbot, love each other, but, to please his mother, young Talbot marries a girl of his own social standing, leaving Rose to find what solace she can with Clyde Blairbridge, manager and shareholder in the Talbot Iron Works.

Both marriages are failures, and the story drags along with each trying (with almost too saint-like an effort) to make the best of their seemingly blasted lives, until it is Blaire who is the one who is disappointed.

Rose's husband, who is too impossibly brutal, starts out to make things uncomfortable for Jack, but is pushed over the cliff on which his house stands.

Miss Norris ensures her "happy ending" by having Jack's wife, Edith, die the same night, leaving the lovers in each others' arms—the dead wife still upstairs.

For those preferring the fast pace of a well-complicated mystery tale there comes in this week's book bundle, "Humdrum House" (Little, Brown), by Maximilian Foster.

The story is written in the tempo to which magazine serials are generally set and is guaranteed to send the reader to bed at 2 o'clock in the morning.

MUSICAL NOTES

(By George J. Dyke)

Whilst the number of music-lovers is constantly increasing there is always much to do to interest the general public in concerts. Efficiency, business-like methods, and a willing press publicity are not at all as far as can be judged locally. It is the question that more and more is being asked that more emphasis be placed on the value of music to the community by all local social organizations and the individual citizen. The success of a visiting artist can only redound to the credit of that community in which the artist appears. Co-ordination in all things would be a splendid motto these days for all those living in the capital city.

Such folk-songs as the Essex "Buses and Briers," the Hampshire "Willow," the Somerset "Crystal Spring," "Tarry Trouser," "Swallow's Town," the Devonshire "Widdicombe Fair," are beautiful and fragrant flowers of song.

It is joyfully noted that Ottawa is to have grand opera during the coming season. This week will witness in Quebec's capital Puccini's "Tosca" and Bizet's "Carmen," and through some happy arrangements with the Ottawa Auditorium Company, moderate prices will be in the highest seat not exceeding a dollar and a half. This auditorium has a large seating capacity, and in consequence popular prices will be in vogue, thus saving the pockets of all people and bringing grand opera to their very doors.

London, Ontario, has like Victoria, a very active Ladies' Musical Club. Its president, Mrs. R. E. Davis, has just announced on similar lines of our local club many ambitious programmes, including several students' recitals. Its population is 50,000. Both Montreal and Ottawa have Ladies' Morning Musical Clubs. Quebec, Regina, Saskatoon, Toronto, Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary and Brantford all have Ladies' Musical Clubs, and in most cases judging from their many announcements will be particularly active in their different spheres during the winter season.

Musical America has gathered an expression of opinion from its readers and gives the following reasons why Americans don't sing:—

Moving pictures—This silent medium, to judge from many denunciations, is the arch enemy of song.

Vaudeville—Another distracting factor.

Phonograph and Radio—Letting the mechanism "sing."

Dances—Rhythms more popular than those of the staid oratorios here hold sway.

Motoring, Golfing and other sports. The real values of choral music lie not in listening to them, but in taking part in them. I am disposed to think that from now on, with the huge impetus in improved music instruction being given to the rising generation in all public schools, musical conditions in this direction particularly will witness a vast improvement in the future.

WOULD BREAK OFF ALL NEGOTIATIONS ON ANGLO-RUSSIAN PACT

Moscow, Sept. 23.—The noted economist, Milutin, writing in Pravda, declared the time has come to break off all negotiations connected with the claims of British financiers regarding the Anglo-Russian Treaty. He stated that the British Government in signing the treaty did only so in formal fulfillment of the Labor Party's election pledges, and declares the real policy of the MacDonald Ministry differs not much from that of Lord Curzon's.

BORRY THEY SPOKE

Few American visitors to London fail to have a look at No. 19 Downing Street, the plain, unpretentious appearance of which usually surprises them.

Two men from New York were examining the exterior of the house the other day and indulging in picturesque but disparaging criticism.

Outside stood a car, the appearance of which was quite in keeping with that of the house.

"What a place for a Prime Minister!" one of them exclaimed. "And as for that car—well, I reckon it would pass any day of the week for a second-hand hearse."

At this moment a well-groomed man emerged from No. 10, entered the car, and drove off.

"Say, who was that guy?" asked the other American of a policeman standing by.

"The American Ambassador," answered the constable.

Walt Johnson Keeps Washington Out In Front, Beating Sox

Yankees Also Win But Are Still Two Games in Rear of Hustling Senators

Brooklyn Spears Cubs in Twelfth Inning and Land in Almost Tie With Giants

New York, Sept. 23.—Young Loch-invar, swinging a baseball mallet, rode into the Polo Grounds today to seek his pennant bride. A feast has long been in preparation in the East, where the maid has spread her smiles between Brooklyn and New York.

From out of the West the young warrior came to defeat Brooklyn and its champion, Ducky Vance. To-day the Giants, warned of his strength, fight to retain their prize as the jobbers seek to restore damaged hopes at the expense of Chicago.

Pittsburg is one and one-half games behind New York, which leads Brooklyn by one point following the 2-to-1 Robby victory over the Cubs yesterday. The Giants and Pittsburg were prevented from playing by rain.

Washington is preparing for its capitol city of baseball if the Senators maintain their two-game lead over the once mighty champions of the world, the Yankees, now hobbling home from Detroit on aged legs, victims of the jungle.

Both aspirants in the American won yesterday, New York whipping the Indians 10 to 4 and Washington beating Chicago 8 to 3, but the Yankees face the heartless task of gaining two games on the Senators with only six left to play.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Walter Johnson added another win to his string yesterday and five more strikeouts when the Senators won from the White Sox 8-3. Chicago was allowed seven hits. A slick run ramage in the seventh inning by Washington came from as many bunched blows off Cvevros and sent him to the showers.

The Chicago clan began scoring early. The nicking Johnson for two runs in the first inning. Johnson steadied though and ended the inning by striking out Falk and Kamm. This feat was his 151th of the season. Washington got underway in the third with one run. The Sox got another run in the fifth, which finished their scoring for the night.

Washington got underway in the sixth through the winners' total up to eight.

Washington 8, H. E. Chicago 3, R. H. Batteries—Johnson and Ruel; Cvevros and Grouse.

YANKS KEEP IN RACE

Cleveland, Sept. 23.—The Yanks refused to be counted out in the American League flag race in the first game of the series with the Indians, winning 10 to 4. It was a nip and tuck pitching battle between Covelick and Rush until the ninth when the Yankees weakened, the Yanks scoring five runs. Wally Pipp was the outstanding star at bat with two doubles and a triple. His second double cleared the bases in the ninth.

New York 10, Cleveland 4. Batteries—Bush and Bengough; Covelick and Sewell.

REGO GOES OUT OF GAME

St. Louis, Sept. 23.—Seven errors, six by recruits, aided the Athletics in a 9 to 7 victory over the Browns yesterday. Five walks and two balls were added to the hurler's log, however, as the victory advanced them another game over the Indians in their race for fifth place. Rego was put out of the game for objecting to a decision at the plate by Ormsby in the seventh inning.

St. Louis 9, Philadelphia 7. Batteries—Burns, Meeker and Perkins; Grant, Lyons, Beck and Rego, Dreggy, Collins.

Trihey May Play With Saskatoon, Dame Rumor Says

Montreal, Sept. 23.—It is understood that there is considerable signing up of new players not only on the part of N.H.L. owners but also by Western managers who happen to be here at the present time.

It is reported on the best authority that "Newby" Lalonde, former captain of the Canadiens and now playing manager of the Saskatoon Sheikhs of the Western Canada League, has hopes of signing up two players, one of them a Montreal man.

"Newby" would not say who the local player is, but it is understood that it is none other than Clem Trihey who turned professional last year and played with Lester Patrick's Victoria Cougars. Trihey is back in Montreal this summer and is said to have been approached by Lalonde.

"Newby" admits that he already has "Bunny" Cooke of the Saulte Ste. Marie Greyhounds, finalists last year for the Allan Cup.

Another Western manager is coming this month or early next month, according to word received here. This is Lester Patrick, who will see what new material he can pick up "Down East."

Junior Soccer Is In For Big Year Officials State

Amendments to Constitution Carried; Entries For B.C. Title in by October 15

Vancouver, Sept. 23.—At a meeting of the executive of the B.C. Junior Football Association, held over the week-end it was announced that amendments to the constitution, on which a mail vote was taken, had been carried. The Association is now the highest body of appeal for junior clubs in this Province. The cup rules for the provincial series are now being amended in accordance with the vote so that it will be possible for two clubs in any one district to participate in the final game.

Entries for the Provincial Cup will be received by Secretary Richardson, at 559 Commercial Drive, Vancouver, until September 28, 1924.

October 15. The entry fee is $1.00, and clubs wishing to take part in the series should send in their entries in such a form as to be received by October 15.

It was also decided at the meeting that October 15 be the closing date for the reinstatement of senior players who wish to play in any cup.

Senior players wishing to become reinstated for league games only are at liberty to send in their applications for reinstatement until February 28.

METHOD OF SIGNING

Junior clubs are asked to take notice that they cannot play juvenile players until they have approached the governing clubs for whom these players are signed, and obtained from them the necessary consent and release. A working arrangement is expected to be made among all clubs in the course of the next few days.

Reports handed in at the meeting indicate a big year for junior soccer. Gold medals were forwarded to the winners of the Provincial series of last season and should there be no mishap, the executive hopes to provide silver medals also, for the runners up this year.

How They Stand

Table with columns: NATIONAL LEAGUE, AMERICAN LEAGUE, PACIFIC COAST, INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE. Lists teams and their records.

Raids By Seniors Are Frowned On By Intermediate Loop

Senior Rugby Teams Are to be Told to Leave Intermediate Alone in Future

Six Teams Will Compete For Heyland Cup This Season, Which Opens October 11.

Hands off the intermediates. That's the ultimatum the Intermediate Rugby League is sending to their elder brethren who run the Victoria Rugby Union.

The intermediates handle their own game and they want to be left alone. Last year the senior teams kept raiding the ranks of the intermediates to keep their teams at full strength and this not only made it difficult for the intermediates to field teams but also interfered with the status of the players.

This year no intermediate player will be allowed to participate in more than two senior games without losing his standing. If he breaks this rule he will have to appear before the intermediate officers and explain himself and, if in the wisdom of the powers that be the error was unavoidable, reinstatement may be ordered.

WILL HAVE GOOD LEAGUE. The intermediates want to run a good league this season. Six clubs have entered which show that great interest is being taken in the game by the youngsters.

Besides the clubs that competed last year there will be two new faces, the Navy and Victoria College. The college was anxious to gain a berth last year but applied too late. The other clubs that will play this year will be the Oak Bay Wanderers, who won the championship last year; the J.B.A., runners-up last year; Brentwood and Normal School.

In order that the intermediate teams may be kept at full strength the league is determined to see that the seniors leave them alone. Last year when the seniors found it impossible to get fifteen of their regulars out they immediately cast longing eyes on their intermediates and threw them into the gap. This meant that the intermediates, playing the same day, had to get along as best they could with a weakened considerably because the seniors took the best players and the poorest. This year when the seniors find it impossible to field their full team they will have to forget their intermediate teams.

SEASON OPENS OCTOBER 11. Arrangements were made at the meeting of the Intermediate League last night to open the season on October 11 with two games. The schedule for the first half of the season was drafted.

The intermediates have decided to get in some stiff training before the season opens and all clubs will be called out on Saturday afternoon. Some of the clubs have already put in a little practice.

The grounds to be used this year by the intermediates will be the Carlton Grounds, Brentwood College, University School and Cranmore Road.

The schedule for the first half of the league is as follows, the home team being the first mentioned in each game.

October 11—Navy vs. Victoria College, J.B.A. vs. Oak Bay Wanderers, Normal School vs. Brentwood College.

October 18—Brentwood College vs. Navy, Victoria College vs. J.B.A., Oak Bay Wanderers vs. Normal School.

October 25—Navy vs. Normal School, Brentwood College vs. J.B.A., A. A. Oak Bay Wanderers vs. Victoria College, J.B.A. vs. Navy, November 1—J.B.A. vs. Navy, Brentwood Wanderers vs. Brentwood College, Normal School vs. Oak Bay Wanderers.

Philadelphia, Sept. 23.—Bobby Jones of Atlanta and W. J. Thompson of Toronto were even after playing eighteen holes to-day in their thirty-six hole match in the first round National amateur golf tournament.

Philadelphia, Sept. 23.—The annual tournament for the national amateur golf championship entered the first round of match play to-day after 19 starters had been pruned down to thirty-six by a sensational 36-hole two-day qualifying test. Five British survived and one Canadian, W. T. Thompson, Toronto.

D. Clark Corkran, Huntington Valley, course record breaker on Saturday with a 67, yesterday won the medal in the qualifying play-off of the national amateur golf championship by turning in a 75 for a total of 142 strokes.

WON THE LAST PLACE. Rudy Knepper, Chicago, won the single-hole play-off for last place in the qualifying field. He got a birdie 3 with a ten-foot putt. Cyril Tolle, the Englishman, got a 5, leaving only three of the British in the match round play, beginning to-day. Dr. O. F. Willing of Portland got a par 4 on the hole, but it wasn't good enough. Joseph Coble, Philadelphia, and R. W. Martin, Chicago, also were in the play-off.

Corkran was very wild throughout the first nine holes yesterday. He admitted to a shoddy total of 42 at the turn and needed better than 35 for the remaining distance to beat Jones. But he did it with a 33.

On the inward journey Corkran's putting was nothing short of miraculous. His record of putts included a nine footer at the tenth, another in the twelfth, a 25 footer for a birdie two at the thirteenth, and a second hole-in-one at the sixteenth and a seven footer at the seventh and a four footer on the home green.

Chick Evans got a 76-77-153 and George Von Elm two 75's for a total of 150. C. J. Dunphy, Washington, D. C., had a natty 74 to place against Saturday's 77 for 151 and Ellsworth Augustus, Cleveland, a 74-75-150.

BRITISHERS FAIL. The British invaders fell upon evil ways, barring several exceptions. Tolley, their captain, again needed 19 strokes to complete his round yesterday and his total of 158 just let him off for last place in which he lost out.

The 77-77-154 of Bob Gardner put the Chicagoan safely in. H. Chandler Egan had a 77-79-156 and Dr. Willing a 77-81-158.

Two former American champions, Josh Sweeter and W. C. Fowner, Jr., passed out. Sweeter turned in a card of 79-81-150 while Fowner got an 84 yesterday, bringing his total to 161.

Wards Want to Get Back Into Senior Football Company

At a meeting to be held to-night members of the North Ward Football Club will make an effort to get back into the First Division from which they were ejected by the Lower Island Football Association last week.

The Wards will meet in the Metropolis Club at 8 o'clock and see what steps can be taken. The Wards contend that they had one of the best teams in the city last year, winning the Combination League and being runners-up in the Jackson Cup series.

Discovers Art Of Champion Golfers With Speed Camera

G. W. Beldham Explores Secret of Golf Swing With Aid of Ultra-rapid Machine

George W. Beldham, who for years has been exploring the secret of the golf swing, principally by photography, has by means of the ultra-rapid camera—250 separate pictures clear and distinct, pass the lens in one second—discovered what he is convinced is the art of the world's champion golfer. Writing in the London Daily Telegraph, George W. Beldham says by his valuable contribution to the unravelling of the most mysterious of the world's sports, he has "exploded" the centuries old teaching that the initial movement of the swing comes from the hands.

Photography clearly showed that the club in the backward swing. Duncan had a glimmering of the idea when, a year or so ago, as a result of a close study of the slow motion films, he started the golfer by declaring that the hands, and not the clubhead, as was popularly supposed, did the leading.

Photography clearly showed that while the clubhead remained more or less stationary behind the ball, the hands had moved backwards from six to nine inches. Duncan leaves no doubt in his mind that the golfer when he said that the whole complex movement of the swing was started by a push of the left shoulder. He was partly right, but the essentials escaped him. At that time it was a doctrine practised rather than preached; in fact, it was regarded as too dangerous for golfing babes and sucklings, and that in the rearing stage, at any rate, they should know nothing about it.

TELL IT TO EVERYONE. There was no earthly reason why "hands leading" should remain a doctrine for champions only. If it were the countless thousands of men and women who, from one year to another toll laboriously with little or no success, the left shoulder. He was proclaimed with a clarion voice. In the "solving of the riddle" Mr. Beldham has alighted upon a new word as applied to golfing. Everything is dominated to the application of the fall, an implement used by farmers for threshing grain from the ear before machinery took its place. The new word is "fall." The "key hole" to what he terms the "new light," as disclosed by the champions in a series of accompanying books, is the anatomical finger of a man holding a driver in the fingers of the left hand and it looks as if he had stumbled unwittingly upon some medical treatise, but perhaps of the subsequent skeleton man in order to display more convincingly the movements of the human body from the anatomical standpoint. The new word of "fall" as applied to the human machine. The falling movement is written all over the pictures of those famous golfers—Hagen, Mitchell, Roger, Wood and others. Miss Joyce Wertheimer, Sara Havers—each of whom has a book to himself or herself, with the most wonderful set of photographs (as far as a single golf stroke from the address to the finish of the swing, when the ball is hurtling on its journey, ever published.

Will Make Efforts To Revive Interest in Golf Competition

Seattle, Sept. 23.—What is to become of the Punch Bowl competition? The local golfers do not need to be reminded of the fact that competition for this splendid trophy did not this year reach the level it had attained in other years. It has already been decided that the annual meeting of the P.N.G.A. here October 4 will, apart from the main meeting, discuss the Punch Bowl and what is to be done with it.

Hockey Tourists Begin Migrating Across the Border

Calgary, Sept. 23.—"Tiny" Thompson and Johnny Loucks, well-known Calgary athletes, left yesterday for Duluth, Minn., where they will play amateur hockey during the 1924-25 season. These youngsters, as well as Herbie Lewis, who is already in Duluth, have been guaranteed excellent positions.

Thompson is a product of school hockey in this city and as a member of the Bellevue Club last winter was considered the leading goalkeeper in amateur hockey in the West.

Loucks also learned his hockey in Calgary and was a star with the champion junior Canadians last winter. Johnny Mitchell and Ruben Brantford, products of Selkirk, Man., who were in the Western Canada League, are also in Duluth. Donie Dewar, another Calgary boy who was with Bellevue last winter, has located in Minneapolis, where he will endeavor to show the American fans a few stunts in speed skating in hockey.

Carpentier Beaten Up by Garage Man on His Return to Paris Paris, Sept. 23.—Georges Carpentier, shortly after his return to France, lost another battle concerning which there was absolutely no public interest, and as to the result of which strenuous attempts had been made to preserve secrecy. Georges' opponent was a garage attendant and the fight was a combination of Marquis of Queensbury rules and touch-as-touch-can rugby. The boxer entered the garage in a great hurry and ordered the attendant to take his machine to the second floor in an elevator. Such work not being a part of his particular duties, this free-born French citizen refused. Carpentier renewed his instructions somewhat roughly, and when the attendant persisted in his refusal, he made some remarks about "fresh war profiteer." Georges swung his famous right. It didn't land, for the garage

THRILL A SECOND IN WILLIAM FOX'S
NEW MELODRAMA

"The Cyclone Rider," which opened at the Capitol Theatre last night for a six day run, is an incomparable thriller. By the same author and producer, Lincoln J. Carter and William Fox, respectively, who last year were responsible for "The Arizona Express" and "The Eleventh Hour." It safely clinches their right to claim the leadership in turning out melodramas with a "kick."
 There is "punch" in every foot in "The Cyclone Rider." The first night audience, it seemed, held their breath throughout the showing, for the spontaneous applause that greeted the final thrill fairly shook the theatre.
 Lincoln J. Carter again proves his right to be called the "King of Melodramas." How he imagined all the thrilling action contained in this picture is a mystery. And he never insults your intelligence. With all the ingeniousness of his plots, he is logical.
 Thomas Buckingham deserves the highest praise for his directing. He seems to be the only director who can take these melodramas and make them into a thrilling, fascinating, logical picture. The scenario is also by Mr. Buckingham.
 Featured in this picture are Evelyn Brent, Reed Howes, Charles Conklin and Alma Bennett. Reed Howes is the villain, who is also a sultor for Doris' hand, gives an excellent piece of character acting, and Charles Conklin, as Groves, is a funny and lovable darkey who acts as Jim's mechanic.
 The plot of the picture centres around Doris' father's demand that Jim show him $5,000 of his own money in ten days if he wants to continue as a welcome visitor around their house. An automobile race with the desired amount of money as first prize is on tap the day Jim's time for getting the money is up. He enters and, foiling the villain, who knows of the arrangement, at every turn, and they are many, gets to the starting point, has the race almost won, when a baby wanders across the track. Then comes the biggest thrill.

"MONTMARTRE" IS DRAMA ADAPTED FROM "THE FLAME"

Petty jealousies find little encouragement among the artists who made the latest Ernest Lubitsch production for Paramount, "Montmartre," starring Pola Negri, which is showing at the Columbia Theatre to-day.
 While the cast for the picture was being gathered together, the casting director eagerly wished to engage one of the best light opera stars in Europe to play an important but subordinate role to that of the star. After much hesitation he sent for Hilda Wosner. She had been playing the leading role in one of the popular operettas.
 With much difficulty the casting director popped the momentous question. A full-faced smile from the delighted singer was his reward. "Why not?" she replied. "An artist is an artist, and there is enough chance in any role for a good performance. What more can one desire?"
 "Montmartre" is a romantic drama, adapted to the screen from the original play, "The Flame."

"MONNA VANNA" Wins Praise From Critical Reviewers

"Monna Vanna," Maurice Maeterlinck's drama which now has been made into a photoplay, was acclaimed by the press as a stupendous production when it was first shown on the dramatic stage in New York. William Fox is presenting the screen version of this spectacular love story at the Coliseum Theatre.
 "The play is one that will have to be seen by all lovers of the drama," said the New York Daily News. The New York Herald declared that the "whole performance was artistic in its completeness of detail." Included in the New York Sun review was the following: "Aided by the beauty of the scenery and the richness of the costumes, the result was an imaginative and atmospheric realism that has never been surpassed on our stage and seldom or never equalled."

"BABBITT" IS WARNER BROTHERS' CLASSIC ON PLAYHOUSE SCREEN

From the superb performance in that superb classic "Don Brummel," Willard Louis grabs fame again, this time in playing "Babbitt" in the adaptation of Sinclair Lewis' book. Already the sale of this novel has provided a wide audience waiting outside the theatre to crowd in and laugh at poor "fat Babbitt," who is a clown outside but with the soul of a poet. And Willard Louis plays it with the double psychology.
 He burst into fame over night through his work with John Barrymore, but like all the sudden successes, there has been noteworthy work before. The New York stage has known him very well, for he played under the management of the Shuberts and Savoy and others of the first rank. And for several years the screen has claimed him. But delicate as the carvings on the snuffboxes around him was his characterization of Brummel's "fat friend."
 But this rise to fame is only another of the Aladdin tales of Hollywood, the madhouse of "Obscure to-night, famous to-morrow."
 "Babbitt" is a Warner Brothers classic and is now being shown at the Playhouse Theatre.

"THE ALASKAN" IS POPULAR STORY NOW AT DOMINION

Green valleys crowded with forests of pine, mountain ranges whose peaks are eternally white with snow, colorful glaciers and swift-rushing rivers—against this picturesque and scenically beautiful background, "The Alaskan," Herbert Brenon's production of Willard Louis' Goldbeck adaptation of James Oliver Curwood's powerful romance of the northwest, unfolds its dramatic dramatic story of Alaska—America's last frontier. The local premiere of this Paramount picture took place last night at the Dominion Theatre.
 Thomas Meighan is "The Alaskan." As "Alan Holt," the hero, Meighan has a role which is ideal for him. As you watch the unrelenting of this screen play, you understand why America's favorite male star holds such an eminent position in the hearts of millions of film fans. His performance is one of the outstanding features of this remarkable photoplay because he has taken the role and made it his own.
 "The Alaskan" is a story of the battles of pioneers in a savage land with stubborn nature and it melts into the story of a battle which the second generation fights with financial fogues more relentless than those their fathers met and conquered. This second generation, the men of to-day are the true Alaskans.
 From star to finish the picture is crowded with exciting action, thrilling incidents and provoking mystery. Right from the opening of the film when there flashes before your eyes a sweeping picture of the wild rush scenes of the late nineties down to the final crashing finish that shows Meighan in a hand-to-hand struggle with his most hated enemy, the photoplay grips the interest like a vise. Estelle Taylor is seen as the mysterious girl who plays such a stirring part in Meighan's fortunes. Featured with Miss Taylor in Meighan's support are John Salpinolis, Charles Ogle, Frank Campeau and Anna May Wong, all of whom offer able characterizations.

The Canadian Pacific Railway and The Canadian People

IN order that the people of Canada may have a clear understanding of the relation of the Canadian Pacific to the national interest and to the interest of the people individually, we have chosen the press of Canada as the medium through which to make a series of statements in which will be frankly told the story of the beginning and development of the road, and its services to Canada.

We believe the people of Canada will be interested in these statements. We believe when the people of Canada know and understand the relation of the Canadian Pacific to the country that the company will continue to receive its due measure of esteem and public confidence. The Canadian Pacific frankly desires this esteem and confidence because it is good business for a great corporation to be on terms of good will with its customers—the public.

Canada and the Canadian Pacific Railway must continue together the work of nation-building that was begun the day the C.P.R. commenced to fling its steel rails from coast to coast. This co-operation has been in the nature of a great partnership for the advancement of mutual interests.

It is one of the proudest pages of Canadian Pacific history that no government, no province, no community has ever lost a dollar through this national partnership. The record of the railway for forty years reveals one unbroken course of constructive achievement.

The creed of the Canadian Pacific has been to carry its own burdens, and to proceed with cautious and well-measured plans for the steady, forward march of its own and the national progress. Exploitation is unknown in its annals, despite the tremendous difficulties of financing in the lean eighties. For every dollar received from the nation, the Canadian Pacific has contributed an abundant dividend in national progress.

The partnership of mutual advancement must remain unbroken. It must not be weakened nor jeopardized by misunderstanding or lack of knowledge of the facts, so that the Canadian Pacific may continue to do its full share toward the greater development of Canada, as it has so abundantly proven its ability to do in the past.

The Canadian Pacific asks only to be judged by its past record and to be measured only by the service it renders. It makes no appeal for business on grounds of sentiment, but, confronted by such appeals, it does ask that its national significance, its record as a nation-builder and its world-wide services to Canada, be remembered.

W. J. Leahy
 Chairman and President.

THEIR FATHERS ARE FAMOUS—Children of famous parents gathered at a picnic at the Great Neck, Long Island, home of Thomas Meighan. The youngsters behind Mr. Meighan's chair are James and Philip Treux, sons of Ernest Treux. On Meighan's right knee is Lester Bejon and the young lady registering intense interest at his left is little Lorraine Warner, daughter of Henry B. Warner. The lad at the right blowing up his balloon is Jack Hazard Jr., son of the comedian.

WHERE LEOPOLD STUDIES NOW—Nathan F. Leopold Jr. and Richard A. Loeb, "super-intellects," are back at their studies again—but not in university classrooms and law libraries. This is the kind of a classroom they have now. They are learning trades. Here is the chair factory at Joliet penitentiary. Leopold is working there. Loeb has been assigned to a different sort of work. They were separated soon after their arrival at the prison.

A NARROW ESCAPE—A section of an oil tank was hurled through the air for several hundred feet in the fire that destroyed the palatial Great Lakes steamer South American at Holland, Mich. It went through a house at Montella Park. "Buddy" Morrill, six, entered the building just as the tank crashed through, but he escaped injury.

NO LONGER A POOR SHOPGIRL—Once upon a time not so very long ago, Edmonde Guy was a poor shopgirl in the Montmartre district of Paris. But she became known far and wide for her beauty, and she was offered a stage career. Then, recently, she won 100,000 francs at the Deauville baccarat table.

LOSES JEWELS—The life of a hostess certainly is filled with worry. Take Mrs. Joshua S. Couden of Sands Point, L.I., for instance. Burglars got away with jewelry worth $250,000 belonging to her guest, Lady Mountbatten, countess of the Prince of Wales. But Mrs. Couden lost a lot of hers, too. Her personal loss may reach $35,000, detectives say.

EVER SEE A WHITE ROBIN?—White robins are few and far between. Only about one out of every 10,000 robins turns out to be this color, say ornithologists. And here is one. Lillian Jones of Circleville, O., has sent it to the Cincinnati Zoological Gardens.

HER SLAVERY ENDED—A tale of modern slavery was unfolded in the Federal court in Buffalo, N.Y., when Mrs. Maria Gualtieri appeared against her husband and his second wife. The second wife had kept her prisoner behind barred doors in a little room above her husband's soft drink establishment, Mrs. Gualtieri said. Only her two children (shown with her above) were allowed to visit her during six months. One day she dropped a note out the window. A pedestrian found it and turned it over to police. The husband, despite his first wife's willingness for a reunion, has been deported.

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

SHARP RALLY THROUGHOUT LIST

New York, N.Y., Sept. 23. (By R. P. Clark & Co., Ltd.)—There was an increase in the turnover in today's session and the demand for stocks was more spirited than it has been in some time. In all departments of the list, price betterment was recorded. Oil, rails and the leading industrial issues were prominent in the development of the rising tendency. For several days of late specialties have been the centre of attention and some new high prices for the year were registered in numerous issues. There was another sharp bulge in wheat prices to-day and a rather sensational enhancement in cotton values. These were helpful factors of course. Several dispatches of overnight indicate a great amount of activity at cotton mill centres, and this also applies to the woolen line of business. Operations have been on the increase in the steel industry also in the tire line of endeavor and the conviction is growing that the unfavorable features confronting the oil industry are now at hand. The next development of importance in this basic line of endeavor will be constructive. In fact this attitude has been very apparent for a week or more and there is probably good reason therefore to assume that a short interest of fair sized proportions exist. There have been a goodly number of constructive happenings of late which have been somewhat ignored but we think the time has arrived when features of this kind in conjunction with more favorable prospective departments should lead to a broadening of activity on the bull side of the stock market.

DULL MARKET STOCKS TO-DAY

New York, Sept. 23. (By B.C. Bond Corporation)—The main body of stocks returned the market forward movement in today's session and dealt a body blow to those who were predicting a lower market until after election in November. Ever since the market started upward in June it has been taken for granted that prices were discounting the election of Coolidge, but many traders are awaiting the result of the Republican State convention at Rochester on Thursday to see what success the party leaders will have in maintaining conservatism. With steel operations gradually expanding; bank clearings running twenty-five per cent. ahead of last year, and car loadings above last year's unprecedented levels, the leading stocks refuse to pay any attention to political conditions. Cast Iron Pipe reached a record high at 110 1/2. This company's earnings are running at such a remarkable rate that those operating in the stock are becoming impatient over the restraint exercised upon Cast Iron Pipe by the irregularity of the general list. General Motors new stock moved up fractionally to 49 1/2. The shares have become an attractive speculative medium and the new stock is expected to take its place along with Steel, Can and Baldwin as an industrial leader. Lehigh Valley was the principal point of strength in the rails, attaining a high of 58 1/2, the best price reached since segregation of Lehigh Coal. Further buying in National Biscuit, which reached a record high at 77, in response to the expectation of an increase in the 4 1/2 dividend rate. Boston financiers are near the White Motors may pay forty per cent. stock dividend instead of increasing cash payments. Rumors persist that Cosden Oil soon will do new financing through a bond issue.

SHORTS COVER GRAINS

Chicago, Sept. 23. (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Wheat: After being turbulently strong early in the week, shorts turned around and disclosed a bare pit. Prices advanced rapidly and the old stubbling block for December at 134 did not much more than new high for market health for a minute. Apparently the real surprise of strength lies in foreign conditions, which are extremely serious. Cables have been relatively firm and to-day's advance reflected calm conditions in parts of the continent, with bad weather continuing. Export buying has taken up the slack in the market, apparently, and with prices up to a new high for this month this position looks strong. On any little setbacks the market will be well bought. Corn more than recovered early losses and the evening-up of trades on the decline in this market left the market in better technical position than it has been for some time. The cash market was weak early, but there were fair sale for shipment at 1,141,000 bushels. The general situation looks better at this level, but with weather the conditions which are now promised would be cautious about pressing the buying side, although the market generally speaking, is on debatable ground here and will be affected by the strength in corn grains. Oats—As in small grains, the market had a good break and in spite of the increase of 8,485,000 bushels in the visible, the market developed decided strength in late trade. The cash demand was slow and receipts heavy

FOREIGN DEMAND SHOOT'S GRAIN UP

Chicago, Sept. 23. (By B.C. Bond Corporation)—Unfavorable weather reports from France and the estimate that Italy's wheat crop would total only 118,000,000 bushels as against 224,000,000 bushels last year, coupled with a reiteration of France's probable out-turn of 277,000,000 bushels as against 182,000,000 bushels last year were the bullish influences in wheat and rye. The United States, visible at 80,819,000 bushels, the largest since 1919, but it is evident all this grain will be wanted in Canada's low yields. The strength in corn was due largely to sympathetic strength in wheat. The large increase in the visible supply weakened oats, but the intrinsic value of the grain led to buying. As long as foreigners continue to buy, the strength in wheat and rye these grains will show a firm underframe. Corn will be a weather market while oats will undoubtedly meet good support on any dips around the fifty-cent level. Further buying in National Biscuit, which reached a record high at 77, in response to the expectation of an increase in the 4 1/2 dividend rate. Boston financiers are near the White Motors may pay forty per cent. stock dividend instead of increasing cash payments. Rumors persist that Cosden Oil soon will do new financing through a bond issue.

LOOKLEY PRAISED FOR HIS WORK

Esquimalt Welcomes Back Its Delegate to Municipal Gathering

Hospital Bills, Fire Fighting And Other Matters Discussed

Returning from the annual convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, Reeve Alexander Lockley, Esquimalt, made a report to his council last night on the business of the convention. Esquimalt's delegate was re-elected head of the Union and a vice-president of the Good Roads League.

ISLAND COMMITTEE NAMED

Reeve Lockley rehearsed the work of the convention, previously reported, and gave a statement of future plans. Three committees of the Union were now in the field preparing data which would be placed before the next session of the House with a consolidated memorial covering every phase of municipal business. Two committees are operating on the Mainland, and one on Vancouver Island. The local committee includes Reeve Lockley, Reeve Macnicol, Alderman Marchant, and Clerk H. F. Blandy, representative of Victoria and the three outlying municipalities.

Besides many other matters the Union seeks to have the cost of education more wisely shared, and further control over departmental expenses in municipal bodies. A further conference between hospital boards and the Union would take place, he intimated, with a view to arriving at a joint proposal to submit to the Government. Reeve Lockley was congratulated on the honor brought to Esquimalt, and thanked for his services at the convention.

Esquimalt, in reference to outstanding accounts with the hospital, contends that many listed as "indigent" are not really so, and the whole question of municipal responsibility for hospital bills will receive special attention. Esquimalt wants, it was said, some measure of control over the classification of the "indigents," admitting responsibility but denying the growing tendency to class people as indigent who would normally pay without question under other circumstances.

The council has now two accounts, one close on $1,000 and another of $75 for six months, in which it declares it was not consulted until too late to protest, if so desired. This and other matters will be taken up with the hospital authorities, not in an arbitrary attitude, but with a view to arriving at a more workable agreement.

COST OF FIRES

The high cost of fighting fires was borne in on the meeting by a bill for over $100 for assistance help at the cooperative blaze. Ten men affirmed they worked as firemen all night, while twenty-two others said their services were essential to the reduction of the conflagration. The first will receive $5 apiece and the latter group half that sum, but in future Esquimalt will put a timekeeper on its fires to control the cost.

A communication from the Fire and Light Commission stated 300 feet of hose, at roughly $1.50 per foot, to be requisited. The appropriation, it was said, would not be able to meet the requirement in this regard. A drying room for fire hose was sought, but the matter tabled for another solution.

Not without some discussion the council voted to proceed with the memorial park project at an estimated cost of $420. Ordinal Gates, to cost $220, were authorized last night, and the project will be pushed through to completion as far as possible this year. Councillors Anderson and Pomeroy discovered that they had not been in favor of the park anyway, but were reminded from the minutes that their objection were not vehement when the matter was first broached. Councillor Pomeroy declared that he had always been against the park project, but the council moved a minute in which he moved the adoption of estimates, including a figure of $5,000 for this particular park.

To drop the scheme now would be a disgrace, affirmed Reeve Lockley, who was supported by the remainder of the council with the two exceptions named. The gateways, some trellis work, and planting will bring the park within sight of completion. It was stated at a figure still within the estimated cost. Other and minor matters were considered before rising.

MYSTERY LOT PUZZLES COUNCIL

Owner Paid Taxes on Esquimalt Land Declared Non-Existent Now

In the course of municipal business dilemmas are frequent and often obscure, but seldom has it fallen to the lot of a council to deal with a more peculiar case than broached by the Esquimalt Council in session last night. Some years ago a lot on the waterfront, fronting on Queen's Street, passed into the hands of private owners. The owners were assessed yearly and the total paid in taxes amounting to $400 on the property.

Then the lot was allowed to go to tax sale. At the sale the owners bought it back again and sought title. It was found that the lot did not exist. While an ancient title for the lot is reported to have been traced in the Land Registry Office, the land itself cannot be found. The mythical property, adjudged the council last night, might be somewhere between high and low tide on reclaimed waterfront near Esquimalt harbor.

The dilemma arises in that the municipal assessor is perhaps not the least embarrassed by the incident, as a year by year assessments were made on the land that is now declared non-existent. There remains some doubt in the minds of the council as to whether Queen's Street is not in part the mythical lot, but the fact remains that it will be referred to the municipal solicitor for advice and elucidation.

Nothing short of a special survey, it was said, would clear up the mystery. The disappearance of the land, or rather the appearance of the lot on the maps in the first place, is thought to have resulted from some error in drafting, whereby a lot or two were shown that did not exist. The ground in question, in boom days trading took place by map without a view of the ground, and so, it is thought, the mystery grew, and the council was misled. The "Bubble" was pricked by the Land Registry records.

DISSATISFIED WITH ANSWER

Statement From Minister of Finance on "Succession Duties Act"

Disappointment with the answer of the Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Finance, was voiced in City Council last evening when a letter was read registered in the council chamber on Succession Duties Act, answering a communication from the council.

The Minister wrote in part: "The trouble will eventually remedy itself by the fact that last year an amendment was made to the Succession Duties Act whereby provision is being made that unless the lien is registered within three months, the Crown stands in the same position as a mortgagee who does not register his charge against any property."

"One important point covered by Mr. Crane's inspection of the Office is the fact that all these old succession duties are covered by bonds of guarantee companies whom we look to for payment. In fact we have many instances where we are now pressing the bond company for payment of succession duties. The bond company, of course, has lien on the estate of the properties which form the estate. If they pay the Government the succession duties the rights of the Crown and all liens on property are extinguished to the bond company. Therefore if we relinquish the claims or liens on this property, as suggested, we would also have to relinquish our claims to the land, and the effect of the succession duty. I therefore cannot see how we can meet with the request contained in the resolution."

The council was not likely to secure any satisfaction, Alderman Sargent said, and he moved that the communication should be filed. He pointed out the obstacles which arose to an amendment, and the effect on the city of delays in settlement.

"I do think this is very disappointing," stated Alderman Todd, "to men who served in this capacity for many years that the Chamber of Commerce, the Real Estate Board and the Law Society have not joined us in remedying a very real injustice to the citizens of this province."

CITY DECIDES ON PRIVATE BILL

Numerous Issues Are to be Presented to Legislature

Land exchanges, electric wiring regulations, and similar matters are recommended in the list of questions to be brought before the Legislature by the Victoria City Council in the form of a private bill. It was suggested at the council meeting last evening that the sewerage structure whether such was not the case, and was told that it might be possible, but doubtful practically.

Alderman Sargent did not think the Legislature would make the changes without special application. SAYS BECOMING HABIT

The council had made the practice of having private bills over a term of years, and why should such a policy continue? Alderman Woodward asked. He believed, however, they would have a sympathetic House.

Experience had taught the council that Private Bills were often essential, stated Alderman Sargent when the council was asked whether such was not the case, and was told that it might be possible, but doubtful practically.

Alderman Christie defended the recommendation, while Alderman Todd said it was the maximum which would be possible, not necessary to impose.

Alderman Marchant foresaw no prospect of the clause going through the House.

He moved that an amendment be made $150 per six months, instead of $250 per six months.

Alderman Sargent and Todd compared the charges on a big touring car used for stage purposes with the expense on a lot. A large car represented an investment of $15,000 whereas the average of $13,000 valuation would pay $500 per annum taxes.

TOO BUSY TO BUY

The limited amount of value to the city of the tally-ho men was the subject of Alderman Christie's remarks. The tally-ho men had not time to buy a postcard, or a cigarette in Victoria, as they were rushed to and from the steamers, the tally-ho men getting everything, and the business merchants nothing, and the business men were very dissatisfied he asserted.

Clause two was adopted.

The three clauses were adopted unanimously although Alderman Marchant said that already the Union of B.C. Municipalities had decided to ask for the powers.

On clause four, adopted without a division Alderman Sargent said the idea was to apply the principle to improvements.

Clause five was adopted unanimously.

HOURS OF LABOR ACT

Alderman Marchant spoke against the motion for clause six, and on a division Mayor Hayward, Alderman Todd, Christie, Sargent, Andros, Ker and Sanger voted for the clause, and against Alderman Dewar, Marchant, Woodward and Harvey. This clause would remove the Victoria Fire Department from the act.

Alderman Sargent pointed out that the final clause was desired to settle the cost of construction of the northwest sewer, this amendment to be made by general legislation, not by private bill.

hearing a report from the city solicitor regarding the agreement with St. Joseph's Hospital for the care of indigent patients.

Acceptance by C. H. O'Halloran, secretary of St. Joseph's Board, was formerly conveyed.

Mayor Hayward read the agreement. He explained also that adequate funds would be forthcoming to meet the cost until the estimates were presented next year.

CARE OF PLANTS

The council was asked to make arrangements for the care of plants at the ferry landing of the Port Angeles ferry during the Winter months. The Olympic is now off the route, and the improvement is no longer needed.

The parks committee was requested to act on the matter.

A DANGEROUS POLE

A report will be received on a complaint from Hugh Allan, who claimed compensation for damage to his motor car. He submitted a bill on the matter, following a collision with a pole on Fort Street, near Richmond Road, into which he turned to avoid a street car passing. The pole is out of the sidewalk, and Mr. Allen suggested it should be removed within the sidewalk line.

Alderman Andros said there were several poles so placed as to be a menace to motorists in narrow portions of Fort Street, and which were in the way of travel.

Alderman Woodward declared himself in favor of the council disclaiming any liability, but eventually a majority favored referring the question to the city solicitor and engineer.

SERVICE TAXES

The finance committee reported that the sum of $2,125.50, received for service taxes on the Armories from the Dominion Government, should be invested in the purchase of a bond. This course will be done.

DANGEROUS DITCH

Removal of the ditch on Doncaster Avenue was sought by Mrs. L. M. Thompsett, and a report was ordered from the engineer. This is one of the numerous troubles arising out of the Bowker Creek difficulties, where some remedial work was done recently.

WATER LOTS AT ROCK BAY

A special committee reported with regard to water lots on Victoria Harbor, recommending that no opportunity should be offered to the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber & Timber Company's application for water rights at Rock Bay.

DUBLIN IN NEED OF 20,000 NEW HOUSES

Dublin, Sept. 23—Twenty-two thousand families, numbering almost a third of the city's population, are living in Dublin in one-roomed tenements. It is estimated that at least 20,000 new houses are needed.

The municipal commissioners have drafted schemes to provide for 7,000 families. They propose to clear away old tenements and lay out a number of blocks in flats. Temporary structures will be provided to house the people during reconstruction.
