

How to tie together Commons, Wikidata, and possibly Wikipedia
by using
:commons:Special:SuggestedTags

Prepared by User:Peaceray

For WikiConference North America
October 2021

Objectives:

This presentation is a workflow for Suggested tags when an uploaded target page lacks a real category. These pages will often be marked with a default category, “Media needing categories as of <DD Month YYYY>”.

This illustrates how to find or create a category. It also shows how to create a Wikidata Infobox and how to link the category to Wikidata.

It also shows Wikitext to link from Wikipedia to the media.

 Note that: commons:Special:SuggestedTags is a shortcut that one can paste into the search bar of any Wikimedia project, or any site that uses the MediaWiki software and can connect to Wikimedia Commons.

One can also get there by going to

The screenshot shows the Wikimedia Commons Special:SpecialPages page. The browser address bar displays the URL <https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/Special:SpecialPages>. The page features the Wikimedia Commons logo on the left and a navigation menu with links such as "Main page", "Welcome", "Community portal", "Village pump", "Help center", "Participate", "Upload file", "Recent changes", "Latest files", "Random file", "Contact us", "Tools", "Special pages", "Printable version", and "AC/DC". The main content area is titled "Special pages" and includes a description: "This page contains a list of special pages. Most of the content of these pages is automatically generated and cannot be edited. To suggest a change and then request your change on the talk page of the message (using {{edit request}} to draw the attention of administrators)." Below this, there are three sections: "Maintenance reports" with a list of 13 items (e.g., "Big galleries", "Broken redirects", "Dead-end galleries", "Double redirects", "Galleries with the fewest revisions", "Galleries without Wikipedia links", "Globally unused files", "Globally wanted files", "Lint errors", "Oldest galleries", "Orphaned galleries", "Pages not connected to items", "Protected pages"), "Lists of pages" with a list of 1 item ("All pages"), and a list of 8 items on the right side (e.g., "Protected titles", "Short galleries", "Uncategorized categories", "Uncategorized files", "Uncategorized galleries", "Uncategorized templates", "Unused categories", "Unused files", "Unused templates", "Wanted categories", "Wanted files", "Wanted pages", "Wanted templates").

Here is a Suggested tag that I retrieved while preparing this session.

Note that it has “Categories: Media needing categories as of 28 April 2021”.

First, open a new tab in Wikimedia Commons, then search for an appropriate category. In this case, there was nothing at the time for “129th Pennsylvania”.

By checking Wikipedia, however, we are able to find the relevant article and go to Wikidata.

+ Add tag

We can now add a tag with the Wikidata item number as a custom tag.

Next we can use the “See also” or categories from the Wikipedia article on the 129th Pennsylvania Infantry Regiment to search for Commons categories. In this case, starting to type in “Pennsylvania in the Civil War” into the search bar yields a relevant result.

The screenshot shows the Wikimedia Commons interface for the category "Pennsylvania in the American Civil War". At the top, there are navigation links for "English", "Peaceray", and other user options. A search bar contains the text "Search Wikimedia Commons". The category name is prominently displayed, along with a "Good pictures" badge and a "Help" icon. Below the category name, a list of states is provided, with "Pennsylvania" highlighted. The "Subcategories" section lists 14 subcategories, including "Frankford Arsenal (24 F)", "People of Pennsylvania in the American Civil War (67 C, 26 F)", "Gettysburg campaign (6 C, 36 F)", "American Civil War destruction in Chambersburg, Pennsylvania (26 F)", "History of the Eighty-seventh Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers (1901) (31 F)", "History of the First battalion Pennsylvania six months volunteers (1905) (72 F)", "Memorials of the American Civil War in Pennsylvania (15 C, 52 F)", "Fort Mifflin (331 F)", "Old maps of Pennsylvania in the American Civil War (23 F)", "Pennsylvania at Gettysburg - ceremonies at the dedication of the monuments erected by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (1914) (181 F)", and "Pennsylvania Civil War regiments (40 C, 425 F)". A sidebar on the right titled "Pennsylvania in the American Civil War [Hide]" contains an "Authority control" section with various identifiers like Q7164284 and sh85099530. At the bottom, a "Media in category" section shows a grid of 51 image thumbnails.

Drilling down through the Pennsylvania Civil War regiments category, we come to the 110th Pennsylvania Infantry, which we can use as a model for the 129th.

Begin creating the category by pasting the model code and altering appropriately. Note that that the preview will not yet produce a populated Wikidata Infobox.

The main content area has a "Category" tab selected, with "Discussion", "Create", "Create source", and "More" options. A search bar for Wikimedia Commons is visible. Below the title, there is a "Help" icon and a message: "You are creating a new category description page. To pre-fill it with some basic elements, choose: People, Ships or Museums".

A "Preview" section contains a yellow warning box: "Remember that this is only a preview. Your changes have not yet been saved! → Go to editing area".

The "Media in category '129th Pennsylvania Infantry'" section shows a single file: "(Pennsylvania) Spear, George W - 129th Infantry, Company D - DPLA - 853f1b049a666bcd5492 31239abec416.jpg, 1,351 × 3,167; 520 KB". To the right of this section is a "NO WIKIDATA ID FOUND!" warning box with links to "Search for 129th Pennsylvania Infantry on Wikidata", "Create new Wikidata item", and "Upload media".

At the bottom, there is a rich text editor toolbar with icons for bold, italic, link, unlink, image, video, table, and list. The editor content area contains the following code: `{{Wikidata Infobox}}` and `[[Category:Pennsylvania Civil War regiments|129]]`.

We again retrieve the Wikidata item number, this time for the Wikidata Infobox.

Finally, we confirm the tags.

Adding tags populated the “Items portrayed in this file” section to the Commons Structured data.
