We copy from the Globe a comparison between the tariff of 1880—that proposed by the secretary of the treasury -and the bill as changed and passed by the house of representatives, by which it will be perceived that the gross amount of revenue collected on importations of 1830—that the gross are a few or the sentence of the s is, calculated at the existing rate of duties, is $21,716,671. The gross amount under the bill of the house is $15,670,-264. The gross amount under that of Mr. McLane was $15,894,818; which shews a reduction by the latter of $6,322,653, giving a actt revenue of only $11,512,839, and making on the protected articles a reduction of about $3,000,000. The article will be found under our commercial bead.
