 A marchant Welthe and Wohlwylle, whose comynche the best
 A woman for his Widowre chere, & dyed whom God vnto blesse
 We be veracions with & chidren to A famous watroue here
 Whose goddys hit same haue preferres in honoure as t' vntire
 Whis man in death by hys reposes, whereto his soule was sent
 That perche gave to wayes & pore, his Poundes for wylle Fauntall Kent
 In yowliche as to ther behous, and his unuicall iante
 A glas to shewe the vic of auctite, a pelerie holde to frame
 A mortall munde, a meane to moue the poor, & extoll the name
 Of God almyght, but yowliche for unuicallme thou to keepe
 Of Henricus Comite, the Bodies here, in heauen ther Soules dwelle
