Disarmament Plan May Advance Before Premiers Separate

Canadian Correspondent in London Says "Next Ten Days May Witness Accomplishment of Some Remarkable Results" in International Field.

London, July 9.—(By Gratton O'Leary, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press)—With the fate of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance still trembling in the balance, a movement on foot to bring about a conference of the great powers on disarmament and mighty forces striving for a settlement of the ancient Anglo-Irish feud, London this week has been the centre of perhaps the greatest political drama within the memory of living men. What the outcome will be here few dare to predict.

Faced with prodigious commitments, both home and abroad, with the population staggering under an unparalleled weight of taxation, Great Britain unquestionably is desirous of stopping the race in naval building and has made a real and sincere gesture in favor of disarmament, but it is feared—and this has been pointed out by some Dominion Ministers—that so long as the Anglo-Japanese Alliance remains in force very little can be achieved.

An Essential.

The Dominion Prime Ministers, or at least a majority of them, have represented with all the force at their command that notice of denunciation of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance is practically an essential preliminary to the United States joining in a disarmament conference, but for some reason best known to the Foreign Office notice of denunciation is delayed. It was hoped, and in some quarters believed, that advances which the British authorities this week made through the American Ambassador would be accepted in Washington as sufficient evidence of British good faith.

Will Have Influence.

What the result of this American attitude will be is difficult to say. It may result in hardening the feeling against a conference being held at all. On the other hand—and this is the view of close observers—it may greatly strengthen the hands of those who want the Japanese treaty denounced. Certainly the opponents of the alliance are still far from being discouraged. The fact that the Foreign Office has not in their favor the United States into a disarmament conference which would possibly be productive of the most far-reaching results.

Great Results.

These views the Canadian Press has reason to believe will be urged (Concluded on page 13.)

Informal Move BY GREAT BRITAIN

To Bring About Proposed Pacific Conference

London, July 9.—Great Britain's suggestion for a conference at which matters pertaining to the Far East would be discussed will be made in the course of informal diplomatic conversations, it was said by several newspapers here today. This statement was made in explaining what was described as a misinterpretation of Premier Lloyd George's statement regarding Pacific affairs in the Commons last Thursday. It being asserted that he did not intend to convey the impression that formal invitations had been sent the United States in any conversation to confer over Far Eastern matters.

Designly Informal.

In an editorial commenting on the Prime Minister's statement, The Daily News said the Washington announcement that Great Britain had not made official proposals need not be taken as a specific denial that a conference was projected. It admitted that the Washington declaration was essentially correct because discussions that had occurred had been deliberately on an informal basis.

Helpful.

The News, which is hopeful that a discussion will take place, said that Great Britain and China, and apparently Japan, are agreed that these three nations should be joined by the United States in any conversation that took place. "That a vast number of United States citizens would equally approve this view can not be questioned," the newspaper continues. "It is certain that everything will be done by this country to smooth the path for the administration at Washington to follow the way it is believed to be anxious to tread."

GREEKS SAID TO BE ATTACKING TURKISH FORCES

Constantinople, July 9.—According to an unconfirmed report from Greek official sources, the Greek offensive was begun yesterday morning in the Thrace sector. This sector lies just to the west of the Bagdad railway, about midway in the Anatolian Peninsula.

POPULATION IS ABOUT 9,235,000

Estimate for Canada Made by Census Men 2,893,192 West of the Great Lakes

Winnipeg, July 9.—The Tribune carries the following from its Ottawa correspondent to-day: "A preliminary estimate of the Census Branch released to-day places the 1921 population of Canada at 9,235,000, with all provinces except Nova Scotia showing substantial gains, the grant total for the decade since 1911 being augmented by 3,029,000."

HOUSING HEAD, ANGERED, RESIGNS

Aitken's Political Insinuations Cause Sangster to Retire

Angered by insinuations that party politics was influencing his work, Alderman George Sangster has resigned from his position as chairman of the Civic Housing Committee. Mayor Porter announced this morning. A successor, probably Alderman John Harvey, will be appointed immediately and another member of the Council will be added to the Housing Committee, possibly Alderman Dinsdale, a contractor.

MIDDLE COURSE NOW SUGGESTED

New British Empire-U. S. Japan Scheme

London, July 9.—The London Times gives prominence to-day to a dispatch from its Washington correspondent in which he asserts that the concern of the American people over renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty has deepened and that the British desire for a policy parallel to that of the United States can not be attained if the alliance is renewed, whatever modifications might be made in it.

SOME REDUCTION IN INSURANCE RATES

Certain Classes of Risks Will Shortly Benefit

Vancouver, July 9.—The British Columbia Insurance Association has decided to lower the dwelling house rates approximately 25 per cent, and a material reduction will be made in the mercantile rates when the schedule is prepared. The maximum rate on dwelling houses will correspond with the rate in vogue in the western districts of the United States.

SEATTLE MAN FELL THREE STORIES; SLIGHTLY HURT

Seattle, July 9.—John Forsell, a window washer, who dropped to the pavement from the third floor of an office building here yesterday, attributed his escape from more serious injuries to a broken arm and a wrenched back to the fact that when he lost his balance he jumped rather than let himself fall. He landed feet first.

Pattullo to Visit Sweden To Get Facts For Big Nitrogen Works in B. C.

On his way to Norway and Sweden to get information for the establishment of a large contract for fertilizer by electricity from the elements of the air, the Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, will leave Victoria to-morrow.

MARKETS TO KEEP UP B. C. TRADE

"I am going on this trip as a business proposition," said Hon. Mr. Pattullo to-day. "It is vital to this Province that its markets should be developed, and the possibilities of this Province getting some more big lumber orders there."

TO WATCH PAPER COMPETITION

In Norway and Sweden, Hon. Mr. Pattullo will investigate the pulp and paper industry and find out the conditions under which the mills in those countries are turning out their products and underwriting mills on this side of the Atlantic.

Lloyd George-Valera Conference Is Next Effort For Ireland

Prime Minister Will Meet Sinn Fein Leader to Discuss Holding of Formal Conference; Britain Now Awaits Announcement of Date.

London, July 9.—Premier Lloyd George will, it is authoritatively stated this afternoon, accept Eamon de Valera's proposal of yesterday and meet the "republican" leader to discuss the basis for a formal conference. The meeting will probably take place next week. The only thing remaining is the fixing of the date, which Mr. Lloyd George will name in his reply to Valera's letter.

PAPERS COMMENT ON IRISH MOVES

London Writers Welcome Fixing of Truce

London, July 9.—The result of the conference held in Dublin yesterday between the Sinn Fein leaders and South Irish Unionists was announced so late last evening that several of this morning's newspapers did not comment on the new development. The news was everywhere displayed as being of great importance, however, and the few editorials which appeared welcomed, with one exception, the Irish truce with the greatest cordiality, and the hope was expressed that it might lead to permanent peace in Ireland.

PREMIERS HEARD INDIA DELEGATE

Conferees in London Also Discussed League

London, July 8.—The Empire Prime Ministers' conference closed its week's labors to-day with a double sitting. At the morning session the delegate from India made a statement in connection with the British Indians domiciled in the Dominions and colonies, and while not urging that the existing rules governing admission of his countrymen into the Dominions be changed, he made a strong plea for the heightening of the status of those already admitted. The matter is one which concerns Canada slightly, although of considerable importance to a country like South Africa. A special committee of the conference will take the question into consideration.

The afternoon session was devoted to a discussion on the League of Nations. Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, Lord Curzon, Premier Meighen and Premier Smuts took part, and there was a strong appreciation voiced of the value of the League and of its claims to the support of the whole Empire as a step forward in the regulation of international affairs.

With less than twelve days left in which to conclude its work, the conference next week is expected to change into such questions as naval disarmament, the discussion of the discussion on the Japanese alliance, preparatory to taking steps for the main constitutional conference.

Armed. Premier Hughes declared in a cablegram to the president of the electrical organization at Bendigo, Australia, according to a Melbourne dispatch to The London Times, that reduction of armaments is regarded by the Empire Prime Ministers' Conference as the corner stone of Empire policy, and a friendly understanding with the United States is essential to that policy.

DISTRESS IN THE THROAT CAUSED GREAT ANXIETY

Not an uncommon experience, was that of Mrs. H. S. Wilmot, of Tulsa, Okla. "Many remedies failed, still splendid results were found in 'Catharhoxone.' I have been a most dreadful sufferer from bronchial trouble and Catarrh. On damp days, I would have and suffer great distress in my throat. I used all kinds of medicines, but didn't get permanent relief till I used Catharhoxone. It strengthened my throat, stopped my cough and made me well. Try Catharhoxone yourself—see what wonders it works on a bad throat, or colds, catarrh, bronchitis. Different from the old way, because you breathe the Catharhoxone. QUEER ANT-ANTICS

You would think it was hardly possible to know a particular ant from another belonging to the same species. We can distinguish an individual horse, dog, or cow from others of their kind. Shepherds know every sheep in their flock; a huntsman will call any bound in the pack by name, though to untrained eyes all look alike. But we can see distinct differences when they are pointed out to us—differences in coloring, shape and size.

COIN THAT RINGS A BELL
Everybody knows the difficulty we sometimes have in getting a cab. Most cab shelters in big cities are on the telephone, but it is not always convenient to call a cab by telephone. A big continental city has set about solving the problem in a new way, so sensible that it is to be hoped it will be copied in every large town.

HOW TO BRING TOURISTS TO BRITISH COLUMBIA

(By Arthur Lineham)

An Address to the Victoria Kiwanis Club, July 5.

During the period from 1843 to date, approximately half a million people have settled within the borders of British Columbia, and we are inclined to think we have achieved wonderful things, but if we compare our progress with that of other more remote parts of the Empire, we shall find there is not so much reason to sit down and feel entirely satisfied with the results obtained during the past seventy-eight years. For instance, take the Dominion of New Zealand which was first settled in 1839 (four years ahead of this Province), and which now has a population of approximately 1,200,000 people on her 282,000 square miles of territory, although the New Zealanders have been colonizing under an enormous handicap in some respects, compared with ourselves. Why is it they have so far outstripped us in the race for settlement and development? The reason is, because they have consistently exploited and developed their principal asset—the pastoral and agricultural land. Everything else has been of secondary importance. They knew perfectly well that industries of all kinds would follow population.

Assets Entail Expenditure
What line have we taken? The assets which have absorbed our attention are fish, minerals and timber, each of which requires a large preliminary outlay and entails a very nominal amount of labor, and it might be added that a large percentage of the labor employed in these industries is of foreign or Slavonic origin. The process of building up a population, and continued prosperity, in a territory as large as ours, out of the three assets mentioned, will be so slow that generations will be required to do it, without we make further effort, and we have entirely overlooked the greatest factor we possess, namely the scenic beauty of the Province. This is in every way the largest and most valuable asset we have, if we develop it and exploit it in an aggressive and consistent manner.

British Columbia has an approximate area of 225,000 square miles, of which 148,000 square miles are mountain tops, 14,000 square miles timber land, 40,000 square miles water, rock and muskeg, unproductive miles suitable for use when cleared, and 4,000 square miles improved and partly so. An instant's thought will convince the most sceptical that our main asset is scenery, as the timbered land can be included in that category for many years to come, until it is cut, and that the logical thing to do is to develop what we have got most of.

America's Switzerland
The scenic attractions in every part of British Columbia are unrivalled on the Continent of America. We have a playground equal to twenty-four Switzerlands, with a variety of beauty that would be a dream of delight to thousands of Eastern Canada and the Eastern and Middle States, if the same were known to them. All that is necessary is to finish essential works that are now underway and advertise in an aggressive manner, so that the one hundred and fourteen million on this North American Continent know what we have to show them.

The task is too great for any city or municipality to undertake alone, and it is entirely the duty of the Provincial Government to inaugurate and carry out for the benefit of the whole Province. The main highway through the Province from Vancouver to Alberta is already being constructed, but the sections which are not yet under construction should be commenced at once and rushed to completion. This road alone would give access to 600 miles of the grandest scenery in the world, and would be an enormous attraction to tourists from all parts of the Dominion and the United States.

It would mean that private enterprise would put on local services at all points of interest; new communities would spring into existence at the different central points where special tours would commence; hotels and accommodation houses would follow suit; guides and pack horses would be in demand, and business would be created in places that otherwise would never be thought of.

P. G. E. Line

Take the much maligned P. G. E. Railway as another instance. There is no finer scenic line in North America. From the time the tourist enters Howe Sound until he reaches Clifton, the traveler is overwhelmed with the beauty and grandeur of the snow-capped peaks which rise in range after range, with valley after valley a very riot of color, interspersed with crystal lakes and roaring creeks and mighty rivers. A tourist making what might be termed the Great Triangular Trip, from Vancouver to Fort George, thence via the Trunk Pacific, passing through the magnificent fertile valleys of the Nechaco and Bulkley, past the Hahine Range and down the shore of the Skeena River to Prince Rupert and from that interesting port back to Vancouver, would be treated to a variety of scenery unequalled anywhere else on this continent. The ocean trip is equivalent to the coast of Norway, while the remainder of the journey is a source of delight from start to finish.

On This Island

Then there is Vancouver Island. A tourist can easily spend an enjoyable week in and around Victoria before tracing either by train or motor to Duncan. From there he can visit Cowichan Lake and return by motor canoe down the Cowichan River to its mouth, and experience the thrills of running the rapids piloted by real Indians. Proceeding on his journey, he can visit the Coal City and go down a coal mine if he so wishes; then motor over to Cameron Lake, a lovely stretch of water set in the middle of some of the finest timber to be seen anywhere in Canada. The same road will take him to Alberni and on to Stamp River Falls, Spruce Lake and Great Central Lake; all magnificent scenic points, and unrivalled for good fishing. Returning to Parksville he can continue north to Campbell River, Campbell River Falls and to Strathcona Park, in the environs of which he will find a gorgeous variety of scenery in the shape of lakes, glaciers and snow-capped mountains. All kinds of game are abundant and the lakes and river are teeming with fish.

Another Route

Another route that will quickly come into favor will be the old Cariboo Road from Ashcroft to Quesnel, thence to Fort George by way of the Fraser River, where the tourist can continue his journey by way of the Grand Trunk Pacific to Jasper Park. If he has not the time or money to spend on going by the route mentioned, he can take the C.N.R. from Vancouver direct to Jasper Park, and thence continue East, if his destination happens to be in that direction.

Banff and Nelson can be made the stopping or starting places for trips throughout the splendid valleys and magnificent mountain scenery to the south of the main line of the C.P.R. To bring the tide of tourist travel to British Columbia, the logical Summer playground for the hundreds of thousands who travel during the hot unbearable weather in the greater portion of this continent, it is necessary to open up roads and trails to every point of interest in the Province, and to provide accommodation at points where at the inauguration of the scheme, no private enterprise could be induced to undertake. For instance, a Government Hotel should be built and operated in both Strathcona and Jasper Parks. Not elaborate structures, but hotels after the style of those owned by the New Zealand Government; to cost not more than $100,000 each equipped and ready for business, with accommodation for say one hundred guests each.

Method of Handling

Open a tourist bureau in four of the principal cities in the Province, namely, Vancouver, Victoria, Prince Rupert, Nelson and also in Banff and Edmonton, each with display of enlarged photographs of everything of interest to be seen during the tourist's stay. The personnel of each office should consist at the start of two men, a manager and junior, both of whom should have traveled everywhere in the Province and know from first-hand experience what they are selling. They would make a complete itinerary for any section the traveler asks for and be able to aid him in choosing his route, and sell him coupon tickets to cover every million dollars will not be considered too much within five years of the commencement of the scheme.

When the different cities and districts can see definite results from the increase in the tide of tourist travel, they will need no urging to develop the attractions, and means of seeing those attractions, which they possess; neither will the Government hesitate to spend all the money needed to augment the revenue of the Province.

Comparison With Switzerland

If this article should meet the eye of the man who lacks faith and vision and who has a doubt about the results to be obtained, I would point out the record of Switzerland proper. It is the country which most resembles British Columbia, but is only one-twenty-fourth the size. The difference between the two, lies in the fact that our scenery is on a larger and grander scale; our mountains are higher and more rugged; our rivers, lakes and waterfalls are more immense, and the variety of color from forest, undergrowth and natural meadow exceeds that of Switzerland, because we have it in all its original beauty. Switzerland during the course of many centuries, has cleared all its valleys, and they resemble huge meadows, nearly devoid of timber, and are all under pasture or cultivation. Before the Swiss realized the value of their country's scenic charms and when they depended entirely on the sale of dairy produce, a divisional point on the Southern Pacific Railway.

"The area of the City of Los Angeles is 368.17 square miles. "We are attaching hereto a sheet giving information as to the number of miles of paved roads, etc., in Southern California, during a period of three years, to explain to the American people that their is not only a Winter but a Summer climate. The "All Year Club" committee in reporting back to the main body declare that Los Angeles is the most prosperous city in the world, and that in going after the Summer business, they are only insuring a continuation of the prosperity which they have enjoyed for so many years. The committee also gives credit to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce for the results they have obtained, and states that their population consists of 60 per cent of those who originally were tourists.

What Los Angeles has done we can do, only we can get bigger results. They were a city only, we

Letters Are Interesting

Last week we asked for a recipe for Yorkshire Pudding. We have not counted the letters received, but there are quite a number. All the recipes are very good. We tried them.

From another standpoint such communications have a great interest to us. Nearly every woman has something nice to say about the general use of Pacific Milk for cooking and baking.

Often we learn a new use for the milk in this way.

means of transportation available.

The advantage of coupons lies in the fact that the prospective tourist has paid for his complete trip before he leaves the office, and when he has once bought his transportation he will undoubtedly use it. The cost is forgotten when the money is paid, and he will consider it his duty to get value for what he has spent; he will use the coupons the same as he would use car or club tickets. Every day he can be induced to stay in the Province means an expenditure of at least $5 per day for living expenses. If he is simply directed to go from one point to another and the bureaus are not in a position to sell him coupons, the system is incomplete, and the chances are, the prospective tourist will quit before which is given him.

Arrangements should be made with every transportation company in the Province whereby Government coupons sold in the Bureau would be accepted by the companies, the same to be paid for as sold by the Government and the companies allowing a commission on the sale of tickets.

Expert Advertising
Finally, expert and aggressive advertising should be done on a scale that will bring results. $100,000 for the first year is only a small amount, and the Government can increase the sum annually according to results. I am of the opinion that half a they were the poorest nation in Europe, but to-day there is no more prosperous people, owing to the enormous tourist travel which they enjoy, not only during the Summer months, but also in Winter from the Winter sports, which latter could be developed in British Columbia, when the time arrives.

Take Los Angeles as another instance of the result of aggressiveness and advertising. This city is situated in latitude thirty-four degrees North, in Southern California, on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railway about twelve miles from the ocean, in the centre of what was a dry arid plain. In 1892 it had a population of 50,395, to-day as the result of boosting its climate, and the magnificent community spirit which it created, it boasts of an estimated population of 411,960 in the city alone. Besides a number of adjacent communities, some of which are as large as Victoria, and which were hardly in existence when their campaign was first started.

"The estimated number of tourists visiting Los Angeles and Southern California yearly is 500,000," writes the secretary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to me in answer to a query.

"This influx is now changing and takes place all the year round, but October and March are the heaviest months."

are a Province. They had fresh air and climate only to sell. We are the "Switzerland of America," and have got the greatest aggregation of the finest scenery on the North American Continent to show to the same population they draw on. We have a Summer climate that is heavenly compared to thirty-four degrees north or south, and one that will appeal to thousands who intend to take a vacation whenever possible. A trip through British Columbia by any mode of transportation whatsoever, whether it be by private motor car, or, for the less fortunate, by public conveyance, is an experience that will make the tourist think he has tasted Paradise, and cause him to be a living advertisement for others intending to take a holiday.

Let us adopt this plan and develop the greatest asset we possess and at the same time follow the line of least resistance. The cost is small and the risk nil. One hundred and fifty thousand dollars a year will cover every expenditure for bureau and advertising. The finishing of the roads and trails and the building of the two hotels will provide employment for the unemployed during the coming Fall and Winter, and the situation at present indicates there will be an unemployment problem. There need be no further expense beyond the salary of a general manager, who would be under the orders of the honorary commission of say two men and a Cabinet Minister as chairman.

The Future

With tourists will come an average of two permanent residents to take care of the wants of every five travelers; a certain percentage of tourists will return to settle; industries will follow the growth of population; land clearing will be carried out as demand requires; one thing will lead to another, and we shall accomplish more in the next five years than we have done in the last thirty. Let us get together and do it, and not keep on waiting from year to year for something to turn up, and continually asking the Dominion and Provincial Governments for temporary works to carry us over hard times. The remedy is in our own hands.

NOT ONE OF A THOUSAND

of the WANTS NOT advertised today will be filled.

You may know what you want and how you want it BUT in order to get your want you must tell it in the Times classified columns.

"DE SWANEE RIBBER"

An interesting story is told regarding one of the most popular songs in the world, "The Old Folks at Home."

Its author was Stephen Collins Foster, who has been called "America's premier balladist." He wrote one hundred and seventy songs, including "Old Kentucky Home," "Old Black Joe," and "Old Uncle Ned."

When he had written "The Old Folks at Home," he was displeased with the name of the river given in the second verse; in the original the verse runs:

Way down upon de Pedee ribber,

Far, far away,

Dere's wha my heart is turning ebbin,

Dere's wha my brudders play.

He asked his brother Morrison for a better name for the river:

"What Southern stream do you suggest instead of 'Pedee'?" Morrison offered Yazoo, which Stephen thought wouldn't do. "Well, let's consult an atlas," said Morrison. On a map of Florida they found a little river called Swanee. "That's it exactly," cried Stephen.

Although millions of copies of Foster's songs were sold, his life was a tragic one. He gave his first two songs to a friend, who made ten thousand dollars out of them. Marrying in 1850, his life was very unhappy. Eventually he went to New York, where he became a vagabond.

It was at this period of his life that he strayed one day into a shop and, sitting at a piano, won those keys the wistful, pleading tune, "Come where my love lies dreaming." A man who was present offered him five dollars for the song, and he accepted gratefully.

Foster died in a public ward at the Bellevue Hospital, New York, and is entered on the records as a laborer—"Trit-Bitt."

Empress of Russia Making Fast Time

C. P. O. S. Trans-Pacific Flyer Will Reach Quarantine at 7 o'Clock To-morrow Night; Passages of Less Than Nine Days From Japan Becoming Standard Feature

Fast runs are becoming habitual with the big liners of the C. P. O. S. fleet. R. M. S. Empress of Russia is now striving to clip several hours from her steaming time between Yokohama and Victoria. The ship reports by wireless that she will reach William Head at 7 o'clock standard time Sunday night, which means that she will cut about twelve hours from the usual schedule.

A dispute has arisen between the Empress of Russia and the Empress of Asia as to which holds the record for the fastest run between ports.

Records Are Close.
 The Russia claims to have the fastest time of 8 days 18 hours, while the beat time by the Asia is logged as 8 days 18 hours 28 minutes.

It is probable that the controversy will be settled one way or the other with a clear-cut record before the ships settle down to their usual gait.

Less Than Nine Days.
 In the meantime the trans-Pacific travelers by the larger C. P. O. S. liners are enjoying the thrill of crossing from Japan in less than nine days. The Empress of Russia will come alongside the Outer Docks to-morrow night after securing pratique.

She has a full list of passengers. Among those arriving by the Russia are: Owen Young, of the General Electric Company; M. Shoup, of the International General Electric Company; J. A. Thomas, of the Commercial Bank of Peking; Rueben Ellis, of the British Tobacco Products Co., and George Happer, of New York.

New Commander.
 Capt. W. Dixon-Hopcraft, R. N. R.,

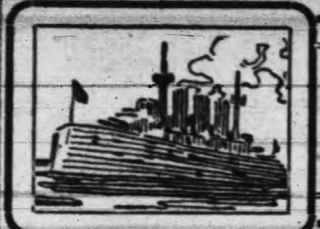

is the new commander of the Empress of Russia, having transferred from the liner Empress of Japan. Capt. Sam Robinson, R. N. R., is taking a short holiday, and will then go to England to take over the command of the Empress of Canada, which will leave Liverpool this fall to enter the trans-Pacific trade.

BARQUENTINE TOWED TO UPPER HARBOR

The wooden barquentine S. F. Tommie was this morning towed by the tug Red Fir from the Inner Harbor to the plant of the Victoria Machinery Depot in the Upper Harbor.

The work of fitting out the ship for sea will be started on Monday.

QUEEN SAILS SUNDAY.
 The steamer Queen, of the Admiral Line, is leaving Seattle late to-night, and is now scheduled to sail from the Outer Docks here at 8 o'clock, local time, Sunday morning for San Francisco.

VICTIM OF SEA WAS OWNER OF COAST ISLAND

F. G. Tibbs Succumbed to Exhaustion at Clayoquot

The circumstances surrounding the death of Frederick Gerald Tibbs, who succumbed from exhaustion on the beach after swimming in the icy waters of Clayoquot Sound in an abortive effort to recover his boat which had gone adrift, were learned last night in a wire received by Superintendent of Provincial Police McMyrn from the Provincial police constable at Clayoquot.

The late Mr. Tibbs was a well-known resident of the Clayoquot district. He was owner of the island of Toftno known as Tibbs Island, where he has been farming for some years. He was employed also in the lighthouse service, and it was while engaged in changing buoy lights on the morning of July 5 that he lost his life under distressing circumstances.

The tending of the lights on Mears and Stub Spit were among the duties of Mr. Tibbs. While changing the buoy lights the skiff broke loose from the spit. Tibbs partly divested himself of his clothing and plunged into the water in an attempt to recover the skiff. He became exhausted, but finally managed to regain the shore in an exhausted condition, and he expired shortly afterwards. The body was found by Japanese fishermen who worked over the body but were unable to revive the spark of life. In the meantime Dr. Dixon, of Clayoquot, had been summoned, and pronounced life extinct. Death was ascribed to heart failure due to over-exertion and exhaustion.

The late Mr. Tibbs was thirty years of age and unmarried. He was a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Cockett, 1988 Birch Street, Victoria, and had served overseas with the Canadian Expeditionary Force. For three and a half years he served overseas with the Forestry Battalion. He was educated at Bancroft's School, London, and before coming out to Canada was in the service of the London and Westminster Bank. The funeral took place at Toftno on July 7, under the auspices of the G. W. V. A.

Steamer Service For Cars Is Adequate

Manager of B. C. Coast Service Disproves Some Erroneous Impressions; Propaganda Acts As Boomerang; Touring Parties Influenced to Change Itineraries.

"The circulation of reports giving the impression that steamer accommodation across the Gulf for automobiles is inadequate is not only grossly misleading but is likely to react to the detriment of the city, inasmuch that automobilists gaining these erroneous impressions may be inclined to arrange their itinerary accordingly and leave Victoria and Vancouver Island out of the tour as originally planned."

This, in effect, was the statement made to The Times to-day by Capt. J. W. Troup, manager of the B. C. Coast Service, in reviewing the various phases of the propaganda on automobile water transportation that is working against instead of in the interests of Vancouver Island.

Service Adequate.
 "I wish to most emphatically point out," said Capt. Troup, "that the floating equipment we have at our disposal is fully adequate to take care of the automobile business that is offering. Reports are consistently spread broadcast giving the impression that the service for automobiles is inadequate. This is untrue. There is no doubt that many touring parties desirous of taking in the unrivalled scenic beauties of the Island have been influenced by these reports to change their itinerary and leave Vancouver Island out of the schedule altogether. There is less automobile traffic across the Gulf this season than was the case last summer."

Not at Capacity.
 "The boats in our service are not using their total capacity for carrying transportation facilities was at its height last season, and in our efforts to adequately take care of the situation, we even went so far as to equip and put into service a covered barge specially fitted for the accommodation of automobiles."

Missionary Work.
 "What is needed to solve the difficulty," concluded Capt. Troup, "is a little missionary work among the many automobile clubs across the border, in order that the automobile tourist may in the first place secure first hand and reliable information concerning the situation as it really exists. This persistent agitation about lack of accommodation for automobiles is reacting to our detriment, as it tends to keep the cars

SILVER STATE IS SAILING ON FIRST VOYAGE TO ORIENT

Admiral Liner Leaving Victoria This Evening Has Good List of Passengers

S. S. Silver State, second of the big passenger ships of the Pacific Steamship Company to be pressed into the trans-Pacific service, is clearing from Victoria this evening for Manila as her Oriental destination. Commanded by Capt. Edward P. Bartlett, the Silver State left Seattle at 11 o'clock this morning and is docking here late this afternoon. She is taking out a good list of passengers. Among those booked are: Mr. and Mrs. Everett G. Shimmitt, of Tacoma, and Mr. and Mrs. Grant Stephenson, of New York. Mrs. Wong Shee Chinn, wife of Chin Keay, former Chinese consul at Seattle, and now proprietor of the Pacific Steamship Company at Hongkong, and their eight children are also among the first cabin passengers booked for Shanghai. Mr. and Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. Julius Reis, of Manila, and their son John M. Reis, are returning to Manila. Another party of New Yorkers embraces William H. Borie, Mrs. Elizabeth Borie, Master William H. Borie, Jr., and Mrs. Lillian Bourne.

Lloyd Miller, of Portland, Ore., and Walter H. Krueger, of New York, are among the commercial agents bound for the Orient. The former is accompanied by his wife.

Chinese Embark Here.
 In the steerage the liner has the slightly-seventy Chinese passengers taken aboard at Havana and Panama, and in addition will have forty-five more Chinese from Seattle and over sixty who will embark here outward bound.

The Silver State is a sister ship to the Wenatchee, which recently returned from her maiden voyage to the Orient, and is now being refitted in Seattle.

NIAGARA IN PORT FOR SEVERAL HOURS

Australian Liner Cleared About 4 o'Clock on Return Trip to Sydney

With four hundred passengers aboard in all classes and a fair general cargo stowed away below decks, the Canadian-Australasian liner Niagara, Capt. J. T. Rolls, left port this afternoon on her return voyage to Auckland and Sydney.

Prominent among the liner's passengers was Dame Nellie Melba, who is making one of her periodic trips to the homeland by her favorite ship. This arrangement gave the passengers an opportunity to get ashore with the result that the tally-ho's and automobiles were greatly in demand.

Clearing from Vancouver about 3 o'clock this morning the Niagara sauntered across the Gulf and reached the Outer Docks about 11 o'clock. United States airmail for Australia was brought over from Seattle by Eddie Hubbard in his flying boat, arriving here at 12:30 p. m.

Better Sailing Hour.
 In the past the Australian boats have been in the habit of clearing from Vancouver late in the afternoon and reaching this port late at night or an early hour in the morning, thereby creating considerable inconvenience to outbound passengers.

In the future the ships will leave Vancouver early in the morning, the passengers embarking overnight, it is stated by Canadian-Australasian officials. This arrangement will obviate the necessity of Victoria passengers waiting at the dock throughout the night hours in order to make connections with the liner.

The liner Makura, of the Canadian-Australasian fleet, sailed from Sydney, N. S. W., July 7, and is due here July 30. The Makura will sail out-bound August 5.

TRIP TO MAYNE ISLAND.

The steamer Island Princess will make a cruise to-morrow to Mayne Island, carrying passengers at popular rates.

TOTEM POLES ARE NOW BEING SHIPPED EAST

Vancouver, July 9.—British Columbia is developing a new industry. Totem poles are all the rage back East and when the freighter C. C. Morse, of the North Atlantic Steamship Company's Line, sailed late yesterday afternoon she carried a part cargo of totem poles for Boston, Mass. The part cargo consists of only two of these poles, but the unique parcels are a very welcome addition to the ship's manifest.

The Morse loaded 1,500,000 shingles for New York and in addition is carrying a few tons of miscellaneous cargo. She is the first Nasco boat to come here.

FREIGHT RATES HIT TOBOGGAN

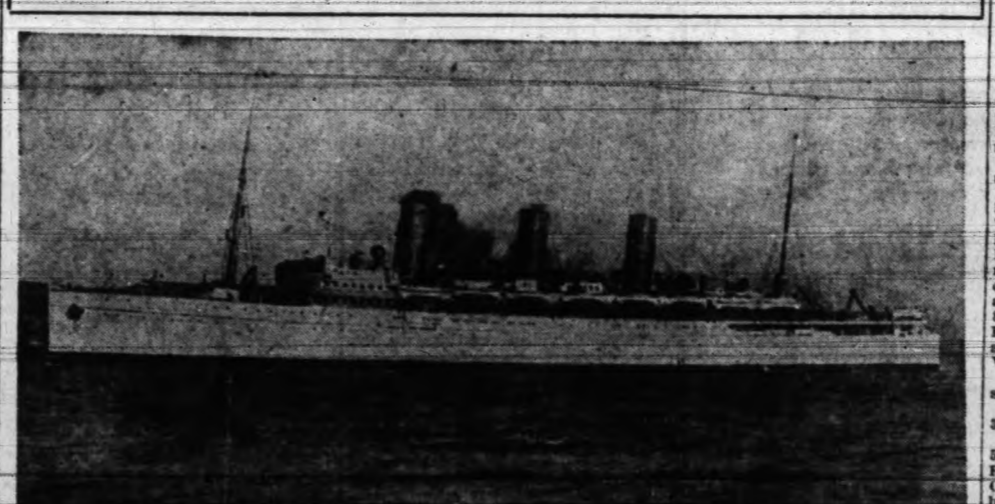

Seattle, July 9.—With much cargo space available, freight rates on overseas and inter-coastal routes continue to decline, according to shipping men. Following the recent cut in lumber, wheat and flour rates between this coast and ports in the Orient, a reduction in the conference freight rate on tea from Japan to Seattle of $2 a ton has been made as a result of under-bidding by the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha, according to advices received from the Orient to-day. The new rate is $8 a ton, compared with $10 a ton last year. According to advices received by the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, another 50 per cent. cut has been made in freight rates from Calcutta to Japan. The rate on gunnies, it is explained, has been lowered twice since April.

The North Atlantic and West Coast Steamship Company, for which the Pacific Steamship Company is agent, has made additional reductions in eastbound rates, according to advices received in Seattle yesterday afternoon. Important cuts are made in vinegar in glass, musical instruments, including pianos and pipe organs, and Red Cross goods of all kinds.

NAVAL SECTION OF G. W. V. A.

The Naval Branch of the local G. W. V. A. met last night in the new quarters in Bastion Square, with Comrade J. McIntosh in the chair. A number of officers were considered. The meeting went on record as being heartily in support of the new Economic Council of Victoria, and its aims, Comrade J. W. Berry was appointed a delegate to the Council. Arrangements for a picnic to be held at Little Cordova Bay on August 14 were furthered, with a committee composed of Comrades J. W. Berry, Prescott and Etheridge appointed to complete plans for the affair. The meeting accepted with thanks an invitation to attend the house warming of the G. W. V. A. in their new quarters on July 18. The next meeting of the Naval Branch will be held on Friday in next week.

SCOUTS WILL HEAR EMINENT LECTURER

Dr. J. W. Robertson, C.M.G. will address a public meeting at the Metropolitan Church Sunday Schoolroom on Tuesday evening next, when His Honor the Lieut.-Governor, Walter C. Nichol, will be in the chair. Dr. Robertson will speak upon scouting in Canada, and though the officials of the local association will be those chiefly interested, the meeting is open to the public, who will be cordially welcome, it is stated.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Ward Three Liberals.—Ward Three Liberal Association will hold the regular monthly meeting on Monday at 8 p. m. in Room 41, Arcade Building.

No Police Court.—There was no sitting of the police court to-day, all remand cases yesterday being set over for Monday or other days in next week.

Saanich Health Centre.—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Saanich Health Centre will be held in the Nurses' Home, Douglas Street, on Tuesday, July 13, at 2.30.

Liberals Elect Officers.—Capt. Montagu Harbour was elected president of the Ward Two Liberal Association at the meeting of members for the election of officers last night. W. G. Lemm was elected secretary.

Real Estate Meeting.—Important resolutions will come up for discussion at the general quarterly meeting of the Victoria Real Estate Board. The meeting is set for next Tuesday at 8.15 in room 313 Pemberton Building.

Set Date of Meeting.—At the close of the session of the Economic Council last night several matters were placed in the hands of the chairman, Sigmond R. P. Clark when ready with their statements. The exact date of the next meeting was left to the call of the chair, with the probable date set for Friday, July 23. All organizations who are sending delegates to the Economic Council are requested to take action in such time, it was stated.

Open Air Dance To-night.—The open air band concert and dance arranged by Government and Yates Street between the 20th and 22nd Streets below Government will commence at 8 o'clock. This form of entertainment has been enjoyed by the citizens and visitors to the city, and motor parties from Sooke, Metchoan, Langford, Sidney and other outside points have brought in large numbers of the residents who are glad to enjoy this novel form of entertainment.

Another Welsh Picnic.—The executive of the Cymrodorion Society, at a meeting held on Wednesday, decided that they would hold another picnic at the Willows beach, on Saturday, July 16, at 4 p. m. Owing to the heavy rain that came on before all the sports were decided on July 1 quite a number of prizes promised, and in respect of the picnic, the committee came to the conclusion that it would be advisable that sports be held as above stated. Ladies are requested to bring their own refreshments as the Society cannot supply any on this occasion. It is also intended to have Welsh community singing to wind up the picnic. Every one is welcome. There will be a number of races for children and other adult sports.

Strawberry Fete.—Under the auspices of the Strawberries-Yale Women's Institute, an enjoyable garden party was held last evening in the lovely gardens at the Lavris Nurseries, Saanich. There was a good attendance of visitors who enjoyed the attractions offered by the gardens and the various stalls. There was a candy stall in charge of Mrs. Hall, home cooking stall in charge of Mrs. Williams, an ice cream booth over which Meadams Morton and Watkins presided, a cake guessing and dolls' name guessing contests, and a shooting gallery. The evening was under the direction of Mrs. Victor Todd, of Victoria, sang.

Combined Literature.—Following the idea adopted by the Tourist and Resort Association of Michigan, J. G. Thomson, of the Victoria and Island Development Association, offers the Island co-operation with the object of obtaining better distribution of literature. A joint booklet telling the story of each resort is suggested by Mr. Thomson which would be distributed through the association. The association, he points out, is better organized for the distribution than the individual resort proprietors. Contracts have been made with big distributing agencies, connections established with the Canadian and United States transcontinental lines, and the "Ask Mr. Foster" agency.

Photographers Met.—The Victoria District Photographers' Association met at Young's studio in the Union Bank Building last evening for its regular meeting. There was a good attendance of members. Discussion of various topics of interest to the profession took place. Keen interest was shown in the forthcoming convention at Vancouver on August 2 till 4 and plans were made for the preparation of exhibits of local work which will be hung alongside the work of other photographers in the Pacific Northwest. The next meeting of the Association will be held at the studio of Harold Fleming on July 29, when final arrangements will be made in connection with the convention. It is likely that the studios will close for the four days of the convention to enable the members to attend in a body.

Fine Weather Forecast.—Fine weather from now on is the forecast of the prophets and that the steady increase of tourists will be maintained is anticipated. East of the Cascades the weather is beginning to get uncomfortably hot, and more visitors from neighboring American cities will probably result.

St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday School.—The Sunday School of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will hold the annual picnic at the Willows beach on Wednesday, July 13, at 4 p. m. and boating will be the order of the day. All members and friends of the congregation are invited to attend.

BLOOD ON BOAT AROUSES SUSPICION

Under the direction of Superintendent McMynn, the provincial police at Salt Spring Island are investigating the circumstances surrounding the finding of a Columbia River sloop wrecked on the coast of that island, on the shores of Captain's Pass.

As far as is known at present the sloop belongs to Jim McLeod, an Indian, who left Mayne Island on Dominion Day in the craft accompanied by an Indian woman—Mrs. Miller. The circumstances which have aroused the suspicion of the police lay in the fact that blood of some nature was found on the deck of the wrecked craft, and that Indian Jim has been reported for another matter for some weeks past.

It is suspected that foul play may have taken place, local feeling running high against the man for his alleged action of fiction writers. The wife of Jim is in the Swininish reservation, and it is alleged was deserted by her husband two years ago.

The full story of the affair was made in a report of Dominion Constable Tom O'Connell to the department some two years ago at the time of the alleged discovery. Since that time police and Indian agents on this and the other side of the line have been trying to induce Jim to return to his wife, or at least contribute to her support.

TRUSTEES ARGUE BUT GET NOWHERE IN SCHOOL REFORM

Act Monday Without Consulting Investigators; Split on Question

MINORITY WINS OUT AFTER LONG WRANGLE

CITY School Trustees argued warmly for an hour and a quarter yesterday afternoon over the High School investigation and finally agreed, however, to meet again Monday night and take some definite action on the recommendations made in the report of investigators who consulted into the school, meanwhile keeping the High School report secret. What action will be taken remains to be seen, but it became clear at yesterday's meeting that the Board is split into two factions on the question. One faction claims that drastic reform, involving dismissal of certain members of the school staff, is necessary; the other group believes no radical steps are required.

Argument yesterday centred around the refusal of the investigators—as announced in these columns—to meet to meet the Board to consult further on the High School probe. Some of the Trustees wanted Chairman Dr. Raynor to accept the investigators' invitation to a private conference, but Trustees Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Coady Johnson refused to delegate their powers to any one member. So emphatic were these ladies in their stand that they won out in the end, though they were in the minority. The other Trustees became so heartily informed after seventy-five minutes of wrangling that they moved an adjournment and broke up the meeting.

As a result Dr. Raynor will not meet the investigators and the Board will take whatever action it wishes Monday without getting further information on High School conditions.

Mrs. Andrews made an explanation of her right to sit on the School Board, though her husband is a High School teacher. She asserted that she was not attempting to protect anyone. Nobody would get "hurt" as a result of the present trouble, she said.

Should Give Out Report.
Mrs. Coady Johnson declared that, before proceeding any further, the Board should give out the investigators' report to the Press. To withhold it would be unfair to the public to which the Board was responsible and to the teachers of the High School, she said.

Mrs. Coady Johnson's motion that the report be given out to the newspapers was seconded by Mrs. Andrews. "At the same time," said Mrs. Andrews "I would like, if it were possible, to find out who gave a synopsis of the report to the Press in the first place. In one of the papers it was stated that Dr. MacLennan said that he was willing to give the report out but that he withheld it in courtesy to the Board. Where did the papers get it?"

"You are a better detective than I," Chairman Dr. Raynor remarked. "You think so?" Mrs. Andrews retorted. "If I have to do it myself I will employ a detective to find out. Personally I have always been in favor of the report being given out in camera methods."

"I don't think we shall be able to find out how the report got out," said Trustee J. Beckwith. "I'm sure I don't know how the papers could have got it. I was surprised to find it in the Press."

Must Have Full Facts.
Mr. Beckwith thought that a conference between the Chairman of the Board and the investigators would be useful and he moved that the Chairman be requested to arrange such a meeting immediately. "The investigators are more fully informed than we are going to act upon it," he asserted. "But we would like to get full information in order that we may do the wisest thing possible. The investigators are more fully informed on the situation than we are. It is up to us to take action on this matter. The responsibility lies entirely with the School Board. The Board and not the public will be held responsible in this matter. The idea in meeting the investigators is simply to get their ideas more fully."

Want Sensation.
"The majority of the public want a sensation and many of our citizens are looking for something pretty highly colored," Mr. Beckwith asserted. "I want to see as little disturbance as possible, no great flare of trumpets. The people seem to want something over which they can sit down at their breakfast tables and smack their lips over conditions of the High School. The public can be a little patient, it seems to me."

Chairman Raynor proceeded to rule Mrs. Coady Johnson's motion that the report be given to the Press out of order.

I would be very sorry to be compelled to publish it myself," Mrs. Coady Johnson replied. "The Board has no right to tell us what we have to report. Why should they tell it to the chairman alone? Do they think he is better able to tell us about it than they? I wonder if they think we are little babies? I object to such a procedure."

Mrs. Spofford moved that the Board could file with the chairman a list of question which it wished him to ask the investigators.

Mrs. Andrews protested that the Board had not yet discussed the report, and yet some Trustees wanted further information about it.

No Matter Who is Hurt.
"We at Yales had better go ahead and consider the report, though we may regret it afterwards," said Mr. Beckwith, who later moved that the Board deal with the report as soon as possible, only the interests of the children, what the parents ought to be to the children. Why, one leading woman from the parents' group is to make an investigation.

"Move we adjourn," Mr. Beckwith interjected and the motion was carried.

Enjoyable Surprise Party.
On Thursday evening the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson, of 728 King's Road, was the scene of a most enjoyable surprise party given in honor to Miss Bobbie Stewart, of Portland, Oregon, and Miss Neola Langdon, of Vancouver, leaving for their respective homes on Monday afternoon.

Music, games and dancing were indulged in, and after a dainty buffet supper had been served the young folks took their departure. Those present were: Miss Bobbie Stewart, Miss Neola Langdon, Miss Annie Hannon, Miss Irene Clarke, Miss Marion Watson, Miss Jean McGee, Miss Ruby Merryfield, Miss Marjorie Kirk, Miss Doris Hogz, Chas. Sly, Carl Skoote, Barney Cross, Billie Cross, George Thompson, Eric Kruse, Carl Paine, Mr. Stafford, Mr. James and Baby Henry Olsen.

Lady Douglas Chapter.—The monthly meeting of Lady Douglas Chapter, I. O. O. F., will be held on Tuesday at 2.30 in the Jones Building. A large meeting is desired to welcome the new meeting, Mrs. McPhillips.

Fine Photographs on Display.—In response to a request for information, relative to the swimming bath facilities and other out of door sporting arrangements in Los Angeles, W. F. Fast Infield Work Gives Tacoma Game

Tigers Were Always On Ball and Robbed Capitals of Several Hits; Cross's Fast Ball Puzzled Locals With Men on Bases; Washington Heard Kewpies Calling In Fourth Inning and Thompson Relieved Him.

Tacoma, 12; Victoria, 7.

Superior work in the infield gave the Tigers last evening's ball game by a wide margin. The visitors had nothing on the Capitals in hitting and the teams were about equal in pitching strength, but when it came to fast work in the infield the Tacoma tribe was forty lengths ahead of the Hansensites. The Tigers were always on the ball. They kept trying all night to rob the Caps of scratch infield hits, and the work of Chorlton, the visiting third-sacker, in making the last out in the ninth inning was indicative of the way the Tigers kept pouncing on the horsehide. Thompson hit a high boucer that just touched Cross's glove. The ball was deflected to one side and Thompson appeared to have the running to his liking. Chorlton raced in from third, took the ball with his bare hand, and nailed Thompson at first by two yards.

Kierstead Was Flashy.

Kierstead played a very flashy game at short for the victors. He robbed Dempsey of a hit in the fifth when he made a leap, tied himself into a knot and reached the ball with one hand. In the seventh he showed off his fancy footwork by making one of the fastest double plays ever seen on this diamond. He picked up Thompson's fast drive just over second, stepped on the bag for Rego's out and had the ball to first before Thompson was half way down the base line. In the seventh he showed the local another bit of whirlwind fielding. With two runs in, two men on bases and two men down he galloped across the infield and robbed Rego of a hit by a fast pick-up and a quick relay to first.

Looking 'em Over

Three reasons why the Victoria ball team is stumbling: Bad work in the infield, poor pitching and an easily riled catcher. The Caps' infield is about the slowest thing on legs. Dempsey is not playing the game he is capable of. Patton covers very little ground, and Handley hardly knows what he's at third. Messner is the only bright spot in the infield just now.

All Pitchers Poor.

As far as the flinging went all pitchers were far from being good. Victoria had the best of the hitting argument, getting 15 blows which went for 23 bases, while Tacoma collected 17 punches for 23 bases. Rego was the local choice for the mound and he got an awful lot of jolts in the first inning. With two men on he purposely passed Johnston to get at Kierstead, but Messner convinced Johnnie of his folly by slapping out a two-bagger and scoring three runs. Washington went along nicely until the fourth, when he took more punishment than Carpenter. Six consecutive hits, including a double, which scored five runs. Messner hit the ball so hard that John was having his usual off-day. Thompson, who finished the game, had a little stuff that puzzled the Tigers but at that he was found for eight safeties and four runs. Cross managed to last the whole game for the Tigers, due to the fact that he used the fast ball effectively in the pinches. The Capitals hit Cross hard at times, but they usually had their hands tied when it came to hitting with men on the sacks.

Once in Lead.

Only once during the games were the Capitals in the lead. In the first inning they scored two runs on three singles and two errors and added another pair in the second on Messner's double, which scored two runs. Rego, this put the Capitals in front but they only stayed there for two innings.

Bankhead's home run in the fifth added another tally. In the seventh two more runners. Bankhead singled and Handley doubled. Bankhead scored when Hanley dropped. Thompson's fly ball. Hansen lifted a double to left and scored Handley. The teams are finishing out their series this afternoon. Tacoma has won two games and Victoria one. Victoria plays in Vancouver next week. The box score follows:

Tris Speaker Dethrones Heilman as Best Batter

Pilot of Cleveland Indians Is Six Points Ahead of Detroit Slugger—Ruth Is Climbing Very Fast

Chicago, July 9.—Tris Speaker, pilot of the Cleveland world's champions, has dethroned Harry Heilman, of Detroit, for batting honors in the American League, according to averages released to-day which include games of Wednesday. The averages are for 45-or-more games. Speaker has increased his batting mark from .408 a week ago to .415, while Heilman suffered a slump, going hitless Wednesday and is now batting .403. Babe Ruth is making rapid strides toward the top of the ladder, and has advanced to fourth position, behind Cobb, the Detroit manager, who was hitting .394 before he was forced out of the game because of an injury. Ruth is hitting .378. He also made three home runs during the last week and brought his string to 31. Ruth also is proving the best run-getter in the American League, having scored 84 times. He has cracked out 97 hits for a total of 226 bases, which, besides his home runs, include 22 doubles and seven triples. George Sisler, the St. Louis star, added another base to his string, and is leading the base-stealers with sixteen. Other leading batters: Sisler, St. Louis, .354; Williams, St. Louis, .351; Tobin, St. Louis, .350; Veach, Detroit, .348; Severid, St. Louis, .337; Eddie Collins, Chicago, .351. Hornby Improve Lead. The veteran George Cutshaw, of the Pirates, closed a great week with the bat and as a result has become the runner-up to Roger Hornby, St. Louis, among the batters of the National League. Although numerous players are ahead of the slugging Pittsburgh first baseman, they have not played in as many games, the averages being for 45 or more games. Cutshaw, who was in tenth place a week ago, boosted his average from .347 to .365. Hornby, however, did well, increasing his average from .407 to .428. Williams, the Philadelphia outfielder, also was on a batting rampage during the week and moved up to fourth place with a mark of .357. He is four points behind Messner, a teammate, who is third with .361. George Kelly, the New York home-run slugger, cracked out two home runs and has caught up with Meusel, who added only one to his string. They have 12 each. Max Carey, Pirate outfielder, has been burning the paths the last week and is leading base-stealer with 25, which is three better than Frisch, of New York. Dave Bancroft, of the Giants, has scored 62 times, and is well ahead in this department. Hornby with 122 hits, leading the league, is ahead of bases with 195, which include 22 doubles, 12 triples and 9 home runs. Other leading batters: Young, New York, .355; Roush, Cincinnati, .354; McHenry, St. Louis, .353; Grimes, Chicago, .351; Maranville, Pittsburgh, .350; Fournier, St. Louis, .347; Mann, St. Louis, .347.

Scotch Footballers Playing All-Canada

Game in Montreal This Afternoon Expected to Draw Big Crowd; Scots Report Many Casualties Due to Extreme Heat in East and Heavy Railway Travel; To Visit United States.

Montreal, July 9.—Reporting many casualties as a result of their many games in the last few weeks, and particularly due to the extreme heat and heavy railway travel which the team has experienced in the last few days, the members of the All-Scottish soccer team arrived here yesterday, having reached the last stop of their long transcontinental tour across Canada and return. To-day they will meet the All-Canadian eleven in the final match to be played on Canadian soil prior to the departure of the team for the United States Saturday night. A huge crowd is expected at to-day's game.

Vancouver Gets Credit.
Speaking of the teams met by the Scots, Ted Sloan, manager, pays tribute to the teams they met at Toronto and in Vancouver. These teams, he considers, are the strongest of any they took the field against. The Scots have had a very fine trip. They won all games in which they played. The trip has been greatly enjoyed, and while the Scots found the travelling, steady playing and round of social activities quite a strain on them they have been greatly impressed by the hospitality of Canadians and the wonderful resources and scenery of the country. The Scots will play four games in the United States, and expect their hardest struggle with the Bethlehem team, which is reported to be one of the fastest and finest in the States, having several Old Country stars. The Scots are not anxious to lose one game on their tour.

Big Welcome in New York.
New York, July 9.—(Canadian Press)—Preparations are being made to give the touring Scottish football team a welcome on their arrival in New York Sunday morning. Officials of the United States Football Association will meet the train and entertain the members of the team until the game scheduled for Jersey City at 3 p.m. The game will be held in the International League ball park and a capacity crowd is expected.

Bays and All-Stars Will Play July 18

Junior Leaguers to Stage Game at Stadium; Girls' Guides Will Benefit

Arrangements have been completed to hold the exhibition game between the James Bays, winners of the Junior League, and an All-star nine picked from the other three teams in the league, at the Stadium on Monday evening, July 18, at 6.30 o'clock.

The Bays went through the season without suffering a defeat. Recently a number of their star players joined the Knight of Columbus and are now seniors. The junior club has, however, strengthened up and believes that it can easily take care of the combined strength of the other clubs.

Moffat will do the twirling for the All-stars, who will be fairly strong and may succeed in humbling the champions for the first time this season.

It is expected that the game will be played for the benefit of the Girls' Guides, who will be in charge of the ticket selling.

The juniors are looking for a good crowd at their big game and promise the fans something exciting in the way of base-running and hitting.

Shamrocks Beaten by Sidney Twelve

Local Intermediates Put Up Game Fight Against More Experienced Players

In a fast game of lacrosse the Shamrocks intermediates of Victoria were defeated at Sidney last evening by the farm-hands by a score of 8-1. The game was not as one-sided as the score indicates, the work of Norton in goal for Sidney being responsible for the Victoria tally being kept so low.

Sidney was supposed to turn out a team of intermediates, but sided several old hands on the Shamrocks. One of the Nortons appeared in goal and M. Norton played on the home side.

The Shamrocks, however, did not worry about being stacked up against more experienced players. They played the game to the limit of their ability. Fairall was the star of the local boys.

Sidney Opened Scoring.
Sidney opened the scoring, Johnnie Ghurke finding the net in five minutes. Fairall shot Victoria's only goal, evening the score four minutes later. McClure and M. Norton added a goal apiece to Sidney's total before the period closed.

In the second period McClure was allowed to run wild and shot two goals. Sidney slipped in another tally in the third quarter, Creighton finding the opening. In the last period M. Norton and Creighton scored for the farmers.

The teams were as follows:
Sidney—E. Norton, Logan, J. Crossley, J. Jenner, W. Crossley, J. Armstrong, J. Gharke, M. Norton, C. Creighton, M. McClure, Anderson and Charlie Reid.
Shamrocks—Campbell, Cameron, McNamee, Moses, Jones, Brown, Fairall, Sturgess, Heathcote, Catterall, Turner, Price and Wood.
R. McInnes and M. Simpson acted as field captains with Russ Hunter and Ernie McInnes as goal umpires. Peter Tester and Ed Christopher were the time-keepers.

A Twilight Game.
The Victoria team had a mishap on the way to Sidney. The motor truck in which the players travelled broke down and another bus had to be ordered. The team did not reach Sidney until 8 o'clock. Two members of the team were not able to go and Price and Turner, who are experienced players, filled in.

Hundred Players After Canadian Tennis Title

Toronto, July 9.—The Dominion Lawn Tennis championships which started on the courts of Toronto Lawn Tennis Club to-day brought together the greatest galaxy of tennis stars that has ever played on Canadian soil. Vancouver has sent two of her best players in B. V. Rhodes, who won the army championship of 1919 and Milne.

The Australian Davis Cup team composed of Anderson, Hawkes Peach and Todd are all playing through.

Winnipeg has sent more than a dozen players, including Bennett, the present Canadian champion, and C. D. Holmes, winner of many tournaments.

Other prominent entries are W. N. Rice, champion of Nova Scotia, and his partner, Dr. Macdonald, of Sydney; B. A. Goodman, champion of Saskatchewan, and his partner Dr. Wrecker, of Regina; E. H. Lampron, the champion of Quebec; C. G. Foulkes, of Kingston, winner of the Canadian championship three times, and Miss Clara Cassels, the brilliant American lady player.

In the men's open singles, well over 100 entries have been received. The elimination series for players in Canada's Davis Cup team will be played immediately after the Canadian championships are concluded.

The chosen team will then play the Australian Davis Cup teams.

K. of C. Practice.

The K. of C. will hold a practice Monday evening at 7 o'clock at Beacon Hill instead of Sunday, as previously announced. All members are requested to attend.

GOLF for EVERYBODY

W. J. Thompson

This is one of a series of fourteen articles by a well-known Canadian golfer, William J. Thompson won the Toronto and District championship in 1915 and 1920. In the former year he went to the fourth round in the American Amateur championship at Pittsburg. He is a Canadian amateur medalist, was the medalist at the Chevy Chase Invitational tournament at Washington, and is one of the well-known Thompson brothers who, as a team, won several championships. He writes of golf, its accessories and problems, in a manner that novice and good player alike will understand and enjoy.

SUGGESTION IN GOLF

In the British Open Championship in 1902, the first year, I believe, in which the rubber cored ball was used (Vardon who was playing with a gutty ball—a gutta percha ball) found himself partnered with one who was using the flaked. It was conjectured by Vardon to see his opponent's ball pitch short of the green and run to the hole. For those who had not used the gutty ball it seems that it was necessary to pitch right up to the hole. The fact of seeing the Haskell run—apparently reacted on Vardon's former—was enough to suggest on his approach shots and although he reminded himself that he must forget the other man's game, this apparently was not easily done. Vardon did not win the tournament. This is a clear case of what suggestion will do in golf.

All men have had different pasts and training and what appeals to one does not to another—so likewise what upsets one does not bother another. The brilliant Rice vouches for a man whose game was absolutely demoralized by rustling grass. I do not know what his past was but rustling grass sometimes is a warning of snakes and these are some who see snakes; when they don't exist for other people.

Returning to snakes as an illustration, just as a snake fixes its eye on a bird until it topples over a victim, so there seems to be some insidious influence which draws the ball into the bunker, or the hole, when once these have been suggested.

I am reminded of a well-known incident in an open championship presented off the line on a very short hole beneath a bridge. In the afternoon round he duplicated his morning's performance. I venture to say that he never played two worse shots in his life.

I stood one day and watched about twenty players drive off a hole where a slice would go over a fence. The juniors are looking for a good one of them went over the fence. On another occasion I heard a player remark to his opponent "Be careful you don't pull into that net; you are susceptible to it. When a golfer sees a fence which he may slice over he usually turns his body a little more away from it, he holds, face the danger the hole which is not the way he is standing. This under-ordinary conditions will produce a slice, and when he sees a net that is not to be pulled he just reverses the above, which ordinarily is the way to produce a pull. There is only one salvation in these cases. Be bold, face the danger and hit the ball firmly.

I remember an incident which makes me smile yet. My brother and I were shaving in a locker room prior to the qualifying round at Pittsburg. A young American player was so surprised to think that we would go in the face of luck by shaving before a game that he was almost stunned. He told us that at the last tournament he too had shaved and put on a clean shirt and had not qualified. This time he had not shaved nor changed his shirt. Needless to say he did not qualify this time either, although he was satisfied that he had played golf prior to and immediately after the qualifying rounds that certainly would have qualified him easily. There are enough difficulties for the golfer player without adding to them that of superstition.

Some professional has said that he knew of a man who claimed he could always make a good shot with the iron but was sure to miss with the cleek. On day he decided to take risk. He said to the caddy, "Give me the cleek, I'll chance it." Sure enough, he missed the ball three times. "It's no use," he declared, "I must have the iron."

The caddy rummaged in the bag and then glanced at the player. "Why?" he said, "You've got it. Sure enough the player thought he had been using the cleek and had simply frightened himself into failure. Dis-remember he realized he had the iron but he hit the ball. Suggestion again!

There are some golfers who win a lot of their games through "loosening" their opponents. I know of one man who when playing with another who is a long driver will remark that Jones or Ray were little if any longer. Before long the iron or the bushing starts which results in the rest of his game. Of course, this is not playing the game, and it is a serious breach of etiquette. ITS HISTORY AND AIMS IN CULTIVATION OF MUSIC. By George J. Dyke.

Part I.

The material and tangible signs of a city's prosperity are its industries. Its crowded wharves and its thronged markets of commerce.

As matters are at the present time no sensible reason can be given why everyone should not take some actual practical interest in music either as student, player, organizer or supporter.

Newly Formed Programme Committee

It is, therefore, particularly interesting to note that the club is planning big things for next season 1921-1922.

Plan of Work as Outlined

The subjects to be given are as follows: October—Artists' recital. November—Comparative and chamber music. December—Excerpts from oratorios. January—Operatic music. February—Representative modern music. March—Chamber music. April—Russian and Polish composers.

Mrs. Green to Open Season

Mrs. Gertrude Huntley Green has kindly consented to open the season with a piano recital on October 19, which will be an "open day."

"It was the Virol that saved her life."

40, Java Street, Ottawa, 21/9/20. Dear Sirs, I want to tell about my baby Doris Mabel. She weighed 34 lbs. when born and appeared healthy then, but began to waste away, and was so poorly that she had to be carried about on a pillow and no food would agree with her.

At the age of two months the nurse advised VIROL added to the feeding; she then weighed 3 lbs., and after a few days she began to improve.

VIROL was continued and she steadily gained until at nine months she weighed 17 lbs. The nurse at the Health Station said she had very little hope of the baby living, and we are sure it was the VIROL that saved her life.

Yours truly, (Sgd.) (Mrs.) W. J. BEGLEY.

VIROL is used in large quantities in more than 100 countries, and is highly recommended by the medical profession. It is available for the expectant and nursing mother, and for the child who is ill or weak.

SAANICH BEACHES NOW DRAW MANY VACATION PARTIES

MANY PRAIRIE FOLK NOTED AT CORDOVA BAY SUMMER COLONY

Cool June Delays Arrival of City Contingent; Hotel Is Declared Necessary

A feature of this year's camping population at Cordova Bay is the number of holiday makers from the Prairies who are taking advantage of the premier natural bathing resort in Canadian Pacific waters.

While the influx to Cordova Bay is this year smaller than that noted for the past two years, the percentage of visitors from the interior of this Province and the Prairies is far higher, many of the cottages being rented to families from Regina, Saskatoon and Calgary, while the tented population likewise includes many visitors from the interior.

A Late Season. There is little doubt that the dull and cool weather which has prevailed for the past few weeks is to be charged with the comparative lateness with which families from the city have removed to the beach, but during the past week there has been a steady increase in the number of families of Victoria who have joined the colony.

Whether due to the activities of those campers already located near the beach or to a lessened generosity of the sea, far less beachwood has collected above high water mark than at this stage of the season in previous years. This gives the foreground a neater appearance, and foregrounds the complete tidying up of the naturally beautiful shoreline before the season is through.

A Great Future. That Cordova Bay is in line to become one of the foremost resorts of the North Pacific in the course of the next few years is indicated by the general conversation of visitors, many of whom make early occasion to ask why it is that such a beauty spot is not as yet provided with a first class hotel catering to the tourist travel which would come with the opening of such an institution. In a small way this aspect is being supported by the large number of small refreshment institutions which are now being opened for the convenience of the holidaymakers, many of the proprietors agreeing that they are, in the main, getting a footing with a view to greater expansion which is believed to be necessary in the course of the next few years.

While most of the camping parties have their own means of transportation, there are now in operation a number of passenger cars which provide frequent connection with the city as a supplement to the train service on the Canadian National Railway.

AIN'T IT A FACT

Summer is here. Which reminds us that: They can prohibit parking in the parks, driving with one hand, sauntering along country roads, and other aids and accessories to courtship—But we have to go right on building schoolhouses.

OH ye Gods and Goddesses. See them all at the Greek Play, Royal Victoria Theatre.

CADBORO BAY IS GREAT ASSET

Popular Resort Attracts Many Permanent Residents to Victoria and Saanich

Regarded with esteem as an ideal close-in camping site, Cadboro Bay has a deservedly high place in the regard of Victorians, and possibly an even firmer hold upon the regard of families who can make seaside vacations of but a few hours duration.

This year the beautiful sheltered beach is lined with an even greater array of camps than ever before, while the scene on holidays, such as Wednesday afternoons or Sundays, is one of great animation.

All along the water edge clusters of children are to be marked playing in the shallow ripples, while groups of parents sit on the higher dry silver sand and chat while keeping an eye to the youngsters and their activities.

Cadboro Bay is in truth the peculiar heritage of the children of Victoria, but there is every reason for believing that this royal right to usage will in the near future have to be shared with children from other centres not so well favored, as both last Summer and this present season have witnessed the arrival of scores of families from points as far apart as Shanghai and Toronto, or the Southern United States.

Growing Fame Abroad This influx of new patronage to Cadboro Bay is proving to be a matter of the greatest importance to the of genial sunshine combined with sand castle building when they came to Cadboro Bay from the wider lands, where their parents make their home as administrators of Government or great industries producing raw materials.

Would Welcome Others Speaking of the effect which good hotels of the family type have in popularizing beach resorts with the well-to-do, Stuart Armour, host of the Cadboro Beach Hotel, regretted that there was not a similar institution at Cordova Bay, declaring that the more first-class hotels there were at the various Saanich beaches, the better it would prove for the advertising of the peninsula, and the sooner Victoria and the nearby districts would be built up with handsome homes.

"This one beach has proven attractive enough to bring scores of wealthy people here for long vacations, and if the others were to be provided

BAND ON BEACH PROVING SUCCESS

Concerts at Fowl Bay Drawing Large Crowds to Sea-side

With the advent of Band Concerts at Fowl Bay Beach that popular waterfront is enjoying a measure of increased interest and activity that is well deserved. One of the coldest of the sandy beaches, within easy reach of the city environs, the beach is being well peopled in the warm Summer afternoons. Bathing is carried on to a great extent, the water being warmer now than the season has advanced.

Every afternoon and evening the beach is the scene of a gay throng, while children are much in evidence. Facilities for picnics and teas on the beach are excellent, while it would be hard to equal the fine stretch of natural beach and sand that is there to be found. Sheltered to a great extent from the prevailing wind, Fowl Bay beach is the most attractive within the limits of the city.

CORDOVA BAY BOASTS FINEST BERRY PATCH

Sea-given Fertilizer Produces Luxuriant Crop; Many Comments Made

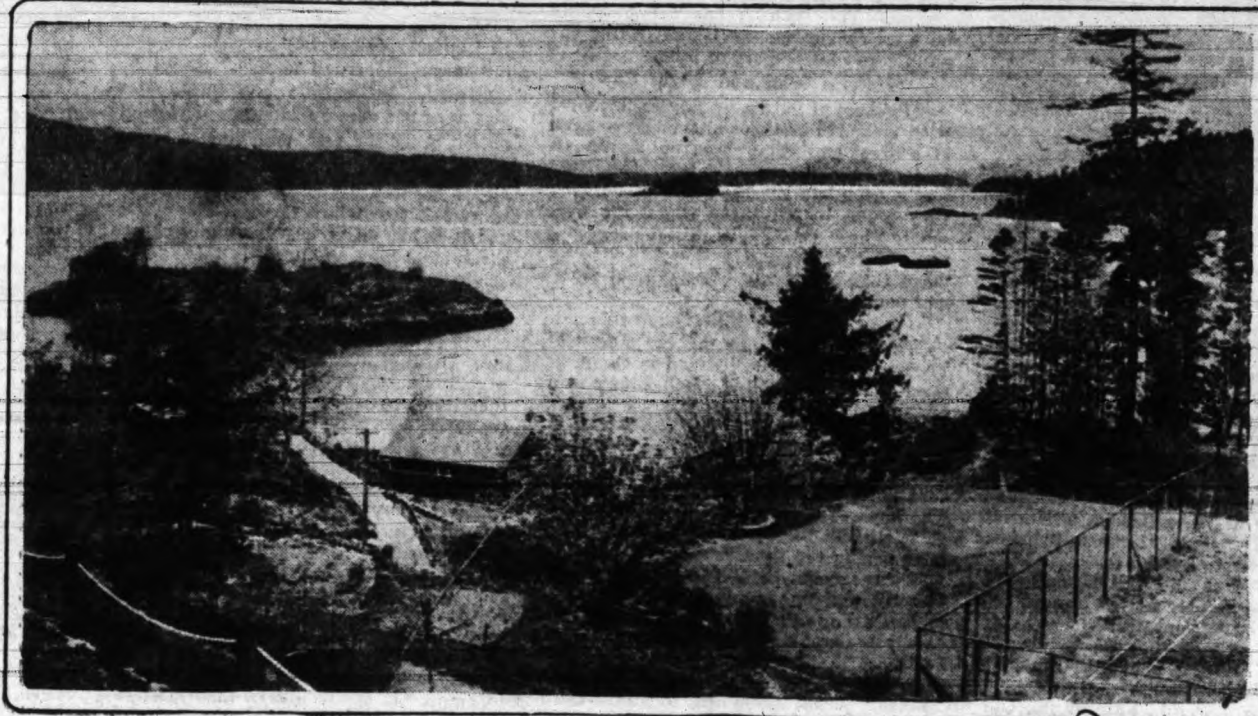

Although Cordova Bay district is mainly thought of as an ideal camping site for parties seeking quietude and a wonderful bathing beach, it has another claim to pre-eminence in possessing what Prairie Market Commissioner J. A. Grant considers to be the finest patch of strawberry plants in British Columbia.

This remarkable patch faces the main road leading to the settlement, just before the camping sites are approached, and is a portion of the McMartin estate. It is invariably the subject of comment by passing motorists.

Asked as to whether natural conditions have solely been responsible for the growth of such a uniform showing, Mrs. McMartin explained that the plants are, in the main, of the Paxton variety, well known to be vigorous growers, but they owe their unusual luxuriance to the fact that many tons of sealpork from the nearby beach was dug into the ground, in trenches, before the plants were set. As a result the long rows of uniform plants average above two feet high and wide, set thickly with massive berries.

"This method of fertilizing is well known to strawberry growers, having been used with great success by the late Mr. McMartin when he was operating a ranch at Gordon Head some years ago, the great crops resulting from this practice raising him the reputation of being the most successful grower of his day, and the jovial title of 'the Saanich strawberry king,' in the days prior to the rise of G. A. Vantreight to that admitted eminence among the soft fruit growers.

Beautiful View From Brentwood Hotel Looking Westward on Saanich Arm

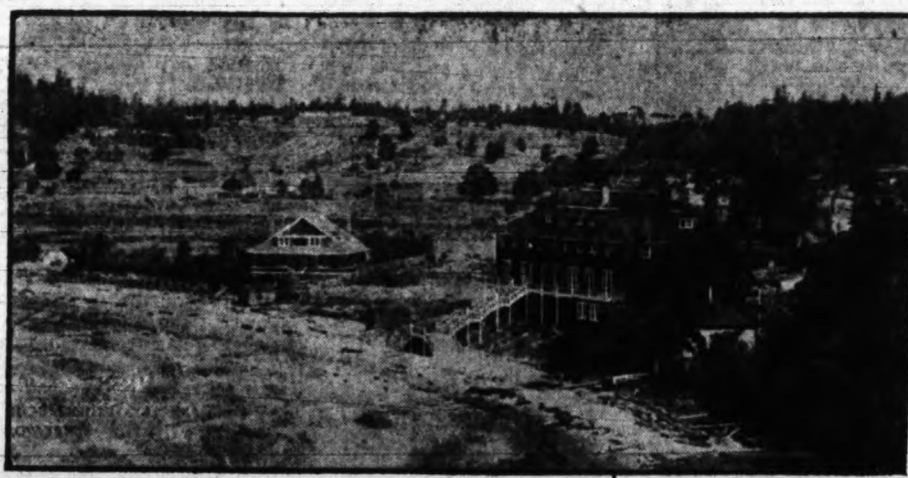

City of Victoria and Saanich, as many of the more recent of the well-to-do new residents of the district were first attracted to 'Vancouver Island' because of good reports as to the value of its beaches to those seeking to recuperate or holiday in quiet healthful surroundings and a gently warm climate.

There can be little doubt but that much of this good impression which has gone abroad as to Cadboro Bay is due to the fact that a first class family hotel is in existence right at the waterfront, Cadboro Bay is today spoken of as an ideal holiday resort by young folk now resident in Malaya, Central China, and leads attending the public schools of England, who had their first experience with similar comfortable homelike facilities for the well-to-do it would make a tremendous difference to Victoria," he said, declaring that already this year some six of his patrons had purchased either homes or homeites, thus showing their satisfaction. "Just think what it would mean if every beach in the district were working for the interests of Southern Vancouver Island to the same extent as Cadboro Bay is doing," he remarked.

Bob (dismally)—"Belle has refused me."
Jack—"She must be crazy."
Bob—"Yes, that's the only consolation I have—an insane wife would be such a trial."—Tit-Bits.

CADBORO BAY IS SCENE OF PERPETUAL CHARM

TENTING CAMPERS MUST GET PERMIT IF NEAR WATERSIDE

Of great importance to campers in Saanich is the fact that it is necessary that a permit be obtained from the Municipal Hall at Royal Oak before any tents be erected within 500 feet of either seabeach or inland waterfrontages within the limits of the Municipality.

While this by-law has been in effect for some years past, it is not generally known to the majority of those preparing to spend a Summer holiday camping. The regulation was found necessary at a time when clusters of tents of a semi-permanent nature were beginning to make their appearance at the choicest points close to the bathing beaches, this condition becoming in danger of creating a general nuisance unless brought under some restriction.

One of Beauty Spots For Picnickers

MT. DOUGLAS BEACH

Motor Camps Attract Automobile Tourists, and Pay Cities Well

A travel-stained motorist, driving a travel-stained car, containing in it a travel-stained family, approached, one afternoon late in July, a small city of about 50,000 inhabitants. The day had been hot, the road dusty, and the family were longing for a resting place. Having gone somewhat out of their way, they were uncertain as to what was the name of the town they were approaching.

"If there is a motor camp here," said the driver, turning to speak to his wife, "we will put up here for the night. If not, I am going to drive on to the next town, unless it is too far away."

You see, this family were not exactly rolling in this world's goods, but had enough to make a trip through the States up into the Canadian Rockies; and they managed it by camping on the road as they went, and did it as cheaply as possible.

Arriving at the town, they sought out the town hall. Where is the motor camp? was the question asked by the travel-stained motorist, as he fanned himself in the coolness of the city clerk's office.

That official was just as polite and courteous as could be. "Sorry," he said, "we haven't a camp here. It's been talked of for a long time, but nothing's ever been done. The auto club here is not as wide awake as it might be, and so, there is no camp. I know between you and I, continued the city clerk, as he bent confidentially toward the travel-stained motorist, "that the city council would be very glad to help them out to establish a camp, but—well, no one takes the initiative, and the council have enough to do without establishing a motor camp. I wish they would get on. I might tell you that you are not the first one to come in to-day asking for a motor camp, and not the first by a long sight this month, and you won't be the last."

"All I can do, and the best I can do, is to direct you to the next town, just about twenty miles away, and there you will find the finest kind of a camp on the North American continent. That city is drawing more business every week than you could shake a stick at, and I wish we could get the half of it here. The auto club will wake up some day to the fact that they are not doing their duty, and that one day this place will be forgotten, and so far back in the woods, and the other town so widely advertised that we might as well re-locate our headquarters." The travel-stained motorist, giving the city clerk bid him a sad adieu, and watched him from the window as the party drove away.

"There's good in the place of good business," he said sadly, "and it's going out of here every day in the same way. Well, when we do wake up—think me, and I shall be glad to be long in making that twenty miles, believe me."

And in less than an hour they approached the outskirts of the town. Right at the town limits was a sign which read:

"Motor Camp at the River. Free Facilities. Electric Ranges. Washers. War, Sanitation and Telephone. Goods delivered from the Town. Come Right In. We're Waiting for You."

"That's looks good to me," chirped the motorist, as he jumped into the car again, after reading this welcome news. As they drove along, they noticed the pretty scenery round the place, and getting into the town there was seen plenty of bright looking stores, several movie houses, and everything looking cheerful and up-to-date.

"See here, mother," said the travel-stained one, "you've got a little washing to do, and cleaning up, and I've got to do a little overhauling. I think we'll put in two or three days here, and get fixed up. What do you say?"

What did she say? Well, just what any woman would say. She said "Hear, hear," and the boy and girl said "Peachy," which is the way children have of expressing themselves. At least, the girl said "Peachy," and the boy said "Jake-aloo."

And when they got to the camp they found about thirty other motorists there; some just arrived, others preparing to leave, and some stopping for a few days. A caretaker came forward, gave them a hearty welcome, and showed them a nice little place to camp, right by the edge of a beautiful stream.

"There's a phone over there, mother. You go up and see if you can get down a few groceries for the night. You know what we want?" The lady went over, and got a local grocery store.

"I'm sorry, madam, it's rather late. Our delivery boy's gone, but I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll live near the camp, and if you'll tell me where to find you, I'll sure bring them over with me."

So it came about that the obliging storekeeper delivered the goods, and in a short time the family were comfortable for the night. But to make a long story short, the family stayed in that town just four days, during which they did a complete washing, took in a movie or two, visited points of interest round the country, and incidentally had a thoroughly good vacation. It cost them nothing, except of course, what they spent for their own needs.

This incident—came under the writer's notice but a few days ago, and was told him by a man who experienced the incident last Summer while traveling up into Canada. But it is a typical case, and it is mentioned now because of the endeavors of the Calgary Auto Club to establish a permanent camp in Calgary. There is one thing about the Calgary Auto Club, they overlook no beta. They do not leave it to the city council to do, or any other institution. They recognize the fact, and recognize it cheerfully, that if a motor camp is to be established here, it is the primary business of the club to get it established; and no one else.

After all, it must be remembered that it really matters nothing to the club whether there is a motor camp here or not. They could exist without a motor camp, but here is the point. Calgary has a spirit which will not allow it to remain idle. It must be up and doing all the time, and a motor camp is something in the "doing" line, and to do it one has to be "up," and the Calgary Auto Club is decidedly "up."

Its directors know to-day that there is getting to be a large travel from all parts of Canada and the States into the West. They know that with the completion of the circle tour from Banff to Windermere, the tourist traffic will be enormous and increased. They know, also, that the increase of motor camps throughout the States is tempting to many motorists, who in the ordinary way cannot afford to travel by any expensive route. If they travel by way of motor camps, it means a great difference in the expense of the trip. It means they will put up in towns, and not only put up there, but in a large number of instances, attracted by the cordiality and good will which has welcomed them, decide to stay a while. And staying awhile means business for that town, and when one figures up the thousands that come into the Canadian West every year, and pass through Calgary on their way to the coast or the mountains, it is business worth striving for.

There is not only those who must pass through Calgary. There are also those who have heard of Calgary, want to come here, and if they know there is a motor camp, there is all the more inducement for them to come.

Some steps have already been taken to get the camp established. There is a river, the stream whereof makes a fine road, and is called St. Patrick's, lying cheek by jowl with the island of St. George's, one of the city parks. And the proposition put by the Auto Club is a little need, it is that the city provide a bridge across to the island, and the Auto Club will try to do the rest.

It is the intention this year, now the bridge is ready by the city, to do what they can, so that in the course of the next year or two there will be a complete camp established at the island, and the advertising campaign of argument in the matter, for any clear minded business man can readily see the advantages accruing to Calgary by such an establishment. It is a clear case of boosting the city by showing the real spirit of hospitality. It will mean a great deal toward increasing the tourist traffic of the West, that class of traffic which is needed so badly.

Once started here, there is little need of further advertising. The people who take advantage of the camp will do all the advertising which is needed. To come into Calgary, to have a place to camp, with all kinds of facilities provided means more than can be put in ordinary printers' ink, and it has an effect in a hundred different ways. It will attract settlers into this country, who but for a trip at such and such a time, when they stopped in Calgary for a few days, they saw a business opportunity which led them to settle here permanently. We want a larger Calgary and here is one of the sure means to get it. It means much to business men in all lines of trade, in the garages, the grocery and dry goods stores.

And apart from all that it means that Calgary is falling into line with the progressive cities of the West, it means that no man will drive into town, and be told that he must travel another twenty miles or so before he reaches a camp. No, it is right there, and Calgary gets the business.

FIDO MAKES A FUSS

David Belasco was once talking of the ridiculous attentions lavished on pet-dogs-by-rich-people. He told a story of his own experience. "I went," he said, "to call on a friend of mine. When I had been there some time a pompous butler entered, and said to my hostess, 'Did you ring, madam?'"

"Yes, Harrison," was the answer. "I wish you to take Fido for a walk." "But Fido won't follow me, madam." "Then Harrison, you must follow Fido."—Tit-Bits.

"Let John do it"

INSTEAD of you doing the baking these holidays, let John do it! While the sun is shining and the out-o'-doors calls let him do the heavy work of kneading dough. Let him scorch his fingers; let his face get uncomfortably red like your's does and see what he will do!

There'd be no baking done in your home if John had to do it. No fear! Not while Shelly's 4X Bread could be delivered daily to your door—fresh and light and crisp. Evenly golden-crust with "body" that satisfies. Then why not do what John would do? Order Shelly's 4X Bread today.

The Diary of A Gordon Setter

Most animals have something of individuality about their character that distinguishes one from the other. Often one is styled "playful," another "sly," and so on. The following narrative is a true record of a Gordon setter dog that displayed a character as lovable as any human being, and a great deal more so than many that are called human beings in this world to-day.

Barney, as his name might suggest, is the particular doggie whom an Irish boy, the boy was about sixteen years old when he secured Barney from a friend, Barney as this stage was a fat and "roily" puppy, with large brown eyes and silky hair. He was a thoroughbred Gordon setter and came of a very famous strain of prize-winning animals.

Barney grew up to the age of youthfulness, turning to seniority, with his youthful master, and was his inseparable companion. On walks, swims, and all outings Barney would trot along ahead of his boy chum, and the two were closer friends than many human beings have ever grown to be. When about six months old the doggie received his first official lessons as a hunting dog in the woods, and for a whole season worked as a useful hunting doggie, guided by the more mature wisdom of an elderly but wise old Irish setter. He learned to "point" and to lie down when told. He learned all the arts of a hunting doggie, and became double dear to his boyish pal.

At times when all the world was going wrong for the lad, Barney would sidle up and place his warm black head in his master's hands, and the great brown eyes would seem to be welling up with sympathy. At other times, when the sun shone and all was well with their world, Barney would leap and romp, and his short happy bark was an unmistakable shout of laughter.

Barney, being a hunting doggie, was not allowed into the sacred precincts of the house, but for all that if it were very early in the morning, and the Ogress was not around the doggie would often slide in and pad-pad upstairs to his master's bedroom. He would push the door open very carefully and glide in unobtrusively. Crossing the room Barney would travel around the bed and thrust out an immense red tongue, and lick the face of his sleeping boy-chum. The boy would wake up, and pat the shaggy black head, and after a few seconds dress hurriedly.

Then followed the regular routine of the exit. The boy would glide down stairs, slippers in hand, and the dog would sit wisely at the top. If the coast were clear, and no Ogress in sight, the dog would be whistled to softly, and would come padding down stairs and so out into the garden. This happened day after day until Barney became a regular and very effective alarm clock, in his morning visit to the room upstairs.

At this stage the world war broke over the scenes of peace, and the boy was among those to pack up their kits and get away to the scene of the trouble. What happened subsequently came to him only in letters from "home." For a long time Barney moped and would not take his food. He still continued the morning trip to the room upstairs, but now he would lay his head sorrowfully on the empty bed, and tears would creep down his great brown eyes.

The Ogress, now no longer an Ogress, would find him there some hours afterwards and lead him down, petting him and treating him, indeed, as if he was the young master he so deeply missed.

After five years, or just short of that in point of fact, the boy returned, but in uniform. Barney seemed to recognize the oft-heard footsteps, but could not quite seem to recall the boy, now grown to man. One day, however, the uniform disappeared and in its place came out the old tattered hunting "togs" that Barney had grown to recognize as the sign of a great day in the woods.

Barney awoke to the fact that the man, in some unexplainable fashion, was the boy of his dreams, and once again the companionship was picked up, and is ripening in even greater love to this day. Barney is only one of thousands of doggies who have displayed the same faithful remembrance, only in some instances these poor doggies will wait in vain for their masters to return. All doggies have qualities that might well be called lovable, and they should receive the same tender care at our hands that they would render to us.

of its founders and builders. Largely constructed by community effort, the Pavilion is the source of constant delight to the boys a fact that repays those who aided in its construction by knowledge of good work well done.

The camp is to continue for the next five or six weeks and in that time something like two hundred boys will be put through the camp. Each boy is charged with a nominal fee, to help defray the cost of his upkeep, and in most cases this meagre charge has been paid by his parents or employer, where it is a business lad. The programme of work and play at the camp is so nicely blended that the boys are put at work that is instructive and interesting, and are allowed to play under circumstances that brings out the best that is in them. Of all community boy camps in the west, this one under the Y. M. C. A., at Beaver Lake, is outstanding for its completeness and excellent training in ideal surroundings and happy auspices.

SMILE IN SUNSHINE OR RAIN

The nastiest medicine in the world tastes a good deal better if there is a chocolate to follow. A smile is the "chocolate" of our daily life, only we can smile while we are taking the nasty medicine (the many little things we do not like to do or have done to us). Smile, then, and even the worst will seem a little easier.

COURTESY PAYS

Courtesy pays, it is the man who stops to say "thank you" who discovers that he has been shortchanged. Courtesy pays, it is the lady who says "please" to the telephone operator that is seldom told the "line is busy." Courtesy pays, it is the hallmark of one of Nature's gentlemen.

ONE AT A TIME

To do one thing at one time, but to do it with the energy and application that would be given to three things, makes for success. The opposite to this occurred when the professor placed his gold watch in the saucepan and held his breakfast egg to time the watch in boiling, while his mind was in his laboratory.

HAVE YOU THOUGHT

That nobody is ever all right; none are, always all wrong; all have something to teach us, if we have the mind to sift the right from the wrong. Every question has two sides; and those who take one or the other can rarely see both. Moderation is the name of the fence that separates any two extremes, and it is usually a "straight" fence dividing the untrue from the true.

Saanich Toy Exhibit Is Eagerly Welcomed

Trustee Y. Thorne of the Saanich municipality, has received word from his sister, Dr. M. Thorne of the Gray's Inn Hospital, London, England, in connection with the Toyeraft Fair to be held this fall. As stated in these columns recently under the guidance of Trustee Thorne, the Saanich school children are now preparing a first class exhibit to be shown at the annual fair at the famous London Hospital.

Toys of all kinds, woodwork, basket and raffia work, models of all natures and a host of other articles are to be included in the Saanich exhibit. There is a special prize to be given for a new universal toy to supplant the now age old Golliwog and Teddy Bear. The designer of this new toy will become famous and receive great monetary advantages in addition, many of the Saanich children are after this distinction.

It was by virtue of the kindness of Dr. Thorne and Trustee Thorne of Saanich, that the children of the municipality have been accorded this honor, but the privilege thus secured by Saanich is open to all districts, if the leaders are forthcoming to carry on the work. The Toyeraft Fair is one of the big annual toy shows of the Old Country, and is eagerly watched by toy designers of the British Isles and European countries, so that the next world's universal favorite is more than likely to arise from those included at the Toyeraft Fair of the Gray's Inn Hospital, the funds received at which are for charitable purposes in connection with the hospital.

The exhibition has been set for November 10 to 11; to be opened in the Armoury of the Artists Rifles, a famous territorial battalion, by Her Royal Highness Princess Mary on the first of these dates.

The Saanich exhibit will be collected and placed on display at the annual exhibition of the agricultural societies of North and South Saanich on October 4 and 5 of this fall. It is now known that a first class list will comprise the Saanich exhibit to this Toyeraft Fair of the Old Country.

To show what interest has been taken by the originators of the idea, the story of the Toyeraft Fair that appeared in the Times of recent date has been widely copied in the English Press where great credit has been given to the enterprising municipality in this respect. A special place is to be prepared by the organizers for this exhibit from the Far West, one of the furthest outposts of the Empire that will be represented at the Toyeraft Fair. The children of the municipality are taking a keen delight in their preparations and already many ingenious toys and art-craft work are under way.

Scouts Busy in Many Camps

The local Wolf Cubs have been enjoying camping in many instances during the past week-end. No less than five different Packs were represented in one way or another, in various places near the city.

St. Mary's and St. Aidan's
Representatives from the St. Mary's and the St. Aidan's Wolf Cub Packs camped together at Telegraph Bay during the Dominion Day week-end. The Scout Troops bearing the same names have already enjoyed several joint camps and this last Wolf Cub camp was no less successful. The two Troops will be going on a trek camp up the Island during the middle and latter part of July.

Victoria West and James Bay
Members of the James Bay Pack joined with members of the Victoria West Pack at a week-end camp held on Esquimalt Harbor near Parson's Bridge. The camp was a complete success and was enjoyed very much by all those who were present. These two Packs will be meeting again during the last two weeks of July when they will be in their regular Summer camp.

Fairfield Pack
The two Star Cubs of the Fairfield Pack spent the last week-end in camp, at Glen Lake. Except for a half-hour's rain on Friday, the weather was beautiful. The time was spent in various ways including swimming, boating, fishing (without much luck), with a hike to Langford Lake through the bush on Saturday. The boys of the Pack wish to thank Mr. G. H. Bissell for the use of his land and boat during the time in camp.

To the Scout or Wolf Cub, camp is a pleasure and an education. It is here that he finds the truth in the saying that "necessity is the mother of invention." Here he learns that personal comfort comes at the expense of effort and a knowledge of Nature. That there are natural laws which must be complied with, in order to be healthy. And, that to "rough it" is a sure sign of being a "Tenderfoot." To avoid this he makes every effort to educate himself so that he may be classed an "old timer." But the greatest fact he comes into contact with is Nature, the handiwork of God. A thousand times more wonderful and perfect than anything of human origin.

Tommy Collects Much Overtime

It had been a long and hard day for Tommy at school; he had been to a birthday party the evening previously and consequently had let his homework "slide" as he inelegantly expressed it. It was therefore not unnatural that he had contracted three detention periods around himself in as many classes and was now laboring through his third set of hundred lines.

The first imposition had read "Homework is set to be done." Tommy had waded through that one easily, as he had contrived to use two pencils in the one hand and his work was halved, as was the time of detention, for his teacher seeing that he was far ahead of his fellow culprits took pity on him and allowed him to go. The second set of lines had worried him more. It was for a teacher he was afraid of anyway, and his handwriting was not, in some unaccountable manner, acceptable to this august personage. These lines read, and re-read "I must not chew gum in class or in public."

Tommy had done this imposition twice over and every time he came to the word "Gum" he moistened his fevered lips with a dry tongue and thought shameful things about his teacher. It was a very jaded and disappointed Tommy that wandered into his third prison cell to finish the burden of overtime he was to do that day. Outside the "clock" made but a fair hit and the resultant yells of delight came tantalizingly to his ears as he bent over the third and last set of lines in front of him, these were for a teacher that was perhaps Tommy's favorite, and the imposition cut doubly hard. They read "Punctuality Pays." Every time Tommy got to the first of the irritating duo he wanted so much to write it "punctuality" but he refrained.

He was alone in this detention period, as all his fellow sufferers had speeded through their allotment, spurred on by the self-same "clock" of the baseball bat from the adjacent field. The hand moved slowly and ever more slowly over the paper, "Punctuality Pays," "Punctuality Pays," "Punctuality Pays," "Punctuality Pays," "Punctuality Pays." Unconsciously his hand came to a weary rest.

While this had been going on his teacher had not been noticing the flight of time. She had not been writing any lines, and the time went fast as the day's work passed in review. It was almost with a start that she noticed Tommy in the far corner bent low over his desk. Oh, yes, he had been doing an imposition for being late in the drawing class. He should have finished, she mused, besides there was much to be done this evening before the daylight had gone.

"Tommy, bring me your work, please." Tommy came down to earth with a visible start and guiltily gathered up the sheet on which he had minutes since finished to work. He stole a quick look at it, ten lines only. Gee, what had happened.

"Why, Tommy, you have been here an hour and is this all you have done!"
"Yes, mum, my hand is kind of tired, it was the third imposition I got to-day, and er-and" Tommy's voice trailed off seeking the lost excuse.

"Well, if you promise to remember to behave better in future you may go." Tommy lost no time in thanking his teacher and in scuttling off.

The teacher looked at a neat little wrist watch with a sigh, "Punctuality Pays," she mused, "and I am half an hour late for my appointment now, poor Tommy."

Hobbies Make or Mar Our Enjoyment

These are the Summer holidays, and day by day the precious time is passing away, until at last the end will have arrived. Every year we spend our holidays at this and that, and in looking back can we say that we learned anything useful? Mostly we could not. Let this Summer be the exception, and when the time comes round to go back to school again, let it be with the knowledge of some art, study, or hobby that we learned in these days of play.

Contrary to the first impression, some things can be learned not as a "work" but as "play," in the very best form. Hobbies are little accomplishments that single us out from the rest, and give us a personal sense of pride in that knowledge, and in the useful work to be accomplished by each little hobby. All hobbies differ and it is not all of us who would choose the same hobby as our own.

Some take to painting and drawing; others to pyrography or burnt work; some to leather work and basket making, others again to fretwork and wood carving. Photography is another useful and practical hobby, while others will suggest themselves to each individual mind, as one that would be a pleasant one to learn for self amusement. As we grow older we too often find that we have to turn to others to be amused, it is then that the ability to play the piano, the violin, or to paint and draw, that stands us in stead and we can once more amuse ourselves, and be a bother to no one, or dependent on any for our amusement.

Most of us have some little accomplishment that, though perhaps scarcely suspected, if developed as a hobby might be of the greatest use to us in the years to come. It is not likely that many of us worry much about the years to come, but hobbies to be real hobbies are a pleasure to us now, and forever.

One of the first things that strikes one is seeing a gathering of grown-ups assembled for social entertainment, is how few are accomplished at anything to such a degree as to be able to amuse others by their skill or art. In our parties we are continually turning to the same Jack and Jill to supply us with the needed song. It is the same Willie that we call on to entertain us with his display of magic disappearing thimbles, live rabbits, and things of that nature. If we need a ghost story or a comedy to thrill or delight us we must wait until Dad arrives, and so on down the list.

How few of us are truly able to do anything to entertain or amuse our fellows. This could be easily rectified if every little girl and boy took up some entertaining hobby. Photograph albums, letter working, raffia and basket making, the art of telling stories that will hold your audience and many other little accomplishments which make all the difference between our Jills, Jacks, Willies and the main assembly who must have others to amuse them.

Take this Summer as the start of your first hobby and, be what it may, see to it that by the time school re-opens again you will have at least mastered some art or accomplishment that will both amuse you by yourself, and have the power to entertain others. One hobby, and indeed it might be considered the very best of all is a very general and broad one, the art (for it is an art only required by constant practice) of taking a keen interest in everything. Those equipped with this hobby, if it may be called such, are never at a loss for amusement, and are always well informed and interesting to their friends around them. That is at least one hobby that may be acquired by every one of us. Let us start to-day.

Shoot-Shock-Stab; Fish Try All Means

Living a life of extreme activity, in which the element of risk is never absent, fish have a variety of ways of protecting themselves and bringing down their enemies, that is bewildering in the ingeniousness shown, and a sincere tribute to the Creator of all.

Some fish, by virtue of their larger size and strength, merely pursue smaller fish and swallow them wholesale, the salmon is an instance of this. Yet other, like the saw fish and the sword fish have thin rapier-like snouts and actually pierce their prey as if stabbing them to their death. Sword fish has been known to strike a wooden ship so hard in the keel that it penetrated to the entire breadth of the wooden keel, and the fish was killed by the force of its own blow. Fights between whales and sword fish have often been recorded.

More subtle is the action of the electric eel and the torpedo fish. The torpedo fish in the forward part of its body has perfect galvanic batteries and actually shocks its prey to death. The electricity that is darted forth by the torpedo has been known to reduce a man's arm to uselessness for the moment. The electric eel is even more powerful and has been known to kill a horse by the force of its terrific electric energy, although but a small creature itself.

More dainty in its action but none the less subtle is the Angler or Sea Devil, as it is often called. This fellow sometimes reaches a weight of 300 pounds and is a perfect "hobo." He buries himself half in the mud of the bottom of the ocean and waves two little gaudy colored baits in the air. These are really two antennae, but are colored and at night give off a quaint ghostly light. This the Angler waves in the face of the first fish that passes, and is of such a size as to be worth eating. The fish stops when the Angler rises swiftly and engulfs him to his doom. If now a larger fish than he approach, the Angler, taking caution to be of first importance, withdraws his two luminous baits and snuggles closer into the mud until all is again safe for his interesting, if leisurely, pursuit of breakfast.

But for quaintness and dexterity it would be well nigh impossible to equal the European Sly. The Sly is a plain ugly looking fish with nothing in its appearance to suggest the honor it deserves in this class. The Sly is chiefly interested in insects, and where often these will not alight on the water to be eaten the Sly still has another arrow to his bow. Noticing a nice fat fly perched just out of reach on a lily pad the Sly approaches very gently and while some four, five or even six feet away slides up with his eyes and mouth at the edge of the water but none of himself showing. Taking aim like an expert marksman he shoots a tiny drop of water at the insect, the object of his aim, with such dexterity that almost without exception he knocks it into the water to be eaten. Trout, in our streams, which jump all day at the elusive fly would give half their possessions for the aim of the ugly but effective Sly.

Naval Brigade Boys Have Outing To-day

The band of the Boys' Naval Brigade are giving afternoon and evening band concerts at Cordova Bay to-day, for the benefit of the many picnickers at that beach. The boys were conveyed in cars to the Bay this afternoon, where they will render two first class programmes to liven up the affairs at the popular bathing beach.

This evening, in between the concerts, the boys of the band are to be the guests of Dr. Melbourne Raynor, who has arranged a tea for the lads at the beach. Under Bandmaster Rumsby the band of the local division is attaining a prominence that is duly deserved after the steady practice of the lads during the winter months. Last week they officiated at band concerts at Brentwood during the J. B. A. A. Regatta—both at the hotel and on the beach—their performance being much favored.

If arrangements now planned are carried out successfully, the band of the local division will be among those attending the opening of the Memorial Peace Arch at Blaine this Fall.

Two more boys have received their call to the sea, and will ship on the S. S. Canadian Observer in the coastal run from Vancouver to San Francisco, as deck hands. The ship is now on her maiden voyage from the Atlantic to this coast, and will be here shortly. The two boys selected will then join her, probably at Vancouver.

Boat practice on the Princess Beatrice is proceeding this week, as well as having the lead and other nautical instruction being carried out on the S. S. Algerine. Boat pulling is forming one of the main pastimes of the local division now, and their efforts have met with success, the Brigade being handsome winners in this event at the J. B. A. A. regatta last week. The Sooke and Gordon Head subdivisions are both doing well, and have a large attendance of active members

SOCIAL SERVICE

LECTURES PLANNED

Anglican Secretary at Summer School Next Week

Among the lecturers at the morning sessions of the Anglican Summer School next week in St. George's School buildings, Rockland Avenue, is Rev. Canon C. W. Vernon, an experienced worker in the field of Christian Social Service. Previous to his appointment as General Secretary to the Council for Social Service of the Church of England in Canada, Canon Vernon was in charge of the Church of England Institute at Halifax, N.S., and had served the Church in various industrial centres in the Maritime Provinces.

Beginning next Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, Canon Vernon will deliver a course of lectures at the Summer School on "The Social Task of the Church." The following subjects will be covered in the course: "The Church and the Homes of the People," "The Church and the Children of the People," "The Church and the Work of the People," "Students of social service problems who plan to attend these lectures are advised to read beforehand a bulletin issued by the Council, entitled "The Lambeth Conference on the Social Task of the Church." Copies are now available for registered students at The Precincts, 512 Burrard avenue, or they may be obtained on the opening night of the Summer School, next Monday evening, at St. George's School, before Dr. Gowen's first lecture.

SIX CONVERTS

TO MOSLEMISM

English Women Follow in the Footsteps of Mahomet

Six Englishwomen took part when 200 British Moslems from all parts of the British Empire assembled at the Working Mosque to celebrate 'Id-ul-Fitr, the Festival of Breaking the Fast.

Strange men in stranger garb thronged the roads leading to the Mosque—Persians, Indians, Moslems from Hyderabad, Somaliland, and Aden; Nubians from Zangbar, and Khat Pashas from Afghanistan.

The festival of Fitr follows the feast of Ramadan, the ninth month of the Mohammedan year, during which their Prophet rigorously abstained from eating and drinking to all except the sick, the traveler, and the soldier in the field, until but a "hair's-breadth" divides night from day.

Throughout the East the ceremony was observed from the rising of the sun until long after the appearance of the stars. Part of the day is devoted to prayers and meditation, and the cool of evening to the disposal of dozens of succulent dishes. Stuffed chicken served in jellies, dates baked in butter, and such delicacies as fried rice and fish in spices.

At the closing of the celebrations began with the Moslems' call, "God is great," he chanted, "Come ye to prayer, to prayer." The worshippers rose and, taking off their shoes, they stood in long rows on the carpets, heels together, heads erect, and facing East. The Englishwomen Moslems took up positions behind the men. At word from the Imam, who stood in front of the assembled throng, every worshipper knelt. At another signal, they rose and turned towards the east, and the Englishwomen kneeling behind, touched the ground. For some moments there was silence. Then the Imam delivered an address, at the end of which he embraced one of the worshippers, saying, Mubarak (may the festival be blessed). The greatest welcome to the Moslems was the liberal helpings of Indian dishes in a hall adjoining the Mosque.

Among those present were the Turkish Chamberlain, and his staff, the Prince of Kurul, ruler of an Indian State; and the King's Indian orderlies.

TO COMMEMORATE

BATTLE OF BOYNE

Loyal Orange Lodges Will Hold Special Functions

The two hundred and thirty-first anniversary of the battle of the Boyne will be observed by the Orange Society of Victoria on Tuesday next. The arrangements are in the hands of the executive of the County Lodge, together with representatives from the Primary Lodges, Lady Orange and Loyal True Blue Society.

Herbert Pearce, Worshipful County Master, is chairman of the committee, Mrs. E. W. Giddens, secretary, and Mrs. D. C. MacKenzie, treasurer. The united lodges will attend Divine Service to-morrow at 11 a.m. at Centennial Methodist Church, where the Rev. Bro. J. I. Batty will preach.

On July 12 the brethren will assemble at the Orange Hall at one p.m. in preparation for the parade which will move off shortly afterwards to the Stadacona Park where the demonstration will take place. Addresses will be given by various clergymen of the city dealing with the present-day problems affecting the association. A fine programme of sports will follow.

In the evening a dance will be held in the Main Orange Hall the proceeds being devoted to the fund for the Orange and True Blue Orphanage building. Officiating in the religious rites will be the Rev. J. I. Batty, Rev. Dr. Daly, Rev. T. McConnell, Rev. A. de B. Owen, Rev. W. C. Frank, and the Rev. J. F. Dimmick.

Eloquent Preacher at First Church.—The services at First Presbyterian Church on Sunday will be taken by the Rev. T. H. Mitchell of St. Andrew's Church, New Westminster. Mr. Mitchell is a newcomer to the Province, having been formerly stationed at Edmonton, Alta. He is a brother of the Rev. A. E. Mitchell, of Vancouver, and is a preacher of outstanding ability. Mr. Mitchell has never preached in Victoria before, but he was present at the farewell given to Rev. John Gibson Inkster, the late pastor of the Church, and gave a short address, which made a great impression on his auditors. His clear enunciation enables him to take a place in the front rank of British Columbia's pulpits orators.

Non-Unionists Read Favorable Opinion Into Assembly's Motion

"The only point on which the General Assembly divided was the question whether organic union should be the goal or whether co-operation on its own merits should be the policy of our church," says Rev. Daniel J. Fraser, president of the Presbyterian Church Association, in a statement on the union question at the recent Assembly. The statement follows: Representative members of the Presbyterian Church Association who were in Toronto during the recent meeting of the General Assembly met informally after the Assembly had voted on the subject of church union. Professor D. A. Murray, Ph.D., of McGill University, was appointed secretary as successor to the late Rev. Dr. Andrew Robertson, a committee was appointed to provide for the organization of the Association synodically, and I was authorized to issue a statement as to the position in which the Association now finds itself.

The full text of the motion looking to the consummation of organic union "as expeditiously as possible," which was the finding of the Assembly by a majority of four to one, and the amendment which demanded that no action be taken towards the consummation of organic union without a "clear and unmistakable mandate from the people" and which favored close co-operation with all other Christian communions, together with the formal dissent from the finding of the Assembly with reasons, and the answers to these reasons for dissent, will all be found in the July number of The Presbyterian Record. It is unnecessary, therefore, that I refer to them in this statement.

As there is a great deal of confusion in the minds of our friends regarding the meaning of the Assembly's action, I wish to give my personal interpretation of the issue to the members of the Association. This interpretation has appeared in several prominent newspapers and has not been questioned.

The Union Committee.—The so-called "union" committee which was appointed by the Montreal Assembly of 1917 and re-appointed with a few changes by the Ottawa Assembly of 1920, and which included nine members of our association, unanimously recommended to the General Assembly a comprehensive and constructive programme of co-operation with the Methodist and Congregational Churches. I was asked the Assembly to express its mind on the two policies of organic union and co-operation. The Assembly, by a large majority, in favor of the motion set its face toward organic union as the desired goal, but did not commit itself to the attempt to consummate organic union in the immediate future. In fact, the action of the Assembly involves that the consummation of the proposed organic union is indefinite.

After having declared its mind in favor of the principle or policy of organic union and its consummation whenever the time may be ripe for it, the Assembly decided to adopt a number of recommendations sent to it by the union committee which provide for a large measure of co-operation with the negotiating churches. These recommendations are in complete harmony with the amendment and had the unanimous approval of the Assembly. The point on which the Assembly divided was the question whether organic union should be the goal or whether co-operation on its own merits should be the policy of our church. There was absolute unanimity that there should be no coercion in favor of organic union, but that those representing both sides of the question should heartily support in the meantime the closest possible co-operation among the three communions. Many of the advocates of organic union are confident that this cordial co-operation will inevitably lead to their desired goal; others of us think that co-operation, if given a fair chance, will solve our pressing problems and render organic union unnecessary.

Unity of Church.—What the Assembly set itself to do was to preserve the unity of our own church in the East and to make provision for meeting the needs created by the so-called union churches which have sprung up in New Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. It was felt by those on both sides that everything possible must be done to prevent a schism within our own ranks either in the East or in the Middle West. This task, I think, the Assembly has accomplished by a palpable compromise. The discussion throughout was perfectly frank and courteous. There was an evident desire that we should get each other's point of view and make mutual sacrifices in the interest of the peace, unity and prosperity that have so largely prevailed during the past four years. We have reached a sort of "gentlemen's agreement," and those of us who violate the spirit of good-will, harmony and tolerance that characterized the meetings of the union committee and of the General Assembly will have to take the responsibility for any friction or division that may result.

St. Paul's Garden Party.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Patterson, Selkirk Avenue, was the scene of an enjoyable garden party yesterday afternoon in aid of the Young People's Association of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. Rev. Dr. Maclean was chairman of an excellent programme, which included the following items: Cornet solo, W. W. Cameron, violin solo, Miss Dorothy Cruickshanks; vocal solo, Miss Olga Lambert; address, Rev. Thomas Menzies, M. P.; address, R. W. Perry; vocal solo, Mrs. Edmond; violin solo, Fraser Williams; vocal solos, Misses Jean Loudan and Irene; selections, Mr. Foutie's orchestra; vocal solo, Mr. Hughes. The accompaniment was played by Mr. Hughes, headmaster of the Selkirk School for boys.

HOLDING CONFERENCE IN WESTERN CHINA

Problems of Canadian Methodists in New Country

Victoria has recently had an important unit of the Methodist Church in conference here. What a difference to conditions here is that of the Methodist Conference of West China, which met at Cheng-tu, the capital of Sze Chuan province. The story is excellently told by Rev. A. J. Elson in a recent issue of The Christian Guardian.

MISS LEE ARRIVES TO SPEAK TO-MORROW

Miss E. Rosalind Lee, well known writer and speaker, arrived in this city this afternoon, and to-morrow morning will address the congregation at the First Unitarian Church. Accompanied by Miss Hilda Hargrove, daughter of the late Rev. Charles Hargrove, Miss Lee is travelling to New Zealand by way of San Francisco.

They have recently toured in the United States, and arrived here from Seattle. At Christ Church Cathedral.—The Dean of Columbia will preach at the 11 o'clock service to-morrow morning at the St. George's School on "The Message of the Epistle to the Colossians for To-day," a sermon introductory to Dr. Gowen's lectures at the Summer School next week. At to-morrow night's service at half-past seven, Dean Quainton will preach on "What Francis Thompson Saw in the Face of Christ," in continuation of a series of sermons for summer Sunday evenings on "What Certain Modern Poets Have Seen in the Face of Christ." The music at the evening service will be augmented by an orchestra under the direction of Miss G. Scrope Shrapnel. Meet-week from Tuesday to Friday inclusive, daily celebration of the Holy Communion will be held in the Cathedral at 7.30 a.m., while the Summer School is in progress.

WINNER OF ALF'S BUTTON TRIUMPHANT

Little Winner Had Stirring Time in Capturing Holder of Trophy

Ever alive to the opportunities of the moment and thoroughly delighted at the element of chance in the competition arranged for their benefit, the boys of the city congregated early to-day at the corner of Yates and Douglas Streets, fifteen minutes before the search for the holder of "Alf's Button" was to take place.

Some boys commenced a round of all four corners, systematically asking every man who he in view the vital question, "Have you seen Alf's Button?" Others stood on one corner and "sized up" the pedestrians into the various classes—those who were obviously loafing, and would not be likely to have the button—those who looked guilty, and probably had the valued prize—and those who were merely in the way, and not even aiding in the search.

Many suspected the policeman on point duty of having the button. One elderly man was acquainted of the search evidently for the first time when an excited youngster raced up to him, beating two other boys by a length—shrieked the question in his face, "I haven't got your button was the indignant reply, "are you crazy?" The elderly man had proceeded a few steps when another boy beat him, and he began to see that the question was not quite as personal as he had at first suspected.

B. C. SHROD VET. AS JERSEY BREEDER

Dominion Live Stock Experts Find Possibilities Especially on Island

To discover the livestock possibilities of British Columbia and especially Vancouver Island, Dominion agricultural officials arrived here to-day. They are Dominion Livestock Commissioner Arkell and William Varley, of The Agricultural Gazette, and one of the officials in charge of the $100,000 Dominion fund agricultural education in the Province of Canada.

"We are discovering the agricultural possibilities of this country," said Mr. Varley to-day. "Almost more than anything we are struck with the possibilities there are of this becoming a great Jersey country. I have been in the Jersey Islands from where this breed came and the climate there is very much the same as the climate here. The Jersey ought to take to this country as well as the breed does in its native land."

TODD CHOICE FOR TRIP TO OTTAWA

Plan to Send Him as Delegate to Municipal Union

Alderman A. E. Todd will represent Victoria at the annual convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities in Ottawa July 17, if the City Council's present plans should be carried out. The City Council will name its delegate to the convention when it meets a week from Monday, but Alderman Todd is being supported for the honor by members who probably are able to carry his nomination.

SUPPRESSED REPORT ON HIGH SCHOOL LAID BARE

prior to the opening of the school in September, 1920. We feel that this made itself manifest early in the year. Disatisfaction arose at the beginning of the year over the allocation of work to various members of the staff. Although some advice was given to the principal in the allocation of the work, he felt that members of the staff who were available might have been asked their preferences.

OBITUARY RECORD

The funeral of Baby Edgar W. DeY, the thirteen months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. DeY, took place yesterday afternoon from the B. C. Funeral Chapel, where service was conducted by Rev. S. Cook. Many friends attended, and numerous floral tributes covered the little casket. The remains were buried in Ross Bay cemetery.

Elizabeth Bloomfield, relict of Charles Philip Bloomfield, a former chief of police of Victoria, died this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. T. Weight, 954 Arcadia Street. She was in her seventy-ninth year, a native of Liverpool, England, and came to Victoria fifty-one years ago. She leaves four daughters and one son, all in Victoria, Mrs. D. C. Rife, Mrs. A. S. Harris, Mrs. W. G. Roach, Mrs. A. T. Weight and Miss Bloomfield, also seventeen grandchildren. The funeral will be held from the B. C. Funeral Chapel on Monday at 3:30. The Ven. Archdeacon Sweet officiating. Interment will be made in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

The death occurred yesterday afternoon at the residence, 3008 Douglas Street, of Frances Jane Hawkins, widow of John Hawkins. The late Mrs. Hawkins was in her sixty-ninth year, and was born at Plymouth, England, and came to Canada about 45 years ago, settling with her husband and family at Cobble Hill. It was fourteen years ago that the family moved to Victoria, and Mrs. Hawkins resided here ever since. Her husband died four years ago. She is survived by five sons and one daughter, Robert Henry, Thomas W. C. Francis, J. Frederick C. Williams, and Mrs. F. A. Prior. There also survives a sister, Mrs. P. J. Hall, of Victoria, and two brothers, Wm. J. Culham, of this city and T. E. Culham, of Liverpool, England. The funeral has been arranged to take place from the B. C. Funeral Chapel on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, where service will be held by the Rev. F. P. Chadwick. The remains will be laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Glassford, wife of John Wesley Glassford, died last evening at the residence, 2145 Carroll Street, in her sixty-ninth year. The late Mrs. Glassford was born in Caledonia, Ontario, and had been a resident of this city for the past eighteen months, formerly residing at Moose Jaw, Sask. She is survived by her husband, three daughters and one son, all residing in this city. The funeral will take place on Monday at two o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel, the Rev. J. L. Baily officiating. Interment will be in Ross Bay cemetery.

ROTARY CLUB TEACHES MANY BOYS TO SWIM

As part of its boys' work program the Victoria Rotary Club is now busy teaching the boys of Victoria how to swim. Arthur Saunders, wearing on his bathing suit the yellow-crowned Rotary emblem, is spending his time at Fowl Bay and Cadboro Bay, showing youngsters the latest strokes. Large numbers of kiddies are taking advantage of the Rotary Club's efforts.

Mr. Saunders starts his lessons at Fowl Bay at half-past nine every morning, and continues until noon. Instruction commences at Cadboro Bay at half-past one in the afternoon and continues until six o'clock.

Gun Club Shoot—The Equimall Gun Club will hold a shoot at ten o'clock to-morrow morning at its Admirals Road grounds. Ammunition can be secured on the grounds.

teachers were not of a nature to give the Board of Trustees sufficient ground for the sending out of these five letters without first having invited the principal to meet them for further discussion. Further, in regard to the reports of the principal, we feel that a confidential report that is adverse should not be submitted to a Board of Trustees until that principal has had an opportunity to reply to the criticisms and given an opportunity to the teacher to remedy them.

In light of the evidence submitted we most respectfully recommend: 1. That no dismissal of any member of the staff be made at present.

2. That, if possible, at least two reports be made to the Board of School Trustees of the City of Victoria on the work of each member of the staff during the time between the opening of school in September, 1921, and November, 1921, by each of the following: (a) The principal of the Victoria High School. (b) The Municipal Inspector of Schools for the City of Victoria, who is to be appointed by the Provincial Inspector of High Schools.

3. That more time be given by the principal of the Victoria High School to supervision and less to actual teaching.

4. That the principal give his staff definite instructions on all points wherein he expects them to carry out his policy of administration.

It is suggested that the principal of the Victoria High School be appointed, as in our opinion the work of a school of this size makes such an appointment imperative.

London, July 9.—In an editorial on the Pacific question and Premier Lloyd George's reported declaration to the House of Commons that he hoped to make a statement on the Anglo-Japanese Treaty Monday, but that no definite date could be given, the London Times says the official record of the proceedings in the House omits the qualifying clause relative to these replies. The clause, therefore, it adds, may be regarded officially as non-existent.

LLOYD GEORGE-VALERA CONFERENCE IS NEXT EFFORT FOR IRELAND

Talked With King. London, July 9.—Earl Middleton, South Irish Unionist leader, reached London this morning after having traveled nearly all night from Dublin, and was almost immediately re-elected in London by King George. It is understood he reported to the King details of yesterday's momentous conference in Dublin at which a truce in Ireland was arranged and stepped were taken for bringing together Edmond de Valera and Premier Lloyd George.

STORM RESTORED POWER OF SPEECH

Thunder Benefited Veteran on St. Lawrence Steamer Montreal, July 9.—"It's too strong," exclaimed C. Lavier, a Canadian Army veteran of Ogdensburg, N. Y., who had been totally dumb for nine months after hearing a particularly heavy clap of thunder during a storm last night. For some minutes before he was trying to explain that a cigarette offered him was too strong. Lavier was on board the steamer Ripide King, en route from a Toronto military hospital to visit his sister in Montreal, when the storm restored his speech. Just before the storm Lavier had been extremely nervous and all efforts on the part of fellow-passengers to quiet him were of no avail. A friend who was traveling with him offered him a cigarette, but with shaking fingers he wrote on his pad that the tobacco was too strong. No sooner had he done so than a terrific clap of thunder shook the vessel and Lavier, to the amazement of all around, repeated the written words in a natural voice, exclaiming over and over again: "It's too strong."

CONVENTION WOULD BRING 1,000 PEOPLE TO CITY NEXT YEAR
City Seems Assured of Roads Meeting Now

About 1,000 delegates probably will attend the next annual convention of the Good Roads Association of Canada if it is held here next year, according to a letter which Mayor Forster received this morning from S. L. Squire, chairman of the Executive of the Association.

Mr. Squire assured the Mayor that he was making every effort to have the convention meet in Victoria. This city was recommended as a meeting place by the Resolutions Committee at the Association's recent convention at Halifax, but no definite decision on the matter was reached. Since his return from the convention the Mayor has been urging the Association Executive to decide definitely to call the next convention here.

The only difficulties which lie in the way of holding the convention in Victoria, Mr. Squire says in his letter to the Mayor, can be easily overcome. "It looks as if we had got the convention all right," the Mayor said this morning.

"The objective we should set for the convention would be to bring 1,000 people," Mr. Squire declares in his letter to the Mayor. He adds that arrangements for the convention here might be made by the British Columbia Good Roads League. If a series of meetings were arranged by that body, Mr. Squire says, a member of the Executive of the Good Roads Association of Canada could come out to Victoria to speak.

POLICE WAGE FIGHT IS STILL UNSETTLED
Government Refuses to Interfere; Does Not Uphold Increases

Reports that the Provincial Government had definitely upheld the police wage increases proposed by the Police Commission are unfounded, it was learned to-day. The facts are as published in The Times some days ago. The Government has simply refused to interfere in the wage dispute between the City Council and the Police Board.

As a result of the Government's decision not to interfere in the matter, the ultimate outcome of the dispute remains in doubt. Members of the City Council claim that they do not have to pay the wage increases desired by the Police Board, while the Police Commissioners maintain that the Government's action means that the Commission has been upheld.

Mayor Porter admitted to-day that he had been advised of the Government's decision, but refused to discuss the matter. He said, however, that the morning paper's report that the Council's appeal against police wage increases had been rejected was garbled. The matter, he said, would come before the City Council at its next meeting for final decision.

City Is Puzzled.
The legal aspect of the present dispute has puzzled the City Solicitor's Department. The law provides that the City Council shall pay police wages as fixed by the Police Commission, "subject to an appeal" to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. The Police Commissioners point out that this appeal has been made by the Council and the Government has refused to grant it. Therefore, they declare, the Council must proceed to pay over the increases.

On the other hand, the City Hall claims that the Government has merely refused to interfere and until the Provincial authorities make a decision one way or the other the Council does not have to pay the increases. If the Government had definitely rejected the Council's appeal, the aldermen admit, the increased salaries would have to be paid.

Refuse to Pay Increases.
If the aldermen adhere to their present determination they will refuse to pay the wage increases. It is expected that the Police Board will then proceed to take legal measures to force payment.

The Mayor's information on the subject was merely a copy of a recommendation on the wage question which Hon. J. W. de B. Farris, Attorney-General, laid before the council. He said that the Government's decision is merely that the Government refuses to interfere in the dispute between the Council and the Police Board.

EVENING UP OVER WEEK END

(By Burdick Brothers, Ltd.)

New York, July 9.—The stock market opened under pressure this morning with weakness pronounced in the issues that showed heavy tendencies yesterday. After the first show of bullish activities there was a general slow recovery and evening up over the week-end. Mexican Petroleum went down to 23 and closed at 24. There is considerable switching from the industrial shares to the railroads and there is, no doubt, better times ahead for the carriers as news from Washington of late has been considerably more favorable to the constructive side of these issues. Taken as a whole the general market has had much to do with during the past several months and there will be times ahead when the market will be more active. There is a further depression, but the generalist would show gradual improvement from now on and especially the railroad shares.

TO-DAY'S TRADING IN WINNIPEG MARKETS

Winnipeg, July 9.—The local wheat market today was erratic. July, after the opening advanced to 177 1/2, and later fell to below yesterday's close, recording a new low of 174 1/2. The close was 174 1/2, this figure. October also closed weak with a loss of 1 1/2. The coarse grain market was in fair demand, with the flax and rye markets dull and featureless.

The demand for cash wheat was somewhat slow and premiums were inclined to be weaker, being quoted at 4 and 5 cents for the two top grades, with no bids received from No. 3 Northern.

The offerings continue light and a very small amount of grain is changing hands. A good active demand continues for oats, but the offerings continue light. Sreeds were unchanged to 4 cent higher. Barley was in fair demand, with the flax and rye markets dull and featureless.

ARMEN OF U.S. FLY IN CANADA
Privilege for American Military Pilots Extended

Ottawa, July 9.—(Canadian Press)—It is announced that the Air Board, at the request of the United States Government, has extended the time limit for a period of six months in which certain classes of United States pilots and aircraft will be allowed to enter certain conditions be allowed to enter and fly in Canada. The extension of time covers the period of six months from May 1 to November 1, 1921.

Only qualified American military and naval pilots will be allowed to fly United States aircraft in Canada, and then not to carry passengers or goods.

Union officials stated that the strikers were forced to seek their jobs on the terms offered by employers because the finances of both organizations would not permit them to fight any longer.

GOVERNMENT REPORT INFLUENCES MARKET

(By Burdick Brothers, Ltd.)

Chicago, July 9.—The trade placed a bearish bias on the market yesterday, especially the estimated farm reserves which are taken to mean a carry-over of July 1st of nearly 100,000,000 bushels. The early loss was fully recovered about mid-season, but towards the close of the season the market was influenced by the decline in local cash premiums and the fact that the market was naturally contracted as Monday. News was without important feature. The seaboard estimated 100,000 bushels of corn late yesterday, and while farmers are not following the advance there is evidence that the market is showing an important way on all breaks.

The outstanding feature in the pit was the relative strength in July as compared with September, while the cash market, which is relatively strong, and sold at reduced discounts. The demand was broader than for some time, but the market for the first time in months. The seaboard estimated report, business yesterday about 500,000 bushels. The Government report suggesting the possibility of another record yield was naturally contracted and bearish.

On—Baring by elevator interests and for investment account stimulated by the bullish Government report made public after the close of the day. The cash market independently strong tone early in the day and prices were well maintained, but towards the close of the day and the cash market comparatively strong. Advice from the country continue to tell of disappointing yields and light-weight grain.

WOMAN AND CHILD EXPRESS PACKAGE

Salt Lake, Utah, July 9.—A woman and a thirteen-year-old boy reached Provo, Utah, yesterday as an express package, following consignee's demand. Constantinople, Mrs. Thero Sarafi and son were expressed to the former's husband, who is a farmer.

During the twenty-one years that "Ben Hur" was being produced on the stage it is estimated that 20,000,000 people saw the play.

SOMETHING NEW!
SHELLY'S 4X CAKE

RICH, light, fresh; tempting golden goodness! Icing on top and risen lusciously high. The children can hardly sit still when they see the bright cake knife dividing the fine, close texture of Shelly's 4X Cake. And you, too, will feel a stirring in the "inner man," both of you. See if you don't! Six toothsome varieties to delight your taste—"Silver White," Chocolate, Raisin, Fruit, "Fourx Spice" and "Sun Gold". Kept moist and fresh and full of flavor by their sealed container. No need now to bake at all. Try Shelly's 4X Cake—no hands touch it but your own.

IMPORTANT WORK FACES RED CROSS

Lecturer Deals With Society's Vital Aims

A stirring plea for support for the Red Cross Society in its after war aims for the improvement of health, prevention of disease and mitigation of suffering was made by Dr. James W. Robertson, chairman of the executive of the Red Cross Society of Canada, in his lecture to Summer School students and others who availed themselves of the opportunity offered by an open night at the High School auditorium yesterday.

In referring to the work of the Red Cross during the war, Dr. Robertson mentioned that the society, which in 1914 was a comparatively small organization, had received during the world conflict, a total of $10,000,000 as the result of the work of the Red Cross in offering of the people of Canada.

Spirit of Race Alert.

"The war made known," said Dr. Robertson, "that the spirit of our race has not decayed. The ancient courage of the race has not weakened and the morale has not broken down. No record of ancient heroism exceeds the quiet heroism of the men in the trenches. The war, however, did make known to us the shocking condition of the race physically."

Before the peace conference met, said the lecturer, medical men had discussed the matter and their deliberations had resulted in Article 25 in the covenant of the League, in which thirty-one nations pledged themselves to carry on the Red Cross Society with the aims mentioned above.

New Zealand Foremost.

Speaking on the movement for good health in different parts of the world the speaker remarked that New Zealand stood foremost in working for good health through public measures. Infantile mortality had been reduced by one half in forty years. In Canada 12,000 babies would be saved each year if this country had done as well as New Zealand.

"Although Ottawa is my home town and Ottawa loves Toronto like Victoria loves Vancouver, I cannot let it cloud my admiration for what Toronto is doing. Toronto is holding the torch to this country by its efforts for the improvement of health. No city on this continent manages its health affairs as well as the city of Toronto."

During the years 1909-1919 Toronto had reduced its infantile mortality by more than 600 babies a year. Deaths from typhoid had been reduced by 240. Every typhoid infection during the last three years had come from outside. Deaths from consumption had been reduced by 1,000 a year. Altogether the number of deaths had been reduced by 1,800 a year. Toronto had 112 nurses on the city pay roll and 22 well baby clinics, where mothers took their babies for advice.

Public Nurses.

Well-trained public nurses were a necessity in every city, claimed the speaker, and Red Cross money is being used to train nurses for public duties. It was the beginning of the crusade to obtain a training corps. Nurses were provided for provincial departments in British Columbia and the Red Cross Society had agreed to supply twelve nurses to the public health department. Fifteen other organizations doing work of this nature were assisted by the Red Cross Society.

Speaking on the Junior Red Cross, Dr. Robertson said the outstanding aim of the branch was to promote good health habits. Teachers in every school should become directors of the Junior Red Cross. School should be a place where children learn good health habits. One hour every Friday afternoon, he advocated, should be devoted to Red Cross work.

The people of Canada needed arousing to the necessity of helping the movements for good health he pointed out. In one province in Canada in the year 1919 out of 5,000 maternity cases in outside districts only one in twelve received medical attention, and babies died in Canada two for one as compared with New Zealand. School medical inspection in this country showed seventy-five per cent. had some minor or minor defect. Out of 1,900 children examined in the city of Montreal on one occasion only two were found to be absolutely free from any defect.

Minister's Introduction.

In introducing the lecturer, Dr. MacLean, Minister of Education, said it gave him pleasure to notice so many teachers were prepared to forego a part of their holidays to avail themselves of the opportunity offered by the Summer school.

Introducing Dr. Robertson, the chairman described him as one of

RED HOT JULY DAYS
HARD ON THE BABY

July—the month of oppressive heat; red hot days and sweltering nights; is extremely hard on little ones. Diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and cholera infantum carry off thousands of previous little lives every summer. The mother must be constantly on the guard to prevent these troubles or if they come on suddenly to fight them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during the hot summer as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels and stomach, and an occasional dose given to the well child will prevent Summer complaint, or if the trouble does come on suddenly will banish it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"Your co-operation in this matter will be appreciated. Mail your letters at the General Post Office whenever you can, and mail them as early as you can."

"By the way, have you a letter slot or other mail receiving device in the doors of your office and residential premises? Such facilities tend to accelerate deliveries and provide added safety to mail."

SPEED UP ON MAIL
POSTMASTER URGES

Mistake to Wait Until the End of the Day, He States

A circular letter has been sent out by Postmaster H. F. Bishop, a copy of which has been sent to the Chamber of Commerce, in an effort to speed up mail from the city. The letter in which Mr. Bishop advises business men as to the best time to arrange for their letters reaching the Post Office reads as follows:

"It has been observed that the majority of the business houses in this city post their day's correspondence just after the close of the business day, with the result that not only is Post Office work unduly congested during the evening hours, but correspondence often misses connections that might have been made if business men would get into the habit of mailing their morning correspondence about noon.

"Do you know that mail for Ottawa, Montreal and the Maritime Provinces makes the best connection by the steamer leaving here at 2:15 p.m. standard time? Mail for Okanagan points is dispatched only by afternoon steamer, while a close connection is made by the same steamer at Vancouver with the Kettle Valley train, which carries mail for Nelson and all points in Southern British Columbia east of Midway.

"A number of steamers leave Vancouver for coast and Northern British Columbia from 8 to 11 o'clock at night. The afternoon steamer from Victoria makes connection with these boats. This affects mail for Prince Rupert, Dawson and Grand Trunk Pacific Railway points.

"Letters for Vancouver city mailed in Victoria for dispatch by the night steamer are not delivered in the residential sections by the morning delivery. Even in the business section they have to wait for the second morning delivery.

"The Nanaimo afternoon mail closes at 2:45 p.m. standard time. The morning mail from Victoria does not reach Nanaimo until nearly 1 p.m. Why not take advantage of the afternoon mail and have your letters delivered in Nanaimo first thing next morning?"

CORNS
Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freemore" on an itching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freemore" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

STOMACH TROUBLE
DUE TO THIN BLOOD

It Usually Disappears When the Blood Is Made Rich and Red.

Thin blood is one of the most common causes of stomach trouble. It affects the digestion very quickly. The glands that furnish the digestive fluids are diminished in their activity; the stomach muscles are weakened; there is a loss of nerve force. In this state of health nothing will more quickly restore the appetite, digestion and normal nutrition than good, rich, red blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood, making it rich and red, and this enriched blood strengthens weak nerves, stimulates tired muscles, and awakens to normal activity the glands that supply the digestive fluids. This is shown by an improved appetite, and soon the effect of these blood enriching pills is evident throughout the whole system. You find that what you eat does not distress you, and that you are vigorous instead of irritable and listless. If your appetite is fickle, if you have any of the distressing pains and cramps, if belching gas should at once take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and profit by the better condition in which they will put you.

These pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WIND ON THE STOMACH QUICKLY RELIEVED

It is a good thing to know just what to do when gas belching starts. One sufferer related the following experience: "A few months ago I ate some green vegetables and some fruit that was not quite ripe. It brought on indigestion, hicoughs, gas and cramps. I belched gas continually. A neighbor urged me to use "Nerviline." I took it in hot water, and got quick relief. I will never again be without this valuable remedy." Nerviline is a household necessity; large 35c bottles sold everywhere.—Adv.

Canada's greatest men who had played an important but unostentatious part in the history of Canada during the last thirty-five years. He first knew him as a Professor of Agricultural at Guelph and he had no hesitation in saying that Canada was indebted to no man greater than Dr. Robertson for its scientific agricultural development. Dr. Robertson is also mentioned as instrumental in founding Summer schools.

Enthusiastic applause greeted the resolution of thanks to Dr. Robertson, proposed by T. W. Gibson, director of the Summer school.

BAIT TO CLIMBERS

Challenge Is Out to Mountaineers From United States

"Bring on your mountain climbers" is the challenge which J. G. Thomson, Commissioner of the Victoria and Island Development Association, has issued to the mountaineering clubs of Seattle and Portland. Mr. Thomson has a motive, of course. The Mazanac Club, of Portland, is a popular and strong organization of mountaineers. Each year they get out a handsome book on mountain climbing, profusely illustrated with beautiful color plates and photographs, many of which are taken by the members during their climbs. The book is well known to mountaineers, for every mountaineering club in the world of which the Portland
