THE BEE.

PRINTED BY J. BAYON,

NEW ORLEANS:
THURSDAY MORNING, MARCH 23, 1837

We publish to-day, on the first page, the act to incorporate the New-Orleans and Texas Navigation company, and to incorporate the Mexican rail way company.

Appointments by President Van Buren.

In addition to the appointments published officially in the Gazette, which we copied into the Bee of yesterday, we have to announce the appointment of WILLIAM H. HORNE to be Attorney of the United States in Alabama, and JOHN CATRON of Tennessee, as a additional judge of the Supreme Court of the United States, under a law passed at the last session of Congress.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE PRESIDENT.

By and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Officers of the Branch Mint at N. Orleans.

David Bradford to be superintendent.
William H. Hort to be treasurer.
James H. Rogers, to be melter and refiner.
Robin Tyler to be coiner.

Mr PEYTON, member of congress from Tennessee who is quite honest so conspicuous, with Mr. Wise of Virginia in the Whitney affair, declines a re election.

The Tobacco Trade.

WILLIAM A. KING of Alabama, was offered the appointment of minister to Austria, but declined accepting—we are not acquainted with the name of the person who has received the appointment. Mr. Wheaton has been appointed envoy to Prussia.

These diplomatic appointments are of great importance in the eyes of the government, and in fact they involve objects which are more interesting to the United States, than at the first blush they would seem to be. There never has been, we believe, an American envoy at the court of Vienna, nor at that of Berlin for many years past. Our relations with the former court are re-instated and renewed at the latter, in compliance with a resolution of the house of representatives requesting the president to enter into negotiations with the European powers in order to procure the introduction of American tobacco into those countries on more advantageous terms than heretofore. We see no reasonable impediment to an arrangement by which that important product of our agriculture should be received into the ports of Prussia and Austria on a liberal footing, which would be the means of diffusing it in abundance over the whole of Italy, Switzerland, and the greater part of Germany. The governments of Great Britain, France and Spain think they derive a great revenue by clogging its importation with enormous duties, as they would do from a more moderate one; and we do not see why we are to suffer in the anti-revenue system, that negotiation on the subject between those powers is at rest. It is to be hoped that the German courts will be influenced by more enlightened views.

The Senate of Pennsylvania have negatived by a majority of more than two to one, the bill to grant the manumission to slaves, and to prevent kidnapping. This is a very favorable indication of the state of public opinion in that great state.

As a public evidence of the feelings of the northern people on this exciting subject, we publish the following from the New York Courier & Enquirer:

RIOT AT POUGHKEEPSIE.—A lecturer of the name of Gale Campbell, an Anti-slaverylecturer, on the 27th of February, to be held at the Presbyterian Church, in the village of Poughkeepsie. Handbills were posted up, inviting the citizens to attend. The Poughkeepsie Journal gives the following account of the subsequent disgraceful proceedings.

Soon after the handbills were posted, a second, in the following words, appeared in several public places.

OUTRAGE.—Fellow citizens, an Abolitionist, of the most revolting character, is among you, exciting the feelings of the North against the South. A request for leave to be delivered this evening, at 7 o'clock, at the Presbyterian Church, in Common street.

You are therefore invited to attend and unite in putting down such a heresy by peaceable means this foul offend and abolition.

In the night of the 27th the States guaranteed by the Constitution to be protected.

Feb 27, 1837. THE UNION FORever.

Accordingly, when the lecture began, the audience [illegible] was in a disposition to put an end to it, that the [illegible] nigger," as he was called by some of his hearers, [illegible] necessary to attempt making his escape [illegible] which he made with some difficulty, and with the loss of [illegible] outer garments.

End of the Florida War.

The official articles of capitulation between General Jesup and the chiefs of the Seminole Indians, were received by yesterday's mail in a Mobile paper. The [illegible] that has been sent to that city in an extra of the [illegible] Journal and Advertiser. Thus this lamentable, [illegible] and unpleasant war has been brought to a conclusion, and this is confirmed in every particular the account of the cessation of hostilities which we published in the Bee on the 17th instant, from a verbal report which we obtained from Col. Foster of the army.

General Jesup, the commander of the troops engaged in this contest, deserves no small share of praise for the gallantry and perseverence with which he has prosecuted to a successful termination. The close of the winter campaign which he adopted—to encompass the territory of the savages with a cordon of posts and to guard every outlet on the sea coast by which they might be supplied with ammunitions and provisions, was wise in the end to be crowned with success—while the vigour with which he pursued them into the fork of the rivers, and in particular the overthrow which he inflicted upon them in the Wahoo Swamp, from which they never recovered, accelerated the period of their surrender.

It is the determination of the Governor of Florida to preserve in his residence for the protection of the frontiers, till the last Indian has passed the boundary of the territory. It is expected that, as on all similar occasions, some of the separate outlaws will continue their depredations, notwithstanding the capitulation of the main body. It is believed that by the 10th article of capitulation, all of the Indians will be in the power of the Governor on the side of General Jesup for the faithful fulfilment of the treaty on the part of the Indians. That percentage is the head chief of all the different tribes of which the nation is composed—he is very aged and his people look with deep and universal reverence by his counsels.

The officers and soldiers who have thus successfully terminated this warfare, are entitled to the commendations and gratitude of their country. The three principal officers, General Jesup, Colonel Foster of the Department of Infantry, and Colonel Harney, commandant of the U. S. Marine corps, are veterans who won a high fame in arms during the last war with England. The two former were engaged in the sanguinary battles of Bridgewater and Chippewa, and the other in numerous conflicts in these actions and others on the same theatre of war, they both received the thanks of their Government, and an advance of rank in the army. Colonel HENDERSON commanded the Marines on board the glorious Old Constitution, during several of her cruises in the same war, and, if we are not mistaken, he occupied the same station on board that vessel when she engaged and captured after a very severe engagement, an English Frigate and Corvette, the Levant and Cyane. For his gallant services in that affair, Colonel (now Major) HENDERSON in common with the other officers of the Constitution, received the thanks of congress—a sword also was presented to each of them by order of the same body.

These gentlemen, therefore, are no novices in the art of gathering laurels. But we will take upon us to say that in no conflict in which any one of them had been engaged, did he encounter perils of so appalling a nature, or endure such harassing fatigue or such distressing privations as in the late campaign in the swamps and hammocks and lakes of Florida, and we trust their country will know how to bestow upon them the distinctions and rewards which they have so richly merited

CAPITULATION

Of the Seminole Nation of Indians and their allies by Jumper, Blunsawar or Davy, and Yallobeter, representing the principal chief, Micanopy, and fully empowered by him, entered into with Major Gen T. S. Jesup, commanding the United States forces in Florida, the sixth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-seven.

Art. 1. The chiefs above named, in behalf of them selves and the nation, agree that hostilities shall cease immediately, and shall not be resumed.

Art. 2. They agree and bind themselves that the entire nation or such as may assemble will emigrate to the country assigned them by the President of the U. S. west of the Mississippi.

Art 3. Until they emigrate they will place in the possession of the General-in-chief, all property in their charges for the faithful performance of their engagements.

Art. 4. The Indians shall immediately withdraw to the south of the Hillsborough. Those found north of that river and a line drawn from Fort Foster due east from it to the Ocean, without permission of the General commanding, after the first of April will be considered hostile.

Art. 5. Major General Jesup, in behalf of the U. S. agrees, that the Seminoles and their allies who come in and emigrate to the West shall be secure in their lives and property; that their negroes, their bona fide property, shall accompany them to the west, and that their cattle and ponies shall be paid for by the United States at their valuation.

Art. 6. That the expenses of the movement west shall be paid by the United States.

Art. 7. That the chiefs, warriors, and their families and negroes shall be subsisted from the time they assemble in camp near Tampa Bay, until they arrive at their homes west of the Mississippi, and twelve months thereafter, at the expense of the United States.

Art. 8. The chiefs and warriors with their families will assemble in the camp to be designated by the commanding general, as soon as they can, and at all event by the 10th of April. Yaholoocha will come in at once with his people, and the other towns will follow as fast as possible.

Art. 9. Transports will be ready to take the Indians with their negroes off to their western home.

Art. 10. Micanopy is to be one of the hostages. He is to visit the commanding General and will remain near him until his people are ready to remove.

Art. 11. All the advantages secured to the Indians by the treaty of Payne's Landing, and not enumerated in the preceding articles, are hereby recognized and secured to them.

Signed at Fort Dade, on the 5th of March, by General Jesup, and four of the principal chiefs.

The doors being opened,

The Recorder declared duly elected by the council, Joseph Maurice, captain of the guard of the 1st municipality; Messrs Jacob Hart and J. A. Bertus, lieutenants.

On motion of Mr. Crozet, resolved, that it should be inserted in the journal, that before the election of officers of the guard, the council had accepted the resignation of Mr. Penne, the present captain

On motion of Mr. Bertus, resolved that the officers just elected, shall enter upon their duties on the first day of next April.

On motion of Mr. W. F. C. Duplessis, the rules being dispensed with,

Mr. Preval offered a resolution, directing the committee of improvements to confer with the Orleans Theatre Company, concerning the erection of a Theatre on Circus square.

The rules being dispensed with, said resolution was rejected.

Mr. Canon offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Mayor be, and is hereby authorized to represent the first Municipality, at the meeting of the stockholders of the Orleans Theatre Company, and to accept the amendments to the charter, published in the official paper of the State, and approved March 6th, 1837, reserving to this municipality, a loge number 1, on the first tier of boxes, on the side of General Jesup for the faithful fulfilment of the treaty on the part of the Indians. That percentage to the head chief of all the different tribes of which the nation is composed—he is very aged and his people look with deep and universal reverence by his counsels.

The officers and soldiers who have thus successfully terminated this warfare, are entitled to the commendations and gratitude of their country.
