GOTHAM BOASTS UNIQUE FIRE AMBULANCE

The photograph shows the interior of the most complete ambulance that any organization can boast of. It is the property of the New York City Fire department and the gift of Messrs. W. F. and E. J. Kenny, honorary deputy chiefs. The Kenny brothers made this most unique and useful gift in memory of their deceased father who was Battalion Chief Thomas A. Kenny. During the first eleven months the ambulance was in service 1,401 miles had been covered in answer to 92 calls and the treating of 278 cases of smoke narcosis. After every run all equipment is sterilized with the most modern means. Photograph shows the interior of the car with Charles Leavy applying the ox-one pump to an overcome fire fighter.

Webster's Life Policy Had Odd Restrictions

An interesting relic recently shown was the life insurance policy issued September 20, 1844, to Daniel Webster. It was for $5,000, which was considered a large sum in those days, and carried a premium of $293. The policy mentions certain restrictive clauses. If Daniel wanted to visit a large city, Washington included, or journey west of the Mississippi river, he had to get permission of the company and pay extra.

But Webster did not go into the wilds west of the Mississippi. He never had much use for that country, anyhow. The idea of the insurance company in imposing the limitations was that smallpox was likely to be epidemic in the large cities, while the Indians were the hazard of the West.

Webster was also advised that if he died in a duel, was hanged or killed in a raid upon any city or Indian tribe there would be no money for the widow.—Detroit News.

Whence Corn Came

It is generally believed that corn is a native of America. All evidence points to its having been cultivated by the Indians long before the discovery of this continent by Columbus, who is said to have introduced corn into Spain. However, representations resembling corn plants found in an ancient Chinese book have led to the belief that corn may have been indigenous to Asia also. It is also claimed that grains of corn were found in ancient ruins at Athens. But if corn had ever been known to the Asiatic and Europeans, it had not been cultivated for many centuries previous to its introduction into Europe by Columbus.

The nature of the "corn" mentioned in the Scriptures is only conjectural. It was probably some kind of small grain. In Europe various kinds of small grain, such as oats, wheat and barley, are called corn, and our corn is there always spoken of as Indian corn or maize. Maize is a corruption of the native name of corn in the West Indies.—Detroit News.

Neon Lighting

For the first time in Great Britain an installation of neon lighting is now being applied outside the London Coliseum. The apparatus is one of the most interesting evolved since the introduction of electric lighting. Neon lighting is carried out by means of glass tubes from which the air has been exhausted and replaced by a small quantity of pure neon gas at a pressure very much below ordinary atmospheric pressure. This neon gas is rendered incandescent by the passage of a high voltage alternating current, passing between two metal electrodes fitted at the ends of the tube, the color of the incandescent gas being a peculiarly rich form of flame color. By means of a rotary converter the direct current supplied from the street mains is converted into alternating current that is required to operate the light.—Chemical Age (London).

Father of Brass Bands

The brass band has existed for less than a century. "That little German band" was the father of all modern brass bands. Along about 1840, in Germany, the "band" was born, though actually the first collection of outdoor instruments which history traces dates back to the Saracens, whom the crusaders met in the Holy Land in the Middle ages.

The first bands in Germany were called "thurner bands," because they played in towers. For almost half a century the brass band was almost solely an army unit. The great bands of history were regimental bands. Germany even appointed a bandmaster-general, Wiprecht, who invented the bugle, tuba, the giant bass horn of today.—Detroit News.

FRIEND GIVES COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP

Through the generosity of a friend, who wishes to remain unknown, the Chamber of Commerce of Santa Clara is enabled to offer a scholarship at the University of Santa Clara, in the Town of Santa Clara, of the value of approximately $800.00 to become operative at the beginning of the school term next August.

The holder of the scholarship, which is tenable for four years, will be entitled during that time to free tuition as a day-student in any department of the University and exemption from regular matriculation, library, athletic and laboratory fees listed in the catalogue of the University. He will also be given the use of all prescribed text-books gratis, during that period.

The University of Santa Clara offers complete college courses in Philosophy and Letters and General Science, in Civil, Technical and Electrical Engineering, in Commerce and Finance, and in Law. A pre-medical course extending over two years is also offered.

The scholarship will be awarded partly on the basis of superior fitness, as evidenced by the high school, record of the applicant and partly on the result of a competitive examination.

Any young man graduating with the class of 1924 from an accredited high school, public or private, in Santa Clara County or San Mateo County, or within commutable distance from the University, will be eligible to compete for the scholarship.

The competitive examination will be held at the University of Santa Clara, Saturday, May 31, 1924, at 9:30 a. m. It will include exercises in written English and questions in American History and Civics, and any two additional academic subjects of the applicant's choice from the schedule of this last year of high school.

At the time of the graduation the applicant must present such character and scholarship references as will help to estimate his ability or attainments, and particularly, a transcript of his high school record, if it can be obtained.

Application to take the examination should be made in person or mailed to the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, not later than May 28, 1924.

For further information address the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Santa Clara, or the Registrar of the University.

MADGE C. RUTH,
Secretary of Santa Clara
Chamber of Commerce.

The Gypsy Rover will make his last call and serenade this evening at Campbell Grammar auditorium and if you have not secured admittance make haste to do it. Those who are unable to hear this operetta will miss a decided musical treat. Tickets will be on sale until the performance begins.

POOR LETTER "E"

Some one has decided that the letter "e" is the most unfortunate letter in the English alphabet because it is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger, and in hell all the time. No little credit is due however, in that it is never in war and always in peace. And we are deeply indebted to this little letter since it is the beginning of existence, the commencement of ease and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no meat, no life and no heaven. It is the center of honesty, and although it starts off in error, it ends by making love perfect.—Exchange.

A MUSICAL COMEDY

"The Minister's Wife's New Bonnet" will be shown at the high school annex next Friday evening, May 23, at 8 o'clock. The play is wholeheartedly recommended as clean, bright and full of amusing incidents. This is being given by local talent under the direction of the Congregational Guild. Plan to give the ladies your patronage and help along a good cause.

GRANGERS ENJOY ANNUAL FIELD MEET

Pomona Grange, which is the County Grange, met in Odd Fellows Hall Saturday at 10 a. m.

There was a large attendance and State Master Geo. R. Harrison after getting the audience in good humor with a song or two, gave a short address on the work of the grange.

Mr. Carboni sang two of his pleasing songs, "Vulcan's Song" and "Forgotten." We secured the words of the former which follows.

Our well-known educator, Tully C. Knoles, gave a most interesting talk on "Modern Tendencies", including specialization and our new policy of immigration. He thought specialization was over done, one specialist had sent him back to the farm years ago to die, but he wasn't dead yet. They lived 4600 feet up in the Sierras and fourteen miles to the butcher shop so they did not specialize but raised everything that would grow, killing their own beef and even raising their own onions. Then he told us how to prevent the onion breath—by eating a little garlic.

The sports were held in the afternoon on the high school grounds.

A base ball game of four innings was played between a team from the Orchard City Grange and a team from other granges. Some of the old fellows got around pretty lively. Orchard City won.

The suit case race was something new and created a good deal of amusement. There were five suit cases with clothing inside and an umbrella. At the whistle each contestant took his suit case and ran across the field to a line, opened the case, put on the clothing, raised the umbrella and ran back, took off the clothes, put them in the suit case and placed the umbrella on top. Mr. Clendening, of Campbell, won.

A tug of war was won by Mt. View grange.

A dozen or more sets of horse shoes were kept hot by the many who enjoyed that game.

A basket lunch was served at noon at Odd Fellows Hall.

Vulcan's Song.
The sparks fly thro' the smithy door

Far from the glowing iron rebounding.

All fierce and loud the bellows roar,

Above the anvil's clang resounding.

The Blacksmith's voice is heard all o'er:

"I love the chat of neighbor,

That cheers the hours of labor;

The anvil's merry ring

Blithe mood to me doth bring;

Free am I as the breezes,

And I toil when it pleases!

No man dare bid me stay,

Or chide me for delay!

I scorn all worldly trouble,

'Tis but a fleeting bubble, passing by;

All care I can defy, all care defy,

So happy and so free am I!"

As the fire sinks low for the night,

The smith from sturdy toil is resting;

It makes the dulllest heart feel bright.

'Mid foaming mead and neighbor's jesting,

To hear him sing with delight:

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Glass left Tuesday for San Francisco where Mrs. Glass will visit her brother, Stuart Smith and family until tomorrow, and Mr. Glass will continue his journey to Portland.

James Howell's Poetry

The value of Howell's faded finery is that it reminds us of that many-colored world of music and idleness, and gallantry and romance, where the great Elizabethan poets had their nurture. Howell is one of the choristers of the days of Shakespeare's youth, when "wild music burdened every bough," when lutes and gitterns hung in every barber's shop for the use of the customers, and when every gentleman could bear his part in a glee or madrigal. The ordinaries of London and the aisles of St. Paul's were frequented by young gallants who wore their fortunes on their backs and stuffed their heads with legends and fantasies. . . . Every noble family maintained its journeyman versifier. If Howell deserves to be remembered as a poet, it is because there were hundreds like him, and because Shakespeare gained the better part of his education not on the benches of an academy, but at the court, and in the tavern, and on the street.—Sir Walter Raleigh.

AUTOMOBILE GOSSIP

In France medical tests are necessary before a driver of a motorcar can get a license.

A rear axle should be cleaned every 5,000 miles or less. To do this, drain out all old oil first.

When a man wants an open car and the wife wants a sedan the argument, as a rule, ends in a closed incident.

Did you know that a gallon of motor oil lubricates 1,000,000 square feet of cylinder area in an automobile before it is completely burned?

A motorist who uses overalls to work around a car should remove or cover all unnecessary buttons. This will prevent scratching the fenders or body.

Feed a teaspoonful of graphite into the engine through the inlet while the engine is running, but be sure to use only the best graphite. The "treatment" will do wonders.

Mud and dirt that have become hardened in the cells of the radiator should never be removed with wire or a tool. The thin cell walls are easily punctured and small leaks in the radiator invariably result.

Progressive Tightening. In tightening opposed nuts, such as those holding the bearing caps in place, one nut should be drawn up a little and then the opposite one tightened a little. It is wrong to tighten one nut fully and then proceed with the other, as this method tends to spring the metal and cause poor contact.

Tiny Republic Admitted to United States in '34

Indian Stream republic existed within the present boundaries of the United States. Charles Parker of River Falls, Wis., a former lieutenant governor of the state, was a boy in the tiny domain ruled by his father. The republic endured more than a decade, successfully defying both the United States and Great Britain—an independent nation, with politicians, militia, civil rights and taxes.

In 1783, when Great Britain and the thirteen colonies signed the treaty that created a new nation, they forgot a little valley tucked away in the New Hampshire hills. In 1820 a handful of settlers in the valley woke up to the fact that they were in no man's land. They were not Americans. They were not Canadians. Then Canada interpreted the treaty of 1783 to include the territory in British domain. America promptly said it belonged to her. Then along came Luther Parker, adventurer and trader, who organized the settlers and set up a government of which he naturally was elected head. The little valley government at once drew the fire of both Canada and the United States.

Matters came to a head in 1834 when a group of Canadian sympathizers ambushed Parker one night and carried him across the border. The trumped up charge against him was soon dismissed and Parker returned to Indian Stream. He circulated petitions asking admission into the state of New Hampshire on behalf of the republic. Parker went westward, and was the first white settler where Milwaukee now stands.—Detroit News.

The Inside Maude—What a beautiful new gown Helen is wearing. She says it's imported, doesn't she? Mairie—Not exactly. It's her last season's dress. The dressmaker has turned it inside out, and now she says it's from the other side.—Passing Show, London.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the position of State Senator from the 27th District of the State of California.

This announcement and my candidacy are on my own initiative and not at the request of friends or any organization whatsoever. I am not an unwilling candidate yielding to pressure from others to enter upon a field of public service.

Having dedicated my life to public service I am desirous of functioning as efficiently as possible, and after nine years of full time service as a volunteer worker particularly along legislative lines I now ask your support for an official position that I may serve you more effectively.

My platform has two broad planks:

1. Industrial development of Santa Clara County.
2. Human welfare.

My credentials are my past record.

I cordially invite the support of all individuals and organizations who can endorse my platform.
