

Lloyd George and Briand to Discuss Disarmament Issue

Italy Said to Be Unwilling to Force Germany to Fulfill Obligations; Personnel of French Ministry Formed by Premier Briand.

Paris, Jan. 17.—Premiers Lloyd George and Briand will confer on German disarmament and other matters now awaiting settlement January 26, it was announced here to-day.

Italy's Attitude.
 London, Jan. 17.—It has been unanimously decided, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rome, by the Italian Cabinet, that in the coming Supreme Council in Paris it will be impossible for Italy to support any measure calculated to force Germany to fulfill in their entirety the obligations of the Versailles Treaty, or any measure to force Turkey to accept the present disposition as regards the Near Eastern situation.

Briand Ministry.
 Paris, Jan. 17.—Aristide Briand, formerly French Prime Minister, succeeded in the task undertaken by him to form a Cabinet in succession to the Ministry of Premier Lyautey, which resigned last Wednesday. Besides the Premiership, M. Briand takes the Ministry of Foreign Affairs; Louis Barthou becomes Minister of War and Paul Daumier, Minister of Finance.
 The Ministry is made up as follows:
 Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs, Aristide Briand.
 Minister of Justice, M. Boineau.
 Minister of the Interior, Pierre Marraud.
 Minister of War, Louis Barthou.
 Minister of Marine, Gabriel Guisthau.
 Minister of Finance, Paul Daumier.
 Minister of Public Instruction, Victor Berard.
 Minister of Agriculture, Edmond Lefevre Duprey.
 Minister of Commerce, Lucien Dior.
 Minister of Labor, Daniel Vincent.
 Minister of Pensions, Andre Magninot.
 Minister of Public Works, Yves Letrouer.
 Minister of Liberated Regions, Louis Loucheur.

Mild Satisfaction.
 Paris, Jan. 17.—Little enthusiasm was evinced to-day by newspapers of Paris over the new Briand Cabinet. Most journals expressed mild satisfaction or reserved judgment.

The significance of the appointment of Briand as Premier was not lost upon the people. They recalled the friendship with Georges Clemenceau. M. Briand always has insisted that the Treaty must be carried out and that the interests of France in the Near East must be served.
 He is known to have viewed the return of Constantine as a circumstance which would be used to her profit by France.
 M. Briand has been an advocate of complete solidarity between France, Great Britain and the United States. The radical tendencies of the new Premier are subject of comment here, his early association with John Leon Jaures, the Socialist leader, assassinated in 1914, being one of the salient features of his advance in politics. French Socialism may find in M. Briand a man who can do much toward uniting factions and saving the party as a political power.

CLAIM "P.R." WAS A COMPLETE SUCCESS

Proportional Representation proved a complete success at last Thursday's election here, according to a telegram sent to-day to Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, Leader of the Liberal Opposition at Ottawa by Alderman-elect E. S. Woodward, Secretary of the local "P.R." organization. Mr. Woodward's telegram, a copy of which was dispatched to Ronald Hooper, General Secretary of the Proportional Representation Society, of Canada, follows: "Proportional election complete success. Returning Officer and staff, without previous experience, completed all-mercantile count in fourteen hours. Spoiled ballots less than five per cent. Labor secured two seats, first time in history of Victoria." Mr. King, a member of the executive of the Proportional Representation Society.

General Smuts Hopeful of Election in Africa

London, Jan. 17.—(Canadian Associated Press)—Nominations in the South African elections, which take place on February 8, were made on Friday last. In the 131 constituencies, ten members were elected by acclamation; seven of these belong to the South African party, one to the Labor party, one to the Nationalist party and one as an independent.

A cable to The Times from Capetown says that General Smuts's tour of the North Transvaal has been brilliantly successful and that as a consequence the optimism of the South African party is increasing.

The Daily Telegraph's Capetown correspondent states that General Smuts is more hopeful, but says it is unlikely that his party will win seats from the Nationalists, though it is probable that the South Africans may capture a number of seats from the

EX-CROWN PRINCE OF GERMANY TALKS

Tells Why He Does Not Return to Fatherland

The Hague, Jan. 17.—Ex-Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm of Germany in an interview given the editor of a German weekly, published in the Netherlands, gives the reason why he does not return to Germany, why his wife does not join him in his sojourn at Wieringen and why he does not join his father, the former German Emperor, at Doorn. Frederick Wilhelm also sets forth his plans regarding the education of his sons.
 "Naturally I would be glad to return to Germany and I would be happy if I could devote myself to agriculture, particularly to horse breeding," the former Crown Prince is quoted as saying, "but that cannot be."
 "My friends in the Fatherland and abroad would see my hand in every deed which others might begin but of which I perhaps would know nothing at all. Unrest would follow and our Fatherland needs rest. Believe me, my wife and I, we would be glad to do so, but there is no chance of such happiness and good luck, as we are gripped in the vise of duty. She has the training of our children at heart and must direct it. Our sons must learn to make themselves useful commercially."
 "I cannot go to my parents at Doorn. Our opponents are continually trying to put us in the position of being ready to set the world on fire and if we were together then, in the eyes of our opponents, the overthrow of the world would be a question of being ready."
 "As for buying a state in Holland, where would I get the money, particularly in view of the low rate of German exchange?"

SECURITIES EMBARGO NO LONGER OPERATIVE

Ottawa, Jan. 17.—(Canadian Press)—The embargo on re-importation of Canadian securities from overseas has been lifted. Interviewed by a Canadian Press representative Sunday night, Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, announced that it was not thought advisable to continue the work of the voluntary committee any longer, therefore, it has been dissolved.
 In the proper sense of the word, there never has existed any embargo. What existed was an arrangement reached some months ago, with bankers and brokers, under which re-importation of Canadian securities, floated in London, was checked.

CAVIGLIA RAISES FLUME BLOCKADE

Rome, Jan. 17.—General Caviglia, commander of the Italian forces along the Adriatic, ordered the raising of the naval blockade of Fiume, beginning at 1 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, and of the land blockade beginning at 9 o'clock on Monday morning.

Liberal party. This correspondent thinks it unlikely that General Smuts will obtain an adequate working majority. General Hertzog is the only party leader returned unopposed, but Messrs. Duncan, Merriman and Feetham, are among those who have enjoyed a walkover.

STRIKE SETTLED AFTER DISORDER

Demands Finally Conceded by Government at Vienna

People Wounded When Police Charged Strikers

Vienna, Jan. 17.—The strike of workers in the telegraph and telephone branches of the postoffice department, which was settled Saturday night, tied up the mail for three days and telegraphic and telephonic communication one day. The Social Democratic employees of the department, who are in the majority, inaugurated the movement. The Government has conceded their demands for promotion by qualification rather than length of service and small increases in pay.

Considerable disorder attended the strike, a number of persons being wounded in police charges on strikers. The Christian Socialists charge that the whole affair was inspired by the opposition in Parliament to harass the Government and keep the populace in a state of discontent. What was considered a significant feature of the situation was the action of the communist element in the army, which in public meeting declared it would support the strikers if the military should be called upon.

FEDERAL BY-ELECTION IN WEST PETERBORO IS GETTING WARMER

Peterboro, Ont., Jan. 17.—With election day just three weeks away, the Federal by-election campaign in West Peterboro is beginning to assume substantial proportions. Sir George E. Foster and Sir Henry Drayton will address a meeting here on Friday next in the interest of the Government candidate, and on the Saturday evening following, Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, and Ernest Lapointe, M.P. for Quebec East, will speak in the interests of G. N. Goring, the Liberal candidate.
 On Saturday evening, three of the candidates held meetings and addressed the workers. Neither James C. Campbell, U.F.O. candidate nor J. H. Burnham, Independent candidate, held meetings. The latter believes in the power of the press to disseminate his message to the electors and has announced that he will hold no meetings in the riding.

Peden and Linklater Elected, North Will Try to Upset Election

Following the announcement of his defeat by Alexander Peden and Peter Linklater, Joseph North, candidate for the City Police Commission, announced at noon to-day that he planned to take immediate steps to have the recent Police Commission election here declared illegal and to make necessary a new election.
 "You can say that I am consulting with one or two of my personal friends on the matter, but we have not acted yet until we could find out for sure whether I was defeated," Mr. North told The Times. Mr. North claims that the election was illegal because no by-election was held following the death of Police Commissioner R. S. Day. He understands that, had he been elected, a move would have been made by other candidates to upset the election. Mr. North feels absolutely confident that if a new poll is held he will be elected by a sweeping majority, for, he asserts, many people who voted against him last Thursday now are his enthusiastic supporters.

ATTACKS LEGALITY OF PROHIBITION ACT

Important Case Is Argued in Court of Appeal

Criticism of the Department of Justice in Ottawa was voiced in the Court of Appeal this morning when the case of Canadian Pacific Wine Company vs. Tuley came up for argument.
 Charles Wilson, K.C. for the plaintiff, explained that his clients were attacking the jurisdiction of the Prohibition Act, which brings in the question also of Federal jurisdiction. Mr. Wilson stated to the Court that the matter had been reported to the Minister of Justice and that he had received a telegram from the Minister stating that he wished all questions in the matter to be reserved in order that he might look into the matter.
 This brought forth comment from Chief Justice Macdonald, who was supported in his views by other members of the Bench. It was the duty of the Minister to make an appearance and a certain sense of jurisdiction. Mr. Wilson stated that he had been notified, and therefore he has had an opportunity to wish any such telegrams brought to the attention of the Court. Such actions were characterized as impertinence.
 Chief Justice Macdonald stated that he was as to whether or not an appearance was made for the Minister, and as to whether or not he had been notified. In future he did not wish any such telegrams brought to the attention of the Court. Such actions were characterized as impertinence.
 Mr. Wilson explained to the Court that the appeal was taken from the judgment of Mr. Justice Murphy. The case originated in July last, when the plaintiff company's premises in Vancouver, in which about $25,000 worth of goods were stored, were forcibly entered by defendants, who were policemen engaged on the Vancouver Police Force, and everything was placed under seizure.
 It is alleged that the company is legally engaged in the liquor exporting business and that the seizure was clearly a trespass. The seizure was made without a warrant. In July, it is claimed, and later, when the case came up in the Vancouver Police Court a conviction was recorded and a fine of $1,000 imposed. A civil action for trespass followed and the legal fight contesting the jurisdiction under the Prohibition Act commenced. E. S. Taylor, K.C., is appearing for the Attorney-General of British Columbia.

SOCIALIST AGITATOR ORDERED DEPORTED

Presence of G. B. Curry in Canada Unwelcome

Winnipeg, Jan. 17.—G. B. Curry, a member of the British Socialist party who for months has been employed throughout the West as organizer for the Big Six, last night, was eliminated with deportation notice by the Dominion immigration authorities, according to an announcement made at the Labor Club last night. His radical utterances have often of late created a stir in Labor circles. At one time a local labor leader threatened to resign a chairmanship unless the audience repudiated the man's doctrine of class hatred and the audience upheld the chairman.

LABOR PARTY IN NORWAY DIVIDED ON INTERNATIONALE

Christiania, Jan. 17.—Norway's Labor Party has definitely split on the proposal to adhere to the Third Internationale of Moscow. Two hundred delegates to the party's congress, in session here, have decided to oppose joining the Internationale and will found a new party, to which most of the Labor leaders in Parliament will belong.

How Commissionship Vote Was Distributed

There being no surplus in the distribution of votes for the Police-Commissionership in Victoria, the decision depended entirely upon the transfer of votes of the lowest candidates, as eliminated.
 The numbers of votes so transferred are not mentioned in the accompanying table separately, as they were added from time to time in each count, but can be readily ascertained by deducting from any count the number shown in the preceding column, which gives the difference of the transferred votes. The figures are as follows, the valid vote cast being 3,858, with a quota of 1287.

SPLIT IN ITALIAN SOCIALIST RANKS BELIEVED IMMINENT

Leghorn, Italy, Jan. 17.—Prospects of a break between the communist and Moderate elements of the Italian Socialist party appeared to be taking more definite form when the organization's conference met today. TROOPS NOW OCCUPY WIDE DUBLIN AREA

Dublin, Jan. 17.—Troops Sunday occupied a wide area in the city of Dublin. Houses commanding the streets were entered and the inhabitants of the upper floors were given 20 minutes in which to move downstairs.
 Machine guns were placed in windows and barbed wire entanglements erected. The entire area was enclosed and the inhabitants were virtually prisoners. Searchlights made the streets as bright as day.
 The whole section of North Dublin was cordoned by soldiers and police. The street railway service along the north quay was suspended. The centre of the cordoned district includes Church Street and the place where the military was ambushed recently and north King Street, the scenes of fierce fighting of the Easter season.
 A total area of a square mile is surrounded, and the biggest raid Dublin has yet experienced has been underway. Only the military have been engaged inside the cordon and it is believed that every house will be systematically searched, the raid lasting several days. Hundreds of soldiers are taking part and field kitchens are providing them with food.

JAPAN RESSENTFUL OF Any Policy to Curb Expansion in Asia

Vladivostok Incident Leads to Belief in Tokio That United States Has Asked Reparation and Advocates Withdrawal of Troops From Siberia.

Tokio, Jan. 17.—Government officials have not as yet made public the text of the American note protesting against the shooting of Naval Lieutenant W. H. Langdon by a Japanese sentry at Vladivostok. Publicists, however, expressed the belief that Washington has not only asked reparation with guarantees removing a probability of similar incidents in future, but also has again pointed out to Japan the wisdom of reducing if not withdrawing altogether her troops from the country where she possesses no sovereign rights, but the littoral of which is dominated by her military power Siberian Problem.
 This would open the old thorny question which Japan herself has been finding difficulty in settling. A division of opinion exists in Government circles as to the Siberian problem, it is reported here. Leaders of the military party insist Japanese troops should remain in Siberia, while the peace party is seeking ways and means to abandon any adventure which, it is claimed, is ruinously expensive and without hope of compensation.
 The impression exists here that Japan will insist upon solving the question in her own way and at her own time if for no other reason than to assert the doctrine that she is paramount in the Far East. The Haru Cabinet appears to retain its strength and it is believed it will survive the impending session of the Japanese Diet at which relations between this country and America will be discussed.

FEDERAL PARLIAMENT TO MEET FEBRUARY 14

Ottawa, Jan. 17.—(Canadian Press)—Parliament has been summoned to meet on Monday, February 14, instead of Thursday, February 18, as previously announced. No intimation of the change in date was given until a special edition of The Canadian Gazette appeared shortly before noon to-day with the date of February 14 as the day of opening.

LIGHT PARLIAMENT SESSION PREDICTED

Ottawa, Jan. 17.—(Canadian Press)—Rapid preparations are in hand for the opening of Parliament on February 14. A week or two ago, hurried orders went the rounds of all Government departments to have estimates in readiness, and these are understood to be now well in hand. The seating of the House—a matter of particular interest this session—is being discussed with the party whips, but it is probable the final arrangements in this regard will not be reached till a day or two before the opening. Hon. A. K. Maclean returns to the Liberal side of the House. L. J. Gauthier, whose admission to the Cabinet has been rumored on a number of occasions, may, it is thought, take his seat on the Government side. Hon. N. W. Rowell, who resigned from the Government on the formation of the new party, has not announced his intentions. But it is expected that while maintaining an independent attitude, he will retain a seat to the right of the Speaker.
 While, beyond tariff revision, practically no Government legislation of importance is indicated, the session will be followed with special attention as being the first of the Meighen administration.

Special Session of American Congress Is Set for April 4

The Department of the Naval Service has issued a programme covering the movement of the squadron from Panama to Esquimalt. After leaving Panama, stops will be made at Corinto, Acapulco, San Jose, Salina Cruz, Manzanillo, San Diego, San Pedro and Esquimalt. It is likely that the squadron will pay a visit to Vancouver following its arrival at Esquimalt.

HIGHLY MORAL BUT DEADLY DULL

Vancouver Sun Describes Proportional Representation

Vancouver, Jan. 17.—"Extremely fair and highly moral, but 'deadly dull,' is how the Vancouver Sun describes the civic elections under Proportional Representation which took place last Thursday. Returns were finally tallied late Saturday. The Sun says: 'A P.R. election is an election with the kick taken out, a non-alcoholic beverage, a christening in which the baby can not possibly refuse to be named, an election is more uncertain than a horse race, you can get the electors worked up to a pitch of excitement, but take away the element of uncertainty and you take away the element of excitement.'"
 Only 6,000 voters out of a list of 40,000 turned out to cast their ballots.

GOMPERS MEETS OPPOSITION

Mexico City, Jan. 17.—Opposition to Samuel Gompers' election as president of the Pan-American Federation of Labor developed here today at the annual Congress of the organization when preparations were made to elect officers. GERMAN RADICALS PLAN TERRORISM

Scheme to Establish Proletariat Dictatorship

Berlin, Jan. 17.—German radical disciples of what is called here "Red Russian terrorism," who say they are planning to overturn the present German government and establish a proletarian dictatorship, openly announce that they have drawn up lists of "capitalists and undesirables" who shall be killed when the revolution begins.

One of these men, a hotel waiter, who calls himself a "proletarian leader" complained that his list included "nearly everybody around here" who has influence, property or money. He said, a "superior" came to him one day and read a list of names, and announced that these were to be the "proletarian" quota when the killing began. The waiter declared he acknowledged "orders" but thought the program was being carried out too fast.

"As leader in this precinct I am expected to kill a lot of folks when the revolution gets under way," he said. "My list is certainly big enough. What do you think about that?"

Apparently his opinion of his orders was very low, but when asked if he would carry them out if opportunity offered he merely laughed. Radicals of the most pronounced tendencies toward revolution and destruction may be encountered everywhere in these days. They discuss their "plans" with great liberty. One of them, a small, mild-mannered person, of distinctly the next revolution in order to impress upon the bourgeoisie that they "mean business." "There will be piles of dead in the streets," he declared. "We'll just have to do it. We can't treat these bourgeoisie kindly, for they wouldn't appreciate it. We'll have to impress them with our earnestness. We will line them up by the score against buildings on the main streets and shoot them. We will want all to see what we're doing. That will throw a wholesome terror into the hearts of the reactionaries. Of course, I will do my share and if necessary will give my life to the cause." Police authorities apparently are not much concerned about the "red terrorism," for their policy is to permit the radicals to have their say and go their way in peace. Arrests are very infrequent.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieves the Ailments of Change of Life.

"During Change of Life I had hot flashes, dizzy spells and every month I was wild with misery. I had a constant dull pain, and would suffer in this way for five or six years and was treated by a physician and took different remedies without benefit. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me and I took it, and I believe I would never have been well if it had not been for the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Sensitive Wash. I am recommending your medicine to all women ailing as I was, for I think it will carry them safely through the Change of Life, and relieve the ailments that come at that period."—Mrs. ALEXIE C. NANGLE, "Galtville, N. Y."

Women who suffer from nervousness, "heat flashes," headache, dizziness, and "the blues," should try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and if complications exist write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of their 40 years' experience is in 10 cases is at your service.

ADVENTUROUS TRIPS BY AIR RECALLED

Stories Paralleling Flight of American Balloonists

New York, Jan. 17.—Aviation's thrilling history, filled with adventurous journeys in balloon and aeroplane, already contains a story paralleling the one created by the flight into the frozen fastnesses of northern Canada which has focused the news-hungry readers of the world on the three American lieutenants who recently completed.

In 1910 two New York airmen, Alan R. Hawley and Augustus Post, were lost among the untamed wilderness of Canada for nearly a year after travelling nearly 1,200 miles through the air from St. Louis in the balloon America II.

They floated northeastward two days and two nights, crossing over the Great Lakes and beyond the outposts of which are few and far between in the suitable landing place, they brought their gas bag down into dense trees, ending a trip that won the Gordon Bennett trophy and set a new record for distance.

An beginning a tramp over unknown land that dwarfed in public interest their thrilling experiences in the air. Extricating themselves from the limbs of trees entangled in their basket, Post and Hawley tramped along a stream and later around the hem of a lake, as the woods were lit by the first streaks of dawn. For two days and four nights they pushed southward, through snowstorms, rain and stinging cold winds, and with little to eat, Hawley wrenched his knees and the pair stopped to rest at the first restful place they found—an old cave.

There they prayed, exchanged confidences to be called back by which one lived if either failed to get back home, and then took a fresh start. The next day they came upon a shovel—the first sign of civilization they had encountered—and a few yards further a tent.

They spent the night in this tent, and the next morning, going down to the side of a lake they pierced the air with yells of greeting. From across the water came a reply, and then two trappers in a canoe. The trappers took the airmen down a river in canoes for two days until they reached a settlement, from where they communicated with the world they had left, and began their trip back to New York. They had left St. Louis October 17, and the first word came from them October 25.

In North Sea.
A balloon trip that ended above the North Sea, was made by Captain Von Schaeck during the 1909 Gordon Bennett race, which started from Berlin. A passing steamship spied the balloon floating through the water, and towed the balloon back to the coast of Norway with the rope secured to the stern of the ship and the balloon floating overhead.

EMPIRE SETTLEMENT SCHEME IS REVIVED

Britain Plans to Keep Emigrants Under Union Jack

London, Jan. 17.—The British Government is beginning to put into effect its plan to keep within the boundaries of the British Empire the emigrants from England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland who want to seek new homes in distant parts of the world.

This Empire settlement scheme has been held up in abeyance since the war because there were so many soldiers to be repatriated; but the first large party comprising 1,100 emigrants has just left for Australia. This party is under Government direction and the emigrants received a certain amount of Government assistance.

Sir James Connelly, agent here for Western Australia, announces that for the next two years 1,000 emigrants will be sent to Australia each month, their passage being paid by the Government.

The Government has openly expressed its disfavor toward schemes for emigration from the British Isles to South American countries. In consequence, a campaign by Peru to induce English and Scotch to come there and settle has been abandoned after hundreds of them had accepted offers for free transportation to that country.

Wunsdorf, Germany, Jan. 17.—A reminder of the time when the former Emperor William attempted to pose as a leader in the Moslem world, remains here in the form of a Mohammedan mosque, which was erected by the Kaiser in the first years of the world war. Eight hundred orthodox adherents of the teachings of the Koran regularly worship in it.

ALGERIAN SHEPHERDS ARE NEAR STARVATION

Algiers, Jan. 17.—"The Drinkers of Sunshine," as the Arab shepherds call themselves in their own language are on the verge of starvation throughout Algeria, and unless wheat is imported from America may have nothing but sunshine as a steady diet during the winter. The threatening famine in Algeria is the result of a long drought. No rain has fallen for a year.

This has proved a calamity for the Arab shepherds, nomads living practically by their flocks. Seventy-five per cent. of the sheep in Algeria have died as a result of the drought and the Arab "Drinkers of Sunshine," dreamers and philosophers, incapable of any work but that of guarding their flocks are in dire straits. Governor-General Abel, of Algeria, has left for Paris to ask the government to arrange for the importation of wheat from America or Argentina to tide the people over the crisis.

"JACKLESS GILLS."

London, Jan. 17.—"Jackless Gills" are emigrating in considerable numbers from England in the hope of finding suitable "jill-less jacks" for husbands in the United States, according to Norah March, Bachelor of Science. Her comments on England's "marriageable" women who may never marry before the National Birth Rate Commission some time ago were widely discussed in the British press.

Government figures show there is a surplus of a million women in England, whose only hope of marrying depends on their migrating to some part of the earth where there is a more even distribution of the sexes. According to Miss March, they are doing it. She says she is receiving letters from America that are "significant of the loneliness of some men's lives."

"Women are entreprising to-day," she added. "Many are emigrating who a few years ago would have feared to take the great adventure."

HE COULD HARDLY RAISE ARM, HE SAYS

Buchholz Had Rheumatism So Bad He Could Hardly Work Before He Got Tanlac

"When I hear anyone complaining of feeling bad, I never fail to tell them about Tanlac, for it straightened me out several months ago, and I am still feeling fine," said William Buchholz, 3909 Silver Beach Avenue, Bellingham, Washington, well-known millwright for the Wilson Lumber Company, recently.

"Besides relieving all my troubles, Tanlac built me up ten pounds in weight, and I can't say anything too strong for it. About two years ago I began having rheumatism in my shoulders, arms and hands, and my back got to hurting me so bad I could hardly walk at times. I could hardly stand up straight some days, and if I tried to stoop over it seemed that my back would break in two. I could hardly lift anything, and my arms hurt so bad I could hardly raise my hands above my head or put on my coat. At times my hands were so bad my wrench would slip right out of my fingers and fall, so it was very difficult for me to do any work. Nearly every day I had an awful headache that almost drove me wild. My nerves were all unstrung, and I seldom got to sleep before midnight, and then my sleep was restless, so that I got up mornings feeling all tired out."

"Well, I started taking Tanlac last February, and took four bottles. Almost from the start the pains began to disappear, and when I stopped taking it I felt just as well as I ever did in my life, and I have been feeling like that in every way and working right on ever since. Why, besides relieving me of all those rheumatic pains, the medicine made my appetite so big I was almost ashamed to eat enough to satisfy it, and, in fact, it built me up in every way. I never hesitate to tell about Tanlac, for I feel sure it will help who ever tries it."

"Tanlac is sold in Victoria by D. E. Campbell, corner Fort and Douglas, and Lang's Drug Store, Esquimalt Road.

SNOWSLIDES CLEARED IN MOUNTAIN DIVISION

Calgary, Jan. 17.—A series of snowslides between Golden and Field, B.C., during the last two days, have delayed traffic considerably, on the Canadian Pacific Railway, but the lines now have been cleared. There were no trains from the West during Saturday and Sunday, but locals operated out of Calgary, the passengers transferring. The snow is getting very heavy in the Selkirk, but is not up to normal yet in the Rockies, though three feet have fallen in the last few days.

LETTERS

Letters addressed to the Editor and intended for publication must be short and legibly written. The longer an article the shorter the chance of insertion. All communications must bear the name and address of the writer, but not for publication unless the writer wishes. The publication or rejection of articles is a matter entirely in the discretion of the Editor. No responsibility is assumed by the paper for MSS. submitted to the Editor.

PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION.

To the Editor.—As one of the candidates for aldermanic honors, I may be pardoned if I advance a few opinions I formed during the campaign. I am inclined to think a prospective alderman in order to be successful has, under the present system, to carry on a campaign similar to that waged in the election for Mayor. With labor unions, political and social organizations at work, it is only a question who gets there first in securing the No. 1 votes, and "the devil takes the hindmost." Another feature of the system is that when a popular candidate, either through his efforts or those of his helpers, succeeds in getting more votes than the quota required, he may destroy the chances of his best friends and have the surplus given to those who may not be in that category. Time will no doubt show whether this system of voting proves the success its advocates claim for it. But "I have my doubts."
W. WALKER.

SAANICH ELECTION.

To the Editor.—As a defeated candidate for Police Commissioner I am well satisfied with result, considering the fact that I was opposed to a candidate who until lately had resided for many years in the municipality and who was better known than myself in the farming wards. I was not endorsed by the Saanich Central Ratepayers' Association, but polled 249 more votes than Mr. Hall, the candidate for Reeve, who was opposed by the Central Association, thus proving that a considerable number of the ratepayers do not agree with the methods adopted by the central body in endorsing a non-resident candidate for Police Commissioner.

More is likely to be heard of the Central Association's methods of endorsing candidates, and unless that association lives up to its constitution it is proposed to form an independent Ratepayers' Association for South Saanich.

Personally, I propose to be in the campaign for a seat on the Police Commission next year, and hope to have better luck than the third occasion.

ROBT. MACNICOLL.

WITS GONE WOOL-GATHERING.

To the Editor.—Regarding the use of the proportional representation system in municipal elections your Saturday's issue states that Alderman Dinsdale "expressed the utmost disgust with it," and described it as "simply a clever dodge to make it impossible for the will of the electors to be expressed."

A remarkable conclusion surely! If true, then Alderman Dinsdale should promptly resign, and challenge the electorate to express itself in the old fashioned way. It is quite possible he might not get even a ninth place.

Some of the rejected candidates may possibly think the same. Alderman Dinsdale, but had good sense enough to refrain from expressing it. One of the results achieved in the first aldermanic election held under the system is that labor has directly found a place in the City Council. Last year Alderman Dewar was elected, partly through the support of labor sympathizers, and partly through his personal popularity. This year he is joined by an excellent colleague, E. S. Woodward, and without undervaluing other aldermen's abilities, I venture to assert, that he will render no mean service to the citizens of Victoria in his aldermanic year.

Any Woman's Struggle For Good Health Quickly Rewarded

When a woman's face grows haggard and pale, when she is tired all day and ready to cry when night comes, she ought to know something is wrong.

Putting off only makes matters worse. The best advice we can give any sickly woman is to test out the following treatment.

At the close of every meal, with a slip or two of water, take two chocolate-coated Ferrozone Tablets. This seems to be the best thing going for folks that are tired out, run-down and need rest-strengthening, building-up medicine.

Ferrozone's action aids the three principal functions of the body—digestion, assimilation, elimination.

By strengthening digestion it forms an abundance of rich, red blood—this gives good color.

By peevishly assimilating, Ferrozone supplies nutrition—this gives strength, vim, stability.

Elimination is assured because Ferrozone quickens the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels—thus guarantees the maintenance of vigorous health.

Ferrozone puts you on the right road—the one that leads to health. Not a man, woman or child needing blood, vigor, endurance—not a person who is weak, nervous or sickly, not a person in ill-health who won't receive immediate help from Ferrozone.

As a tonic and restorative, as a health-bringer and body-builder, Ferrozone is unrivaled. It relieves because it feeds and builds.

It contains the elements that build up and strengthen. Try it yourself—sold everywhere in 50 cent boxes, 6 boxes for $2.50, or by mail from The Catarhzone Co., Kingston, Ont.

have a glass of beer or light wine, but no spirituous liquors.

Those are the principal objects for consideration, and they, and any others that may be introduced should be put into operation with as little interference as possible, with the rights and liberty of individuals.

Why there may be differences of opinion on those or other questions that may be introduced, there can be none on the desirability and necessity of adopting measures for the reformation and cure of inebriates. It is therefore to be hoped that all parties will be united on that question, and insist on legislation to bring about the desired result.

As the Government will be the sole purchaser of, and have the sale of all wines, beer and spirituous liquors confined in the Province, the total profits would be enormous, even if they are sold at a small percentage above cost price, and working expenses, and the policy of selling at a small profit would put an end to illicit stills and boot-legging, as they can only exist in places where liquor is prohibited and cannot legally be obtained except by a doctor's prescription and at an extravagant price; remove those restrictions and sell good liquor at a moderate price, then illicit stills and boot-legging, with their attendant evils will die automatically.

The most important point to be considered is how to deal with excessive drinkers; while drunkenness is an offence, it is not a crime, and to punish the offender by sending him to prison (as advocated by some of your correspondents) would be treating him as if he were a criminal; a fine has no effect, therefore, some other plan must be adopted.

The falling should be treated as a disease, and a strong effort should be made to cure the disease and reclaim the individual; there is no doubt a very large percentage of inebriates can be cured if subjected to proper treatment, but their will is not strong enough to enable them to overcome their craving for alcohol; the only way by which a cure can be effected is by the establishment of a Government hospital or reformatory for inebriates, and every known offender should be confined there, unless excessive drinking be discontinued, he or she would be taken to the hospital and be kept there till cured.

There is no doubt, if such a policy be adopted, that unless a majority of those who now transgress would become useful members of the community, and would be thankful for the policy that compelled their cure, while the country would benefit by having those who were formerly useless transformed into good and useful men and women.

It therefore becomes the duty of all who have the interest and welfare of their fellow men and women at heart, to urge upon the Government the necessity of appropriating out of the profits from the sale of alcoholic liquors a sum sufficient to establish, equip and maintain a hospital or reformatory for the purpose mentioned. It would not be any charge on the general revenue, as its cost would be paid out of the profits from the sales of liquor, whereby those who are hopelessly or temporarily insane, with the result that many of the latter have been restored to health and usefulness. May we not therefore assume that if a similar policy were adopted in cases of those who are temporarily insane through drink, equally good, if not better results would follow.

Prohibition has been in force for three years, and during the whole of that time no effort has been made by prohibitionists or others to attempt to reclaim and cure inebriates, although it was understood that the reclamation and cure of them was the object of that policy.

Let us hope the Government Control Party will, with the assistance of the Prohibitionists, succeed in doing at the coming session of the Legislature that which should have been done three years ago, in order to cure those whose wills are not strong enough to enable them to overcome their craving for alcoholic liquors, and that ere long a hospital for the cure of inebriates will be one of the institutions of the Province.

Is Fatal Catarrh in Your Family?

It Runs Hand in Hand With Bronchitis, Weak Throat, Pneumonia, Consumption.

Doctors state that 95 per cent. of the Canadian people suffer from catarrh. Few escape it. You can easily recognize it from the bad taste in the mouth and from lack of appetite in the morning. In bad cases the mucus drops from the throat into the stomach and causes nausea. The throat fills with phlegm, the patient sneezes and coughs continually, and infrequently there is lassitude and chilliness and aching in the limbs.

Doctors recommend Catarrhose, it is nature's own relief. It drives out the germs, heals sore spots, cleans away every vestige of Catarrhal taint. You send the soothing vapors of the pine woods, rich balsams and healing essences, right to the cause of your cold by inhaling Catarrhose. Little drops of wonderful relieving power are distributed through the whole breathing apparatus by the air you breathe. Like a miracle, that's how Catarrhose relieves bronchitis, catarrh, colds and irritable throat. You simply breathe its healing fumes, and every trace of disease flees as before fire.

So safe, infants can use it, so sure to relieve, doctors prescribe it, so beneficial in preventing Winter flus that no person can afford to do without Catarrhose. Used in thousands of cases without failure. Complete outfit $1.00, lasts three months, and it is guaranteed to relieve; smaller size 50c. All dealers or the Catarhzone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

OPEN THE BOOK.

Whatever may be the final outcome of the voting for Police Commissioners, the results disclosed in the preliminary count on election night were enough to indicate a strong desire on the part of the electorate for at least a more intimate knowledge of the direction, organization and activities of the Police Department. The new Commissioners should regard the totals in that count as a very definite hint to take the public more fully into their confidence from time to time. Their meetings should be open to the press and their proceedings receive from the public the attention and consideration their importance demands. This was the custom in former years, and it never should have been abandoned. No branch of the public service should be a closed book to the taxpayers, least of all the branch charged with the maintenance of law and order.

COMING EVENTS.

When Mr. Lloyd George appealed to the country immediately after the signing of the armistice he presented a fairly large catalogue of demands which he pledged himself and his Government to make upon Germany. It was suggested at the time that unless he really wished to reduce her to complete economic impotence—a condition in which she could not hope to discharge her obligations—he must have framed his pre-election promises with his tongue in his cheek. What was anticipated came to pass very soon after his endorsement at the hands of the electorate. Nor did he lose any opportunity in explaining the cause of his conversion to the inevitable view that there would have to be a limit to which Germany could be driven without endangering the peace of Europe by reducing her to despair and desperation.

But it may be reasonably argued that the present crisis in the French political situation owes a good deal of its origin to the belief that until political leadership in France is dominated by the Germany-must-be-bleed-to-the-last-drop policy British persuasion and a more conciliatory attitude will eventually assist her to renew her war spirit and pursue her national ambition to crush France. And it is small wonder that she finds it difficult to regard Germany as anything else but her natural enemy. At the same time unless her statesmen bring themselves to realize that a Chauvinistic policy merely perpetrates international hatreds the inevitable development will provide the very contingency which Allied solidarity and the general desire to construct a brotherhood of nations has been designed to prevent.

Nor may Anglo-French relations and the Entente's attitude towards the execution of the Treaty of Versailles be divorced from Italy's interpretation of Germany's ability to pay. These three nations in themselves virtually control the power to humiliate the Fatherland to a point of exhaustion or to cause her economic burden so as to give her an opportunity to liquidate her bills. And to show latitude is to provide cause for effective admonition in case she becomes truculent. Already Italy has decided that she can be no party to support measures calculated to force Germany to fulfill in their entirety the obligations of the Treaty. This is a condition to which the Allied Council will have to apply itself next week. Upon a solution depends Germany's future and, mayhap, the good relations between Great Britain and France.

TUBERCULOSIS "CURES."

If a real cure for tuberculosis has been discovered by a medical man in the State of Washington it will not be long before the world will know all about it. But unless the physician who has caused a miniature flutter in the professional world cannot do any better than earlier discoverers of "certain cures" he who suffers from this dreaded malady will have to content himself with the less spectacular and slower processes from which his condition obtains assistance and relief.

The doctor who announces a "cure" ought to be ready to present his conclusions and evidence to his profession as a whole. Until he does that it is usually safe to regard the discovery with an appropriate amount of reserve. On more than one occasion victims of tuberculosis have put faith in reports of a similar nature only to find that the precious remedy has been evolved by the fertile brain of a fakir. The Friedman "cure" was a typical example of a case in which the beneficiary was none other than the cash box of its originator.

It goes without saying, of course, that nothing should be said or done to hinder the progress of research in respect of tubercular trouble; but it is unfortunate that its victims should be induced to build up false hopes by a crafty promise of health which bears neither the stamp of truth nor substance.

REEVE WATSON'S VICTORY.

Nothing that might be said of Reeve Watson's victory in Saanich could be more eloquent of the opinion of his administration held by his constituents than the fact that he polled six hundred more votes than his opponent out of a total ballot of fifteen hundred. This remarkable expression of confidence is a tribute to the work he has been able to perform in behalf of the municipality. It is the more noteworthy that he should have piled up so handsome a majority in contrast with the reverse expression of view on the part of the ratepayers in connection with the water extension by-law. This improvement was very largely sponsored by the Reeve; but its defeat indicates how successfully the people of Saanich are able to avoid prejudice by separating the good works of a public man from the one issue upon which the majority has other views.

WINSTON TO SUCCEED LORD MILNER?

If it may be taken for granted that Mr. Winston Churchill will succeed Lord Milner as Secretary of State for the Colonies it is to be hoped that this ambitious and spectacular British Minister will commence the performance of these extremely important duties by visiting those parts of the Empire about which his knowledge should be first hand. Judging by his memorable expression of opinion that Canada could not build warships because she lacked the requisite solid ground adjacent to her river waterways he has yet a great deal to learn about this Dominion. It is highly probable, however, that the war changed his mind about Canadian ability in general, and if he should be in any sort of doubt about her terra firma a couple of days in British Columbia should convince him that the Pacific shore is a very solid one.

THE DRUGGISTS' CASE.

British Columbia voted for Government control and sale of spirituous and malt liquors in sealed packages. Anything short of this and any attempt to sell and control except under direct Government supervision will not be in accordance with the expressed desire of the majority of the people. Neither druggists nor medical men desire to retain the responsibility saddled upon them by the British Columbia Prohibition Act any longer than is necessary. The rejoinder from an official of the Pharmaceutical Association of this Province denying the suggestion that the druggists have submitted a proposal for handling the liquor themselves under Government direction always has suspicion that there will be any attempt to subvert the will of the people in this direction.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Elections continue to be more uncertain than horse races—even under the "P. R." system.

M. Briand, the new French Premier, saw eye to eye with Mr. Lloyd George during the war. It is to be hoped that Germany and her obligations will not prove to be the rock upon which the Entente may suffer something even less than a temporary shock.

The shooting of an American officer by a Japanese sentry ought not to be made the pretext for stirring up a hundred and one questions in which opinions in the two countries conflict. The incident is an unfortunate one; but that is no reason for a revival of scaremongery or the introduction of detail which has no relation to the case in any particular.

No suggestion has made its appearance so far that either Prohibitionists or Moderationists have submitted any official recommendations to the Government in connection with the new liquor law. Unless action is taken before the Legislature commences its duties it means that alterations to the bill, or suggestions for alteration, will have to be made from the floor of the House by individual members or by delegations from both sides in conference with the Executive Council. To take time by the forelock would appear to be a more satisfactory method of procedure than by placing reliance upon delegation work in the political atmosphere of the session.

OTHER PAPERS' VIEWS

QUEER NAMES.

(From The Manchester Guardian.)
 The appearance in the divorce court of a witness who, when sworn, had to admit that his rightful name was Jolly Death makes one wonder how children thus burdened can be expected to honor their parents. The registers at Somerset House contain other appalling entries such as: Boadicea Basher, Happy Jiggins, Haystack Brown, Anno Domini Davis, Judas Iscariot Burton, Annanias Cutting, Odious Heaton, Bovril Simpson, River Jordan, Not Wanted Smith, One-Too-Many Simpson. Mrs. Andrew Lang relates that she once knew a courier whose children were named after places where the father happened to be when he heard of the births. "There was a St. Petersburg and a Naples, Kattegat and Skagerrak were the twins, while the only daughter was named Vienna."

WASTE PAPER.

(From The Los Angeles Times.)
 The Russian ruble has sunk so low in the estimation not only of the world, but of its own makers, that the Soviet Government talks of doing away with money altogether. Why bother with carrying the stuff? When it takes an armful of rubles to buy a loaf of bread it seems a waste of effort to print money. Lenin and Trotsky still have the Government gold and treasure to use when they deal with other nations, and the Soviet leaders will find it much simpler to take what they want when they can get it without any foolish wrangling over the value of the circulating medium. What business has Utopia with coin? In a perfect Government money is as non-essential as a bath or a hairlip.

WHERE IT STARTED

TABLE KNIVES.
 (Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)
 The custom of having knives at the table did not come into use until the close of the 15th century. Formerly, close of the hand, with the fingers curled, and the knife held in the palm, carried everyone, high or low, carried at his belt. Certain nobles, with luxurious tastes, started the fashion, and it rapidly spread to Sheffield, England, had the first table knife manufactory.

WHY DO OBJECTS HAVE DIFFERENT ODDORS?

(Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)
 In the plan of nature, the object of an odor is undoubtedly to attract or to repel, to invite approach or to warn of danger. Thus, the plants which require "pollenizing" in order to produce seed usually have a pronounced odor, which aids in attracting bees and other insects that carry the pollen on their legs. Of themselves, these smells are made up of a number of different compounds, each with its characteristic odor. There is a marked resemblance, for example, in all compounds which contain sulfur, whether they be a vegetable, mineral or liquid nature. Other odors produced by certain families of plants are family smells, though they may differ radically from each other. Smell, therefore, is the result of a chemical reaction of one kind or another, and different objects give off different odors because of their differing chemical composition.

Is Your Headache Caused by Imperfect Eyes?

It is stated on good authority that 90% of all headaches are caused by imperfect eyes, and I have proved this to be true by my own experience.

If this fact was generally known, much unnecessary suffering could be avoided and prevented, and more glasses would be worn. If you are subject to this distressing affliction, you should see me at once and give me the opportunity of examining your eyes and grinding lenses—glasses—that will bring you instant relief.

NANAIMO ELECTION
 Nanaimo.—The five aldermen of last year who stood Thursday for re-election, were returned. J. E. Plants in the North Ward taking the place of James Knight, who was not a candidate. A. Handie, who was chosen by the council last year to fill a vacancy, was returned by citizen's vote. The city council for 1921 is: Mayor, F. A. Busby, elected by acclamation; North Ward, J. E. Plants, 168 votes; Arthur Randle, 165; Middle Ward, William Hart, 196; J. M. McQueen, 197; South Ward, John Rowan, 147; John Boreby, 142. The Police Commissioners are: Mayor Busby, M. A. Garman, W. Morton. The referendum on the proposed new High School, which was only a civic "straw" vote, gave 633 for the Agricultural building remodelled; for a new structure, 163. The vote was light on account of no mayoral contest, only fifty per cent of the electors coming to the City Hall.

HOROSCOPE
 Monday, January 17, 1921
 (Copyright, 1920, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
 During the busy hours of this day unfriendly stars rule, according to astrology. Mars, Mercury and Uranus are all adverse while the Sun shines with threatening rays. It is a time to exercise judgment and foresight in all business affairs which may be more or less unsatisfactory. Uranus is in a place believed to encourage pessimism and foreboding that are destructive to wise activity. All the coarser instincts are supposed to be aroused during this way; the physical tugging control and dominating the intellectual or spiritual aspirations.

 The rule is unfortunate for harmony and may be conducive to business misunderstandings as well as domestic dissensions.
 Again there is a foreshadowing of much gossip and slander wherever prominent persons congregate. The national Capital comes under a sign that seems to presage many evil rumors that are wit-out foundations. This is not a favorable day for signing contracts, reaching agreements or entering into partnerships since all associations begun to-day are likely to be of short duration.
 The Sun gives warning of controversies over aviation and possible accidents to aviators.
 Uranus gives warning of ill omens for interviews with superiors in authority. It is not a fortunate time to seek patronage or support.
 Mercury, which is the planet supposed to control common sense, is in sinister. Temptation to do foolish and ill advised things may be overpowering at this time.

That there is little evidence of a wane in the popularity of dancing was proved conclusively at the Empress Hotel on Saturday, when both the afternoon "the dansant" and the supper-dance in the evening attracted a large attendance of the members of the dancing set.

The inauguration of a Saturday supper-dance at the Empress Hotel has added another attraction to the social calendar and the success of the premier on Saturday evening has led the management to announce that the next of the series will be held on January 23.

VISITING CITY

MRS. ROSS HETT with her husband, Major Ross Hett, arrived in the city on Saturday on a visit to her father, T. H. Slater. As Miss Phyllis Slater she was one of the popular members of the younger social set, prior to her departure for overseas, where she did splendid work for the Red Cross.

LECTURES ON WORK OF CHARLES PEGUY

The life work of Charles Peguy, famous French writer and mystic, formed the subject of an intensely interesting address delivered before the Alliance Francaise, Saturday evening, by M. Regis Michaud, vice-chairman of the Department of French in the University of California.

After outlining the early life of Peguy, Mr. Michaud declared, "He really created a new mystic and religious current of opinion among the young French writers and reformers of his day. Peguy made himself a kind of French Carlyle; he was a sort of incarnation of Carlyle himself in his mission, he felt, was to fuse Socialism with Catholicism."

"During the retreat on the Marne in 1914, he revealed himself as a hero," said the speaker. "He fell on September 6, near Meaux just the day before the victorious offensive, being shot while he stood face to the enemy, after making his men lie down for protection's sake."

Elizabeth is a holy name and has a devious origin. It likewise has many derivatives, contractions and diminutives.

Going back to Biblical times we find that the wife of Aaron possessed a name famous in that it not only named a dedication to the Deity. This name was Elisebeth, meaning Good-nath.

Elizabeth, the mother of John the Baptist bore this name, and her first-born child was named after her.

Princess Elavetta, the daughter of Jaroslav, and the romantic love of the famous poet and sea king, Harald Hardrada, of Norway, through her the name became known in Denmark.

One of the first Elizabeths in France was Elizabeth of Hainault, who married Philippe Auguste, and in Hungary, Elizabeth, or Eresbent, as she is called there, was a saintly woman, which brought her name great prominence in Germany.

Elizabeth Woodville, whose mother was Hacquette of Luxembourg, was the first English Elizabeth on record. Elizabeth of York is another famous woman of that name, supposed to be the object of the political courtship of Henry of Monmouth, the famous son of the English Elizabeths was, of course, the famous queen, whose saintly qualities and achievements are immortal in the world's history.

Elizabeth's talismanic gem is the diamond, which is said to give its wearer strength, indomitability and freedom from all dangers, since, according to an old legend, the diamond absorbs all poisons into itself, thus protecting the one who wears it as an amulet.

The annual meeting of the Shawanigan Women's Institute was held in the S. L. A. Hall on Thursday afternoon last. The President was in the chair and gave a brief address. The directors' report of the year's work showed considerable progress, while the secretary-treasurer's report showed the Institute in good financial standing with a substantial bank balance to start the new year with.

"BLUEBIRDS" JUNIOR CIRCLE OF KING'S DAUGHTERS FORMED

A second Junior Circle of the King's Daughters was organized on Saturday, January 15, by the district president, Mrs. L. H. Hardie, at her home, Oak Bay Avenue.

Miss Letch, provincial president, conducted the admission service for the twelve little girls present, and gave them a talk on the aims and objects of the order. The names chosen for the circle was "The Bluebirds," and the officers elected were: Miss Doreen Elford, secretary, and Miss Maureen McCann, treasurer.

It was decided to meet on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month, immediately after school hours. The next meeting will be held at 2144 Oak Bay Avenue, on January 25. Any children desiring to join the circle should communicate with the secretary, telephone number 1926R.

TO-DAY'S JEWELS

The ruby is both to-day's talismanic gem and natal stone. The ancients believed that it preserved the bodily health and mental strength of its wearer, kept him safe from disease, and made him indifferent to sentiment.

Set in a ring, bracelet or brooch, and worn on the left side, it is a protection from accident or misfortune. It is especially lucky for those engaged in legal disputes.

The Orientals believed that black should be worn to-day, and that it brought its wearer courage and the bravery to stand pain.

Bul-Dog Drummond

By Cyril McNeile
"Sapper"

"Draw the curtains." Lakington was speaking, his voice muffled behind the pad, and one of the men did as he said. There were four in all, each with a similar pad over his mouth and nose. "Where did you put the generator, Brownlow?"

"In the coal-scuttle." A man whom Mrs. Denny would have had no difficulty in recognizing, even with the mask on his face, carefully lifted a small black box out of the scuttle from behind some coal, and shook it gently, holding it to his ear. "It's finished," he remarked, and Lakington nodded.

"An ingenious invention is gas," he said, addressing another of the men. "We owe your nation quite a debt of gratitude for the best." A guttural grunt left no doubt as to what that nation was, and Lakington dropped the box into his pocket.

"Go and get him," he ordered briefly, and the other men left the room. Contemptuously Lakington kicked one of the dogs; it rolled over and lay motionless in its new position. Then he went in to see to each of the three men sleeping in the chairs. With no attempt at gentleness he turned their faces up to the light, and let their heads fall back with a thud. Finally, he went to the window and stared down at Drummond. In his eyes was a look of cold fury, and he kicked the unconscious man savagely in the ribs.

"You young swine," he muttered. "Do you think I'll forget that blow on the jaw?"

He took another box out of his pocket and looked at it lovingly. "Shall I?" With a short laugh he replaced it. "It's too good a death for you, Captain Drummond, D.S.O. Just to snuff out in your sleep. No, my friend, I think I can devise something better than that; something really artistic."

Two other men came in as he turned away, and Lakington looked at them.

"Well," he asked, "have you got the old woman?"

"Bound and gagged in the kitchen," answered one of them laconically. "Are you going to do this crowd in?"

The speaker looked at the unconscious man with hatred in his eyes. "They encumber the earth—this breed of puppy."

"They will not encumber it for long," said Lakington softly. "But the one in the window there is not going to die quite so easily. I have a small unsettled score with him."

"All right; he's in the car." A voice came from outside the window, and with a last look at Hugh Drummond, Lakington turned away.

"Then we'll go," he remarked. "Au revoir, my blundering young bull. Before I've finished with you, you'll scream for mercy. And you won't get it."

Through the still night air there came the rumbling of the engine of a powerful car. Gradually it died away and there was silence. Only the murmur of the river over the weir broke the silence, which spanned the river between Goring and Stratford. It covered the water and the low fields to the west like a thick white carpet; it drifted sluggishly under the old bridge which spans the river between Goring and Stratford. It was the hour before dawn, and sleepy passengers rubbing the windows of their carriages and the Plymouth boat express rushed on towards London, shivered and drew their rugs closer around them. It looked cold . . . cold and dead.

Slowly, almost imperceptibly, the vapour rose and spread outwards through the wooded hills by Basildon. It drifted through the shrubs and rose-bushes of a little garden, which stretched from a sunnier slope down to the water's edge, until at length wisps of it brushed gently round the bungalow itself. It was a daily performance in the Summer, and generally the windows of the lower rooms remained shut till long after the mist had gone and the sun was glinting through the trees on to the river below. But on this morning there was a change in the usual programme. Suddenly the window of one of the downstairs rooms was flung open, and a man with a white haggard face leant out drawing a great breath of fresh air into his lungs. Softly the white wrappings slipped past him into the room behind—a room in which a queer, faintly sweet smell still hung, a room in which another man lay sprawling uncouthly in chairs, and two dogs lay motionless on the hearthrug.

After a moment of two the man withdrew, only to appear again with the rest of the others in his arms. And then, having dropped his burden through the window on to the lawn outside, he repeated his performance with the remaining two. Finally he fetched the two dogs after them, and then, with his hands to his forehead, he staggered down to the water's edge.

"Holy smoke," he muttered to himself, as he plunged his head into the cold water, "talk about the morning after . . . Never have I thought of such a head."

After a while, with the water still dripping from his face, he returned to the bungalow and found the other three in varying stages of partial insensibility.

"Wake up, my heroes," he remarked, "and go and put your great fat heads in the river."

Peter Darrell scrambled unsteadily to his feet.

"Great Scott! Hugh," he muttered thickly, "what's happened?"

"We've been had for mugs," said Drummond grimly, "and I've been foolishly from his position in the middle of a flower-bed."

"Dear old soul," he murmured at length, "you'll have to change your wine merchant. Merciful Heavens! is the top of my head still on?"

"Don't be a fool, Algy," grunted Hugh. "You weren't drunk last night. Pull yourself together, man; we were all of us drugged or doped somehow. And now," he added bitterly, "we've all got heads, and we have our 'got Potts'."

"I don't remember anything," said

"P.R." RESULT IS ANALYZED NOW

How Decision Was Made in Victoria Aldermanic Poll

According to the rules and regulations under the Municipal Proportional Representation Act, the Returning Officer on Saturday declared E. S. Woodward elected over Christian Sivertz, when each remained as "continuing candidates" on the thirteenth count.

Rule 11, section D reads: "A transfer of votes under this rule shall not be made unless a surplus of the elected candidates together with any other surplus not transferred exceeds the difference between the votes of the two continuing candidates' lowest on the poll."

Under the circumstances in the Victoria aldermanic poll at the thirteenth count the surplus of Aldermen Harvey, Dinsdale and Fullerton had not been distributed, being for Aldermen Harvey 24, and for the other two 13 each. The total, namely, 52, if all were awarded to Mr. Sivertz, would have only made him equal, not exceed Mr. Woodward's total, therefore Mr. Woodward was declared elected, although it was suggested that the process should be carried to a fourteenth count.

Mr. Woodward's total, therefore, awarded eighth position as his number before was higher.

A revised summary of the tally by counts follows, from which it will be seen that fuller details clarify the obscurities disclosed in the tally summary published on Saturday:

A. M. Aitken—287 and elected on first count, surplus distributed fifth count.

E. B. Anderson—287, 336, 357, 359, 362, 372, sixth count, and elected.

Surplus transferred on eleventh count.

John Day—129, 148, 151, 154, 155, 156, 162, 168, 183, 184, 189, 194, thrown out of thirteenth and votes transferred.

R. A. C. Dewar—406, elected on first count. Surplus distributed fourth count.

Robert Dinsdale—192, 217, 234, 239, 240, 246, 257, 268, 277, 279, 315, 377, elected on thirteenth count.

W. F. Fullerton—214, 244, 252, 257, 258, 267, 273, 278, 289, 294, 331, 377, elected on thirteenth count.

John Harvey—246, 253, 282, 286, 297, 311, 320, 325, 340, 343, 390, elected on twelfth count.

Emma Hood—32, 36, 37, 37, 38, thrown out on seventh and votes transferred.

George Sangster—443, elected on first count. Surplus transferred on third count.

W. J. Sargent—319, 410, second count elected. Surplus transferred on sixth count.

EYEWITNESS OF MURDER ADMITS YELLOW STREAK

Montreal, Jan. 17.—(Canadian Press).—"I guess I turned yellow and I ran away."

This was the excuse of J. F. Coffey, an eyewitness of the shooting of William A. Holland, manager for Macdougall Brothers, stock brokers, by Major Robert M. Griffith, on Friday afternoon, in Holland's office. Coffey was discovered by the local detectives on the very slight evidence of a witness at the inquest that two men had been seen running on Sacramento Street, after the murder. Coffey when questioned at once admitted he had seen the murder from beginning to end and gave the foregoing reason as to why he had not volunteered information to the police.

Boasted German Spy System Was a Failure in England New War Revelations Show

Full Story of German Secret Service Operations Is Published By Government and Reveals Enemy System As a Farce; Only Thirty Spies Convicted By British Courts; Stories of How Some Were Caught Now Told; Hans Lody, Called Brave Man, Was One of Few of Ability Who Operated In England.

London, Jan. 2.—(By Mail)—Another of the great myths of the war has received the death blow. The much vaunted German system of espionage in Great Britain, the source of so much fear and hatred, stands revealed before the world as a pitiful joke. Not to believe in the reality of the spy danger used to be in that country, as in others, a deplorable heresy, almost the mark of the pro-German or the foolish, unthinking pacifist.

Now, there may have been countries where the German spy organization worked smoothly and effectively, and delivered the goods; but England was most certainly not one of them. Moreover, the revelations contained in German Spies at Bay, a volume by Sidney Theodore Felstead, telling, on the basis of British official records, the story of the German intelligence service in England, make it rather unlikely that the Germans should ever in any particular place have got their money's worth out of their spies, poorly paid though most of them were.

Reads Like a Farce: The supreme surprise about the story of German spying in England—now it can be told—is that it reads like a farce from beginning to end in every respect, save for the personal fate of the spies themselves, who, to use the not altogether original phrase of the author, had to pay the supreme penalty for the stupidity and unscrupulousness of their employer, the German General Staff. Indeed, were it not for the official stamp of Mr. Felstead's revelations—the book has been passed for publication by the British War Office—there would almost be inclined to reject them as irresponsible boasting. For his testimony, all things considered, comes down to this: That the Germans did not get five cents' worth of military and naval information from England out of their host of spies employed in that country; that in this host—more than thirty spies were convicted by British courts during the war, apart from a large number of suspects merely interned on the ground of lack of evidence—there was one single person really equipped and trained for the task; and that from the very first moment the British counter espionage service, though itself slowly evolving from the void through waste and inefficiency and blundering, had the whole imperial German outfit in the hollow of its hand. The break-down of the German spy system in England can be traced to three principal reasons. First among these is the inadequate quality of the persons employed. That the majority of them were sheer human refuse, men of the lowest moral index, is not surprising; that's why they turned to the miserable occupation of spying for money; only a very few—one or two, in fact—were found to be actuated by patriotic motives. It is less easily comprehensible why most of the German spies should also have been dull, uneducated and ignorant individuals, completely devoid of the mental characteristics and training short of which a spy cannot possibly survive, let alone deliver the goods. As the only explanation, it is suggested by the author that the Germans were short of men and employed anybody they could get hold of. Inadequate Equipment. The second main reason for the failure of German espionage in England was inadequate preparation of the field. It is in this respect that the break-down of the much-advertised Prussian efficiency becomes most evident. That most of the spies sent to England were not even provided with an appropriate kit for invisible writing is a minor detail. As time went by, the equipment was improved, but the means of detection used by the British counter espionage improved apace, and the Germans gained nothing. A much more serious and inexplicable mistake, in which the Germans persisted to the very end, was in their neglect of necessary measures to establish the standing of the individual spy—first, by providing him with a bona fide business, and second, by making his presence in England plausible and legitimate; second, by supplying him with an equal bona fide business, which he could forward his communications. Finally, the third reason for the break-down of German espionage was the perfection of a particular agent, and movements of a particular agent, and British counter espionage, and, more particularly, that of its most formidable arm—postal and cable censorship, which, in a way, could be likened to a colossal dragnet, wherewith the English kept on sweeping the entire field of German activities in neutral and Allied countries and hauling in a rich and variegated catch every day.

Postal and Cable Censorship. The working of postal and cable censorship proved fatal for the German spies, not only because it yielded a kind of signaling apparatus, faithfully registering the arrival of messages, but chiefly because it detected, with a deadly speed and accuracy, his weakest spot—the Continental address with which he was supposed to communicate and which, almost without exception, was identified on the spot as belonging to a member of the German secret service instead of the neutral business house it purported to cover. A couple of examples will illuminate this particular angle of German blundering. In the early months of 1915, Mr. Felstead relates, the officials of the British cable censorship were rather astounded to receive messages, destined for Holland, purporting to order huge quantities of cigars. That in itself would not have been extraordinary, but the extraordinary feature was that most of these telegrams emanated from naval ports. Now to any one who knows Jack there is one thing more positive than another, that is, that he is not a smoker of cigars. And yet telegrams were coming in from places such as Portsmouth, Chatham, Devonport and Dover ordering from an address at The Hague all sorts of impossible quantities of cigars. The messages asked for 10,000 bananas, 4,000 Rothschilds, 3,000 Coronas.

Too Much Business. There was something radically wrong, so the authorities decided they would like to interview the enterprising travelers who were doing such wonderful business. The British counter espionage officials happened to know something of the address to which they were telegraphing. So the two suspects were arrested and taken to Scotland Yard for interrogation. One was a big, saturnine Dutchman, with a heavy black, full beard; he gave his name as Haicke Petrus Marinus Janssen, his age as thirty—he certainly looked fifty—and his profession as that of seaman. He asserted, when asked on the point, that he had never been in Germany and did not like Germans. Questioning a Spy

Then the following conversation ensued: "But how is it (quoth the Scotland Yard official) that your employers, Dierks & Co., engage a seaman as a traveler in cigars? Surely, there are plenty of experienced men in such a country as Holland?" "Well, that I cannot say," Janssen answered. "I was unable to obtain a berth as an officer on a steamer and took the offer of coming to England to sell cigars until such time as I could find more suitable employment."

"And what do you know about Messrs. Dierks & Co.? Have they a large office?" "No," replied the Dutchman. "I was introduced by a friend, Mr. Dierks took me to his office. It is a small place, and so far as I could see he employed only one clerk."

"Has Mr. Dierks any other representative in England?" "No," replied the Dutchman. "I was introduced by a friend, Mr. Dierks took me to his office. It is a small place, and so far as I could see he employed only one clerk."

unraveled. Cubans meant light cruisers; Coronas, battleships; Fernandis, destroyers, and so on. Unfortunately it never occurred to the two men that ordering large quantities of expensive cigars from naval ports was anything but an everyday proceeding. This little oversight, plus the address of Dierks & Co., cost them their lives. They were convicted, and sentenced to death by shooting and executed. Before the end came both confessed their guilt, and both died like men, displaying a courage which evoked the admiration of the British soldiers. Later in 1915 the police arrested a young Brazilian of German origin, Fernando Buschman by name. He, too, posed as a commercial traveler, and the guise was as incongruous as in the case of the two seamen; for Buschman looked, talked and acted like a young gentleman of means and artistic propensities. He arrived in England with a forged passport, after completing his hasty education in the famous German spy schools of Antwerp and Rotterdam. In London he lived at fashionable West End hotels and acquired friends chiefly through his masterly playing of the violin. He spent a good deal, and a momentary financial embarrassment caused his undoing. He wrote for money to Holland. The letter was intercepted and Buschman was arrested.

ficer remarked. "The last time we heard of them they were cigar merchants."

Buschman was tried at the Westminster Guildhall, found guilty on overwhelming evidence, and sentenced to death. Throughout the trial and also while awaiting execution, he behaved like a gentleman and gained the sympathy of his guards. Why he ever turned spy was a mystery which proved unathomable for his prosecutors, all the more as he was a wealthy man. It was thought that he lent himself to the machinations of the German secret service out of patriotic motives.

Failure to prove a bona fide or even plausible errand led to the undoing of Augusto Alfredo Roggen, a little dark-haired Uruguayan of parentage. He pretended to be a farmer interested in buying agricultural machinery and stock; but no role could have been more unlikely for his parents, figures with the ultra-refined manners. He was arrested in the lake district of Scotland—another obvious incongruity—in his possession of a newly erected ammunition factory. His trial established his communications with the German spy centres on the Continent. He also was sentenced to death by shooting, and faced the firing party bravely.

Went to Certain Death. From these examples, as well as the rest of the material presented in Mr. Felstead's volume, it would appear that the directors of the German espionage service never went to the trouble of explaining to their accomplices—or, rather, victims—the risks contingent upon their undertaking. Indeed, one would be inclined to say that sending a not overly smart person of obviously un-English appearance, speaking with an obvious foreign accent, equipped with dubious papers, traveling on an obviously faked errand, and communicating with addresses obviously known to the British authorities, was very much like sending him to certain death. Yet the organizers of the German spy service had no qualms about the proceeding; and the weird part of it was that these organizers knew very well the information that could be secured by individuals of this description could not amount to much. It actually never did, Mr. Felstead assures; and whatever information went through arrived belated by two, three or four weeks, owing to the delay caused by censorship, and thus devoid of such value as it might have possessed originally.

German spies caught in England by the British counter espionage service—their number is given as more than thirty—eleven were executed by shooting and one by hanging, one committed suicide when conviction was inevitable, six had their death sentences commuted to penal servitude, while the others received prison sentences of varying length. In addition there were dozens of spies interned for want of convicting evidence, mainly people taken off boats, who did not intend to land in England and were thus not amenable to trail under British law. One of the strangest things that strikes one in Mr. Felstead's narrative is this: that while, with the exception of Carl Hans Lody and possibly Fernando Buschman, who were acted on patriotic motives and were regarded as gentlemen and treated like officers, the spies executed in Britain were all moral bankrupts, more or less, all but three met their death with a remarkable courage which evoked the full admiration of their jailers and executioners. Of Lody, who was executed in the Tower on November 6, 1914, Felstead writes:

Death for Lody. "Carl Hans Lody was the first spy to be executed in the Tower of London since the time of George III. He was also probably the most favorable specimen of a German agent with whom we had to deal during the war, for there is no doubt that his motives were purely patriotic. On these grounds there was some talk of his death sentence being commuted to penal servitude for life; but when the proposal was brought before the head of the counter espionage section it received the strongest possible refusal. It was argued, with excellent reason, that the execution of a spy and the public announcement thereof would have a most deterrent effect on future German spies who might be thinking of coming to this country. This finally decided the matter, and Lody paid the supreme penalty on Friday, November 6, 1914. He met his death without flinching, and on the morning of his execution, when the assistant provost-marshal came to his cell to tell him his time had come, he said, rather wistfully, 'I suppose you will not care to shake hands with a German spy?' 'No, I would not,' said the assistant provost-marshal, 'but I will shake hands with a brave man,' and so Carl Lody died."

Special Announcement!

REGARDING the reported so-called "shut-down" of the Edison Phonograph works, we wish to state for the benefit of all our customers and prospective customers that they need have no fear that the supply of Edison Phonographs and RE-CREATIONS is to be cut off.

Part of the Edison works was closed down temporarily in order that certain changes in manufacturing can be adjusted, and to enable the factory to reach certain desired objectives.

We are advised from headquarters that the changes now being made "will have a beneficial result, and we shall soon be ready to go ahead, full steam, with a greater manufacturing efficiency than we have ever had before."

Edison RE-CREATIONS are coming to hand in greater quantities and in quicker time than they have done for years, and there is no curtailment in this department of the Edison factory.

This explanation is made because some people seem to have got the impression that Mr. Edison is going out of the phonograph business.

The New Edison will still be in the front line of phonographs.

Esquimalt Council Meeting.—The first meeting of the new Esquimalt Council will take place at 8 o'clock on Thursday. It is probable that there will be no formal swearing in en masse, the oaths being administered by Judge Lampman at the Court House at times most convenient to each of the newly elected municipal officers.

Course on Public Speaking.—In connection with the Victoria evening continuation classes, under the City School Board, Rev. R. M. Thompson will give a series of lectures commencing in the near future on "Public Speaking."

Circumstantial Evidence.—In the city police court this morning Magistrate Jay dismissed the charge against A. Simpson of having taken money from the clothes of members of the crew of the D.G.S. Estevan on Friday last. "The evidence is circumstantial, there is a strong suspicion, but the evidence is not of that positive character necessary for conviction," said Magistrate Jay.

Travelers Have a Time.—Past Councillor S. Shanks, Senior Councillor S. Siewick, Brother M. It is hoped that members of the general public interested in the work of the association will attend the annual meeting.

To Go to Mainland.—Rev. J. Richmond Craig, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, visited Victoria last week and attended the services being held by Mrs. Booth-Clibborn, the evangelist. He arranged for Mrs. Booth-Clibborn to visit Vancouver, and she will commence a mission in Westminster Church on Sunday, January 30. Mrs. Booth-Clibborn is a daughter of the late General William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army.

First Spiritualist Church.—Election of officers for the ensuing year took place at St. John's Hall Friday night, at which meeting there was a good attendance. Twelve applications for membership were favorably received, and the secretary reported the church was on a good financial basis. The election of officers resulted as follows: J. H. Griffiths, president; D. Rhodes, vice-president; H. Wall, secretary; E. Middleton, treasurer; J. Hodgkinson, managing officer.

Magistrate Issues Warning.—In the Esquimalt Police this morning Magistrate Jay issued a warning to highway robbers. "I understand there have been a number of hold-ups recently in the neighborhood, and would warn such characters that under the Criminal Code those guilty of committing robbery with violence are liable not only to long imprisonment, but also to be whipped. I trust that this warning will have a good effect," he said.

Next-of-Kin Association.—At the monthly business meeting of the Next-of-Kin Association, there was a good attendance of members and much routine business was disposed of. The delegates appointed to the annual meeting of the Local Council of Women were Mrs. Neild, Mrs. Wicks, Mrs. P. J. Davies and Mrs. Coburn. The uniform of the committee was laid over to be thoroughly looked into at the next meeting. Much benevolent work had been done during the month, and cases of need, mostly reported by the visiting committee, Convener Mrs. Crellman, assisted Mrs. P. J. A social evening will be held in the United Service Club, Government Street, on Thursday, January 27, to which all members are invited. Mrs. Johnston will have charge of arrangements for the same. Wedding in Alberni.—The wedding of Francis Mary Heath and Ernest Franklin Woodward, both of Alberni, took place at 8.30 on Tuesday morning, January 11, the ceremony being performed by Rev. H. A. Bain, of the Presbyterian Church. The newly married couple left on the morning train to spend their honeymoon in Vancouver and other coast cities. The groom is a business man of Alberni, and served with the Canadian forces during the war. The bride is the daughter of a prominent family in Alberni.

Favors Men Teachers.—In speaking to the Parent-Teachers' Association at Craigflower School on the subject of "Healthy Children as an asset to the state," Dr. M. J. Keys laid emphasis on the dearth of male teachers. This he deplored because of the powerful influence which a male teacher of high ideals was able to exercise over the pupils, thus helping to mould strong and healthy characters among the children. The home, the school and the church were the three strongest factors in a child's life, said Dr. Keys.

Elect Church Officers.—The First Spiritual Church held the election of officers in St. John's Hall on Saturday night. There was a good attendance, and twelve applications for membership were accepted. The following officers were elected for the year 1921: J. H. Griffiths, president; Mrs. F. Rhodes, vice-president; Mrs. H. Wall, secretary; E. Middleton, treasurer. A social committee was formed of which E. Middleton was elected chairman.

Fifth Regiment Active.—Great activity is being displayed in connection with recruiting for the Fifth Regiment. All ex-officers and men who have served in the artillery are cordially invited to visit the headquarters in the Armory, Bay Street, to get acquainted with the plans of the regiment and to join up if they so desire. On Thursday evening of this week non-commissioned officers and men are invited to attend a lecture to be given at the drill hall by Colonel Robertson, commanding officer of the Fifth Regiment, of which he was formerly a member.

Next-of-Kin Association.—At the monthly business meeting of the Next-of-Kin Association, there was a good attendance of members and much routine business was disposed of. The delegates appointed to the annual meeting of the Local Council of Women were Mrs. Neild, Mrs. Wicks, Mrs. P. J. Davies and Mrs. Coburn. The uniform of the committee was laid over to be thoroughly looked into at the next meeting. Much benevolent work had been done during the month, and cases of need, mostly reported by the visiting committee, Convener Mrs. Crellman, assisted Mrs. P. J. Davies, convener of the Children's Christmas party reported a good time enjoyed by the children. A social evening will be held in the United Service Club, Government Street, on Thursday, January 27, to which all members are invited. Mrs. Johnston will have charge of arrangements for the same. Meetings, unless otherwise announced, will in future be held in the "Mezzanine Room" of the Club.

Successful Smoker at G.W.V.A.—The regular Saturday night smoker took place at the G.W.V.A. Club last Saturday night. The G.W.V.A. orchestra was in attendance under the leadership of Comrade Rumsby. The chair was occupied by Comrade Thornley, and many excellent turns were provided. Comrades Impett and Marshall, the well-known local comedians, won loud applause. Comrade Potter rendered a baritone song and was repeatedly encored. Comrade Charman, the soloist, rendered several songs in exquisite style, and several musical selections from the orchestra completed a very enjoyable evening.

G.W.V.A. MEETING

The semi-monthly general meeting of the G.W.V.A. will take place at the Club, 712 Fort Street, on Tuesday, January 18, at 8 o'clock. Nomination of officers for the coming term will occur and a large attendance of out-of-town comrades is specially requested. The importance of this meeting cannot be overestimated, and it is the wish of the organization to see the strongest executive possible elected as chairman of the various committees.

The G.W.V.A. extends its arm to all corners of the Empire, and are taking a prominent part in the establishment, and the Comrades will do well to attend largely at the nominations, and the elections which follow on February 1.

KIWANIS AT VARIETY.

Instead of the regular luncheon at the Dominion Hotel—the Kiwanians to-morrow are to be treated to a luncheon and entertainment at the Variety Theatre. The manager of the Variety, Mr. Clark, has loaned the premises for the purpose, and some films of special interest are to be shown during the entertainment. The committee in charge of the musical programme this week have promised exceptional features, and a novel time is to be accorded to all.

The committee in charge of the Kiwanis social to be held at the Alexandra Club to-morrow night request that members of the club make their final applications and settlement for tickets at the Tuesday luncheon at the Variety.

LOCKLEY AGAIN

REEVE OF ESQUIMALT

Electors Renew Confidence, and Favor Abolition of Wards

Esquimalt voters on Saturday gave Reeve Lockley a majority of 68 votes over John Jardine, in his contest for re-election.

The result was anticipated throughout the day, and only in Ward Three did Mr. Jardine at any time make any apparent showing of strength as the voting proceeded. Expectations in this regard were proven correct when the counting of the ballots took place, for Mr. Jardine received a majority of the 111 ballots cast in that ward.

Ward One will again be represented by Councillors Pomeroy and Mesher, the former having a big lead, while Mr. Mesher was only five votes ahead of ex-Councillor Porter.

Ward Three also proved to be the strongest centre of opposition to S. H. Bowden for the Police Commission, but the polls at the Sailors' Club went strongly for Mr. Bowden, who was elected by a majority of 32 votes over W. J. Worden.

Ward Three Opposes

There will apparently no longer be a ward system in Esquimalt, for the voters favored its being abolished by a vote of 278 to 216, with Ward Three once more in opposition to the rest of the municipality, on this question the vote being more than two to one against a change in Ward Three.

SECOND SUNDAY OF NOTABLE MISSION

"La Marechal" Addressed Large Audiences Yesterday

New York, Jan. 7.—The blue goose is to be trailed to his mysterious breeding grounds in the Arctic regions. An expedition is now being arranged by Dr. Donald MacLean, explorer and ornithologist, who will begin the long voyage from Boston next July. New York ornithologists are greatly interested in his plans and express confidence that he will make important discoveries.

While Dr. MacLean will seek especially the eggs of the greater and lesser snow geese and the blue goose, he will also institute a search for eggs of all rare Polar birds. His quest of the eggs of the blue goose will be followed with special interest because so little is known of their breeding places.

Announcement of the explorer's plans brought to light the fact that Commander Robert Peary found birds in the northernmost land in the Arctic regions. The news has just been received by T. Gilbert Pearson, president of the National Audubon Society, who says that Peary told him that he found 26 species of birds at the extreme northern point, 480 miles from the North Pole.

Peary promised to write a paper relative to this discovery for Mr. Pearson, but never managed to do so. His relapse in this respect caused great regret to local ornithologists, and they are now hoping that some other explorer will gain data regarding these birds.

As plans for Dr. MacLean's voyage are still in a tentative shape, it is not known just how far he will go into the Arctic regions. Thus far no one from New York has arranged to accompany him. The lamellirostral birds, whose breeding places are to be sought, are largely herbivorous, and are noted for their attractive migrations. The snow geese are of the genus Chen and most of them are white with blackish primaries and a yellowish bill. They breed chiefly in the Arctic regions and migrate south.

The greater snow goose occurs chiefly in the Atlantic coast, and the lesser snow bird on the Pacific coast and in the Mississippi Valley. The blue goose is often called the blue snow goose. The blue geese are a North American wild goose, having a greyish plumage resembling that of the young snow geese, and is found chiefly during its migrations in the Mississippi Valley.

The best game waders in great flocks. President Pearson of the Audubon Society says he has seen flocks of 100,000 of them.

Dr. MacLean's voyage, which will begin early in July, will be continued throughout the warm months.

"THE LAW DIVINE"
AT ROYAL TO-NIGHT
Real Picture of Life and Love
For Two Nights

Few comedies of recent times possess more intensely human qualities than H. V. Esmond's latest work, "The Law Divine," the first of the two comedies in which the famous author and his wife, Miss Eva Moore, will appear at the Royal Victoria Theatre for four days commencing to-night with their entire London company.

The story deals with a family of good social standing in London. Jack le Bas, when about twenty, married a girl two or three years younger, and they were joyously married. Jack is now thirty-eight, and he has been at the war and got injured, and now writes novels and potters around at the War Office. Mrs. le Bas has become so absorbed in women's work work and women's reform movements that she has taken her home and husband for granted, and (although she does not realize it) they have drifted apart and he is in danger of getting on the rocks. His life is starved, and after agonized hoping that his wife may come back to him, he half comes to the conclusion that it is hopeless, and becomes enamored in another direction. The play is, perhaps, a lesson for wives. It might be said that all husbands and wives ought to see it, for their mutual advantage; but it is a review of life in which married and unmarried are alike concerned, and the drama and intensity of it are relieved by delicious touches of humor.

In striking contrast to "The Law Divine" is the farcical comedy "Eliza Comes to Stay," which will be presented on Wednesday and Thursday nights of Mr. Esmond and Miss Moore's visit. The education of a typical gutter-type servant girl to a person of refined habits is humorously dealt with by Mr. Esmond, and the part of the servant girl admirably portrayed by Miss Moore.

VIOLA DANA IN "BLACKMAIL"

Dominion Presents Special Metro Production

For the first time in many years, Viola Dana, how has the stellar role in "Blackmail," a special Metro production, now at Dominion, enjoyed a real restful vacation, after completing the photo drama of high life of the underworld. Heretofore, "rest" meant for her a mad whirl of air-planing, swimming, dancing, tennis and golf. But this time she had a quiet vacation.

After her active role as the shrewd daughter of the master crook in "Blackmail," Miss Dana turned to her vacation of rest with a zeal that only the complete change could cause.

"I just lie off for hours in a hammock," she says, "and read lazily. For I have taken up croquet. The doctors tell me that I have been going it too strenuously for any human machine to stand. 'Hold on until your next picture,' they tell me, 'and you can break loose with greater vitality than ever, but just now your storage batteries of pep need to be laid up for a while.'"

Miss Dana says that for years she used to get quite incensed if anybody wanted incense or darkened rooms or any of the exotic things that are made to soothe the nerves; she wanted bright lights and plenty of excitement. But, while she was preparing to play the Japanese maid in "The Willow Tree," she became interested in Oriental philosophy and ways of living, and now she finds the calm philosophy of the East a great nerve tonic. The soft silk Oriental draperies that she now wears prove very comforting, and she has become a fervent burner of incense.

"Its faint fragrance and the fascination of watching the blue smoke slowly curling up have a charm that increases all the time," she says. "It seems to typify the delicious laziness of life where everything is calm and slow and appealing to the senses. Never did I think I'd come to it, but now that I'm resting I fill me with a sort of lotus-loving happiness. At the same time, I am just waiting for the word, 'Go!' with my next picture, and I expect I'll make things hum in Hollywood."

Associated with Joe Ryan in his new Vitagraph serial, "The Purple Riders," are a group of the wildest riders and ropers the West can offer. These are men with whom Ryan rode the plains before any of them had heard of motion pictures. "The Purple Riders" is designed to be a classic of the West that was, and made by men who lived in the same West that day.

LOUISE HUFF IN PLAY WITH NOVEL THEME

Favorite Star Appears in "Dangerous Paradise" at Pantages

A new Selznick's Picture, "The Dangerous Paradise," with lovely Louise Huff in the starring role, is announced as the feature attraction of the new bill which begins at Pantages Theatre to-day.

In "The Dangerous Paradise," which was made under the direction of William P. S. Earle, Miss Huff is given a splendid opportunity to interpret the role of a young society girl in a story that is interesting throughout. The story is from the pen of Edmund Goulding, a photo dramatist of note, who has acted, directed and appeared in several Selznick productions.

Miss Huff, according to an announcement of the story, plays the role of Ivis Vanastor, an eighteen-year-old society girl who believes that only married women have any freedom. While Ivis seeks freedom, she resents the imposition of a bald-headed old gentleman whom her aunt forces upon her. She wants Norman Kent, a society man, but the youth fights shy of her flirtation. In desperation, Ivis, who at this time inherits a handsome Newport home, pretends she is married to protect her honor, refrains from giving vent to his heart's desire. As a consequence, Ivis finds herself up against a tough predicament. Norman would not flirt with her when she was single, nor will he flirt while she is apparently married. About this time Norman discovers her deception, and what follows is said to reveal a delightfully pleasing comedy drama.

If it were not for the names of Lewis Allen Browne as scenarist and Edmund Goulding as author, on the main title the observer would immediately come to the conclusion that the story was by Booth Tarkington. The characters, the style of plot and general atmosphere is that of Tarkington at his best, and a very good best it is.

Set amid scenes of remarkable beauty and good taste, the picture portrays the adventures of Ivis Vanastor, a sub-deb, who seeks to enter "The Dangerous Paradise" of freedom which she fondly imagines exists for married ladies only. Luck, in the form of an inheritance on her eighteenth birthday, comes her way, and with a definite plan in mind she boldly sets forth.

The picture is comedy of the first stripe that entertains from beginning to end.

In a Larry Semon comedy to be released soon after "The Sportsman," Semon's latest, the Vitagraph comedy king plans to insert what he calls "cartoon action." As he was once a prominent New York newspaper cartoonist, he is confident that he will be able to make the action convincing, and dovetail it deftly with the actual thrills and comedy stunts acted before the camera.

AMONG SAVAGES OF DUTCH PAPUA
Remarkable Pictures at Columbia, Filmed Through Accident

A picture that is 100 per cent entertainment! "Shipwrecked Among Cannibals" will be shown the Columbia Theatre to-day, where it is bound to go over the top as one of the most remarkable pictures ever filmed.

This picture was taken among the Kia Kia Head Hunters, the cannibal inhabitants of Dutch New Guinea, by Edward Laemmle and William Adler, two American moving picture men in search of novel film subjects who were shipwrecked on the shores of cannibal-land.

The picture opens with scenes of their stunts on shipboard. Later their good ship, "Nautius," springs a leak and the water rushes in relentlessly. Saving their camera they make for shore and find themselves the unheralded guests of South Sea Island man-eaters, the Kai-Kai head-hunters.

Their introduction to the natives, the manner in which they were received, the cannibals bearing down upon them along the shore, a surprise attack, the cannibal slaughter ceremony, the Head Dance—the Kia Kia children with human skulls as their playthings, and every type of savage warrior are shown in the remarkable films with which the two men returned to civilization.

There is not a dull minute to the picture and there are many times when the spectator clutches his chair in suspense.

Four Vitagraph companies working at its West Coast studios at Hollywood, California, kept the location man happy last week by all demanding railroad trains for scenes. William Duncan wanted one to leap onto from an aeroplane for a chapter play thrill; Larry Semon wanted to "pull" some comedy thrills in front of a cowcatcher; Antonio Moreno simply had to have a train from a train robbery in his melodrama. "Three Sevens," and Joe Ryan, after riding horses for three weeks, finally wanted to ride a passenger train.

ESMONDS ARE ENTERTAINED AT LUNCHEON

Noted English Actor Recites Before Canadian Club

H. V. Emond, the noted English actor, and his wife, known on the stage as Miss Eva Moore, were entertained by the Canadian Club at a luncheon in the Empress Hotel at noon today.

"One of the most striking things that we have seen in our journey across Canada is the splendid loyalty and love for the Old Land, so apparent on all sides," said Mr. Emond, who spoke briefly.

Instead of delivering a speech Mr. Emond preferred to recite Tennyson's "Defence of Lucknow," a dramatic poem, which thrilled the gathering and gave ample scope to his histrionic talent.

In "The Defence of Lucknow" occurs the line "Ever aloft on the topmost roof the banner of England flew." "That flag," Mr. Emond affirmed, "is still flying on the topmost roof of the world, and while Canada and England stand together, as they did during the greatest fight in history, no nation in the world can haul it down!"

Sustained applause showed the members' appreciation of his brief remarks. Miss Moore.

"It really brings a lump into one's throat when, having come so very far, and so many kind friends here, one finds so many kind friends here," Miss Moore remarked, when she was called upon to speak.

As she will address the Women's Canadian Club, Miss Moore said she would reserve further remarks for that more patriotic people, the members of my own sex.

Mr. Cochrane. In introducing the guests of the day, John Cochrane, President of the Club, spoke as follows:

"The ties of race, of affection and of loyalty, which unite the Overseas Dominions and the Motherland, have been proven, by the events of recent years, to be the adhesive forces which bind in one substantial structure the great British commonwealth of nations the world around."

"Among these various agencies let us briefly consider four: "The first we would mention is 'The Church.'"

"At this fountain the citizen drinks his purest draught of patriotism and imbibes those principles whose practical application to civil life would remedy the evils from which mankind is now suffering."

"The second agency is 'The School.' In this institution the instructive and inspiring events of our one thousand years of British history are brought in review before the minds of the youth of our land, the underlying principles of our civilization are recognized as having been vindicated in these events and, as a result, our children are better fitted to assume, in due time, the responsibilities of citizenship."

"Who may compute the influence of the press and the service which it has rendered to our Empire since it became a force in our national life? "During the our Motherland, and Overseas Dominions, how clearly the issues at stake were defined; how deeply the spirit of patriotism was stirred, and how successful civilian and military morale were sustained."

"The fourth agency we would mention as 'The Stage.' "Upon the stage in legitimate drama, we see, as it were in real life, the practical application of the principles inculcated by the Church, the School and the Press."

"We cordially welcome them to this capital city of British Columbia and to our Canadian friends."

BYLAWS FAILS AS WARD SEVEN VOTE SWINGS ADVERSE

Extension of Saanich Water-works Service Blocked

Ward Seven, Saanich, in the heart of the area served with a domestic water supply by the municipally owned waterworks, was the vital factor in the failure of the water extension bylaw on Saturday, when the voters of the ward turned out en masse and rolled up a vote of 211 against borrowing money to make any extensions, while only 122 votes were in its favor in the ward.

A Vote Face. The effect of this vote is only to be noted by comparison with the Ward Seven figures for the August vote, when 120 votes were in favor of the extension, and only 75 ratepayers were against the scheme.

By adding 138 opposition votes to the August figures, opponents of the bylaw not only reversed the vote then recorded, they offset the gains made in other districts, and the bylaw which failed to secure the needed three-fifths by 19 votes last August went down to defeat on Saturday by a shortage of 108, in spite of having a straight majority in its favor of 83.

All through Saanich, save in Ward Six, there was a far greater vote polled on the bylaw than was registered when it was first submitted to the ratepayers. In Ward Six the vote both for and against the bylaw was lower but the same proportion of opinion was maintained.

Polled Every Vote Possible. In Wards One and Two the greater vote recorded was apparently in the same proportions for and against as when previously submitted. In Ward Three the Gordon Head residents voted to excellent purpose, rolled up an additional 55 affirmative votes without a solitary additional negative, and claimed to have polled every vote in the ward or in Victoria which was not bedridden or otherwise unable to get to the polls.

Most of the increased vote in Ward Four was against the scheme, a net gain of 36 opponents going a long way towards offsetting the effort of Gordon Head.

In Ward Five the bylaw slightly improved its percentage, and it is entirely due to the muster of every opposition resource in Ward Seven that the bylaw did not secure passage by a comfortable margin.

To Continue Fight. As soon as the defeat of the bylaw was known at the headquarters of the Central Ratepayers' Association, Reeve Watson said that it would be necessary to keep continually active in pressing the need of extensions, and declared he felt sure that a campaign of education would assure that the bylaw would be successful when re-submitted.

Table with 3 columns: Ward, For, Against. Ward One: 157 For, 82 Against. Ward Two: 153 For, 112 Against. Ward Three: 195 For, 19 Against. Ward Four: 83 For, 108 Against. Ward Five: 51 For, 81 Against. Ward Six: 22 For, 93 Against. Ward Seven: 122 For, 211 Against. Total: 789 For, 706 Against. Majority 83, which is 108 less than the three-fifths majority that was required to ensure its passing.

SUCCESSFUL SMOKER

Pleasant Time Experienced at G. A. U. V. Gathering. A successful smoker was held at the Grand Army of United Veterans' club rooms on Saturday last. By all present it was voted the "best yet," and the directors have been asked to arrange a return of it at all the artists at the next one to be held on Saturday, January 22. The chair was taken by Comrade M. A. Orford.

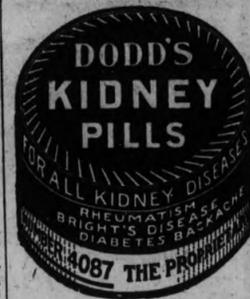

Comrade Christian surprised quite a number of guests with his well-thrilling and clear elocution, his rendition of the revised version of "The House That Jack Built" bringing down the house.

In time of peace, Tom Obee, was received with frequent encores, and lived up to his versatile reputation as serio-comic of exceptional ability.

Comrade George Hynes sang with expression and pleasing rendition two favorites by request, "Warrior Bold" and "Masks and Faces."

Comrade E. Blair, in character of the village curate, was decidedly a great hit and responded to four encores.

The well-known baritone, Comrade L. Brunell, gave selections. He responded to four encores. Comrade A. Tait scored a great success with his "We Hoosers on the Hillside" and "Ascher's Life's Dream." Comrade Worth, in imitation of musical instruments, was a pleasing turn well worth praise.

DRUGGISTS ADVISE ON LIQUOR ACT

Province Asks Ottawa For Full Control of Importation

Confirmation of the story on Saturday that, as far as could be learned, druggists have made no arrangements to meet Premier Oliver and the Cabinet about reported proposals to let them take over the distribution of liquor under the new Act, is contained in a statement issued by Joseph Emery, registrar of the Pharmaceutical Association of British Columbia.

Some of the druggists who have been consulting with the Government expressed the opinion that ultimately the druggists will handle the distribution of liquor as they are the logical ones to undertake the work, because they have the facilities for it.

They declare that it may be a matter of time before liquor will be given to them to handle exclusively like other restricted drugs dispensed only on doctors' orders. Until the public outgrows its habit of consuming liquor in large quantities, they say they would not be able to handle it as they would other drugs.

Application has been made to Ottawa by Premier Oliver for the Province to be given the sole right to control all sources of its liquor supply, which includes importation into British Columbia. The Premier says the only effective way Government control can be handled is by giving the Province complete control of supply.

WILL MOVE TO LARGER THEATRE

G. W. V. A. Band Concerts to Be Held at Royal Victoria

In spite of exceedingly unpleasant weather underfoot, Pantages Theatre was nearly three-quarters full last evening, speaking for the popularity of the G. W. V. A. Sunday evening concert.

Miss Mary Purdy, soprano, possesses a sweet voice, and was received with hearty applause.

Miss Pearl Hayman, soprano, was also received with enthusiasm. Her voice is of mezzo soprano range. Miss Hayman has made many friends and is sure to be heard again at future concerts.

E. R. Locke, the well-known baritone, was in good voice, and rendered "Beyond the Dawn." Many numbers were well received, the most popular number proving to be the selection of songs from the Old Folks. Mr. Webb announces that future concerts would be held in the Royal Victoria Theatre, commencing from next Sunday evening.

Hundreds, he stated, had been turned away from Pantages for the last four or five Sundays, and he had received numerous requests to move the concerts to the Royal. It was because of these repeated requests he had decided after consulting his Association, to make the move.

The method to be employed was the method adopted by the management of Sunday evening concerts in the Old Country.

Admission would be by programme guaranteeing seats. These would be obtainable each Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday from Fletcher Bros. Music Store, Kent Edson Music Store, Headquarters G. W. V. A., 710 Fort Street, and box office Royal Victoria Theatre, and on the night of concert at the door.

To Meet Situation. This method had been adopted for the comfort and welfare of their patrons, where the management had no control of persons entering. They found the person paying least to the upkeep of the concert, very often was the person who by loud taking spoilt with the enjoyment of those who really wanted to hear the music and enjoy it, it was explained. J. M. Miller is rehearsing a really ambitious programme, most of the numbers being by request of patrons. By request also Miss Billie Williams, concert soprano, being asked to sing again. Hanley Wells, baritone, who has made such numerous friends, will be one of the artists. And the Lyric Club, Mr. Webb announces that future concerts would be held in the Royal Victoria Theatre, commencing from next Sunday evening.

The funeral of the late Andrew Meikle Stewart, the seven and a half months old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, of 2821 Blackwood Street, took place Saturday afternoon from the B.C. Funeral Chapel, where service was taken by J. C. Radcliffe, of the Christian Brethren. There was a large attendance of friends and many floral tributes covered the casket. Two hymns were sung: "The Sands of Time are Sinking" and "O God, Our Help in Ages Past." Interment was made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

The remains of Mrs. William Trickey were laid at rest in Ross Bay Cemetery on Saturday afternoon. Private service was held at the house at 2 o'clock, the Rev. C. R. Littler officiating, after which the cortege proceeded to St. John's Church where an impressive service was conducted by the Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick, assisted by the Rev. C. R. Littler. Among those present were the members of Victoria Chapter 17, Eastern Star, also a delegation from the Daughters of St. George. Many friends came in from the surrounding district to attend the obsequies. Two hymns were rendered: "Lead Kindly Light" and "On the Resurrection Morning." A large and beautiful floral offering covered the casket and hearse. Interment was made in Ross Bay Cemetery, in the family plot. The following acted as pallbearers: W. N. Lenfesty, G. Cliff, W. T. Oldfield, D. Banfield, F. P. Savage and J. S. Reid.

with an alarming accident. In the Battle of Bosworth scene a lively passage-at-arms takes place, and in the fighting Mr. Harvey was struck across the nose, and an awkward cut was made, which bled profusely. One of the most amusing mishaps that ever happened in any production by Sir Henry Irving was in "Hamlet." The actor impersonating the dead King of Denmark was suddenly seized with a fit of sneezing, which he sought to smother. Valiantly he went on with the lines, thereby giving a new and curious rendering to the words—"Hamlet—ahou!—I am—ahou!—thy fathers—ahou!—spirit." The house was in uproar, and when next the "Ghost" appeared, he was greeted with a chorus of sneezes from the gallery. During another performance of "Hamlet," in which Sarah Bernhardt was playing, the graveyard scene was entirely ruined by the unfortunate appearance on the stage of a cat, which walked in from the wings and began to wash its face. The divine Sarah stamped her foot, and the cat promptly jumped into the open grave. Madame withdrew and the curtain descended.—Tit-Bits.

Dempsey May Put On Exhibition Bout Here

Efforts Being Made to Bring World's Heavyweight Champion to Victoria — Fans Eagerly Awaiting Reply From Jack Kearns

Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, may box in Victoria. When W. H. Davies, of the V. I. A. A., learned that the "man-eater" was planning a tour of the Pacific Northwest and would appear in Portland towards the end of the month, he dispatched a wire to Jack Kearns, manager of the champion's bank-roll, and asked that a bout be arranged for Victoria.

So far no reply has been received by Kearns, but if Jack carries out his intention of touring this part of the country and does not demand the Parliament Buildings and all the Victory Bonds in town, it is quite likely that Victoria will be able to see the champion in action.

His Opponent. There are not many young Victorians who would like to slip through the ropes and try a few seconds with the "wild-cat." Dempsey's advance notices which brand his punches as having the power of a pile-driver, will cause all the prospective heavyweights here to hike for the woods around Cedar Hill. About the only capable opponents in Victoria for Jack would be six stalwart bobbies armed with bludgeons. So in order to prevent any chance of Dempsey being locked up here on a charge of manslaughter the local promoters will ask Jack to bring along his punching bag. Jack has several sparring partners who set themselves up to take the smashes that nearly shook the Woolworth Building off its foundations.

The fans would pack the largest building in town to see the famous Dempsey in action. Jack is taking a ride around the country with the intention of getting in strong for his coming fight with Carpenter. There are a lot of people who think Georges is going to knock the thinkers of this "wild-cat," and Jack wants to show the fans some of his fighting ability he has tucked up in his nooding and arms.

Reply is Awaited. A reply from Jack Kearns as to whether he will allow Dempsey to fight here is eagerly awaited by a large crowd of fans. The bout would be one of the greatest sporting events in the history of the city.

PROGRESSIVE PLAN IN EDUCATING ENGINEERS RECEIVING SUPPORT

Seattle, Jan. 17.—Efforts of the United States Shipping Board to increase the efficiency of marine engineers by maintaining a free school for them at the University of Washington, has met with enthusiastic support. Nineteen licensed men, including engineers who have had wide experience on the world's trade routes, are taking the course which started January 3.

The Shipping Board has organized the school with a view of increasing the efficiency of the merchant marine and to enable men who do not hold chief engineer licenses, to win promotion. Only licensed men are permitted to take the course which is in the nature of advanced study of marine engineering.

Prof. E. O. Eastwood, who is in charge of the school, returned recently from New York where he held a conference with Capt. Irving L. Evans, director of the recruiting service of the United States Shipping Board, said yesterday that the engineering school at the university will specialize in turbine work. Prof. Eastwood said that turbine engines are among the most recent in marine machinery and the Shipping Board has decided to make the operation and repair the chief subject of study in the school at the university.

The school at the University of Washington will be conducted during alternate months, according to Prof. Eastwood. It held sessions in September and November and it is probable the next course will not be given until March. Prof. Eastwood has as his assistant, H. E. Bukowsky, a former employee of the Vulcan Iron Works. Mr. Bukowsky is a graduate of the school. He has been connected with the designing department of the Vulcan Iron Works.

WARREN MINISTER IS HOPEFUL

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne Sees Bright Prospect For Aviation in Canada

During the absence of the Hon. Hugh Guthrie chairman of the Canadian Air Board recently, the Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and also a member of the latter body, in an article that appears under his name in "Aeroplane and Auto Age" the Hon. Mr. Ballantyne gives an expression of opinion that is strongly optimistic for the future aviation in Canada, in which he says:

"During the absence in Europe for the past few weeks of my colleague, the Hon. Mr. Guthrie, Minister of Militia and Defence of the great importance of the Air Board, I have been Acting Chairman of the Air Board. As a member of the Board, and before that as Minister of the Harbor Commission, I have been interested for many years in transportation questions and as Minister of the Naval Service I am of course, interested in the defence of Canada. In connection with the work of the Air Board, I have, therefore, had a double interest in me. With the problem of defence I am, however, not connected at this time except to state that we in this country must consider very closely the great change in tactics and strategy in the new arm of the service will bring about.

"To all interested in transportation questions and the development of our great heritage in this country, aerial transportation, though still in its infancy, is a matter of the greatest importance. Our railway systems in the more settled parts of Canada give facilities which are unequalled anywhere in the world, and the present development of our magnificent waterways under the successive Government is a large factor in our present prosperity.

"To these forms of transportation a third must now be added. There is no doubt that with the development of more efficient engines and aircraft, and the better knowledge that research will bring, a very great future lies before aviation in Canada. The huge extent of our territory and our relatively small population, together with the efficiency of our present land and water transportation systems, will no doubt render the development of regular lines of traffic in the unsettled parts of our country difficult. It can hardly be doubted, however, that there is room for the establishment of fast traffic routes between our main centres of population and these will be established when the really efficient commercial machine is developed.

"A Useful Field. Our vast undeveloped territory provides, moreover, an immediate field for useful activity. Communications in the remoter parts of the country are at present slow, laborious and uncertain. Many parts of our territory are still comparatively unexplored and those that have been traversed are still comparatively unknown. The range and speed of air-craft will undoubtedly facilitate the exploration and development of many districts known to contain great possible wealth, and will render possible the establishment of routes of travel which are efficient and relatively inexpensive.

"Before commercial flying services can be so developed in the more settled parts of Canada, they can be confidently depended upon, the organization of a sound ground organization is essential, and I can recommend no better effort for all those interested in aviation than to devote time and study to this feature of the question. The Government cannot undertake to supply ground facilities throughout the country. This must rest with the municipalities and other commercial bodies interested in aviation. If districts wish aerial services they must provide aerodromes. These need not be expensive in the first instance and can probably be made into paying propositions before long.

GRACE DOLLAR TAKES DYNAMITE

TWO VESSELS TAKE WHEAT AT VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Jan. 17.—Wheat started to pour into the hold of the big motorship Buenos Ayres early in the morning, and it is expected that the 3,000 tons will be in the ship's holds by the beginning of the week. RECLAMATION SCHEME BOON TO SETTLERS

No More Floods in Sumas, Says Hon. E. D. Barrow

Abbotsford, B.C., Jan. 17.—At the banquet and get-together meeting held Saturday under the auspices of the Abbotsford Board of Trade in the Abbotsford Hotel, and which was the largest and most successful public function held in this district about 70 guests being in attendance, the Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, stated that five or six dredges would be put on the Sumas reclamation project and that the work would be completed in June, 1922, therefore the settlers in this vast district need fear no more floods after this year. Mr. Barrow also intimated that if arrangements can be made to increase the 160-acre area of Abbotsford townsite, by including a portion of Matsqui and Sumas municipalities, steps will be taken to incorporate Abbotsford as a town instead of, as at present, having it designed as an unorganized district. In connection with the hospital matter, the Minister advised the citizens to decide upon the style and size of the hospital, the probable income, and the contributions locally towards such an institution, after which the Government would probably favorably consider the matter. In reference to the urgent needs of good roads in the district, Mr. Barrow stated that the Public Works Department was one of the few wherein expenditures would be materially reduced, and for that reason he did not anticipate that any large expenditures would be made on other than main thoroughfares.

Organized Gang Loots Machines, Then Destroys Evidence

Police set to work to-day to break up automobile thieving in Victoria, which, they are convinced, has grown into an organized business with an underground system of disposing of the spoils.

Late Friday night a young girl and her brother, who were on Douglas street, near where Niagara ends at the park, saw four young men busy around a car. After a few minutes the car started to move down the hill towards Dallas Road, and as it gained momentum the four, who were hanging on, jumped and ran off into the park.

By the time the car reached Dallas Road it was travelling at terrific speed. When it came to the sharp corner guarded by the wire fence, it kept straight up, leaped over the cliff and into the Straits.

Leaped 125 Feet Cliff.

Less than two hours later, at the end of the hockey game, Albert Erlandsen was hunting all the side streets around the Arena for his Studebaker car, and wondering how he happened to forget where he parked it. Then he thought that perhaps the owner of a similar car might have taken his by mistake.

Next morning the police investigated reports of what had come on at the end of Douglas Street, and found Mr. Erlandsen's car on the beach about 125 feet below. It was standing on its four wheels, but the front two were smashed. The frame appeared slightly twisted, but there was not a crack in the glass windshield as a result of the plunge off the cliff.

Sought Deep Waters.

The car struck a ledge half way down the cliff and this diverted its course so that it landed on the shore. If it had not been for this the car would likely have plunged right into the deep waters off some of the rocks and might never have been found. Erlandsen got the idea of the young men, who, it was said, got the idea of having the car plunge over the cliff from motion pictures.

Examination of the car showed that they stripped it of everything of value, taking tools, spotlight, spare tire and speedometer. They tried to take the batteries, but they smashed them in getting them out.

Make Business of Looting Cars.

The car was insured for $2,300. Major Ker who has charge of the insurance went out this morning to assess the damage. He had the car hauled up the cliff by teams and block and tackle. The insurance covers all damage resulting from burglary.

The police believe the same young men are responsible for the whole series of automobile burglaries that have broken out recently. Tools, tires, rugs and lights disappear almost every night from cars left outside theatres and the Arena. Many cars are taken off as the young men have learned that the cars can be unlocked by a burglar.

These Burglars Polio.

Lincoln Smith recovered his car on Fairfield Road at the end of the week. In it he found this note: "We wish to thank you for the pleasant ride we had in your car to-night."

Also wish to thank R. G. Thomson for the loan of his last night and also Jimmy Adams, the Cook Street grocer, for the nice things we found in his car when we took it."

"Star and Crescent."

The cars of the men mentioned in the note were stolen at different times but recovered by the police. The thieves tried to remove the battery of the Thomson car, but smashed it.

COURTS TO DECIDE ELECTION ISSUE

Unsuccessful Candidate at Vancouver Dissatisfied With "P.R."

Vancouver, Jan. 17.—P. C. Gibbens, one of last year's unsuccessful candidates for re-election last Thursday, has announced his intention of going into the courts for an order declaring the election of January 12 null and void. This adds another complication to proportional representation. Mr. Gibbens received 347 first choice votes, and was eliminated by the fourth of fifth round of the battle which City Clerk McQueen and his stalwarts waged against that sturdy champion, "P.R." When he was eliminated his votes were distributed under the rules. His contention is that the counters should not have ceased their labors, as far as he was concerned, until the fourth of fifth round through the ballots of the whole 19 candidates and he argues that if that had been done sufficient second choice votes would have been cast to elect Gibbens on the Council instead of W. J. Scribbens. Another complication also arose this morning, for the remaining of ficer advised legal advice as to whether it will be constitutional to swear in Alderman-Elect W. J. Scribbens. Mr. Scribbens, who is business agent of the civic employees' union, was a clerk in the City water department, and was on leave of absence. The point at issue is whether the employee on leave of absence can run for an aldermanic position. Brant County's expenditures on road construction and maintenance last year amounted to $158,041.

J. R. Reid, chief of police in Orillia for 17 years, has been appointed license inspector for the County of Simcoe.

Capt. Sam Massey has bought the St. Lawrence Hotel property at Alexandra Bay, and the price is said to have been about $17,000.

TO-DAY'S TRADING IN WINNIPEG MARKETS

Winnipeg, Jan. 17.—The local wheat market was erratic throughout the session today. The price of small volume wheat was higher, and trade volume was one of the highest of this crop. There was an excellent demand for wheat, but the offerings were almost all in the form of an increase of 1/2 cent in premiums.

There was no change in the local coarse grain market. In the cash there is a poor demand for oats, barley, flax and rye, with all offerings of the highest nature.

Wheat—Close 1 1/2 cents to 1 3/4 cents higher; small volume wheat 1/2 cent higher; barley 1/2 cent higher to 1/2 cent lower; flax 2 to 3 cents higher and rye unchanged.

REEVE WATSON GIVEN HANDSOME MAJORITY AT POLLS

Decisively Elected to Direct Saanich Affairs; Has Six New Councillors

Saturday's polling in Saanich resulted in a tremendous endorsement by the voters of the work of Reeve G. F. Watson during the past year, the majority of 602 by which he is returned to office for another year being the second largest recorded, only exceeded by ex-Reeve McGregor in 1914. The contest was the eighth for the Reeveship, because of the large number of acclamations by which so many Reeves have been accorded a second term without opposition. Ward Seven voters gave Francis

REEVE GEORGE WATSON

Simpson a majority of 39 over Thomas Dooley, who has represented the Ward for the past two years, and in Ward One Councillor Terrell failed to secure return for a third term by only three votes. The failure of both the Councillors to secure re-election resulted in the hands of a body entirely new to municipal work, save for the representative of Ward Six, Councillor J. L. Brooks.

P. W. Dempster decisively defeated R. Macnicol for the Police Commission.

Returning Officer R. R. F. Sewell commenced the official report of the ballots at 10 o'clock this morning at Royal Oak, and the formal swearing in of Reeve Watson, his Council, the New School Trustees and Police Commissioner Dempster has been set for 10 o'clock on Thursday, the ceremony being performed, as has been customary for many years past, by A. Strachan.

After the formal swearing in, the Council will convene and the various committees will be struck, that being all the business to be transacted at that session.

The complete figures were:

CONFUCIUS:

"There are no trees in every land made sacred by some master who has rested beneath their protecting limbs. This is true both figuratively and literally. Do not doubt me too strongly for it is nearly revealed."

A convict at Sing Sing has been transferred to Auburn by request. He says Sing Sing is not far enough from his wife, who recently brought suit for annulment of marriage.
