Prefatory Note.

---

THE Bristol Art Gallery was generously presented to the City by Sir William Henry Wills, Bart. (Lord Winterstoke), and the key of the building handed over to the Lord Mayor on January 2nd, 1905.

The building is classic in style, and of imposing appearance, the crowning feature of the elevation being a sculptured group symbolical of the arts of painting, sculpture, and architecture. It is built of Bath stone, which is admirably suited to this style of architecture.

The façade is 136 ft. by 112 ft. The architects were Mr. Frank Wills, F.R.I.B.A., and Messrs. Houston and Houston, A.R.I.B.A.

The large, top-lighted Central Hall, into which the main entrance leads, presents an effective combination of strength and delicacy, its height and size being made exceptionally pleasing by the graceful carving and other enrichments, the decorative glass and rich marble work. Leading out of this hall (which contains loan cases from the Victoria and Albert Museum), on the ground floor are four Museum Rooms, and over these, on the first floor, are corresponding rooms, forming four of the five Picture Galleries, the other gallery being above the arched entrance; all the galleries communicate by means of handsome doorways.

A balcony, or mezzanine gallery, runs round the Central Hall, and leads to the tea room, print room, and Superintendent's room.

The steps throughout are of white veined marble. The doors, seats, counters, and all internal woodwork are of polished American walnut, and the handles, &c., are of antique bronze.

The ground-floors are of mosaic work, and the floors of the picture galleries of oak parquetry. The entire building is lighted with electric light.

In panels on the West wall of the Central Hall are carved the following names: ROMNEY, HOLBEIN, REYNOLDS, MURILLO and RUBENS; and on the East wall: TURNER, VANDYCK, GAINSBOROUGH, WATTEAU and TITIAN.

In the Central Hall is a bronze tablet recording the gift of the building by Lord Winterstoke to his native city.

The Art Gallery was officially opened by Prof. Sir Hubert von Herkomer, C.V.O., R.A., on February 15th, 1905.

Here their Majesties King Edward and Queen Alexandra were entertained at luncheon by the Lord Mayor, Alderman Sir Edward Burnet James, on the occasion of their visit to open the Royal Edward Dock, July 9th, 1908.

REPRODUCTION OF PICTURES.

The Permanent Pictures, being the property of the Corporation of Bristol, may not be reproduced in any form without the permission of the Museum and Art Gallery Committee.

CATALOGUE.

---

NOTE.—As the frequent rearrangement of the Galleries necessitates a change in the position of some of the Pictures, they may not be found in the order in which they occur in the Catalogue, but, being numbered, they may readily be found by reference to the consecutive numbers prefixed to the titles. The Catalogue number of each Picture will be found on the left-hand side of the frame (gilt card).

The letters w. and h. in the sizes of the Pictures mean wide and high (sight measurement).

Works marked with an asterisk (*) are hung in the Bristol Room on the Ground Floor.

ALLORI (Alessandro). (FLORENTINE SCHOOL.)

B. 1535. D. 1621.

Alessandro Allori, called Bronzino II, studied under his uncle, Angelo Allori, called Bronzino I.

1. NOLI ME TANGERE.

Purchased from the Bowles Collection.

The Magdalen stretches out her hand to touch Christ, who is represented with a spade in His hand because she had first supposed Him to be the gardener. But He bids her forbear :

“Touch Me not” (noli me tangere) “for I am not yet ascended to My Father.”

On the back of the picture it states, “From the Pucci Gallery, Florence.” Some of these pictures were sold at various times; for instance, in 1857 “The Martyrdom of St. Sebastin,” by Pollaiuolo was sold and is now in the National Gallery.

On Panel, 23 in. w. by 27 in. h.

Signed—A.A., 1571.

ARMITAGE (E.), R.A.

B. 1817. D. 1896.

Edward Armitage was born in London in 1817. He studied mainly in France and Germany, became a pupil at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris in 1835, and studied under Paul Delaroche, the French historical painter. In 1842 he exhibited at the Paris Salon his first large picture, “Prometheus Bound.” He was represented at the Royal Academy for the first time in 1848, by “Henry VIII. and Catherine Parr,” and “Trafalgar,” the latter representing the death of Nelson. These were followed in subsequent years by many other works, of which perhaps the most notable was his “Samson,” in 1851. He was elected an Associate of the Royal Academy in 1867, and a Royal Academician in 1872. He died at Tunbridge Wells in 1896, aged 79.

2. SAMSON IN PRISON.

Presented by Sir HERBERT ASHMAN, Bart.

(Exhibited at the Royal Academy, 1851.)

The picture illustrates the passage in the Book of Judges which refers to Samson’s captivity and the cruelties he suffered at the hands of his enemies: “But the Philistines took him, and put out his eyes, and brought him down to Gaza, and bound him with fetters of brass, and he did grind in the prison-house.”—Judges xvi. 21. The scene is dramatically presented to the spectator. Samson, with face upturned, mourns his unhappy fate, as with great strength he pushes forward the pole that turns the corn-mill, in front of which a slave apparently is prepared to urge him with a whip to greater speed, while a Philistine keeper, on the opposite side of the mill to that occupied by Samson, is seated on the same pole, directing with a pointed staff the movements of the captive. In the background are two young Philistine girls regarding with a kind of compassionate interest Samson at his wretched task; and curiosity has attracted a group of the inhabitants of Gaza to the windows of the prison-house.

J. AUMONIER, R.I.

B. 1832. D. 1911.

5b. TOILERS OF THE FIELD.

Winterstoke Bequest.

(Exhibited at the Royal Academy, 1876.)

A charming and suggestive composition, with a beautiful effect of evening light.

Although the artist's name is French, he was born in London, and was a self-taught painter, who achieved considerable success. In his landscapes, detail though not suppressed, is held in subordination to some effect of light or colour which pervades the picture and impresses upon it unity of tone and feeling. This characteristic is well seen in the above picture, for which Mr. Aumonier, in 1876, was awarded the Heywood Gold Medal by the Council of the Royal Manchester Institution. He died in 1911.

The locality is on the banks of the River Test, at Overton, Hampshire.

On canvas, 62 in. w. by 28½ in. h.

BARKER (Thomas).

B. 1769. D. 1847.

Thomas Barker (called "Barker of Bath") was born near Pontypool, in Monmouthshire, in 1769. Barker early showed a remarkable genius for drawing figures and designing landscapes, and on the removal of the family to Bath, he found a valuable patron in Mr. Spackman, a wealthy coach-builder of that city. For several years he employed himself in copying the works of the old Dutch and Flemish masters, and at the age of 21 was sent to Rome. This proved of great advantage to him, although he painted very few pictures there. On his return he settled at Bath, and from that time his career was a most successful one. He exhibited eighteen works at the Royal Academy, and many at the British Institution, between 1791 and 1829. He died at Bath on the 11th December, 1847.

6. THE BANDITS.

Presented by Sir HERBERT ASHMAN, Bart.

Presented by A. CAPPER PASS, Esq.

(Exhibited at the Royal Academy, 1902; also at the Paris Salon.)

A crowd of mourners at a funeral in Holland. A blue-painted farm wagon, in which are seated four women in quaint white caps, two with their dark green shawls stretched canopy-wise over their heads, bowed in prayer. A red wagon follows, with women in white coifs; and behind, a string of vehicles winds down a snowy slope. Alongside the wagons sombre men in black, with heavy homely faces, trudge through the snow.

15. THE DEPARTURE OF JOHN AND SEBASTIAN CABOT FROM BRISTOL ON THEIR FIRST VOYAGE OF DISCOVERY, 1497.

Presented by FRANCIS J. FRY, Esq.

(Exhibited at the Royal Academy, 1906.)

John and Sebastian Cabot setting out from Bristol in the Matthew on the memorable voyage which resulted in the discovery of North America on the 24th June, 1497. The ship lies alongside the quay. The Mayor of Bristol is bidding farewell to John Cabot. Sebastian is standing behind his father holding the Charter of Henry VII., whilst his mother is being reconciled by a nun to her fate—the parting with husband and son. In the foreground is seen Abbot Newland or “Nailheart” as he was called, who has come to wish the Cabots “God-speed” and blessing on their perilous voyage. In his right hand he holds a crosier, and accompanying him are a monk and acolytes, behind them a crowd of friends. In the background may be seen a portion of the old Bristol Bridge, with houses on it, and away to the right the truncated tower of St. Mary Redcliff. On the right, in the front of the picture, is a notary making a list of the arms, pikes, halberds, and cross-bows, which are being taken on board. The sail, with the Royal and Bristol arms emblazoned upon it, is painted in gay Venetian style.

On Canvas 84 in. w. by 67 in. h.

Signed and dated 1906.

15a. FORTUNA.

Purchased 1911.

Fortuna—the goddess of fortune (usually represented blindfolded)—is shown seated on some high castle wall overlooking the city over whose destinies she presides. She is using playing-cards, and at the back of her is a canopy or screen, on which are worked the usual attributes of the goddess—the wheel, emblem of her inconstancy, and two horns of plenty (cornucopiæ). Good and bad fortune are denoted by her white and black costume, and the notes of interrogation obviously refer to the uncertainty of it all. On the right is a bag of gold referring to fortune in money matters, and on her left allusions to Love and Fame in Cupid's bow and darts and a laurel wreath. The bird represents the messenger of good or bad fortune.

On Canvas, 18 in. w. by 24 in. h.

BORRAS (Vicente).*16. THE CONVERSION AT SEVILLE OF SAINT HERMENEGILDUS.

Permanent Loan from the Bristol Fine Arts Academy.

Hermenegildus, a West Gothic prince, was canonised by Pope Sixtus V, tradition having pictured him as the champion of the Catholic faith against the Arian, a doctrine founded in the fourth century, which was prevalent among the Goths, and to which his father adhered, by whom, after being admitted to a share of the government in 573, he was put to death at Tarraco in 585.

G. H. BOUGHTON, R.A.

B. 1832. D. 1905.

G. H. Boughton, R.A., was born in Norfolk, 1833. Studied at New York and Paris. Visited Holland, and painted a number of Dutch scenes. He also painted and exhibited other pictures of Puritan life in New England. Elected A.R.A. 1879, and R.A. 1896. Died in 1905.

BRANWHITE (C.), R.W.S.

B. 1817. D. 1880.

Charles Branwhite was born at College Green, Bristol, in 1817. He began as a sculptor, but in 1838 was led to exchange the chisel for the brush. He formed a friendship with William Müller, with whom he studied, and spent much time in sketching in Leigh Woods and other beautiful spots in the neighbourhood. He was a Member of the Society of Painters in Water-Colours for some years before his death, which occurred in 1880. His works are chiefly landscapes, and he exhibited nine works at the Royal Academy between 1845 and 1856.

BUCKLER (J.), F.S.A.

B. 1770. D. 1851.

and BUCKLER (J. C.).

B. 1794 D. 1894.

John Chessel Buckler was the son of John Buckler, who was born at Calbourne, Isle of Wight, 1770. The latter practised for a time as an architect, and both are known for their architectural drawings and aquatint engravings of English cathedrals and churches. J. Buckler exhibited at the Royal Academy from 1796 to 1849, and his son from 1810 to 1844. The father died in London in 1851.

From comparison of works exhibited in same years, and particularly in the case of the following series of churches, each of which bears the date 1827, it is evident that father and son travelled together and painted in like localities.

COLE (George Vicat), R.A.

B. 1833. D. 1893.

George Vicat Cole was born at Portsmouth in 1833. He was taught painting by his father, and became a typical painter of English scenery, with a delicate sense of colour and a close observation of nature. He lived and worked amidst the landscape beauties of Surrey, where in 1860 he produced the undermentioned picture, for which he was awarded the medal of the Society for the Encouragement of the Fine Arts. His later work was mostly marine in character, his views of Thames shipping being well known. He was elected an Associate of the Royal Academy in 1870, and a full Member ten years later. His death took place at Kensington in 1893.

43. HARVEST TIME.

Presented by ARTHUR ROBINSON, Esq.

This picture was painted and finished on the spot from a hut on Holmbury Hill, and is a perfect reflection of a lovely scene. On the undulating slope in the foreground the gleaming corn; beyond, one of the spurs of the North Downs, richly clothed with trees; to the left a wide stretch of copse and arable land, through which gleams the silver line of one of the tributaries of the Wey; and in the far blue distance extends the Weald of Sussex.

CORTONA (P. Berritini da).

B. 1596. D. 1669.

Pietro Berritini da Cortona was born at Cortona in 1596. Most of his early life was spent in Rome, where he devoted himself to the study of the antique, and the works of Raphael, Michelangelo, and other Italian masters. Cardinal Sacchetti became his protector, and introduced him to Pope Urban VIII. He worked for twelve years at the frescoes of the Palazzo Barberini, which are considered to be his chefs-d'œuvre. He visited Lombardy, the Venetian States, and painted a good deal in Florence, but was afterwards exclusively employed at Rome, where he was knighted by Pope Alexander. He died on May 4th, 1669, and was interred in the Forum at Rome.

Ernest Crofts was born at Leeds in 1847. He commenced his art studies in London. Afterwards he became a pupil, at Dusseldorf, of Emil Hunten, the eminent painter of battle scenes and exhibited for the first time at the Royal Academy in 1874. Since then many well-known and important pictures have followed his studies. He was elected A.R.A. in 1878 and R.A. in 1897. He died in 1911.

50. FUNERAL OF KING CHARLES I.—
St. George's Chapel, Windsor.

Presented by the Right Hon. LORD WINTERSTOKE.

(Exhibited at the Royal Academy, 1907.)

The scene is laid, on February 8th, 1649, outside St. George's Chapel. Strewn about the entrance steps are pieces of mutilated sculpture thrown down by the iconoclasts; in the background, seen dimly through the snowstorm, is Henry VII.'s Tower; whilst a blank wall in front of the Dean's garden and cloister occupies the right of the picture.

The funeral cortège is approaching the entrance to the Royal Chapel. At the top of the steps stands Bishop Juxon, prepared to read the funeral service, which was prevented by Colonel Whitchcot, the Governor of the Castle, who stands aside, wearing a red cloak and plumed hat. The coffin, with its snow-covered velvet pall, is borne by a number of gentlemen, amongst them Herbert and Mildmay, whilst alongside walk the Marquis of Hertford and the Earls of Southampton and Lindsay, preceded by the Duke of Richmond, all of them uncovered. The ground is thickly covered with snow, which is still falling, and the atmosphere is cold and misty; within the Chapel is seen the lurid glare of the funeral torches.

DIDIER-POUGET (W.).*65a. HEATHER IN BLOOM: MORNING.

Presented by Mr. and Mrs. EDWARD ROBINSON (Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress, 1908-09).

(Exhibited at the Paris Salon, 1911.)

The subject represents an early morning scene in the Corrèze district of France. In the middle distance may be seen the precipitous cliffs peculiar to this part of the country, through the gap of which may be traced a winding path, and in the extreme distance one of the peaks of the Pyrenees stands out against the sky. The foreground is a wealth of colour, the heather is in full bloom, which balances well with the rich morning sky. A shepherdess who tends her flock of sheep is seen slowly ascending the hillside.

On Canvas, 9 ft. 3 in. w. by 5 ft. 8 in. h.

GOODALL (Fred.), R.A.

B. 1822. D. 1904.

Frederick Goodall was born in 1822. He is famous as a painter of Biblical subjects and Eastern scenes. He was elected an Associate of the Royal Academy in 1852, and an Academician in 1863. He died in 1904 at the age of 82.

75. THE RISING OF THE NILE.

Presented by the Right Hon. Lord WINTERSTOKE, 1906.

(Exhibited at the Royal Academy, 1865.)

The picture depicts an Egyptian family escaping to higher ground from the rising river, which has already encircled the village on the plain of Gizeh, while friendly hands are conveying the aged to a place of safety. The mother in the centre is anxious for her baby, and carries it on her shoulder, whilst the little girl has a pet lamb. The annual overflow of the Nile is absolutely essential to the fertility of the country, but its rising to the height of even a few feet above the periodical average is the occasion of much desolation and ruin.

On Canvas, 54 in. w. by 30 in. h.

Signed and dated 1865.

GOTCH (T. C.).

B. 1854. (Living.)

Thomas Cooper Gotch was born in 1854. Studied at Heatherley's School, the Slade School, and three years in Paris.

76. THE AWAKENING.

Presented by ALFRED R. ROBINSON, Esq.

(Exhibited at the Royal Academy, 1898.)

"A girl aroused from sleep regards three angels. The picture is one of many by the same artist illustrating phases of child-life. Here the limit of childhood is nearly reached, and the painter endeavours to show in pictorial form the moment, which sooner or later occurs to most, when the child awakes to the serious responsibilities of life. The girl in the picture is evidently of a well-to-do and pious family; but her room is simple and even ascetic in character. The three shining ones are present to her mind's eye, and indicate that the awakening, in her case, is to a vision of beauty and holiness."—T. C. G.

On Canvas, 72 in. w. by 53 in. h.

Signed.

A. C. GOW, R.A.

B. 1848. (Living.)

Mr. A. C. Gow was born in London in 1848, studied at Heatherley's, and has exhibited continuously at the Royal Academy historical subjects since 1867, the above being the second. Elected A.R.A. 1881, R.A. 1891.

GRAHAM (Peter), R.A.

B. 1836. (Living.)

Mr. Peter Graham was born in 1836. A native of Edinburgh, he studied with Pettie and Orchardson. His Highland landscapes, such as "Wind" in this collection, and others with cattle in marshy glens, are too well known to need more than mention here. His paintings of the rock-bound coasts of the North of Scotland are invariably associated with seabirds, as in this instance, and are equally characteristic of this artist. He was elected A.R.A. in 1877, and R.A. in 1881.

Signed and dated 1886-7.

89. THE OLD GUARDS' CHEER.

Presented by HENRY OVERTON WILLS, Esq. 1906.

(Exhibited at the Royal Academy, 1898.)

The picture records the welcome given to Queen Victoria by the Crimean Veterans of the Guards, who were stationed at the base of the Guards' Memorial in Waterloo Place on the day of the 1897 Jubilee procession, as seen by the artist from the windows of the Athenæum Club. The management of the masses of strong colour in the coats of the old men and in the flag draping the front of the stand is extremely skilful. There is excellent character in the crowd of faces, and the introduction of the little girl into the canvas reveals the artistic instinct for effective contrast.

On Canvas, 76 in. w by 116 in. h.

Signed and dated 1898.

90. THE OLD GUARDS' CHEER.

Presented by GEORGE A. WILLS, Esq. 1905.

(Exhibited at the Royal Academy, 1904.)

“When one of the giant trees of the New Forest is torn up by the roots in some great storm, it is, if unsound, cut up for burning in the charcoal pits; but if good and sound, it is carried away whole by the timber merchants. The picture shows the latter scene. In this case the labour is immense; the great trunk, stripped of its branches, lies in such rough ground that wheels cannot be used. A powerful team of horses is then attached to it, and it is dragged by sheer strength along the ground until it can be slung upon the wagons."—L. K.-W.

LE SUEUR (Eustache).

B. 1616. D. 1655.

Eustache le Sueur was born of humble parentage in Paris in 1616. He was one of the many celebrated artists who received instruction from Vouet. Although he did not visit Italy, he lost no opportunity of studying the works of the great Italian masters, the style of Raphael greatly attracting him. In 1640 he became a Member of the Guild of Master Painters; but quitted this, however, on the formation of the French Academy, of which he was one of the twelve original members. So great is the reputation in which Le Sueur is held by his fellow-countrymen, that French critics do not hesitate to compare him with Raphael. He died in Paris in 1655, at the early age of 38.

127. THE BRAZEN SERPENT.

Presented by the Right Hon. LEWIS FRY.

“And the Lord sent fiery serpents among the people, and they bit the people; and much people of Israel died. . . . And the Lord said unto Moses, Make thee a fiery serpent, and set it upon a pole: and it shall come to pass, that every one that is bitten, when he looketh upon it, shall live. And Moses made a serpent of brass, and put it upon a pole, and it came to pass, that if a serpent had bitten any man, when he beheld the serpent of brass, he lived.”—Numbers xxi. 6-9.

On Canvas, 53 in. w. by 38 in. h.

LINNELL (John).

B. 1792. D. 1882.

John Linnell was born in London in 1792. In his fourteenth year he entered the schools of the Royal Academy, where he made rapid progress. With Mulready he became a pupil of John Varley, and exhibited in the Royal Academy for the first time in 1807. In addition to painting on canvas, he also painted portraits in miniature and engraved in mezzotint. In 1809 the British Institution awarded him a prize of fifty guineas for a landscape called “Removing Timber.” He soon devoted himself to portrait painting and to pictures of scenery near London, and though of recent years his name has become to be associated with landscape painting, a half century ago his portraits were well known, some of which he engraved in mezzotint and published. He exhibited constantly at the Royal Academy until 1881, and though never a member, is supposed to have declined the honour of Associateship. He died at Redhill on January 20th, 1882, in his ninetieth year. Six of his pictures are in the National Gallery, and others in various provincial galleries.

LONG (Edwin), R.A.

B. 1829. D. 1891.

Edwin Long was born in Bath in 1829. He began his career and made his reputation solely as a portrait painter, not until later years producing the large historical compositions by which he is better known to-day. He exhibited in the Royal Academy for the first time in 1855, and from that year until his death in 1891 was an almost constant exhibitor, sending in ninety-three works in all. In 1857 he went to Spain to study Murillo and Velasquez, particularly the former, and the pictures he exhibited on his return a few years later bore evident traces of his sojourn in the South. In 1874 he visited Egypt and Syria, which enabled him, on his return in 1876, to gain admission into the ranks of the Royal Academy, by reason of the great success which attended the exhibition of his famous picture, "The Babylonian Marriage Market," at Burlington House, in the previous year. This work has since been bought for the sum of £6,615, and is now in the Royal Holloway College, together with "The Suppliants," purchased for £4,305. In 1881 Edwin Long was elected a Royal Academician. In 1891 he finished his last and largest picture, "The Parable of the Sower," which was, however, never exhibited in the Royal Academy, as he died on May 15th of that year after a very short illness. His success had been very considerable, and his work appealed very strongly to the religious sensibilities of the day.

MÜLLER (W. J.).

B. 1812. D. 1845.

William James Müller was born at Bristol in 1812. His father, a German, was Curator of the Museum of the Bristol Institution. Müller was for a time a pupil of his townsman, J. B. Pyne, the landscape painter. In 1834 he made a tour on the Continent, and in 1838 started upon a long and arduous journey through Greece and Egypt, settling in London after his return in 1839, though he again visited Asia Minor before his death. Many sketches and pictures of Oriental manners and scenery were the result of these journeys. He exhibited at the Royal Academy from 1833 to 1845, when he left London for Bristol for the benefit of his health, but his strength gradually failed, and he died on Sept. 8th of that year, at the early age of 33.

171b. THE LAST MOMENTS OF RAPHAEL.

Presented by W. MELVILLE WILLS, Esq.

(Exhibited at the Royal Academy, 1866.)

The picture has a particular fascination on the observer who contemplates it, representing, as it does, the passing away of one of the world's greatest artists. Raphael died on the anniversary of his birthday, Good Friday, 1520, aged 37. He was always of a youthful and even effeminate appearance. The scene depicted is an impressive one, and shows his chamber overlooking the city of Rome. Through the wide-open window he gazes upon his beloved Rome for the last time. The apartment is filled with friends, patrons and pupils, who form a most interesting group. It is Good Friday, the 6th of April, 1520, a time when primroses, some of which are scattered on the floor, are plentiful. Already the evening light catches the summit of Monte Mario. The friends of Raphael are around his bed—Guilio Romano holds his arm, Peruzzi is on the spectators' left, Giovanni de Udine against the wall, and Mark Antonio stands in the centre. At the foot of the bed are two monks and Cardinal Bibbiena, the uncle of the lady to whom Raphael was engaged. The chalice, candles and monstrance show that the last offices of religion have been administered. Death is at hand, but for a moment the spirit kindles as the dying man's last great work, "The Transfiguration," is unveiled before him.

POOLE (P. F.), R.A.

B. 1810. D. 1879.

Paul Falconer Poole, the English historical painter, was born in 1810 at Bristol. He was almost entirely self-taught in Art and exhibited at the Royal Academy for the first time in 1830. A picture which he exhibited in 1843, "Solomon Eagle exhorting the people to repentance," attracted considerable notice, and this and the "Syon Monastery," in 1846, led to his being elected an Associate of the Royal Academy in the latter year. In 1861 he was elected a full Academician, his success being mainly due to the poetry of his conceptions and his fine colouring. He led a very retired life, and died at Hampstead in 1879. He married the widow of F. Danby, A.R.A., and his brother, James Poole, was Mayor of Bristol, 1858-9.

185. THE VISITATION AND SURRENDER OF SYON NUNNERY to the Commissioners appointed by Cromwell in the Reign of Henry VIII, 1539.

Purchased out of the Capper Pass Bequest.

(Exhibited at the Royal Academy, 1816.)

Syon, at Isleworth, on the Thames, was one of the first large monasteries to be suppressed, the convent having been accused of harbouring the King's enemies, and otherwise denying his supremacy. Syon was of the order of St. Bridget.

The canvas is crowded with figures; the sinister-looking commissioners are seated at table, receiving on all sides the riches of the house, and interrogating the sisterhood. Some of these are oppressed with grief, whilst others appear to congratulate themselves on the prospect of release, because all who had taken the veil under twenty-one years of age were declared released from their vows. The Lady Abbess (Sister Agnes Jordan) is seen seated between the Prioress (Sister Margaret Windsor) and the Treasurer (Sister Margaret Dely).

The covered statue of Saint Bridget is on the right of the picture; it is now at Syon Abbey, Chudleigh, Devon. Syon House was founded by Henry V in 1415. It was called "The Monastery of St. Saviour and St. Bridget of Syon." St. Bridget, a princess of Sweden, was born 1304; died in Rome, 1373.

PRATT (Jonathan).

B. 1836. D. 1911.

Jonathan Pratt was born at Northampton in 1836. He was a portrait painter of much ability, and settled in Birmingham, where he became a member of the Royal Society of Artists, and its Secretary in 1882. He was a great admirer of the old Dutch School. His interiors, very frequently of Breton cottages, were always finished with minute care. His work was never of an impressionist character, but was characterised by sound and honest elaboration and admirable in its own way.

PETER AND JOHN HEALING THE LAME MAN.*200. PAUL PREACHING AT ATHENS.*RENI (Guido, ascribed to).

Guido Reni, commonly called "Guido," was born at Calvenzano, near Bologna, in 1575. His father, a musician, failing to persuade his son to follow in his own profession, placed him at the age of 10 in the studio of Calvaert, the Antwerp painter, then living at Bologna. In the beginning of the seventeenth century he went to Rome, where he attracted universal notice, and obtained great distinction during the twenty years he remained there. On his return from Rome he settled at Bologna, where he lived in great splendour, and established a celebrated school. He painted very few portraits, his pictures being chiefly scriptural or mythological, of which there are between two and three hundred in the various collections of Europe. He died at Bologna, August 18th, 1642.

214. TANTALLAN CASTLE.

Presented by the SUBSCRIBERS.

“His towers Tantallan vast,
Broad, massive, high, and stretching far,
And held impregnable in war,
On a projecting rock they rose,
And round three sides the ocean flows.”

Marmion.

A storm has burst around the rock-bound coast on which the massive castle stands, and a schooner has been forced on to the rocks at the foot of the bold granite cliffs. Heavy, lowering clouds show that the storm has hardly spent its fury as yet, although a bright blue spot in the sky indicates that it is passing away. The sea is breaking over the stranded vessel, on which figures are clinging. Men and women are hurrying down the path to the rugged beach, and in the foreground several men are engaged in saving portions of the wreck, the foremast of the vessel having gone by the board, and been washed on shore. The gloomy-looking towers of the castle stand out in massive grandeur, and a wonderful amount of life and vigour is thrown into the picture. Considered by many the masterpiece of this artist.

On Canvas, 72 in. w. by 48 in. h.

215. ON THE LYD.

Presented by SAMUEL C. HOSEGOOD, Esq.

This was the last picture painted by Syer. On the eve of the day of his death he remarked to his friend, in whose studio he had been painting: "I'll come in to-morrow, William, just to give one or two more touches." "Sign it," insisted Mr. Widgey. "It'll do—sign it," and John Syer obeyed. That night, in the billiard-room of his hotel, he was seized with pains in the region of the heart, and in thirty-six hours had breathed his last.

B. 1527. D. 1592.

Pellegrino Tibaldi, painter and architect, was born in Bologna in 1527, and is sometimes called Pellegrino da Bologna. In 1547 he went to Rome, where he studied the works of Michelangelo, and painted a great deal for Cardinal Poggi. In 1586 he was invited to Spain by Philip II., and employed in the Escorial. He also painted the ceiling of the Madrid Library. After a residence of nine years in Spain he returned to Italy and settled in Milan, where he died about 1592.

221. SOPHONISBA TAKING POISON.

Presented by the Representatives of the late JOHN E. DAVIES.

Sophonisba was made captive by the Romans at the taking of Cirta from the Carthaginians 205 B.C. On her knees she supplicated Masinissa, one of her captors, to protect her, and he, fascinated by her youth and beauty, married her, in order the better to be able to fulfil her request. For doing so he was severely reprimanded by Scipio Africanus, who pointed out that she, as well as the country, was in the hands of the Romans, who might dispose of them both as they thought fit. At this reproof Masinissa was so deeply affected that he sent her a cup of poison as the only means of deliverance from the Romans that lay in his power. This she resolutely drank, and expired.

TURNER (J. M. W.), R.A.

B. 1775. D. 1851.

Joseph Mallord William Turner was born on April 23rd, 1775, in Maiden Lane, Covent Garden, where his father carried on business as a hairdresser. The friendship of Girtin, the water-colour painter, and the privilege of copying a collection of drawings in the possession of Dr. Monro, of the Adelphi, gave facilities for the development of the young painter's talent at an early age. Turner entered as student of the Royal Academy in 1789, in 1799 he was elected an Associate, and in April, 1802, became a full Academician, at the age of 27. In the same year he made his first tour on the Continent. His Liber Studiorum was begun in 1807, and forms perhaps the most satisfactory monument to his genius. In 1839 he sent the last picture to the Academy, in which his full power was shown, namely, "The fighting Temeraire tugged to her last berth." After a life of almost unrivalled success, and an industry unsurpassed, this great landscape painter died unmarried at Chelsea, on December 19th, 1851. He was buried by the side of Sir Joshua Reynolds in St. Paul's Cathedral.

231a. LOVE AND DEATH.

Winterstoke Bequest.

Signed and dated 1875.

“ The progress of the inevitable, but not terrible Death, partially, but not completely, overshadows Love.” On the threshold of the house of Life stands Love, a fair boy, his bright wings ruffled, vainly striving to prevent the entrance of Death, who, with resistless though lightly exerted strength, bears him back, whilst the blossoming roses drop withered from the doorpost. Love may endeavour to avert but cannot contend with the inevitable. Yet light falls upon the white-draped form of Death, though Love sees only the shadow, and the calm and gentle mien of Death and her bowed head, with uplifted arm in token of sovereignty—Watts thought of Death as a woman, implying that she is nurse and consoler, and perhaps the mother of another life—show her to be, could Love interpret her rightly, the friend of both Love and Life. The painting shows Watts's great imaginative power, and symbolises one of the world's greatest and most mysterious sorrows.

The first sketch of this picture was exhibited at the Dudley Gallery, London, in 1870. The life size picture was at the First Exhibition of the Grosvenor Gallery in 1877. Replicas of this subject by Watts are in the Tate Gallery (1887), the Whitworth Institute, Manchester (1877), and the National Galleries of South Australia and Victoria (Melbourne).

S. 1. EVE AT THE FOUNTAIN.

E. H. BAILY, R.A. 1822.

Presented by the SUBSCRIBERS. 1826.

"As I bent down to look, just opposite,
A shape within the wat'ry gleam appeared,
Bending to look on me: I started back,
It started back; but pleas'd I soon return'd,
Pleas'd it returned as soon with answering looks
Of sympathy and love."

Paradise Lost, Book IV., lines 460-465.

This exquisite piece of original sculpture was purchased chiefly by subscription in the year 1826, and was presented to the Bristol Institution.

Edward Hodges Baily was born at Bristol in 1787. He was the son of a Bristol ship's carver, and to this fact must be attributed his early bent towards the art of sculpture. He was for a time a pupil of Flaxman, and while a student at the Royal Academy carried off the silver and gold medals for sculpture. In 1821 he became a Royal Academician. Among the various statues Baily executed were those of Sir Robert Peel and Earl Grey, also the statue of Nelson in Trafalgar Square. He exhibited at the Royal Academy from 1810 to 1862 no less than 187 works. His death took place on May 22nd, 1867.

S. 2. EURYDICE.

(MARBLE STATUE.)

SIR JOSEPH E. BOEHM, BART., R.A.

Presented by the EXECUTORS OF THE LATE JOHN FULLER.

Eurydice, in Greek mythology, was the wife of Orpheus. She died from the bite of a serpent, whereupon Orpheus descended into Hades, and by the charms of his lyre persuaded Pluto to restore her to life. He did this on condition she should walk behind her husband, who should not look back until both had arrived in the upper world. Orpheus, overcome by anxiety, looked round, only to behold her caught back into the infernal regions.—Century Cyclopædia of Names.

Sir Joseph Edgar Boehm was born at Vienna in 1834, and came to England in 1862. He was nominated Sculptor in Ordinary to the Queen in 1881, elected a Royal Academician in 1882, and created a Baronet in 1889. He died in December, 1890. Sir Joseph E. Boehm was entrusted with many of the statues of Her Majesty at the Jubilee of 1887, Bristol's statue in College Green being his work.

S. 3. E. H. BAILY, R.A.

(MARBLE BUST.)

E. G. PAPWORTH. 1869.

Edgar George Papworth was born in 1809. He first exhibited at the Royal Academy in 1832. He married a daughter of E. H. Baily, R.A., the sculptor, in whose studio he was employed. He died at Highgate in 1860.

S. 4. JOHN BISHOP ESTLIN.

MARBLE BUST.

E. H. BAILY, R.A. 1856.

John Bishop Estlin was born in 1788. He was a surgeon, and founder of the Bristol Eye Dispensary. He died on June 10th, 1853.

S. 5. SIR THOMAS LAWRENCE, P.R.A.

(MARBLE BUST.)

E. H. BAILY, R.A. 1830.

Sir Thomas Lawrence was born at Bristol on May 4th, 1769. He early distinguished himself for his ability in drawing. His father was landlord of the Black Bear Inn, Devizes; and the first efforts of the young painter which attracted notice were portraits in chalk of his father's customers. At the early age of 10 years he was kept employed in portrait painting in crayons at Oxford, but soon afterwards went to Bath, where he met with extraordinary success. In 1787 he went to London, where he received much valuable advice from Sir Joshua Reynolds, and became a student of the Royal Academy. In 1791 he was elected an Associate of the Academy. In 1794 he was made a Royal Academician, was knighted in 1815, and on the death of Benjamin West in 1820 he was unanimously elected to succeed him as President of the Royal Academy. In 1829 he received the freedom of his native city, Bristol. From the time of his election as a Member of the Academy to his death Sir Thomas Lawrence's career as a portrait painter was unrivalled; he contributed, from 1787 to 1830 inclusive, 311 pictures to the exhibitions of the Royal Academy. He died suddenly on the 7th of January, 1830, at his house in Russell Square, London. He was interred in St. Paul's Cathedral, where he rests by the side of his predecessor, Sir Joshua Reynolds.

S. 6. MARY CARPENTER.

(MARBLE BUST.)

R. PRICE. 1861.

Richard Price was born in 1820, at Bristol. He was a student in the Bristol School of Art, and obtained a bronze medal for modelling in 1857. He died on September 30th, 1865.

Presented by Mrs. J. NORRIS.

Mary Carpenter, the philanthropist, was born at Exeter in 1807. She was the daughter of the Rev. Dr. Lant Carpenter, a Unitarian minister and a man of distinction. When she was 10 years old her father removed to Bristol. In 1852 she was the means of establishing the Reformatory School at Kingswood, the first of its kind in the kingdom. She died in 1877, aged 71.
