Its Location and Topography.

EW YORK, the chief city of the United States and the Western Continent, is located at the mouth of the Hudson River, in the southern part of the State of New York. The City Hall is in latitude 40°42'43" N., longitude 74°0'3" W., and the city occupies the county of the same name. It covers the whole of Manhattan Island and a portion of the mainland, and is bounded on the south by New York Bay; on the west by the Hudson or North River; on the north by the city of Yonkers and Westchester County, N.Y.; on the east by the river Bronx, that separates it from Westchester County, and the East River, a narrow, salt-water strait, dividing it from Long Island. includes Randall's, Ward's, and Blackwell's Islands, in the East River; and Governor's Island, occupied by the U.S. Government; Bedloe's and Ellis' Islands, in the Bay. Spuyten Duyvil Creek and Harlem River divide the city into two unequal portions, and make the northern boundary of Manhattan Island. The city is 16 miles long, and varies in width from a few hundred yards to 41 miles at the north part. Its area is about 411 square miles, or 26,500 acres, of which 12,100 are on the mainland. location is both beautiful, healthful, and advantageous in a commercial sense. Its commodious bay, the Hudson River, the neighboring sea, and the diversified country about it, contribute to its attractiveness, while its varied surface and extensive water front conduce to its general healthfulness. Its harbor gives ample and safe anchorage for large fleets, and opens directly upon the Atlantic. Its position in the center of the northern part of the coast makes it a natural entréport for the Middle States; and the Hudson River, navigable for nearly 150 miles, places it in easy communication with the interior. The Eric Canal and several lines of railroads place the city in reach of the Great West, and on the east, New England almost joins the city. The State and City of New Jersey fringe the opposite bank of the Hudson, and along the East River the city of Brooklyn and its neighboring towns form a continuous city upon its eastern side. From the Battery, at the southern end of Manhattan Island, the view of the Bay, the Islands, Brooklyn Heights, Staten Island, the Jersey shore, Jersey City, and the entrance to the Hudson, presents one of the most animated and beautiful pictures to be found. The upper part of the city lies opposite the Palisades, and is remarkable for its rural and picturesque scenery. Its topography is at once favorable for business purposes and good drainage. The lower part of Manhattan Island, from the Battery north for about  $3\frac{1}{2}$  miles, is rolling and sandy in character. It then rises slightly and becomes very rocky. At Central Park, near the center of the city, it rises into broken hills; and northward, along the river, the land rises to a height of 238 feet at Washington Heights. Above the Island the land is hilly and rough, with a great variety of scenery. The lower part of the city has been much altered by filling and grading, and the original width has been materially increased by filling in the rivers on both sides. The city is compactly built up to 59th Street, at the southern end of Central Park; and on the east of the Park it extends some 31 miles farther to the Harlem River. This location is sometimes known as Harlem and Yorkville, being the sites of those villages. West of Central Park the population centers in the villages of Bloomingdale and Manhattanville. North of these, along the Hudson, are Washington Heights, Inwood, Kingsbridge, Spuyten Duyvil, Mosholu, Riverdale, and Mount St. Vincent. North of Harlem River are Mott Haven, Morrisania, West Farms, North New York, Port Morris, Woodstock, Highbridgeville, Claremont, Tremont, Mount Hope, Mount Eden, Fairmount, Belmont, Fordham, and Williamsbridge. All of these places are now included in New York City, and, as the city is rapidly spreading, it promises to be one of the largest and most populous in the world.

CITY HALL.

The Ways of Approach to New York are numerous, since it is in communication with all parts of the globe, either by sea or railroad. From the sea it is approached from the south by Sandy Hook through the Narrows, between Long Island on the east, and Staten Island on the west, into New York Bay, passing the great fortresses of Fort Tompkins and Fort Richmond on the west, or Staten Island shore, and Fort Hamilton on the east, or Long Island shore, while old Fort Lafayette, of the "Great Rebellion" celebrity, stands in the bay, a short distance from the shore. At the confluence of the East and Hudson Rivers is Governor's Island, distinguished by the circular fortress on its northern shore. The Cunard line of steamers lands its passengers at Jersey City; the Hamburg and German lines at Hoboken; while the Inman, White Star, Anchor, National and French lines, discharge theirs at different piers on the Hudson River, or west side of the city. There is another channel of approach from the sea through the Kills, between Staten Island, on the New Jersey shore, connecting Raritan Bay with New York Harbor—but only vessels of light draught approach by this route.

Steamers and vessels approaching from Long Island Sound pass through Hell Gate and discharge cargoes on both the East River and North River piers. The Hartford, New Haven, Bridgeport, and other steamboats from nearer ports, land at East

BROADWAY, CORNER BARCLAY STREET.

River piers—at Peck Slip and vicinity; while the Fall River, Stonington, Providence, Norwich and New London, and Boston outside lines, pass round the Battery and discharge at North or Hudson River piers. The Hudson River steamboats all discharge on the west or North River side of the city. Passengers via New York and New Haven, Harlem, New York Central and Hudson River Railroads, are dropped at the Grand Central Depot, East 42d street and Fourth Avenue. All railroad passengers from Boston and the East are landed at Grand Central Depot. The Pennsylvania Railroad lands its passengers by ferry-boat, from Jersey City, at Cortlandt street and Desbrosses street. The Erie Railroad, Northern New Jersey and Midland Railroads by ferry to Chambers street and West 23d street. Central New Jersey by ferry to Liberty street. Delaware, Lackawanna and Western by ferry to Barclay and Christopher streets. New Jersey Southern by ferry to Murray street. Staten Island by ferry to Whitehall, and Long Island by ferry to Roosevelt and E. 34th streets.

Historical Sketch.

Jean Verrazani, a Florentine navigator, entered the Bay of New York in 1525, but, his explorations being interrupted by a sudden storm, put to sea without making a permanent settlement.

Manhattan Island was first visited by Europeans in September, ·1609, when Henry Hudson in his yacht, "The Half Moon," entered the bay and sailed up the river. The information he carried back to Holland led to repeated visits by Dutch traders, and in 1624 a formal settlement was made. In 1826, under Peter Minnet, Fort Amsterdam was built, and the entire island was purchased of the Indians for $24, paid in goods. In 1664 the place was taken under English control, and the name was changed from New Amsterdam to New York. In 1673 it was retaken by the Dutch, but their occupancy was short, and it soon reverted to the English. From 1674 it began to grow rapidly, and at the time of the Revolution was a city of 23,000 inhabitants. In the Revolution it took an early and active part till captured by the British in 1776. It was occupied by them till 1783, when it was finally evacuated at the close of the war. From 1785 to 1790 New York was the seat of Government of the United States, President Washington having been inaugurated in the old City Hall, then located at the corner of Nassau and Wall streets. The free school system was founded in 1805, and in 1807 the Hudson was first navigated with steamboats by Robert Fulton. The present system of streets north of Houston street was planned in 1821. and the survey occupied ten years. The first steam ferry was opened in 1814, and in 1817 the first line of packets sailed for Liverpool. Gas was introduced in 1825 and the Croton water in Several great fires have impeded the growth of the city, but it has continually advanced northward, and seems, in time, destined to cover its entire area with stores and houses. original charter of the city was granted by James II., of England, in 1686. Another was granted by George II., in 1730. This charter was of the most liberal character, and made New York practically a free city, and was the law till 1829, when a new charter was made by the people. This charter, with its various amendments, formed the basis of the present law of the city. The following table illustrates the growth of the city in population;

1661	1.743	1825	166,136
1675	2.580	1830	202,589
1696	4,455	1835	270,089
1730	8,256	1840	312,710

^{*}The census returns of 1865 are universally acknowledged to have been inaccurate.

The Street System.

Like all of our older cities. New York at first spread its streets and avenues in any direction that seemed at the time most convenient. The original settlers had no conception of the ultimate destiny of their town, and they built their stores and houses wherever they pleased and with little regard to the street traffic. The result was that the lower and older part of the city, south of Houston street, became occupied in no particular order, and today is more or less irregular. The first streets were laid out at right angles with the water fronts, and as these were not parallel the streets did not meet at right angles. North of Houston street the city is laid out on an admirable plan that is at once simple, convenient and easily understood. Manhattan Island being long and narrow readily conformed to the American plan of streets at right angles. North and south the larger axis of the Island are the twelve great avenues that extend its entire length. In addition to these are a number of shorter avenues that extend part of the way each. These avenues are numbered and lettered from east to west. The most easterly, of the long avenues, is Avenue A. East of this, however, are three shorter avenues called B, C, and D, and named from west to east. The other avenues are numbered from the east. First Avenue is next west of Avenue A; Second is next west of this; Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, and Eleventh follow in regular order till Twelfth is reached at the water side on the west. Besides these are two shorter avenues—Madison, between Fourth and Fifth, and Lexington, between Third and Fourth. These avenues are parallel and are wide streets.

north-Extending ward from the Battery to Central Park is Broadway, the great thoroughfare of the city. It passes through the center of the lower part of the city, in a straight line to Tenth street, and then crossing the avenues diagonally it continues in a northwest direction till it joins Eighth Avenue at 59th street. Beyond this point it follows the line of the old Bloomingdale road and assumes the name the Boulevard. The streets crossing the Island and the avenues above Houston street are numbered from First street northward. One street in ten is made of double width, and twenty of the blocks between these streets average a mile. Fifth Avenue, in the center of the Island, divides each of these cross-streets into two parts known as East and West, as East 14th street, West 51st street, etc. In marking the streets-numerals are used, numbering from Fifth Avenue each way east and west, as, East 19, West 45, etc. The avenues are marked Second Ave., Fourth Ave., Avenue D, etc., and these numerals and names may be found on the street lamps on the corners. Hence it is easy to understand the street system, and the stranger is able to find any required locality quickly and readily. The numbering of the stores and houses is equally simple. On the avenues the numbers are continuous from south to north. On the cross-streets the numbers extend west on streets west of Fifth Avenue, and east on the other side. The numbers begin at Fifth Avenue at No. 1, and go to Sixth Avenue. Here a break is made, and the numbers begin at 100. At Seventh Avenue the numbers begin at 200. At Eighth Avenue the numbers begin at 300 and so on. Going east the numbers begin at 1 next Fifth Avenue: 100 at Fourth Avenue, and so on, the odd numbers being on the north side and the even numbers on the south of the cross streets. For instance, 326 West 57th street is on the south side of West 57th street, between Eighth and Ninth Avenues. No. 141 East 21st street is on the north side of the street, between Fourth and Third Avenues. Central Park, extending from 59th street to 110th street, and from Fifth Avenue to Eighth Avenue makes a blank in this street plan so that nearly all the streets between these, and Sixth and Seventh Avenues are cut in two. 65th, 79th, 85th and 97th streets, however, cross under the Park and ample roads continue the avenues north and south. These great avenues are almost wholly devoted to business, and above First street the cross-streets are occupied by dwelling-houses. This makes the streets quiet and agreeable, and at the same time places all the stores within easy reach. Below 14th street all the streets are invaded by business, and below Houston street warehouses and manufactories claim very nearly all of the space. To get a good idea of the character of New York City it is best to walk or ride through the great avenues. All the public buildings, churches, stores and institutions, are on the avenues or so near them as to be easily found, and to see them all, each avenue may be taken in turn, beginning with the most important.

BROADWAY.

This great thoroughfare begins at the crescent-shaped Park known as the

Battery.

This was the site of old Fort George, and is now merely a water-side Park and the emigrant landing station. The round building on the west side was a round fort known as Castle Clinton. It was given up to the city in 1823, and was afterwards converted into an opera house, where Jenny Lind first sang in this country, and finally became the landing place or reception room for the emigrants arriving at the Port. Here the new comers are properly cared for on arrival and are despatched on their various journeys over the country. The view from the

BROADWAY, SOUTH FROM BARCLAY ST. AND POST OFFICE.

Battery over the Bay is one of great beauty and animation, and the Park is well worth a brief visit. The buildings about it are of the older types. All are occupied as warehouses or hotels, and some were celebrated places in Revolutionary times. Broadway begins at the northeastern corner of the Battery, opposite the circle known as

The place is now neatly planted with trees and shrubbery. Opposite this, on the west, are old buildings once occupied by Generals Gage and Cornwallis and afterwards by Washington. Now they are devoted to steamship agencies and express offices. There is a slight rise in the roadway and at the top of the hill stands

Trinity Church.

This noble church standing opposite the head of Wall Street, was erected in 1846. It is 80x146 feet and 60 feet high. The tower is 284 feet high, and visitors are allowed to ascend it and enjoy the fine view from the spire. The building is open to the public every day and is well worth a visit. Trinitv Church vard adjoins the church and is interesting on account of its monuments. Wall Street, famous for its banks and brokers' offices, here enters Broadway and the entire neighborhood is devoted to banking and insurance. front on the south, 279 feet on the Park, and 262½ feet on both the Broadway and East Broadway sides. The U. S. Government Supreme, Circuit and District Court-rooms are in the upper part of the building. East Broadway (formerly Park Row), the street that opens to the right, is mainly devoted to newspapers and makes the terminus of a number of horse railroads. The scene here in the middle of the day is past description. The enormous traffic, the crowds on the walks, the frantic haste that seems to possess every animated thing, the variety of men and teams and the general uproar and confusion, make a picture as peculiar as it is original. Here is a bit of New York intensified, a type of the whole country, and a thoroughly American scene. Passing the Post Office we come to

City Hall Park.

This was the first park laid out in the city. It formerly covered about 10 acres, bounded on the east by Park Row and Centre street, by Chambers street on the north, and by Broadway on the west. It contains the City Hall, the new Court House, the Halls of Records, and other public offices.

The City Hall.

This building faces the south, and is a good sample of public building in the Italian style. It is 216x105 feet and 65 feet high, surmounted by a tower. The city government holds its meetings here, and here are the rooms of the chief public servants. In the Governor's Room are preserved a number of relics of the Revolution of some historical value and well worth a short visit. In the rear of the City Hall is

The New Court House.

This building was begun in 1861 and is still unfinished. It is occupied in part by various courts, and makes one of the most costly and sumptuous structures of the kind in the country. It is 250x150 feet, and is to be surmounted by a dome 170 feet high. Other public buildings devoted to the city service stand near. The neighborhood of the Park is rich in fine stores and offices. Just east of the Park is the site of the old Brick Church, built in 1767. It was used as a jail by the British during the Revolution, and finally was turned into a hospital. The site is now occupied by the Times and World building. Just here, on what is called Printing House Square, stands a fine bronze Statue of Franklin. The immense structure, with a lofty tower, is the Tribune Building. It is built of brick, stone and iron, in composite style, and of Franklin and Guttenburg above its portal. North of the Park, on the east corner of Chambers street and Broadway, is the great A. T. Stewart wholesale store. On the corner of Broadway and Warren street is one of the great stores of Devlin & Co., the largest and one of the most reliable clothing houses in the city. All the stores and other buildings here are of the largest size and of most substantial construction, and the journey, continued up Broadway, opens a long and wonderful series of business palaces. The view up the street from this point gives one a good idea of the extent of the city and forms a good picture of its busy life. At the corner of Leonard street may be seen the beautiful marble building of the New York Life Insurance Co., in the Ionic style. point it descends to Canal street on a gentle incline and then rises again slightly. A detailed list of all the buildings would be only confusing and wearisome, and remarkable as this part of Broadway is for costly and spacious stores, none of them need special mention. The lower part of the street is almost exclusively devoted to the wholesale dry goods interest. Above Canal street the bustle and confusion, in a measure, subsides, and the dry goods people give way to the millinery and small warehouses. Retail stores appear and some of the great book stores are met, famous clothiers, Devlin & Co., occupy the fine store on the southwest corner of Grand street, and the great dry-goods house of Cochran, McLean & Co., the building on the northeast corner. St. Nicholas Hotel, on the west side, between Broome and Spring streets, and the Metropolitan Hotel, on the east side, on the corner of Prince street, are the first of the great hotels of the city.

The Grand Central Hotel, on the west side, between Bleecker and Amity streets, and Brooks Brothers' clothing store, on the corner of Bond street, are both notable buildings. The American Watch Co.'s building in Bond street, near Broadway, is worthy of attention. The retail trade here fills all the stores, and the character of the crowds on the walks changes rapidly. The book stores increase in number and the shop windows begin to make displays of marvelous attractiveness. A. T. Stewart & Co.'s immense iron store, occupying the entire square on the east side of Broadway between 9th and 10th streets, makes a most imposing show, and the long lines of carriages drawn up at its doors give a brilliant and peculiar aspect to the street. Rival stores spread their varied charms on every side and throngs of shoppers fill the sidewalks. This is the beginning of the retail trade and the grand entrance to the court end of the town. Many of the most famous institutions, libraries, theaters and places of resort are in this neighborhood, and the dwellings of the people begin to fill the cross-streets. Grace Church, built in 1845, and a fine specimen of church architecture, stands on the corner of 10th street, and makes a fit ending to this part of Broadway. The views both up and down are fine, and serve to give the great avenue an artistic finish rarely possessed by city streets. From this corner Broadway turns slightly to the west of north. Both sides of the way are lined with stores devoted to pictures, music, dry goods, furniture, fancy goods, and aught else heart could wish or money

On Fourth Avenue, on the corner of 15th street, is the Union Square Hotel. On the north side of the square, on the corner of 17th street, is the Everett House. trees and ornamented with a fountain. On 17th street is a broad plaza for reviewing troops, etc. On 14th street, to the east, is the Equestrian Statue of Washington, and on the west the Bronze Statue of Lincoln. Union Square was once the residence of the more fashionable people. It is now invaded by stores and hotels and is devoted to business. On entering the square from Broadway the Union Square Theater and the Union Place Hotel may be found on 14th street, a few doors to the east. A few steps beyond Fourth Avenue on 14th is the white marble façade of Steinway & Son's piano-forte warerooms; the Academy of Music on the corner of Irving Place, and still beyond Tammany Hall, both of them buildings celebrated in their way. On the west corner of Broadway and 14th street is the tall iron building of the Domestic Sewing Machine Co., and next to which is the fine dry-goods store, Le Boutillièr Brothers. One door west is the elegant structure of the Wheeler and Wilson Manufacturing Company. On the west

This open space, liberally supplied with trees, lawns and walks, makes one of the most attractive and striking features of New York. On the east is the famous Madison Avenue, the home of wealth and refinement, Broadway touches its southwest corner, and the grand Fifth Avenue, known half round the world, forms its western side. East 23d and East 25th streets make its southern and northern limits. On every side may be seen hotels that are palaces, club-houses, costly beyond description, and churches and private dwellings that would be an honor to any city. Long vistas, open up and down three of the most remarkable streets in the country, while the life, animation and variety offered at every moment bewilder and charm the intelligent observer. At the southwest corner of the Square, at the junction of Broadway and Fifth Avenue and 23d street, stands the great marble pile of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, On the corner of 24th street, stands the well-known Albemarle Hotel, and at 25th street is the celebrated Hoffman House. At the triangle between Broadway, Fifth Avenue and 24th street, stands the stone shaft erected by the city to the memory of General Worth. Immediately behind it is the palatial building of the New York Club. From this point Broadway continues northwesterly towards Sixth Avenue. Concerning the other building on the eastern and northern sides of Madison Square, more may be found under the head of "Fifth Avenue" and "Madison Avenue," on another page. Continuing up Broadway we find a number of first-class stores, and pass the St. James' Hotel, on the corner of West 26th street. Between 27th and 28th streets, on the east side of Broadway, is the Crittenden On the southeast corner of 27th street is the gigantic Stevens Family Hotel, one of the most lofty and palatial structures in the country. On the northwest corner is the Coleman House. A few steps west of Broadway, on 28th street, is the fashionable Fifth Avenue Theater. On the east side of Broadway, above 28th street, is the Sturtevant House, and on the corner of 29th street rises the towering front of the Gilsen House. On the corner of 31st street is the well-known Grand Hotel, and near the same corner is the Winchester House. Near 30th street is Wood's Museum, one of the minor theaters. At 34th street Broadway crosses Sixth Avenue, and at the base of the triangular park between the two streets at 32d St., is the beautiful marble building of the Dime Savings Bank. On the corner of West 33d street stands the imposing Broadway Tabernacle, Rev. Dr. Taylor, Pastor. Beyond this point Broadway is in a transition state. This is the limit of the fashionable retail trade, and the street is partly filled with an inferior class of stores, partially occupied with new family hotels and is partially unimproved. At 42d street are the St. Cloud and Rossmore Hotels. The Albany, Saratoga, and Newport are on the corners of W. 52d street, the Rockingham at West 56th, and the Paris at West 57th street, all family hotels. At West 59th street Broadway touches Eighth Avenue and ends at the circle and the Boulevard. Here is one of the entrances to Central Park, and the neighborhood seems in time destined to be one of the great fashionable centers of the city. The Circle Hotel occupies the block between Eighth Avenue and Broadway, and makes a fit ending to this remarkable street. Beyond this, the Boulevard, a wide avenue handsomely laid out, continues along the west side of the city, and over the heights of the Hudson, to Spuyten Duyvil Creek and into Westchester County.

Fifth Avenue.

Next to Broadway this is the most important and interesting street in New York. It is a broad, straight street, beginning at Washington Square in Waverley Place, and extending in a northerly direction, past the east side of Central Park, to Mount Morris Park, in Harlem. It is closely built up as far as 59th street, and beyond this point is being rapidly occupied. It already represents four miles of costly and elegant residences and churches, and is the one grand street to visit, even if nothing else is seen in the city. More beautiful than Broadway, it presents a charming succession of fine buildings, and an endless procession of people, and turnouts rivaling anything of the kind in the world, and if it lacks the animation and stir of the more popular and great business street, it amply compensates in finish and artistic effect. Beginning at Washington Square the first building of interest seen is the Brevoort House, on the N. E. corner of 8th street, one of the most elegant hotels in New York, C. C. Waite proprietor. It is celebrated for its quiet and refined surroundings, the superior excellence of the cuisine department, and the cultivated class of patrons it attracts.

At 9th street is the Berkeley, a new family hotel, and on the

On the west side of the avenue. between 11th and 12th streets, is the First Presbyterian Church. On the N. E. corner of 14th street is Delmonico's Restaugrat, the most celebrated establishment in New York. At 12th street is the Heath House, arranged in flats. At the N. W. corner of 18th street, is the new Chickering Music Hall, and the warerooms for the pianoforte house of Chickering & Son, A few steps above, at 21st street, is the Manhattan Club House. At 22d street is the Art Gallery of Knoedler Co., formerly Goupil's, and, just above, those of Snedecor & Co. and Cottier & Co. Another celebrated art establishment is passed at No. 144, on the west side. At 23d street Fifth Avenue crosses Broadway, and touches the west side of Madison Square. This square is mentioned elsewhere, under the chapter on Broadway. The celebrated Fifth Avenue Hotel occupies the corner of 23d street, and at the N. E. corner of 26th street, just beyond the Square, is the few stores on Fifth Avenue, and beyond this point they cease almost entirely, and the street is given up to the residences of the more wealthy people of the city. The street here is lined with trees, and each block seems to rival the others in richness of material and profusion, and splendor of architectural ornamentation. The church on the corner of West 29th street, is the Collegiate Dutch Reformed, Rev. Dr. Ormiston, Pastor. The small stone church on the corner of East 35th street is Christ's Church. At the corner of West 37th street is the Brick Church, belonging to the Presbyterian denomination. Fifth Avenue here climbs the gentle elevation known as Murray Hill, and affords a magnificent exhibition of New York wealth and luxury. The beautiful churches, costly residences, and palatial hotels, that for the next mile line the streets, present a sight rarely met with in the world. The most wealthy and noted families of the city live hereabouts. The two brick houses on the west side of the street, and between West 33d and 34th streets, are the residences of the Astor family. The great white marble palace on the northwest corner of West 34th street, is the residence of the late Mr. Alexander T. Stewart, and at the southeast corner of 41st street, is the home of Win. B. Vanderbilt. The curious building on the east side between 41st and 42d Streets, is the Rutgers Institute, while opposite is the massive stone Croton Reservoir. At the corner of East 43d street, stands the beautiful Jewish Temple. This building, with its double towers and profuse and elaborate decoration, stands in high contrast to the Christian churches, and makes one of the most remarkable features of the avenue. At the corner of West 45th street, is the plain brown stone church, made famous through the eloquence of its pastor, Rev. E. H. Chapin. The single tower just above East 45th street, marks the entrance to the beautiful church known as the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Just beyond, and filling the front of block between 46th and 47th streets, stands the celebrated Windsor Hotel, one of the most elegant and costly hotels in the world. At the corner of West 48th street, is the highly ornate and striking Dutch Reformed Church, and at the corner of 50th street is the new Buckingham Hotel. Filling the entire space between 50th and 51st streets, is the immense St. Patrick's Cathedral, the largest and finest edifice of the kind in America. Though unfinished, it is a marvel of architectural beauty, and if the visitor sees nothing else in New York, this will amply repay the trouble of a visit. To understand its vast size and to see all its wonderful beauty, the visitor should walk round the Square and view every side. The best view of the east end is obtained from the southeast corner of 50th street and Madison Avenue. The next church on Fifth Avenue is St. Thomas' Church, at the corner of 53d Street. At the Square, between 54th and 55th streets, stand the buildings of St. Luke's Hospital, and on the corner of 55th street is the new Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, better known as Dr. Hall's. From this point to 59th street, Fifth Avenue is lined with a number of remarkably fine private residences, and there the grand avenue touches Central Park, at the Scholars' Gate. Beyond this, the avenue keeps on the east side of the Park, and ultimately reaches Harlem. The avenue is not wholly built up and presents few objects of interest, except the Lenox Library, between 70th and 71st Streets.

Madison and Lexington Avenues.

Though these avenues are not classed among the great avenues, as they are somewhat shorter, they rank next to Fifth Avenue in interest and importance. Madison Avenue begins at East 23d street, at the southern end of Madison Square, and extends north between Fourth and Fifth Avenues to Harlem. Lexington Avenue, including Irving Place, begins at East 14th street and extends north between Fourth and Fifth Avenues to 63d street. They are, as it were, extra avenues inserted for a short distance between the great avenues, and both are more or less occupied by the residences of the more wealthy people. Madison Avenue has a number of fine churches that may be briefly pointed out in order, beginning at Madison Square. The first is the Madison Square Presbyterian Church, on the southeast corner of 24th street. At the southeast corner of 26th street is the handsome building of the Union League Club. The ugly building filling the entire block between 26th and 27th streets was erected by Mr. P. T. Barnum, as a place for his popular exhibitions and for Summer concerts, and is now known as the "Hippodrome." The meetings of the celebrated revivalists, Moody and Sankey, were held here in the Winter of 1876. At the northwest corner of 28th street is the Church of the Atonement, and at the southwest corner of 29th is the Rutgers Presbyterian. The small church at the other corner of the same street is the Church of the Transfiguration, popularly known as "The Little Church round the Corner." At 35th street is Zion's Church, and at the corner of 42d street is the beautiful Church of the Hol, Trinity. At 44th street stands St. Bartholomew's, one of the most elegant churches in the city, and at the corner of 45th street the Church of the Disciples. This church is built of iron, and is more curious than beautiful, though it is one of the most popular in New York. At the corner of 53d street is the 53d street Memorial Presbyterian Church. At 70th street may be seen the beautiful Lenox Hospital, erected through the liberality of James Lenox; and at 89th street is the St. Luke's Home and the Church of the Beloved Disciple, among the most interesting buildings in the city. Aside from these, Madison Avenue presents nothing special beyond this point.

Lexington Avenue.

This avenue naturally includes Irving Place, that begins at East 14th street and extends north between Third and Fourth Avenues to East 20th street at Gramercy Park. At the other side of this small park the street is continued under the name of Lexington Avenue, as far north as Hamilton Square, at East 66th street. It is closely built up with dwellings of the better class, as far as 59th street and though neither Irving Place nor the avenue contain many public buildings, they are both interesting as places of residences. At 14th street is the Academy of Music, a large building of rather forbidding aspect, and the largest theater in the city. At the corner of 15th street is Irving Hall, used for concerts and public meetings. At the northwest corner of East 16th street is the Westminster Hotel. At 20th street Irving Place ends at Gramercy Park. Beyond the park the first building of importance on Lexington Avenue is the College of the City of New York, occupying a large brick building in the Gothic style on the southeast corner of 23d street. Beyond this point the avenue is entirely occupied by dwellings, and makes a fine quiet street for the better class of residences. The church on the corner of 35th street is the Church of St. John the Baptist. At the corner of 42d street is the Asylum for Cripples. Just west of Lexington avenue, in East 44th street, are the spacious and well-arranged Storage Warehouses of Messrs. Cornelius O'Reilly & Brothers. They are the largest and best in New York. Above this street the avenue is being rapidly built up. It contains a few churches and at 66th street may be seen the fine buildings of the Mount Sinai Hospital. Beyond this there is nothing of special interest.

Fourth Avenue and Bowery.

Fourth Avenue is a continuation of the old thoroughfare known as the Bowery, and the two streets combined make the longest continuous street in the city, extending from Chatham street in the lower part of the city northward to Harlem River, a distance of 9 miles. Above 42d street Fourth Avenue is occupied by the immense Fourth Avenue Tunnel, an open cut occupied by the railroads centering at the Grand Central Depot. At 34th street there is a tunnel for the horse railroads, extending to 42d street, and the street above is known for that distance as Park Avenue. The Bowery extending from Chatham street to 6th street is wholly devoted to business. It is a wide street and somewhat noted for the immense traffic crowding it all times. The stores are generally of the second and third class, and it contains no buildings of importance or special value, except the Dry Dock Savings Bank at the corner of Third street. The Bowery is worth inspecting as a curious sample of certain phases of New York life and business and as illustration of the enterprise and industryof the great middle class of Fourth people. Avenue begins at the junction of Third Avenue and the Bowery. The great stone building standing between the two avenues is the Cooper Union. At the block between 8th and 9th streets is the great brick building known as the Bible House. On the west side between 9th and 10th street is Stewart's great up-town retail store. At the corner of 14th treet is the German Savings Bank. Here Fourth Avenue passes along the eastern side of Union Square. The warerooms of Steinway and Sons may here be seen on 14th street, while the Union Square Hotel comes just above at 15th street. At 17th street facing Union Square is the Everett House, and on the corner of 18th is the Clarendon, one of the oldest and best hotels in New York. At 20th street is the Unitarian Church presided over by Rev. Dr. Bellows, and known as All Souls' Church. At 21st street is Calvary Church, belonging to the Episcopalians, Rev. Dr. Washburn,

Grand Central Depot.

This is one of the largest and most imposing buildings in the country. It consists of a "head house" on 42d street, in which are the waiting rooms and general offices of the N. Y. and N. H. R. R. Co., a long continuation along the west side, containing the waiting rooms and general offices of the Harlem and N. Y. Ceutral and Hudson River R. R's, and an immense iron "train house" seven hundred feet long, three hundred feet wide, and nearly one hundred feet high, covering all in one great span roof. The style is French, with Mansard towers, and, seen from the west or south, the building is both grand and striking. The interior, particularly at night, is impressive for its enormous size, its lightness of construction, and grace of outline, and the visitor should take pains to examine the building in all its details. A short distance to the right on 42d street is the Asylum for Cripples, occupying a curious looking building of brick and iron on the north side of the street. Beyond 42d street the yards of the three railroads that use the Grand Central Depot occupy Fourth Avenue as far as 50th street. Crossing from Madison Avenue to Lexington Avenue are a number of iron foot and carriage bridges. Beyond 50th street the railroad is sunk below the level of Fourth Avenue in an immense open cut and tunnel that makes one of the most remarkable pieces of railroad engineering to be found in the country. Visitors who have time should not fail to examine this immense and most interesting work. At 50th street may be seen a portion of the buildings belonging to the Columbia College and School of Mines on the west side of the avenue. side of the avenue is Steinway and Sons' great piano-forte manufactory. At the corner of 69th street may be seen the Normal College a fine, red brick building in the Gothic style. This part of Fourth Avenue is only partially built up and presents nothing more of interest in this direction.

Third Avenue.

Third Avenue is one of the largest and most populous single streets in New York. It extends from the junction of Fourth Avenue and the Bowery at Sixth street, northward, between Fourth and Second Avenues, to Harlem River. More than six miles long in a perfectly straight line, solidly built up for almost the whole length, and wholly devoted to business, it makes one of the most remarkable streets in the world. Its wide road-way and ample sidewalks, its enormous traffic and the vast variety and extent of its commerce makes it well worth seeing, if for nothing more than its overflowing life and intense activity. At the same time it is not attractive in every respect, and may be called at once a sample of New York enterprise and municipal neglect. It shows no buildings of particular interest or importance, and is only of value to the visitor as an extensive New York thoroughfare and shop street.

Sixth Avenue

makes a second Broadway. It extends from Carmine street north, between Fifth and Sixth Avenues, to 59th street, at Central Park. Beyond the Park it goes on to the Harlem River. Below the Park it is solidly built up its entire length, and is wholly devoted to retail stores of the first class. Above the stores all the buildings are devoted to tenements and flats. Some of these are very elegant and expensive, and the whole aspect of the street suggests successful business enterprise and comfortable prosperity. Beyond the Park the avenue is only partly built up. The Sixth Avenue horse railroad occupies the avenue below 59th street, and everywhere the street is crowded with a large traffic. Though it does not present many public buildings of interest, it is one of the most famous thoroughfares in New York, and is well worth a visit on account of its life, animation, and business activity. Its miles of stores offer every attraction to the shopper, with the added charm of being a trifle more sensible in the matter of prices than Broadway. The chief buildings of interest may be found in the lower part of the avenue. At West 14th street, a little to the left is the Lyceum Theater, and the Metropolitan Museum of Art, on opposite sides of 14th street. At the southeast corner of West 23d street is Booth's Theater, one of the most fashionable places of amusement in the city. On the opposite corner is the Masonic Temple, perhaps the most costly and magnificent building of its character in the country. Besides the Masonic Halls and offices, it contains the spacious and magnificent fire-proof rooms and vaults of the Central Safe Deposit Co. A few steps to the left, down West 23d street, is the new Twenty-third Street Theater. At 33d street is the new Engle Theater, one of the most popular of its class. At 34th street Sixth Avenue crosses Broadway. At 40th street is the Marlborough House, and extending from 40th to 42d street is Reservoir Park. A number of small hotels may be found on this avenue, all of them more or less favorites with the traveling public.

Beyond this there is nothing of particular interest on this avenue, except its numerous and attractive stores.

Seventh Avenue.

This avenue begins at Greenwich Avenue near West 11th street, and extends north between Sixth and Eighth Avenues to 59th street, at Central Park. It is more quiet than Sixth or Eighth Avenues, and is partly occupied by stores and dwelling-houses. The business portion extends to about 42d street, and from there to 50th it is lined with dwellings. Above that it is not wholly built up. At 58th street is the famous Central Park Garden, the summer-home of the Thomas orchestra, and the most noted public resort of its kind in the country. There are few public buildings of any account on this avenue, and it is chiefly interesting as making the best entrance to Central Park for visitors on foot. The Broadway line of horse-cars use the upper part of this avenue jointly with the Seventh Avenue line, and take passengers to the same gate of the Park and to the Thomas' Garden.

Eighth Avenue.

This long and busy avenue begins at Greenwich Street, at Abingdon Square, and extends northerly past Central Park along its western side to Central Bridge over the Harlem River at a point once known as "McComb's Dam." The only building of special interest in the lower part of the avenue is the Grand Opera House at the corner of West 23d street. Beyond this point the avenue is entirely devoted to retail trade. A walk through the place of a Saturday evening gives one of New York's most peculiar sights. The petty trade that crowds every store and clings to the edge of every walk, is something wonderful, while the vast throngs of people out shopping by gas-light are more wonderful still. Above 50th street a better class of stores and more expensive residences appear. At 59th street, 8th Avenue, Broadway. and the Boulevard unite in a circle or circus. A fine hotel fills one side and one of the entrances to Central Park, fancifully called the "Merchant's Gate," makes another. To the left a short distance down 59th street may be seen the picturesque towers and buildings of the Roosevelt Hospital. Beyond 59th street. 8th Avenue follows the western edge of Central Park its entire length and passing the gates at 72d, 79th, 85th, 96th, 100th and 110th streets. This part of the avenue is not yet built up, and is lined with market gardens and the temporary shanties of the laboring population that "squats" in the unfinished squares. Beyond Central Park the avenue descends a long hill to the flats bordering Harlem River. Here views of High Bridge and the surrounding country may be obtained. At the river the avenue passes a few scattered blocks of houses and follows the old country road to Central Bridge leading to the main land. Beyond the river the Hudson River Railroad is crossed and the road enters the open country.

Other Avenues.

Besides the great avenues already mentioned there are a number of others of equal length, but of less interest to the stranger. At the east side of the city are the four shorter Avenues, known as Avenues A, B, C, and D. They each begin at Houston Street and extend northward to the East River. Avenue A is next east of First Avenue, Avenue B comes next, and C and D follow in order, each being shorter than the last. They are all occupied by a poorer class of houses and present no special features of interest. First Avenue and Second Avenue lie east of Third Avenue, and both begin at Houston street and extend northward to Harlem River between Third Avenue and the East River or Avenue A. They are compactly built up in the lower part, but opposite Central Park they are still more or less unfinished. The business and population has, for the most part, no particular interest for the visitor. On the west side of the city next west of Eighth Avenue, are Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh Avenues. Avenue is closely built up as far as 59th street, and is chiefly remarkable as the site of the New York Elevated Railroad. of these avenues are occupied by shops and manufactories and by tenements for the immense population that throngs them at all times. The peculiar shape of New York city makes further description of the streets unnecessary. Broadway and the great avenues make its business thoroughfares, its residences are mainly on the cross streets that intersect the island from east to west.

PLACES OF AMUSEMENT.

It has been said, "London for business, Paris for pleasure, New York for both." However true this may be, it is certain that New York is abundantly supplied with amusements of every kind and quality. Its first-class theaters are equal to any in the world, and all the best talent that live in Europe eventually appears before our people. New York is a great center to which all artists, both musical and dramatic, look for their highest honors, and in turn they all appear here. There is no longer the slightest need to go abroad to hear and see "the great stars," for they are only too glad to shine here, at least once in their lives. Instead of America going to Europe, the cream of Europe comes to New York, and the visitor to this city has advantages of a cosmopolitan character in the way of entertainment the like of which cannot be found in London or Paris. Chief among New York places of amusement come the first-class theaters. Each may be briefly mentioned in order and the visiitor can then select to suit himself. The prices vary greatly, but even at the best houses the charges are reasonably low. The Fifth Avenue Theater, located on 28th street near Broadway. is a select and fashionable resort, devoted to first-class dramatic performances, ably, correctly and tastefully given by the best artists. The dramas are generally of the modern society type. and are always perfectly unexceptionable in every respect.

Wallack's Theater, on Broadway near Union Square, is a handsome theater, devoted exclusively to first-class plays. The mounting and acting are invariably of the finest and most artistic. The plays generally belong to the highest modern school. The Union Square Theater, on Union Square, rivals the Fifth Avenue and Wallack's in point of artistic rendering of its performances. The company is maintained at a high standard and the plays given are always admirably presented. The dramas commonly belong to the modern French school.

Booth's Theater, on W. 23d St., near Sixth Ave., is one of the most elegant theaters in the world. It is celebrated for the perfection and accuracy with which its plays are presented. None but artists of the first class appear here, and, though there is much latitude in the selections of the plays, all are produced in a manner to satisfy the most exacting. The largest theater is the Academy of Music, 14th St. and Irving Place, devoted to opera and dramatic performances of the highest order. The Park Theater, is a popular resort among all classes. It is located on Broadway, near 22d street. Its plays are admirably presented and are generally American in character, both in action, scene and story. The Lyceum Theater, on West 14th street near Sixth Avenues. Its plays and operas are commonly French, and are usually given in that language. All its performances are admirably acted and mounted. These seven theaters are all first-class in point of expense, and the sittings are about alike in price. Visitors will always find them open in the winter season, and may always rely on the very best dramatic and operatic entertainments that can be found in the country. Besides these theaters are a number of smaller houses, each attractions of more or less value. The Stadt Theater, at 45 Bowery, is devoted to German plays.

Germania Theater, is another house devoted to the drama in the German language, and is located on East 14th street near Third Avenue. One of the largest theaters in New York is the Grand Opera House, on Eighth Avenue and West 23d St.; it is open occasionally for spectacular and melodramatic performances.

Olympic Theater, No. 624 Broadway, is devoted to variety entertainment. The Eagle Theater, on Sixth Avenue and Broadway, is a new and very pretty theater devoted to the lighter kinds of dramas.

Tony Pastor's new Theater, No. 585 Broadway, presents a variety of plays and sketches generally of a light order.

Wood's Museum, on Broadway near 30th street, usually offers popular melodramas, besides the attraction of the Museum itself.

Twenty-Third Street Theater, on West 23d street near Sixth Avenue, is devoted to sensational plays. Besides, these theaters are one or two others of less importance, but the above list is ample for the intelligent visitor, and will furnish amusement in variety for a number of nights. In Negro Minstrels there is one excellent entertainment of the usual stamp at the San Francisco Minstrels, on Broadway near 28th street,

Steinway Hall, on East 14th St. near Broadway and Fourth Av., Chickering Hall, corner of Fifth Avenue and 18th street, and the Academy of Music, are the usual places devoted to concerts in the winter. First-class concerts are given at these places almost every night from October to June, and the particulars may be found in the daily papers.

The Central Park Garden, on Seventh Avenue near 59th St., is in the summer a resort for lovers of instrumental music.

The Hippodrome a vast building occupying the entire square between Madison and Fourth Avenues, E. 26th and E. 27th streets, is also devoted to music in the summer. Below is a tabulated alphabetical list of the principal places of amusement. Academy of Music.

ART GALLERIES.

New York, though not well supplied with free art galleries, has a number of art stores, all of which are open to the public, and these make up in part for the absence of a great gallery. The Academy of Design on the corner of E. 23d street and Fourth Avenue, is the largest and best gallery in the city. Exhibitions of paintings are held here at certain times in the year, and a small fee is charged at the door. The Metropolitan Museum of Art, devoted to painting, sculpture and ceramic art is open nearly all the year round, and is free to the public on Mondays. Afee is charged other days. The museum is fine, for one so recently founded, and is located on W. 14th street near Sixth Avenue. Cooper Institute, Free, Fourth Avenue and 8th St., and the Historical Society, Cor. Second Avenue and 11th St., where strangers are received by introduction, are interesting museums. In addition to these are a number of picture galleries attached to picture stores, all of which are freely open to the public. Knoedler & Co.'s, late Goupil's, at the corner of 22d street and Fifth Avenue, is the most noted of these. Cottier & Co., No. 144 Fifth Avenue, includes ceramic art, stained glass, and the higher kinds of household decorations. Snedecor's at Fifth Avenue, and Schaus's No. 749 Broadway, are devoted to oil paintings and engravings. At H. Woods, Jr.'s., No. 826 Broadway, may be seen a large gallery of engravings and chromos. At Kurtz's Photographic Gallery, on 23d Street (Madison Square), is a fine gallery in which paintings of all kinds are often on exhibition. Besides these are a great number of lesser places, all of which display pictures of varying merit. At various times during the season, galleries of paintings are displayed at the various art auctions, due notice of which may be found in the daily papers.

LIBRARIES.

The Astor Library, founded by John Jacob Astor, in 1848, is free to all for reference, but none of the books can be taken from the building. It is located in Lafayette Place and numbers 148.000 volumes. The Mercantile Library, in Astor Place, is general in its character. It has a large reading-room and keeps its shelves well supplied with all the new books. It was established in 1848, and is free to its members only. It counts 148,000 volumes. The Society Library, in University Place, was organized in 1754. It has a library of 64,000 volumes, reading-room, etc. It is exclusively used by share-holders, and such others as may pay a small annual fee. The Apprentice's Library, belonging to the "General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen of the City of New York," is free to apprentices; others pay a small fee. It is of a general character, numbering 50,000 volumes. The Library of the Historical Society, numbering 40,000, and the Eclectic Library, 30,000 volumes, stand next in importance. The New York Institute Law Library, in Chambers street, is open to members of the bar on payment of a small fee. It numbers 17,500 volumes exclusively on legal subjects. The Cooper Union Library, of a general character and numbering 12,600 volumes, is entirely free. It also includes a free reading room, both located in the Cooper Union at the junction of Fourth and Third Avenues. The Library of the Association of the Bar of New York, located in 27th street, was started in 1871 and now numbers 8,000 volumes. The Geographical Socicty, and the American Institute, have libraries of about 11,000 volumes each. The Young Men's Christian Association has a general library of 10,000 volumes in its building, on East 23d street, for the use of its members only. The City Library, in the City Hall, consists entirely of public documents, and is free to such as wish to consult its 4,000 books. The Mott Memorial Library, devoted to medical and scientific books, was founded by the widow of Dr. Valentine Mott. It numbers 4,000 volumes and is free. Besides these are the Woman's Library, in Bleecker street, numbering 3,000 volumes and free to working-women; the Library of the Natural History Society-5,000 vols.; the library of the Medical Library and Journal Association, in East 28th street-3,500 vols.; the Harlem Library-7,000 vols.; the Printers' Library-3,500 vols.; and the Washington Heights Library, with 2,500 volumes. ## CENTRAL PARK.

Central Park is the great pleasure ground of New York, and the chief point of interest for visitors. If the stranger with but half a day at command fails to visit it, he misses the great "show place" of the city. Any city can show its streets, hotels, theaters and churches. Few can exhibit such rural charms, adorned by art in the midst of its streets and houses. Eight hundred and forty-three acres of lawn, drives, shady walk, garden and wood, lake and brook, right in the heart of the town. once a sanitary measure, play ground for children, grand avenues for lordly carriages and whispering places for lovers. The wilderness of marsh, rough hill and tangled woodland, extending from 59th to 110th streets, between 5th and 8th Avenues, was taken in hand by the engineer and landscape gardener in 1853, and even to-day it is not finished, though millions of money have been spent in the best investment New York ever made. There are two ways of seeing Central Park, afoot or with a horse. Neither will show the whole, as the drives miss much of the finer and more elaborate features of the places, and the walks fail to give some of the best prospects and out-looks. More than this, many points of interest are not in reach of carriage or foot path, but must be seen from a boat. There are 15 miles of carriage roads, 8 miles of bridle paths for horseback riders, and over 25 miles of walks.

Large and comfortable open carriages are provided at the Fifth and Eighth Avenue entrances, for all visitors who care to drive through the grounds. The fare for the entire trip up to Mount St. Vincent, at the northern end of the Park, and return is only 25 cents. By taking a return or transfer ticket, the visitor may leave the carriage at the end and may return from any point where he chooses to take another carriage. For instance, on leaving the Fifth Avenue gate, a transfer ticket is taken (without extra charge) and after spending an hour or more at the art galleries and flower gardens on Eighth Avenue, carriages may be taken and quite another road may be traversed to 59th street. Another good plan is to leave the carriage at the Terrace, cross the Lake and going through the Ramble, visit the Belvedere. Then walk along the breezy paths round the great Resevoirs to Mt. St. Vincent, where any carriage that passes may be taken back to the Eighth or Fifth Avenue entrances. Another pleasant trip is to walk to the Terrace and then take a carriage for

Mt. St. Vincent. From this place a rather longer, but exceedingly pictruesque walk, may be taken through the woods and up the lovely valley that leads off to the west towards Eighth Avenue and then through the pine woods to the Belvedere and the Ramble. Crossing the Lake again another carriage may be taken at the Terrace for home. The simple ride up and back, a distance of about five miles, shows many of the chief points of interest in the Park and gives a most charming journey. All the grand turnouts and carriages may be seen on the road and stops are made at such places as offer good views of the various statues and prospects. From three o'clock till dark is the best time to see the driving and the display of fine horses and gorgeous apparel. Saturday and Sunday are the most brilliant days of the week, but at any day or hour there will be much to see and enjoy. These Park carriages are under the control of the Park Commissioners and may be taken without hesitation as they are always safe and clean. Everybody uses them, and they are considered quite as elegant as the public hacks that may be hired at the gates. These hacks and open carriages charge 50 cents or more for each passenger and only hold four. The visitors who prefer them, will find plenty at each entrance, but sensible people go in the cheaper and more democratic Park carriages.

The Bridle Roads.

These roads are marked "for visitors on norseback only," and are exclusively devoted to their use. They join the drives near the gates and pass through some very retired and interesting parts of the Park. A good galop may be obtained upon them without fear, as they avoid the greater part of the drives and go under or over nearly all the foot paths.

The Park Afoot.

This is, by far, the best way to see Central Park. The visitor who has only a short time to give to the place, and who wishes to "do all the sights" as easily and conveniently as possible, had best take a Seventh evenue car and enter at the "Artisan's Gate" at the end of Seventh Avenue on 59th street. On entering, the broad path may be taken that gently curves to the right, and passes under a pretty vine-covered bridge. The bridges in the Park are all of great interest and beauty. No two are alike. Each is a study in itself, and it is well worth the while to notice them. Beyond the bridge the path climbs a small hill and crosses an iron bridge over one of the bridle paths. Here we turn to the right and presently come to the great lawn

Play Ground.

Visitors are generally not allowed to walk on the grass, but on certain days this place is declared free and then thousands of boys and young children roam on this wide field and play ball and other games. On such days signs are put up marked, "Common," and then the grass land is free. Off to the left here may be seen a mass of high bare rock. Such places as this, where there is no grass, are always free everywhere in the Park. Going on we pass through a rustic arbor and come to the

Carousel.

Here are swings, a "merry-go-round," and plenty of amusement for the younger children. Leaving these delights, we turn sharply to the right and go under another bridge and come to a high rock bank surmounted by an immese rustic arbor. This is one of the sights of the Park, and it is well worth while to turn aside and climb over the smooth rocks to see it. Coming back to the path we soon come to

The Dairy.

This is a restaurant where milk and ice-cream and a few simple things are for sale, and it furnishes a nice place for children's lunches. Swings and other amusements are provided near by. Just before reaching the Dairy the path turns to the right and soon comes to

The Marble Arch.

This is an archway under the road, with steps leading up to the paths beyond. The archway and stairs are all of marble, and the structure is both massive and beautiful. Mounting the steps we come suddenly upon one of the grand sights of the Park. Here the drive divides and we enter

The Mall.

This a broad path lined with trees and extending from the Marble Arch to the Terrace. It gives a fine view of this part of the Park and makes the grand promenade. The Belvedere tower can be seen at the end of the long vista, and here may be seen all gay driving and the crowds of pleasure-seekers, on their way to the lake and the rambles. The famous goat carriages, for infant rides, are here also. Three of the best statues in the Park may been seen here. The statute of Shakspeare, a standing figure, comes first. Next is the figure of Walter Scott; and a short distance to the left is a fine figure of an Indian hunter and his dog. Farther off to the left may be seen the large level field known as

The Common.

A flock of sheep roam over the grass, tended by a gray old shepherd and a very knowing shepherd dog, whose actions in his care of the flock afford amusement and study for all interested in such matters. Instead of taking the Mall and going directly to the Lake we may here take the first or second path to the right. Passing under the road we follow the winding path down hill and under another stone bridge to

The Museum and Menagerie.

Here a collection of birds and wild animals of various kinds and a museum of natural history is opened free, and an hour or more may be profitably spent in examining both. The objects are all close together, and it requires no special guidance to find them all. Having seen these things take the same path back as far as the place where it divides just under three great willow trees. Keeping on we pass another small play-ground for children, and keeping off to the left soon come to a part of the drive. Crossing the road-way and taking the path to the right, and then keeping off in that direction, we come to a few stone steps and then enter a long rustic arbor at the

Great Circle.

Here many of the pleasure riders turn in, and driving round view the prospect or stop at the pretty stone cottage for lunch. From the arbor there is a view on one side down over the Mall, where the bands play, and over the terrace and the drive. The stone cottage to the right is

The Casino.

It is a lunch room or restaurant, and is much patronized by the visitors who come in carriages. Walking through the arbor we may go down the steps and come out on

The Terrace.

This is the most striking and remarkable feature of the park. It is of a fine soft stone and covered with the most beautiful carvings. The central stairway goes down under the road, and the two side stairways are beyond the road. The three flights of stairs all meet below on the edge of the lake at the great bronze fountain. Going down the central stairs we enter an arched hall devoted to a restaurant. The walls are beautifully decorated with colored tiles, and it makes a cool and pleasant spot for a cream lunch. The other stairways show the outside of the terrace, and give one an opportunity to examine the figures of birds and animals carved in the stone walls and massive balustrade. Passing the fountain below, we come to the boat landing on

The Lake.

This irregular body of water cannot be all seen at once from any one spot, and the best way to examine it is to take a boat The trip takes about half an hour and is very enjoyable. There are two classes of boats, one at a low price for all who choose to go with the general company, the other boats may be hired singly for a little larger fee. The prices are placarded on the boat house, and if the visitor has time it is well worth while to take the trip. From this point we may continue our walk by taking the path to the right of the boat landing and following the shore of the lake. We soon come to a fine iron bridge over the lake, and from the top get a good view of the lake and the beautiful shores on both sides. The swans and other birds also make a feature of interest. The shelving shore at the left of the bridge is known as "The Beach," and is a favorite place of resort in warm weather. Crossing the bridge we enter the most interesting part of the whole Park, and known as

The Ramble.

This, as its name implies, is a place where one may ramble for hours through shady paths, through mossy dells, over picturesque bridges, along winding lanes, among deep thickets, past bold rocks, and through woods and scattered grass. The paths, both small and great, wander in every conceivable direction, and cross each other in such a delightfully confusing way that there is no end of amusement in following them to see where they really do go. Arbors and seats are placed everywhere, and pretty views come as surprises everywhere. By taking the broad path from the bridge, a little to the left, we soon come to the donkey stand, where the children may indulge in a donkey ride if they are so inclined. Following the shore of the Lake we soon cross a rustic bridge, and mounting some steps come to

The Schiller Monument.

This is a portrait bust, and is said to be a fine work of art. Turning to the right we follow the signs pointing the way to

The Cave.

This is found in a deep rocky dell, and is worth visiting for the sake of the picturesque views it affords at both entrances and for the solemn company of owls sitting inside. Passing through the Cave we may climb the steep steps beyond, and take the path over head, or we may return by the way we came. If we return the path may be taken to the left and soon after to the right. This leads to a broad path up the hill to the right again. At the next turn go to the left, and the path will lead us up over the rocks to the top of the hill where stands

The Belvedere.

This is a stone tower or out-look giving an extensive view over the park and the country road about. To the south may be seen the spires of the lower part of the city. To the west is the Hudson and the country beyond. East of the East River some of the Islands, Harlem, and the Long Island shore. To the north lies the two great reservoirs, and beyond there is the upper part of the city, with a glimpse of High Bridge. At the foot of the tower on the east side the path round the reservoirs may be taken through a pretty valley of hedges. A few steps beyond to the right is a flight of stone steps leading down into the Ramble again. No particular directions need be given here. The visitor may wander where he likes, look at the rabbits, peacocks and other birds, and easily find his own way back to the lake. Crossing by the Bridge we may take the path along the beach, and go part way round the Lake to the right. Meeting the drive again, we come to the statue of "the Falconer," placed on a high rocky bank. Here the path along the road-side may be taken to the left, and presently we come to the Common again. Here is a bronze group of eagles, and another path leading past there to the Mall. Another path to the right leads to the little soda fountain stand called

The Springs.

From this part we may keep off to the right, and by going round the Common come out the 8th Avenue entrance on 59th street. By returning to the Mall we may keep on down the drive-way to the left, or to Fifth Avenue and 59th street. At the end of the Mall, near the Marble Arch, the paths to the right along the road-way lead to Sixth and Seventh Avenues. The path on the right hand side leads to Seventh Avenue, and the path on the left of the road goes to Sixth Avenue. This walk does not by any means include all the Park. It has shown all the chief points of interest within easy reach, and placed them in such an order as to enable the stranger to see as much as possible in a short time.

Other Parks.

Besides Central Park, New York has a number of smaller parks or squares. The Battery, at the foot of Broadway, is the oldest and most famous. Bowling Green is close to it, and is also another relic of revolutionary times. City Hall Park and Union and Madison Squares have each been described under the head of "Broadway." Washington Square is bounded by Waverley Place, Macdougal, Fourth, and Wooster streets, and is ornamented with trees, lawns, and a fountain. Tompkins Square is between Avenues A and B, joining Tenth and Seventh streets. Stuyvesant Square was formerly a part of the old Peter Stuyvesant farm, and was a gift to the city. It is bounded by Rutherford and Stuyvesant Places, and E. 15th and E. 17th streets, while second Avenue crosses it from north to south. Gramercy Park is a private park, on Third and Fourth Avenues, between E. 20th and E. 21st streets. Reservoir Park is on Sixth Avenue, and is described under that Avenue. Besides these are Hamilton Square, situated between

Third and FourthAvenues, near 66th and 67th streets. Blooming-dale Square, between Eighth and Sixth Avenues and W. 53d and 57th streets. Manhattan Square, on the same avenues between W. 77th and 81st streets. Mount Morris Square, in Harlem, is one of the most attractive and picturesque of the smaller squares; it is between 120th and 124th streets, on Fifth Avenue.

Excursions Round About.

the vicinity of New York presents attractions in every direction and in the greatest variety. Not only are the two large cities of Brooklyn and Jersey City within easy reach, but by the sea shore, along the two rivers, and in the country beyond are many places worth visiting. All the most popular places of resort are connected with the city by boat or rail, and the excursions thus offered are both cheap and plentiful. The first, and perhaps the best, are by the sea shore. Long Branch, the fashionable sea-side resort, is within easy reach by boat or rail from Jersey City. By boat the visitor lands at Sandy Hook, and affording views of the Highlands of New Jersey, a short rail ride by the beach. Coney Island and Rockaway Beaches are nearer, and are both reached by boats, and each presents good surf bathing and all the usual delights of a very democratic watering-place. Staten Island, still nearer the city, may be reached by boat in half an hour. Boats touching at places on the east side of the Island take one quite near the Narrows and within easy walking of the forts and heights. Boats for the north side of the Island go through the long inlet known as the Kills, and passing a number of pretty villages enter Raritan Bay, affording some charming views of the Jersey shore and Orange mountains. Another line of boats run farther on to Perth Amboy, and making a still more extended excursion. Other excursions may be made to Flushing, Jamaica, Babylon, and other points on Long Island by rail and ferry. Boat excursions may be made on both the East and North River. Boats to Harlem leave every half hour from down-town piers, and passing up East river skirt the eastern side of the city, pass Blackwell's, Ward's, and Randall's Islands, each with their public and charitable institutions, and entering Harlem river, stop near the Third Avenue bridge. Here other boats may be taken for High Bridge. This famous place of resort is noted for its great stone bridge carrying the Croton water pipes over the deep valley, and its picturesque scenery. High Bridge may also be reached by rail from the Grand Central Depot. From High Bridge the cars may be taken up the Harlem River valley to Spuyten Duyvil on the Hudson. The ride from this point down the river to 34th street gives a fine view of the Hudson and the Palisades, and passes the villages of Mount Washington, Carmansville, and Manhattanville, and the west side of the city, of which they form a part. Boats on the Hudson give excursions of varying length, from the little half-hour trip to Fort Lee to the allday trip to Albany. Yonkers, Tarrytown, and West Point may all be visited by boat or rail within ten hours. No more romantic and beautiful river scenery can be found in this country than on the Hudson, and the visitor should go up as far as West Point, even if he neglects everything else. The Hudson is New York's great natural show piece, and if one is visited the other should be. Even in winter there is much to see from the car window, as the railroad clings to the shore the entire distance.

The Cemeteries.

There are eight great cemeteries near New York, and each is finely laid out and profusely ornamented with monuments. Greenwood is located on Gowanus Heights, Brooklyn, and is easily reached by horse cars from South Ferry or Hamilton Ferry. The Cemetery of the Evergreens is also in Brooklyn, and may be reached by horse cars from Atlantic, Fulton, and South 7th street ferries. Cypress Hills is just beyond the Evergreens and is reached by cars from Fulton, South, and Williamsburg ferries. Woodlawn is near Fordham, on the line of the Harlem Railroad, and is reached by that line. New York Bay Cemetery is on the west shore of the Bay, two miles an a half beyond Jersey City. It may be reached by road or horse cars, or by boat in summer. Calvary Cemetery is at Newtown, L. I., about two miles and a half from the 10th street ferry. This is the chief Catholic cemetery of the city. Trinity Church Cemetery is located between 153d and 154th streets. To reach it, cars on the Hudson River railroad for Carmansville station from 34th street station or by the Boulevard omnibusses. Mount Olivet Cemetery is at Maspeth, L. I., some three miles and a half from Grand and Houston street ferries. In addition to these are a number of minor cemeteries of less importance. Below is a full list.

AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE.

This beautiful work is distinctively a Narrative for the reading of the people in a sense not realized by any other publication. is not a transient volume, written to catch the hour, but a thoroughly-prepared work. Every statement can be depended on and quoted as historically correct. A very full "Introduction" treats of the earliest periods, so that the work is essentially a complete history of our country, of permanent value. The style is life-like and vivid, carrying the reader along by the sweep of the story, as in a novel. Every battle is a dramatic picture; with the key-note, the pivot on which the decision turned, clearly brought out. illustrations are simply superb. The printer's and binder's work is unexcelled in the history of book-making. Numerous maps illustrate events for which our modern maps are comparatively useless. Chapters on "manners and customs" of the different periods are unique. The book is written in the impartial spirit of the true historian-no sectionalism. The development of parties and the history of political campaigns are accurately and fully set The achievements of noted inventors and authors, the founding of great newspapers and associations, the building of important public works, etc., all duly recorded, attest the faithfulness of the author.

PALISADE MOUNTAIN HOUSE,

One of the finest summer hotels in the world, is situated on the Lydecker Point of the Palisades of the Hudson River, at Englewood, N. J., opposite Spuyten Duyvil. It is reached by Northern R.R. of N. J. of W. 23d St., or Chambers St., or Steamboats Adelphi and Alexis from foot of Harrison Street, New York. The situation is the most beautiful of any suburban hotel around New York City. The Palisades are four hundred feet or over above the level of the Ocean, and on one of their highest and most prominent outlooks stands the Mountain House. At its foot the Hudson washes the base of the cliffs on which it is built. To the north, bold sweeps of coast, marked with woody headlands and capped with a luxuriant forest, stretch away into the dim distance. Southerly, the spires of the city, the green hills of Staten Island, and the gleam of the Narrows fill the horizon; in front, a superb expanse of hill and dale, river, bay, and Sound spreads itself for miles and miles to the east; while from the upper windows the western view embraces all that beautiful country between the valley of the Overpeck and the Orange Mountains. The air is exceedingly clear and salubrious, and has proved extremely beneficial to invalids and children of delicate constitutions. The hotel is supplied with water from a clear, cool, and delicious spring in the forest, a mile to the westward. The pleasant and various ways of access make it a most desirable summer resort, particularly for gentlemen doing business in the city. The drives are exceeding beautiful, and extend for miles along the Hudson, affording entrancing views of the noble river and charming villas along its banks. The house can accommodate about five hundred guests. The rooms are large, en suite, completely, richly, and tastefully furnished. The proprietor, Mr. D. S. Hammond, thoroughly understands his business, and nothing is left undone that could please the most exacting guest. The cuisine of the house is equal to any in the country. The grounds about the house are picturesque, the walks charming, and the river convenient for yachting and boating. Gas, hot and cold water, and new bath houses are provided, by which all the advantages of the salt water are made available. An excellent billiard-room and bowling-alley, a fine band of music, and a wellmanaged livery stable provide every comfort and recreation that could be expected. The fact that the first guests of the Mountain House continue to be its steadfast patrons, year after year, speaks for its special merits and healthfulness more plainly than many Among the attractions of Englewood, particularly for families, is the fine Collegiate Institute of the Rev. T. G. Wall, for young ladies and children, and the Englewood Classical and Mathematical School for boys.

These pens possess decided advantages over pens of the common shape.

1. They have a more decided and quicker action.

2. The curved point gives greater strength and elasticity, and a firmer hold of the surface of paper.

3. The point rests more nearly perpendicularly upon the paper, avoiding the pendant drop dragging along the surface, carrying dust, &c., before it, as in common pens,

4. They allow the line of vision of the writer unobstructed access to the very point of contact of pen and paper, and thus to watch the formation of letters, whereas in common pens, the line of vision, pendant ink and edge of pen all blend, producing confusion and labor to the eye of the writer.

5. They afford several times more wearing surface than the straight pen before becoming blunt, thus greatly increasing durability.

COZZENS' HOTEL.—Cozzens' Landing, West Point, N. Y. GOODSELL BROTHERS, Proprietors.

This elegant and favorite summer resort stands on a commanding eminence on the west side of the Hudson, 250 feet above the river, and about one mile and a half south of the Military Academy of West Point. It commands one of the finest views on the Hudson. embracing the very heart of the Highlands, and the wildest and most picturesque scenery on this famous river. Its location is remarkably healthful; no cases of sickness having originated at this resort in twenty-five years. West Point was selected as the site of the Military Academy partly because of the healthfulness of the locality. Its location is particularly convenient for New York families, as 11 is but fifty miles distant, and gentlemen are enabled to visit New York daily, returning to Cozzens' at night if they desire. Among the many places of interest around Cozzens' are the U. S. Military Academy, where daily military exercises of interest occur, old Fort Putnam, Beverly Dock, Robinson House, Buttermilk Falls, etc. The drives among the historic Highlands are celebrated for their enchanting beauty, and one or two, including the five-mile drive to Crystal Lake, have recently been laid out. Distinguished visitors, including our national officials and celebrities, annually visit West Point Academy during the examinations, which begin on the 1st of June.

The hotel is built of brick, and is so constructed that all its rooms command delightful views of the river and mountain scenery. It will accommodate about 400 guests, who are the most refined and respected classes of our metropolitan society. The house is kept in a style to suit such patronage, and Cozzens' Hotel stands unrivaled among our summer resorts in its quiet elegance and comfort.

The table is not surpassed by any hotel in America in luxuries or style, and excellent music daily enlivens the enjoyments of this elegant and unexceptional resort. It can be reached by the Hudson River Railway to Garrison's Station, whence a steam-ferry conveys passengers to Cozzens' Dock; or by Day Line Steamers to West Point, with omnibus to Cozzens' Hotel, or the Mary Powell and Jas. W. Baldwin to Cozzens'. Carriages await at Cozzens' Dock and West Point the arrival of all boats and trains. Daily excursions may be made from New York, stopping for dinner and spending three or four hours at the hotel, returning to the city the same day. Passengers should not mistake the West Point or Government Hotel for Cozzens', but drive to Cozzens' Hotel, kept by Goodsell Bros.

Spring Waters of Saratoga,

ARE THE BEST OF ALL THE SARATOGA WATERS FOR THE USE OR PERSONS OF CONSTIPATED HABIT.

They act promptly and pleasantly, without producing debility, and their effect is not weakened by continued use, as is the case with ordinary cathactics. At the same time they are not too cathartic—a fault with some of our most drastic mine-ral waters—but sufficiently so for daily and healthful use, and not strong enough

Their continued use keeps the blood in a very pure and healthful condition. producing a clear florid complexion. They preserve the tone of the stomach, and are powerful preventives of fever and bilious complaints.

THE COLUMBIAN SPRING WATER

Is universally acknowledged to be the best Chalubeate Water known. Where the blood requires Iron, this water supplies it in the best possible form for use. The assimilation is perfect. A grain of iron in this water is, in the opinion of a cele-brated physician, "more potent than twenty grains exhibited according to the Pharmacopæia."

These waters, being purely natural, are highly recommended, and very frequently prescribed by the best medical authorities, many of whom, however, have expressed their condemnation in strong terms of the use of artificial mineral waters.

Every genuine bottle of Congress Water has a large 66 C ?? raised on the glass.

SARATOGA GEYSER SPRING.

THE CELEBRATED

This wonderful mineral fountain was discovered in February, 1870. It is coated on the Ballston avenue, one and a half miles south of principal hotels, at Saratoga Springs. The water vein was struck by the drill in the bird's-eye limestone one hundred and thirty-two feet beneath the surface rock. The orifice, bored in the rock, is five and a half inches in diameter, and 132 feet deep, and is tubed with a block-tin pipe, encased with iron, to the depth of eighty-five feet. Analysis of one U. S. Gallon by Professor C. F. CHANDLER, Ph.D., of Columbia College School of Mines:

It will be observed that the water is strongly charged with valuable medicinal, mineral and gaseous properties, and the preponderance of Gas enables the water to hold its heavy and valuable mineral elements in perfect solution, whereby the water is bottled in perfect purity, and may be preserved for ages and in any climate. The fact that the Spring is located 132 feet beneath a solid rock renders it free from all impurities from surface wash or drainage.

The water never varies in flavor, nor are its properties subjected to change by the dilution of fresh water or the mingling of foreign substances during the wet seasons of the year.

As a medicinal agency its effects are marvelous, especially in cutaneous diseases or any of the various phases of Scrofula, also in Kidney Disease, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Rheumatism, Acidity of Stomach, Constipation, and Piles.

Geyser Water is a powerful cathartic, while at the same time, by proper use, its minerals may be retained to operate as a tonic and builder up of an enfecbled system. Geyser Water operates with excellent effect upon the Kidneys. The lithiu found in it is a specific for gravel or stone, and is effectual in dissolving the chalk or limestone and urate deposits in Rheumatism and Gout. As an Aperient or Cathartic the water should be taken in the morning.

It is sold in cases of four dozen Pints, two dozen Pints, or two dozen Quarts, and in Block Tin-Lined Barrels containing 30 gallons, for draught by druggists.

The Spring property is not managed by a Stock Company, and for the purposes of business the proprietor has adopted only the name "Geyser Spring." GEYSER SPRING, Address

Life Insurance an Element of Success.

HE successful man makes the most of every advantage which nature and circumstance have placed within his reach. He carefully considers his mental abilities and inclinations, and pursues that course for which reason tells him that he is best fitted. The circumstances of his birth and education as well as his physical condition and bodily powers go to influence his pursuits. Every circumstance is then embraced to further his plans. His mind is called upon to assist him to the extent of its forces, and his body should likewise contribute its share to the general fund.

The man who is so fortunate as to possess a sound mind in a sound body, and who desires to make the most of both, cannot consistently neglect the advantages which Life Insurance offers to him. His neighbor may have the elements of success in an equal degree, but some weakness, perhaps unnoticed before, debars him from Life Insurance. The gift of health should thus form an important element in the working capital of him who possesses it, and the taking advantage of the superiority which its possession for the time being gives may be the turning point of success. A Life Policy taken in health and prosperity may be just the security needed in financial troubles, and certainly will be when health is gone and Life Insurance can no longer be obtained.

In choosing a company, that one should be selected which is most careful in the selection of its members, that good health may receive the greatest possible benefits. The Phænix Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., issues policies on none but the best of risks. It has had 25 years of successful experience, and has assets of the most unquestionable character, of over $10,000,000, invested for the security of its policy-holders. Its business is conducted with economy and prudence, and its members receive the benefits arising from a conservative management to their fullest extent.
