TRIED AND TRUE

Five Hundred Recipes With Practical Culinary
Suggestions

“Three things are essential to life: air, water and FOOD.”—Hoy.

“Food is that which taken into the body satisfies hunger, supplies energy and replaces the wastes of the body.”

“Every man is not born with the qualifications necessary to constitute a good cook. What study demands more study? Cookery is an art appreciated by only a few individuals and which requires, in addition to most diligent and studious application, no small share of intellect, and the strictest sobriety and punctuality. There are cooks and cooks, but where is the perfect cook?”—Ude.

FOREWORD

The following pages bring to my pupils, listeners and friends a collection of "TRIED AND TRUE" recipes, with practical suggestions as to their preparation. Most of these recipes have been given to different audiences on the recipe-slips used at Demonstration Lectures, but are here assembled for every-day use. The recipes are not all original by any means, but have all been tested and, in many cases, slightly changed to meet my personal tastes and principles of cookery.

Weights and Measurements

Accurate measurements are necessary to insure success.

Flour should be once sifted before measuring.

Level measurements are always to be used.

4	saltspoons.....	1	teaspoon
3	teaspoons.....	1	tablespoon
16	tablespoons	1	cup
2	tablespoons butter.....	1	ounce
4	tablespoons flour.....	1	ounce
2	tablespoons granulated sugar.....	1	ounce
$\frac{1}{2}$	lb. butter ...	1	cup
$\frac{1}{4}$	lb. flour	1	cup
$\frac{1}{4}$	lb. sugar ..	1	cup

$\frac{1}{3}$ c butter ~ ~ ~ ~ 5 tbs

The cup used should have the half, third and quarter marked on it.

$\frac{1}{2}$ spoonful should be taken lengthwise and not crosswise of the spoon and $\frac{1}{4}$ is one half of the half spoonful.

Beginnings and Appetizers

“The palate is the janitor ; unless he be reconciled the most nutritious food will find no welcome.”

Hors-d'Œuvres (Appetizers) should be used as the first course for the company dinner. The origin of the course is to be found in Russian culinary art and now is the preface to the more elaborate repasts in all countries. Oysters, caviare, sardines and eggs are most often used in making the canapés and dainties under this heading.

OYSTER COCKTAIL

1	tblsp. vinegar	2	tblsp. catsup
1	tblsp. Worcestershire sauce	2	tblsp. lemon juice
½	tsp. salt	2	doz. oysters

Mix the seasonings and let it then stand on the oysters an hour. Six servings.

CAVIARE CANAPES

Butter rounds of brown bread, put on them rings of hard-cooked eggs and caviare, mixed with lemon or French dressing. Garnish with cucumbers.

SWEDISH LETTUCE

1	c. chopped cabbage	½	c. cut celery
½	tblsp. sugar	½	tsp. salt.
¼	tsp. mustard seed		French dressing

Serve on lettuce leaves.

HORS D'ŒUVRE OF SHRIMPS

Arrange shrimp on toast fingers with either cucumbers or radishes, or both, as a garnish, and add salad dressing. Often a lettuce leaf is placed under the toast.

VALENTINE CANAPES

Cook half finely chopped onion in one tablespoon of butter three minutes. Add two tablespoons flour, one cup milk, and cook until mixture thickens. Add half teaspoon salt, quarter teaspoon paprika, a little pepper and half pound of shrimp meat. Toast rounds of bread cut half inch thick on one side, spread with equal parts of butter and cheese, creamed together and seasoned with salt and black pepper. On top place shrimp and place in a hot oven until slightly browned. Garnish with red pepper.

SARDINES AU MAIRE

9 sardines	3 yolks
1 tbsp. butter	1 tbsp. milk
$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. lemon juice	Salt
$\frac{1}{8}$ tsp. mustard	Cayenne
9 toast fingers

Heat sardines in oven. Beat yolks, add other ingredients and stir over heat till blended. Cover sardines on toast with this mixture and garnish.

GRAPE-FRUIT JELLY

Soften one tablespoon of Knox gelatine in half cup water, dissolve with one-quarter cup of boiling water. Add one-quarter cup of sugar, one and one-half grape-fruit pulp and juice and one teaspoon lemon juice. Garnish as desired; mould. Serve at luncheon or dinner.

PINEAPPLE AND STRAWBERRY CORDIAL

Sweeten and slightly mash the berries and carefully cut the pineapple. Serve in glasses on doily and plate.

TOMATOES AND CORN

Use firm tomatoes and cut off the top slice and scoop out the pulp from the shells. Cut the kernels from two or three ears of corn, mix and season with salt and pepper, butter and return to the tomato shells; then cover with bread crumbs, seasoned with chopped parsley, and bake in pan with very little water for twenty minutes. Serve on rounds of toast.

SHRIMPS IN TOMATO CASES

1½ c. shrimps	6 tomatoes
2 tbsp. butter	Onion juice
1 c. bread crumbs	¼ c. cream
Salt, pepper	Speck soda

Cut tomatoes in halves, remove pulp, add butter and seasonings. Cook till reduced one half, and add soda and cream. Combine with shrimps, cut into small pieces and fill the cases. Cover with buttered crumbs and heat. Serve on toast.

Ham Canapés

Toast bread on one side, toast side down buttered + covered with minced boiled ham that has been seasoned with melted butter + pepper + is then topped with the powdered yolk of egg. cut with biscuit cutter serve on lettuce leaf

Soups

“Take one part of gumption and one part of food.”—Atkinson.

Soups can be divided into two classes: those made with stock and those made without stock. The clear stock soups do not contain much nourishment, but are the best for dinner soups, as they will stimulate the secretions of the digestive system, and if served hot, thus prepare the stomach for the other courses.

After cooling stock always remove all fat which gathers on the top, and clear it, if desired, by allowing one slightly beaten white of egg and the shell to each quart of stock. Add to the stock and place on the front of the range to bring to the boiling point, and boil two or three minutes; then simmer with very little heat applied for fifteen or twenty minutes, and strain through cheese cloth.

The cream soups consist of the milk and water, the vegetable, the binding, i. e., flour and butter, and the seasonings. In adding the flour to a soup or sauce, it is usually preferable to melt the butter, blend with it the flour, dilute with some of the liquid (hot, if any of the liquids to be used are warm), and then combine all. The other method of adding thickening to a liquid is, to first mix it gradually with a small quantity of cold water or milk.

JULIENNE SOUP

1 qt. brown stock	$\frac{1}{4}$ c. carrot
$\frac{1}{4}$ c. turnip	$\frac{1}{4}$ c. green peas

IMPERIAL STICKS

Cut bread in one-third inch slices. Remove crusts, butter and cut in one-third inch strips. Brown delicately.

CHEESE CRISPS

Spread crackers with butter and grated cheese. Brown delicately.

Fish

“With hooks and nets you catch us,
You never regard our pains ;
Yet we reward you with dainty food,
To strengthen your body and brains.”

Fish has less food value and flavor than meat in most cases and for this reason care is needed in its preparation to add seasonings and sauces to supply this lack. It is very easily digested and for reasons of economy, too, should be used more than it is in many households. The white fish, as cod, had-dock or halibut, are more easily digested than the oily kinds, as salmon or mackerel.

To skin a fish, pull from the head, while if it is to be more thoroughly scraped, work from the tail towards the head, and if it is to be baked whole, always remove the eyes.

Fish can be boiled, broiled, baked or fried.

HALIBUT A LA FLAMANDE

Purchase a small, very thick halibut steak. Wash it in cold water, dry, and dust with salt and pepper. Cover the bottom of baking dish with two tablespoons of chopped onion, two of chopped celery and one of chopped parsley, put on the halibut slice, brush with melted butter and bake in a quick oven for thirty minutes, add a little water. When done lift carefully to heated dish. Put two tablespoons of butter in a pan, add two tablespoons of flour, mix, add one-half pint of strained tomatoes, stir until boiling, add one level teaspoon of salt, shake of mace and of pepper. Strain this around the fish, garnish the top with carefully boiled potato balls, dust with finely chopped parsley and border with toast points.

BAKED FISH A LA CARLETON

Split and bone a fish and place on well buttered sheet. Cream one-fourth cup of butter, two yolks, two tablespoons each chopped onions, pickles, and seasonings, lemon, salt, pepper and parsley. Sprinkle fish with salt, spread on mixture and bake in hot oven. Garnish and serve.

BAKED HADDOCK

Clean a three or four pound haddock. Sprinkle with salt, stuff and sew. Cut gashes, insert pork and lemon, and shape for baking. Salt, pepper, flour and brush with butter. Bake about one hour. Baste.

STUFFING

1 c. crumbs	$\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. salt
$\frac{1}{4}$ c. butter	$\frac{1}{8}$ tsp. pepper
Lemon juice	$\frac{1}{4}$ c. hot water
Onion juice

HALIBUT CUTLETS

1 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. flaked fish	$\frac{1}{4}$ c. butter
1 tsp. onion	1 tbsp. lemon
$\frac{1}{2}$ c. flour	$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. salt
1 $\frac{1}{3}$ c. stock and milk	1 egg separately
1 tbsp. parsley	Spread and cool

Shape and roll in crumbs, egg and crumbs, and fry in deep fat. Garnish and serve at once.

TURBANS OF HALIBUT

1 lb halibut	1 tsp. butter
1 tbsp. lemon juice	Few drops onion
$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. salt	Speck of pepper

Blend butter and seasonings. Remove skin and bone, dip and roll each fillet. Bake in agate plate with remainder of butter till tender, fifteen to twenty-five minutes. Serve with soubise sauce.

BREADED SARDINES WITH RICED POTATO

1 small can sardines	1 egg
Bread crumbs	1 tbsp. butter

Pour boiling water over sardines to remove the oil and then take off most of the skin. Roll in crumbs, egg and crumbs. Fry slowly in hot omelet pan with one tablespoon of butter. Serve with riced or mashed potato.

FRIED SMELTS

Wash, dry, salt and sprinkle with flour; dip in egg and crumbs or meal. Fry and serve on hot platter.

OYSTERS A L'ASTOR

1 pt. oysters	½ tsp. onion
½ tsp. red pepper	2 tbsp. butter
2 tbsp. flour	Salt
Pepper	1 tsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. vinegar	1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce

Water to make one cup with oyster liquor

Parboil and drain oysters. Mix in given order and serve on crackers or toast.

OYSTERS A LA THORNDIKE

Clean and drain one pint of oysters. Put three tablespoons of butter in saucepan, add oysters, cook till plump; add one-half teaspoon of salt, one-eighth teaspoon of paprika, grated nutmeg, one-quarter cup of rich milk, yolks of two eggs, beaten. Cook till creamy and serve on crackers.

OYSTERS LOUISANNE

Parboil one pint of oysters. Cook one and one-half teaspoon of butter, one tablespoon of red pepper, one-half tablespoon of onions, two tablespoons of flour, three-quarters to one cup of oyster liquor, salt, cayenne, and paprika for sauce. Arrange oysters on shells or dishes, border with duchess potatoes; pour on sauce and sprinkle with grated cheese. Reheat and serve.

PANNED OYSTERS

1 pt. oysters	Toast
Salt	Pepper

In a dripping pan on each strip of toast place a seasoned oyster. Bake till plump.

FRIED SCALLOPS

Clean one pint of scollops, turn into saucepan, cook till they begin to shrivel, drain and dry between towels. Season, roll in crumbs, egg and crumbs. Fry in deep fat. Serve with sauce tartare.

BROILED LIVE LOBSTER

If the lobster is not dressed for broiling at the market, this is done by holding the large claws firmly with the left hand, and with a strong pointed knife make a deep cut at the mouth and draw the knife quickly but firmly through the body and length of the tail; open and remove the stomach, the intestinal vein and the liver. Pull off the small claws and wash thoroughly. Broil on buttered broiler eight or ten minutes on flesh side and a little less on the shell side, or bake in hot oven fifteen minutes. Baste with melted butter.

LOBSTER A LA NEWBURG

2 lbs. lobster	Grating nutmeg
Pepper	2 eggs (yolks only)
4 tbsp. butter	$\frac{1}{3}$ c. rich milk
$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. salt	2 tbsp. brandy or sherry

Heat lobster meat with butter, add seasonings and egg and milk last. Serve with toast or pastry cases.

Oyster A La Newburg

1 pt oyster	Paprika
3 tbsp butter	$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp parsley
1 c rich milk	1 tsp salt
4 tbsp flour	1 tsp lemon juice
1 c oyster liquor	1 yolk

Mushroom caps if desired cream and serve on toast points.

Meats

“ True economy does not consist in going without, but in using what one has in such a manner as to secure the most from it.”

Meat was considered necessary in some form at every meal in the days of our grandfathers, but now is used much less—only once a day in many families. Beef, the meat of steer, ox or cow, is the most common; while lamb, the meat of lambs; or mutton, of sheep; and pork, that of the pig, are all used. Veal, the meat of the calf, is not matured enough to be a proper food.

Mutton and pork, if roasted, should be thoroughly cooked; and beef and lamb are often served in a more rare state. A good rule for general use in roasting is to allow twenty minutes to heat the meat and twenty minutes for each pound as the time of cooking. Very rare beef might take less. When it is desired to retain all the juices possible, as in a roast, have the oven hot before the meat is put in; and in boiling meats, use hot water when the juices are to be retained, and cold water if the stew or stock is needed and the juices extracted. In boiling ham, cold water is often recommended, and the meat is a better flavor if less salty.

Wipe meats with a damp cloth, but do not wash enough to draw out the juices. Salt will often cause the juices to flow freely, and, in steaks, should not be added till part of the cooking is completed, and this principle ought to be considered in the roast to a certain extent.

Poultry is boiled, broiled or roasted, and must be always thoroughly dressed. The marketing hints in another chapter will give other suggestions.

PLANKED STEAK

Broil rump or sirloin steak in gas range broiler, and when about half cooked, place on hardwood plank with mashed potato border. Continue the cooking, and when potato is well browned, serve from the plank with peas, radishes, parsley, and French-fried potatoes (which have been fried in deep fat), or other vegetables.

Sometimes all the broiling is done on the plank, and, if so, place raw slices of potato on stale bread on the border to preserve the plank until mashed potato is added.

BEEF BALLS WITH SPAGHETTI EN CASSEROLE

Put over the fire one-half can red tomatoes, an onion, cut in thin slices, two sprigs of parsley and pint of water; let cook half an hour, then pass through sieve into a casserole; add one teaspoon salt and two tablespoons of butter, and the beef balls prepared as follows:

Chop very fine one pound of steak, freed from fat and stringy portions. To the chopped meat add one egg, beaten light, one-quarter cup bread crumbs and a grating of onion, one-half teaspoon of salt, paprika; mix altogether thoroughly, then divide the mixture into a dozen portions, and roll each into a compact ball. Have ready in a frying pan three tablespoons of hot fat, in this roll the beef balls until they are slightly browned on the outside, then drain on soft paper and put into the sauce in the casserole, cover the dish and let cook in the oven or on the back of the range about forty-five minutes.

In the meantime cook one-quarter pound of spaghetti or macaroni, broken in pieces, in boiling salt water until tender, drain and rinse in cold water. When about ready to serve the dish, take out the meat balls, turn in the spaghetti and one-half cup of cheese, lift the spaghetti with a spoon and fork until it is thoroughly mixed with the sauce and cheese; return the beef balls, cover and let stand in the oven to become very hot, then serve in the casserole.

SALISBURY STEAK WITH ONION SAUCE

One pound of tough meat twice through chopper, add one-half teaspoon salt and pepper. Form into steak one inch thick. Broil slowly.

SAUCE

One Spanish onion, boil till very soft, one-half cup water in which it was boiled, one tablespoon of butter, one tablespoon flour seasoning. Pour over steak and serve.

SCALLOPED BEEF OR LAMB

Chop meat, season, cover bottom of baking dish with crumbs, layers of meat, macaroni or rice, meat and crumbs. Pour over tomato sauce. Bake.

BEEF RAGOUT

Three pounds of round or flank. Cut in cubes, dredge with salt and flour sauté; then remove to kettle with close fitting cover. Brown four tablespoons butter, four tablespoons flour, add two cups stock, one-half cup carrots, one-half cup onions, and simmer one and one-half hours. Salt and pepper.

BEEF OLIVES

Strips of beef four inches long, one and one-half or two inches wide and rather thin, cut easiest from two-inch steak. Mix a stuffing of fine bread crumbs, seasoning, butter, one egg and parsley. Spread on beef, roll and tie with string. Stew in covered saucepan gently with one cup of brown sauce for thirty to forty-five minutes. Serve on bed of mashed potatoes.

FILLET OF BEEF A LA NAPOLI

Sauté or boil either fillet of beef or a thick steak and when almost cooked remove from fire and spread on the meat one pint of cleaned oysters. Season with salt and pepper and return to heat till oysters are plump. Garnish and serve at once.

CASSEROLE OF BEEF

Melt a tablespoon of butter, add six onions cut in slices, fry till slightly brown, put in casserole. Sear one and one-half or two pounds of steak from the round and cut in serving pieces, place in casserole also with salt, pepper and parsley, hot water to partly cover. Cook slowly until nearly tender. Add one cup of sliced potatoes which have been parboiled. Thicken the gravy and season after all is hot. Often peas or carrots are added.

BEEF CANNELON

2 lbs. ground beef	2 tsp. salt
Pepper	1 tsp. parsley
1 egg	2 tbsp. butter
Nutmeg	Onion juice

Make compact roll. Bake and baste in oiled paper in moderate oven forty-five minutes. Paper to be removed; serve with sauce and garnish.

HAMBURG STEAK A LA TARTARE

1 lb. ground steak	1 slice chopped onion
1 tsp. salt	Pepper

Season steak and make into balls with a depression in centre and cook partly in hot frying pan; then put an yolk in the centre of each and let them cook in hot oven. Serve with tomato or brown sauce if desired.

SPICED BEEF

Chop two pounds fresh beef, enough to fill four cups. Soak two slices bread, either toasted or plain in one and one-half cup of milk and add to the raw beef. Cut fine two slices fat salt pork and add to the beef, together with three even teaspoons salt and three even teaspoons Bell's seasoning. Place in a buttered pan. Cut a piece of butter the size of an egg in small pieces and distribute over the top. Bake from one to one and one-half hours.

LAMB CUTLETS A LA MANGE

Egg and crumb cutlets and mix grated cheese with the crumbs. Fry in butter and serve with rice border, if desired, and with tomato sauce. Can also be baked.

FILLETS OF BEEF, VIENNA STYLE

1½ lb. lean beef	1 tsp. parsley
3 tbsp. butter	1 tbsp. flour
3 onions	2 eggs
Salt, pepper, nutmeg	1 c. sauce (brown)

Chop, season and shape meat. Sauté onions and meat. Serve with onions and sauce.

GRENADINES

Cut a flank or round of steak into two-inch squares. Put in baking pan, dust with onion, parsley, celery, salt and pepper. Pour over it one pint strained tomato, blended with two tablespoons butter and two tablespoons flour. Bake in hot oven for thirty minutes.

LAMB CHOPS A LA CATALANE

Broil lamb chops which have been cut thick. When three-quarters cooked, remove from oven and coat; then bake ten minutes and serve on bed of boiled rice with garnish of vegetables.

COATING

½ c. tomato sauce	½ c. chopped ham
¼ c. bread crumbs	Seasoning

CHOPS EN PAPILOTTE

Finely chop whites of three hard-cooked eggs, force yolks through strainer, add three common crackers, rolled and sifted, three tablespoons melted butter, salt, pepper, onion juice and rich milk to make of spreading consistency. Cover chops (lamb or pork) thinly with mixture, wrap in buttered paper. Bake about twenty or thirty minutes in hot oven. Remove paper, serve at once.

LAMB CHOPS AU FIGARO

Season and sauté chops, and serve with gravy and heated vegetables; tomato, beans and peas usually used. Garnish. Browned potatoes can be prepared at the same time.

LAMB OR BEEF RECHAUFFE

In a saucepan melt half tumbler of crab or currant jelly, add one cup of rich milk and salt and pepper to taste. Thicken with one-quarter teaspoon of arrowroot, diluted with cold milk. Add slices of cold roast meat, and serve as soon as meat is thoroughly heated.

SAUTE FILLET OF LAMB

Remove bone from two pounds of lamb from fore quarter. Cut in strips one inch thick. Marinade with three tablespoons oil, three tablespoons vinegar, two-thirds teaspoon salt, half onion, one tablespoon parsley. Sauté in butter or broil.

LAMB STEW

3 lbs. flank	3 pts. cold water
½ c. rice	½ c. carrots, onions or turnips

Cook two hours without vegetables. Gather the fat, reheat, add vegetables, two tablespoons flour, seasonings.

DUMPLINGS

2 c. flour	½ tsp. salt
4 tsp. baking powder	2 tsp. butter
¾ c. milk (more if needed)

Cook ten to twelve minutes in the stew. Serve at once.

MARYLAND CHICKEN

Dress, clean and cut up a chicken. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dip in flour, egg and crumbs, place in well-greased dripping pan and bake in hot oven, basting after five minutes with one-third cup melted butter. Serve from plank with potatoes, white sauce and mushrooms.

VEAL LOAF

I

1 knuckle veal	1 lb lean veal
1 c. ham	Lemon juice
Nutmeg	Salt
Pepper	Onion
1 c. stock or more

Cook, chop, season, mould, garnish and press.

II

1½ lbs. finely chopped lean veal	¼ lb. finely chopped fat salt pork
½ c. bread or cracker crumbs	½ tsp. salt
½ tbsp. lemon juice	1 heaping tsp. Bell's seasoning

Pack in small bread pan, brush with slightly beaten white of egg, cover and bake in slow oven two and one-half hours. Baste three times with one tablespoon butter melted in one tablespoon hot water, and prick frequently. Remove loaf and pour off any fat. Chill, cut in thin slices, garnish with slices of hard-boiled egg and parsley.

CRUMBED PORK CUTLETS

Wipe, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dip in crumbs, egg and crumbs. Arrange in baking pan and bake, basting three times. Serve with Soubise sauce.

SALMON SURPRISE

Mix a beaten egg with four cups mashed potato and add other seasonings. Line a bread pan with this and fill with a large can of salmon, to which has been added one tablespoon Bell's seasoning, cover with potato. Bake forty-five minutes. Brush over the top with egg to brown it, if necessary.

BROILED LIVER

Cover with boiling water slices of liver cut one-half inch thick, let stand five minutes, drain, wipe and remove the outside skin and veins. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place in greased broiler; broil five minutes.

DELICIOUS PRESSED BEEF

Take a six-pound cut shin beef, wash thoroughly, cut in small pieces, place in kettle, half cover with cold water and cook slowly for five hours. Remove fat, gristle and bone. Chop fine, add two even teaspoons of Bell's seasoning, heaping teaspoon salt, and enough of the liquor to moisten well. Place in deep dish with heavy weight on it and cool. An onion cooked with the meat will add to the flavor.

BOBOTE

2 c. cold meat, chopped	½ c. bread crumbs
Celery, salt or curry powder	1 tsp. salt
4 tbsp. water	2 eggs
Cayenne

Butter dish, pour over one tablespoon lemon juice, add bobotee, bake thirty minutes. Add nuts if desired.

CECILS

2 c. cold chopped meat	1 tbsp. butter
2 yolks	Nutmeg
2 tbsp. crumbs	Pepper
Onion	Salt

Put all in frying pan, thoroughly heat, turn out to cool. When cold, form into balls. dip in egg and crumbs, and fry in deep fat. Serve with brown sauce.

MUTTON BALLS WITH RICE BORDER

Shoulder of mutton	2 tsp. salt
2 tsp. onion	Pepper
1 pt. tomato	Butter
Parsley or bay leaf

Chop mutton, having removed all the meat from the bone. Season. Form into balls twice the size of a walnut. Place in pan, pour on tomato (strained), add bits of butter. Bake thirty minutes. When done, dish the balls, add butter and salt, and make right consistency. Garnish if desired with rice (boiled) border.

BEEF STEAK A L'HENRIETTE

BROILED SWEETBREADS

Let the sweetbreads stand in cold water an hour, changing the water often. Then cover with boiling water and simmer half an hour, drain and let them again stand in cold water till ready to use. Cut in halves lengthwise, and place on a well oiled broiler and cook six or eight minutes, partly on each side. Serve at once with maître d'hotel butter and garnish of peas and toast.

MEAT SOUFFLE

- | | | | |
|-----------------------------|---|---------------|-------------------------|
| 1 | tblsp. butter | 1 | tblsp. flour |
| 1 | c. milk | $\frac{1}{3}$ | c. stale bread crumbs |
| Cook all three minutes. Add | | | |
| 1 | c. chopped meat (fowl is good, lamb is also satisfactory) | $\frac{1}{3}$ | tsp. Bell's seasoning |
| | | $\frac{1}{2}$ | tsp. salt |
| | | 2 | eggs, beaten separately |

Bake in buttered dish for thirty minutes. Serve with milk sauce.

TURKEY DRESSING

- | | | | |
|---------------|-------------------------|---------------|-------------------|
| | | I | |
| 1 | c. stale bread crumbs | 1 | c. cracker crumbs |
| 1 | tblsp. Bell's seasoning | 1 | tsp. salt |
| $\frac{1}{2}$ | tblsp. chopped onion | $\frac{1}{3}$ | c. butter |
| 1 | egg | 1 | c. cut celery |

About one and one-third cup of milk, or partly water can be used.

II

Toast seven or eight slices of white bread. Place in a deep dish, adding three tablespoons butter. Cover with hot water or milk to melt butter and make bread right consistency. Add one even tablespoon of Bell's seasoning and one even teaspoon salt. When well mixed, stir in one or two raw eggs. For goose or duck, add one raw onion chopped fine.

Meat and Fish Sauces

“The wise woman will have many sidelights in her composition; and in her kitchen, her sauces will have many shadings.”

Someone has said that if the cook can make perfect bread and a perfect sauce, all else will be satisfactory. Nothing is less tempting than a lumpy, poorly-seasoned sauce; and again many dishes, plain in themselves, will prove most appetizing with the “perfect sauce,” one suited to that particular dish.

The general sauce rule is two tablespoons of butter and two of flour with one cup of liquid. If a thin sauce is needed, use half that quantity butter and flour. Again, if a very thick sauce is desired, as for soufflé or croquette mixture, the quantity should be doubled.

Melt the butter and stir in the flour, then add gradually the liquid, heated, if a large amount, and time will be saved.

Vegetables

“The census tells us that there is nothing that pays better for the country than the vegetable garden.”

Vegetables require careful preparation, and the idea that anyone can boil potatoes is often proven untrue, to our disgust.

Summer vegetables ought to be used when as fresh as possible; but if to be kept, place in a cool ice chest or cellar. Green corn will keep on the shady side of the house, spread on the grass till the next day. Lettuce will keep best if washed and packed in an air-tight tin pail or rolled in a wet cloth and then in a brown paper and placed in the ice-box. The same applies to celery and parsley.

Winter vegetables must be kept in a dry, cold cellar, and while potatoes can be piled in bins, always spread the squashes out.

Use great care in the washing and cleaning of vegetables and always take cold water for this, then cook thoroughly in boiling water, and in almost every case use a teaspoon of salt to each quart of water.

As soon as canned goods are open, all should be removed from the can and given an hour in the open air to re-oxygenate before using, for the best results.

A little soda will not change the flavor and will, in the green vegetables, help to keep the color, and often it is better to cook them uncovered for this same reason.

Bake forty minutes, basting occasionally with one cup liquid from the pan.

E g g s

“Fancy work in the kitchen pays better dividends than fancy work in the parlor.”—Keen.

A typical or perfect food is one that contains all the elements, in the right proportion, needed to nourish and support the human body. Of these foods we find only two: milk and eggs. Because of their concentrated nutritive value, they are, at even a high price, an economical food product and one to be used to advantage in innumerable combinations.

The albumen, or white of the egg, is more digestible when cooked at a temperature below the boiling point, therefore the hard-cooked egg rather than the hard-boiled egg is recommended.

OMELET

1 egg	$\frac{1}{8}$ tsp. salt
1 tbsp. milk	Speck of pepper
$\frac{1}{2}$ tbsp. butter

To beaten yolk add seasoning and milk. Cut into stiff whites. Cook in one-egg omelet pan till firm. Place in oven to set the top. Fold and serve at once.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. cooked ham*

Beat egg separately, ham added chopped and part of stiff white reserved for centre before folding. serve with golden rod sauce if desired

Entrees

“ It is not so much the rate of speed in movement as the ability to make each motion tell.”

The Entrée is served as a side dish at a dinner or between the regular courses. Many housekeepers think an entrée takes expensive material and a good deal of time for the food value to be received in return. If, as in all our work, we cultivate the ability to make each motion tell, we will find a store-house in the entrée dishes—not only practical for the course dinner, but luncheon and supper suggestions innumerable.

Meat, fish, eggs, vegetables and fruit form the foundation of many of the recipes; and these are one of the secrets of the French cook in the dainty use of the so-called “left-over.”

This jelly can be used as the foundation for many jelly salads, for moulded meats or fish in which the cooked meat or fish is added to the jelly as it hardens—a layer of jelly, then of meat, thinly sliced or in large quantity. It is attractive on the table, taken from the mould in perfect shape and sliced, cutting through the jelly and the meat or fish, as the case may be.

Salads

“ To make it one must have a spark of genius.”

The dainty appearance of the salad together with its refreshing and stimulating qualities has made it popular regardless of the fact that it contains little nutritive value in many instances.

Meat, fish, vegetables or fruits are used with a green and a dressing. Lettuce, watercress, romaine, endive and chicory are now used and are obtainable at all seasons in the large markets.

Breads

“ Back of the loaf is the snowy flour,
And back of the flour, the mill ;
And back of the mill is the wheat and the shower,
And the sun and the Father’s will.”

— Babcock.

In all cookery there is nothing containing more simple ingredients and at the same time nothing in which there is more complicated chemical changes than bread, “ the staff of life.” Yeast is a form of plant life, the most simple, and yet it must be given soil, moisture, heat and time, and it will then grow. Bread flour (the spring wheat) gives best results with yeast, and the pastry flour (or winter wheat) should be used, generally speaking, when yeast is not called for in the recipe. Milk or water can be used for the moisture and equal parts give satisfaction. A milk bread is a little richer, but will dry sooner than a water bread and it is also a little slower to rise. Salt and sugar as well as some fat or shortening are always added. It must be remembered the yeast will be killed at 212 deg. Fahr., and all liquids ought to be only lukewarm, thus purified and still in good condition to receive the yeast and help the action of the yeast plant. Mix all the dry ingredients and add the liquids, or reverse the order, and to the liquids add the dry ingredients with equally good results. Bread should be thoroughly mixed at first to distribute the yeast throughout the dough, and after it has doubled its bulk, a careful kneading is recommended to evenly distribute the carbon dioxide and break the bubbles. Always cover the dough to avoid having a crust form and also avoid drafts, but keep it in an even temperature, about 75 deg. Fahr. For a batter, one should use equal parts of flour and liquid ; for a muffin mixture, allow two parts of flour to one of liquid; for a bread dough, it is three parts of flour to one of liquid, while a stiff dough, for example, cookies or doughnuts, takes four parts of flour to one of the liquid. After the kneading and shaping, the dough must a second time be given opportunity to double its bulk and then be baked.

Often a sponge is made, especially in recipes for the fancy breads it is called for and then part of the flour is added, and after the "sponge" has had a chance to rise, the rest is added and in this way a third opportunity is given the dough to rise and a fine grain bread results.

Bread in itself is not a "perfect" or typical food, as it lacks the fats, and thence the use of butter in serving, and bread and butter is almost a "perfect" food.

WHITE WHEAT BREAD

Put two tablespoons of lard or butter, two tablespoons of sugar and two teaspoons of salt into a bowl, and pour over one cup of scalded milk and one cup of boiling water. When lukewarm add one-fourth yeast cake dissolved in one fourth cup lukewarm water and four cups flour. Mix thoroughly and add two cups of flour, knead until smooth. Let rise until mixture has doubled its bulk, knead again, shape into loaves, let rise in pans and bake about forty-five minutes in moderate oven.

HOT CROSS BUNS

Scald one cup milk, when lukewarm add one tablespoon of sugar and one yeast cake broken in pieces. Let stand twenty minutes, then add one cup of flour and two-thirds teaspoon of salt, cover and let rise. Cream one-fourth cup butter mixed with one tablespoon of lard, add one-fourth cup of sugar and the grated rind of half a lemon. Stir this mixture into sponge and add sufficient flour to make a stiff batter; again let rise, then add one half cup of raisins or currants, and flour to make a soft dough. Let rise, shape, rise again, brush over with egg, bake. Frosting for a cross on each.

Sandwiches

“Hunger is the best seasoning.”—Cicero.

For the lunch, the picnic and reception often there is nothing to quite take the place of the sandwich. The bread to be thus used should be at least twenty-four hours old and cut in thin slices with the crusts removed. The butter will spread to the best advantage if it is well creamed, as for cake, and this is preferable to melting it. Always season the filling tastily and cut in any desired shape. The sandwich is attractive and nutritious.

LUNCHEON SANDWICHES or NOISETTE SANDWICHES

With nut bread and currant jelly, jams or marmalades make fancy sandwiches.

SARDINE SANDWICHES

Use small sardines, wipe them, $\frac{1}{2}$ sprinkle with shredded lettuce, season with salt, pepper and lemon.

BRUNSWICK SANDWICHES

Make four or five layers of sandwich bread and filling, using alternately chopped ham and creamed cheese and pickles. Press and cut.

CREAMED CHICKEN SANDWICHES

$\frac{3}{4}$ c. chicken	$\frac{1}{4}$ c. celery if desired
1 c. milk	1 small boiled onion
3 tbsp. flour	2 tbsp. butter

Cook till thick, add two stiff whites, salt, pepper and lemon juice to taste. Turn into mould, first dipped in cold water. Let stand twelve hours, and use between buttered bread.

RIBBON SANDWICHES

Brown and white bread, marmalade, butter. Alternate breads and fillings, using five to seven slices. Cut off strips one inch wide.

MOSAIC SANDWICH

Cut four slices of white and five of graham bread, one-half inch in thickness, spread with creamed cheese, a slice of white, place on it a slice of graham, spread with cheese and nuts or olives, place on it a slice of white and repeat process, twice using graham, white or graham three times. Place under weight. After a while combine the three and press again before cutting.

RECEPTION SANDWICHES

Figs	Dates
Bread	Nuts
Butter	.

Remove stems from figs and stones from the dates, chop, cook in double boiler with small quantity of water till paste is formed, cool, spread on buttered bread, sprinkle with finely chopped peanuts if desired. Cover with bread, cut.

SANDWICH ROLLS

Remove crusts, spread with marmalade or sweet filling. Roll each like little jelly roll.

CLUB SANDWICH

Arrange on slices of toast cold chicken, fried bacon, sliced tomato and lettuce, add salad dressing with the chicken if desired. Cover with toast.

SALAD ROLLS

Cut a slit in a long finger roll, stuff with salmon, shrimp or any meat suitable for salads which has been seasoned with salad dressing. Garnish with ground parsley.

Cakes

“If you would make good cake,
Let patience fill a measure full;
Deal muscle with unsparing hand,
And strew through all full
Many a grain of common sense.”

All our cake mixtures can be divided into two classes. With butter: the butter cakes, so-called Without butter: the sponge cakes, properly speaking. Good materials, proper measurements, careful mixing and even baking are every one essential to success.

The general butter cake rule of mixing is to first cream the butter (do not melt it); then gradually add the sugar, next the beaten yolks, then the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the milk; lastly, the stiff whites and flavoring. Everything ought to be ready before the mixing is commenced, and it is better to add the milk as suggested, and thus avoid any separation of the butter and sugar in order to have a fine grain cake. In mixing a sponge cake, one generally adds the sugar to the beaten yolks, then the stiff whites, and lastly the dry ingredients and flavoring. Too much flour gives a heavy cake; too much butter often causes a cake to fall, and coarse sugar makes a heavy cake.

Often it is wise for the inexperienced worker to use baking powder (a pure make) and thus have to measure two teaspoons, for example, whereas to get the same results with soda and cream of tartar, probably one of cream of tartar and one-half teaspoon of soda would be needed. The measuring of the half and quarter of a spoonful is often carelessly done, and then we wonder why the results are unsatisfactory. Some claim that a cake with baking powder will dry quicker, and nowadays we find that good results are obtained by using some of the commercially prepared flours in our cakes as well as in biscuits.

SPONGE CAKE

5 eggs (6 if small)	1 c. sugar
$\frac{1}{2}$ lemon, rind and juice	1 c. flour
$\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. salt

Beat yolks, add sugar, lemon, salt, then whites stiffly beaten, and, lastly, sifted flour. Bake for sponge cakes, drops or jelly roll.

Properly speaking sponge cake has many eggs and no baking powder; but when we consider that butter and milk are not required, the expense is often not more than for other cakes.

HOT WATER SPONGE CAKE

4 eggs	2 c. sugar
2 c. bread flour	2 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. lemon	$\frac{2}{3}$ c. boiling water

To stiff whites add yolks, sugar, lemon, flour and baking powder, and last the water. Two loaves.

FOUNDATION CAKE

$\frac{1}{2}$ c. butter	1 c. milk
2 c. sugar	3 c. flour
4 eggs	3 tbsp. baking powder

Flavoring

Cookies and Doughnuts

Luncheon for the children or the dinner to be carried calls for the cookies and doughnuts. Many housekeepers now use the drop cookies, as time is saved in the preparation, and recipes for both the drop and the rolled cookies are given. Many of the rich cookies are a pleasant change if used sometimes on the table instead of cake.

SPRINGFIELD COOKIES

1½ c. sugar	1 c butter
3 eggs	½ tsp. soda
1 tsp. cream of tartar	Flour to roll

Roll very thin and sprinkle on the top sugar before baking, also almonds, chopped finely if desired.

NUT COOKIES

½ c. butter	½ tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. clove	¼ tsp. nutmeg
1 egg	2 tbsp lemon juice
⅓ c. nuts	½ c. sugar
2 c. flour

Cream butter, add egg, nuts and dry ingredients. Toss on board, roll, cut and bake.

HERMITS

2 eggs	½ c. butter
1 c. sugar	¼ tsp soda
3 c flour	½ c. raisins

Pastry

“Who will dare to deny the truth, there is poetry in pie?”

—Longfellow.

The plain and the puff paste are much used, and although the pie is not served as in olden days, pastry is used in most households in some ways. “There is a best way to do the worst things,” and so even if pastry is hard to digest, it ought to be carefully made with the best materials; then the average person can eat it in moderation without ill effects.

To make puff paste, one ought to see it done and have experience; but for many dainties, the plain paste, made with some lard and some butter, is a satisfactory recipe to follow

A cool room, cool utensils and materials are necessary for the best results, and then the cold product of the mixing will be expanded by the intense heat of the oven. This is going to give the flaky and ungreasy pastry.

Hot Desserts

“ Bread, men say, is the staff of life,
 But they will oft concede
 That were it not for our dainty desserts,
 The staff would be heavy indeed ”

The hot dessert is usually a pudding and the means of cooking varies—baked or steamed in the majority of recipes. With the following puddings, too, one will find in many cases a sauce is necessary, and as in our meat sauces, so in the pudding sauces: use care, that the result may be smooth, well flavored, and suited to the particular dish with which it is served.

Frozen Dishes

“All the labor of man is for his mouth, and yet the appetite is not filled.”

This subject can be divided into three classes: the ice creams, made with cream or milk and frozen with motion; the parfait, mousse or glacé, frozen by packing in ice and salt; and the sherbet, frappé and punch, water ices, frozen with motion again

Sometimes a combination is used and another name still given to the result.

Two things are necessary to insure success: the careful crushing of the ice and the use of the proper proportion of coarse rock salt and ice.

Three measures of ice to one of salt for ice creams, two of ice to one of salt for mousses, and one of ice to one of salt for a frappé is a good rule. The sherbet should be firm and so takes the proportion that the ice cream does, and in repacking or packing down a mixture of any kind, less salt is needed than this rule suggests.

In freezing, turn the crank until it turns with a great difficulty, then open and remove the dasher, stir the cream from the sides of the can and mix all smoothly. Close the can with brown paper under the cover if desired and put a cork in the cover, draw off the brine, add fresh salt and ice, to cover the top and place over all an old piece of carpet or burlap bag. After two or three hours it is ready to serve.

ORANGE FRAPPE

$\frac{3}{4}$ c. sugar	3 c. water
1 c. orange juice
Freeze.

PHILADELPHIA ICE CREAM

- 1 qt. thin cream $\frac{3}{4}$ c. sugar
 1 tbsp. vanilla

Mix and freeze.

STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM

- 2 qts. thin cream 1 pt. strawberry preserve
 $1\frac{1}{2}$ c. sugar

Mix sugar and cream, freeze till a mush. Add fruit, continue freezing. Pack and let it stand about three or four hours before serving. Garnish as desired.

VANILLA ICE CREAM

- 3 pts. milk 2 eggs
 1 tbsp. flour $1\frac{3}{4}$ c. sugar
 1 tbsp. vanilla

Cook as soft custard and cool, then freeze.

BANANA ICE CREAM

Peel four or six ripe bananas and rub the pulp through a purée strainer and add to either recipe for vanilla ice cream, omitting half of the vanilla

COFFEE ICE CREAM

To the recipe above add one-half cup of strong, clear coffee in place of the vanilla.

CARAMEL ICE CREAM

- 1 qt. thin cream 2 c. milk
 $1\frac{1}{3}$ c. sugar 1 egg
 1 tbsp. flour 1 tbsp. vanilla

Make as vanilla cream above and use half of the sugar in the custard and caramelize the rest and add slowly to the hot custard. This is a combination of the Philadelphia and custard cream and can be used with many flavors.

GINGER ICE CREAM

Follow the recipe of the vanilla cream and in place of half the vanilla called for, add one-half cup of Canton ginger, cut in small pieces. Add when two thirds frozen.

MAPLE PARFAIT

Beat four eggs, pour on slowly one cup of hot maple syrup. Cook over water till thick, stirring constantly. Strain and cool. Add one pint of thick cream, stiffly whipped, and mould for three hours.

SILVER PARFAIT

1 c. sugar	1 c. water
3 stiff whites	1 pt. thick cream
1 tbsp. vanilla

Make a sugar syrup and follow above recipe. Mould for three or four hours.

CHOCOLATE MOUSSE

1. pt. thick cream	$\frac{3}{4}$ c. confectioners' sugar

COFFEE MOUSSE

1 pt. thick cream	1 c. clear coffee
$\frac{1}{2}$ c. confectioners' sugar	• $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. salt

Beat cream and combine, mould four hours, Grape juice or any fruit juice can take the place of the coffee to vary the recipe.

COUP SUZANNE

Half fill glasses with rich vanilla ice cream, add apricots which have been cooked in syrup or kurnquats. Cover with ice cream and garnish.

CRANBERRY PUNCH

One quart cranberries and one pint water cooked five to eight minutes. Strain, add two cups sugar, juice of one lemon and cool. Freeze as sherbet. Serve in glasses.

PEACH SHERBET

- | | |
|-------------------|------------------|
| 1 qt. peach juice | 2 c. sugar |
| 1 qt. water | Juice of 1 lemon |
| 2 egg whites | |

Mix and freeze.

BISCUIT PRINCESS

Ice cream colored and flavored with strawberry

- | | |
|-------------------------------|-------------------------|
| Cherries | $\frac{2}{3}$ c. sugar |
| $\frac{1}{4}$ c. water | 4 yolks |
| 1 tbsp. vanilla | $\frac{1}{8}$ tsp. salt |
| $1\frac{1}{2}$ c. heavy cream | |

Boil sugar and water till it threads, pour onto broken yolks, cook till it thickens, beat till cold. Flavor and add stiff cream. Line melon mould with ice cream, fill with this parfait mixture and cherries. Cover with buttered paper, pack and let stand several hours.

ANGEL PARFAIT

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1 tsp. Knox gelatine | 2 tbsp. cold water |
| 2 egg whites, beaten dry | $\frac{1}{2}$ c. French fruit, cut fine |
| $1\frac{1}{2}$ c. double cream, beaten light | $\frac{1}{2}$ c. granulated sugar |
| 3 tbsp. wine or thick syrup | $\frac{1}{2}$ c. water |

Soak the gelatine in the cold water five minutes or longer. Boil the sugar and half cup of water to the soft ball degree (as in making boiled frosting), pour in a fine stream onto the whites of eggs, beating constantly meanwhile, add the gelatine, stir over cold or ice water until the mixture is cold and begins to set, then fold in the cream, the fruit and the flavoring. The fruit will be softer if soaked in the wine or syrup some hours or over night. Turn into a quart mould, lined with paper, cover securely and let stand in equal measures of ice and salt about three hours.

PARFAIT A LA CARLOS

$\frac{1}{4}$ box Knox gelatine	$\frac{1}{4}$ c. cold water
3 eggs	1 pt. cream
1 c. sugar	1 c. strong coffee

Soak the gelatine in the cold water. Make a syrup of the coffee and sugar; in this, cook the beaten yolks of eggs until the mixture thickens; add the gelatine, stir until cold. When cold, add cream which has been whipped. Freeze and serve in parfait glasses, putting over the top the beaten whites of eggs or a little whipped cream, and decorate with candied cherries.

Beverages

“Drink down all unkindness.”—Shakespeare.

STUFFED CHERRIES

Soak cherries, cut in halves, and stuff with fondant and nut or roll in fondant.

FRENCH PRUNES

Soak prunes, remove stones and stuff with fondant and nut meats. Roll in granulated sugar.

STEAMED FIGS

Steam till soft, cool and make lengthwise incision. Fill with marshmallow and nut meats. Serve in fancy paper cases if desired.

CHOCOLATE STICKS

Cover strips of bread with melted chocolate and nuts. Cool an hour. Serve with chocolate.

TURKISH DELIGHT

1 box Knox gelatine	1 lemon
1 large juicy orange	1 lb. granulated sugar

Soak the gelatine in two-thirds cup of cold water for five minutes. Put sugar on stove in two-thirds cup of cold water, and when it comes to a boiling point add the gelatine. Boil slowly but steadily twenty minutes, add the grated rind and juice of the orange and the juice of the lemon (there should be one-half large cup of fruit juice). Wet tin with cold water and pour in the mixture to the depth of one inch. When firmly set immerse mould in warm water, turn out and cut in cubes and roll in confectioners' sugar to which has been added a teaspoon of cornstarch. Vary by using different fruit juices, flavorings and colorings.

Invalid Cookery and Diets

In preparing food for a patient or convalescent, the attending physician's advice ought to be asked and his suggestions carefully followed. Always have the dishes well-cooked and the food daintily served; and these points cannot be over-estimated. It is now recognized that "the proper selection of food, both solid and fluid, is of as much importance as the use of medicaments." Because less exercise is taken, easily-digested food must be given, and small quantities given often are preferred to a large amount or to a variety of kinds only three times a day, as would be allowed with the well person.

Fresh bread, fried foods, fatty meats and pork, liquors, lobsters, candies, sausages, spices, pastry, potted and preserved meats, or fish are to be avoided in almost every case. Broths, soft cooked eggs, gruels, milk, toasts, jellies, custards, fruits and chicken can be used, with some exceptions. Baked potatoes are more easily digested than boiled ones, baked apples than raw ones, graham or entire wheat rather than white bread, and broiled or baked meats and fish rather than other kinds.

In fevers and kidney troubles, the milk diet is often recommended, and gruels, junket puddings, blanchmanges, cream toasts, buttermilk, rice-milk, peptonized milk, albuminized milk, kumyss, nogs, and simple cream soups are variations.

The value of buttermilk is realized more than ever, and the buttermilk tablets make it practical for those not able to purchase fresh buttermilk. With these tablets one can follow the simple directions, and with the fresh milk and the tablet make the buttermilk which contains just what the diseased body needs in many cases.

In diabetes, all sugar and starch ought to be avoided, and this is also true in cases of rheumatism, in which disease all red meats, too, are often forbidden. In cases of nervous disorders and stomach troubles, the dietary should be simple and nutritious: lettuce, green edibles, simple fruits, grape juice, malted milk and meat juices are suggested, and starches ought to be discarded. Oranges and strawberries are two fruits often to be avoided in such a case.

Of the red meats, broiled steak, or only the juice, and the lamb chop, also broiled, are to be first considered; and white fish is always preferred to the salmon or mackerel, for example.

Coffee and tea must often be given up by a patient.

These few general suggestions are only to aid one in the case of the convalescent, or give a little help when we wish to think of a dainty to send to a neighbor, perhaps just free from the doctor's care, able to eat many things that are easily digested and with an appetite still needing a great amount of coaxing, that nutritious food may be taken and strength gained.

Marketing Hints

Proper provisions are absolutely necessary for the best results in our cooking, and in this branch is the first source of true economy. In perishable supplies quantities are not practical, and as some one has truly said, we must buy our experience first.

In choosing fish, if the eye is bright, the flesh firm and the smell sweet, we know that the fish is fresh.

In buying meats, consider the use and do not pay a good price for fat and bones, although these add to the flavor and are to be considered to a reasonable extent, and in beef a certain amount of fat mixed with the muscle gives the best flavor

The ripeness of fruits and vegetables depends entirely on the time before their use

In the different cuts of beef one finds the greatest variety, and it ought to be remembered that in the forequarter are the five prime ribs, the five chucks, both for roasts and the first mentioned the most desirable; in fact the chucks are better for small steaks and stews. The neck and sticking piece for mincemeat, the rattle-rand and brisket for corning, and the shin for soup stock are all in this quarter. In the hind quarter are four divisions: the flank for corning, the round, the rump and the loin. The top of the round makes fair steaks, the bottom a cut for boiling, and the aitchbone a cut for a cheap roast and for stews. In the rump, both the face and back give good roasts and steaks, and the loin gives us the sirloin and the tenderloin. The tip of the sirloin is an excellent small roast, and in the first cut of the sirloin is some tenderloin, and both the first and second cuts are for roasts and steaks. In the sirloin roasts and steaks one pays for some bone, but for it gets a better flavor than in the rump often.

Table Setting and Serving

“ All human history attests
That happiness for man—the hungry sinner,
Since Eve ate apples, much depends on dinner.”

—Byron.

In the average home of today the dinner consists of three courses, and if well prepared and neatly served, guests will enjoy such a meal; and still there will be occasions when a more elaborate dinner is to be served, and the following suggestions may help at these times.

Five, eight or even more courses are used, and for the first, the canapé; clams or oysters are suitable; the soup next, then a fish course, a salad, the dessert, and lastly the cheese and coffee. An entrée can be served before both the fish and meat courses, or in one of these places, and a punch just before the meat, especially if game is served, and often two desserts—a pudding and then a frozen dish. The side dishes decrease as the number of courses increases.

Understanding that the menu is chosen and that its preparation is not to be considered in this chapter, we next refer to the careful ordering, the second thing to ensure success if the dinner, or whatever the meal, is to be smoothly and consistently served. Often a person fails in this one point, and an extra dish here and the lack of a glass there, or silver placed at an angle of forty-five degrees, are defects which present themselves readily and cause confusion to detract from a well-composed menu or the most appetizing combination of viands.

These general rules should be followed as closely as circumstances and conditions will allow. Always use a silence cloth, a cotton blanket is an inexpensive and quite satisfactory one; then place the middle of a carefully ironed tablecloth over this in exactly the middle of the table, and all the sides and ends are sure to be true and equal. For every meal have some simple centrepiece, a simple doyley and a small fern will help to supply this need when neither the wild or the cut flowers can be obtained. Allow about eighteen inches for each "cover" or place, and directly in front of the chair place, an inch from the edge of the table, the service plate, at the right of this the knives needed and at the left the forks. The spoons are placed at the right of the knives, or if there is much silver to be used and limited space, the spoons can be put in front of the plate, with the handles toward the right. The general rule is to place the silver so that it can be taken one piece at a time from the outside as needed. The oyster fork and the spoon for the soup are two exceptions and are often at the right. Place the silver on either side of the plates at right angles with the edge of the table. The napkin ought to be placed at the left, just beyond the forks, with the corner of single points in the lower right hand corner. At the point of the knives place the tumbler, and at the point of the forks, the butter plate or bread and butter plate, as the case may be. The service plate is removed with the soup plate, or after the first hot course, and all dishes should be put on at the right and removed from the left, unless it is expected that the one served is to help himself, in which case the dish is offered from the left, that the right hand can be easily used to reach the tray. When a person has eaten all that is desired of a course, the silver should be placed across the plate, about in the middle and parallel, if both the knife and fork are to be removed.

When, at a luncheon, a fruit course is to be served last, the fruit plate, with a doyley, finger-bowl and fruit knife and spoon, may be placed in front of the guest, and then the doyley and finger-bowl should be slipped off by the guest and placed to the left, and is ready for use later.

Nuts, olives and radishes can be offered during the courses and accepted, as one may wish. Flowers are placed often in front of each cover or across the napkin before the dinner is announced, and a single flower for the gentleman and more for the lady, and the place card and favors should be in front of the plate, as fancy indicates.

The amount of so-called "agony" varies with each family, but one ought to always be considerate, thoughtful and polite, and apply "style" according to conditions, and in the home have true family enjoyment and comfort at meal times.

THE VULCAN TOASTER

The Unperforated Strip Prevents Burning

Can be used on any kind of a stove. Four slices of bread can be toasted at one time. The finished toast is positively free of all foreign and disagreeable tastes, as the bread never comes directly in contact with the flame. Tea or coffee may be prepared on the top of the Toaster without interfering with the toasting. Four slices of bread can be toasted in two minutes. The outside of the slice is toasted evenly from edge to edge—a delicious golden brown. While the outside is crisp and snappy, the inside of the slice is as soft and palatable as a freshly-baked biscuit. Owing to the use of the square radiator, obnoxious gases and products of combustion are prevented coming in contact with the bread. For this reason, the Vulcan is the only Toaster upon which the finished toast is free of all foreign tastes.

No. 115 VULCAN CAKE GRIDDLE

The only Griddle on which it is possible to prepare perfect pancakes over the flame of a gas range or hot plate. Four cakes can be cooked at one time; browns the cakes evenly and quickly. The ordinary Griddle cannot be used on a gas range or hot plate, as the heat produced is concentrated within a limited area. With the ordinary Griddle, the cakes nearest the centre burn, while those further removed cook very slowly. The heat deflector in the Vulcan Cake Griddle distributes the flame. Openings provided near the top draw the flame upwards, equally distributing the heat over the entire cooking top. Cakes cook equally as well at the extreme edge of the griddle as at the centre. Diameter of griddle, 11 inches; depth, 2½ inches.

Save Fuel, Time, Strength By Using "WEAR-EVER" Aluminum Utensils

"Wear-Ever" Aluminum Cooking Utensils are not only light in weight, dainty, clean, delightful to use, non-poisonous and durable, but they also save fuel, because, in aluminum, the heat quickly spreads—spreads to every part of the utensil, and also, when heated, only a moderate fire is needed to keep them hot. Thus used, "Wear-Ever" Utensils do not scorch, and the saving in gas and coal bills is considerable—you can put the difference into better food.

Time is saved because it is not necessary to stir food continually in order to have it cook nicely in "Wear-Ever" Aluminum Utensils. Strength is saved because Aluminum is at least one-third lighter than any other metal used in manufacturing cooking utensils.

Then, too, no metallic poisoning is possible if aluminum ware is used; whereas there is danger of poisoning from copper, brass or plated ware. There is no enamel to chip off in the food nor to leave a place in the bottom of the utensil which will burn the food readily.

"Wear-Ever" Aluminum Utensils do not corrode or become rusty. They are as near indestructible as any utensils can be, for they are solid metal throughout.

Heat evenly applied is necessary to perfect cookery. Aluminum so absorbs and holds heat that it produces even heat and therefore the best results in the cooking of foods that contain milk and eggs.

"Wear-Ever" Utensils insure the even temperature of food being cooked and the even "temper" of the person doing the cooking.

It is not an unusual thing nowadays to see bright, shiny cooking utensils in some kitchen that look as if they had been bought the day before, but which have been in daily service for nine years.

The same utensils in tin plate or enamel would—well you know just about how they would look if they were to be found at all in a kitchen.

"Wear-Ever" Aluminum Utensils are not expensive. Their first cost is not much greater than that of good grade enamel utensils, and when the fact that they will last a lifetime is considered, they are by far the cheapest utensils on the market.

Utensils bearing the "Wear-Ever" trade-mark are made by the makers of the metal—they are made to give satisfaction for a lifetime. Always look for the trade-mark.

PURI-TAN-ATED
BRAND COFFEE

Remember
The Name

THEY SWEAR BY IT

The girl behind the stove endorses "Puri-tan-ated" coffee. Where it is used no fault is found. "Puri-tan-ated" is pure, genuine coffee. It has been cleansed and purified by the removal of the bitter-tasting, cellulose tissue, which contains a form of poisonous tannic acid. It can be cooked enough to get all the coffee goodness out of the berry, because there are no obnoxious elements to detract from the coffee flavor. The brew made from "Pui-tan-ated" is as good warmed over the next day as when freshly prepared.
