Quite by chance, I have just discovered POAS' real identity.

He is Alfons SASSEN, a member of the notorious Dutch SS family.

His father, Wolf SASSEN, was NSB burgomaster of VEGHEL, and was mixed up with SS Standarte Kurt EGGERD and with the agent runner Hstuf PROEBSTING of Abt III (SD) Utrecht.

His elder brother, Wim S. was also mixed up with PROEBSTING and is said to have belonged to a sabotage group.

Some months before the capitulation, Alfons S. began passing information on FAT 365 to HLESTRA, who at one time was certainly considering running him. I do not know whether this is still his intention; certainly Alfons is now in gaol.

The father and elder brother have also been arrested, as has PROEBSTING.

Final evaluation of the FENS case has been awaiting receipt of "true" story referred to in para 4 of the above letter. Meanwhile we have received from Section V the attached report and it is not clear whether you have this information or not. The whole case seems now more confused than ever and judgment will be suspended until the interrogation reports on FENS and PROBSTING are received. It is worth while noting, however, that PROBSTING is now definitely established as a III B officer.

This is of interest in view of the recent revelations regarding the III B underground movement. But with dates, names and functions at present so confused it is impossible to say whether there is any connection. We await further reports with interest.

1. ... F-PROEBSTING, Hellmut XANZ-2644

PROEBSTING 2

5. In Jul 44 PROEBSTING opened a subsidiary Dienststelle at Mallegat 37, 38 and 39a, UTRECHT, from where he conducted the observation of the H.S.B. through his second in c, Oskar BERGENS and other members of his staff. PROEBSTING himself dealt with the other aspects of IIIb and remained at Plein 1, THE HAGUE until 17.8.44, when he too moved to UTRECHT owing to the threatening military situation.
6. Shortly after his return to UTRECHT, Stubar FAHRENHOLZ, who had replaced Oskar KNOLLE as chief of III a, b, c and d in THE HAGUE in Jun 44, told PROEBSTING to recruit and send out suitable agents, or even his own Dutch personnel to BR. BANT for III and VI information, saying, "Wenn die Nachrichtendienst nicht macht, so soll III sie etc. machen".
7. Apparently, Hstuf AHRENS, who had been appointed head of Ref VI in 43, thus taking this dept. out of the hands of KNOLLE, had been anything but successful. Ref III should have been supplied with information about Allied occupied Holland by AHRENS, but in fact no such thing happened. In the opinion of PROEBSTING there is, therefore, no doubt that SCHOENGARTH was far from satisfied with AHRENS' efforts to say the least. Furthermore, PROEBSTING was considered to be in a far better geographical position for espionage work than AHRENS, who so far as the former was able to gather, had established himself in ENSCHEDE against SCHOENGARTH's wishes. Hence PROEBSTING's new assignment from SCHOENGARTH via his own chief, FAHRENHOLZ.

Lilian SMITH

8. Until she "rolled up" early in Nov 44, no one who could have been termed a suitable person to send on a mission to BR. BANT came across PROEBSTING's path. Not that he regarded SMITH as suitable, on the contrary he was highly suspicious of her and was, as he still is, certain in his own mind that she was a British or Underground agent sent to penetrate his organisation. The circumstances of her coming and the way in which she presented her services to Germany all because she was in love with a German S.S. man who had been posted, were very curious.
9. None the less an English girl with a beautiful Br. passport and a father somewhere in Allied territory was not entirely without interest in PROEBSTING's calculated mind. He wanted to weigh up the pros and cons of sending her across the lines on a mission with his chief FAHRENHOLZ, but the latter was immediately so "begeistert" that he waved all arguments against and said, "Mensch, geb' ihr nur 'nen Auftrag und schick' sie bloß darüber - los! Wir brauchen Nachrichten."

10. PROEBSTING

PROBSTING 6

10. PROBSTING admits sending SMITH off with the mission described in report 0039, in fact he claims to have also told her to:- (i) generally keep her eyes and ears open (ii) take note of the contents of public notices (iii) read newspapers and if possible bring them back (iv) ascertain public opinion regarding economic, political and religious affairs and events (v) impart his opinion as to the uselessness of two sister nations like Great Britain and Germany, whose natural impulse and course surely should be to join hands against Bolshevism, to continue to slaughter one another. He however maintains the nearer the time of her departure drew, the more convinced he became that the chances of her return were negligible if at all existent. In fact he finally decided to take away SMITH's beautiful passport, which in any event was of considerable interest to Berlin and at least something concrete as opposed to the hazy prospect of her return. Guardedly he made himself master of the little girl's treasured document without her knowledge, though he knew this would dash away the already minimum possibility of her return to roost with information, which at the bottom of his "heart" he hoped for none the less.

11. PROBSTING handed SMITH's passport to AHRENS for transmission to Berlin. When he informed FAHRENHOLZ of the action taken in holding SMITH's passport, the latter was in full accord. The "Schleusung" arrangements were made with and carried out by a Ltnt of the I.c of 711 Div. at GAMEREN, after consulting the I.c of A.O.K. 25, Oberstltnt MEYER and the I.c of 88 Korps, Major Dr. SCHWARZE, respectively. As far as PROBSTING knows the Wehrmacht did not give SMITH an additional mission. L'affaire SMITH does not appear to be a subject PROBSTING gladly thinks back upon.

II. FRONTAUFLEHRUNG UND PANZERJAGDKDO PROBSTING

12. Early March 45 PROBSTING received orders from SCHOFENGARTH via ISPERT to switch over his IIIb Kdo to Frontaufklärung and Panzerjagd. This process was necessarily a gradual one, as it was left to PROBSTING himself, who was totally uninitiated in this type of work, to get going with a training programme and so on.

13. He and BIEHLER had Panzerfaustausbildung from a Wehrmacht unit in UTRECHT, whereas some of his remaining personnel, consisting of FRISCH, LENCZEL, VAN BUNTK, FROELICH, VAN DER ENN, DE WILS and MERTKE underwent a certain amount of training at Kdo FUCHS in AMERSFOORT. PROBSTING obtained a few charts with totems for the benefit of his men from Ritmeister Graf BERESDORF (F) I.c 55 Korps.

14. Meanwhile

PROEBSTING 47

14. Meanwhile, FRANKOLZ did not want him to drop THIB back altogether and still hoped to be informed of any points of interest he might come across in that connection. ISPERT was in agreement with this and THIB DEN COUARD, who was completely unavailable for Frontaufklärung and/or Panzerjagd, carried on in this field.
15. PROEBSTING explains there were two similar Kdos, FUCHS (see R 003/1 and 2) and HAKKENBERG (see R 001/1, 2 and 3), who had immediate task, like his own, was Frontaufklärung. In fact all three operated as Frontaufklärungstruppe, as their Panzerjagd assignment was reserved for such time as the Allies might break through the Grebbe Line, which never occurred owing to the capitulation.
16. The three Kdos, FUCHS, HAKKENBERG and PROEBSTING, were subordinated to ISPERT (DIENSTSTELLE HENDRIK). Results of their Frontaufklärung, which were not first assessed by the I.C. of the formation through whose sector of the line the operation had been conducted, were communicated directly to General-Oberst BLASKOWITZ via ISPERT and SCHOENGARTH. FUCHS and PROEBSTING could operate in any sector of the front from the ZUIDERZEE to the RHINE, whereas BRABANT was reserved for HAKKENBERG.
17. The situation as explained in the previous para did not mean that the Wehrmacht was not engaged on Frontaufklärung through its own Frontaufklärungstruppe. On the contrary it was, but BLASKOWITZ must have been of the opinion that information, if it came through to him at all, was much too stale by the time it reached him. Consequently, as he naturally wanted to be kept fully informed of all developments on the Allied side of the line, the three S.S. Kdos were given the task of supplying the information as required. Needless to say the Wehrmacht Impreg and S.S. Kdos must have doubled certain Frontaufklärung work, but this apparently was inadvisable. (The interrogator gets the impression that the above situation resulted from distrust between Wehrmacht and S.S., though subject considered this was not the reason).

KDO PIETERS

18. About 20.4.48 a certain Oju. DREWICK (cover name) called on the Sipo Dienststelle for petrol., or some such thing. They sent him on to PROEBSTING, whom he informed that he belonged to a VIS Kdo led by an Ustuf PIETERS, which was ultimately destined to operate as a Panzerjagd and FrontaufklärungKdo, for which, however, it was not trained. Meanwhile, the Kdo was at LOOSDRECHT, where it was engaged on Sipo work in combatting terrorist (underground) activities.

19. The whole

PROEBSTING 5

19. The whole business appeared very strange to PROEBSTING to say the least and he immediately informed ISPERT, with whom he went to see SCHCENGARTH. The latter was furious on hearing about PIETERS and instructed PROEBSTING to advise him to report to him at 1200 hrs the following day. ISPERT and PROEBSTING were present at the interview PIETERS had with SCHCENGARTH, who ordered him to immediately discontinue his "Sipo" work, which, he reminded him, he had already once before forbidden him to do. At first PIETERS argued the toss but not for long. SCHCENGARTH further told him that from now on he was subordinated to ISPERT, who ordered him to let him have full particulars about this Kdo immediately, i.e., names and capabilities of personnel, quantity and type of arms, ammunition and explosives etc.
20. On Saturday that same week PROEBSTING received a communication from ISPERT to the effect that he had still not received the required information from PIETERS. In it he further asked to find out what the score was with PIETERS so as to get the whole business settled.
21. The following Monday PROEBSTING went to LOOSDRECHT to see PIETERS, who was not in the least expecting him. He found the latter had established himself like a gangster in a villa in the midst of the flooded area, cut off from everywhere, with mines planted all around the house. PIETERS spoke of his successes against the local terrorists, prisoners for whom he had ways means of making them talk, and "requisitioned" goods. PROEBSTING was in fact profoundly shocked by the spectacle which he encountered and can only compare PIETERS' H.Q. with the hide-out of a sorely wanted Chicago racketeer.
22. On reporting back to ISPERT, PROEBSTING recommended the immediate liquidation of PIETERS' Kdo. This was agreed upon and PIETERS was brought to THE HAGUE, where SCHCENGARTH decided to lock him up. As to PIETERS' personnel, it had been planned for FUCHS to absorb those who appeared suitable in his Kdo, whereas the remainder were to be sent to the Warren S.S. (34th Div.), but it so happened that the Wehrmacht (General BERWALD's dept.), which had evidently also got the scent of PIETERS' "reign of terror", swooped on the latter's "hide-out" the day after PIETERS himself was taken to THE HAGUE and cleaned up his entire staff of about 25 men and locked them up in HILVERSUM prison, where they presumably still were at the time of the capitulation. Apart from a few items of equipment which FUCHS managed to lay his hands on, his entire stores, which included about 1000 pounds of explosives, were also annexed by General BERTRAM's outfit.

Kdo WELL

23. Only a few days after the ball was set rolling with Kdo PIETERS, a certain Unteroffizier SLOB, who stated that he was the senior member of a Kdo WELL. the O.C., Ltnt WELL having withdrawn to Germany, came to PROEBSTING for instructions as to his disposal and that of the remaining members of the Kdo. He said Berlin had originally sent the Kdo to Holland, where its members were to allow themselves to be overrun in the event of an Allied advance and commit sabotage in the wake of their lines.
24. On different occasions PROEBSTING had heard of the existence of such a Kdo and after putting two and two together of what SLOB had told him, he presumed it must have been this Kdo WELL. The unpleasant experience of PIETERS, with whom "negotiations" were still in full swing, not unnaturally made PROEBSTING fear the worst as to the activities of these forgotten men of Kdo WELL, left in the lurch by their chief. He therefore took SLOB along to ISPERT in AMERSFOORT.
25. As a result, ISPERT gave PROEBSTING orders to locate the remaining members of Kdo WELL with the aid of Unteroffizier SLOB, who knew their whereabouts (after WELL had left they had apparently drifted off to their homes). Further, PROEBSTING was to take up the suitable members in his own Kdo for Frontaufklärung or Panzerjagd work and dispose of the others in the Waffen S.S. (54th Div.)
26. SLOB succeeded in contacting the following of his "sheep";- two brothers DE JONGE, BORRA, MALIVIS (? spelling), VAN DRUNEN and KLEI (J)N and all except the last named, who according to SLOB was i/c 3/5 other men in AMSTERDAM, were interviewed by PROEBSTING. Though SLOB had given instructions to KLEI (J)N to report to PROEBSTING in UTRECHT, he never turned up. The 3/5 men under him in AMSTERDAM were never contacted by SLOB as far as PROEBSTING knows. Of the others the brothers DE JONGE were the only two men in whom he had any confidence and he subsequently sent them out on a Frontaufklärung mission (see para 31). When the capitulation came he had still not decided what to do with the rest, i.e. BORRA, MALIVIS and VAN DRUNEN !! They however did not form part of his Kdo and they continued to live at their own addresses.
27. The brothers DE JONGE informed PROEBSTING that they had hidden arms and explosives on orders from WELL in the sand hills in the region of OUDEN RIJN between the UTRECHT - THE HAGUE Autobahn and the old UTRECHT - LEIDEN motor road. This equipment consisted of about 10 rifles, a box of Sprengstoff (Kasteminon), a tin of Sprengkapseln, Zundschnur, Knallzundschnur, rifle ammunition, etc. all of which subsequently was evacuated and handed over to the ABSTELLUNG WAFEN UND MUNITION of 34th Div. at COTTEN on the evening of 6.5.45.

Frontaufklärung Mission of Ostuf BEHRENS @ VAN WIJK

28. BEHRENS, having volunteered for Frontaufklärung, was sent across the lines in the sector of the 6th Fallschirmjäger Div. at ALERSFOORT about 2½ weeks before the capitulation. He was to proceed in a S.E. direction to about OTTERLOO and possibly beyond towards ARNHEM for the following information:-
- (i) Opposing units (recognisable by so-called totems).
 - (ii) Roads of communication with the heaviest traffic, noting kind of traffic.
 - (iii) Location of food, munition and petrol dumps to a distance of 20 Km behind the front.
 - (iv) Location of airfields to a similar depth, noting defence.
 - (v) Location of Staff H.Q.s, particularly of the higher variety.
 - (vi) Any particular signs of offensive preparations, noting concentrations of tanks, artillery positions and "Munition und Pioniertransporte".
 - (vii) Ascertain from where and whereto populations evacuated.
 - (viii) Public morale generally.
 - (ix) Food situation.
29. BEHRENS went into "Einsatz" in civilian clothes, taking with him 200-300 Guilders, rations for approximately one day, a bottle of Schnapps and probably a bicycle. His mission was to be of 5 days' duration and he was going to use the alias of VAN WIJK. He did not return.

Frontaufklärung Mission of FRENTRCP @ FRANSSSEN, DE BOER(?) and Youth (name unknown)

30. On 1.5.45 the above were sent across the lines at EKERIS, north of WOUDEBERG, for the identical information as BEHRENS (see para 28) in the BARNEVELD area. "Schleusung" arrangements were made by the I.c of 53 Korps at ZEIST, Rittmeister Graf BERNSDORF(F) and carried out by a Bn of 346 or 361 Volksgrenadier Div. They returned again via EKERIS on 4.5.45, arriving UTRECHT 5.5.45 with information which included the following:- (i) Many totems (ii) heavy traffic on OTTERLOO-BARNEVELD road (iii) H.Q. of 49th Br. Div. thought to be in BARNEVELD. They had been arrested by Cdns to whom Dutch personnel were attached, about 6 Km inside the Allied lines and were taken to BARNEVELD, where they were interrogated by F.S. and released. FRENTRCP and his colleagues each left with about 200 Guilders, a bicycle, which was left behind in BARNEVELD and a day's ration.

Frontaufklärung Mission

PROEBSTING :

Frontaufklärung Mission of Brothers DE JONGE

31. The mission on which these two brothers were sent on 4.5.45 was again identical with that of BEHRENS (see para 30) except that they also had to ascertain the meeting point in the line of 49th Br. Div. and First Cdn Army. The "Schleusung" took place at DE KLOMP, north of VEENENDAAL and was conducted by the 2nd Bn of 84th Regt. of 34th Div. through the I.c, Istur RICHTER. Their destination was the EDE region and they were to stay away 4/5 days. They each departed with about 200 Guilders, a bicycle and one day's rations. The DE JONGES who did not report back are at present detained at C.S.I.C.

Frontaufklärung Mission of GROTE(N)BOER and VAN EUNEN

32. The above were dispatched on 5.5.45 at the same point as the brothers DE JONGE (see para 31), the "Schleusung" having been similarly prepared and executed as for the latter two agents. Originally, as they were to take bicycles, they were to penetrate as far as APELDOORN in the 5/6 days allotted for their mission, the points of which were once again the same as that of BEHRENS (see para 30). But as the idea of putting them across with bicycles was then considered too impractical and risky at that part of the front at that particular time, they were not expected to go as far as APELDOORN. With the exception of bicycles they departed with approximately the same amount of money and rations as the agents sent out before them. GROTE(N)BOER and VAN EUNEN, who used an alias for this adventure did not return and are now held at C.S.I.C.

III. MISCELLANEOUS

(i) German R.V.V.

33. PROEBSTING disclaims all knowledge of and association with any such organisation. All he can relate in this connection is that a pamphlet was produced by Stubaf SCHREIEDER with the assistance of ISPERT in ZWOLLE about the end of Feb 45, which was subsequently printed and distributed amongst the civilian population. It purported to be of underground origin, concluded with the monogram "R.V.V.", and was designed to sow dissension amongst the leaders of the underground and the public in relation to the underground. Similar pamphlets were produced by them, but it is unknown whether or not they were signed with the monogram, "R.V.V."
34. Subject has never heard of VAN VLIET, George, @ RIDDERHOF.

(ii) Contact with

PROEBSTING 9

(ii) Contact with Underground

35. From ISPERT subject heard that he attended meetings with underground leaders with Hstuf MUNT and Stubaf SCHREIEDER. These meetings were instigated by MUNT, but PROEBSTING cannot suggest any more plausible purpose for them than "the exchange of opinion". One of the underground leaders present at such conferences was called VAN DA(A)LEN.

(iii) Issue of Explosives to ISPERT's Kdos (see communication from I(b) 1 Cdn Corps, ref. ID 1 -6- 17/P84, dated 30 Jun 45)

36. PROEBSTING emphatically denies being in any way responsible for this. A few days before capitulation he did, however, receive two machine guns and some ammunition on behalf of FUCHS from the Sipo Dienststelle. A couple of hours later FUCHS took away the equipment, which was "Erbeutetes Abwurf Material".

re Helmut PROBSTING. This report does much to clear up the confusion which has existed in the functions of Abteilungen III and VI of BdS Holland. It would appear that numbered Abteilungen in BdS Holland had little significance as far as functions were concerned.

The important point arising out of the report is that there is no connection between PROBSTING's activities and the III B underground movement, as was suggested in my 11.601,397/A.R.C.3a of 13th July.

Paragraph 33 of the report, however, still leaves the FEYS case unexplained. PROBSTING makes no mention of SASSEK, though FEYS states that SASSEK was mixed up with PROBSTING. It might be worth while having PROBSTING further interrogated on this point.

7. Helmut PROEBSTING - KRUIFF - FLEMING said it had developed that PROEBSTING definitely had used the alias Dirk KRUIFF, and that FLEMING was still pulling together data concerning UPHILL's interest. [] said there were no traces of PROEBSTING or KRUIFF in MIA files and that [] had held off tracing files until he knew what it was all about. FLEMING said he would provide some background in writing.

11. Helmut PROEBSTING - KRUIFF - FLEMING said he had uncovered a report that in 1949 FRIESEN, when he was working for the British, had had contact with one PROEBSTING who had been with the SS Division Niederlande. UPHILL had one other report that PROEBSTING possibly had Eastern contacts although UPHILL's last information on PROEBSTING was that he was running a Restaurant in Krefeld. FLEMING said there was some indication that PROEBSTING might use the alias KRUIFF, although it was not certain. He also said that there was an alias DAUBER possibly involved with PROEBSTING and that he unfortunately did not as yet have enough information to be able to say if PROEBSTING really was of interest in connection with FRIESEN or not. FLEMING said he would be interested in a preliminary check of our files and hoped at the next meeting to be able to come up with something that said more than in writing. (Comment: No MIA traces.)

Information on file at this headquarters indicates that one Max Wessel, aka Wessel, aka Sellin, aka Gode, a Dutch national, born 22 August 1921 at MCH, East Indies, not positively identified, contacted this organization in [redacted] during October 1948. (H-1) He stated that he was an intelligence operative for the Dutch Government, and was gathering information of an economic and political nature, and information pertaining to Nazi and underground activities in Germany. Wessel offered to furnish information with this organization. (F-6)

Review of Wessel's passport indicated that he was a Dutch citizen and had a record of reported visits to Germany, France, Switzerland, and Belgium and the Netherlands. (F-7) An examination of available records at that time revealed that Wessel's name appeared on a list of suspected Soviet agents, or Communists in Germany, which was issued by the Military Intelligence Division of the U.S. War Department. (H-1) It was reported that Wessel was the son of an active Communist, a contact of a Communist courier and maintained other pro-Communist contacts. It was further reported that, shortly after the war, Wessel had worked as an interrogator at a POW camp at BLAW KAPEL near BRESCHE, and while there, had reportedly attempted to recruit, for Soviet intelligence, two German nationals who were captured by the Dutch. The German nationals were identified as one Helmut Proebsting, a former member of the German Sicherheitsdienst (SD) in Holland, not further identified, and one (fnu) Pelfe, a former SD man, not further identified. (H-1) Details were given. (H-1) Check with Dutch authorities revealed that Wessel had no connection with that government since his utilization as an interrogator at BLAW KAPEL from March 1945 to September 1946. On the basis of the above information, Wessel was detained and interrogated by this organization in November 1948. (H-1) Under interrogation, Wessel flatly denied any connection with the Soviets or other Communists. When confronted with his alleged attempted recruitment of Proebsting and Pelfe, for Soviet intelligence, Wessel gave the following account: BLAW KAPEL was a Dutch Interrogation Center, where former Abwehr and other German Intelligence Service (GIS) personnel were debriefed. Proebsting, a German national in Holland during the war, was interned by the Dutch at the end of the war and assigned to BLAW KAPEL for interrogation purposes. Wessel stated that Proebsting was interrogated by an interrogator who used the interrogation room right next to the one used by Wessel. As a result, Wessel frequently spoke to Proebsting, and when he learned that Proebsting originally came from LEIPZIG/Thuringia, Wessel made a statement in a sarcastic tone, "Why don't you now go back to LEIPZIG and do what you did before." Wessel stated that he at no time attempted to recruit Proebsting for a Soviet, Dutch, or other intelligence agency, and that at no time, made any statements other than the one quoted above, which might be construed as such an offer. Wessel described Proebsting as approximately Wessel, 47" in height, blue eyes, dark brown hair, with a pronounced nose and a dark complexion. Wessel said he last saw Proebsting when the latter was transferred from BLAUW KAPEL to an internment camp in DUINDORP. Wessel further stated that he had subsequently heard nowhere or other that Proebsting had escaped. Wessel was also interned for interrogatory purposes as a GIS man at BLAUW KAPEL. Wessel admitted that he saw Felfe at BLAUW KAPEL to him occasionally. Wessel asserted, however, that BLAUW KAPEL, at BLAUW KAPEL, made any statement that could be construed as a recruitment attempt of Wessel for any intelligence agency. Wessel stated, however, that on 29 October 1948, while he was in BONN, he met Felfe on the street. They recognized each other, went to a cafe and talked about old times at BLAUW KAPEL. Felfe stated that he was a student at BONN. He further mentioned that he lived on "Weinberg" but that he could not visit him since his residence could not be reached by car. Wessel stated that he could not get back into the Netherlands and was therefore working for the Economics Publication on a part-time basis. Wessel thereupon asked Felfe if he would like to write "Lage-Berichte" (situation reports) about conditions in the Netherlands. Wessel claimed he did not mention the fact to which government he was working as he was to be delivered. Felfe then asked if Wessel would make him an offer of employment for such reports. Wessel stated that he was then evasive, and consequently Felfe stated he was not interested. Felfe was alleged to have further told Wessel that he had become a Communist, and Wessel claimed further that Felfe showed him a KPD membership card. Felfe was reported as approximately 32 years old, 5'8" tall, normal build, sharp features, dark hair. (P-6) Wessel was returned to the Netherlands in February 1949. The association between Proebsting and Felfe is indicated. Suggest you contact Dutch Authorities for additional information. Also disclose no further pertinent information.

NOTE: Above information released to the WND.

REMARKS: Information was received from the Dutch authorities in 1948, to the effect that Wessel was the son of an active Communist, was considered a "Salon Communist" (sic), made regular fortnightly trips as a communist courier, had attempted to recruit Proebsting and Felfe as Soviet agents at BLAUW KAPEL, had delivered Dutch documents by plane to the Russians, and maintained other pro-Communist contacts in AMSTERDAM. According to the Dutch files, Wessel had attempted to recruit both Proebsting and Felfe at BLAUW KAPEL. It was indicated that Proebsting had reported the subject to his interrogator, however, no further mention is made of Felfe. Dutch authorities further advised that while Wessel was in their employ at BLAUW KAPEL, he expressed a desire to "work for the Russians." The Dutch also claimed that Wessel had a "great service" complex (not further defined). (Unevaluated) Records contain no additional information regarding Proebsting or Felfe, however, more detailed information regarding Wessel is available if desired.
