Edward Storrow in the chair, when a Provisional Committee being formed, the Venerable Archdeacon J. H. Pratt and other gentlemen were invited to join the Association. The "Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals" of London having been applied to for assistance with needful information as guidance, and that assistance being abundantly supplied, a meeting of Committee took place on the 19th of March, 1862, when the establishment of the Society was confirmed, and the gentlemen whose names appear above were constituted its Committee of management.

OBJECTS AND PLANS OF THE SOCIETY.

1. To prevent the cruel and improper treatment of Animals.

PROCEEDINGS.

The Committee have great pleasure in announcing that in compliance with the desire embodied in a Resolution at the Annual Meeting on the 10th Sept. His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General has been pleased to express his acquiescence with the request conveyed to him that he would honour the Society by becoming its Patron.

At the same Meeting Resolutions to the following effect were also passed :—

1.—That a prize of 100 Rs. be given at the forthcoming Agricultural Exhibition for the best Collar or Harness for Draught Bullocks, as an improvement on the present barbarous Yoke.

2.—That an additional or third Agent be engaged in the service of the Society.

3.—That a sub-committee be appointed to enquire further into the question of over-burthening cattle; to ascertain the best means of remedying the evil, and to report thereon.

R E P O R T

THE Committee of the Calcutta Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, in presenting this their first Annual Report of the Society's operations, desire to tender their warm thanks to those friends of humanity whose prompt and generous response to the appeal on behalf of dumb Animals has, under God, resulted in the successful establishment of the first Institution in India for their protection from cruelty and suffering.

It is very gratifying to the Committee to be enabled to report that the success which has attended this effort has not been confined to the pecuniary aid received, but has embraced that equally vital support which the cordial sympathy and co-operation of the Community are calculated to afford a good cause.

To the Magistrates and Honorary Magistrates of Calcutta, who have so kindly and patiently sustained the efforts of the Society, the Committee desire to offer their earnest expression of thanks ; and to the Chief Commissioner of Police, and heads of Departments under his authority, they also beg to tender their best acknowledgments for the exercise of that important influence, authority, and ready co-operation which have afforded so much facility and aid to the objects of the Society.

The Committee take this the earliest opportunity of recording their great and lasting obligation to the home or "Royal Society" of London for the prevention of Cruelty to Animals,—the honoured exemplar of every such Institution throughout the civilized world,—and to its zealous and obliging Secretary

Mr. Colam, for the prompt and ready supply of every aid and information, which enabled this Society to commence its operations, upon those plans and tried principles of experience which have resulted here, as every where else, in gratifying success.

To the Editors of the local Press the Committee are most grateful for their kind and zealous advocacy of the cause of humanity, and altogether for their influential and valuable support in the establishment of this Institution.

At the outset of the Society's labours the first and most prominent claim to attention presenting itself was the wholesale cruelty inflicted upon draught bullocks and hack horses, whose condition and sufferings had so long shocked the public sight, and formed a standing reproach to this city. Of the former unfortunate animals it may safely be asserted that the number of wounded exceeded the number of those that were whole. With so extensive a field of operations, and amongst a class of people to whom these operations were entirely a novelty, it was deemed only just and prudent to warn and to threaten ere punishing, in order to reduce the number of offenders to the wanton and obstinately cruel.

Two European Agents, Pensioners from the Queen's army, having been engaged, were now provided with copies of papers in the Bengalee language, declaring and explaining the Law,—warning against its violation, and furnishing simple instructions for the treatment of wounds.

Upwards of seven weeks were devoted to this process of warning,—nearly a thousand copies of the papers were distributed amongst the drivers and owners of bullocks and carriage horses, and during the period which this occupied, and within the necessarily limited walks of the two Agents, upwards of 700 wounded bullocks and horses, principally the former, were found labouring in our streets, and the names and numbers of their drivers registered in the Agents' books. English papers, also, with copies of those in the vernacular have been distributed amongst the European community. Large Bengalee Posters have been put up in numerous crowded parts of the city, and every means adopted to make the objects and duties of the Society known.

Prosecutions were commenced about the eighth week, and in evidence of the sad necessity which existed for this Institution, the Committee have to report that, despite the long warnings, and an endeavour strongly enforced on the Agents, to avoid overcrowding the Magistrates with cases, by selecting only the more serious, the number of convictions for Cruelty to Animals, obtained through the Society's agency during the year ending May 10th have amounted to 506. These are exclusive of twenty-nine cases of various natures prosecuted by private persons and Police Officers, to all of whom the cause of humanity is under great obligation, and the Committee thankfully acknowledge theirs for valued co-operation in the good work.

Of this heavy number of convictions upwards of four hundred have been exclusively cases of bullocks, in the majority of which the rough and barbarous yoke had formed those frightful wounds upon the necks of the animals which have hitherto been but too familiar to the public eye. A few examples have been made of the perpetrators of other descriptions of torture, the consequences of which are visible in the numerous dislocations, deformities and mutilations which may daily be seen amongst the labouring cattle of Calcutta. The offences against horses have been principally confined to their being worked with wounds inflicted by over-driving, and the wretched harness so commonly in use amongst the unfortunate hack ponies. A very few instances of violence have been brought to notice, and amongst these and other cases not calling for prosecution, remonstrance, either by letter from the Secretary, or by visits from the agents, has been used with all needful effect.

In nearly every case of prosecution the punishment inflicted has been by fine. Amongst the exceptions may be mentioned a case, not of cruelty, but of bribery. A youth was convicted of having, by using the name of one of the Society's Agents, exacted a bribe from a Coachman, and was sentenced to imprisonment with hard labour. The Committee are glad that this example has been made of an offence which, if not checked, would be productive of prejudice to the interests and working of the Society.

The fines inflicted have varied, in the majority of cases from eight annas to five Rupees,—in some instances from ten to twenty-five Rs.—and the total throughout the year has amounted to upwards of 1300 Rs.

Having expressed their gratitude for the support of friends, the Committee have now to record their obligation to the proverbial aid of opposition.

For a considerable time the punishment for cruelly working wounded cattle fell exclusively upon the Drivers, who were generally the servants of others; but the Law having at length been made operative upon the Owners, a heavier penalty was justly inflicted upon the more guilty and responsible masters. Irritated by these determined and persistent measures, and vainly hoping to resist the tide of civilization and humanity, a combination was formed between, it is believed, a few only of the principal Hackrey owners, when the entire body of these people, suddenly and simultaneously struck work. The loss and inconvenience suffered by the mercantile community of Calcutta during the four days' continuance of this Strike, are but too well known to many amongst the best friends of this Society, whose liberality in its aid was now rendered doubly valuable by the moral support afforded in the uncompromising and cheerful spirit with which they met the nuisance of this stoppage upon trade. Nearly the entire commerce of the city suffered a temporary suspension; but no compromise or concession had part in its restoration to activity. The energy and independence of those who alone suffered by the combination early found a remedy, by the purchase and transfer of numerous carts and cattle to themselves, which brought the Gâreewâns, wiser at least than before, back to their work again.

The support thus received from the Mercantile Community is not the full extent of obligation which the progress of humanity owes to the occasion. Besides the excitement of ten-fold sympathy in the cause every where created, it stimulated and encouraged a spirit of enterprize and improvement which will gradually release our merchandize from almost Abyssinian barbarity of conveyance, and our merchants from humiliating dependance on the whims or schemes of ignorance and folly.

The Committee have pleasure in stating that Act V. of 1861, a general enactment for the Regulation of Police, which provides punishment for Cruelty to Animals, has lately been extended to many towns in the Provinces.* Act XVI. of 1861, also, for licensing and registering Stage Carriages, provides in more full terms for the prevention of Cruelty to Horses, and the attention of Magistrates and all other friends of humanity in the Mofussil is anxiously directed to the means which exist for the protection from cruelty of the dumb creatures around them. The Committee earnestly hope that it will not be long ere the extension of the Law throughout Bengal and the entire Provinces of India, will enable all well wishers to the objects of this Society to lend their aid and influence in the furtherance and spread of its principles and operations.

Whilst, however, Act XLVIII of the Legislative Council, for the towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, invests Magistrates with the power of punishing those who both directly and indirectly inflict cruelty upon dumb animals, the Committee have to regret that all other Acts—that for Licensing Stage Carriages and the protection of horses attached thereto, excepted—confer no power to control those who, as owners of cattle or otherwise, cause that cruelty to be inflicted. Of the innumerable cattle which ply in the city, the majority of owners reside in the Suburbs; hence, in common with all others in the Mofussil, they are beyond the reach of the Law, and thus full protection is not afforded to the largest class of animals that labour throughout Bengal. The Committee therefore, through their Secretary, addressed a representation to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, soliciting attention to the enactments in question, and praying for such alterations as would render them more efficient for the suppression of cruelty. To this application the Committee are happy to say a reply was received from the Legislative Department promising that the subject should be taken into consideration. The Committee are thus led to hope that an extended and improved Law over every part of India will shortly strengthen the hands of all whose hearts may lead them to second the efforts of this Society.

A subject of deep importance to the largest class of labouring Animals in India—the patient and hitherto unmercifully treated Draught Bullocks—is now engaging the attention of the Committee. It is not doubted that to the cruel overloading of the carts is principally due the hideous wounds which, notwithstanding the number of prosecutions, and the exertions of the Agents of the Society throughout a whole year, continue to be exhibited in our streets, and during the hot season to increase in number.—Whilst the control of this matter of burthen continues at the mercy and the discretion of those whose education is favourable to neither, and who are free to work their poor Animals to any degree short of inflicting external wounds, and a small fine is the only penalty which even that risk incurs—the evil referred to must, it is feared, continue. The efforts of the Committee will therefore be directed towards the best means of obtaining remedial measures against this most prolific source of oppression and suffering.

Equal in importance to the objects of this Society is another question which the Committee very anxiously desire to commend to the attention of those whose studies and pursuits may more particularly qualify them to afford aid and suggestions. As the immediate cause of those frightful injuries inflicted on the necks of the labouring cattle, the present cumbrous yoke invites special attention; and when it is known that the weight of burthen very frequently imposed upon the diminutive cattle of Bengal is equal to one ton, and seldom less than half that weight, and when the guillotine-like action of the objectionable yoke, which is not an even or steady pressure against a muscular surface, but a continuous sawing between and rolling over the vertebræ, is considered, it will readily be imagined how great a boon would be conferred on the poor animals by the introduction of some substitute for the rude and unfitting instrument now in use. To this end, therefore, the Committee earnestly invite and solicit from the scientific and ingenious, suggestions or designs for an improvement on the present mode of draught, which will unite efficiency with that economy in expense which shall bring it within the means of the poor.

The Committee have noticed with pleasure the introduction of saddles and leather Collars for single bullocks used in many of the Carts of the Municipal Commissioners, and are led to hope that the good example will be followed by all who, using Cattle for draught purposes, have the means to shew this, or any similar merciful consideration for their comfort.

The establishment of an extensive "Indian Carrying Company," the operations of which are intended to extend over all India, and whose 'Direction' is a guarantee for the safety of its dumb labourers, must be regarded with great satisfaction; and their introduction of four-wheeled conveyances, which, by confining the labour to traction only, at once removes a great source of suffering to the cattle, is a most gratifying step in the right direction. It is greatly to be desired that the successful result of their working may encourage the extension of the principle, and commend it to general adoption.

Two other undertakings, affording, it is believed, promise of equal mercy to poor horses—the "City Conveyance" and the "Calcutta Carriage" Company,—have also lately been added to the social improvements of this city, and the advancement alike of comfort and humanity.

There are innumerable evils and cruel practices in India with which the Committee feel they are not yet in means or position to deal, or to do more than speak of with hopefulness as to the future. The mode in which the countless number of animals intended for our food are carried to the markets, and slaughtered for the table, is a subject which has engaged the attention of the Protective Societies of Europe, and must here have equal claim to consideration. There is no evil so great, or so wide-spread, that consistent and persevering efforts will not remedy in time. The field is large, but the means and Agency of the Society have been too limited to admit of the occupancy hitherto of more than that important part which has monopolized the time and attention of the Agents during the past year. The operations of a Society of this nature cannot, of course, be confined to the protection of any one class of animals; nor, it is hoped, will the numerous prosecutions that have taken place be supposed to have benefited that class exclusively. The remark happily applies to this as to every such Society, that its "indirect influence is greater in preventing than its direct influence is in punishing."

During the first year, the Committee have studied to confine the expenditure to the smallest amount consistent with utility, in order to secure permanency of operations on a small scale rather than incur the risk of early decline on a greater,—a risk to which the fluctuating character of an Indian community renders the liability more than ordinary. Experience has unhappily shewn that the necessity for the interference of a Society of this nature never ceases. To the patrons and friends, therefore, by whose generous aid the Society was established, the Committee appeal for a continuance of their support and their influence in commending its objects to the sympathy and good will of others, who may not only contribute to its permanency, but to that increase of means which will afford increase of usefulness.

Beyond this essential aid, the Committee earnestly call upon the community to afford their moral support by co-operating with the Society in its endeavours to repress cruelty in whatever shape it may appear, and to however low a scale in the animal creation the sufferer may belong. They particularly beg to draw attention to the important aid which private persons have it in their power to afford, by the systematic rejection of all animals brought for hire which, on examination, may prove in any respect unfitting for work. A few such rejections would have more effect in repressing cruelty of the character indicated, than the heaviest fine which a Magistrate can inflict.

The Committee feel pleasure in testifying to their entire satisfaction with the conduct and labours of the Society's Agents. Their hearts have been in the work. To zeal they have added temper and discretion, and to their assiduous efforts the Society has been indebted for the large number of prosecutions which have occurred, and for that wholesome terror of evil doing which it cannot be doubted the labours of the Society have created to the benefit of dumb labourers in this city.

From the gentlemen of the Press the Committee solicit a continuance of their valued advocacy in directing the objects and interests of the Society to the attention and good will of all who desire to see the cause of humanity take root and prosper throughout India. The publication of Reports of Cases, albeit not read by the class amongst whom offenders lie, nevertheless becomes known to them, and affords that information of the Society's activity which it is very important for every reason should be known.

The Committee would now address themselves to those more than all influential teachers, the maternal guardians, and indeed to all instructors of the young, earnestly calling upon them to exercise their important influence by impressing upon the minds of their children and pupils the duty and the charm of kindness to inferior animals,—an influence which, fully and early exercised, would go far towards rendering Associations of this nature needless.

Amongst other means of forwarding the objects of the Society, the Committee have not forgotten the agency of small pamphlets in the vernacular, which they hope, in the course of the present year, to add to the means of those who desire to aid them in the spread of the principles of humanity.

In conclusion, the Committee would appeal for the aid of those who direct the minds and consciences of both the young and the mature. The powerful aid of the Pulpit has been largely enlisted in England, where, upon a fixed occasion during the past year, upwards of six hundred Ministers testified to the sacredness of the theme by addressing their congregations upon the duty of humanity to dumb animals. It is sanguinely hoped, therefore, that, throughout the vast Empire of India, which it is the aim of the Philanthropist to enlighten with the elements and principles of civilization, this, amongst all other principles and means of advancing the great object, may not be forgotten. With every creed and faith is the cause now pleaded in gratifying harmony; and with the Christian certainly not the least—as that faith which, in the words of one of its ornaments and advocates—“most strongly inculcates compassion to inferior natures by the example of its Divine Author, who gave the most stupendous proof of his compassion for ours.”

By order of the Committee,

C. GRANT,

Honorary Secretary.

EXTRACTS FROM LEGISLATIVE ENACTMENTS

And Suggestions for the Guidance of those who may desire to prosecute persons guilty of Cruelty to Animals.

IN THE TOWN.

By the Act XIII. of 1856, (the Police Act for the Presidency Towns and the Straits Settlement) it is provided in Section LXXXVI. that " Any Police Officer may arrest without warrant any person committing in his view any offence against this Act."

That Act was amended by the Act XLVIII. of 1860, which (it is provided) shall be taken, and read as part of Act XIII. of 1860.

The provision as to Police Officers arresting without warrant, applies to the offences described in Act XLVIII. of 1860. Among those provisions is the following in Section XXI. :—

Whoever cruelly beats, ill-treats, abuses, or tortures, or causes or procures to be cruelly beaten, ill-treated, abused, or tortured any animal, shall for every such offence be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and in default thereof to imprisonment with or without hard labour for a period not exceeding three months.

Any person who sees any such offence committed, should point it out to a Chowkedar or other Police Officer, and require him to take the offender into custody; if the Chowkedar or other Police Officer refuses to do so, his number should be taken, and his conduct should, if possible, be reported at once to the Inspector at the nearest Police Station, or at the Police Office to the Chief Commissioner of Police.

If the case be one in which the wounded or disabled condition of the animal speaks for itself, it will not be necessary to attend to give evidence; but if the offence be one of beating or other ill-usage the person who calls the attention of the Police Officer to the case, should give his name and address, so that he may be called on to give evidence if required.

The Act it will be seen, applies to the cruel beating, ill-treating, abusing, or torturing of any animal. Under these heads will fall the numerous cases of urging on bullocks by twisting their tails, or other similar torture; yoking them to hackeries with heavy loads while their necks are in a raw and wounded state; driving galled hacks; striking horses and other animals over the head or in any other inhuman manner; loading conveyances which any animal has to draw with a weight beyond its power, and the like.

Under this Act owners of cattle who send them abroad to labour in a wounded or other unfitting condition, are, it will be observed, responsible for the Cruelty thus inflicted, and can be proceeded against by Summons.

The Suburban Law, contained in Act XXI. of 1857, Section XXIII. is identical with the Law for the City, in reference to Cruelty to Animals, except in its omission of the words "causes or procures, &c."—and is therefore inoperative against owners.

IN THE MOFUSSIL.

The Law for the Mofussil (by which general name is meant all places throughout India beyond the Presidencies) is found in Section 34 of Act V. of 1861, entitled—"An Act for the Regulation of Police," and is also identical with Act XLVIII. in its provisions against Cruelty to Animals, with the like exception of the words 'causes or procures, &c.' At present, therefore, this Act is likewise powerless against owners, or others, who, though not immediately guilty of Cruelty to Animals, may not the less be instrumental thereto.

The deficiency here referred to has been remedied in respect to HORSES employed in Stage Carriages by Act XVI. of 1861, to which very general effect has been given, entitled "AN ACT FOR LICENSING AND REGULATING STAGE CARRIAGES"—wherein Section IX. declares as follows:—

IX. Any person who shall Cruelly beat, ill-treat, over drive, abuse, torture, or cause or procure to be Cruelly beaten, ill-treated, over driven, abused, or tortured, any horse employed in drawing, or harnessed to any Stage Carriage, or who shall harness to or drive in any stage carriage any horse which from sickness, age, wounds, or other cause, is unfit to be driven in such Stage Carriage, shall for every such offence be liable to a fine not exceeding One Hundred Rupees."

The Provisions of Section 34, Act V. however, have now been extended to the following places throughout India and Burmah, and the attention of Magistrates and of all residents in those parts of the country is earnestly directed to the power thus conferred upon them to protect dumb animals from the infliction of Cruelty:—

OBJECTS AND PLANS OF THE SOCIETY.

1. To prevent the cruel and improper treatment of Animals.
2. The employment of European Officers, or Agents, as in Great Britain, for the purpose of warning—arresting—or reporting and prosecuting in the name of the Society, all persons guilty of cruelty to animals in Calcutta and its suburbs.
3. The dissemination, by placards and notices in English and the vernacular, of information which shall instruct the ignorant, and warn the heartless against acts of cruelty.
4. To enlist the good will and co-operation of the Police in these measures.
5. The introduction into Schools and elsewhere, of Books, or Tracts, in English and the vernacular, “calculated to impress on youth the duty of humanity towards the inferior animals.”
6. To elicit and disseminate suggestions for the improvement of the condition and treatment of labouring and domestic animals in this country.
7. To seek the aid of the Pulpit—the Press, and all public Instructors, in advocating the principles and objects of this Society, having in view the promotion of humanity towards the animal creation.

JAMES SMITH,

R E P O R T

In presenting the Second Annual Report of the Proceedings of the Calcutta Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the Committee have to renew their cordial thanks to all those friends of humanity whose generous and continued support has so sustained a good cause and encouraged the labours of its servants.

To the Magistrates of Calcutta and Allipore the Committee again tender their warm acknowledgments for their consistent vindication of justice to dumb animals, and increasingly rigorous treatment of those found guilty of cruelly abusing them.

During the past year the Society has had to lament the loss, by death, of its first kind Patron—Lord Elgin. The Committee, however, have the gratification to announce that the encouraging patronage of the Viceroy and Governor-General has been happily renewed by Sir John Lawrence,—His Excellency having, in compliance with the request of the Committee, kindly signified his willingness to become the Patron of the Institution.

The Proceedings of the Society during the past year only testify, in a more marked and urgent degree, to the necessity of that merciful interference between cruelty and its victims which the establishment of this Association was intended to provide. If, indeed, the successful working of such a Society required no other test or evidence than the number of cases in which offenders against humanity had been convicted and punished through the instrumentality of its officers, it is probable that no greater amount of such evidence would be exhibited anywhere than that which the Committee of this Society have to report for the past year. The number of convictions before the Magistrates of Calcutta and its immediate suburbs from the 10th May, 1863 to the 10th May, 1864 has been SEVEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-FIVE; being an increase over those of the preceding year of 249.

The increase thus exhibited has not been the result of any increase of the practice of cruelty, but chiefly of an increase of Agency, which has simply exposed a further portion of the field of that suffering which for so many years has been the normal condition of the draught cattle of Bengal.

The field indeed is not only so large, but so full, that a few hundred prosecutions are insufficient to produce any very marked reduction or effect. From those parts of the town which may for a time have been under special surveillance of the Society's officers, cruelty might be supposed to have nearly died out. It is found, however, that it has but shifted its haunt—and that the suffering victims have been taken to labour in some other quarter, where, for a season at least, there is a chance of their escaping detection.

Of the heavy sum of convictions here reported, 547 have been for cruel treatment of Bullocks, and the remaining 208 for similar usage of Horses. In all but one of these cases the punishment inflicted has been by fines, and these, varying in amount from 8 annas to 30 Rs., have amounted during the year to Rs. 2,307. In the exceptional case referred to, punishment was inflicted by imprisonment.

From the commencement of its labours therefore, or during the period of twenty-four months, 1256 persons have been prosecuted and convicted at the instance of the Society. Of these convictions upwards of 900 cases have been those in which the unfortunate draught Bullocks were found working in that wounded and wretched condition which has so long shocked the public sight of this city. That these frightful wounds have been inflicted by the barbarous yoke—attached to an equally barbarous vehicle—laden with an undue and cruel burthen—a burthen which would be unsuitable for such cattle even in a European-made vehicle, with its smooth and well greased axles, there can be no doubt. The Sub-Committee, therefore, appointed at the last Annual Meeting to enquire into the question of overburthening, had no difficulty or hesitation in recommending that an appeal be made to the Legislature to limit the weight of burthen imposed upon cattle to that reasonable amount which would, in the end, not less conduce to mercantile interests than to the cause of humanity, and the relief of public feeling, so long outraged by exhibitions in our streets in keeping only with those of a Dahomey.

That the numerous convictions which have occurred, have exercised a salutary and restraining influence over hundreds, the fruits of which will be evidenced hereafter, it would be mortifying and unreasonable to doubt;—that these convictions would have had the effect of reducing offences by inducing nearly all persons convicted to avoid the repetition of cruelty to their cattle, if it depended entirely upon their own will, it is but reasonable to believe; but that notwithstanding all the labours of the Society, and the heavy aggregate of convictions obtained, and despite, moreover, a greater amount of severity in the infliction of fines, the evil, so far from appearing lessened, is exhibited in only an increased degree, is but too sadly shewn by the number of convictions during the current year— a number which threatens to swell into a total so enormous as to double that of the past year!*

With these results before them it is impossible for the Committee to avoid the conclusion that other measures on behalf of draught Bullocks, which shall aim at the root of the evil, are necessary to its suppression; and these measures it is believed can be found only in that regulation of burthen which shall remove from beneath the grinding yoke an amount of pressure which probably not the hide of the Rhinoceros could bear without injury. The size and character of the wounds inflicted upon the necks and backs of the Bullocks are such that they require several months of rest and care to heal. To the poorer owners those months are times of loss and privation,—a privation which is, doubtless, necessarily shared by the animals themselves. When only half healed, it may be, and probably half starved, they are again put to work; and with the customary burthen—cruelty and loss by fine, and stoppage of work, are, it is but too likely, all renewed.

Impressed, therefore, with these views, the Committee have resolved to appeal to the Legislature for that remedy they believe will be efficient, and easy of application—an appeal which becomes the more hopeful when it is known to embody the prayer of the people—owners and drivers—themselves. Nor is this all. The remedy now sought, it has been ascertained, once existed in the form of a Police Bye-law, declared to have operated most beneficially, but which, unfortunately, wanting the permanency of a Legislative Enactment, fell into gradual disuse on the retirement from office of the long experienced and vigorous Magistrate† from whom it emanated.

* The number of convictions from May 10th to the present date, September 5th, amounts to 355.

† Mr. W. C. Blaquiére, for nearly fifty years Magistrate of Calcutta.

The Committee have the gratifying assurance from residents and travellers in British Burmah that the operations of a Society for the prevention of Cruelty to Animals in that Country, so far, at least, as the treatment of draught cattle is concerned, are needless. Whether this fact speaks more a tender heart or a wise and intelligent head, or both together, it is of equal importance to know that the immediate cause of this immunity from suffering on the part of the cattle of Burmah lies, not in superiority of conveyance or harness, but in the declared and praiseworthy fact that the Burman will not on any consideration overload his cattle: neither will he goad them.

Immediately connected with the subject of burthen is that of the implements of its draught; for to whatever degree relief may be extended in the imposition of weight, the importance of yet further lessening toil and risk, and economizing time and labour, cannot be overlooked or over-estimated. In compliance with the Resolution passed at the last Annual Meeting, a Prize of 100 Rs. was offered for the best Collar or Harness for draught bullocks, to be produced at the Agricultural Exhibition of Bengal,—an invitation which was responded to by the production and exhibition of three different implements.—Ingenious and suggestive, however, as were these contrivances they were not thought fully to meet the requirements which the Society had in view, and the Prize was therefore reserved for the fruit of further endeavours. But to the gentlemen* who exhibited these implements, offering as they did very valuable suggestions, the best thanks of the Committee were justly due and accorded, with the gratifying result of eliciting the promise of further efforts in the same useful and important direction.

* Messrs. Monteith & Co. Old Court House Street;—Mr. C. Ladd, Ice House; and Monsieur A Nelly, late of Chandernagore.

In the belief that the objects of this Society would be greatly advanced, not merely by the publication of writings advocating the principles and practice of humanity to the animal creation, but by that attention which is directed to the subject, and the wholesome stimulus given, more particularly, to the young, who may be incited to exercise their thoughts and efforts in the required direction, the Committee have been induced to offer two prizes, each of 100 Rs. for the best Essays—one in English, and the other in Bengalee, upon Cruelty to Animals,—the various forms in which it is practised, and the duty and advantages of humanity to dumb animals. These Essays are called for by the last day of the year, and the Committee have to offer their best thanks to those Gentlemen* who, in conjunction with members of this Committee, have been so kind as to promise their services in the award of Prizes.

The Committee have also to express their obligation to the Registrar of Hackney Carriages, whose kindly proffered co-operation in the objects of this Society may be made greatly to increase the means of agency in the repression of Cruelty to Horses used in all licensed conveyances.

With reference to the application made to the Government of Bengal, referred to in the first year's Report, praying attention to certain Acts of the Legislature in which provision is wanting for the punishment of those who, as owners of Cattle, are guilty in a greater degree than their servants the Drivers, by sending abroad their cattle to work in a wounded condition, the Committee have to regret that no alteration has yet been effected in the law; but they are enabled to express the hope, based on good grounds, that the promise which the Government were pleased to make, that the subject should be taken into consideration, will ere long be fulfilled, and have a favourable result.

The extension of Section 34 of Act V. of 1861, a general Enactment for the Regulation of Police, which declares the penalty for Cruelty to Animals, the Committee are happy to state has largely advanced, and is gradually progressing throughout Bengal and the Provinces,* and with it the power, as far as its provisions go, to all interested in the spread of humanity, to enforce its principles and practice over the wide face of British India.

In conclusion the Committee renew their appeal to those friends who promoted the establishment, and supported the infancy of this Society, and to all who view with approval its labours, and would see its operations and its influence confirmed, to extend their support in whatever way can contribute to its permanent utility. The generous and sustaining aid of Donors and Subscribers; the corrective authority of the Magistrates and Police authorities; the advocacy of the gentlemen of the Press; the vital influence of those engaged in the work of Education, and the co-operation of private persons, whose sympathy and moral support in discountenancing and repressing cruelty, in whatever form it may present itself, must ever be so important,—are earnestly solicited.—“Mercy to dumb animals” is an appeal which is supported by every consideration of humanity—religion, and worldly expediency. Wherever refinement extends, its claims are honoured. There are 32 Societies, branches from the parent or Royal Society of London, spread over England, Ireland and Scotland. Upwards of thirty similar Societies now exist upon the continents of Europe and America—and new Associations are springing up in various parts of the world. Every where do they appear recognized as amongst the essential signs of civilization.

* See page 19.

Kings, Queens, Princes and Bishops are seen as their Patrons and supporters. The learned and the noble are found in their Committees—advocating their principles—and zealously supporting their proceedings. All acknowledge their obligation for countless services rendered by those that minister to their daily wants and luxuries, and all therefore recognize their share of responsibility for merciful treatment of those committed to their care by that Almighty and universal Judge—

“Who in His Sovereign Wisdom made them all.”

EXTRACTS FROM LEGISLATIVE ENACTMENTS

And Suggestion for the Guidance of those who may desire to prosecute persons guilty of Cruelty to Animals.

IN THE TOWN.

By the Act XIII. of 1856, (the Police Act for the Presidency Towns and the Straits Settlement) it is provided in Section LXXXVI. that "Any Police Officer may arrest without warrant any person committing in his view any offence against this Act."

That Act was amended by the Act XLVIII. of 1860, which (it is provided) shall be taken, and read as part of Act XIII. of 1860.

The provision as to Police Officers arresting without warrant, applies to the offences described in Act XLVIII. of 1860. Among those provisions is the following in Section XXI. :—

Whoever cruelly beats, ill-treats, abuses, or tortures, or causes or procures to be cruelly beaten, ill-treated, abused, or tortured any animal, shall for every such offence be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and in default thereof to imprisonment with or without hard labour for a period not exceeding three months.

Any person who sees any such offence committed, should point it out to a Chowkedar or other Police Officer, and require him to take the offender into custody ; if the Chowkedar or other Police Officer refuses to do so, his number should be taken, and his conduct should, if possible, be reported at once to the Inspector at the nearest Police Station, or at the Police Office to the Chief Commissioner of Police.

If the case be one in which the wounded or disabled condition of the animal speaks for itself, it will not be necessary to attend to give evidence ; but if the offence be one of beating or other ill-usage, the person who calls the attention of the Police Officer to the case, should give his name and address, so that he may be called on to give evidence if required.

The Act, it will be seen, applies to the cruel beating, ill-treating, abusing, or torturing of any animal. Under these heads will fall the numerous cases of urging on bullocks by twisting their tails, or other similar torture ; yoking them to hackeries with heavy loads while their necks are in a raw and wounded state ; driving galled hacks ; striking horses and other animals over the head or in any other inhuman manner ; loading conveyances which any animal has to draw with

Under this Act owners of cattle who send them abroad to labour in a wounded or other unfitting condition, are, it will be observed, responsible for the cruelty thus inflicted, and can be proceeded against by Summons.

IN THE SUBURBS OF CALCUTTA.

The Suburbs of Calcutta embrace an area in which are included Howrah, with Seebpore and Sulkeah on the West, Chetlah on the South, and the whole of the villages and lands on the East composing the Government Estate of Punchanogram.

The Suburban Law, contained in Act XXI. of 1857, Section XXIII. is identical with the Law for the City, in reference to Cruelty to Animals, except in its omission of the words "causes or procures, &c."—and is therefore inoperative against owners.

IN THE MOFUSSIL.

The Law for the Mofussil (by which general name is meant all places throughout India beyond the Presidencies) is found in Section 34 of Act V. of 1861, entitled—"An Act for the Regulation of Police," and is also identical with Act XLVIII. in its provisions against Cruelty to Animals, with the like exception of the words 'causes or procures, &c.' At present, therefore, this Act is likewise powerless against owners, or others, who, though not immediately guilty of Cruelty to Animals, may not the less be instrumental thereto.

The deficiency here referred to has been remedied in respect to Horses employed in Stage Carriages, by Act XVI. of 1861, to which very general effect has been given, entitled "AN ACT FOR LICENSING AND REGULATING STAGE CARRIAGES"—wherein Section IX. declares as follows:—

IX. Any person who shall Cruelly beat, ill-treat, over drive, abuse, torture, or cause or procure to be Cruelly beaten, ill-treated, over driven, abused, or tortured, any horse employed in drawing, or harnessed to any Stage Carriage, or who shall harness to or drive in any stage carriage any horse which from sickness, age, wounds, or other cause, is unfit to be driven in such Stage Carriage, shall for every such offence be liable to a fine not exceeding One Hundred Rupees.

The Society's last Report (page 25) furnished a full list of the towns to which Section 34 of Act V. had been extended, which embraced only one place in Bengal—i. e. Gowhatty in Assam, but upwards of a hundred places in the Central and North-West Provinces and Burmah. Since the issue of that Report the Section referred to has been extended to 38 Towns in the following Districts of Bengal:—

Bhangulpore.	Poorneah.	Monghyr.	Dacca.
Patna.	Behar.	Shahabad.	Sarun.
Tirhoot.	Darjeeling.	Chittagong.	Assam.

Also to 29 additional towns in Central India, and to Lukhimpore, Mahomdee in Oudh.

The attention of Magistrates and residents of those parts of the country is again earnestly directed to the power thus placed in their hands to protect dumb animals from the infliction of Cruelty.

FORM OF BEQUEST.

To those benevolent persons who may be disposed to become Benefactors by Will to this Society, the following form of Bequest is respectfully suggested:—

I give and bequeath the sum of Rupees to be paid out of such part of my personal estate as can be lawfully applied for that purpose unto the Treasurer for the time being of a Society, established in Calcutta in 1862, called or known as "THE CALCUTTA SOCIETY FOR THE PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS," to be at the disposal of the Committee for the time being of the said Society, in aid of its objects; and I do hereby direct and declare that the Receipt of the Secretary and Treasurer for the time being of the said Society, for the said Legacy, shall be a sufficient discharge to my Executors for the same.

HARNESS FOR DRAUGHT CATTLE.

With the desire of making known the efforts which were elicited at the Agricultural Exhibition of Bengal for the production of a better Collar or Harness for Draught Bullocks as an improvement on the present yoke, and of inviting further attention to the subject, it has been thought that the annexed Drawings may not be without their use.

Figures 1 and 2 represent the common Bengalee Yoke, respecting which it is remarked that, being an immovable fixture to the cart, the effect is to transfer to the neck of the animal, with undiminished force, not only every little violence which the ruts and roughnesses of road create—but that constant sawing and grinding action which the continuous irregular movements of so rough a vehicle must necessarily occasion. Another source of mischief and suffering is to be found in the wooden pins which are passed through the yoke, on the outer side of the Bullocks' necks, in order to keep the yoke from slipping off. Through a bluntness of perception, which is marvellous even in a Garcewain, these pins, it will be found, are frequently cut so short at either one end or the other—or both, that they may be observed every time the least irregular movement of the yoke takes place, to dig their ends into the hump or shoulder of the animal, and hence it is believed may arise many of the wounds which are sometimes found to exist at the side of the hump, and will most probably be attributed, by the Drivers, to the Crows, which are likely enough to increase wounds already inflicted, but are not known to originate them. To make the mischief more certain, these pins are frequently hacked to a sharp point!

Figure 3 represents the American Yoke, exhibited by Mr. C. Ladd, and immediately suggests an improvement on the objectionable pins above referred to. The yoke is formed of stout wood, about 5 inches broad, and 7 deep in the centre, the lower surface is round and smooth. In this instrument the pressure is said to be divided between the yoke, which rests on the neck of the Bullock, and the two strong bows, passing through the yoke, which press against the shoulder, after the manner of a horse-collar. The object of the large iron ring, suspended from the iron strap in the centre, is, by allowing the pole of the cart to rest loosely within it, to prevent that jarring by the yoke complained of in the Bengalee implement. It will be observed that the cart could even be overturned without disturbing the yoke on the necks of the animals.

Figure 4 shows the manner of fastening the pole of the cart to the yoke, and the mode in which the latter is worn by the animal. The bows, it should be observed, can be lengthened or shortened, (and fastened by aid of pins) to adapt them to the size or form of the necks of the Bullocks.

Figure 5.—The Yoke invented and exhibited by Messrs. Monteith and Co. Half Collars, formed of wood, working loosely on strong iron pins, passing through the shaft. The inner sides of Collar, stuffed, and covered with leather. With the view of assisting to keep the Bullocks in position, the collars are united by a strap, or line passing from one to the other and fastened to iron rings. The rings on the outer side are intended to be used when the cart, such as that employed by the conservancy, is sufficiently broad to admit of traces being applied without chafing the sides of the Cattle.

Figures 9 and 10.—A yoke invented and exhibited by Monsieur A. Nielly. Formed of two pieces of wood joined in the centre, stuffed, and covered with coarse cloth or canvas. It is intended to rest against the front of the hump, around which the iron rod hoops pass on either side without touching, except at the back, where, by aid of a padding and ropes or strapping tied round the body, it is fastened.

Figure 11.—The same attached to the Bullocks, with the old yoke or cross bar, in position.

Figures 12 and 13.—In this yoke, also invented by M. Nielly, the Collars, internally shaped and stuffed like the last, are attached by pins to the cross bar of the Cart, and are intended to be worn on the neck, close to the head. The upper straps fasten round the horns, and the lower pass round the throat.

NOTICE.

The offer of a Prize of 100 Rupees for the best Collar or Harness for Draught Bullocks, as an improvement on the present yoke, which shall unite cheapness of manufacture with effectiveness, is renewed, and competition invited until the 10th May, 1865.

3. The dissemination, by placards and notices in English and the vernacular, of information which shall instruct the ignorant, and warn the heartless against acts of cruelty.
4. To enlist the good will and co-operation of the Police in these measures.
5. The introduction, into Schools and elsewhere, of Books or Tracts, in English and the vernacular, “calculated to impress on youth the duty of humanity towards the inferior animals.”
6. To elicit and disseminate suggestions for the improvement of the condition and treatment of labouring and domestic animals in this country.
7. To seek the aid of the Pulpit, the Press, and all public Instructors, in advocating the principles and objects of this Society, having in view the promotion of humanity towards the animal creation.

R E P O R T

THE presentation of this the Third Annual Report of the Calcutta Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals affords the Committee the opportunity of renewing their thanks to its friends and supporters for their continued aid and encouragement.

That the aid so generously extended has been advantageously applied in the cause of humanity, and that the objects of the Society, therefore, have in a corresponding degree been met and advanced, will, the Committee hope, be satisfactorily shewn to its patrons by the fact that the number of convictions before the Magistrates for cruelty to animals obtained by the Agents during the past year have amounted to NINE HUNDRED AND SIXTEEN, being an increase of One hundred and sixty one over those of the preceding year. Of these convictions six hundred and fifty have been obtained for cruel treatment of bullocks, and the remaining two hundred and sixty-six for similar abuse of hack horses. In the whole of these cases the punishment inflicted has been by fines, which have amounted during the year to Rs. 2,908.

The Committee regret that circumstances have not yet favoured their views and designs, indicated in their last Report, of obtaining those remedial measures in behalf of cruelly overburdened animals which they believe to be imperative for the suppression of that barbarous practice—the driving of draught cattle with raw wounds beneath the yoke—which produces so large a proportion of the Society's prosecutions. The views and designs of the Committee, however, remain unchanged, and will not be overlooked or neglected at a fitting and favouring time. In the interim they can only earnestly call upon all friends to dumb animals, to exercise whatever amount of influence may be in their power over those in whose hands the imposition of burthen may lie, at least to mitigate an evil, for the entire removal of which legislative interference and further time are needful.

The attention of the Committee has been drawn to various Tying together the legs of poultry, kids, and calves in a painful manner and exposing them for sale in that state for hours in the sun without food and water.

Tying the fore-legs of donkey painfully tight, and leaving them to graze during the whole day.

Working wounded and diseased ponies at night.

Letting loose glandered or otherwise diseased horses, and leaving them to die, and thus endangering the lives of those in the neighbourhood.

other acts of cruelty (such as those enumerated in the margin) committed by market poulterers, donkey-keepers, Butchers, Owners of horses, &c., which the Committee are desirous of preventing. But they regret that the limited income of the Society enables them at present to employ only three Agents, whose services are rendered during the day, and occasionally at night. They therefore hope that all who are interested in the promotion of the objects of the Society will be induced to afford it further aid, either by donations or annual subscriptions, and enable the Committee to engage the services of additional Agents who may be employed regularly at night as well as during the day, both in the City and the Suburbs, including Howrah.

With reference to the published invitation, mentioned in the last Annual Report, offering prizes for the best competitive essays in English and Bengallee on Cruelty to Animals, the Committee have to report that the prize for the English essay was awarded to the author of a paper signed "Aliquis," being deemed the most suitable to the views and objects of the Society. This essay has been printed, and copies have been presented to all donors and subscribers to the Society.* The essays in Bengallee not having, it is regretted, realized sufficient approval to warrant the award of success, the adjudicators were induced to reserve the prize.

In July last the Honorary Secretary, Mr. C. Grant, reported that ill-health compelled him to leave Calcutta for fifteen months, but that he had requested Mr. James Eede to act for him during his absence, which that gentleman had kindly consented to do. The Committee recorded their great obligations to Mr. Grant and deep regret that they were about to lose his very efficient services. He had indeed been the originator and the very life of the Society, and they expressed the hope that his visit home might entirely restore his health, and that he might return to carry on the work he had so zealously begun. They also thankfully accepted Mr. Eede's obliging offer. Mr. Eede was, however, soon after transferred by Government to an appointment in the North-Western Provinces, and Mr. R. A. Fink, at his request and with the sanction of the Committee, took charge of the office of Officiating Honorary Secretary.

The Cash Abstract, furnished by Mr. Grant up to 3rd July, 1865, the date on which he made over charge of his office to Mr. Eede, is appended. It will be seen that there was a balance of Rs. 2,609-8-8 in hand on the 30th April, 1864, that the receipts during the year ended 30th April, 1865, amounted to Rs. 1,532-4-6, making a total of Rs. 4,141-13-2. The expenditure during the year aggregated Rs. 1,818-1-6, leaving a balance of Rs. 2,323-11-8 in deposit in the Oriental Bank on the 1st * Obtainable also by the public at the depository of Messrs. G. C. Hay and Co. at four annas per copy.

May, 1865. The receipts from the last mentioned date to the 3rd of July amounted to Rs. 87-5-1, the disbursements to Rs. 532-7-0, and the balance in favour of the Society to Rs. 1,878-9-9.

The Committee, in conclusion, can only again commend the interests and objects of the Society to the continued good will and support of its friends and the sustaining patronage of all who approve of its labours in the cause of helpless and suffering dumb animals.

EXTRACTS FROM LEGISLATIVE ENACTMENTS,
And Suggestions for the Guidance of those who may desire to prosecute persons guilty of Cruelty to Animals.

IN THE TOWN.

By the Act XIII. of 1856, (the Police Act for the Presidency Towns and the Straits Settlement) it is provided in Section LXXXVI. that "Any Police Officer may arrest without warrant any person committing in his view any offence against this Act."

That Act was amended by the Act XLVIII. of 1860, which (it is provided) shall be taken and read as part of Act XIII. of 1860.

The provision as to Police Officers arresting without warrant, applies to the offences described in Act XLVIII. of 1860. Among those provisions is the following in Section XXI. :—

Whoever cruelly beats, ill-treats, abuses, or tortures, or causes or procures to be cruelly beaten, ill-treated, abused, or tortured any animal, shall for every such offence be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and in default thereof to imprisonment with or without hard labour for a period not exceeding three months.

Any person who sees any such offence committed, should point it out to a Chowkedar or other Police Officer, and require him to take the offender into custody; if the Chowkedar or other Police Officer refuses to do so, his number should be taken, and his conduct should, if possible, be reported at once to the Inspector at the nearest Police Station, or at the Police Office to the Chief Commissioner of Police.

If the case be one in which the wounded or disabled condition of the animal speaks for itself, it will not be necessary to attend to give evidence; but if the offence be one of beating or other ill-usage, the person who calls the attention of the Police Officer to the case, should give his name and address, so that he may be called on to give evidence if required.

The Act, it will be seen, applies to the cruel beating, ill-treating, abusing, or torturing of any animal. Under these heads will fall the numerous cases of urging on bullocks by twisting their tails, or other similar torture; yoking them to hackeries with heavy loads while their necks are in a raw and wounded state; driving galled hacks; striking horses and other animals over the head or in any other inhuman manner; loading conveyances which any animal has to draw with a weight beyond its power, and the like.

Under this Act owners of cattle who send them abroad to labour in a wounded or other unfitting condition, are, it will be observed, responsible for the cruelty thus inflicted, and can be proceeded against by Summons.

IN THE SUBURBS OF CALCUTTA.

The Suburbs of Calcutta embrace an area in which are included Howrah, with Seebpore and Sulkeah on the West, Chetlah on the South, and the whole of the villages and lands on the East composing the Government Estate of Panchanogram.

The Suburban Law, contained in Act XXI. of 1857, Section XXIII. is identical with the Law for the City, in reference to Cruelty to Animals, except in its omission of the words "causes or procures, &c."—and is therefore inoperative against owners.

IN THE MOFUSSIL.

The Law for the Mofussil (by which general name is meant all places throughout India beyond the Presidencies) is found in Section 34 of Act V. of 1861, entitled—"An Act for the Regulation of Police," and is also identical with Act XLVIII. in its provisions against Cruelty to Animals, with the like exception of the words 'causes or procures, &c.' At present, therefore, this Act is likewise powerless against owners, or others, who, though not immediately guilty of Cruelty to Animals, may not the less be instrumental thereto.

The deficiency here referred to has been remedied in respect to Horses employed in Stage Carriages, by Act XVI. of 1861, to which very general effect has been given, entitled "AN ACT FOR LICENSING AND REGULATING STAGE CARRIAGES"—wherein Section IX. declares as follows:—

IX. Any person who shall Cruelly beat, ill-treat, over drive, abuse, torture, or cause or procure to be Cruelly beaten, ill-treated, over driven, abused, or tortured, any horse employed in drawing, or harnessed to any Stage Carriage, or who shall harness to or drive in any stage carriage any horse which from sickness, age, wounds, or other cause, is unfit to be driven in such Stage Carriage, shall for every such offence be liable to a fine not exceeding One Hundred Rupees.

The Society's first Annual Report (p. 25) furnished a full list of the towns to which Section 34 of Act V. had been extended, which embraced only one place in Bengal—i. e. Gowhatty in Assam, but upwards of a hundred places in the Central and North-West Provinces and Burmah. Since the issue of that Report the Section referred to has been extended to 38 Towns in the following Districts of Bengal :—

|              |             |             |        |            |
|--------------|-------------|-------------|--------|------------|
| Bhaugulpore. | Poorneah.   | Monghyr.    | Dacca. |            |
| Patna.       | Behar.      | Shahabad.   | Sarun. | Chumparun. |
| Tirhoot.     | Darjeeling. | Chittagong. | Assam. |            |

Also to 29 additional towns in Central India, and to Lukhimpore, Mahomdee in Oudh.

And since the publication of the 2nd Annual Report to the under-mentioned places: Chittagong Hill Tracts, certain Towns in the district of Nuddea, Jessore, Cantonment of Chinsurah, Cantonment of Berhampore, Cuttack, Cantonment of Barrackpore.

The attention of Magistrates and residents of those parts of the country is again earnestly directed to the power thus placed in their hands to protect dumb animals from the infliction of Cruelty.

FORM OF BEQUEST.

To those benevolent persons who may be disposed to become Benefactors by Will to this Society, the following form of Bequest is respectfully suggested :—

I give and bequeath the sum of ... .. Rupees, to be paid out of such part of my personal estate as can be lawfully applied for that purpose, unto the Treasurer for the time being of a Society, established in Calcutta in 1862, called or known as "THE CALCUTTA SOCIETY FOR THE PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS," to be at the disposal of the Committee for the time being of the said Society, in aid of its objects; and I do hereby direct and declare that the Receipt of the Secretary and Treasurer for the time being of the said Society, for the said Legacy, shall be a sufficient discharge to my Executors for the same.

OBJECTS AND PLANS OF THE SOCIETY.

This Society commends itself to the support and co-operation of the community on the following catholic grounds:—

I. Its special object. The prevention of cruel and improper treatment of Animals, and the amelioration of their condition generally throughout India. The means to this end are:—

1. The Agency of paid European officers, whose duty it is, in the City, to watch, warn, and threaten, or prosecute, as needful, all persons found guilty of inhumanity to animals.*

2. The distribution of printed papers in the Bengalee, Oordoo, and English languages, warning the heartless, instructing the ignorant, and providing all with information and useful hints respecting the treatment of their dumb labourers.

3. The circulation of papers in English amongst the European and educated native community, furnishing information as to the Law throughout India, and the means at their disposal for punishing the wantonly cruel, and holding a check upon brutal inhumanity.

4. Inviting information and suggestions from all who are interested in the cause of civilization throughout India respecting any barbarous practices, whether arising from cruelty or ignorance, over which this Society may be thought able to exercise any influence towards the improvement of the treatment and condition of labouring and domestic animals.

5. The introduction into Schools and elsewhere, of Books, or Tracts, in English and the vernacular, "calculated to impress on youth the duty of humanity towards the inferior animals."

6. Seeking the aid of the Pulpit—the Press, and all public Instructors, in advocating the principles and objects of this Society, having in view the promotion of humanity towards the animal creation.

II. Its important share and influence as an agent in the education of the people,—the cultivation of those merciful impulses which tend to the growth of humanity, and "prevention of cruelty"—to man.†

Towards these ends the moral support and co-operation of the community are not less sought than its pecuniary aid to meet the varied expences incidental to the Society's operations, the extent and utility of which, in a field so wide, can only be limited by the extent of means at command.

Communications and contributions will be thankfully received by the Secretary on behalf of the Committee.

* The number of prosecutions by the Society, from its commencement in 1862 to the present time, has extended to 5,297.

† "I look at this Society as instituted, not merely for the purpose of protecting the brute creation from wanton cruelty, but also as constituted for the purpose of protecting human Society from the manifold evil effects which result from the indulgence of habits of cruelty towards animals."

R E P O R T.

THE Committee of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals have again the pleasure to acknowledge their obligations, and renew their thanks, for that generous support on the part of Donors and Subscribers to the Society which, throughout the past three years, has continued to encourage its efforts and sustain its efficiency.

Foremost amongst these obligations, the Committee have to record their sense of the liberal and valued support, during the past five years, of their late distinguished Patron, Sir John Lawrence; and, with the highest feelings of gratification, to announce that the influential and encouraging patronage of the Viceroy has been renewed in the person of the noble Earl now at the head of the Government,—His Excellency Lord Mayo having kindly consented to become the Patron of this Society.

They have pleasure also in thankfully recording a very acceptable concession to the means of the Society, by the grant from Government of a moiety of the fines levied by the Magistrates of Calcutta in cases of conviction for cruelty to animals obtained by the Society's Agents.

That, during the three years which have elapsed since the issue and therefore, it is hoped, of its salutary influences in behalf of dumb animals in this country, will be gathered from the fact, that within this period i. e. from the 10th May, 1865, to the 31st December, 1868, THREE THOUSAND ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY persons have been convicted and punished for cruelty to animals in this city and its suburbs. Of these convictions, 1271 have been for the abuse of hack horses,—whilst 1849 were cases of that description of cruelty to draught Bullocks—their being driven with wounds under the yoke,—which the Committee fear will continue to exist until a definite remedy can be provided for that most fertile source of suffering “over-burthening.”

The whole of these convictions have been obtained by the Society’s paid Agents, and are therefore exclusive of Six hundred and sixteen cases prosecuted during the same period by the Honorary Agent to the Society, and about forty-five known to have been brought forward by the Police and private persons, to all of whom the cause of humanity is a debtor.

The penalties inflicted have been almost exclusively by fines, which, omitting those resulting from Police and private prosecutions, have amounted throughout the entire period to above 9,285 Rs. The exceptional cases were eight only in number, seven in which the offenders were punished by imprisonment, and one, in the case of a boy, by whipping.

The Committee, however, would here repeat, that which they have already had occasion to urge, that the objects of this Society are not penal but moral; not to encourage or view with complacency a stock-in-trade from which to institute prosecutions and realize fines, but to lessen both;—to prevent those sufferings to animals which cruelty and ignorance create, and that penalty and loss to men which such cruelty entails. It is thereto Animals" submitted by Baboó Peary Chund Mittra, has passed the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and received the final sanction of the Viceroy. The moral effect of this Bill will, the Committee sanguinely anticipate, exercise an influence pregnant with good to the cause of humanity in India. It is not the mere threat of penalty, but the recognition by the State, in a special manner and degree, of the rights of the brute creation, and denouncement of their abuse, amidst many millions of people, in particular, on whom the voice of authority is essential to impress the dictates of duty, or the sentiments of justice and humanity.

The Bill had its origin in the anxiety of this Society to provide a remedy for that most fruitful source of barbarity and suffering to draught Bullocks, the inordinate amount of burthen imposed upon them—an imposition not only most cruel in itself, as an infliction on the power and endurance of the animals, as every eye must daily see, but undeniably productive of those frightful wounds, under the yoke, gaping witnesses to the wrongs inflicted on the helpless animals which, however mitigated in character, continue to occasion the bulk of the Society's prosecutions.

The Committee regret that full provision against this crying evil, as originally sought by the Society, on the ground of its assumed practicability, based on the singular uniformity of animals, of conveyance, and goods conveyed, was not thought practicable by the Legislature; but they rejoice in the admission into the act of, at least, the principle of mercy which "cruel" over-burthening (and all over-burthening is cruel) so grossly violates. It is a valuable step in advance, and the Committee can only rely on that interpretation of the new Law by the Executive which will not render it altogether a dead letter when, in fitting season, and on suitable occasion, the Society may seek

The failure of any express provision, such as prevails in most other countries where protective Societies exist, against another grievous source of cruelty to the lesser animals—the heartless manner in which daily, and by thousands, they are carried to and from our markets, is also cause of disappointment; but the expressed opinion of the Select Committee of the Legislative Council, that the protection sought is provided for in Section 2 of the Bill, encourages the hope that this view will be accepted by the Magistrates when the Society may find occasion, after the institution and trial of other measures in contemplation, to seek the enforcement of the Law.* The mode of carrying Animals, tied and suspended by the legs, head downwards, (practised more particularly with poultry, game, &c. in India) has been condemned by eminent medical men in Europe, not less for its cruelty than for the highly injurious consequences to the flesh of such animals in rendering it unwholesome as human food.

The Committee have much satisfaction in directing public attention to the prohibition by the enactment of Cock or other bird-fighting, and baiting animals of any kind whatsoever,—cruel and demoralizing practices, which have hitherto existed to a great extent in this city and throughout India; and they have also to congratulate the community, on provision being made against the painful and disgusting exhibition of diseased, dying, and dead horses, or other animals, cruelly neglected by their owners, the first, with danger alike to man

* The provision sought and embodied in the Bill, as originally submitted, was as follows:—

“IV. Every person who shall convey or carry, or cause to be conveyed or carried any animal in such a manner or position as to subject such animal to unnecessary pain or suffering, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.”

The remark on this Section by the Select Committee of the Bengal Legislative Council in their Report upon the Bill is as follows:—

and beast, permitted to roam about, and the latter left to lie, unheeded, in the streets.

To all who sympathize in the work of this Society, it will be pleasing to know how much attention is directed, and how widespread an interest excited, at this time, in the cause of humanity to animals throughout Europe and America, where numerous kindred associations are springing up into life and activity. The vigorous and extensive Societies of New York and Boston are encouraging examples of what energetic perseverance in a good cause will accomplish in a short time. With these and other Societies, those of Scotland, Belfast, Trieste, the Hague, Switzerland, and Berlin, a friendly and very useful intercourse has arisen, calculated, it is hoped, to be of mutual advantage by reciprocating information and experience. To the President of the Boston Society, the Committee have to tender their best thanks for the regular receipt of an excellent and most spirited periodical, just commenced by that Association, in the interests of "Our dumb animals," together with assurances of friendly sympathy and all possible co-operation in the good work. From the parent, or Royal Society of London, the honoured originator of all kindred bodies, they continue gratified by encouraging communications, and the hope expressed in its last received Annual Report, that the "successful introduction of the Calcutta Society will stimulate the establishment of similar Institutions throughout the colonies and dependencies of the British Empire."

The Honorary Secretary having returned from Europe, and last year resumed office the best thanks of the Committee were tendered to Mr. Jas. Bruce, who so kindly and efficiently conducted the duties during two years of the Society's labours.

The Committee, whilst again appealing to the public for the continuance of that pecuniary aid which is essential to the vitality of the Association, and increase of its utility, with equal earnestness entreat the aid of that moral support which all have it in their power to contribute to the good cause. From the Magistrates, to whose authority and valued assistance, the Society has, from its infancy, been so large a debtor, and from the gentlemen of the Press, they solicit a continuance of that vindication of justice, and support of the principles of mercy, which are so potent for good.

To the mercantile members of the community, they earnestly appeal for the exercise of that influence so peculiarly in their power, which, bearing upon the root of the one great evil, creative of the numerous prosecutions here recorded, would in a very large degree, take the place of Legislative Enactment. The influence here sought is the voice of authority over the Chowdrees and Godown Sircars, in whose hands the imposition of burthen upon the cattle lies, and whose interests, it is believed, are at variance with its merciful reduction.*

From all engaged in the work, or the encouragement of education in particular, they entreat the most valuable of all co-operation, by their interesting the minds and sympathies of the young, in the study of natural history, and of anecdotes connected with it; an element in education calculated to establish in youth those impulses of mercy, and habits of kindness and gentleness, which no evil influences in after-life are ever known to destroy,—influences which, so far from ending with consideration for the lower animals, lie at the root of every principle and impulse of humanity towards man.

* The system at present existing is, that the Merchant pays a certain rate, generally two pice per maund, for the carriage of goods—not to the cartman, but to the “middle man”—the Chowdry, or the Godown Sircars who hire the carts, and thus have an interest in lading them with the heaviest possible burthen at the least possible cost in order to their own aggrandizement.

In connection with this, and referring to the Prize Essay which in 1865 was issued by this Society, the Committee have to report that, having been translated into the Bengali language, it has been printed, and put freely into circulation where it may prove to be useful.* Through the obliging and influential agency of the Director of Public Instruction, and the Principal of the Presidency College, copies have been distributed to numerous Libraries and Schools, and the Editors of the native Press have been earnestly requested to use the great engine of instruction in their hands to commend the objects of the Essay and the Society to the minds of their own reading community. As the bulk of the people on whose conduct the treatment and happiness of the dumb creation in India rest, are unable to read, the Society must chiefly look for the dissemination of its principles amongst them, through the instrumentality of their own gentry—the higher and educated classes.

Above all, however, the Committee especially appeal to those Ladies now so zealously and nobly engaged in the work of Zenana visiting and teaching, to exercise their influence amongst those who exercise a yet deeper—because primary—influence over the hearts of the young—the Mothers of Bengal.—With the enlistment and aid of that influence, could it be universal, Societies like this might cease their labours, and Legislative Enactments be no more sought.

Trial of offences out of Calcutta.

VIII. Section LXVII of Act IV of 1866, and Clause 16 of Section XL of Act II of 1866, respectively, passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, are hereby repealed.

Repeal of Clauses.

IX. This Act shall extend to the Town of Calcutta, and to the Suburbs of the Town of Calcutta, as defined by any Notification under Section I of the said Act II of 1866.

Limit of Act.

X. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette, to extend this Act to any city, town, station, bazar, cantonment, village, district, or portion of a district, to be mentioned and defined in such order; and from time to time, by any order published as aforesaid, to revoke, vary, amend, or alter any such order.

Power to extend Act.

AMONGST other provisions, the present enactment, it will be seen, applies to the cruel beating, ill-treating, abusing, torturing, overdriving or overloading of any animal; and also its employment whilst in any condition of disease, infirmity, or wounds, rendering it unfit to be so employed.

Under these heads will prominently fall the numerous cases of urging on buffaloes by twisting their tails, or other similar torture; yoking them to hackeries with heavy loads while their necks are in a raw and wounded state; driving galled hacks; striking horses and other animals over the head, or in any other inhuman manner; loading conveyances which any animal has to draw with a weight beyond its power, and the like.

Under this Act owners of cattle who send them abroad to labour in a wounded or other unfitting condition, are, it will be observed, responsible for the Cruelty thus inflicted and can be proceeded against by Summons.

In referencē to Sections 3rd and 4th, it is not the intention of this Society to seek the enforcement of the law in other than aggravated and wanton cases of its infringement, until such time shall have elapsed as may be sufficient to give full publicity to its existence, and to afford a fair and just warning against its violation.

The extension of this Act beyond Calcutta, in accordance with the power vested in the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, must necessarily be the work of time; but in the interim it is earnestly hoped that Suburban and Mofussul Magistrates and friends will not relax in their co-operation, but be assured that the moral force of their persuasion and displeasure, will exercise an influence for good largely compensative for all which, during a brief season, may be wanting through the absence of legislative measures, and Penal forfeitures.

IN THE CALCUTTA POLICE ACT, IV of 1866, Clause 10 of Section LXVI, and Clause 11 of Section XL, of the SUBURBAN ACT, II. of 1866, though not framed with humanitarian views, are not the less operative to that end. The noisy wheels so discordant to men's ears do but loudly proclaim the cruelty imposed on beasts' backs, and the provision is not more a remedy for a nuisance than to a large degree a mitigation of needless and painful labour. The prohibited offence is—

“Driving a Hackery or cart with insufficiently greased wheels.”

And the penalty is a fine not exceeding 50 Rs.

IN THE MOFUSSIL.

Of the GENERAL POLICE ACT, V of 1861, of the Council of India, Section XXXIV has been extended to above 29 Towns in various districts of Bengal, and to upwards of 200 Towns in the N. W. Provinces, Central India, Hyderabad assigned Districts, and British Burmah. This Enactment renders liable to arrest “without a warrant,” and a fine of 50 Rs. or to imprisonment—

“Any person who wantonly or cruelly beats, tortures, or abuses any animal.”

The “STAGE CARRIAGE ACT,” XVI of 1861, continues in force, and Section IX. therein declares as follows:—

IX. “Any person who shall Cruelly beat, ill-treat, over-drive, abuse, torture, or cause or procure to be Cruelly beaten, ill-treated, over-driven, abused, or tortured, any horse employed in drawing, or harnessed to any Stage Carriage, or who shall harness to or drive in any stage carriage any horse which, from sickness, age, wounds, or other cause, is unfit to be driven in such Stage Carriage, shall for every such offence be liable to a fine not exceeding One Hundred Rupees.”

The attention of Mofussil Magistrates, and of all travellers and residents throughout India, is therefore earnestly directed to the power, thus placed in their hands, to protect those who cannot protect themselves from the infliction of cruelty.

FORM OF BEQUEST.

To those benevolent persons who may be disposed to become Benefactors by Will to this Society, the following form of Bequest is respectfully suggested :—

I give and bequeath, the sum of..... Rupees to be paid out of such part of my personal estate as can be lawfully applied for that purpose unto the Treasurer for the time being of a Society, established in Calcutta in 1862, called or known as "THE CALCUTTA SOCIETY FOR THE PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS," to be at the disposal of the Committee for the time being of the said Society, in aid of its objects; and I do hereby direct and declare that the Receipt of the Secretary and Treasurer for the time being of the said Society, for the said Legacy, shall be a sufficient discharge to my Executors for the same."

SUN PROTECTOR FOR HORSES.

The Committee, having for some time contemplated the subject of a Protection for Horses working and standing in the sun, are pleased to find the desideratum in a great measure met by an invention introduced by Mr. Mead of Calcutta; and feel it their duty, in the interests of humanity to Animals in India, to bring to notice, and commend for adoption that gentleman's "Sun Protector" for sale of which Messrs. Hunter & Co., Veterinary Surgeons of Calcutta, are the Agents.

The Committee, however, would observe that the "Protector" admits of considerable improvement; the covering given to the head and upper portion of the neck, though very important, requires to be extended over the whole spine, for though sun stroke principally affects the region covered by the "Protector" the cause is not thus localized. An extension of Mr. Mead's plan is therefore suggested by the addition of two other shields, one a neck protector, and the other a defence for the loins, all of which could be very easily fitted and worn.

The lightness of material, (Sola,) and the simplicity of construction, are greatly in favour of the general adoption of this protection as a means of safety to the lives of valuable Horses, and a source of relief to them, a protection which commends itself on the grounds alike of policy and humanity.

The annexed sketch will serve to illustrate the nature of the protector, and its proposed improvements, and perhaps stimulate the ingenious and humane to discuss its merits and elicit suggestions upon the subject.

By order of the Committee,

OBJECTS AND PLANS OF THE SOCIETY.

This Society commends itself to the support and co-operation of the community on the following catholic grounds:—

I. Its special object:—The prevention of cruel and improper treatment of Animals, and the amelioration of their condition generally throughout India. The means to this end are:—

1. The Agency of paid European officers, whose duty it is, in the City to watch, warn, and threaten, or prosecute, as needful, all persons found guilty of inhumanity to animals.*

2. The distribution of printed papers in the Bengalee, Oorsee, and English languages, warning the heartless, instructing the ignorant, and providing all with information and useful hints respecting the treatment of their dumb labourers.

3. The circulation of papers in English amongst the European and educated native community, furnishing information as to the Law throughout India, and the means at their disposal for punishing the wantonly cruel, and holding a check upon brutal inhumanity.

4. Inviting information and suggestions from all who are interested in the cause of civilization throughout India respecting any barbarous practices, whether arising from cruelty or ignorance, over which this Society may be thought able to exercise any influence towards the improvement of the treatment and condition of labouring and domestic animals.

5. The introduction into Schools and elsewhere, of Books, or Tracts in English and the vernacular, "calculated to impress on youth the duty of humanity towards the inferior animals."

6. Seeking the aid of the Pulpit—the Press, and all public Instructors in advocating the principles and objects of this Society, having in view the promotion of humanity towards the animal creation.

II. Its important share and influence as an agent in the education of the people,—the cultivation of those merciful impulses which tend to the growth of humanity, and "prevention of cruelty"—to man.†

Towards these ends the moral support and co-operation of the community are not less sought than its pecuniary aid to meet the varied expences incidental to the Society's operations, the extent and utility of which, in a field so wide, can only be limited by the extent of means at command.

Communications and contributions will be thankfully received by the Secretary on behalf of the Committee.

* The number of prosecutions by the Society, from its commencement in 1862 to the present time, has extended to upwards of 10,000 Cases.

† "I look at this Society as instituted, not merely for the purpose of protecting the brute creation from wanton cruelty, but also as constituted for the purpose of protecting human Society from the manifold evil effects which result from the indulgence of habits of cruelty towards animals."

REPORT.

---

The Committee of this Society have to record and to mourn the loss both of its noble and generous Patron, Lord Mayo, whose untimely end threw over India so deep a gloom, and their much loved President the Venerable Archdeacon Pratt. Universal grief created by the former of these events has long ago found vent in channels more suited for its expression than the pages of this Report; and sorrow for the latter, with an honouring testimonial to the eminent worth and virtues of so distinguished a man, also found fitting place in the official organ of the Government, and concluded in words to which there were none in India to whom his name was known, whose hearts did not confirmingly respond :—

“The Governor-General in Council feels assured that the death of the Venerable Archdeacon Pratt will be mourned by the entire Christian Community in India.”*

The greatness of his mind was equalled by the goodness of his heart, and amiability of his disposition, and hence, in the zeal of his humanity, he was to this Society an invaluable President and friend.

With this tribute of respect and gratitude to those who have passed away, the Committee have now the gratification to announce that the influential and valued Patronage of the Viceroy has been restored by His Excellency Lord Northbrook having most kindly consented to become the Patron of the Society.

During the four years which have elapsed since the publication of its last Report, the labours of the Society have continued to illustrate the sad prevalence of animal suffering in this City, and the continued need of the merciful interference of an Institution framed for the exposure of the wrong, and vindication of the rights of those mute sufferers whose helplessness appeals so eloquently to every just and generous mind.

Of the extent of that suffering, some idea, however imperfect, will be formed from the fact that during the past four years the convictions for cruelty to animals obtained by the officers of this Society before the Magistrates of the Northern and Southern Divisions of Calcutta, have amounted to 3,945. To this number have to be added upwards of 107 cases prosecuted during the past six months by the Honorary Agent, Baboo Surruth Chunder Ghose, making a total of 4,052, or an average of above one thousand in the year. Besides these, numerous other cases have been prosecuted by Mr. Mendes, Honorary Agent, who has kept no record, and by officers of the Police, and private persons, to all of whom the warm thanks of the Committee are cordially tendered.

The punishment inflicted has been exclusively by fines, which, during the year 1869, amounted to Rs. 821, but, as will be seen by reference to the accounts, have since then considerably increased.

The Cash Abstract up to the end of March of the present year, shews a balance in favour of the Society of Rs. 2,322, of which Rs. 1000 is a fixed Deposit in the Bank at four per cent. interest.

Against the available balance, or Rs. 1,322, many and increasing demands for important purposes must necessarily leave the Society still dependent on the continuance of that liberal support which its friends have hitherto so kindly accorded.

The continued heavy sum of convictions now reported will not, it is hoped, be thought to indicate any failure in the labours of the Society to prevent cruelty. It is explainable simply by the increasing traffic of our city, and the vigilance and greater experience of the Agents in detecting cases of animals being driven with wounds concealed under the harness or yoke, or disguised with mud and plaster.

Notwithstanding this sad display of animal suffering, the Committee can confidently appeal to the evidence of those who remember the state of the Street Cattle ten years back, when animals without wounds were, it is believed, the exception to the rule, as to their comparative condition, generally, at the present time.

Of the total number of convictions above named, 1,775 have been for the maltreatment of Hack Horses, and the remainder, or 2,277, for cruelty to the most grossly abused of animals in this city,—draught Bullocks; cruelty which may almost exclusively be chargeable to the crying evil of overburthening,—an evil over which this Society can exercise little or no control until the principle be admitted that it is better that five bullocks should be a trifle under-weighted, than that five hundred should be most oppressively overburthened. How undeniable this oppression, and unavoidable the conclusion as to the effects, may be gathered from the fact that out of some 12,000 bullocks labouring in Calcutta, nearly five per cent. are annually found in that state in which they are produced as witnesses to their own wrongs.

'The cruelty, therefore, it will be seen does not consist in the mere exhausting strain of bearing and of dragging an inordinate burthen, amounting in many cases to more than one ton in weight, (which is cruel enough), but in the consequent gall wounds under the yoke, the perpetual beating and goading, the wrenching of tails, and other abuses of the unfortunate, half skeleton animals by the drivers, in order to satisfy either their own impatience, or the demands of their masters to accomplish a given number of trips within an unreasonable time.

The Committee can only indulge the hope that the Government may yet be led to believe that to define a reasonable and merciful weight to be imposed on our dumb labourers is not less practicable than to fix the number of passengers to be carried in a ticca carriage, or a dinghee, irrespective of the power or size of the horses in the one case, or the strength of the boat in the other.

In illustration of the sympathy which this subject has excited, not only in European circles, from whence lengthy and earnest appeals have been made, but in the minds of the Native Community, and how earnestly they desire a reform, which it might be thought their interests would rather tend to oppose, the Committee have the satisfaction to state that since the issue of their last Report, they have received from the merchants of the Burra Bazar and its neighbourhood, an appeal to this Society, urging its efforts for the suppression of overburthening. This appeal was signed by upwards of One hundred merchants, and other gentlemen of the Native Community, and also by the heads of two or three Christian firms.

A subject more painful in character must here be referred to, though only briefly dwelt upon,—the slaughtering of Cattle for food. The subject is one which beyond all others has occupied, and demands the most serious attention of the Committee, as it has already engaged that of men of science and humanity in Europe. In 1871, an appeal was made to the Lieut.-Governor on the subject, but for reasons requiring no present notice, the appeal failed. The matter is now reserved until remonstrances and appeals can be made efficient by the submission of suggestions for remedies, that may be as practical as they are urgent.

Another and similarly painful question is also under earnest enquiry:—the manner in which the unhappy pariah, dogs are destroyed in our streets has occasioned the most pressing remonstrances from humane correspondents, and calls from the Magisterial Bench upon the Society to take action in the matter. An appeal to the scientific gentlemen of Calcutta having been made for suggestions upon the subject, and kindly responded to, the Committee are hopeful that measures will now very shortly be submitted for adoption, in order to bring these cruelties to an end, and relieve the public eye from a disgusting and demoralizing spectacle.

Against the brutality of wrenching and dislocating Bullocks' tails so commonly practised in Calcutta, preliminary measures have been taken by the free circulation of a printed warning in the Bengalee and Oordoo languages. After a reasonable time for its publication, this will be followed by the prosecution of offenders before the Magistrates.

Another cruel practice against which quiet measures have long been tried in vain, is that of carrying animals, particularly Fowls of every kind, slung by the legs head downwards. Self-interest alone might have been supposed sufficiently effective to prevent this practice, as it is one, admittedly, not only (in the opinion of eminent medical authority in this city)* extremely cruel, but injurious to the consumers of the flesh of such animals, which under the effects of torture, is declared to be in a diseased or unwholesome state. The practice is a penal offence in England and America, and with consent of the Magistrates of Calcutta to entertain cases brought before them for prosecution, the strictest measures will, after the circulation of a printed warning and a reasonable time, be enforced for its suppression.

With the view, however, of preventing these measures from creating needless annoyance, or inconvenience, and also of rendering an intended appeal to the public practical in character, a means by which Fowl of every kind can be carried in a humane manner has been devised, consisting of a simple net, with basket bottom. These nets will shortly be found available at a very small cost in the Dhurrumtollah and Tiretta Markets.

A subject of deep interest in the minds of all sympathizers in the objects of this Society has long occupied the attention of the Committee, and six months ago resulted in an appeal being addressed to the Chairman of the Justices for provision of Water Troughs for the unfortunate and parched animals that now traverse the streets of this city without the power of obtaining one drop of water to slake their thirst. The appeal

* "I think the plan of carrying fowls suspended by the feet is barbarous, and ought to be prevented—if necessary, by Legislative enactment. When fowls are so carried over prolonged periods of time, the process must cause considerable pain and distress. During the intense heat of a summer sun in the tropics, this pain, doubtless, often amounts to agony. I suggest that there would be no difficulty in getting fowls brought to market in properly constructed baskets."

was accompanied by a drawing, shewing a design for an addition to the present stand pipes which should simply economize the abundant waste water by carrying it into a pair of cattle troughs. To this appeal, the Committee regret to report that no reply has yet been received. Whilst, however, in England, where a special "Drinking Fountain and Cattle Trough Association" exists, and is zealously fostered, and nobly presided over, and in other cold climates also, water is provided for cattle and animals in the streets, it is not believed possible that this most crying want in a tropical city will much longer go unheeded. The Committee are not without hope that the generous example set by the Maharajah of Vizianagram in the distant city of London by the bestowal of a Drinking Fountain and Cattle Trough in one of its populous districts, may suggest to some of the wealthy and generous nobles of India, some similar oriental and humane gifts in this the thirstier clime of their own land. Such gifts bestowed in places where our municipal arrangements do not reach, would be mercies indeed to the animal world around them, and confer enduring honour on the Donors' names.

With the view not only of familiarizing the people amongst whom this Society labours, with the existence, nature, and penalties of the Law under which cruelty to animals is punished, and thus avoiding the probable charge of an unjust omission, the Committee have resolved on the publication of the Law in the Bengalee, Oordoo, Hindee, Goosratee, Tamil, Telugu and Burmese Languages. Not only are very many of the people, who speak and read these languages, living within this city, but the intended publicity will, it is hoped, be the means of disseminating a wholesome knowledge of the principles and objects of the Society beyond its own immediate centre, and probably encourage and aid humane persons in other parts of India to take up the good work.

'It is indeed with regret that this Society has to report itself still to be the sole representative in this way of the rights and claims of the animal world in all Asia. On several occasions, the hopes of the Committee have been raised that some outside fruit of their labours would have been exhibited by the establishment of branch, or sister Societies in different parts of this vast land.

Applications for information and guidance have been received from Madras, Allahabad, Ahmedabad, and elsewhere, but no results have yet followed. The Committee, however, do not despair. Gentlemen in other parts of the country, zealous in the cause, are still in communication with the Society on the subject, and hope therefore is still encouraged of some hearty effort ere long shewing signs of fruition. The field is gigantic, "but the labourers are few" indeed.

There are, it has been estimated, some twenty five million of Horses in Asia, of which no small proportion would be found in India. If the number of horned cattle no more than doubled that proportion, and if of the lesser animals only a similar proportion existed, there would be, in the words of an American* writer, "a pretty good constituency for humane Societies," in this wide land.

The Committee have great pleasure in reporting a very gratifying accession to the strength of the Society, and its staff, in the zealous aid of Baboo Suruth Chunder Ghose, a gentleman who, having volunteered his services as an Honorary Agent to the Society, has given very substantial evidence of the zeal of his labours and the value of his influence. The importance of the latter is not shewn alone by the extensive pecuniary aid which it will be seen his efforts have brought to the funds of the Society, but in that much-desired and practical sympathy he has excited in the minds of his own community, a sympathy which it is now hoped will grow into that active co-operation which will exhibit itself in efforts to disseminate a knowledge of the principles and commend the practice of humanity amongst the lower classes of the people, which their own gentry almost alone have it in their power to do.

The Committee have again the pleasing duty to render their grateful acknowledgments for the kind and generous support of Subscribers, and Donors to the Society which has continued to sustain the cause of justice and mercy to animals in this country.

To the Magistrates of Calcutta also, who have so consistently supported the efforts of the Agents in their labours, and vindicated the rights of dumb animals to protection from abuse, the Committee beg to tender their best thanks; and to the gentlemen of the Press, who have so freely lent their columns and their advocacy to the interests of the Society, the Committee have also to express their great obligation.

To all these and other valued and influential friends,—to the Commissioner of Police,—the Chairman and Justices of the Peace,—to all engaged in the work, or interested in the progress of education,—particularly to those who exercise the first and highest influence over the human heart—the Ladies of the community;—to all who would see established in youth those habits of kindness and gentleness towards the lower animals, which undeniably lie at the root of every sentiment of justice, and every principle and impulse of humanity towards man; who would keep pace with the broad strides which civilization is everywhere making in this direction, and would, in fine, take advantage of one open door, at least, where there is no opposition, to advance the moral condition of the millions of this vast Empire, the Committee can only repeat their earnest appeal for the continuance of that pecuniary aid, and the increase of that moral support and influence which are needful to strengthen their hands, to encourage their efforts, and carry forward the work of humanity to its full fruition.

WATER TROUGHS FOR CATTLE.

It is with very great gratification the Committee have to announce that since the printing of the foregoing portion of this "Report" they have been informed that the initiative in the long coveted work of mercy to animals in our streets has been taken; two or three experimental Water Troughs, of the nature and form suggested by the Committee, having by the kindness of the Municipality been set up in different parts of the town. Experience seems to indicate the necessity of a change in the plan, by placing the Troughs at some little distance from the stand-pipes, around which the constant crowd of men appears, at present, to interfere with the approach of animals.

The Committee will therefore now take measures to have a new model trough made on a more suitable plan, and they feel confident in the hope that, when once a trough has been approved and found to answer the purpose, there will be no difficulty in getting such troughs adopted generally in the streets of Calcutta.

The Committee have to record with sorrow the further and melancholy loss of a much valued fellow member—Mr. Rowland V. Cockrell, who was unfortunately killed, on the 9th of October, by a fall with his horse down one of the Himalayan steeps near Simla.

FORM OF BEQUEST.

To those benevolent persons who may be disposed to become Benefactors by Will to this Society, the following form of Bequest is respectfully suggested :—

I give and bequeath, the sum of ..... Rupees, to be paid out of such part of my personal estate as can be lawfully applied for that purpose unto the Treasurer for the time being of a Society, established in Calcutta in 1862, called or known as "THE CALCUTTA SOCIETY FOR THE PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS," to be at the disposal of the Committee for the time being of the said Society, in aid of its objects; and I do hereby direct and declare that the Receipt of the Secretary and Treasurer for the time being of the said Society, for the said Legacy, shall be a sufficient discharge to my Executors for the same."

“THE ANIMAL WORLD.”

In the interests of the living “Animal World,” the above named charming and cheap periodical is commended to the attention of all friends of the humanitarian cause. The work is published monthly by the “Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals” in London, and is admirably adapted by its advocacy, correspondence, instruction, entertainment, and beautiful illustrations, to awaken and sustain an interest for both young and old in all that concerns the animal creation.—It is well fitted as a gift for Schools.

The subscription is only 2 shillings yearly in England, or Rs. 2 in Calcutta.

To those who may desire to obtain the back volumes, either in quantities, or conjointly with other subscribers, the following extract from a Circular Letter received from Mr. Colam, Secretary to the “R. S. P. C. A.,” will shew that they can do so at half price.

“I beg to inform you that I have made arrangements with Mr. Mullan, publisher, of Belfast, to offer to our Branches and to sister Societies the above volumes, at half price, i. e. 15s. per dozen of 13 volumes, subjected to a considerable reduction for a large order.

“The volumes, as you are aware, contain many beautifully executed Engravings, are strongly bound in illustrated covers, and are not only calculated to further your humanitarian objects, but are also well adapted for presents, etc.; indeed, it would be impossible to buy in the book market so large and well executed a volume at less than double, perhaps treble, the price at which it is now offered to you.

“If you contemplate offering rewards for Essays, or for humanity, I would suggest the employment of these volumes for such purposes. They will be productive of much good, if presented to Hospitals, Prisons, Workhouses, Mechanics’ Institutions, Working men’s clubs, Railway Waiting Rooms, &c. &c.”

Orders can be addressed to Messrs. G. C. Hay and Co., Booksellers, 11, Esplanade, E. Calcutta.

CALCUTTA SOCIETY FOR THE PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

ACT I OF 1869. BENGAL COUNCIL.

(Received the assent of the Lieutenant-Governor on the 28th January, 1869, and of the Governor-General on the 1st March, 1869.)

An Act for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Preamble. WHEREAS it is expedient to make provision for the prevention of cruelty to animals; It is enacted as follows:—

I. The word "animal" shall be taken to mean any domestic or tamed quadruped, or any domestic or tamed bird.

II. Every person who shall cruelly and wantonly beat, ill-treat, abuse, torture, overdrive, or overload, or cause to be beaten, ill-treated, abused, tortured, overdriven, or overladen, any animal, shall be liable to a fine which may extend to one hundred Rupees.

III. Every person who shall incite any quadrupeds or birds, whether domestic or wild, to fight, or shall bait any animal, or shall aid or shall abet any one in so doing, shall be liable to a fine which may extend to fifty Rupees.

IV. Every person who shall wilfully and knowingly permit any animal, of which he may be owner, to go at large in any public street, road, or thoroughfare, while such animal is affected with contagious or infectious disease, or shall wilfully permit any diseased or disabled animal, of which he may be owner, to die in any public street, road, or thoroughfare, shall be liable to a fine which may extend to one hundred Rupees.

V. Every person who shall employ or cause to be employed in any work or labour, any animal which, in consequence of any disease, infirmity, wounds, or sores, is unfit to be so employed, shall be liable to a fine which may extend to fifty Rupees.

VI. All complaints of offences against the provisions of this Act, alleged to have been committed in the Town of Calcutta, shall be heard and determined in a summary way by some Police Magistrate of Calcutta.

VII. Every charge of an offence against the provisions of this Act, alleged to have been committed out of Calcutta, may be heard and determined by any Officer authorized to exercise any of the powers of a Magistrate in the place in which such offence may be alleged to have been committed, and the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure shall apply to the trial of every such charge.

VIII: Section LXVII of Act IV of 1866, and Clause 16 of Repeal of Clauses. Section XL of Act II of 1866, respectively, passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, are hereby repealed.

IX. This Act shall extend to the Town of Calcutta, and to the Suburbs of the Town of Calcutta, as defined by any Notification under Section I of the said Act II of 1866.

X. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette, to extend this Act to any city, town, station, bazar, cantonment, village, district, or portion of a district, to be mentioned and defined in such order; and from time to time, by any order published as aforesaid, to revoke, vary, amend, or alter any such order.

AMONGST other provisions, the present enactment, it will be seen, applies to the cruel beating, ill-treating, abusing, torturing, overdriving or overloading of any animal; and also its employment whilst in any condition of disease, infirmity, or wounds, rendering it unfit to be so employed.

Under these heads will prominently fall the numerous cases of urging on bullocks by twisting their tails, or other similar torture; yoking them to hackeries with heavy loads while their necks are in a raw and wounded state; driving galled hacks; striking horses and other animals over the head, or in any other inhuman manner; loading conveyances which any animal has to draw with a weight beyond its power, and the like.

Under this Act owners of cattle who send them abroad to labour in a wounded or other unfitting condition, are, it will be observed, responsible for the Cruelty thus inflicted, and can be proceeded against by Summons.

The extension of this Act beyond Calcutta, in accordance with the power vested in the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, must necessarily be the work of time; but in the interim it is earnestly hoped that Suburban and Mofussil Magistrates and friends will not relax in their co-operation, but be assured that the moral force of their persuasion and displeasure, will exercise an influence for good largely compensative for all which, during a brief season, may be wanting through the absence of legislative measures, and Penal forfeitures.

IN THE CALCUTTA POLICE ACT, IV of 1866, Clause 10 of Section LXVI, and Clause 11 of Section XL, of the SUBURBAN ACT, II of 1866, though not framed with humanitarian views, are not the less operative to that end. The noisy wheels so discordant to men's ears do but loudly proclaim the cruelty imposed on beasts' backs, and the provision is not more a remedy for a nuisance than to a large degree a mitigation of needless and painful labour. The prohibited offence is—

“Driving a Hackery or cart with insufficiently greased wheels.”
And the penalty is a fine not exceeding 50 Rs.

IN THE MOFUSSIL.

Of the GENERAL POLICE ACT, V of 1861, of the Council of India, Section XXXIV, has been extended to above 29 Towns in various districts of Bengal, and to upwards of 200 Towns in the N. W. Provinces, Central India, Hyderabad assigned Districts, and British Burmah. This Enactment renders liable to arrest “without a warrant,” and a fine of 50 Rs or to imprisonment—

“Any person who wantonly or cruelly beats, tortures, or abuses any animal.”

The “STAGE CARRIAGE ACT,” XVI of 1861, continues in force, and Section IX therein declares as follows :—

IX. “Any person who shall Cruelly beat, ill-treat, over-drive, abuse, torture, or cause or procure to be Cruelly beaten, ill-treated, over-driven, abused, or tortured, any horse employed in drawing or harnessed to any Stage Carriage, or who shall harness to or drive in any Stage Carriage any horse, which, from sickness, age, wounds, or other cause, is unfit to be driven in such Stage Carriage, shall for every such offence be liable to a fine not exceeding One Hundred Rupees.”

The attention of Mofussil Magistrates, and of all travellers and residents throughout India, is therefore earnestly directed to the power thus placed in their hands, to protect those who cannot protect themselves from the infliction of cruelty.

ACT III OF 1869.

(Passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council on the 29th July, 1869.
Received assent of the Governor-General on the 13th August, 1869.)

An Act to enable Police Officers to arrest without Warrant persons guilty of Cruelty to Animals. .

WHEREAS it is expedient to enable Police Officers in certain places to arrest without warrant any person committing, within their view, any offence against Act I of 1869, passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, entitled an Act for the prevention of Cruelty to Animals; It is enacted as follows:—

I. Every Police Officer may arrest without a warrant any person committing, in his view, any offence against the said Act I of 1869.

II. This Act shall apply to the Town of Calcutta, as defined in Act IV of 1866, passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, and in the Suburbs of the Town of Calcutta, as the same may from time to time be defined by any Notification to be from time to time published by the said Lieutenant-Governor, in pursuance of the provisions of Act II of 1866, and save as hereinafter is provided to such Town and Suburbs only.

III. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, by a Notification to be published in the Calcutta Gazette, to extend this Act to any Town, Suburb, District, or tract of country, to be mentioned and defined in such Notification; and from and after the publication of such Notification, this Act shall extend and apply to the Town, Suburb, District, or tract of country therein mentioned and defined.
