AID ALLIES' SUFFERERS

ORGANIZATION FORMED IN THIS CITY FOR RELIEF WORK AMONG WAR VICTIMS

A very worthy organization known as the Sons and Daughters of the British Empire has come into existence in Glendale. A pledge is being passed around which reads as follows:

I promise to pay into the treasury of the Sons and Daughters of the British Empire within thirty days $..... to be used for British, Belgian and other general relief work of said society.

This is followed by a blank for a signature and address. The officers are:

O. A. Lane, president; Rev. W. E. Edmonds, first vice-president; Burt Smith, second vice-president; A. R. Oliver, secretary; J. A. Cole, treasurer. The relief committee is composed of Miss M. L. Cross, chairman, and Mrs. Llewellyn Andrews, Mrs. T. A. Wright, Mrs. S. Lane, Mrs. Alex. Cross, Mrs. E. D. Potter, Mrs. E. J. Morgan, Mrs. James Connors, Mrs. O. E. Wright and Mrs. J. Wheaton.

Donations of money, clothing, food or anything to help the sufferers of the Allies will be received at headquarters, 413 South Brand boulevard. Phone Glendale Sunset 40.

PRaise FOR MUCH-ABUSED BALLOT

A copy of the California initiative and referendum ballot, received in Kansas City, indicates how the Missouri initiative and referendum ballot could be improved, says the Kansas City Star.

The California ballot presented forty-eight questions to the voters. Too many? Granted. But the ballot presented them clearly and well.

Each numbered question was indicated first by a descriptive word or catch phrase. For examples, "Prohibition," "Local Taxation Exemption." Then came a brief epitome of what the proposition would do.

A pamphlet distributed by the state to the voters some weeks before the election contained the full text of the measures to be voted on and a short argument for and against each one.

The California ballot presenting the forty-eight questions was just about one-half the size of the Missouri ballot presenting fifteen questions. Suppose forty-eight propositions had been submitted to Missouri voters, and all had been printed in full, and all the headings had been in technical, confused language!

It is ridiculous to assume that the voters can and must read and study the questions in the booth and reach his decision there. As well say that all the candidates for all the offices should be ranged in the polling place to be introduced by name and character and record and purposes to each voter.

The function of a proper ballot is simply to identify to the voter a measure or a man concerning whom the voter has already made up his mind. The function of the improper Missouri ballot is simply to induce most voters to vote "no" on everything because of the doubt and mental confusion into which the ballot puts him.

KENTUCKY'S NEW PUPLS

The saying, "It is never too late to learn," is a proposition of which the state of Kentucky is just now making very practical application. Cato learned Greek at eighty, and Kentucky is glorying in a man of that age who has just learned to read and write.

The "moonlight" school is at work in that state, signifying the opportunity offered to persons of any age to get out of the illiteracy column. It is our night school extended all over the state, in the country as well as in the town, and for which a thousand teachers have volunteered.

It is the avowed purpose of the promoters of the movement to remove from the state the shame of having within its borders 206,000 men and women who can neither read nor write, and at the same time create a new world for the illiterates by opening to them the treasures of print.

Kentucky is said by the United States commissioner of education to be the first state to offer to all the people of whatever age an opportunity to learn at least to read and write. Perhaps also a little "rhythmic" will be thrown in, so that the three R's may keep their traditional company, and there is going to be a great catching up in respect to "larnin'" in Kentucky. One can think of some other states down in that neighborhood that may follow her example.—Omaha World-Herald.

Occasionally a man's sense of humor may head off the doctor.

CHRISTMAS GIVING

THIS YEAR OF ALL YEARS GIVE FREELY AT CHRISTMAS CHEER PERIOD

Do not think of cutting down your Christmas presents. Give freely, according to your means. If your heart is heavy for the agonized people of Europe, you need not be frivolous in giving. But whether the giving is joyous or in the minor key, there never was a Christmas when the obligation to give was more pressing.

The proposal to cut off Christmas presents grows out of that well meaning but mistaken view of life which dwells so much on the superficially "practical" side that is blind to all the practical consideration underlying the mainly graceful of decorative aspects of life. A general contraction of Christmas present making this year would unquestionably have far-reaching, disastrous effects.

It would mean to manufacturers and jobbers heavy unsold stocks; to retailers it would mean shrinkage of trade and disappearance of profits; to the transportation interests it would mean the loss of regular annual business; to the wage workers it would mean widespread lack of employment. With many out of work in this city at present it is pitiful to think of the eagerness with which some thousands of men and women must look forward to the Christmas flurry as a hope of earning a few days' pay. How much more pitiful would it be if this hope were defeated?

Wise givers will naturally adapt their Christmas remembrances in this troubled year to the prevailing temper. Utilitarian considerations will be likely to guide them to an unusual extent. But it is to be hoped that the inspired trifle will not be entirely dropped out of currency. The pretty card with genuine good will behind its conventional wishes, the foolish bit of finery or unnecessary house ornament that expresses a sympathetic thought, the sparkling stone which is ultra-precious because of the sentiment it betokens, will serve not only to warm the festival of peace with some of its accustomed glow, but further—and here let the practical folk take heed—the money spent on them, filtering back over the counter through the channels of trade to the starting place of the toy or its materials, will help in some degree, great or little, a long line of anxious capitalists and workers, great and small, to weather hard times.

It is the genial privilege and joyous duty of all to relax their pursings this year for Christmas presents just as far as prudence will allow.—New York Sun.

CALL FOR HIGHER STANDARDS

With a frequency that is itself significant, it happens these days that men occupying public office suddenly find themselves censured for doing precisely what their predecessors did. Brought unexpectedly to account, the first—and generally the last—excuse such officials present is that their predecessors did the same thing and met with no disapproval. The incumbent points to precedent and custom, and, apparently in some perplexity, asks why procedure sanctioned or condoned in the past is now viewed in the light of an offense. The answer is that the public attitude toward public officials has changed. Broad-minded observers of public affairs are aware of this. But the politician seems to find it difficult to adjust his mind to the new order. He does not believe because he does not want to believe.

Recently the warden of Sing Sing prison was discharged. Investigation has developed the fact that his offense lay in employing a prisoner to act as his private chauffeur. The preferment in this instance happened to fall upon a convict whose prominence before conviction served to focus public attention on the matter. But, even so, not until he received information of his dismissal did the warden feel the slightest insecurity in his position. He had merely followed precedent; he had done only what his predecessors had done. Why, he asks, should he be punished for procedure that heretofore has caused no criticism whatever? And the reply is that the offending warden is merely subject to the new morality that has at last penetrated politics as it has business.

It is a rebuke, in one respect at least, for those who practice methods that belong to the past, however close at hand the past may be. It is an expression of the public's change of heart and mind. And it is a notice, too, for those who are wise enough to read this message aright, that the public will tolerate no return to those old methods. It has adopted the new standard and it means to insist on its observance.—Indianapolis News.

CIRCUS DAY

THOUSANDS OF YOUNG AND OLD CHILDREN VIEW THE WILD ANIMALS

The Barnes circus parade took place at 11 o'clock a. m. The parade formed at the circus grounds at the corner of Sixth street and Glendale avenue and proceeded north on Glendale avenue to Broadway; then west on Broadway to Jackson; then east on Jackson to Third street; west on Third street past the Intermediate school to Kenwood; south on Kenwood to Broadway; west on Broadway to Louise; south on Louise to Fifth street; west on Fifth past the Union high school to Maryland; north on Maryland to Broadway; west on Broadway to Brand; north on Brand to Third street; south on Brand to Sixth street, and then on Sixth street to the circus grounds.

The parade was about a mile in length and was comprised of three bands, several cages of wild animals, four elephants, many ponies and the usual number of clowns.

The streets were crowded with school children eager to witness the parade, and the presence of adults was not lacking. The admission is 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for children under seven years of age, and children under three years free.

Several thousand people were lined along Broadway and Brand boulevard, this forenoon to see the street parade of the Al G. Barnes circus, which is in Glendale today. Judging by the parade, which was nearly a mile long, the Al G. Barnes aggregation has quite a show. The parade included a large number of wild animals with their trainers, camels, elephants, four bands and two calliopes.

As Glendale has never been visited by a good-sized circus before, much interest was taken at the grounds where the tents were pitched, and many watched the unloading of the cars at Tropic. From Glendale the circus goes to Long Beach, and will close the season at Venice a week from Sunday, where they have winter quarters.

NORTH GLENDALE

Word has been received from Miss Alpha Clement of 1321 North Pacific avenue, one of North Glendale's most popular young ladies, who is making a prolonged visit in Lindsay, Cal., as the house guest of her brother, Mr. E. F. Clement and family, that she has decided to remain there until the spring instead of returning home for Christmas.

Mrs. J. W. Cousins of 1501 Lorraine street entertained the ladies of the Holy Family parish Thursday afternoon. The recent dinner and dance given by the ladies was discussed and they were made very happy over the decided success of the affair. After the business of the meeting was seen to, the ladies were graciously entertained by the hostess, who served delicious light refreshments, which were enjoyed during the social hour.

Mrs. J. Duane Moore of 1603 Burchett entertained with a prettily appointed luncheon party last Wednesday complimentary to her mother-in-law and sister-in-law, Mrs. Edward M. Moore of Dryden street, and Mrs. Frank Alberts of Randolph street. Yellow chrysanthemums were used as a centerpiece on the dainty luncheon table, where covers were laid for six, the other guests being out-of-town friends.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Young of 810 North Brand boulevard are enjoying a week spent in San Francisco. Mr. Young attended to business while there.

Mrs. R. F. Burr of 823 Campbell street spent the early part of the week in San Dimas, Cal., where she was one of a family reunion at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. McInerney, the occasion being in honor of the birthday of one of her nieces. Very happy, indeed, were the six sisters, who with their families enjoyed the rare privilege of being together to honor the dainty little honoree. Certainly the house party was one that will linger long in the memory of the favored family.

Mrs. L. D. Farnum of the Hotel Waldo, Los Angeles, was a North Glendale visitor Thursday evening.

IN BETTER HEALTH

Friends of Mrs. F. A. Field of 239 South Kenwood street will be pleased to learn that she is again improved in health after a recent set-back, caused by the change in weather. Mrs. Field had been quite ill, but was much better when the colder weather of a short time ago brought on a relapse. However she is now feeling much better again.

"BOB" BURDETTE GONE

WIDELY KNOWN AND MUCH-LOVED HUMORIST DIED THURSDAY

Dr. Robert J. Burdette, familiarly and lovingly known the world around as "Bob," humorist, author, lecturer and minister, passed peacefully from this life at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Members of his family surrounded his bedside at the last. His ill health dated from a day five years ago, when he fell and injured his spine. At that time he was forced to resign his pastorate of the Temple Baptist church.

As a young man, Dr. Burdette rather stumbled into the art of oratory and was practically starved into the prowess of his unique journalism. He was born in a little cottage at Greensborough in Green county, Pennsylvania, July 30, 1844. When he was two years old, the family moved to Cincinnati, where they resided until Bob was seventeen, when they went to Peoria, Ill. A year later the war broke out, and Bob, at the age of eighteen, joined the Forty-seventh Illinois volunteers. His memories of this service are fortunately preserved in his last and greatest book, which has just come from the press in the last month, called "Drums of the Forty-seventh."

After eighteen months of service as an infantryman and a similar period of cavalry arms, during which time he participated in twenty-two battles and skirmishes, never having been shot and devoutly hoping that he had killed and wounded the same number of the enemy, he returned from the war at the age of twenty-one, and this time carried his light to New York City, where he hoped to become a great artist. Nothing was further from his mind than writing, lecturing or preaching, although the men of his family had been Baptist ministers for three generations.

Dr. Burdette was twice married, first in 1870 to an invalid girl who passed away in 1884, leaving a son, Robert Jones Burdette, Jr., now on the staff of the Salt Lake Evening Telegram. His marriage to Mrs. Clara Bradley Baker occurred in Los Angeles in 1899. Her son, by a former marriage, Roy Wheeler, was greatly loved by the great humorist.

Dr. Burdette had been unconscious for nearly two weeks, but was able to recognize his son when he arrived a week ago.

Dr. Burdette leaves a sister, Mrs. A. E. de Clerque of Chicago, and three brothers, Charles Burdette, a Baptist minister of Springfield, Ill.; John Burdette, an attorney of Chicago, and Will Burdette, a railroad contractor of Corvallis, Ore.

The last rites will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Pasadena Presbyterian church. Interment will be private in Rosedale cemetery.

SPECIAL WAR TAX NOV. 20

The special war tax that became due Nov. 1 will not be collected in this district before Nov. 20, according to an announcement made by Collector of Internal Revenue Carter. It is estimated that ten thousand blank forms will be necessary in this district, 4000 for retail tobacco dealers, 600 bankers, 500 brokers, 2000 theaters and other places of amusement, 2000 pool and billiard halls, and 150 manufacturers of cigars.

ILLITERACY AMONG RURAL POPULATION

The need of more and better rural schools in California is made manifest by conditions revealed in a recent census report showing the percentage of illiterates among the native white farming class of the state. The figures show that the percentage of illiteracy in the rural districts of California is three times that of the cities and villages of the state. California has 74,902 illiterates and 44,089 of them live on farms. There are 30,869 boys and men and 13,220 girls and women on the farms of this state that can neither read nor write.

ADVERTISE STATE WITH "MOVIES"

Advertising by means of attractive moving pictures setting forth many of the scenic wonders of California, has been resorted to by the Santa Fe railroad.

The series depicts a trip from San Diego to San Francisco. Scenes of both California expositions are also shown. The mountains and valleys, broad fields, vineyards and orchards, hotels and homes are included.

Many scenes in and about Los Angeles are shown, including a number of downtown street scenes. The pictures are to be shown throughout the United States.

BIRD LECTURE

WELL-KNOWN BIRD WOMAN DELIGHTS TROPICO PEOPLE—OTHER ITEMS

The Star theater was packed to the doors and many were standing, while scores of youngsters found seats on the floor Thursday afternoon when through the courtesy of Charles W. Eudemiller, the proprietor, the ladies of the Tropic Thursday Afternoon club entertained with a lecture delivered by the noted bird woman, Mrs. Harriet Williams Meyers, who is secretary of the State Audubon society. The interesting lecture was cleverly illustrated with beautiful stereopticon views. The pictures were so real of the dear little feathered songsters that when a view of a bird with which the children are familiar was flashed upon the screen, the youngsters could not repress their "ohs" and "ahs." The lecture was so intensely interesting, the views so beautiful and the clever manner of Mrs. Meyers in delivering so entertaining, that at the close of the program a rising vote of thanks was tendered the lecturer and Mr. Eudemiller. The delightful afternoon closed by Mr. Eudemiller presenting as his tribute to the large and appreciative audience a humorous skit, "Buddy's Downfall."

Thursday evening Deputy Constables Will Gould and James Rich apprehended three bad looking Mexicans and lodged them in the city jail. These Mexicans had been seen earlier in the day coming from Los Angeles and loitering with no purpose in view around this city. City Marshal Chas. Smith, Deputy Constables Gould and Rich and Harry La Fontaine had been watching the actions of the three Mexicans. As a finale to their loitering in Tropic, the Mexicans offered for sale an automatic gun to one of the section men employed by Foreman Robinson of the Southern Pacific. When apprehended and searched by the officers, one of the trio had an automatic carefully wrapped in a newspaper. The second one was carrying the cartridges, while the third man was guarding a razor. These men will be given a thorough examination.

The lecture on "The Birds of California" delivered Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Meyers developed the fact that among the pupils of the Corritos school there is a young student, Wade Enoch, who is giving promise of becoming a great naturalist, if given the proper training and encouragement. Miss Freda Borthick, young Enoch's teacher, is very enthusiastic regarding this young student, and Miss Borthick, together with Mrs. Martha McClure, principal of the school, are most generous in praising and assisting this young naturalist. Through these two teachers Mrs. Meyers became interested in young Enoch and the useful knowledge he has obtained by careful study and observation of the birds.

Mrs. L. L. Acker of 334 Boynton street is again at her home after spending some months with her son, George H. Davis, who is a draftsman in the county surveyor's office at Santa Ana, and will be at her home here until after the holidays. Mr. Davis was the guest of his mother for a few days last week. This young man has received the important commission of superintending the construction work of the new La Habra pavement, an honor which came unsought and which carries a substantial salary.

CONDITIONS IN ANTELOPE VALLEY

Mrs. H. E. MacMullin was a recent visitor out on the desert in the Antelope valley with her husband, who has been spending a few weeks on the ranch looking after his cattle which he finds in fine shape. They have already had one good rain in the valley and the indications are for more soon. They are still cutting alfalfa and will continue to do so until the first of December. Mr. MacMillan will bail his hay and ship it to Glendale for use in his large dairy.

"KALISTHENICS"

That's what they called it, but from the description of its effect, old-time foot-racing would be a truer title. One enthusiastic practitioner, after practicing a while, exclaimed: "Oh, it's awful nice; I can now run ever so fast; nearly as fast as the boys." Keep it up, Zoe; you will need to run faster than the boys; get a good start and keep going; look not back, turn not aside; pay no attention to those you outrun, but over the fence and out. At the age of 21 (your age) you may discover a proper running-mate for the race of years to come.

BROADWAY P. T. A.

HOLD LARGEST MEETING OF THE PRESENT YEAR—GOOD PROGRAM GIVEN

The Parent-Teacher association of the Broadway school met at the schoolhouse on Thursday afternoon. This was the largest meeting yet held by this association, being the third of the new year. Mrs. A. C. Andersen presided. There was a most interesting program, which was as follows: Mrs. R. E. Chase spoke on "Mothers of Today" and her words were thoroughly enjoyed by all. Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan, principal of the school, made several useful suggestions for the beautifying of the school grounds. Mrs. Charles H. Toll announced the sailing of the Christmas ship to the Belgian children. Mrs. Toll also told of the comforts being made for the needy of Glendale and asked if a circle could not be formed in this school to make a few, as there were a number of Glendale children who would sleep cold this winter unless they received some warm bedding. Reports of different committees were read. The question box was in charge of the vice-president, Mrs. Burns. A number of songs were given by members of the third grade. Also a quartet from Miss Speik's room. Little Ruth Morrison gave a piano selection and solo. Refreshments were served by Mrs. George Allen, assisted by the hospitality committee. We hope all the mothers will make an effort to attend these meetings, for they are a wonderful help to all.

DEBATE TONIGHT

One of the rival attractions of the circus is the league debate at the high school this evening, when South Pasadena students will cross swords with Glendale. The judges will be Dr. Thos. G. Burt, professor of philosophy, Occidental college; Professor Frank E. Older, department of agriculture, Los Angeles State normal, and Mrs. Mila T. Maynard of Manual Arts high school.

BRAND BOULEVARD

The street improvement on the P. E. right-of-way on Brand boulevard is nearing completion. The work has been entirely completed at the crossings on Sixth, Fifth, Broadway and Third. The material at the crossings is of the same composition as the concrete and asphalt streets on Brand and Broadway. The composition on the P. E. right-of-way is of crushed rock with fine crushed rock and oil on the surface. When the work on the boulevard has been entirely completed, it will be one of the prettiest thoroughfares in Southern California.

MEN'S CLUB CARD PARTY

The Men's club gave their third card party at the home of Mr. Jesse Flower, 730 South Adams street, on Thursday evening and it was attended by twenty couples. The fourth and last party will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Faries, 104 North Louise street, next Wednesday evening, Nov. 25th, at which time the lady and gentleman having the largest accumulated score will receive the prizes.

Those who attended on Thursday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Worley, Mr. and Mrs. Seubert, Mr. and Mrs. Foss, Mr. and Mrs. Provolt, Mr. and Mrs. Flower, Mr. and Mrs. Faries, Miss Wade, Miss McIntyre, Misses Reace, Pert, Provolt and Flower, and Mrs. Delgado, Messrs. Eames, Badger, Flower, Woodward, Dr. Mills, Mr. Reace.

CONFESS TO BURNING SCHOOL

Tom Coombs (colored) and Louis Espueral, a Mexican, aged 12 and 10 years old respectively, Thursday confessed to firing the East Seventh street school, Los Angeles, which was destroyed by a fire a week ago last Sunday night.

"He and me were going to a show," Louis told the officers. "Tom asked me if I have a match. I told him yes, and ask him what he want it for. To burn the school, he says, so we climb the fence. We tried to get in the door, but couldn't, so we get through a window. Tom he tells me to get some papers. Then I give him the match and he set a fire to it." The negro was asked why he set the fire.

"Well, I was in A-5," he said. "The teacher, she says I can't do the work. I can, but it takes me a long time, but she put me in an ungraded class. I didn't think much about burning the school. I only thought of it that night."

LEARNED HIS LESSON

1. While yet King Woodrow ruled over the people, a certain young man went forth from the place where physicians are taught and betook him unto a city, saying,
2. Verily, I have studied long and diligently and spent much of gold gaining wisdom in my calling. Now I will heal the sick and lame and get me great riches and high repute among men.

things.
6. But with one accord they came not the second time unto him.
7. Whereupon he mourned exceedingly, for he said unto himself, Alas and alas; without the favor of the rich ones I can never gain either wealth or high repute.
8. And he sought an elder doctor, sorrowing, and spake unto him, saying:
9. Behold, thou art high in favor of these wealthy dames, and they bestow much fees upon thee, while I, who excel thee in knowledge, get but a single whack at them, and they return no more.
10. And the elder physician winked the other eye, saying:
11. Much learning hath made thee mad. Remember that when a woman sayeth she is ill, she desireth not the truth, but much attention.
12. And it came to pass that when next a rich woman called upon the young physician, he rebuked her not, saying, a few nights' sleep and a cup of hot water before breakfast will restore her.
13. Nay, he shook his head sadly and gave her many pills of dough and sugar, saying:
14. Get thee to another clime and take thine ease among the palms, and keep the body supple by much dancing and bathing on the beach.
15. And, behold, she showered much gold upon him and signed him for her family doctor by the year.
16. And likewise it befell with many more who came, until the young man waxed fat and gouty with much practice.
17. And he reflected often, saying within himself, verily, it is not only the show-mongers that fain must give the public what it wants. Selah.—Judge.

225,000 NEW FREE BOOKS

The state printing office will complete within the next few weeks the manufacture of 225,000 new free school books which, with the stock on hand, will make a grand total of 564,034 free books available for the opening of the new school term.

According to State Printer Friend Richardson, it will not be necessary for the state board of education to call for more text books before next June. Most of the books distributed last semester are in good condition and will be used again.

The new allotment of books comprises 25,000 spellers, 25,000 writing books, 25,000 advanced geographies, 25,000 advanced arithmetics, 25,000 primer spellers, 25,000 hygienes, 25,000 writing books, 25,000 civics, 25,000 primers, 25,000 second readers, 25,000 introductory geographies and 25,000 brief histories. The first three allotments are completed and counted in the stock on hand. The following nine are to be completed before January 1, 1915.

State Printer Richardson is rushing all work on hand so that the state printing office may be free to start on legislative work as soon as the state legislature convenes. The new state printer, R. L. Telfer, will enter upon his duties without a volume of hold-over business to encumber the first days of his administration.

Announcements

GUN CLUB RE-ORGANIZED

The Glendale Gun club re-organized by electing the following as officers for the ensuing year: L. Kerri, president; Robert Henry, vice-president; F. H. Mellus, treasurer; J. T. McClellan, secretary; J. N. McKeever, field captain.

The next shoot will be held Nov. 22nd at 10 a. m. A program of five ten-bird events will be the order for this shoot. Everyone who takes an interest in trap-shooting should come and join our club. Those present listened to a very interesting talk by Mr. Mellus, who has just returned from the East. He has been shooting about two years and in a field of over five hundred shooters, landed in fifth place. He informs us that owing to new devices for throwing and making targets, the cost will be greatly reduced to shooters. We have in Glendale the material for a first-class club, and the time to get in and help is right now. Anyone desiring information can call up Glendale 647 or Glendale 1044W. The secretary's address is 915 West Third street, Glendale. The field captain will be found at the Hartfield hardware store, 916 West Broadway. If you are interested in reducing the cost of shooting, come to my place and I will show you how it can be done.

We want the amateurs to join us, for from such are the professionals recruited. All will be given the glad hand and be made to feel at home. We can show you the best of all outdoor sports. A few hours at the traps will convince you that we can deliver the goods.

J. T. McCLELLAN, Secy. 915 W. Third St.

The Sons and Daughters of the British Empire, recently organized in Glendale, announce a benefit concert to be given Friday evening, Nov. 27, in the high school auditorium for the relief of the Belgium sufferers. Excellent professional talent has been secured, names of artists rendering their services for this concert to be given later. The committee in charge, consisting of Mrs. Dan Campbell, chairman, and Mrs. Freeman Kelly, Mrs. Frank England, Miss Alma Turner, Miss Margaret L. Cross and Mrs. Oliver E. Wright, are very desirous of a good attendance for this most worthy cause. Mayor O. A. Lane, president of the association, will preside, and a delightful social evening is anticipated.

The members of the Women's Home Missionary society of the West Glendale M. E. church will give a reception to the members of the Queen Esther circle tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. A. Davis, 525 South Central avenue. All members of the circle and their mothers are cordially invited. Signed by the secretary.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for their kind help, generous sympathy and beautiful flowers in the recent illness and death of our baby. (Signed) MR. H. W. FAACKS. MRS. H. W. FAACKS.

FUNERAL OF LORD ROBERTS

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The body of Field Marshal Lord Roberts was laid to rest today in St. Paul's cathedral. The cortege reached St. Paul's at noon, the body being borne through the streets on a gun carriage.

King George attended the funeral, the first time England's king has attended the funeral of a national hero since the burial of Wellington. Lord Kitchener, secretary of war; Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, Lord Grenfell, Admiral Sir E. H. Seymour, Sir Edwin Wood and other prominent naval and army officers followed the caisson bearing the flag-draped coffin through the streets, and it required more than an hour for the military escort to pass.

The whole line of march was massed with crowds, eager to catch a glimpse, but the fog and rain were so thick that it was with difficulty that the cortege could be seen by the people.

"QUEER PEOPLE I HAVE MET"

I've seen Kentuckians who hated whisky, Virginians who weren't descended from Pocahontas, Indians who hadn't written a novel, Mexicans who didn't wear velvet trousers with silver dollars sewed along the seams, funny Englishmen, spendthrift Yankees, cold-blooded Southerners and narrow-minded Westerners and New Yorkers who weren't too busy to stop for an hour on the street to watch a one-armed grocer's clerk do up cranberries in paper bags.—From O. Henry's "A Cosmopolitan in a Cafe."

If the war were in Holland we might expect to see some fighting on skates.

It seems a shame that a book agent can't sit down and read his favorite works instead of putting in his time selling them.

A conceited man is often conceited enough to think that he isn't.

He is a poor chauffeur who doesn't know what he is driving at.

Although not a philanthropist, the bunko man is always looking for good things he can do.

There is, of course, a great difference to the consumer in having the price of meat raised "because the packers can't help it," and merely having it raised.

CLASS PLAY A SUCCESS

"The Piper's Pay," a comedy in one act, was presented by the girls' class in oral expression under the direction of Miss Terry, Friday afternoon in the high school auditorium before a large and enthusiastic audience of pupils and patrons.

The play in its entirety was a huge success in every respect, and the acting was superb. Miss Cecelia Peterson's part of Mrs. Chas. Dover (Mabel) was splendidly portrayed. Miss Carol Willisford and Miss Pauline Hamilton's parts were fine. Rebecca Gregg and Dorothy Hobbs were as good as an exacting audience could wish. Kathleen Dodge and Mary Hunt proved themselves accomplished actresses.

"The Piper's Pay," a society drama dealing with the society fad of taking "souvenir" silverware from cafes, hotels, etc. When the hotel men decide to stop the "habit" the "piper" demands his pay, and many tears are shed by the "social set." Quick action ensues when conditions require the return of the souvenirs.

The cast of characters were: Mrs. John Burton (Peggy), Carol Willisford; Mrs. Charles Dover (Mabel), Cecelia Peterson; Mrs. Hereford Carr, Pauline Hamilton; Miss Freda Dixon, Kathleen Dodge; Mary Clark (detective), Rebecca Gregg; Evelyn Evans (reporter), Dorothy Hobbs and Katie (maid), Mary Hunt.

RUSSIA'S VODKA-LESS ARMY

(From the Literary Digest)

"Those whose burden it has been to attempt to stem the Slavic tide setting westward toward Berlin may well begin to wonder what has become of the Russ of twelve years ago, whom the Jap defeated so easily. The Russ has put aside his vodka and girt himself in earnest for war. He is showing the same untroubled certainty about it that he would exhibit in going forth to a day's plowing. And this time, apparently, the officer who leads him is worthy of the man. The so-called Russian army of the Russo-Japanese war has vanished utterly. Instead, there is a fighting machine worthy of any people's admiration. Perceval Gibbon, novelist, writing from Vilna, Russia, to the London Daily Chronicle and the New York Times, describes the army's appearance as he saw it at the German frontier. He was in the hamlet of Eydtkuhnen, a tiny village shattered by the war, but nevertheless at that moment the heart of the great Russian fighting machine. He says:

MUNSON SAYS

Today is Circus Day. All the kids are happy, and have been watching the unloading from the cars and the pitching of the tents all morning, and have been telling us of the sights as they came into our fountain for an ice cream cone or ice cream soda.

Refresh yourself with one of our hot or cold drinks when down town tonight.

George, our Japanese boy, went down to the cars to watch the circus unload. He came back all aglow, and said: "Many horses, vera, fine, all kinds, pretty nice, and many animals, very beauty sight, and I see lots of wagons."

During the next week I am going to give away a beautiful flannel cover with every hot water bottle. Why not get one?

When you want a good smoke or good tobacco of any kind, stop at our cigar stand, and you'll find what you want.

Get the habit of phoning 1-5-6—either phone—for your drug needs.

Are You Getting Your Money's Worth?

When you buy Clothes or Furniture, if you are like the ordinary person, you shop around, see what you are getting and carefully compare the prices and value offered by one merchant with that of another. Why not try the same plan with the buying of meats and groceries, particularly since you spend more for food than for any other article?

This store can save you money, for the reason we buy in large quantities, sell for small profits, and operate a Grocery, Meat Market and Confectionery under the same management, and in one building, which is out of a high-rent district, saving in help, delivery service and rent.

Phone us an order today and prove for yourself "That Robinson's Sell Better Meats and Groceries for Less Money."

these men have been sober from the start, and will perform be sober to the end. Of all that elaborate and copious machinery of war which Russia has built up since her failure in Manchuria there is nothing so impressive as this. Her thousand and odd aeroplanes, her murderously expert artillery, her neat and successful field wireless telegraph, even her strategy, count as secondary to it.

The endless trains decant them; they swing in leisurely columns through the streets to their depots, motley as a circus—foresters, muzhiks in fetid sheep-skins, cattlemen and rivermen, Siberians, tow-haired Finns, the wide gamut of the races of Russia, all big or biggish, with those impassive, blunt-featured faces that mask the Russian soul, and all sober. No need now to make men of them before making soldiers; no inferno at the wayside stations and troop-trains turning up days late. It is as if, at the cost of those annual 780,000,000 rubles, Russia had bought the clue to victory.

We don't think we will waste time in turning either the left or the right wing of our turkey. Our attack is going to be directed right against the center.

"If blue or depressed, think of a pretty girl or something equally as pleasant," advises a doctor. H'm! In the case of a married man, it would be best for him not to do his thinking out loud.

THE CASHEW-NUT FOR CALIFORNIA

A suggestion comes to the people of California from far away India that may prove of great value to small ranchmen if properly applied. It is of the cashew-nuts, an important product of the Orient, but which was first introduced there from South America. It is essentially a coast product, thrives in almost any kind of soil, but does especially well in sandy places. In Southern India it is especially valuable in reclaiming coast-dunes, since it has a decided penchant for growing in clumps.

In dilating on the value of the cashew-nut, Consul Henry D. Baker of Bombay, India, writes:

"The bark yields a gum which is obnoxious to insects. The juice which issues from incisions in the bark is used as an indelible marking ink. The bark and the pericarp yield an oil (called dik), which is occasionally employed to tan fishing nets. Two oils are obtainable from this plant: From the pressed kernels, a light yellow oil, of which the finest quality is equal to almond oil; and from the shell of the nut an acrid and powerful fluid, called "cardole," which is efficacious in preserving carved wood, books, etc., against white ants, and is also used as a rubefacient and vesicant medicine. The spirit distilled from the juice of the fruit is a useful stimulant, and the fruit itself has antiscorbutic properties. The seeds, known as cashew-nuts, are eaten roasted and with sugar are made into confectionery. The fruit pedicels are also eaten. The timber (weight 30 to 38 pounds per cubic foot) is used for packing cases, for boat building, and for making charcoal. Cashew-nuts are imported into Bombay from Goa to Portuguese India in considerable quantities."

The cashew-nut tree is largely grown in India for fuel and it is said they can be grown there where no other crop seems possible. They are planted usually in June and have to be watered only the first year, and no other care is taken of them. It would thus appear that they are an ideal crop for a lazy man to guard. The plants begin bearing the third year and continue bearing up to fifteen years.

ONE SALARY IDEA

Someone has asked the question, Why should not the locomotive engineer and the section hand get the same salary? Why should not the street sweeper of a city get the same wage as the head of the highest department in the city?

The argument the interrogator makes is that the section hand and the street sweeper are doing just as important or more important work than the engineer and the department head.

The same questioner will likely ask why gold and iron are not sold on the market at the same price, for the iron is really of more use in the commercial world than the gold. His argument says that oak wood should not be more expensive than pine, and silk and calico should each be sold for from six to ten cents per yard.

DISASTERS

Disasters are wont to reveal the abilities of a general, good fortune to conceal them.—Horace.

It is said that James W. Wadsworth, Sr., won $100,000 on his son's election. He no doubt considers that it has paid him to raise that boy.
