ROOSTER SOLD AT $1,000.

Texas Bird That Was Winner of Over $5,000 and Champion in Twenty-Seven Battles.

The celebrated gamecock, Commodore Wainwright, after his great victories at Holletsville, Laredo, San Antonio and Caldwell, was sold in the cock pit on Gen. Perdeu's ranch in Burleson county, Tex., for $1,000. Don San Diego Montemayo, a sportsman and chicken fancier of Monterey, Mexico, became the purchaser. The money was paid in gold, and while it was being counted out the victorious young rooster crowed lustily. His spurs were bloody from his recent victory and his feathers a little ruffled, but otherwise he looked as fresh as the proverbial spring chicken. During the successful campaign which the game young Commodore has just completed he was entered in 27 mains and was the victor in every one. It is said that this bird has won more than $5,000 for his owner during his short career. He has fought his last battle, for, according to the terms of the bill of sale which the vendor gave to Senor Montemayo, the great bird is to be used as a breeder, the purchaser obligating himself never to fight the celebrated gamecock again. This is believed to be the highest price ever paid for a rooster in Texas. but the price would not be regarded as startling in old Mexico, where victorious roosters have often been exchanged for herds of cattle, ranches and silver mines.

Atahualpa was the original pet name of this wonderful bird, and when he crowed he seemed to say it as plainly as ever a feathered youngster pronounced his own name. His trainer made him stand still in a gladiator attitude while the camera was turned on him, and when the snap shot was finished he seemed to understand that he was expected to crow, and then his ladmirers, all of whom were jingling Wainwright gold in their pockets gave him a rousing farewell cheer.

CONTRARY STEPHEN TROGILL

And the One Occasion Upon Which He Is Said to Have Made a Slight Concession.

"I suppose," said Col. Calliper, "that among contrary men my old friend Stephen Trogill, who formerly lived in Storkville Center, Vt., would easily have stood first. He never agreed with anybody or anything, and it was said of him that he had never made even the slightest concession to anybody, except upon one occasion. But contrary and exasperating as he was, he was nevertheless a source of pride to his fellow citizens, who regarded him as townspeople are likely to regard any one of their number who has at-tracted public attention be chieving remarkable success, or by the mani-festation of some remarkable quality. And even the one concession that he was reported to have made was of circumstances, as, instead of lessening their regard for him, still further commended him to their approval. "As they used to tell the story in Storkville Center, Mr. Trogill had once in some way found himself in a place where, as he stood looking about, he was approached by a personage whom he recognized instantly from the pichad seen of him, and who halts such a nature and made under such ed alongside of him and spoke:: ''Um-m-you find it pretty warm here, Mr. Trogill?' this personage said. "And the answer that heightened Storkville Center's regard for Uncle Stephen was:

'O, ye-es. I suppose you would call this kind o' summery.'

CODLIVER OIL.

It Was Slyly Substituted When th Cream Gave Out at the Soda Fountain.

There are tricks in all trades, but a true story related to me by the cashier of an uptown pharmacy unhesitatingly vields the palm to that of the druggist, says a New York correspondent of the Pittsburgh Dispatch. Comment on the brisk demand for soda water caused the young man to remark: "Yes, that fountain is popular with the residents of this neighborhood, notwithstanding the fact that the queerest substitute for the beverage was passed over the counter on one of our recent hot nights. Our cream gave out, and as the dairies were closed, we were at our wits' ends to assuage the thirst of the crowd. After some discussion the proprietor suddenly slipped downstairs. He soon returned with a can and proceeded to empty. its contents into the fountain. Investigation showed that he had drawn upon a large vat containing an emulsion of codliver oil. Combined with a plentiful dose of sirup and the carbonized water, the difference could not be detected. Talk of powerful imaginations! Not one person in 50 complained, and then only in mild terms. The rest drained it eagerly and murmured: 'So delicious.' You can't phase my boss. 'He's up to snuff.' I have scratched that fountain."

Time for Leisure.

A London correspondent, describing the difference between London and New York, says of the former: "One feels, too, that though the bread may be a trife harder to get, there is a greater realization here that 'man does not live by bread alone,' and that leisune is of some value, and its use not to be regarded as a symptom of insanity. All of Another Kind. The Kennebec Journal prints a story of a witness who refused to tell the amount of his gross income. Finally, when the judge ordered him to answer the question, he said: "Your honor, I have no gross income. I'm a fisherman of Machias bay, and it's all net."

TO BE A CONFEDERACY

Plans for the Unification of Salvador, Honduras and Nicaragua.

Will Be Known as United States of Central America-To Have One President and a Centrally-Located Capital.

The delegates to the convention to form a constitution for the states of Salvador, Honduras and Nicaragua, continue their sessions at Managua, Nicaragua, almost daily. The work, however, is progressing slowly. The delegates have discussed the first 11 of the articles in the printed form of a constitution which they have as a guide, and have decided on the following principal features:

First-The organization is to be a confederacy, instead of a central union of the three states. Second-The name of the confederacy is to be "The United States of Central America." Third-There is to be a federal district, composed of the civil departments of Chinendega, in Nicaragua; Choluteca, in Honduras, and La Union, in Salvador, all bordering on the gulf of Fonseca. Fourth-The organizing capital is to be Amapala, on Tiger island, in the department of Choluteca, Honduras. The permanent capital is to be determined by the first congress, and will be located at Amapala, Choluteca or Chinendega.

Fifth-There is to be one president, instead of a triple-headed tribune, as at first proposed.

In a recent session delegates from Salvador protested against what they termed "a spirit of antagonism to Salvador," in some speeches made by certain delegates from Nicaragua.

It is thought probable that either President Ponilla, of Honduras, or President Pelaya, of Nicaragua, will be chosen as the first president of the proposed confederacy.

WON'T ABANDON THE TEMPLE Mrs. Matilda B. Carse Says the Trustees Will Yet Make It Miss Willard's Memorial.

Mrs. Matilda B. Carse, president of the board of Temple trustees, of the Woman's Temple of Chicago, in referring to the action taken at a recent meeting of the executive committee of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union said: "The recommendation of the committee that the local W. C. T. U. societies discontinue any further effort to pay for the Temple, on account of the slow progress which has been made in collecting money, was a most unfortunate decision, and is not upheld by the rank and file of the society. The Temple trustees are an incorporated and independent body, and have not the slightest idea of abandoning the project of making the Temple Miss Willard's memorial. Miss Willard's last words on her death-bed in regard to the Temple were: 'Oh, if I only could be of help. Oh, that some one would help me in my extremity so that success might come to the Temple.' More plans than ever have been set on foot by the Temple trustees to pay for the beautiful building, and some large subscriptions have been received within a week. The chain letter, sent out by the Young People's Christian Temperance union, is proving a great success."

TO HAVE BIG EXHIBIT.

United States to Occupy Space A Paris Exposition Second Only to France Herself.

Col. Emile E. H. Blum, who has been in Paris for some time looking out for American interests at the Paris international exposition of 1900, has returned. Col. Blum will soon confor with Ferdinand W. Peck, the United States commissioner-general, and the two will take charge of the American exhibit. Col. Blum said regarding his trip: *The exhibit of the United States will be the largest of any country in regard to floor space. with the exception of France. At the last exposition we had 119,000 square feet, and this time 265,000 square feet are already assured. Through the appropriation of $650,000 by congress, a beautiful building will be erected My special mission to Paris at this time was to ascertain the feeling between the French and the Americans, and I am sure what little hard feeling there was has entirely disappeared. I went to hotels, cafes, business houses, and in all I was treated not only courteous ly, but as a friend. Through Gen. Horace Porter, I entered official society, and the same good feeling was apparent."

Old Custom of the Sioux. Among the Sioux Indians, when one family borrowed a kettle from another, it is expected that, when the kettle is returned, a small portion of the food that has been cooked in it will be left in the bottom, as the owner must always know what was cooked in her kettle.

The Roller Boat. A melancholy sight was to be seen in English waters recently when the once famous Bazin "roller boat," which was to roll on the ocean at a speed of 50 knots an hour, crawled into Hull harbor for sale to anyone who would take her. She never surpassed eight knots

WOULD NOT BE IMPOSED UPON.

And Consequently This American Derived No Benefit from His Tour in Europe.

It is a question whether the American traveler abroad really gains anything by a watchful anxiety to protect himself from petty swindles and impositions. Many of these "impositions" are really local customs, and are not to be resisted by foreigners with impunity. In large matters kick and insist upon justice; in small matters submit-that is the counsel of an old hand who writes to the Boston Transeript from London on the subject. "I have in mind especially," he says, "the case of a young man who came to Europe six weeks ago to recover from severe nervous and physical exhaustion, caused by overwork. He had never crossed the Atlantic before, and he does not speak a word of French or German. Nevertheless he had started out with the firm resolve not to be 'done out of a penny' anywhere in Europe. Perhaps he succeeded; certainly it was not his fault if he didn't. "He made the usual tour of England, Holland, the Rhine, Switzerland, Paris and Belgium. I saw him at the outset of his trip, and he came in again the other day on his way back to take the boat for home. He had nothing to tell me about the beauties and peculiarities of the old world scenes, but he had an appalling record of quarrels, rows, fights, with all manner of people is nearly every city he had visited. 'But they didn't "do" me!' he protested, wearily. And then he admitted that he was really disappointed over Europe, and that he was going home worse in health and spirits than when he set out."

MONEY AND WAR.

Russia is Putting Forth Strenuous Efforts to Strengthen Her Credit Abroad.

In the future conflict between Great Britain and Russia finance will be quite as important a factor as armaments, says the National Review. The issue will not be decdied by the first shock of arms, but by the slow, wearing financial strain to follow. It will be a question of staying powers, and a military, question. The Rusthem 15 years to recover. The Russians themselves are well aware of this vital defect in their military power, and they have of late years made strenuous effrots to remedy it. To that end both their foreign policy and their financial policy are being studiously directed.

TOOK HIM AT HIS WORD.

A Small Boy with Bohemian Instincts Who Disdained White Duck Suits.

A certain newspaper man has a little protege of six years who frequently tastes of his bounty in the shape of soda water and peanuts and popcorn and other luxuries, says the Cleveland Leader. What the scribe especially likes about the little fellow is his scorn of social amenities. He is one of the boys who delights in dirt, and plenty of it, and dirt is decidedly becoming to him. A few days ago he came out of his home in a spick-andspan suit of white.

"Hullo," he said to the scribe. But the latter professed not to know

"Don't you know me?" cried the liftle fellow. "I'm Georgie." But the newspaper man shook his head. "I don't know any such clean boys," he said. "The boys I like best are always nice and dirty." Then he walked on, while the boy feil behind. Pretty soon he heard the patter of little feet behind him. "Mr. Blank," cried a shrill voice, "am dirty enough now?" He looked around. The young scamp had actually rolled himself in the gutter! And it was weeks before the newspaper man dared to visit the bov's mother without fear and trembling.

Spiders' Webs for Ballrooms. Spiders' webs have passed through many usages, from the styptic of a thousand years ago to the festooning of cellars and bottles in which "old" wines are stored, but not the least striking of their adaptations is that now being made in France, where they are spun for the making of balloons. The resulting texture is much lighter than ordinary silk of the same bulk, and strong cords for military balloons are also made of it. The spiders are grouped in dozens before a reel, which withdraws the delicate threads. After giving a thread of 20 to 40 vards, the spider is released. Eight threads have to be combined. Why the Eyeball Is White. The eyeball is white because the blood vessels that feed its substance are so small that they do not admit the red copuscles.
