

Library of New-England History

No. III

CHURCH'S PHILIP'S WAR

PART II

22

The History

OF THE

EASTERN EXPEDITIONS

Of 1689, 1690, 1692, 1696, and 1704

AGAINST THE INDIANS AND FRENCH

By BENJAMIN CHURCH

WITH AN INTRODUCTION AND NOTES

By HENRY MARTIN DEXTER

c Boston

J. K. WIGGIN AND WM. PARSONS LUNT

MDCCCLXVII

v

Entered according to Act of Congress in the year 1867, by WIGGIN AND LUNT
In the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the District of Massachusetts

EDITION

Two Hundred and Fifty Copies, Small Quarto
Thirty-five, Royal Quarto

---

CAMBRIDGE: PRESS OF JOHN WILSON AND SON

PREFATORY NOTE.

---

IT was not anticipated, when the First Part of these "ENTERTAINING PASSAGES" was issued, in the summer of 1865, that so long a period would elapse before the publication of the Second Part, relating to the later Eastern Expeditions. But various labors and engagements have necessarily delayed the progress and completion of the work, both of editing and printing, until the present time. It is hoped that the kind welcome accorded to the portion relating to Philip's War may not be withheld from this completing glance at the later Indian warfare, which engaged the prowess, if it did not materially augment the fame, of the brave man from whose later reminiscences the story was set down.

The endeavor has been constantly in mind to make this a fit companion volume for the First Part, — in carefulness and abundance of illustration, in exact accuracy of reprint, and in all general features.

PREFATORY NOTE.

The map is a "True Cobby from an Ancient Plan of E. Hutchinson Esq. &c. &c.," which was reproduced from an engraving of 1753, to accompany Mr. S. G. Drake's late edition of Baylies's "Historical Memoir of the Colony of New Plymouth"; and has been kindly granted for use by that gentleman,—for whose varied courtesies in the preparation of these reprints their editor desires here to express his gratitude.

In addition to acknowledgments already tendered, it is due also that thankful mention should here be made of the kindness of Dr. A. G. WILBOR, of Boston, and Mr. A. E. CUTTER, of Charlestown, for the loan of copies of the rare first edition, to aid the accuracy of the work of revision.

HILLSIDE, ROXBURY,
12th April, 1867.

H. M. D.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

---

WHEN the murder of Sassamon, in the winter of 167 $\frac{4}{5}$ , led to the breaking-out of "Philip's War," Plymouth had been settled fifty-four years; Dover, fifty-one; Boston, forty-four; Wethersfield, forty; Providence, thirty-eight; and Kittery, twenty-seven. There appear to have been then, within the boundaries of what is now Maine, thirteen towns and plantations; \* within what is now New Hampshire, † four; within what is now Massachusetts, sixty-four; ‡ \* Kittery; York; Wells; Cape Porpoise; Saco; Scarborough; Falmouth; Pejepscot; the plantations on the Sagadahoc and Kennebec; Sheepscot and Capenewagen; Damariscotta; Pemaquid; Monhegan, with Gorges Islands and the opposite settlements upon the mainland.

† Dover, Portsmouth, Exeter, Hampton.

‡ Plymouth, Salem, Charlestown, Boston, Dorchester, Roxbury, Watertown, Medford, Cambridge, Ipswich, Newbury, Springfield, Concord, Weymouth, Dedham, Braintree, Lynn, Hingham, Scituate, Duxbury, Barnstable, Sandwich, Yarmouth, Gloucester, Rowley, Salisbury, Sudbury, Woburn, Reading, Eastham, Taunton, Marshfield, Haverhill, Wenham, Andover, Hull, Bridgewater, Manchester, Rehoboth, Marblehead, Middleborough, Medfield, Topsfield, Malden, Northampton, Chelmsford, Billerica, Groton,

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

within what is now Rhode Island, six;* within what is now Connecticut, twenty-three.† Vermont, as yet, was not. It is probable that the entire population of New England at this time, excluding Indians, was not far from eighty thousand.‡

The best computation suggests, on the same territory, at the same time, not far from 10,500 Indians, distributed among the tribes as follows:—

Pequots . . . . .	1,200
Narragansetts . . . . .	4,000
Pokanokets, Nausets, &c. . . . .	700
Massachusetts . . . . .	1,200
Pautuckets . . . . .	1,000
Nipmuks . . . . .	2,400
	10,500

When the war broke out, Josias Winslow was Governor of Plymouth Colony—where William Bradford had been dead seventeen years; Miles Standish, eighteen; Edward Winslow, nineteen; and William Brewster, thirty; and where John Howland had been dead scarcely one year.

Marlborough, Hadley, Hatfield, Dartmouth, Swansea, Amesbury, Beverly, Milton, Wrentham, Lancaster, Mendon, Deerfield, Brookfield, Sherborn, Edgartown, and Tisbury.

* Providence, Newport, Portsmouth, Warwick, Westerly, and New Shoreham (Block Island).

† Wethersfield, Hartford, Windsor,

New Haven, Guilford, Saybrook, Milford, Fairfield, Stratford, Greenwich, Stamford, Branford, Farmington, New London, Simsbury, Middleton, Norwalk, Stonington, Norwich, Killingworth, Lyme, Haddam, and Wallingford.

‡ See estimate of 78,416 in Coll. Am. Statis. Assoc. i: 141.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

Indeed, of that one-half of the Mayflower's company (fifty) who survived the first year of the settlement, at least thirteen were still in the land of the living, though not all still within the limits of the Old Colony. George Soule and John Alden, in a hale old age, resided at Duxbury; and Susannah White — who had enjoyed the singular honor of being first the first mother in the new Colony, and then the first bride — was keeping still the house at Careswell, which her second husband, the honored Gov. Edward Winslow, had left to her possession. These three were already adults when they first saw the New World. And, of the children who romped along the Mayflower's decks, there were still living Resolved White, who seems now to have been a resident of Salem; Giles and Constantia Hopkins, both at Eastham, — the latter the widow of Nicholas Snow; Henry Sampson, of Duxbury; Joseph Rogers, of Eastham; Samuel Fuller, of Barnstable; Samuel Eaton, of Middleborough; (Rev.) John Cooke, of Dartmouth; Mary Allerton, — who was destined to be the last survivor of the Mayflower company, dying in 1699, æt. 89, — who still lived at Plymouth with her venerable and excellent husband, Elder Thomas Cushman, who came in the "Fortune," 1621; and Mary Chilton, now the recent widow of John Winslow, of Boston. Nathaniel Morton, who, five years before, had published his New-England's Memoriall, was still Secretary of the Colony.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

In Massachusetts, John Leverett was Governor, and Edward Rawson, Secretary. Here Winthrop and Shepard had been dead twenty-five years; John Cotton, twenty-two; Dudley, twenty-one; Saltonstall, sixteen; John Norton, eleven; Richard Mather, five; John Allin, three; and John Davenport and Charles Chauncy, two; and here Thomas Cobbett still lived at the age of sixty-six, John Eliot at seventy, and Simon Bradstreet at seventy-seven.

William Coddington was Governor, and John Sanford Recorder, of the "Providence Plantations," where Roger Williams was still hale and hearty (and ready to earn a new title as "Captain" in this war) at the age of seventy-five; and William Blaxton was very soon to be carried from his dreams among his folios to his rest on the banks of that beautiful river, which bears his name as it ripples by his grave.

John Winthrop (son of Gov. John of Massachusetts) was Governor of the now united Colonies of Connecticut and New Haven; where Samuel Eaton had been dead thirty-two years; Thomas Hooker, twenty-seven; Theophilus Eaton, seventeen; Samuel Stone, eleven; and John Warham, four.

The settlements in what is now Maine had at this time but a single Congregational Church. In what is now New Hampshire, there were three.* In what is now Vermont,

* One had been gathered at Exeter and no record exists of the formation in 1638, but it became extinct in 1641; of another until 1698.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

there was none. In Massachusetts, there were fifty-seven. In Rhode Island, there was none. In Connecticut, there were twenty-one.

These, with their pastors, — so far as known, — at the breaking-out of the war, were the following; arranged in the order of their formation:—

Plymouth (1620) . . . . .	John Cotton, Jr.
Salem (1629) . . . . .	John Higginson.
Boston, First Church (1630) . . . . .	James Allen.
Windsor (1630) . . . . .	Nathaniel Chauncey.
Watertown (1630) . . . . .	John Sherman.
Roxbury (1632) . . . . .	{ John Eliot.
	{ Samuel Danforth.
Lynn (1632) . . . . .	Samuel Whiting.
Duxbury (1632) . . . . .	John Holmes.
Marshfield (1632) . . . . .	Samuel Arnold.
Charlestown (1632) . . . . .	Thomas Shepard.
Hartford (1633) . . . . .	Joseph Haynes.
Ipswich (1634) . . . . .	Thomas Cobbet.
Newbury (1635) . . . . .	Thomas Parker.
Hingham (1635) . . . . .	Peter Hobart.
Weymouth (1635) . . . . .	Samuel Torrey.
Cambridge (1636) . . . . .	Urian Oakes.
Concord (1636) . . . . .	{ Edward Bulkley.
	{ Joseph Estabrook.
Dorchester (1636) . . . . .	Josiah Flint.
Springfield (1637) . . . . .	Pelataiah Glover.
Taunton (1637) . . . . .	George Shove.
Sandwich (1638) . . . . .	John Smith.
Hampton (1638) . . . . .	Seaborn Cotton.
Dover (1638) . . . . .	John Reyner, Jr.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

Salisbury (1638) . . . . .	John Wheelwright.
Dedham (1638) . . . . .	William Adams.
Quincy (1639) . . . . .	Moses Fiske.
New Haven (1639) . . . . .	Nicholas Street.
Milford (1639) . . . . .	Roger Newton.
Barnstable (1639) . . . . .	Thomas Walley.
Scituate (1639) . . . . .	Nicholas Baker.
Rowley (1639) . . . . .	Samuel Phillips.
Sudbury (1640) . . . . .	Edmund Browne.
Stratford (1640) . . . . .	No pastor.
Edgartown (1641) . . . . .	No pastor.
Stamford (1641) . . . . .	Eliphalet [?] Jones.
Wethersfield (1641) . . . . .	Gershom Bulkley.
Woburn (1642) . . . . .	Thomas Carter.
Gloucester (1642) . . . . .	John Emerson.
Scituate, Second Church (1642) . . . . .	William Witherell.
Guilford (1643) . . . . .	Joseph Eliot.
Hull (1644) . . . . .	Zechariah Whitman.
Rehoboth (1644) . . . . .	Noah Newman.
Haverhill (1645) . . . . .	John Ward.
Andover, North (1645) . . . . .	Francis Dane.
Reading, South (1645) . . . . .	John Brock.
Topsfield (1645) . . . . .	{ William Perkins.
	{ Jeremiah Hobart.
Manchester (1645) . . . . .	No pastor.
Eastham (1646) . . . . .	Samuel Treat.
Branford (1647) . . . . .	John Bowers.
Saybrook (1646) . . . . .	Thomas Buckingham.
Malden (1649) . . . . .	Michael Wigglesworth.
Fairfield (1650) . . . . .	Samuel Wakeman.
New London (1650) . . . . .	Simon Bradstreet.
Boston, Old North (1650) . . . . .	Increase Mather.
Medfield (1651) . . . . .	John Wilson.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

Norwalk (1652) . . . . .	Thomas Hanford.
Farmington (1652) . . . . .	Samuel Hooker.
Chelmsford (1655) . . . . .	John Fiske.
Beverly (1657) . . . . .	John Hale.
Hadley (1659) . . . . .	John Russell.
Lancaster (1660) . . . . .	Joseph Rowlandson.
Norwich (1660) . . . . .	James Fitch.
Northampton (1661) . . . . .	Solomon Stoddard.
Billerica (1663) . . . . .	Samuel Whiting.
Wenham (1663) . . . . .	No pastor.
Bridgewater, West (1664) . . . . .	James Keith.
Groton (1664) . . . . .	Samuel Willard.
Newton, Center (1664) . . . . .	Nehemiah Hobart.
Marlborough (1666) . . . . .	William Brimsmead.
Killingworth (1667) . . . . .	John Woodbridge.
Mendon (1667) . . . . .	Joseph Emerson.
Amesbury (1668) . . . . .	Thomas Wells.
Middletown (1668) . . . . .	Nathaniel Collins.
Boston, Old South (1669) . . . . .	Thomas Thatcher.
Hartford, Second (1669) . . . . .	Joseph Haynes.
Windsor, Second (1669) . . . . .	Benjamin Woodbridge.
Woodbury (1670) . . . . .	Zechariah Walker.
Greenwich (1670) . . . . .	No pastor.
Hatfield (1670) . . . . .	Hope Atherton.
Portsmouth (1671) . . . . .	Joshua Moody.
Tisbury (1673) . . . . .	John Mayhew.
York (1673) . . . . .	Shubael Dummer.

Besides these eighty-two regular Congregational churches, there were six or seven Indian missionary churches; five Baptist churches — one founded at Rehoboth (Swansey) in 1663, one at Boston in 1665, and three in Rhode Island: — the First Providence (1639), the First

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

Newport (1644), and the Second Newport (1656);— a society of Friends, which had been formed at Newport in 1656-7; and a church of Seventh-day Baptists, formed at Newport in December, 1671.

We have seen that the estimated number of Indians on the territory of New England at this time, was between ten and eleven thousand. Of these, about four thousand were then reckoned as "Praying Indians," and seem to have been won to some comprehension and practice of Christianity. According to Gookin, whose "Historical Collections of the Indians in New-England" bears date 7th Dec., 1674,* just before the breaking-out of Philip's War, these were, in large part, distributed as follows, viz:—

Nonantum (Natick) . . . . .	145	Manamoyik (Chatham) . . . . .	71
Punkapoag (Stoughton) . . . . .	60	Sawkattukett (Harwich), Nob-
Hassanamesitt (Grafton) . . . . .	60	squassitt , Mattakees , and Wec-
Okommakamesit (Marlborough) . . . . .	50	quakut (Yarmouth and Barnsta-
Wamesit (Tewksbury) . . . . .	75	ble ) . . . . .	122
Nashobah (Littleton) . . . . .	50	Saluit , Pawpoesit , Coatuit , Mash-
Magunkaquoq (Hopkinton) . . . . .	55	pee , and Wakoquit (Mashpee) .	95
Manchage (Oxford) . . . . .	60	Codtanmut , Ashimuit , Weesquobs
Chabanakongkomun (Dudley) . . . . .	45	(Mashpee and Sandwich) . . . . .	22
Maanexit (N.E. Woodstock) . . . . .	100	Pispogutt , Wawayantik , and So-
Quantisset (S.E. Woodstock) . . . . .	100	koucs (Wareham and Falmouth) .	36
Wabquisset (S.W. Woodstock) . . . . .	150	Cotuhtikut , Assoowamsoo (Mid-
Packachoog (Worcester) . . . . .	100	dleborough ) . . . . .	35
Wacuntug (Uxbridge) . . . . .	50	Kilteaumut (Sandwich) . . . . .	40
Meeshawn and Punouakanit (Tru-		Nope (Martha's Vineyard) and ro and Wellfleet) . . . . .	72	Chappaquiddick . . . . .	1500
Potannumaquut and Nawsett (East-		Nantucket . . . . .	300
ham) . . . . .	44

* Mass. Hist. Coll. i: 141-226.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

Rev. Richard Bourne, missionary among the Indians in the Plymouth Colony, reported, in 1674, that one hundred and forty-two could read their own language, seventy-two could write it, and nine could read English.*

It will be seen from this enumeration, that the seat of the successes of the benevolent labor of John Eliot and his compeers was upon the Elizabeth Islands, upon Cape Cod, and in the country neighboring Boston; the great inland and remoter tribes remaining wholly unreachd or unaffected by them.

The general aspect of New England at this time, Dr. Palfrey has admirably sketched in a few words. He says: —

“Along a line of rugged coast, from the Penobscot to the Hudson, are scattered settlements of Englishmen, at unequal distances from each other, — closely grouped together about midway of that line, farther apart at the extremities. Almost all of them are reached by tide-water: a very few have been planted in detached spots in the interior; the most distant of these being about a hundred miles from the sea, whether measured from the east or from the south. The surrounding country is not occupied, but roamed over by savages.” †

Maine was yet rough and primitive, in the extreme, in the quality of its settlers. Rhode Island was the paradise of schemers and dreamers, and come-outers of all sorts; from the high-souled advocate of pure and entire toleration down to those fussy and unendurable champions of

* 1 Mass. Hist. Coll. i: 197.

† Hist. New England, iii: 132.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

queer and petty principles, who were such crooked sticks by nature that they could not lie still even there. Plymouth, badly situated both for commerce and culture, with no good harbor on her coast, and with her thin and sandy soil, had been able, even with the best efforts of her noble men, to move but very slowly forward in the path of empire. While, from the fact that her teachers were taken from her repeatedly by the superior attractions offered by wealthier neighbors, she had been compelled to occupy a lower place in the relative scale, than that to which she would have been entitled from the purity and worth of her founders, and her general patient industry. Massachusetts had advanced more rapidly. Every thing helped her, until she was strong, not merely relatively as compared with her neighbors, but as looked at from the mother-country across the sea. Connecticut, too, was thriving. She had plenty of good land, wise and thrifty oversight, and general prosperity.

Dr. Palfrey draws the picture of daily life with a skilful pencil; thus: —

“In the three associated Colonies, there is great similarity in the ordinary occupations and pursuits. Most adults of both sexes work hard, and nearly all the children go to school. The greater part of the men get a living by farm labor: they provide bread and meat, milk, butter and cheese, for their own tables, and raise stock to sell in the West Indies for money with which to buy foreign commodities. But they are not all farmers. A portion are lumberers, plying the axe

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

through the winter in the thick pine forests, and, at the return of spring, floating down their rafts to a sure and profitable market. Another portion are fishermen, familiar with the haunts of the cod, the mackerel, and the whale, and with all perils of the sea. In the principal towns, various classes of artisans pursue a lucrative trade. The country furnishes some staples for an advantageous foreign commerce; and, especially in Boston, not a few merchants have grown rich.”*

Peace had reigned in these Colonies since the close of the Pequot war in the spring of 1636, — nearly forty years. The last colonist who had gained experience in savage warfare in that short but fierce struggle was now dead, or too old for service; while the youngest immigrants who had been trained to arms abroad were now in the same category. Slight and temporary misunderstandings and quarrels had taken place now and then; but the wise and scrupulously just policy which the Pilgrims at Plymouth had first initiated with the good Massasoit, had prevailed, and borne its natural and pleasant fruit. On the whole, the state of the Indians had been improved by the settling of the English at their side. Though they had parted with a good deal of the land over which they had been accustomed to roam, they had still enough reserved for their present wants. They had bettered their position, in their fight with nature for food and shelter, by many implements and suggestions from the superior culture of their white neighbors. And although their exposure to * Hist. New England, iii: 134.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

the seductive "fire-water" had wrought them harm, and they were sometimes imposed upon by the cunning greed of crafty and unscrupulous settlers, the Colonial governments were always administered in the endeavor to do them justice and afford them protection; and the proceeds of their hunting, or of their slight farming, now found ready and remunerative sale. In the single matter of the — to the English undesired, yet gradually accomplished — exchange of his bow and flint dagger and stone tomahawk, for the musket, hatchet, and hunting-knife of the white man, the Indian gained, for the legitimate uses of his own savage life, more than all which he had lost from the advent of civilization to these shores.

Massasoit died in 1661-2, and was succeeded in the sachemship of the Wampanoags by his eldest son, Alexander [Mooanam, Wamsutta]. His life was short after his accession. In a few months' time, it was rumored that he was plotting with the Narragansetts, — the bugbear of the Colonies on the west, as the Maquas were on the northwest, — and the Plymouth government thought the matter of sufficient consequence to be looked into. It is not improbable that an impression had been for some time gaining ground, that when the venerable sachem, who had welcomed Bradford and Winslow and their company at Patuxet, and had become their abiding friend, had passed away, certain tendencies toward disturbance, on which he had kept a tight rein, and which others had repressed through respect for him, might find development. So a message was sent to Alexander to come to Plymouth, and talk over affairs. He ignored the invitation. As the Court had broached the subject, they felt that the general safety required that their summons should not be disregarded in that way; so they sent an armed party, under Majors Winslow and Bradford, to find and bring him. They found him not far off, at Monponset (in Halifax), and then, "freely and readily, without the least hesitancy,"* he went with them. He told them that he had intended to come when first invited, but wanted to delay long enough to consult Mr. Willett, in whom he had confidence. Hubbard's story † is, that when he had been dismissed on the promise to send his son as a hostage, he was so enraged at the indignities put upon him, that he fell into a fever, of which he died before he got half-way home. And out of this statement has grown the general representation, that his ill-treatment at the hands of the English was the means of his death, and was laid up as one prominent cause of the war, twelve years later. But the letter of Rev. John Cotton to Increase Mather, — which Judge Davis prints in the appendix of the Memorial, and which has every element of trustworthiness, — from the dictation of Major Bradford, * Davis's Morton's Memorial, 426.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

† Narrative, 9.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

one of the chief actors, and a most competent witness, desiring expressly to correct Hubbard, puts an entirely different construction upon the event, and one intrinsically much more in harmony with the probabilities of the case. Mr. Cotton says, —

“ Reports being here, that Alexander was plotting or privy to plots against the English, authority sent to him to come down. He came not. Whereupon Maj. Winslow was sent to fetch him. Maj. Bradford with some others went with him. At Munponset river (a place not many miles hence) they found Alexander with about eight men and sundry squaws. He was there about getting canoes. He and his men were at breakfast under their shelter, their guns being without. They saw the English coming, but continued eating : and Mr. Winslow telling their business, Alexander, freely and readily, without the least hesitancy, consented to go, giving his reason why he came not to the Court before ; viz., because he waited for Captain Willet’s return from the Dutch, being desirous to speak with him first. They brought him to Mr. Collier’s, that day, and Governour Prince living remote, at Eastham, those few magistrates, who were at hand, issued the matter peaceably, and immediately dismissed Alexander to return home, which he did, part of the way : but in two or three days after, he returned and went to Maj. Winslow’s house, intending thence to travel into the Bay and so home ; but at the Major’s house he was taken very sick, and was, by water, conveyed to Mr. Bradford’s, and thence carried upon the shoulders of his men to Tetehquet river,* and thence, in canoes, home, and about two or three days after died.”

Upon his decease, his brother Philip [Pometacom] reigned in his stead. One of Philip’s first acts was to renew the ancient covenant between his father and the * Titicut, or Taunton Great River.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

colonists ; and five years passed quietly away, when a vague charge was made against him of being willing to plot with the French or Dutch against the English. This he denounced as a calumny of Ninigret of Niantic, and the matter subsided. After nearly four years more, another rumor of his treachery gained so much ground as to demand investigation, and awaken solicitude at both Plymouth and Boston. An investigation revealed proofs of bad faith on his part ; and a bad spirit was clearly manifested by him, when questioned concerning them. But this matter was finally issued in his renewed engagements of fealty. Three years passed again, when the Governor of Plymouth was informed by Sassamon — a “praying” Indian, who had been schoolmaster at Natick, and who, being able to write as well as read, had sometimes served Philip with his pen, — that there were suspicious circumstances in Philip’s camp, which gave color to the rumor that he was endeavoring to excite other sachems to war. This information was given under a demanded pledge of secrecy, as Sassamon said that Philip’s Indians would kill him if they suspected him as its source. It somehow leaked out to Philip’s ear, that the Governor of Plymouth had heard something to his disadvantage, and would send for him to come to the next Court to explain it. He therefore resolved to anticipate the matter by going without summons. He went to Plymouth, accordingly, and saw the Assistants,—the Court not yet being in session,—and protested his innocence. They were not satisfied ; but hoped that he would be led to desist by his knowledge of their discovery of his plans, and so dismissed him in a friendly manner, with a warning, that, should further evidence come up, they should be obliged to demand his arms for safe keeping.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

Philip went back to Mount Hope ; and, a few days after, Sassamon was missing. On search, his hat and gun were found on the ice of Assawompset Pond, in Middleborough, and his body under the ice. It was dragged out, and buried ; and afterwards exhumed and examined, when marks of violence indicating murder, and not accidental drowning, became manifest. Three Indians were soon arrested on suspicion, and tried by a jury, to which six grave friend Indians were added, to insure fairness in the verdict. An Indian came forward and testified, that, by accident, from the top of a hill, he had witnessed the scene, and that Sassamon had been murdered by these prisoners. One of the prisoners subsequently confessed that he had stood by while the others did the deed. The jury convicted and sentenced the murderers, the Indians concurring ; whereupon two were hanged, and the third, after a respite of two or three weeks, was shot.

This seems immediately to have promoted the outbreak, which took place with very little delay ; the first

English blood being shed on or about the 24th June, 1675.*

It has been usual to picture Philip as a great king, a sagacious warrior, and a far-sighted patriot; and to represent him as having been for years engaged in planning and perfecting a comprehensive conspiracy among all the Indian tribes on the New-England territory — and even upon that of New York — for the purpose of sweeping away, by one concerted blow, the hated white usurper, and of recovering to their own savage uses the whole of their ancient hunting-grounds. It has been usual to apologize for the ill success of the actual strife, by asserting that it was so hurried up by the death of Sassamon, that the first blow was struck before due preparations to follow it up could be completed.

Dr. Palfrey has shown, one would think to the general conviction, that there is a very small foundation of truth indeed on which to build this majestic, one might almost say magnificent, superstructure. He has shown that the English had used Philip habitually well; that he had no real grounds of complaint against them; that his frequent sales of land to them implies no unwillingness that they should have his hunting-grounds if they would pay for them, as they did; that he gave no indications of greatness, whether in council or conflict; that there is no proof that he directed or approved those hostilities about Mount Hope with which the war began; that his movements immediately after indicated a much keener anxiety for his own personal safety than for the extinction of the colonists; that there is nothing to show that he directed the outbreaks which followed, and no evidence that he was personally present and active in any particular fight; that there was no manifestation of savage wisdom on the part of anybody in the management of the war; that attacks upon particular, much-exposed localities were delayed for weeks and months, which, if any such general conspiracy existed as has been claimed, it is incredible should not have been simultaneous, or nearly so, when they would have been overwhelming; that, instead of hastening to join his waning fortunes with the Eastern Indians, when misfortune pressed him in his ancient haunts,—as he could have done in two days' easy march,—Philip retreated to the den whence he had originally gone forth, and there was shot ingloriously, while, unattended, he was attempting to run away; and that the war was waged at the Eastward, after his death, with more vigor than during his life, for nearly two whole years. In short, Dr. Palfrey makes it out,—and, as it would seem, on the best evidence,—that, instead of being a far-reaching, well-organized campaign, what we commonly call "Philip's War" was merely a succession of unconsidered and indiscriminate murders and pillages, taken up by one body of savages after another, as the intelligence of the attractive example of others reached them; and rightfully connected with his name mainly as having been led off by those bands who centred around Sowams, and over whom he had partial control.*

* See Part I. p. 18.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

The cotemporaneous records do certainly bear out this general judgment. There is a tradition mentioned by Callender, † as derived both from the white settlers in the vicinity of Mount Hope and from those Indians who survived the struggle, that Philip and his elder chiefs were utterly averse to the war. Increase Mather never seems to have heard of the all-embracing conspiracy, or of Philip's great statesmanship. Even Cotton Mather — much as one would think he would have enjoyed it — never mentions either. Hubbard is the only early writer who says any thing on which the popular judgment could be based. He does say that Philip had been "plotting with all the Indians round about," &c.; but he gives only vague rumor from some prisoners, as his authority, and does not seem himself to have attributed to his own words the importance even which they might naturally convey.

Easton — it is difficult to decide how much of accuracy and weight is to be attributed to the testimony lately published in his name — gives the following account of an interview which he asserts to have been held between Philip and some Rhode-Islanders just before the outbreak. He says:* —

* Hist. New England, iii: 223-229.

† R.-I. Hist. Coll. iv: 126.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

“ [Philip] came himself unarmed, and about 40 of his Men armed. Then 5 of us went over [Trip’s Ferry], 3 wear Magistrates. We fate veri friendly together. We told him our bifnes was to indever that they might not reseue or do Rong. They said that was well; they had dun no Rong, the English ronged them. We said we knew the English said the Indians ronged them, and the Indians said the English ronged them, but our Desier was the Quarrell might rightly be defided, in the best Way, and not as Dogs defided their Quarrells. The Indians owned y<sup>t</sup> fighting was the worst Way; then they propounded how Right might take Place. We said by Arbitration. They said that all English agreed against them, and so by Arbitration they had had much Rong; mani Miles square of Land so taken from them, for English would have English Arbitrators; and once they were persuaded to give in their Arms y<sup>t</sup> thereby Jealousy might be removed, and the English having their Arms wold not deliver them as they had promised, untill they consented to pay a 100<sup>l</sup>, and now they had not so much sum or muny; y<sup>t</sup> thay wear as good be kiled as leave all ther Liueflyhode.

“ We said they might chuse a Indian King, and the English might chuse the Governor of New Yorke, y<sup>t</sup> nether had cafe to say either wear Parties in the Diferance. They said they had not heard of y<sup>t</sup> Way, and said we onestly spoke, so we wear perswaided if y<sup>t</sup> Way had bine tendered they would have accepted. We did endeavor not to hear their Complaints, said it was not convenient for us now to consider of, but to indever to prevent War; said to them when in War against English, Blood was spilt, y<sup>t</sup> ingaged all Englishmen, for we wear to be all under one King; we knew what their Complaints wold be, and in our Colony had removed some of them in sending for Indian Rulers in what the Crime concerned Indians Lives, which they veri lovingly accepted, and agreed with us to their Execution, and said so they were abell to satisfie their Subjects when they knew an Indian sufered duly, but said in what was only between their Indians and not in Towneshipes, y<sup>t</sup> we had purchasèd, they wold not have us profecute, and y<sup>t</sup> they had a great Fear to have ani of ther Indians shuld be caled or forced to be Christian Indians. Thay said y<sup>t</sup> such wer in everi thing more mischievous, only Dissemblers, and then the English made them not subjeēt to ther Kings, and by their lying to rong ther Kings. We knew it to be true, and we promising them y<sup>t</sup> however in Government to Indians all should be alike, and y<sup>t</sup> we knew it was our King's will it should be so, y<sup>t</sup> altho we wear weaker than other Colonies, they having submitted to our King to protect them, others dared not otherwise to molest them; expressest thay took that to be well, that we had littell Cafe to doute, but that to us under the King thay would have yielded to our Determinations in what ani should have complained to us against them.

* A Relation of the Indyan Warr, by Mr. Easton, &c., pp. 7-16.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

“ But Philip charged it to be difonestly in us to put of the Hering to iust Complaints, therefore we consented to hear them. They said thay had bine the first in doing Good to the English, and the English the first in doing Rong; said when the English first came, the King's Father was as a great Man, and the English as a littell Child; he constrained other Indians from ronging the English, and gave them Corn and shewed them how to plant, and was free to do them ani Good, and had let them have a 100 Times more Land than now the King had for his own Peopell. But ther Kings Brother, when he was King, came miserably to dy by being forced to Court, as they iudge paysoned. And another Greavance was if 20 of there onest Indians testified that a Englishman had dun them Rong, it was as nothing; and if but one of their worst Indians testified against any Indian or ther King, when it plected the English it was sufittant. Another Grievance was, when their King sold Land, the English wold say, it was more than they agreed to, and a Writing must be prove against all them, and sum of their Kings had dun Rong to fell so much. He left his Peopell none, and sum being given to Drunknes the English made them drunk and then cheated them in Bargains, but now ther kings wear forwarned not for to part with Land, for nothing in Cumparifon to the Value thereof. Now home the Englifh had owned for King or Queen, they wold dif-inheret and make another King that wold give or fell them thefe Lands; that now, they had no Hopes left to kepe ani Land. Another Grievance, the Englifh Catell and Horfes ftill increafed; that when thay removed 30 Mile from where Englifh had ani thing to do, thay could not kepe ther Corn from being fpoyled, thay never being iufed to fence, and thoft when the Englifh boft Land of them thay wold have kept their Catell upon ther owne Land. Another Grievance, the Englifh were fo eager to fell the Indians Lickers, y<sup>t</sup> moft of the Indians fpent all in Drynknes, and then rauewed upon the fober Indians, and thay did believe often did hurt the Englifh Catell, and ther King could not prevent it.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

“We knew before, thefe were their grand Complaints, but then we only indevered to perfuaid y<sup>t</sup> all Complaints might be righted without War, but could have no other Anfwer but that thay had not heard of that Way for the Governor of Yorke and an Indian King to have the Hearing of it. We had Cafe to think in y<sup>t</sup> had bine tendered it wold have bine accepted. We indevered y<sup>t</sup> however thay fould lay downe the War, for the Englifh wear to Strong for them; thay faid, then the Englifh fould do to them as they did when thay wear to ftrong for the Englifh.

“So we departed without ani Difcurtioufnefs, and fudingly had Letter from Plimoth Governor thay intended in Arms to conforem Philip, but no Information what y<sup>t</sup> was thay required, or w<sup>t</sup> Termes he refufed to have their Quarrell defided; and in a Weke’s Time after we had bine with the Indians the War thus begun.”

If this is authentic, it is interesting, and indicates the utmost that — from his side of the question — a wily savage could then fuggelt in extenuation of the propofed outbreak. The infinuated poisoning of Alexander may have been the utterance of an honest suspicion on the part of Philip and his friends: it sounds more like an advantage taken of the impossibility of contrary proof, to urge a conscious and mischievous slander. Nor is there any thing in what Easton says to give color to the notion of a general conspiracy among all the tribes to crush out the whites.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

The results of the war were heavy to the Colonies. Ten or twelve towns were utterly destroyed, and two-score of others more or less damaged and depopulated. From five to six hundred men fell in the various fights, were murdered in stealthy assaults, or were carried away captive, never to return. More than £100,000 were expended in the struggle; and, at its close, it is estimated that the Old Colony was left under a debt which exceeded the value of the entire personal property of its people! As a natural consequence, the Plymouth Colonists were nearly discouraged. But, from her thin soil and her various industries, she gradually pushed on to square herself with the world, until she had paid the last dollar of principal and interest!

The causes which aroused those later hostilities, which called out the several Eastern Expeditions recounted in this Second Part, were not different essentially from those which lay at the root of "Philip's War," except as the intermeddling of the French may have had to do with exciting, exasperating, and sustaining them. The Indians grew more and more dissatisfied as they saw the Colonists advancing in wealth and power, and every year fixing themselves with a firmer hold upon the soil. It was this inherent hostility between a savage race and that civilized one which it sees to be too strong for it, and to be menacing its future, added to the Indian's natural love for blood and pillage, which stimulated attacks which were sought to be excused by pretences that this treaty had not been faithfully kept, or that promise had not been honestly performed.

It may be doubted, however, whether even the fierce savage of the eastern wilds would not have chosen to retreat from the coasts toward the Five Nations without risking the chances of conflict, if he had not been urged on and aided and abetted even in his brutalest work, by the deadly hatred then borne by the French settler to his English competitor; in which the old hostility of race was supplemented and intensified by the ferocity of Jesuit-fanned fanaticism.

When the echoes of the last hearty war-whoop died away among the New-England hills, a new leaf was turned in her history. Even her strong men breathed freer as they wrought along her frontiers; and her women slept sweeter, with their little ones around them, everywhere under the deep shadows of her ancestral woods.

HISTORY

OF THE

EASTERN EXPEDITIONS.

A further Account of the Actions in the more later Wars against the Common Enemy and Indian Rebels in the Eastern Parts, under the Command of the aforesaid Capt. Benj. Church.<sup>1</sup>

IN the time of Sir Edmund Andros's<sup>2</sup> Government, began that bloody War in the Eastern Parts of New-England; so that immediately Sir Edmund sent an Express for Capt. Church; who then being at Little Compton,<sup>3</sup> received it on a Lords Day<sup>4</sup> in

<sup>1</sup> See Introduction, for some account of the causes which led to these "more later wars."

<sup>2</sup> Sir Edmund Andros was born in Guernsey in 1632; went into the army, where, through favor of the Duke of York, he received promotion; in 1664 was appointed Governor of the Duke's territories in America; arrived at New York 31 Oct., 1674; soon began to supersede the moral and religious, as well as the civil affairs of the people; in 1675, attempted in vain to extend his authority over Connecticut. In Feb., 1685, the Duke of York, succeeding to the throne as James II., appointed Andros Governor of all the New-England Colonies except Connecticut. He arrived at Boston 20 Dec., 1686, and began to remove old officers, overturn existing institutions, and enter upon a practical despotism. 12 Jan., 1687, he assumed the Government of Rhode Island; and, 13 June, that of Connecticut, which he claimed by supplementary instructions. After the news of the landing of the Prince of Orange reached Boston, an insurrection took place there 18 April, 1689, and Andros was imprisoned. In Feb., 1690, he was sent home to England, by command of William III., who, in 1692, appointed him Governor of Virginia, where he for the first time had a popular administration, but returned to England in 1699; was Governor of Guernsey from 1704 to 1706; and died in London, Feb., 1714, at the age of 82. [Governors of Mass. Bay, 403-422.]

<sup>3</sup> Capt. Church must have been at Saconet on a transient visit, as he was at this time a resident of Bristol. [See Introductory Memoir, Part I., of this work, p. xxviii.]

<sup>4</sup> The date of this occurrence would seem to be approximately fixed by the

the afternoon Meeting; going home after Meeting, took his Horfe and fet out for Boston, as ordered; and by Sun rife next Morning got to Brantry,<sup>5</sup> where he met with Col. Page<sup>6</sup> on Horfe-back, going to Weymouth and Hingham to raife Forces to go East; who faid he was glad to fee him, and that his Excellency would be as glad to fee him in Boston fo early: fo parting, he foon got to Boston, probability that it muft have been between the 20 Oct., 1688, when Andros iffued his proclamation seeking to fecure peace among the Eastern Indians, and that time in the following November (Hutchinfon [Hift. Mafs. i: 331] fays “in the beginning of November”; Willis [Hift. Portland (ed. 1865), 274] fays “early in November”; Williamfon [Hift. Maine, i: 589] fays “late in November”), when he started, with his force of 700 or 800 men, for the Eastern country.

<sup>5</sup> What was then known as Braintree is now known as Quincy; the prefent Braintree being at that time called Monatiquot. [Adrefs at the opening of the new Town Hall in Braintree, July 29, 1858, by Hon. C. F. Adams, 67; Vinton Memorial, 463].

<sup>6</sup> Nicholas Paige was in Boston in 1665; married Ann, daughter of Edward Keayne, and widow of Edward Lane (which Ann was tried for adultery 23 May, 1666, and made confeffion of “much wickednes”); ferved in Philip’s War, and was witnefs to articles of peace with the Narragansetts 15 July, 1675; was Captain of one of the companies raifed in Boston on the overthrow of Andros; was Captain of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in 1695. He is called “Lt. Coll.” in 1688. He died, probably, late in 1717. In the repairs made, in 1863, upon the Univerfity Library building in Leyden, Holland, there were found under the floor of that room which for many years was ufed as a chapel by the Scotch Presbyterian Church, fix memorial ftones, and parts of twelve bodies. One of the ftones bore the following infcription:—

Here lieth buried Edward Paige, onely fon of Nicolas and Anna Paige, born at Boston in New England, Feb. 20, 1622, died in Leyden, Nov. 1, 1680, N.S.

The firft date fhould, of courfe, be 1662, and this is clearly the Edward Lane of whom Savage fpeaks [Gen. Diſt. iii: 50] as the fon, of that birth-date, of his mother while ftill the wife of Edward Lane; whofe name, for fome wife reafon, was changed to that of his mother’s fecond husband, after her fecond marriage. [Savage’s Gen. Diſt. iii: 332. Mafs. Col. Rec. iv (pt. 2): 309; Drake’s Hift. Boff. i: 482. Leyden MSS.]

and waited upon his Excellency; who informed him of an unhappy War broke out in the Eastern Parts; and said he was going himself in Person, and that he wanted his Company with him: But Capt. Church not finding in himself the same Spirit he us'd to have,<sup>7</sup> said, he hop'd his Excellency would give him time to consider of it. He told him he might; and also said that he must come and Dine with him. Capt. Church having many acquaintance in Boston, who made it their business some to encourage, and others to discourage him from going with his Excellency.<sup>8</sup> So after Dinner his Excellency took him into his room and discours'd freely; saying that he having knowledge of his former Actions and Successes; and that he must go with him, and be his Second, with other encouragements. But in short, the said Capt. Church did not accept, so was dismissed, and went home.

Soon after this was the Revolution, and the other Government Re-assumed;<sup>9</sup> and then Governour Broadstreet<sup>10</sup>

<sup>7</sup> This can scarcely refer to any feeling incident to advancing age, for Capt. Church was not yet 50.

<sup>8</sup> Andros was at this time so unpopular, that very few persons in Boston would then be apt to advise a friend to aid him, or undertake any thing under him.

<sup>9</sup> The smothered flame broke out into the arrest of the Governor, a portion of his Council, and other obnoxious persons—about 50 in all—on Thursday, 18 April, 1689. On the 22 May, the representatives of 54 towns met in Boston; and, two days after, Gov. Broadstreet and the Magistrates who had been chosen in 1686, resumed the direction of affairs. [Hutchinson's Hist. Mass. i: 333-344.]

<sup>10</sup> Simon Bradstreet was born—the son of a Non-Conformist minister—at Horbling, in Lincolnshire, in March, 1603; took A.B. 1620 and A.M. 1624, at Emanuel College, Cambridge; was steward of the Earl of Lincoln, and then of the Countess of Warwick; came with Winthrop in the “Arbella,” 1630; settled in Newtown (Cambridge), sent for Capt. Church to come to Boston, as soon as his business would permit: Where-upon he went to Boston, and waited upon his Honour;<sup>11</sup> who told him he was requested by the Council to send for him, to see if he could be prevail'd with to Raise Volunteers both English and Indians to go East; for the Eastward Indians had done great spoil upon the English in those Parts;<sup>12</sup> giving him an account of the Miseries and Sufferings of the People there: Capt. Churches Spirits being affected, said, If he could do any Service for his Honour, the Country, and their relief, he was ready and willing: His advice was asked, How he would act, he said, He would take with him as many of his old Souldiers as he could get, both English and In- lived afterward at Ipswich, Andover, Boston, and Salem. He was the first Secretary of the Mass. Colony; Commissioner of the United Colonies; Deputy Governor 1672-9; afterward Governor until 1686; was the head of the moderate party, but opposed Andros's arbitrary acts, and resumed his place at the head of affairs when Andros was deposed, where he continued until Sir William Phipps came, in 1692, with the new Charter. He died 27 March, 1697, aged 94. He married (1) Ann, daughter of Gov. Thomas Dudley, by whom he had Samuel, Dorothy, Sarah, Simon, Hannah, Mercy, Dudley, and John; (2) Ann, widow of Capt. Joseph Gardner, and daughter of Emanuel Downing. [Savage's Gen. Dict. i: 236; N. E. Hist. & Gen. Reg. i: 75.]

<sup>11</sup> The date of this is approximately fixed by cotemporary documents. Gov.

Bradstreet wrote to Gov. Hinckley, 17 July, 1689, "We have written to Capt. Church"; and 2 Aug., 1689, "Capt. Church having also been written to from hence thereabouts, who is now here with the Council treating about that affair," &c. [Hinckley Papers, 4 Mass. Hist. Coll. v: 204-5.]

<sup>12</sup> In April, 1689, the Indians renewed hostilities at Saco; and 27 June, Cochecho (now Dover, N.H.) was surprised, and Maj. Waldron and 23 others were killed, and 29 were taken captive, and sold to the French in Canada. 2 Aug., Pemaquid was destroyed, and the inhabitants East of Falmouth (Portland, Me.) withdrew in terror to that town, or removed to other places of supposed security. [Mather's Magnalia (orig. ed.), Book vii: 64-5; Williamson's Hist. Maine, i: 610; Willis's Hist. Portland, 275.]

dians, &c. The Gentlemen of Boston requested him to go [56] to Rhode-Island Government to ask their assistance: So giving him their Letter, and about 40 s. in Money, he took leave and went home to Bristol on a Saturday; and the next Monday Morning he went over to Rhode-Island, and waited upon their Governour,<sup>13</sup> delivering the Letter, as ordered; pray'd his Honour for a speedy answer:<sup>14</sup> who said, they could not give an answer presently; so he waited upon them till he had their answer; and when he had obtain it, he carryed it to the Boston Gentlemen; who desired him to Raise what Volunteers he could in Plymouth Colony,<sup>15</sup> and Rhode-Island Government, & what was wanting they would make up out of their's that was already out in the Eastern Parts. The Summer being far spent Capt.

<sup>13</sup> Walter Clark, eldest son of Jeremiah of Newport, was born about 1639; was a Quaker; was freeman in 1665; 6 Nov., 1672, was member of a committee to audit the accounts between the Colony and its creditors; in 1673 and 1674 was on the committee to see that the election was conducted in an orderly manner; 2 May, 1676, was chosen Governor; for many years afterward was Deputy Governor, and then Governor again in 1686, and once more in 1696; died 22 May, 1714, aged 74. He married (1) Content —, who died March, 1666; (2) Hannah, daughter of Richard Scott, who died 24 July, 1681; (3) Freeborn, daughter of Roger Williams, and widow of Thomas Hart, who died 10 Dec., 1709; (4) Sarah, daughter of Matthew Prior, and widow of John Gould. [Savage's Gen. Dict. i: 403; R.-I. Col. Rec. ii: 147, 481, 483, 517, 541; iii: 30, 186, 312.]

<sup>14</sup> When the Revolution ousted Andros, the old Charter Government was resumed in Rhode Island, but the "wary Clark"—who had been Governor when Andros arrived and seized the State—"hesitated to accept his former post; and for ten months Rhode Island was without an acknowledged Governor." [Arnold's Hist. R.-I. i: 512.] It was during these ten months that Church "waited upon him"; whence the difficulty of giving "an answer presently" finds ready explanation.

<sup>15</sup> Plymouth Court met 14 Aug., 1689, and voted their "concurrence" accord-

Church made what dispatch he could, and raised about 250 Men Volunteers, and receiving his Commission from Governour Hinkley,<sup>16</sup> which is as followeth, viz.

‘ The Council of War of their Majesties Colony of
 ‘ New-Plymouth in New-England. To Major ‘ Benjamin Church, Commander in Chief.

‘ WHereas the Kennebeck & Eastern Indians with their ‘ Confederates, have openly made War upon their ‘ Majesties Subjects of the Provinces of Maine, New-Hamp-

ing to their “weak capacity,” in the measures proposed by Massachusetts to subdue the Eastern savages. They instructed their Commissioners (1) to be satisfied as to the grounds of the War; (2) to take care not to be overcharged for its carrying on; (3) to endeavor not to be involved in charges formerly contracted; (4) to secure due allowance to volunteers, and due bounty to the wounded; (5) to arrange for disbursements to be repaid in time convenient; (6) to stipulate that what shall be due to Plymouth soldiers shall be paid here, to prevent charge of transportation and other losses; (7) that it be endeavored to engage the Mohawks as allies. It was also ordered “that the military officers of each town forthwith use their endeavour to encourage English & Indians to a voluntary going out in this present expedition under command of Capt. Church,” &c.; and that if a competent number should not volunteer “then such a number shall be pressed as shall be by the Council of war agreed upon in the severall towns where vollunteers enough do not appear.”

It was further ordered, and I insert the order as curiously intimating the proportionate strength of the towns of Plymouth Colony at this date, that “the proportion for men and armes for each towne for this present expedition shall be as followeth: each man to be provided with a well fixt gun, sword, or hatchet, a horne or cartouch box, fuitable am’uniton and a snap-fack.” viz.—

	Men.	Armes.		Men.	Armes.
Plymouth,	4	3	Rochester,	1	1
Scituate,	6	5	Monamoy,	1	1
Marshfield,	3	3	Succonessett,	1	1
Duxborough,	2	2	Bristol,	3	2
Bridgewater,	3	2	Taunton,	4	4
Middleborough,	1	1	Rehoboth,	4	3
Barnstable,	4	3	Dartmouth,	3	2
Eastham,	4	3	Swansey,	3	2
Sandwich,	3	3	Freetown,	1	1
Yarmouth,	3	3	Little Compton,	2	2

[Plym. Col. Rec. vi: 212–216.]

<sup>16</sup> Thomas Hinkley was born in 1618, in Tenterden, Kent, being son of Samuel, who came to this country in the Hercules,

' shire, and of the Massachusetts Colony, having committed
 ' many barbarous Murders, Spoils & Rapines upon their ' Persons & Estates. And whereas there are some ' Forces of Souldiers English and Indians<sup>17</sup> now raised
 ' & detached out of the several Regiments & Places within
 ' this Colony of New-Plymouth, to go forth to the assistance
 ' of our Neighbours & Friends of the aforefaid Provinces ' and Colony of the Massachusetts, Subjects of one and the ' same Crown; and to joyn with their Forces for the re' pelling and destruction of the common Enemy. And
 ' whereas you Benjamin Church are appointed to be Ma' jor & Commander in Chief of all the Forces English and ' Indians detached within this Colony, for the Service of ' their Majesties as aforefaid. These are in their Majesties
 ' Name to Authorize & Require you to take into your care
 ' & conduct all the faid Forces English and Indians, and ' diligently to intend that Service, by leading and exercis' ing of your Inferiour Officers and Souldiers, commanding
 ' them to obey you as their Chief Commander; and to ' pursue, fight, take, kill or destroy the faid Enemies, their in 1635. He was Deputy from Barn-stable as early as 1645, and Assistant in 1658; Deputy Governor in 1680; and Governor in 1681, holding the office, except when it was usurped by Andros, until the absorption of the Colony,

 when he was made Councillor of Mass.
 He died at Barnstable, 25 April, 1705, æt.
 87. He married (1) Mary Richards;
 (2) Mary Glover, daughter of Lawrence
 Smith, and widow of Nathaniel Glover. One of his daughters married

Experience Mayhew, and another Samuel Prince. [Otis's Hist. Barnstable,
 i: 308-313.]

<sup>17</sup> Mr. Drake [Book of the Indians, 270] states, on the authority of a MS.
 letter of Capt. Bassett of this Expedition, that there was an Indian Company commanded by Capt. Amos, and another by Capt. Daniel; while Church seems to imply that the Saconet Indians who were with him were under Capt. Numpas.

‘ Aiders and Abettors, by all the wayes and means you
 ‘ can, as you fhall have opportunity. And you to obferve ‘ & obey all fuch Orders and Inftitutions as from time to ‘ time you fhall receive from the Commiffioners of the ‘ Colonies, the Council of War of this Colony, or the Go‘ vernour and Council of the Massachusetts Colony. In ‘ Teftimony whereof the Publick Seal of the faid Colony
 ‘ of New-Plymouth is here-unto affixed. Dated in Ply- ‘ mouth the Sixth day of September, Anno Dom. 1689.
 ‘ Annoque Regni Regis et Reginae Willielmi et Mariae ‘ Angliae, &c. Primo.

Thomas Hinkley, President. [57]

And now Marching them all down to Boston, then received his further Orders and Inftitutions: which are as followeth,

Boston, Septem. 16th. 1689.

To all Sheriffs, Marshalls, Conftables, and other Officers Military and Civil, in their Majefties Province of Maine.

‘ WHereas purfuant to an agreement of the Commif-‘ fioners of the United Colonies, Major Benjamin ‘ Church is Commiffionated Commander in Chief over
 ‘ that part of their Majefties Forces (levyed for the pref‘ ent Expedition againft the Common Enemy) whose ‘ head quarters are appointed to be at Falmouth in Casco
 ‘ Bay. In their Majefties Names, You, and every of you

‘ are required to be aiding and assisting to the said Maj.
 ‘ Church, in his pursuit of the Enemy, as any Emergency ‘ shall require; and to Impress Boats, or other Vessels, Carts, ‘ Carriages, Horses, Oxen, Provision and Ammunition, and ‘ Men for guides &c. as you shall receive Warrants from the ‘ said Chief Commander, or his Lieutenant so to do: You ‘ may not fail to do the same speedily and effectually, as ‘ you will answer your neglect and contempt of their ‘ Majesties Authority and Service at your uttermost Peril.
 ‘ Given under my Hand and Seal the Day and Year above
 ‘ Written. Annoque Regi Regis et Reginae Willielmi &
 ‘ Mariae Primo.

By Thomas Danforth,<sup>18</sup> President of the Province of Maine.

*By the Governour and Council of the Massachusetts Colony.
 To Major Benjamin Church.*

‘ WHereas you are appointed and commissioned by the ‘ Council of War of the Colony of New-Plymouth, ‘ Commander in Chief of the Forces raised within the said ‘ Colony, against the Common Indian Enemy, now ordered ‘ into the Eastern Parts, to joyn with some of the Forces
 ‘ of this Colony; for the prosecution, repelling and subdu-

<sup>18</sup> Thomas Danforth, of Cambridge, was eldest son of Nicolas; was born in England; was freeman 10 May, 1643; Deputy 1657-8; Assistant 1659-78; Deputy Governour 1679-86, and again after

Andros; in 1680 was appointed President for Maine, and, in 1692, Judge of the Supreme Court; died 5 Nov., 1699. He married Mary Withington, of Dorchester. [Savage's Gen. Dict. ii: 8.]

‘ing of the said Enemy. It is therefore Ordered that ‘ Captain Simon Willard,<sup>19</sup> and Capt. Nathanael Hall,<sup>20</sup>
 ‘ with the two Companies of Souldiers under their severall ‘ Command belonging to this Colony, now in or about ‘ Casco Bay, be and are hereby put under you, as their ‘ Commander in Chief for this present Expedition. And ‘ in pursuance of the Commiſſions severally given to either ‘ of them, they are Ordered to Observe and Obey your ‘ orders and directions, as their Commander in Chief until ‘ further Order from the Governour & Council; Or the ‘ Commiſſioners of the Colonies. Dated in Boston the ‘ 17th day of September, Anno Dom. 1689. Annoque

<sup>19</sup> Simon Willard was third son of Maj. Simon; born 23 Nov., 1649; free-man 1680; Captain in this war; was Deacon; died 21 June, 1731. He married (1) about 1679, Martha, daughter of Richard Jacob, of Ipswich; (2) 30 April, 1702, Elizabeth, widow of John Walley, and daughter of the second John Alden; (3) July, 1722, Priscilla Buttolph. [Savage's Gen. Dict. iv: 555.]

<sup>20</sup> I cannot identify this Captain, except by the supposition that he was the fame "Capt. Nathaniel Hall" who joined the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in 1692, and who is barely mentioned by name, by Whitman. [Hist. Anc. & Hon. Art. 228.] It seems to me that Mr. Savage is mistaken in saying that he was that son of the first John of Yarmouth, who married Anne Thornton, practised as a physician, kept tavern, &c., &c. It is hardly probable that there were two cotemporary Nathaniel Halls of Yarmouth, both of whom fought the Indians. But that Nathaniel Hall who received grants from the Plymouth Colony in July, 1681, and July, 1683, and who was licensed to keep an ordinary, in addition to a grant of £5 per annum, 5 June, 1684, to which £30 more, with the promise of £6 per annum, were added in June, 1685, — all on account of his "contenewed lameness" as "a decriped souldier, whoe became foe by a wound received in the late Indian warr," was of Yarmouth. And as he was thus an untitled pensioner up to 1685, it seems unlikely that he could have been the Capt. Nathaniel who marched under Church in 1689. Mr. Otis, however, thinks he was the fame. [Savage's Gen. Dict. ii: 336; Plym. Col. Rec. vi: 65, 112, 130, 132, 169; Freeman's Hist. Cape Cod. ii: 203. Otis's Hist. Barnstable, i: 241.]

‘ attended so far as the State of matters with you in such a ‘ transaction will admit. You are with all possible speed
 ‘ to take care that the Plymouth Forces both English and ‘ Indians under your Command be fixed and ready, and ‘ the first opportunity of Wind & Weather, to go on ‘ board such Vessels as are provided to transport you and
 ‘ them to Casco, where if it shall please God you arrive,
 ‘ you are to take under your care & command the Com‘ panies of Capt. Nathanael Hall, and Capt. Simon Wil- ‘ lard, who are ordered to attend your Command, whom ‘ together with the Plymouth Forces, and such as from time ‘ to time may be added unto you; you are to improve in ‘ such way as you shall see meet, for the discovering, ‘ pursuing, subduing and destroying the said Common En‘ emy, by all opportunities you are capable of; always ‘ intending the preserving any of the near Towns from ‘ incursions, and destruction of the Enemy, yet chiefly ‘ improving your men for the finding and following the ‘ said Enemy abroad, and if possible to find out & attach ‘ their head quarters and principal Rendezvous, if you find
 ‘ you are in a rational capacity of so doing; the better to ‘ inable you thereto, We have ordered two men of War
 ‘ Sloops, and other small Vessels for transportation, to attend
 ‘ you, for some considerable time. You are to see that ‘ your Souldiers Arms be always fixt, and that they be ‘ furnished with Ammunition, Provisions and other neces‘ saries, that so they may be in a readines to repel and ‘ attach the Enemy. In your pursute you are to take

‘ special care to avoid danger by Ambushments, or being ‘ drawn under any disadvantage by the Enemy in your ‘ Marches, Keeping out Scouts and a forlorn before your ‘ main Body, and by all possible means endeavouring to ‘ Surprize some of the Enemy, that so you may gain intelli‘ gence. You are to Suppress all Mutinies and Disorders ‘ among your Souldiers, as much as in you lies, and to ‘ punish such as disobey your Officers, according to the ‘ rules of War herewith given you. [59]

‘ You are according to your opportunity, or any occa‘ sion more than ordinary occurring to hold correspondence ‘ with Major Swaine,<sup>22</sup> and to yield Mutual assistance when
 ‘ and as you are capable of it, and you may have reason to ‘ judge it will be of most Publick Service; and it will be ‘ meet you and he should agree of some Signal whereby ‘ your Indians may be known from the Enemy. You are ‘ to encourage your Souldiers to be industrious, vigorous,
 ‘ and venturous in their Service, to search out and destroy
 ‘ the Enemy, acquainting them, It is agreed by the severall ‘ Colonies, That they shall have the benefit of the Captives,
 ‘ and all lawful Plunder, and the Reward of Eight Pounds ‘ per head, for every fighting Indian man slain by them,
 ‘ over and above their Stated wages; the same being made ‘ appear to the Commander in Chief, or such as shall be ‘ appointed to take care therein. If your Commission Offi-

<sup>22</sup> This appears to have been Jeremiah Swain, of Reading, who was Deputy 1686 and 1689, and Assistant the latter year. He was Captain for many years previous to this war, and was at the head of a regiment in 1691. [Savage's Gen. Hist. iv: 235; Mafs. Col. Rec. v: 476, 514.]

‘ cers or any of them should be slain, or otherwise uncapa-‘ ble of Service, and for such reason dismiss, you are to ‘ appoint others in their room, who shall have the like ‘ wages, and a Commission sent upon notice given, you to ‘ give them Commissions in the mean time. You are ‘ to take effectual care that the Worship of God be kept up ‘ in the Army, Morning and Evening Prayer attended as ‘ far as may be, and as the Emergencies of your affairs
 ‘ will admit, to see that the holy Sabbath be duely Sancti‘ fied. You are to take care as much as may be to prevent ‘ or punish Drunkenness, Swearing, Cursing, or such other ‘ Sins, as do provoke the anger of God. You are to ad‘ vise with your Chief Officers in any matters of Moment, ‘ as you shall have opportunity. You are from time to ‘ time to give intelligence and advice to the Governour & ‘ Council of the Massachusetts, or Commissioners of the ‘ Colonies of your proceedings and occurrence that may ‘ happen, and how it shall please the Lord to deal with you
 ‘ in this present Expedition.

‘ If you find the Vessels are not likely to be Serviceable ‘ to you, dismiss them as soon as you may.

‘ Capt. Silvanus Davis<sup>23</sup> is a prudent Man, and well

<sup>23</sup> Silvanus Davis was at Sheepscot 1659; swore allegiance to the King 1665; was wounded by the Indians at Arrowfick when Captain Lake was killed; removed to Falmouth (Portland) 1680; became a large land-owner there, and had the most extensive warehouse in the Eastern country at that time, being licensed, in 1687, “to retail liquors out of doors in the town of Falmouth”; became unpopular in the days of Andros; commanded the fort; was captured by the French and Indians in May, 1690; was exchanged for a Frenchman 15 Oct., 1690; was put into the Council by the Charter of William and

‘ acquainted with the affairs of those parts, and is writt ‘ unto to advise and inform you all he can.

‘ Such further Instructions as we shall see reason to send ‘ unto you, you are carefully to attend and observe, and in ‘ the absence of the Commissioners, you shall observe the ‘ orders and instructions directed unto you from the Gov‘ ernour and Council of the Massachusetts.

Given under our hands in Boston, Sept. 18. 1689.

Tho. Hinkley

Thomas Danforth, President.

John Walley<sup>24</sup>

Elisha Cooke<sup>25</sup>

Samuel Mason<sup>26</sup>

William Pitkin.<sup>27</sup>

Mary 1691; lived in his latter days at Hull, Mafs.; died 1704, leaving a wife, but no children. He wrote an account of his capture, &c., &c., which is on file in the Mafs. State Paper Office, and was printed in 3 Mafs. Hist. Coll. i: 101-112. [Willis's Hist. Port. 21, 131, 208, 226, 231, 234, 258, 263, 284, 293; Savage's Gen. Dict. ii: 21.]

<sup>24</sup> John Walley was son of Rev. Thomas, of Barnstable; was born in 1643; was admitted to the Ancient and Honorable Artillery 1671; freeman 1673; Captain 1679; was interested in the settlement of Bristol; was one of Andros's Council 1686; was chief military officer of the expedition to Quebec 1690; was Judge of the Superior Court 1700-11; died in Boston 11 Jan., 1712. at. 68. He published a Journal of the Quebec Expedition, which is contained in the appendix to the first volume of Hutchinson's History of Massachusetts. He had a singular controversy with John Saffin, & in which Judge Byfield became also involved. [Savage's Gen. Dict. iv: 400; Hist. Acad. & Hon. Art. 185; Freeman's Hist. Cape Cod. i: 323; Wathburn's Judic. Hist. Mafs. 270.]

<sup>25</sup> Elisha Cooke, son of Richard, of Boston, was a physician; freeman 1673;

Deputy 1681-3; Assistant 1684-6; of the Council of Safety 1689; was agent

<sup>26</sup> Samuel Mason was eldest son of Maj. John; born at Windsor, Conn.,

July, 1664; Lieut. 1670; freeman 1673; on the court-marshal for New London

<sup>27</sup> William Pitkin was of Hartford, Conn., son of Roger; freeman 1662;

Deputy 1675; Treasurer 1676; was Assistant many years; Commissioner for [60] The First Expedition, East.

Being ready,<sup>28</sup> Major Church imbark'd with his Forces on board the Vessels provided to transport them for Casco,<sup>29</sup> having a brave Gale at S. W and on Fryday about 3 a clock they got in sight of Casco Harbour; and discourfing two or three small Ships there, not knowing before whether they were friends or enemies; whereupon the said Commander Maj Church gave orders that every man that was able should make ready, and all ly close, giving orders how they should act in case they were Enemies: He going in the Mary Sloop, together with the Resolution went in first, being both well fitted with Guns & Men; coming to the first, hail'd them, who said they were friends; for Mafs. in England, with Oakes and Mather, 1690-1; Judge of Probate 1701; died 31 Oct., 1715. He married Elizabeth, daughter of Gov. Leverett. [Savage's Gen. Dict. i: 445; Bradford's New Eng. Biog. 111.]

Co., 1676; Deputy from Stonington, 1678-82; Assistant 1683-89; Captain 1685; afterward Major and Commissioner for Conn.; died 30 Mar., 1705.

He married (1) —?; (2) Eliz. Peck. [Col. Rec. Conn. ii: 132, 201, 484; iii: 3, 17, 36, 66, 75, 106, 114, 170, &c.; N. E. Hist. & Gen. Reg. xv: 117, 118.]

the United Colonies 1678; and to treat with Gov. Dungan 1683; Commissioner again later; died 15 Dec. 1694, æt. 58.

He married Hannah, only daughter of Ozias Goodwin. [Savage's Gen. Dict. iii: 441; Col. Rec. Conn. iii: 2, 17, &c.]

<sup>28</sup> "Major Church arrived at Falmouth in the latter part of September." [Williamson's Hist. Maine, i: 616.]

<sup>29</sup> "The old Indian name Casco continued to be used all the first century after the settlement (for what is now

Portland, Me.,) notwithstanding the town had received from Massachusetts the corporate name Falmouth, as early as 1658." The familiar aboriginal titles had then much vitality. [Willis's Hist. Portland, 49.]

prefently Man'd their Boat, brought too, and fo came along the fide of them; who gave the faid Church an account, That yefterday there was a very great Army of Indians, & French with them upon the Ifland,<sup>30</sup> at the going out of the Harbour, and that they were come on purpofe to take Cafco Fort<sup>31</sup> and Town, likewise inform'd him that they had got a Captive Woman aboard (Maj. Waldens daughter of Pifcataqua<sup>32</sup>) that could give him a full account of <sup>30</sup> Jofeph Prout wrote from Falmouth 17 Sept., 1689, that 200 Indians were then on "Palmer's Ifland." [Willis's Hift. Port. 277.]. Palmer's was what is now Peak's Ifland, perhaps 500 rods E. of the mouth of Cafco River.

<sup>31</sup> Fort Loyall had been erected on Cleeves's Neck, on the point, at the foot of what was afterward King Street (now India Street), in 1680, and garrifoned by 13 men, part of whom were fupported by Maffachufetts. 24 May, 1682, an agreement was made with Lieut. Anthony Brackett to keep the fort for one year, by 6 men in the fummer and 4 men in the winter, "by continual watch and ward to keep it as a fort ought to be kept." The next year, Walter Gendall was authorized to take charge of the fort if Brackett declined. [Willis's Hift. Port. 226, 249, 254.]

<sup>32</sup> Richard Waldron (more properly Walderne) was born in Alcefter, Warwickfhire, Eng., where he was baptized 6 Jan., 1615; came to America in 1635, with Mr. Ifilton or Mr. Wiggin, to fee the country; ftaid about two years, and returned to England and married a gentlewoman of good family; came back, and fettled at Cocheco Lower Falls. He was, at different periods, Selectman, Deputy, Affiftant, Major, Chief-Justice of New Hampshire, and acting Prefident. He was killed by the Indians (fee note 12) 28 June, 1689. He married (1) the Englifh lady above referred to; (2) Anne Scammon, fifter of Richard, fhe died 7 Feb., 1685. By thefe wives he had (1) Paul, d. 1669; (2) Timothy; (3) Richard, b. 1650; (4) Anna; (5) Elnathan, b. 6 July, 1659, d. 10 Dec., 1659; (6) Efther, b. 1 Dec., 1660; (7) Mary, b. 14 Sept. 1663, d. young; (8) Eleazer, b. 1 May, 1665; (9) Elizabeth, b. 18 Oct., 1666; (10) Marah, b. 17 July, 1668. Efther married (1) Henry, fon of Henry Elkins, of Hampton; (2) Abram Lee, "Chymift," who was killed with Major W. by the Indians; (3) Richard, fon of Richard Jofe, of Portfmouth; (4) — ; and died in the Ifland of Jerfey. She, of courfe, was the perfon here referred to by Church, having been captured by the Indians at the time of the murder of her father and husband, three months before, and refcued by a Dutch privateer. [N. E. Hift. & Gen. Reg. ix: 55;

their number & intentions: He bid 'em give his Service to their Captain, and tell him, He would wait upon him after he had been on shore and gave some orders and directions: being come pretty near he ordered all the Men still to keep close, giving an account of the News he had received, and then went a-shore, where were several of the chief Men of the Town who met him, being glad that he came so happily to their relief; told him the News Mrs. Lee had given them, being the Woman aforesaid. He going to Capt. Davis's<sup>33</sup> to get some refreshment, having not eat a Morfel since he came by Boston Castle; and now having inquired into the State of the Town, found them in a poor condition for to defend themselves against such a number of Enemies: He gave them an account of his Orders and Instructions, and told them what Forces he had brought, and that when it was dark they should all Land, and not before, lest the Enemy should discover them. And then he went on board the Privateer, who were Dutch Men; but as he went call'd aboard every Vessel and ordered the Officers to take care that their Men might be all fitted and provided to fight, for the People of the Town expected the Enemy to fall upon them every Minute, but withal charging them to keep undiscovered: and coming on board the said Privateer, was kindly treated; discours'd Mrs. Lee, who inform'd him

Belknap's Hist. New Hamp. i: 199; Williamson's Hist. Me. i: 616.]

<sup>33</sup> Capt. Davis's [see note 23, ante] house, to which Church now repaired for refreshment, stood on the "great bay" a little E. of the foot of the present India Street; his lot there having a front on the tidewater of 147 ft., and a depth of 630 ft., to the burying-ground.

that the company she came with had fourscore Canoo's: & that there was more of them, whom she had not seen, which came from other Places, and that they told her when they came all together, should make up 700 Men. He ask'd her, Whether Casteen<sup>34</sup> was with them? She answered, That there was several French Men with them, but she did not know whether [61] Casteen was there or not. He then having got what intelligence she could give him, went ashore and viewed the Fort and Town, discoursing with the Gentlemen there according to his Instructions; and when it began to grow dark, he ordered the Vessels to come as near the Fort as might be, and Land the Soldiers, with as little noise as possible; ordering them as they Landed to go into the Fort and Houses that stood near, that so they might be ready upon occasion; having ordered Provisions for them, went to every Company and ordering

<sup>34</sup> Baron Vincent de St. Castin was born near the Pyrenees, and became a man of wealth and eminence, and an officer in the body-guard of the King of France. He arrived at Quebec about 1665; and, the regiment which he commanded having been disbanded, he selected the pine-clad peninsula of Biguatus, in Acadie, as his residence, where he erected a fortified habitation, and for over a quarter of a century carried on an extensive and profitable trade, shipping merchandise from France, and exchanging it with the Indians for furs. La Hontan estimated his profits at 200,000 to 300,000 crowns. He himself testified that 80,000 livres could be annually realized at Penobscot from the beaver trade. He married the daughter of Madockawando, chief of the Tarratines; and, being a zealous Catholic, gave the English great trouble from his instigation of, and aid to, the enemy in Indian wars. The English, on the other hand, at different times, used him very hardly. He went to France in 1701, and probably never returned. His son, by his Indian wife, continued to reside at Penobscot, and to be influential among the savages. The present town of Castine marks the spot. [La Hontan, i: 471; Tibierge's Mem. Acadie, 1 O&., 1695; Me. Hist. Coll. vi: 110-113.] them to get every thing ready; they that had no Powder-horns nor Shot-bags, should immediately make them; ordering the Officers to take special care that they were ready to March into the Woods an hour before day: and also directing the Watch to call him two hours before day; so he hastned to bed to get some Rest. At the time prefix'd he was call'd,<sup>35</sup> and presently ordering the Company's to make ready, and about half an hour before day they mov'd; several of the Town People went with them into a thick place of brush, about half a Mile from the Town;<sup>36</sup> now ordering them to send out their Scouts, as they us'd to do, and seeing them all settled at their work, he went into Town by Sun rise again, and desired the Inhabitants to take care of themselves, till his men had fitted themselves with some necessaries: for his Indians most of them wanted both bags and horns; so he ordered them to make bags like Wallets to put Powder in one end and shot in the other: So most of them were ready for action (viz.) the Seconet Indians,<sup>37</sup> but the Cape Indians<sup>38</sup> were

<sup>35</sup> This was the morning of Saturday, 21 Sept., 1689.

<sup>36</sup> "A portion of the central part [of the "neck" whereon the city of Portland now stands] was swampy and covered with bushes and trees, and furrowed with gullies." [Willis's Journals of Smith & Deane, 430.]

<sup>37</sup> See Part I. xxii. Probably all the Saconet Indians who served in this expedition were under the command of Capt. Numpas.

<sup>38</sup> The Indians on Cape Cod had been friendly — with individual exceptions — through Philip's war, and they now furnished soldiers freely to aid the English. As late as the Revolutionary war a single Continental regiment had 26 Mashpee Indians; and it was stated, in 1783, by Rev. Mr. Hawley, that most of the Mashpee women lost their husbands in the service, at one time there being 70 widows there. [Freeman's Hist. Cape Cod, i: 692.]

very bare, lying so long at Boston before they imbark'd, that they had Sold every thing they could make a Penny of; some tying Shot & Powder in the corners of their Blankets. He being in Town, just going to Breakfast, there was an Alarm, so he ordered all the Souldiers in the Town to Move away as fast as they could, where the firing was; and he with what Men more were with him of his Souldiers, Mov'd immediately, and meeting with Capt. Brackits<sup>39</sup> Sons, who told him their Father was taken, and that they saw a great Army of Indians in their Fathers Orchard,<sup>40</sup> &c. By this time our Indians that wanted bags and horns were fitted, but wanted more Ammunition: presently came a Messenger to him from the Town & inform'd him, That they had knock'd out the heads of fev-

<sup>39</sup> Anthony Brackett, perhaps son of Anthony, who was at Portsmouth, 1640, was at Falmouth as witness to a delivery of possession 1662: married (1) Ann, eldest daughter of Michael Mitton, and settled on the 100 acres granted her at Back Cove by George Cleeves. He subsequently enlarged his farm to 400 acres. He was constable 1664; juror 1666; commissioner 1668; was taken captive, with his wife, five children, and a negro servant, by the Indians 11 Aug., 1676, but escaped by the bold use of an old, dilapidated birch canoe: his wife Ann died soon after, and, 30 Sept., 1679, he married (2) Sufanna, eldest daughter of Abraham Drake, sen., of Hampton; was Lieut. 1682; Capt. 1689; was shot by the Indians in this engagement at his house on Back

Cove. He had by the first wife (1) Anthony, (2) Seth, (3) Mary, (4) Kezia, (5) Elinor; by the second, (6) Jane, (7) Zipporah, (8) Zachariah, (9) Ann, (10) Sufanna. [Willis's Hist. Port. 101, 106, 111, 138, 141, 156, 159, 169, 172, 176, 181, 187, 202, 208, 214, 219, 225, 251, 268, 280, 290; Drake's Hubbard, ii: 139.]

<sup>40</sup> Brackett's farm lay on the W. shore of Back Cove, above the creek, on the ground now occupied by the mansion of James Deering, and the orchard extended toward the point. [Willis's Hist. Port. 278.] The Indians had gone round, under cover of the darkness of the night, with their canoes from Peak's Island up Casco River or Back Cove; from either of which Brackett's farm was accessible.

eral Casks of Bullets and they were all too big, being Musket Bullets, and would not fit their Guns, and that if he did not go back himself a great part of the Army would be kept back from Service for want of fuitable Bullets: He run back and ordered every Vessel to send a-shore all their Casks of Bullets; being brought, knock'd out their heads, and turn'd them all out upon the green by the Fort, and set all the People in the Town that were able to make flugs; being most of them too large for their use, which had like to have been the over-throw of their whole Army: He finding some small Bullets and what flugs were made, and three Snapfacks of Powder, went immediately to the Army, who were very hotly in[62]gag'd; but coming to the River,<sup>41</sup> the Tide was up; he call'd to his men that were ingag'd, encouraging them, and told them he had brought more Ammunition for them. An Indian call'd Capt. Lightfoot,<sup>42</sup> laid down his Gun, and came over the River, taking the Powder upon his head and a Kittle of Bullets in each hand, and got safe to his Fellow Souldiers: He<sup>43</sup> perceiving great firing upon that side he was of, went to see who they were, and found them to be two of Maj. Church's Companies, one of English & the other of Indians, being in all about Fourscore Men, that had not got over the River, but lay firing over our Mens heads at the Enemy; he presently ordered them to Rally and come all together; and gave the word for a Casco Man: So one Swarton<sup>44</sup> a Jersey man<sup>45</sup> appearing, who he could hardly understand; he ask'd him, How far it was to the head of the River? or whether there was any place they could get over? He said, there was a Bridge<sup>46</sup> about three quarters of a Mile up where they might get over: So he calling to his Souldiers ingag'd on the other side, that he would soon be with them over the Bridge, and come upon the backs of the Enemy; which put new courage into them; so they immediately Mov'd up towards the Bridge, Marching very thin, being willing to make what show they could, shouting as they March'd: they saw the Enemy running from the River-side, where they had made Stands with Wood to prevent any body from coming over the River; and coming to the Bridge, they saw on the other side that the Enemy had laid logs and stuck birch brush along to hide themselves from our view. He ordered the

<sup>41</sup> This river was the prolongation into the neck, of the S. W. extremity of "Back Cove."

<sup>42</sup> See Part I. note 238.

<sup>43</sup> "He" — that is Church, not Lightfoot.

<sup>44</sup> Mather [Magnalia, Book VI. pp. 10-14] gives a narrative of the captivity of Hannah Swarton, who was taken by the Indians when Casco Fort was taken, in 1690, with four children; her husband being then slain. In November, 1695, she reached Boston, leaving two of her children behind her in Canada. She says she lived in Beverly, Mass., before going to Casco; while Savage [Gen. Dict. iv: 237] gives the name of John Swarton as of Beverly, in 1672. In a list of English captives ransomed from Quebec by Matthew Carey, in October, 1695, occurs the name of "Josh. Swarton, boy, Cascow,"

and "Johana Swarton, York"; while "Mary Swarton, girl, Dover," is named as remaining still in captivity. [N. E. Hist. & Gen. Reg. vi: 87.]

It may, perhaps, be reasonable to suppose that John Swarton was husband of Hannah, father of these children, and the informant of Church on this occasion.

<sup>45</sup> That is, an emigrant from the Isle of Jersey, — in English possession, but in French neighborhood. Its native inhabitants speak mostly a French patois.

<sup>46</sup> "In the same place, probably, where one now stands, on Grove Street." [Willis's Hist. Port. 278.]

Company to come all together, ordering them all to run after him, who would go first, and that as soon as they got over the Bridge to scatter, that so they might not be all shot down together, expecting the Enemy to be at their Stands; so running up to the Stands, found none there, but were just gone, the ground being much tumbled with them behind the said Stands: He order'd the Captain with his Company of English to March down to our Men engag'd, and that they should keep along upon the edge of the Marsh, and himself with his Indian Souldiers would March down thro' the brush:<sup>47</sup> and coming to a parcel of low ground which had been formerly burnt, the old brush being fallen down lay very thick, and young brush being grown up made it bad travelling; but coming near the back of the Enemy, one of his Men call'd unto him their Commander, and said, That the Enemy run Westward<sup>48</sup> to get between us and the Bridge, and he looking that way saw men running, and making a small stop, heard no firing, but a great chopping with Hatchets; so concluding the fight was over, made the best of their way to the Bridge again, left the Enemy should go over the Bridge into the Town. The men being most of them out (our Ammunition lay expos'd) coming to the Bridge where he had left Six Indians for an Ambuscade on the other side of the River, that if any Enemy offer'd to come over they

<sup>47</sup> Church's plan seems to have been to send his English soldiers along the curve of the edge of the marsh toward the battle-ground, while, with his Indians, he moved "across lots" due north, so as, if possible, to strike the enemy in the rear.

<sup>48</sup> By running westward, the enemy

should fire at them, which would give him Notice, [63] so would come to their assistance; (but in the way having heard no firing nor shouting, concluded the Enemy were drawn off) he asked the Amboscade, whether they saw any Indians? They said, Yes, abundance. He ask'd them, Where? They answered, That they ran over the head of the River by the Cedar Swamp,<sup>49</sup> and were running into the Neck towards the Town: There being but one English man with him, he bid his Indian Souldiers scatter, run very thin to preserve themselves, and the better able to make a discovery of the Enemy: & soon coming to Lieut. Clarks<sup>50</sup> field on the South-side of the Neck, and seeing the Cattel feeding quietly, and perceiving no Track, concluded the Amboscade had told them a false-would be able to pass round Church's left flank, and get to the bridge, and into the town, in spite of, and before him.

<sup>49</sup> Church's Indians evidently supposed that the hostile party were running far enough west to flank the short river, and go around its swampy source into the neck and toward the town, instead of attempting to cross the defended bridge.

<sup>50</sup> Thaddeus Clark is said by Rev. Timothy Alden (who gives no authority) to have been born in Ireland [Alden's American Epitaphs, ii: 98.]; was at Falmouth, 1663, with his wife Elizabeth, then 18 years old, second daughter of Michael Mitton; lived on the bank of the Casco, just above the point which still bears his name; was

Lieut. of a company of town foldiers; and, in an imprudent exposure of himself and his men, was killed, with thirteen of his company, by the Indians, when they attacked Falmouth in 1690, and buried 4 July. His widow died in Boston, in 1736, æt. 91. His eldest daughter, Elizabeth, married Capt. Edward Tyng; another married a Harvey, and was a widow in Boston 1719. His son Isaac settled in Framingham, Mass.; married Sarah Stow, of Marlborough; had seven children; commanded a company of troopers; and died 26 May, 1768, æt. 102, having lived 70 years with the wife of his youth. [Willis's Hist. Port. 139, 141, 232, 283, 292; Barry's Hist. Fram. 208; Savage's Gen. Dict. i: 400. Me. Hist. Coll. i: 203-214.]

hood; they haftily return'd back to the faid Bridge, perceiving there was no noife of the Enemy. He hearing feveral great Guns fire at the Town, concluded that they were either affaulted, or that they had difcover'd the Enemy: He having ordered that in cafe fuch fhould be, that they fhould fire fome of their great Guns to give him notice; he being a Stranger to the Country, concluded the Enemy had by fome other way got to the Town: whereupon he fent his Men to the Town, and himfelf going to the River, near where the fight had been; ask'd them<sup>51</sup> how they did? and what was become of the Enemy? who inform'd him that the Enemy drew off in lefs than an hour after he left them, and had not fired a Gun at them fince. He told them he had been within little more than a Gun fhoot of the back of the Enemy, and had been upon them had it not been for the thick brushy ground, &c. Now fome of his Men returning from the Town gave him the account, that they went while<sup>52</sup> they faw the Colours ftanding & Men walking about as not molefted. He prefently ordered that all his Army fhould purfue the Enemy: But they told him that moft of them had fpent their Ammunition, and that if the Enemy had engaged them a little longer they might have come & knock'd them on the head; and that fome of their Bullets were fo unfizeable that fome of them were forc'd to make flugs troops, whom he had left near the original battle-field.

<sup>51</sup> That is, having fent the Indians who had been with him to the town, he went back and hailed his Englifh

<sup>52</sup> "While — until." [Bailey.]

while they were engag'd. He then order'd them to get over all the wounded and dead men, and to leave none behind: which was done by some Canoo's they had got. Capt. Hall and his men being first engaged did great Service, and suffered the greatest loss in his Men. But Capt. Southworth<sup>53</sup> with his Company, & Capt. Numposh<sup>54</sup> with the Seconit Indians, and the most of the men belonging to the Town all coming suddenly to his relief, prevented him and his whole Company from being cut off, &c. By this time the day was far spent, and Marching into Town about Sun-set, carrying in all their wounded and dead men;<sup>55</sup> being all sensible of Gods goodness to them, in

<sup>53</sup> William Southworth, (probably youngest) son of Constant, was born 1659; settled in Little Compton; was selectman 1683-5; was commissioned Lieut. for Little Compton, 1689; was allowed (as Lieut., though Church forgot and called him Captain then) 25s. per week for his service in this expedition; married (1) Rebecca —, and had Benjamin, Joseph, Edward, Elizabeth, Alice, Samuel, Nathaniel, Thomas, and Stephen; (2) —, and had Gideon and Andrew. [Plym. Col. Rec. vi: 108, 129, 168, 223, 229; Savage's Gen. Dict. iv: 143.]

<sup>54</sup> See Part I. note 173.

<sup>55</sup> Church enclosed in his letter to the home authorities, the following "list of the men that was slain in a site at Falmouth, and also how many was wounded in said site," under date of 21 Sept., 1689; which is still preserved in the Mass. State Paper Office, as follows: —

"of Capt. Hall's soldiers, 6 slain, —

Thomas Burton,
Edward Ebens,
Thomas Thaxter,
Thomas Berry,
John Mason,
David Homes.

of Capt. Davis's Company, 2 slain, —

Giles Row,
Andrew Alger (belonging to the fort of the town).

also, — — —, 3 slain, —

An Indian.
A negro of Col. Tyngs,
Capt. Brackett (carried away or slain).

Making 11 in all killed.

Wounded, 6 friend Indians, and of Capt Davis's Company James Freeze, Mr. Bramhall, Thomas Browne, Mr. Palmer, — inhabitants.

Total. 21 slain and wounded."

Willis adds that Freeze, Bramhall, and one friend Indian, died of their wounds. [Hist. Port. 280.]

In relation to the enemy's loss, Church giving them the Victory, and causing the Enemy to fly with shame, who never gave one shout at their drawing off. The poor Inhabitants wonderfully rejoiced that the Almighty had favoured them so much: saying, That if Maj. Church with his Forces had not come at that juncture of time, they had been all cut off; and said further, That it was the first time that ever the Eastward Indians had been put to flight, and the said Church with his Volunteers were wonderfully preserved, having never a man kill'd out right, and but one Indian mortally wounded, who dy'd,<sup>56</sup> several more being badly wounded, but recovered.

After this ingagement Maj. Church with his Forces ranging all the Country thereabout, in pursuit of the Enemy; and visiting all the Garrisons, at <sup>57</sup>Black Point, <sup>58</sup>Spurwink

wrote, 27 Sept., saying, "We know not yet what damage we did to the enemy in our last engagement, but several things that they left behind them on their flight we found yesterday, which was guncases and stockings and other things of some value, together with other signs that make us think that we did them considerable damage." [3 Mas. Hist. Coll. i: 92.]

<sup>56</sup> Mr. Drake [Book of Ind. 270.] states, on the authority of the MS. letter of Capt. Bassett, that the Indian who was killed was named Sam Moses. [See the letter. Drake's Baylies's Plymouth, p. 77.]

<sup>57</sup> Black Point lies in the town of Scarborough, on the shore E. of the mouth of the Owaskaog River, and between it and the Spurwink. Originally all the country between Saco and Spurwink was called Black Point. [Me. Hist. Coll. iii: 17.] In 1681 a strong fort was built "upon the plains between Moor's Brook and the Southeast end of the great pond," at the instance of Capt. Joshua Scottow, the garrison of which, at this time, was under command of his son Thomas. [Ibid. 132, 133.]

<sup>58</sup> Spurwink settlement lay between the mouth of Spurwink River and Cape Elizabeth, in the southerly angle of the town of Cape Elizabeth. The garrison seems to have been at the house of Dominicus, son of Rev. Robert Jordan. [Me. Hist. Coll. iii: 137; Williamson's Hist. Me. i: 29.]

wink, and Blew Point; <sup>59</sup> and went up Kennebeck River, <sup>60</sup> but to little effect. And now Winter drawing near, he received orders from the Government of the Massachusetts-Bay, to fettle all the Garrisons, and put in suitable Officers according to his best discretion, and to send home all his Souldiers the Volunteers and transports; which orders he presently attended. <sup>61</sup> Being oblig'd to buy him a Horse to

<sup>59</sup> Blue Point was in the S.-W. part of the town of Scarborough, on Saco line, not far W. of Black Point. The garrison appears to have been at Philip Foxwell's (son of Richard) house, nearly opposite to where Mill Creek flows into the Owaskeog.

<sup>60</sup> The mouth of the Kennebec is scarcely more than 30 miles N. E. from Falmouth. Williamson says Church ascended the river "several leagues." [Hist. Me. i: 617.]

<sup>61</sup> The following document—among the valuable additions recently made to Baylies's Memoir of Plymouth Colony, by Mr. S. G. Drake—demands a place here, describing, as it does, Church's action not merely, but disclosing, also, the names of so many of his companions, and the proportions in which they were distributed among the various garrisons:—

“Province of Maine

“Scarborough the 11th
November, 1689.

“Att a Councill of warr held at the point Garrison Present Major Benjemen Church, Capt Sylvanus Davis, Capt. William Bassitt, Capt Simon Willard, with the rest of the Comission Officers of Saco, Felmouth and Scarborough.

“Itt is Ordered that one hundred their Majesties Horses now in this present Expedition against the Coman Enemie, be detached out of the severall Companies, which should number for the security of the Garrisons there Resident, and in Case any of the Enemie be discovered or Any tracks of them be made in this winter Season, untill further force be sent that may Advance to their head Quarters.

“Souldiers Quartered in the towne Ship of Saco twenty men; in their two Garrisons. In the township of Scarborough twenty men in their Garrisons viz: three Sperwink Included.

“Felmouth the 13 Nouember: Att a Councill of Warr held in perfuance of what is above written, by Major Benjamen Church, and the officers above said. Added Capt Nathaniel Hall, Leiut Thaddeus Clark, Leiut Elisha Andrews, Mr. Elisha Gallison, Leiut George Ingerfoll, Leiut Ambrous Davis, Mr. Robert Lawrance, Mr. John Palmer and others &c.

“Itt is ordered that sixty souldjers be Quartered in Felmouth, besides the Inhabitents, and the Souldjers that shall Belonge to the floart, which shall go home by land, that so he might the better comply with his orders. The poor People the Inhabitants of Casco and Places Adjacent, when they saw he was going away from them, lamented sadly, & beg'd earnestly that he would suffer them to come away in the Transports; saying if he left them there, that in the Spring of the Year the Enemy would come and destroy 'em and their Families, &c. So by their earnest request the said Maj. Church promised them, that if the Governments that had now sent him, would send him the next Spring, he would certainly come with his Volunteers and Indians to their relief: And that be fifteen Souldjers besides the Comānder and Guñer, and the Remayner to be sent to Boston, to be Ready to Returne According to Order.

“Itt is Ordered that there be A Sufficient Garrison Erected about Mr Gallisons house for a mayne Court of Guard, Together with Mr Robert Lawrence, his Garrison, which two Garrisons are to be supplied with the Sixty Souldjers left for to guard the said towne.

“Itt is Ordered that Capt Nathaniel Hall is to take Charge as Comānder in Cheife of those forces that are leftt for the defence of the Above said three Townes, Those Souldjers that belong to Foart Loyall only to be under the Comander of said Foart.

“Ordered that Leiut Richard Huniwell, is to Take the Charge and Conduct of the twenty Souldjers quartered at Blew-point Black point and Spurwinck Garrisons, as he the said Leiut. Huniwell shall Receive orders from time to time from the said Comānder in Cheife.

“Itt is Ordered that Ensigne John Hill is to take the Care and Conduct of those twenty Souldjers Quartered at Saco Garrison as the said Ensigne Hill shall Receive orders from time to time, from his said Comander in Cheife.

“Itt is Ordered that the forty Souldjers posted att Saco, Scarborough and Spurwinke are to be obedient unto the Comānders of the severall Garrisons where they shall be posted whilst in Garrison, but to Attend the Comānds of Leiut. Huniwell and Ensigne John Hill respectively as they are Concerned upon their scoutinge or marching out:

Given under my hand this 14th of Nouember: 1689:

“By Consent of said: Councill
“ p mee

“BENJAMIN CHURCH
Comānder in Cheife.”

[Drake's Baylies's Hist. Mem. Plym. Col. Part 5. p. 84.]

as soon as he had been at home, and taken a little care of his own business, he would certainly wait upon the Gentlemen of Boston, and inform them of the Promise he had made to them; and if they did not see cause to send 'em relief, to intreat their Honours seasonably to draw them off, that they might not be a prey to the barbarous Enemy. Taking his leave of those poor Inhabitants some<sup>62</sup> of the chief men there waited upon him to Black Point, to Capt. Scottaways Garrison; coming there they prevail'd with the said Capt. Scottaway to go with him to Boston, which he readily comply'd with, provided the said Church would put another in to Command the Garrison; which being done and taking their leaves one of another, they set out and travelled thro' all the Country home to Boston: (having employ'd himself to the utmost to fulfill his Instructions last received from Boston Gentlemen, which cost him about a Months Service more and above what he had pay from Plymouth Gentlemen) and in his travel homeward several Gentlemen waited upon the said Maj Church who was oblig'd to bare their Expences. When he came to Boston Gentlemen, he inform'd them of the miseries those poor People were in by having their Provisions taken from

<sup>62</sup> Thomas Scottow (Scottaway) was son of Joshua, of Boston and Scarborough; was born 30 June, 1659; graduated at Harvard College, 1677; was at Black Point, 1679; swore allegiance, 1681; was appointed Register of Probate and County Commissioner under Andros in 1688; in 1689 had command of the garrison his father had built; subsequently to the war, and his father's death, disgusted with the savage hostilities incident to residence there, he sold his Scarborough property to Timothy Prout, and left the place. [Savage's Gen. Dict. iv: 40; Williamson's Hist. Me. i: 692; Willis's Portland, 220.]

them by order of the President, &c.<sup>63</sup> Then went home; staid not long there before he return'd to Boston,<sup>64</sup> where Capt. Scottaway waited for his coming, that he might have the determination of the Government of Boston to carry home with him; and it being the time of the Small Pox<sup>65</sup> there (and Maj Church not having had it) taking up his Lodging near the Court-houfe,<sup>66</sup> took the first opportunity [65] to inform those Gentlemen of the Court his business; who said they were very busy in sending home Sir Edmund, the Ship being ready to Sail.<sup>67</sup> The said Maj.

<sup>63</sup> "President Danforth, by requiring of them provisions for a supply of the military, had brought them into great distress." [Williamson's Hist. Me. i: 618.]

<sup>64</sup> As, on the 6th Feb., he had been waiting in Boston three weeks, the date of his "returning" to that city, here mentioned, must have been about Wednesday, 16 Jan., 1688.

<sup>65</sup> The small-pox raged in Boston during the spring and summer of 1690; and this testimony of Church's shows that its ravages had commenced as early as January, 1689. Samuel Green, jr., the printer, died, after an illness of three days with it, in July, 1690; and his wife followed him a few days after. In August, 1690, a son of Rev. John Cotton wrote to his father, "The small-pox is as bad as ever." [Thomas's Hist. Printing, i: 282.]

<sup>66</sup> The first Boston Court House, or Town House, was begun to be built about 1657. It stood where the "old State House" now stands, in the head of State Street, and was burned in the great fire of 1711, being built of wood. [Drake's Hist. Bos. i: 350.]

<sup>67</sup> The exact date of the shipping of Andros for England seems to have been singularly unnoted in the records of the time; and is, perhaps, more nearly determined by what Church says here than in any other way. Hutchinson says [Hist. Mass. i: 349], "The first opportunity (the beginning of February) after the arrival of the King's order, he, with Mr. Dudley and several others, embarked for England." Mr. Drake [Hist. Bos. i: 486] says, "Some time in the winter following [that of 1688], an order was received from their Majesties to send the prisoners over thence; and they were accordingly sent in the first ship bound to that country." The author of the Life of Andros [Governors of Mass. Bay, 419] says, "In February, 1690, they were sent home to England." Elliott [New-Eng. Hist. i: 380] says, "In February, 1689, with Dudley and some

Church still waiting upon them, and at every opportunity intreating those Gentlemen in the behalf of the poor People of Casco, informing them the necessity of taking care of them either by sending them relief early in the Spring, or suffer them to draw off, otherwise they would certainly be destroyed, &c. Their answer was, They could do nothing till Sir Edmund was gone. Waiting there three weeks upon great expences, he concluded to draw up some of the circumstances of Casco and Places Adjacent, and to leave it upon the Council-Board, before the Governour & Council; having got it done, obtained liberty to go up where the Governour and Council was fitting, he inform'd their Honours, that he had waited till his Patience was wore out; so had drawn up the matter to leave upon the Board before them: which is as follows.

To the Honour'd Governour and Council of the Massachusetts.

Gentlemen,

WHereas by vertue of Yours with Plymouths desires and Commands, I went Eastward in the last Expedition against the Common Indian Enemy, where Providence* others, he was sent away to England." Barry [Hist. Mass. i: 508] says, "By the first opportunity the prisoners were sent to England in the ship 'Mehitabel,' Gilbert Baut, master," and places in the margin the date of "Feb. 9, 1688." The date of Church's communication to the Governor and Council seems to make it clear, that, so far as he was informed, as late as the 6th Feb., 1688 there was no immediate probability that the ship would fail; as, had he seen such a probability, having waited three weeks, he would have been likely to have waited at least a very few days longer in hope to secure his end.

so ordered that we Attack'd their greatest body of Forces, coming then for the Destruction of Falmouth, which we know March'd off Repul'st with considerable Damage, leaving the ground, and never since seen there, or in any Place Adjacent: the time of the Year being then too late to prosecute any further design, and other Accidents falling contrary to my expectation, Impeding the desired Success. Upon my then Removal from the Province of Maine, the Inhabitants were very Solicitous that this Enemy might be further Prosecuted, willing to venture their Lives and Fortunes in said Enterprize, wherein they might serve God, their King and Country, and enjoy Quiet & Peaceable Habitations; Upon which I promised to signify the same to Your Selves, and willing to ventue that little which Providence hath entrusted me with on the said account. The Season of the Year being such if some speedy Action be not performed in Attacking them, they will certainly be upon us in our Out Towns (God knows where) and the Inhabitants there being not able to Defend themselves, without doubt many Souls may be cut off, as our last Years Experience wofully hath declared; The Inhabitants there trust to your Protection, having undertaken Government and your Propriety;<sup>68</sup> If nothing be performed on the said account (The best way under Correction<sup>69</sup>) is to Demolish the Garrison, and draw off the Inhabitants, that they may not be left to a Merciless Enemy; and that the Arms and Ammunition may not be there left for the strengthening of the Enemy; who without doubt have need enough, having exhausted their greatest Store in this Winter Season: I have performed my Promise to them, and acquitted my self in Specifying the same to your selves: Not that I desire to be in any Action (altho' willing to serve my King & Country) and may pass under the censure of Scandalous Tongues in the last Expedition, which I hope they will amend on the first opportunity of Service. I leave to the Mature Consideration, the loss of [66] Trade and Fishery, the War brought to the Doors; what a Triumph will it be to the Enemy, derision to our Neighbours, besides dishonour to God and our Nation, and grounds of frowns from our Prince, the frustration of those whose eyes are upon you for help, who might have otherwise applyed themselves to their King. Gentlemen, this I thought humbly to propose unto you, that I might discharge my self in my trust from your Selves, and Promise to the Inhabitants of the Province, but especially my Duty to God, His Majesty and my Nation, Praying for Your Honours Prosperity, Subscribe,

<sup>68</sup> "Propriety—property." [Bailey.] judgment, holding myself liable to correction by your superior wisdom."

<sup>69</sup> That is—"the best way, in my

A true Copy given in at Boston,      Your Servant,
 this 6th of February 1689.      Benj. Church.

At the Council Board. Attest T. S.

Maj. Church said moreover that in thus doing he had comply'd with his Promise to those poor People of Casco, and should be quit from the guilt of their blood: the Governour was pleas'd to Thank him for his care & pains taken. Then taking his leave of them went home, and left Capt. Scottaway in a very sorrowful condition, who return'd home sometime after with only a Copy of what was left on the Board by the said Church. Maj. Church not hearing any thing till May following and then was inform'd, That those poor People of Casco were cut off by the barbarous Enemy: and that altho' they made their terms with Monfieur Casteen, who was Commander of those Enemies, yet he suffered those Merciless Salvages, to Massacre & Destroy the most of them.<sup>70</sup> To conclude this first Expedition, East; I shall just give you a hint how Maj. Church was treated (altho' he was Commander in Chief of all the Forces out of Plymouth and Boston Government) after he came home, for Plymouth Gentlemen paid him but Forty two Pounds; <sup>71</sup> telling him, He must go to Boston Gentlemen for the rest, who were his employers as well as they. Of whom he never had one Penny for all Travel and Expences in Raising Volunteers, and Services done; except Forty Shillings or there about, for going from Boston to Rhode-Island on their business, and back to

<sup>70</sup> Frontenac sent a body of French and Indians with a large company of Tarrantines under Castin, early in May, against Falmouth. They made their attack 16 May, and 20 May. Castin having "lifted his hand and sworn by the great and everliving God" to keep the articles of surrender, the garrison of Fort Loyall surrendered; to find every article violated, with insult, abuse, and the most fiendish atrocities. [3 Mafs. Hist. Coll. i: 101-112.]

<sup>71</sup> Plymouth Colony voted, 25 Dec., 1689, to pay Major Church "£10. (besides what he hath received from the Bay) more than his wages by the weeke, and that his weekly wages as Major in ye late expedition be 40s."; and "that Major Church shall have £5. cash, and Capt. Bassitt £3. cash, part of what is due to them from the Colony paid to them by the Constables of Plymouth out of the last rate." [Plym. Col. Rec. vi: 229.]

Boston again: Also for sending a Man to Providence for Capt. Edmunds<sup>72</sup> (who rais'd a Company in those Parts) and went East with them.

The Second Expedition, East.

IN the Year 1690. was the Expedition to Canada, and Maj. Walley often requested Maj Church that if he would not go himself in that expedition, that he would not hinder others: He answered the said Walley, That he should hinder none but his old Souldiers, that us'd to go along with him, &c. And the said Church going down to Charlestown to take his leave of some of his Relations,<sup>73</sup> and Friends, who were going in that Expedition, promised his Wife and Family not to go into Boston, the Small Pox being very brief<sup>74</sup> there.<sup>75</sup> Coming to Charlestown, several of his Friends in Boston came over to see him; and the next day after the said Church came there, Maj. Walley [67] came to him, and inform'd him, That the Governour

<sup>72</sup> See Part I, note 116.

<sup>73</sup> John Walley wrote, 21 Apr., 1690, to Gov. Hinckley, "The Indians of Dartmouth and Seaconnet — which are about 100 men, 50 or more armed — have had a meeting: chose Lieut. Southard for their Captain or Commander, and one Daniel Eaton; under whom they are willing to serve the English, if we should be assaulted. They have chose Captain Numpas and another Indian for their Indian Commanders." [Hinckley Papers, 4 Mafs. Hist. Coll. v: 247.] This "Lieut. Southward" was doubtless Church's brother-in-law, William Southworth [see note 53, ante]; and, if he went to the war, he was probably one of the "relations" here referred to. Mr. Drake thinks he was (by his nickname Bill) the "B. Southworth" of Part I. page 35.

<sup>74</sup> An evident misprint for "rife" which Dr. Stiles corrected.

<sup>75</sup> See note 65, ante.

and Council wanted to speak with him: He answered him, That he had promis'd his Wife and Family not to go into Boston; saying, If they had any business, they could Write to him, and that he would send them his answer. Soon after came over two other Gentlemen with a Message, that the Governour & Council wanted to have some discourse with him: The answer return'd was, That he intended to lodge that Night at the Gray-hound in Roxbury, and that in the Morning would come to Pollards at the South End of Boston; <sup>76</sup> which accordingly he did: soon after he came thither received a letter from the Honourable Capt. Sewall <sup>77</sup> to request him to come to the Council;

<sup>76</sup> William Pollard was son of William and Ann (who was wont to boast that she went over in the first boat that crossed Charles River, in 1630, and was first to jump ashore at what is now Boston), b. 20 Mar., 1653; m. Margaret —; had William, b. 21 Dec., 1687 William again, 2 Apr., 1690, and Jonathan. Joined the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Co., 1679. He kept an "ordinary," as I learn from the record, (through J. Wingate Thornton, Esq., from the kindness of W. I. Bowditch, Esq.,) a little over 100 ft. just south of Eliot St., on Washington St. [Savage's Gen. Dict. iii: 449; Whitman's Hist. Anc. & Hon. Art. Co. 211.]

<sup>77</sup> Samuel Sewall, son of Henry, was born at Horton, near Basingstoke, Eng., 28 March, 1652; came to New England with his mother 1661; graduated at Harvard Coll. 1671; was Captain of militia in Boston, and Major of the regiment 1675-6; admitted freeman 1678; joined the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Co., 1679; was Captain of it 1701; Superintendent of the press 1681; Assistant 1684-6, and again 1689-92; Judge of Superior Court 1692, and one of special Commission to try the witches; Judge of Probate for 1715; Chief-justice 1718-1728; died in Boston, 30 Jan., 1730, æt. 78. He was a book-feller at one time, and printed an edition of the catechism with his own hand. He is now chiefly remembered for his copious notes of the facts of the time, in journals, almanacs, &c., &c. He married (1) 28 Feb., 1676, Hannah, only surviving child of John Hull, mint-master, by whom he had John, Samuel, Hannah, Elizabeth, Hull, Henry, Stephen, Joseph, Judith, Mary, Sarah, Judith (again), and another; (2) 29 Oct., 1719, Abigail, daughter of Jacob Mel-the answer he return'd by the bearer was, That he thought there was no need of his hazarding himself so much as to come & speak with them; not that he was afraid of his Life, but because he had no mind to be concern'd any further, by reason they would not hearken to him about the poor People of Casco. But immediately came Mr. Maxfield<sup>78</sup> to him, saying, That the Council bid him tell the said Church, That if he would take his Horse and ride along the middle of the Street there might be no danger, they were then sitting in Council: He bid him go and tell his Masters, Not to trouble themselves, whether he came upon his head or feet, he was coming: however thinking the return was something rude, call'd him back to drink a Glass of Wine, and then he would go with him. So coming to the Council, They were very thankful to him for his coming; and told him that the occasion of their sending for him was, That there was a Captive come in who gave them an account, That the Indians were come down and had taken possession of the Stone Fort at Pejepscot,<sup>79</sup> so that they wanted his advice & thoughts about the matter; whither yen. and widow of William Tilley and James Woodmansey; (3) 29 Mar., 1722, Mary, daughter of Henry Shrimpton, and widow of Robert Gibbs. [Savage's Gen. Dict. iv: 55; Hist. Ant. & Hon. Art. 208; Wathburn's Judic. Hist. Mass. 258-263.]

<sup>78</sup> James Maxwell was doorkeeper for the Governor and Council and Court in 1693, and was probably the man Church here had in mind. Indeed,

Savage admits that the name may be the same as Maxfield. He was a member of the "Scot's Charitable Society," in Boston, in 1684. [Savage's Gen. Dict. iii: 183; Drake's Hist. Bost. i: 455.]

<sup>79</sup> Pejepscot fort was situated on the western side of what are now known as Pejepscot Lower Falls, or Brunswick falls, on the Androscoggin. [Williamson's Hist. Me. i: 46, 590. 624.]

they would tarry and keep in that Fort or not? and whither it was not expedient to send some Forces to do some spoil upon them; and further to know whither he could not be prevail'd with to Raise some Volunteers and go, to do some spoil upon them? He answer'd them, he was unwilling to be concern'd any more; it being very difficult and chargeable to Raise Volunteers, as he found by experience in the last Expedition. But they using many arguments prevail'd so far with him, That if the Government of Plymouth saw cause to send him (he would go) thinking the Expedition would be short. Took his leave of them & went home. And in a short time after there came an Express from Governour Hinkley, to request Maj Church to come down to Barnstable to him: he having received a Letter from the Government of Boston to raise some Forces to go East; whereupon the said Maj. Church went the next day to Barnstable, as ordered; finding the Governour and some of the Council of War there,<sup>80</sup> dif-

<sup>80</sup> The Council of War at this time, by law of 1671, was composed of the Governor and Assistants as annually chosen, "and a like number of other trusty and able men chosen also by the General Court, and from year to year filled up, if by death removed, or otherwise any of them be wanting, or incapacitated to perform their trust." The Governor and Assistants this year were:—

Thomas Hinkley, Gov.,	(Barnstable,)
William Bradford, Dep. Gov.,	(Plymouth,)
John Freeman,	(Eastham,)

John Thacher,	(Yarmouth,)
John Walley,	(Barnstable,)
John Cushing,	(Scituate.)

To these were added, in 1689, to make up the Council of War, the following, viz:—

Nathaniel Byfield,	(Bristol,)
Capt. Jonathan Sparrow,	(Eastham,)
Lieut. Isaac Little,	(Marblehead.)

Who, of the number formerly appointed, held over to complete the number, we are not informed. [Brigham's Laws of Col. of New Plym. 285; Plym. Col. Rec. vi: 205. 212.]

cous'd him, concluding that he should take his Indian Souldiers, and two English Captains with what Volunteers as could be raised; and that one Capt. should go out of Plymouth and Barnstable County, and the other out of Bristol County,<sup>81</sup> with [68] what Forces he could raise, concluding to have but few Officers, to save Charge: the said Church was at great Charge & Expence in raising of Forces. Governour Hinkley promised that he would take care to provide Vessels to transport the said Army with Ammunition & Provisions, by the time prefixt by himself, for the Government of Boston had oblig'd themselves by their Letter, to provide any thing that was wanting; so at the time prefixt Major Church March'd down all his Souldiers out of Bristol County to Plymouth, as ordered; and being come, found it not as he expected, for there was neither Provisions, Ammunition nor Transports; so he immediately sent an Express to the Governour who was at Barnstable, to give him an account that he with the Men were come to Plymouth, and found nothing ready; in his<sup>82</sup> return to the said Church, gave him an account of his disappointments; and sent John Lathrop<sup>83</sup> of Barnstable in a

<sup>81</sup> The Plymouth Records show that the Court, which met 5 June, 1690, took action in regard to co-operating with the Mass. Colony in the proposed expedition to Canada, and appointed Capt. Joseph Silvester (of Scituate) and Mr. John Gorham (of Barnstable) to be Captains, with Jabez Snow (of Eastham) and Samuel Gallop (of Boston?) Lieutenants. [Plym. Col. Rec. vi: 250.]

<sup>82</sup> That is, Gov. Hinckley, in his reply to Church's message, "gave him an account, &c."

<sup>83</sup> John Lothrop was youngest son of Rev. John, of Barnstable; married 3 Jan., 1672, at Plymouth, Mary Cole; had John, Mary, Martha, Elizabeth, James, Hannah, Jonathan, Barnabas, Abigail, and Experience; died 17 Sept., 1727, et. 85. [Savage's Gen. Dict. iii: 120.]

Vessel with some Ammunition and Provision on board, to him at Plymouth; also sent him word that there was more on board of Samuel Alling<sup>84</sup> of Barnstable, who was to go for a Transport, and that he himself would be at Plymouth the next day: but Alling never came near him, but went to Billings-gate at Cape-cod,<sup>85</sup> as he was inform'd. The Governour being come, said to Maj. Church that he must take some of the open Sloops, and make Spar-Decks to them, and lay Platforms for the Souldiers to lye upon; which delays were very Expensive to the said Church; his Souldiers being all Volunteers, daily expected to be treated by him, and the Indians always begging for Money to get drink: but he using his utmost diligence, made what dispatch he could to be gone. Being ready to Imbark, received his Commission and Instructions from Governour Hinkley, which are as followeth, viz.

The Council of War of their Majesty's Colony of New-Plymouth in New-England. To Major Benjamin Church Commander in Chief, &c.

WHereas the Kenebeck and Eastward Indians, with the French their Confederates have openly made War

<sup>84</sup> Samuel Allyn of Barnstable, eldest son of Thomas of the same, born 10 Feb., 164 $\frac{3}{4}$ ; was Lieut., and Town Clerk; was Deputy 1682-4; married Hannah, daughter of Rev. Thomas Walley; had Thomas, Samuel, Joseph, Hannah, and Elizabeth; died 25 Nov., 1726, æt. 82. [Freeman's Hist. Cape Cod, ii: 274.]

<sup>85</sup> "Billingsgate Point is on the west side of the town [Eastham], about 6 miles from the main land, with which it was formerly connected; but for many years it has been an island, the sea having broken over and washed it away in two places, where is sufficient water for small vessels to pass through." [Pratt's Hist. Eastham, 2.)

upon their Majesty's Subjects of the Provinces of Maine, New-Hampshire and of the Massachusetts Colony, having committed many Barbarous Murders, Spoils and Rapines upon their Persons and Estates. And whereas there are some Forces of Souldiers English & Indians now raised and detached out of the severall Regiments and Places within this Colony of New-Plymouth,<sup>86</sup> to go forth to the Assistance of our Neighbours and Friends of the aforesaid Provinces & Colony of the Massachusetts, Subjects of one and the same Crown. And whereas you Benjamin Church are appointed to be Major and Commander in Chief of all the Forces English & Indians detached within this Colony, together with such other of their Majesty's Subjects as else where shall List themselves, or shall be orderly put under your Command for the Service of their Majesties as aforesaid. These are in their Majesties Name to Authorize and Require You to take into your Care & Conduēt all the said Forces English & Indians, and diligently to Intend that Service, by Leading

<sup>86</sup> The proportion fixed by the Plymouth Court, on which these soldiers were to be raised and armed, was as follows :—

Men. Armes.		Men. Armes.
Plimouth,	13 4	Falmouth,	2 1
Duxbury,	7 2	Monamoy,	2 1
Marlfield,	7 2	Rochester,	2 1
Scituate,	16 5	Bristol,	6 2
Bridgewater,	8 2	Swansey,	7 3
Middleborough,	3 1	Little Compton,	4 2
Barnstable,	12 4	Dartmouth,	8 3
Sandwich,	10 3	Taunton,	14 4
Yarmouth,	10 3	Rehoboth,	10 3
Eastham,	10 3	Freetown,	2 1

It was ordered, also, that there be raised 50 Indians, — 22 in the county of Barnstable, 22 in the county of Bristol, and 6 in that of Plymouth. Also, Plymouth County was to “provide armes and other necessaries” for 18 men, Barnstable County for 15, and Bristol County for 17. [Plym. Col. Rec. vi : 249.] The debt incurred by the Plymouth Colony for its share of the expenses of this campaign amounted to £1,350. The entire ratable estate of that Colony, then, was £35,900.

& Exercising of your Inferiour Officers and Souldiers, Commanding them to Obey [69] you as their Chief Commander. And to pursue, fight, take, kill or destroy the said Enemies their Aiders and Abettors by all the ways and means you can, as you shall have opportunity, & to accept to Mercy or grant Quarter & Favour to such or so many of said Enemies as you shall find needful for promoting the design aforesaid. And you to observe and obey all such Orders and Instructions, as from time to time you shall receive from the Commissioners of the Colonies, or the Council of War of the said Colony of New-Plymouth, or from the Governour and Council of the Massachusetts. In Testimony whereof is affixed the Publick Seal of this Colony. Dated in Plymouth the Second day of September, Anno Domi. 1690. Annoque Regni Regis et Reginae Willielmi et Mariae &c. Secundo.

Tho. Hinkley President.

Instructions for Major Benjamin Church Commander in Chief of the Plymouth Forces, with other of the Massachusetts put under his Command.

‘ IN pursuance of the Commission given you for their ‘ Majesty’s Service in the present Expedition against ‘ the Common Enemy, Indian & French their Aiders and ‘ Abettors, on the request of our Brethren and Friends of ‘ the Massachusetts Colony, Subjects of one and the same ‘ Crown of England; for our Assistance of them therein.
 ‘ Reposing confidence in your Wisdom, Prudence, Pronefs

‘ and Faithfulness in the trust under God committed to you ‘ for the Honour of His Name, the Interest of Christ in ‘ these Churches, and the good of the whole People; Pray‘ ing and Expecting that in your dependance on Him, you ‘ may be helped and Assisted with all that Grace, Wisdom
 ‘ and Courage necessary for the carrying of you on with ‘ Success in this difficult Service; and tho’ much is and ‘ must be left to your discretion, with your Council of Offi‘ cers, as Providence & Opportunity may present from time ‘ to time in Places of action. Yet the following Instruc‘ tions are commended to you to be observed & attended
 ‘ by you, so far as the State and Circumstances of that affair ‘ will admit.

‘ You are with all possible speed to take care that the ‘ Plymouth Forces both English & Indians under your ‘ Command be fixed & ready on the first opportunity of ‘ Wind & Weather, to go on board such Vessels, as are ‘ provided to transport you to Piscataqua; <sup>87</sup> and there take ‘ under your care & command such Companies of the ‘ Massachusetts Colony, as shall by them be ordered and ‘ added to you there, or else where from time to time; all ‘ which you are to improve in such way, and from place to ‘ place, as with the advice of your Council, consisting of the ‘ Commission Officers of the Massachusetts Colony, and ‘ Plymouth under your conduct, shall seem meet, for the ‘ finding out, pursuing, taking or destroying of said com‘ mon Enemy, on all opportunities, according to Commis-

<sup>87</sup> Portsmouth, N.H.

‘tion, and such further Orders & Instructions as you have ‘or may receive from the Governour & Council of the ‘Massachusetts, the Commissioners for the United Colonies, ‘or the Governour & Council of Plymouth; so far as you ‘may be capable, Intending what you can the preserving
‘of the near Towns from the Incurfions and [70] destruc‘tion of the Enemy: But chiefly to intend the finding out, ‘pursuing, taking and destroying the Enemy abroad, and if ‘possible to attack them in their head quarters and principal ‘Randezvous, if you are in a rational capacity of so doing;
‘and for the better enabling you thereunto, We have ap‘pointed the Vessels that transport you, and the Provisions,
‘&c. to attend your motion & order, until you shall see ‘cause to dismiss them, or any one of them, which is ‘desired to be done the first opportunity that the Ser‘vice will admit. You are to see that your Souldiers
‘Armes be always fixt, and they provided with Ammu‘nition, and other necessaries, that they may be always ‘ready to repel and attack the Enemy. You are to take ‘special care to avoid danger in the pursuit of the Enemy’s ‘by keeping out Scouts, and a forlorn,<sup>88</sup> to prevent the ‘Ambushments of the Enemy on your main body in their ‘Marches. And by all possible means to surprize some of ‘the Enemy, that so you may gain better Intelligence.

‘You are to take effectual care that the worship of God

<sup>88</sup> “Forlorn—men detached from several regiments, or otherwise appointed to give the first onset in battle, or to begin the attack of a besieged place.” [Bailey.] “Forlorn-hope” comes from it, as implying special danger.

‘ be kept up in the Army, that Morning and Evening Prayer
 ‘ be attended, and the holy Sabbath duly Sanctified, as the ‘ Emergency of your affairs will admit.

‘ You are to take strict care to prevent or punish Drunk‘ ennes, Curfing, Swearing and all other Vice; leaft the ‘ anger of God be thereby provoked to fight againft you.
 ‘ You are from time to time to give Intelligence and advice
 ‘ to the Governour of the Massachusetts, and to us of your ‘ proceeding and occurances that may attend you. And in ‘ cafe of a failure of any Commiffion Officers, you are to ‘ appoint others in their ftead. And when with the advice
 ‘ of your Council aforefaid, you fhall after fome tryal fee
 ‘ your Service not like to be advantageous to the accom-‘ plifhment of the Publick end aforefaid: That then you ‘ return home with the Forces; efpecially if you fhall
 ‘ receive any orders or direftions fo to do from the Massa‘ chusetts, or from us Given under my hand at Plymouth,
 ‘ the 2d day of September, Anno Domi 1690.

‘ Tho. Hinckley GOV. & Prefident.

Now having a fair Wind Maj Church foon got to Pifcata-aqua,<sup>89</sup> who was to apply himfelf to Maj. Pike<sup>90</sup> a worthy

<sup>89</sup> If Church failed from Plymouth immediately on receipt of his commiffion and instructions, he probably got off on Tuesday, 2 Sept., 1690. On the following Tuesday he received his instructions at Portsmouth from Major Pike, and fpeaks of being delayed about 9 days. He probably reached Pifcataqua on Wednesday, 3 Sept., and received the Major’s instructions two or three days before he was ready to move upon Pejepfco.

<sup>90</sup> Robert Pike, of Salisbury, fon of John, of Newbury; was freeman 17

Gentleman, who said, He had advice of his coming from Boston Gentlemen; also he had received directions that what Men the said Church should want must be raised out of Hampshire; out of their several Towns and Garrisons: Maj. Pike ask'd him, How many Men he should want? He said enough to make up his Forces that he brought with him, 300 at least, and not more than 350. And so in about Nine days time he was supply'd with two Companies of Souldiers. He having been at about Twenty Shillings a day charge in expences while there. Now he received Maj. Pike's Instructions: which are as followeth,

Portsmouth in New-Hampshire, Sept. 9, 1690.

To Maj. Benjamin Church Commander in Chief of their Majesty's Forces now designed upon the present Expedition Eastward, & now Resident at Portsmouth. [71]

THe Governour and Council of the Massachusetts Colony reposing great trust and confidence in your Loyalty & Valour from experience of your former Actions, and of Gods presence with you in the same. In pursuant of an Order received from them, Commanding it. These are in their Majesty's Names to Impower and Require you as Commander in Chief, to take into your care and conduēt these Forces*

May, 1637; Representative from S., 1648, and some following years; Assistent 1682 and 1691; Councillor 1689 and 1691; was Major in one of the Essex regiments. He married, 3 April, 1641,

Sarah Sanders, and had Sarah, Mary, Dorothy, Mary (again), Elizabeth, John, Robert, and Moses; died 12 Dec., 1706, æt. 91. He was early a church member. [Savage's Gen. Dict. iii: 436.]

now here present at their Randezvouz at Portsmouth; and they are alike required to obey you: and with them to Sail Eastward by the first opportunity to Casco, or Places Adjacent, that may be most commodious for Landing with safety and secrecy, and to visit the Enemy French & Indians at their head quarters at Ameras-cogen,<sup>91</sup> Pejepscot, or any other Plat, according as you may have hope or intelligence of the Resident of the Enemy; using always your utmost endeavour for the preservation of your own Men, and the killing, destroying and utterly rooting out the Enemy wheresoever they may be found; as also as much as may possibly be done for the redeeming or recovering of our Captives in any Places.

You being then arrived, & understanding your way, to take your Journey back again either by Land or Water, as you shall judge most convenient for the accomplishing of the end intended; and to give intelligence always of your motions whensoever you can with safety and convenience.

Lastly, in all to consult your Council the Commanders or

<sup>91</sup> Androscoggin. On a rude pen-drawn map [in the Connecticut Archives, War. Vol. III. Doc. 86 (for a copy of which I am indebted to the kindness of the Hon. J. Hammond Trumbull)], bearing notes in the handwriting of Hon. William Pitkin, who was one of the two Connecticut Commissioners at the meeting in Boston, which declared war with the Eastern Indians, and appointed Church commander (see note 27, ante), — which

map is clearly contemporaneous, and may have been traced by Church to assist their deliberations, — this is written in two words, thus, Ambros Cogan, and is stated to be “about 80 myle from the sea.” It was situated upon a territory which used to be called by the Indians Roccamecco, and was the headquarters of the Androscoggin tribe, and seems to have been near the great Pennacook falls on the Androscoggin river, in Rumford. [Me. Hist. Coll. iii: 323.]

Commission Officers of your severall Companies, when it may be obtained, the greater part of whom to determine, and so the Lord of Host the God of Armies go along with you, and be your Conduēt. Given under my hand the day and year above said.
Per Robert Pike.

Being ready,<sup>92</sup> they took the first opportunity and made the best of their way to Pejepscot Fort,<sup>93</sup> where they found nothing. From thence they March'd to Ameras-cogen,<sup>94</sup>

<sup>92</sup> Church's letter to Gov. Hinckley, of date 30 Sept., 1690, narrating the events of this expedition — lately printed by Mr. S. G. Drake in his additions to Baylies's Plymouth [pp. 90-97] — says, "We sett saile from Pifcataqua upon the 10th instant, at 2 in the afternoon, and came the 11th in the night amongst the Islands in Casco Bay." He proceeds as follows: —

"Laid the vessells clofe out of sight — went on shore at breake of day, upon an Island that had been inhabited by the English, called Capoag [Chebeague, or Chebacco, now known as Great Gebear, and called "Sheab" on the "Ancient Plan."] We ranged about, found where the enimie had lately been, but were drawn off. This was the twelfth day. In the evening we wayed and came down to Macquait [Maquoit, or Marquoit, the N. E. termination of Magocook bay, in Freeport, Me.], and the 13th day about 2: of the clocke in the morning we landed our men silently upon the Maine; and leaveing souldiers on board to keep the vessells, we marched in the night up to Pochipscutt [Pejep- scot] fort, — diuided the army into: 3: companies, furrounded the fort, and when daylight appeared we found that the enimie were removed not long before we came there; also the souldiers found some little plunder, and a barn of corn."

<sup>93</sup> Williamson [Hist. Me. i: 624] makes the careless mistake of representing the flight of Doney, the release of the captives, &c., which really took place on the next day (Sabbath, 14 Sept., 1690) at the upper falls, as taking place here at Brunswick Lower Falls.

<sup>94</sup> Church says in his letter [see note 92, ante] that he went up "on the S. W. side of the river altho the way was extream difficult: yet it was a more obscure way: the enimie useing to march on the N. E. side." He further says [p. 91] that they marched on the same day (Saturday) on which they reached Pejepscot, "above the middle falls, about 20 miles," when it rained hard, and they there encamped. This was at Lewiston Falls, called by the Indians Amityonpontook. They marched and when they came near the Fort Maj. Church made a halt, ordering the Captains to draw out of their several Companies 60 of their meanest men, to be a guard to the Doctor & Snapfacks;<sup>95</sup> being not a Mile from said Fort; and then Moving towards the Fort, they saw young Doney<sup>96</sup> and his Wife, with two English Captives: the said Doney made his escape to the Fort, his Wife was shot down, and so the two poor Captives releas'd out of their bondage. The said Maj. Church and Capt. Walton<sup>97</sup> made no stop, making the best of their way to the Fort with some of the Army, in hopes of getting to the Fort before young the next day at dawn, and came within sight of the fort about 2 P. M. [Me. Hist. Coll. iii: 322.]

<sup>95</sup> "In short time came to the westerly branch of the Great River, and there left our baggage and those men that were tired, and made them up to forty men to guard the Doctor." Church's Letter [Drake's Baylies, Pt. v: 91.]

<sup>96</sup> In his Book of the Indians [p. 307], Mr. Drake gives it as his opinion that this Doney, or Dony, family were French residents among the Indians, like Castin, and that this son was a half-breed. Williamson [i: 624] says he was one of the Sokokis (or Sockhigoues), who were the aborigines of the Saco valley. Sullivan [Hist. Dist. Me. 180] calls old Doney "a savage." Mather [Magnalia, B. vii: 86, 87] enumerates Robin Doney among the Sagamores who signed the "submission" at Pemmaquid in 1693, and says he was seized at Saco within a year after. He is thought to have been the "Old Doney" mentioned in a letter written by Church, and the father of this fugitive. Williamson refers to him [i. 642] with Bomaseen.

<sup>97</sup> Shadrach Walton, of Great Island (now Newcastle, N.H.), was second son of George and Alice, was b. 1658, was Captain in 1690; Major in the attack on Port Royal in 1707; Colonel of New-Hampshire troops in 1710; Colonel of the Rangers in active service the next winter; was made a Royal Counsellor in 1716; quieted the Eastern Indians in 1720; was senior member and President of the Council Board in 1733; was Judge C. C. P. 1695-1698; Judge S. C. 1698, 1699; and again Judge C. C. P. 1716-1737. He died 3 Oct., 1741, aged 83. He was father of George; Benjamin (H. U. 1729, a minister); Elizabeth (m. Keefe); Abigail (m. Long); Sarah (m. Sheafe); Mary (m. Randall, and became g. g. m. of the founder of the "Free-Will Baptist Connection.") [Rev. A. H. Quint, D.D., in N. E. Hist. & Gen. Reg. ix: 57.]

Doney; <sup>98</sup> but the River thro' which they must pass being as deep as their Arm-pits; however Maj. Church as soon as he was got over strip'd to his Shirt and Jacket, leaving his Breeches behind, ran directly to the Fort, having an eye to see if young Doney, who ran on the other side of the River should get there before him: the Wind now blowing very hard in their Faces as they ran was some help to them; for several of our Men fired Guns, which they in the Fort did not hear; so that we had taken all in the Fort had it not been for young Doney, who got to the Fort just before we did, who ran into the South Gate, and out at the [72] North, all the Men following him except one, who all ran directly down to the great River and Falls. The said Church and his Forces being come pretty near, he ordered the said Walton to run directly with some Forces into the Fort, and himself with the rest ran down to the River after the Enemy, who ran some of them into the River, and the rest under the great Falls; those who ran into the River

<sup>98</sup> The account which Church gives in his letter is this:—

“And looking over the brow of a hill by the river, espied two English captives and an Indian, moving towards the fort: ran after them, and soon took the English but the Indian got clear. Then I feared he would inform the fort: gave order, that all with one consent should run thro' the river and not mind any other forme: but he that could get first to the fort, if they had opportunity, to offer them peace. If they would not accept it to fall on, and by that time they were well entered the rest would be come up: also I gave order for 2 companies to spread between the woods and the fort to prevent the escape of the enemy that way — all which was attended. We were very well running thro' the river, but got up undiscovered to the fort till within shot: few Indians we found there, but two men and a lad of about: 18: with some women and children: 5 ran into the river, 3 or 4 of which were killed. We killed 6 or 7, and took eleven.” [Drake's Battles, Pt. v: 91, 92.]

were kill'd, for he saw but one man get over, and he only crept up the bank, and there lay in open fight; and those that ran under the Falls they made no discovery of, notwithstanding several of his men went in under the said Falls, and was gone some considerable time; could not find them; so leaving a Watch there, return'd up to the Fort, where he found but one Man taken & several Women & Children, amongst which was Capt. Hakins<sup>99</sup> Wife & Worumbos's<sup>100</sup> Wife, the Sachem of that Fort, with their Children; the said Hakins was the Sachem of Pennacook, who destroyed Maj Walden and his Family, some time before,<sup>101</sup> &c. The said two Women, viz. Hakins and Worumbos's Wives, requested the said Church that he would spare them and their Children's lives, promising upon that condition, he should have all the Captives that were taken, and in the Indians hands: He ask'd them, How many? they said about four-score: So upon that condition he promis'd them their lives, &c. And in the said Fort there was several English Captives, who were in a miserable condition; amongst whom

<sup>99</sup> Kankamagus (alias John Hogkins, Hawkins, or Hakins) was a Pennacook Sachem. About 1685 he wrote several letters to Gov. Cranfield, of New Hampshire, disclosing his fear of the Mohawks and his desire for English protection. He subsequently fled to the eastward, and joined the Androscoggins, where he became hostile to the settlers, and in 1689 headed the massacre of Maj. Waldron. His wife and four children were here taken captive, and his sister was among the slain. [Book of the Indians, 297-300; Drake's Baylies, Pt. v: 97.]

<sup>100</sup> Worombo (Worombos) was a Tarratine, and Sachem of Androscoggin [Amos Coggen, Church spells it, in his letter, much as Pitkin wrote it (see note 91, ante)]. He had two children captured here. [Vid. Church's Letter, 97.]

<sup>101</sup> See notes 12 and 32, ante.

was Capt. Huckings's Wife of Oyster-River.<sup>102</sup> Maj. Church proceeded to examine the Man taken, who gave him an account that most of their fighting men were gone to Winter-harbour, to provide Provisions for the Bay of Fondy Indians, who were to come and joyn with them to fight the English.<sup>103</sup> The Souldiers being very rude would hardly spare the Indians life, while in examination, intending when he had done that he should be Executed: but Capt. Huckings Wife and another Woman down on their knees beg'd for him, saying, He had been a means to save their Lives and a great many more; and had helped several to opportunities to run away & make their escape; and that

<sup>102</sup> "We found a prety deal of corn in barnes under ground, and destroyed it; also we found guns and amunition a prety deal, with beauer, and we took 5 English captives, viz. Lieut. Robert Hookins his widow of Oyster River; Benjamin Barnards wife of Salmon Falls; Ann Heard of Cochecho; one Willises daughter of Oyster Riuer, and a boy of Exeter." [Ibid. 92.] Oyster River was originally a part of Dover, N.H., now Durham. James Huckins was son of Robert, Constable 1683; had eldest son Robert; was killed in the onslaught of the Indians in August, 1689. [Farmer's Belknap's New Hamp. 131; Savage's Gen. Dict. ii: 487.]

<sup>103</sup> Dictating to his son Thomas a quarter of a century afterwards, it is not strange that some particulars should have faded from the memory of Capt. Church. He here represents his haste to make the best of his way back to

Winter-Harbor to be for the purpose of intercepting and capturing these Indians, who were gone thither for provisions. But in his letter, written at the time, he informs Gov. Hinckley that —

"Both Indians and English informed us that the enemy had lately had a consultation. Many of them were for peace and many against it, and had hired and procured about 300, and intended for Wells with a flagg of truce and offer them peace. If they could not agree then to fall on. If they could not take Wells, then they resolved to attack Piscattaqua." [p. 92].

He adds [p. 93]: "We made all haste imaginable, for fear some of our towns should be attacked before we came home."

This would seem to be the true explanation of his hurried march back; that he feared a massacre in his absence.

never since he came amongst them had fought against the English, but being related to Hakins Wife kept at the Fort with them, he having been there two Years; but his living was to the westward of Boston. So upon their request his life was spared, &c. Next day the said Church ordered that all their Corn should be destroy'd, being a great quantity, saving a little for the two old Squaws which he design'd to leave at the Fort to give an account who he was, and from whence he came: the rest being knock'd on the head, except what afore-mentioned, for an example, ordering them to be all buried.<sup>104</sup> Having enquired where all their best Bever was? They said, it was carried away to make a present to the Bay of Fondy Indians, who were coming to their Assistance. Now being ready to draw off from thence, he call'd the two old Squaws to him, and gave each of them a Kittle and some Biskets, bidding them to tell the Indians when they came home, [73] that he was known by the Name of Capt. Church, and liv'd in the Westerly part of Plymouth Government; and that

<sup>104</sup> There is a tinge of barbarity in the narrative here, which is absent from the letter, and which leads us to imagine that the doughty old warrior, roughly telling his tale so long after, was scarcely just to himself in some of the motives which he intimates. The letter thus narrates it [p. 93], saying nothing about "knocking on the head" for "example," which would have been a most unlikely procedure where the aim was to secure "the like to ours": "We left two old squaws that were not able to march; gave them victuals enough for one week of their own corn boiled, and a little of our provisions, and buried their dead, and left them clothes enough to keep them warme, and left the wigwams for them to lye in, — gave them orders to tell their friends how kind we were to them, — bidding them doe the like to ours."

those Indians that came with him were formerly King Philips Men, and that he had met with them in Philips War, and drew them off from him, to fight for the English against the said Philip and his Associates, who then promised him to fight for the English as long as they had one Enemy left; and said, that they did not question but before Indian Corn was ripe to have Philips head, notwithstanding he had twice as many men as was in their Country; and that they had kill'd and taken one thousand three hundred and odd of Philips Men, Women & Children, and Philip himself, with several other Sachems, &c. and that they should tell Hakins & Worumbo, That if they had a mind to see their Wives & Children they should come to Wells Garrison, and that there they might hear of them, &c.<sup>105</sup> Maj. Church having done, Mov'd with all his Forces down to Mequoyt,<sup>106</sup> where the transports were (but in the way some of his Souldiers threatned the Indian man Prisoner, very much, so that in a thick Swamp he gave them the slip and got away) and when they all got on board the transport; the Wind being fair made the best of their way for Winter Harbour,<sup>107</sup> and the next

<sup>105</sup> The letter says [p. 93]:—

“Also, if they were for peace to come to goodman Smalls [?] at Barwick within 14 dayes, who would attend to discourse them.”

<sup>106</sup> “Returned in that day, and one more, to our vessells at Macquait.”
[Ibid.]

<sup>107</sup> Winter-Harbor was the earliest known English name for the “Pool” at Saco, Me., near the mouth of the Saco River, above Wood Island, and the settlement which grew up near it. Williamson [Hist. Me. i: 26] says it was “so called after an ancient inhabitant there by the name of Winter.” But John Winter lived at Richman’s Island, or at the mouth of the Spurwink.

Morning<sup>108</sup> before day, and as soon as the day appear'd they discovered some Smokes rising towards Skamans Garrison:<sup>109</sup> He immediately sent away a Scout of 60 Men, and follow'd presently with the whole body;<sup>110</sup> the Scout coming near a River discovered the Enemy to be on the other side of the River:<sup>111</sup> But three of the Enemy was come over the River to the same side of the River which the Scout was of; ran hastily down to their Canoo, two of which lay at each end of the Canoo, and the third stood up to paddle over: The Scout fired at them, and he that paddled fell down upon the Canoo and broke it to pieces, so that all three perished;<sup>112</sup> the firing put the Enemy to the [Willis's Portland, 16.] A better suggestion of the origin of the name is that of Folsom [Hist. Saco, 24]: "We have the tradition of the inhabitants of that part of Biddeford, that an English vessel wintered in the Pool before the settlement of the country, and that the shelter thus afforded gave rise to the name of Winter Harbor."

<sup>108</sup> This would appear to have been Wednesday, 17 Sept. The fort was taken on Sunday; Monday "and one more" brought them to Maquoit, and "the wind being fair," they seem to have failed immediately, and reached their destination the next morning.

<sup>109</sup> Scammon's Garrison was "on the east side of the Saco, 3 miles below the falls." [Williamson, i: 625.] Humphrey Scammon (Scamman, Scammond) was born 1640; m. Elizabeth, dau. of Dominicus Jordan, of Spurwink; lived at Kittery Point and Cape Porpoise

(Kennebunk-port) before he went to Saco; where he received a town grant, in 1679, and the same year purchased of Henry Waddock's widow his 200 acres, extending "from the lower part of the river across to Goose-fair brook, and so down to the sea." He died 1 Jan., 1727. Had Humphrey, (b. 10 May, 1677); Elizabeth (m. 1697, Andrew Haley, of Kittery); Mary (m. Puddington); Rebecca (m. Billings); Samuel, (b. 1689.) [Savage's Gen. Dict. iv: 34; Folsom's Hist. Saco, 188.]

<sup>110</sup> "I sent out a scout of 60 men to Salco Falls to make discovery; the rest in arms ready on shore: intending at their returne to march by land to Wells." [Letter, p. 93.]

<sup>111</sup> "The scout met with a small party upon the river, making fish and other provisions, viz. old Dony and his crew, — about 40, in all." [Ibid. p. 94.]

<sup>112</sup> In the letter. Capt. Church repre-

run,<sup>113</sup> who left their Canoo's and Provisions to ours;<sup>114</sup> and old Doney,<sup>115</sup> and one Thomas Baker an English Man who was a Prisoner amongst them, were up at the Falls and heard the Guns fire, expected the other Indians were come to their Assistance, so came down the River in a Canoo, but when they perceived that there was English as well as Indians, old Doney run the Canoo a shore, and ran over Bakers head and followed the rest, and then Baker came to ours; and gave an account of the Bever hid at Pejepscot plain: and coming to the place where the plunder was, the Major sent a Scout to Pejepscot Fort, to see if they could make any discovery of the Enemies Tracks, or could discover any coming up the River; who return'd and said they saw nothing but our old Tracks at said Fort, &c.<sup>116</sup>

fents the enemy as being all upon the other side. He says:—

“The enemy being on the other side the river, ours could not come at them: they made shot at them: killed one Dicks, a baco [Mr. Drake suggests Abaco (the largest of the Bahamas); but is Sebago (a nearer and so likelier word) impossible?] man, and got him on shore: 2 more men sank in the river: some of ours swam over the river, took their cannoos and plunder.” [Ibid.]

<sup>113</sup> The letter states that “at this skirmish Lt. Hunniwell was shot through the thigh.” [Ibid.] This was Richard Hunniwell, concerning whose famous adventures as an Indian killer, see Me. Hist. Coll. iii: 144–148.

<sup>114</sup> “There we took a pretty deale of powder, shot and lead, and other plunder, and 8 or 9 cannoos.” [Ibid.]

<sup>115</sup> Thomas Baker, Folsom says (on the authority of the Scarborough records), was “an inhabitant of Scarborough, in 1681.” [Hist. Saco, 194.] Willis [Hist. Portland, 286] enumerates among those taken prisoners by the Indians, at the fall of Falmouth, 20 May, 1690, “Thomas Baker (a boy).”

<sup>116</sup> “The man we took from them at Salco, told us that the enemy from Cape Sables and all quarters were looked for by that time to rendezvous at Pechepscutt: also that he knew that the enemy had brought beaver and other goods to Pechepscutt Plaine, and hid them: he supposed it was a gratuity for the eastward Indians: also, that he

Now having got some Plunder,<sup>117</sup> One of the Captains said it was time to go home, and several others were of the same mind; and the Major being much disturb'd at the Motion of theirs, expecting the Enemy would come in a very short time where they might have a great advantage of them, &c. Notwithstanding all he could say or do, he was oblig'd to call a Council, according to his [74] Instructions, wherein he was out-voted. The said Commander seeing he was put by of his intentions prefer'd if 60 Men would stay with him he would not embark as yet; but all that he could say or do could not prevail;<sup>118</sup> then they Mov'd to the Vessels and Imbark'd, and as they were going in the Vessels on the back side of Mayr-point they discovered 8 or 9 Canoo's, who turn'd short about, and went up the River; being the same Indians that the Major expected, and would have waited for; and the aforesaid Captain being much disturb'd at what the Major had said to him, drew off from the Fleet, and in the Night run aground;<sup>119</sup> in the Morning Anthony himselfe knew within half a mile where it was hid. This made us alter our former intention; and took ship and failed to a place more eastward then Macquait (called Mare Point [the south extremity of Brunswick, Me.]) Landed our men by daylight, about 250: marched round in the woods: some upon the eastward of Pechescutt." Letter [Ibid. p. 94.]

<sup>117</sup> "When we got upon the Plaine we parted into 3 companies: found none of the enemy; but we found the plunder: of which a pretty deale of powder and shot." Letter [Ibid.]

<sup>118</sup> The only paragraph in Church's letter which can be construed into any reference to this conflict between him and his subordinates is this: "Many cross things falling out to frustrate the designe, too long here to relate: but from Major Pike your honors will hear more at large." [Ibid. p. 97.]

<sup>119</sup> The letter says:—

"As god would have it one of our vessells run aground, which we did not

Brakit<sup>120</sup> having been advis'd and directed by the Indian that made his escape from our Forces, came down near where the aforesaid Vessel lay a-ground, and got aboard; who has proved a good Pilot and Captain for his Country. The next day it being very calm and misty, so that they were all day getting down from Maquait to Perpodack; and the Masters of the Vessels thinking it not safe putting out in the Night, so late in the Year,<sup>121</sup> Anchor'd there at Perpodack; the Vessels being much crouded, the Major ordered three Companies should go on shore, and no more, himself with Capt. Converse<sup>122</sup> went with them to order their lodging, and finding just Housing convenient for them, viz. Two Barns and one House; so seeing them all settled and their Watches out, the Major and Capt. Converse return'd to go aboard, and coming near where the Boat was, understand (being in the night) and haucing left her we soon mist her, Capt. Alden concluding she had run aground. And before she came clear, there escaped one Anthony Brackett of Casco, who was informed by the lad that escaped from Amoscoggin aforesaid, of our army: he [Bracket] made his escape, got into our track, and came to Macquait, hollowed to the vessel, that heard him, and gladly took him on board." [Ibid. p. 93.]

<sup>120</sup> Anthony Brackett, jr. (eldest son of Anthony, note 39, ante), was afterwards serviceable as Lieut. and Capt. He finally settled in Boston. [Willis's Hist. Portland, 290.]

<sup>121</sup> "Came there [to Casco, or Purpoduck, opposite to what is now Portland] in the evening, being the 20th instant." [Letter, p. 94.]

<sup>122</sup> James Converse was son of James of Woburn, who was son of Edward, who, with wife Sarah, came in the fleet with Winthrop, 1630; he was of Woburn, freeman, 1671, rep. 1679, 1684-6, 1689, 1692, and Speaker in 1699, 1702-3. He married 1 Jan., 1669, Hannah Carter; had James, John, Elizabeth, Robert, Hannah, Josiah, Josiah, Patience, and Ebenezer. He was distinguished as a Captain and Major in the Indian wars, and was mixed up with an ecclesiastical difficulty just before his death. [Savage's Gen. Dict. i: 444; Mather's Magnalia, vii: Appendix, 16; Hutchinson's Hist. Mus. ii: 67, 72; Hist. and Gen. Reg. xiii: 31.]

it was pretty dark, they discovered some Men, but did not know what or who they were; the Major ordered those that were with him all to clap down and cock their Guns, and he call'd and ask'd them, Who they were? and they said, Indians: he ask'd them, Whose Men they were? they said Capt. Southworth's: he ask'd them where they intended to lodge? They said in those little Hutts that the Enemy had made when they took that Garrison. The Major told them they must not make any fires; for if they did the Enemy would be upon them before day. They laugh'd, and said, Our Major was afraid. Having given them their directions, he with Capt. Converse went on board the Mary Sloop; designing to Write home, and send away in the Morning the two Sloops which had the Small Pox on board, &c. But before day our Indians began to make fires and to Sing and Dance; so the Major call'd to Capt. Southworth to go a-shore & look after his Men, for the Enemy would be upon them by'nd by. He order'd the Boat to be hall'd up to carry him a-shore, and call'd Capt. Converse to go with him, and just as the day began to appear, as the Major was getting into the Boat to go a-shore, the Enemy fired upon our Men the Indians, notwithstanding that one Philip an Indian of ours, who was out upon the Watch, heard a man cough, and the sticks crack; who gave the rest an account, that he saw Indians; which they would not believe; but said to him, You are afraid: his answer was, that they might see them come creeping: they laugh'd and said, they were Hogs: Ay, (said he) and they [75] will bite you by'nd by. So presently they did fire upon our Men; but the Morning being misty their Guns did not go off quick, so that our Men had all time to fall down before their Guns went off, and saved themselves from that Volley, except one man, who was kill'd. This sudden firing upon our Indian Soldiers surprized them that they left their Arms, but soon recover'd them again, and got down the bank which was but low: the Major with all the Forces on board landed as fast as they could; the Enemy firing smartly at them; however all got safe a-shore. The Enemy had a great advantage of our Forces, who were between the Sun rising & the Enemy, so that if a man put up his head or hand they could see it, and would fire at it: However some with the Major got up the bank behind stumps and rocks, to have the advantage of firing at the Enemy; but when the Sun was risen the Major slip'd down the bank again where all the Forces were order'd to observe his Motion, viz. That he would give three shouts and then all of them should run with him up the bank: so when he had given the third shout, ran up the bank, and Capt. Converse with him, but when the said Converse perceived that the Forces did not follow as commanded, call'd to the Major and told him the Forces did not follow; who notwithstanding the Enemy fired smartly at, yet got safe down the bank again, and Rallying the Forces up the bank, soon put the Enemy to flight;<sup>123</sup> and following them so close, that they took 13 Canoo's,<sup>124</sup> and one Lusty Man, who had Joseph Ramsdell's<sup>125</sup> Scalp by his side, who was taken by two of our Indians, and having his deserts was himself Scalp'd. This being a short and smart fight, some of our Men were kill'd, and several wounded.<sup>126</sup> Some time after an English Man who

<sup>123</sup> Church's account in his letter varies a little:—

“I landed the most part of the men and went on shore and ordered them where they should lodge; but the Indians in particular I ordered to such a house, or else to goe on board again; but they, contrary to my order, took up their lodge on the river by Papooducke side, where the enemy had lately rendezoued. All the rest of the comandes and companies were where I ordered them to be. The enemy discovered the Indians fires, — came in the night and discovered where the Companies lay, and ambushed them at day-light: made a shot upon our Indians; it being the 21st instant. and the Sabbath day. Our English arose to the succour of the Indians, friends; being all ready at break of day, pr. my order, and drawing up towards them, many were wounded and slain: the enemy having great advantage of ours; for the light of the day, and stares reflecting upon the waters gave them advantage to see us, when as we could not see them at all, against the dark woods: especially we could not see to distinguish between our Indians and theirs. Whereupon I ordered to lie still under the sea bancks till day-light: I coming on shore the second boat, and see the difficulty: but the enemy fired hard upon the vessells and boats coming on shore: and when the day was light enough, I ordered the men to arise from the banks, and run all upon them at once; the which we did, and soon put them to the flight, — followed them hard thorough a swamp, firing briskly. They knowing where there cannoos were, got their wounded men into them before we came up, and most of them put off. Our men affirmed but two that they see killed.” [Letter, p. 95.]

<sup>124</sup> “We took 2 guns and many blankets and gun-cases, and 4 cannoos.” [Ibid. p. 96]

<sup>125</sup> “A company of soldiers from Lynn were impressed by order of the Governor, and sent out against the Indians in the depth of winter. One of the soldiers from Lynn, Mr. Joseph Ramsdell, was killed by them at Casco Bay, in 1690.” [Lewis's Hist. Lynn, 177; Newhall's Annals of Lynn, 289.]

<sup>126</sup> The letter gives a more particular statement, as follows:—

“We went on board sent away two vessells with the captives and sick and wounded men, and buried our dead, which was 3 English and 4 Indians. The wounded were 17 English and 7 Indians. Them that were slain were was Prisoner amongst them, gave an account that our Forces had kill'd and wounded several of the Enemy, for they kill'd several Prisoners according to their Custom &c. After this action was over our Forces imbark'd for Piscataqua, and the Major went to Wells,<sup>127</sup> and remov'd the Captain there, and put in Capt. Andras,<sup>128</sup> who had been with him and knew the Discourse left with the two old Squaws at Amcras-cogen, for Hakins & Worumbo to come there in 14 days, if they had a mind to hear of their Wives & Children: Who did then or soon after come with a Flag of Truce to saide Wells Garrison, and had leave to come in, and more appearing came in, to the number of Eight, (without any terms) being all Chief Sachems; and was very glad to hear of the Women and Children, viz. Hakins and Worumbo's Wives and Children; who all saide three several times that they would never fight chiefly Plimouth. The wounded of Capt. Counyerse, 6; Capt. Floid, 3; Capt. Southworth, 4; Capt. Waltons, 3; of Capt. Andrews, one, (since that); one Englishman of Plimouth is dead of his wounds, and an Indian: also an Indian and Englishman both of Plimouth dead of the small-pox." [Letter, p. 96.]

<sup>127</sup> The letter particularizes:—

"We embarked and came to Cape Neddicke, the 22d day, and marched with about 200 men, (all we had fitt for service,) to Wells: Sent a scout the next day to Salco and Winter Harbour,—about 24 miles: made no discovery of the enemy later than we were there before. Then we returned and come to Portsmouth the 26th instant, because our doctor was gon home with the wounded men, and our men were several of them sick and lame, and wanted shoofe and other recruits; or else we would have gon furder before we had com home." [Ibid. p. 96.]

<sup>128</sup> Elisha Andros [Andrews, Androws] was son of James, (who was son of Samuel, and was born probably in Saco, 1635, and who married Sarah, dau. of Michael Mitton, and Margaret—,) and survived his father, who removed to Boston and died in 1704. [Savage's Gen. Dict. i: 53; Willis's Hist. Portland, 289.]

against the English any more, for the French made fools of them, &c. They saying as they did, the said Andras let them go. Maj Church being come to Piscataqua,<sup>129</sup> and two of his transports having the Small Pox on board; and several of his Men having got great Colds by their hard Service, pretended they were going to have the Small Pox, thinking by that means to be sent home speedily; the Major being willing to try them, went to the Gentlemen [76] there and desired them to provide an House, for some of his Men expected they should have the Small Pox; who readily did, and told him, That the People belonging to it was just recover'd of the Small Pox, and had been all at Meeting, &c. The Major returning to his Officers order'd them to draw out all their men that were going to have the Small Pox, for he had provided an Hospital for them: So they drew out 17 Men, that had as they said, all the symptoms of the Small Pox; he ordered them all to follow him, and coming to the House, he ask'd them, How they liked it? they said very well. Then he told them that the People in said House have all had the Small Pox, and was recovered; and that if they went in they must not come out till they all had it: Whereupon they all presently began to grow better, and to make excuses, except one Man who desired to stay out till Night before he went in, &c. The Major going to the Gentlemen, told them,

<sup>129</sup> The letter fixes the date of arrival:—

“ And we returned to Portsmouth the 26th instant.” The letter bears date, Sept. 30, 1690, which puts the arrival,

Sept. 26. [Letter, p. 97.]

That one thing more would work a perfect cure upon his Men, which was to let them go home: Which did work a cure upon all, except one, and he had not the Small Pox. So he ordered the Plunder should be divided forthwith, and sent away all the Plymouth Forces. But the Gentlemen there desired him to stay and they would be assisting to him in raising new Forces to the number of what was sent away; and that they would send to Boston for Provisions: which they did, and sent Capt. Plaisted<sup>130</sup> to the Governour and Council at Boston, &c. And in the mean time the Major with those Gentlemen went into all those Parts and raised a sufficient number of Men, both Officers & Soldiers; who all met at the bank<sup>131</sup> on the same day that Capt. Plaisted return'd from Boston; whose return from Boston Gentlemen was, That the Canada Expedition had dreen'd them so that they could do no more: So that Maj. Church notwithstanding he had been at considerable Expences in raising said Forces to Serve his King and Country was oblig'd to give them a Treat and dismiss them: Taking his leave of them came home to Boston in the Mary Sloop Mr. Alden<sup>132</sup> Master, and Capt. Converse with him, of a Sat-

<sup>130</sup> Capt. Ichabod Plaisted, of Kittery, 1674? [Hist. & Gen. Reg. xv: 272.]

<sup>131</sup> Strawberry Bank, i.e. Portsmouth. "Whereas the name of this plantation at present being Strawberry Banke, accidentally so called, by reason of a banke where strawberries was found in this place, now we humbly desire to have it called Portsmouth, being a name most suitable for this place, it being the river's mouth, and good as any in this land, and your petit'rs shall humbly pray." [Petition to General Court for change of name. Brewster's Rambles about Portsmouth, p. 23.]

<sup>132</sup> Capt. John Alden, eldest son of Pilgrim John, was born in 1622; removed to Boston as early as December, 1659; was well known as a naval com-

urday; and waiting upon the Governour, and some of the Gentlemen in Boston, they look'd very strange upon them, which not only troubled them but put them into some consternation what the matter should be, that after so much toyl & hard Service could not have so much as one pleasant word, nor no Money in their Pockets; for Maj Church had but Eight Pence left, and Capt. Converse none, as he said afterwards. Maj. Church seeing two Gentlemen which he knew had Money, ask'd them to lend him Forty Shillings, telling them his necessity: Yet they refused. So being bare of Money was oblig'd to lodge at Mr. Aldens three Nights;<sup>133</sup> and the next Tuesday Morning Capt. Converse came to him (not knowing each others circumstances as yet) and said he would walk with him out of Town; so coming near Pollards at the South End, they had some Discourse; that it was very hard that they should part with dry lips: Maj. Church told Capt. Converse that he had [77] but Eight Pence left, and could not borrow any Money to carry him home. And the said Converse said, that he had not a Peny left; so they were oblig'd to part without going in to Pollards, &c. The said Capt.

mander; was in danger in the witchcraft delusion [Winfor (Hist. Duxbury, 215) wrongly says it was his son John; but the documents call him "John Aldin, Senior, of Boston, Marriner,"] in 1692, and was committed to jail, but ran away, and was ultimately cleared, in 1693, "by proclamation, none appearing against him." He died in Boston, 14 March, 1702, æt. 82, leaving upwards of £2000. [Drake's Hist. Boston, i: 499; Drake's Witchcraft Delusion in New England, iii: 26; Alden's American Epitaphs, iii: 266.]

<sup>133</sup> Capt. Alden lived on an alley leading from Cambridge to Sudbury Streets, from him called Alden's Lane, and, since 1846, Alden Street; now the headquarters of less useful persons. [Drake's Hist. Boston, i: 500.]

Converse returned back into Town, and the said Church went over to Roxbury; and at the Tavern he met with Stephen Braton<sup>134</sup> of Rhode-Island, a Drover; who was glad to see him the said Church, and he as glad to see his Neighbour: whereupon Maj. Church call'd for an Eight-Peny Tankard of drink, and let the said Braton know his circumstances, ask'd him whether he would lend him Forty Shillings? He answered, Yes: Forty Pounds, if he wanted it. So he thank'd him, and said, he would have but Forty Shillings; which he freely lent him: and presently after Major Church was told that his Brother Caleb Church<sup>135</sup> of Watertown was coming with a spare Horse for him, having heard the Night before that his Brother was come in; by which means the said Maj. Church got home. And for all his travel & expences in raising Souldiers, and Service done, never had but 14 l. of Plymouth Gentlemen, & not a Peny of Boston: notwithstanding he had wore out all his Clothes, and run himself in debt, so that he was oblig'd to Sell half a-share of Land in Tiverton for about

<sup>134</sup> Stephen Brayton was son of Francis, of Portsmouth, R.-I.; freeman, 1678; on the grand jury, 1687; married, 8 March, 1679, Ann, dau. of Peter Tolman, of Newport, and had Mary, Elizabeth, Ann, Preserved, and Stephen. [Savage's Gen. Dict. i: 240; R.-I. Col. Rec. iii: 4, 233.]

<sup>135</sup> Caleb Church appears to have been the sixth child of Richard — being the youngest son of at least nine children, as Benjamin was the oldest; admitted freeman 4 March, 1689-1690; kept a tavern from 1686 to 1711 [see Drake's Book of the Indians, p. 263]; lived first in Dedham, and afterwards in Watertown; Representative, 1713; married, 16 Dec., 1667, Joanna, dau. of William Sprague, of Hingham; had eight children, viz.: Richard, Ruth, Lydia, Caleb, Joshua, Isaac, and Rebecca. The last two were twins; and, after giving them birth, their mother died, 11 July, 1678. [Bond's Hist. Watertown, 158; N. E. Hist. & Gen. Reg. xi: 154; Part I. of this edition, p. xxx.]

60 l. which is now worth 300 l. more and above than what he had.<sup>136</sup>

Having not been at home long before he found out the reason why Boston Gentlemen look'd so disaffected on him; as you may see by the sequel of two Letters Maj. Church sent to the Gentlemen in the Eastward parts: which are as followeth.

Bristol, Novemb. 27. 1690.

Worthy Gentlemen,

‘ A Ccording to my promise when with you last, I waited ‘ upon the Governour at Boston upon the Saturday
 ‘ Capt. Converse being with me. The Governour informed ‘ us that the Council was to meet on the Monday follow‘ ing in the afternoon, at which time we both there waited ‘ upon them, and gave them an account of the State of ‘ your Country, and great necessities. They informed us,
 ‘ that their General Court was to Convene on the Wednes‘ day following; at which time they would debate & con‘ sider of the matter; my self being bound home, Capt.
 ‘ Converse was ordered to wait upon them, and bring you
 ‘ their resolves. I then took notice of the Council that

<sup>136</sup> It is my impression, that the good Col. Church got a little mixed in his recollections of these events, when, in his old age, he dictated this narrative. The County Records contain no trace, which I have been able to discover, of any such sale of half a share of land in Tiverton by him at this time, or for years afterward; while the fact that he was almost constantly purchasing land — buying £170 worth within a year of this date — scarcely favors the idea of pecuniary distress. He did sell, however, in June, 1691, to Nathaniel Byfield, £50 worth of land (43 acres) on Poppasquash neck, in Bristol. He owned, at this time, largely in Tiverton, and in what is now the city of Fall River. [See Part I., Introductory Memoir, pp. xxix., xxx.]

‘ they look’d upon me with an ill aspect, not judging me ‘ worthy to receive thanks for the Service I had done in ‘ your parts; nor as much as ask me whether I wanted
 ‘ Money to bare my Expence, or a Horse to carry me ‘ home. But I was forc’d for want of Money (being far ‘ from friends) to go to Roxbury on foot; but meeting there
 ‘ with a Rhode-Island Gentleman, acquainted him of my ‘ wants, who tendered me Ten Pounds,<sup>137</sup> whereby I was ‘ accommodated for my Journey home: And being come ‘ home, I went to the Minister of our Town,<sup>138</sup> and gave him
 ‘ an account of the tranſactions of the great affairs I had ‘ been employ’d in, and of the great [78] favour God was ‘ pleas’d to shew me, and my Company, and the benefit I

<sup>137</sup> He doubtless refers to Mr. Brayton [note 134, ante], but he states the amount of the loan differently from his former account of it.

<sup>138</sup> Samuel Lee was born in London, 1625; the son of Samuel, who was a merchant of large estate; took M. A. at Oxford, 1640; had a Wadham fellowship, and, in 1656, was Proctor, and Lecturer at Great St. Helen’s, London; in 1677 was associated with Theophilus Gale, in Holborn; in 1679 was settled at Bignal, near Bicester, in Oxfordshire; was afterwards at Newington Green, near London; in the summer of 1686, he landed here; went soon to Bristol, R.-I., and became pastor of the church at its organization, 8 May, 1687; in 1691, moved by the hope of better times under William and Mary in England than he had left there, and greatly to the regret of his people and of the ministry and churches who knew him here, he sailed for England on the Dolphin; was captured by a French privateer and carried into St. Malo, where he died of prison fever, leaving a wife and daughter, and was buried outside the walls as a heretic. Cotton Mather said of him, “It must be granted that hardly ever a more universally learned person trod the American strand.” He left a dozen or more volumes of printed works. While in Bristol, he lived on the east side of Thames St. (which was then the shore of the harbor), a short distance north of the “Old Walley house.” His house was afterwards the residence of Jeremiah Finney, and of his son Josiah. [Sprague’s Annals, i: 209; Palmer’s Calamy’s Nonconformist’s Memorial, i: 95; Wood’s Ath. Oxon. ii: 882, 883; Shepard’s Discourses at Bristol, R.-I., pp. 11, 50.]

‘ hoped would accrue to your selves; and desired him to ‘ Return Publick Thanks: but at the same interim of time
 ‘ a Paper was presented unto him from a Court of Ply- ‘ mouth, which was holded before I came home,<sup>139</sup> to Com‘ mand a day of Humiliation thro’ the whole Government, ‘ because of the frowns of God upon those Forces sent ‘ under my Command, and the ill success we had, for want ‘ of good conduct. All which was caused by those false ‘ Reports which were posted home by those ill affected
 ‘ Officers that were under my Conduct; especially one ‘ which your selves very well know,<sup>140</sup> who had the advan‘ tage of being at home a Week before me, being sick of ‘ Action, and wanting the advantage to be at the Bank,<sup>141</sup>
 ‘ which he every day was mindful of more than fighting the ‘ Enemy in their own Country. After I came home, being ‘ inform’d of a General Court at Plymouth,<sup>142</sup> and not forget‘ ting my faithful Promise to you, and the duty I lay under,
 ‘ I went thither, where waiting upon them, I gave them an ‘ account of my Eastward transactions, and made them ‘ sensible of the falseness of those reports that were posted
 ‘ to them by ill hands, and found some small favourable ‘ acceptance with them, so far that I was credited. I pre‘ sented your Thanks to them for their seasonable sending

<sup>139</sup> I find no record of this court, or of any such appointment of a day of humiliation. “A publique day of humiliation and fast” was appointed at the December court, to be held on the “second Wednesday of January next.”

<sup>140</sup> Doubtless the “Captain” before referred to [p. 59] as having “said it was time to go home;” but I have not been able to identify him.

<sup>141</sup> Strawberry Bank.

<sup>142</sup> Held 4 Nov., 1690. See record of some things done then on the next page (note 143). [Plym. Col. Rec. vi: 252.]

‘ those Forces to relieve you, with that expence and ‘ charge they had been at; which Thanks they gratefully ‘ received; and said a few Lines from your selves would ‘ have been well accepted. I then gave them an account ‘ of your great necessities by being imprifoned in your ‘ Garrifons, and the great mischief that would attend the ‘ Publick concerns of this Country by the losf of their ‘ Majesty’s Interest, and fo much good Estate of yours &
 ‘ your Neighbours, as doubtless would be on the deserting
 ‘ of your Town. I then moved for a free Contribution for ‘ your relief, which they with great forwardness promoted;
 ‘ and then ordered a day of Thanksgiving thro’ the Govern‘ ment upon the 26th. day of this Instant. Upon which ‘ day a Collection was ordered for your relief (and the ‘ Places near Adjacent) in every respective Town in this ‘ Government; and for the good management of it that it ‘ might be safely convey’d unto your hands, they appointed
 ‘ a Man in each County for the reception & conveyance ‘ thereof.<sup>143</sup> The persons nominated and accepted thereof, ‘ are: For the County of Plymouth, Capt. Nathanael Thomas
 ‘ of Marshfield:<sup>144</sup> For the County of Barnstable, Capt.

<sup>143</sup> The record is as follows: —

“ Cap<sup>t</sup> Nath<sup>l</sup> Thomas apointed in y<sup>e</sup> county of Plimouth to receive & take care for conveyance of the contribution proposed for the relief of y<sup>e</sup> town of Wells & parts adjacent.

“ Cap<sup>t</sup> Joseph Lothrop, y<sup>e</sup> like for y<sup>e</sup> county of Barnstable, & Major Benjamin Church for y<sup>e</sup> county of Britol.

“ The Court apoint the 26th instant to be kept and observed as a publick day of thanksgiving throughout y<sup>e</sup> colony.”

 [Plym. Col. Rec. vi: 255.]

<sup>144</sup> Nathaniel Thomas was son of Nathaniel of Marshfield; was born 1643; married, 19 Jan., 1664, Deborah, dau. of Nicholas Jacobs, of Hingham; had Nathaniel, Joseph, Deborah, Dorothy, William, Elisha, Joshua, Caleb, Ifaac, and Mary; 3 Nov., 1696, he married

‘ Joseph Lathrop of Barnstable:<sup>145</sup> And for the County of ‘ Bristol, my self. Which when gathered you will have a ‘ particular account from each person, with orders of advice
 ‘ how it may be disposed of for your best advantage, with a ‘ Copy of the Courts order. The Gentlemen the effects ‘ are to be sent to are your selves that I now Write to, viz.
 ‘ John Wheelwright Esq;,<sup>146</sup> Capt. John Littlefield,<sup>147</sup> and ‘ Lieut. Joseph Story.<sup>148</sup> I defer’d writing expecting every ‘ day to hear from you concerning the Indians coming to ‘ treat about their Prisoners that we [79] had taken. The ‘ discourse I made with them at Ameras-cogen, I knew ‘ would have that Effect as to bring them to a treaty, which ‘ I should have thought my self happy to have been im‘ proved in, knowing that it would have made much for ‘ your good. But no intelligence coming to me from any

Elizabeth, widow of Captain William Condry; he was Representative 1672, and seven years more, and also at Boston under the new charter; served in Philip’s War; died 22 Oct., 1718. [Savage’s Gen. Dict. iv: 281; Thomas’s Memorials of Marshfield, p. 54.]

<sup>145</sup> Joseph Lothrop was third son of Rev. John, of Barnstable; born in England; married 11 Dec., 1650, Mary Ansell; licensed to keep an ordinary, 1653; ranked as Lieut., 1670; was Deputy from, and Selectman at, Barnstable for various years, and was of the Council of War; had Joseph, Mary, Benjamin, Elizabeth, John, Samuel, John, Barnabas, Hope, Thomas, and Hannah. [Savage’s Gen. Dict. iii: 120; Freeman’s Hist. Cape Cod, ii: 262, 271;

Plym. Col. Rec. vi: 10, 67, 85, 106, 128, 169, 240, 251.]

<sup>146</sup> John Wheelwright was probably son of Samuel, of Wells; was Colonel and Deputy, and “a gentleman of a character above suspicion”; died 1745. Little seems to be known of him that can be accurately stated. [Savage’s Gen. Dict. iv: 503; Allen’s Biog. Dict. p. 846.]

<sup>147</sup> John Littlefield was son of Edmund, of Exeter and Wells; was at Wells, 1656; Constable, 1661; Lieut., 1668; had a dau. Mary, who married Matthew Austin. [Savage’s Gen. Dict. iii: 100.]

<sup>148</sup> Was he son of William, of Dover, 1637–1658? (N. E. Hist. & Gen. Reg. viii: 130.)

‘Gentlemen in your parts, and hearing nothing but by ‘accident, and that in the latter end of the week by some ‘of ours coming from Boston, informed me that the Indians
 ‘were come in to your Town to seek for Peace; and that ‘there was to be a treaty speedily;<sup>149</sup> but the time they ‘knew not. I took my Horfe, and upon the Monday set out ‘for Boston, expecting the treaty had been at your Town,
 ‘as rationally it should but on Tuesday Night coming to ‘Boston, there met with Capt. Elisha Andros,<sup>150</sup> who in‘formed me that the Place of treaty was Sacaty-hock,<sup>151</sup> and ‘that Capt Alden was gone from Boston four days before I ‘came there, and had carryed all the Indian Prisoners
 ‘with him, and that all the Forces were drawn away out ‘of your parts, except 12 men in your Town, and 12 in ‘Piscataqua, which news did so amuse me, to see that wif-‘dom was so taken from the wife, and such imprudence in ‘their actions, as to be deluded by Indians; and to have a ‘treaty so far from any English Town, and to draw off the ‘Forces upon what pretence soever, to me looks very ill.
 ‘My fear is that they will deliver those we have taken,
 ‘which if kept would have been greatly for your Security,
 ‘it keeping them in awe, and preventing them from doing
 ‘any hostile action or mischief, I knowing that the English ‘being a broad are very earnest to go home, and the In- ‘dians are very tedious in their discourses, and by that ‘will have an advantage to have their Captives at a very

<sup>149</sup> See Williamfon's Hist. Me. i: 626.

<sup>150</sup> See note 128, ante.

<sup>151</sup> Sagadahoc, the site of Popham's convict-colony, of 1607.

‘ low rate to your great damage. Gentlemen, as to Rhode- ‘ Island, I have not concern’d my self as to any relief for ‘ you, having nothing in writing to show to them, yet upon ‘ discourse with some Gentlemen there, they have signified
‘ a great forwardness to promote such a thing. I lying ‘ under great reflections from some of yours in the East‘ ward parts, that I was a very Covetous Person, and came ‘ there to enrich my self, and that I kill’d their Cattel and ‘ Barrel’d them up and sent them to Boston, and Sold them
‘ for Plunder, and made Money to put into my own Pocket;
‘ and the owners of them being poor People beg’d for the ‘ Hides and Tallow, with tears in their eyes; and that I ‘ was so cruel as to deny them; which makes me judge
‘ my self incapable to Serve you in that matter: yet I do ‘ assure you that the People are very charitable at the I/-
‘ land, and forward in such good actions, and therefore advise
‘ you to desire some good substantial Person to take the man‘ agement of it, and write to the Government there, which I ‘ know will not be labour lost.<sup>152</sup> As for what I am accused
‘ of, you all can witness to the contrary, and I should take it ‘ very kindly from you to do me that just right, as to vindi‘ cate my Reputation; for the wise man says, A good Name
‘ is as precious Oyntment. When I hear of the effect of the

<sup>152</sup> Williamson says Church “magnanimously collected a considerable contribution in Plymouth Colony, which he transmitted to the Eastern Provinces, accompanied by an address to Major Frost, John Wheelwright, Esq., and others, encouraging their expectations of still further relief.” [Hist. Me. 1: 626.] If his authority is this letter of Church, — and I know of no other on which he could have relied, — he overstates the facts.

‘Treaty, and have an account [80] of this Contribution, I ‘intend again to Write to you, being very desirous, & ‘shoud think my self very happy, to be favoured with a ‘few lines from your selves, or any Gentlemen in the East‘ward parts. Thus leaving you to the protection & gui‘dance of the Great God of Heaven and Earth, who is able ‘to prote&t and supply you in your great difficulties, and to ‘give you deliverance in His own due time.

I Remain, Gentlemen,

Your most assured Friend to Serve you to my utmost power,
 Benjamin Church.

Postscript.

‘Esq; Wheelwright, Sir, I intreat you, after your perusal
 ‘of these lines, to communicate the same to Capt. John ‘Littlefield, Lieut. Joseph. Story; and to any other Gentle‘men, as in your judgment you see fit: With the tenders of ‘my respects to you, &c. and to Maj. Vaughan,<sup>153</sup> and his ‘good Lady & Family. To Capt. Fryer<sup>154</sup> & good Mrs.
 ‘Fryer, with hearty thanks for their kindness whilst in those ‘parts, and good Entertainment from them. My kind Re-

<sup>153</sup> William Vaughan was born probably in Wales; lived in Portsmouth; freeman, 1669; 1672 was Lieut. of cavalry under Capt. Robert Pike; Counsellor of Province of N. H. and Chief Justice of Sup. Court; died 1719. He married 8 Dec., 1668, Margaret, dau. of Richard Cutt; had Eleanor, Mary, Cutt, George, Bridget, Margaret, Abigail, and Elizabeth. [Savage’s Gen. Dict. iv: 368.]

<sup>154</sup> Nathaniel Fryer was of Boston, where he had, by wife Christian, James, Sarah, and Elizabeth; removed to Portsmouth; married, as second wife, Dorothy Woodbridge; Deputy, 1666; Captain and Counsellor, 1683; died 13 Aug., 1705. [Ibid. ii: 214.]

‘ respects to Maj. Frost,<sup>155</sup> Capt. Walton,<sup>156</sup> Lieut. Honeywel,<sup>157</sup>
 ‘ and my very good friend little Lieut. Plaisted:<sup>158</sup> with due ‘ respects to all Gentlemen my friends in the Eastward ‘ parts, as if particularly named. Farewell. B. C.

Bristol, Novemb. 27. 1690.

To Major Pike.<sup>159</sup> Honoured Sir,

THese come to wait upon you, to bring the tenders of my hearty Service to your Self & Lady, with due acknowledgment of thankfulness for all the kindness and favour I received from you in the Eastward parts, when with you. Since I came from those parts, I am informed by Capt. Andros, that your Self, and most of all the Forces are drawn off from the Eastward parts; I admire at it, considering that they had so low Esteem of what was done, that they can apprehend the Eastward parts so safe before the Enemy was brought into better Subjection. I was in*

<sup>155</sup> Charles Frost, born in Tiverton, Eng., 1632; came over with his father Nicholas about 1637; Deputy, 1658-61; Counsellor, 1693; Captain and Major, commanding the Yorkshire militia; was Judge of the Common Pleas when he was shot by the Indians, 14 July, 1697, æt. 65. [Savage's Gen. Dict. ii: 210; Williamson's Hist. Me. i: 674; N. E. Hist. & Gen. Reg. iii: 249-262.]

<sup>156</sup> See note 97, ante.

<sup>157</sup> Richard Hunnirwell was son of Roger, who lived on Parker's neck, near the entrance to the Pool, Saco; was of Black Point, 1681; Ensign, 1680; Lieut., 1689; was put by Church in charge of the Blue Point, Black Point, and Spurwink garrisons, in the winter of 1689 [see note 61, ante]; earned the soubriquet of "the Indian killer"; and was himself murdered by the savages, with circumstances of great atrocity, 6 Oct., 1703 [Savage says 1703, Southgate's Hist. Scarborough says 1713]. He married Sarah, dau. of Nathaniel Adams (see note 113, ante). [Savage's Gen. Dict. ii: 499; Folsom's Hist. Saco, p. 182; N. E. Hist. & Gen. Reg. iii: 25; Me. Hist. Coll. iii: 144-48.]

<sup>158</sup> See note 130, ante.

<sup>159</sup> See note 90, ante.

hopes when I came from thence, that those that were so desirous to have my room, would have been very brisk in my absence to have got themselves some Honour, which they very much gapped after, or else they would not have spread so many false reports to defame me. Which had I known before, I left the Bank, I would have had satisfaction of them. Your Honour was pleased to give me some small account before I left the Bank, of some things that were ill resented to you, concerning that Eastward Expedition, which being rowled home like a Snow-ball thro' both Colonies, was got to such a bigness that it over-shadow'd me from the Influence of all comfort, or good acceptance amongst my friends in my Journey homeward. But thro' Gods goodness am come home finding all well, and my self in good Health, hoping that those Reports will do me that favour, to quit me from all other Publick Action: That so I may the more peaceably & quietly wait upon God, and be a comfort unto my own Family in this dark time of trouble, being as on that is<sup>160</sup> hid, till His Indignation is over past: I shall take it as a great favour to hear of your Honours well-fare.

Subscribing my self as I am, Sir,
Your most assured Friend and Servant.

Benjamin Church. [81]

Major Church did receive after this, Answers to his Letters, but hath lost them, except it be a Letter from several of the Gentlemen in those parts in June following: which is as followeth.

<sup>160</sup> Southwick's edition omits "that is."

Portsmouth June 29 1691.

Major Benj. Church. Sir,

YOur former readinesf to expose your self in the Service of the Country against the Common Enemy; and particularly the late Obligations<sup>161</sup> you have laid upon us in these Eastern parts, leaves us under a deep & grateful sense of your favour therein: And forasmuch as you were pleased when last here, to signifie your ready inclination to further Service of this kind, if occasion should call for it; We therefore presume confidently to promise our selves compliance accordingly; and have sent this Messenger on purpose to you, to let you know that notwithstanding the late overture of Peace the Enemy have approved themselves as perfidious as ever, and are almost daily killing and destroying upon all our Frontiers; The Governour & Council of the Massachusetts have been pleased to Order the Raising of 150 Men to be forthwith dispatch'd into these parts; and as we understand have Writ to your Governour & Council of Plymouth for further Assistance, which we pray you to promote, hoping if you can obtain about 200 Men English & Indians, to visit them at some of their Head-quarters up Kenebeck River, or else-where, which (for want of necessaries) was omitted last Year, it may be of great advantage to us: We offer nothing of advice as to what Methods are most proper to be taken in this affair, your acquaintance with our Circumstances as well as the Enemies, will direct you therein, We leave the Conduct thereof to your own discretion: But that the want of Provision, &c. may be no Remora to your Motion, you may please to know Mr. Geafford<sup>162</sup> One of our principal Inhabitants now residing in Boston, hath promised to take care to supply to the value of two or three hundred Pounds, if occasion require: We pray a few lines by the bearer to give us a prospect of what we may expect for our further Encouragement, and remain,

<sup>161</sup> This perhaps refers to the contributions, which had before this reached them, from the committee of which Church was a member.

Sir, Your Obliged Friends and Servants,

Will. Vaughan      Charles Frost      William Fernald<sup>166</sup>
 Francis Hooke<sup>163</sup>      Nathanael Fryer      Robert Elliott.<sup>167</sup>
 Richard Martyn<sup>164</sup>      John Wincol<sup>165</sup>

A True Copy of the Original Letter; which Letter was presented to me by Capt. Hatch,<sup>168</sup> who came Express.

<sup>162</sup> I find no trace of this man, unless he were William Gifford, who was a bricklayer, admitted to inhabit Boston 28 Feb., 1654. [Drake's Hist.

<sup>163</sup> Francis Hooke was son of Humphrey, Alderman of the city of Bristol, Eng.; lived at Kittery, Me.; was Magistrate, 1666; Captain; Treasurer of

<sup>164</sup> Richard Martin (Martins) was at Portsmouth, N.H.; was made "overfeer" of John Cutt's will, 6 May, 1680; had the first place in "the front seat

<sup>165</sup> John Wincol (Wincoln, Wincall, Winkell, Winkle) was son of Thomas, of Watertown; freeman there 6 May, 1646; selectman, 1649, 56, 61, 62; Depu-

<sup>166</sup> William Fernald was eldest son of Reginald (or, as he himself, at least, sometimes wrote it, Renald), who was the first surgeon among the New-Hamp-

<sup>167</sup> Robert Eliot (Elliott, Elliot, Elliott) seems to have been of Portsmouth, 1660; of Casco, before 1670; of Scarborough soon after, where he was

<sup>168</sup> Philip Hatch, who was freeman, 1652, York, Me., or one of his sons? [Savage's Gen. Dict. ii: 375.]

Maj. Church sent them his Answer: the Contents whereof was, That he had gone often enough for nothing; and especially to be ill treated with scandals and false Reports, when last out, which he could not forget. And signified to them, That doubtless some amongst them thought they could do without him, &c. And to make short of it, did go out, and meeting with the Enemy at Maquait, were most shamefully beaten: as I have been inform'd.<sup>169</sup>

Boston, i: 334.] There was time enough for him to grow to be a "principal inhabitant" by 1690, as many another had done in less time.

Province of Maine under Pres. Danforth, 1680; of the Council, 1684, and again, under the new charter, 1693; died 10 Jan., 1695, "much lamented."

He married Mary (Maverick), widow of John Palfgrave, and dau. of Samuel Maverick, of Noddle's Island. [Savage's Gen. Dict. ii: 457.]

before the minister" in "feating the meeting-house" (he being chairman of the committee to do that work), 3 April, 1693. Was he Richard, whose son

Richard, Coffin says, was born 8 Jan., 1674? [Brewster's Rambles about Portsmouth, 36, 63; Coffin's Hist. Newbury, 309.]

ty, 1658; soon moved to Piscataqua, and then to Kittery (at Newichawannock, or So. Berwick); came thence Deputy to Boston, 1675, 7, 8; during 1676-85 was connected with the government as Councillor and otherwise; fought the Indians bravely at Saco, in 1675; had wife Elizabeth; and died, by a fall from his horse, 22 Oct., 1694. [Savage's Gen. Dict. iv: 592; Bond's Hist. Watertown, 654; Williamson's Hist. Me. i: 349, 524, 565, 566.]

three settlers. He resided at Kittery; and, in 1688, deeded to his sister Sarah, then the wife of Richard Waterhouse, of Portsmouth, tanner, what is now Pierce's Island, and One Tree Island. [Brewster's Rambles, &c. 370.]

Selectman, 1682, and Deputy, 1685; Counsellor, 1688, when he lived at Portsmouth. He died in 1720, leaving his estates in Scarborough to his son-in-law, Col. Geo. Vaughan. [Savage's Gen. Dict. ii: 111; Willis's Hist. Portland, 139; Brewster's Rambles, &c. 25; Me. Hist. Coll. iii: 210.]

<sup>169</sup> Cotton Mather makes the following statement in regard to this expedition here referred to:—

"About the latter end of July we sent out a small Army under the Command of Captain March, Captain King, Cap-[82] The Third Expedition, East.

THIS was in the Year 1692. In the time of Sir William Phipp's<sup>170</sup> Government: Major Walley<sup>171</sup> being at tain Sherburn, and Captain Walten (Convers lying Sick all Summer had this to make him yet more Sick that he could have no part in these Actions) who landing at Macquoit, marched up to Pechyfcot, but not finding any signs of the enemy, marched down again. While the Commanders were waiting Ashore till the Soldiers were got aboard, such great Numbers of Indians poured in upon them, that tho' the Commanders wanted not for Courage or Conduct, yet they found themselves obliged, with much ado, (and not without the Death of worthy Captain Sherburn) to retire into the Vessels which then lay aground. Here they kept pelting at one another all Night; but unto little other purpose than this, which was indeed Remarkable, That the Enemy was at this time going to take the Isle of Shoales, and no doubt had they gone they would have taken it, but having exhausted all their Ammunition on this Occasion, they desisted from what they designed." [Magnalia, Book VII: 77.]

<sup>170</sup> Sir William Phips (Phipps) was son of James, gunsmith, from Bristol, Eng.; was born at what is now Phippsburg, Me.; became a ship-carpenter; married Mary, widow of John Hull (not the mint-master); with her money set up a shipyard at Sheepscot, and then in Boston when "driven in" by Indian hostilities; thence went to sea, 1677; at the Bahamas heard of the wreck of a Spanish treasure-laden galleon, and went to England and offered his services to the king to recover the gold; his project was approved, and he went to the spot with two frigates in 1683; failed for want of proper instruments; returned to England, and persuaded Monk, Duke of Albemarle, to furnish him for the work again; went back, fitted up £300,000, of which £16,000 fell to him, and he was knighted by James II., 28 June, 1687; Andros made him Sheriff of New England; joined Second Church, 8 March, 1690; May, 1690, conducted the attack on Nova Scotia; was chosen Assistant, projected the silly expedition, in the August following, against Quebec; went to London, 1691, was appointed Governor on Increase Mather's recommendation; arrived back 14 May, 1692; functioned the witchcraft delusion in 1693, flogged Collector William Brenton, and, 1694, caned Capt. Short of the Nonsuch Frigate, and, through the trouble thence arising, was recalled to London, where he died 18 Feb., 1695, and was buried in St. Mary, Woolnoth, in Lombard St., where John Newton lies. [Savage's Gen. Dict. iii: 420; Palfrey's Hist. N. E. iii: 590; Hutchinson's Hist. Mass. ii: 76; Sparks's Amer. Biog. vii: 5-102; Mather's Magnalia, Book II: 15-75.]

<sup>171</sup> See note 24, ante.

Boston, was requested by his Excellency to treat with Maj. Church about going East with him. Maj. Walley coming home, did as desired; and to incourage the said Maj. Church, told him, That now was the time to have recompence for his former great Expences; saying also, That the Country could not give him less than Two or three hundred Pounds. So upon his Excellency's request Maj. Church went down to Boston, and waited upon him; who said he was glad to see him, &c. And after some discourse told the said Church, That he was going East himself, and that he should be his Second, and in his absence Command all the Forces: And being requested by his Excellency to raise what Volunteers of his old Souldiers in the County of Bristol, both English & Indians. Receiving his Commission: which is as followeth.

SIR William Phips Knight, Captain General and Governour in Chief in and over their Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts-Bay in New-England.

To Benjamin Church Gent. Greeting.

‘ REposing special Trust and Confidence in your Loy‘ alty, Courage and good Conduct. I do by these ‘ presents Constitute & Appoint You to be Major of the ‘ several Companies of Militia, detached for their Majesty’s ‘ Service against their French and Indian Enemies. You
 ‘ are therefore Authorized and Required in their Majesty’s ‘ Names, to discharge the duty of a Major, by Leading ‘ Ordering and Exercising the said several Companies in ‘ Arms, both Inferiour Officers & Souldiers, keeping them

 ‘ in good Order & Discipline, Commanding them to Obey
 ‘ you as their Major: And diligently to intend the said
 ‘ Service, for the profecuting, purfuing, killing and destroy‘ ing of the said Common Enemy. And your felf to ob‘ ferve and follow fuch Orders & Directions as you fhall
 ‘ from time to time Receive from my Self, according to ‘ the Rules & Difcipline of War, purfuant to the Truft ‘ repofed in you for their Majefty’s Service. Given under ‘ my Hand and Seal at Boston, the Twenty-fifth day of ‘ July 1692. In the Fourth Year of the Reign of our ‘ Sovereign Lord & Lady William and Mary, by the ‘ Grace of GOD King & Queen of England, Scotland, ‘ France and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c.

WILLIAM PHIPS.

By his Excellency’s Command,

Isaac Addington, Secr.

Returning home to the County aforefaid, he foon raifed a fufficient Number of Volunteers both English & Indians and Officers fuitable to Command them, March’d them down to Boston. But there was one thing I would [83] juft mention; which was, That Maj Church being fhort of Money, was forc’d to borrow Six Pounds in Money of Lieut. Woodman<sup>172</sup> in Little Compton, to diftribute by a

<sup>172</sup> John Woodman, of Little Compton, perhaps fon of John, a prominent citizen of Newport; Church bought land of him, 30 Oct., 1702; and his

oldeft fon, Thomas, married Woodman’s fecond daughter, Edith. [R.-I. Col. Rec. iii: 106, 150, 168, 185, 231; Part I. of this work, pp. xxxiii. xliv.]

Shilling, and a Bit<sup>173</sup> at a time to the Indian Souldiers; who without such Allurements would not have March'd to Boston. This Money Major Church put into the hands of Mr. William Fobes,<sup>174</sup> who was going out their Commissary in that Service, who was order'd to keep a just accompt of what each Indian had that so it might be subducted out of their wages at their return home. Coming to Boston, his Excellency having got things in a readyness, they Embark'd on board their transports, his Excellency going in Person with them, being bound to Pemaquid:<sup>175</sup> But in their way stop'd at Casco, and buried the bones of the dead People there,<sup>176</sup> and took off the great Guns that were there; then went to Pemaquid:<sup>177</sup> Coming there his Excellency ask'd Maj. Church to go a-shore & give his judgment about Erecting a Fort there? He answer'd, That his Gen-

<sup>173</sup> "Bitt, a piece of silver in Barbadoes current at seven pence half-penny. [Bailey.] The name was applied later, especially at the South, to the ninepence, or one-eighth of a dollar. [Bartlett's Dictionary of Americanisms, 33.] Mr. Drake says it was sixpence. [Church, (ed. 1827,) 209.]

<sup>174</sup> See note 242, Part I.

<sup>175</sup> "Pemaquid, like Acadia, appears to have been of indefinite extent; but under this general name there seems to have been embraced, at a later date, Mouhegan, and its companion, the islet of Monauis, the cluster of the Damariscove islands, and territory somewhat beyond the limits of the peninsula of Pemaquid proper." [Me. Hist. Coll. v: 181.] "The river of Pemaquid is ten miles east of Damariscotta. There is a large bay through which we pass to enter Pemaquid harbor or river. The bay is full of islands, the greater part of which are settled. The fort, called Fort George, was on a point at the mouth of the river, and on the east side of it. The remains of the fortresses are there at this day (1795)." [Sullivan's Hist. Dist. Me. 35.]

<sup>176</sup> That is the bones of those — over 100 persons — who had been destroyed there by the savages under the Sieur Hertel, 17 May, 1690. [Holmes's Annals, i: 431; Belknap's Hist. N. Hamp. i: 257-9; Hutchinson's Hist. Mass. i: 353.]

<sup>177</sup> This was early in August, 1692. [Me. Hist. Coll. v: 282.]

ius did not incline that way, for he never had any value for them, being only Nests for Destructions: <sup>178</sup> His Excellency said, He had a special Order from their Majesties King William and Queen Mary to Erect a Fort there, &c. Then they went a-shore and spent some time in the projection thereof. <sup>179</sup> Then his Excellency told Maj. Church that he might take all the Forces with him, except one Company to stay with him and work about the Fort; the Major answered that if his Excellency pleas'd he might keep two Companies with him, and he would go with the rest to Penobscot, and Places Adjacent. Which his Excellency did, and gave Maj. Church his Orders: which are as followeth.

<sup>178</sup> Recall Church's previously expressed opinions in regard to the forts at Mount Hope and Pocasset. [pp. 25, 47, Part I.]

<sup>179</sup> This fort was built of over 2000 cartloads of stone, in a quadrangular figure, 737 feet in circumference outside the outer wall, and 108 feet square within the inner walls. The southern wall, fronting the sea, was 22 feet high, and more than 6 feet thick at the ports, which were 8 feet from the ground. The great flanker or round tower at the west end of the southern wall was 20 feet high; the wall on the east line 12 feet high; that on the north 10 feet, and on the west 18. It had 28 ports, and 18 guns mounted, six of which were eighteen-pounders. The structure stood back 20 rods from high-water mark, and was garrisoned by 60 and sometimes 100 men. [Magnalia, Book VII: 81; Me. Hist. Coll. v: 282.] This fort was not intended to operate against Indians merely, but against piratical rovers who infested the sea, and against the French, who intended repossesssion. That which Maj. Andros had built in 1677, and which the Indians took in 1690, was a mere stockade; "un Fort, qui n'étoit à la vérité que de pieux, mais assez regulierement construit." [Charlevoix, Nouv. France, i: 557.]

By his Excellency Sir William Phips Knight, Captain General and Governour in Chief in and over their Majesties Province of the Massachusetts-Bay in New-England, &c. Instructions for Major Benjamin Church.

‘ WHereas you are Major and so Chief Officer of a ‘ body of Men detached out of the Militia appointed ‘ for an Expedition against the French & Indian Enemy;
 ‘ you are duely to observe the following Instructions.

‘ Impri. You are to take care that the Worship of God ‘ be duely & constantly maintained and kept up amongst ‘ you, and to suffer no Swearing, Cursing, or other pro‘ phanation of the Holy Name of God; and as much as in ‘ you lyes to deter and hinder all other Vice amongst your ‘ Souldiers.

‘ 2ly. You are to proceed with the Souldiers under your ‘ Command to Penobscot, and with what privacy & undif-‘ coverable Methods you can, there to Land your men,
 ‘ and take the best measures to surprize the Enemy.

‘ 3ly. You are by killing, destroying, and all other means ‘ possible to endeavour the destruction of the Enemy in ‘ pursuance whereof, being satisfied of your Courage &
 ‘ Conduct, I leave the same to your discretion.

‘ 4ly. You are to endeavour the taking what Captives
 ‘ you can either Men, Women or Children, and the same
 ‘ safely to keep and convey them unto, me. [84]

‘ 5ly. Since it is not possible to judge how affairs may ‘ be circumstanced with you there, I shall therefore not

‘ limit your return, but leave it to your Prudence, only ‘ that you make no longer stay than you can improve for ‘ advantage against the Enemy, or may reasonably hope ‘ for the fame.

‘ 6<sup>ly</sup>. You are also to take care and be very industrious
 ‘ by all possible means to find out and destroy all the Ene‘ mies Corn, and other Provisions in all Places where you ‘ can come at the fame.

‘ 7<sup>ly</sup>. You are at your return from Penobscot and those ‘ Eastern Parts, to make all dispatch hence for Kenebeck
 ‘ River, and the Places Adjacent, and there prosecute all ‘ advantages against the Enemy as aforesaid.

‘ 8<sup>ly</sup>. If any Souldier, Officer or other shall be disobedi‘ ent to you as their Commander in Chief, or other their ‘ Superiour Officer, or make or cause any Mutiny, commit ‘ other offence or disorders, you shall call a Council of ‘ War amongst your Officers, and having tryed him or ‘ them so offending, inflict such punishment as the merit ‘ of the offence requires, Death only excepted, which if ‘ any shall deserve, you are to secure the person, and sig‘ nify the Crime unto me by the first opportunity.

Given under my hand this 11th day of August, 1692.

WILLIAM PHIPS.

Then the Major and his Forces embark'd and made the best of their way to Penobscot; and coming to an Island in those Parts<sup>180</sup> in the evening, landed his Forces at one end of the said Island: Then the Major took part of his Forces and mov'd toward Day to the other end of the said Island, where they found two French Men, and their Families in their houses; and that one or both of them had Indian Women to their Wives, and had Children by them. The Major presently examining the French men, Where the Indians were? They told him, That there was a great company of them upon an Island just by:<sup>181</sup> and showing him the Island, presently discover'd several of them. Maj. Church and his Forces still keeping undiscover'd to them, ask'd the French men where their passing Place was? Which they readily shew'd him; so presently placed an Ambascade to take any that should come over. Then sent orders for all the rest of the Forces to come; sending them an account what he had seen & met withal; strictly charging them to keep themselves undiscovered by the Enemy. The Ambascade did not lye long before an Indian Man and a Woman came over in a Canoo to the Place for landing, where the Ambascade was laid: who haul'd up their Canoo, and came right into the hands of our Ambascade, who so suddenly surprized them that they could not give any notice to the others from whence they came; the Major ordering that none of his should offer to meddle with the Canoo, lest they should be discovered, hoping to take the most of them if his Forces came as order'd, he expecting them to come as directed. But the first news he had of them was, That they were all coming, tho' not privately [85] as ordered; but in the Veffels fair in fight of the Enemy, which foon put them all to flight; and our Forces not having Boats fuitable to purfue them, they got all away in their Canoo's, &c. (which caufed Maj Church to fay, He would never go out again without fufficient number of Whale-boats) which for want of, was the ruine of that action. Then Maj. Church according to his inftructions rang'd all thofe parts, to find all their Corn, and carried aboard their Veffels what he thought convenient, and deftroy'd the reft. Alfo finding confiderable quantities of Plunder, viz Bever & Moofe skins, &c. Having done what Service they could in thofe parts,<sup>182</sup> he returned back to his Excellency at Pemequid;<sup>183</sup> where being come, ftaid not long: they being fhort of Bread, his Excellency intended home for Boflon, for more Provisions; but before, going with Maj. Church & his Forces to Kenebeck River, and coming there, gave him his further Orders; which are as followeth.

<sup>180</sup> Seven Hundred Acre Island. [Williamson's Hist. Me. i: 71, 636.]

<sup>181</sup> Long Island. [Ibid. 636.]

By his Excellency the Governour.

To Major Benjamin Church.

‘YOU having already received former Inftructions, are ‘ now further to proceed with the Souldiers under ‘ your Command for Kenebeck River, and the Places Adja-

<sup>182</sup> Mather fays he “took five Indians” here; Hutchinson fays “three or four.” It is certain that he took but few. [Magnalia, Book VII: 81; Hutchinson’s Hift. Mafs. ii: 69.]

<sup>183</sup> His inftructions were to “make all difpatch” thence “for Kenebeck River”; but in doing fo he muft naturally touch at Pemaquid, which lay between.

‘ cent, and use your utmost indeavours to kill, destroy and ‘ take Captive the French & Indian Enemy wheresoever
 ‘ you shall find any of them; and at your return to Peme- ‘ quid (which you are to do as soon as you can conveni‘ ently; after your best indeavour done against the Enemy,
 ‘ and having destroyed their Corn and other Provisions)
 ‘ you are to stay with all your Souldiers and Officers, and ‘ set them to work on the Fort, and make what dispatch
 ‘ you can in that business, staying there until my further ‘ order.

WILLIAM PHIPS.

Then his Excellency taking leave went for Boston; <sup>184</sup> and soon after Maj. Church and his Forces had a smart fight with the Enemy in Kenebeck-River, Pursued them so hard that they left their Canoo’s & ran up into the woods, still pursued them up to their Fort at Taconock, <sup>185</sup> which <sup>184</sup> The witch trials were in progress in Boston during his absence, and it is not unlikely that it was while he was gone on this business that the incident occurred, which Hutchinson mentions, on the authority of a MS. letter; that Mrs. Phips, being applied to for interposition in the case of a lady accused of witchcraft, took the responsibility of signing a discharge for her, upon which document the jailor took the responsibility of setting the accused free, — to his own harm, it was said. Whether this had any thing to do with that accusation of the Governor’s lady herself as a witch, which Calef asserts and Douglass hints, and which it was believed had some influence in opening the Governor’s eyes, and staying the delusion with its plague of blood, is not obvious. [Hutchinson’s Hist. Mass. ii: 61; Drake’s Witchcraft Delusion, &c. iii: 159; Douglass’s Summary, i: 450.]

<sup>185</sup> Tecomet falls are on the Kennebec, opposite the village of Waterville. On the point of land above the confluence of the Sebasticook with the Kennebec, and below these falls, stood the old Tecomet fort of the Indians, here referred to, and, in 1754, Fort Halifax of the English. The site of the fort itself is in Winslow, and the block-house was lately standing. [Williamson’s Hist. Me. i: 50; Minot’s Hist. Mass. i: 186.]

the Enemy perceiving fet fire to their Houfes in the Fort, and ran away by the light of them, and when Maj. Church came to the faid Fort found about half their Houfes ftanding and the reft burnt; alfo found great quantities of Corn, put up into Indian Cribs, which he and his Forces deftroyed, as ordered. Having done what Service he could in thofe parts return'd to Pemequid, and coming there employ'd his Forces according to his Inftuctions: <sup>186</sup> being out of Bread, his Excellency not coming, Maj. Church was oblig'd to borrow Bread of the Captain of the Man of War that was then there, for all the Forces under his Command, his Excellency not coming as expected. But at length his Excellency came and brought very little Bread more than would pay what was borrowed of the Man of War: So that in a fhort time after Maj. Church with his Forces return'd home to Boston, and had their Wages for their good Service done. Only one thing by the way I will but juft mention, that is, about the Six Pounds Maj. Church borrowed as afore-mention'd, and put in-[86]to the hands of Mr. Fobes, who diftributed the faid Money, all but 30 s. to the Indian Souldiers as directed, which was deducted out of their Wages, and the Country had Credit for the fame; and the faid Fobes kept the 30 s to himfelf, which was deducted out of his Wages. Whereupon Maj. Walley and the faid Fobes had fome words. In fhort, Maj. Church was forc'd to pay the Six Pounds he borrowed out of his own Pocket, befides which the said Church was oblig'd to expend about Six Pounds of his own Money in Marching down the Forces both English and Indians to Boston, having no drink allow'd them upon the Road, &c. So that in stead of Maj Church's having the allowances afore-mentioned by Maj. Walley, he was out of Pocket about Twelve Pounds more and above what he had; <sup>187</sup> all which had not been, had not his Excellency been gone out of the Country. <sup>188</sup>

<sup>186</sup> In the hateful bufinefs of fort-building.

The Fourth Expedition, East.

IN 1696. Maj Church being at Boston, and belonging to the House of Representatives, <sup>189</sup> several Gentlemen requesting him to go East again, and the General Court having made Acts of Incouragement, &c. He told them, if they would provide Whale Boats, & other necessaries convenient, he would: Being also requested by the said General Court, he proceeded to raise Volunteers, and made it his whole business Riding both East and West in our Province <sup>190</sup> and Connecticut, at great charge and expences; and in about a Months time raised a sufficient <sup>188</sup> He means that Gov. Phips's absence when this settlement took place was the cause of the wrong which he suffered.

<sup>187</sup> Walley told him in the outset (p. 83), that "the country could not give him less than two or three hundred pounds"; so that, at the lowest calculation, Church made a loss of £188 upon his expectations "aforementioned."

<sup>189</sup> I have found no trace of his appointment as Deputy this year, on the Bristol Town Records. This would seem, from various considerations, to have been just about as he was removing to Fall River. [See Part I. xxxi.]

<sup>190</sup> Plymouth and Massachusetts Colonies had been consolidated into the new "Province of Massachusetts Bay" by the new Charter of 1692.

number out of those Parts, and March'd them down to Boston; where he had the promise that every thing should be ready in three Weeks or a Months time, but was oblig'd to stay considerable longer. Being now at Boston he received his Commission and Instructions; which are as followeth.

William Stoughton, Esq; <sup>191</sup> Lieutenant Governour and Commander in Chief in and over His Majesties Province of the Massachusetts-Bay in New-England. To Major Benjamin Church, Greeting.

WHereas there are several Companies raised, consisting of English-Men & Indians for His Majesties Service, to go forth upon the Encouragement given by the Great and General Court or Assembly of this His Majesties Province, convened at Boston the 27th Day of May 1696. to prosecute the French and Indian Enemy, &c. And you having offered your self to take the command and conduct of the said several Companies. By vertue therefore of the Power and Authority in and by His Majesties Royal Commission to me

<sup>191</sup> William Stoughton, son of Israel, of Dorchester, graduated at Harvard, and then at Oxford, Eng.; became a preacher; is named by Calamy among those ejected; came back, and preached the election sermon of 1668; became Selectman, Assitant, Commissioner of the United Colonies; went to England in 1677 with Bulkley as agent of the colonies; was one of Andros's Council; was chosen Lieut. Gov. under the new

Charter; and became Chief-Justice; died 7 July, 1701. The recall of Sir William Phips left him in chief command until Bellamont's arrival in 1699. He was on the witch bench, and, unlike Sewall, never expressed penitence for the part he took. He built Stoughton Hall at Harvard. [Savage's Gen. Dict. iv: 215; Palmer's Noncon. Mem. i: 197; Quincy's Hist. Har. Un. i: 178, 9; Eliot's Biog. Dict. 444.]

Granted, reposing special trust and confidence in your Loyalty, Prudence, courage and good conduct. I do by these Presents Constitute and Appoint you to be Major of the said several Companies, both English-Men and Indians, raised for His Majesties Service upon the Encouragement aforesaid. You are therefore carefully and diligently to perform the duty of your place, by Leading, Ordering, and Exercising the said several Companies in Arms, both Inferiour Officers and Soul-[87]diers, keeping them in good Order and Discipline, commanding them to obey you as their Major. And your self diligently to intend His Majesties Service for the prosecuting, pursuing, taking, killing or destroying the said Enemy by Sea or Land; And to observe all such Orders and Instructions as you shall from time to time receive from my Self or Commander in chief for the time being, according to the Rules and Discipline of War, pursuant to the trust reposed in you. Given under my Hand & Seal at Arms at Boston, the Third Day of August, 1696. In the Eighth Year of the Reign of Our Sovereign Lord William the Third by the Grace of God of England, Scotland, France and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith, &c.

Wm. STOUGHTON.

By Command of the Lieut. Governour, &c.

Isaac Addington, Secr.

Province of the Massachusetts-Bay.

By the Rt. Honourable the Lieutenant Governour and Commander in Chief.

Instructions for Maj. Benjamin Church, Commander of the Forces raised for His Majesties Service against the French and Indian Enemy and Rebels.

PUrsuant to the Commission given you, you are to Embark the Forces now furnished and equipped for His Majesties Service on the present Expedition to the Eastern parts of this Province, and with them and such others as shall offer themselves to go forth on the said Service to Sail unto Piscataqua, to joyn those lately dispatched thither for the same Expedition, to await your coming. And with all care and diligence to improve the Vessels, Boats and Men under your command in search for, prosecution and pursuit of the said Enemy, at such places where you may be informed of their abode or resort, or where you may probably expect to find or meet with them, and take all advantages against them which Providence shall favour you with.

You are not to list or accept any Souldiers that are already in His Majesties pay and posted at any Town or Garrison within this Province, without special Order from my self.

You are to require and give strict Orders that the duties of Religion be attended on board the severall Vessels, and in the severall companies under your command, by daily Prayers unto God and reading His Holy Word, and Observance of the Lords Day to the utmost you can.

You are to see that your Souldiers have their due allowance of Provisions and other necessaries, & that the Sick or Wounded be accommodated in the best manner your circumstances will admit. And that good order and command be kept up & maintained in the severall companies, and all disorders, drunkenness, prophane cursing, swearing, disobedience to Officers, mutinies, omissions or neglect of duty, be duly punished according to the Laws Martial. And you are to require the Captain or chief Officer of each company with the Clerk of the same, to keep an exact Journal of all their proceedings from time to time.

In case any of the Indian Enemy and Rebels offer to submit themselves, you are to receive them only at discretion. But if you think fit to improve any of them or any others which you may happen to take Prisoners, you may encourage them to be faithful by the promise of their lives, which shall be granted upon approbation of their fidelity. [88]

You are carefully to look after the Indians which you have out of the Prison,<sup>192</sup> so that they may not have opportunity to escape, but otherwise improve them to what advantage you can, and return them back again to this place.

You are to advise as you can have occasion with Capt. John Gorham<sup>193</sup> who accompanies you in this Expedition, and is to take your command in case of your Death. A

<sup>192</sup> In pursuance of the policy by which, in the time of Philip's war, Cornelius the Dutch pirate, and others, had been taken out of Boston jail, and "allowed" to march against the Indians, the Province seems now to have swelled the ranks of its volunteers by a similar resource. [Drake's Hist. Bosl. i: 402; Part I. note 56.]

<sup>193</sup> John Gorham (Gorum, Goram, Gorrum, Goaram) was son of Capt. John, of Barnstable; was born at Marshfield, 20 Feb., 165½; was a tanner, like his father; was with his father in

copy of these Instructions you are to leave with him, and to give me an account from time to time of your proceedings.

Boston, August 12th. 1696. Wm. STOUGHTON.

In the time Maj. Church lay at Boston, the News came of Pemequid Fort being taken,<sup>194</sup> it came by a Shallop<sup>195</sup> that brought some Prisoners to Boston, who gave account also that there was a French Ship at Mount-Desart,<sup>196</sup> who

Philip's war; 5 June, 1690, was made captain in the Canada Expedition, and was afterwards Lieut. Col.; later was much employed as a conveyancer; died 9 Dec., 1716, and lies buried at the N.E. corner of the Unitarian meeting-house in Barnstable. He married, 24 Feb., 1674½, Mercy, daughter of John Otis; had John, Temperance, Mary, Stephen, Shubael, John, Thankful, Job, Mercy; left a real estate of £2000, and personal of £322. [Otis's Hist. Barnstable, i: 217-222.]

<sup>194</sup> The French conceived that Fort William Henry, at Pemaquid, had importance in controlling the western portion of Acadia, and determined to reduce it. Iberville was sent from Quebec with two ships of war, with arrangements to co-operate with Villebon and 50 Mickmacks, and Castine with 200 of his savages; on the way, met and captured one of an English fleet, and then invested and attacked Pemaquid. The fort was at the time in command of Capt. Pascoe Chubb (of Andover), who had shown his incompetence by treachery toward some Indian envoys in the previous February; and was safely surrendered without any determined effort at defence, — though Charlevoix suggests, through the cowardice of the garrison compelling the captain against his will, — 15 July, 1696. The fort was mostly demolished, after a history of four years fully justifying Church's scruples in the beginning. Chubb was cashiered, and was not forgotten by the Indians, who succeeded in murdering him and his wife Hannah (Faulkner) at Andover, 5 March, 1698. [Williamson's Hist. Me. i: 642-4; Hutchinson's Hist. Mass. ii: 88; Charlevoix's Hist. Nouv. France, iii: 260-2; Abbott's Hist. Andover, 43.]

<sup>195</sup> Hutchinson says it was "a French shallop belonging to St. John's, with 23 soldiers under Villeau, their captain." [Hist. Mass. ii: 91.]

<sup>196</sup> Mount Desart Island lies just east of the debouchure of Union river, — say 25 miles east of the centre of Penobscot Bay, and is the largest island in the State, being 15 miles long by about 7 in mean width, and containing some 60,000 acres. A third part of this shoots up into 13 high and rugged peaks, visible 20 leagues at sea, and giving to it its French name, Monts Deserts (the desolate mountains — not, as Mr. Drake had taken a Ship of ours;<sup>197</sup> so the discourse was that they would send the Man of War,<sup>198</sup> with other Forces to take the said French Ship and retake ours. But in the mean time Maj. Church and his Forces being ready, imbark'd, and on the 15th day of August set Sail for Piscataqua, where more Men were to joyn them (but before they left Boston, Maj. Church discours'd with the Captain of the Man of War, who promised him, if he went to Mount-Defart in pursuit of the said French Ship, that he would call for him and his Forces at Piscataqua, expecting that the French & Indians might not be far from the said French Ship, so that he might have an opportunity to fight them while he was engag'd with the French Ship:) Soon after the Forces arrived at Piscataqua the Major sent his Indian Souldiers to Col. Gidney<sup>199</sup> at York,<sup>200</sup> to be assist-suggests, named by Champlain in honor of De Monts).

<sup>197</sup> The "ship of ours" was the Newport, Capt. Paxton, which was cruising off the Bay of Fundy (to intercept French stores supposed to be on their way from Quebec to Villebon) with the Sorlings, Capt. Eames, and the Province tender. The two latter escaped in a fog. Iberville refitted the Newport, and took her with him to help reduce Pemaquid.

<sup>198</sup> The Sorlings.

<sup>199</sup> Bartholomew Gedney (Gidney) was son of John, of Salem; was baptized 14 June, 1640; became a practising physician; freeman, 1669; 1680-83, Assistant and Counsellor; joined Bradstreet and others when they assumed the government on Andros's overthrow; was named as Counsellor in the new charter; 1690, commanded in the French and Indian Expedition; 3 Oct., 1692, was made Judge of Probate for Essex County; same year was made Judge of Court of Com. Pleas for the same County. He was constantly engaged in civil and military life until his death, 28 Feb., 1693. He married Hannah Clark, and had Jonathan, Bartholomew, Hannah, Lydia, Bethia, Deborah, Samuel, Deborah and Martha (twins), Priscilla, and Ann. He was one of the seven "witch" judges. [Savage's Gen. Dict. ii: 240; Washburn's Judicial Hist. Mass. 141, 147.]

<sup>200</sup> "16 Aug., 1696, Col. Gedney marches with 460 of his regiment for

ing for the defence of those Places; who gave them a good Commend for their ready & willing Services done, in Scouting, and the like Lying at Piscataqua with the rest of our Forces near a Week, waiting for more Forces who was to joyn them to make up their complement;<sup>201</sup> in all which time heard never a word of the Man of War. On the 22d of August they all imbark'd from Piscataqua, and when they came against York, the Major went a shore, sending Capt. Gorham with some Forces in the two Briganteens and a Sloop to Winter Harbour, ordering him to send out Scouts to see if they could make any discovery of the Enemy, and to wait there till he came to them: Maj. Church coming to York, Col. Gidney told him his opinion was, That the Enemy was drawn off from those parts, for that the Scouts could not discover any of them, nor their Tracks. So having done his business there, went with what Forces he had there to Winter Harbour, where he had the same account from Capt. Gorham, That they had not discovered any of the Enemy, nor any new Tracks: So concluding they were gone from those Parts towards Penobscot; the Major ordered all the Vessels to come to Sail and make the best of their way to Monhegin,<sup>202</sup> which being not far from Penobscot,<sup>203</sup> where the main body of Kittery. He is accompanied by a troop under Capt. John Turner." [Felt's Annals of Salem, ii: 509.]

<sup>201</sup> The "complement" was 500 men. [Hutchinson's Hist. Mass. ii: 91.]

<sup>202</sup> Monhegan (Monchiggon, Monhiggon, Morattigon) lies 9 miles S. of

George's Islands, 5 leagues E. S. E. of Townsend, and 3 leagues W. of Metinic, on the coast of Maine; and contains more than 1000 acres of good land, with a bold shore. [Williamson's Hist. Me. i: 61.]

<sup>203</sup> It is perhaps 14 miles S. E. from our Enemies living was; being in great hopes to come up with the Army of French & Indians, before they had scattered and were gone past Penobscot or Mount-Desart, which is the chief place of their [89] departure from each other after such actions; and having a fair wind made the best of our way, and early next Morning they got into Monhegin, and there lay all day fitting their Boats, and other neccessaries to imbarck in the Night at Muffel neck<sup>204</sup> with their Boats; lying there all Day to keep undiscovered from the Enemy; at Night the Major ordered the Vessels all to come to Sail and carry the Forces over the Bay near Penobscot; but having little Wind,<sup>205</sup> he ordered all the Souldiers to imbarck on board the Boats with eight days Provision, and sent the Vessels back to Monhegin, that they might not be discovered by the Enemy; giving them orders when and where they should come to him. The Forces being all ready in their Boats, rowing very hard, got a-shore at a Point near Penobscot<sup>206</sup> just as the day broke, and hid their Boats, and keeping a good look-out by Sea, and sent Scouts out by Land; but could not discover neither Canoo's nor Indians; what Tracks and fire places they saw were judg'd to be 7 or 8 days before they

Pemaquid, and 25 miles S. W. of the entrance of Penobscot bay.

<sup>204</sup> I am not clear whether the reference here is to a point of that name on Monhegan, or to the Muscle Ridges, which is a cluster of about a dozen islands, not far off.

<sup>205</sup> The boats, of course, were with the ships; and so, finding that the wind was too light to make progress by sails, he put his men into the boats, and sent the ships back.

<sup>206</sup> At Owl's Head, in the N. E. corner of Thomaston. [Sewall's Anc. Dom. of Me. 215; Eaton's Hist. Thomaston, Rockland, and So. Thom. i: 29.]

came: As soon as Night came that they might go undiscovered got into their Boats and went by Mussel-neck, and so amongst Penobscot Islands,<sup>207</sup> looking very sharp as they went for fires on the shore, and for Canoo's, but found neither; getting up to Mathebestucks hills,<sup>208</sup> day coming on, landed, and hid their Boats; looking out for the Enemy, as the day before, but to little purpose. Night coming on, to their Oars again, working very hard, turn'd the Night into Day; made several of their new Souldiers grumble: but telling them they hoped to come up quickly with the Enemy put new life into them; and by day-light they got into the Mouth of the River, where landing, found many Rendezvous and fire Places where the Indians had been; but at the same space of time, as before mentioned. And no Canoo's passed up the River that day. Their Pilot Joseph York<sup>209</sup> inform'd the Major that 50 or 60 Miles up that River at the great Falls, the Enemy had a great Rendezvous,<sup>210</sup> and planted a great quantity of

<sup>207</sup> A large cluster of islands lie off in the mouth of Penobscot bay. Among them are Long, Seven Hundred Acre, Billy Job's, Marshall's, Laffell's, Mark, Saddle, Lime, Ensign, two Moufe, Spruce, and Fox islands, with some unnamed.

<sup>208</sup> These are Camden heights — as the crow flies, about 10 miles N. W. from Owl's Head, in the town of Camden. They are five or six in number, the highest being some 1500 feet above the sea level. They can be seen 20 leagues at sea. [See Williamfon's Hist. Me. i: 95.]

<sup>209</sup> Williamfon [Hist. Me. i: 645] calls this pilot John York, but gives no authority for differing from Church. A family of Yorks was among the earliest settlers of these regions, who were probably descendants of Richard, who lived in Dover, N.H., 1648. John York was one of the trustees of No. Yarmouth, 1685; and James, Thomas, and Samuel purchased land of the Indians, in July, 1670, on the east side of the Androscoggin. [Willis's Hist. Portland, 302; Sullivan's Hist. Me. 146.]

<sup>210</sup> Supposed to be the present Old-town, 12 miles above Bangor.

Corn, when he was a Prifoner with them, four Years agoe, and that he was very well acquainted there; this gave great encouragement to have had some considerable advantage of the Enemy at that Place; fo ufing their utmost endeavours to get up there undiscovered: and coming there found no Enemy nor Corn Planted, they having deserted the Place. And ranging about the Falls on both fides of the River, leaving Men on the East fide of the faid River, and the Boats juft below the Falls,<sup>211</sup> with a good guard to fecure them, and to take the Enemy if they came down the River in their Canoo's: The weft fide being the Place where the Enemy lived and beft to travel on, they refolved to range as privately as they could, a Mile or two above the Falls, difcovered a birch Canoo coming down with two Indians in it, the Major fent word immediately back to thofe at the Falls to lye very clofe, and let them pafs down the Falls, and to take them alive, that he might have Intelligence where the Enemy was (which would have been a great advantage to them:) but a foolifh [90] Souldier feeing them paffing by him, fhoot at them, contrary to orders given, which prevented them going into the Ambafcado that was laid for them; whereupon feveral more of our Men being near, fhoot at them; fo that one of them could not ftand when he got a-ftore, but crept away into the brush, the other ftep'd out of the Canoo with his Paddle in his hand, and ran about a rod, and then threw down his Paddle and turn'd back & took up his Gun, and so escaped: One of our Indians swom over the River and fetch'd the Canoo, wherein was a considerable quantity of bloud on the Seats, that the Indians sat on; the Canoo having several holes shot in her: They stop't the holes, and then Capt. Brackit<sup>212</sup> with an Indian Souldier went over the River, who Track'd them by the bloud about half a Mile, found his Gun, took it up, and seeing the bloud no further, concluded that he stop't his bloud, and so got away. In the mean time another Canoo with three Men were coming down the River were fired at by some of our Forces, ran a-shore and left two of their Guns in the Canoo, which were taken, and also a Letter from a Priest to Casteen,<sup>213</sup> that gave him an account of the French and Indians returning over the Lake<sup>214</sup> to Mount-Royal,<sup>215</sup> and of their little Service done upon the Maquas Indians westward, only demolishing one Fort and cutting down some Corn, &c.<sup>216</sup> He desiring to hear of the proceedings of

<sup>211</sup> Williamfon fays they left their boats at the "Bend," in what is now Eddington. [Hift. Me. i: 645.]

<sup>212</sup> See note 120, ante.

<sup>213</sup> See note 34, ante.

<sup>214</sup> The Oncida or Onondaga lake. [1 New York Hist. Coll. iv: 121.]

<sup>215</sup> Montreal. "Ils admirèrent la beauté des alentours, comme aussi le cours majestueux & la largeur du grand fleuve, qu'ils suivaient des yeux autant que leur vue pouvait s'étendre; enfin l'imp tuosité du saut où leurs barques étaient restées; ce qui fut cause que Cartier, charmé des points de vue qu'il découvrait de là, nomma cette montagne le Mont-Royal, d'où est venu

le nom de Montreal donné à l'île où cette petite montagne est assise." [Histoire de la Col. Française en Canada, i: 24.]

<sup>216</sup> The Maquas (Mingos) were the Five Nations of the English, and the Iroquois of the French. The expedition to which reference is here made was that of Frontenac, who added to all his own French regulars as many Indians as he could collect, and left Lachine, 7 July, 1696, with light batteaux for river portage, &c., with a powerful force to attack the Five Nations. After 12 days'

Deborahuel,<sup>217</sup> and the French Man of War; and informed him that there were several Canoo's coming with workmen from Quabeck, to Saint John's,<sup>218</sup> where since we concluded it was to build a Fort at the Rivers Mouth, where the great Guns were taken, &c. It being just Night, the Officers were call'd together to advife, & their Pilot York march, they arrived at Cadaracqui, and scattered the Onondagas, but only captured a little corn and a Sachem 100 years old, whom they tortured in a way which extorted from Charlevoix the remark, that "never was a man treated with more cruelty, nor ever did any man bear torture with greater firmness and magnanimity." Frontenac marched back, with no further results for this expensive campaign than the treacherous capture of 35 confiding Oncidas, who were taken by the Chevalier Vaudrueil. [1 New-York Hist. Coll. ii: 44; iv: 121; Bancroft's Hist. U. S. iii: 190; Hildreth's Hist. U. S. ii: 193; Dunlap's Hist. New York, i: 227; Colden's Hist. Five Ind. Nations, 188-194.]

<sup>217</sup> This is a curious illustration of the ease with which names are changed by passing from one language into another. Between Col. Church's way of pronouncing the name of this French admiral, and his son Thomas's way of writing it, the very respectable D'Iberville was metamorphosed into the abnormal, if not neutral, certainly peculiar, "Deborahuel."

Lemoine D'Iberville was born in Montreal, 1642; was one of seven brothers active in Canadian affairs; went early to sea; distinguished himself for bravery and ability; commanded the expedition which recovered Fort Nelson to the French, 1686; successfully invaded Newfoundland, and gained victories in Hudson's Bay, 1697; was reputed to be the most skilful naval officer in the French service; was commissioned to explore the mouth of the Mississippi, and sailed from Rochefort for that purpose, 17 Oct., 1698; entered the river, 2 March, 1670; returned to France, but was again ordered to the river; captured Nevis, 1706; died at Havana, on board his ship, on the eve of an expedition against Jamaica, 9 July, 1706. Hutchinson is wrong in his note, "This was not the Iberville who laid the foundation of the French colony at Mississippi in 1690. He died in a year or two after that." The colony was founded in 1699, and D'Iberville lived seven years after that date. He was invading Newfoundland the next year after this expedition of Church, and there is no reason to doubt that he was the admiral in command of the French ships which captured and razed Pemaquid. [Hutchinson's Hist. Mass. ii: 88; New Amer. Cyc. ix: 430.]

<sup>218</sup> Saint John still stands — as the principal city and seaport of New Brunswick — on a rocky peninsula on the left bank of the picturesque river of the name.

inform'd them of a Fort up that River, & that it was built on a little Island in that River;<sup>219</sup> and that there was no getting to it but in Canoo's, or on the Ice in the Winter time: This with the certain knowledge that we were discovered by the Enemy that escaped out of the upper Canoo, concluded it not proper at that time to proceed any further up, and that there was no getting any further with our Boats; and the Enemy being Alarm'd would certainly fly from them (and to do as they did four Years ago at their Fort at Taconock, having fought them in Kanebeck River, and pursued them about 30 Miles to Taconock;<sup>220</sup> for they then set their Fort on fire, and run away by the Light of it, ours not being able to come up with them at that Place.) Maj. Church then encouraging his Souldiers, told them, he hop'd they should meet with part of the Enemy, in Penobscot bay, or at Mount-Defart, where the French Ships were. So notwithstanding they had been rowing several Nights before, with much toyl, besides were short of Provisions, they chearfully embark'd on board their Boats, and went down the River, both with and against the Tide: and next Morning came to their Vessels, where the Major had ordered them to meet him, who could give him no intelligence of any Enemy. Where being come they refresh'd themselves; Meeting then with another disappointment, for their Pilot York [91] not being acquainted any further,

<sup>219</sup> See note 210, ante.

<sup>220</sup> See note 185, ante.

they began to lament the loss of one Robert Cawley,<sup>221</sup> who they chiefly depended on for all the Service to be done now Eastward: he having been taken away from them the Night before they set Sail from Boston (and was on board Mr. Thorps<sup>222</sup> Sloop) and put on board the Man of War, unknown to Maj Church; notwithstanding he had been at the charge and trouble of procuring him. Then the Major was oblig'd to one Bord,<sup>223</sup> procured by Mr. William Alden,<sup>224</sup> who being acquainted in those parts, to leave his Vessel and go with him in the Boats, which he readily complied with, and so went to Nasket point;<sup>225</sup> where being inform'd was a likely place to meet with the Enemy; coming there found several Housing and small Fields of Corn, the fires having been out several days, and no

<sup>221</sup> Robert Cawley (Caule, Caulie), of Pemaquid, took the oath of fidelity to Massachusetts, at the Court, 7 Oct., 1674; and was undoubtedly the person here referred to. He may have been a son of Thomas, who was freeman, Cambridge, 1640; was "allowed to keepe victualing in his house for strangers" 14 May, 1645, and appears to have been at Marblehead, 1671. [Mss. Col. Rec. ii: 98; v: 18; N. E. Hist. and Gen. Reg. iii: 187; Savage's Gen. Dict. i: 350.]

<sup>222</sup> There was a Robert Thorpe at York, 1660; and one of that name was admonished by the Court "not to adventure too many into any boate." [Savage's Gen. Dict. iv: 293; Mss. Col. Rec. i: 249.]

<sup>223</sup> Henry Boade (Bord, Bode, Boad) settled at Saco before 1636; was freeman at Wells, Me., 5 July, 1653; was Justice there 1653; died 1657. This man of whom Church speaks, may have been his son. [N. E. Hist. and Gen. Reg. iii: 193; Folsom's Hist. Saco, 119.]

<sup>224</sup> Capt. John Alden (see note 133, ante) had a son William, born 10 Sept., 1669, who would now be 27 years old, and may have followed his father's seafaring trade, and been a member of this expedition, as "master of the Briganteen Endeavour." [Savage's Gen. Dict. i: 23.]

<sup>225</sup> Naskeag point is the S. E. extremity of the present town of Sedgewick, Me.

new Tracks. But upon Penobscot Island<sup>226</sup> they found several Indian Houfes, Corn & Turnips, tho' the Enemy fill being all gone, as before mentioned. Then they divided and fent their Boats fome one way and fome another, thinking that if any ftragling Indians, or Cafteen himfelf fhould be there-about, they might find them, but it prov'd all in vain. Himfelf and feveral Boats went to Mount-Defart, to fee if the French Ships were gone and whither any of the Enemy might be there, but to no purpofe: The Ships being gone and the Enemy alfo. They being now got feveral Leagues to the Weftward of their Veffels; and feeing that the way was clear for their Veffels to pafs: And all their extream rowing and travelling by Land and Water, Night and Day to be all in vain. The Enemy having left thofe parts, as they judg'd about eight or ten days before. And then returning to their Veffels, the Commander calling all his Officers together, to confult and refolve what to do, concluding that the Enemy by fome means or other had received fome Intelligence of their being come out againft them; and that they were in no neceffity to come down to the Sea fide as yet, Moofe and Bever now being fat. They then agreed to go fo far Eaft, and imploy themfelves, that the Enemy belonging to thofe parts might think they were gone home: having fome difcourfe about going over to Saint John's; but the port, and owned by defcendants of an orphan, who inherited a part of the old Waldo patent. [Williamfon's Hift. Me. i: 69.]

<sup>226</sup> Now called Orphan Ifland, containing fome 5000 acres, and dividing the waters of the Penobscot into two branches. The ifland is taxed in Buckf-

Masters of the Vessels said, he had as good carry them to old France, &c. which put off that design, they concluding that the French Ships were there. Then the Major mov'd for going over the Bay towards Lahane,<sup>227</sup> and toward the Gut of Cancer,<sup>228</sup> where was another considerable Fort of Indians, who often came to the assistance of our Enemy, the barbarous Indians; saying that by the time they should return again, the Enemy belonging to these parts would be come down again, expecting that we are gone home. But in short, could not prevail with the Masters of the open Sloops to venture a-cross the Bay; who said it was very dangerous so late in the Year, and as much as their Lives were worth, &c. Then they concluded and resolved to go to Senactaca,<sup>229</sup> wherein there was a ready compliance (but the want of their Pilot Robert Cawley was a great damage to them, who knew all those parts:) how-

<sup>227</sup> Misprint for La Have, a harbor of Nova Scotia on its S. E. coast, at the mouth of the Have, some 50 miles S. W. from Halifax. [Haliburton's Hist. Nov. Scot. i: 141.]

<sup>228</sup> The gut of Canscau is the narrow channel between Nova Scotia and Cape Breton, from the Atlantic into Northumberland Strait; averaging scarcely more than 2 miles in width, to a length of 17 miles. Almost the whole length of Nova Scotia lies between it and St. John, — making it at least four and a half degrees farther E. than that town. The saying above, of the masters, that "he had as good carry them to old France, &c.," must refer to their notion that St. John was as full of enemies as "Old France," and not to the ocean distance; as is shown here by their reluctance even to cross the Bay.

<sup>229</sup> Chiegnecto Bay (Beau Bassin) is an inlet between Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, being the tapering northern extremity of the Bay of Fundy. This is two degrees farther E. than St. John's, and a little farther north. The fort, or settlement, of Beau Bassin, which Church was proceeding to attack, was situated at the extreme N. E. terminus of the bay, and just N. of the entrance of the river La Planche, on nearly the same spot where Fort Lawrence afterward stood.

[92] ever Mr. John Alden Master of the Briganteen Endeavour Pilotted them up the Bay to Senaclata; and coming to Grinston-point,<sup>230</sup> being not far from Senaclata; then came too with all the Vessels; and early next Morning came to Sail, and about Sun-rise got into Town; but it being so late before we landed, that the Enemy most of them made their escape, (and as it happen'd landed where the French & Indians had some time before killed Lieut. John Paine,<sup>231</sup> and several of Capt. Smithson's<sup>232</sup> Men, that

<sup>230</sup> I know not how to explain this, except it refers to Ile des Meules (Ile of Grindstones, or Millstones), which is laid down on Charlevoix's Map of Acadia, a few miles N. W. of Bean Basin, and just out of sight from it round Cape des Maringouins (Mosquito Point).

<sup>231</sup> I find no satisfactory account of this John Paine. Mr. Drake [ed. of Church (1843), 228; ed. of Hubbard, ii: 212] intimates that this may have been the John Pain who had trouble with the government in 1669, in the matter of Thomas Dickinson's murder at Pennacook in the previous summer, by an Indian beside himself with rum, which Pain had furnished to him and others. But the records are perfectly explicit on the point that that man's name was "Thomas Payne, late trader among the Indians at Pennicooke upon Merrimack river." This Lieut. John may have been his son. [Mafs. Col. Rec. iv: Part II. 428; Bouton's Hist. Concord, N.H. 35.]

<sup>232</sup> I am equally unfortunate with regard to Capt. Smithson. The name is a very uncommon one in early New-England annals. It does not appear in Savage's omnivorous pages; nor in the crowded indexes of the 20 vols. of the N. E. Hist. and Gen. Register, except as the name of a passenger to Virginia in 1635; nor in those of the 43 vols. of the Collections and Proceedings of the Mafs. Hist. Society; nor in that of Drake's Founders of New England; nor in the list of freemen of Mafs.; nor in the indexes of the Mafs. Col. Records; nor in the list of the freemen of Plymouth Colony, or the indexes of its records; nor in those of the records of the Colonies of Rhode Island, Connecticut, and New Haven. Under these circumstances I have little doubt that the name is a mistake for another—what, I have no useful conjecture. Nor can I suggest in what skirmish these lives had been lost, unless it were connected with Sir William Phips's Expedition in 1690, when he seems to have visited Beau Basin. [Haliburton's Hist. Nov. Scot. i: 77; Hutchinson's Hist. Mafs. i: 352.]

was with said Paine) They seeing our Forces coming took the opportunity, fired several Guns, and so run all into the Woods, carried all or most part of their goods with them. One Jarman Bridgway<sup>233</sup> came running towards our Forces with a Gun in one hand, and his Cartridg-box in the other, calling to our Forces to stop that he might speak with them; but Maj. Church thinking it was that they might have some advantage, ordered them to run on; when the said Bridgway saw they would not stop, turn'd and run, but the Major call'd unto him, and bid him stop, or he should be shot down; some of our Forces being near to the said Bridgway, said it was the General that call'd to him: he hearing that, stop'd and turn'd about, laying down his Gun, stood, till the Major came up to him, his desire was that the Commander would make haste with him to his house, lest the Salvages<sup>234</sup> should kill his Father and Mother, who were upward of fourscore Years of Age, and could not go. The Major ask'd the said Bridgway whither there was any Indians amongst them? and where they liv'd? he shak'd his head, and said, he durst not tell, for if he did they would take an opportunity and kill him and his: so all that could be got out of him was, that they were run into the Woods with

<sup>233</sup> "The English pursued, and soon met Bourgeois (Church calls him Bridgman) a principal inhabitant, coming to ask quarter for himself and family." [Hutchinson's Hist. Mass. ii: 92.] Haliburton calls him "one of the most

respectable Acadians." [Hist. Nov. Scot. i: 77.]

<sup>234</sup> That is, Church's Indians, — among whom probably were still some of those faithful old Saconets who had followed him on so many war-paths.

the rest. Then orders were given to pursue the Enemy, and to kill what Indians they could find, and take the French alive, and give them quarter, if they ask'd it. Our Forces soon took three French Men, who upon examination said, That the Indians were all run into the woods. The French firing several Guns at our Forces, and ours at them; but they being better acquainted with the woods than ours, got away. The Major took the above said Jarman Bridgway for a Pilot, and with some of his Forces went over a River,<sup>235</sup> to several of their houses, but the People were gone and carried their goods with them: In ranging the woods found several Indian-houses, their fires being just out, but no Indians. Spending that day in ranging to & fro, found considerable of their goods, and but few People; at Night the Major writ a Letter, and sent out two French Prisoners, wherein was signified, That if they would come in, they should have good quarters. The next day several come in, which did belong to that part of the Town where our Forces first landed, who had encouragements given them by our Commander, That if they would assist him in taking those Indians which belong'd to those parts, they should have their goods return'd to them again, and their Estates should not be damnify'd;<sup>236</sup> which they refused. Then the Major and his [93] Forces pursued their design and went further ranging their Country, found several more houses, but the People fled, and carried what they had away; but in a Crick<sup>237</sup> found a prize Bark that was brought in there by a French Privateer: in ranging the woods took some Prisoners, who upon examination gave our Commander an account that there was some Indians upon a Neck of Land towards Menes;<sup>238</sup> so a party of Men was sent into those woods, and in their ranging about the said Neck found some Plunder, and a considerable quantity of Hurtleburies, both green and dry, which were gathered by the Indians, and had like to have taken two Indians, who by the help of a birch Canoo got over the River<sup>239</sup> and made their escape. Also they found two Barrels of Powder, and near half a bushel of Bullets; the French denying it to be theirs, said they were the Salvages; but sure it might be a supply for our Enemies: Also they took from Jarman Bridgway several Barrels of Powder, with Bullets, Shot, Spears and Knives, and other supplies to relieve our Enemies; he owning that he had been a Trading with those Indians along Cape Sable Shore, with Peter Affnow, &c. in a Sloop our Forces took from him; and that there he met with the French Ships, and went along with them to St. John's, and helped them to unload the said Ships and carried up the River Provisions, Am-

<sup>235</sup> Probably the Miffuquash; and the houses were, most likely, where was afterwards Fort Cumberland.

<sup>236</sup> "Damnified — to do damage to." — Bailey. "That the Commonwealth of learning be not damnified." — Milton.

<sup>237</sup> The mouth of Tantamar river, or the Memramcook?

<sup>238</sup> Les Mines was the name of the first bay running into the interior of Acadia, from the Bay of Fundy W. of munition, and other goods to Vilboons<sup>240</sup> Fort. The Major having ranged all Places as was thought proper, return'd back to the place where they first Landed, and finding several Prisoners come in, who were much troubled to see their Cattel, Sheep, Hogs & Dogs lying dead about their houses, chop'd and hack'd with Hatches, (which was done without order from the Major<sup>241</sup>) however he told them, It was nothing to what our poor English in our Frontier Towns were forc'd to look upon, for Men, Women and Children were chop'd and hack'd so, and left half dead, with all their Scalps taken of, and that they and their Indians served ours so; and our Salvages would be glad to serve them so too, if he would permit them; which caused them to be mighty submissive, and beg'd the Major that he would not let the Salvages serve them so. Our Indians being some what sensible of the discourse, desired to have some of them to Rest, and so make a dance; and dancing

Beau Basin; and the neck was that which terminated in Cape Chiegnecto, now known as Cumberland.

<sup>239</sup> Riviere aux Pommes: now Apple River?

<sup>240</sup> The Chevalier Villebon was sent over from France to take the government of Nova Scotia, succeeding M. Perot. He made his fort at the mouth of the St. John the rallying point of French and Indians for their descents upon the English colonies. He participated with D'Iberville in the capture of Pemaquid, and was now back at his fort. Charlevoix makes the mistake of confounding him with Villeau (see note 194, ante), and so represents him as having been captured and released by the English. Haliburton copies the blunder, saying he "was captured with

23 others, and sent to Boston." [Charlevoix's Hist. Nouv. France; Haliburton's Hist. Nov. Scot. i: 77.]

<sup>241</sup> Charlevoix says that our soldiers plundered the Acadians until Burgeois produced a proclamation which had been given by Sir Wm. Phips, assuring them of protection so long as they remained faithful to King William; and that Church, being made acquainted with it, respected it, and ordered his soldiers to do the same, who however, he adds, still "conducted themselves as if they had been in a conquered country." [Hist. Nouv. France.] in a hideous manner to terrify them, said, That they could eat any sort of flesh, and that some of theirs would make their hearts strong: stepping up to some of the Prisoners, said, They must have their Scalps, which much terrified the poor Prisoners, who beg'd for their lives. The Major told them he did not design the Salvages should hurt them; but it was to let them see a little what the poor English felt, saying, it was not their Scalps he wanted, but the Salvages, for that he should get nothing by them; and told them, That their Fathers the Fryers<sup>242</sup> and Governours encouraged their Salvages, and gave them Money to Scalp our English, notwithstanding they were with them; which several of our English there present did testify to their Faces, that their Fathers and Mothers were [94] served so in their fight. But the Major bid them tell their Fathers the Fryers and the Governours, That if they still persisted and let their wretched Salvages kill & destroy the poor English at that rate, he would come with some hundreds of Salvages, and let them loose among them, who would Kill, Scalp and carry away every French person in all those parts, for they were the root from whence all the branches came that hurt us; for the Indians could not do us any harm, if they did not relieve and supply them. The French being sensible of the Majors kindness to them, kiss'd his hand, & was very thankful to him for his favour to them in saving their lives; owned that their Priests was at the taking of Pemaquid Fort, and were now gone to

<sup>242</sup> The Acadians were bigoted Romanists.

Layhone<sup>243</sup> with some of the Indians, to meet the French Ships, but for what they would not tell. The Commander with his Forces having done all the Service they could in those parts, concluded to go to St. John's River<sup>244</sup> to do further Service for their King and Country, Embark'd all on board their Transports,<sup>245</sup> and having a fair wind soon got to Monogenest,<sup>246</sup> which lies a little distance from the Mouth of St. John's River. Next Morning early the Major with his Forces landed to see what discovery they could make, Travel'd a cross the woods, to the old Fort or Falls at the Mouth of St. John's River, keeping themselves undiscovered from the Enemy; finding that there were several Men at work, and having inform'd themselves as much as they could, (the Enemy being on the other side of the River, could not come at them) Returned back, but Night coming on and dark wet Weather, with bad Travelling, was oblig'd to stop in the woods till towards day next Morning, and then went on board; soon after the Major ordered all the Vessels to come to Sail, and go into the Mouth of the River; being done, it was not long before the Major and his Forces landed on the

<sup>243</sup> La Have (see note 227, ante.)

<sup>244</sup> The scruples of those who thought "he had as good carry them to old France" as to St. John, when they were at Penobscot, were probably removed by finding that they would now be going near 150 miles toward home by repairing thither. It seems to have made a great difference in the valor of some of the party, whether they were heading E. or W.

<sup>245</sup> Hutchinson says they left Beau Basin, 20 Sept., 1696. [Hist. Mass. ii: 94.]

<sup>246</sup> Isle de Menagoniche (given on Haliburton's Map as Meogenes) lies off the shore, a little W. of the entrance of the river St. John, and of the site of an old fort. The new fort, which Villebon was building, was on the other (E.) side of the river, just above the Isle aux Perdreaux (now Partridge I.)

East side of the River, the French firing briskly at them, but did them no harm; and running fiercely upon the Enemy, they soon fled into the Woods. The Major ordered a brisk party to run a cross a Neck<sup>247</sup> to cut them off from their Canoo's, which the day before they had made a discovery of; so the Commander with the rest ran directly towards the New Fort they were a building, not knowing but they had some Ordnance mounted. The Enemy running directly to their Canoo's was met by our Forces, who fired at them and kill'd one and wounded Corporal Canton,<sup>248</sup> who was taken, the rest threw down what they had and ran into the woods; the said Prisoner Canton being brought to the Major, told him, if he would let his Surgeon dress his wound and cure him, he would be Serviceable to him as long as he liv'd: so being dress'd, he was Examined: who gave the Major an account of the Twelve great Guns which were hid in the beach below high water Mark (the Carriges, Shot and Wheelbarrows, some Flower & Pork, all hid in the Woods:) And the next Morning the Officers being all ordered to meet together, to consult about going up the River to Vilboons Fort,<sup>249</sup>

<sup>247</sup> The neck, apparently, between the St. John and the Riviere de Canibechis (Haliburton gives it Kennebeck-asis), the first Eastern confluent of the former above its mouth.

<sup>248</sup> It would be a hopeless task to conjecture what French name lies perdu under this cognomen.

<sup>249</sup> The fort which was the headquarters of Villebon was up the St. John at the Gemsec. Haliburton gives the following paper, which describes minutely its condition in 1670; and which may be worth the space it will occupy as hinting the fashion of these Indian forts, and their fittings in the earlier days:

“INVENTORY. — 1. At the entering in of said Fort, on the left hand we found a court of guard about 15 paces long, and 10 broad, having, upon the right and none amongst them being acquainted [95] but the Aldens, who said the Water in the River was very low; so that they could not get up to the Fort, and the Prisoner Canton told the Commander, That what the Aldens said was true. So not being willing to make a Canada Expedition,<sup>250</sup> concluded it was not practicable to proceed. Then ordered some of the Forces to get the great Guns on board the open Sloops, and the rest to range the woods for the Enemy, who took one Prisoner, and brought in; who in their ranging found there a Shallop haul'd into a Crick, and a day or two after there came in a Young Souldier to our Forces, who upon examination gave an account of hand a house of the like length and breadth, built with hewn stone and covered with shingles, and above them there is a chapel of about 6 paces long and 4 paces broad; covered with shingles and built with terras, upon which there is a small turret, wherein there is a little bell, weighing about 18 lbs.

"2. Upon the left hand as we entered into the Court, there is a magazine, having 2 stories built with stone, and covered with shingles, being in length about 36 paces long, and 10 in breadth; which magazine is very old and wanted much repair; under which is a little cellar, in which there is a well; and upon the other side of said court, being on the right hand, there is a house of the same length and breadth the magazine is, being half covered with shingles, and the rest uncovered and wanting much repair; upon the ramparts of the said fort are 12 iron guns, weighing in all 21,122 lbs.

"3. We do find in the said fort 6 murderers, without Chambers, weighing 1200 lbs.

"4. 200 iron bullets, from 3 to 8 lbs.

"5. About 30 or 40 paces from the said fort, there is a small outhouse, being about 20 paces in length, and 8 in breadth; built with planks and half covered with shingles, which do not serve for any use but to house cattle.

"6. About 50 paces from said outhouse there is a square garden, enclosed with rails, in which garden there are 50 or 60 trees bearing fruit.

"Signed,

LE CHEVALIER DE GRAND FONTAINE.

JEAN MAILLARD.

RICHARD WALKER.

ISAAC GARNER.

MARSHALL, Sec'y."

[Haliburton's Hist. Nov. Scot. i: 66.]

<sup>250</sup> Sir William Phips's attack upon Canada had ingloriously failed in 1690, partly because of the lateness of the season at which it was undertaken, and two more which he left in the woods at some distance; so immediately the Major with some of his Forces went in pursuit of them, taking the said Prisoner with them, who convey'd them to the place where he left them, but they were gone. Then ask'd the Prisoner, Whither there were any Indians in those parts? Said, No, it was as hard for Vilboon their Governour to get an Indian down to the water side, as it was for him to carry one of those great Guns upon his back to his Fort: for they having had Intelligence by a Prisoner out of Boston Goal,<sup>251</sup> that gave them an account of Maj. Church and his Forces coming out against them. Now having with a great deal of pains and trouble got all the Guns, Shot and other Stores aboard, intended on our design which we came out first for, but the Wind not serving, the Commander sent out his Scouts into the woods to seek for the Enemy, and four of our Indians come upon three French Men undiscovered, who concluded that if the French should discover them would fire at them and might kill one or more of them, which to prevent fired at the French, kill'd one and took the other two Prisoners; and it happen'd that he who was kill'd was Shanelere,<sup>252</sup> the Chief Man there &c. The same Day they mended their Whale-boats, and the Shallop which they took, fitting her to Row with Eight Oars, that she might be helpful to their Prosecuting their intended design against the Enemy in their returning homewards. Then the partly because of its inherent weakness.

[Hutchinson's Hist. Mass. i: 352-6.]

<sup>251</sup> There was hardly time for this to be one of Villean's men (see note 195, ante).

<sup>252</sup> See note 248, ante.

Commander ordering all the Officers to come together, Inform'd them of his intentions and ordered that no Vessels should depart from the Fleet, but to attend the Motions of their Commadore, as formerly, except they were parted by Storms or thick Fogs, and if so it should happen that any did part, when they come to Passamequady,<sup>253</sup> should stop there a while, for there they intended to stop, and do business with the help of their Boats against the Enemy, and if they mist that to stop at Machias; <sup>254</sup> which was the next place he intended to stop at, having an account by the Prisoners taken, That Mr. Lateril<sup>255</sup> was there a trading with the Indians in that River: Encouraging them, said, He did not doubt but to have a good booty there; and if they should pass those two places, be sure not to go past Naskege-point,<sup>256</sup> but to stop there, till he came, and not to depart thence in a Fortnight without his orders, having great Service to do in and about Penobscot, &c. Then the Major discoursed with Capt. Brackit,<sup>257</sup> Capt. Hunewell<sup>258</sup> and Capt. Larking,<sup>259</sup> [96] (with their Lieutenants) Commanders of the Forces belonging to the Eastward parts, who were to discourse their Souldiers about their proceeding, when they came to Penobscot; and the Major himself

<sup>253</sup> The bay into which empties the St. Croix, the boundary between the United States and the British Provinces.

<sup>254</sup> The next port westward.

<sup>255</sup> Probably the Frenchman who is twice referred to subsequently (on p. 109 of the original paging) as "old Lotriel," and as being captured in the fifth expedition, with his family, some of whom were reported to be drowned.

<sup>256</sup> See note 225, ante.

<sup>257</sup> See note 120, ante.

<sup>258</sup> See note 157, ante.

<sup>259</sup> There was a Samuel Larkin among the early inhabitants of Portsmouth, N.H.

was to discourfe his Indian-Souldiers, and their Captains; who with all the reft readily comply'd. The projection being fuch, That when they came to Penobfcot the Com-mander design'd to take what Provisions could be spared out of all the Sloops, and put on board the two Briganteens,<sup>260</sup> and to fend all the Sloops home with fome of the Officers and Men that wanted to be at home: and then with thofe Forces afore-mentioned (to wit) the Eaftward Men, and all the Indians; and to take what Provisions and Ammunition was needful, and to March with himfelf up into the Penobfcot Country, in fearch for the Enemy, and if poffible to take that Fort in Penobfcot River. Capt. Brackit informing the Major, That when the water was low they could waid over (which was at that time) the loweft that had been known in a long time. And being there to rang thro' that Country down to Pemequid, where he intended the two Briganteens fhould meet them; and from thence taking more Provisions (viz.) Bread, Salt & Ammunition fuitable (to fend thofe two Veffels home alfo) to travel thro' the Country to Nerigiwock,<sup>261</sup> and from thence to Ameras cogen-Fort, and fo down where the Enemy us'd to Plant, not doubting but that in all this Travel to meet with many of the Enemy before they fhould get to Pifcataqua. All which intentions were very acceptable to the

<sup>260</sup> "Brigantine, — a fmall, flat, open, light veffel, going both with fails and oars, either for fighting or for giving chafe." — Bailey.

<sup>261</sup> Norridgewock (Narantfouat) is a point in the bend of the Kennebec oppofite to the mouth of Sandy river, where was the ancient feat of the Canibas Indians. [Williamfon's Hijf. Me. i: 467; Father Druillettes's Journal, 310.]

Forces that were to undertake it, who rejoicing, said, They had rather go home by Land than by Water, provided their Commander went with them: (who to try their fidelity) said, He was grown Ancient, and might fail them; They all said they would not leave him, and when he could not Travel any further, they would carry him. Having done what Service they could at and about the Mouth of St. John's River, Resolved on their intended design; and the next Morning having but little Wind, came all to Sail, the Wind coming against them they put into Musquash Cove,<sup>262</sup> and the next day the Wind still being against them, the Major with part of his Forces Landed, and imployed themselves in ranging the Country for the Enemy, but to no purpose; and in the Night the wind came pretty fair, and at 12 a Clock they came to Sail, and had not been out long before they spy'd three Sail of Vessels; Expecting them to be French, fitted to defend themselves, so coming near, hail'd them: who found them to be a Man of War, the Province Galley, and old Mr. Alden<sup>263</sup> in a Sloop, with more Forces, Col. Hathorne<sup>264</sup> Commander. Maj. Church went aboard the

<sup>262</sup> The outlet of Riviere de Mehecafacor, the second stream coming into the bay W. of the St. John; which Haliburton's map names Musquash river, — which would seem to be a translation of found rather than of sense.

<sup>263</sup> See note 133, ante.

<sup>264</sup> John Hathorne (Hathorn, Hawthorne) was son of William, of Salem; born 4 Aug., 1641; freeman, 1677;

Deputy, 1683; Assistant or Counsellor, 1684-1712; Judge of Com. Pleas, 1692-1702; Judge of Supreme Court, 1702-15; Commissioner to Eastern Indians, and Commander, 1696; resigned his place on the bench on account of deafness, 1712; died 10 May, 1717, æt. 76. He had five sons. [Savage's Gen. Dict. ii: 377; Washburn's Judic. Hist. Mass. 271.]

Commadore, where Col. Hathrone was, who gave him an account of his Commiffion & Orders, and read them to him. Then his Honour told Maj. Church, that there was a particular Order on board Capt. Southack<sup>265</sup> for him: which is as followeth. [97]

Sir,

Boston, September. 9th. 1696.

HIs Majesties Ship Orford having lately surprized a French Shallop with twenty three of the Soldiers belonging to the Fort upon John's River in Nova-Scotia, together with Villeau their Captain, Providence seems to encourage the forming of an Expedition to attack that Fort, and to disrest and remove the Enemy from that Post, which is the chief Scource from whence the most of our disasters do issue, and also to favour with an opportunity for gaining out of their hands the Ordnance, Artillery and other Warlike Stores and Provisions lately supplied to them from France, for erecting a new Fort near the Rivers mouth, whereby they will be greatly strengthened, and the reducing of them rendered more difficult. I have therefore ordered a Detachment of two new Companies consisting of about an Hundred Men*

<sup>265</sup> Cyprian Southack was commander of the Province galley; was with Church in his last Eastern Expedition, 1704; and went to Canada in 1714 on the Stoddard and Williams Expedition; lived on Tremont Street, which then embraced only that portion now included between School and Howard Streets; 19 Oct., 1733, was warned to secure "his hill near Valley acre, by rails, or otherwife, that people may not be in danger." Valley acre was the hill just east of Beacon hill, occupying the space, nearly, of what is now Pemberton Square. Capt. Southack's hill probably adjoined his house, which seems to have stood not far from the present site of the Albion. [Drake's Hist. Bost. i: 529, 539, 593; N. E. Hist. and Gen. Reg. v: 39.]

to joyn the Forces now with you for that Expedition, and have commissioned Lieut. Colonel John Hathorne, one of the Members of His Majesties Council, who is acquainted with that River, and in whose courage and conduct I repose special Trust, to take the chief command of the whole during that Service, being well assured that your good affections and zeal for His Majesties Service will induce your ready compliance and assistance therein, which I hope will take up no long time, and be of great benefit and advantage to these His Majesties Territories if it please God to succeed the same. Besides its very probable to be the fairest opportunity that can be offered unto your self and Men, of doing Execution upon the Indian Enemy and Rebels, who may reasonably be expected to be drawn to the defence of that Fort. I have also ordered His Majesties Ship Arundel, and the Province-Gally to attend this Service.

Colonel Hathorne will communicate unto you the contents of his Commission and Instructions received from my self for this Expedition, which I expect and order that your self, Officers and Souldiers now under you yield obedience unto. He is to advise with your self and others in all weighty attempts. Praying for a Blessing from Heaven upon the said Enterprize, and that all engaged in the same may be under the special Protection of the Almighty. I am your Loving Friend,

Wm. STOUGHTON.

The Major having read his last Orders, and considering his Commission, found that he was oblig'd to attend, All

Orders, &c. was much concern'd that he and his' were prevented in their intended projection, if carryed back to St. John's. Then discoursing with Col. Hathorne, gave him an account of what they had done at St. John's, viz. That as to the demolishing the New Fort they had done it, and got all their great Guns and Stores aboard their Vessels; and that if it had not been that the waters were so low would have taken the Fort up the River also before he came away. Told him also that one of the Prisoners which he had taken at St. John's, upon examination concerning the Indians in those parts, told him, it was as hard for Vilboon their Governour to get one of their Indians down to the water side, as to carry one of those great Guns upon his back: and that they had an account of him and his Forces coming to those parts by a Prisoner out of Boston Goal. Also [98] told his Honour, That if they went back it would wholly disappoint them of their doing any further Service, which was that they came for to Penobscot, and Places Adjacent; but all was to no purpose, his Honour telling the Major that he must attend his Orders then received. And to encourage the Officers and Souldiers, told them, They should be wholly at the Majors Ordering & Command in the whole action: (and to be short did go back) and the event may be seen in Col. Hathron's Journal of the said action.<sup>266</sup> Only I must ob-

<sup>266</sup> Church speaks as if Hathorn's Journal were public property; but I have not been able to find it. Mather sums up the issue thus: "But the Difficulty of the Cold Season so discouraged our Men, that after the making of some few Shot, the Enterprize found itself under too much Congelation to proceed any serve one thing by the way, which was, That when they drew off to come down the River again, Col. Hathorne came off and left the Major behind to see that all the Forces were drawn off; and coming down the River in or near the Rear, in the Night heard a person hollow, not knowing at first but that it might be a snare to draw them into; but upon consideration sent to see who or what he was, found him to be a Negro man belonging to Marblehead, that had been taken, and kept a Prisoner amongst them for some time. The Major ask'd him, Whither he could give any account of the Indians in those parts? He said, Yes, they were or had been all drawn off from the Sea Coast up into the Woods near a hundred Miles having had an account by a Prisoner out of Boston Goal; that Maj. Church and his Forces were coming out against them further." [Magnalia, Book VII: 90.] Hutchinſon ſays, "Villebon had timely notice of the return and re-enforcement, and made the beſt preparations he could for his defence. Four of the ſmall veſſels went up the river, and landed their men near the fort, October the 7th. They raiſed a battery for two field pieces, and began to fire with them and with their muſketry the ſame day; and the French made return. When night came on, which proved very cold, the Engliſh lighted their fires to keep them from periſhing. This made them a mark for the French cannon, which diſturbed them to that degree that they were obliged to put out their fires, and to be expoſed all night to the inclem-ency of the weather. They were ſoon diſcouraged, for the next night they re-embarked; and having joined thoſe at the mouth of the river, made the beſt of their way to Boston. No notice was taken of any loſs on either ſide, except the burning a few of the enemy's houſes; nor is any ſufficient reaſon given for relinquishing the deſign ſo ſuddenly.

It is probable that the forces were not provided with tents nor cloathing ſufficient to defend them from the cold, which they had reaſon to expect to increaſe every day, and it is certain the old Colonel Church was offended at being ſuperſeded in command." [Hiſt. Maſs. ii: 94.]

in four Briganteens, & four Sloops, with 24 Peraougers,<sup>267</sup> meaning Whale-boats, which put them into a fright, that notwithstanding they were so far up in the Woods were afraid to make fires by Day lest he and his Forces should discover the Smokes, and in the Night lest they should see the light. One thing more I would just give a hint of, that is, How the French in the Eastward parts were much surpriz'd at the motion of the Whale boats; said, There was no abiding for them in that Country: and I have been inform'd since, that soon after this Expedition, they drew off from St. John's Fort & River But to return, Then going all down the River, Embark'd and went homeward; only by the way Candid Reader, I would let you know of two things that proved very prejudicial to Major Church and his Forces: The first was, That the Government should miss it so much as to send any Prisoner away from Boston before the Expedition was over. Secondly, That they should send Col. Hathrone to take them from the Service & business they went to do: Who with submission, doubtless thought they did for the best, tho' it prov'd to the contrary. So shall wind up with just a hint of what happen'd at their coming home to Boston. After all their hard Service both Night & Day, the Government took away all the great Guns, and Warlike Stores, and gave them not a Penny for them, (except it was some Powder, and that they gave what they pleas'd for it) and beside the Assembly pass a Vote that they should have but half pay. But his Honour the Lieut. Governour<sup>268</sup> being much disturb'd at their so doing went in to the Town-House where the Representatives were sitting, and told them except they did Re-assume that Vote, which was to cut Maj. Church [99] and his Forces off half their pay, they should sit there till the next Spring. Whereupon it was Re-assumed: So that they had just their bare Wages. But as yet never had any Allowance for the great Guns and Stores; neither has Maj Church had any Allowance for all his Travel and great Expences in Raising the said Forces Volunteers.

<sup>267</sup> Pirogue, boat of savages. — Spiers and Surenne.

The Fifth and Last Expedition, East.

IN the Year 1703, 4. Major Church had an account of the miserable Devestations made on Deerfield,<sup>269</sup> a Town in the Westward parts of this Province, and the horrible Barbarities & Cruelties exercised on those poor Innocent People, (by the French & Indians) especially of their Cruelties towards that worthy Gentlewoman Mrs. Williams,<sup>270</sup> and several others, whom they March'd in that

<sup>268</sup> Lieut. Gov. William Stoughton. See note 191, ante.

<sup>269</sup> Deerfield was destroyed 29 Feb., 1704; 38 were slain in the palisaded village and 9 in the meadow fight; and 112 were taken, of whom 2 soon escaped, 22 were slain or perished on their way to Canada, 28 remained in Canada, and 60 returned. A few of the captives and of the slain — 8 or 9 of each — belonged to other towns. [Judd's Hist. Hadley, 272.] Church probably had forgotten the exact sequence of events when dictating this, as his letter to Gov. Dudley is dated 5 Feb., 1704 — 24 days before Deerfield fell.

<sup>270</sup> Mrs. Eunice Williams was daughter of Rev. Eleazer Mather of North-

extream Season; forcing them to carry great loads, and when any of them by their hard usage could not bare with it, were knock'd on the head, and so kill'd in cool Blood. All which with some other horrible Instances done by those Barbarous Salvages, which Maj. Church himself was an eye witness to in his former Travels in the Eastward parts, did much astonish him. To see a Woman that those Barbarous Salvages had taken and kill'd, expos'd in a most brutish manner (as can be express'd) with a Young Child seiz'd fast with strings to her breast; which Infant had no apparent wound, which doubtless was left alive to suck its dead Mothers Breast, and so miserably to perish & dye. Also to see other poor Children hanging upon Fences dead, of either Sex, in their own poor Rags, not worth their stripping them of, in scorn and derision. Another Instance was, of a straggling Souldier, who was found at Casco, expos'd in a shameful and barbarous manner; his body being staked up, his head cut off, and a hogs head set in the room, his body rip'd up, and his heart and inwards taken out, and private Members cut off, and hung with belts of their own, the inwards at one side of his body, and his private at the other, in scorn & derision of the English Souldiers, &c. These and such like Barbarities caused Major Church to express himself to this ampton, and wife of Rev. John Williams of Deerfield (who was son of Dea. Samuel, of Roxbury, who was eldest son of Robert); was married 21 July, 1687; taken captive, 29 Feb., 1703; was murdered on the road to Canada on the second day's march by her Indian captor. [Savage's Gen. Dict. iv: 563; Holland's Hist. West. Mass. i: 153; Hoyt's Antiq. Researches, 190.]

purpose, That if he were Commander in Chief of these Provinces, he would soon put an end to those barbarities done by the Barbarous Enemy, by making it his whole business to fight and destroy those Salvages, as they did our poor Neighbours; which doubtless might have been done if rightly managed, and that in a short time &c. So that these with the late Inhumanities done upon the Inhabitants of Deerfield, made such an Impression on his heart as cannot well be expressed; so that his Blood boyl'd within him, making such Impulses on his Mind, that he forgot all former treatments, which were enough to hinder any Man especially the said Maj. Church from doing any further Service. Notwithstanding [100] all which, having a mind to take some Satisfaction on the Enemy, his heart being full. Took his Horse & went from his own Habitation near Seventy Miles,<sup>271</sup> to wait upon his Excellency, and offered his Service to the Queen, his Excellency & the Country; which his Excellency readily accepted of, and desired Maj. Church to draw a Scheme for the ensuing action or actions; so taking leave, went home, and drew it: which is as followeth.

<sup>271</sup> Church was now in the last year of his residence at Fall River (then Tiverton). [Part I. xxxiii.] This is by the present direct route scarcely more than 51 miles from Boston; and the more circuitous roads then existing could hardly bring it up to 70. I think Col. Church, when dictating this paragraph, forgot that he had not, at the date here referred to, removed, as he did so soon after, back to Little Compton; or the Governor might have been absent from Boston fifteen or twenty miles northward, at that time, so as to have lengthened his journey by that much.

Tiverton, February 5. 1703, 4.

May it please your Excellency,

According to your request when I was last with your Self; and in obedience thereunto, I present you with these following lines, that concern the preparation for next Springs Expedition, to Attack the Enemy. According to my former Direction, for it is good to have a full stroke at them first, before they have opportunity to Run for it; for the first of our action will be our opportunity to destroy them, and to prevent their running away, in way-laying every passage; and make them know we are in good earnest, and so we being in a diligent use of means, we may hope for a blessing from the Almighty, and that He will be pleased to put a dread in their hearts, that they may fall before us and perish: For my advice is,

1st. That Ten or Twelve hundred good able Souldiers, well equip'd be in a readiness fit for action by the first of April at the furthest, for then will be time to be upon action.

2ly. That five & forty or fifty good Whale-boats be had ready, well fitted, with five good Oars, and 12 or 15 good Paddles to every Boat: And upon the Wail<sup>272</sup> of each Boat five pieces of strong Leather be fastned on each side to slip five small Ash bars thro', that so when ever they land the Men may step over-board, & slip in said bars a-crofs, and take up said Boat, that she may not be hurt against the Rocks. And that two suitable Brass Kittles be provided to belong to each Boat, to dress the Mens Viſtuals in, to make their Lives comfortable.

<sup>272</sup> The wale is the plank that rims and giving strength to its curves. — the outside of the boat, stiffening it, Totten.

3ly. That 4 or 500 pair of good Indian Shoes be made ready, fit for the Service, for the English & Indians, that muſt improve the Whale-boats, and Birch Canoo's, for they will be very proper, and ſafe for that Service; and let there be a good Store of Cow Hides, well Tann'd, for a ſupply of ſuch Shoes; and Hemp to make Thread, and Wax, to mend & make more of ſuch Shoes, when wanted, and a good ſtore of Awls.

4ly. That there be a 100 large Hatchets<sup>273</sup> or light Axes made pretty broad, & ſteeled with the beſt Steel that can be got, and made by workmen, that may cut very well, and hold, that the Hemlock knots may not brake nor turn them; to widden the landing places up the Falls, for it may happen that we may get up with ſome of our Whale-boats to their Falls or Head-quarters.

5ly. That there be a ſuitable quantity of ſmall Bags, or Wollets provided, that every Man that wants may have one, to put up his Bullets in, of ſuch a ſize as will fit his Gun, (and not ſerved as at Caſco.<sup>274</sup>) That every Mans bag be ſo Marked that he may not change it: for if ſo, it will make a great confuſion in action; that every Mans ſtore of Ball be weighed to him, that ſo he may be accountable, & may not ſquander it away; and alſo his ſtore of Powder, that ſo he

<sup>273</sup> Our word "hatchet" comes from the diminutive of the French hache, a little axe. Very likely Church uſed the common Canadian name for what he wanted to deſcribe, ſo that this is not a miſprint for "hatchets," but the plural of the French.

<sup>274</sup> See p. 22, ante.

may try his Powder & Gun be [101] fore action. And that every particular Company may have a Barrel of Powder to themselves, and so marked that it by no means may be changed; that men may know before hand, and may not be cheated out of their Lives, by having bad Powder; Or not knowing how to use it: and this will prove a great advantage to the action.

6ly. That Col John Gorham, if he may be prevailed with may be concerned in the management of the Whale-boats, he having been formerly concerned in the Eastern Parts, and experienced in that affair. And Whale-men then will be very serviceable in this Expedition, which having a promise made to them, that they shall be released in good season to go home a Whaling in the Fall; your Excellency will have men enough.

7ly. That there may be raised for this Service 300 Indians at least, & more if they may be had; for I know certainly of my own knowledge, that they exceed most of our English in hunting & sculking in the woods, being always us'd to it; and it must be practised if ever we intend to destroy those *Indian Enemies.

8ly. That the Souldiers already out Eastward in the Service; By men of known judgment may take a survey of them and their Arms; and see if their Arms be good, and that they know how to use them, in shooting right at a Mark; and that they be men of good Reason & Sence, to know how to manage themselves in so difficult a piece of Service, as this Indian hunting is; for bad men are but a clogg and hindrance to an Army, being a trouble and vexation to good Commanders, and so many Mouths to devour the Countries Provision, and a hindrance to all good action.

9ly. That special care be had in taking up the whale-boats, that they be good and fit for that Service; that so the Country be not cheated, as formerly, in having rotten-Boats; and as much care that the Owners may have good satisfaction for them.

10ly. That the Tenders or Transports, Vessels to be improved in this action be good Deck'd Vessels, not too big, because of going up several Rivers; having 4 or 6 small Guns a-piece for defence, and the fewer Men will defend them. And there is enough such Vessels to be had.

11ly. To conclude all, If your Excellency will be pleased to make your Self Great and us a happy People, as to the destroying of our Enemies, and easing of our Taxes, &c. be pleased to draw forth all those Forces now in Pay in all the Eastward Parts, both at Saco & Casco-Bay; for those two Trading-Houses never did any good, nor never will, and are not worthy the name of Queens Forts; and the first building of them, had no other Effect, but to lay us under Tribute to that wreached Pagan Crew; and I hope will never be wanted, for that they were first built for: but sure it is, they are very serviceable to them, for they get many a good advantage of us to destroy our Men, and laugh at us for our folly, that we should be at so much cost & trouble to do a thing that does us so much harm, and no manner of good: but to the contrary, when they see all our Forces drawn forth, and in the pursuit of them, They will think that we begin to be rouzed up and to be awake, and will not be satisfied with what they have pleas'd to leave us, but are resolv'd to Retake from them, that they formerly took from us, and drive them out of their Country also. The which being done, then to build a Fort at a suitable time and in a convenient place; and it [102] will be very honourable to your Excellency & of great Service to Her Majesty, & to the enlargement of her Majesty's Government: (The Place meant being at Port Royal.)

12ly. That the objection made against drawing off the Forces in the Eastward Parts will be no damage to the inhabitants; for former Experience teacheth us, that so soon as drawn into their Country they will presently forsake ours to take care of their own: And that there be no failure in making preparation of these things afore-mentioned, for many times the want of small things, prevent the compleating of great Actions; and that every thing be in a readines before the Forces be raised, to prevent Charges; and the Enemy having Intelligence: And that the General Court be moved to make suitable Acts, for the encouraging both English & Indians; that so men of business may freely offer Estates and Concerns to Serve the Publick.

This hoping what I have taken the pains to Write in the sincerity of my heart and good affection, will be well accepted; I make bold to subscribe, as I am your Excellency's most Devoted and Humble Servant,

Benjamin Church.

Then returning to his Excellency presented the said Scheme, which his Excellency approv'd of; and return'd it again to Maj. Church and desired him to see that every thing was provided telling him that he should have an Order from the Commissary General to proceed. Then returned home and made it his whole business to provide Oars and Paddles and a Vessel to carry them round; and then return'd again to his Excellency, who gave him a Commission: which is as followeth.

JOSEPH DUDLEY Esq; <sup>275</sup> Captain General and Governour in Chief in and over Her Majesty's Provinces of the Massachusetts-Bay & New-Hampshire in New-England in America, and Vice Admiral of the same.

To Benjamin Church Esqr; Greeting.

‘ BY Virtue of the Power & Authority in & by her Majesty's Royal Commission to me granted I do by these presents, Reposing special Trust and Confidence in your Loyalty, Courage and good Conduct, Constitute and Appoint you to be Colonel of all the Forces raised and to

<sup>275</sup> Joseph Dudley was son of Gov. Thomas, of Roxbury; freeman, 1672; Deputy, 1673-5; Artillery Company, 1677; Assistant, 1676-85; went to England in 1682; President of the Colonies of Mass. and N. Hamp., 1686; was of Andros's Council, and Chief Justice of the unconstitutional Supreme Court; was imprisoned here; went to England in 1689; was Deputy Governor of the Isle of Wight eight years; came home 1702, as Governor of Mass. Col., which place he filled until Nov. 1715; died 2 April, 1720. His wife was Rebecca, dau. of Edward Tyng; they had Thomas, Edward, Joseph, Paul, Samuel, John, Rebecca, Catharine, Ann, William, Daniel, Catharine, and Mary. [Savage's Gen. Dict. ii: 76; N. E. Hist. and Gen. Reg. i: 71.]

‘ be raised for Her Majesty’s Service against the French &
 ‘ Indian Enemy and Rebels, that shall be improved in the ‘ Service to the Eastward of Casco-Bay; And to be Cap‘ tain of the first Company of the said Forces. You are ‘ therefore carefully and diligently to perform the Duty of ‘ a Colonel and Captain, by Leading, Ordering & Exer‘ cising the said Regiment & Company in Arms, both In‘ ferious Officers & Souldiers; and to keep them in good ‘ Order and Discipline. Hereby commanding them to ‘ Obey you as their Colonel and Captain; And with them
 ‘ to do and Execute all acts of hostility against the said ‘ Enemy & Rebels. And you are to observe & follow ‘ such Orders and Directions as you shall receive from my ‘ Self or other your Superiour Officer, according to the ‘ Rules & Discipline of War, pursuant to the Trust reposed
 ‘ in you. Given under my Hand & Seal at Arms at Boston
 ‘ the 18th day of March. In the Third Year of Her Ma-‘ jesty’s Reign. Anno Dom. 1703, 4.

By his Excellency’s Command, Isaac Addington Secr.

ƒ. DUDLEY. [103]

Col. Church no sooner received his Commission, but proceeded to the raising of Men Volunteers, by going into every Town within the three Counties which was formerly Plymouth Government;<sup>276</sup> advising with the Chief Officer of each Company, to call his Company together, that so he might have the better opportunity to discourse & encourage them to Serve their Queen and Country; treating them with Drink convenient; told them he did not doubt but with God's blessing to bring them all home again; all which, with many other arguments animated their hearts to do Service, so that Col. Church enlisted out of some Companies near 20 Men, & others 15. He having raised a sufficient number of English Souldiers, proceeded to the enlisting of Indians in all those parts where they dwelt, which was a great fategue & expence; being a People that need much treating, especially with Drink &c. Having enlisted the most of his Souldiers in those parts, who daily lay upon him; was not less than 5 l. per day expences, some days, in Victuals & Drink; who doubtless thought (especially the English) that the Country would have re-imburst it again, otherways they would hardly accepted it of him. Col. Church's Souldiers both English and Indians in those parts being raised, March'd them all down to Nantasket,<sup>277</sup> according to his Excellency's directions; where being came, the following Gentlemen were Commiffionated to be Commanders of each particular Company, viz Lieut. Col. Gorham, Captains John Brown,<sup>278</sup>

<sup>276</sup> When Plymouth Colony was merged in Massachusetts, in 1692, it comprised Plymouth County (including Plymouth, Duxbury, Scituate, Marshfield, Bridgewater, Middleborough, and Accord Pond plantation [Abington]); Bristol County (including Taunton, Rhoboth, Dartmouth, Swansea, Bristol, Little Compton, Freetown, and Pocasset [Tiverton]); and Barnstable County

(including Barnstable, Sandwich, Yarmouth, Eastham, Rochester, Falmouth, Mashpee, and Monamoy or Chatham). [Baylies's Plym. Col. Part IV: 97.]

<sup>277</sup> Nantasket was what is now Hull, accessible by land over the neck which unit<sup>es</sup> it to Hingham and Cohasset, and favorably situated toward Boston harbor — of whose entrance its Point Allerton is one of the gateposts — for the embarkation of troops.

<sup>278</sup> John Brown was "approved as Captain of the town of Swanfey, 4 June, 1686." [Plym. Col. Rec. vi: 189.]

Constant Church,<sup>279</sup> James Cole,<sup>280</sup> John Dyer,<sup>281</sup> John Cook, Caleb Williamson<sup>282</sup> and Edward Church,<sup>283</sup> of the Forces raised by Col. Church, each Company being filled up with English & Indians as they agreed among themselves, and by the Colonel's directions; Capt. Lamb,<sup>284</sup> and Capt. Miricks<sup>285</sup> Company, who were raised by his Excellency's direction, were ordered to joyn those aforefaid under the Command of Col Church. Matters being brought thus far on, Col. Church waited upon his Excellency at Boston to know his pleasure, what further measures were to be taken; and did humbly move that they might have liberty in their Instructions to make an Attack upon Port Royal:<sup>286</sup> Being very well satisfi'd in his opinion, that with the blessing of God, with what Forces they had or should have; and Whale-boats so well fitted with Oars & Pad-

<sup>279</sup> See references to his name in the Index of Part I.

<sup>280</sup> James Cole was admitted freeman of Swansea, 1682; Ensign, 1686: Lieutenant, 1689; Deputy, 1690. [Plym. Col. Rec. vi: 86, 189, 223, 240.]

<sup>281</sup> I cannot certainly identify this captain; nor Cook, next named.

<sup>282</sup> Caleb Williamson, of Barnstable, was perhaps son of Timothy of Marthfield; married Mary Cobb; had Mary, William, Timothy, Sarah, Ebenezer, Mercy, and Martha. He removed to Hartford, Conn., where he died 24 Dec., 1738, et. 87. [Savage's Gen. Dict. iv: 572.]

<sup>283</sup> [See Part I. xlv.]

<sup>284</sup> Col. Joshua Lamb, son of Thomas of Roxbury, in 1713, one of the first

proprietors of Leicester? [Barry's Hist. Framingham, 311; Washburn's Hist. Leicester, 9, 10.]

<sup>285</sup> There was an Isaac Mirick, son of James of Newbury, who was now, if alive, near 40 years old; having been born 6 Jan., 1665. [Coffin's Hist. Newbury, 310.] This captain's name further on is seen to have been Isaac (p. 119, orig. paging.)

<sup>286</sup> Port Royal was a fort upon the inlet of that name almost due south from the outlet of the St. John, across the Bay of Fundy, which is here some two leagues wide. It was named by De Monts, and was exceedingly difficult of access because of the narrowness of the mouth of the bay; only one ship being able to enter at a time, and dles, as they had with them, might be sufficient to have taken it. His Excellency (looking upon Col Church) replied, He could not admit of that, by reason he had by the advice of Her Majesty's Council writ to Her Majesty about the taking of Port Royal Fort, and how it should be disposed of when taken, &c. However Col. Church proceeding to get every thing ready for the Forces down at Nantasket, which was the place of Parade. He happening one day to be at Capt. Belchers,<sup>287</sup> where his Excellency happened to come; who was pleased to order Col. Church to put on his Sword, and walk with him up the Common; which he readily complied with: where being come, he saw two Mortar pieces with Shells, and an Engineer trying with them, to throw a Shell from them to any [104] spot of ground where he said it should fall: Which when Col. Church had seen done, gave him great encouragement & hopes that it would promote their going to Port Royal, which he had solicited for; and returning from thence after they had seen them try'd by the said Engineer, and performing what was proposed. Coming near to Capt. William Clarks<sup>288</sup>-house over against the that stern foremost, and with great precautions. [Champlain's Voyages, 21; Shea's Charlevoix, i: 253.]

<sup>287</sup> Andrew Belcher (Part I. notes 52 and 138) was son of Andrew, of Sudbury and Cambridge; lived first at Hartford, then at Charlestown, and then at Boston; freeman, 1677; of Com. of Safety in the Andros Insurrection; Counsellor, 1702, to his death, 31 Oct.,

1717. He married Sarah, dau. of Jonathan Gilbert, of Hartford; had Andrew, Deborah, Deborah, Mary, Ann, Martha, Elizabeth, and Jonathan, the Governor. He was a "very rich and leading man in the town." [Savage's Gen. Dict. i: 156. Drake's Hist. Bos. i: 539.]

<sup>288</sup> William Clarke was "of North Boston" in 1699, and one of the peti-

Horfe-shoe,<sup>289</sup> his Excellency was invited by Capt. Clark to walk over and take a Glafs of Wine; which he was pleas'd to accept of, and took Col. Church with him; and in the time they were taking a Glafs of Wine, Col. Church once more prefumed to fay to his Excellency; Sir, I hope that now we fhall go to Port Royal in order to take it; thofe Mortars being very fuitable for fuch an Enterprize. His Excellency was pleas'd to reply; Col. Church you muft fay no more of that matter, for the Letter I told you of I writ by the advice of her Majesty's Council, now lyes at home on the board before the Lords Commiffioners of her Majesty's foraign Plantations, &c. After fome days every thing being ready to Embark, Col. Church received his Inftuctions: which are as followeth.

By his Excellency JOSEPH DUDLEY Esq; Captain General and Governour in Chief in and over Her Majesty's Province of the Maffachufetts-Bay, &c. in New-England, and Vice Admiral of the fame.

Inftuctions for Colonel Benjamin Church in the prefent Expedition.

‘ IN Purfuance of the Commiffion given you to take the Chief Command of the Land and Sea Forces by me raifed, equipped and fet forth on Her Majesties Service, tioners for a bankrupt law “as in England”; constable, 1700; 1711, a “fearcher” for provisions for Hovenden Walker’s Canada fleet; 1722, was one of the purchafers of pews in Chrif’ts

Church. [Drake’s Hift. Bost. i: 518, 521, 540, 567; Snow’s Hift. Bost. 220.]

<sup>289</sup> The “Horfe-shoe” was a tavern, believed to have been at the North End.

‘ against her open declared Enemies the French, and Indian Rebels. You are to Observe the following Instructions.

‘ First. You are to take care, That the duties of Religion be attended on board the several Vessels, and in the several Company’s under your Command, by daily Prayers unto God, and Reading his holy word; And that the Lords Day be observed & duly Sanctified to the utmost of your power, as far as the circumstances and the necessity of the Service can admit; that so you may have the presence of God with, and obtain His Blessing on your Undertaking.

‘ You are to take care, That your Souldiers have their due allowance of Provisions & other necessaries; That their Arms be well fixt, and kept fit for Service, and that they be furnished with a suitable Quantity of Powder and Ball, and be always in readines to pass upon duty.

‘ That good Order & Discipline be maintained; And all disorders, drunkenness, prophane Swearing, Curfing, Omission or neglect of Duty, disobedience to Officers, Mutiny, Desertion, and Sedition be duely punished according to the Rules & Articles of War; The which you are, once a Month or oftner, to cause to be published & made known to your Officers and Souldiers for their Observance & Direction in their duty. Let notorious & Capital Offenders be sent away to the next Garisons, there to be Imprisoned until they can be proceeded with. [105]

‘ Let the Sick and wounded be carefully look’d after,

‘ and accommodated after the best manner your circumstances will admit of, and be sent either to Casco Fort, or to Mr. Peperels<sup>290</sup> at Kittery, which may be easiest, so soon as you can.

‘ You are forthwith to send away the Forces & Stores by the Transports, with the Whale-boats to Piscataqua, on Kittery side, there to attend your coming; whither you are to follow them with all Expedition.

‘ You are to Embark on the Province Galley, Capt. Southack Commander, And let Lieut Col. Gorham go on board Capt. Gallop; <sup>291</sup> who are both directed to attend your Motion on the French side; after which they are to return. Let the Commanders of all the Store Sloops & Transports know that they Sail, Anchor and Serve at your direction.

‘ When you Sail from Piscataqua, keep at such distance off the Shoar, that you be not observed by the Enemy to Alarm them. Stop at Montinicus,<sup>292</sup> and there Embark the Forces in the Whale-boats for the Main, to range that part of the Country, in search of the Enemy, to Mount Desart; sending the Vessels to meet you there; and after having refreshed & recruited your Souldiers,

<sup>290</sup> William Pepperell was a native of Cornwall, Eng.; emigrated to the Isles of Shoals, 1676; thence removed to Kittery point, Me., where he carried on a large fishery; was a distinguished merchant and magistrate, and died 15 Feb., 1734, æt. 85. He married Margaret, dau. of John Bray, of Kittery; had Andrew, Mary, Margery, Joanna, Meriam, Dorothy, Jane, and

[Sir] William. [Savage's Gen. Dict. iii. 392; Williamson's Hist. Me. i: 687.]

<sup>291</sup> Samuel Gallop, son of Samuel, and grandson of John, of Boston?

<sup>292</sup> Matinicus is an island off the coast of Maine, early inhabited; containing 750 acres. It is 17 miles S. E. of Owl's Head (Thomaston), and 10 E. of Metinic. [Williamson's Hist. Me. i: 63.]

‘ proceed to Machias, and from thence to Passamequado;
 ‘ And having Effected what spoils you possibly may upon
 ‘ the Enemy in those parts, Embark on your Vessels for ‘ Menis and Signecto, touching at Grand Manan, if you ‘ see cause, and from Menis & Signecto to Port Royal Gut;
 ‘ And use all possible Methods for the burning and destroy‘ ing of the Enemies Housing, and breaking the Dams of ‘ their Corn grounds in the said several places, and make ‘ what other Spoils you can upon them, and bring away
 ‘ the Prisoners. In your return call at Penobscot, and do ‘ what you can there, and so proceed Westward.

‘ This will probably imploy you a Month or Six Weeks;
 ‘ when you will draw together again, and by the latter end ‘ of June consider whither you can march to Norrigwack,
 ‘ or other parts of their Planting to destroy their Corn & ‘ Settlements: And keep the Expedition on foot until the ‘ middle of August next.

‘ Notwithstanding the particularity of the afore-going ‘ Instruction, I lay you under no restraint, because I am ‘ well assured of your Courage, Care, Caution and Industry;
 ‘ But refer you to your own Resolves, by the Advice of ‘ your Commission Officers, not under the degree of Cap‘ tain’s, and the Sea-Commission Captains (whom you will,
 ‘ as often as you can, Advise with) according to the Intel‘ ligence you may receive, or as you may find needful upon ‘ the Spot.

‘ You are by every opportunity, and once a Week cer‘ tainly, by some means, either by way of Casco, Piscata-

‘ qua, or otherwise to acquaint me of your proceedings
 ‘ and all occurrents, and what may be further necessary for ‘ the Service. And to observe such further & other In‘ structions as you shall receive from my Self. [106]

‘ As often as you may, Advise with Capt. Smith<sup>293</sup> and Capt. Rogers<sup>294</sup> Commanders of Her Majesty’s Ships.

‘ Let your Minister, Commissary & Surgeons be treated ‘ with just respects.

‘ I Pray to God to preserve, prosper and succeed you.

‘ Given under my hand at Boston, the Fourth Day of ‘ May, 1704. J. DUDLEY.

Pursuant to his Instructions he sent away his Transports, and Forces to Piscataqua, but was oblig’d himself to wait upon his Excellency by Land to Piscataqua in order to raise more Forces, in the way thither; and did raise a Company under the Command of Capt. Harridon; <sup>295</sup> taking care also to provide a Pilot for them in the Bay of Fundce:
 Col. Church being directed to one — Fellows,<sup>296</sup> whom he met with at Ipswich. And going from thence to Pif-

<sup>293</sup> Thomas, commander of the frigate
Ferfey. [Drake’s Church (ed. 1827), 257.]

<sup>294</sup> George, commander of the frigate
Goffort. [Ibid.]

<sup>295</sup> John Haraden (Harradin, Har- rendine) was son of Edward, who went to Gloucester from Ipswich 1657; he led a maritime life; 1709, was master of a sloop fitted out to capture a French privateer; 1711, he was pilot of ship

“Montague” in the expedition to Canada, for which service he received an allowance from the General Court, 1714; died 11 Nov., 1724. He married Sarah Giddings, by whom he had several children. [Babson’s Hist. Gloucester, 98.]

<sup>296</sup> William Fellows was one of the first settlers of Ipswich, and left a large family, from which this pilot was probably descended. [Felt’s Hist. Ipswich, 11.]

cataqua with his Excellency, was there met by that worthy Gentleman Maj. Winthrop Hilton,<sup>297</sup> who was very helpful to him in the whole Expedition, whose Name & Memory ought not to be forgot. Being ready to Embark from Piscataqua; Col. Church requested the Commanders of her Majesty's Ships, Capt. Smith & Capt. Rogers to tarry at Piscataqua a Fortnight, that so they might not be discovered by the Enemy before he had done some spoil upon them. Then moving in their Transports, as directed, Got safe into Montinucus undiscovered by the Enemy. Next Morning early fitted out two Whale boats with men, Capt. John Cook in one, and Capt. Constant Church in the other; and sent them to Green-Island<sup>298</sup> upon a discovery; and coming there they parted, one went to one part, and the other to the other part, that so they might not miss of what could be discovered; where they met with old Lafaure<sup>299</sup> with his two Sons Thomas & Timothy, and a Canada Indian. The Enemy seeing that they were discovered, threw down their Ducks and Eggs, who had got a con-

<sup>297</sup> Winthrop Hilton was son of Edward of Exeter, and grandson of Edward of Dover; born about 1671; was the leading military man of the Province; 1706, was made Judge of Com. Pleas, which office he held to his death; was appointed Counsellor, but was killed by the Indians, 23 June, 1710, in that part of Exeter which is now Epping. He married Ann Wilson, who afterwards married Col. Jonathan Wadleigh. They had Judith, Ann, Deborah, Elizabeth, Bridget, and Winthrop. [N. E. Hist. and Gen. Reg. vii: 51.]

<sup>298</sup> There are two "Green" islands N. E. of Matinicus, and near to it, each of 2 or 3 acres only.

<sup>299</sup> Penhallow calls him "Monsieur Lafebure, and his two sons, with a Canada Indian." [Indian Wars (ed. 1859), 28.] Church himself calls him Le Faver, further on (p. 110, old paging).

siderable quantity of each, and ran to their Canoo's, getting into them, stood directly for the Maine; looking behind them, perceived the Whale-boats to gain so fast upon them, clapt side by side and all four got into one Canoo, which prov'd of little advantage to them, for the Whale boats gained so much upon them, and got so near that Capt. Cook firing at the Stores-man<sup>300</sup> which was the Indian, & happen'd to graze his skull, and quite spoil'd his Paddling: upon which old Lafaure and Sons seeing their companions condition soon beg'd for quarter, and had it granted: the two Captains with their success presently return'd to their Commander, taking care that their Captives should not discourse together before they were examined; when brought to Col. Church, he order'd them to be apart; and first proceeded to examine old Lafaure, who he found to be very surly & cross, so that he could gain no manner of intelligence by him; upon which the Commander was resolv'd to put in practice what he had formerly done at Segneflo;<sup>301</sup> ordering his Indians to make two large heaps of dry wood at some distance one from the other, and to set a large stake in the ground close to [107] each heap; then ordered the two Sons Thomas & Timothy to be brought and bound to the Stakes; also ordering his Indians to paint themselves with colours which they had brought for that use. Then he Colonel proceeded to examine first Timothy; and told him, He had examin'd his Father already; and that if he told him the truth he would save his Life, and take him into his Service; and that he should have good pay & live well. He answer'd; That he would tell him the truth; and gave him an account of every thing he knew; which was all Minuted down: He being ask'd whither his Brother Thomas did not know more than he? His answer was, Yes. For his Brother Thomas had a Commission sent him from the Governour of Canada, to Command a Company of Indians who were gathered together at a Place where some French Gentlemen lately arrived from Canada, who were Officers to Command the rest that were to go Westward to fight the English, and that there was sent to his Father and Brother Tom, a considerable quantity of Flower, Fruit, Ammunition and Stores, for the supply of the said Army. He being ask'd, Whither he could Pilot our Forces to them? said, No: But his Brother Tom could, for he had hid it and that he was not then with him. The Colonel ask'd him, What Gentlemen those were that came from Canada? He answered Monsieur Gordan,<sup>302</sup> and Mr. Sharkee.<sup>303</sup> Being ask'd where they were? Answered at Passamequado; building a Fort there. Being also ask'd, What number of Indians and French

<sup>300</sup> Steerfman; i.e., the paddler in the stern of the canoe.

<sup>301</sup> Stiles and Southwick reprint this Seneclo.

<sup>302</sup> Penhallow (ed. 1859, p. 29) makes this Guorden; Stiles and Southwick make it Gourdan; and Church, when referring (p. 110, old paging) to his capture, does the same. The name was probably Gourdon. [Hutchinson's Hist. Mass. ii: 133.]

<sup>303</sup> Penhallow says Sharkee (his name seems to have been Chartiers [Hutchinson's Hist. Mass. ii: 133]) was taken prisoner by this expedition; which, it will be seen further on, is an error, Col. Church having "miss'd" him on this foray. [Indian Wars, 29.]

there were at Penobscot? He answered, there were several Families, but they liv'd scattering. Ask'd him further, If he would Pilot our Forces thither? Answered, He would if the Commander would not let the Salvages Rost him. Upon which the Colonel ordered him to be loosed from the Stake, and took him by the hand, told him, He would be as kind to him as his own Father; at which he seem'd to be very thankful. And then the Colonel proceeded to examine his Brother Tom, and told him that he had examined his Father and Brother, and that his Brother had told him every tittle he knew; and that he knew more than his Brother Timothy did; and that if he would be Ingenious & confes all he knew, he should fare as well as his Brother, but if not, the Salvages should Rost him. Whereupon he solemnly promised that he would; and that he would Pilot him to every thing he knew, to the value of a Knife and Sheafe (which without doubt he did.) Then the Colonel immediately gave orders for the Whale-boats to be ready, and went directly over where the said Goods & Stores were, and found them as inform'd, took them on board the Boats, and returned to their Transports; and ordering Provisions to be put into every Mans Snap-sack for 6 or 8 days; so in the dusk of the Evening left their Transports, with Orders how they should act; and went directly for the Mainland of Penobscot, and Mouth of that River with their Pilots Tom & Timothy, who carried them directly to every Place & Habitation both of French & Indians thereabouts, with the assistance of one De [108] Young,<sup>304</sup> whom they carried out of Boston Goal for the same purpose, who was very serviceable to them: being there we kill'd and took every one both French & Indians, not knowing that any one did escape in all Penobscot; among those that were taken was St. Casteens Daughter, who said that her Husband was gone to France, to her Father Monsieur Casteen:<sup>305</sup> She having her Children with her, the Commander was very kind to her and them. All the Prisoners that were then taken, held to one Story in general, which they had from Lafauré's Sons; that there were no more Indians thereabouts, but enough of them at Passamequado; upon which they soon return'd to their Transports with their Prisoners & Plunder. The Commander giving order immediately for the Souldiers in the Whale-boats to have a recruit of Provisions for a further pursuit of the Enemy, giving orders to the Transports to stay a few days more there, and then go to Mount Desart (and there to stay for her Majesty's Ships, who were directed to come thither) and there to wait his further order. Then Col. Church with his Forces immediately imbark'd on board their Whale-boats, & proceeded to scour the Coast, and to try if they could discover any of the Enemy coming from Passamequado; making their stops in the day time (at all the Points & Places where they were certain the Enemy would Land, or come by with their Canoo's) and at Night to their Paddles. Then coming near where the Vessels were ordered to come, having made no discovery of the Enemy, went directly to Mount Desart, where the Transports were just come; and taking some Provisions for his Souldiers, gave direction for the Ships & Transports in 6 days to come directly to Passamequado, where they should find him & his Forces. Then immediately mov'd away in the Whale-boats & made diligent search along shore, as formerly, inspecting all Places where the Enemy was likely to lurk: Particularly at Machias; but found neither Fires nor Tracks. Coming afterwards to the West Harbour at Passamequado, where they entred upon action; an account whereof Col. Church did communicate to his Excellency, being as followeth.

<sup>304</sup> Penhallow (orig. ed. 17) has this name D'Young; which in the reprint of the New Hampshire Historical Society (Collections, i: 33), and in the Cincinnati reprint of 1859, is made

D. Young. The man was doubtless a French Canadian prisoner; probably one of Villeau's men. [See note 195, ante.]

<sup>305</sup> See note 34, ante.

May it please your Excellency,

‘ I Received Yours of this Instant Octob. 9th. with the ‘ two inclosed Informations, that concern my actions
 ‘ at Passamequado; which I will give a just and true ac‘ count of as near as possible I can (viz) on the 7th of June
 ‘ last 1704. In the evening we entred in at the Westward
 ‘ Harbour at said Passamequado;<sup>306</sup> coming up said Har‘ bour to an Island,<sup>307</sup> where landing, we came to a French

<sup>306</sup> There are three passages into Passamaquoddy bay, the western, the middle or ship channel, and the eastern. The western is that first reached in coasting from Machias, and lies between west Quoddy head and the island of Campo-bello.

<sup>307</sup> Moose island, on which Eastport now stands? The lay of the land suggests that it might be that.

‘house, and took a French Woman, and Children, the ‘Woman upon her Examination said, her Husband was ‘abroad a Fishing I ask’d her, whither there were any ‘Indians thereabouts? She said, Yes. There were a ‘great many, and several on that Island. I ask’d her, ‘whither she could Pilot me to them? Said, No. They ‘hid in the Woods. I ask’d her, when she saw them?
 ‘Answered, Just now, or a little while since. I ask’d [109]
 ‘her, whether she knew where they had laid their Canoo’s?
 ‘Answered, No. They carried their Canoo’s into the ‘woods with them. We then hastened away a-long shore, ‘seizing what Prisoners we could, taking old Lotriuel<sup>308</sup> and ‘his Family. This intelligence caus’d me to leave Col.
 ‘Gorham, and a considerable part of my Men (and Boats)
 ‘with him at that Island, partly to guard and secure those ‘Prisoners, being sensible it would be a great trouble to ‘have them to secure and guard at our next landing, where ‘I did really expect, and hope to have an opportunity, to ‘fight our Indian Enemies; for all our French Prisoners, ‘that we had taken at Penobscot, and a-long shore had in‘formed us, That when we came to the Place, where these ‘Canada Gentlemen lived, we should certainly meet with ‘the Salvages to fight us, those being the only Men that ‘set the Indians against us, or upon us, and were newly ‘come from Canada, to manage the War against us (plead‘ing in this account and information their own Innocency)
 ‘and partly in hopes that he the said Col. Gorham would

<sup>308</sup> See note 255, ante.

‘ have a good opportunity in the Morning to destroy some ‘ of those our Enemies, (we were informed by the said ‘ French Woman as above,) with the use of his Boats, as ‘ I had given direction. Ordering also Maj. Hilton, to pass ‘ over to the next Island, that lay East of us<sup>309</sup> (with a small ‘ Party of Men and Boats) to surprize & destroy any of the ‘ Enemy, that in their Canoo’s might go here or there, ‘ from any place, to make their flight from us, and as he ‘ had opportunity to take any French Prisoners. We then ‘ immediately moved up the River in the dark Night thro’
 ‘ great difficulty, by reason of the Eddys and Whirlpools,
 ‘ made with the fierceness of the current.<sup>310</sup> And here it ‘ may be hinted that we had information that Lotriel had ‘ lost some of his Family passing over to the next Island, ‘ falling into one of these Eddys were drowned; which the ‘ two Pilots told to discourage me. But I said nothing of ‘ that nature shall do it; for I was resolved to venture up,
 ‘ and therefore forthwith Paddling our Boats, as privately
 ‘ as we could, and with as much expedition as we could ‘ make with our Paddles, and the help of a strong Tide, we ‘ came up to Monsieur Gourdans, a little before day; where ‘ taking notice of the Shoar, and finding it somewhat open ‘ and clear, I ordered Capt. Mirick and Capt. Cole, (having ‘ English Companies) to tarry with several of the Boats to ‘ be ready, that if any of the Enemy should come down

<sup>309</sup> Deer island?

<sup>310</sup> The tide rises here from 24 to 28 feet, and, except at favorable hours, the rush of waters coming down through these narrow inlets from the Schoodic or St. Croix river makes “eddy’s,” “whirlpools,” and “a fierce current,” as Church describes it.

‘ out of the brush into the Bay, (it being very broad in ‘ that place) <sup>311</sup> with their Canoo’s, they might take and ‘ destroy them. Ordering the remainder of the Army,
 ‘ being landed, <sup>312</sup> (with my self and the other Officers)
 ‘ to March up into the Woods, with a wide Front, and ‘ to keep at a considerable distance; for that if they should ‘ run in heaps, the Enemy would have the greater advan‘ tage: and further directing them that if possible, they ‘ should destroy the Enemy with their Hatches, and not ‘ fire a Gun. This order I alwayes gave at landing, tell‘ ing them the inconveniency of firing, in that it might be ‘ first dangerous [110] to themselves, they being many of ‘ them Young Souldiers, (as I had fometimes observed, ‘ that one or two Guns being fired, many others would ‘ fire, at they knew not what; as happened presently after)
 ‘ and it would alarm the Enemy, and give them the oppor‘ tunity to make their escape; and it might alarm the whole ‘ Country, and also prevent all further action from taking ‘ effect Orders being thus passed, we moved directly ‘ towards the Woods, Le Faver’s Son directing us to a ‘ little Hutt or Wigwam, which we immediately fur-‘ rounded with a few Men, the rest Marching directly up ‘ into the Woods, to see what Wigwams or Hutts they ‘ could discover; my self made a little stop, Ordering the ‘ Pilot to tell them in the Hutt, that they were surrounded

<sup>311</sup> They had now emerged from the narrow western entrance into upper Passamaquoddy bay, which is some 8 or 10 miles in width.

<sup>312</sup> They must have landed upon what is now the town of Perry, Me.; or possibly further up, in Robbinston, or the lower part of Calais.

' with an Army, and that if they would come forth, and
 ' furrender themselves, they should have good quarter, but ' if not, they should be all knock'd on the head and die:
 ' One of them shewed himself, I ask'd, Who he was? He ' said Gourdan; and begg'd for quarter: I told him he ' should have good quarter; adding further, That if there ' were any more in the house they should come out: Then ' came out two men; Gourdan said, They were his Sons,
 ' and asked quarter for them, which was also granted.
 ' Then came out a Woman, and a little Boy; she fell upon ' her knees, begg'd quarter for her self and Children, and ' that I would not suffer the Indians to kill them. I told ' them they should have good quarter and not be hurt.
 ' After which I ordered a small guard over them, and so
 ' mov'd presently up with the rest of my Company, after ' them that were gone before, but looking on my right ' hand over a little run, I saw something look black, just
 ' by me, stopped, and heard a talking, stepped over, and ' saw a little Hutt or Wigwam with a crowd of People
 ' round about it, which was contrary to my former direc' tions: Ask'd them what they were doing? They reply'd
 ' there was some of the Enemy in a house, and would not ' come out. I ask'd what House? They said a Bark-
 ' house. I hastily bid them pull it down, and knock them
 ' on the head, never asking whether they were French or ' Indians; they being all Enemies alike to me. And pass' ing then to them, and seeing them in great disorder, so ' many of the Army in a crowd together, acting so con‘trary to my Command & Direction, exposing themselves, ‘and the whole Army to utter ruine, by their so disorderly ‘crowding thick together; had an Enemy come upon ‘them in that interim, and fired a Volley amongst them, ‘they could not have mis’d a shot; and wholly neglecting ‘their duty, in not attending my orders, in searching dili- ‘gently for our lurking Enemies in their Wigwams, or by ‘their fires, where I had great hopes, and real expectation ‘to meet with them. I most certainly know that I was in ‘an exceeding great Passion, but not with those poor mis- ‘erable Enemies; for I took no notice of half a dozen of ‘the Enemy, when at the same time, I expected to be en- ‘gaged with some hundreds of them, of whom we had a ‘continued account who [111] were expected from Port ‘Royal side. In this heat of action, every word that I then ‘spoke, I cannot give an account of, and I presume it is ‘impossible.<sup>313</sup> I stop’d but little here, but went directly

<sup>313</sup> Church pleads for himself here as if he had been blamed, which was the fact. Hutchinson says, “Church seeing some of his men hovering over another hut, he called to them to know what they were doing; and upon their reply, that there were people in the house who would not come out, he, hastily bid his men knock them in the head; which order they immediately observed. He was much blamed for this after his return, and excused himself but indifferently. He feared the enemy might fall upon his men, whom he saw were off their guard, which put him in a passion.” [Hist. Mass. ii: 133.] No one can properly estimate his conduct, without remembering that he had been led, by the statements of his prisoners, to believe that he was near to a very large force of the enemy, who might fall upon his little company at any moment in overwhelming force, aided, as they would be, by darkness, the forest, and their own superior knowledge of the ground; and that he also felt, that the moral effect of some severity would be good upon his savage and half-savage foes. It will be seen, that, afterwards on his arrival at Baye les Mines, he made use of what happened here to good results.

‘ up into the woods, hoping to be better employed, with ‘ the rest of the Army, I listen’d to hear, and looked earn‘ estly to see what might be the next action; but meeting
 ‘ with many of the Souldiers, They told me, they had dis‘ covered nothing; we fetching a small compass round,
 ‘ came down again. It being pretty dark, I took notice,
 ‘ I saw two men lay dead as I thought, at the end of ‘ the house, where the door was, and immediately the ‘ Guns went off, and they fired every man as I thought,
 ‘ and most towards that place where I left the guard with ‘ Monsieur Gourdan. I had much ado to stop their firing,
 ‘ and told them, I thought they were mad, and I believed ‘ they had not killed and wounded less than 40 or 50 of ‘ our own Men. And I asked them what they shot at?
 ‘ They answered at a French man that ran away: but to ‘ admiration no man was kill’d, but he, & one of our own ‘ men wounded in the Leg; and I turning about, a French ‘ man spoke to me, and I gave him quarter. Day-light ‘ coming on and no discovery made of the Enemy, I went ‘ to the place where I had left Monsieur Gourdan, to ex‘ amine him, and his Sons, who agreed in their examina‘ tions; told me two of their men were abroad: It prov’d a ‘ damage; and further told me, That Monsieur Sharkee ‘ lived several Leagues up at the head of the River, at the ‘ Falls;<sup>314</sup> and all the Indians were fishing, and tending
 ‘ their Corn there; and that Monsieur Sharkee had sent

<sup>314</sup> Great Falls, — “where the water descends 20 feet in a short distance”? [Williamson’s Hist. Me. i: 86.]

‘ down to him, to come up to him to advise about the ‘ Indian Army, that was to go Westward; but he had ‘ returned him answer, his business was urgent, and he ‘ could not come up: and that Sharkee, and the Indians,
 ‘ would certainly be down that day, or the next at the fur‘ thest, to come to conclude of that matter. This was a ‘ short Nights action, and all sensible Men do well know, ‘ that actions done in the dark (being in the Night as ‘ aforesaid) under so many difficulties, as we then laboured ‘ under, as before related, was a very hard Task for one ‘ Man, matters being circumstanc’d as in this action; which ‘ would not admit of calling a Council; and at that time ‘ could not be confin’d there-unto; at which time I was ‘ transported above fear or any sort of dread; yet being ‘ sensible of the danger in my Armies crowding so thick ‘ together, and of the great duty incumbent on me to pre‘ serve them from all the danger I possibly could, for fur‘ ther improvement, in the Destruction of our implacable
 ‘ Enemies; am ready to conclude, that I was very quick & ‘ absolute in giving such Commands & Orders, as I then ap‘ prehended most proper and advantagious. And had it not ‘ been for the Intelligence I had received from the French
 ‘ we took at Penobscot, as before hinted, and the false re‘ port the French Woman (first took) gave me, I had not ‘ been in such haste. I question not but those French men
 ‘ that were slain, had the same good quar[112]ter of other ‘ Prisoners. But I ever look’d at it a good Providence of ‘ Almighty God, that some few of our cruel & bloody

‘ Enemies, were made sensible of their bloody Cruelties, ‘ perpetrated on my dear & loving friends and Country‘ men; and that the same measure (in part) meeted to ‘ them, as they had been guilty of in a barbarous manner
 ‘ at Deerfield, & I hope justly. I hope God Almighty will ‘ accept heréof, altho’ it may not be eligible to our French ‘ implacable Enemies, and such others as are not our ‘ friends. The fore-going Journal and this short annex-
 ‘ ment, I thought it my duty to exhibit, for the satisfaction
 ‘ of my Friends & Country-men, whom I very faithfully & ‘ willingly served in the late Expedition; and I hope will ‘ find acceptance with your Excellency, the Honourable ‘ Council & Representatives now Assembled, as being done
 ‘ from the zeal I had in the said Service of Her Majesty,
 ‘ and her good Subjects here.

I Remain your most humble & obedient Servant,

Benjamin Church.

This Nights Service being over immediately Col. Church leaves a sufficient guard with Gourdan, and the other Prisoners, mov’d in some Whale-boats with the rest; and as they were going spy’d a small thing upon the Water, at a great distance, which proved to be a birch Canoo, with two Indians in her; the Colonel presently ordered the lightest boat he had to make the best of her way and cut them off from the Shore: but the Indians perceiving their design run their Canoo a-shore & fled. Col. Church fearing they would run directly to Sharkce made all the expedition imaginable; but it being ebb and the water low, was obliged to land & make the best of their way thro' the woods, hoping to intercept the Indians, and get to Sharkee's house before them; which was two Miles from where our Forces landed. The Colonel being Ancient & Unwildly, desired Serjeant Edee<sup>315</sup> to run with him, and coming to several Trees fallen, which he could not creep under or readily get over, would lay his breast against the Tree, the said Edee turning him over, generally had Cat luck, falling on his feet, by which means kept in the Front: and coming near to Sharkee's house, discovered some French & Indians making a Wair<sup>316</sup> in the River, and presently discovered the two Indians afore-mentioned, who call'd to them at work in the River; told them there was an Army of English and Indians just by; who immediately left their work and ran, endeavouring to get to Sharkee's house; who hearing the noise, took his Lady & Child, and ran into the woods. Our Men running briskly fired & kill'd one of the Indians, and took the rest Prisoners. Then going to Sharkee's house found a Woman and Child, to whom they gave good quarter: and finding that Madam Sharkee had left her Silk Clothes & fine linen behind her, our Forces was desirous to have pursued and posterity. [See N. E. Hist. and Gen. Reg. iii: 336; viii: 201-206; Congregational Quarterly, iv: 223-238.]

<sup>315</sup> This was probably a member of one of the families in the Old Colony descended from Samuel Eddy (Ede, Edy, Eady, Eadey, Edie, Edee), who settled in Plymouth from Cranbrooke, Kent, 1630, and left a numerous and noble

<sup>316</sup> Weir, — a fence of stakes and brush set in a river for the purpose of catching fish.

taken her: But Col. Church forbid them, saying he would have her run and suffer, that she might be made sensible, what hardships our poor People had suffered by them, &c. Then proceeded to examine the Prisoners newly taken, who gave [113] him the same account he had before; of the Indians being up at the Falls, &c. It being just Night prevented our Attacking of them that Night. But next Morning early they mov'd up to the Falls (which was about a Mile higher:) But doubtless the Enemy had some Intelligence by the two afore-said Indians, before our Forces came, so that they all got on the other side of the River and left some of their goods by the Water-side, to decoy our Men, that so they might fire upon them; which indeed they effected: But thro' the good Providence of God never a Man of ours was kill'd, and but one slightly wounded. After a short dispute Col. Church ordered that every Man might take what they pleased of the Fish which lay bundled up, and to burn the rest, which was a great quantity. The Enemy seeing what our Forces were about; and that their stock of Fish was destroyed, and the season being over for getting any more, set up a hedious Cry, and so ran all away into the woods; who being all on the other side of the River,<sup>317</sup> ours could not follow them. Having done, our Forces March'd down to their Boats at Sharkee's, and took their Prisoners, Bever, and other Plunder which they had got, and put it into their Boats, and went down to Gourdans house, where they had left Lieut. Col. Gorham & Maj Hilton, with part of the Forces to guard the Prisoners; (and kept a good look-out for more of the Enemy) who upon the Colonels return, gave him an account that they had made no discovery of the Enemy since he left them, &c. Just then Her Majesty's Ships and Transports arriving. The Commanders of Her Majesty's Ships told Col. Church that they had orders to go directly for Port Royal Gut, and wait the coming of some Store-Ships, which were expected at Port Royal from France; and Col. Church advising with them, proposed that it was very expedient and serviceable to the Crown, that Capt. Southack in the Province Galley should accompany them, which they did readily acquiesce with him in. Upon which the Colonel immediately embark'd his Forces on board the Transports, and himself on board Capt. Jarvis;<sup>318</sup> ordering the Commissary of the Stores, the Minister, Surgeons & Pilots all to embark on board the same Vessel with him; ordering all the Whale-boats to be put on board the Transports and then all to come to Sail. The Ships standing away for Port Royal Gut,<sup>319</sup> and Col. Church with the Transports for Menis:<sup>320</sup> In their way the Colonel inquired of the Pilot — Fellows,<sup>321</sup> What depth of Water there was in the Crick near the Town of Menis? He answered him that there was Water enough near the

<sup>317</sup> The New-Brunswick side; the river being here the dividing line between the States and the British possessions.

<sup>318</sup> Commander of the frigate Adventure; as will be seen from the document commencing on the next page.

<sup>319</sup> See note 286, ante.

<sup>320</sup> See note 238, ante. Les Mines was about half-way from Port Royal to Beau-bassin, or Chiegnecto.

See note 296, ante.

Town to flote that Veffel they were in at low Water. So when coming near, Col. Church obferved a Woody Ifland<sup>322</sup> between them and the Town, that they run up on the back-fide of the faid Ifland, with all their Transports undifcovered to the Enemy, and came to Anchor. Then the Colonel and all his Forces embark'd in the Whale-boats, it being late in the day mov'd directly for the Town, and in the way ask'd for the Pilot, whom he expected was in one of the Boats; but he had given him the flip, and tarried behind. The Colonel not know[114]ing the difficulties as might attend their going up to the Town; immediately fent Lieut. Gyles,<sup>323</sup> who could fpeak French, with a Flag of Truce up to the Town with a Summons, which was writ before they landed, expecting their furrender: which is as followeth.

Aboard Her Majesty's Ship Adventure near the Gut of Menis, June 20. 1704 An agreement made by the Field Officers commanding Her Majesty's Forces for the present Expedition againft the French Enemies, and Indian Rebels.

Agreed.

That a Declaration or Summons be fent on Shoar at Menis and Port Royal, under a Flag of Truce.*

<sup>322</sup> From Charlevoix's map, this would feem to be Groffe Ifle.

<sup>323</sup> John Gyles was fon of Thomas (who lived firft in Merry-meeting bay, was made prifoner, efcap'd to England, came back to live on Long Ifland, went thence to Pemaquid, where he was Juftice, and was killed by the Indians, 2 Aug., 1689); was captured at his father's death, when 14 years of age, and carried to Canada; whence, after a fervitude of feveral years, he was purchafed

Particularly,

We declare to you, the many Cruelties and Barbarities that you and the Indians have been guilty of towards us, in laying waste our Country here in the East at Casco, and the Places Adjacent: Peculiarly, the Horrid action at Deerfield this last Winter, in Killing, Massacring, Murdering and Scalping without giving any notice at all, or opportunity to ask quarter at your Hands; and after all carrying the Remainder into Captivity in the heighth of Winter (of which they kill'd many in the Journey,) and expos'd the rest to the hardships of Cold and Famine, worse than death it self. Which Cruelties we are yet every day expos'd unto, and exercised withal.

We do also declare, That we have already made some beginnings of Killing and Scalping some Canada Men (which we have not been wont to do or allow) and are now come with a great number of English & Indians, all Volunteers, with resolutions to subdue you, and make you sensible of your Cruelties to us by treating you after the same manner.

At this time we expect our Men of War and Transport Ships to be at Port Royal. (we having but lately parted with them.)

by a French trader during Col. Hawthorn's Eastern Expedition, and restored to his home and friends; he thereafter for many years served the Government in the army, and as an interpreter; he printed, 1736, a memoir of his father; died 1755. [Savage's Gen. Dict. ii: 326; Sewall's Ant. Dom. Me. 195-204; Willis's Law, Courts, and Lawyers, Me. 32.]

In the last place, We do declare to you, That inasmuch as some of you have shown kindness to our Captives, and Express'd a love to and desire of being under the English Government, We do therefore notwithstanding all this, give you timely Notice, and do demand a Surrender immediately, by the laying down your Arms, upon which we promise very good Quarter; if not, you must expect the utmost Severity.

To the Chief Commander of the Town	Benjamin Church Colonel.
of Menis, &amp; the Inhabitants thereof,	John Goreham Lieut. Col.
&amp; we expect your answer positively	Winthrop Hilton Major.
within an hour.

Then moving to the Crick expecting to have had Water enough for the Boats, as the Pilot had inform'd them, but found not Water enough for a Canoo; so were oblig'd to land,<sup>324</sup> intending to have been up at the Town before the hour was out, that the Summons expressed: (For their return was, That if our Forces would not hurt their Estates, that then they would Surrender, if otherwise intended, they should fight for them, &c.) But meeting with several Cricks near 20 or 30 foot deep, which were very Muddy and Dirty, so that the Army could not get over them; was oblig'd to return to [115] their Boats again, and wait till within Night before the Tide served for them to go up to the Town; and then intended to

<sup>324</sup> That is, their boats soon grounding, they were obliged to get out of them into the mud, and wade toward the shore; which they were unable to accomplish successfully on account of the intervention of some creeks of deep water, which forced them back to the boats, and compelled them to wait in them for the tide to rise, — under the circumstances, a prosaic result!

go up pretty near the Town, and not to fall on till Morning, being in hopes that the banks of the Cricks would shelter them from the Enemy: but the Tides rising so high exposed them all to the Enemy; who had the Trees & Woods to be-friend them. And so came down in the Night & fired smartly at our Forces; but Col. Church being in a Pinis<sup>325</sup> that had a small Cannon plac'd in the head, ordered it to be charg'd several times, with Bullets in small bags, and fired at the Enemy, which made such a rattling amongst the Trees, that caused the Enemy to draw off; and by the great Providence of Almighty God not one of our Forces was hurt that Night; (but as I have been informed they had one Indian kill'd, and some others wounded, which was some discouragement to the Enemy.) Next Morning by break of Day, Col. Church ordered all his Forces, (and plac'd Maj. Hilton on the right wing,) to run all up driving the Enemy before them, who leaving their Town to our Forces, but had carried away the best of their Goods (which were soon found by our Souldiers.) The bulk of the Enemy happening to lye against our right Wing caused the hottest dispute there, who lay behind Logs and Trees, till our Forces, and Maj Hilton who led them, came on upon them, and forc'd them to run; and notwithstanding the sharp firing of the Enemy at our Forces, by the repeated Providence of God there was never a Man of ours kill'd or wounded. Our Souldiers not having been long in Town before they found considerable quantities of Strong Drink (both Brandy & Clarat) and being very greedy after it, especially the Indians, were very disorderly, firing at every Pig, Turkey or Fowl they saw, of which were very plenty in the Town; which indanger'd our own Men: Col. Church perceiving the disorder, and firing of his own Men, ran to put a stop to it, had several shot come very near him; and finding what had occasion'd this disorder, commanded his Officers to knock out the heads of every Cask of Strong Liquor they could find in the Town,<sup>326</sup> to prevent any further disturbance amongst his Army; knowing it was impossible to have kept it from them, especially the Indians, if it was saved, &c. Then some of the Army who were desirous to pursue the Enemy, having heard them driving away their Cattel, Requested the Colonel to let them go; who did: and gave them their orders. Capt. Cooke, and Capt. Church to lead the two Wings, and Lieut. Barker<sup>327</sup> who led the Colonels Company in the Center: and the said Capt. Cooke and Capt. Church desired Lieut. Barker

<sup>325</sup> Pinnacle.

<sup>326</sup> A practical "temperance" movement, deserving extended imitation!

<sup>327</sup> There may have been three "Lieut." Barkers then living, who might have been connected with Church's company: Lt. Robert, and Lt. Francis, both of Duxbury, and both sons of Robert; and Lt. John, of Andover, son of Richard. The latter died 1722; Robert had a dau. born 18 April, 1704; Francis, I do not trace later than 1689. As Church's company would be likeliest to be officered from Plymouth Colony, it seems probable that one of the Duxbury brothers is the one referred to; and, of these, I incline to the opinion that it was Robert. [Savage's Gen. Dict. i: 115; Winfor's Hist. Duxbury, 223; Abbot's Hist. Andover, 200; Plym. Col. Rec. vi: 218.] Charlevoix says that the "Lieutenant-General of the English forces" was killed — a mistake of Barker's rank. [Hist. Nouv. France.] not to move too fast; so that he might have the benefit of their assistance, if he had occasion; but the said Lieutenant not being so careful as he should have been, or at least was too eager, was shot down, and another Man; which were all the Men that were kill'd in the whole Expedition. Towards Night Col. Church ordered some of his Forces to pull down some of the Houses, and others to get Logs [116] and make a Fortification for his whole Army to lodge in that Night, that so they might be together: and just before Night ordered some of his Men to go see if there were any Men in any of the Houses in the Town; if not, to set them all a fire: which was done, and the whole Town seem'd to be of a fire all at once, &c. The next Morning the Colonel gave orders to his Men to dig down their Dams,<sup>328</sup> and let the Tide in to destroy all their Corn, and every thing that was good, according to his Instructions; and to burn the Fortification which they had built the Day before: And when the Tide serv'd to put all their Plunder which they had got into the Boats. Then ordering his Souldiers to March at a good distance one from another; which caus'd the Enemy to think that there was

<sup>328</sup> Haliburton says that there are vast marshes skirting this Baye les Mines (Bafon of Mines), which, "when enclosed with dikes, and well drained, are exceedingly fertile, yielding, for several years in succession, abundant crops of wheat, and alternate rotations of hay and grain, without the aid of manure." He adds: "the marshes, formed by the rivers emptying into the Bafon of Mines, are very superior to those in other parts of the Province — the water of that extraordinary reservoir being not only discolored, but actually turbid, with the great quantity of matter held in solution by it." [Hist. Nov. Scot. ii: 363.] The Acadians had probably already begun this form of tillage, and these dikes to which Church here refers are thus explained.

not less than a thousand Men (as they said afterwards:) and that their burning of the Fortification, and doing as they did, caused the Enemy to think that they were gone clear off and not to return again. But it proved to the contrary, for Col. Church and his Forces only went aboard their Transports, and there staid till the Tide serv'd; in the Night embarked on board their Whale-boats, landed some of his Men, expecting they might meet with some of the Enemy mending their Dams; which they did, and with the Boats went up another branch of the River, to another Town or Village;<sup>329</sup> upon such a surprize took as many Prisoners as they could desire. And it happened that Col. Church was at the French Captains House when two Gentlemen that came Post from the Governour of Port Royal to him, who was the Chief Commander at Menis, with an Express to send away two Companies of Men to Defend the Kings Fort there; and to give him an account, That there was three English Men of War come into Port Royal Gut or Harbour; and that the Men sent for must be Posted away with all speed. Col. Church, as was said before, being there, treated the two Gentlemen very handsomely, and told them, He would send them back again Post to their Master upon his business; and bid them give him his hearty thanks for sending him such good News, that part of his Fleet was in so good a Harbour. Then reading the Summons to them that he had sent to Menis. Further added, That their Master the Governour of Port Royal must immediately fend away a Post to the Governour of Canada at Quebeck, to prevent his further sending any of his cruel & bloody French and Salvages, as he had done lately upon Deerfield, where they had committed such horrible and bloody outrages upon those poor People, that never did them any harm, as is intollerable to think of; and that for the future, if any such Hostilities were made upon our Frontier Towns, or any of them, He would come out with a thousand Salvages, and Whale-boats convenient, and turn his back upon them, and let his Salvages Scalp & Rost the French; or at least treat them as their Salvages had treated ours: Also gave them an account of part of that action at Passamequado, and how that his Souldiers had Kill'd & Scalp'd some Canada Men [117] there, and would be glad to Serve them so too, if he would permit them. Which terrified them very much,<sup>330</sup> &c. The two French Gentlemen that came Post made solemn Promises that they would punctually do the Colonel's Message to their Governour. So with the desire of the French People there that the Governour might have this Intelligence, Col. Church dismiss'd them, and sent them away; telling the same Story to several of the Prisoners, and what they must expect if some speedy course was not taken to prevent further outrages upon the English. The number of Prisoners then Present (which were considerable) did unanimously intreat of Col. Church, that he would take them under the Protection of the Crown of England; making great Promises of their fidelity to the same, begging with great Agony of Spirit to Save their Lives, and to protect them from his Salvages, whom they extremely dreaded: As to the matter of the Salvages, He told them, It would be just Retaliation for him to permit his Salvages to treat the French in the same manner, as the French with their Salvages treated our friends in our Frontier Towns: But as to his taking them under the Protection of the Crown of England, he utterly refused it, urging to them their former Perfidiousness; they also urging to him, that it would be impossible for any French to live any where in the Bay of Fundy, if they were not taken under the English Government; for with the benefit of those Whaleboats,<sup>331</sup> (as the English called them) they could take and destroy all their People in the Town of Menis in one Night: But he reply'd to them, It should never be; alledging to them that when they were so before, when Port Royal was taken last by the English that it prov'd of very ill consequence to the Crown of England, & the Subjects thereof in our Frontiers; for that our English Traders supplying them; enabled them (which opportunity they im-

<sup>329</sup> Pigiguit, on the river of the same name, now the Avon?

<sup>330</sup> See note 313, ante.

<sup>331</sup> The stress laid upon "whaleboats," both by Church in his report of his last expedition (p. 147) and his letter to Gov. Dudley (p. 131), and by the enemy, is explained by the fact that the enormous rise and fall of the tides in and near the Bay of Fundy made landing from, and coasting in, ordinary vessels — in that day when wharf conveniences were of the most primitive description — exceedingly difficult; a difficulty which the boats removed, since they could act as tenders, and leave the ship in deep water; and by the fact, that their swiftness made them more formidable in the pursuit of canoes than any other craft then in use, and their light draft enabled them to go in shallow water, and their light weight made them especially available at the portages.

prov'd) to supply the Indians our bloody Enemies; and therefore he could make no other Terms of Peace with them than that; if they the French at Menis, Signecko and Canada, would keep at home with their bloody Salvages, and not commit any Hostilities upon any of our Frontiers, we would return home & leave them; for that we lived a great distance off, and had not come near them to hurt them now had not the blood of our poor Friends and Brethren in all the Frontiers of our Province cryed for Vengeance; especially that late unheard of Barbarity committed upon the Town of Deerfield; which wrought so generally on the hearts of our People, that our Forces came out with that Unanimity of Spirit, both among the English and our Salvages, that we had not, nor needed a Pref's'd Man among them. The Colonel also telling them, That if ever hereafter any of our Frontiers East or West were Molested by them, as formerly, that he would (if God spared his Life,) and they might depend upon it, Return upon them with a thousand of his Salvages, if he wanted them, all Volunteers, with our Whale-boats, and would pursue them to the last Extremity. The Colonels warm discourse with them [118] wrought such a consternation in them, which they discovered by their Panick fears and trembling, their hearts sensibly beating, and rising up as it were ready to choke them; confessed they were all his Prisoners, and beg'd of him, for JESUS sake, to Save their Lives, and the Lives of their poor Families; with such melting Terms as wrought relentings in the Colonels

Breaft towards them; but however, he told them, That his intent was to carry as many Prifoners home as he could, but that he had taken fo many, they were more than he had occafion for, nor defired any more; and therefore he would leave them.<sup>332</sup> The Colonel refolving the next day to compleat all his action at Menis, and fo draw off. Accordingly, fent his orders to Col. Gorcham and Maj Hilton, with all the Engliffi Companies both Officers and Souldiers, except fome few, which he thought he might have occafion for to go with the Indians in the Whale-boats up the Eaftward River,<sup>333</sup> where a third part of the Inhabitants Lived; that fo he might prevent any reflection made on them, in leaving any part of the Service undone. And therefore in the evening ordered all the Whale-boats to be laid ready for the Nights Service; and accordingly when the Tide Served, he went with his Indians up the River, where they did fome fpoil upon the Enemy going up. In the Morning feveral of their Tranfports came to meet them, to their great rejoycing, on whom they went on Board, and foon came up with the whole Fleet, with whom they joyned, bending their courfe directly towards Port Royal, where they were ordered. Coming to Port Royal Gut where their Ships were, and calling a Council

<sup>332</sup> Penhallow fays the expedition
“took a hundred prifoners.” [Ind.
Wars, 30.]

<sup>333</sup> The Cobeguit, or Cobequid bay, terminating in Salmon river; from which was a portage over to Tatama- gouche on Northumberland Strait, perhaps 7 miles in length.

according to his Instructions, drew up their result: Which is as followeth.

Aboard the Province Galley, 4th. July 1704.

In Port Royal Harbour.

Present all the Field Officers and Captains of the Land Forces.

WE whose Names are hereunto Subscribed, having deliberately consider'd the cause in hand, whether it be proper to Land all our Forces to offend & destroy as much as we can at Port Royal, all or any part of the Inhabitants thereof, and their Estates, We are of Opinion, that 'tis not for our Interest & Honour, and the Countrys whom we Serve, to Land or expose our Selves; but quit it wholly, and go on about our other business we have to do, for this Reason, That we Judge our Selves Inferiour to the Strength of the Enemy; and therefore the Danger & Risque we run, is greater than the advantage we can, or are likely to obtain, seeing the Enemy hath such timely Notice, and long opportunity to Provide themselves against us, by our Ships lying here in the Road about Twelve Days, before we could joyn them from Menis, where we were during that time, and being so very meanly provided with necessaries convenient for such an Undertaking with so small a Number of Men, not being above Four hundred capable and fit for Service to Land; and understanding by all the Intelligence we can get from both English & French Prisoners, that the Fort is exceeding Strong.

John Gorcham Lieut. Col. Winthrop Hilton Major. [119]
Having, Pursuant to my Instructions taken the advice of the Gentlemen above Subscribed, and considering the weight of their Reasons, I do Concur therewith. Jos.<sup>334</sup> Brown Constant Church
James Cole John Dyer
John Cook Joshua Lamb
Isaac Myrick Caleb Williamson
John Harradon Edward Church
 Benj. Church.

WHereas Col. Church hath desired our Opinions, as to the Landing the Forces at Port Royal, they being but 400 Effectiv Men to Land, and by all the Information both of French & English Prisoners, the Enemy having a greater number of Men, and much better provided to Receive, than they are to Attack them, We do believe 'tis for the Service of the Crown, and Preservation of Her Majesty's Subjects to act as above mentioned.*

Thomas Smith. Geo. Rogers. Cypryan Southack.

After this, they concluded what should be next done; which was, that the Ships should stay some Days longer at Port Royall Gut, and then go over to Mount Desart Harbour, and there stay till Col. Church with his Transports came to them. Being all ready, the Colonel with his Transports & Forces went up the Bay to Signecto, where they needed not a Pilot, being several of them well acquainted there: (and had not met with so many difficulties at Menis, had it not been that their Pilot deceiv'd them; <sup>335</sup> who knew nothing of the matter, kept out of the way and Landed not with them, &c.) And coming to Signecto, <sup>336</sup> the Enemy were all in Arms ready to receive them, Col. Church Landing his Men; the Commander of the Enemy waving his Sword over his head, bid a Challenge to them: The Colonel ordering his two Wings to March up a-pace, and come upon the backs of the Enemy, himself being in the Center, and the Enemy knowing him, (having been there before) Shot chiefly at him; (but thro' Gods goodnes received no harm, neither had he one Man kill'd, nor but two slightly wounded) and then ran all away into the Woods, and left their Town with nothing in it; having had timely Notice of our Forces, had carryed all away out of the reach of our Army; for Col. Church while there with part of his Forces Ranged the Woods, but to no purpose: Then returning to the Town, did them what spoil he could; according to his Instructions, and so drew off, and made the best of their way for Passamequado, (and going in) in a great Fog, one of their Transports ran upon a Rock, but was soon got off again. Then Col. Church with some of his Forces embark'd in their Whale-boats, and went amongst the Islands, with an intent to go to Sharkee's where they had destroyed the Fish; <sup>337</sup> but observing a Springgy place in a Cove, went on Shore to get some Water to drink, it being a Sandy beach, they

<sup>334</sup> Misprint for John. This captain's name is distinctly stated to be John (p. 138). See note 278, ante.

<sup>335</sup> That is "they would not have met with so many difficulties, &c."

<sup>336</sup> Beau-basin. See note 229, ante.

<sup>337</sup> See p. 161.

efpy'd Tracks, the Colonel prefently ordered his Men to fceatter, and make a fearch; foon found De Boiffes<sup>338</sup> Wife, who had formerly been Col. Church's Prifoner, and carried to Bofton; but returned, who feemed to be very glad to fee him: She had with her two Sons that were near Men grown; the Colonel ordering them a part, Examined the Woman firft, who gave him this account following, That fhe had lived there-aboutf ever fince the Fleet went by, and that fhe had never feen but two Indians fince, who came in a Canoo from Norrigiwock; who ask'd her, what made her to be there alone? She told them, She had not feen a French Man nor an Indian except thofe two fince the Engliffh Ships went by. Then the Indians told her there was not one Indian left except thofe two, who belong to the Gut of Cancer, on this fide of Canada: for the Fryers coming down with the Indians to Monfieur Gordans, and finding the French-men flain, and their Hair fpoiled, being Scalp'd, put them into a great Confternation; and the Fryers told them it was impoffible for them to live there-aboutf, for the Engliffh with their Whale-met together at Norrigiwock they call'd a Council, and the Fryers told the Indians, That they must look out for some other Country, for that it was impossible for them to live there; also told them there was a River call'd Mossippee<sup>339</sup> where they might live quietly and no English come near them: It being as far beyond Canada as it was to it, &c. and if they would go and live there, they would live & dye with them, but if not they would leave them, and never come near them again. Whereupon they all agreed to go away; which they did, and left their Ruff household-stuff, and Corn behind them, and went all, except those two for Canada. Also her Sons giving the same Intelligence, so we had no reason to think but that it was true. Col. Church having done what he could there, Embark'd on board the Transports and went to Mount Desart, where he expected to have met with the Ships from Port Royal Gut; and going into the Harbour at Mount Desart, found <sup>339</sup> The Mississippi (Ind. Miche Sepe; called by the early Jesuits Messi-Sipi). As early as 1669, Father Marquette resolved upon visiting this wonderful river, of which rumors came to him from the savages. It is first mentioned in the "Relations des Jesuites," in 1670, as "une grande Riviere large d'une lieue et davantage, qui venant des quartiers du Nord, coule vers le Sud, et si loin que les sauvages qui ont navigé sur cette Riviere, allant chercher des ennemis à combattre, après quantité de journées de navigation, n'en ont point trouvé l'emboucheure, qui ne peut estre que vers la Mer de la Floride, ou celle de Cali- fournie." [Relation, 1670: 80.] In 1673, Marquette, with Louis Jolliet, reached the river, and descended it probably as far as the mouth of the Arkansas. (His narrative of this journey may be found in Shea's Discovery and Exploration of the Mississippi Valley; having been first published, in 1681, in Thévenot's Recueil de Voyages.) Of course, his information had added certainty to all vague floating rumors before existing; and the Jesuits in Canada, before the date of this expedition of Col. Church, were able to speak with some confidence of this wonderful stream. [See Relations des Jesuites, 1670: 91, 100; 1671: 24, 47.]

<sup>338</sup> Du Bois? probably taken prifoner when Church was here before, in a previous expedition.

no Ships there, but a Runlet<sup>340</sup> rid off by a line in the Harbour, which he ordered to be taken up, and opening of it found a Letter, which gave him an account that the Ships were gone home for Boston. Then he proceeded & went to Penobscot; where being come, made diligent search in those Parts for the Enemy, but could not find or make any discovery of them, or that any had been there since he left those Parts, which caus'd him to believe what De Boiffes Wife had told him was true. (I will only by the way just give a hint of what we heard since of the Effects of this Expedition, & then proceed.) [First, That the English Forces that went next to Norrigiwock found that the Enemy was gone, & had left their Ruff household-stuff and Corn behind them; also not long after this Expedition, there were several Gentlemen sent down from Canada to concert with our Governour about the settling of a Cartile<sup>341</sup> for the Exchange of Prisoners; and that the Governour of Canada has never since sent down any Army upon our Frontiers (as I know of) except some times a Scout of Indians to take some Prisoners, that he might be informed of our State, and what we were acting &c. and always took care that the Prisoners so taken should be Civily Treated, and safely Returned, as I have been informed; that some of the Prisoners that were taken gave an account; so that we have great cause to be-

<sup>340</sup> "Rundlet (probably q. d. Roundlet),—a close cask for Liquors, containing from three to twenty Gallons."—Bailey.

<sup>341</sup> Cartel (from cartellus, from char-

tula, diminutive of charta, i. e., a "little writing"),—a writing, or agreement, between States at war, as for the exchange of prisoners. [Webster.]

lieve that the Message Col. Church sent by the two French Gentlemen from Menis to the Governour of Port Royal took Effect, and was a means to bring Peace in our borders, &c.] Then Col. Church with his Forces embark'd on board the Transports, and went to Casco Bay, where they met with Capt. Gallop in a Vessel from Boston, who had brought Col Church further Orders; which was to send some of his Forces up to Norrigiwock in pursuit of the Enemy; but he being sensible that the Enemy were gone from thence, and that his Souldiers were much wore-out & fategu'd in the hard Service they had already done, & wanted to get home, call'd a Council, and agreed all to go home, which accordingly they did. To Conclude this Expedition, I will just give a hint of some treatment Col. Church had before & after he came home: for all his great Expences, Fategues & Hardships in and about this Expedition, (viz) He received of his Excellency Fifteen Pounds as an earnest Peny towards Raifing of Volunteers; and when he came to receive his Debenture<sup>342</sup> for his Colonels Pay, there was 2 s. 4 d. due to him; and as for his Captains Pay,<sup>343</sup> & Man Jack he has never received any thing as yet. Also after he came home some ill minded Persons did their endeavour to have taken away his Life, for that there was some of the French Enemy Kill'd this Expedition:<sup>344</sup> but his Excellency the Governour, the Honourable Council and House of Representatives saw cause to Clear him, and gave him Thanks for his good Service done.<sup>345</sup>

<sup>342</sup> Debenture, — a writing or certificate signed by a public officer in evidence of a debt due; so called because, in Latin, such documents used to begin Debentur mihi, &c.

<sup>343</sup> His commission was twofold (see p. 136) appointing him Captain of the first company of his command, as well as Colonel of all the forces embarked upon the expedition.

<sup>344</sup> Church's language here might almost suggest that some attempt had been made to bring him to a capital trial for alleged malfeasance in the matter at Passumaquoddy (p. 157). But I find no evidence of any thing of the sort.

<sup>345</sup> The original edition of 1716 gives evidence of that "cutting the coat according to the cloth," which was not unusual in books of that time, and which is not wholly unknown now. In the endeavor to come out even at the end of a page and of a signature, the last two pages are set in type of smaller size than the rest of the volume, the "spaces" are made thinner, and 51 lines are crowded into a page whose measure has been 42. In this process of compression, the MSS. doubtless suffered somewhat; and, could we recover the last page from which Green's compositors worked, we should be quite likely to find one or two closing remarks from the blunt yet courtly old warrior, which the inexorable demands of the "form" excluded.

FINIS.

CHRONOLOGICAL TABLE OF EVENTS.

Chronological Table of Events.

(It will be noticed that the dates are comparatively few which can be exactly identified.)

Day of Week.	Day of Month.	Year.	E V E N T.	Page.
—	Last of Oct.	1688	Church received Andros's express at Little Compton . . . . .	1
—	" "	"	Church went to Boston . . . . .	2
—	" "	"	" Returned home . . . . .	3
Th.	18 April	1689	The Revolution which deposed Andros . . . . .	3
—	- July	"	Church waited on Governor Bradstreet, by request . . . . .	4
—	- "	"	Church went to Rhode Island to ask assistance . . . . .	5
—	- Aug.	"	Church returned to Boston, reporting progress, and goes to raising volunteers . . . . .	5
F.	6 Sept.	"	Church commissioned by Governor Hinkley for the First Expedition . . . . .	6
M.	16 "	"	Church received his instructions from Danforth . . . . .	8
T.	17 "	"	Church received his commission from Massachusetts, as Major . . . . .	9
W.	18 "	"	Church received his instructions from Massachusetts, as Major . . . . .	11
—	- "	"	Church sailed for Falmouth, Me. . . . .	16
—	—	"	" Had a fight with the Indians . . . . .	20
—	—	"	" Ranged the country . . . . .	28
M.	11 Nov.	"	" Held a council of war at Scarborough . . . . .	29

CHRONOLOGICAL TABLE OF EVENTS.

Day of Week.	Day of Month.	Year.	E V E N T.	Page.
W.	13 Nov.	1689	Church held a council of war at Falmouth . . . . .	29
—	— Jan.	1689 <sup>8</sup> / <sub>9</sub>	Church returned home . . . . .	32
W.	16 " ?	"	" Went back to Boston, to plead for the down-easters . .	32
Th.	6 Feb.	"	Church left his plea for them on the Council Board, and went home in disgust . . . . .	33
—	— April	1690	Church goes to Charlestown, when the Canada Expedition is about to sail, to see his friends off . .	37
—	—	"	Church has an interview with the Governor and Council. . . . .	39
—	—	"	Church goes to Barnstable, to see Governor Hinkley . . . . .	40
—	—	"	Church raises forces, and marches them to Plymouth . . . . .	41
T.	2 Sept.	"	Church is commissioned for the Second Expedition, by Governor Hinkley. . . . .	42
W.	3 " ?	"	Church reaches Portsmouth . . . . .	47
T.	9 " "	"	" Receives Major Pike's Instructions . . . . .	48
—	—	"	Church sailed for Pejepscot, and marched to Androscoggin . .	50
§.	14 Sept.	"	Church took the fort . . . . .	51
—	—	"	" Went to Maquait . . . . .	56
W.	17 Sept.	"	" Reached Saco. . . . .	56
—	—	"	" Chased the Indians . . . . .	57
S.	20 Sept.	"	" Bivouacked at Purpooduck . . . . .	60
M.	22 " "	"	" Came to "Cape Neddicke" . . . . .	64
T.	23 " "	"	" Sent scout to Saco . . . . .	64
F.	26 " "	"	" Got back to Portsmouth . . . . .	65
S.	—	"	" Sailed for Boston in the sloop Mary . . . . .	66
—	— Oct.	"	" Lodged at Captain Alden's . . . . .	67
T.	— " "	"	" Borrowed 40s. of Brayton . . . . .	68
—	—	"	" Rode home on a borrowed horse. . . . .	68

CHRONOLOGICAL TABLE OF EVENTS.

Day of Week.	Day of Month.	Year.	E V E N T.	Page.
Th.	27 Nov.	1690	Church wrote to some Eastern gentlemen . . . . .	69
M.	29 June	1691	The Eastern gentlemen replied . .	79
—	—	1692	Church, on request of Major Walley, from Governor Phips, goes to Boston to consult about the Third Eastern Expedition . .	83
M.	25 July	—	Church receives Phips's commission	83
—	—	—	„ Raises volunteers. . . . .	84
—	- Aug.	—	„ Embarks for Pemaquid . .	85
—	—	—	„ Works on the fort there . .	86
Th.	11 Aug.	—	„ Is commissioned for Penobscot, &c. . . . .	87
—	—	—	„ Ranged those regions, destroying corn, &c. . . .	89-90
—	—	—	„ Returned to Pemaquid . . . .	90
—	—	—	„ Has more orders for the Kennebec . . . . .	90
—	—	—	„ Had a fight, and burned Teconnet Fort. . . . .	91
—	—	—	„ Returned to Pemaquid . . . .	92
—	—	—	„ Came back to Boston and Bristol . . . . .	92
—	—	1696	„ Is at Boston as Deputy from Bristol . . . . .	93
—	—	„	„ Is persuaded to go East on a Third Expedition . . . .	93
—	—	„	„ Raises volunteers . . . . .	93
M.	3 Aug.	„	„ Is commissioned by Lieutenant Governor Stoughton . .	94
W.	12 „	„	Church receives his instructions . .	96
S.	15 „	„	„ Sailed for Portsmouth . . . .	99
S.	22 „	„	„ „ York . . . . .	100
—	—	„	„ „ Monhegan . . . . .	101
—	- Sept.	„	(in boats) went up the Penobscot Bay . . . . .	101
—	—	„	„ Had a skirmish, and took captives . . . . .	103-7
—	—	„	„ Back to the ships . . . . .	108

CHRONOLOGICAL TABLE OF EVENTS.

Day of Week.	Day of Month.	Year.	E V E N T.	Page.
—	—	1696	Church sailed for Beau Basin .	109
—	—	"	" Thence to St. John . . .	116
—	—	"	" On their way home from thence interrupted and superseded by Colonel Hathorne . .	123
—	—	"	Church home again . . . . .	127
—	1 Feb.	170 $\frac{3}{4}$	" Waited on Governor Dudley to offer his services against the Indians and French, being moved thereto by late shocking outrages . . . . .	130
S.	5 "	"	Church writes Governor Dudley his ideas on the best way of carrying on another expedition . .	131-135
—	—	"	Church goes to work to fit out the Fifth Expedition . . . . .	136
S.	18 March	"	Church receives Dudley's commission . . . . .	136
—	- "	"	Church raises volunteers in all the towns of the three counties of the Old Colony . . . . .	137
—	—	1704	Church marches his troops to Nantasket . . . . .	138
Th.	4 May	"	" Receives his instructions .	141
—	—	"	" Went by land to Portsmouth . . . . .	145
—	—	"	" Raises another company there . . . . .	145
—	—	"	" Moves to Matinicus . .	146
W.	7 June	"	" Takes prisoners who give him information . . .	146
—	- "	"	" Went up the river, had a fight, and took prisoners, some of whom were knocked on the head	150-157
—	- "	"	Church failed to take Chartier .	160
—	- "	"	" Burned the Indians' fish .	161
—	- "	"	" Returned, went on board the transports, and sailed for Port Royal and Les Mines .	162

CHRONOLOGICAL TABLE OF EVENTS.

Day of Week.	Day of Month.	Year.	E V E N T.	Page.
T.	20 June	1704	Church reached Les Mines , and summoned its surrender . . . .	163-5
W.	21 „	„	Church burned the town, and took many prisoners . . . . .	166-8
Th.	22 „	„	Church dug down their dams, and spoiled their crops; and at night captured Pigiguit . . . . .	168-169
F.	23 „	„	Church took Cobeguit , &c. . . . .	173
—	— „	„	„ Sailed for Port Royal . . . . .	173
T.	4 July	„	„ Had a council of war at Port Royal . . . . .	174-175
—	— „	„	„ Went up to Beau Basin , which they spoiled again . . . . .	175
—	—	„	„ Sailed for Passamaquoddy . . . . .	176
—	—	„	„ Took Du Bois's wife prisoner . . . . .	177
—	—	„	„ Sailed for Mount Desert , and so to Casco , and home . . . . .	178-180
—	—	„	The Governor, Council, and House of Representatives clear Colonel Church of all imputations of misconduct, and give him thanks for his good service done . . . . .	181

I N D E X.

I N D E X.

THE Roman numerals refer to pages in the Introduction. The Arabic figures refer to pages in the "History," the numbering in all cases being found at the bottom of each successive page. The names of Indians are in italics.

A.

- Adams, Rev. William, of Dedham, xiv.; Nathaniel, 77 note.
Addington, Isaac, notice of, 11 note.
Alden, Capt. John, a naval commander, 66 note, 67 note, 74; mention of him, 110, 120; William, 107.
Alexander, or Wamsutta, son of Massa-soit, succeeds his father, xx.; brought to Plymouth, xxi.; not ill treated there, xxii.; the facts stated, ibid.; dies, ibid.
Alger, Andrew, killed, 27 note.
Allen, Rev. James, of Boston, xiii.
Allyn, Samuel, of Barnstable, 42.
Amos, Capt., commands an Indian company, 7 note.
Andrews, Elitha, 29 note, 64 note, 74; James, 64 note; Samuel, ibid.
Andros, Sir Edmund, his history, 1 note; sends for Capt. Church, 1; sent prisoner to England, 32; date of this event, ibid. note.
Andros-coggin, or Amerascogon, described, 49 note.

- Arnold, Rev. Samuel, of Marshfield, xiii.
Atherton, Rev. Hope, of Hatfield, xv.
Austin, Matthew, 73 note.

B.

- Baker, Rev. Nicholas, of Scituate, xiv.; Thomas, a prisoner to the Indians, escapes, 58; notice of him, ibid. note.
Barbarities of the Indians, 129.
Barker, Lieut., killed at Les Mines, 168.
Barnard, Benjamin, 54 note.
Bassett, William, 29 note.
Belcher, Andrew, 140 note.
Berry, Thomas, 27 note.
Billingsgate Point, described, 42 note.
Bit, a silver coin, its value, 85 note.
Black Point, where, 28 note; a fort there, ibid.
Blue Point, where, 29 note.
Boad, Henry, 107 note.
Bourne, Rev. Richard, missionary, xvii.
Bowers, Rev. John, of Branford, xiv.
Brackett, Anthony, 17 note; account of, 21 note; shot by the Indians, ibid.,

INDEX.

27 note; his children, 21 note; Anthony, his son, escapes, 60; again mentioned, 104, 120.
 Bradford, William, deputy-governor, xxi. xxii. 40 note.
 Bradstreet, Rev. Simon, of New London, xiv.; Simon, governor of Massachusetts, 3; his history, ibid note; sends for Church, 4.
 Bramhall, Mr., of Casco, mortally wounded, 27 note.
 Brayton, Stephen, of Portsmouth, R.I., a drover, 68; lends money to Church. ibid.; Francis, ibid.
 Bridgway, or Bourgeois, Jarman, 111, 112, 113.
 Brimfield, Rev. William, of Marlborough, xv.
 Brock, Rev. John, of South Reading, xiv.
 Brown, John, captain in Church's Fifth Expedition, 138, 175; notice of him, 138 note.
 Browne, Rev. Edmund, of Sudbury, xiv.; Thomas, of Casco, wounded, 27 note.
 Buckingham, Rev. Thomas, of Saybrook, xiv.
 Bulkley, Rev. Edward, of Concord, xiii.; Rev. Gerthom, of Wethersfield, xiv.
 Burton, Thomas, 27 note.
 Buttolph, Priscilla, 10 note.
 Byfield, Nathaniel, of Bristol, 40 note, 69 note.

C.

Carter, Rev. Thomas, of Woburn, xiv.
 Casco, in danger from Indians, 17; fight with Indians there, 23-26; arrangements made by Church for their safety, 30; he returns home, 31; Casco taken by the Indians, and the inhabitants killed or carried away, 36; the dead remain unburied two years, 85 note; buried by Phips's soldiers, ibid.
 Castin, Vincent de St., account of, 19 note; his lucrative trade with the Indians, ibid.; violates the capitulation of Casco, and destroys the inhabitants, 36; commands an Indian force at the taking of Fort William Henry, Pemaquid, 98 note; his daughter and her children taken prisoners by Church, 150.
 Cawley, or Caule, Robert, of Pemaquid, 107; notice of him, ibid. note.
 Chartier. See Sharkee.
 Chauncey, Rev. Nathaniel, of Windfor, xiii.
 Chubb, Pasco, surrenders Fort William Henry to the Indians, 98 note; is murdered at Andover, with his wife, ibid.
 CHURCH, Capt. BENJAMIN, at Saconet, Little Compton, 1; is sent for by Gov. Andros, ibid.; arrives in Boston, 2; the Governor proposes an Eastern expedition, 3; Church declines the undertaking, ibid.; is sent for by Gov. Bradstreet after the overthrow of Andros, 4; comes to Boston, ibid.; undertakes an expedition against the Indians "in the Eastern Parts," ibid.; goes to Rhode Island to obtain assistance, and returns to Boston, 5; his commission from the Council of War, 6; commission from the President of Maine, 8; commissioned as Major by the Governor and Council of Massachusetts Bay, 9; instructions from the Commissioners of the United Colonies, 11; his FIRST EASTERN EXPEDITION, 16; arrives at Casco, ibid.; hears of Indians in the neighborhood, 17; orders given by him, 19; embarrassed by the bullets furnished being too large, 22; his force attacked by a body of Indians, ibid.; their repulse, 26; he visits the garrisons at Black Point, &c., 28; holds a council of war at Scarborough, 29 note: makes arrangements for the security of the Eastern settlements, 30; returns home at the approach of winter, 31; spends three weeks in Boston, 33; represents to the Governor and Council the exposed condition of the Eastern settlements, 33-35; this representation not attended to, 36; slender compensation of Church, ibid.; his SECOND EASTERN EXPEDITION, 37; he comes again to Boston, 38; the Council consult him in respect to the war, 39; his answer, 40; goes to Barnstable to see Gov. Hinckley, ibid.; raises a force, and marches with it to Plymouth, 41; finds no preparation there, ibid.; commissioned by the Council of War of Plymouth Colony for a second expedition to Maine, 42; their instructions to him, 44-47; arrives at Piscataqua [Portsmouth], 47; receives instructions there from Major Pike, 48; fails for Pejepscot, 50 note; lands at Maquoit in Freeport, ibid.; releases two English captives, 51; takes the fort at Pejepscot [Brunswick], ibid.; spares an Indian captive, 55; kills others, ibid.; returns to Maquoit, 56; fails to Winter Harbor [Saco], ibid.; puts the Indians to flight, 57; disagreement between him and his captains, 59; arrives at Purpooduck, 60; encounters Indians there, 62; comes to Wells, 64; and to Portsmouth, 65; sends home his soldiers, 66; fails for Boston in sloop Mary, ibid.; destitute of money, and gets none from the government, 67, 68; tries to borrow a small sum, and is refused, 67; borrows forty shillings of a drover, 68; returns home, ibid.; a loser by his patriotic services, ibid.; his letter to Wheelwright and others, respecting the misrepresentations which had been made of his conduct, and his consequent loss of favor from the government, 69-76; state of things in Maine after Church's departure, 74; application to him from gentlemen at the eastward for help against the Indians, 79, 80; his answer, 81; his THIRD EASTERN EXPEDITION, 82; invited by Gov. Phips to accompany him in his expedition into Maine, 83; Church consents, and receives a commission, ibid.; is forced to borrow money in order to go, 84; arrives at Pemaquid, 85; is disinclined to have a fort built there, 86; is sent to fight the Indians on the Penobscot, ibid.; his instructions from Phips, 87; ranges those parts, and destroys the enemy's corn, 90; returns to Pemaquid, ibid.; is ordered to the Kennebec, ibid.; has a brush there with the Indians, ibid.; returns once more to Pemaquid, 92; returns to Boston, and again deprived by the government of his just dues, ibid.; is a deputy in the General Court from Bristol, 93; his FOURTH EASTERN EXPEDITION, ibid.; raises a volunteer force, ibid.; receives a commission from Lieut. Gov. Stoughton, 94; his instructions to Church, 96, 97; fails for Piscataqua, 99; lands at York, 100; proceeds to Saco, ibid.; arrives at Monhegan, 101; ascends

INDEX.

- Penobscot Bay and River as far as Old Town, 102, 103; returns to his vessels at the mouth of the river, 106; visits Mount Desert and other places, but finds no enemy, 108; sails up the Bay of Fundy and lands at Beau Basin, 110; the enemy take to flight, 111; Church takes several prisoners, 112, 113; penetrates into the country, and returns to Beau Basin, 114; his discourse with the Acadians, 114, 115; restrains his Indian followers from hurting them, 115; enters the river St. John, 116; skirmish with the French, 117; is superseded by Col. Hathorne, 123; returns to Boston, 127; his FIFTH EASTERN EXPEDITION, 128; he offers his services again to the government, 130; his plan for a campaign against the Indians, 131-135; his commission from Gov. Dudley, 136; raises volunteers, 137; in this incurs heavy expense, not reimbursed, 138; requests permission to attack Port Royal in Acadia, 139; is denied, 140, 141; his instructions from Gov. Dudley, 141-145; proceeds on the expedition, 146; takes prisoners and obtains information from them, 147-149; takes Castin's daughter at Penobscot, 150; scours the coast as far as Passamaquoddy, 150, 151; writes to Dudley a history of his proceedings, 151-159; his actions at Passamaquoddy, 152; is greatly displeased with a party of his own soldiers, and why, 156; a busy night, 157; embarks for Les Mines, 162; demands the surrender of that town, 163; the document inserted, 163-165; takes possession of the town, 166; makes a "temperance movement," 167; burns the town, 168; takes many prisoners, 169; sends a threatening message to Port Royal and Quebec, with good results, 170; his conference with the prisoners taken at Mines, 171; tells them of Deerfield, and threatens retaliation, 172; the prisoners greatly frightened, ibid.; he sails for Port Royal, 173; a council of war dissuade from an attack on that place, 175; the document given, ibid.; takes possession of Chignecto, or Beau Basin, after a skirmish, 176; returns to Passamaquoddy, ibid.; receives information that the Indians had gone to Norridgewock, 177; sails to Mount Desert, 178; to Casco, and returns to Boston, 180; receives thanks, but no pay, 180, 181. See Chronological Table, at the close of the volume.
- Church, Caleb, of Watertown, brother of Benjamin, 68; notice of him, ibid. note; his children, ibid.; Constant, captain in the Fifth Eastern Expedition, 139, 146, 175; Edward, captain in the same expedition, 139, 167, 175.
- Clark, Thaddeus, of Falmouth. 25 note, 29 note; killed by Indians, ibid.; his family, ibid.; Walter, governor of Rhode Island, notices of him, 5 note; his family, ibid.; Isaac, ibid.; William, captain, notice of him, 140 note.
- Cobbet, Rev. Thomas, of Ipswich, xiii.
- Cole, James, captain in the Fifth Eastern Expedition, 139, 153, 175.
- Collins, Rev. Nathaniel, of Middletown, xv.
- Connecticut, towns settled therein, in 1675, x.
- Converse, Capt. James, of Woburn, with Church, 60; notices of him, ibid. note; comes to Boston with Church, 66; destitute of money, 67.

I N D E X.

Gendall, Walter, 17 note.
 Glover, Rev. Pelatiah, of Springfield, xiii.
 Goodwin, Ozias, 16 note.
 Gorham, Capt. John, second in command under Church in his Fourth Expedition, 97; notice of him, ibid. note; is sent by Church to Winter Harbor [Saco], 100; second in command under Church in his Fifth Expedition, 138, 152, 162, 165, 173, 175.
 Gourdon, or Gourdan, a Frenchman, 148, 153, 155.
 Green, Samuel, dies of small-pox, 32 note.
 Gyles, John, sent with a flag of truce to demand the surrender of Les Mines in Nova Scotia, 163, 203.

H.

Hale, Rev. John, of Beverly, xv.
 Hall, Nathaniel, 10 note, 12, 27, 29 note, 30 note.
 Hanford, Rev. Thomas, of Norwalk, xv.
 Haraden, John, of Gloucester, 145 note, 175; Edward, ibid.
 Hathorne, Col. John, supercedes Church in the command of the Fourth Eastern Expedition, 123, 124.
Hawkins, John, an Indian. See Kan-kamagus.
 Haynes, Rev. Joseph, of Hartford, xiii. xv.
 Heard, Ann, of Cochecho [Dover], 54 note.
 Higginson, Rev. John, of Salem, xiii.
 Hill, John, 30 note.
 Hilton, Edward, 146; Winthrop, major in Church's Fifth Eastern Expedition, 146, 153, 162, 165, 173, 175.

Hinckley, Thomas, governor of Plymouth Colony, 6; notices of, ibid. note, 40 note.
 Hobart, Rev. Jeremiah, of Topsfield, xiv.; Rev. Nehemiah, of Newton, xv.; Rev. Peter, of Hingham, xiii.
 Holmes, Rev. John, of Duxbury, xiii.
 Homes, David, killed, 27 note.
 Hooke, Francis, of Kittery, 80; notices of, ibid., note.
 Hooker, Rev. Samuel, of Farmington, xv.
 Huckins, James, of Oyster River [now Durham, N.H.], 54 note; Robert, ibid.; his wife intercedes for an Indian captive, 54.
 Hunniwell, Richard, 30 note, 58 note; notices of, 77 note; "the Indian killer," ibid.; with Church at St. John, 120.

I.

Iberville, Lemoine d', a skilful naval commander, his name strangely metamorphosed by Church, 105; founds a colony on the Mississippi, ibid. note.
 Indians, their numbers in 1675, x. Indians, Praying, their numbers in 1675, xvi.; improved condition of the Indians, xix.; causes of the Indian war, xxxi.; Indians accompany Church in his expedition, 20; Indians attack Church at Casco, 22; are repulsed, 26; take the fort at Pejepscot Falls [Brunswick], 39; evacuate it, 50; are put to flight at Saco, 57; and at Purpooduck, 63; kill several prisoners, 64; ask for peace, 74; their treacherous conduct, 79; attacked by Church, and their fort at Taconick [Winflow] burned, 91, 106; some are slain by

I N D E X.

Church's soldiers on the Penobscot, 103; Indian barbarities at Deerfield, 128, 129.
 Ingerfoll, George, 29 note.
 Inventory and equipments of a French fort, 117 note.

J.

Jacob, Richard, 10 note.
 Jacobs, Nicholas, of Hingham, 72 note.
 Jones, Rev. Eliphalet, of Stamford, xiv.
 Jordan, Dominicus, 28 note, 57 note;
 Rev. Robert, 28 note.
 Jose, Richard, 17 note.

K.

Kankamagus, or John Hawkins, a sachem of Pennacook, 53 note, 64.
 Keith, Rev. James, of Bridgewater, xv.

L.

Lafaure. See Lefevre.
 Lamb, Joshua, captain in Church's Fifth Expedition, 139, 175.
 Lane, Edward, son of Edward, of Boston, 2 note; his name changed to Paige, ibid.
 Larkin, captain with Church at St. John, 120.
 Lathrop, or Lothrop, John, of Barnstable, 41; his family, ibid. note; Joseph, of Barnstable, notice of, 73 note; his family, ibid.
 Lawrence, Robert, 29 note, 30 note.
 Lee, Abram, 17 note; Esther, his wife, gives information concerning Indians, 19; Samuel, minister of Bristol, R.-I., his history, 70 note.

Lefevre, Lafebure, or Lafaure, a prisoner to Church in his Fifth Expedition, 147.
Lightfoot, a friendly Indian captain, 22.
 Little, Isaac, of Marshfield, 40 note.
 Littlefield, John, son of Edmund of Wells, 73 note.
 Losses sustained by the colonies in Philip's War, xxxi.
 Loyall, Fort, in Falmouth, 17 note.

M.

Maine, progress of colonization in, in 1675, ix.
 Mathpee Indians furnished soldiers in Church's expeditions, and in the Revolutionary War, 20 note.
 Martin, or Martyn, Richard, notice of, 80 note.
 Mason, Samuel, notice of, 15 note; John, killed, 27 note.
 Massachusetts, progress of colonization therein, in 1675, ix.
 Massachusetts Indians, number in 1675, x.
 Mather, Rev. Increase, of Boston, xiv.
 Maxwell, James, notice of, 39 note.
 Mayflower company, survivors in 1675, xi.
 Mayhew, Rev. John, of Tisbury, xv; Experience, 7 note.
 Mitton, Michael, 21 note, 25 note, 64 note.
 Moody, Rev. Joshua, of Portsmouth, xv.
 Myrick, or Mirick, Isaac, captain in Church's Fifth Eastern Expedition, 139, 153, 175.

N.

Narragansetts, their number in 1675, x.
 New England, its condition in 1675, ix, xvii.; losses by Philip's War, xxxi.

I N D E X.

New Hampshire, progress of colonization in, in 1675, ix.
 Newman, Rev. Noah, of Rehoboth, xiv.
 Newton, Rev. Roger, of Milford, xiv.
 Nipmuk Indians. number in 1675, x.
Numpas, a friendly Indian in Church's First Expedition, 7 note, 20 note, 27, 37 note.

O.

Oakes, Rev. Urian, of Cambridge, xiii.

P.

Paige, Nicholas, of Boston, meets Col. Church in Braintree, 2; his history, ibid. note.
 Paine, John, 110.
 Palmer, Mr., of Casco, wounded, 27 note; John, 29 note.
 Palfgrave, John, 81 note.
 Parker, Rev. Thomas, of Newbury, xiii.
 Pautucket Indians, number in 1675, x.
 Pemaquid, extent of application of the word, 85 note; Church, as second in command to Gov. Phips, arrives there, 85; description of the fort built there by Phips [Fort William Henry], 86 note; the fort taken by the enemy four years after, 98.
 Pepperell, William, notice of, 143 note.
 Pequots, their numbers in 1675, x.
 Perkins, Rev. William, of Topsfield, xiv.
Philip, or Pometacom, the Indian chief, accused of plotting against the English, xxiii.; goes to Plymouth, xxiv.; misconceptions of his character and plans, xxv.; had not been ill-treated by the English, ibid.; extravagantly overrated, xxvi.; Dr. Palfrey's account of him more just, ibid.; no proof of any extensive plot of his, ibid.; reported conference between him and the English, xxviii.

Phillips, Rev. Samuel, of Rowley, xiv.
 Phips, Sir William, his eventful history, 82 note; invites Church to accompany him on his Eastern Expedition, 83; gives him a commission, ibid.; constructs a strong fort at Pemaquid [Fort William Henry], 86 note; returns to Boston, 91; his wife signs a discharge for a lady accused of witchcraft, ibid. note.
 Pike, Robert, Major, of Salisbury, raises soldiers for Church, 48; his instructions to Church, 48-50; notice of him, 48 note; letter of Church to him, respecting reports circulated to Church's disadvantage, 77.
 Pitkin, William, account of, 15 note, 49 note.
 Plaisted, Ichabod, 66.
 Plymouth Colony, its slow progress in wealth and population, xviii.; pays the debt incurred in Philip's War, xxxi.; engages in the war with the Eastern Indians, 6; its commission to Church, 6, 42; schedule of the number of soldiers required of each town in 1689, 6 note; a similar schedule in 1690, 43 note; debt incurred by the Colony for the Eastern war, ibid.
 Pokanokets, number in 1675, x.
 Pollard, William, an inn-keeper in Boston, 38 note.
 Portsmouth, Church arrives there, 47; small-pox there, 65; Church there again, ibid.; its name changed from Strawberry Bank, 66 note.
 Prince, Samuel, 7 note.
 Prout, Timothy, 31 note.

R.

- Ramfdell, Joseph, of Lynn, slain by Indians, 63 note.
 Reyner, Rev. John, of Dover, xiii.
 Rhode Island, progress of colonization in 1675, x.; its condition at that time, xvii.
 Rogers, George, 145, 146, 175.
 Row, Giles, killed, 27 note.
 Rowlandson, Rev. Joseph, of Lancaster, xv.
 Ruffell, Rev. John, of Hadley, xv.

S.

- Saffin, John, 15 note.
Saffamon, disclosure of Philip's plot against the English, xxiii.; murdered, xxiv.
 Scammon, Richard, 17 note; Anne, ibid.; Humphrey, of Saco, 57 note.
 Scotow, Joshua, 28 note; Thomas, ibid.; notices of him, 31 note, 36.
 Sewall, Samuel, notices of him, 38 note.
 Sharkee, or Chartier, 148, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161.
 Shepard, Rev. Thomas, of Charlestown, xiii.
 Sherman, Rev. John, of Watertown, xiii.
 Shove, Rev. George, of Taunton, xiii.
 Small-pox in Boston, 32, 37; in Portsmouth, 65; on board of some of Church's transports, ibid.; some of his men seek to deceive him in regard to it, ibid.
 Smith, Rev. John, of Sandwich, xiii.; Thomas, commander of the frigate Jersey, 145, 146, 175.
 Southack, Cyprian, commander of the Province galley, 123 note, 143, 162, 175.

- Southworth, William, a lieutenant in Church's First Expedition, 27; account of him, ibid. note; chosen by the Indians their captain, 37 note.
 Sparrow, Jonathan, of Eastham, 40 note.
 Sprague, William, of Hingham, 68 note.
 Spurwink, where, 28 note.
 Stoddard, Rev. Solomon, of Northampton, xv.
 Story, Joseph, 73, 76.
 Stoughton, William, Lieut. Gov., his commission to Church, 94; notice of him, ibid. note; his letter to Church, transferring the command to Col. Hathorne, 123, 124.
 Street, Rev. Nicholas, of New Haven, xiv.
 Swain, Jeremiah, notice of, 13 note.
 Swarton, John, from the island of Jersey, 23; killed by Indians at Casco, ibid. note; Hannah, taken by Indians, ibid.; Joshua and Joanna, ibid.; Mary, ibid.

T.

- Thacher, Rev. Thomas, of Boston, xv.; John, of Yarmouth, 40 note.
 Thaxter, Thomas, 27 note.
 Thomas, Nathaniel, notices of, 72 note; his family, ibid.
 Thorpe, Robert, of York, 107 note.
 Tolman, Peter, of Newport, 68 note.
 Torrey, Rev. Samuel, of Weymouth, xiii.
 Trading-houses, or truck-houses, Church's opinion of them, 134.
 Treat, Rev. Samuel, of Eastham, xiv.
 Tyng, Edward, 25 note, 136 note.

V.

- Vaughan, William, of Portsmouth, N. H., 76 note; his family, ibid.; he and others apply to Church for help against the Indians, 79; George, 81

I N D E X.

note.
Villebon, Chevalier, 114 note.

W.

Wakeman, Rev. Samuel, of Fairfield,
xiv.
Waldron, or Walderne, Major Richard,
17 note; his children, ibid.; Esther, his daughter, a captive to the Indians,
ibid.
Walker, Rev. Zechariah, of Woodbury, xv.
Walley, Major John, 10 note, 15 note, 37, 40 note; is desired by Gov. Phips to speak to Church about going again to Maine, 83; Rev. Thomas, of Barn-stable, xiv. 42 note.
Walton, Shadrach, colonel and judge, 51 note; his family, ibid.; George,
ibid.; Benjamin, ibid.
Ward, Rev. John, of Haverhill, xiv.
Waterhouse, Richard, 81 note.
Wells, Rev. Thomas, of Amesbury, xv.
Whale-boats, much used in Church's Fifth Expedition, 131, 139, 147, 150, 151, 159, 169, 171, 177; explanation of their special value in such an affair, 171 note.
Wheelwright, Rev. John, of Salisbury, xiv.; John, Esquire, of Wells, 73 note,
75; letter addressed to him by Church,
69-76.

Whiting, Rev. Samuel, of Lynn, xiii.;
Rev. Samuel, of Billerica, xv.
Whitman, Rev. Zechariah, of Hull, xiv.
Wigglesworth, Rev. Michael, of Malden,
ibid.
Willard, Rev. Samuel, xv.; Simon, notices of, 10 note, 29 note.
William Henry, fort at Pemaquid, described, 86 note; taken by the French and Indians, 98 note.
Williams, Eunice, wife of Rev. John, of Deerfield, slain by Indians, 128.
Williamson, Capt. Caleb, 139, 175;
notice of, 139.
Wilson, Rev. John, of Medfield, xiv.
Wincol, John, of Kittery, 80 note.
Winflow, Josiah, brings Alexander, the Indian sachem, to Plymouth, xxi.
Winter, John, notice of, 56 note.
Winter Harbor, 56 note.
Witchcraft delusion, 91 note.
Witherell, Rev. William, of Scituate,
xiv.
Withington, Mary, 9 note.
Woodbridge, Rev. Benjamin, of Windsor, xv.; Dorothy, 76 note; Rev. John, of Killingworth, xv.
Woodman, John, of Little Compton,
84.
Worombos, an Indian sachem, 53, 64.

Y.

York, Joseph, pilots Church up the Penobscot, 102, 105, 106.

NOTE.

My attention has been kindly called, by the Rev. J. A. Vinton, — who has prepared the foregoing Index, — to sundry statements in note 323 (p. 163), concerning the Gyleses, father and son, which he conceives to be inaccurate. Those statements were made upon the testimony of Sewall, who expressly refers, in regard to some of them, to an incomplete MSS. narrative of the Rev. Mr. Vinton, of the date of 1853, and who was therefore supposed to have, in this case, special authority. In order to place the reader in possession of all the facts, however, I gladly append here the following, prepared by Mr. Vinton, — containing facts subsequently brought to light, — which note, if it had not been too late, would have been substituted for the note referred to.

H. M. D.

---

John Gyles (p. 163 ante), born in what is now the town of Topsham, Me., about the year 1678, was son of Thomas Gyles (who, after a residence of some years on Merrymeeting Bay, where the Androscoggin joins the Kennebec, went to England to attend to some family matters, then returned to New England, and purchased a large farm at Pemaquid, where he was Chief-Justice, under the ducal government, of the County of Cornwall, and was killed by the Indians, Aug. 2, 1689); was carried off by the Indians, after his father's death, to their savage haunts on the upper waters of the river St. John, in the present province of New Brunswick. After severe sufferings among them during six years, he was purchased by a French gentleman residing on that river, who treated him kindly, and who, three years afterward, permitted him to return to his friends at Boston. He served the Government of Massachusetts thirty-eight years, with some interruptions, as interpreter in their transactions with the Indians, and as commander of several military posts on the frontiers; was a man of great courage, and of stern, unbending integrity; retired from the military service in 1737, and took up his residence in Roxbury, near Boston, where he died in 1755, aged 77. In 1736, he printed a narrative of his adventures, which is still extant. [Vinton's Giles Memorial, pp. 103-111, 122-129.]

E 907 ①

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

0 014 043 253 2

