The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

Izaak Walton Killam Memorial Library
Dalhousie University

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol \rightarrow (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Izaak Walton Killam Memorial Library
Dalhousie University

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole \rightarrow signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

The Jewish Year 5600 began Sept. 9, 1839.
5601 begins Sept. 28, 1840.

The Year 1225 of the Hegira, or Flight of Mahomet, began March 17, 1839—the year 1256 begins on March 5 1840, and 1257 begins on Feb. 23, 1841.

Ramadan (the month of fasting from sunrise to sunset) begins Oct. 27, 1840—and Schewall, the month of rejoicing on Nov. 26.

MORNING AND EVENING STARS.

VENUS will be visible in the morning, in the South east, or East, before sunrise until 24th July, the day of her superior conjunction with the Sun, and afterwards in the Evening after sunset, in the west, or south west. The remainder of the year MARS will be visible in the West after sunset until 1st May, the day of his conjunction with the Sun, afterwards in the Morning in the East, the remainder of the year. During the whole of 1840 this planet will be very remote from the Earth and will shine with little of the splendor of its appearance, when in opposition. His next opposition takes place April 17, 1841, the last took place March 11, 1839. JUPITER will be in opposition to the Sun on 4th May, and in conjunction on 21st Nov. SATURN will be in opposition to the Sun on 8th June, and in conjunction on Decr. 15. HERSCHEL, or URANUS will be in conjunction with the Sun on 6th March, and in opposition on 10th Sept. MERCURY, the least of the old planets, is but seldom seen by the naked eye, or it is never visible more than about two hours before the rising or after the setting, of the Sun. The following will be the most favorable times in Halifax for viewing it in 1840. It generally appears like a reddish star of the first magnitude.

ECLIPSES-IN 1840.

There will this year be Four Eclipses—two of the Sun, two of the Moon; of which only one, that of the Moon, on the 13th August, will be visible in Halifax.

I. Monday Morning, Feb. 17th. a partial eclipses of the moon, visible in the Western part of North America, but not in Nova-Scotia.

II. Tuesday and Wednesday, March 3rd. and 4th. an annular Eclipse of the Sun, visible throughout Asia, Borneo and Sumatra, in a part of the Indian Ocean, and in the North Eastern part of Africa and Europe, but central only in Asia—The path of the central eclipse first touches the Earth, in the Arabian Sea near the Arabian Coast, thence passes across Hindostan, the northern part of Burmah and of China, the eastern part of Tartary to the north eastern part of Siberia when it leaves the Earth. The Eclipse will be very large in Goa, Calcutta and Pekin; in Bombay it will probably be annular. No part of the eclipse will be visible in America, Australia, the Western part of Africa, or of Europe.

III. A partial Eclipse of the Moon, visible in Halifax, Thursday morning, August 13th, as follows, viz:—

	h.	m.
Beginning of the Eclipse	-	-	1 43½ } mean time
Greatest Obscuration	-	-	3 8½ } at
End of the Eclipse	-	-	4 33½ } Halifax.
Digits eclipsed 7° 17' on the northern limb of the Moon.

This eclipse will be visible throughout America, but in no other continent.

IV. August 26th and 27th a total Eclipse of the Sun visible to the greater part of Africa, to the South eastern part of Arabia, the South eastern part of Australia, in the Island of Madagascar, and in a large part of the Indian Ocean, but wholly invisible throughout America and Europe. The path of the central Eclipse first touches the Earth near the Western Coast of Africa, about 1400 miles north of the Cape of Good Hope; it thence passes in an easterly direction across that continent and the northern part of the Island of Madagascar to the Indian Ocean, thence in a South easterly direction, over said Ocean about 5000 miles to lat. 64° South lon. 129° East where it leaves the Earth. At the Cape of Good Hope about one half of the Sun will be eclipsed.

OCCULTATIONS.

The most important occultations probably visible in Halifax in 1840, are those of part of the Pleiades in the evenings of Jan. 14, Feb. 10, July 23, Octr. 13, the morning of Nov. 10, and in the evening of Dec. 7; those of Regulus, (a star of the first magnitude) in the evening of Jan. 20 and March 15; those of "tau m" (a star of the third magnitude) in the morning of April 20, and in the evening of July 10; and that of Mercury on the evening of June 30.

 3. Rising of the Sun.
 4. Setting of the Sun.
 5. Days length in hours and minutes.
 6. Equation of time in minutes and seconds.
 7. Sun's Declination taken from the Nautical Almanack, in hours and minutes, at mean noon. It denotes the apparent position of the true Sun with reference to the equator, and the true equinox, at the instant the Greenwich mean time clock, or chronometer, indicates Oh. 0m. 0s., or when the hour angle of the true sun is equal to the equation of time.
 8. Rising and Setting of the Moon.
 9. The Moon's place in the signs, for explanation of these signs, see page 2.
 10. Moon's Southing—when the moon comes to the Meridian of any place, or twelve o'clock hour-line, she is then due south with respect to that place, and this is termed the moon's southing.
 11. Days increase in hours and minutes.

The top of the columns of each month shows the moon's phases, or the times of new and full moon, and of the first and last quarters, or two quadratures with the sun.

The Farmer's Calendar is placed at the foot of the columns of each month.

 All the calculations in this Almanack (with the exception of the Equation of time, and the Sun's declination) have been adapted to mean solar time—since (on account of the inequality of the solar days, arising from the unequal motion of the earth and the obliquity of the ecliptic to the equator) a clock regulated to apparent solar time must be frequently adjusted. Mean time has of late come into very general use and has almost entirely superseded the old mode of reckoning. To those however who still prefer, to keep apparent time, the calculations in this almanack will be equally useful, as mean time is easily converted into apparent, by subtracting the quantity in the sixth column of the left hand calendar pages, when the sun is slow of clock, and adding it when fast of clock. Thus on 1st Feby. the Sun's upper limb rises in mean time at 7h. 19m. and sets at 5h. 3m., and the sun on the same day of 14 minutes slow of the clock; this quantity must therefore be subtracted, and we have 7h. 5m. and 4h. 54m. for the apparent times of rising and setting. The Equation of time (see slow or fast of clock) and the Sun's declination are computed for apparent noon at Greenwich or for a quarter before 8 in the morning at Halifax. The rising and setting of the sun, are given, not of his centro as heretofore, but, of his highest point, and are corrected for refraction, a correction hitherto, almost always, very improperly neglected, so that those persons who have a good horizon to the east or west, and who reside not far to the north or south of Halifax, may by means of these columns, regulate their time keepers within one or two minutes, and may thus by taking notice of the Equation of time, draw a meridian line with sufficient accuracy. The setting of the moon is given from new to full moon, and her rising from full to her change. The time of high water, of that tide which arrives immediately before the southing of the moon is given for Halifax, Annapolis, Charlotte Town, P. E. I., Windsor and St. John N. B. The time of high water at the new and full moon being, according to the best authorities as follows, viz:—at Halifax 7h. 15m. at Annapolis 10h. 45m. at Charlotte Town, 10h. 15m. and at Windsor and St. John, N. B. 11h. 45m. The highest spring tides will this year be moderate—the highest of all, unaffected by wind, will be those of March 4, April 3, May 2, Augt. 27, and Octr. 11, and the lowest spring tides those of Jan'y, 4, April 16, May 16, June 14, July 14, Nov. 23, and Decr. 23.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS.

APHELION, is that part of a planet's orbit furthest from the sun.
APOGEE, the moon is said to be in Apogee when furthest from the Earth.

DECLINATION, is the distance of a heavenly body from the equinoctial line.

ECLIPTIC, is the plane of the Earth's orbit extended to the stary sphere; or the annual path which the sun apparently describes among the stars.

ELONGATION of a planet, is its distance from the Sun, as seen from the Earth.

EQUINOXIAL, or EQUINOXIAL LINE, is an imaginary line, or circle of the heavens corresponding with the Equator of the Earth.

EQUINOX. (See Right Ascension.)

NODES are those points in the orbits of the moon or planets which intersect the plane of the ecliptic.

PERHELION is that part of a planets orbit nearest the Sun.

PERIGEE. The moon is said to be in perigee when nearest the Earth.

RIGHT ASCENSION is the distance, eastward, reckoned on the equinoxial from the first point of Aries; and is generally estimated in time; fifteen degrees of the arc, being equal to one minute of time, and so on. The Zero point, or first of Aries is called the Equinox.

The world may be compared to a mill, which is perpetually grinding its grist; the grain that is put into the hopper soon disappears, and more is required to fill its place. The earth's revolution for 1839 has been made; its catalogue of wars, earthquakes, fires, famines, freshets, crimes, births, marriages and deaths, is finished. Its grist is ground. The world has entered upon a new course; a new grist is in the hopper—the great machinery is at work, and this too will soon be finished. In this vast movement, an individual may seem but a single kernel of grain;—but, small as he is compared to the whole, each one seems of considerable importance to himself. Accordingly he looks out for number one—and thus each kernel of the grist is taken care of. And how can one get along without one of Belcher's Almanacks? Not at all! Every body must have an almanack at hand to regulate his affairs by, or he may get into some trouble. Without Almanacks, then, not only individual kernels in the great hopper of the year may be badly ground, but the whole grist—may shew more bran than meal.

LOOKING-GLASS FOR A DRUNKARD.—A drunkard is the annoyance of modesty; the trouble of civility; the spoil of wealth; the destruction of reason. He is the brewer's agent; the ale-house benefactor; the beggar's companion; the constable's trouble. He is his wife's wo; his children's sorrow; his neighbors scoff; his own shame. In sum, a tub of swill; a spirit of sleep; a picture of a beast; a monster of a man.

Many by drinking health to others, leave none to themselves. Drunkenness is a flattering devil, a sweet poison, a deligtosome sin, which whoso hath in himself, hath not himself; and he that useth it, is not himself in the concrete, but sinfulness itself in the abstract; being a voluntary devil, the common shame of nature, and the prodigious disgrace of mankind.

Farmer's Calendar.—The compliments of the Season to all our patrons, and they are very many, and on the increase every year—may peace, prosperity, and contentment be with them all, throughout the year. Farmers have plenty of leisure this month for forming plans and adopting measures to be pursued throughout the year, and also for the education of their children—teach the boys the importance of knowing how to earn their own livelihood by the sweat of their brow, and the benefits of strict economy. Teach young ladies how to sew, knit, spin, mend and to make their own garments, and cultivating kind dispositions, and the pleasant duty of knowing how to superintend the cooking department, appearing always neat and in a dress of home manufacture. You will save half your materials for fodder, by cutting your hay, straw, corn-stalks, &c with Willis' or some other straw cutter, then mix your cut fodder with Indian meal, bran, soaked or boiled corn, sliced potatoes, or other roots, cut so fine that there will be no danger of the animals' choking themselves. Cattle well wintered are half summered. Agriculture of late has, like many other arts and sciences, undergone a great change, within a few years, the farming interest has been most astonishingly redeemed from the unjust humiliation into which it had sunk. When we reflect upon the entire dependance of every other profession, trade, or employment, on agriculture, we cannot but be sensible of its importance, and of the respect and esteem to which its votaries are entitled.

Farmer's Calendar.—A short month this, at best, and rather short days too; well, then, let us be the more delighted to improve them! How go matters and things at the barn? Will the hay hold out? Finish threshing and secure your grain from vermin. Have a watchful eye, also, to prevent the ravages of rats and mice in your cellars and pantries. This is a good season to feed to your cattle the poorest fodder; they will eat it better now than in the spring or fall. Visit your barn early in the morning; feed your cattle often but with little at a time. Keep your forward cows and ewes in good heart, a little corn now and then, or a few potatoes or other roots, will not hurt them. Let your cattle be as comfortable as yourself, if you wish them to thrive. See that the pigs have warm food three times a day. Cut scions for grafting.

Increase your wood pile. The pleasures and gratifications which flow from the fire side, may be considered as almost peculiar to our region. In warmer climates the aid of fire is demanded for little else than culinary purposes—to the enlivening blaze, and the clean swept hearth, and to all the numerous comforts, which, in this country, so usually wait upon their junction, they are perfect strangers. Delightful as is the aspect of nature, under the warmth, and splendor of a summer sun, most persons look forward with pleasure to those seasons, when the falling leaf or drifting snow draws closer the family circle, and ushers in that social and intellectual intercourse which constitutes the dearest charm, and next to religion, the highest privilege of human existence. When all without is wrapped in darkness, and the freezing blast howls eager for entrance round your dwelling, with what enjoyment do its inmates crowd to the cheerful hearth, and, as the flame grows brighter on their cheeks, listen, with a sensation of self gratulating security, to the storm that shakes their solid roof.

Farmer's Calendar.—"The borrower is the servant of the lender." Every one who is master of his business has his farming Tools in readiness, and is not obliged to borrow. Farmers awake—the spring is upon you—are your plans for the season all matured? Keep the cattle from the fruit trees that they may not injure them by browsing. House your sleds, sleighs, &c. as soon as you have done with them. Attend to your fences—drive your business before you, and it will go on easily; suffer it to lag behind, and it soon becomes a burden, too ponderous to bear. The season for tilling the earth has now arrived, but "the sluggard will not plough by reason of the cold; he shall therefore beg in harvest, and have nothing." You may sow grass seed either as soon as the snow is off the ground, or, as some say, in Aug. or Sept. You may see the time for this purpose discussed in "Fessenden's Complete Farmer," pages 22, 24. Be sure to use seed enough, say about 12lbs of clover and one peck of herd's (timothy) grass to the acre. Have your wood cut up and piled away for summer use, it is very bad economy to be obliged to leave your work in haying or harvesting, to draw and cut up every now and then, a little green wood to cook with. In this month the sheep will begin to bring forth their lambs—the utmost care and attention are requisite to preserve the lambs. It is said that more than half the human race die before they are two years old; and it is very probable that half the lambs die before they see two weeks—this mortality is probably produced by inattention to the dictates and requirements of nature, rather than as the results of physical laws.

Farmer's Calendar.—The Farmer's work commences in earnest, see that every thing is in proper order—to prevent vexation, and to save what you raise, look well to your fences, and put them in thorough repair, look sharp after the bars, rails and gates, trim up the whole and see that the farm is in prime order, ready to receive the plough. Procure good seeds for all the crops you intend to raise and let them be put into the ground early; pay what attention to the moon you think proper. Have an extra lot of land ploughed up this year. Agriculture is an employment in which too many persons cannot be engaged—the literary professions may be crowded; trade and commerce may be overdone; too great a number engaged in these, starve each other. and fertile country like this, every one who industriously and skilfully tills the ground, while he adds to the public good, secures his own independence. If the income of the Farmer is not so abundant as that of the professional man, or the merchant, it is also not so precarious; if greater bodily exertion and fatigue attaches to his employment, he has far less anxiety and perplexity of mind; if he has not an equal access to the luxuries and superfluities of life, he is more certain of its necessaries and comforts. Industry and economy combined, form the true philosopher's stone, which turns all into gold—they generally exist together; and are both so indispensably necessary to success in any pursuit of life, that where one is wanting, the other, for all practical purposes, may be absent. Without industry, economy will be of no avail; and without economy, the fruits of industry will soon be wasted. It is the want of these that prevents the success of so many in the various situations of life. He who has it should draw the strings as frugality directs, and he will be sure always to find a useful penny at the bottom of it.

Farmers Calendar.—If a man means to make anything by farming, he must attend to it personally, and not trust to others—he must engage in it through thick and thin, and not be afraid of getting dirty hands, or a smutty face. Now is the time to let the cattle step into the field and plough up that fine piece of soil. Plant potatoes, corn, peas, and beans; sow all the wheat and oats you can, for these bring the ready money. Be particular to have the butter made nice and clean, don't let any sluts or slovens go near the churn. Give the cows small potatoes night and morning; only treat them well; and they will smile at you every time you go to the barn. A good cow is almost as profitable as a good wife ; you cannot have a good wife without she is economical and good natured when her husband goes into the house—a smile, a look, a word, an act of tenderness and esteem from a wife may add more to the real happiness of the weary husband when he returns from his toil, than all the wealth the world can bestow. Gardening is too much neglected in our country. If half the time was employed in cultivating a kitchen garden, that is spent doing nothing, or what is worse, our farmers would live much cheaper than they now do, and far more to their comfort. Put your corn ground in readiness ; there will be no danger of ploughing it too much. If your spring grain is not all sown, lose no time in getting it into the ground. Continue to plant potatoes, peas, beans, raddishes, &c. Plant cucumbers for early use. Caterpillars should be seen too, otherwise they may do much mischief.

Farmer's Calendar.—You must not expect many leisure days this month: the industrious farmer will so employ the rainy weather of June to “make hay while the sun shines” in July, plant more cucumbers, set out cabbage plants, keep the hoe in motion to destroy weeds in your garden. See that all your seeds are in the ground before the first of June. Clear out the cellars, and throw away every thing in and around, or about the premises that is not useful or necessary. The trees being now in full blossom, you may expect many visitors, who cannot but acknowledge that the country is the very place for comfort and contentment, being surrounded with pure air and good water—birds singing at your windows by sunrise—the little chickens singing sweat meal and water, surrounded with fowls saying good morning, and the pigs calling out, come, come, hurry along my breakfast, and the fine cows asking the girls to take the milk and let them go to grass; and even the horse says I will take a little fresh hay, but none of your driving me quite so hard to day. Hoeing is a business by no means to be neglected; and unless attended to, no one must expect a crop. Some, however, after taking much pains to deposit their seed, leave the rest to providence. Weeds and brambles of course come up and choke the tender plants; and the field once so fair and promising, becomes a stigma and a disgrace to the idle possessor. Hoe deep and hoe often, and your land will retain more moisture for it. Your crops of course will find more nourishment and better bear the drought. Set cabbages, and be sure they are hoed about every other morning. You must likewise attend to the bugs and destroy them early in the morning, if you would not have your labour lost. Half hill your corn. Keep your temper both in doors and out. Let peace be within thy dwelling.

Farmer's Calendar.—It is a matter of much importance that the farmer should take time by the forelock during the season of hay-making—he must drive his business instead of being driven by it. Indolence or improper management in hay-time will soon give a sorry complexion to a farmer's affairs—a day or two lost or misemployed while the sun shines, and your grass suffers for lack of the scythe and the rake, or your grain is going back into the ground while the sickle is rusting on a peg behind the door, and its owner is asleep or gone on a journey, may be the means of introducing Mr. Deputy Sheriff on your premises, who will do more harm than a crop of thistles or a lot of hessian flies. field; see how the mowers sweep along; men, women, boys, and girls, all busily engaged, the sun is hardly two hours high, and yet each has nearly completed their half day's work—this is the true way to manage, cut your grass while the dew is on, if you would have your scythe go smoothly. Cut your grain early, the flour is better, the straw is better, and there is less waste—be sure to finish hoeing your corn before it begins to silk or tassel; nature should then be left to herself or your crop will be injured. You will also be a gainer by finishing your hoeing before the hurry of haying commences. Pay your hands well. "The labourer is worthy of his hire." On the 5th of July commence the Dog days, which are a number of days preceding and following the rising of Sirius, or the dog star. There were formerly many superstitions concerning the dog star. The heat of the weather during the dog days is very great.

Farmer's Calendar.—The farmer who has it in his power to drive his business instead of being driven by it, will do well to sow his winter rye some time between the middle of Augt. and the middle of Sepr. If it be sowed so early, it will be less apt to winter-kill, will require less seed, the growth will be stouter, and the produce greater, other things being equal, than if the sowing was deferred till late in Autumn. Rye is capable of being cultivated on most kinds of land, but the light sandy soils, where wheat will not thrive, are the sorts of soil on which it will, generally speaking, be found most profitable to raise this kind of produce. When rye is sown upon light land it ripens much earlier than on a cold, stiff ground, and it is said by some writers that, by continuing to sow on such a soil for 2 or 3 years, it will be forwarded so much as to ripen a month earlier than that which has been raised upon strong cold ground—those who sow their rye late will do well to provide themselves with this early seed. It is asserted as a general rule, that the proper time to reap wheat or rye is when the straw begins to shrink and become white about half an inch below the ear—this appearance is a sure indication that the grain has ceased to receive nourishment from the roots of the plant. By cutting early it will yield more and whiter flour; the harvesting will be expedited, so as to prevent waste in shelling, by having the last cuttings become too ripe, and the straw will be more valuable by its retaining a part of the natural juices. Improve every opportunity for collecting into your barn yards and hog pens materials for making manure. At this dry season, see that the cattle have enough water to drink—See that they are changed into a fresh pasture. If you have any leisure it will be a good time to white wash.

Farmer's Calendar.—This is the month to dig ditches, and drain the meadow, some of the finest lands have laid waste for the want of draining—look to it, it will be a legacy to the boys, provided you learn them to work while young. Before you attempt to drain a piece of land, it will be well not only to calculate the cost, but to ascertain the nature of the soil which it is proposed to render fit for cultivation. If the subsoil or under layer be clay, the swamp may be worth draining, though there should be no more than six inches of blacksoil or mud over it, for the clay and the mud mixed will make a fertile soil—but if the subsoil or under stratum be gravel or white sand, it will not, in common cases, be best to undertake draining, unless the depth of black mud be as much as from 15 to 18 inches deep; for the soil will settle after draining, and be less damp than it was before. The mud and other materials which are dug out of a ditch or drain should not be suffered to lie in heaps or banks by the side of the ditch, but should be spread as equally as possible over the surface of the drained land—in this way matter taken from the ditches will tend to level the surface, will, perhaps, serve in some measure for manure, and will not present any impediment to the passage of the water to the ditches. There is nothing which so much lightens, economises, and renders efficient the labors of the farmer, as good implements to use on his farm. The farmer who is obliged to work with bad tools, is in a poor predicament—laboring with such things is dull, discouraging drudgery, and the little work which can be performed with awkward and inefficient implements, is generally done in such a slovenly and imperfect manner that it might better have been omitted. You cannot make good work with a poor plough. It leaves the land worse than it was before its use was attempted, and makes its owner poorer for possessing such property.

Farmer's Calendar.—Winter Apples should be gathered after they are fully ripe, in a clear day; they should then be spread on a floor in a dry airy place, and remain till in danger of frost, then removed in tight casks or boxes to the cellar, and they will keep much better than if managed in the common way. To make good Cider, the first requisite is suitable fruit; it is equally necessary that the fruit should be not merely mellow, but thoroughly mature, rotten apples being excluded; and ripe if possible at the suitable period, or about the 1st of November, or from the first to the middle, after the excessive heat of the season is past, and while sufficient warmth yet remains to enable the fermentation to progress slowly as it ought. Newark in New Jersey is reputed one of the most famous places in America for its cider—the cider apple most celebrated there is the Harrison apple, a native fruit; and cider made from this fruit, when fined and fit for bottling, frequently brings Ten Dollars per barrel. Mr. Bellamy, a gentleman of Herefordshire, England, has by skill produced cider from an apple called Haglae Crab, which, for richness, flavor, and price on the spot, exceeds perhaps every other liquor which nature or art has produced. He has been offered sixty guineas for a hogshead of 110 gallons of this liquor. Why can't our farmers produce the same kinds of cider? When a man gets a good farm, and is able to carry it on, let him think himself well off. Should he have a little cash on hand, it will be convenient enough; but it is unfortunate if he gives heed to every speculation story that is told, and is willing to be flattered into a belief that he is to be enriched by every stone that is turned, and by every new project and plan that may be started.

Farmer's Calendar.—Bank up your cellars and have every square of glass mended in the house. Make haste while the day lasts, and have every thing ready for winter—that chilly intruder Jack Frost, now begins to poke his nose through the cracks and broken panes of glass, some endeavour to prevent his entrance by stuffing in old rags; when such things are seen, you may conclude that matters do not go exactly right either in or out of the house. Ploughing previous to winter setting in is of great use to clays, or stiff lands, exposing the surface to the frost which mellows and reduces it in a manner infinitely superior to what could be accomplished by all the operations of man—exposing the surface of stiff soils to the frost is of great advantage, the more surface there is exposed the greater the advantage; and if the furrow slices are set partly or entirely on their edges there will be more surface exposed than there would be if they were laid perfectly flat. And if they were turned in such a manner as to form an angle of forty-five degrees, the outer edge of the furrow resting on the inner edge of that which immediately preceded it, there would be but little chance for the weeds or grass to grow up between the furrows, which may be the case when the slices are set perpendicularly, or nearly so, on their edges. There will likewise be a cavity under the edges of the furrow slices, containing stagnant and sometimes putrescent air, which will enrich the soil. Dry sandy soils, such as ought not to be ploughed in ridges, should be turned over completely, and be laid and kept level as possible. A competency is all we want for ourselves and our families while we live—let those who come after us look out for themselves—they will do well enough, if we take proper pains to instruct them.

Farmer's Calendar—We have now reached the last of the twelve months. Spring, Summer, and Autumn have departed, and gray haired Winter, has come. And now let us look over the pages of memory, and see how we have spent our time—have we stored our minds well with knowledge, or are we as ignorant as when the year began? Are we kinder of heart to all around us? Are we more charitable to the faults and frailties of our fellow beings? Do we now really feel the beauty of that glorious maxim, do to another as you would have another do to you? Do we act in all things according to this rule? Let us think deeply of these matters, and if we have erred, let us try to err no more: and, as man is feeble in all his efforts, to overcome the force of bad habits, and become wise, when he has been wedded to folly, let us ask the aid of one who has strength sufficient to overcome our weakness. If you cut wood with a wish that the stumps should sprout, let it be after the fall of the leaf and before the buds swell in the spring. When bushy ground, full of strong roots is to be ditched, begin the ditch in winter when the ground is frozen two or three inches deep. The surface may be chopped into pieces by a broad axe with a long helve, and the ditch completed in warm weather. The farmer may, probably, hit on a good time for this work in December, when there happens to be no snow, and when it will not interfere with other farming business.
