Lead image editing

Select another lead image from article's gallery

WIKIMEDIA FOUNDATION

Selecting another lead image from within the article gallery

USER STORY: READER

When an article has a lead image which is of lower quality than other images available, I want to select a better image so that reading experience is improved.

CORE INTERACTION FLOW

1. Open an article which has poorly cropped lead image and tap on that image
2. In full screen gallery view, tap on the edit icon to edit the lead image
3. Tap to change the lead image
4. Choose to use another image from the image gallery within the article
5. Update crop of the new image shown in preview
6. Confirm update to the lead image displayed.

Jane Notable

Notable person for doing something

Open an article which has poorly cropped lead image and tap on that image

LEAD IMAGE ✏️

Caption for the image shown in this full screen gallery of a an article.

© JaneUploader

In the full screen gallery, tap edit icon to edit the lead image

Drag to change the image crop, pinch to change its zoom
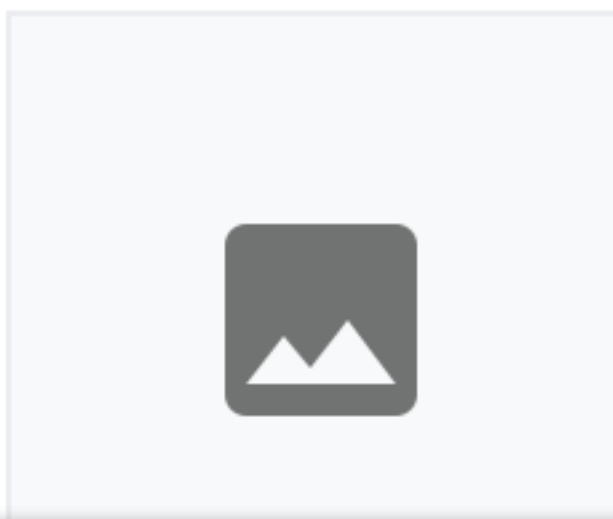

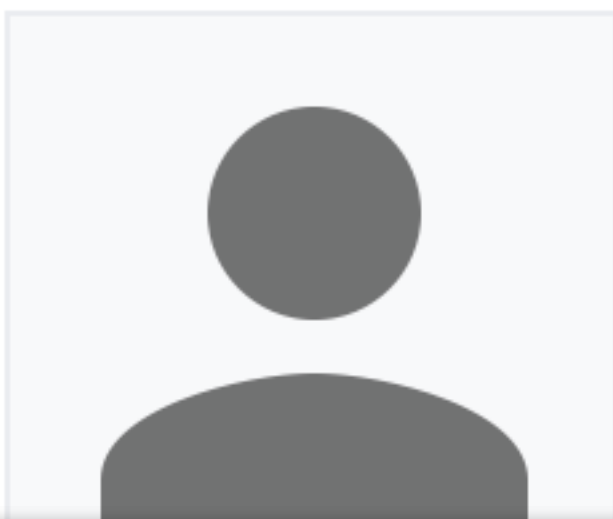

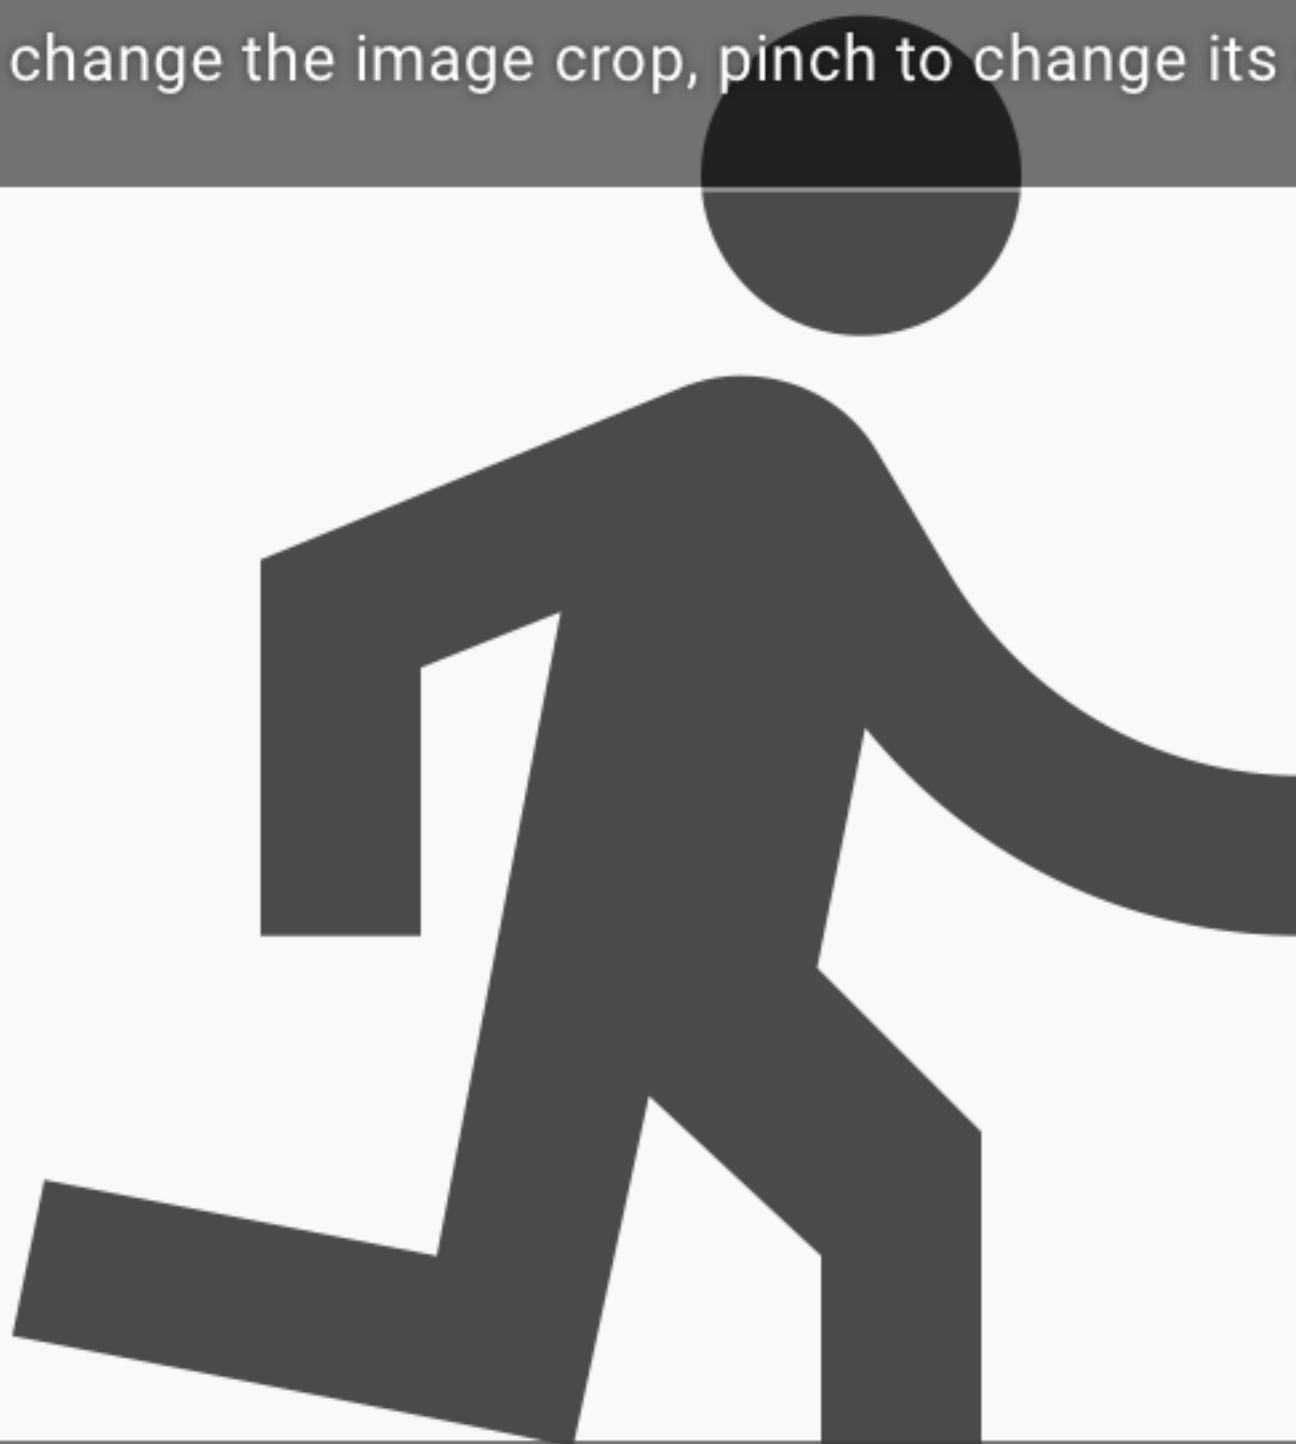

Select another image from the article

Tap call to action at the bottom of the screen to change the lead image

Drag to change the image crop, pinch to change its zoom
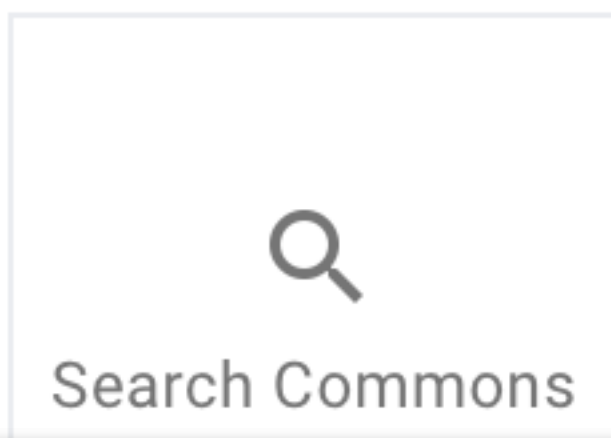

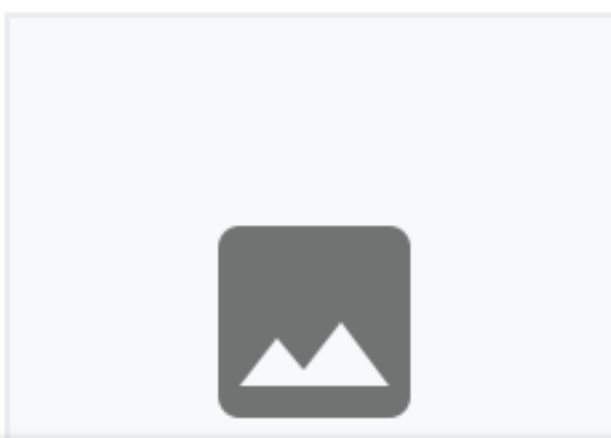

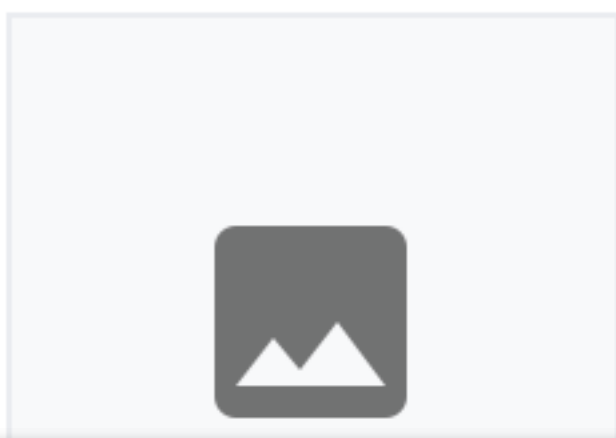

Select another image from the article ?

Gallery scrolls up into view

Drag to change the image crop, pinch to change its zoom

Select another image from the article ?

Only images of eligible resolution are shown in the gallery

Drag to change the image crop, pinch to change its zoom

Select another image from the article
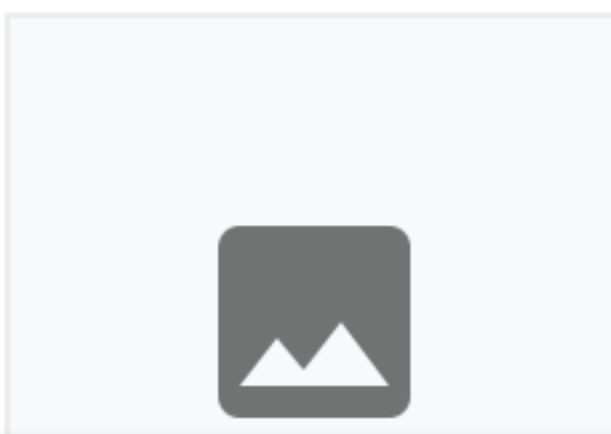

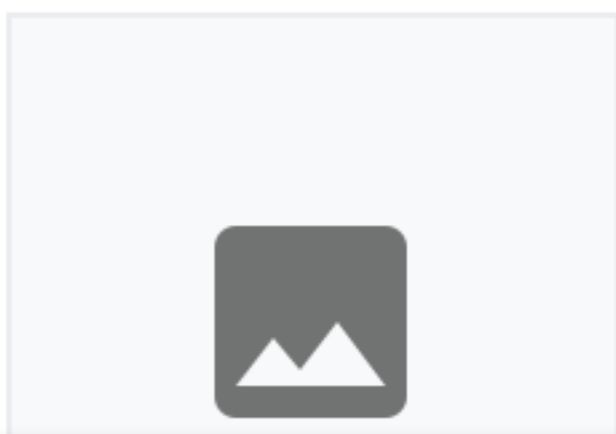

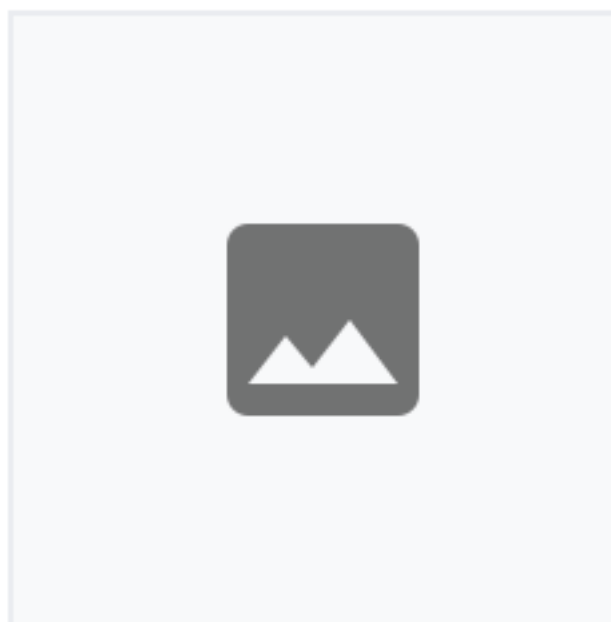

Search Commons

Note: Option to search for an image from Commons at the end of image thumbs if none are suitable within article.

Drag to change the image crop, pinch to change its zoom
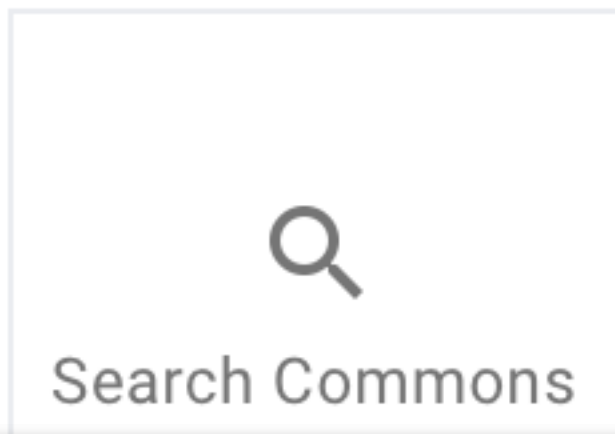

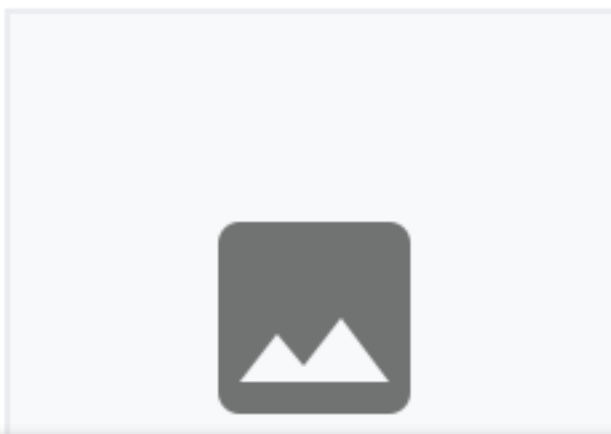

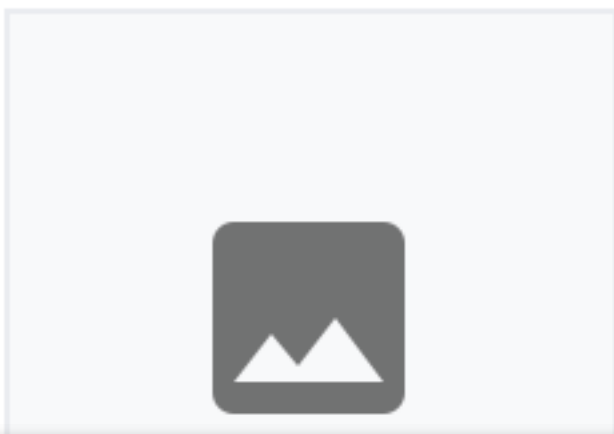

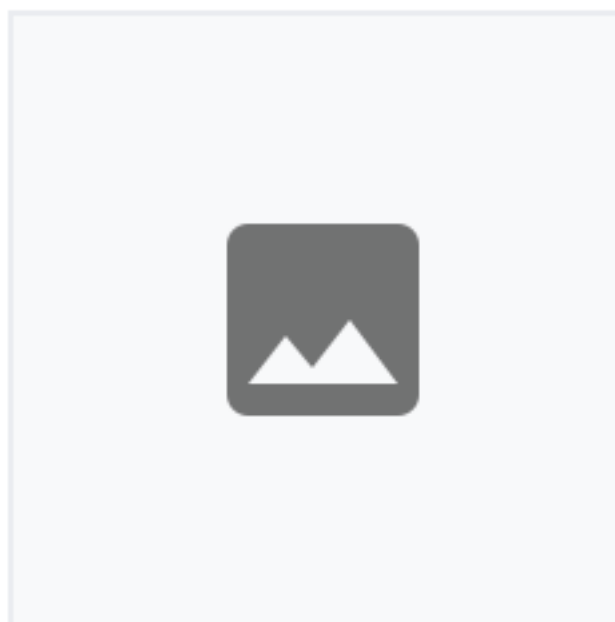

Select another image from the article ?

Choose another image from gallery to use as the lead image

Select another image from the article ?

Update crop of the new image shown in preview and proceed to save as new lead image.

Jane Notable

Notable person for doing something

Article lead image updated with new image selected.