Description	A Grade	B Grade
Color, flavor and taste	Must have its characteristic color, flavor and taste in excellent condition of brewed "Shoyu", with neither foreign taste, odor nor mildew.	Mist have its characteristic color, flavor and taste in good condition of brewed "Shoyu", with neither foreign taste, odor nor mildew.
Component	Must satisfy the following analytical inspection standard: (in gram per 100 c.c.) Density (in Baume) Not less than 22° Pure extract Not less than 16% Salt Not less than 18% Total nitrogen Not less than 1.3%	Must satisfy the following analytical inspection standard: (in gram per 100 c.c.) Density (in Baume) Not less than 20° Pure extract Not less than 12% Salt Not less than 18% Total nitrogen Not less than 1.0%

Separate Paragraph:

Method of analytical inspection:

Density (in Baume):

Density (in Baume) is measured in a normal method in room temperature and converted to that of 15°C. Adjustment is made at the rate of 0.05 Be for 1°C.

Pure Extract:

The boiling steam bath drying method is applied to ascertain the amount of extract. About 5 grams of pure river sand treated with concentrated hydrochloric acid is taken to small dish (used for extract determination). Its constant weight is taken in a normal method and 5 c.c. of sample is added to it and dry up on a boiling water bath. It is stirred for three hours with a glass stick occasionally. After being left in boiling steam bath (97-99°C) for four hours and then one hour in a desiccator, the weight is taken. The difference between the weights of the total solid and salt represents the amount of pure extract and it is expressed in gram for 100 c.c.

Salt:

The quantity of salt is measured by the direct titration method. Add distilled water to 5 c.c. of sample to make it 250 c.c. Take 5 c.c. of this diluted sample and add 1 c.c. of 2% potassium chromate. By shaking the mixture, it is titrated with N/50 silver nitrate solution. The multiplier available for adjusting excess value of materials obstructing titration, such as albumen and other coloring matters, contained in the sample is set at 0.98. The quantity of salt contained in 100 c.c. is expressed in gram.

Total Nitrogen:

The steam distillation method of the Kjeldahl Process is applied to measure the total quantity of nitrogen. Take 5 c.c. of sample and decompose it by heating, adding thereto about 3 gr. of a mixture of copper sulphate (10%) and potassium sulphate (90%) to accelerate decomposition, and 20 c.c. of concentrated sulphuric acid. Add water to the decomposed solution to make it 250 c.c. Then take 50 c.c. to distil it by steam by ordinary method. 20 c.c. of N/10 sulphuric acid is put in a receiver and the distillation is continued until 100 c.c. of distilled liquid is obtained. It is titrated with N/10 sodium hydroxide, using groke solution as indicator. The result is expressed in gram per 100 c.c.
