DECEMBER PROTECTIVE WORK

SECURED CASH THROUGH MISREPRESENTATIONS

Claiming to be the owner of a local farm Jack Adams obtains money on notes from Kankakee member

Because they placed faith in the assertions of an individual who called upon them and asked a loan on his note, a bank member at Kankakee, Ill., is to-day lamenting a loss of $95.

This party came into the bank, stated that he was F. C. Roberts, and owned a farm 12 miles off, and asked for a loan of $15 on his note. His story was heard in all confidence, and the note and cash exchanged hands. Some time later this man again came into the bank and secured other loans of $30 and $50.

As these notes matured, the bank wrote F. C. Roberts, who denied knowledge of them and proved to be other than the party that had appeared in the bank. It was then ascertained that the individual who represented himself as F. C. Roberts owned no property in that neighborhood but had been employed thereabouts as a farm hand and was known as Jack Adams and Frank Roberts. He is 28 to 30 years, 5 feet 10 inches, 147 pounds, of slender build, dark complexion, brown eyes, black hair; has a prominent Roman nose, gold filling in upper front teeth, is pleasant natured, and talks with southern accent.

MECHANICAL ENGINEER SWINDLES BANK

Claiming to be employed by the Kansas City Bridge Company, Charles R. Zeigler draws bogus draft on Missouri bank

On November 3d, one Charles R. Zeigler approached a Wilkes-Barre, Pa., bank, claiming that he was employed as a mechanical engineer by the Kansas City Bridge Company, gave his address as 2810 Jefferson Avenue, Kansas City, Mo., and declared that he carried an account in the Southwest National Bank of Commerce, Kansas City. He was permitted to draw a draft on this bank, which draft was later returned marked "no account." He is 26 years, 5 feet 8 inches, has light hair and ruddy complexion.

RAISES CHECK FROM $1 TO $67

No erasure marks are observed on check written in lead pencil. Bank gives cash and is loser

A bank at Atchison, Kan., had not complained of the fact that depositor John Smith wrote all of his checks in pencil. So Smith went on writing them with this medium and the bank continued to pay on them.

Smith became indebted to his employee Harry Wilson in amount of $1. He wrote the latter out a check for this sum. Wilson realized what serious chances the bank was taking in passing on pencil checks; more so when he, Wilson, was directly concerned, for he could very neatly rub out the amount on that check and raise it to $25, $50 or even $67. These were his thoughts as he finished removing the amount from Smith's check and proceeded to substitute "Sixty-seven dollars."

When he presented the check at the Atchinson bank, without hesitation they turned this money over to him. They are now the losers. A warrant has been sworn out for Wilson's arrest. He is 35 years, 5 feet 7 to 8 inches, 165 pounds, of stout build, has dark hair, dark eyes, and dark complexion.

FARM BUYER IS SWINDLER

Is introduced at bank, forges real estate dealer's indorsement, and cashes bogus check

On December 10th, a real estate dealer of Junction City, Ky., introduced to a local bank a party, who the dealer claimed, had purchased a farm near Junction City and would want to open an account. This party said he would have his brother forward a check to the bank for $4,500, to make the payment on the farm and to buy some teams and wagons. He then left, declaring that he would call again after his return from Louisville, where he had left his wife and child. Later in the day he reappeared in the bank with a check supposed to be indorsed by the real estate dealer and drawn on the Second National Bank, Ravenswood, W. Va. Subsequently it was proven that this indorsement was forged and that no bank of this name existed at Ravenswood. This man is 5 feet 8 inches, 160 pounds, has a black mustache; speech is impaired; wore a diamond cluster in tie; carried new black handbag. He used the name James T. Monday.

ARTHUR J. HAMILTON

PERPETRATED BANK HOLD UP

Arthur J. Hamilton identified as man who secured $2,500 from Manitou, Colo., bank

On December 7th, at 12:30 P.M., while the cashier of a bank at Manitou, Colo., was alone in the banking rooms, a man entered and with revolver leveled at the cashier, demanded that the latter fill up with currency a sack which was pushed towards him. The cashier had filled the sack with silver, when the robber ordered him into the vault and locked the door. One Arthur J. Hamilton was on December 23, 1915, arrested at Indianapolis, Ind. Hamilton is 26 to 28 years, 6 feet 1½ inches, 175 pounds, of slender build, dark complexion, has hazel eyes, brown hair, is smooth shaven, has a wart on the left little finger.

NAMES PERCHERON HORSE IMPORTERS

Claims to represent J. Grout & Sons, Sioux City, Iowa, and exhibits a photograph of a Percheron stallion

A member of Excelsior Springs, Mo., tells of their unprofitable experience with one L. Harrison, who represented himself as being connected with J. Grout & Sons, Sioux City, Iowa, Percheron horse importers, and exhibited a photograph of a Percheron stallion to corroborate his statement. This bank had confidence in Harrison's story and accepted his draft which was returned as worthless. They state that he is 40 to 45 years, 5 feet 10 inches to 6 feet, 200 pounds; bears the appearance of a pugilist; wore a Masonic pin; talked in loud tones.

CHECK KITING AT ATLANTA

Griffin Construction Company, and John Mione are names used to open accounts

In the early part of November, accounts were opened at several Atlanta, Ga., banks, under the names John Mione and the Griffin Construction Company. Checks were issued and kited from one bank to another. For example, a deposit of $500 in cash was made. On the day following, a certified check of less amount was deposited in one of the other banks. This practise was continued until the operating parties created a good standing in the several banks. At this time they then issued uncertified checks and proceeded to draw against them. They defrauded the Atlanta banks of $1,000 or more. John Mione, Italian, is 40 years, 5 feet 10 to 11 inches, 150 pounds, has a prominent nose, dark brown hair, brown eyes, and long face. His companion, also an Italian, is 40 years, 5 feet 4 to 5 inches, 140 pounds, has a red face, prominent nose, and sharp dark eyes.

ALLEGED FARMER SWINDLES BANK

Claiming to be a member of the firm of Dunham & Lombardy Construction Co., E. Dunham secures cash on forged draft

On November 18th, an individual giving his name as E. Dunham, called at a Roanoke, Va., bank and presented a draft drawn by the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, Ill., on the National City Bank, New York, N. Y., in amount of $1,800. He claimed to be a farmer and that he was living in Chicago with his wife and two children; that he was a member of the Dunham & Lombardy Construction Company. He succeeded in obtaining cash on this draft which was later returned marked, "Forgery." E. Dunham is about 45 years, 5 feet 10 inches, 220 pounds in weight.

————— DANGEROUS IMPOSTER ARRESTED

Individual who claimed to be a Special Agent of the Protective Department of this Association, and displayed letters bearing forged signature of the General Secretary, is taken into custody.

For the first time in the history of this Association the Protective Department has been misrepresented.

This misrepresentation was first made on December 18th, when one, William Lavell, appeared at Peoria, Ill., and canvassed its every bank as a Special Agent of our Protective Department; extended printed cards corroborating his assertion; displayed letters purporting to be signed by Col.

Fred. E. Farnsworth, General Secretary; and endeavored to obtain from these members possession of our Code Book and Cipher. Lavell related a tale about two female forgers whom he claimed he was "trailing." At one of these banks he handed to the cashier a description of the alleged forgers and warned that a sharp lookout be kept for their appearance. At this, and several other banks approached, he remarked that he desired to send a very important message to Mr. Farnsworth and asked for the Code Book and Cipher.

On December 21st, our detective agents and the local police arrested this William Lavell at Peoria. He had in his possession four hundred printed cards reading:

AMERICAN BANKERS PROTECTIVE ASS'N

----------------------------------	----------------------------

On his person were found two letters purporting to be signed by Col. Fred. E. Farnsworth, Secretary of this Association. One of these letters reads:

"TO BANKERS WHO ARE MEMBERS OF THE ASSOCIATION:

"This will introduce to you Mr. William W. Lavell, our Special Agent. Any favors shown him will be greatly appreciated. You will also please give him access to the A. B. A. Code and Ciphers, that he may use same for telegraphing, and letter writing, as the case may call for."

Under no circumstances should members show their Cipher Code to anyone! A person who is authorized to use one, is the possessor of one!

Lavell gave his true name as Frank H. Rossa and his home as Canisteo, N. Y.

SUICIDE ENDS LIFE OF CRIME

Man who swindled a member bank and numerous hotels, hangs self in Boston jail

The recent arrest at Boston, Mass., of a man of many aliases and representations, convinced the authorities that a temporary end had been brought to the annoyance and loss which he had caused many banks and hotels. But, on the morning of December 17th, when they gazed into his cell and beheld him hanging lifeless to a rope, they realized that his operations were at an end.

On December 9, 1914, a member at Los Angeles, Cal., reported that Edward Barnett of New York had been introduced to them by the manager of a local hotel. On December 3d, Barnett deposited a $5,000 draft against the Barnett Leather Company of New York, same to be deposited to his credit when paid. The bank had confidence in Barnett and his assertions, and advanced him $2,500 on the draft, which was later returned as bogus.

From California Barnett came on to New York, defrauding the hotels that marked his route. He carried a number of letters of introduction supposed to have been issued by New York banks. The cards he presented to his intended victims told of his connections with G. F. Blackner & Sons, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., or the Rust Boiler Company, the John A. CHARLES T. STUART. An incident was recently brought to the attention of our detective agents, which serves to emphasize the fact that it pays to be as careful in relatively small matters as it does in large ones. A check for a small amount, drawn on a member of Hynes, Cal., was cashed by a merchant of Los Angeles, Cal., for a man representing himself to be Charles T. Stuart, who purchased a plow and secured the balance in change. When this check was presented to the member bank on which it was drawn, it was noticed that the signature was irregular, but owing to the fact that the bank's customer-sometimes changes his signature and as he had previously issued checks to Charles T. Stuart, the check was accepted by the bank, to be later pronounced a forgery. As is usually the case in matters of this kind, the Association is greatly hampered because of the fact that the merchant who cashed the check is unable to describe the man and state that he could not identify him.

G. DUNDAS, alias H. K. Howard, has passed two forged travelers' checks, at Philadelphia, Pa., which checks are drawn upon the Canadian Bank of Commerce, New York City. This man has evidently had these checks printed for his own use as they bear no similarity to the bank's genuine checks. He is commonly known as "The Christmas Swindler," and each year about Christmas time he takes advantage of the extra rush of business and rids himself of a number of these checks. He used the name J. A. Paget on this occasion. Merchants were his victims.

ARRESTED

ARRESTED AS SNEAK THIEVES

Attaches of victimized banks unable to identify three prisoners as men who were in banks at time of thefts

A clique of clever sneak thieves have been actively operating in the east for many months past and have created universal fear in banking circles by their daring.

The identity of these men has been known to our detective agents for some time, but up to the present they did not feel that they had sufficient evidence to convict.

WILLIAM CLARK

On November 30th, three of these men were followed by police officers to four different banks in New York City. It is stated that at the Colonial Bank they attempted to commit a robbery but did not succeed. They then went to the New Netherlands Bank, where they were taken into custody, and are now being held on a charge of attempt to rob the Colonial Bank.

The prisoners are known as William Elliott, alias "Spilly" Evans; Charles Hoffman, alias Charles Letherman, and William Clark, alias William Downey, alias "Duda."

When attaches of the many bank victims appeared at police headquarters to scrutinize the line-up and endeavor to identify any of its number as the men they had seen in their banks at the time of the thefts, not one identification was made.

ROBERT D. JONES

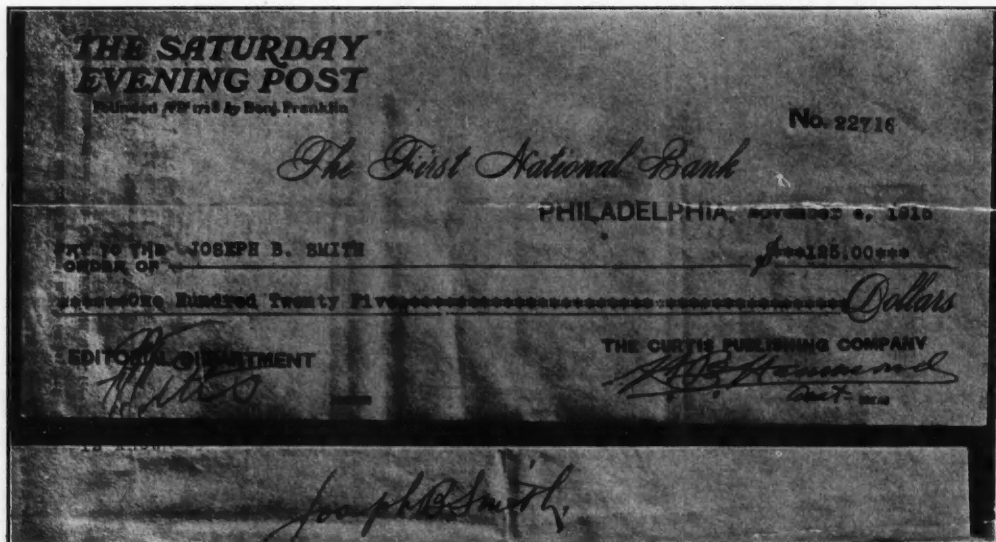

STORY WRITER IN TOILS

Man whose love of travel and writing prompted him to explore all corners of the earth is arrested as check forger

The world-wide travels of Robert Dorsey Jones have been brought to a sudden end. His stories that so well interpreted the spirit of open land and water may henceforth fail to meet with such public favor, for their author now finds for their setting the stone walls and iron bars of a narrow cell.

Jones is charged with having passed forged checks upon numerous banks. He declares that he first conceived the idea of check swindling some five years ago while he was with the United States Navy stationed at Shanghai, China. He had a supply of letter heads and checks of the Curtis Publishing Co. printed and after passing several checks in China, he returned to this country to continue the swindles.

On May 12, 1915, his operations were first brought to our attention. On that day he came into a bank at San Francisco, Cal., and presented a check similar to the one reproduced and asked that it be cashed. Jones had stated that he was a writer for the Curtis Publishing Company and exhibited a letter with this Company's heading, which related that they were forwarding this check to Jones in payment of a story he had submitted. Nevertheless, the bank persisted that he must be further identified. So Jones left and a few moments later had entered a local real estate office, approaching the dealer with extended hand and friendly greeting. He told of his experience at the bank and asked his friend, the dealer, if he would not accompany him and identify him at the bank.

When Jones again made his appearance in the banking rooms, the real estate dealer was at his side and prepared to tell the cashier that he had known Jones for twenty years and that he was thoroughly reliable and responsible. He told this in all truth for it was considerable time since he had seen Jones last, and knew nothing of ill-favor to him. His recommendation was acceptable and Jones stuffed $250 into his pockets. "A friend in need is a friend indeed," he reminded the dealer as they parted. When this check was received at the Philadelphia bank, they immediately wired back that it was a forgery. The San Francisco bank was obliged to stand the loss.

Under the same representations, Jones continued his operations. Before he left that city he had secured another bank victim with a $250 check. Then he appeared in Detroit, Mich., followed by New York City, N. Y., leaving forged checks and defrauded banks to mark his trail. For a while further trace of him was lost. Ralph D. Jordan, the hero of many of Jones' stories then came into reality at Seattle, Wash., where Jones had jumped to and cashed a check under this alias. On this occasion he declared to his intended victim that he was to investigate reported oil fields for the Standard Oil Company of New York and would do some writing while so engaged in that vicinity.

Jones made a fatal move one day when he permitted himself to be photographed by some friends. This photograph fell into the hands of our detective agents and was reproduced in a warning circular which the California Bankers Association issued. On December 2, 1915, when Jones stepped into the Redding National Bank, Redding, Cal., and endeavored to cash another of his checks, Cashier Bailey recalled this warning circular, compared its photograph with the original, realized that this was the man wanted and had Jones arrested. The prisoner confessed that he had used the names J. D. Buchanan, Bob Dorsey, Jackson, James B. Smith, and Robert D. Jones.

During the course of the investigation, a brother of this man was interviewed, who stated that a love of travel and an unhampered life were born in him. He cast his lot with the United States Army and served two enlistments, then turned to the Navy in which he also served two full periods of time. Leaving the Navy with the love of wandering still unabated, Jones sought out and penetrated both inhabited and uninhabited regions of the globe.

ARRESTED TWICE ON FORGERY CHARGE

James T. Larkin, who in year 1910 jumped from a moving train to escape return to Texas, is again arrested

Fearing the punishment of a prison sentence, James T. Larkin, at one time a responsible real estate man of Texas, has for five years made every endeavor to evade the hands of pursuing authorities. The chase ended, at last, on December 5, 1915, at Jefferson City, Mo.

In September, 1910, Larkin presented a certified check to a bank at Texline, Tex., explaining that he had heard of some cheap land in Cimarron County, Okla., and that he was going to look it over. He needed the money on this check to tie up any trades he would make. Inasmuch as Larkin was known to the bank as a reliable real estate dealer, they readily cashed the check, which was later returned with the notification that the check was bogus and the certification a forgery.

The authorities started out after Larkin and traced him to Kansas City, Mo., where in the same month they took him into custody. Larkin expressed a desire to be returned to Texas immediately. The Sheriff boarded a train with him and the return trip to Texas was begun.

JAMES T. LARKIN

Larkin's willing manner took the Sheriff entirely off his guard and at an opportune moment, Larkin raised himself upon the sill of the train's window and with the train still in motion, jumped for liberty. The train continued on with the Sheriff standing helplessly on its rear platform.

For four years since this date a search for the escaped man was constantly under way, until on December 5th, Jefferson City, Mo., announced that he was safely in their hands. Larkin will be returned to Texas, but the Sheriff accompanying him will be well informed of the reckless nature that prompts Larkin's actions, and accordingly be prepared. Larkin is known also as J. M. Lindsay, Arthur Holbrook, Frank Bernard, and F. Walton Anderson. JOURNAL-BULLETIN, October, 1910, page 209; September, 1910, page 162.

PRISONER TELLS OF ACCOMPLICES

Identity of two men implicated in Chautauqua, Kan., bank hold up is made known

DR. R. C. WILES, veterinarian, who was arrested on November 17, 1915, at Wichita, Kan., as having been implicated in the hold up of the Chautauqua State Bank, Chautauqua, Kan., has "told on his pals."

"Three men were in on the job, Lige Higgins, Joe Kitterman, and myself," declares Wiles. "About the fifth of November we drove in our car through Kansas to Stroud, Okla., where Higgins had planned to hold up the First National Bank of Stroud, the bank which Henry Starr had held up some time ago. Higgins wanted to prove to Henry Starr and to the people of Oklahoma that he was the greatest sixty-day sentence in the local jail. "We arrested them on suspicion, but believe they are good check workers," the police advised our detective agents. The two prisoners of bank robbers. On turning the main street in Stroud the steering rod of our auto broke and we crashed into a telegraph pole. This entirely upset the plans and Kitterman and Higgins took to the brush, while I remained and had the car overhauled. We met again, when Ackerman suggested holding up the bank at Copan, and Higgins suggested the bank at Chautauqua. Finally they agreed on the latter and we turned our car for that place. Higgins remained a few blocks from the bank with his rifle, to 'pick off' any of the citizens that would offer resistance, while Kitterman and I went into the bank. I held up the cashier and Kitterman walked behind the railing and gathered in all the money he could lay his hands upon. We then made our getaway."

Joe Kitterman, alias Charles Lewis, and Lige Higgins, alias Frank Williams, were arrested on December 10, 1915, in Pueblo, Colo., charged with murdering a special officer of the Santa Fe Railroad. It will be quite some time before they are brought to answer for the hold-up charge. The men are notorious bank robbers and honorary members of the Henry Starr outlaw gang. Kitterman is 26 years, 5 feet 7¼ inches, 150 pounds, medium build, dark brown hair, has blue eyes, of medium complexion. Higgins is 43 years, 5 feet 9¼ inches, 165 pounds, of good build, light brown hair, blue eyes, and sandy complexion.

LAFAYETTE FUND MISREPRESENTED

Two men employed as advertising solicitors realize opportunity to get rich quick

To help relieve the needs of the soldiers fighting for France, the Lafayette Fund of New York established headquarters in New York City and began the work of soliciting subscriptions. Francis George Burke Roche, treasurer, proceeded to employ C. J. Smith and Kenneth O. Parsons to secure advertisements for a program.

On November 30th, a Wall Street financier was called to the phone. "This is Mr. Francis George Burke Roche, treasurer of the Lafayette Fund; will you subscribe to the cause?" came from the other end. The financier expressed a willingness to assist, whereupon he was advised that a representative would immediately call upon him. The representative appeared and took possession of a $100 check made payable to Francis Roche, treasurer.

Several days later this financier telephoned to the home of Mr. Roche, and was advised that the latter was not in town, nor had he been for a week past. His suspicions aroused, the financier stopped payment on the check he had given the alleged representative of Mr. Roche.

On November 23d, a man giving his name as Francis J. Roche, opened an account at a New York City member bank by depositing several checks, on one of which payment was later stopped. This bank called in our detective agents and an investigation developed the fact that the two men employed by the Lafayette Fund, realizing an opportunity to get rich quick, had taken it upon themselves to solicit subscriptions in this Fund's name, and opened this account with the checks received. The men had drawn a considerable amount against the checks and the bank was obliged to stand that loss.

On December 7th our Detective Agents and the New York City Police arrested C. J. Smith and Kenneth O. Parsons, who confessed to the misrepresentations and securing of the checks.

PURCHASED HORSES FOR ITALIAN ARMY

Claiming to represent the Italian Ambassador at Washington, Alfred de Angeles secures cash on bogus check

When Alfred Troiana, whose true name is believed to be Alfredo de Angeles, called upon an El Paso, Tex., bank and explained that he was in town for the purpose of buying horses for the Italian Army, the bank did not question his assertion in the least, merely asking how they might serve him. Encouraged, de Angeles extended two checks over their counter. While they were under inspection, he thought it well to state that he was a representative of the Italian Ambassador at Washington. The bank was impressed and turned three hundred dollars over to this individual on the checks which were drawn against an unexisting bank at Ensenada, Mexico.

Through the efforts of the United States government authorities, and the local police, this man was arrested at Bryan, Tex., on a charge of white slavery. He was returned to El Paso. His description is given as 155 pounds in weight, 5 feet 8 inches in height; ring finger of right hand is crippled.

JANUARY PROTECTIVE WORK

DEPOSITS FORGED CHECK

Lost or stolen check is deposited in Kansas City bank and successfully drawn against

On December 31, 1915, one Kingston Alden Beach called at a Kansas City, Mo., bank and opened an account by depositing a check made payable to Mr. T. O. Henry, Manager of the World Film Corporation. This check was issued by the Western Union Telegraph Co. and represented money which had been wired to the World Film Corporation from New York to Mr. Henry. The check purported to bear the endorsement of Mr. Henry. Beach stated that he was in the film business. A few days after making the deposit he again came into the bank and drew out $350 on his own check, having been furnished with check and bank book. This bank then learned through the World Film Corporation that the check which Beach had deposited and drawn against had been stolen from Mr. Henry and that he had not endorsed it. The bank has lost $350. Beach is 27 to 30 years, 5 feet 7½ inches, 130 pounds, of medium complexion, has blue eyes, dark brown hair, and a peaked face.

RAISES $1 CHECK TO $350

$350 diamond ring about to be mailed to Henry A. Daniels is held up when his check's irregularity is made known

On December 11th a Chicago jeweler received a letter signed "Henry S. Daniels," in which the writer asked to know how much they would charge to make a gent's ring, "Baker Solitare" style mounting, set with a cluster of seven one-quarter diamonds, in the $295 grade, set in platinum. The letter also stated that if it could be made for $350 or less, that the jeweler should proceed on it. A reply was mailed to Daniels that the ring would cost an even $350.

On December 15th Henry S. Daniels opened an account with a bank at Fort Wayne, Ind., by depositing $5 in cash. Shortly thereafter he requested the bank to certify his check for $1, which request was granted.

On December 20th the jeweler received a letter from Daniels, in which was enclosed a certified check for $350, with instructions to forward the ring to Huntington, Ind. The jeweler deposited this check in his bank and it was sent on to the institution at Fort Wayne, which upon its receipt, immediately telephoned the jeweler's bank that the check had been raised from $1. The jeweler was notified and succeeded, only by a few moments' time, in intercepting the despatch of the ring to Daniels.

PRIESTS APPROACHED BY SWINDLER

Alleged doctor gains confidence of Catholic priests and induces them to accompany him to banks

A member of Scranton, Pa., tells of an unprofitable experience with one Dr. Oskar Kiefer, who came into their bank, accompanied by one of the local Catholic priests, and after the Father had made the introduction, the bank advanced the alleged doctor $100 on his check which was returned to them a short time later bearing the notation "no account."

Our detective agents interviewed the priest who made the introduction, and it was learned that Kiefer entered the Parish House and stated to him that he had come from Ottawa, Can.; that he intended to settle at Scranton; that he was married, and had three children whom he intended to send to the Church school. He showed the Father a card which was signed "Hugo Kiefer," that stated Hugo Kiefer was mailing Dr. Oskar Kiefer a $500 check. The Father was induced to accompany Kiefer to the bank.

Our agents have identified Kiefer as Dr. F. W. Ferree, alias Dr. Otto Van Steft, alias Dr. Otto Kramer, alias Otto Foster, alias Dr. Oscar Winters, who had operated in this same manner at McKees Rocks, Pa., Texarkana, Ark., St. Louis, Mo., Quincy, Ill., San Diego and San Francisco, Cal. He is 40 to 42 years, 5 feet 7 inches, 160 pounds, has dark hair, and a dark mustache.

RAILROAD MAN IS FORGER

Presents payroll check of Salmen Brick and Lumber Co. to Southern bank. Check is returned as forgery

On December 27th a man giving his name as C. B. Horton, registered at a hotel in Birmingham, Ala., and proceeded to become acquainted with several of the guests. He declared that he was a locomotive engineer and was at that time in search of work. He had in his possession a check which he claimed to have received as his last month's salary, and shortly after he had registered, he asked one of the guests to identify him at the bank. This guest accompanied Horton and upon arriving at the bank, the latter presented a payroll check of the Salmen Brick & Lumber Co., New Orleans, La., which was later returned to the bank marked "forgery." The bank had cashed the check and was obliged to stand the loss. Horton is 32 to 34 years, 5 feet 7 inches, 135 pounds, of slender build, has brown eyes, dark hair, one upper front tooth is gold, is an incessant cigarette smoker, has the appearance of a railroad man. He has used also the name of C. N. Norton.

LAND OWNER SWINDLES BANK

Deposits forged checks in Polo bank and successfully draws against them

A bank at Polo, Mo., advises that one Dr. D. de R. Beauharnais, who had been at Polo at various times since March 1, 1915, made a fraudulent deposit with their bank, and through a process of well-worked-up confidence, drew cash. He was known to be the owner of real estate in Oklahoma and Louisville, and was supposed to have sold his cotton in Oklahoma during December of this year, receiving in settlement a draft for $472.25 drawn by the American State Bank of Rosedale, Okla., on the National Reserve Bank of Kansas City, and a cashier's check in amount of $87.40, drawn on the American State Bank of Rosedale; also a cashier's check for $52.40 drawn on the American Trust Co., Byars, Okla. The Polo bank received telegrams on the draft and Rosedale cashier's check, stating that they were forgeries. This man is known also as D. D. Romaine and John Duquisne. He is 35 years, 5 feet 10 inches, has black hair, gray eyes, thin face, hollow cheeks, is extremely deaf.

INTRODUCED AT BANK

Resident of Holdenville is approached by stranger and is "talked into" introducing him at local bank

J. W. MALLORY during late December appeared at Holdenville, Okla., and approached one of its residents under the guise of a former acquaintance. Mallory talked of old times, and soon had this resident believing that Mallory and himself must have been acquainted at some date in the past. Late on this same day the two men entered a local bank. "This is Mr. J. W. Mallory, an old friend of mine," spoke up the resident. Mallory wrote out a draft on the Bank of Grady, Grady, Ark., in the sum of $1,640. The bank reminded him that it would be two or three days before the returns on the draft would be received; which statement was agreed to by Mallory. "However, we will be glad to advance you some cash, if you need it," declared the bank. Mallory suddenly realized that he could use some ready cash, and thanked the bank for the amount extended to him. The Bank of Grady and J. W. Mallory are total strangers. A warrant is held at Holdenville for the latter's arrest. He is about 45 years, 5 feet 6 inches, 170 pounds, has sandy hair, florid complexion, broad shoulders, general appearance of a farmer.

CASHES BOGUS DRAFT

O. L. Huffman approaches Jennings, La., bank and claims to have $400 on deposit at Waynesboro, Miss.

A member at Jennings, La., reports a swindle perpetrated by one O. L. Huffman, who temporarily resided at Jennings, by representing himself as the possessor of a $400 account at the Merchants & Planters Bank, Waynesboro, Miss. The Jennings bank cashed his draft for $150, which was returned marked "no account." Huffman wrote the bank that he would settle this matter but has failed to keep his promise. Since defrauding this bank, he has scattered numerous bogus checks drawn against his victim. Huffman is 50 years, tall and of heavy build, has gray hair, is smooth shaven, and wore spectacles.

PLANNED TO RENT NEWSPAPER

Stranger creates confidence at Cando, N. D., and secures cash on bogus check

In response to an advertisement, G. W. Jackson, of the Tribune Publishing Co., arrived at Cando, N. D., during December and proceeded to put negotiations under way whereby he was to rent the Cando Record, a newspaper published at this place. Jackson was pressed for cash to close the deal, so approached two local banks and presented checks drawn against the Bank of Ipswich, Ipswich, S. D. The word of Jackson's transaction had reached the banks before him, and when he arrived in person at the banking rooms, the bankers were ready and willing to extend the favor of cashing the checks he tendered. He then boarded the next train out of Cando. The bank at Ipswich pronounced his checks as bogus. Jackson is 25 to 27 years of age. His wife accompanied him to and from Cando.

GLIDDEN VARNISH CO. NAMED

Alleged representative is introduced at Pullman bank and cashes forged checks

Pullman, Wash., during early December was visited by one George Doarn, who when he stated his intention to purchase a home and settle down, was speedily taken in hand by an ambitious real-estate dealer. Doarn complained, however, of his need of cash to cover the deal, and at the same time brought to the gaze of the dealer, a check which he claimed the local bank would not cash without his being identified. The real-estate man became master of the situation. A few moments later he had entered the bank and introduced Doarn to the teller; $200 in cash passed into Doarn's hands, on the check that purported to be signed by his alleged employers, the Glidden Varnish Co. The next train out of Pullman listed Doarn among its passengers. His check was a forgery, and he is unknown to the Glidden Varnish Co. This man has also operated at Thatcher, Utah, under the name George Howet. He is 45 years, 5 feet 7 inches, 180 pounds, of medium stout build, is smooth shaven.

DRAWS DRAFT ON LUXEM CO.

Former employee of Pittsburgh concern secures cash on worthless draft at St. Louis bank

D. H. BOOTH, on December 24th, called at a St. Louis, Mo., bank and presented a draft drawn on the Luxem Co., Advertising Specialties, Pittsburgh, Pa. Booth was known to the officials of this bank as an employee of the Luxem Co. and readily tendered him the cash that the draft called for. Shortly thereafter, this bank was notified by the Luxem Co. that Booth had long since been out of their employ. Booth is 35 years, 5 feet 9 inches, 150 pounds, of dark complexion, has black hair, has a black spot on forehead over left eye. He is smooth shaven.

REPRESENTS STARCH CONCERN

Draws draft on Corn Exchange Bank, Chicago, which is returned as bogus

Claiming to be a representative of a concern that was about to erect a local starch factory, one John Koenigswarter recently requested a bank at Mandan, N. D., to cash his check. He further remarked that he was acquainted with the Catholic priest of the town, whereupon the bank asked that he have the priest endorse the check. The endorsement was secured, and the bank drew a draft on the Corn Exchange Bank, Chicago, Ill., which was returned, marked, "no account." Koenigswarter is 40 to 45 years, about 6 feet high; speaks with a German accent.

BANKER CONVICTS FORGERS

Vigorous prosecution by president of Cape Girardeau, Mo., bank, nets forgers long term of imprisonment

W. H. Stubblefield, president of the Sturdivant Bank, Cape Girardeau, Mo., is to be complimented on the fact that Larkin J. Flannigan, a dangerous forger and Waddell Field, his right-hand man, are now safely lodged in the Missouri State Prison, to serve a term of 7 and 5 years respectively.

On page 69 of the November, 1915, Supplement, we published an account of how on October 18th, Flannigan approached the assistant cashier of the Sturdivant Bank and asked to have cash on a check for $750, made payable to W. Burchfiel, secretary of the Grass Lake Drainage Co., Osceola, Ark., which company had an account at the bank. The check appeared genuine in all respects and the cash was given to Flannigan. The latter was leaving the bank when Mr. Stubblefield inquired of the assistant cashier as to the identity of the man who had presented the check. He was told that it was Mr. Burchfiel. Mr. Stubblefield realized that his bank had been swindled and set out in his auto after Flannigan and a man who joined Flannigan on his leaving the bank.

The chase covered a stretch of 60 miles and consumed a period of 11 hours. But it was crowned with success for Mr. Stubblefield caught up with the fugitives, had them arrested and returned to Cape Girardeau. Since this time he has worked vigorously to convict these men and on January 7th, after a heated trial, Flannigan was given a sentence of 7 years in the Missouri State Penitentiary, while Field, as an accessory to the forgery, must serve 5 years in the same institution.

STORY WRITER SENTENCED

Robert D. Jones pleads for probation, but court is unmoved and passes four-year sentence upon him

The trial of Robert Dorsey Jones, traveler, story writer and forger, came up in the San Francisco, Cal., courts on January 10th. The accused pleaded guilty to swindling by forged checks, and begged the court for probation. But the court remained unmoved, and pronounced sentence of 4 years in San Quentin Penitentiary. On page 106 of the January, 1916, Supplement, we published a full account of the operations and arrest of this man.

BANK CLERKS CAPTURE THIEF

Sneak thief who secured bag of currency from Minneapolis bank is pounced upon by the bank's clerks and turned over to police

On January 17th one Fred Brown entered a bank at Minneapolis, Minn., and walked behind the partition and into the vault. One of the bank clerks, observing Brown, followed him into the vault, and demanded his reason for being there. Brown replied that he was sent to inspect the time lock on the vault. His pockets were bulging unnaturally, and as he realized that he had awakened suspicion, he dashed for the door. In the meantime, the clerk who had approached Brown, reported to his fellow-workers, and when they beheld Brown endeavoring to make his get-away, they ran to the door to head him off. In the grapple that followed, Brown was overpowered. He was then turned over to the police. A bag containing $25 in pennies was taken from his person.

COURT DECISION

Under date of January 5, 1916, an article appeared in the St. Louis, Mo., Post-Dispatch, which related that the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, on the day preceding, lost its suit to hold the National Bank of Commerce liable for honoring a check for $2,500, on which the endorsement was forged. This case was decided by the St. Louis Court of Appeals, which confirmed the finding of the Circuit Court. An agent of the company at Magnolia, Ark., insured the life of Samuel T. Wicker, a fictitious party, for $2,500 on November 3, 1906. Proof of the latter's death was given after three months. A check for $2,500, drawn against the company's funds in the bank at St. Louis, was forwarded to the agent to be delivered to the widow, Mary Wicker. The evidence showed that the agent had the wife of a notary public at Magnolia indorse the check as Wicker's widow. Both sides conceded there was no such person as Wicker. The Appellate Court decision says that, as the forgery resulted through the connivance of the plaintiff's representative, the bank is not liable.

HARDENED CRIMINAL IMPRISONED

Man whose operations date back to 1894, and who has served numerous prison sentences, again paying penalty

It is the general opinion that when a man commits a crime and is arrested and sentenced to a prison term, that the hardships he suffers while in confinement leave their impression upon his mind, and in the fear that is thus nourished he keeps to the straight road for the rest of his days. Then there comes before us the individual who shatters this opinion and leads us to wonder what punishment, other than imprisonment, would be the more proper to administer to him. As an example of the latter mentioned class we cite the case of Arthur Bailey, alias T. H. Coffman, alias Bain, alias Hess, alias Morgan, alias Schuster, alias Hendricks, etc. Our records of the operations of this man date back to the year 1894, since which time he has served sentences in a half dozen or more prisons. It is evident that as soon as he is released from confinement his brain and hand are immediately set to work, powerless to overcome the temptation to commit crime.

On August 15, 1894, under the name T. H. Coffman, this man was received at the Ohio State Penitentiary to serve a term of 1 year and 8 months. He served this time and on December 14, 1895, was given his liberty.

On May 20, 1896, he was again received at the Ohio State Penitentiary, this time as H. T. Martin. His time was placed at 1 year.

On November 5, 1909, he was arrested at Kansas City, Mo., on a charge of swindling, and on April 19, 1910, he was sentenced to the Missouri State Penitentiary for a term of 3 years. He was released after serving 2 years of this time.

On August 13, 1912, he was arrested at Pittsburgh, Pa., and on September 18, 1912, he was sentenced to the West Virginia Penitentiary for a term of 5 years. On March 13, 1914, he was conditionally pardoned.

On June 4, 1915, he was captured at Lincoln, Neb. Following this arrest he has been sentenced to a term in the Nebraska State Penitentiary of 1 to 20 years, where he is now confined.

His attorney addressed the court and told that Wiles was a man of education, and at one time a man of means; that his downfall was due to liquor and that at heart Wiles was not a bad man. The district judge thereupon sentenced Wiles to the penitentiary for a period of 10 to 20 years.

RULES OF THE PROTECTIVE COMMITTEE

1. Upon receipt of notification by the General Secretary, Five Nassau Street, New York City, or the nearest office or correspondent of the William J. Burns International Detective Agency, Inc., of an attempted or successful perpetration of fraud or crime upon a member of this Association in its banking rooms, or in the rooms of such branches as are members, either by forgery, check-raising, worthless or bogus checks, swindle, sneak theft, robbery, hold up or burglary therein, the committee will at once use its best efforts to apprehend the criminal. No action, however, will be taken unless immediate notice is given, and a case once committed to the Association cannot be taken out of its hands nor the offence condoned or compromised. If for any reason whatsoever no prosecution takes place when the member is in a legal position to aid in the prosecution, and fails to do so, such member shall reimburse the Association for all expenses incurred in connection with the case reported.

2. In reporting cases the member agrees to swear out a warrant for the criminal concerned when his identity has been determined; or a John Doe warrant at once in states where permitted. The committee relentlessly pursues both amateur and professional criminals in cases of attempted or successful fraud or crime upon members of the Association but cannot take cognizance of such offenses where perpetrated upon other than members, or of so-called "inside jobs" where the offender is an officer or employee of a member. The committee relies upon the state, county or local authorities to arrange for the extradition and the payment of expense incident to the return of a prisoner. The committee will not pay witness fees, and will not be responsible for any expense incurred for protective work which has not been previously authorized.

FEBRUARY PROTECTIVE WORK

RAISED CHECK DEFIES DETECTION

Clever specimen altered by means of chemicals, stopped through bank's precautions against paying "bearer" checks

Smith & Fein, of the Loraine Knitting Mills, New York City, on February 9, 1916, made out the above check to Samuel Minden, 131 West 23d Street, New York City, in amount of $6.18. They mailed the check to Samuel Minden stands as a perfect specimen of the power of ink-eradicating chemicals and the wonderful ability of some criminal hand.

Our detective agents declare that this is the work of a clique of New York letterbox thieves who make the city of New York their headquarters, and who have annually caused local bankers a loss of thousands of dollars. Our agents are working consistently in their endeavors to bring the operations of this clique to an end.

Many a loss will be averted if New York banks will use the same precaution as this Brooklyn bank and refuse to cash "bearer" checks for unknown parties.

(This check was originally made out by Smith & Fein, New York, to Samuel Minden, New York, dated February 9, in amount of $6.18. It fell into the hands of New York letterbox thieves who removed all the writing on its face with exception of the signature, then filled it in as above and presented it to the bank for payment.)

on the night of February 9. It was placed in the latter's letterbox on the morning of February 10, since which time, and before Samuel Minden had come to his place of business, the letterbox was attacked by thieves, who carried it off, broke it open, secured the letter and check and then set to work to remove its writing.

On the morning of February 10, the same day it was stolen, this check was presented at the North Side Bank of Brooklyn, Brooklyn, N. Y., by an individual who gave his name as "Sullivan." This bank, which refuses to cash "bearer" checks for unknown parties, turned to telephone Smith & Fein in regard to the genuineness of the check, when "Sullivan" hastened from the bank.

Although the date, payee's name, and the amount, had been entirely removed, there did not appear on the face of this check the slightest evidence that it had been tampered with in any way. The chemicals used had not discolored the paper or weakened it, nor did they discolor the ink that was afterwards used to fill in the vacant lines. Not only the naked eye was completely deceived, but even when placed under a strong glass, the check failed to reveal its original character. It

SWINDLING DOCTOR IDENTIFIED

Members are urged to bear this reference in mind! This operator may appear at your bank accompanied by a local priest

On page 115 of the February, 1916, Supplement, we published an article in reference to one Dr. Oskar Kiefer, 40 to 42 years of age, who entered a Scranton, Pa., bank accompanied by one of the local Catholic priests, and who after being introduced by the father, secured $100 on a bogus check. We stated that this priest was interviewed by our detective agents and related that Kiefer had come into the Parish House, stated that he was from Ottawa, Can.; that he intended to settle at Scranton; that he was married and had three children whom he intended to send to the church school. He showed the father a card which was signed, "Hugo Kiefer," stating that Hugo Kiefer was mailing Dr. Oskar Kiefer a $500 check. The father was induced to accompany Kiefer to the bank where the latter left the bogus check for collection and secured

DR. F. W. FERREE

$100 in advance on the strength of the priest's introduction. The photograph herein inserted has been identified at Scranton as the alleged Dr. Oskar Kiefer. Members will do well to guard against this swindler!

CLEVER SWINDLER IN SOUTH

Leaves forged check at hotel advising that bank's cashier will notify as to its genuineness; then phones hotel from outside and represents himself as bank man; returns to hotel and secures cash on check

A number of hotels in the South have recently been fleeced by a clever swindler who called upon them and declared to the cashiers that he was anxious to secure cash on a check; that he would have to leave town on the night train; that the banks were closed and that he would appreciate their advancing him the cash his check called for. He further declared that he would leave the check and have the bank's cashier telephone the hotel and advise that the check would be paid on the morning following. This man then left the hotel and in short order the cashier at the hotel was called to the telephone and informed by the party on the other end that it was the cashier of the bank calling and that the $50 check of Frank D. Rainwater was good and would be paid on the morning following. Rainwater then reappeared at the hotel, secured the cash, and was gone. It was Rainwater who had represented himself as the bank official. His check was bogus.

BANK BECOMES FRAUD VICTIM

Mr. and Mrs. Moore "get heads together" and cleverly plan and perpetrate bank swindle

The clever manner in which an alleged man and wife on January 26 secured $250 from a member at Rochester, N. Y., is told to this department by the victim. It is related that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore came into their city during July, 1915, and took up quarters. Several months later, Mrs. Moore secured local employment as a domestic and became known to one Anna L. McGuire, employed in the same house, who carried an account of $281.16 in the Rochester bank. Mrs. Moore obtained possession of Anna L. McGuire's bank-book and on January 25 Moore went to the bank and opened an account of $1 in the name of Anna L. McGuirk, who he declared was his niece. Moore then changed the name in the new book that he had secured from the bank from McGuirk to McGuire, merely changing the "k" to an "e," and then duplicated the entries of deposits as they appeared in Miss McGuire's book. He procured a rubber stamp to date the deposits and changed the date of the first deposit from January 25, 1916, to January 25, 1913, and raised the entry of $1 to $100 to conform with the entry shown in Miss McGuire's book. The forged bank-book now complete, it was replaced in Miss McGuire's room, and on the day following Mrs. Moore entered the bank with the genuine bank-book and cashed a check for $250, forging the name of Anna L. McGuire. The bank paid the check and the true character of the transaction was not learned until February 10. Robert Moore is 45 to 50 years, 6 feet, 180 pounds, of slim build, sandy colored hair, is a very neat dresser. Mrs. Moore is 45 years, 5 feet 3 inches, 200 pounds, of dark complexion, is considered good looking. The latter claimed to be from Pittsburgh, Pa.

YOUTH DENIES OWN SIGNATURE

Attempts to swindle bank by claiming that savings receipt paid against his account is forgery. Later confesses the signing of receipt and securing of cash

The clever attempt of a 16-year-old youth to swindle a Portland, Ore., bank was brought to light on January 28, the facts of which we consider will prove of interest to our readers, and possibly of value at some later date to those who index this Supplement for its criminal record. O. Russell Price of Portland, has carried a savings account in a local bank for some time past. On December 10, this bank paid $10 to a party representing himself as O. Russell Price, who presented a savings deposit receipt bearing the alleged signature of depositor. Later O. Russell Price and his father came into the bank and each stoutly declared that the signature on the deposit slip was an absolute forgery and that they did not expect the bank to charge this amount against the account. The cashier, however, was of the opinion that the check was not a forgery, and notified our detective agents accordingly. The father and son were directed to the office of our detective agents where specimens of their handwriting were secured and compared with the alleged forged signature appearing on the deposit slip. Young Price remained firm in his statement that he had not signed the receipt and it was only after a lengthy questioning that he broke down and confessed to the writing of the receipt and the securing of the money. He was severely lectured and released upon the bank's request.

UNDERTAKER VICTIMIZES BANK

San Diego contributes more than $1,500 to booty of swindler who became partner in local undertaking establishment

During October, 1915, Leon L. Doane came to San Diego, Cal., and called upon Carmichael & McMahon, local undertakers. Doane declared that he had arrived from the East; that he was an undertaker and was desirous of getting into that business in San Diego. He eventually asked if there was any stock in this undertaking establishment which he could purchase and thereby become a member of the firm. After displaying a certificate that pronounced him a graduate of Barnes School of Anatomy, Sanitary Science and Embalming, of New York City, this firm accepted Doane as a partner. The local bank in which Carmichael & McMahon were depositors was notified of the new partnership, and when on or about January 17, Doane appeared in the bank and presented a $200 check drawn on the National Bank of Norwich, N. Y., in which institution he claimed to carry an account, the bank cashed his check without hesitation. San Diego business men also had faith in Doane and his checks and filled his purse with more than $1,300; after which the undertaker from New York left San Diego. His checks were all returned as worthless. Doane is 24 years (appears 28), 5 feet 8½ inches, 190 pounds, has dark hair, streaked with gray, which he combs into a pompadour, is smooth shaven, has a prominent lower jaw, dresses in the height of fashion, wears a large solitaire diamond on the left little finger.

FLEES BAREFOOTED TO LIBERTY

Accepts opportunity of moment and breaks from Ness City jail while sheriff's bullets hasten his flight

Held in the county jail at Ness City, Kan., for the perpetration of a swindle against a local bank, William Schaben, alias A. T. Williamson, on the night of January 23 saw an opportunity to make a bid for liberty and immediately took advantage of it. The sheriff had handed him a pail and ordered that it be filled with water at the jail door. The night was extremely dark and on reaching the door Schaben flung the pail from his hand, and in bare feet and without hat or coat, ran at his highest pace into the timber. The sheriff fired five shots in Schaben's direction, but they served only to hasten the fugitive in his flight. Bloodhounds were later put on the trail and traced Schaben for seventeen miles to a point where all further trace was lost. On February 17, 1916, he was rearrested at Little Rock, Ark.

GENERAL

SNEAK THIEF CAPTURED

Arrested on charge of stealing tray of diamonds from Montreal store. Suspected of implication in numerous bank robberies Identified as the man who, on December 24, entered the jewelry store of Mapen, Webb & Company, Montreal, Can., and who coolly passed behind the counter and took possession of a tray of diamonds which he placed inside of his coat, passing unmolested out of the store, Louis Merrion, 24, on February 2 was placed under arrest in a rooming house at Boston, Mass., by representatives of the William J. Burns International Detective Agency, United States Federal and Boston police officers. Although unidentified by the attaches of banks in New York City and vicinity who have suffered in the operations of a notorious gang of sneak thieves, Merrion is still believed, however, to have implicated himself in these robberies. A woman purchaser, who was in the store of Mapen, Webb & Company, at the time of the theft, was the only one to observe the perpetrator at work, and was led to believe by his composed manner that he was connected with the store. Her suspicions were not aroused until she realized that he had taken the tray into the street.

MRS. J. VERNON WAYTE

COURT HANDLES DOCTOR'S CASE

After covering Eastern States with wife in swindling tour, doctor is captured and sentenced to prison

During early January a member of Saugerties, N. Y., reported that numerous local merchants had been defrauded by cashing bogus checks for a man and his alleged wife who had recently come into Saugerties and registered at a local hotel as Dr. and Mrs. J. Vernon Wayte, and who after victimizing the town folk, had hastened from Saugerties to continue their operations elsewhere. The police of Waterbury, Conn., on January 23, captured this couple under the name of Dr. and Mrs. Jacques K. Pareant, on a local complaint of swindling. They have since been identified by many hotels and merchants in the East, as clever bogus check operators. When this doctor's case came into court he was sentenced to serve from 3 to 5 years in the Connecticut State Prison; this on a charge of criminal assault upon a 13 year old girl who had been hired as a nurse. On each of 5 counts of fraud, he received a sentence of 1 year. His alleged wife must serve 6 months in the local jail on each of 2 counts of obtaining money under false pretenses. Dr. J. Vernon Wayte has used also the names, John V. Waite, John V. ARRESTED

DR. J. VERNON WAYTE

CHICAGO BANK ROBBED OF $15,162.50

Sensational daylight hold up is rapidly followed by arrest of alleged perpetrators; $13,652 of bank's money is recovered

With their faces hidden behind masks and their hands clutching loaded pistols, four men at 9 A. M. January 27, 1916, brought their automobile to a stop outside of the Washington Park National Bank, Chicago, entered the bank in a body and demanded that everyone present elevate his hands. Thirty people, numbering bank employees and customers, complied with the order. The hold-up men then called for the paying tellers, and instructed them to open the drawers of their desks and to hand out the contents of each. While the bank employees and customers looked helplessly on, $15,162.50 was piled into the arm of one of the hold-up men. This man then turned toward the bank door, while his companions guarded his tracks, still covering the people in the bank with their weapons. When all four had backed through the door, they leaped into the waiting auto and sped at a flying pace away from the bank.

The police of Chicago put this case under immediate investigation and within the short space of 36 hours they had the alleged robbers under arrest and had secured a confession from the leader. The five men said to have implicated themselves in the crime, hail from the city of New York and are men with country-wide police records. THOMAS McCAMBRIDGE

CASHIER'S WORK CLEAN CUT

Forestalls attempt to swindle bank, then holds forger at point of gun until arrival of sheriff

C. E. Wailes, cashier of the Bonner County National Bank, Sandpoint, Idaho, has proven himself entirely worthy of the title, "A man of the minute." The clean cut manner in which he landed Thomas McCambridge, forger, in jail is deserving of the highest praise. McCambridge entered the bank at the noon hour, while Mr. Wailes was alone, and presented a check for $500, payable to bearer and purporting to be drawn by H. F. Samuels, a bank customer. Mr. Wailes at once realized that the check did not bear Mr. Samuels' true signature and that an attempt was being made to swindle the bank. Without hesitation or display of his knowledge, and in order to gain time, Mr. Wailes casually remarked that he would have to look at the account to see that it was in funds. Instead he grasped the telephone and called for the sheriff. McCambridge, however, growing uneasy, turned to leave with a remark that he would return shortly. Anticipating this move, Mr. Wailes declared, "You had better remain." McCambridge mechanically turned toward the bank man and found himself gazing into the mouth of a revolver and the determined eye of Mr. Wailes. He raised his hands above his head and was found in this position when the sheriff hurried into the bank and took him into custody. On January 28, McCambridge pleaded guilty at Sandpoint and was sentenced to serve a term in the penitentiary of 1 to 14 years.

Armed with guns, knives and pitchforks, townsmen chase and capture two bank robbers, then call for rope

On February 11, the Bank of Red Fork, Red Fork, Okla., was held up by two men, who were traced by a large posse of townsmen armed with knives, guns and pitchforks. The hold-up men took refuge in a heavy brush which was surrounded by the posse. At the sheriff's command that they come out or forfeit their lives the two men emerged empty handed. The cries of "get a rope" were many and it was only after much difficulty that the robbers were placed in the security of the Tulsa jail. The bank's money was recovered. The prisoners gave their names as John Schuneman and F. A. Letterman. They are each about 23 years of age.

Zimmerman, secretary and treasurer of the Chambersburg Trust Company, Chambersburg, Pa. Wise recalls how he approached Mr. Zimmerman and tendered two checks for collection; one on a bank at Wellsville, Ohio, and the other on an East Liverpool, Ohio, bank, for $200 each; how he then produced his personal check for $50 and requested that it be cashed. Mr. Zimmerman, however, refused to comply with his request, but forwarded the two checks mentioned to the Ohio banks with instructions that he be wired immediately if they were not good. Shortly thereafter word was received that the checks were absolutely bogus, and that the presenter was wanted

AGED SEAMAN SENTENCED

Is taken into custody at request of Perth Amboy bank. Claims this as his first arrest and blames liquor as cause of downfall

After defrauding several jewelers and merchants of Perth Amboy, N. J., with bogus checks drawn on a local bank, John H. Fellows, a seaman, 66 years of age, was on January 24 taken into the custody of the Perth Amboy police and lodged in jail. Two days previous, Fellows had entered a member bank at Perth Amboy, declared that he intended to go into business locally; that he had $2,500 on deposit in Gloucester, Mass., and inquired as to how he could get $1,700 of this money transferred to the Perth Amboy bank. A draft was drawn on the Cape Ann National Bank of Gloucester, Mass., for this amount, which Fellows signed. He was advised that he could not draw against this account for several days. On the following day numerous checks on the Perth Amboy bank came in from local jewelers, merchants, etc., whereupon the Perth Amboy bank wired the Gloucester bank and received a reply to the effect that Fellows was unknown to them. The police were notified and Fellows was arrested on January 24. When interviewed by our agents, he stated that this was his first arrest and that liquor was responsible for his action. On February 8, Fellows received a sentence in the New Jersey State Penitentiary of 1 to 3 years.

LOAN BROKER ARRESTED

Los Angeles bank tells of its unprofitable experience with individual who represented himself as a loan broker

A member of San Diego, Cal., advises that on May 16, 1915, one John L. Dillon called at their bank and stated to one of the officials that he intended to go into business in San Diego, by opening a loan office, and would make loans on collateral security at high rates of interest. He particularly inquired as to what rate of interest the bank would pay him on an account and represented that his balance would run from $1,000 to $4,000. He declared that at times he would wish to borrow money and put up his collateral loans as security for such loans. He discussed the opening of his account at great length and was very much displeased to learn that he could obtain no interest on his average balance, but thought that the fact that he could borrow money on his loans might offset the loss of the interest on his account which he might secure from a savings institution. Dillon left the bank, remarking that he would call again after considering the matter. He returned on the following day and gave the bank a check for $1,500 on the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank, Los Angeles. He did not ask for any money on the check, but requested that the bank open an account in his name. As he was leaving he asked the bank to cash a check for $15, which, in consideration of the amount, they did. The Los Angeles bank later advised that Dillon's $1,500 check was being returned marked, "no account." Dillon was traced and on January 21, was arrested at Los Angeles.

MARCH PROTECTIVE WORK

GREATEST BANK SWINDLER ARRESTED

Man sought over five years is finally captured by teller of Louisiana bank, as result of warning circulars sent broadcast by A. B. A. detective agents. Prisoner identified by numerous members

The greatest swindler who ever planned to victimize a bank is at last under arrest. A man who for five and a half years past has completely outwitted the numerous bank men he approached and the authorities who craved his apprehension, who operated in such a clever manner that no more was known as to his identity on the day before his arrest than on the day when he first perpetrated a fraud, who not only dared and properly warn this teller it became necessary to warn every teller in the country.

In conjunction with its detective agents, the Protective Department planned to circularize the banks again; to issue such a warning that paying tellers could not but heed. In a plain and direct way the swindler's methods were outlined and suggestions were made as to the best action to take toward bringing about the desired results. This warning was headed "To Paying Tellers—Please Read and Please Heed!" During January of this year the circular was sent out from the New York office of the detective agents. The month of January passed and his checks were not reported. February closed with the same result. Perhaps the swindler had entered a bank, beheld the warning circular (which we asked would not be placed in a conspicuous spot) and left the bank, realizing his danger and resolving to quit the game forever, the richer in thousands of dollars. No one aware of his identity knew of his operations. He could live the remaining days of his life in absolute security and freedom.

The day of March 7 arrived. At 11.30 A. M., the New York office of the detective agents called us by telephone. "C. Wade, alias C. Wood, alias C. Weston, the notorious swindler has been arrested by the First National Bank, Shreveport, La.," was their message. The warning had reached the one paying teller it was meant for, out of the thousands to whom it was sent.

We soon learned the facts of the arrest. The swindler had entered the First National Bank of Shreveport, La., approached Patton Hawkins, paying teller, and in friendly tones asked, "How do you do, Mr. Hawkins?" The latter looked up from his work. The man at the window was an entire stranger. At this very moment Mr. Hawkins' thoughts turned to the warning circular he had received from our detective agents. He recalled the words, "This swindler will appear at your window and greet you in a friendly manner and call you by name." He looked closer at the man and realized that he answered the swindler's description in every respect. He took the man's check. It was made payable to C. Warren and endorsed in that name. There were the anticipated initials "C. W." He placed the check alongside of the reproduction in the circular. Its writing was identical. The great swindler was at his window!

Without displaying evidence of his knowledge, Mr. Hawkins quietly addressed C. Warren. "Wait just a moment," he requested, and then endeavored to attract someone to his aid. He was unsuccessful. C. Warren was becoming uneasy. He had never before met with such delay. "Never mind," he quickly remarked. "Let me have back the draft." Mr. Hawkins remained unmoved—the draft clasped in his fingers. For an undecided second Warren stood gazing at the teller, then turned and stepped to the door.

Without a moment's loss of time, Mr. Hawkins left his desk and followed after Warren. Through the streets he to go back into the same town in which he had operated, but on two occasions entered the same banks twice and cashed his checks, and on still another occasion approached the same teller for the second time and succeeded in his endeavor, is now securely held in jail at Shreveport, La. We refer to none other than "C. W.," the "hypnotizing forger," the "man of mystery."

Every bank in the United States has at different times been warned against this man, but regardless of this fact he still continued to realize on his checks, clearing an average of $500 a month, until five and a half uninterrupted years of successful swindling were placed to his record. Our detective agents had worked diligently to effect his apprehension, but the swindler left not a single lead to follow.

It could not be ascertained how and where he secured the checks. In every town where he had operated hotel registers were thoroughly searched for his signature. It was evident that he did not stop in these towns for his signature was never found. There was but one person with power to accomplish this man's arrest—a bank paying teller. To locate trailed him, until a deputy sheriff was encountered. "Arrest that man," ordered Mr. Hawkins, as he pointed to the fleeing Warren. The officer grasped Warren and the greatest of all bank swindlers who had never before felt the iron hand of the law upon him was arrested! Thoroughly convinced that he had the right man, Mr. Hawkins notified the city police who arrived and took Warren into custody.

At our request, Mr. Patton Hawkins has supplied us with his account of the arrest in his letter as follows:

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF SHREVEPORT, LA.

UNITED STATES DEPOSITORY
Fiscal Agent of the State of Louisiana and Parish of Caddo.

March 9, 1916.

Col. FRED. E. FARNSWORTH, General Secretary,
American Bankers Association,
5 Nassau Street, New York, N. Y.

DEAR SIR:

Referring to the arrest of the man giving the name of C. Warren here on the 7th instant, I desire to state that the arrest of this man was brought about in the following manner:

Our bank was in receipt of two circulars from the William J. Burns International Detective Agency from their New York and New Orleans offices. The New York circular was received at our bank some time in the early part of January last, and the circular from the New Orleans office was dated January 26. These circulars advised us that the forger in question was known to be operating at points in Mississippi and would be likely to continue his operations in this section.

Both circulars impressed me very much because of the accuracy with which they described the criminal's modus operandi, his manner of approaching paying tellers, etc. Consequently when a man giving the above name presented a check of the Commonwealth Trust Company of Houston, Texas, on the First National Bank of Houston, Texas, for $100, I immediately suspected that he was the party described in the Burns Agency circulars.

When I saw the handwriting on the check my suspicions were confirmed. I asked him to wait a moment thereby detaining him, while I attempted to get an officer. His suspicions were evidently aroused and he said, "Never mind, give me back the draft." When I made no move to return the draft to him he turned and left the bank. I immediately followed until I met a deputy sheriff who placed him under arrest and returned to the bank with him. I then examined the circulars very closely and was thoroughly satisfied on comparing the handwriting contained in the circulars with the draft in question, that he was no doubt the man referred to. The city police were then notified and a representative from that department immediately called at the bank and took charge of the prisoner.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) PATTON HAWKINS,
Paying Teller, First National Bank.

Hawkins is to be given full and complete credit for having accomplished the most important arrest in the history of this department.

Our detective agents arrived shortly thereafter at Shreveport. Owing to certain conditions, the prisoner, who gave his true name as Charles Stanley Walker, and his address as Chicago, Ill., was placed in the death cell of the local jail. A Burns detective proceeded there and was admitted to his presence. Although this is the first time he was ever jailed (according to our records) Walker was thoroughly composed. He had offered no resistance to his captors. When addressed by the detective he quietly replied, "I have nothing to say."

The prisoner was then photographed and reproductions of his picture forwarded to each bank he had victimized in the years past, with request that our detective agents be advised at once if the photos were identified. On the day following his arrest he was identified by the cashier of a bank at Meridian, Miss., as the man who on January 6 last, under the name A. West, passed a forged cashier's check upon him.

Investigating at the home address given by Walker, the Burns detectives interviewed a woman who said she was the mother of Charles Stanley Walker. A photograph of the man held at Shreveport was exhibited to her and she immediately proclaimed it as being her son, who, she stated, was an advertising salesman. He had traveled throughout the United States for twenty-eight years, wrote home but once a year and never gave an address other than general delivery. Numerous banks identified the photograph of Walker.

Believing that a complete list of his operations, in which he had been identified, if displayed before Walker would wring a confession from him, our detective agents on the fourth day following the arrest, entered Walker's cell and according to date, name he had used, amount secured, name of bank victimized and its location, advised Walker as to the vast amount of evidence held against him. The prisoner listened to the detectives without a word. They told him that his mother had identified his photograph, then questioned him as to what he had to say in his own behalf. He calmly answered, "Not a word, old pal."

PLANS FOR PAINT BUSINESS

Swindler victimizes Iowa banks while representing himself as a future resident. States his intention of engaging in paint and paper line

Numerous real estate dealers throughout Iowa have been approached by an operator who stated that his wife and brother were coming to the town to reside; that he and his brother intended to engage in the painting and paperhanging business; and that he would like to rent a house.

After gaining the confidence of these men, this operator asked to be introduced at a bank and upon the strength of the real estate dealer's identification the banks cashed the stranger's checks. In every case these checks were returned as forgeries. The swindler has used the names Arthur Koontz, Tom Kelly, Frank Graham and Fred W. Gray. He is 23 to 25 years, 5 feet 10 inches, 150 pounds, medium build. The Iowa Bankers Association is co-operating with this Association in the endeavor to apprehend this man.

SOUTHERN BANKS CAUTIONED

Man of many names conducts check-kiting fraud and secures $500 as result from Vicksburg member

The Mississippi Bankers Association has issued a warning to the effect that one Thomas D. Pitts, alias Morton A. Norris, alias A. D. Porter, alias R. D. Barnes, alias S. A. McMorris, alias G. Gilbert, is operating a check-kiting fraud in the south. This man makes a preliminary deposit in small amount, then offers a large check for collection and endeavors to draw against it. Many southern banks hold his small deposits. On March 4 he endeavored to fleece banks at Jackson and Vicksburg, Miss., by making a small cash deposit, then offering checks for $1,000 each on the other town for credit against which he sought to draw $500 from each bank. He was in both towns the same day and had, therefore, at each bank an outstanding item of $1,000 for collection. However, a Vicksburg bank advanced him $500 and is now loser in that amount. This operator is 25 to 30 years, 6 feet, of slender build, 165 pounds, is smooth shaven, has dark hair and eyes.

SWINDLER USES REAL ESTATE MAN

California bank reports loss after accepting alleged land buyer's worthless check

When John Smith, reliable real estate man of Stockton, Cal., entered a local bank on February 25, approached the cashier and declared that he had come into the bank for the purpose of introducing Mr. C. A. Crockett who intended to locate at Stockton, the cashier advised the stranger that the bank was at his service. Mr. Crockett thereupon brought forth a check for $7,473.52 drawn on the Gila Valley Bank and Trust Co., Globe, Ariz., and asked that this amount be placed to his credit. The check was not questioned in the least. It was sufficient guarantee that Mr. John Smith, a thoroughly reliable party, had introduced Mr. Crockett to them. So the bank cashier turned a book of checks over to the latter and thanked Mr. Smith for his good favor.

A day later several checks signed by Crockett and presented by local parties were paid by the bank. And then came word from Globe, Ariz., that Crockett's check was entirely worthless and that he had drawn other similar checks upon them.

When the real estate dealer was interviewed he related that Crockett had made all arrangements to purchase a ranch nearby and that he placed all confidence in the stranger. Crockett was not to be found when sought for at Stockton. He is 45 years, 5 feet 7 or 8 inches, 140 pounds, has iron gray hair, dark complexion, thin face, is smooth shaven. The California Bankers Association is co-operating with this Association toward arresting this man. Sheriff at Stockton offers $25 for his arrest.

OPERATES AS BANKER'S SON

Identity of individual who swindled San Francisco banks is unknown to President of Citizens Savings Bank, San Diego, Cal.

Because of the fact that San Francisco bankers failed to ascertain as to his being the son of Mr. I. I. Irwin, president of the Citizens Savings Bank, San Diego, Cal., an individual, 25 years of age, whose identity is still unknown to Mr. Irwin, is to-day richer in several hundred dollars. The victims state that this young man called upon them and presented checks drawn against the Citizens Savings Bank, declaring that his father was president of that institution. At one bank he secured as high as $200. When Mr. Irwin received word of these transactions he immediately notified the banks that his son was at home at the very time those checks were cashed, that the checks bore forged signatures, and that he was entirely unable to advise as to the identity of the swindler.

NOURISHED TELLER'S CONFIDENCE

Individual experiences no difficulty in securing cash on worthless check from unsuspecting bank man

After many days spent in the endeavor to win the confidence of the paying teller of a bank at Los Angeles, Cal., Charles W. Tobin, believing that the psychological moment had arrived, on February 15 tendered a worthless check for $175 to the teller and in the course of a pleasant conversation that followed asked that the check be cashed.

This teller relates that Tobin had carried an account of very small amount in his bank, that he was a frequent and desirable customer and that he had come to know Tobin on friendly terms. Consequently, when on February 15 Tobin approached him with the $175 check drawn on the Merchants National Bank, Merced, Cal., signed C. C. Crane and declared that Mr. Crane had given him the check to cover the sale of a pony, he did not hesitate in cashing the check for Tobin. A day later the Merced bank notified the teller of the worthlessness of Tobin's check. Our detective agents investigated thoroughly at Los Angeles, but it was evident that Tobin had turned his back upon that city. It has been ascertained that his true name is Ferrier and that he has used also the name W. D. Wilson. He is 35 to 40 years, 5 feet 10 inches, 170 pounds. The California Bankers Association is co-operating with this Association in the endeavor to locate Tobin.

TELEPHONE AIDS CHECK SWINDLE

Cashier receives call from party representing himself as well known resident, who asks that cash be given to stranger whose check he has endorsed

The telephone of the cashier of a bank at Madison, Ill., rang. This was the conversation:

Voice—Is this Mr. Brown, cashier?

Cashier—It is.

Voice—Well this is E. H. Schildman.

Cashier—I thought I recognized your voice, Mr. Schildman.

Voice—I have indorsed a check for a man named Louis Horn who has done a little carpenter work for me. He is a stranger in this town and I called up to ask if you would not cash it for him.

Cashier—Send him over, I'll cash his check. By the way—are you coming up to the club to-night?

Voice—I'll be to the club all right. My thanks for cashing the check. Good bye.

A few moments after the cashier had turned from the telephone a man about 35 years of age appeared at the window and presented a check made payable to Louis Horn, drawn on the First National Bank, Roodhouse, Ill., and signed H. C. Smith. It was indorsed E. H. Schildman. "I am Louis Horn," declared the man at the window. Without question the cashier counted out in bills the check's amount and extended it to Horn.

On the following day the Roodhouse National Bank advised that Horn's check was bogus. The cashier of the Madison bank immediately got into communication with E. H. Schildman who declared that he had not telephoned to the bank on the previous day; that he knew of no Louis Horn, and that he had not indorsed the check cashed at the bank. The Madison bank had fallen victim in a clever swindle. They state that Horn is 6 feet, 155 to 160 pounds, of slender build, has a prominent nose and wore blue overalls.

BANK COMMITS ERROR

$1,990 check inserted for certification is tendered to improper party who secures its face value in stamps at bank drawn upon

On March 16 a messenger for a New York banking house entered a local bank and inserted at the proper window a check for certification. According to the custom of the bank he was then obliged to step to the next window, where a special officer was stationed to call off the checks that had been certified and to tender them to the proper person. After waiting for a reasonable length of time at this window, the messenger addressed the special officer, stating that his check had not been called off. The officer spoke to the clerk behind the window who advised that the check had been passed out. The messenger then hurried to the bank on which his check was drawn and learned that two minutes before he arrived they had given out revenue stamps to cover the amount of the check, $1,990.00. The party who received the stamps on the stolen check has not been located.

ARRESTED

OPERATOR GARBS AS MINISTER

Old offender completely disarms paying teller and secures cash on bogus check

Dignified and solemn with one hand pressed to his bosom and the other clasping a thick book, an individual who gave his name as Rev. Alexander Mullen, recently entered a bank at Summerville, S. C., and in soft tones stated a desire to secure cash on his check. Every outward appearance stamped him as a minister of his creed. When he had inserted the check through the paying teller's window, the Reverend Mullen's fingers dropped to a heavy chain of gold that stretched across his breast and from which there dangled a large cross. He remained calmly twitching the chain until the teller had counted out the necessary cash and extended it toward him. No remarks were made as to his being a stranger and unidentified, and no questions were asked of him. The teller considered that this man as a minister guaranteed the validity of his check. But Alexander Mullen was no minister. On the contrary, he was a swindler of the highest caliber, a man who had in the past five years caused numerous banks throughout the country serious losses because of his operations, who had spent many days behind jail bars in punishment but had failed to learn his lesson.

When this bank at Summerville learned that they had been defrauded they took such immediate action as resulted in the arrest of the swindler a few days later at Griffin, Ga. Mullen was returned to Summerville and on March 13 was sentenced to serve thirty days in the chain gang. Frederick A. Mullen is believed to be this man's true name. He is known also as Rev. P. Mullen, A. B. Mullen, P. V. Miller, Rev. W. J. Smith, Rev. D. J. White, Albert Drayle, Albert Brady, etc. He is 37 years, 6 feet  $\frac{1}{2}$  inch, 167 pounds; has black hair; brown eyes; black mustache. Bertillon measurements: 94.7 99 91.7 19.5 16.1 6.3. 26.6 13.8 10.5 53.3.

IDENTIFIED AS BANK SWINDLER

Man arrested at Buffalo, N. Y., for defrauding hotels is identified as operator wanted by North Dakota member

When the police of Buffalo, N. Y., on March 8 arrested an individual who had defrauded two local hotels in the cashing of bogus checks, brought him to headquarters and demanded his true name, the prisoner replied that he was known as A. J. Morton. When pressed he declared that he had used also the name A. J. Stover. The police advised the Buffalo office of our detective agents of the arrest in hopes that this man would be further identified. However, our agents could not place the prisoner as the subject of any investigation they were conducting in behalf of a member bank and so informed the police.

Morton was again questioned and finally gave his true name as Frederic J. Benbow. Whereupon our agents realized that a man of this name was wanted by a member of Minot, N. D., on a charge of swindling by bogus check. They questioned him along new lines and succeeded in having him confess that he had defrauded the bank referred to.

Besides the names mentioned this operator has also styled himself James L. Keating and L. C. Berthold. He must serve sixty days at Buffalo for the offenses committed there, whence he will be returned to Minot to stand trial on the bank's charge. The North Dakota Bankers Association has co-operated with this Association in the investigation of this case.

Hunted until he was no longer able to elude his persistent pursuers, Lloyd Wilson on March 3, at Sutton, W. Va., was taken into custody by our detective agents. The chase had lasted since July, 1914, when a member of Richwood, W. Va., reported to our detective agents at Pittsburgh, Pa., that Wilson had defrauded them by securing $180 against the account of another depositor of his name. Wilson admitted the truth of this charge.

FRANK ADAMS. A member bank at Hudson, S. D., recently advised that they were defrauded by means of a forged check through the operations of one Frank Adams. The sheriff of the county was successful in bringing about the arrest of Adams and he is now awaiting trial.

GEORGE W. BETTS, 50, wanted by a member of Caney, Kan., on a swindling charge, has been arrested at Bartlesville, Okla., and returned to Caney for trial. JOURNAL-BULLETIN, November, 1913, page 379; March, 1914, page 636.

JIM BILLINGS, 52, who on February 15, cashed a check which he had raised from $5.67 to $50, at a member bank of Bloomington, Neb., was on February 29 arrested at Beatrice, Neb., by the local sheriff for a similar offense committed at Beatrice. He is 5 feet 8 inches, 140 pounds; has dark brown hair mingled with gray; and has a peaked face.

JOHN CALLERIS, a Greek, traced from Lexington, Ky., to Richmond, Cal., by our detective agent at the request of a Lexington member who had suffered a loss of $660 through his perpetration of a fraud, was on March 1 arrested at Richmond by our detective agents and held pending his return to Lexington. Page 133 of the March, 1916, Supplement gives an account of the fraud.

FRANK BERNSTEIN

FRANK BERNSTEIN, alias Frank Berg, alias Philip Berg, member of the "Ideal F. C. Co." GEORGE W. CUNNINGHAM

GEORGE W. CUNNINGHAM, alias A. J. Anderson, alias Robert Bush Drake, who on February 7 defrauded a member of Spokane, Wash., by means of a bogus draft drawn on a non-existent bank at Grangeville, Idaho, upon which draft he secured cash from his landlady who later cashed it at the Spokane bank, was on February 25 located in the Spokane county jail where he was being held on a charge of forgery. Cunningham confessed to the new charge filed against him and on February 26, was sentenced to serve 1 to 20 years in the Washington State Penitentiary, Walla Walla, Wash. This man has also served seven months in the Washington State Insane Asylum for the murder of a

APRIL PROTECTIVE WORK

MASTER MUSICIAN IS SWINDLER

Scholar of Rubinstein enchants townfolk of Villisca, Iowa, by his wonderful musical ability; then perpetrates fraud and flees

Villisca, Iowa, is still unwilling to confess that it has been completely deceived. They consider Francis Paul Schiermann, their beloved vagabond, who entered their town tattered and penniless and who bewildered them beyond comparison by his wonderful musical ability, only as a master musician. They will never look upon him as a swindler. Yet, such he is—musician and swindler of merit. During October Schiermann came to Villisca. He was poorly clad and penniless, but ambitious to secure employment. He was given work by a local dairyman. But Schiermann was found wanting. He was frail and tender. His hands were like a woman's. "I never did a hard day's work in my life," he confessed. "I am a musician, and this work is too strenuous for me." Whereupon the dairyman appealed to the townfolk to pass upon Schiermann's ability as a musician. He was placed at a piano and then at a pipe organ. The playing of this man who had studied abroad under Rubinstein held them spellbound. He was a master. The days that followed were golden ones for Schiermann. Churches, clubs, people of means, called for his services. From vagabond he was transformed to rich idol. Schiermann found it necessary to open a bank account, and when he was called out of town, as he alleged by the Klick Organ Co. to give a number of recitals, and then returned, he was enabled to deposit two checks in large amounts purporting to have been issued to him by the organ company to cover the payment and expense of the recitals. "I owe $150 to a music company as balance on a piano that I have purchased for teaching. It must be paid at once. How can I manage it?" asked Schiermann of the teller.

"Give them a check," advised the bank man. Their conversation continued and when the musician was about to leave, he declared, "Oh, by the way, I believe it would suit me a little better to give the piano people the cash." This with perfect composure. The $150 was handed to him and Schiermann left the bank to be seen at Villisca no more. His checks, drawn against the Omaha National Bank, Omaha, Neb., were returned as forgeries. The bank was swindled. It developed that he had also robbed other people of the town. It has since been determined that this man in 1909 and 1910 was arrested at Philadelphia, Pa., on forgery charges. He has served a long sentence in the Eastern State Penitentiary under the name of Henri P. S. Morgan, alias Allen B. Morton. He is 35 years, 5 feet 11 inches, 160 pounds; he presses his thumbs to his palms and fingers articles as though his thumbs were injured; he speaks German fluently; wears ties characteristic of an artist; dresses neatly; smokes cigarettes; one tooth in front, left side, is missing. Bertillon measurements: 76.8 84.0 91.1 19.1 15.7 14.0 6.2+ 26.5 11.1 8.9 46.1. The Iowa Bankers Association is co-operating with this Association in an endeavor to cause the apprehension of this man.

DEFRAUDS BANKS ON GRAIN BILLS

Engages in grain business at Temple, Tex., secures large advances from member on forged bills of lading then disappears. Woman clerk also missing

A country-wide search is being conducted to effect the apprehension of one A. B. Crouch, head of the A. B. Crouch

MRS. C. A. BUCHANAN

Grain Company, Temple, Tex. It is alleged by local member banks that this man has swindled them out of large sums by securing advances of large amount on forged grain bills of lading. Crouch left Temple on March 6, 1916. One Mrs. C. A. Buchanan, who had acted as his chief clerk and who is

A. B. CROUCH

Carries himself very erect, is quick in action and an ardent member of Presbyterian church. Has a birthmark on left or right knee about the size of a quarter dollar. Mrs. Buchanan is 35 years, 5 feet 6 or 7 inches, 110 to 115 pounds, of slender build, sallow complexion; has dark hair and eyes; walks peculiarly; dresses as a business woman. Will you kindly advise this department if aware or in receipt of information as to the present whereabouts of this couple? The sheriff of Bell County, Tex., has offered rewards of $250 for the arrest of each.

THIEVES AND FORGERS UNITE

Clever clique combine forces to conduct swindling crusade against banks

There is a combined clique of thieves and forgers now working towards the victimizing of banks. This is how they proceed: one of their number will call on a doctor or dentist and secure entrance into his office. If the opportunities are afforded him, he will break into the desk and tear several blank checks from the back of the doctor's check book. He also takes possession of any papers, containing the doctor's penmanship. Then he cuts the telephone wires.

The master penman now plays his part and in short order one of the clique enters a bank with a check and letter of introduction. They are so cleverly forged that the bank man is entirely off his guard. However, as the man at the window is a stranger and the check calls for a large amount the bank man takes his telephone in hand to receive the doctor's confirmation of this transaction. He fails to get a connection, as the wires are cut. To cause no further delay he hands out the cash. Your customers who are doctors or dentists should be warned of this clique and have them report to you loss or theft of any checks. A member at Los Angeles, Cal., recently suffered a loss of $200 through the operation of this clique.

MEXICAN NETS FUNDS IN SWINDLE

Secures cash from Laredo bank on forged draft after sending bank forged letter of identification

A large sum of money has gone into the pocket of Senor Cornejo, a Mexican, as a result of his recent successful perpetration of a fraud. A bank at Laredo, Tex., is victim.

Cornejo drew a forged draft through the Banco Nacional de Mexico with which bank our member at Laredo has a current account. Through the mails there had been received a letter (forged) purporting to be on the bank's stationery, enclosing specimen signature of Cornejo for comparison and advising our member of the draft and requesting them to pay it when presented. Inclosed in the same letter was a draft purporting to be drawn by the Banco Nacional de Mexico on its correspondents in New York City for $7,600 made out in our member's favor with request that same be credited to their account. This draft was paid by the drawee. Cornejo is 5 feet 2 inches, of fair complexion; has the usual dark hair and eyes of a Mexican, and a short mustache. He was attired in dark clothes of quiet pattern; spoke well and presented a highly pleasing appearance. A search is now being made for this man in which the Texas Bankers Association is co-operating with this Association.

FORGES LETTER OF CREDIT

Former employee of the Greilick Manufacturing Co., Traverse City, Mich., cashes forged letter of credit at South Bend bank.

The Greilick Manufacturing Company, Traverse City, Mich., at one time employed A. F. Ewald, 25, as a traveling salesman. It is this company's custom to issue to their men a letter of credit authorizing them to draw $50 a week on their bank.

Recently A. F. Ewald entered a bank at South Bend, Ind., announced that he was a traveling salesman of the Greilick Manufacturing Company and exhibited several old credit letters of the company bearing the indorsement of the various banks and concerns who had cashed them for him. Furthermore he was able to display such a letter indorsed by the very bank official he had now approached.

The bank man under the circumstances did not consider that he was taking any chance by cashing another letter for Ewald. Shortly thereafter he learned that Ewald was not in the employ of the Greilick Company at the time he had presented the second letter and that same was a forgery. Ewald is operating extensively throughout the Middle West. The bank at South Bend holds a warrant for his arrest. He is about 5 feet 7 inches, of light complexion; has light hair, speaks with pronounced Jewish accent.

JEWELL IS OPERATING

JEWELL, formerly president of the Jewell and Clark Manufacturing Company, Philadelphia, Pa., who since September, 1915, has been in no way officially connected with this company, has defrauded many banks through his representing himself as still in the employ of this company, upon which representation he has been enabled to secure loans and cash worthless checks. indorsements on the back, both being in different handwriting. He claimed that he was located in this city for a couple of weeks; that he was a stock salesman; that he was now selling railroad equipment stock; and that he wished to open an account. He was given $100 in cash, a New York draft to his order for $100 and the balance $103.85 he wished held on a checking account. Shortly after doing so he appeared with a personal check and one drawn on the Phoenix bank for $325, signed Henry R. Schappe. He requested that we cash them for him. However, his reference had not been investigated and we refused payment on the checks. Whereupon he drew out his deposit of $175, declaring that he would return when word was received from Phoenix. The check he drew against the Phoenix bank was worthless. Of course, Sawyer has not returned. This man is 27 to 28 years, 5 feet 8 inches, 165 to 170 pounds; has dark hair and is smooth shaven."

COLLEGE MAN TURNS SWINDLER

Former star athlete of University of Colorado tries hand at check swindling Proclaimed as the greatest athlete who ever did battle for the University of Colorado, John F. McFadden, 30, on March 29 was arrested at San Diego, Cal., after he had operated throughout the southwest with bogus checks.

While at college McFadden was known as the man who succeeded in his every venture. Evidently his great ability failed to follow him out of school for his attempt to become a professional swindler met with failure. However, a member at Bisbee, Ariz., and numerous scattered merchants suffered through his operations before the San Diego officers were able to lay hands upon him. McFadden had secured a directory giving the names and addresses of the members of his fraternity throughout the United States. His method of operation was to call on a member and ask that he be introduced at a bank. He would then deposit a worthless check and later ask for credit. On the strength of the introduction he experienced no difficulty in securing the desired money. Our agents secured a copy of this directory and warned each member of the fraternity with the result that when McFadden called upon a brother member at San Diego he was turned over to the police.

TOM TALBOTT

National Bank, Houston, Tex., did not turn his face to his window on April 6 when he heard the demand, "make a move and you are dead." He continued with his duties when the words were more forcibly repeated. He turned about. He was gazing into the mouth of a revolver and the eyes of a strange man, who ordered him to lie on the floor face downward and to remain perfectly still. The cashier did as instructed. A second man then attacked the safe and cash drawer, removing all the money on which he could lay hands. A moment later the outside door slammed shut and the robbers were gone; $16,640.95 had been taken. The news of the occurrence was spread broadcast and investigations put under way. On the morning following the robbery a local resident entered the First National Bank and exhibited a wrapper which had been taken from a package of bills totaling $500, and which he had found near his home. This caused the belief that the crime had been perpetrated by local characters. A number of individuals were considered as suspects, but finally suspicion was boiled down to Thomas Talbott and Jim Dillon, town undesirables, who were known to have been implicated in a similar offense on a smaller scale some months previous. Representatives of the Pittsburgh office of our agents approached Talbott and not many hours had passed before they were convinced that he was one of the bank robbers. His wife uncovered in her home the hiding place of $1,661 of the bank's money. Talbott is now in jail on this charge while Jim Dillon is still uncaptured. The former has served a prison term for highway robbery. Jim Dillon is 32 years, 5 feet 10½ inches, 160 pounds, of slender build, has dark red hair, tanned face, blue eyes, is smooth shaven. The middle finger of right hand is off at second joint; several knuckles on each hand are broken; uses Sen Sen for bad breath.

QUICK RESULTS FOLLOW HOLD UP

Individual who secured $3,894 from Ojai State Bank, Nordhoff, Cal., is arrested thirty-six hours after committal of crime

"Count five hundred before you remove that covering!"

This order, sharp and forceful, rang throughout the Ojai State Bank, Nordhoff, Cal., at 11:45 A.M. March 30. It was issued to the only bank employee present at the time, a lady assistant cashier. Two minutes before the man who had given the order entered the bank, approached this employee and pointed a revolver. In another moment he had blindfolded her and given this command. This number was hurriedly counted when the employee tore the handkerchief from her face. The hold-up man was gone. It was ascertained that $3,894 of the bank's money went with him. An investigation was immediately started by the local sheriff and our agents.

One George Downing made the town of Nordhoff his headquarters. Unfortunate circumstances and demanding landlords had so persistently pursued this individual that he was finally rendered penniless. However, on March 30 luck must have suddenly turned his way for he was able to pay all his bills, and in gold too. The detectives learned of Downing's acts and resolved to interview him and to endeavor to learn where he had collected this sudden wealth. They told him that he was suspected of the bank hold up. After long hours of questioning this man confessed that he had committed the hold up, but he would not tell where the booty was hidden. A thorough search of his house failed to bring the money from cover. "Give me fifteen minutes in which to make a getaway, then I'll telephone you as to where the money is," pleaded Downing. He was refused. Later he lead the detectives to his bathroom where a number of bottles were stacked. "It's here," he declared, then grasped a bottle containing cyanide of potassium and endeavored to press it to his lips. The detectives offset this attempt at suicide. Finally, by his directions, a large steel range was lifted from the floor. There lay a bag containing the gold. The short space of thirty-six hours had elapsed from the time of the hold up to the arrest.

FORGER TRAPPED BY RUSE

Replies to letter received from alleged express company which leads to his arrest

L. ALLEN has victimized a member of Superior, Wis., in the cashing of a forged check. After an extended investigation our agents located a man of this name at Chicago, Ill. It could not, however, be definitely determined whether or not this man was the one wanted at Superior. It was realized that some ruse must be employed in order that this question could be settled. An investigator proceeded to the address where L. Allen was stopping and while the latter was at business left a letter addressed to him which purported to be from an express company and related that a package was being held in his name. This letter bore the post-office box number of the Chicago office of our agents. On the day following, March 27, the detectives' mail contained a letter signed L. Allen, in which the writer declared that if he was informed as to the address at which the package was being held, he would proceed there and take possession of it. The detectives compared the writing in this letter with the writing appearing upon the forged check and were at once convinced that one man wrote both specimens. Accompanied by the local police they proceeded to Allen's address and placed him under arrest. He was returned to Superior and will be tried during the first week of May.

FROM PRISON TO PRISON

As he leaves Virginia Penitentiary forger is rearrested by Atlanta officers, is later tried and sentenced to term of six years

Held in the confinement of the Virginia State Prison, Emory Salyards, forger, counted the few remaining days that separated him from liberty. The long term that he had served behind these walls had been a severe punishment, but in a few hours it was to be a thing of the past and once more he would be permitted to enjoy the liberties of the outside world. The day of his release arrived. As he passed from the prison a heavy hand fell upon his shoulder. "We are officers from Atlanta, Ga.," he heard declared, "and hold warrant for your arrest." He was a prisoner once more. Returned to Atlanta his trial was set and a verdict of guilty passed upon him. Six years in the Atlanta State Prison was the sentence netted for his defrauding two Atlanta banks by forged checks. He is known also as E. Southern, E. DeSalyards, and E. Martin. He has operated extensively against banks with forged checks.

SWINDLING DOCTOR ARRESTED

Man who persuaded priests to identify him at banks thereby assisting him to cash bogus checks has been arrested at Pittsburgh

The tables have been turned upon Dr. Oskar Kiefer, the swindler who persuaded a number of priests in months past to introduce him at banks and thus enable him to cash bogus checks. Kiefer using the name Otto Weber, on April 7 endeavored to continue his operations at Pittsburgh, Pa., where the priests became suspicious of his actions and notified the local police. He was arrested and identified by our agents as Dr. Oskar Kiefer, alias F. W. Ferree, alias Geo. O. F. Kramer, alias Otto Wittgenstein, whose photograph is reproduced on page 132 of the April, 1916, Supplement.

FORGED CHECKS TO ENTER COLLEGE

Individual who is arrested at New Bethlehem, Pa., for the cashing of forged and bogus checks reveals secret of his operation

Banks at New Bethlehem, Pa., and Brookville, Pa., had notified their police authorities of the swindling transactions of a stranger. The police put an investigation under way which finally resulted in the arrest of the operator at New Bethlehem. When interviewed by our agents the prisoner confessed that his name was Robert J. Templeton; that he hailed from Philipston, Pa., that he was a country school teacher and had just completed his term at Mayport, Pa. "What prompted you to pass these checks," he was asked. His reply was, "I hoped to raise sufficient funds to enable me to attend college this summer." He was returned to Brookville and will be vigorously prosecuted. He is 31 years, 5 feet 11 inches, 170 pounds; used also the names R. B. Page, C. E. Smith, and J. A. Williams.

PARENTS PROSECUTE SON

Unable to keep their boy on straight road, father and mother lend hand to searching authorities and state willingness to have him prosecuted

The combined efforts of Mr. and Mrs. William Turner to keep their 20 year old son William C. D., on the straight road had met with defeat. They had long since learned of his numerous offenses against the law, but it was not until he had scattered dozens of checks throughout the city to which he had forged their signatures, that the parents finally resolved to protect him no longer but rather to assist in the country-wide search and to vigorously prosecute him according to the demands of the law. On March 26, young Turner was arrested by the Los Angeles, Cal., police department. Among his check victims is listed a member bank at Los Angeles. The California Bankers Association co-operated with this Association in the endeavors to apprehend this youth.

AGENTS JAIL IMPERSONATOR

Individual who endeavored to secure $200 from Eltopia bank by impersonating their depositor is accosted

"Wire two hundred at once First National Seattle, waive identification." Thus read a telegram received by a member bank at Eltopia, Wash., on March 28. It was signed "Julius DeRew." Near Eltopia there lives one Julius DeRewe, who owns a large sheep ranch and transacts business with the Eltopia bank. This telegram aroused the bank's suspicion not only because of the misspelling of the depositor's name, but because at that very time Mr. DeRewe was on his ranch. The bank immediately got into communication over the long distance telephone with our detective agents at Seattle and notified them of the transaction. A detective was then stationed in the First National Bank at Seattle to await the visit of the impersonator. On the following day an elderly man approached the cashier and asked as to whether or not the money for which he had wired to Eltopia had been sent. He claimed that he was Julius DeRew, rancher, and that he had just engaged twelve sheep herders and needed the money to take them to Eltopia. The Burns man followed the suspect out of the bank and with the assistance of a local officer took him into custody. This man's true name is C. Buchanan. He is wanted also at Seattle for burglary and has served a prison term for murder. He is 55 years, 5 feet 10 inches, 170 pounds, has iron gray hair; gray mustache.

He is 5 feet 8 or 9 inches, 165 pounds; has sandy hair, a full face, and very ruddy complexion.

It is stated that on this day, one Joseph F. Hayes came into the bank and presented a check for this amount, drawn against a local bank and purporting to be signed by a customer of the latter institution. When asked for identification, Hayes referred to a paying teller at another window to whom he was known. This paying teller, unaware that Hayes was endeavoring to cash a check, stated that he knew Hayes; whereupon the latter secured the desired money. On this same day the bank on which the check was drawn advised that their depositor's name was forged to it. On March 17, Hayes was arrested at Providence by the local police.

RULES OF THE PROTECTIVE COMMITTEE

1. Upon receipt of notification by the General Secretary, Five Nassau Street, New York City, or the nearest office or correspondent of the William J. Burns International Detective Agency, Inc., of an attempted or successful perpetration of fraud or crime upon a member of this Association in its banking rooms, or in the rooms of such branches as are members, either by forgery, check-raising, worthless or bogus checks, swindle, sneak theft, robbery, hold up or burglary therein, the committee will at once use its best efforts to apprehend the criminal. No action, however, will be taken unless immediate notice is given, and a case once committed to the Association cannot be taken out of its hands nor the offence condoned or compromised. If for any reason whatsoever no prosecution takes place when the member is in a legal position to aid in the prosecution, and fails to do so, such member shall reimburse the Association for all expenses incurred in connection with the case reported.

2. In reporting cases the member agrees to swear out a warrant for the criminal concerned when his identity has been determined; or a John Doe warrant at once in states where permitted. The committee relentlessly pursues both amateur and professional criminals in cases of attempted or successful fraud or crime upon members of the Association but cannot take cognizance of such offenses where perpetrated upon other than members, or of so-called "inside jobs" where the offender is an officer or employee of a member. The committee relies upon the state, county or local authorities to arrange for the extradition and the payment of expense incident to the return of a prisoner. The committee will not pay witness fees, and will not be responsible for any expense incurred for protective work which has not been previously authorized.

MAY PROTECTIVE WORK NOTES OF THE MONTH

In this issue there are recorded the arrests of 26 operators who have attacked member banks either by burglary, hold up, sneak theft, forgery, or swindle. Of this number, our detective agents are directly responsible for 15 arrests. The combined efforts of police, sheriffs, and member banks themselves, total the remaining 11 arrests. These figures compare with 37 arrests for the month preceeding, of which our agents effected 21.

The final disposition of 20 cases held against operators who have victimized member banks is also shown herein. Of these 20 there resulted 17 clear convictions of the accused. This is ready proof of the determined manner in which member banks throughout the country are prosecuting those who have done them injury. This determination alone has served to sweep the professional bank swindler entirely from the operating field. If we were asked three years ago today to call off a list of swindlers who make banks their particular victims, without a moment's hesitation we could have mentioned fifty and more. If we were asked for the same information at this date we could not make mention of more than a half dozen.

With the arrest of Charles Stanley Walker, the greatest of all bank swindlers, who conducted his business for five and one-half uninterrupted years, the curtain seemed to have been drawn upon the days of professional bank swindling. Member banks themselves are responsible for the elimination of this injurious menace. On May 5 the president of a member at Swissvale, Pa., telephoned to the Pittsburgh office of our agents that an attempt had just been made to pass a forged check upon their bank. He requested that an operative be immediately dispatched to his bank; that he was anxious to have the guilty party arrested and that he would prosecute to the full extent of law. Regardless of the fact that the forger had not defrauded his institution, this banker was desirous to inflict due punishment upon him. His own words were, "I will do so for the moral effect it will have upon other criminals of this type." This is but another example of the light in which banks have come to look upon the question of protection. Many obstacles have been met and much ill feeling experienced in the crusade against the thieves, but the goal that has been reached at this day can be considered well worth the price.

CHARLES STANLEY WALKER PUNISHED

Individual who outwitted bankers and authorities for five and one-half years and collected thousands of dollars by forged checks is sentenced to seven years in Louisiana Penitentiary

The climax in the history of the bank swindling operations of Charles Stanley Walker, the "greatest of swindlers," the "hypnotizing forger," the "man of mystery," was reached on May 8, when he appeared before the court of Shreveport, La., to be sentenced for his unsuccessful attempt to victimize the First National Bank of Shreveport by forged check. Seven years of hard labor in the state penitentiary at Baton Rouge, La., was the punishment. And this is in but one case, while numerous detainer warrants received from all sections of the country are held at Louisiana, each clamoring for its opportunity to inflict punishment upon him.

By good behavior while incarcerated, Walker can reduce this sentence two and one-half years. He was told of this and stated his determination to keep his conduct the best.

When that day arrives and he is released from the Louisiana penitentiary, he will walk into the hands of the authorities of another state. Another prison term will be passed upon him, and he will be again paying the price of his misdeeds.

So on for years to come, until he has satisfied every charge against him.

This man's case has stirred universal interest in both banking and police circles, for it is known that he was the greatest and most successful of all bank swindlers, clearing a total of from $500 to $1,000 a month on forged cashier's checks for a period of five and one-half years of uninterrupted operating.

District Attorney Mabry of Shreveport is to be complimented on the efficient manner in which he handled this case. The California, Oregon, North Dakota, Arkansas, and Iowa Bankers Associations, readily joined hands with this Association in the interests of their members, by sharing our expenses of detective services, both before and after the arrest of Walker.

CANADIAN SOLDIER DEFRAUDS BANKS

Claims to be on leave of absence; displays pass purporting to be signed by commanding officer which permits him free transportation on any railroad in Canada; cashes bogus checks at two Oregon banks

ALBERT HADLEY, alleged soldier in the Canadian Army, Vancouver, B. C., has beaten a hasty retreat from Portland, Ore., not that he fears a hostile army is pursuing his footsteps, but rather that a handful of detectives and police are striving to capture him. Hadley, on April 18, opened a checking account at a Portland bank by depositing two bogus checks drawn against the Bank of Montreal, Vancouver, B. C. He was given a passbook and a book of checks and warned not to issue any checks until the Bank of Montreal had notified as to the true character of the two checks he had deposited. But this did not prevent Hadley from entering a bank at Eugene and another at Springfield, Ore., where he related that he was a soldier in the Canadian Army, Vancouver, B. C., that he was on a thirty-day leave of absence; and that he was seeking a home in the town in which to place his mother. He displayed an alleged pass which entitled him to free transportation on any of Canada's railroads, also exhibited the passbook of the Portland bank which showed a deposit of $400, then asked cash on one of the latter bank's checks. In both attempts he was successful in securing the cash called for. These banks were his victims, for the Portland bank refused to pass the checks. Hadley has not been taken to date. He is 25 years, 5 feet 11 inches, 170 pounds; his eyes are crossed, and his mouth twitches as though he were continually nervous.

PROSPECTIVE LAND BUYER OPERATING

Makes preparations with owner to purchase his farm—
Asks to be introduced at bank and passes bogus check

We are informed that Abraham Johnson, an old offender, is again operating. This word has been received from Iowa and it is evident that he has also appeared in Illinois. We quote from our August, 1915, Supplement, in regard to the methods of this swindler: This man comes into your town, calls on a land owner and makes all the necessary preparations to become the rightful owner of a farm which he has selected and on which he intends to settle. At the proper moment he requests the impressed land owner to introduce him at a bank. They call at your bank. He tells of his vast fortunes distributed in different banks of Kentucky or other states, relates his experiences as sheriff of Casey County, Ky., some two years previous, and concludes his well rehearsed tale with a statement that asthma is troubling him to such an extent that he has selected your town for its splendid climate and has decided to stay and make the best of things. "Why, of course, he is O.K.," assures the land dealer. So Johnson's check is cashed and another bank is swindled. Scrutinize his photograph carefully and when he calls upon you make arrangements whereby he can find a more deserving atmosphere in your local jail. He is 56 years, 5 feet 6 inches, 105 pounds, slender build, medium chestnut hair, brown eyes, sallow complexion, born in Indiana, miller by occupation. There is a dim scar on his left wrist, outer, and a hair mole to the left of his nose.

CANADIAN FARMER IS SWINDLER

Passes bogus checks upon individuals at Ephrata, Wash., and attempts to defraud local bank

JOSEPH P. CARON arrived at Ephrata, Wash. Shortly thereafter the news was spread through the town that Caron was a wealthy farmer from Canada and that he was looking for local lands on which to settle. Ephrata real estate men besieged the stranger and beseeched his inspection of their land. Caron was carried off into the country, selected a tract and gave the dealer a $500 check to bind the bargain. Then he entered the bank at Ephrata and drew a check for $2,000 on the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Saskatoon, in favor of the Ephrata bank and placed same for collection. Regardless of the fact that Caron was considered a wealthy man, that he had closed a deal for a local site, that numerous individuals had readily accepted his checks in return for purchases he had made, the Ephrata bank refused to heed Caron's plea to be allowed $300 on the check he had left for collection. It is well they did, for his checks were bogus. The Canadian bank verified this. A warrant is now held at Ephrata for the arrest of Caron the swindler (no longer Caron the wealthy farmer). He is 5 feet 7 inches, 160 pounds, of dark, ruddy complexion, as though due to much exposure; scar on cheek, shape of half moon which is inflamed and appears as if wound were recently received. He speaks French.

EXPRESS ORDER STOLEN

Member at Kansas City suffers loss in transaction which involves new depositor

One Dan Marcowitz, paroled from a training school at Boonville, Mo., on March 24 of this year, opened a savings account at a Kansas City, Mo., bank by depositing $2 in cash. Several days thereafter he came into the bank with a man whom he introduced as L. C. Diely. The latter had an Adams Express money order payable to his order in the sum of $46.80, purporting to be signed by the agent at Savanna, Ill. Marcowitz asked that the bank cash this order for Diely, and they did so purely because they knew Marcowitz, but not, however, until they had secured his indorsement on the order.

The order was returned from the express company along with their affidavit to the effect that the agent's name appearing thereon was fictitious and that the order had been stolen in blank at Savanna. Marcowitz withdrew $1 of his savings account on March 24, and the remaining $1 on April 5. Upon receipt of the message from the express company, the bank called Marcowitz, when he steadfastly declared that he was not responsible for the money order and that his attorney had instructed him not to pay it.

REAL ESTATE MAN DEFRAUDS

Opens office at Waterloo, then cashes bogus check at local bank

When Robert M. Payne, recently called upon a bank at Waterloo, Ia., exhibited letters of introduction from the Farmers and Merchants Bank, at Leeds, S. D., and ex-Governor Hanna, then stated a desire to open an account, the Waterloo bank readily advised that they were at his service. Payne opened a real estate office at Waterloo and sold Minnesota and North Dakota farming land. He had soon won the bank's confidence and when on March 16 he presented a check for $200 on the Farmers and Merchants Bank at Leeds, he was given the cash. This check was returned marked, "no funds." Meanwhile Payne had left Waterloo and a local married woman named Alice E. Baguhn is reported as having accompanied him. Payne is 58 years, 5 feet 11 inches, 170 pounds, of dark complexion, has dark brown hair, streaked with gray, a short mustache. The Iowa Bankers Association is endeavoring to bring about this man's arrest.

PARTIN MFG. CO. NAMED

Nebraska member writes of manufacturing company conducting business on a swindling basis

Under date of May 16, a member at York, Neb., writes this department as follows:

"I wish to call your attention to a matter which while it may not come under your department should be brought to the attention of the bankers throughout the country in order to protect their clients. I refer to the operations of a company in Memphis, Tenn., and branches in Des Moines and Chicago conducted under the name of Partin Mfg. Company. Their business is entering into contracts with country merchants, usually druggists, in this section, engaging to increase the merchant's annual sales a certain amount. (In this city it was $10,000 and they charge him $800.) They take the negotiable note for the amount and give him bond that any amount that the sales fall short of increasing the amount agreed upon shall be credited proportionately on the note. The note of course shows up in third party's hand and the Partin Co. have not rendered anything whatever in return for same. Their contract calls for the giving away of an automobile, etc., to successful contestants who are used to increase sales. This is a plain swindling scheme and has been worked in York, Stockham, University Place and Fremont and at no place have they complied with any conditions, in fact the druggist at University Place paid the $800 note and bought the auto himself to get out of the deal satisfactorily to his contestants. This certainly comes under defrauding through the mails, breach of contract, obtaining note through fraud, etc. Our patron has the company's contract and bond, neither of which is good and a Chicago concern has the note which was sent here for collection, due May 24."

R. E. BROWN, is drawing bogus checks on the Springfield National Bank, Springfield, Mass., in the vicinity of Chicago, Ill.

ARRESTED PRISONER CONFESSES

Arrested for numerous swindles, count tells of strife between his good intentions and his inclinations to commit crime, the outcome of which landed him in prison

Trailed through the country for three years, Leopold Jocelyn Monick, Alsatian count, master musician, clever swindler, and man of numerous aliases, on February 17, fell into the clutches of the authorities of San Bernardino, Cal. A member at Pasadena, Cal., and another at Moscow, Idaho, are listed among the victims he secured in the cashing of forged checks. When our agents interviewed Monick in jail, they found him of good personality, and a willing talker. He declared that while he was living this life of crime he often held conference with himself and that the outcome of each counsel was a resolution to turn about and begin a new life.

An opportunity to obtain money without earning it would present itself before him. It was then that he would feel his resolutions crumbling, rendering him powerless to resist temptation. He no longer made resolutions to do good, but now he determined to play the game for all it was worth, and as long as it would serve him. When he considered arrest, which he knew must soon come, he told himself that he would pay the price without a murmur. And he has lived up to this word, for he has made no attempt to defend himself, but assisted the authorities in every way in the prosecution of his own case. ## TOWN SENTIMENT MOVES COURT

Man who held up and robbed Nordhoff, Cal., bank receives light sentence as result of petition signed by 106 residents of town

Majority rules, right or wrong. This is demonstrated in the outcome of the case against George Downing, who on March 30, 1916 entered the Ojai State Bank, Nordhoff, Cal., and at the point of a gun, blindfolded and bound the only employee present, then robbed the bank of $3,894. Downing was arrested thirty-six hours after he had committed this crime. On April 26 he was tried. On one side of the trial judge's desk there lay a petition signed by 106 of the residents of Ojai Valley. It pleaded vehemently that leniency be shown to the prisoner. It stated that unfortunate circumstances had persistently pursued him, unbalanced his mind, and prompted this action; that he had been always of good character and that he was no criminal. On the other side of the desk there lay a protest to which but thirty of the local people had signed their names. It urged that Downing be punished according to the seriousness of the crime he had committed, that a man of his character was a dangerous menace to society. The judge weighed both. "Two years at San Quentin," was his verdict. Downing had been spared ten to twenty years of imprisonment. But for the protest, this man would undoubtedly have been given immediate liberty.

MASTER SWINDLERS

There are "master minds" in every profession and trade, whose genius thrusts them up head and shoulders above their fellow workers. So also has the swindling world its "master minds," whose ability at securing victims and outwitting the authorities must also be recognized as genius.

From time to time we will publish in this Supplement, brief histories of these "Master Swindlers," believing that it will meet with the interest of all our readers.

WILLIAM J. REID

Criminal genius and dean of disguisers

Many months before William J. Reid took action against the banks of the United States he had worked out every move that he would make in his attack. He studied minutely the cases of successful and unsuccessful bank swindlers who had gone before him, considered the weak and strong points of their methods, and constructed his plan of operations accordingly.

Reid decided to work with forged certified checks, and to display to his intended victims, a letter of the bank upon which his check was drawn. He realized, however, that he could not get possession of letterheads of different banks throughout the country. One thing was left for him to do—to secure a complete printing outfit, and to print letterheads and checks himself. Shortly thereafter he became rightful owner of such an outfit. He then secured a bankers' blue book and set to work on the letterheads and checks, referring to the blue book for the correct name of the banks, and the proper titles of their officials. For many days he was thus employed until he satisfied himself that a good stock was on hand.

At this point he soliloquized, "I will secure the cash on my check, and turn from the bank. Shortly thereafter the bank will become aware that I have defrauded them and will immediately call in the police. The paying teller will relate that I am about 40 years of age; 120 pounds in weight; that I am extremely thin; have the appearance of a consumptive; am of sallow complexion, and have very little hair. The police will hasten from the bank, and if I have not had time to leave the town, they will have no difficulty in locating and arresting me because of my physical appearance. I will be brought before the paying teller to whom I presented the check and letter, he will immediately identify me, and the penitentiary will be my next destination. Now, how can I overcome the danger of an arrest and subsequent identification?"

To such a resourceful genius such problems did not remain long unanswered and he had soon resolved that he would appear to the bank man as if in full health; his body well filled out; his cheeks in good color; his hair in full growth. To the police he would take on his natural appearance, thin, bald-headed, and of sallow complexion.

Reid next set to work to materialize his plans of transformation. He purchased a half dozen suits of clothes, in different colors, and of much larger sizes than would fit his person. Then he obtained large quantities of padding, which he stuffed evenly into the lining of the different suits. He bought hats, socks, ties, etc., to match each suit. After he had completed this wardrobe, he purchased a wig of mixed black and gray hair, and lastly a supply of face paints that would impart to his skin a healthy color.

It was many weeks before he had completed every detail and considered himself ready to start his crusade. He dressed himself in his proper clothing, then slipped into one of the padded suits, placed the wig upon his head, carefully applied the paint to his face, and stationed himself before his looking glass. The transformation was so thorough that Reid himself was taken aback.

Leaving his quarters he entered a local bank, and extended one of his forged checks and letters of introduction. The cash was turned over to him without a single question. His first victim had been secured! The fraud was later discovered by the bank and the police notified. In all accordance with Reid's calculations, the police set out in the town to arrest for the offense one S. P. Croft, a man of 40 years, 200 pounds in weight, extremely well built, with florid and healthy complexion, and a full growth of black and gray hair. Reid had hastened back to his quarters, forced S. P. Croft out of existence, and was shortly thereafter traveling the streets under the very eyes of the police who were searching for the swindler S. P. Croft.

Reid operated in numerous states and numerous banks suffered heavily in his transactions. However, as an end is brought to all things, his operations had their termination. It was not a misstep that led him to Sanger, Cal., a little town with a very wideawake sheriff. Reid victimized a local bank and this sheriff learned of the fraud. Suspicious of all strangers, whether they fitted the description of the swindler or not, the sheriff advanced upon Reid, demanded the history of his life, and finally got into Reid's room and ransacked his belongings. The gray suit, the green tie as described by the paying teller, a wig that matched the black and gray hair of the swindler were found; also a supply of inks, eradicators, stamps, blank checks, letterheads, etc., were unearthed. The sheriff, realizing that he had made a great find, marched our swindler off to jail.

The paying teller arrived later and failed to identify the sheriff's prisoner. But when the latter was brought before him decked-out in his swindling suit, he was immediately identified by the bank man. A 6-year sentence at Folsom, Cal., was the price netted him for his offense at Sanger. Reid is at this date confined behind the walls of the Folsom prison.

During 1902 Reid was arrested in San Francisco. He escaped from the Massachusetts State Prison during January, 1914, while ill with rheumatism, making keys, sawing his way through heavy iron chains, unlocking nine doors, scaling an eighteen foot wall, and hobbling to liberty on a crutch. His escape was not discovered until the following day. A judge of Chicago, Ill., has declared that he had known of Reid for twenty-five years, and that the swindler had obtained more than $200,000, by his fraudulent transactions. This judge also claimed that in 1903 Reid obtained $60,000, on forged notes in the city of Chicago. In 1895 Reid was accused of attempting to burn the town of Rockford, Iowa, but was released because of insufficient evidence to convict.

Reid's remarkable powers, if exerted in honest business channels, would have won for him the highest success. His overpowering criminal nature brought him failure, and disgrace. We believe he well deserves the title of "Master Swindler."
