ARE ADVANCING ON THE ISONZO FRONT

Victor Emmanuel's Forces Are Pressing Forward, Says Official Report

HAVE OCCUPIED GLOBNA, TO THE NORTH OF PLAVA

Have Captured Edge of Plateau Between Sagrado and Monfalcone

Rome, June 25.—A gradual advance along the Isonzo river and the occupation of Globna, north of Plava, and the edge of the plateau between Sagrado and Monfalcone were announced in an official statement issued last night at the headquarters of the Italian general staff. The communication follows: "In the Tyrol-Trentino region and in Cadore there have been methodical artillery exchanges. At the same time we have been maintaining our activity along the front by means of reconnaissances by small detachments and thus we have had successful encounters at Carcano and Valcamon and toward the plateau of Vezzanos. "In Carnia we continue an intense artillery fire, particularly against Malborghetto. Our projectiles to-day penetrated the cupola of Fort Helael. "During the night of June 22-23 the usual vain attacks of the enemy were repeated against our positions at Valgrande and Valpiccolo. "In the region of Monte Nero we extended our occupation towards the north as far as the slopes of Javazoeke, and made fifty-seven prisoners. In this region we began firing against the Bay of Plezzo. "Along the Isonzo we are advancing rapidly, reinforcing ourselves in positions on the right bank of the river. We thus have occupied Globna, north of Plava, and on the lower Isonzo we have captured the edge of the plateau between Sagrado and Monfalcone."

Brescia, Italy, June 25.—Fighting between the Italians and Austrians on the Tyrolean front to-day was virtually at a standstill. The rivers, swollen by continued rains, are impassable for troops, and airship scouting also has been halted by the stormy weather conditions.

SOCIALIST SPOKE IN FAVOR OF PEACE

Braun Declared That Majority of Germans Desire That War End

Berlin, June 25.—The debate in the Prussian chamber of deputies yesterday on the attitude of the German people toward peace attracted considerable attention to-day. Herr Braun, Herr Wiener and Dr. Karl Liebknecht took part in the exchanges. The morning newspapers report the proceedings substantially as follows: "Herr Wiener, progressive, cited, with signs of approval from the members, an article by Hugo Heilmann, a Socialist, to the effect that no German wants peace until Germany's enemies are willing to concede her right to develop her economic and cultural power. "Dr. Karl Liebknecht, one of the Socialist leaders, interjected: 'We have the masses with us and the masses want peace.' "After this interruption, Herr Wiener continued: 'We are convinced that the co-operation of all parties and classes is essential and that it means German victory. In this co-operation is found the guarantee that we will hold out, and that we will be spared from such dastardly attacks in the future.' "Herr Braun, a Socialist, was the next speaker. He said the Socialists did not deny that the German people must stand together against their innumerable enemies. He referred to the fact that certain persons were talking about continuing the war in order to realize 'wild plans of annexation.' "A great majority of the German people are not in favor of such a policy. They are in favor of securing an early peace. The speaker declared, and they emphatically reject annexation plans. "The German people want no conquests, he declared. They want peace without bringing humiliation or subjection to other peoples." "Herr Liebknecht, Prussian minister of the interior, made answer to Herr Braun in part as follows: 'While we are involved in such a war as this we can have but one thought, namely, to terminate it in a way that will make

ESTIMATED THAT TURKS HAVE LOST 143,000 MEN

Mitylene, via Athens, June 25.—Fighting of the most sanguinary sort has been in progress on the Gallipoli Peninsula since Tuesday, with the advantage resting with the allies, according to advices received here to-day. Several trenches have been carried by the British and French. Estimates received here to-day place the Turkish losses in killed, wounded and prisoners since the fighting began on the peninsula at 143,000.

BRITISH OBSERVERS IN OPTIMISTIC MOOD

Believe That Czar's Forces Soon Will Take the Offensive

BRIEF REVIEW OF VARIOUS REPORTS

London, June 25.—Military experts here who refused to be downcast over the German victory at Lemberg found support to-day for their contentions that the Russian reverse was by no means serious when Petrograd dispatches announced a grave reverse for the Germanic allies in the Dniester region. The enormous losses inflicted when the Teutonic forces which had crossed the Dniester were hurled back gave force to the statement that the Russians simply had retired, under pressure, of course, to draw on the Teutons with the idea of shortening the Russians' communications and also their fighting front. It was predicted to-day that the Teutonic rush would not extend beyond the Russian frontier and that Grand Duke Nicholas, consolidating his strength, would resume the offensive. Reports from the Gallipoli peninsula that the allies there still were conducting a satisfactory offensive also relieved the uneasiness of the British over the fall of Lemberg. On the western front there seem to have been no definite results, the tide of battle ebbing and flowing as it has done for weeks with varying successes for both allies and Germans in various sectors.

The following is a brief review of the announcements given out during the past 24 hours by the war offices of the several nations:

Russian—Enormous losses reported to have been inflicted on the Germanic armies which had crossed the Dniester river, part of the Teutonic forces being crowded on small islands with little possibility of getting to cover. The announcement is made that the Russians, in retreating from Lemberg, lost very few men and very small supplies of munitions. Their retreat is likened to that of General Joffre to the Marne.

German—Admitted by Berlin that von Linsingen's army northwest of Halicz, Galicia, had met with reverse on bank of Dniester river and had withdrawn to the south bank. Also admitted that village of Kopyczka, on the Omulew river, Poland, was evacuated by the Germans.

In the west Berlin claimed repulses of the French on the Meuse and in the Loreto Hills, with the capture of some trenches on their eastern slope. A defeat of the French attempt to recapture the hill of Ban de Sapt, with the taking of 150 prisoners, also was claimed by Berlin.

Austrian—Vienna parallels the German report of the Russian fighting. On the Italian front checks for the Latins were claimed near Gorizia and Monfalcone. Heavy artillery fighting along the Isonzo river was chronicled.

Italian—The repulse of three desperate attacks by Austrian forces at Frelikopf was announced. The Austrian dead on the field were estimated at 800. Heavy rains paralyzed other activities along the front. Advices from Ancona say the Austrians have massed 200,000 men to defend Trieste. Italian dirigibles are said to have bombarded the city.

British—Heavy fighting along the Gallipoli Peninsula since Tuesday was reported from Mitylene, with successes for the allies. The Turks were reported to have lost 143,000 men since the struggle on the Peninsula began. The fleets apparently have been inactive.

French—Progress between Angres and Souchez in region north of Arras, reported. German planes, equipped with flaming liquid, on heights of Meuse, at the Calonne trench. They succeeded in making a small advance.

Turkish—Official claims by General Liman von Sanders were that the allies had suffered heavy losses in a futile attack on the Turkish lines near Seddul Bahr.

A repetition impossible. That is the goal which the imperial chancery and the allied governments have set themselves and that is the goal you must strive for along with us.

"These words from the minister were greeted with evidences of disapproval from the Socialist members."

FLAG DAY IN GERMANY

WILL HE HAUL IT DOWN? —New York Herald.

DECLARES HE WILL REMAIN IN FIELD

Sir Richard Says He Will Not Go to London as Agent-General

Ottawa, June 25.—Sir Richard McBride is in Ottawa to-day prior to returning to his province after a visit in the British Isles.

While Sir Richard was in England, he and Sir George Perley consulted with the British board of trade concerning the scarcity of ocean tonnage on the Atlantic, as a result of which the British Columbia timber trade is suffering heavily. Prize vessels, Sir Richard stated here, will be put into the service.

Asked concerning the financial situation in Britain, Sir Richard stated that for some time to come it would be difficult to raise funds for new developments, as Britain desired all the available money for the prosecution of the war. He looked for a very quick recovery at the conclusion of the war, however. He added that there were countless inquiries as to future settlement in Canada and as to investments in mines, fisheries, etc.

Sir Richard denied the report that he would leave politics and take the appointment as agent-general of the province in London.

"I intend to stay with the province as long as the province wants me," he said. "The political situation in the province is all right."

He added that committees in the British Isles already were at work considering the question of settling men in Canada after the war.

"The motto, 'Business as Usual,' has been replaced in the British Isles," he said, by the motto, 'War is our business until victory is won.'"

The general impression in Great Britain, Sir Richard says, is that the war will be a long one and that it will be completed only at great cost. "I was in London when a Zeppelin raid was made," said Sir Richard, "and next morning I saw no trace of panic. The people are well disciplined. In Liverpool shipping is coming in in tremendous quantities and there is little visible effect of the submarine raids. Canada can help a great deal with her shipments of wheat and lumber, too."

Regarding the German-American situation, Sir Richard said: "The feeling in London is that President Wilson is acting with a good deal of patience and a great deal of wisdom and a crisis is not looked for. The friendly attitude of the United States toward the allies is illustrated best by the attitude of the British Isles and France, who are prominently connected with Red Cross work, recruiting, etc."

While in the capital Sir Richard will have a number of interviews with Sir Robert Borden and the members of the cabinet in regard to matters affecting British Columbia. There does not appear to be any immediate prospect of Sir Richard entering the Dominion cabinet, and the impression he left on those who saw him was that he intends for the present at any rate to stick to the provincial political arena.

ANOTHER THRUST AT CAPITAL OF POLAND?

Russians Believe That Enemy Dare Not Withdraw Large Forces From Galicia

London, June 25.—Something of a lull in the fighting as compared with the feverish activity of the last fortnight is enabling military observers on both sides to take stock and forecast future operations.

Petrograd declares that the Russian defensive positions are so secure that the Austro-Germans will not be able to withdraw many men for use against the allies of Russia. The Russians assert further that their present line before Warsaw is as strong as it ever was and that their armies on the Dniester river will fall back only if the eastward drive of the Austro-Germans from Lemberg threatens to cut them off.

The authorities of the central empires are less communicative concerning their future intentions and movements, but it is believed that Warsaw again is their objective.

In the British Isles the campaign for munitions is in full swing, with the possibility of national registration to ascertain the "man power" of the nation.

The London Times has published tables showing that the casualties among officers during the last month come within a few hundred of the total casualties among officers during the entire South African war. The total in South Africa was 2,752, while the lists since May 26 show that 2,440 officers have been killed or wounded or reported missing.

BERNHARD DERNBURG WILL GIVE HIS VIEWS

Berlin, June 25.—Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, returning from the United States on the Norwegian steamship Bergensfjord, has sent a wireless message to relatives here saying that he expects to reach Berlin on Saturday evening. It has been learned upon good authority that Dr. Dernburg will be called immediately into consultation concerning the forthcoming German answer to the American note on the sinking of the Lusitania.

Christiania, June 25.—The steamship Bergensfjord, on which Dr. Bernhard Dernburg was a passenger, arrived last night at Bergen after a voyage of 10 days at Kirkwall by the British.

TURKS QUARRELLING AMONG THEMSELVES

Paris, June 25.—Information has been received from Constantinople, says a Havas dispatch from Athens, that after it had become apparent last week that the illness of the sultan was of a serious nature, the royal princes met and decided that Yusuf Izzeddin, eldest son of the late Sultan, Abdul Hamid, should assume the regency. This proposal was opposed vigorously by the committee of union and progress. A dead lock resulted, and a solution has not been found yet.

CANADA HAS HELPED, SAYS GEN. BERTRAM

Statement Issued by the Chairman of the Canadian Shell Committee

Ottawa, June 25.—The following statement was given out yesterday by General Bertram, chairman of the Canadian shell committee:

"The attention of the shell committee has been called to observations attributed to a discussion in the House of Lords yesterday. The undertakings of the shell committee for the delivery of empty shells and empty shells, to a larger number than those delivered, could be forwarded immediately if desired by the war office.

"The British government, however, notified the shell committee that future deliveries must be of fixed ammunition and that further production of empty shells no longer is required. To convert the empty shells into fixed ammunition involved the purchase of machinery and the establishment of the necessary organization of industrial companies of Canada who were prepared to undertake the work.

"The success which has attended the efforts for that purpose is regarded by the shell committee as thoroughly satisfactory, but it can readily be understood that the capacity to produce empty shells in Canada far exceeds the capacity of the organization only recently established to convert empty shells into fixed ammunition. The manufacture of cartridge cases alone involves problems of material, trained labor, etc., which have taxed to the utmost the ability and experiences of the industries which have undertaken the work.

"The shell committee is reluctant to believe that Lord Curzon could have used the expression attributed to him in the press and feels that the progress already made in Canada in the production of empty shells, and during recent weeks in the conversion of these shells into fixed ammunition, is worthy of the highest commendation and has been of very marked advantage to the interests of the whole empire at this time."

NORWEGIAN VESSEL SUNK BY PIRATES

London, June 25.—A dispatch received here from Copenhagen says that the steamship Nova has arrived there with the members of the crew safe and sound. The vessel, which was torpedoed last Wednesday by a German submarine and then set on fire. This occurred near the Shetland islands.

The Norwegian steamship Truma was built in 1896 and was of 1,557 gross tons. She was owned in Arendal, Norway.

COTTON DAMAGED. CONDITION OF SULTAN.

Liverpool, June 25.—Fire broke out on the Harrison steamship Explorer at her dock here this afternoon and damaged 300 bales of cotton.

Berlin, June 25.—The condition of the Sultan of Turkey, who was operated upon by Professor James A. Israel for gall-stones, is satisfactory, according to a dispatch received to-day.

SAVAGES MADE USE OF FLAMING LIQUID

Also Threw Gas Bombs in Attacking on Heights of Meuse

WERE UNABLE TO HOLD THE GROUND GAINED

General Joffre's Forces Made Progress Between Angres and Souchez

Paris, June 25.—The French war office this afternoon issued the following statement:

"North of Arras French troops last night attacked between Angres and Souchez and made further progress. In 'The Labyrinth' a German counter-attack was repulsed. This engagement was followed by violent bombardment of our trenches, to which our batteries replied.

"In the Champagne, near Rheims, and also near Perthes, the enemy yesterday and during last night exploded mines but did not deliver any infantry attacks. They were not able to occupy even the excavations made by these explosions.

"In the Argonne, at Vauquois, the fighting with mines continued, and there occurred several local engagements marked by the throwing of bombs and of hand grenades.

"On the heights of the Meuse, at the Calonne trench, the Germans last evening delivered a violent attack along our entire front, hurling asphyxiating bombs and flaming liquids. After penetrating that portion of their former second line of defenses which we had occupied, they were thrown out again by an energetic French counter-attack. At midnight the enemy attempted a further offensive but found themselves under fire from our batteries and were dispersed with heavy losses.

"In Lorraine the enemy yesterday on two occasions endeavored to retake the position they had lost near Leintrey. They were repulsed completely.

"In the Vosges two German infantry attacks were checked by artillery and infantry fire. They were delivered against Reich Ackerkopf, after a violent artillery bombardment.

"A German aviator threw five bombs yesterday on the sanitarium at Zuyd-cool without doing any damage."

Berlin, June 25.—German army headquarters to-day gave out the following report:

"On the west front all attacks of the enemy yesterday were repulsed and we made several local gains."

STILL HOPING TO TAKE FRENCH COAST

Reports From Germany Indicate Huns Intend to Make Another Big Attempt

London, June 25.—Reports reaching here from Germany through various channels appear to establish as a fact that another determined effort by the Kaiser's forces to capture Calais and the coast between Boulogne and Havre is only a question of time. The Germans regard Calais as the key to world power. They frankly say so. Long before they said so, British and French strategists had assumed as much. This accounts for the particularly strong concentration of allied troops in the region that the Germans must traverse if they are to reach the cities and the coast line that they covet.

The Germans say that once they possess Calais their guns, with a range of 26 miles, will destroy Dover, sweep the English Channel clear of hostile ships and thus make easy an invasion of England.

Having landed a small army of veterans in England, they feel assured that the capture of London, which immediately beforehand will be thrown into a panic by Zeppelins and aeroplanes, will follow readily on the army's rapid advance from the sea.

Critics speak of the small sector of the western front, held by the British and the French, as a "bottle neck" which will be the scene of a more widely and thus render greater service to the allies' cause. The answer is that while their troops hold only a narrow front they hold a part that in no circumstances must give way.

DEFEATED AT THREE POINTS ON DNIESTER

German Forces Hurled Back in Dkoyanz Region; Suffered Enormous Losses

ENEMY LOST POSITION IN KOSMIEREJINE DISTRICT

Suffered Reverse in Region of Martvovo and Rousdviany, Says Report

Petrograd, June 25.—Austro-German forces were repulsed with heavy losses at three points on the Dniester river by the Russians, according to an official statement under date of June 23, given out to-day at the headquarters of the general staff. In the Kosmierejine district the Russians carried by assault a strongly fortified height. Enormous losses are said to have been inflicted upon the Germans in the Dkoyanz region.

Referring to operations near Lemberg, the statement asserts that Russian counter-attacks were successful. The text of the communication follows:

"There has been no important change on the Vindava and the Dubissa rivers. "On the front of the Narew and the Vistula there have been only small outpost affairs. "Calm has prevailed on the Taney front.

"In the direction of Zolkiew and Lemberg the evening of the 22nd and the whole of the 23rd were occupied by the enemy in attempts to renew their ulterior offensive, seeking with particular obstinacy to advance in the direction of the villages of Czizkikouf and Dimitrovze along the railroad between Lemberg and Brzessany.

"Nevertheless, thanks to our troops' energetic counter-attacks, these attempts failed.

"On the front of Journavo-Demeszkovitz there has been a fierce engagement which thus far has developed under conditions favorable to us.

"Important German forces, which, on the morning of the 23rd, crossed in the Dkoyanz region to the left bank of the Dniester, suffered enormous losses. Driven back to the river, they were forced to assume the defensive, under very difficult conditions, some of their troops being crowded on islands in the river and others clinging to the left bank.

"Near Martvovo and Rousdviany, the Austrians crossed to the left bank of the Dniester but by impetuous counter strokes our troops threw them to the river. Up until 10 o'clock on the morning of the 23rd the enemy had lost about 40 officers and 1,700 men of various regiments, whom we took prisoners. The enemy is endeavoring to hold his ground in houses close to the river, and is offering desperate resistance. In these fights our heavy and light artillery gave us effective support.

"In the Kosmierejine district, on the Dniester, southeast of Nijinef, our troops are taking the offensive. Approaching Mount Bezymianski, occupied and strongly organized by the enemy, they entrenched themselves at lawn on the 22nd, and made a dashing assault on the mountain. The enemy, in the face of a bayonet attack, fell back in disorder to the second line of his works. Pressing close at his heels, our troops entered the works and put to the bayonet almost the entire garrison holding the hill. The remnants, consisting of two officers and 210 men, were made prisoners."

Berlin, June 25.—That General von Linsingen's army northwest of Halicz, Galicia, had met with reverse on bank of the Dniester river and had withdrawn to the south bank was admitted in an official statement issued from the war office to-day. The statement also admitted that the Teutons had evacuated the village of Kopyczka, on the Omulew river, in Poland.

The situation was reported unchanged in the southeastern theatre.

The report follows: "The village of Kopyczka has been evacuated by the Germans. "At a point west of Steguna German troops have taken a part of the enemy's line. "The situation of Field Marshal von Mackenzon's army remains unchanged."

"The report of General von Linsingen's army which was northwest of Halicz has been transferred to the south bank of the Dniester. Further up the river the German attacks are advancing. The left wing of the army is near Chodzow."

$750,000,000 HAS BEEN TAKEN UP ALREADY

London, June 25.—About $750,000,000 of the new war loan had been applied for at banks alone up to noon to-day, according to the Evening Standard.

The requests in the millions are being held back until next week. The present flow of applications is mostly for moderate sums.

MANY SHELLS WERE THROWN INTO DUNKIRK

French Seaport Bombarded by Huns; Progress Made on Front in Alsace

Paris, June 25.—The following official communication was issued by the war office last night:

"In the region to the north of Arras there have been no infantry actions to-day. Our troops have organized themselves in the conquered ground. A lively cannonade occurred in the sector of Angres-Ecurie.

"The enemy last night and to-day very violently bombarded Berry-aubac and the neighboring village of Sapigneul. This bombardment caused us only insignificant losses.

"In the Argonne and on the heights of the Meuse there is nothing to report except artillery actions.

"In the Vosges, at Pontenelle, a German attack was repulsed. The Germans have bombarded the outskirts of Metzeral and the ridges to the east of the village, where our progress has continued to a slight degree."

Dunkirk, France, June 25.—Thirty-six tons of explosives and metal were fired into Dunkirk on Wednesday from the German positions somewhere behind Dixmude. Several civilians were killed or wounded, and considerable material damage was done, but no single shell reached the port or any other point of military importance. The impression on the inhabitants differed in no way from that made by preceding bombardments, and the first trains out of the city yesterday carried no more than the usual number of travelers.

The first shell struck in the city at the break of day, and the other followed at intervals of twenty-five minutes until a quarter past six in the evening.

In the intervals of this fifteen-hour bombardment melancholy calm prevailed in the city. There was little excitement at any time, and no panic whatever. When the fire was over the streets resumed their affairs in neither haste nor confusion.

CHIEF HUN MAY BE HANGED FOR MURDER

If Captured He Can Be Brought Before British Courts as a Common Criminal

London, June 25.—On two occasions recently coroners' juries have returned verdicts of "murder" against the Kaiser. The first verdict of this description was returned at Queenstown in respect of a person drowned by the sinking of the Lusitania; the second at Ramsgate in respect of a person who was killed in a Zeppelin raid. Are these verdicts merely empty words, mere expressions of condemnation of infamous acts or may they be followed by the usual consequences of such findings by a coroner's jury?

A writer in the Liverpool Post discusses this question, which, he says, "is of more than academic interest, for if the verdicts are not followed it would be the duty of the police authorities to bring the Kaiser before a criminal tribunal to be tried for the alleged murders should he ever come within the jurisdiction of the British courts."

The various coroners who have presided over the inquests on the Kaiser's victims have differed as to the utility of a verdict of "murder." In most cases the jury, when it has expressed its desire to return a verdict of murder, has been told that such a verdict would be meaningless, for effect could not be given to it. On this point the law expert says:

"If a coroner in so directing the jury meant that the actual perpetrator of the outrage could not be caught or that, if caught, he would be protected by the laws of war, his direction might be justified, though the latter point open to question; but if he meant that the arch-criminal in regard to which could be brought to trial he was right only if the Kaiser, as a reigning sovereign, is above all law and not amenable to the jurisdiction of the courts of any country."

In elucidating this last point the writer says:

"It is a fundamental principle of jurisprudence that the jurisdiction of a nation within its own territory is exclusive and absolute, and is susceptible of no limitations not imposed by itself. All nations, however, have imposed a limitation on themselves in regard to the reigning sovereigns of other nations, and, generally speaking, a sovereign, by entering the territory of a foreign nation, does not become subject to its jurisdiction; he is as much above the law of the foreign nation as he is above that of his own. There is absolutely no doubt that this is so if he enters the foreign territory with the knowledge and license of the sovereign of that territory, the reason for the immunity being that, in accepting the license, he cannot be understood to subject himself to a jurisdiction incompatible with his own dignity or that of his nation."

"It also is suggested by writers on international law that the limitation applies even in the case of a sovereign who enters foreign territory surreptitiously, but this point never has been decided by the courts of this or any other country. If the limitation applies in such circumstances, it must be based on the assumption that all sovereigns implicitly engage not to avail themselves of a power over their equal, which a confidence in their magnanimity had placed in their hands."

"If the terms of the limitation and the reasons for it are examined it will be seen that it applies only to a reigning sovereign, and only to one who enters foreign territory of his own accord and under circumstances which entitle him to rely on the magnanimity of the foreign sovereign, and there is no ground for saying that it extends beyond this."

He then quotes authority for the proposition that a deposed, exiled or fugitive sovereign who takes refuge in the British Isles is liable to the criminal jurisdiction of this country, taking the case of Mary Queen of Scots. Mary was charged with countenancing and encouraging a conspiracy to assassinate Queen Elizabeth and she was tried by a commission appointed for the purpose. Her plea that she was not a subject of Elizabeth's but had been and was a free and absolute queen and not to be constrained to appear before commissioners or any other judge whatsoever for any cause whatsoever, save before God, was disregarded.

It is argued then that if the Kaiser came as a fugitive to this country there is little doubt that he could be made to stand his trial. If he should come as a prisoner, different considerations arise; if it were stipulated in the terms of surrender that he should receive honorable treatment, then the jurisdiction of the British courts undoubtedly would be ousted.

If the Kaiser should be taken vi et armis or should be driven from his country and captured a wanderer, the writer of the article does not hesitate to affirm that then, if he were brought before a criminal tribunal of this country, his plea of regal dignity would avail him nothing, but he would be tried, and if found guilty, would be sentenced to death by hanging. The writer concludes:

"Whether the government would put him upon his trial and whether in fact he is guilty are other questions, but surely it is the duty of coroners' juries to return verdicts in accordance with the facts before them. If the evidence shows that a person entitled to the protection of the British flag has lost his life by an act of violence and that act was not an act of war, the person ultimately responsible for that act is guilty of murder. It would be well if through the American embassy the German government was informed of these verdicts and told that unless it desists from waging war in a manner incompatible with the usages of civilization, the Kaiser, if taken, will be put upon his trial, and if found guilty, put to a felon's death."

LOST MANY MEN IN ATTACK ON TRENCHES

First Battalion Took Part in Fighting Near La Bassee on June 15

Toronto, June 25.—The First battalion (Western Ontario) was all but annihilated in the action near La Bassee, in Northern France, on June 15, according to an account sent by a member of the battalion and received here yesterday. Out of between 600 and 700 men the battalion lost in killed and wounded nearly 500, including twenty officers. Twelve officers were killed in this action, according to the account, leaving only three officers of the battalion unaccounted for.

The First battalion, the account says, was selected to act in co-operation with the British troops in attacking three German trenches. It came from the rear, having had a rest preparatory to the onslaught which took place in the evening. The Germans, apparently anticipating an attack, had made elaborate preparations for resistance.

The first enemy trench was only forty yards away from that occupied by the First battalion. A mine had been laid, and its explosion was the signal for a forward move on the part of the Canadians. The mine killed many Germans.

The member of the battalion who sent the account declares that his comrades rushed forward under a terrific fire from machine guns and bursting high explosives.

"I shall never forget," he says, looking around and seeing Lieut.-Col. Beecher of London, Ont., apparently on the parapet of a trench, leading his men by voice and gesture. The next instant the colonel fell, struck by a bomb, and was carried to the rear, but did not live long.

"Conditions grew more terrible as the fight progressed. The Germans brought up reinforcements from troops that were fighting the British with whom we were linked.

"The second trench was about sixty yards beyond the first, which was captured. Our cost in taking this trench was very great. We took the second trench, and it proved a hot position.

"We then went for the third trench, but the Germans, with reinforcements, concentrated a tremendous fire upon us. I should think that by this time considerably more than half of our officers and men had been killed or wounded.

"Gradually the position became untenable, and we had to relinquish the ground already won. We could not, with our depleted force, remain there, so we moved back. The Germans then tried to shift us from our original position, but to no purpose.

"The battalion went into that action from 600 to 700 strong. The killed and wounded numbered nearly 500, including twenty out of twenty-three officers, twelve of whom were killed."

AUSTRIANS CLAIM THAT THEY REPULSED ATTACKS

Vienna, June 25.—The following official report was issued last night: "In the Italian theatre, on the Cassinian front, a strong attack of Italian troops, near Pal (east of Ploken) was repulsed. Otherwise, on these fronts and those of the Tyrol, only artillery engagements occurred. "On the Isonzo river there is heavy artillery fighting. Italian attacks near Gorizia and Monfalcone failed."

MONTENEGRIN FORCES ARE NEAR SCUTARI

Rome, June 25.—The Giornale d'Italia's Scutari, Albania, correspondent says the Montenegrin infantry has reached the eastern gate of Scutari, and is occupying the height of Renzi and the camp of Kiri. Feeble resistance was encountered. An official note issued by the Montenegrin government says that strategic and political reasons impeded the descent on Albania, and that the step also was taken because other powers have occupied portions of Albania.

BRITAIN WILL TAKE STOCK OF RESOURCES

London, June 25.—Now that the agitation for munitions is at its height, Britain is going to take stock of her resources. A bill providing for "the registration of national resources" is to be introduced next week by Walter Hume Long, president of the local government board, according to an announcement made last night by William Hayes Fisher, Unionist member for Fulham.

CUDDY IS PRESIDENT.

Toronto, June 25.—Aif Cuddy, chief of police of Calgary, was elected by acclamation president of the Chief Constables' Association of Canada yesterday. Chief McPherson, of Winnipeg, and Chief McLennan, of Vancouver, were elected to the executive committee. The next convention will be held at Kenora.

ADVANCE IN ALSACE.

Zurich, June 25.—Inhabitants of towns in Alsace are abandoning their homes because of the advance of the French and are fleeing to fortified cities, according to advices received here.

REPULSED EVERYWHERE.

Verona, Italy, June 25.—According to reliable information that has reached Verona, the Austrians have received such reinforcements as enable them to take the offensive throughout the front, but are being repulsed everywhere with heavy losses.

Doctor Said Only Hope Was in an Operation

Was Skeptical When He Began the Use of Dr. Chase's Ointment—Relief Came Quickly.

Here is a plain, honest statement in regard to Dr. Chase's Ointment. Between the lines of this letter you can read the gratitude which its writer feels. One does not suffer from annoying, distressing piles for ten years without appreciating a cure when it is obtained.

Almost every mail brings the report of someone who has been cured of piles by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Such statements are never used without the permission of the writer, and until we are satisfied that the cure is genuine and the writer a person of responsibility.

You may believe in operations for piles, and think there is no other cure. Write to Mr. Ingles, enclosing stamp, and he will gladly verify his statement. He will tell you that the pain, the expense, the risk of an operation are quite unnecessary. That relief and cure come with the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. Ernest W. Ingles, Pentecost, B. C. writes: "I suffered from piles for ten years, and though I tried all kinds of ointments and injections I really had no permanent relief until I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. When I began this treatment I had absolutely no faith in it, for I had been assured by a well known physician in Vancouver, and he said that an operation was the only thing that would benefit me. It was surprising the relief I obtained from the very first box, and now after using four boxes I am practically cured. My case was so exceptionally bad that I received no relief day or night, and for this reason the results are wonderful.

You can obtain Dr. Chase's Ointment from any dealer at 60 cents a box. If you do not want to risk this much send a two-cent stamp to pay postage, and mention this paper, and we shall send you a sample box free. We are so certain that any sufferer from piles will obtain relief by using this ointment that we do not hesitate to make you this offer. Edmanson Bates & Co. Limited, Toronto.

MEMBERS OF CREW ARE WEARING MEDALS

Norfolk, Va., June 25.—Captain Thierfelder, of the German auxiliary cruiser, Prinz Wilhelm, interned here, has received a message of congratulation from the Kaiser for the ship's exploits, according to the members of the crew. The men are wearing medals received from Berlin.

UNDERWENT OPERATION.

London, June 25.—The Sultan of Turkey has undergone an operation for stone in the bladder, according to a Constantinople dispatch received by Reuter's. The operation was performed on the advice of Prof. Israel, the German specialist, who has been at the bedside of the Sultan for some days.

AUSTRIANS FIGHTING WITH REAR GUARDS

Vienna, June 25.—The following official statement was issued last night by the war office: "The general situation in Eastern Galicia has been captured. Except the northeast of Lemberg battles with strong Russian rear guards still are progressing."

UNDERWENT OPERATION.

London, June 25.—The Sultan of Turkey has undergone an operation for stone in the bladder, according to a Constantinople dispatch received by Reuter's. The operation was performed on the advice of Prof. Israel, the German specialist, who has been at the bedside of the Sultan for some days.

WHY VICTOR RECORDS?

Victor Records are THIN, SOLID AND NOT VENEERED; hence they do not split or peel. The needles wear instead of the valuable records. When two substances rub together, one must give—in the VICTOR it is the inexpensive needle, NOT the record.

The Victor Record catalogue contains over 4,000 selections, nearly all of which we have. The greatest artists in the world contribute to the Victor library. Monthly supplement mailed free on request.

MUTINY ON BOARD AUSTRIAN WARSHIP

Vessel Damaged at Antivari; Mutineers Arrested; Will Be Court-martialled

Milan, Italy, June 25.—The fact that the Austrian naval forces are recruited largely from the Adriatic has become a source of danger. Mutiny broke out on a warship at Antivari. Before it could be suppressed the mutineers had done considerable damage to the ship. The men, most of whom are natives of the coast, were arrested and will be court-martialled.

Thousands of Italians have arrived here during the past few days from Austrian towns and concentration camps. All tell stories of misery and wretchedness. Wives have been separated from husbands, mothers from sons. At Trieste indescribable misery reigns. The Austrians spread reports of great victories and the capture of numerous Italian towns, but those at Trieste saw through glasses the tri- color flying from Grado and watched from the quays and shipyards the burning of Montefalcone.

Many of the refugees had been detained since the week before Italy entered the war. Their only food was cabbages and potatoes, served twice daily.

A person who has just arrived at Rome from Vienna by way of Switzer- land states that the Austrian press is ignorant, or pretends to be ignorant, of the victorious advance of the Italian army. All that the Austrian public is allowed to know of Italian oper- ations is the bombardment of coast towns by the fleet, which are described as mere acts of brigandage. The poorer classes in Vienna are reduced almost to starvation by the high cost of food, and desire to see the end of the war.

The German-Austrian press con- tinues to do everything it can to em- broil Italy and Switzerland. It has published reports that the Italian, Francesco Babuccis, arrested at Lu- cano, is an Italian officer who was a spy on Swiss territory and to keep the doings of the Prussian and Bavarian ministers to the vatican, who have established legations there, under obser- vation. It is stated unofficially at Berne that Babuccis is a common swindler.

STATEMENTS BROUGHT FORTH MANY PROTESTS

Paris, June 25.—M. Accambay, dis- cussing the war appropriation meas- ure in the chamber of deputies yester- day, criticized the minister of war. He declared that defects in shell- making had been proved. Objections and protests came from various parts of the chamber and the president re- minded him that he should stick to the question under discussion.

The stormiest parliamentary scene since the war began resulted. M. Ac- cambay affirmed that the sanitary service of the army was responsible for the death of many soldiers. He regretted that the national resources were being extravagantly dispersed, and deplored the lack of foresight in preparing for adequate supplies and munitions.

The minister of war, he declared, ought to possess technical training sufficient to fit him for the general direction of the army's supply ser- vices, but the subordinates felt that they were under a chief who was their inferior.

Protests from the right and the centre frequently interrupted M. Ac- cambay, while the left, largely Socialist, applauded and feeling among the members rose high.

M. Accambay affirmed that he did not wish to criticize the leadership of the army, but solely the cabinet.

Prime Minister Viviani admitted that the government had made mis- takes, but said that it was always willing to correct them when a way to do so was pointed out. His state- ment, that "not only members of com- mittees, but every department had the right to come and go and observe the entire military organization," was re- ceived with great applause. He ex- pressed his regret that M. Accambay had not interpellated the government in the usual parliamentary manner.

BEING ARRANGED.

London, June 25.—It is announced that negotiations are in progress be- tween the British board of trade and the Textile Alliance, of New York, to secure a reduction in duties on im- ported quantities of tops and yarns made in the United States with the object of increasing immediately the output of military and civilian cloth- ing in this country.

WITHDREW FROM HOUSE

Melbourne, June 25.—The opposi- tion in the House of Representatives to- day withdrew from the House in a body as a protest against the govern- ment's action in proceeding with cer- tain party measures. The opposition for some time had demanded a coal- ition government, urging also that leg- islative action be focussed on war mea- sures.

Former Manitoba Minister Says Money to Meet His Election Expenses Was Raised in Brandon.

Winnipeg, June 25.—Testifying yester- day before the royal commission into the investigation of matters con- nected with the election of the parlia- mentary buildings, Hon. George R. Cold- well, former minister of education, denied that he had any knowledge of any Conservative campaign fund at the last election. He did not recollect ever having spoken to Dr. Simpson about a fund.

"I had no time to bother about it," he said. "I had enough to do with my own election expenses. I never got any money from anybody, and I had plenty to pay out."

None of his expense money had come from the caissons. The election had cost him a good deal. The state- ment of 1915 he had returned was all he personally knew about what had been spent. His committee in Brandon

FLIRTING WITH DOOM.

It would be well to bear in mind that although German armies have had extensive successes on the eastern front and are clinging tenaciously to the territory won in the west, the German empire is constantly face to face with the greatest economic catastrophe the world ever has seen. Upon the sole foundation of absolute confidence in the invincibility of the army and the consequent assurance that huge indemnities will be extorted from the entente allies, the German authorities have erected a financial structure which has no parallel in history and which dispassionate neutral financial experts characterize as flirting with disaster.

A neutral correspondent of the London Times who has been contributing a series of interesting and instructive articles on "Germany in War Time," recently described the amazing financial reorganization of the empire following the cutting off of German trade. War credit banks have been established in all the states. Their function is to provide the public with personal credit. Loans are granted upon notes endorsed by two or more persons, and this personal credit is now used very extensively. Special credit institutes have been set up by all the professions: in short, the empire is covered with a network of institutions on a large scale to meet the needs of the population—except the working classes, who have systems of their own—and the government has difficulty in resisting the pressure to extend the organization still further. The banks, therefore, are overloaded with paper securities and businesses, large and small, are equally burdened.

The real significance of these measures has not dawned upon the German people, because they believe that through the prowess of their army and navy Germany will compel her enemies to pay her losses. This opinion is held even in the banking world. One banker admitted that the German war loans amounted to $3,600,000,000, carrying an annual interest charge of $165,000,000. "There will be more loans," he said, "but our enemies will have to pay all back." There are other well-informed authorities, however, who are not so sure. They realize how sharp is the two-edged sword with which the state is playing. One of them admitted that the value of securities and other losses had been written down so low that it seemed impossible to lose more. But the main fact is that this enormous edifice of credit has no other foundation than a state of mind. There is nothing tangible or substantial under it. The future of the whole nation has been mortgaged upon the security of the sword. A decisive blow by the allies that would prove to the German people that their army cannot save them from defeat; that not only will their enemies not make good the vast amount of paper securities liberated through the empire, but that they themselves will have to indemnify the allies, would tumble the whole German financial system in ruins. Banks and credit institutions would crash to the ground and confidence and faith would give way to looting, the precursor of revolution.

This is why the German authorities, in their desperate attempts to avert the inevitable, are so busy with the flirtings of the Vatican and at Washington in the direction of peace negotiations. The longer the war lasts the more imminent the danger of a smashing reverse, and the fragile foundation of Germany's prospects cannot stand a smashing reverse. It explains, too, the policy of "rightfulness" on land and sea, a policy deliberately adopted in the hope that it will terrorize enemy peoples into demands for a speedy peace. When Germany collapses it will be with terrible suddenness, probably leaving her armies, wherever they may be, suspended in the air and at the mercy of their foes.

NATIONALISTS COME AND GO.

Hon. Louis Coderre, secretary of state in the federal cabinet, has resigned and the vacancy will be filled by the selection of E. L. Patenaude, of Quebec. Mr. Coderre was a Nationalist who was appointed to succeed a Nationalist, the late Hon. F. D. Monk. He is said to be slated for a judgeship, joining in the rare atmosphere of the bench two other Nationalists who recently retired from the cabinet—the Hon. L. P. Pelletier and the Hon. W. B. Nantel.

It is evident that the Nationalist influence has not diminished at headquarters, for while Nationalists may go, "Nationalists" continue to come. Just why "out-and-out" Conservatives, of whom there are a number, of worthy eligibles in the province of Quebec, are not taken into the cabinet when vacancies occur can be explained only on the ground that the pledge given to the group of malcontents in that province four years ago is still being carried out.

E. L. Patenaude, who is to succeed Mr. Coderre, describes himself as a Conservative-Nationalist. This indeed is an extraordinary combination. Sir Robert Borden is the leader of the Conservatives, Henri Bourassa leads the Nationalists. Judged by their speeches their ideals are as far apart as the poles. M. Bourassa is an opponent of Canada's participation in the present war, and really ought to be locked up. Yet here we have to contemplate the appointment to the cabinet of a man who for years has been active in promoting the miserable Bourassa propaganda! Under which leader does Mr. Patenaude serve? As a Conservative-Nationalist which half of him is for Sir Robert Borden and which half for Henri Bourassa? What is the nexus that joins the two? If ever there was a time when any public man tainted with the Bourassa idea should be kept out of a Canadian cabinet that time is the present. Laurier would not have a Nationalist in his cabinet for five minutes under any circumstances.

TRUST THE PEOPLE.

Lloyd George's speech is more than an indictment of the methods by which armament supplies have been turned out in Great Britain. It is a strong condemnation of the short-sighted censorship of news publication which has prevented the British people from appreciating the magnitude of the task ahead of them. This is a war which the best army in the world cannot win if the people do not give it their utmost support, and as long as the people are kept in the dark in regard to what is going on that support cannot be expected from them. Lloyd George's description of the failure of the armament establishments and the antiquated system in vogue must have made the board of censors gasp with horror, but the minister of munitions knows that it is more important that the public should grasp the exact situation than that the information should be suppressed out of the fear that Germany may come into possession of intelligence that should be kept from her. The censorship is essentially a military institution and unquestionably it is very necessary within reasonable limits, but in this struggle the military aspect is but one phase; the others, represented in the workshops, the mines and the transport services, are just as important, and to deal with these it is necessary to have a man such as Lloyd George, who knows the people, trusts them and understands their strength and weaknesses because the mastering of their problems has been his life's work.

RUSSIA'S INCREDIBLE FEAT.

Failure of the Berlin and Vienna bulletins to make their usual extravagant claims of having annihilated Russian armies wholesale and capturing vast quantities of supplies, confirms the accuracy of the Petrograd reports that the retirement from Lemberg was conducted without any serious mishap to the forces of our ally. In fact to-day's official communication from the Russian capital suggests that the time is at hand when the Austro-German drive will be brought to a standstill. North and east of Lemberg the Russians are falling back towards their border, where their front, radically narrowed, will be in close touch with its main bases. South of Lemberg the Russians have inflicted three severe defeats upon the Teuton armies engaged. In a desperate attempt to cross the Dniester, isolate the Slavs in that region and penetrate into Bessarabia in force, the German and Austrian forces were met by the German and Austrian forces, and their strongest efforts. More than military considerations will prompt that movement. In the first place they are endeavoring to over-awe Roumania by placing a formidable army within striking distance of her frontier. Secondly, by occupying Bessarabia they hope to be able to dangle a bait in front of the Roumanian eye.

One sentence in the Petrograd report received to-day is both significant and reassuring. It is to the effect that in the successful Russian counter-attack on the left bank of the Dniester they received effective support from their heavy and light artillery. This is an intimation that the arrears in supplies and ordnance are being overcome. How serious those arrears were Lloyd George graphically described to the British people, but more terribly convincing even than this was a little item buried away in a Petrograd report some weeks ago. It was stated there that the Russian infantry had fought splendidly, all its work being done with the bayonet, and that for "two weeks not one shell had been fired by the army." For a fortnight, therefore, the Russians had confronted with marvellous courage an enemy who was pouring into their ranks a torrent of shells from more than two thousand heavy-guns and their only means of reply war with rifles and bayonets. The fact that they have avoided a shattering blow and even inflicted serious defeats on the well-equipped foe at various sectors along the front must be acclaimed as one of the most extraordinary features of this extraordinary struggle. It shows, too, how entirely justified is the Russian reputation for matchless defensive fighting and increases the confidence of their allies in the ability of the Muscovites to regain the ground they have lost.

Where there is smoke there must be fire. There is no doubt whatever that Germany is moving surreptitiously in several quarters to induce some one with authority to propose terms of peace. She knows that never will circumstances be as favorable for her as they are at present. Dernburg hinted at this before he was packed out of the United States. Several delegates have arrived at Washington lately with authority to convey to the American government a suggestion that its good offices in the direction of an understanding would not be resented. The correspondents of the leading newspapers at the capital, who have daily conferences with the president, repeatedly have hinted that peace proposals have been suggested, and they state that something of a definite nature may be expected in the next note from Germany received at Washington. None of these things means that the end of the war is in sight. Germany may propose, but it is for the allies to dispose. Germany is anxious for peace now because she thinks she is in a position to dictate terms.

The denial by Frank Waterhouse, the well-known Seattle shipping man, of the sensational story supposed to emanate from the offices of a steamship agency in that city, to the effect that Russia's contracts for war supplies were being cancelled by the manufacturers owing to her inability to pay for them, was hardly necessary to explode the report. Not only are Russia's potential resources so vast that as soon as the Dardanelles are forced her financial position will be rendered much easier, but behind her is the enormous backing of Great Britain and France. Any order that Russia may place in foreign countries will be paid for to the last cent, and the supply producers in the United States know it. When they turn down Russia's business we may conclude that the day is at hand when money will cease to have any virtue south of the international boundary line.

Mr. Coldwell, who has achieved some fame of a kind in Manitoba, takes oath that witnesses who testified against him and the government with which he was connected are perjurers. Inasmuch as the alleged perjurers were in the service of the late Roblin government and were cogs in the infamous Manitoba machine, the public may be inclined to place just as much reliance upon the testimony of the servants as upon the evidence of the master. Of one thing there can be no doubt, the whole Tory institution which so long lorded it in Manitoba was rotten to the core, and in its desperation it is trying to convey to the world the impression that there is no soundness, public or private, in the province.

The Tory rump in Manitoba has asked Sir Hugh John Macdonald, son of Sir John, police magistrate of Winnipeg, and one of the commissioners now investigating the record of the Roblin government, to become provincial leader of the party. Sir Hugh John bears an honored name and is a man of some ability, but time alone can heal the wounds Roblin and his gang inflicted upon the fame of Manitoba. We doubt whether Sir Hugh John will undertake the task of assisting time in the matter. A bigger man than he would balk at the job.

Sir Richard's foot is on its native heath. Whether it will remain there probably soon will be determined. We understand that temporary Big Chief Bowser is applying his war paint.

At last the Kaiser has marched into a captured capital at the head of his army—and it was an Austrian city at that. It cost Germany some five hundred million dollars and half a million casualties, but to the Kaiser these are mere bagatelles in proportion to the object achieved—the triumphal entry into a conquered city by the elected of Heaven. Nevertheless Lemberg is not Paris, nor Nancy, nor Dunkirk, nor Warsaw. It is still "a long, long way to Piccadilly."

The skill and devotion with which Russia's armies have faced overwhelming odds have strengthened the determination of the British and French to bring the struggle at the Dardanelles to an early issue regardless of cost. Progress has been slow, it is true, but the allies have not far to go. Once they are installed upon the heights of Atchi-Baba the curtain will begin to fall upon the Ottoman empire.

Manitoba Conservatives want Sir Hugh John Macdonald to be their leader. Strange enough in view of the fact that Sir Hugh is a member of the royal commission in whose sense of justice Lawyer Fullerton and the fourteen members of the Manitoba legislature who are his clients declared the other day they had no confidence.

The Retail Merchants' association of the city is going to give everybody an opportunity to forget the worries of life and business for one day next week. It has chartered a steamer and is going to run an excursion to Seattle on Dominion Day. It promises everybody a seemly but highly enjoyable trip.

The eminent Dr. Dernburg, returning to his native land, fell into the hands of the British, but was released in accordance with an undertaking given at Washington. Yet the deluded Germans insist that the Kaiser's navy dominates the seas.

BRYAN'S EXPLANATION.

From the New York Journal of Commerce.

Mr. Bryan does not better his case by his farwell explanation of his reason for resigning his office as secretary of state, for which he has shown himself to be conspicuously unfit. It is in effect a virtual "give away" of the case of the government and acceptance of that of Germany. There is no analogy whatever between his proposal for an investigation by an international commission in the midst of war and after offences have been committed, and the negotiation of treaties in time of peace for the prevention of such offences.

WE'RE BRITISH ALL THROUGH, LADS.

Come all ye loyal hearted From over sea and land. 'Tis freedom's voice that's calling. Together we will stand. We'll holdly face the foe, lads. A firm united band; We're British all through, lads. And joined in heart and hand. We're British all through, lads. We're British all through; We're not English, Irish, Scotch or Welsh. We're British all through.

English rose and Scottish thistle, With the shamrock's leaves so green, Bound in one by friendship's tie, lads, Shall ever more be seen. From the Thames and from the Shannon, From the Solway and the Dee, Gather fast, ye Hon-hearted, Let the vaunting foeman see. We're British all through, lads, etc.

British hearts have never faltered In the brave days of yore; We'll holdly face the foe, lads. British hearts sing out in chorus, Ah, how clear their voices ring, Marching boldly into battle For their country and their King. We're British all through, lads, etc.

Fling aloft our flag unconquered, Raise it high that all may see, And beneath its folds undaunted Boldly march to victory. Gather fast, ye Hon-hearted; Face the foemen's leaden hail, Fighting for a nation's freedom, British hearts ye shall not quail. We're British all through, lads. We're British all through; We're not English, Irish, Scotch or Welsh. We're British all through. ISAAC NIXON. Victoria, B. C.

From the start the Germans have been striving to crush the extreme left wing of the allies. That is still their strategy. The British, French and the Belgians together mean that the enemy shall not achieve this object. The first line he may over-whelm, especially by the agency of asphyxiating gases, but behind the first line is another and behind the second and third is still another.

In short, the road that Germany wishes to tread on her way to world power will be found to be by no means easier now than when she so mightily essayed to travel it last fall. Neither the British nor the French look upon German occupation of Calais and Boulogne as synonymous with the collapse of France and the loom of Britain. Nevertheless, they much desire that this occupation will not take place. They wish to keep Calais and Boulogne and all the French coast, first, because they belong to France and secondly, because these ports are most important to the proper sustenance of the allied fighting strength in the west. Britain and France, if they must, can transfer their coast bases farther west and south, but they prefer to have these bases where they are and they have made what they believe adequate dispositions to keep the bases unmolested.

Germany says that when she gets her army of Germans into England, the conquest of this country will be an affair of small difficulty. The best minds in Britain have absolutely no belief in Germany's ability to land any sort of force on these islands. However, they are not basing any national policy on this belief—a very wise course. They are assuming that a landing is not only possible, but practically certain, and are making thoroughly adequate preparations.

THE OLD AND THE NEW

The old fossil merchant says: "I wish them fellows would quit advertising these goods in the newspapers."

"It keeps me so busy I can't go fishing."

But the new fangled merchant—the kind that gets rich says: "Hello! here's the manufacturer's advertising in our newspapers."

"That means business for me. I must get the goods in the window and put the cash register in order."

"Nothing like newspaper advertising to start the customers coming."

"Yes," replied the lodge-keeper, "there is an opening to everything: look at a summer; it opens with a spring; look at a river, it opens with a spring; look at a lady's purse, it opens with a spring." "Aye," said the lad, "that is so. Time flies, but wine vaults, acid drops, sulphur springs, jam rolls, grass slopes, and music stands; Niagara falls, moonlight walks, sheep run, Kent hops, and holiday trips; scandal spreads, standard weights, india-rubber tyres, the organ stops and the world goes round." The lodge-keeper put his head in at the window and remarked—"And marble busts."

A Sunday school teacher had been telling her class of little boys about crowns of glory and heavenly rewards for good people. "Now, tell me," she said, at the close of the lesson, "who will get the biggest crown?" There was silence for a minute or two, then a bright little chap piped out—"Him who's got t' biggest 'ead."

SALE WELL PATRONIZED

Annual Event Under Auspices of Ladies' Guild of St. Mary's Very Successful.

The attractive grounds at the Oak Bay hotel, kindly lent by the manager, Mr. Virtue, made a very pleasant setting for the annual garden party and sale of work held yesterday under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of St. Mary's church. The afternoon was favorable to the occasion, and many visitors were present and patronized the well-filled stalls of plain and fancy sewing, ice cream, etc.

The sale opened at 3 p. m., by which time all the tables were arranged under the shade trees ready for business. Mesdames Hardie and H. P. Johnson had charge of the counter of fancy work, and Mrs. Arthur Crease, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Nasen managed a profitable table of linen articles. Dainty infants' clothing of all kinds was to be found at the stall in charge of Mrs. W. J. Gospel and Miss Crowther, and a stand of cut flowers and potted plants was ably presided over by Mrs. Piddock and Miss "Biddy" Floyd. Berris and cream were sold by Mrs. Hewett and Mrs. Johnston, and ice cream by Miss Raper, while the afternoon tea, which was one of the most generally patronized departments, was managed by Mesdames Floyd, Barclay, Greenhill, Lukes and Mitchell.

The chair-swinging were popular with the small folk, who also added considerably to the funds by patronizing the "Touch-and-Take," presided over by Miss Cowley and Mrs. Frazer. The sale closed at 6 o'clock after a most successful clearance of all the attractive things offered for sale.

The ladies are particularly indebted to Mr. Virtue, who for the third successive year placed the big grounds at their disposal for the purpose, the long line of flags which stretched the entire width of the gardens also being lent by him. The proceeds of the undertaking have been added to the church fund.

"What a ducky little place!" said the happy bride to be, as her sweetheart showed her over her prospective home. "But I am afraid, Harold, everything is so small. Now, look at this little pigeon-hole. Surely you don't call it a shoe cupboard, dear?" "Darling," sweetly answered the young man, "that little pigeon-hole, as you call it, will hold a hundred pairs of shoes of the size you wear." The pucker in her pretty brows quickly disappeared. "Perhaps you're right, Harold," she remarked.

NOTED ACTOR APPEARS IN NEW ROLE

Max Figman, in "Jack Chanty" Will Be Seen Here

Max Figman in an excellent film version of Hulbert Footner's novel, "Jack Chanty," in six acts, will be the attraction at the Variety Theatre on Monday and Tuesday next week. This is a virile tale of the great Northwest, of red blooded men and women in which are evident all of the elements that go into the making of a really notable feature.

Mr. Figman is supported by Lolita Robertson and a company of uniform excellence. The picture, which was taken in the Sierra Madre mountains, contains some very beautiful mountain views which were taken at great risk by the camera man of the company.

Those who have read Mr. Footner's story can readily see how excellently the story lends itself to film presentation.

Miss Lolita Robertson, who appears as Mary Cranston, a quarter-breed, makes a very beautiful Indian maiden, so attractive that Jack Chanty prefers her to the belles of the cultured east.

The picture was filmed under the personal direction of Mr. Figman, and every effort was made to imbue it with the atmosphere of the wild and rugged country in which the scenes of the novel are laid.

There are glimpses of the thick growths of the virgin forests, the bare and parched beds of mountain streams, and vistas from peaks of other mountain tops miles away.

That it will be welcomed by movie fans here is not to be doubted.

Eleanor recognizes it she connects him with the unhappy woman's past, and herself heart-broken accepts Lester's proposal of marriage. The millionaire, meanwhile, has removed by stealth certain letters and papers from Gladys' apartment, among them the photograph of Ewing. Ewing returns from the west and follows his former sweetheart to New York, where he learns of her engagement. He is invited by Lester to his farewell bachelor dinner, and afterward discovers the photograph of himself on his host's desk. Lester, who knows that formerly Eleanor was in love with Ewing, now recognizes that he and the photograph are the same, suspects the step-mother of treachery. Before the others he forces from her a confession of how she exchanged his picture for one of Ewing in the dead woman's hand. Then magnanimously, he withdraws, leaving Eleanor and Ewing together.

ROMANO THEATRE.

G. M. Anderson, "the Bad Man of the Movies," is featured in a three-part drama, "When Love and Honor Called," at the Romano theatre to-day and to-morrow. The other pictures include, "The Hearst-Selig News" showing various scenes in different parts of the world, among which are pictures taken in London during the recent celebration of the declaration of war by Italy. "The Jungle Stockade" is a Selig wild animal drama which will please young and old alike. "Maxie Puts One Over" is a good comedy.

DOMINION THEATRE.

Robert Warwick is making a welcome reappearance at this popular picture theatre and is scoring a bigger success than ever. Like his previous successes, his present play, "The Man Who Found Himself," is of strong dramatic intensity and provides Mr. Warwick with a character in which he has scope to demonstrate his superb art. He is supported by an efficient cast and the whole production is of the highest quality. The picture is shown in five parts and is produced by the World Film Corporation. A capital two-part comedy completes the bill.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.

The Famous Player feature film, "The Unafraid," with Rita Jolivet in the leading role, is drawing record houses at the Columbia this week, and is well deserving of the highest praise. Both in photography and acting this production is well up to the Famous Player standard. The story is one of love and intrigue in the Balkan states and is full of the most thrilling interest. The vaudeville is headed by Sherman and Johnson, singing and piano entertainers, who score a decided hit especially with the piano. Ann Rochester with her clever dancing is a feature worthy of a head-line position on any bill and is proving an exceptionally strong drawing card. Leslie and Richards, presenting the "nut" comedian, have an act that is much appreciated. To-night ten dollars in gold will be given away at the country store, in addition to the regular prizes.

AT THE THEATRES

PANTAGES THEATRE.

George Primrose, who has been entertaining audiences for years, is scoring heavily at Pantages this week. He has with him an exceptionally bright troupe of minstrels, and the performance, which is the headliner for the week, is full of snap and goes from start to finish. Primrose's jokes, especially those about the war, are new, and the comedy throughout is exceptionally clever. The troupe boasts a fine interlocutor.

Early and Laight are two very popular comedians, probably the best of their type seen here for a long time. Their patter is brisk and funny, and while they are on the stage there is not a dull moment.

Music lovers by the hundred have flocked to the popular vaudeville theatre this week on purpose to hear the star operatic act by Rhoda and Crompton, whose singing and acting in operatic parts, adds to make a turn as attractive as it is unusual. The pair have been the recipients of numerous ovations this week.

Other turns on the bill include a ladder act by Peggy Bremen and brother; a novelty comedy number by Chartres Sisters and Holliday, and some superb violin playing and dancing by Arline.

VARIETY THEATRE.

One of the best programmes of motion pictures seen in this city for some time is being shown at the Variety theatre to-day and to-morrow. This includes, "My Wild Irish Rose," a romance of Killarney featuring Cleo Madison; "Little Miss Fix It," a comedy drama; "Mumps," a side-splitting comedy featuring Harry Myers and Rose Theby; "Pruning the Movies," a comedy in which the Hicksville Board of Censors start something; and the "Animated Weekly," which shows happenings in various parts of the world among which might be mentioned scenes in the French lines at Rheims and other war pictures.

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

In "A Farewell Dinner," the two-part drama featured at the Majestic theatre to-day and to-morrow, John Ewing, a young surveyor, bids his fiancée good-bye and goes west to undertake a contract. Mrs. Standish, Eleanor's ambitious step-mother, wishing to marry the girl to Roy Lester, a millionaire, takes her to New York, hoping she will forget Ewing. Lester previously has had an affair with Gladys Ledeau, once very beautiful, now desperately ill, and the object of Mrs. Standish's and Eleanor's sincerest sympathy. Though they know that a faithless lover is at the bottom of Gladys' troubles, they have no notion of his identity. Later, Gladys dies, Lester's photograph clutched in her hand, and which Mrs. Standish replaces with that of Ewing. When

ROYAL VICTORIA THEATRE.

Another excellent series of pictures were shown at the Royal Victoria theatre yesterday, and will be continued to-day and Saturday. The feature film is "My Friend from India," an adaptation from H. A. Du Souchet's famous comedy drama. Walter E. Perkins the original Augustus Keene Shaver, was the originator of this part which made it famous all over the world. In addition to the above, "A Delayed Reformation" in which the three well-known actors, Joseph Smiley, Lillie Leslie, and Jack Stanley appear. "Manners and the Man" is an Essanay comedy that causes a good deal of laughter. "Truth Stronger than Fiction" is a drama that has many thrilling features, one of which—a very clever piece of photography—shows a woman jumping from a window. The other two reels are of the same high-class order. The matinees are from 2 to 5 and the evening performance from 7 to 11.

SNIPERS START BATTLES.

Rifle Shot Followed by Roaring Artillery and Shrapnel.

One explanation as to how a big battle arises is given by a Lancashire soldier, who writes:

"There has been another big artillery-duel and a fairly-sized battle here. I will tell you how these battles originate. A sniper (either German or ally) finds a good position behind or about his line, and in the course of a day may hit two men. This annoys an officer, who spots the sniper's nest and orders 'Stand to' and a volley.

"This is answered by the enemy's Maxim gun, while retaliation is found in a trench mortar. This is wired to the R. F. A., who fire 'whistling Janey's' (rapid shrapnel). In fifteen minutes the heavy batteries begin on both sides, including 'Jack Johnsons' and 'coal boxes'.

"This soon gets the 'wind up,' and the snipers start all the snipers climb the barrier and it ends the winning of another trench. At day-break comes the counter-attack of the Germans in thousands, which may be repulsed with heavy loss. And this is how war proceeds."

Uncle Henry Barnes was a mild man, but when John Ragland deliberately cheated him out of $900, even his patient spirit was ruffled. "Sometime," he remarked to his wife, "I'm going to tell that man what I think of him." One day he came home highly satisfied with himself. "I saw John Ragland to-day, and I told him straight out what I thought of him," he said. "What did you say?" asked his wife. "I told him I thought he was a very unreasonable man."

After the party they both felt very pleased with themselves and things in general. They sat together in a cosy little corner, and by-and-bye he took his courage in both hands and proposed. There was no hesitation on the lady's part, as she accepted, and a moment later they occupied but one chair, whilst she nestled closely to his manly breast. Suddenly she started, frowned, and looked him full in the face. "Albert," she said, "you are untrue to me. You are playing a game with me. You—" "Darling," he lisped, "what—" "You—you—you're making f-f-f-faces at me!" she thundered indignantly. "I can't help it," he muttered sadly. "My eyeglasses are falling off gradually, and I don't want to let go of your dear little hand."

Jean longed for a kitten. When illness made it necessary for Jean to go to the hospital her mother said: "I will make a bargain with you, Jean. If you will be a brave little girl about your operation, you shall have the nicest kitten I can find." Jean took the other, but later, as she came out from under the anaesthetic, she realized how very wretched she felt. The nurse leaned over to catch her first spoken word. "What a poor way to get a cat!" moaned the child.

Showing of Season's Latest Neckwear Novelties Feature of Week-End at O'Connell's

—Tie Ideas That Come Straight From Fifth Avenue—Neckwear to Suit New Style Collars

The showing of new Neckwear will be the feature of our week-end display and we rise to remark that it is worth coming to see. The new bat-wing Bows made up in Club colors, surely are SOME creations. Direct from Fifth Avenue, they have distinctiveness and style that is unmistakable, and they are absolutely the very newest things to be had.

Another good tie style is the new Derby four-in-hand. It is 2 1/2 inches wide and made especially to go with the novel cut-away collars now so popular. We show it in a variety of shades.

The Neckwear display will also feature a nice showing of fancy foulards.

M'KENRY OR HANSON PITCHES TO-NIGHT TWO GAMES ARE BOOKED TO-MORROW

Victoria Has Fine Chance to Cop Series; Tiny Leonard Looks in Good Shape; Umps. Fray Has Off Day; Baseball Gossip

Marty Nye will probably send Frank McKenry against the Black Cats to-night in an effort to take the lead once more on the present series. The Victoria manager feels that McKenry has something on the Aberdeen club, and he looks for the big fellow to score an easy win. Harry Hughes will be pitted against the Leafs, and as the local club beat this twirler on Monday night, there is every reason to expect that they will repeat the performance. The game is called for 6 o'clock, and the ladies will be admitted free.

To-morrow the teams will play two games, instead of going to Seattle for the Sunday clash. The first game will be called for 2:30 in the afternoon, with Willard McKie doing the hurrying for Aberdeen. Spec Harkness, of no hit no run fame, will be seen in action to-morrow night in the second clash, the game starting at 6 o'clock. The Victoria management will have to depend upon Hanson and Bonner for a double win.

The Leafs have an elegant chance to cop this series as they have been hitting the ball hard. Should Nye decide to work Hanson to-night, he will have Frank McKenry for to-morrow afternoon. McKenry worked the last two innings of yesterday's clash, so that he may send Hanson to-night.

Geo. Engle bluffed a splitter for the best part of yesterday's game, though the veteran did have a "wet" delivery when he was called upon to use it. The Aberdeen infield certainly backed up Engle in grand style, Ward and Bennett tearing off some fancy stops of hard-hit grounders. The veteran was lucky in the breaks that hung on the balls hit to the outfield. Eleven putouts means that some of the locals banged out line drives that the Black Cat savants were unable to cope with. Butler's drive in the ninth looked for all the world like a routine, yet Kippert was able to haul it down, within a foot of the boards. Kelly hammered out a long drive in the eighth with Kaylor on first, that was also picked off the timber with one hand.

Mgr. Nye was tickled with the manner in which Tiny Leonard delivered yesterday. The big fellow appeared to have more stuff on the ball against Aberdeen than he has shown all season with the Leafs. Leonard is a glutton for work, and when his arm gets limbered into shape, he will be hard to stop. That underhand ball of his is hard to locate, while his wonderful control does not permit the batters to try and wait him out. Timmie Fray's work in the present series leaves much to be desired. His calling of balls and strikes yesterday was little more than guess work, while he called a foul on a slow hit ball down the third-base foul line yesterday that would have given the locals another hit, as the base runner easily beat the throw. It was his misuse on Giddings' attempted hunt in the fifth that caused all the trouble and the attempt to hunt was so plain that the Umps. has no excuse whatever for his oversight.

Another pleasing feature of yesterday's game was the come-back of Joey Tobin, the fleet left fielder banging out a couple of nice blows. Tobin had a chance to come through in the eighth with a hit when two runners were pounding the base paths, but Melchoir grabbed his high fly to right.

DOWSWELL CUP GAME SCHEDULED TO-MORROW

Oak Bay and National Junior lacrosse clubs will meet in the fifth game of the Dowswell cup series to-morrow afternoon at Oak Bay. To date the Nationals have taken three out of the four games, but Oak Bay are steadily improving and expect to overtake the lead. To-morrow's game will start at 3 o'clock sharp. Players Burnett and Alexander, who were reported to the league for rough playing, were brought before the meeting last night and severely lectured.

BEASLEY WILL RUN FOR TORONTO CLUB

Vancouver to Send Crack Athletes to 'Frisco Track Meet; P. N. A. Team Selected

Hal Beasley, the well known Victoria sprinter, who is now located in Toronto, has turned out with the Toronto Central Y. M. C. A., and will compete in the Eastern championships under the colors of that club. Beasley is now working in the Queen City, and local enthusiasts will eagerly follow his athletic activities in new fields.

No British Columbia athletes are included in the P. N. A. team for the simple reason that no athletes from this province took part in the trial meet at Portland. However, the Vancouver Athletic club is preparing to send a team south for the exposition meet which will include Dunc, Gillis, the best weight handier in the Northwest; Billy Chandler, the champion long-distance runner of the coast; Norman Dillabough and Frank McCConnell, sprinters, and one or two other athletes now in training.

San Francisco, June 21.—The Pacific Northwest association of the A. A. U. will be represented by a team of twelve of the foremost athletic stars in that section of the country at the national championships to be held here in July and August under the auspices of the Panama-Pacific international exposition.

OSLER THEORY WAS BUSTED YESTERDAY

George Engle is Victor in Twirler's Battle Over Leafs; Score 3 to 1

There was several reasons why Victoria did not win yesterday's clash at the ball park, the principal of these being the excellent article of ball that Old George Engle heaved in the pinches. The veteran walked off with a Leaf scarp by a score of 3 to 1 and while he was aided and abetted in the thieving by Umpire Fray, the Osler theory receiving a severe jolt because of the result. Engle, be it known, has passed the forty year mark, at which age all men are supposed to have passed their usefulness. It was a distinct shock for the local fans and a greater one for the Leafs, as the latter figured that they could fatten their batting averages at the expense of the Aberdeen twirler.

Haworth's bad peg to first in the fifth opened the way to a couple of Aberdeen runs and it was these counters that finally clinched the game. Umpire Fray also butted in with a fearful decision at this critical stage of the game that would have eliminated Haworth's error had it been reversed. The situation was this; Engle singled and it was up to Giddings to sacrifice him to second. The first sacker tried once, but fouled the ball. He then deliberately tried to lay the ball down, only to have Fray call the attempt a ball, giving him another chance. He succeeded on his third attempt and Haworth, in his anxiety to score the put-out, threw the ball wild, Engle scoring and Giddings going to first. Fug Bennett punched one through the drawn up infield for the hit that scored number two. Victoria chuckled three other errors into the fray, but they did not affect the scoring.

Victoria had a grand old chance in the ninth. Hoffman was called out on strikes as a starter, but Menges singled over third. McKenry doubled, a terrific wallop over the fence. With only one down and runners on second and third, the chances of tying up the score appeared imminent. Nye waited out the count and then swung at a ball inside, Ward taking care of his short grounder. Willis Butler's mighty effort was a drive that Kippert took by stretching up against the right centre fence. It looked good for a couple of runs, but Engle's luck held out, and he proved a winner.

Hanson went into the game in the seventh as a pinch hitter and doubled to the fence. Menges scoring from first on the hit. Aberdeen outfielders had eleven put-outs, Engle also passing four and striking out five. Tiny Leonard went good for seven innings, his support crumpling in the pinches.

Spokane, Wn., June 25.—Wuffli broke a tie and brought victory to Spokane in the 11th inning yesterday when he smashed a home run drive into centre field. Both Wicker and Eastley were hit hard and errors on both sides figured prominently in the run getting.

AMATEUR TEAMS ON EDGE TO-NIGHT

Hills Meet Victorias at North Ward Park; Notes of the Future Greats

This evening the Beacon Hill and Victoria intermediates, will meet in the most crucial game of the series at the North Ward park. This is the third meeting between these teams, each having a victory and a tie to their credit. The outcome of to-night's combat will give the winner a lead toward winning the championship. To-night's game will start at 6:30 o'clock. The teams will probably line up as follows: Hills—Ross, c.; Slater or Wright, p.; Nicholson, 1b.; D. Slater, 2b.; McClosky, s.s.; Copas, 3b.; McAdam, 1f.; Irving, c.f.; Mosher, c.f. Victorias—Hopkins, c.; Parfitt or Gil-lingham, p.; Carne, 1b.; Wheeler, 2b.; Hamburger, s.s.; James, 3b.; Baker, 1f.; Goldie, c.f.; Heyland, r.f.

Beacon Hill's Intermediate team are making an effort to arrange a game for the Fourth of July with the Port Angeles High School. They have communicated with the captain of the school team, but have yet to receive a reply.

Joe Milne, who twirled a remarkable game for the Wards against the Hills, Tuesday night, has shown wonderful improvement this season. At the beginning of the Junior league last season Milne played in the outfield. He tried his hand at pitching when the other pitchers went bad, and now he is considered equal to any of the youthful hurling stars.

Tiny Bigham, at short, has added a host of strength to the North Ward defence, while he is also a dangerous hitter.

Centrefielder Goldie, of the Vics., is playing a bangup game. He is not a sensational fielder, but he can hit the ball.

Billy Baker, the Vic's. left fielder, has not been hitting the ball much, but he is playing a wonderful game in defence.

SUNDAY SHOOT.
A battle royal should be seen at Work Point grounds between the Fifth Regiment and the Albions. A close game will probably result in a win for the Fifth. Victoria A-1 should prove more than a match for the Civic Service team, who have fallen away considerably in recent weeks. Victoria A-2 expect to take the measure of the Civic Service, but they may not have things all their own way. This should be an excellent match. Capt. Allen and Five C's have not met previously this season, and as neither team have yet won a league game, it is not easy to form an opinion as to which side will come out on top in this engagement. Both teams are, however, feeling pretty keen to win, and a lively engagement should result. The following will represent the Five C's: George Nicholls, H. S. Greeley, H. S. Radcliffe, W. Gibson, S. May, R. V. Lea.

Boosters' Club Is Making Fine Progress

Only two more days remain in which the Boosters' committee can raise the required fifteen hundred dollars to keep the baseball franchise in Victoria. Secretary Jack Kelly stated this morning that the chances of retaining the team were growing every minute, and while nearly twelve hundred dollars has been secured, it will take a whole lot of small donations to secure the remainder. The problem has resolved itself into a hunt for the small subscriptions, and it is up to the fans to make good the amount. The committee expect every fan to turn up in this attempt to keep the club here, as the attendance at the derby games is very important, in convincing the league that this city can retain its franchise. Plans for a big field day are being completed and a long list of prizes has been promised. The Boosters' committee will meet this afternoon to complete arrangements, and it is expected that details will be announced to-morrow. Vancouver is going ahead with a big Night Baseball Gala, in which all of the civic dignitaries are taking part. Victorians will lose their baseball franchise for all time if the league does not keep the team here, and it is up to the fans to round up the few remaining hundreds of dollars to maintain Victoria's franchise in the Northwestern league.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Hoffman Will Remain in the Outfield.
In the policy of retrenchment that Marty Nye is carrying out, it is more than probable that the Victoria manager will retain Harry Hoffman in centre field. The former Los Angeles catcher is doing good work in the outer gardens, covering plenty of ground. He will improve as he goes along in fielding, while he is hitting right now a lot better than a majority of the outfielders in this league. What the Maple Leafs need is a good right-hander, who can go in and work every third day if necessary, and the team will then be ready for the real pennant chase. The recent slump was due more to a blowup in the hurling division than any other cause, and Manager Nye will immediately take steps to secure a new flinger.

Sports That Deserve Encouragement.
When the various horse-lovers and owners in the capital are willing and ready to maintain costly thoroughbreds for the mere sake of racing them for ribbons, then it is time that the efforts of the Victoria Matinee club were rewarded. There is no finer sport in the world than horse-racing, and with some of the fastest steppers on the coast competing in the different events the fortnightly races of the local organization are worthy of support.

Welsh Careful of His Title.
Freddie Welsh, the lightslight champ, likes 20-round bouts about as well as he likes poison. Maybe Freddie didn't mean it. Either that or his feet have become chilled, because there's another announcement out regarding his plans for that day. Freddie now is scheduled to battle Willie Ritchie 10 rounds near New York, July 3, the bout to be held July 5 if it rains on the third, as it is to be an open-air affair.

Here is one of the oddest coincidences in the history of baseball. Four times since 1906, the Pittsburgh Pirates have beaten the Chicago Cubs two games in one day by scores of 1 to 0. In 1906 Chicago was a pennant chaser, lost two games in one afternoon by a score of 1 to 0, and pennant chances practically were wrecked. In 1908 when Chicago was fighting for the pennant it eventually won the teams met on Decoration Day and Pittsburgh won twice 1 to 0. The following year, late in the season, Chicago stopped off at Pittsburgh en route east and lost two games 1 to 0, and Pittsburgh won the pennant on those games. On Decoration Day this year the Pirates won two games from the Cubs 1 to 0. The present English cup is a modern one. The original was stolen from a shop window in Birmingham in 1895, while Aston Villa were the holders.

ITALY'S CHIEFS IN THE GREAT WAR

MEN WHOSE HANDS GUIDE HER DESTINIES

Statesmen and War Leaders Who Serve Victor Emmanuel—Principal Fortresses

Two men are chiefly responsible for the decision of Italy to join the allies in the war against Austria-Hungary and Germany—Signor Antonio Salandra and Baron Sidney Sonnino.

Antonio Salandra is an Apulian, of firm character and penetrating intelligence. Born at Troia, near Foggia, in 1852, he studied law and became Professor of Administrative Science in the University of Rome. His competence in administrative and financial matters speedily attracted public attention, and in 1891 he was appointed under-secretary of state for finance in the Rudini cabinet. In 1893 he became under-secretary for the treasury, of which Sidney Sonnino was then minister, and aided him in the desperate fight against bankruptcy which Sonnino waged successfully from 1893 to 1896.

The friendship and confidence between the two men, which has been so marked a feature of the last few critical months, dates from this period. Until Salandra took office as prime minister in March, 1914, in succession to Signor Giolitti, his political action had been mainly determined by the advice of Sonnino, and even then he only accepted office after Sonnino had declined it. When the death of the Marquis di San Giuliano left the ministry for foreign affairs vacant last December, Salandra insisted that Sonnino should fill it. Their close cooperation was thus resumed. Neither could have achieved as much without the other, and the confidence of the Italian people is reposed in them jointly.

Baron Sonnino, the son of an Italian-Jewish father and of a Scottish mother, is six years older than Salandra. Born at Florence on March 11, 1847, he studied law at Pisa and entered the diplomatic service for some years, but left it to devote himself to economic studies and to a political career. His work on the condition of the peasants in Sicily first established his reputation, which his speeches in the chamber of finance and national economy confirmed.

As minister of the treasury in the Crispi cabinet of 1893, he laid the foundations of the financial and economic prosperity of Italy. His straightforward, unyielding character impeded his rise to the rank of the highest political rank in a country where pliancy is often regarded as the foremost political virtue. When, in 1906 and again in 1910, he became prime minister, his administrations were speedily overthrown by a combination of political interests which felt themselves menaced by his upright and uncompromising methods. It has often been said of him that he would never give his full measure save in a national emergency. The emergency impelled him to the office where his gifts could be utilized to the best advantage.

General Cadorna, chief of the general staff of the army and commander-in-chief of the Italian armies in the field, is in his 65th year. He is the son of General Count Raffaele

MATINEE CLUB IS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER HOLIDAY RACE MEET

Another meeting of the Victoria Matinee club will be held to-night, when the complete programme for the Dominion Day meet at the Wilcox track will be approved. The entries promised assure the directors of this club of a splendid race meet, and as the proceeds will go towards the Patriotic fund, it is expected that a bumper crowd will attend.

The Victoria club has decided not to send any horses to Vancouver for the holiday races on the mainland, the crack thoroughbreds being reserved for the Victoria races on the same date.

Cadorna, and his own son is a sub-altern in the cavalry regiment which this fine soldier commanded in 1865 in the war against Austria.

Cadorna, after receiving his early education at a cadet school, passed the staff college, and was attached to his father's staff during the Rome expedition. He reached the rank of captain in 1875, and was ultimately appointed chief of staff of the Verona Army Corps. After commanding the 10th Bersaglieri he was promoted major-general in 1888. His present rank as lieutenant-general he reached 10 years ago.

After commanding a division at Ancona he was appointed corps commander at Genoa, with the rank of commander-designate of an army in the field. He succeeded General Pollio as chief of the general staff last year. His reputation as a professional soldier has been considerably enhanced by his works on military questions, and he is credited with a unique knowledge of the ground on the Austro-Italian frontier.

Admiral Millo. Rear-Admiral Enrico Millo succeeded Admiral Leonardo Cattolica as minister of marines in July, 1913. He was the officer in command of the torpedo flotilla which made a raid in the Dardanelles on the night of July 18, 1912, at which time he was serving as chief of the staff to the Duke of the Abruzzi in the Vettor Pisani, flagship of the Adriatic division, from which, apparently, the force was detached. Captain Millo was promoted to rear-admiral with the military order of Savoy.

Duke of the Abruzzi. The Duke of the Abruzzi, first cousin of the King of Italy, was appointed to the chief command of the Royal Italian navy in August last. Born in Madrid on January 29, 1873, he was educated at the naval school at Leghorn, and has had a successful career as an officer of the fleet, having arisen in the service by his own merits and industry. During the Tripolitan war he commanded a division of ships operating principally in the Adriatic.

Admiral Faravelli. Vice-Admiral Luigi Faravelli is president of the superior council of the navy. He was the officer who succeeded to the post of commander-in-chief of the Italian fleet on the death of Admiral Aubry on March 4, 1912. Previously he had commanded the second squadron. On April 7, 1912, Vice-Admiral Faravelli's own health broke down, and he had to be relieved.

Admiral Viale. Vice-Admiral Leone Viale was appointed to command the second squadron during the war with Turkey on the death of Admiral Aubry, and on April 5, 1912, succeeded to the chief command of the fleet on the retirement through ill-health of Vice-Admiral Faravelli. He was in command of the fleet when reviewed by King Victor Emmanuel in Naples bay on November 11, 1912.

Admiral Rocca. Vice-Admiral Rocca, chief of the Naval staff, is an officer of promise who has not, so far, come very much into notice. Rear-Admiral Presbitero commanded the second division of the first squadron during the Tripolitan war. It was this division which made a demonstration off the outer forts of the Dardanelles on April 18, 1912. Rear-Admiral Corsi served as chief of the staff to Admiral Viale. He landed with a naval detachment and occupied the island of Rhodes in May, 1912, until the arrival of troops.

Rear-Admiral Borca Ricci commanded the training division during the war with Turkey, and on October 5, 1912, landed in command of the temporary garrison of Tripoli, of which he was appointed interim governor. He took part in the blockade of Venezuela, and was present at the battle of Chemulpo, during the Russo-Japanese war, being decorated by the Tsar for his efforts to save the crews of the Russian men-of-war Varieg and Korietz.

Rear-Admiral Thaon de Revel commanded the fourth division, second squadron, during the Tripolitan war. Vice-Admiral Amero d'Astès Stella took over the command of the second squadron in the Tripolitan war from Vice-Admiral Viale when the latter succeeded Admiral Faravelli.

Verona, the home and tomb of the Scaligers, a city of noble architecture and antiquities, including one of the finest of extant Roman amphitheatres, is also one of the strongest and most important fortresses of northern Italy. Together with Mantua, Peschiera, at the foot of the Lago di Garda, and Legnago, lower down the Adige, on which Verona itself stands, it constitutes the famous quadrilateral of fortresses constructed by Austria for the defense of Lombardy and Venetia. Through Verona passes the trunk rail connecting the valley of the Po with Tyrol, entering the Alpine region through the upper valley of the Adige, and traversing the Brenner pass. From its position Verona is certain to play a very important part in the coming campaign.

Trent, the capital of the Trentino district, now held by Austria, but claimed by Italy as part of her natural heritage, is a heavily fortified town in the valley of the Adige, some thirty odd miles north of Verona. An Italian army advancing into Tyrol, along the Adige, must make itself master of Trent and its outlying zone of fortifications. Trent was the seat of the famous Council of Trent, which sat from 1545 to 1563.

Venice needs no description either as to its position, its history, its untold artistic wealth, or its unique character as the one incomparable City of the Sea. But its military importance is great. Its arsenal, which has already been assailed, without effect, by the air, no longer constructs capital ships, nor large warships of any kind, but it is an important station for torpedo and other light craft, and a base from which the enemy's coasts across the Adriatic may, under a vigorous initiative, be very readily assailed. As a possible base for military operations on a large scale its importance has already been expounded by our military correspondent.

Trieste, the great Austrian commercial port and naval station at the head of the Adriatic, is likely to prove one of the chief bones of contention between Italy and the Dual Monarchy during the coming struggle. Its population is largely Italian and its political sympathies are rather with Italy than with its present rulers. But it can now only become Italian by force of arms, and its strategic position is such that it is a most important point. Pola, the great Austrian arsenal and naval station at the southwestern extremity of the Istrian Peninsula, the western portion of which at least is claimed by Italy as its own, is heavily fortified, and possesses a spacious and well-sheltered harbor, which is the headquarters of the Austrian fleet. Here, as well as at Trieste, capital ships are built and the dockyard is well equipped with resources for the construction, repair, and maintenance of warships of all kinds. The city possesses many Roman remains, of which the great amphitheatre is hardly, if at all, inferior to that of Verona. Fiume, at the head of the Gulf of Quarnero, which washes the western side of the Istrian Peninsula, is the chief seaport of Hungary and is now an important naval station. It possesses several harbors, and near it are the famous works of the Whitehead company, the largest private constructors of automobile torpedoes in the world. If Trieste and Pola were acquired by Italy, Fiume would no doubt become the headquarters of the Austrian navy, though in Dalmatia there are splendid harbors and sheltered anchorages at Sebenico, at Gravosa near Ragusa, and above all at Cattaro. It may be, however, that none of these will remain in Austrian hands at the end of the war.

Ravenna is no longer a seaport, although in Roman times it was an important naval station. It is a city of great antiquity, varied history, replete with many famous architectural monuments, including the Mausoleum of Theodoric and the tomb of Dante. Near it, on the coast, is the little roadstead of Port Corsini, an Italian torpedo station, which has already been attacked by Austrian aircraft, but with no effect.

Ancona is, after Venice, the principal Italian port on the Adriatic, but, although it is a famous naval station, which was Persano's base for his ill-starred attack on Lissa in 1866, its harbor is not spacious enough nor sufficiently sheltered for the accommodation and protection of a modern fleet of any considerable size. It has already received attention from hostile aircraft, with especial view to the destruction of the railway line which carries the international mails to Brindisi, but the attack was unsuccessful, as was also a similar attack on Jesi, a town in the interior some fifteen miles southwest of Ancona.

Barletta, which has been attacked with little success by an Austrian scouting cruiser and torpedo craft, is a large seaport town, built on a rocky island off the Adriatic coast of Italy some thirty-three miles north of Bari. The island on which the town is built is connected with the mainland by a bridge. It is an ancient walled town and contains some 50,000 inhabitants.

Taranto—At the southeastern extremity of Italy the chief naval port and arsenal has been made at Taranto in the Gulf of that name. It has been called the Portsmouth of Italy. A fleet acting from here guards the entrance to the Adriatic. The harbor is one of the finest in Italy, well sheltered and heavily fortified. It is also equipped with spacious docks and all the institutions and appliances of a naval arsenal.

Possessed of very fine instincts, Mr. Right was much offended by an experience in a restaurant the other day. Sitting opposite him was a man who ate his food in a vulgar way that offended the higher sensibilities of Right. "Pray, pardon me," he interposed. "May I be so bold as to offer a suggestion?" "If you like," rudely answered the other, as he continued to maul a chicken bone. "I should imagine," was the caustic rejoinder of Right, "that you would have considerable less trouble with that bone if you took it out on the mat!"

To you who pare corns—
You who use liquids—
Or other old-time ways.
You've amply proved that using such things is merely dallying with a corn.

For your own sake, prove the right way. Millions of people have found it. Half the corns that grow are ended by this wondrous Blue-jay plaster.

The corn pain ceases the moment you apply it. Then the B & B wax—a famous chemist's invention—gently undermines the corn. In 48 hours the whole corn comes out, without any pain or soreness.

JAPAN IS SEIZING TRADE OPPORTUNITY

Passengers on Steamer Express Opinion; Japanese Studying Municipal Life

Passengers arriving on the Shidzuka Maru this morning state that public attention in the Far East is devoted to the situation between China and Japan, the newspapers in their issues prior to the departure of the steamer being full of the text of the treaty between the two countries. Opinion crystallizes in the view that Japan has gained every important point which was in dispute, and that her position in Manchuria is as definite, although not explicitly acknowledged, as in Korea.

Among the passengers were J. E. Moses, of Seattle, and W. Eddowes, of Auckland, New Zealand. Mr. Moses has spent the last 14 months roaming about the Orient, and of that time a considerable portion has been engaged in gathering Japanese impressions. Mr. Eddowes is making a tour, and has been engaged commercially in the Far Eastern ports.

The secretary of the mayor of Osaka, I. Hirayama, was among the passengers, on his way back to study the United States system of municipal government, during which he will make an extensive tour.

The impression, passengers say, that foreigners get in Japan to-day is that the psychological moment has arrived for Japan to take over the trade formerly held by European nations. Owing to the shortage of tonnage from abroad it is difficult to move articles from one part of the Orient to another. Mr. Eddowes mentioned that on the wharves at Kobe are tons of produce for Australian ports waiting to be moved to the importing firms, but for which ships cannot be secured.

This effort has met with opposition in portions of the Chinese republic, and anti-Japanese boycotts are reported from the interior. These boycotts are apparently, discounted in high circles, but nevertheless are quite as effective in displacing Japanese firms. In Japan itself every effort is being made to stimulate exports, and the business in war munitions which has grown up with Russia is the means of considerable activity. The difficulties of exchange between the two countries, and the high railway rates are proving some impediment. The goods have to be unloaded at Harbin for connection between the South Manchuria and Russian railways for reloading. It is reported that the Bank of Taiwan is arranging with the Foreign Trade Bank in Petrograd for the opening of the exchange accounts between Japan and Russia. Similar ar-

ARE HERE AS MISSION OF INQUIRY

The above picture shows, on the left, G. N. Barnes, M. P., and on the right, W. Windham, the British commissioners to inquire into the supply of labor to work on armaments in the old country. Mr. Barnes, with Mr. Windham, met a number of the applicants for registration this morning at the city hall. Last evening they addressed a crowded meeting, over which Mayor Stewart presided, to explain exactly what is proposed, and the class of men required.

Arrangements are being made between the bank and some of the Indian banks in Singapore and other cities. There has been a decline, however, in some of the textile industries, while the production of raw silk for the American market, a phase of trade in which boats visiting this port share largely and profitably, has undoubtedly suffered by the war.

ASKS SAME TERMS AS SAANICH RECEIVES

Oak Bay's Proposal is Favorably Viewed; Other Committee Meetings

The conference between the representatives of the city and Oak Bay municipality with regard to an adjustment of the water rates now that Sooke waterworks is completed, was held this morning, and the Oak Bay delegates asked for the same terms as are assured to Saanich under the agreement confirmed by a vote of the ratepayers last September.

That arrangement provides that when the consumption falls below 1,000,000 gallons a day the municipality shall pay the city water commissioner six cents per thousand gallons; when it is between one and two million gallons a day the payment shall be five cents per thousand, and four cents per thousand when the total exceeds two million gallons. At present Oak Bay is paying ten cents a thousand gallons.

The suggestion was favorably received by the city representatives, and will be reported to the council on Monday.

There was also a meeting with regard to manufacturers' rates, upon which a report will be forwarded to council, and of another committee to wind up the accounts of the civic entertainment of H. M. S. Kent.

The electric light committee approved of the purchase of 2,500 Tungsten lamps. These are of 40 candle power, nitrogen filled, for use on the cluster lighting system. The electrician, since the beginning of the year, has been making experiments with the new lamp. An extended test has demonstrated that the lamp will give very satisfactory service at a saving in cost of current consumption of from 25 to 40 per cent, compared with the type now in operation. The outlay for the lamps will also be about 20 per cent less. Bids for cable will also be invited.

Several civic committees also met this afternoon; and a deputation from the Victoria Medical society was also received by the aldermen.

Call of Fire.—The fire department was called early this morning to 1359 Finlayson street, where $200 damage was done to an unoccupied house belonging to Noah Masachi. The fire was of incendiary origin. A brush fire occurred late yesterday afternoon on the Indian reserve.

OUTFALL PIPE WAS LAID THIS MORNING

Successful Operation Completed in Connection With the Northwest Sewer

The steel outfall pipe was successfully laid at Macaulay point this morning for the northwest sewer. The work was superintended by Assistant Engineer Foreman, and the undertaking had been advanced through all the preliminaries while waiting for a calm day. The sea was smooth, and as a consequence the work progressed without a hitch. The object was to float the 122 feet of steel pipe, already bolted together, into position on the top of a platform of material which had been previously laid.

From the end of the concrete pipe laid last year, a sloping platform of sacks led into deep water, and the pipe had to be rolled upon this ledge, which was not an easy matter considering the great bulk of the gigantic cylinder. The object of the work is to carry the sewerage out below sea level, and thus prevent any pollution of the bays around Victoria. The actual point was determined after elaborate tests to determine the movement of currents, the scheme being modified from the original proposal at McLoughlin point in order to assure that this would be done. It is an undoubted improvement on the northeast outfall at Bold point, built in 1912, which, however, was taken a considerable way into the water.

The experience with steel pipe in salt water had been investigated before this material was settled upon, the pipe being rolled at Thetis cove before the dismantling of the plant there last Christmas. It is of similar dimensions to part of that used in the pressure pipe line from Humpback reservoir to the city.

Friends to the Wounded.—There is no necessity for Victorians wounded at the front to go unfriended while recuperating in the British Isles. If H. V. Ellis, of 19 St. Andrew's Mansions, Dorset street, London, W., in which the writer states that on June 2 he got into touch with Mrs. Goodland, who is one of a committee of British Columbians who are making it their business to get into communication with any British Columbia wounded who have come over from France and Flanders. Any parents or friends of local boys who are wounded in England should communicate with Mr. Ellis at the address mentioned above, and he will insure their getting into touch with Mrs. Goodland.

RETAIL MERCHANTS ARRANGE EXCURSION

Will Go to Seattle on Dominion Day; Should Be a Large Attendance

A trip to the Sound and return, and all the restfulness of such a day upon the water, is offered to the members of the Victoria Retail Merchants' association and the general public on Dominion Day and the attractiveness of the plans made by the officials of the association should invite many to embark upon the excursion.

The day will be a quiet one, and the object of the association is to secure as long a time on the water as possible. There will be nearly five hours in Seattle, long enough for anyone, the journey each way being made at a moderate rate of speed. The hours fixed for departure from each end have been chosen with a view to the enhancement of the pleasure of those who may go on the trip.

The steamer Princess Adelaide, of the B. C. coast service, has been chartered for the day, and will leave the wharf here at nine o'clock. This hour has been fixed with the remembrance that many of the members of the association will have been at business late the night before, and will not feel like rising to catch a boat at any earlier time. From Seattle the steamer will leave at six o'clock in the evening, thus reaching the city again at an hour while the street cars are still running, and everyone will be able to get home at a reasonable hour. Arrangements have been made with the C. P. R. for the serving of light refreshments on board both going and returning. In the evening there will be given on board a select programme of songs and music. As this is the only chance of the day to get to Seattle and back in the limits of the one day, it is certain to be well patronized.

PROTEST AGAINST AN ORDER ON INSURANCE

Centralization of Accounts in East Objected to by Western Offices Vigorous opposition by the representatives of English and American fire insurance companies in the west to a recent order of the superintendent of insurance at Ottawa is being organized, and in all probability will be made the ground for united protest by the western provinces against what is regarded as an unwarranted attempt to place an important branch of western business under the control of the east.

TIMES CALLS FOR MORE INFORMATION

London, June 25.—A demand that the nation be told "the truth about the war" is voiced by the Times in an editorial. The paper declares that there is no immediate prospect of the allies being able to compel the Germans to withdraw within their own frontiers, and that it will take months to provide the British forces with the big guns, high explosives and machine guns which are necessary.

POLAND WILL HAVE AUTONOMY SHORTLY

Petrograd, June 25.—The Russian council of ministers to-day decided to appoint a commission composed of six Russians and six Poles, under the presidency of Prime Minister Goremeykin, to deal with the preliminaries necessary to the carrying into effect of autonomy for Poland, which was proclaimed by Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian army, on August 14 of last year.

News of the arrival of Jason at Kingston shows that the ship ran the blockade without mishap. This was the first word received from her since she cleared from Liverpool early in the month.

A letter was received this morning by the father of Mrs. Wong Kar Sing and to-day it is being translated into English. It is expected that the letter will contain some interesting information.

Passengers Taken Off. New York, June 25.—Officers and passengers of the Scandinavian-American liner Frederick VIII from Scandinavian ports, said on arrival yesterday that four passengers, two cabin and two steerage were taken off by British authorities at Stornoway, where the steamship was met by the British patrol, because they were apparently of German birth.

General Ignacio Pesquera, assistant secretary of war for Carranza, said that he had bought the steamer Atlanta from the Cresapeake Steamship company, and the smaller steamer Alameda. The Atlanta, which flies the American flag is now in drydock at Baltimore, while the Alameda, flying the Cuban flag, is in Cuban waters.

Word is expected to-night or tomorrow morning from the inbound Blue Funnel liner Titan, which is nearing this coast from Hongkong and Yokohama. She is steaming 15 days behind her schedule and is looked for at the outer docks on Sunday.

For ten days after leaving Yokohama the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Shidzuoka Maru, in port to-day, was almost continually enveloped in dense fogs. The weather was so thick that only on three out of the ten days was Capt. Tozawa, master of the vessel, able to take observations.

Seattle, Wash., June 25.—Completing a voyage of twenty-four days from Calao, Peru, the Peruvian barque Algoa Bay, Capt. A. Bassante, reached Seattle yesterday afternoon. The long voyage of the big windjammer was explained as a result of the foul condition of her hull and calms, some of which lasted for a week at a time.

Officers of the Shidzuoka say that they had the company of the Storm King right from Cape Flattery to Yokohama on the last outward voyage. Terrific gales of wind and heavy rain buffeted the ship. She did not sustain any material damage, but was one day late reaching her first port of call in the Orient.

The big liner was filled to her capacity with cargo when she berthed here this morning. She is discharging 1,044 tons at the outer docks, including 171 packages of rattan furniture, 3,021 chests of tea, 5,750 sacks of rice, 1,055 sacks of beans, 1,067 cases of soy-milk and sake; 449 cases of Chinese provisions, and 966 packages of merchandise. For Seattle the steamship has approximately 6,000 tons, which includes a shipment of silk worth half a million dollars.

Vancouver, June 25.—The halibut steamer New England arrived at Ketchikan on Wednesday afternoon and sent a wire to A. L. Hager, manager here for the New England Fishery Co., that she has lost all her skates of gear in heavy weather and that the England is due here on Saturday with only 35,000 lbs. of fish.

This morning at 8 o'clock the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's steamer Umatilla, Capt. Hannah, cleared from the outer wharf for San Francisco with a fair passenger list, twenty passengers embarking here for the south. This is the Umatilla's initial voyage on the new schedule. Along with the City of Puebla she has replaced the Governor and President on the run for the summer months.

"The Comrade in White."—The subject of Dr. Maclean's Sunday evening address at 7 o'clock at St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Victoria West, will be "The Comrade in White," a theme suggested by reports from the battle front.

Farewell Service.—The Rev. H. P. Thorpe, who for more than four years has been pastor of the Douglas Street Baptist church, will terminate his ministry on Sunday next, having been accepted for overseas service in connection with hospital work. The evening service will commence at 7 o'clock.

South African War.—Wiper's Gold Medal Mint Cake was looked upon as a luxury by the troops during the war. Perhaps your friends, now at the front, would appreciate a packet. Obtainable at our store at 10 cents per packet, or two packets wrapped and labelled ready for posting at 25c. Wiper's Gold Medal, the only medal awarded for Mint Cake, will be on display, also Diploma, Wiper & Co., 1210 Douglas St.

Lady Douglas Chapter.—At the regular monthly meeting of the Lady Douglas Chapter, I. O. E., held on Wednesday afternoon, the regent, Mrs. McChickling, in the chair, an interesting report of the provincial chapter meeting recently held was given. Other reports showed that during the month members had contributed as follows to the Red Cross fund: 41 pairs of socks; 1 1/2 dozen arm slings; and to the Blue Cross a quantity of linen. Three new members were added to the chapter's membership during the month.

Prospect Lake School Closing.—The closing exercises of Prospect Lake school took place this morning at ten o'clock. Trustees Mrs. Hutchinson addressing the school, congratulating Miss Anderson and the pupils on the general excellence of the work done during the past year. The following were on the roll of honor: Madge Reid, Violet Barker, Clifford Barker, Mollie Reid, Irene Barker, Nancy Reid. A picnic at Prospect lake followed the exercise at the school.

Regarded as Lease.—Mr. Justice Morrison has decided in the case of Forsyth and Fitzpatrick and O'Connell that the school board is not liable regarding the agreement for rental of a Yates street store as a lease. The matter came before the court on an application for direction in the estate of Fitzpatrick & O'Connell (in liquidation). The firm took over the lease of Cunningham & McLean, and agreed to pay the former tenants a monthly sum in addition to the amount of the rent. The liquidator treated the arrangement as a lease, while the other side contended there was a claim against the estate for the monthly sums.

MILITARY HOSPITAL NOW FORMED HERE

Unit Authorized Three Weeks Ago Now Practically Ready for Orders

What is officially known as No. 6 General Hospital, Canadian (popularly called the B. C. Military Hospital) is at last mobilized and under canvas at Macaulay Point, with the exception, at least, of a portion of the officers and nursing sisters.

The unit, which is a purely military hospital, and mobilized to go into the field whenever required, has been raised entirely in British Columbia. Authority for its organization was given by Ottawa on June 2, and the fact that the unit has been mobilized in the intervening three weeks speaks well for the number of men with medical and business training who have been willing to offer their services in surgical or clerical capacity, while practically the entire personnel of the hospital calls for particularly efficient material. The following is the personnel:

Thirty-two surgeons (including the commanding officer, Major E. C. Hart), 1 dental surgeon, 2 quarter-masters, 2 warrant officers, 22 sergeants and staff-sergeants, 2 buglers, 17 rank and file, and 73 nursing sisters.

The rank and file will be made up of various capacities. The regulation equipment of such a hospital calls for 80 cooking ranges and twenty-one wagons, while a tremendous amount of clerical work always constitutes part of the business of such an organization. It is interesting in this connection to know that cooks have been recruited from men who have worked in the logging camps, in dining cars on railways, and from other sources where the demands made for good experience. Drivers have been required for the wagons, and men with good business training and experience for the clerical work. Each senior officer and each group of three junior officers is entitled to an attendant, this necessitating a number of batmen. A large number will also be required for ward orderlies, etc.

The hospital, equipment for which is now being assembled, partly in Montreal, partly in England, will be in a position when complete to take 1,040 patients. The official name, "No. 6 General Hospital, Canadian," signifies that already five other general hospitals of the kind had been recruited in Canada. Since the authority of Ottawa was given for the mobilization of the British Columbia hospital, two more have been authorized, and are now mobilizing in Ontario and Quebec respectively, so that when the entire number are in the field they should be in a position to deal with something over eight thousand wounded soldiers.

The equipment of such a hospital heretofore has made provision for 520 beds, but owing to the heavy casualties in this war, and the congested nature of the work the general hospital has been increased to just double the size, giving accommodation for 1,040 patients. Exactly the character of the work to be done in army hospitals is determined by their position on the field, those nearest the field of action being known as "Clearing" hospitals; those further back, usually equipped with two hundred beds, known as "Stationary" hospitals; and others again behind these. Finally come the General Hospitals.

Of the unit now mobilized at Macaulay Point, half, a general company, enlisted in Vancouver and half here. Of the thirty-two surgeons about half are Vancouver practitioners, six or seven Victoria, and the remainder from other points in the province. The hospital is a unit of the army—just the same as any of the infantry, cavalry or artillery units.

British Columbia has already provided either in the Canadian service or loaned to the imperial service (with the few who have gone independently), a total of eighty-five medical officers from the province. There are now under orders for more, and it is expected that the British Columbia hospital has a waiting list of about sixty who are looking for appointments. This means that out of a total of about five hundred medical men in the province nearly 200 have either gone or are going to give their services for the present emergency which has arisen in the empire. If the rest of the community went in the same proportion there would be no need for recruiting further.

TORPEDOED A WARSHIP.

Petrograd, June 25.—Thrilling details of a fight between a Russian submarine and a squadron of German warships were given in an official statement issued here to-night. The submarine torpedoed one of the warships and immediately collided with its victim, sustaining heavy damage. Despite its damages, however, the diver escaped.

The location of the engagement was not given.

THE COLLEGE ALSO.

Winnipeg, June 25.—It was learned to-day on good authority that when the royal commission has completed its investigation of parliament buildings matters it will be given new powers by the provincial government.

PREPARING NOTE.

Washington, June 25.—United States government officials to-day had under consideration in connection with the new note to Great Britain concerning delays in payment of interest on the latest British memorandum on the subject. The note will insist that a non-contraband cargo, consigned to a neutral port, regardless of its eventual destination shall not be molested.

DRIVERS FINED.

Vancouver, June 25.—Twenty drivers of jitneys were before the magistrate in the police court, charged with breaches of the by-law governing motor vehicles for hire, and the majority of them were fined $5 and costs.

Walter S. MacRae, accompanied by his son Wallace, of Seattle, is visiting his uncle, W. J. MacRae, Okla Bay avenue.

SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR SUMMER VACATION

Promotion Lists at King's Road School Are Issued

The public schools closed for the summer vacation to-day. In some of them there were closing exercises, in others the formalities had occurred yesterday. The summer course for teachers will commence in Victoria on Tuesday next.

At King's road school there was a programme of songs, dances, etc., which was heartily applauded. Ten girls from divisions one and two, B. Phillips, N. Tarney, N. Thomas, G. Dallas, G. Gossie, B. Morris, D. Caldwell, S. Gibson, P. Philip, and M. Dixon danced an English hornpipe. The Irish jig was given by M. Rinslaw, J. Porter, J. Bradley, I. Winkler, G. Slater, and E. Russell. A Welsh dance was presented by Kate Renwick and Kathleen Woolam, and Marjorie Renwick gave a Highland fling. The flag song was rendered by the school, and there were several patriotic selections before the proceedings, which included the presentation of the rolls of honor and promotion list, came to a close.

The list at King's road is as follows:

POPONAVITCH MUST SERVE LIFE TERM

The court of appeal this morning dismissed the motion of Mr. Macintyre, begun yesterday morning, for an order directing the trial judge in Rex against Poponavitch to state a case for the opinion of the appeal court. R. R. Maitland, who appeared for the crown, was not called on to refute the contentions of the appellant.

Poponavitch was convicted of murder, and the sentence was afterwards altered by the minister of justice to life imprisonment. The court considered that it was not within their scope to deal with the matter since the prisoner had accepted the clemency. Before the decision was announced, however, the full facts of the case were put before the court, and Mr. Macintyre asserted there was nothing in the evidence but suspicious circumstance against the accused.

The court suggested that it might be that if the contention of Mr. Macintyre was accepted, there would have to be a new trial, but this Mr. Macintyre did not want. The court remarked that it being a capital charge he might, if it went to a new trial, be a similar finding to that which the jury delivered. The prisoner might not be benefited.

The evidence against the accused as recited by counsel this morning, was that Mike Poponavitch was seen in company with a man who was afterwards found murdered. Poponavitch had no money and the other had a large sum. They were at Ondaigo on the G. T. P. and said they were going to leave Canada. The other man left the place alone and was followed by Poponavitch as far as Priestly. Two days later he was returning to Ondaigo, and three weeks later the body was discovered fifteen miles from the other side of Priestly. There was, Mr. Macintyre contended, nothing to show accused had gone beyond Priestly.

The evidence for the crown, however, showed that prisoner had a large sum of money on returning from Priestly, and he told one man he grabbed it from someone. At the trial he contended he won it in a poker game, and it was shown he had played in a poker game about the time he returned from Priestly. When arrested in Edmonton he denied all knowledge of British Columbia. There was the evidence of a man named Carow, who being consumptive was allowed to leave the country for California and his evidence given at the preliminary hearing was put in at the trial. Mr. Macintyre held the man should not have been allowed to go three weeks before the trial, and that the police knew he was going. He also held that accused, unrepresented at the preliminary hearing, could not be examined, examining this witness.

The court is hearing the appeal against Page, an appeal by Mr. Page against a decision of Mr. Justice George in favor of Mrs. Page. The parties are under a judicial separation, which Mr. Page contends was obtained by fraud. It was obtained in New York, and the question before the court is whether the judgment of a foreign court can be enforced here. Mr. Justice George held it can, and gave judgment for about $1,300 alimony unpaid. He sent the question of fraud, evidence being admitted, to the court of appeal, which has decided not to admit it. The appellant also claims protection under the statute of limitations. The alimony given Mrs. Page by the New York court is $4,000 per annum.

FAIRFIELD PASTOR COMES FROM MANITOBA

Rev. A. B. Osterhout, Recently of Oak Lake, Man., Here

Rev. A. B. Osterhout, Ph.B., has arrived from Oak Lake, Manitoba, to take charge of Fairfield Methodist church, where he succeeded Rev. D. W. Ganton, who has gone to Winnipeg.

The new pastor, who with his family went direct to the Fairfield parsonage, 229 Moss street, on his arrival here this afternoon, has had quite a long career as a minister, being ordained more than twenty years ago. His energy and enthusiasm was early recognized in the Manitoba conference, in which he held the office of president several years ago. For the past fifteen years he has been chairman of the district conference.

Despite the fact that a brother, Rev. Dr. Osterhout, has a charge in Vancouver, this is the first time that Rev. A. B. Osterhout has visited the coast, and his impressions of his trip through the Rockies are interesting.

AN AUSTRIAN CLAIM.

Washington, June 25.—Dispatches to the Austro-Hungarian embassy here to-day from the official press bureau at Vienna, said that Plava still was held by the Austrians and denied the claim that Italian troops had broken through.

IS CAPTAIN NOW.

London, June 24.—The Prince of Wales has been promoted to a captaincy in the Grenadier Guards in honor of his twenty-first birthday.

BORN.

Aldavore, Oregon, U. S. A., the wife of Norman Gundry Alexander (nee Hilda Case) of a son.

DIED.

HEWLINGS.—On the 24th inst., at his home, 2501 Work street, John Quastock Hewlings, aged 82 years, born in England, a resident of this city for the past fifty years. The deceased leaves to mourn his loss besides his wife, two sons, Frederick H. Superintendent of Victoria Gas Works, and Elliott John Hewlings.

The remains will be removed from the chapel of the Sands Funeral Furnishing Co., Quadra street, on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, to St. John's church, corner of Mason street and Quadra, where the funeral service will be read by Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick. Interment, Ross Bay Cemetery. No flowers, by request.

ONLY FIVE LEFT.

London, June 25.—Capt. O'Flynn, of the 2nd battalion, in a letter dated June 18 says: "We have been relieved after seven days in the trenches. There are only five left of the old company officers out of twenty-two who landed in France. We have the satisfaction, however, of knowing that we have accounted for more Germans than they did of us."

HOSPITAL DIRECTORS REPORT YEAR'S WORK

Jubilee Hospital Has Made Considerable Advance; Official's Reports

In contrast with the last annual meeting of the donors and subscribers to the Provincial Royal Jubilee hospital, the meeting yesterday was a quiet affair. Changes which have been effected since the directors last met the public, as represented in the donors and subscribers, probably accounted for the smaller attendance yesterday afternoon, when the 1915 meeting was held, none of the criticism voiced at the earlier gathering finding an echo yesterday. In place of this factor there was a general expression of confidence that the institution is in good hands.

In the absence of President R. S. Day, Simon Leiser acted as chairman, being vice-president of the institution. In the course of the twenty-fifth annual report the directors stated: The general outline of work given in the last annual report regarding the building of the new hospital has been suspended, but the directors are pleased to report, however, that the work in hand, including the powerhouse, laundry, and chimney, are completed, and are a credit to the design of the architect.

Tenders had been received for the installation of equipment and machinery, but owing to the circumstances already stated, nothing further could be done. Plans for the remodelling of the children's ward, converting it into staff dining rooms and kitchen had also been prepared and accepted. The provincial government had promised $40,000 for the above purpose, but owing to adverse conditions this was not available. To enable the board to finish the work in hand, the government advanced the sum of $6,000, which covered the liabilities incurred.

The board regards the matter of any further progress with the new works, as out of the question either until the end of the war, or in any event until financial conditions undergo a radical change.

The report referred to the improvements effected under the new matron Miss Mackenzie, and of internal alterations. Reference was also made to the desirability of renovating the nurses home, and to other painting work, which was absolutely necessary. Allusion was made to the purchase of a new sterilizer for the operating theatre, and to the necessity of extending the tuberculosis ward and the building of two cottages for this purpose.

"The number of patients admitted this year," it goes on, "to all departments is 1,553, showing an increase of 18 per cent over the previous year. From the city admitted show a considerable increase, the figures being 276, and 164 respectively, and may be taken as fairly representing the condition of the city at the present time.

The daily average of patients was 94.5, against 88.3, and the number of days made by them was 33,424. The average number of days made by patients is 24." The cost per capita per diem had fallen from $2.11 to $1.57, which was regarded as gratifying with the increase in cost of many of the more important commodities.

The arrangement of $150 per day for indigent cases with the municipalities was reported, an advance of 50 per cent on the previous rate. Acknowledgment was made of the splendid work of the Womens auxiliary. They had provided crockery, ware, linen, linoleum, etc., to the amount of over $1,000, and had altogether rendered invaluable aid to the institution. Recognition was also made of the services of the Daughters of Piety, the Anti-Tuberculosis society and kindred bodies.

Acknowledgment was also made of the services of the hospital staff, and to those who have donated various gifts, particularly at Christmas time. Drugs, the report stated, were charged to the patients, at cost price, it being necessary to inaugurate the change on account of the heavy increase in cost since the commencement of the war, amounting to about 50 per cent.

Allusion was made to the fire in the female ward on June 11, which did damage to the extent of $3,000. The work of repairs is in hand, through Thomas Catterall & Sons. An arrangement had been made with the underwriters of a satisfactory nature, practically covering the damage.

William Blakemore moved the adoption of the report. He emphasized the satisfaction of the directors in having a hospital in better condition than in the past, saying commendation was the rule on the outside now. For that fact they owed much to the new matron. It was a matter of regret that the suspension of building operations on the new hospital had been necessary, but at the earliest moment he believed the directors would proceed. As chairman of the house committee it was a matter of satisfaction that the cost per day per patient had fallen, with commodities rising. He acknowledged the assistance of the city council, and of the support now given by the outside municipalities, which was bearing heavily on the shoulders of the province. He forecasted in the future the appeal for further aid, as all hospitals in the province had been forced to make an appeal to the government. At present it was not necessary to indicate how that appeal would be made.

Andrew Wright seconded, and the report was adopted.

The treasurer's statement, presented by J. A. Mara, showed receipts amounting to $67,766, and expenditure of $70,263, a deficit of $2,576.26, at the time of closing the books. Commencing the year with an overdraft of $4,316.45, it closed with one of $7,561.13, mainly due to alterations and improvements in patients' rooms, and the public wards, expenditure not contemplated at the beginning of the fiscal year.

On the motion of F. W. Vincent, seconded by Mrs. Weller, the report was adopted.

Dr. Hasell, medical superintendent, presented a report on the medical side of the institution. The in-patients in 1914 were 1,494 as against 1,553 in 1915, and 64 out patients last year, compared with 96 this year. The operations had been 966 this year as against 733 last year. He reported a decrease in the number of X ray radiographs taken, explaining it by a number of doctors who are now specializing in this branch themselves. The hope of a more modern apparatus had unfortunately still been deferred. Dr. Hasell alluded to the fact that 401 patients had been treated absolutely free of cost, and to the usefulness of the institution for an infirmary for the old people of the district, as well as making provision for advanced tubercular cases. The latter provision had gained the approbation of the provincial hospital inspector.

The doctor alluded to the number of internes, and visiting physicians who had left on military service, and to the re-organization and enlargement of the training school for nurses. Classes in first aid had been given by Dr. Hudson. The doctor emphasized the necessity for a maternity ward, and suggested that temporary accommodation might be provided. He concluded with acknowledgment of the services of various officials of the institutions, and of the directors.

The report was approved. Miss Mackenzie, the matron, presented the report of the training school, and Dr. W. E. Rome's report as pathologist, was also adopted. Dr. Rome referred to the course of instruction given to nurses in training.

When the election of directors came up, Mr. Mara announced that Reeve Oliver could not stand again, and nominated A. C. Flumerfelt.

Christian Sivertz, representing the Trades and Labor council, made an appeal for representation of the Trades and Labor council, and asked for a week's adjournment to arrange for nominations of a labor delegate.

Mr. Mara suggested a reference to the city council to have one of the representatives nominated by the council as a labor man.

The meeting then re-elected Mrs. Weller, Mrs. Rhodes, and Mr. Mara as directors, and elected Mr. Flumerfelt to the vacancy.

A. C. Fraser expressed the thanks of the directors to President Day, now in the old country.

A vote of thanks to Dr. Hasell was cordially carried. James Forman, an old director endorsing what Andrew Wright had said.

OVERLOADING SOLDIERS.

To the Editor.—I understand that the men of the 48th when walking from the Willows to the boat have to pack about 75 pounds in their trench overalls, a feat that requires some endurance. As an old prospector I know what it is to pack that weight. Many a 100 pounds have I packed in my wanderings, and I predict many a man will fall out on the way instead of getting to the boat fresh and dandy to wish their relatives good-bye.

SCHOOL PUNISHMENT CASE.

Your editorial on the above will no doubt cause endless surprise and comment. Undoubtedly the question uppermost in a reader's mind will be, "is it possible that he has a family of his own." To think that our brightest daily should uphold such a brutal teacher as this, is more than I can believe.

When we consider the dastardly expressions of this fierce monster of six years and the Germanic punishment dealt out to him it is earnestly hoped that the school board will do their duty and relieve this irresponsible person of such a position as that which calls for patience above all things.

LOYALTY.

To the Editor.—Will you kindly allow me space enough in your valuable paper to correct a statement that I had previously made, at a meeting held in St. Mark's hall on June 14th. In the report of that meeting it was said that I made a statement, which was a slur on the loyalty of the Saanich council. The statement I made was not made with any intention of being a slur upon the loyalty of the council, but in answer to inquiries as to what the Saanich council had done with reference to interned aliens. I made the following statement: "That since I had been a councillor for ward 2 of Saanich municipality the council had never made any effort to intern aliens." Had I been in possession of the information I received at the council meeting on Tuesday last, June 22, I should have answered the inquiries by stating that the Saanich council had no authority to intern aliens.

The meeting of June 14 was called for residents of Saanich and not for any political purpose.

Hoping this explanation will be satisfactory to all.

PROVINCIAL APPOINTMENTS.

Half a Dozen Are Gazetted This Week, Following Passage of Orders-in-Council.

The following appointments to the provincial service are gazetted this week:

Miss M. Alberta Mellon, Victoria, to be a junior clerk in the office of the water rights branch of the department of lands.

Vernon K. Wood, Victoria, to be a clerk in the forest branch of the department of lands.

Richard Pateman Wallis, J. P., Nanaimo Bay, to be a coroner in and for the province.

Robert S. Lewington, South Vancouver, to be a notary public.

T. J. Thorp, Telkwa, to be a deputy mining recorder for the Omineca mining division, with sub-recording office at Telkwa, in the place of R. L. Gale, resigned.

John Hope, Armstrong, to be an inspector under the Noxious Weeds act for the Okanagan district.

The resignation of Alexander Seibel, Mount Olie, as a justice of the peace, has been accepted.

When Ricardo Martin last sang in New York his tailor was so anxious to hear him that Martin sent him a ticket. A few days later, when he saw the tailor, he naturally asked him, "How did you like it?" To which the tailor replied, "It was simply awful! Your trousers didn't fit you at all!"

ONLY ONE SIDE TO THE BURNSIDE ROAD

Motor Car Driver Pleads That All Traffic Uses the Same Half

That there is one city street where there is no proper side of the roadway for traffic to follow in one direction was shown in police court this morning, when R. Moncreiff was charged with driving on the wrong side.

The case was a tangled one from the start, as the charge to which the defendant answered was that of failing to stop when passing a standing street-car going in the same direction, on Burnside road, at eight o'clock on Saturday evening last.

W. J. Scott, of Teunyson road, Saanich, was called as a witness for the prosecution, and testified that his father, himself and his daughter were getting off a Burnside car at the end of its run when the defendant came along on the same side of the road as that on which they were alighting, but towards the car and proceeding into town.

The charge was thereupon amended to one of driving on the wrong side of the street, which Moncreiff admitted, but he stated that at that point one-half of the road was in the city and the other half in Saanich, and that only the former side was used by traffic.

There was some discussion as to the possibility of driving round by the front of the car on the proper side of the roadway, as in any event the defendant should have stopped his car until passengers had got off the car and reached the sidewalk.

G. E. Greenshaw appeared on a charge of speeding on Quadra street at 9.05 p. m. on Saturday evening. He said he had no speedometer on his car, and was unable to deny the charge, but he had never been charged before with driving too fast. As the constable who reported the case is on night duty and was not present the case was adjourned until to-morrow morning.

GULF ISLANDS HOSPITAL

First Annual Meeting of Subscribers Shows Satisfactory Year; Directors Elected.

The first annual meeting of the subscribers of the Lady Minto Gulf Islands hospital, Ganges, B. C., was held in the Mahon hall. The report of the treasurer for the year from May 1, 1914, to May 1, 1915, totalled $1,716.05 from the following sources:
Monthly subscriptions $ 461.20
Received from patients 549.25
Government grants 535.00
Proceeds of play given by Sidney Dram. Society 55.50
Received from sundry sources 155.10
Total $1,716.05

Expenditures were:
For salaries $ 862.05
For store account for groceries, etc. 263.59
For sundries, including improvements 444.75
Total $1,570.39

During the year a total of thirty-nine patients were received in the hospital, the actual number of hospital days being 715. Several very serious cases were treated and one or two difficult operations successfully performed, showing the usefulness of this institution to the Gulf islands.

The board of directors acknowledged the assistance given to the hospital by the Sunshine guild. The guild very kindly furnished a ward in time for the opening of the hospital, and during the year have been untiring in their efforts to promote its welfare. Praise is also due Mr. and Mrs. Langley, who kindly furnished a ward, while Mrs. Langley undertook the raising of money and purchasing equipment for furnishing the third ward. The hospital has been very fortunate in having as its matron, Miss A. Calhoun, a graduate nurse from Dublin hospital, Ireland, who has shown herself thoroughly capable. During the year the superintendent of the Victorian Order of Nurses, Miss Ard McKenzie, paid a visit of inspection and commented favorably on the cleanliness and efficiency of the hospital. In this connection it is gratifying to state that a grant of $1,000 has been promised from the Lady Minto fund for the purpose of making an addition to the present accommodations for patients.

The directors elected for the ensuing year are as follows: Mrs. A. Walter, Rev. J. S. A. Bastin, A. A. Langley, E. S. Prentice, H. Price, W. M. Mount, Mrs. Palmer, Rev. C. H. Pelly for Mayne island, J. W. Bellhouse for Galliano island, and Spencer Percival for Pender island. E. Walter was appointed by the government as their representative on the board.

He was an ardent lover, an Irish lover, and a practically penniless lover. It was St. Patrick's Day; in his hand he bore a pot of real Irish sherry. "They were raised in the old sod," he said, as he presented the pot to Biddy—"raised in the old sod of Orland." "Sure now Murphy," cried the old man, "I'll be sure to have you of ye it is! How perfect and how fresh! Sure, I do believe that there's a little dew on them yet!" Murphy flushed slightly. "Egorra! I know there is," he reluctantly confessed, "but, praise the Lord, it'll be paid to-morrow."

"My boy Josh is goin' to be a heap o' help around the place this summer," remarked Farmer Cornstossel. "Why, he doesn't know a thing about farming." "Summer boarders don't care anything about farmin'." Josh knows all about the latest dances."

ARRESTED AT EARLY HOUR

Sequel to Midnight Drive of Two Girls is Conviction for Vagrancy.

A contrast in the demeanor of prisoners was afforded this morning in police court when two girls were arraigned on charges of vagrancy. They were arrested at a quarter after 4 o'clock this morning at the corner of Broad street and Pandora avenue as they got out of a motor car driven by a Chinese, by Detectives Siciliano and Turner.

The first one called was Lionel, alias Hester, Brenau. She pleaded guilty in an almost inaudible voice, and was set back until to-morrow for sentence.

Her companion, who gave the name of Hilda Brenan to the detectives but in the witness-box said she was not a sister of the other girl and that her name was Lavinia Evans, on the other hand, pleaded not guilty, and braved the matter out. She admitted an improper course of life, but refused to adopt the prosecution's characterization of it, and denied that she was a frequenter of Chinatown.

In her testimony she implicated a place on the Burnside road as supplying her, the other girl and two male white companions with liquor at an early hour this morning, but whether she is telling the truth in that regard or not remains to be seen. The court found her guilty and remanded her until to-morrow for sentence.
