GENERAL ELECTION DISCUSSION AT OTTAWA

Way Is Prepared For Big Conference In Capital of U.S.

Note From British Government Formally Accepting President Harding's Invitation Is Received By Washington Government.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Formal acceptance by the British Government of the invitation to participate in the Washington conference on limitation of armaments and Far Eastern questions was received to-day by Secretary Hughes.

Lord Curzon, the British Foreign Minister, said: "I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the invitation proffered to His Majesty's Government, of the United States, to participate in a conference at Washington beginning on the eleventh of November next for discussion of limitation of armaments, and in connection therewith of the international problems presented to the conference."

"It is with sincere gratification that I have the honor on behalf of His Majesty's Government to request Your Excellency to convey to the United States Government our ready acceptance of the invitation to take part in this auspicious meeting, with objects which His Majesty's Government and the British nation are in wholehearted sympathy. It is the earnest and confident hope of His Majesty's Government that this conference, approached as it will be by the United States in a spirit of courage, friendliness and mutual understanding, may achieve far-reaching results that will be conducive to the prosperity and peace of the world."

London, Aug. 22.—Discussing acceptance of the invitation to the Washington conference, The London Times suggests that public confidence would be increased if from time to time more definite reports could be made of the progress in preliminary discussions of the agenda of the conference. It declares it is an opportunity which should be made of the progress in preliminary discussions of the agenda of the conference.

Hughes' Attitude. London, Aug. 22.—Premier Hughes of Australia, interviewed by the London Times, expressed his view of the recent conference of Empire Prime Ministers, expressed profound regret that the United States Government had not seen its way clear to hold the suggested preliminary conference with regard to disarmament and Pacific questions, because "clearly it is useless to speak of limitation of naval armaments until we have removed the reasons for naval rivalry, and that means the reaching of a modus vivendi on the Pacific problem."

Frank Discussion. "Frank discussion of the fundamental points at issue between those nations," Mr. Hughes continued, "would have cleared the way for the main Washington conference. If a settlement of the Pacific question is humanly possible, it could have been achieved at such a preliminary conference, and I think it obvious that if no settlement was possible when the conference was composed wholly of the powers directly interested, it would be hopeless to expect a settlement by the much larger and more unwieldy body which will be assembled at Washington."

RESISTANCE OF TURKS GROWING

Greeks Said to Be Meeting Stronger Opposition

London, Aug. 21.—According to reports from the Greco-Turkish front, the resistance of the Turkish Nationalists to the Greek advance is becoming serious, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch.

Advances. Smyrna, Aug. 21.—After four days of fighting, the Greek troops have reached several points on the west bank of the Sakaria River, while the Turkish left wing, capturing 170 officers and 4,000 men. The Turkish cavalry there was annihilated.

In the centre, on the west bank of the Sakaria, strong fighting is continuing and a decisive battle is expected within a few days.

PASSENGER PLANES

New York, Aug. 22.—A weekly passenger aeroplane service will be started in September between Chicago and New York, while a similar service between Cincinnati and New York will be opened soon. It was announced to-day.

WOMAN RETURNS TO CALGARY FROM FORT NORMAN

Calgary, Aug. 22.—Returning from a trip to the Fort Norman oil field, Mrs. R. Lewis, of Great Falls, Montana, the first white woman to complete the round trip to Arctic oil fields, is in this city. She had a pleasant, though difficult trip, and is enthusiastic over the north country.

ALBERTA PREMIER CANDIDATE IN PONOKA RIDING

Calgary, Aug. 22.—Premier Greenfield will be offered a seat in the vacant riding of Ponoka, where Percival Baker, Farmer member, died the day after the election. This was the decision of the Farmers' meeting Saturday in that riding.

Canadian Labor Congress Meeting in Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Aug. 22.—(Canadian Press)—"We do not feel that we are unduly optimistic in expressing our utmost confidence in the ability of the Congress to successfully meet the present crucial condition and continue to function successfully in guarding the interests of its affiliated memberships."

In this way does the report of the executive committee of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada express its opinion of the situation confronting that body, which opened its thirty-seventh annual convention here to-day with delegates in attendance from all parts of Canada.

"In Canada, as in practically all other countries, the trades union movement has suffered from those who, boring from within, aim to bring about the disruption and destruction of the trades union movement, and throughout the Dominion these tactics are being carried on insidiously and persistently," read the executive report.

Legislation. After describing at considerable length the work of the Congress in connection with parliamentary legislation at Ottawa, the committee said: "The result of the session resulted in very little legislation designed to improve the social and industrial conditions of the workers. When the trade union movement was under attack the absence of men from the ranks of the workers who had knowledge of its principles and the platform was particularly noticeable, but so far efforts to have this information as they possessed of corporation lawyers, employers and representatives of financial institutions."

Immigration. Dealing with immigration, the report said: "The past policies of the Congress regarding Oriental immigration, according to to-day's regular central immigration board have been drawn to the attention of the Government and public authorities whenever opportunity presented itself. The number of Orientals at present in Canada and still coming to this country remains a serious menace, especially in British Columbia, but so far efforts to have this matter officially dealt with by the Government have been unsuccessful."

No Opportunities. "The question of immigration is of the utmost importance at this time because of the serious conditions existing in this country, and while the workers of Canada have no desire to delay any work from another country, and especially from the British Isles, from securing the opportunity to improve his position," (Concluded on page 4.)

ACCOUNTANTS TO BE HERE THURSDAY

Large Party to Proceed Here From Vancouver

The next large convention to visit Victoria will be the Dominion Chartered Accountants Association, which will convene in Vancouver to-morrow, hold a gathering there for two days, and arrive in the city on Thursday morning.

The arrangements for the visit here have been made by W. E. Hodges, of Vancouver, and the party during its stay in the city will make its headquarters at the Empress Hotel.

It is expected that a number of the delegates, most of whom are accompanied by lady friends, will remain over the week end. This is the nineteenth gathering with representatives from all over the country.

Vancouver—Mr. and Mrs. George E. Winter, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Giles, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Woodthorpe, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Carlschlag, A. P. Foster, R. W. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Chaplin, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Taylor, S. F. Hobbs, Mr. and Mrs. F. Richardson, and A. H. Rathie.

New Westminster—John Graham, Sid Malcolmson, Rossland—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Falding, Yorkton, Sask.—Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Pilkington, Medicine Hat—Mr. and Mrs. F. Martyn Oliver, Edmonton—E. D. C. Thomson, Calgary—Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Harvey and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Watson, and daughter, J. H. Williams, Moose Jaw—L. Giles, Regina—Mr. and Mrs. James A. Corbie, L. J. Adams, Saskatoon—R. R. Mascara, Winnipeg—Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Saul, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Paisley, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Griggs, W. J. Macdonald, H. Reade, S. G. Brown, F. C. Gilbert, Toronto—Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Neff, E. Bennett, George Edwards, S. A. Morrison, Brantford—A. K. Brunell, Peterborough—W. R. Morris, Quebec—J. A. LaRue.

Montreal—Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Brodie, Mr. and Mrs. James Hutchison, Mr. and Mrs. L. Channing, A. Simbert, Mr. and Mrs. R. Wilson, Halifax—H. I. Creighton. American visitors include Francis J. Clowes, New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grant, Seattle.

De Valera and his "Cabinet" held prolonged conferences during the day and it was assumed that arrangements for to-day's meeting were completed. There was no intimation, however, as to the probable time that would elapse before the Dail Eireann city and his arrival yesterday was looked upon as a significant event of the day, marked by activity among the "Republican" leaders.

$2,100 EACH FOR WOODEN SHIPS

Price Accepted by the U. S. Shipping Board

205 Vessels Sold; Forty-four at Seattle

Washington, Aug. 22.—The United States Shipping Board to-day was in a fair way to get rid of the major portion of its "white elephant"—the war-time constructed wooden ships. Official announcement by the Board confirms the information that bids submitted by the Ship Construction & Trading Corporation, of New York, of $2,100 each for 205 of the 235 wooden craft had been accepted.

Vice-Chairman O'Connor of the Board, commenting to-day on the sale, said the price was exceedingly low in view of the cost of the 235 vessels, recently estimated by Chairman Lasker at $29,000,000.

Seattle, Aug. 22.—Forty-four wooden ships, owned by the United States Shipping Board and which have been tied up in Lake Union here since the latter part of 1915, were sold here to-day to the Ship Construction & Trading Corporation, of New York. Only one of the ships, the Brookdale, is completed and ready for sea.

These ships, in the neighborhood of $390,000 each.

POSTAL WORKERS OPEN CONVENTION

Unification of All Postal Employees Urged at Session

Consolidation of the two large organizations of Canadian Post Office employees was urged by speakers who addressed the opening session of the annual convention of the Amalgamated Postal Workers of Canada at the Trades Hall here this morning.

Delegates to the convention from all parts of Western Canada, to the number of about twenty-five, were welcomed to the city by Mayor R. J. Porter, Postmaster H. E. Bishop, representing the Post Office Department, and Alderman E. S. Woodward, representing organized labor.

Christie Sivert, President of the Trades and Labor Council, who is presiding over the convention, in his speech in reply to the addresses of welcome, outlined the conditions which had caused the break of Canadian postal workers into two organizations.

He said that postal workers were gradually overcoming the serious conditions involved in this division and he was hopeful that all postal workers would soon join in one organization again. The fact that the eastern organization was represented at the convention by Alderman Webb, of Moose Jaw, he thought, was an indication that the two organizations were coming together again.

Reports drawn up by officers of the organization were considered by the convention this morning, and referred to committees. A fraternal delegate to the convention from the Dominion Postal Clerks' Association is expected to arrive here to-day or to-morrow morning.

26,445 EX-SOLDIERS WORK ON FARMS

Report Issued by Soldier Settlement Board

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—(Canadian Press)—Soldier Settlement Board figures to the end of June show that 26,445 returned soldiers had been settled on land. Of these 2,989 were on lands without loans, while 23,456 were settled on purchased and free lands with loans amounting to $23,884,210.

These loans were granted for the following purposes: To purchase land, $18,228,141.97; to remove encumbrances, $1,972,481.59; for permanent improvements, $9,538,937.59; for stock and equipment, $26,032,628.75; total, $39,768,191.61.

The total area occupied by soldier settlers is 4,524,792 acres, of which approximately half is free land. The area of new land broken is estimated at 606,000 acres.

So far 390 returned men have repaid their loans in full.

LEADING SOCIETY WOMAN PASSES; MRS. R. H. POOLEY

Popular Society Woman Dies From Cancer

A host of friends in Victoria and Vancouver will learn with the deepest regret of the death of Laura, wife of R. H. Pooley, M. P. P. for Esquimalt, who passed away at 5:40 last evening at Los Angeles, California, where she has been undergoing the radium treatment following an operation at St. Joseph's Hospital, and her residence.

MRS. R. H. POOLEY DIES IN SOUTH

Popular Society Woman Dies From Cancer

For the past two years Mrs. Pooley had been suffering from neuritis, which caused her considerable pain at times, and a few weeks ago her case was diagnosed as cancer. She immediately underwent an operation at St. Joseph's Hospital, and her recovery seemed so far assured that she was able to leave for Los Angeles three weeks ago, on the advice of her physicians, to undergo the radium treatment. Complications ensued, and Mr. Pooley received a hurried call to Los Angeles last week, the message hinting at gravity of her condition. The news of her death was received in a telegram from Los Angeles last night, but no particulars were given beyond the bare announcement of her passing.

The Family. Mrs. Pooley was born in Victoria, the youngest of the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Loewen, of Victoria. On January 27, 1864, she was married to Robert Henry Pooley, barrister, now member for Esquimalt in the Provincial Legislature. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband and two little daughters, also five sisters, Lady Barnard, at present in England, Mrs. Walter Rogers, of London, Mrs. A. W. Jones, Mrs. Hermann Robertson and Mrs. C. J. Prior, of Victoria, and two brothers, Charles Loewen, of Vancouver, and Hermann (Concluded on page 7.)

RETAIL MERCHANTS HOLD CONVENTION

Delegates From All Provinces in Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Aug. 22.—(Canadian Press)—Delegates to the annual convention of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada gathered here this morning for the first session, which was largely taken up with routine matters. It is expected the convention will get down to business this afternoon.

Provincial secretaries from the nine provinces are in attendance, and held an all-day conference discussing problems principally in connection with the question of organization of retail merchants into trade sections, or city branches of the association.

JAMAICANS WANT GREATER MEASURE OF AUTONOMY

Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 22.—Arrangements are being made to send a deputation to London to urge the granting of a wider measure of representative government in Jamaica. The colonists are not favorable to federation with Canada, but are clamoring for a Government of the people.

AMERICAN YOUTH WAS MURDERED BY MEXICANS

El Paso, Aug. 22.—Bennett Boyd, eighteen years old, of El Paso, was ambushed and murdered by bandits in Mexico on August 18, according to messages received in El Paso by his father to-day.

2,600 Enlisted Fail To Report For Harvest Work

There are still 1,000 men in Victoria and 1,600 in Vancouver who registered to go to the harvest fields, but who have so far failed to put in their appearance now that the time for work has arrived, it was announced by the Department of Labor to-day.

Up until Saturday night 2,800 men had been shipped from B. C. to the prairie wheatfields. Reports up until noon to-day indicate a speeding up of unemployed in reporting for their transportation to the prairies. This is attributed to the announcements made in Victoria and Vancouver at the end of the week that there would be no doles or other assistance forthcoming this winter to men who could but did not enlist for harvest service.

Decision Is To Be Made On Dominion Contest At Polls

Many of Meighen's Party Call on Him; Opinion Varied Between Election and No Election; Montreal Gazette Declares For Appeal.

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—(Canadian Press)—The political situation is still "up in the air." Premier Meighen's office, whence must come the official pronouncement as to what the Government proposes to do to meet the present situation, is the mecca of a host of callers, including members of Parliament from various sections of the country and others who have an interest in developments. Premier Meighen is hearing all the advice which is being offered and is reserving judgment until all the suggestions are in hand and have been considered.

That there will be a decision within the next few days is expected, but at the present time the tide continues to swing back and forth between an election and the difficulty of carrying out through another session.

HOTEL DESTROYED AND LIVES LOST

Twenty Persons Injured in Macon, Georgia

Macon, Ga., Aug. 22.—Three persons are known to have lost their lives in a fire which destroyed the Brown House, a frame hotel here early to-day and firemen expressed the belief that the death list would be materially increased when the ruins of the structure had been searched.

Approximately twenty of the 150 guests of the hotel were injured. Early Opinion. Macon, Ga., Aug. 22.—Eleven persons were believed early to-day to have lost their lives in the fire which last night destroyed the Brown House, one of the oldest hotels here. One man is known to have perished and firemen believed there were at least ten bodies in the ruins.

Hotel employees expressed fear that the death list might reach forty but this figure was discounted by the police. The loss of the hotel register made impossible a check of the missing.

Ten persons, suffering injuries from burns or sustained in jumping from the hotel are under treatment at the Macon hospital. Explosion. Starting with an explosion of chemicals in an adjacent drugstore which blew in the side of the structure, the fire quickly trapped many of the hotel guests. Finding the stairways blown away and the fire escapes almost instantly enveloped in flames, those in the front of the building were forced to leap from windows on the lower floors. Men on the sidewalks saved many women from injury by catching them in their arms.

Between 100 and 150 persons were registered at the hotel. Whisky; Then Bricks Found. San Francisco, Aug. 22.—W. W. Sloane reported to United States officials to-day that 249 cases containing whisky, seized and held by the Government, were filled with bricks when returned to him by court order. The whisky was valued at several thousand dollars. It had been stored at the same warehouse where recently fifty barrels which had contained whisky were found filled with water.

LONDON VIEWS OF IRISH SITUATION

Peace or War, Say Newspaper Writers

London, Aug. 22.—London newspapers, in summing up the Irish situation, devote themselves to peace or war editorially, and in the "Daily Express" used Lincoln's phrase: "We will not break up the union, and you shall not," as representing the position of the British Government.

"If the negotiations break down," declares The London Times, "the only practical alternatives are that we either impose upon Ireland a settlement which is a just settlement or let Southern Ireland go free as an independent republic. The first would be an inconvenience to us, but would be two years of agony to Ireland. The second would be treason, folly to England, and it is absolutely unthinkable as long as this nation remains a nation at all."

"A miracle of wisdom," said The Observer, "is needed to be in the situation, but at the worst Great Britain should not resort to mere military terrorism and should adopt a policy of evacuation rather than occupation. To attempt to force a settlement by putting in troops and tanks would be crude, blind and fatal. It would fail for the reason that the Irish extremists live on the coast and the British are in the interior. They perish in dullness. Our advice would be to leave the interior of Southern Ireland to stew in its own juice and let the coast and the river Shannon and then withdraw the rolling stock of the railways. Ulster would know how to hold its own frontier. We have heard that the British Government and Austen Chamberlain will stake their political futures absolutely on their insistence, and that the evacuation of the interior of Southern Ireland will be the bloodiest and more formidable policy for Great Britain to adopt in the case of necessity."

SAYS CONFERENCE WAS A SUCCESS

Massey Speaks of Prime Ministers' Gathering

London, Aug. 22.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Premier Massey, of New Zealand, in a speech on receiving the freedom of Darlington, said the recent conference of Prime Ministers of the Empire had done better work than any previous conference of representatives of the various Dominions with the Government of the mother country. He said the overseas Prime Ministers had been given the fullest confidence of the British Ministry in respect to the problems of Silesia, India, Persia and Egypt.

"We were not consulted about Ireland because that is a purely British question," said Mr. Massey. "Moreover, we were not hankering after a consultation of that question."

Mr. Massey reiterated his insistence for a strong naval policy for the British Empire, he also again advocated a policy of imperial preference in the matter of trade and tariff.

MILFORDHAVEN IS ADMIRAL OF FLEET

Though Retired He Is Promoted by King

London, Aug. 22.—King George has bestowed a unique honor on his uncle, the Marquis of Milfordhaven (formerly Prince Louis of Battenburg), by promoting him to be an Admiral of the Fleet on the retired list. There is no previous case of such an advancement of an officer to the highest rank in the navy after the officer's retirement.

The Marquis, who was First Sea Lord of the Admiralty in 1914, when the war began, resigned after the fleet had been mobilized and tributed for his war service under his direction.

The Marquis of Milfordhaven was born in Great Austria, in 1845, the son of Prince Alexander of Hesse and the late Princess Alice Maud Mary of Great Britain and Ireland, daughter of the late Queen Victoria. He was naturalized a British subject and entered the British navy as a cadet in 1863.

BY-ELECTIONS FOR BRITISH COMMONS

Five Contests at Polls; Anti-Waste Candidates

London, Aug. 22.—(Canadian Press)—Five by-elections to fill vacancies in the House of Commons are pending and arrangements for some of these are still incomplete.

In the Westminster Abbey constituency, left vacant by the death of W. L. Burdett-Goutts, the polls will be opened Thursday. The candidates are Colonel Appin, Anti-Waste; Brigadier Nicholson, Independent—Conservative—Anti-Waste; and Arnold Lupton, Independent—Liberal—Anti-Waste.

In West Lewisham, left vacant by the death of Sir Edward Coates, Sir Phillip Dawson has entered as an independent—Conservative and Anti-Waste candidate; F. W. Rafferty, as an Independent—Liberal, and Commander Wyndham on the straight Anti-Waste ticket. A Laborite is also to be nominated.

Polling will take place on Wednesday in the Caerphilly constituency, where the death of A. Onions left a vacancy. The candidates are W. Jones, Coalition—Liberal; A. M. Jones, Labor; and Robert Stewart, Communist.

Two candidates have already been nominated for the seat in West Houghton, left vacant by the death of W. T. Wilson, Labor member. They are Thomas G. Winters, Labor; and James Tonge, Coalition—Liberal.

At Alan Hutchings, Conservative, has been nominated for the Louth seat, left vacant by the death of T. Wintingham.

OPPOSES GANDHI IN INDIAN EMPIRE

Mrs. Annie Besant Urges Indian Home Rule

Mrs. Annie Besant, the English woman who has devoted the latter years of her life to the cause of India, and who as president of the International Theosophical Society presided over the first world congress of the society, recently held in Paris, left immediately after the close of the conference to go back to India to counteract the activities of Gandhi, the racial agitator, according to an Associated Press small dispatch from the French capital.

Mrs. Besant said she had received several disquieting cables from Madras since she had been in Europe, as to the activities of Gandhi.

"Gandhi is getting desperate, and likewise losing his head," said Mrs. Besant, "and must get back to my people as quickly as possible. They have great confidence in me, and I am sure I can in a large measure lead them away from the radical, vicious teachings of Gandhi."

Home Rule.

The Indians, Mrs. Besant said, want home rule within the Empire, and want to attain their freedom through peaceful means rather than by violence. While this may not be as far off as some think, India must be able to defend herself against aggression with a native force rather than British before she is ready to take the reins of Dominion government into her own hands.

Great Britain, Mrs. Besant believes, is at last awakening to the needs of India, is more sympathetic, and through the newly formed National Native Council, is granting many of the demanded reforms.

Mrs. Besant expressed great admiration for Lord Reading, the Viceroy, whom she said had shown since his arrival in India a profoundly sympathetic understanding of the Indian character, and she felt, would gradually bring about the cause of "home rule."

Gandhi, whom she described as the Toistoi of India, was losing his following, she said. He had preached boycott of schools, legal machinery, even hospitals, gaining for a time a tremendous following but, in all cases where the boycott was effective, many of the agitator's disciples returned to the schools, and utilized the legal machinery and medical aid.

No Revolution.

Revolution will never gain headway in India, Mrs. Besant believes, first because the people are unarméd; secondly, because they do not want to gain political liberty that way.

Mrs. Besant frankly talked of her interment during the war for her teachings and, with pride, said a large number of the reforms she has been striving for are gradually being granted.

"During my recent visit for India," she said, "the presiding judge remarked that most of the reforms for which I was agitating were being granted by the mother country. I looked upon that statement by the judge as being my justification."

LESS WHEAT THAN HARVESTED IN 1920

Northern Hemisphere Estimate by International Institute

Rome, Aug. 22.—Forecasts of the wheat yield in the northern hemisphere, issued by the International Institute of Agriculture, show that it will be approximately 50,200,000 tons, compared with 51,300,000 tons in 1920. The wheat crop in Europe, leaving out of consideration Great Britain, France and Germany, is estimated at 12,900,000 tons, compared with 10,500,000 tons last year. Canada and the United States are expected to produce 28,500,000 tons, as against 25,600,000 tons in 1920, and India, Japan, Algeria, Morocco and Tunis will, it is said, yield 9,400,000 tons, as against 12,000,000 harvested last year.

The rye yield is computed at 8,200,000 tons as against 6,700,000 tons in 1920, while barley shows an increase of 2.4 per cent. Oats, however, suffered from the drought and shows a decrease of 12.3 per cent.

ISSUES PROGRAMME FOR PRESS CONGRESS

Four Days of Meetings Will Be Followed by Tour

Honolulu, Hawaii, Aug. 22.—A tentative outline of the programme for the Press Congress of the World, to be held at Honolulu in October, has been received here from the programme committee at Columbia, Missouri. With the dates of the Congress definitely fixed at October 11 to 14, and with a possible extension of the visit to twenty days, additional time will be available both for the business sessions and for the programme of entertainment and sight-seeing on which the Hawaiian committee proposes to spend $50,000.

The first session of the congress will open at 8 o'clock on the evening of October 11, the delegates' first day at Honolulu. The steamer schedule makes it impossible to arrive at Honolulu until the morning of the 12th. The initial session will consist merely of the formal opening, when Hawaii will welcome its journalists, and will be followed by its official spokesmen, and later at a reception.

The four days immediately following the formal opening will be devoted to business sessions in the mornings and afternoons, and the Hawaiian committee will fill the evenings with a delightful introduction to Honolulu's countless interests. At the conclusion of the fifth day the formal programme will have been completed, and the delegates will have full charge of the congress party. Then will come the never-to-be-forgotten tour through the wonderlands of Hawaii, with a specially chartered steamer to make the inter-island tour a model of convenience and thoroughness. The delegates will not again be gathered in Honolulu until October 25, the last day of the congress, when a final meeting will be held for such business as requires attention.

The business programme is as follows:

First day—5 p.m. formal opening of congress, welcome address and response, reception.

Second day—9 a.m. general session, appointment of committees, addresses, discussion; 2 p.m. divisional conferences on journalistic education, the daily press, the weekly press, the magazine, and periodical journalism.

Third day—9 a.m. general session, addresses, discussion; 2 p.m. divisional conferences, committee reports, 2 p.m. divisional conferences, committee meetings.

Fourth day—9 a.m. general session, addresses, discussion; 2 p.m. general session.

Fifth day—9 a.m. and 2 p.m. Pan-Pacific regional press conference.

It is expected that delegates will begin arriving here about October 1.

CHEATS MOTORISTS; AND IS ABLE TO PAY ALIMONY

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Mrs. Lillian LeBelle, granted a divorce from Anthony LeBelle, employee of a gasoline filling station, will receive $75 a month alimony because she says, she was cheated $200 extra a month by cheating motorists.

"How can you expect your husband to pay $75 a month alimony when his salary is only $140 a month?" Judge Samuel Stough asked Mrs. LeBelle.

"Oh, he makes about $200 a month extra," she retorted. "Motorists pay for the amount of gasoline they order, not for the amount the niler puts in their tanks. In this difference where my husband makes his extra money."

FRANCE-ENGLAND ATTEMPT BY WOMAN SWIMMER FAILED

London, Aug. 22.—Mrs. Arthur Hamilton failed in an attempt to swim the English Channel. She reports having left Capt. Gris Nez, on the French side of the channel near Calais, at 11 o'clock yesterday, when she tripped into a vessel of boiling dye which her mother was placing on the floor.

Knapp, Wis., Aug. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. William Brathwaite and their son, William, junior, all of Eau Claire, Wis., were instantly killed, and two other persons were seriously injured when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a passenger train, No. 22, on the Chicago & North-western railway, near here yesterday.

A. C. Smith, of Eau Claire, driver of the machine, and Miss Diana Miller, of Eau Claire, were injured so seriously that their recovery is not expected.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 22.—Julius Cook, a member of the S. Cook Realty Company, owners of a string of five local theatres, was found dead. He had been shot through the head. A revolver with one empty shell in the chamber lay near the body. Police believe it a case of suicide. Cook had been dead at least twenty-four hours, police state.

NEW YORKERS ARE USING DICTIONARIES

New York, Aug. 22.—New Yorkers have developed such a passion for reading the dictionary that a time limit of three minutes has been placed on perusers at the New York Public Library. A librarian is posted at the dictionary shelf to keep the line moving.

CUTTING GRAIN IN SASKATCHEWAN

Regina, Aug. 22.—Grain cutting in the Regina district is now proceeding apace and with fair weather, will likely be completed by the end of this week. While two degrees of frost was reported at Qu'Appelle, the grain has not been injured. The yield in this district will have a wide range, some areas reporting a thirty-bushel crop and others with an average of ten bushels.

Rain was general in the Regina district last night and will hold up cutting operations temporarily.

ACCIDENTAL DEATHS AND SUICIDE CASE

Medicine Hat, Aug. 22.—Winona, two-year-old daughter of Mrs. J. H. Hamilton, of this city, died as the result of a scalding received when she tripped into a vessel of boiling dye which her mother was placing on the floor.

Knapp, Wis., Aug. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. William Brathwaite and their son, William, junior, all of Eau Claire, Wis., were instantly killed, and two other persons were seriously injured when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a passenger train, No. 22, on the Chicago & North-western railway, near here yesterday.

A revolver with one empty shell in the chamber lay near the body. Police believe it a case of suicide. Cook had been dead at least twenty-four hours, police state.

WASHINGTON STATE CUTS EXPENDITURE

Olympia, Wash., Aug. 22.—The Washington state auditor's report, based upon all expenditure vouchers issued for the first four months of the state government under the civil administrative code shows a net saving of $74,243, which is at the rate of approximately $200,000 a year.

DOLLAR IS NOW ITALY'S STANDARD

Rome, Aug. 22.—The Ministry of Commerce has announced that hereafter the gold dollar will replace the pound sterling as the standard upon which the Italian gold lire is based.

FOOD PRICES IN PUNJAB INCREASE

Intervention by Government is Being Solicited

London, Aug. 22.—A Reuter dispatch from Lahore, India, says that food prices in the province of Punjab are creating grave anxiety and Government intervention is being solicited. Wheat prices have doubled in the last year and are still rising.

In Simla the floods have damaged communications and in Waziristan some of the rivers are shelling Makin Centre, Maheud, and the resistance is causing damage and casualties. The enemy is fruitlessly attacking the Ludha, Pratha and Ragha areas.

Operations have been carried on by the British army for nearly two years on the north-west frontier of the Mahads, who have kept up a continuous disturbance.

URGE FINLAND TO JOIN BALTIC UNION

Esthonia, Latvia and Lithuania in Agreement

Efforts are now under way to induce Finland to join the Baltic Union, which became an accomplished fact with the signing of various conventions leading to a triple alliance of Esthonia, Latvia and Lithuania, according to an Associated Press mail dispatch from Riga.

In diplomatic circles in Riga the signing of these conventions is considered as a great step toward the potential formation of a united military front from the Arctic to the Black Sea against any aggression from Soviet Russia.

Latvia and Esthonia are understood to have signed already a military convention. Lithuania has not yet been included in this, but is expected to be shortly. Fear that Poland, which is expected to be in the union later, might object to any immediate inclusion of Lithuania in the military convention until the Vilna dispute between Lithuania and Poland is settled deterred Esthonia from admitting Lithuania at this time. The latter country, however, through her Foreign Minister, Doctor Puritsky, is understood to have given assurances that Lithuania will stand with the other two nations on any political question of importance.

Trade Agreements.

Trade, railway and other conventions already signed or about to be signed include all three countries.

None of these Baltic states fear any immediate aggression from Russia. Their statesmen, however, consider the Russian situation so full of possibilities that they desire to take no chances, some of them have admitted privately to an Associated Press correspondent.

In their fight for political and economic stability toward which they are making rapid progress, these little republics constantly have before them the spectre of danger were Lenin's regime in Russia, either to crumble into anarchy or be succeeded by some Government determined to include in a united Russia all of the little peoples who have broken away and formed independent Governments.

A Start.

These statesmen consider the formation of the triple alliance a fairly adequate safeguard against any of these eventualities. The protection would be stronger, they say, were Finland and Poland and possibly Roumania included, but they declare they have at least made a splendid start.

One of the participants in the conferences of the three nations said: "It is natural that this union can have no offensive aim, but the cordial relations of the union's members prove and testify to its safety and security. The great powers will now have to reckon seriously with this entente."

One of the Riga newspapers characterized the Baltic Entente as a "chain of states standing between the two main revolutionary countries—Germany and Russia—destined to play the role of frontier guards between Europe and Asia."

STatement by SINN FEINERS ON KIDNAPPED MEN

Dublin, Aug. 21.—The publicity department of the Dail Eireann to-day issued a reply to the recent statement of Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, concerning kidnapped and missing crown forces. The reply objects to the word "kidnaped" in a case where, it says, war has been officially declared to exist.

The statement says that since January, 1920, there were 850 officers and men captured by the Irish Republican Army, who were armed and released unhurt. It declares that the British practice has been to treat prisoners of war as criminals and to inflict upon them penalties of death or imprisonment. Against the British list of 56 men of the crown forces missing, figures are given by the department of Irishmen captured, of whom it says 24 were executed, 137 killed while trying to escape, 295 placed in penal servitude and 3,755 others imprisoned.

By Frank H. Hedgus.

On Valdez Island.
Campbell River—Posters are issued notifying the public that a banquet and a grand ball will be the big 1921 event on Valdez Island on Saturday, August 27. The Rev. Thos. Menzies, M.P., will be the guest of honor and give his constituents an account of his stewardship as their representative during the past nine months. Mr. Frank Gagne, president of the Valdez Island Social Club, has made great preparations for the biggest crowd that ever visited the gem of the Gulf of Georgia and there is no doubt his anticipations will be fully realized. A band will be in attendance at the banquet and ball.

Reception at Hospital.
Port Alberni—A public reception will be held in the West Coast General Hospital Friday, August 26, from 2 till 5 p.m., when it is expected that a large number of people who have never visited the institution will be present to take advantage of the opportunity of looking it over.

On Inspection.
Courtenay—A. F. Lloyd, of Quatsiki Cove, Government fisheries officer in the Campbell River district, visited Courtenay yesterday on departmental business.

Building Kilm.
Port Alberni—A dry kiln is being built for the Gilroy-McKay Shingle Company. It is expected to be in working order within the next two weeks when the mill will be worked both day and night.

New Bridge Wanted.
Courtenay—Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, visited Courtenay Friday, August 19, to meet members of the Courtenay-Comox Board of Trade. He was accompanied by Rev. Thomas Menzies, M.P., J. Be. Michod, president of the board, and Mayor Simms took an active part in the discussion of local affairs. Several other prominent business men were present. The most important matter taken up with the minister was the construction of a new bridge over Little River. A deputation from Little River, Comox, asked for the installation of a ditching project. After the conference, Mr. King left for Cumberland, accompanied by Mr. Menzies and Capt. Richardson, road superintendent.

OPIUM CASE.
Sidney—On Friday Sing Lee was given by the Provincial Court here with smoking opium, and fined $25. Justus, of the Provincial Police department, prosecuted the case.

The Knock-Out Blow

Just How It is Effective.

A medical correspondent in The Manchester Guardian, explaining the somewhat remarkable phenomena of the knock-out blow, says:

We may set aside the immediate, prompt collapse resulting from a vigorous kick applied to the "pit of the stomach," where, deep seated at the back of the abdominal cavity is placed a large outspread of nerve fibres and nerve cells constituting the "solar plexus," which besides other uses is in intimate connection by means of nerves with the central nervous system and, through this central co-ordinating station, with among other organs, the heart. If a frog be placed on its back and the surface of its belly be tapped vigorously with a flat object the heart will stop and the animal will cease to beat for a time. This would explain one form of the knock-out blow—one not uncommon on the football field.

In the ring, however, to accomplish the knock-out blow, the aim of the pugilist is to hit his opponent fairly and squarely and as vigorously as possible on the centre of the margin of the chin. The blow not being directed horizontally forward, but from below and upward, so that the full force of the impact shall be admitted equally along both branches of the lower jaw bone to the two joints where this bone works on corresponding surfaces of the temporal bone. The movements at these joints can easily be felt by placing the fingers just in front of the ear and moving the jaw. The movements are easily felt through the skin.

The Vital Ear.
The inner ear of all the higher animals is very complex, sensory, nervous apparatus which is deeply embedded in the hardest part of the temporal bone of the skull. This wonderful labyrinth of the inner ear consists of at least two quite distinct organs, absolutely different in function—the cochlea, which is the organ of hearing, and the so-called semi-circular canals, which have nothing to do with hearing. These semi-circular canals consist on each side of three very narrow, short semi-circular tubes placed at right angles to each other and in the three dimensions of space. Each canal consists of an outer bony tube and an inner membranous tube of the same shape as the bony one, and separated from it by a thin layer of fluid. The inner tubes or membranous canals and their connections also contain fluid. They contain, too, the origins of a remarkable set of nerves which carry a quite specific series of impulses to a certain part of the brain. This part is concerned with the power which an animal possesses of maintaining its posture or attitude, or in a man maintaining his erect attitude through out-going impulses co-ordinating his muscles to this and other cognate ends.

Without going into the minute structure of the nerve terminals in certain parts of these canals and certain parts connected with them, it may be stated that the nerves of these canals exert a great dominating, continuous action on the muscular system of a tonic and sustained kind. Their nerve centres in the brain also act as a reflex adjuster of the visible movements of the body. Finally they have a modifying effect on consciousness; and thus, a threefold function. The importance of the tonic action is illustrated by the pugilist's "knock-out blow" on the chin, whereby the joint surfaces of the lower jaw bone are driven against the hard unyielding part of the temporal bone, which contains these delicate labyrinths, shatters momentarily their activities and throws them out of action. The result is an immediate response, a complete loss of all muscular tone of all the voluntary muscles of the body, and the boxer falls in helpless, unconscious heap on the ground. The same result follows if an attacking dog is kicked in the top of its lower jaw. The knock-out is only temporary, but sufficiently long to determine who is the winner in a pugilistic encounter.

NEWS AND NOTES OF THE MINES

Lardeau Active.
Mining development work is humming in the Lardeau district, according to Mr. Leahy, owner of the Horn Lead group and manager for the Mansfield Mining Company, who was in Nelson recently.

Mr. Leahy stated development has been pushed all the season on the Horn Lead group of six claims on the north fork of Lardeau Creek, near Ferguson. Recently two important locations were made. A four-foot vein of silver-lead-gold ore, carrying values of $30 a ton, was opened. A second vein on the property, two and a half feet wide on the surface, was located by open cutting.

Mansfield Ores Extremely Rich.
As manager of the Mansfield property on Silver Cup Mountain, Mr. Leahy stated the present policy of steady development will be continued for some time. At present a cross-cut is being driven to tap the main vein, a fissure, at depth. Assays of the vein show values of $475.00 in gold and $36.72 in silver, or a total of $511.72 a ton.

Reach Body on Noble Five.
Reports of the activities of other mining men in the Lardeau district were given by Mr. Leahy. He stated that Andy Craig and Alex McLellan of Trout Lake, owners of the Noble Five group, have struck a large body of silver-lead-gold ore. They have been developing the Noble Five for a number of years, following a small stringer, and a short time ago struck the big body at depth.

Galena Strike on Silver Cup.
Sam Kabna, another Lardeau mining man, the lessee of the Silver Cup mine, who has made several shipments to the Trail smelter recently, lately struck a rich vein of galena, ore averaging $150 a ton. This famous property has produced many millions of dollars in past years.

Veteran Erects Sluice Boxes.
Seventy-three-year-old Dan Savoy is still on the trail of fortune, according to Mr. Leahy. The veteran mining man is erecting sluice boxes on promising placer ground in the Lardeau district, which he and his American associates are arranging to work. The ground is a rich vein of galena, ore averaging $150 a ton. Sam is said to have declared that if the ground maintains $1 a yard he and his associates will equip a dredge and install up-to-date machinery to handle their holdings.

Will Collect Lardeau Samples.
Mr. Leahy has undertaken to secure the finest collection of Lardeau mineral samples ever assembled for Fred A. Starkey, chairman of the mining committee of the Nelson Board of Trade. He will commence to assemble the samples immediately on his return from Spokane in order to have them ready for the 1922 International Mining Convention in Nelson.—Nelson News.

On Visit to Stewart.
Captain John Irving looked over the Lake View property, on Glacier Creek, near Stewart, during the week.

Trail Shipments.
Additions to the list of shippers to the Trail smelter were made the past week, the Rosebery-Surprise mill at Rosebery sending 146 tons, presumably concentrates, to the smelter, while the Surprise mine of the Republic group across the line, made its first shipment for the year. The shipments for the week ending Aug. 14 amounted to 9,944 tons.

William Farnum's fishing experiences would fill a book. His home at Sag Harbor is filled with trophies of the sea. Among them is a broken harpoon with the teeth of a shark embedded in it. The shark attacked the boat and bit the harpoon in half. Charles J. Eyrshin, the director, also is a fisherman of repute. He recently landed some big sea denizens up in the Bay of Fundy.

From Tokyo to Kyoto in the warm glow of an Oriental sun or wrapped in the mists that often envelop the islands of Japan stretches one of the most picturesque motor roads in the world, a road with an excellent surface the entire distance that invites the tourist of the world to a three-day trip of sheer pleasure over snow-capped mountain ranges, through green valleys or along the shores of the blue Pacific.

The Tokaido, ancient sea road of Japan, lined with giant pine trees and in the month of April converted into a fairy tunnel by showers of Japanese cherry blossoms for more than a thousand years was the great highway of commerce and pilgrim in the ancient Empire, the carrying white ribbon that led from the capital of the Mikados to the mill-ponds of the East. Over it passed the armies that struggled to gain power for their clan and along its well-trod ways the daimyo were carried to Kyoto by his strong-backed coolies; the rice, the tea, the lacquer ware and the products of the peculiar civilization of the Far East passed from their makers along this great highway to the markets of other days. The Japanese artist beloved of the West himself loved the Tokaido and wrought its dream of beauty into the prints that to-day carry the lure of Japan to artists the world over.

The Tokaido was then crowded from end to end by the warm stream of humanity, the Japan of a century ago. To-day it has fallen until it merely bears the burden of farmers or of petty traffic from village to village.

Still in Existence.
But the Tokaido is there. Its white stones glisten in the sun and its smooth surface invites the traffic of the twentieth century. The fast-moving, smooth-riding automobile that America has given to Asia, waiting only for the motorist to discover that the road was too narrow, the road is a changed Japan, the Japan of 1920 is every whit as interesting and as beautiful. The tourist who visits Japan and does not make the trip between Tokyo and Kyoto by motor is missing one of the most charming experiences that the country has to offer him.

It was the coming of the automobile and the railway that killed the Tokaido, but it is the automobile which will carry it back to life. Most foreigners in Japan and most Japanese have asserted that the trip could not be made by motor, that the road was too narrow, the curves too sharp, the grades too steep and the road surface too rough. They were the persons who had not tried.

Six in Trip.
Last April a little group of six, two Frenchmen, three Japanese and one American, left the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo for Kyoto by Tokaido automobiles. Mr. Felix A. Schwab, export manager of the Citroen Automobile Company, Ltd., of Paris, was the driver. His assistant, Mr. Tan Sugiyama, import manager of the Tokio Gas and Electric Engineering Company, Ltd., of Tokyo, was the Japanese engineer. Mr. Kinezoo Tushisawa, Japanese chauffeur, and Mr. Frank H. Hedgus, American journalist in Tokio, were the six.

The two little gray cars slipped out of the Imperial Hotel gates and headed toward Yokohama shortly before a Tokyo April morning. The road to Yokohama runs between houses all the way and is filled with children, kimono-clad Japanese "rickshaws" and all of the ever-present crowds that crowd the narrow city streets of Japan from house line to house line. Leaving Yokohama proper on the left, the Tokaido crosses over low hills and through narrow, fertile valleys of rice fields and thatched houses, until it sweeps upward to a high plateau, where a good view opens down one of the valleys. A change comes gradually, for a few clusters of bamboo and of cherry trees in full bloom on the roadside, stately pines that line both sides of the Tokaido, while the roadside banks are often purple with a blanket of April violets. A broad river bed which meanders a narrow stream is crossed, a few miles farther another bridge, and the road swings back to the seashore and the cars glide into the coastal village of Odawara, the home of Prince Yamagata, head of the Genji and the most powerful man in Japan.

Climbs up Hakone.
As Odawara is left behind, the road enters a narrow valley and begins the climb up the Hakone, one of the most beautiful of Japan's many mountain ranges. Picturesque water wheels and orange groves take the place of the rice fields. The road, while the pure whiteness of Fujiyama gleams far above in the sky. On up the valley winds the road, breaking through the dark green of the pines with which the mountain sides are covered. The surface is not difficult, the worst of them being only second gear hills. The road sweeps upward to the Fujiyama, despite the fact that the official Miyako has been transferred to the rechristened city of Tokio.

From Kyoto to Kobe is a comparatively short run, through the industrial city of Osaka, a road known to all motor car owners in Western Japan. The Tokaido, the ancient sea road of Japan that was the great artery of life in the Empire in the days when Asia was only a misty dream to Europe and America, forms one of the wonder motor trips of the world. The Tokaido is there, in almost perfect condition, needing only that its worth.

When Using Wilson's Fly Pads

Best of all Fly Killers 10c per Packet at all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

By Seashore.
As the lowlands of the sea coast are once more reached, the road glides through a village where the peasants are busily at work in the country, farmers and farmers' wives stand knee deep in the irrigated rice fields, work the dark blue or white clothing and the broad-brimmed straw hat that seems to be a small umbrella. Now and then the dominance of the rice fields is contested by fields of green barley, pink clover or bright yellow rapeseed. The premier district of Japan is entered as Shizuoka is neared. The cars speed along the coastal plain past clumps of bamboo, cherry trees and pines, along the blue waters of Suruga Bay with the mountains towering on one side and the whitecap waves breaking against the shore on the other. The hills around Shizuoka are covered with tea trees, dwarfed to a foot or so in height by the Japanese. In other districts the tea trees are supplanted by diminutive mulberry trees, whose green leaves feed the silk worms that produce the prized silk of the Far East. Everywhere the road is in excellent condition. In Japan, tons of river gravel are dumped on the road surface, and the wooden sandals that pass over it by the thousand make any other roller unnecessary, the loose gravel becoming a smooth, compact pavement a few weeks after being put down. Rivers after rivers of the coast are all of them on narrow bridges but bridges amply strong and wide to bear any motor car made. At present the bridge is out, that across the Fujiyama, but the river can be crossed by loading on a flat car, a matter of about two hours' work. Telegraphic arrangements should be made through the Japan Tourist Bureau, but train service is available at nearly any hour of the day.

Is Beautiful Route.
The Tokaido stretches on toward Kyoto and Kobe. Hour after hour the cars speed along the great highway through scenes of intense beauty and interest. Hamanako, called by the Japanese a lake, but in reality a salt-water lagoon, is reached, the broad sheet of water spreading out between green hills and dotted with the curious sailboats of the Japanese fishermen. The road skirts the lagoon for a mile or more and then begins its ascent of the second great mountain range to be crossed. This mountain range is even better than that through the Hakons, as it has easy grades, is perfectly surfaced runs from twelve to twenty-five feet in width and has reinforced embankments where necessary and wooden guard rails at the most dangerous points. As each curve is rounded there lies below the intensely cultivated valleys and the glittering waters of Hamanako. A short tunnel marks the divide, the descent is quickly made, a broad valley is crossed, through the forest and the Kwansei, the Broad West, the heart of Ancient Japan, is entered.

Brightly Colored Life.
The white Tokaido, sweeping across the wide valley in magnificent curves, is once more filled with the brightly colored life of rural Japan near a great city, for Nagoya, the "Middle Capital," is drawn near. After Nagoya is passed the last stage of the trip is entered, as it is an easy day's run from the sixth city of the Empire to the Imperial capital of the Mikados or on to the ancient city of Kobe. Some of the villages between the West and the East will be filled with holiday throngs for the annual festivals every shrine and temple has its special feast day when the country people for miles around come to the village, baskets of gifts, of rice straw, walking or occasionally riding in rickshaws. Every town and village presents its special attractions. At Gifu practically every household is engaged in making paper umbrellas, the long rows of brightly colored parasols lining the roadside as they are put out to dry. In another village porcelain may be the means of livelihood, while still others will be devoted entirely to silk culture, to lacquer ware or to one of the many industrial arts of Japan.

A few hours out of Nagoya the mountains are again entered, but they are mountains which seem as still to the motorist for nowhere is it necessary to drop back to second gear. The Tokaido, here called the Nakasendo by the Japanese, slopes upward through a narrow valley rich in historic memories to the student of Japanese, emerging in the great mountain-enclosed plain in which lie the Biwa, the largest and the most beautiful lake of all Japan, the lake that has inspired the artists and the poets of the Isles of Sunrise for two thousand years.

By Lake Biwa.
Along the shores of Lake Biwa for about two hours brings the motor cars to the Bridge of Setsu, perhaps the most famous in Japan. The Setu-gawa is crossed, the cars glide into and out of Otsu, entering a pass through the mountains that is lined with the intense green of semi-tropical vegetation. The cars slip over the top and begin the easy descent to Kyoto, the ancient capital of the Mikados and the "Sacred City" of Japan, which was closed to foreigners for several centuries. The city of Kyoto, shut in on three sides by high mountains and opening to the Yamashiro plain on the fourth, gradually unfolds itself as the cars descend the descent. Kyoto's stately temples and Shinto shrines, its old Imperial Palace with the thatched roofs, its gardens, its parks, its pines and cryptomerias and in April its pink cherry blossoms make of it the true Miyako—the Home of the Mikados—despite the fact that the official capital has been transferred to the rechristened city of Tokio.

From Kyoto to Kobe is a comparatively short run, through the industrial city of Osaka, a road known to all motor car owners in Western Japan. The Tokaido, the ancient sea road of Japan that was the great artery of life in the Empire in the days when Asia was only a misty dream to Europe and America, forms one of the wonder motor trips of the world. The Tokaido is there, in almost perfect condition, needing only that its worth.

THE LATE MRS. POOLEY.

In the death of Mrs. R. H. Pooley, Victoria loses one of its outstanding personalities and local patriotic and charitable organizations one of their staunchest friends.

THE IDEAL.

"I do not know of anything to guarantee that which would be equal to Japan, the United States and the British Empire in agreement upon the great principle on which world policy ought to be based."

Mr. Lloyd George may rest assured that the attitude of the British Dominions in general and of Canada in particular would be thoroughly in accord with these sentiments to which he gave utterance in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon.

Before the war there were a number of so-called defensive and offensive alliances and the state of the world at that time may have justified their existence.

The question to be determined in regard to the Anglo-Japanese Alliance is not one of treaty repudiation— which, of course, is unthinkable— or even of the renunciation of the treaty by one party giving notice of such intention to the other, for which provision is made in one of its clauses, and which Canada did in connection with the German treaty of trade and navigation twenty years ago.

The object sought in the Anglo-Japanese Treaty was the protection by armed force of the interests of both in the Far East, and the agreement was aimed chiefly at Russia, but events directed its operation against Germany.

What the people of the world want to-day is a general understanding on the part of the great nations to give up the idea of settling disputes by force. They see in the coming disarmament conference an agency by which the dangerous instruments of war may be removed out of harm's reach.

There is a way that may cause distrust of opportunities which Jupiter gives promise of large returns on wise investments. Rumors of financial stringency or conditions that seem to be inimical to prosperity should be ignored, for the stars give faith in the achievements possible from present initiative.

GERMAN STANDARDS.

In debating the question of administering justice to the German war criminals in the British House of Commons the other day Sir Ernest Pollock—Great Britain's Solicitor-General and the Government's representative at Leipzig—said that the punishments imposed upon convicted offenders would have to be judged by German standards.

There seems to be little promise of anything like justice surely there is no earthly reason why a responsible Minister of the Crown entrusted to see that the British cases were properly dealt with should throw up his hands in such a lame fashion.

EMPIRE AIR SERVICE.

It would be a very desirable thing if the British Empire could be linked by a service of airships as well as by an elaborate wireless system. But public opinion in all the Dominions will doubtless support the attitude which the overseas Prime Ministers adopted in their suggestion to discuss the subject with their respective peoples before committing themselves to anything of a definite nature.

As far as trans-oceanic voyages are concerned only one British precedent has been furnished by a lighter-than-air craft and that does not justify an appropriation for the establishment of a commercial service on a suitable scale at this stage.

But before a building programme such as would be required to inaugurate an Empire-linking service is undertaken many more tests will have to be made in the interests of training and observation. It goes without saying that one return trip across the Atlantic in one type of passenger carrying craft has not permitted the collection of a sufficient variety of aeronautical data for use in other routes where conditions would be completely different.

HOROSCOPE

MONDAY, AUGUST 22, 1921. (Copyright, 1921, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

This should be a propitious day for most of the vocations followed by men and women. According to astrology, Jupiter, Mars, the Sun and Neptune are in a favorable position.

Persons holding positions in the Sun should be very lucky during this planetary rule. The President of the United States will gain great fame, if the stars are read aright.

Neptune is in an aspect held inimical to all who deliberate or discuss national problems clear vision and keen understanding. Any legislation should be enacted while this configuration prevails, but there is one bill that may prove a serious handicap, for it is subject to an ill omen.

Mars is in an aspect read as most favorable to the claims and the needs of soldiers. Agriculture should bring large profits to the farmers who wisely administer their business affairs.

ADVOCATES THOROUGH MEDICAL INSPECTION OF SCHOOL CHILDREN Dr. M. Raynor Tells Gyro Club of Need of Medical Record of Race In order that a strong and healthy nation might be developed Dr. Melville Raynor, chairman of the Board of School Trustees, told the Gyro Club at its noon luncheon to-day that it was necessary to institute a new system of medical examination in the public schools. Dr. Raynor gave a most interesting address, the substance of which was that a "pedigree" of all children should be kept so that it might be held for future reference. He thought this system would eliminate many of the "repeaters" in the schools to-day, reduce the cost of education, and at the same time make instruction more easily to backward children.

Is Urgently Needed. "This may seem like a Utopia," commented Dr. Raynor, "but if we are to have a strong race we must take steps to eradicate many of the evils of our present system." Dr. Raynor spoke of the awful ravages of the hereditary disease, the hobbles of the child, his religious and nationality, his manner of play and recreation. The doctor also advocated a mental examination.

Motor Camping Sites. The Vancouver Island Athletic Association conducts splendid motor camping sites at Curtis Point on the Gorge, the Chamber learned from Mr. Warren, a charge of one dollar per car being imposed for the accommodation. The directors decided in the opinion that Victoria should not be behind other coast cities in providing these privileges to visiting motorists.

Swiss Consul-General. As the Swiss Consul-General of Canada, Mons. Huecher, will be here next week the directors decided to invite him to a luncheon next Monday.

Not Its Duty. The directors again dealt with the request of the Chamber in Stewart asking that the Chamber back up Stewart's application for the establishment of a Government liquor store there, and the directors decided to meddle in extraneous matters of this kind.

Teeth Cause Trouble. Teeth were the cause of a great deal of the retardation in the school, announced Dr. Raynor. Under the present system the speaker said that the school backward children under a handicap but that the brightest children also suffered. They cannot advance as fast as the present system result get starchy about their lessons and lose interest.

CANADIAN LABOR CONGRESS MEETING IN WINNIPEG (Continued from page 1.) yet we realize that at the present time these opportunities do not exist in Canada. The committee announced the preparation of a special memorandum on unemployment.

HOTEL MEN WILL CONDUCT DRIVE FOR MALT LIQUORS Vancouver, Aug. 22.—The first move to bring the sale of malt liquor back to British Columbia has been made by the British Columbia Hotel Association, which has drawn up a petition to be presented to the Provincial Premier and circulated through the Province.

Disarmament. On the question of disarmament, the committee said that Canada had taken a leading part in this question and the organized workers of Canada expressed their appreciation of the steps already taken and pledged their support toward any measures that would bring about the reduction of military and naval armaments.

Quebec Union. The committee dealt at some length with the question of the National Catholic Union in Quebec. The report said: "Reference has been made in another section of our report to the attempt in Parliament to secure the recognition of the National Catholic Union as a representative organization of workers. Senator Robertson has displayed much courage in combating this propaganda and has made considerable headway through his statements, that the formation of labor unions in the Dominion of Canada which would divide the workers on religious lines should not be encouraged or tolerated."

DIRECTORS DEAL WITH TELEGRAPHS Suggests Better Sunday Service; Other Business That the isolation of Victoria by telegraph after eight o'clock Sunday evenings might be overcome by the various telegraph companies arranging to keep open alternate Sundays was the suggestion of George I. Warren at the Chamber of Commerce directors' meeting to-day.

The directors did not wish to impose any hardship on the telegraph companies, but it was pointed out that there were times when it proved a very serious matter not to be able to send or receive wires on Sunday night. Two directors will interview the telegraph companies to see if it will be possible to have more satisfactory arrangements made.

Excursion Arrangements. As Captain Troup will be back in the city to-morrow, definite arrangements will be made regarding the charter of a boat to carry the excursion to Blaine in connection with the dedication of the International Peace Memorial Arch on September 6. Mr. Warren gave a report of the proceedings of the public luncheon in Vancouver last week, at which details of the celebration were outlined. Secretary Scott was authorized to call a meeting of representatives of all local public bodies, at which details of completing arrangements for Victoria's part in the celebration. Regarding the suggestion of a conference of Western Canada Boards of Trade, some time early in the year, the general impression was that unless such conference were held in British Columbia it would not prove very beneficial to the province as there was already evidence of the organization proving to be more interested in the country east of the Rockies.

Approve Conference. The directors approved of the communication from the Calgary Board of Trade asking for support of their request to the Prime Minister for a conference of Western Boards of banking, transportation, farmers, stock men, manufacturers and other interests to consider the condition of the live stock market and suggest remedies for same, especially as means for credit expansion to farmers and stock men.

It is entitled "Say It With Flowers," and will probably be used as a starring vehicle for Tom Moore. Mrs. Miller has already written one original story which Goldwyn is producing, "The Man With Two Mothers," with Cullen Landis in the leading role. The author is now in the east, her return from the Chester City studios being hastened by the news that her husband, Henry Wise Miller, the banker, had sustained injuries in an automobile accident.

Of course, Mrs. Fox had never heard this saying, but she knew that something must be done, for Mr. Fox was so cross and found so much fault with every meal that she was forced to cook turkey only last week. "I am tired of chicken," growled Mr. Fox one day. "It is chicken, chicken, chicken. Why don't you have duck or turkey once in a while?" replied poor Mrs. Fox, "and you said it was out of season and that chicken was the only food fit to eat this time of year." But though Mr. Fox found fault with the food he never left any of it on his plate and very little on the table when he finished a meal. He was as fat and sleek to look at as any fox around. Mrs. Fox noticed that and she thought something must be done for she was growing thin with so much worry. While he found fault and grumbled, Mr. Fox did very little work. A child could brood him out of his bones once in a while and he took great pains that Mrs. Fox should be made to fully appreciate that it was his hunting that furnished the dinner and not hers each time. So one morning Mrs. Fox put on her bonnet and ran across the fields to Granny Fox's home and told her troubles. "My dear," said Granny Fox, "you are young and have a great deal to learn, but if you do not do something now you never will. Mr. Fox will grow worse." "But what can I do?" sighed poor little Mrs. Fox with tears in her eyes. "Let him go hungry a while," replied Granny. "Hunger's the best sauce for any man's meat." So Mrs. Fox told Mr. Fox the best things she could, and when she ran home an hour later she wore a smile that would have worried her husband if he had seen it. She cooked herself a nice dinner and ate it all before Mr. Fox returned. Not a crumb was left and when he came in and asked crossly why dinner was not ready, she replied that she didn't intend to cook any more, and that if he wanted food he must get it and cook it, too. Mr. Fox dropped his pipe and it fell to the floor with a smash as he stared open-mouthed at his wife, his ears, he said, were ringing. He could hardly believe he heard rightly what she said. Mrs. Fox walked out of the house while her husband growled and fussed, but she did not return and Mr. Fox had to go hungry to bed that night, for she ate her supper before she came home. For three days this went on, and on the fourth Mr. Fox grew very meek and brought home a nice pair of chickens. "My dear," he said, "it would be a pity to spoil those birds cooking them as I should and there is no one in the world but can try this ready if you will do the cooking." Mrs. Fox agreed to do this, but she made her husband wait on her, and when the dinner was ready he put it on the table and helped clear it away and washed the dishes, he said. Mrs. Fox was a good husband should, and best of all he praised at every meal her wonderful cooking. "What did I tell you?" said Granny Fox when she heard that had happened. "Remember what I said, 'Hunger's the best sauce' for any man, and the royal road to a husband's heart is traveled fastest by serving him a good meal; but don't do a nice pair of chickens, Oldie, that you are a wife as well as a good cook."

SID JORDAN WITH MIX. Sid Jordan, who is in the cast with Tom Mix in the William Fox picture, "After Your Own Heart," was born in Muskogee, Okla., and was educated at Vanita, Okla. Sid began his career with the 101 Ranch Show, with which Tom Mix also was associated. Sid is Tom's right hand man in pictures.

Cullen Landis, leading man for Alice Laik in her new Metro picture, "The Infamous Miss Revel," was making conversation with the star. "They've barred one-piece bathing suits at some of the beaches this year," he said. "Well, what do the girls wear?" Miss Lake queried absently.

More miles - less money -

USE the correct grade of Imperial Polarine Motor Oils and maximum mileage from your lubrication is assured. You cannot buy more real lubrication for your dollar than that which you get when you specify Imperial Polarine.

Imperial Polarine Motor Oils coat every moving part with an oil film which cuts down friction drag and reduces wear. They slow up depreciation costs and absolutely eliminate excessive repair bills and carbon troubles. You get more real motoring satisfaction, as well as more miles, for less money if you use, exclusively, the correct grade of Imperial Polarine Motor Oils.

Our Chart of Recommendations shows the grade especially suited to your type of car. Standardize on this grade. Consult our Chart at your dealer's. Our new booklet, "Automotive Lubrication" also contains the complete Chart, besides other interesting and valuable information. Write to 56 Church Street, Toronto, for your copy.

IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED

FOR A CLEAN EFFICIENT MOTOR

Your crank-case should be drained and cleaned at least every thousand miles. You will get more pleasure out of your car and will materially reduce operating costs if you employ crank-case cleaning service regularly. Dealers displaying this sign give all crank-case cleaning jobs prompt and expert attention. Such dealers use Imperial Flushing Oil. It takes out all grit and dirt and does not impair the fresh supply of oil as would be the case if kerosene (coal oil) were used.

PLAN SALE OF ELK LAKE WERE PROPERTY TAXED

Aldermen Says Saanich's Plan Would Block Park Development

Elk Lake Park will be sub-divided and sold to private owners if Saanich succeeds in its move to tax the property, leading members of the City Council declared to-day following the decision of Saanich Council Thursday to start a campaign for taxation of the area.

"There is only one thing we can do if they insist on taxing the area and are successful—sell it," Alderman George Sangster, who, a couple of years ago, led a fight for the sale of the park, declared this morning. "We all realize the great possibilities of the Elk Lake land and have plans for making it one of the finest parks in the country. If Saanich can't see that this development will benefit it as much or more than it benefits us we can't help it, that's all. But it is certain that the city can't afford to pay taxes on the land. Either we must be allowed to develop it as a park without any further expense than that involved in maintenance and improvements or else we shall have to sell the whole area."

"If Saanich insists on us paying taxes on the Elk Lake area all right, we shall have the money we will get from selling the land and they will get the revenue they wish on the land from private owners," said Alderman E. B. Anderson, chairman of the Civic Finance Committee.

"I would regret any action which would prevent us from developing the Elk Lake area," Mayor Porter observed. "I believe that Elk Lake and the surrounding watershed land can be made into one of the finest resorts in British Columbia and I certainly would not like to see any obstacle planted in the way of our plans to make it that. But we cannot afford to pay taxes on the land in my opinion. I cannot see why Saanich would do anything which would hold up development of the area from which the municipality would receive such important benefits."

PRETTY WEDDING AT ST. BARNABAS CHURCH

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday evening, August 17, at St. Barnabas Church, when Dorothy Amelia, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cobbett, of 2226 Shakespeare Street, became the bride of Mr. William F. Sutherland, of Penitence, B.C. The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, looked very sweet in a dress of white satin and pearls; she also wore the conventional wedding veil beneath a crown of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and sweet peas. Attending the bride was Miss Ida Richards and Miss Ivy Cobbett (sister of the bride), who were dressed alike in frocks of pale blue organdie trimmed with organdie flowers, and wore pink picture hats, their bouquets being of mauve and pink sweet peas. Miss Ruby Cobbett, youngest sister of the bride, made a charming flower girl, in pale pink organdie with tiny frills. The groom was supported by Mr. Fred Archer, cousin of the bride. The service, which was fully choral, was conducted by the Rev. Norman E. Smith in the presence of a large number of friends, the church being prettily decorated by young friends of the bride. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the happy couple received congratulations and good wishes from their many friends beneath a tastefully decorated arch, the predominating colors of which were mauve and white. Later a dainty buffet was served in the dining room, where a two-tier wedding cake held the place of honor in the centre of the table, over which the bride and groom stood, the chandelier to the four corners of the table, the decoration being of mauve and pink sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland departed on a motor tour of Vancouver Island, whence they will return to their future home in Penitence. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold wrist watch to the bridesmaid, and brooches set with pearls, and to the best man a gold tie pin also set with pearls. The bride's gift to the groom was a set of gold cuff links. Many beautiful gifts were received.

PROSPECTORS BUSY DESPITE METAL LULL

Prospectors are busy in many parts of the Province, in spite of the fact that mining is at a low ebb because of the break in the market price of metals, supply was served in the Tatlavo area.

Two or three groups of copper prospectors have started work on the Siawamas River four or five miles from Squamish. Others are at work on the head waters of the Indian River, fifteen miles from Squamish. The Fitzsimmons property, near Green Lake on the P.G.E., which the Consolidated Smelting and Mining Co. had under bond three years ago, has been bonded to one of the large copper companies from Anaconda, Montana.

Resanding gold, some work is being done in the Tatlavo area, in the River country, and on the old Brett mine on McGillivray near Anderson Lake. This work is being resumed after the mines have been idle for several years.

Near the foot of Tatlavo Lake, in the northern part of the Nanaimo district, the Tatlavo Division Gold Mines Co. has prepared to put in a concentrator and further develop a group of claims at an altitude of about 5,500 feet. This year the company has put in a sawmill and developed the water power to run the sawmill. Four miles of wagon road have been built for hauling lumber between the sawmill and the foot of the lake. Lumber is now being cut for the concentrating mill and camp buildings.

SAANICH WATERWORKS BY-LAW PETITION HAS BEEN SIGNED

Council Will Soon Have Op- portunity to Re-submit Measure

At last the protracted negotiations with regard to the submission for a third effort of the Saanich water extension by-law have reached the stage when the necessary signatures to petitions have been effected, and the special Gordon Head water committee will meet to examine the petitions and present them to the Council at its meeting tomorrow.

There is every expectation that on this occasion the opposition which developed on the first effort, and grew substantially when the by-law was again submitted, will not be in evidence to any material extent. Assurances have been made, it was stated yesterday, to the water committee by some of those who were most active in opposition last year that they will retain neutrality on this occasion, some of the features of the measure to which they objected having been eliminated.

There is also on this occasion the opportunity given to vote acceptance of the city's special offer recently agreed upon by the City Council.

The special water committee plans an active canvass. One factor, undoubtedly, which will aid them in the suburban wards is the fact that the undertaking would afford a substantial measure of employment when conditions in the municipality are very bad, and a productive undertaking of this kind so strongly endorsed in the section which it is designed primarily to benefit, would give the Council a chance to carry on useful work to the benefit of a large section of the municipality.

FARMERS QUIT ALBERTA FOR B. C.

Advance Guard Spies Out Land Above P. G. E. For Horse- Raising

The advance guard, sent out to spy out the land on behalf of farmers in Southern Alberta who have become completely discouraged by the crop failures in the unwatered part of the Province, have arrived in B. C. and are settling themselves in the districts served by the Pacific Great Eastern in sections located about 100 miles north of Vancouver, according to reports to the Government to-day.

This advance guard consists of several parties who are going to stay in B. C. and take no more chances with Alberta, they say. A general influx next year from the dry belt in Alberta will depend on the reports the advance guard sends back this fall.

The Alberta settlers plan the development of a new horse-breeding district along the P. G. E. Three carloads of special horses have already been shipped in for breeding.

Parties of prospectors and settlers are now in the Klondike River country. They are headed for Anahem Lake district.

Where Lorraine originated is difficult to say. The particular form has no etymological history. But it is possible that it is the modern outgrowth of the name arising from the old Roman "Lara," the little twin gods who presided over the household and were decorated with wreaths on festival days. The special feast of the larae was on the 22nd of December and it was immediately followed by that of a feminine deity called Lara, Larunda, Larentia or Acca Larentia, who was termed in old Latin "good mother." It was she to whom prayers were made that no good slave might depart. (What a comfort her worship would be to the modern housewife).

When Greek mythology came in, poor Lorraine was turned into a nymph whose chattering annoyed Jupiter to such an extent that he ordered her tongue cut out and sent her to the lower world in charge of Mercury. But be that as it may, her name was popular among Roman matrons and existed in various forms. A GENTLE WAY TO END CORNS

The Modern Method, Scientific, Easy, Quick and Sure

The old corn enders were harsh, crude and uncertain. They came into disrepute. Then a world-famed laboratory created a new method, and millions have adopted it.

The new way is Blue-jay—liquid or plaster. One applies it by a touch. The pain stops instantly, and soon the whole corn loosens and comes out.

To pare a corn and keep it now is folly. Stop it the moment it appears. Remove it in this gentle way. Watch one corn go when Blue-jay is applied. You will let it deal with all corns after that. Send to the drug store now.

Popular Society Woman.

The late Mrs. Pooley was one of the best known and most popular society women in Victoria. A charming and gifted singer, she was always ready to give of her talents in any philanthropic or patriotic cause. Throughout her life she worked indefatigably, her unusual organizing ability finding expression in the many concerts and revues given under her capable direction. No appeal to her for help on behalf of returned soldier or other organizations ever went unheeded, and one of her last acts was to organize a concert in aid of the funds of the G. W. V. A. a few months ago. Her efforts in this direction are all the more commendable in view of the fact that she must have been suffering intense pain for the past twelve months, and her refusal to consider her own health in the face of the many demands made upon her time and strength undoubtedly hastened her end. While no definite arrangements have yet been made for interment, it is probable that the remains will be brought to Victoria for interment.

Caps Nosed Out of Two Doubleheaders

Tigers Defeated Victoria Twice On Saturday and Repeated Performance Again Yesterday; Few Breaks Came Victoria's Way; Shoots Pitched Second Game Yesterday; Engle Punched Out a Home Run.

Tacoma, Aug. 22.—The Tigers won their second double-header in as many days yesterday when they took both ends of the Sunday matinee from the Bees and the scores being 8 to 7 and 6 to 3.

By their double win the Tigers have practically clinched second place honors for both halves and are still within striking distance of the leading Yakimas for the second half honors.

In Hard Luck. The Capitals traveled in hard luck all week, losing a number of very close games. Yesterday they tried hard to win the first game. After Wallace had been knocked out of the box in the second inning, Hansen kept the Tigers fairly well in hand and the Capitals were unable to secure the necessary runs, being one shy at the close.

Engle hit a homer with one on in the eighth. Pitcher, Montague, of the Tacoma club, was knocked out by a batted ball.

Victoria tried out Carl Shoots, an outfielder, in the pitcher's box in the second game and he went along in great shape. He was unable to get the wild but let the Tigers down with ten hits and struck out four. Except in the first inning, when he was scored on four times, Shoots had the Tigers on his hip.

The box scores follow: Victoria. First game—A B R H P O A E

Play for Canadian Golf Laurels Opens

Twenty-Third Annual Canadian Amateur Golf Championship Tournament Opened At Winnipeg To-day; Calgary Players Hot Favorites For Team Match, While Thompson Brothers From Toronto Are Up In Running.

Winnipeg, Aug. 22.—(By Canadian Press).—Everything is in readiness for the opening of the twenty-third annual Canadian amateur golf championship tournament to-day. The course of the Winnipeg Golf Club at Bird's Hill, over which the big event will be played, has been the scene of bustle and activity during the past three days, as practically all aspirants for the amateur crown have been busy looking the course-over, picking its idiosyncrasies and preparing for the titular struggle.

To-morrow the only item on the programme is the first round of the championship proper and before evening the number of contestants will be reduced to 64. On Tuesday players beaten in Monday's play will participate in the first consolation event, which will take place at the Elmhurst course.

Westerner Spring Surprise. Indications are that the championship will produce a thrilling struggle. The majority of the visitors have already been seen in action. The sensations so far sprung in the preliminary rounds have been furnished by Western competitors, although Marcus Greer, of Grandmere, champion of Quebec, is still prime favorite. Greer is playing a remarkably steady game around in the middle seventies, with every promise that he can slip a few strokes off when forced to do so.

Tom Gillespie, of Calgary, runner-up in last year's tournament, although he played brilliantly in the Alberta championships, has not yet found his form, while the Toronto aggregation, led by Bill Thompson, are finding the greens a little too lively to pitch to the flag, according to their custom. The Winnipeg greens are more adapted to the run-up, and for this reason alone it is almost safe to predict that the championship will be won on the green.

The real sensation of the practice rounds occurred on Saturday, when H. C. Macdonald, the little Calgary player, scored a "Canadian golfer" at the short seventh, holding his maulie shot off the tee for a "one."

Some Good Scoring. A strong cross wind, which favored the soifers on one hole only, the first, made scoring difficult yesterday. Despite this, however, the Winnipeg Club-Calgary, made a spectacular finish for a 74, the best score so far.

Three Hockey Stars In "Big Four" For Coast. Red Dutton, Red Briden and Gordon Fraser Have Been Secured by Patricks—"Big Four" Comes to Terms With Lester Patrick.

Calgary, Aug. 22.—Establishing ownership of players, turning over three players to the Pacific Coast League, and arranging for Alberta and probably Saskatchewan to play off with the Pacific Coast League in a Stanley Cup series at the termination of the 1922 season, features of the Pacific Coast League. E. L. Richardson, manager of the Calgary Exhibition, will be joint director with Frank Patrick, of professional hockey in the West, having accepted the presidency of the Alberta Hockey Association.

Three Players Coming West. It was unanimously agreed that players in the Alberta and Pacific Coast Hockey Leagues were the property of the clubs they played for last season, with three exceptions, Red Dutton, defence player of the Calgary Canadians; Red Briden, of the Edmonton Eskimos, and Gordon Fraser, of the Calgary Tigers, who will become the property of the Pacific Coast League. Satisfactory consideration will be paid for the services of these stars.

At a previous meeting, the Alberta Hockey Association announced that it would enter the hockey field as an independent professional organization. The local officials extended an invitation to Lester Patrick to come here and confer with them. After a lengthy discussion, all the parties concerned being fully satisfied, a working agreement was signed for one year.

OLDS EARN ONE-RUN WIN OVER VICTORIA

Cricket Match Played Yesterday Resulted in Elimination of Unlucky Eleven. Had Match Practically Won Saturday When Rain Interfered; Finals To-day.

Rain nosed the Victoria Cricket Club out of a place in the finals for the Pacific Coast championship. The team had practically established a sure win over the Vancouver Olds at the Jubilee grounds on Saturday when the deluge came on and the game had to be abandoned. At that period Victoria stood at 461 for nine wickets, when they declared their innings, and the Olds had lost three wickets for 55.

When it was found that the rain had set in for good, arrangements were made to play a new match yesterday. The Victoria batsmen could not settle down, having apparently hit themselves out the previous afternoon. The Olds eventually won out by one run and qualified to meet the Wanderers of Victoria in the finals for the championship to-day.

The showers this morning interfered with the match considerably. Victoria compiled the largest score on Saturday, but the Wanderers, during the tournament. Practically all of the batsmen had their eyes in and Meredith completed a fine tin, 10th Calgary, 19; Lieut. Martin, 10th Calgary, 18; Sgt. Mitchell, R.C.M.P., 18; Capt. Downie, 10th Calgary, 16.

JAIL SENTENCE AND FINE FOR ATHLETE

French Football Player Receives Stiff Punishment for Offence During Game. Paris, Aug. 22.—A Rouen court has condemned a football player to four months in prison and to a fine of 6,000 francs for injuring another player during a match.

The Rouen Club lodged a complaint with the French Football Federation, which four days later handed down a verdict of misconduct against Langenois. Aymard then sued Langenois before the Rouen courts and the foregoing judgment was given by the Rouen courts.

Langenois says he never received a summons to appear before the court. He was a student at St. Cyr Military College when the match was played, and was in garrison at Mayence when the case was heard. When he charged Aymard, the latter said: "It wasn't decent to charge me like that." Langenois said: "There is no truth in the accusation that I struck him with my fist."

VANCOUVER RACING

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—Rain failed to keep the crowds away from the Brig-house Park on Saturday, the enclosure being well filled before the first event was called. The grandstand was occupied almost to capacity. Though a trifle slow the track was in good condition, the rain not having been sufficient to affect the ground very much below the surface.

Spectacular Diving Exhibition at Gorge

"Buck" Calder's Leap From 100-Foot Diving Tower With Body Wrapped In Flames Thrilled Spectators On Saturday; "Happy" Kuehn, World's Champion, In Great Form; V. I. A. Wins Most Points In P. N. A. Gala.

Daring and spectacular diving combined with close and thrilling finishes to most of the swimming races featured the annual P. N. A. gala held at the Gorge on Saturday afternoon by the V. I. A. Without question the gala proved to be the outstanding aquatic event in the history of the city. The only regrettable feature of the affair was the unsportsmanlike act of old Jupe Pluvius, who decided that Victoria was in need of a very heavy shower and proceeded to open wide the spouts of his rusty water-can.

Despite the unfavorable conditions a large number of spectators gathered on the banks at Curtis Point and witnessed a performance which will be hard to duplicate in the city. The best swimming and diving attack was given by the Northwest team, which included to compete for the titles and every event provided plenty of excitement.

To Repeat Diving. This morning Billy Davies, superintendent of the V. I. A., announced that he would endeavor to repeat certain parts of the programme. He has arranged for "Happy" Kuehn, the world's champion, to repeat his 100-yard dash.

While Kuehn's diving on Saturday afternoon astonished the spectators it remained for "Buck" Calder, the local dare-devil diver, to give the folk a real thrill. It is hard to find another feat which for pure daring and recklessness compared with "Buck's" performance on Saturday night. At 9:30 o'clock Calder, ready to take off, was given by the crowd a suit which was saturated with a chemical and prepared to make his much-advertised leap in a flame of fire. The spectators actually shuddered as they dimly saw the diver poised on his lofty perch. Darkness had settled in, and a small light threw a sickly ray across the murky waters. Twice Calder poised ready to take off, but each time he failed to ignite the chemicals. The spectators gasped after each failure, and wondered what countless thoughts must have been racing through the mind of the young diver. However, on the third effort a flame of fire wrapped Calder's suit, and he made his perilous leap. Like a falling star, Calder swooped toward the water, with evergreen held in his breast. With a thud Calder struck the water, and there was general relief when his head came bobbing to the surface. Calder struck the water little more than ten feet from the rocks. It was practically impossible for him to judge his distance from the top of the tower in the darkness, and this made his dive all the more daring. The 18-year-old native son is to be congratulated on his wonderful nerve and pluck.

Another Daring Dive. George McRae pulled a daring dive off the 24-foot diving platform prior to Calder's leap. He dove backwards, with his clothes in flames and received great applause from the spectators. Kuehn had no desire to make the high dive, but he contented with the 24-foot platform. Kuehn's exhibition revealed diving in a new light. Several years ago the champion performed here, but he had wonderfully improved in the meantime. He startled the spectators by making the two and one-half somersault dive. The grace with which he executes his dives is absolutely marvellous.

Won by Long Arm. A long arm enabled Kathleen Brown, of Seattle, to beat Audrey Griffin of the V. I. A. A. out of the 50-yard championship. Audrey was a few inches ahead of the visiting swimmer at the finish, but Miss Brown's long arm shot out and she won the 500-yard, 850 yards and 220-yard breast stroke, with a second in the 50-yards, which was not a bad performance for an afternoon. He started the spectators by making the two and one-half somersault dive. The grace with which he executes his dives is absolutely marvellous.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Esquimalt Friendly Help.—The postponed meeting of the Esquimalt Friendly Help Society will be held on Tuesday, August 23, at 3 o'clock.

County Court Chambers.—His Honor Judge Langman will take County Court Chambers at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

G. W. V. A.—An important meeting of the executive of the Great War Veterans' Association has been called for to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock, in their quarters, Bastion Street.

G. A. U. V.—Executive.—The regular meeting of the executive committee of the Grand Army of United Veterans will take place to-night in their club rooms, 1203 Langley Street, promptly at 8 o'clock.

In Saanich Court.—In the Saanich Police Court this afternoon Magistrate Alexis Martin is hearing evidence in the case of Mike Semmler charged with having set fire to the house which he had built for neighbors.

Yvette School of Millinery.—Pemberton Building. Re-opens September. Morning, afternoon and evening classes. Ladies intending to join please register before September 1, as classes are limited to ensure individual attention. Phone 4731.

In City Police Court.—There was a small docket at the City Police Court this morning. R. E. McMoran charged with driving a motor car without a license pleaded not guilty and Magistrate Alexis Martin on hearing the evidence imposed a fine of $5.

Open Air Concert.—The St. Andrews and Caledonian Society will hold an open air concert Wednesday night at "Allandale," 818 Hillside Avenue, commencing at 7.45 o'clock in aid of the fund for the juvenile pipe band equipment. Miss Mairi Matheson, the noted singer of Scottish folk songs, will take part in the programme, which also includes a number of popular local artists.

To Welcome Dr. Butler.—A social evening will be held in the New Thought Temple on Friday night, beginning at 8 o'clock. An excellent programme has been arranged, and it is hoped that the congregation will be in full attendance, as the evening is in the form of a welcome for the return of Dr. and Mrs. Butler from their vacation.

Milk Was Spilled.—A collision between a Royal Dairy truck and a motorcycle driven by Howard Schmitt at the corner of Broad and Pandora Streets this morning resulted in a general distribution of the milk fluid all over the roadway. In attempting to avoid a crash, Stanley Davis, driving the truck, swerved his car to the sidewalk and Schmitt managed to escape without serious injury.

"Three M Society."—To-night at 8 o'clock the "Three M Society" of First Congregational Church will hold a musical evening in the upstairs church parlor. Bert Leck will be the speaker of the evening taking as his subject, "Music As An Uphill." Vocal and instrumental selections will be included in the evening's programme, and all members and friends of the society will be welcome. Plans for the Winter programme will be discussed at the close of the regular meeting. The officers of the society are preparing for an interesting programme of events for the coming season.

ADVOCATES HOSTEL FOR BUSINESS GIRLS

Original Address by Mrs. Ogilvie Before Kumtuks Club To-day.

The need for a hostel for the business women of Victoria, where a girl of humble means could find an atmosphere of comfort and refinement, devoid of the attributes of certain existing institutions which the speaker claimed were "a second hand store where derelicts in furniture and females seem to abound," was emphasized by Mrs. Ogilvie in a clever and original address before the Kumtuks Club at its fortnightly luncheon to-day. The meeting was held in the Arcade Cafe. Miss Lotie Bowron, the president, was in the chair, and the guests included Miss J. L. Cooley-Batt, an English writer on economic subjects, and Miss Kenwick of Vancouver.

Speaking as a self-supporting business woman of many years' experience, Mrs. Ogilvie averred that the finest antidote to the dangers of "Jazz," unhealthy movies, cabarets and similar allied evils could be found in the provision of a refined environment for business girls of small means.

In many cases we are what our surroundings make us. If they are dowdy, depressing and cheerless our outlook on life is going to be depressing and cheerless, and this will affect our work and our lives and our influence on those with whom we come in contact. What the business girl needs is a comfortable hostel where she can be absolutely free, and not tied with irksome restrictions. She wants comfort, refinement, and good food, and to be able to entertain her friends when she wishes. Rooming houses are often frowny and cheerless abodes," claimed the speaker.

Mrs. Ogilvie advocated the establishment in Victoria of a hostel similar to the Shelbourne House Club, which has proved such a success in Toronto. "This hostel has all the

INSPECTION TO DECIDE BRIDGE'S FUTURE PROGRESS

Engineers to Investigate Effects of Harbor Blasting

Investigations to be carried out by City Engineer F. M. Preston and officials of the Dominion Public Works Department this afternoon will determine to a considerable extent, the progress of the new Johnson Street bridge work during the next few months, Mr. Preston announced to-day.

Mr. Preston and Public Works officials will examine the effects of a large blast which will be fired to-day on the harbor bottom near the bridge site. If this blast clears away most of the rock which the Public Works Department wishes to remove, it will be possible for city workmen to commence immediately the installation of the first of the cement bridge piers without the danger of further heavy explosions which might crack the cement. It is hoped that if this afternoon's blast is successful, the remaining blasting work will not require large charges of dynamite.

If it should be found that no further heavy explosions near the bridge site will be necessary Mr. Preston's bridge gangs will get cement work under way by Thursday. The last of the wooden piles which will support the cement bridge piers was driven to-day. Huge quantities of cement will be placed on top of these piles in the afternoon and the foundation. It will be impossible to start cement work of this kind if more heavy blasting nearby is required. It is for that reason that great importance is attached to this afternoon's inspection of the effects of the blasting to date.

G. R. NADEN SEES ISLAND IN A DAY

Week-end Tour Shows Him Forests Are Guarded

A little tour during which he covered the greater part of Vancouver Island is the week-end outing which G. R. Naden, Deputy Minister of Lands, took yesterday. He went by seaplane.

Major Andrews of the Lands Department also made the trip.

The two officials went from Vancouver in the patrol plane which makes its regular Sunday run up the East Coast of the Mainland and down the Island to protect the valuable timber areas by reporting any outbreaks. Mr. Naden was shown all the areas where fires had broken out this year and in the Alberni and Nitinat districts where last Winter's storms had mowed down swathes through the forests.

Both officials declared that the modern means of forest protection adopted by the Department of Lands this year were proving effective.

P.G.E. TOUR TO PAY ALL EXPENSES

The educational tour for members of the Legislature and public men generally which Premier Oliver will conduct over the Pacific Great Eastern Railway as far as Quesnel this week, will pay for itself, A. B. Buckworth, general manager of the line, announced to-day in a message to the Premier.

About twenty-five members of the House have accepted the Premier's invitation, along with some bank managers and newspaper men. M. E. Jackson, K.C., M.P.P., announced to-day that he would make the trip.

There will be accommodation for about 100 persons on the trip. The Premier counted on selling about fifty tickets to outsiders to pay expenses. With the number of guests cut down through refusals, the number of tickets to be sold will be increased. Mr. Buckworth said to-day there would be no difficulty in selling all that were available.

The party will start from Vancouver Thursday morning.

SINGLE MEN MUST WORK; WILL GET NO AID FROM CITY

No unmarried men who are physically fit and who refuse to do harvest work on the Prairies will receive assistance from the city, Mayor Porter who has been supervising the city's efforts to send harvesters to the Prairies, announced to-day.

"I have given instructions to the

CALLS MEETING TO PREPARE PLANS FOR UNION CONVENTION

Mayor Also Wants Action to Cut Down Expenses

To line up plans for the Port Alberni convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities and start his campaign to cut down current civic expenditures, Mayor Porter wishes to make to the gathering, it is expected that a copy of the convention agenda will be in the hands of the Mayor by Friday so that the Council will be able to act intelligently on matters connected with the convention. The subject of most importance which the city plans to broach at the convention is that of church taxation.

Recently the Council instructed its solicitor to endeavor, at the next session of the Legislature, to secure legislation which would enable cities to tax church sites in spite of the recent decision of the Privy Council on the suit between the Roman Catholic Bishop of Vancouver Island and the city on this. Now it is planned to line up all B. C. municipalities behind such a move.

The Mayor has not yet received from city officials reports showing how various city appropriations are being spent. He expects to say figures on this matter within a day or two, however.

At least we know that we are going behind each year. The Workmen marked this morning. We spend more every year than we secure in taxes. We can't continue along that line forever. That is why I want to see if we can cut down our current expenditure this year."

MAN KNOCKED DOWN

At 18.45 o'clock this morning M. Campanaro, North Park Street, employed by the Warren Construction Company, was knocked down by a truck of the Drysdale Construction Company, as a result of which the injured man is lying in the Jubilee Hospital suffering from a compound fracture of the leg. Dr. Vye is attending to the case. Campanaro was working with a pick in the roadway when the truck, which was loaded with wood, ran over him. He is a widower with three children. The accident occurred on Quadra Street near Blenkinsop Road and the city police patrol was rushed to the scene.

LIFE WAS A MISERY TO HER

Says This Woman Until Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Owen Sound, Ont.—"I suffered for ten years with female organic trouble, neuralgia and indigestion, and was weak and had such bad pains I could hardly walk or stand up at times. When I would sweep I would have to go and lie down. I could not sleep at night, and would waddle around the house half the time. I tried everything, but nothing did me any good, and the last doctor I had told me he never expected me to be on my feet again or able to do a day's work. One day one of your little books was left at my door and my husband said I should try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I thank God I did for it relieved me, and I am now well and strong. I think there is no remedy like the Vegetable Compound for anyone who has my troubles, and have recommended it to my neighbors. You can publish my letter for the benefit of those I can't reach."—Mrs. Henry A. Mitchell, 1767 7th Ave., East, Owen Sound, Ont.

PEGGY'S PIERROTS NEARING CONCLUSION

Special Features to Wind Up Season

Peggy's Pierrots are making arrangements to close their successful season at the Gorge Park, and next week they are starting on a farewell show, particularly featuring their most successful turns throughout the season.

Last week Mr. Sidney Crossley, the imitable comedian dressed as a dame in "The Gypsy Warned Me," and Mr. Dave Dumbleton more than proved himself the finished artist with his songs and dances. While Mr. Joseph Haig, the senior male member of this clever little company, again delighted his audience with "Who'll Take the Place of Mary?"

The female element of this delightful troupe was as usual capably upheld by the delightful contralto Miss Kathleen Macdonald, and the dainty comedienne and enterprising Miss Peggy Lewis. The former delighted her audience by rendering them with "Bonnie Doom."

The usual amateur night for adults 15 years and over will be held on Tuesday night, while the children's competition will be held on Thursday night. On both these occasions the winners will receive prizes.

This week Miss Peggy Lewis is presenting a successfully funny "Gaul Sketch," which is promised to make all her patrons desiring to go to gaol and in which with the balance of her performance she introduces entirely new songs, new dresses and a complete change of scenery. Peggy's Pierrots perform daily at 2.30 and 8.30 o'clock.

Convention Date Set.—The Kiwanis District Convention to be held in Victoria, is now definitely set for October 14 and 15.

Navigation Class.—The navigation class conducted by the British Naval Brigade will continue its work as from Thursday, August 25, holding sessions at half-past seven in the evenings at the ships' office.

DRAMATIC SCREEN
MYSTERY UNFOLDS

Story of Wilderness Will Be Told at Royal

Teeming with that mystery, suspense and fascination which mark the vigorous and refreshing James Oliver Curwood stories of the Far North, "The Golden Snare," which was shown at the Royal Victoria Theatre this afternoon, is without doubt the best screen version yet made of any of the author's works.

"CRAZY TO MARRY"

AT DOMINION
Fatty Arbuckle Is Shown in Artificial Rain

One of the most effective spectacles in "Crazy to Marry," the latest Paramount offering starring Roscoe Arbuckle, which will be shown at Dominion Theatre to-day, is the sequence of rain scenes during the chase episode.

The rain-making rigging consists of a long pipe, equipped with revolving sprinklers set at intervals along the entire length of the pipe. The pipe is held up high in the air, in a mountain position, supported at either end by a long tripod. A hose is connected at one end of the pipe and when the water is turned on the sprinklers begin to shower copious drops in all directions. The wind machine, placed immediately behind the rain device, within this rainy area, the actors go through with their scenes.

In this new picture, Mr. Arbuckle has the role of a surgeon whose pet theory is that a thief can be cured of his criminal instincts by an operation on the brain. Bull Montana plays the thief, Diego Rea, and much clever comedy is the result. Lila Lee is the leading woman and Lura Anson, Edwin Stevens, Sylvia Ashton, Allen Darnell, Sidney Bracey, Genevieve Bilan and others of screen prominence also in the cast.

COLUMBIA WILL

PRESENT FINE CAST

George Walsh Appears in Story of New York Life

Beginning to-day, the Columbia Theatre will present a William Fox screen version of Gelett Burgess' popular novel, "Find the Woman," under the title of "A Manhattan Knight." The star of the production is George Walsh, who has appeared with great success in other stories of this type.

A fine cast will be seen in support of the athletic star, who in this production sets a new mark for other two-fisted stars of the screen to aim at. Virginia Hammond, now appearing in support of Blanche Bates and Henry Miller on Broadway; Robert Bentley, also on Broadway; and Pauline Garon, and Louis R. Wohlhelm, both in successful New York stage productions, support Walsh in this great story of New York life.

George Beranger directed the picture—his first for Fox Film Corporation—and the photography was in the hands of Charles Gilson.

This picture is being shown to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday only.

VARIETY PRESENTS

"THE CONFESSION"

Henry B. Walthall Stars in Much Discussed Film

"The Confession" is the play which when produced on the legitimate stage set all Canada talking. In picture form it is even bigger and more elaborately produced and contains many thrilling climaxes which were impossible to produce on the stage because of lack of space. It comes direct from Montreal, where it was given an unprecedented run and shown to capacity houses the entire week. If you are fond of the bigger and better things in the silent drama it will be well worth your time traveling to the Variety Theatre to see, where it is being shown all this week.

Mildred Page Players Have Attractive Vehicle

Cannot Come to Pacific Coast Until Season of 1922-23

To those who know the high standard of the plays always produced by the Mildred Page Players, it will be no news when the merits of the next play are set forth. "The Town Marshal" is the title of this new production, and Mr. Coats will be seen in the title role. This is a character study which, according to Mr. Coats' own statement, is particularly interesting to him as he has known just such a man in real life. Miss Page will be seen in a charming part, a rollicking character, well suited to her.

One of the most important engagements made by Mary Garden since she assumed the position of general director of the Chicago Opera Association is that whereby Marguerite D'Alvarez will be principal contralto of the organization next season, singing with the company in both Chicago and New York. On account of her many concert appearances already arranged for, Mme. D'Alvarez will be able to sing only eight times in all in opera, and these performances will be divided equally between the two cities, and will be confined to the months of November and February respectively.

pany, she and Ferrari-Fontana sang the principal parts. Their united efforts gave the work a popularity which it had never had in Boston, and it was sung around the entire subscription series of performances to audiences of such size that several additional presentations were given. Of her portrayals on that occasion Olin Downes wrote in The Boston Post: "Hearing Mme. D'Alvarez, one would say that Saint-Saens had written his opera for her; at any rate for such a singer and such a voice."

Alice Terry, whose blond beauty is familiar to picture-goers all over the country, finds it difficult to convince some people that her light golden hair is her own and no drug store product.

An earnest young flapper approached Miss Terry while visiting the Metro studios in Hollywood, where she is appearing in Rex Ingram's latest production, "Turn to the Right," and said gushing: "Your hair is so beautiful what do you use on it?"

"Soap and water," responded Miss Terry.

WALTER HAMPDEN SCORES TRIUMPH Revivals of Shakespeare Secure Great Praise

A memorable Shakespearean week has just closed in the Wieting Theatre, Syracuse, says the Syracuse Herald, with Walter Hampden as the crowning attraction. Thanks to his presence here, local audiences were delighted with fine presentations of "Hamlet," "The Merchant of Venice," "Romeo and Juliet" and "The Taming of the Shrew." There is a wide range of tragedy and comedy in these four diversified masterpieces, and they supplied an excellent test of Mr. Hampden's versatility. His "Hamlet" particularly was a prodigy of histrionic art. Last year Mr. Hampden's first reading of the play in Syracuse was deemed worthy of The Herald's editorial attention for what it was and for what it promised, and also because every sincere, reverent and authoritative effort to popularize the Shakespearean drama deserves newspaper encouragement. His "Hamlet" of last year seemed pretty close to perfection, and yet the discerning observer whose privilege it was to compare his performance then and now could note the improvement while wondering where and how he found room for it. The later interpretation of the role was characterized by more finish and self-possession, and a more confident mastery of the wonderful variation of human emotion and of its visible and oral expression which has made this character the supreme test of the talents of every great actor who has endeavored to portray it. We have seen most of the great "Hamlets" that have paced the American stage since the later years of Booth, including his own and Charles Fechter's, and we believe that, making due allowance for the difference in age, Hampden's impersonation deserves to be ranked with theirs. We can easily imagine that Booth's "Hamlet" was little if any superior, when he was Hampden's age, to that which held an appreciative audience in a spell of admiration and suspense last week. In some parts of play, as, for example, in the ghost scene in the first act, Mr. Hampden's superb dramatic art would bear examination with Booth's. It was only in the immortal soliloquy and in the graveyard scene that one was conscious of Hampden's failure to reach the heights attained by the greatest of the Hamlets, as all Americans considered Booth, of dramatic history. The Shakespearean lovers of Syracuse owe Mr. Hampden a real debt of gratitude for last week's series of captivating intellectual entertainments. When he comes again he will have, we trust, a more profitable greeting, and there can be no doubt he will respond to it with an even more marvelous exhibition of his very rare artistic gifts.

Castles of Wales: Castellau Cymry

(By A. Petch) President Victoria Cymrodorion Society.

ARTICLE XII

Tenby Castle, on the western coast of the extensive Bay of Carmarthen, very singularly situated on the eastern and southern side of a narrow rocky peninsula, surrounded by the sea on every side except the north, stands the town of Tenby, one of the most interesting and romantic of British watering places. From its Welsh name, Dyfnhych y Ffrydod, that is, the Precipice of Fishes, and other circumstances, there is reason to believe that Tenby acquired considerable importance at an early period as a fishing station, for which it is admirably adapted. Some writers have ascribed the origin of the present town to the settlement of a colony of Flemings in this and the opposite peninsula of Gower, in Glamorganshire, early in the twelfth century. These people, whose industrious habits, language, and manners presented a striking contrast to the restless dispositions of the native inhabitants, were placed by the King (Henry I) under the control of Gerald de Windsor, Governor of Pembroke Castle, by whose direction they fortified Tenby and other towns and strongholds in Pembroke-shire, as a means of security against the incursions of the partly subdued Welsh.

Was Well Fortified.

In consequence of the strength and importance of the situation, more than ordinary care seems to have been bestowed in fortifying Tenby, which was enclosed by walls of great height and strength, and further defended by a castle, of whose ponderous and crumbling ruins we shall presently have occasion to speak. The town and castle, however, underwent several serious changes in the middle ages, and were once burned and almost wholly destroyed by the sons of Rhys ap Griffith, Prince of South Wales. During the Civil War, Tenby and its castle were more than once taken and re-taken by the rebels and Royalists. In 1647, when Cromwell marched into South Wales, it was in the hands of the cavaliers, who defended it with great resolution and gallantry against a large detachment of Cromwell's Army. In more than five days, the impotence attached by Cromwell to the possession of this stronghold affords strong evidence of its consequence as a military post at that period.

Ancient Keep.

This castle, which was once of great strength and magnificence embraced within its fortifications the whole of the upper surface of peninsular rock, which terminates the Bay of Tenby on the south. On the summit of the hill are the shattered ruins of the keep, which may be assigned to an earlier date than any other portion of the structure. The remains of a magnificent hall, 100 feet in length, of a room scarcely inferior in its dimensions, of a square tower, a bastion, and lofty arched entrance, are still tolerably perfect. The bold and majestic outline of the adjacent coast of Pembroke, and its dark headlands and receding inlets; the wide expanse of the Carmarthen Bay, and the more distant waters of the Cad-nel, terminated by Lundy Island, and the lofty scenery of North Devon; the shores of Carmarthen and Glamorganshire, and the very singular rocky promontory of the Wormhead on the opposite coast of Gower; together with the wild and romantic group of insulated rocks, almost immediately below the eye of the spectator, amongst which the Islands of Caldy and St. Katherine stand boldly out, compose a scene which, for extent and variety, has few equals.

Near the extremity of Tenby pier, formerly dedicated to St. Julian, and said to have been appropriated to devotional purposes, in the olden time, by sailors before going to sea. This aged little building has been in our times used as a chapel. Cardigan and Aberystwith Castles. There is an accepted tradition that formerly, in addition to the present five hundred in Cardiganshire, there was a sixth, called Gwaselod, or "Low Land," which has been encroached upon by the sea, as I have before mentioned in my account of Criccieth, and was submerged about A.D. 830. Portions of trees are found at a considerable distance from the shore, a fact which, combined with the circumstance that the rocks run in a serpentine direction about twenty-two miles from the Merionethshire coast, between Harlech and Barmouth, tends to confirm the above opinion. I might state that the word Bar-mouth in English is a corruption of Aber-maw, or as the Welsh use it Bernmaw, or as I have before explained, Aber means the emptying of one river into another or into the sea. Maw was the name of the river, therefore Abermaw, or Barmouth.

Upon a dispute with Cadwgan, Gilbert Strigbow, Earl of Striggriff (I have an idea that Criccieth has been taken from this name) is stated to have raised a strong force, by permission of Henry I, to secure Cadwgan's territories. Gilbert soon re-duced Cardiganshire, and built the Castles of Aberystwith and Cilgerran. In 1114 Gruffydd, the son of Rhys ap Tewdor, accepted the government of Cardiganshire, but he was soon after cut-to pieces by Gilbert Strigbow and the Normans, to the great joy of the Welsh. Gilbert did not long survive him.

Aberystwith Castle, in a long series of struggles, was taken and re-taken, and burned and rebuilt, and a town grew up under its walls. In 1171, King Henry II, gave Cardiganshire, with other territories, to Prince Rhys, the last prince of this district. In 1176, Prince Rhys gave a great entertainment at Christmas in his Castle of Cardigan; an account of which appeared in my article on the origin of Welsh music. Gruffydd, Rhys' son, became Lord of Cardiganshire in 1198; he was soon involved in a dispute with his brother Maelgwyn, who seized his territory, and threw him into prison. In 1207, this cruel usurper, fearing an attack from Llewelyn ap Iorwerth, Prince of North Wales, demolished his Castles of Aberystwith, Ystrad, Meric, and Dinerth; nevertheless, Llewelyn entered Cardiganshire, and having re-built Aberystwith Castle, gave it to Rhys and Owen, the sons of Gruffydd ap Rhys, and nephews of Maelgwyn. Maelgwyn swore allegiance to the English and Normans, gave battle to his nephew, but was conquered and slain. King John, having already subdued the rest of Wales, compelled Rhys and Owen to give up their lands, and do homage to him. He also fortified and garrisoned Aberystwith Castle but did not retain his possession. In 1215 Llewelyn entered Cardiganshire, took Cardigan Castle, afterwards seized Aberystwith Castle; he also sustained sieges from, and in turn besieged the English, who, having obtained possession, were in 1218, conquered by Maelgwyn the younger. In 1276, Madoc did homage to Llewelyn ap Gruffydd, as Lord of Carigan, agreeably to the charter granted by the King of England, which conformed to Llewelyn the title of Prince of Wales. King Edward, in 1277, obtained great advantage over Llewelyn, and dictated hard conditions of peace, to enforce which he built and garrisoned a fortress at Aberystwith. In 1404, Owen Glyndwr took Aberystwith Castle, which was recovered by Prince Henry in 1407. The Earl of Richmond, afterward Henry VII., passed through Cardiganshire on his way from Milford to Bosworth Field in 1485. The Castle and fortifications were dismantled in 1647, when they were torn from Charles I. Permission to Coin. A curious privilege was granted by King Charles to Mr. Bushel, then proprietor of many mines in Cardiganshire, the permission to coin the metal he raised. Some of the money coined by him has been dug up at Aberystwith, and was distinguished by a plume of feathers on the reverse. There is some doubt as to the site of Strongbow Castle built at Aberystwith, a learned correspondent, Mr. John Hughes, of Llanelwillyr, has furnished the following communication to Mr. Cliffe for his excellent "Book of South Wales." From the description in the Welsh Chronicles it may be doubted whether the castle built by Strongbow occupied the site of the present ruins, in one place (in these Chronicles) it is stated that the castle was built at the mouth of the River Ystwith, and in another that it stood on top of a high hill, the declivity of which reached the River Ystwith, over which there was a bridge. This description would seem to point to Pen Dinas, or to the opposite hill on the other side of the Ystwith, where the remains of a castle are seen plainly to be seen. The first mention of the town of Aberystwith is made in reference to a quarrel between the sons of Prince Rhys, who died in 1198; and is to the effect that the son Rhys' son Gruffydd succeeded his father in property and power, but which he was not able to retain long, for the brother Maelgwyn, whom the father had disinherited, came suddenly upon him at Aberystwith, in conjunction with Gwennywyn, the son of Owen Cyfeilioc, with a powerful force, and took the town and castle. Mr. Hughes adds that he does not think it all probable that Cromwell was here during the siege in 1647, as has hitherto been believed. The foundation of Cardigan Castle as ascribed to Gilbert de Clare about 1160. The first fortifications lasted only a short time in the shuffles between the Welsh and their Norman invaders; but the damage or destruction of the castle was soon restored by the victors. The two towers and the walls now standing are probably the remains of the fortifications about 1240. Edward I. resided here for a month while settling the affairs of South Wales. The castle stands in a commanding position above the river, Giridus Cambrensis states the Leify to have been the last British river in which beavers were found.

Famous Ruins.

The ruins of Aberystwith Castle stand on a rocky elevation washed by the sea. Fortunately, these remains have, with commendable taste, been preserved. Alluding to Leify, as the last British river where beavers were found, it may be interesting to many to know that in olden times the Welsh believed that there were crocodiles found in their lakes and rivers, and Brown, in his "Wild Wales" makes mention of such. But according to ancient writers, in amongst whom Giridus Cambrensis must be mentioned, claim that the animal that infested these places was the beaver (Welsh Afang). But this animal was not peculiar to the Leify, but was equally known in North Wales, as the name of places testify. A small lake in Montgomeryshire is called "Llyn yr Afang." A pool in the River Coe was not far from

Abbey's SALT advertisement featuring an illustration of a woman and a bottle of salt. Text includes: 'Dizzy spells are usually caused by Biliousness or Constipation. "Abbey's Effervescent" will relieve this condition and restore the normal action of the liver. Physicians recommend ABBEY'S.' 'Bettys Coed, bears the same name, and the vale Ogwen in Caernarvonshire is supposed by the native to be a corruption "Nant yr Afan Cwm," of Vale of Beavers. Mr. Owen in his dictionary says "That it has been seen in the vale within the memory of man."

WHAT THE CLUBS ARE DOING

DISTRICT GOVERNOR'S VISIT. The Nanaimo Rotary Club was paid an official visit Wednesday evening by Mr. Ernest Skeel, of Seattle, President of District 22, with which the Rotary Club is affiliated. The meeting was held at Sunset Inn, Quilicum Beach, some sixty-two members and friends enjoying the hospitality of the speaker his address was much appreciated, not only by Rotarians, but also by the non-members privileged to be present. Rotarian W. C. Shelly, president of the Vancouver Rotary Club, was also present and made a short address on the proceedings of the Edinburgh Convention the salient features of which he declared, was the desire expressed by British Canadian and American delegates for a unification of purpose and aims by the English speaking peoples of the world. During the course of the evening Rotary songs were rendered with considerable pep, three new members were introduced, and an interesting programme rendered, solos being rendered by Mrs. W. W. Gray, Mrs. Orington and Norman Carter. The festivities were brought to a close by a dance, the members of the party returning to their respective homes at an early hour. MARY ALDEN'S HOBBY. Mary Alden, who has scored so heavily in the pre-release of "The Old Nest," in which she plays the role of the mother, has a fond of collecting pictures of children. Whenever she hears any of her friends talking about their youngsters, she always requests photographs for her large collection. She also has pictures of many screen stars who were her babies, including Miriam Cooper, Pauline Starke, Lillian and Dorothy Gish, Bobby Harron and Max Marsh.

S.S. ARIZONA MARU

MADE PORT RIGHT

ON SCHEDULE TIME

Capt. D. Fuchigami Reported Good Passage and No Fog off Coast

Making good time on the final lap of her trans-pacific voyage, and escaping fog at the entrance to the Straits, the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner Arizona Maru succeeded in reaching quarantine early yesterday afternoon, and by 2 o'clock she was berthed alongside the Outer Docks. The Arizona Maru maintained her time throughout the passage. She sailed from Yokohama, August 8, and docked here right on schedule. Good weather and an uneventful voyage was reported by Capt. D. Fuchigami, commander of the Japanese liner.

In the past, cargoes from the Orient have been light, and the Arizona Maru was no exception to the inward rule. Her freight totaled about 5,000 tons and included a valuable shipment of raw silk, in addition to the usual Oriental commodities. Less than one hundred tons were discharged here, and the steamship left at 4:30 p. m. for Seattle via Port Townsend.

The Arizona Maru carried nine cabin and twenty-five steerage passengers for Victoria, the latter including two Indians.

The local postal officials took off 130 bags of mail, including five for the aerial route to Seattle.

Eddie Hubbard, the air mail pilot, was on hand, and flew back to Seattle shortly after the arrival of the ship.

The Arizona Maru is scheduled to sail on her outward voyage September 2. She will load a capacity cargo at Seattle, Tacoma and Vancouver.

STEAMER QUEEN LEFT YESTERDAY FOR CALIFORNIA

Reaching port from Seattle at 1:15 p. m. yesterday, the Admiral Line steamer Queen cleared about an hour later on her southbound trip to San Francisco. The steamer was delayed for overhaul at Seattle when changes were made to her propeller. She took out a good number of passengers for California points.

GOLF PRACTICE

NEW INNOVATION ON BOARD SHIPS

S.S. Hawkeye State, Outbound Saturday, Equipped With Golfing Green

A novel sea-sports innovation in the shape of special facilities for golf practice while afloat is to be introduced with the entry of the liner Hawkeye State in the trans-Pacific service of the Admiral Line.

E. G. McMicken, passenger traffic manager, Admiral Line, announced the installation of the game of ship-board golf, whereby exponents of the game will be afforded an opportunity of keeping up practice while at sea.

On the upper, or top board deck, of the Hawkeye State, as well as on other liners of the fleet, will be installed an artificial golfing green, and with "springs" on the golf balls, the regular drives and teeing off may be practiced in a manner calculated to insure practice at precision.

The Hawkeye State will also carry a "jazz orchestra" similar to the musical organizations sent out on the Wenatchee, Silver State and Keystone State.

The vessel is now loading cargo on Puget Sound and is scheduled to leave Seattle next Saturday morning for Victoria en route to sea on her first voyage in the Admiral Line service. The Hawkeye State is commanded by Capt. Charles Peterson and is manned by a Matson Line crew, for she is to revert back to that company on her arrival at Manila, and will return to San Francisco from the Philippine port via China, Japan and Honolulu.

ACTIVITY PREVAILS AT YARROWS' PLANT

S.S. Caddo Being Refitted and Start is made on Dry-dock Crib

Arriving in the Royal Roads late last night from San Francisco, the Standard Oil Company's tanker Caddo this morning steamed into Esquimalt harbor and is now tied up at Yarrows, Ltd. The vessel, as previously announced, is to be given a complete refit, and will be in the hands of the Lang-Cove ship-repairers for the next four weeks. Work has already been started on the ship. The firm of Yarrows secured the Caddo contract in open competition with San Francisco companies and the fact that the contract was handed under such conditions is considered quite a feather in the industrial cap of the Esquimalt plant.

Start on Crib.

A start was made at Yarrows today in the actual construction of the first of five giant cribs which are to be built by the Esquimalt firm for the foundations of the wharf to be constructed in connection with the Esquimalt drydock. These cribs are to be built on specially constructed ways and will be launched and floated to the site where they will be sunk in position. A businesslike scene of activity is offered at Yarrows, Ltd.

VIOLATOR OF FISHERY REGULATIONS SPOTTED BY AEROPLANE SCOUT

Fraser Fisherman Cast His Net Ahead of Time and Ordered to Pay Costs

New Westminster, B. C., Aug. 22.—What is probably the first case on record whereby an aeroplane observer has detected violators of the fishery regulations was reported here when George Benson, of Silverdale, was ordered to pay the court costs for casting a net in the Fraser River at a time when the weekly closed season was in effect. A few minutes to 6 p. m. Sunday evening, August 14, Benson was observed by Major MacArthur, flying aloft in a Government seaplane, drop his net into the river. The season opens at 6 o'clock sharp each Sunday evening.

It transpires that there is a local custom among Silverdale fishermen to take their time from the whistle of a sawmill, and this siren sounded soon after the magistrate felt that the sawmill whistle might have had something to do with the offense, and let Benson off by paying the court costs.

NEW LINERS DUE EARLY NEXT YEAR

Empress of China, ex-Tirpitz, Will be on Pacific Run in January

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—The new C. P.-O. S. liner Empress of China, formerly the German steamer Tirpitz, will be out here for a regular run between Vancouver, Victoria and the Orient in January or February. H. McDonald, naval architect for the C. P. O. S., who has been in the city for the past few days, stated she is a magnificent vessel of 21,000 tons and practically new. She was built in 1914 and held penned up with other German vessels by the blockade of the British navy.

The Empress of China is 658 feet long, 78 feet beam, 41 feet molded depth. The Empress of Asia is 570 feet long, 65 feet beam and 42 feet depth. The "China" left Immingham, Eng., on August 20 for Hamburg to be fitted with oil-burning equipment. She will be the only ship afloat with turbine transformers of the new German type, and it is freely predicted that they will give her tremendous speed at a low fuel consumption. No word has been heard of installing oil burning machinery in the Empress of Asia and Agassiz.

With regard to the Empress of Canada she will not be out until some time after the China.

CREW OF ALASKA WERE UNWILING TO AID SURVIVORS

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 22.—Only two members of the crew of the steamer Alaska, sunk off the California coast with the loss of many lives, were willing to man boats from the rescue steamer Anyox to go to the aid of victims of the wreck, Capt. S. Snoddy, master of the Anyox, declared in a statement here.

Capt. Snoddy, in his statement, took exception to testimony reported to have been given by First Officer William E. McClintock of the Alaska, before a federal board of inquiry Thursday to the effect that McClintock had made two separate attempts to get a volunteer crew to go from the Anyox in search of survivors, but was stopped on both occasions by Capt. Snoddy.

"Mr. McClintock's offer was not taken seriously," Capt. Snoddy said, "as most of the boats and rafts that had been picked up were only about half full and hardly any of those rescued were able to pull an oar or make a painter fast. Also only two of the Alaska's crew offered their services. I told them they could go, but advised them the best thing that could be done was for the Anyox to continue cruising in the neighborhood of the wreck, blowing her whistle and thus locating survivors. I refused permission for members of our crew to go, as they were needed aboard to get survivors aboard the ship from the boats."

"Outside of three or four men, including one steward, none of the Alaska's crew gave assistance in this

BRITISH ORPHANS FROM UKRAINE

S.S. Scandinavian Brought 140 for Adoption in Canada

Montreal, Aug. 22.—The C. P. O. S. Scandinavian, Captain Hamilton, has arrived here from Antwerp. She carries a total of 1,092 passengers, of whom 410 were baby and 682 third-class. A baby boy was born to Jewish parents on the fourth day at sea, and was christened after the captain. The stowaways, all Jews, were handed over to the city police at Quebec.

One hundred and forty Jewish orphans from the Ukraines were brought over for adoption by Jewish families throughout Canada under the auspices of the Jewish War Orphans' Commission of Canada.

The Anchor-Donalson Line steamer Saturnia, Captain Taylor, from Glasgow, docked with 196 cabin passengers and 133 third-class.

VEGETABLE PRICES DUE FOR ADVANCE
Such is Opinion of Fruit Markets Commissioner.

Fruit Markets Commissioner J. A. Grant writes in the bulletin issued at Calgary as follows:
"Reports from Yakima and Wenatchee are very encouraging. Dealers who visited the eastern part of Washington from Seattle say that the wholesale row in Seattle looks quiet after what they saw in Wenatchee and Yakima."
"Buyers from the East were there in force, and bidding for the season's fruit was lively. The International Apple Shippers' Association at Cincinnati, Ohio, started the ball rolling in western box apple buying. Sales there were made of Extra Fancy Jonathans at $2.10 per ton, while the Extra Fancy Delicious brought $2.25 to $2.50 per box, 60,000 box lot of Newtons, 150 or larger, sold at $1.80; Extra Fancy Spits, $1.95, and Winesaps, $1.95.

"Some individual sales of Idaho Rome Beauties and Jonathans brought for Rome $1.90, Jonathans $2.10. A fifty car sale of Idaho Peaches brought $2.50 per bushel. "In Yakima 3,500 tons of canners pears have been sold at $40 per ton with expected advance to $50 per ton. Elberta peaches have advanced from 75c. to 90c. per box.
"Wenatchee apple growers are refusing to sell until after September 1. Prices offered there so far are not as high as those quoted from Cincinnati."
"Potatoes are scarce and prices have advanced both in Oregon and Washington. Taking the general outlook in the United States and Canada, we feel safe in saying that all fruits and most of the vegetables, particularly onions and potatoes are due to rise in price. B. C. potatoes are to-day selling for less than any other state or province from the Gulf of Mexico to Alaska.

NEW YORK FIRM OF BROKERS FAILS
New York, Aug. 22.—The failure of Trippe & Company was announced to-day on the New York Stock Exchange.
The firm, which was organized one year ago, had been active in motor and tire shares.
Within the last year four Stock Exchange firms have failed. One was recently reinstated and discharged its obligations.

SMUTS'S LETTER.
The letter to De Valera from Premier Smuts of South Africa, in which General Smuts gave his construction of the British terms, has always been considered of importance and the newspapers have asked Premier Lloyd George to signify his acceptance or qualification of the views of the South African statesman.

ORGANS OF THE UNIONISTS HAVE BEEN URGING ACCEPTANCE OF THE GOVERNMENT'S PROPOSALS, OR AT LEAST THE SUBMISSION OF THEM TO A REFERENDUM IN SOUTHERN IRELAND.
The attitude of Ulster up to-day has been apparently unrelenting so far as making common cause with the Sinn Fein in attempting to reach a settlement with Great Britain was concerned. It seems that the decision of Sir James Craig to stand aloof during the negotiations between Dublin and London had not been reconsidered.

BOMB IN BELFAST.
The week-end passed quietly in this city, but it was marred in Belfast by the explosion of a bomb. Dispatches from that city last night, however, did not connect the incident with the activities of either the Sinn Fein or the Government forces.

LONG BEFORE 11 O'CLOCK, when the Dail Eireann was to meet, crowds gathered outside the Mansion House to cheer the Sinn Fein leaders.
Miss Mary MacSwiney, sister of the late Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, who died following a hunger strike in an English prison, arrived in Dublin from the United States yesterday.

AMONG THE PUBLIC, the result of today's secret meeting was awaited with great anxiety, not unmixt, it appeared, with considerable hope of formidable developments. It is said that a resolution which will be proposed by the Londonderry City Council next Thursday. It is said the resolution is certain of passage.

THE RESOLUTION will say, after a protest against this culminating act of British policy which has sought to divide in order to dominate us and for that purpose has set up an arbitrary, newfangled and unnatural boundary, based neither on the will of the people nor on any other valid ground, historical, geographical or economical.

WORLD NEWS

TO-DAY'S TRADING IN WINNIPEG MARKETS
Winnipeg, Aug. 22.—Selling on the local wheat market to-day was protracted and heavy, with prices on the decline for the greater part of the day. For a time during the session prices had dropped from 4 1/2 to 4 1/4 cents, but were later raised to 4 1/2 cents. The market closed 1/4 cent lower to 1/2 cent higher. October touched 27 1/2 cents, November 25 1/2 cents, and December 15 1/2 cents. Corns were steady with only fractional declines. Oats closed 1/4 to 1/2 cent higher, barley 1/2 to 1/4 cent higher; flax 1/2 to 1/4 cent higher; rye 1/2 to 1/4 cent lower.
The demand for wheat was urgent again this morning. Exporters and domestic millers were on the market and as a result there was keen bidding for the light offerings. Buying of cash wheat was practically on a flat basis, 1 1/2 to 1 1/4 being from 185 to 190.
Corns were dull and featureless. Inspections totaled 40 cars of all grades, of which 25 were contract grades.

RAILS SUBJECT TO PRESSURE TO-DAY
(By Burdick Brothers, Ltd.)
New York, Aug. 22.—The stock market to-day was again subject to selling orders and some sharp declines were registered. The rail group, which has been holding up well during the past week, took on an aspect to-day and pressure was brought to bear on this department of the list. C. P. R. and U. P. Northern Pacific and Great Northern were the leaders of the decline. The balance of the list closed more or less even.

There have been indications that a certain amount of dissension has obtained in the rank and file of the Dail Eireann members over the attitude to be taken toward the British offer of dominion status for Ireland and it appeared probable to-day that many members would speak on the question before final decision was reached.

WIRELESS PHONES TO BE INSTALLED ON GERMAN TRAINS
Berlin, Aug. 22.—Wireless telephone instruments will be installed on a number of important German express trains and receiving instruments will be put in hotels and the Embassies here, according to an announcement.
It is declared that in three weeks it will be possible for travelers on express trains to reserve accommodations by radio telephone.

NO OVERTURES BY SINN FEIN TO ULSTERITES
Belfast, Aug. 22.—Reports that had been in circulation here to the effect that overtures had been made to Ulster either by the Sinn Fein or on behalf of it were emphatically contradicted to-day by Colonel Spencer, secretary of the Ulster Cabinet.
Sir James Craig, the Premier, returned to Belfast this morning from a holiday in Scotland. A meeting of the Cabinet will be held to-morrow.

EARLY WEAKNESS FOLLOWED BY RALLY
(By Burdick Brothers' Ltd.)
Chicago, Aug. 22.—Grains opened steady and during the first hour little of interest was recorded, but another break in the Canadian market started some further selling here which lasted until shortly before the close, when a strong wave of short covering took place, figures being high for the day. The strong buying at the close was attributed to the reported decrease in the wheat supply.

SATISFACTION

Is a most important word in the mind of the up-to-date merchant who realizes that his business success depends upon the satisfaction of his customers.

Pleasing customers is our first thought always—in selecting our goods we are careful of quality—in serving our customers we strive always to give such good service that buying here becomes a pleasure. Our prices are always fair and consistent with the value of the goods we make, whether in the store or in our advertising, can be depended upon for these things and many more we do, because we want the confidence and good will of our customers.

We believe that the continued growth of our business is directly due to this policy of keeping Customer Satisfaction always in mind.

REASONS ADVANCED FOR INSURANCE

Four Prize Essays in Recent Competition

As stated on Saturday, Mrs. C. W. Brooke, 2734 Shelburne Street, won the first ladies' prize offered by the Life Underwriters' Association for the best essay on "Why a Married Man Should Carry Life Insurance."

Harold Smith, 246 Simcoe Street, was first for an essay telling why a young man should carry life insurance. J. A. Shanko, living the second prize. Cheques were mailed to-day from the offices of the local secretary, S. B. Johnston, 112 Pemberton Building.

The successful essays were as follows:

"Why a Married Man Should Carry Insurance"

It is absolutely necessary for a married man, whether he be laborer, artisan or of the professional class to carry life insurance. No man can tell, whatever his ambitions may be, whether he will live to carry out those ambitions. In the case of the laborer and artisan, however economical he may be, his wages rarely allow for the maintaining of a good bank account. He may be successful in saving quite a little sum but then sickness will most likely come along or he may be out of work for some time what has taken many sunny days to save, a few rainy ones will soon absorb. Where the married man has children to keep and to educate, and especially if he is the only wage-earner of the family, should he be insured? Then again the average married man is a property owner and perhaps the home is not fully paid for. To enable his wife and family to keep up the payments he has begun, should be a sufficient reason for taking out an insurance policy. The fact that man has made due preparation in that way, will not shorten his life any more than belonging to a friendly society would make a person ill. On the contrary, it may help to lengthen his life as the very fact that he has done all he can to provide for his family in case of need, will give him a self-satisfaction and confidence in himself and his work that will keep him from the continual anxiety that he would otherwise be subject to. No amount of money, however large, can compensate a woman for the loss of her life partner, but at the same time, she likes to know that there is a little provision made, so that if that time came, she would at least be able to keep a home together for her children until she could turn around and find a suitable way of earning something to meet the needs of her family.

In the case of the married man of the professional class, it is also necessary he should be insured so that in case of his decease, his wife may be able to continue her accustomed standard of living and not have the burden of poverty or reduced circumstances added to that of bereavement, and also that his children may continue their education instead of having to re-adjust their lives to fit the altered conditions. Many married men would scorn to accept charity in their life-time and yet, through want of thought, leave their families to beg for mercy, but if they could be persuaded to use a little forethought and study the matter from a sane and sensible standpoint they would very soon understand "Why a Married Man Should Be Insured."

When a man marries, with the help of music and flowers and friends, he solemnly promises to "endow with all his worldly goods" the girl who thereafter promises to "love, honor and obey" him. Both until their lives end.

He really hopes to give her all and more than he relinquishes when linking her fate with his. But in many cases, the "worldly goods" are the saleable value of his brain or his hand, and in the battle of life the weakest is under. Just here is where insurance comes into its own and can be the factor spelling ultimate success.

The man who is well insured will feel that, happen what may, those nearest and dearest to him, are secured against financial distress insofar as he is able to use them. Free from this anxiety he can develop the best that is in him, and realizing that his life is backed against chance, by a company of business men, for just the amount he chooses, he can give full scope to his ability, using if advisable, his policy as a business asset to increase the comfort of his family. Every man has a value, but every married man has made a woman dependent on him, and that is reason enough "Why a Married Man Should Carry Insurance."

In an economic sense, a young man who has no life insurance is naked, and should therefore be ashamed. The young man who has no insurance, small in proportion to his earnings is only partially clothed. For the race is with the young, since generally speaking, a man has only until the age of 45 to make good; to be a success or to be a failure. To be only as well off at the age of 45 as at the age of 25, counts as a failure, for no progress has been made unless in the gathering of experience that even then has been turned to no account.

The young man of to-day, especially the bachelor, is without handicaps. He can follow wherever employment is offered, he has had no cause to get into a rut, he enjoys or should enjoy perfect health, and he can take business risks, many of them highly profitable, that the older man, the man say of 50, dare not consider.

Yet the wise young man, whether married or single, will not cast eyes only upon the good things of today. He will weigh up the opportunities and openings by which future benefits are purchasable at reduced figures. He will not speculate, rather will he buy into a rut, he enjoys or should enjoy perfect health, and he can take business risks, many of them highly profitable, that the older man, the man say of 50, dare not consider.

The virtue of affection leads a man at the very first to proceed to take steps to protect those who are near and dear to him against financial loss through his decease. If there is one thing that makes a coward of a man when he faces death, it is the fear that should he die there are wife and children left without means of sustenance, or at the best, with reduced means of sustenance.

Thrift is not only the saving of money; it also includes the careful laying out of money. Thus every dollar laid out in life insurance is a dollar saved, earning good interest at compound rates. Who would pass up lightly the need for thrift, and the opening for thrift that life insurance affords?

Safeguarding Oneself.

The virtue of caution enables the young man to avoid putting his eggs into one basket, for however tempting the prospects for investment may be, a good proportion of a man's investments should be in gilt-edged securities, and life insurance satisfies that high standard. Further, the virtue of caution leads a man to safeguard an investment greater than all others, namely, himself, with his earnings ing powers and his potential capacity, spread over a normal lifetime. If the life of every individual is worth at least $1,000 per annum to the community, the capital value of a man is at least $20,000. Who would have a house of like value and not insure it against fire? Who would have jewels of such worth and not insure them against theft? And the lives of thousands of men, few of which are not worth even more than $20,000 in capital value—the lives of thousands of men are unprotected against the destroyer, death.

The virtue of vision is the power to look ahead; to view the future from an average standpoint; to sum up the hopes and fears, the potential success and the possible failures; and again life insurance finds an advocate in vision, for life insurance to-day is secure even though a man become permanently disabled.

Lastly, the virtue of ambition; the desire and the intention, may more, to make good. Ambition, too, finds a place for life insurance. The ambition that by a certain age there shall be policies maturing, policies becoming paid up, or policies costing no longer and returning dividends; milestones along the highway of success, bridges on the trail of safety.

Value to Community.

A young man carrying substantial insurance has definitely taken his place in the community and in the State. He has become a member of its financial circles, vitally interested in progress, and at the same time is a builder of the economic fabric, contributing to it and benefiting by it.

Co-operation, co-partnership, profit-sharing, these are ideals open to those who buy insurance. It stabilizes conditions, it makes for steady progress, because it does away with unrest, and it is a great social reformer in many directions; not least of all in that insurance solves largely the problem of old age.

Young men who are not insured, lose no time in getting insured. If you are only carrying a $1,000 policy increase it, for the second $1,000 is easier to secure than the first.

Young man, don't wait, do it now!

"Why a Young Man Should Carry Insurance."

Second Prize.

For the want of a nail the shoe was lost.

For the want of a shoe the horse was lost.

For the want of a horse the rider was lost.

For the want of a rider the battle was lost.

For the want of a battle the kingdom was lost.

All for the want of a horseshoe nail.

To which might be added:

For the want of protection a home was lost.

For the want of a home a family was lost.

All for the want of life insurance.

A young man who puts a portion of his savings into life insurance, whether or not he has dependents, at once establishes himself in the eyes of the business world as being sound in the basic principle of foresight; an ingredient absolutely indispensable to successful commercial advancement.

Life insurance is an asset to a young man's social standing. It shows stability and system, it encourages matrimony and social life, it encourages a young man with a policy that matures in 15 or 20 years a young man has something to look forward to something he can bank on. The following story may illustrate:

"A grasshopper half starved with cold and hunger, came to a well-stored beehive at the approach of Winter, and humbly begged the bees to relieve his wants with a few drops of honey. One of the bees asked him as a business asset to increase the comfort of his family. Every man has a value, but every married man has made a woman dependent on him, and that is reason enough "Why a Married Man Should Carry Insurance."

"Our plan is very different," said the bee, "we work hard in the Summer, to lay by a store of food against the season when we foresee we shall want it; but those who do nothing but drink and dance and sing in the Summer, must expect to starve in the Winter."

On Holy Writ.

Should political aspirations disturb his young life, nothing will inspire greater public confidence in him than the knowledge that he is taking intelligent precautions for the future. Looking at the problem from a religious angle, life insurance follows close on the teachings of Holy Writ. We find it written: "Whatever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." Neglect, indifference and waste cannot produce other than want, regret and disaster. The rewards of industry, prudence and forethought are too obvious for comment. One outstanding result is independence.

"The expectations of life depend upon diligence," said Confucius, "and the mechanic who would perfect his work must first sharpen his tools." Preparedness, therefore, is the keynote to every achievement worth while. Life insurance is that virtue personified.
