A new supply of ROOT'S CURRICULUM. Sold by special arrangement with Mr. Root at the Tonic Sol-fa Agency, 43, Paternoster-row. Price 18s. A liberal allowance to teachers.

"Songs and Pieces" by the author of the 'Prairie Flower,' 'Never forget the dear ones,' and the 'Laughing Chorus!' Lessons in Harmony, in the cultivation of the Voice, and in Musical Expression from the aptest pupil and intimate friend of the venerable Lowell Mason—the cleverest teacher we ever heard! What a rich treat to the lovers of popular musical education there must be here! These were our thoughts as we perused the title page and began to examine this large and well-filled volume. But expectation rose still higher when we were told, by a personal friend of Mr. Root's, that the work had occupied much of Mr. Root's time for the last six years, and nearly all his time during the last three! We are happy to say that expectation was not disappointed on a closer acquaintance. Here we found three streams of knowledge flowing on together, and each occupying the attention of the pupil at the right time and in the proper degree,—the knowledge of the pianoforte, the knowledge of voice cultivation, and the knowledge of harmony and expression. A young pupil, with an intelligent mother or a good teacher for a guide, may sit down to his piano with this book, and take his first and simplest lesson. From this he may go steadily on, making sure that he will never have to take a violent or very difficult or unnecessary step, but that every step will be higher than the last, and that he will be encouraged to linger on each step just long enough to make it quite familiar without being wearisome,—until he attains (in a year or two years time, we suppose) very skilful execution. But no sooner does he find himself quite firmly seated in command of the finger board, than a few simple exercises for the voice begin, and his new formed power of playing is called into use to accompany his own songs on the piano. These little songs occasionally introduced, soon develop themselves into Voice Training Exercises on the Italian Method, with interesting original suggestions from Mr. Root. These also are occasionally introduced, apparently as a reward to the pupil for conquering some difficulty in his pianoforte progress. As however the pupil's practice in playing and singing advances, he is asked to study and understand something of the chords which he is playing, and is taught how to give proper expression, both with voice and piano, to the various sentiments and passions of the mind. Each of these topics is introduced just at that stage of progress at which it should be introduced to the average pupil, and exercises on each topic are repeated just when and just as often as such a pupil can best use them. Those teachers of music who know the value of lessons and exercises which are not only progressively arranged, but arranged in a good progression, will value this work at a high price. Intelligent mothers who wish to teach their own daughters will find it a treasure indeed. It is, of course, in the established notation, but our Tonic Sol-fa teachers will find it very suggestive and useful."—Tonic Sol-fa Reporter.

HARMONIA. Containing Tunes Original and Selected. In an Organ Score. For the Psalms and Hymns of Dr. Watts, the New Congregational Hymn Book, the New Selection, and for Psalms and Hymns generally sung in both Churches and Chapels. By JOHN EVES.

One half of these tunes are original, and the other half are selected from those which are generally deemed melodious. "Harmonia," clearly and beautifully engraved, is published in two books. The larger book contains, in addition to the tunes, an index of the first line of every Psalm and Hymn in those books, appropriate for Divine worship, with a suitable tune to each. This will be found of great value to organists and leaders of choirs. Price 16s. The smaller book contains the tunes only. Price 12s.

THE SECOND VOLUME OF

Special Anthems for Certain Seasons
AND

Festivals of the United Church of England and Ireland,
BY VARIOUS LIVING COMPOSERS.

EDITED BY THE

Rev. Sir F. A. GORE OUSELEY, Bart., M.A.,
Mus. Doc., Præcentor of Hereford, and Professor of Music in the University of Oxford.

PREFACE.

Some years ago the Editor was persuaded to bring out a Volume of Anthems for Special Seasons and Occasions, for which indeed there seemed no small need. It was found however impossible to include in the space of one volume all the necessary Anthems to form a complete work. Several of the Saints' Days remained still unsupplied, and Anthems were wanted also for such occasions as the Openings of Churches, Baptisms, Confirmations, Marriages, and so forth. Accordingly it was determined to collect materials for a Second Volume, which should supply these defects. And at last after many vexatious delays, and much trouble and perplexity, the present volume is offered to the public, in confident hope of as flattering a reception as was accorded to its predecessor.

The Anthems now presented will be found to vary considerably in style, length, and difficulty. This was intentionally contrived, in order to suit the requirements of different Choirs.

Vocal Score, to Subscribers, 21s.; to Non-Subscribers, 25s.
Vocal Parts, each " 3s. 6d.; " " 4s. 6d.

NOVELLO'S PARISH CHOIR BOOK.—A Collection of Music for the Service of the Church, by Modern Composers.

PREFACE.
The history of this Volume is briefly as follows:—The Committee of the Ely Diocesan Church Music Society finding that one of the principal desiderata amongst Parish Choirs was an arrangement, or rather several arrangements, of the Te Deum laudamus, adapted especially for country churches, determined to endeavour to supply the want.

Accordingly they put themselves in communication with some of the most eminent Church-music composers, and also with Messrs. Novello and Co. Several composers entered into their views, and Messrs. Novello and Co. expressed themselves as being willing to co-operate heartily in the work.

The Compositions which are now offered to Church Choirs and to the public generally are the first fruits of the effort made by the Ely Diocesan Church Music Society; it will be understood, however, that each composition is to be regarded as resting upon its own merits, and that the Society claims no other share in the work than the credit of having first conceived the idea, and put in motion the machinery by which it has been produced. It may be added that in the belief of the Society the names of the Composers may be regarded as a sufficient guarantee for the character of the music.
