PROCEEDINGS OF THE CITY BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Short Session Held, As There Was Not Much Business to Be Disposed Of--Claims Allowed.

The city board of trustees held its regular weekly meeting last Monday night with all the members present.

The session was a short one, as there was not much business to be disposed of.

There were no petitions nor communications.

Trustee Healy, for the street committee, reported that a washout on Mission road, caused by the heavy rains last week, had been repaired.

City Engineer Waggoner reported he had gone over the Grand avenue survey that had been complained of by Citizen F. W. Brown as being too high in front of his property near Magnolia avenue and found that a grade stake had been wrongly placed at that point and that he had rectified it.

Street Superintendent Miner reported he had declined to accept the curb and sidewalk work on Linden avenue for the reason that a provision in the specifications requiring that the space between the property line and the cement sidewalk should be brought to official grade had not been complied with. His action was sustained by the board.

Mr. Miner told the board that parties had been driving vehicles over some of the new sidewalks and suggested that that it take some action to have the practice stopped.

Upon motion of Trustee Hickey, seconded by Trustee McGovern, City

Marshal Kneese was authorized to have notices printed and posted offering a reward of $5 for evidence sufficient to convict violators of the ordinance making it unlawful for anyone to drive vehicles over or across sidewalks in this city.

Upon motion of Trustee Hickey, seconded by Trustee Cunningham, Wm. Quinn was allowed $200 on his contract for macadamizing a portion of Mission road.

Upon motion of Trustee Healy, seconded by Trustee McGovern, Mr. Quinn was also allowed $300 on a contract transferred to him by the Peninsula Material Co. for macadamizing another portion of the same road.

Trustee Healy suggested that some action be taken in the matter of the practice in this city of gardeners hauling manure through the streets without covers on their wagons, thus allowing it to drop and litter the roadway.

The matter was referred to City Marshal Kneese with instructions to strictly enforce the provisions of an ordinance making it unlawful to dump garbage of any character on the streets of the city.

The following claims against the city were allowed: South San Francisco Power and Light Co., street and hall lights, $81.20; Ed Haynes, services as election officer, $5; F. W. Brown, same, $5; Joseph Kearney, same, $5; books for fire department, $3.50.

Labor claims to the amount of $85.87 were also allowed.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS TOLD IN BRIEF

Bull pups for sale. A. Hendel, Peck's Lots, South San Francisco. *

Thos. R. Bannerman of San Francisco, owner of real estate in this city, was here on business Tuesday.

The San Mateo high school basketball team, of which Ernest Langenbach of this city is captain, won a league game from the Campbell high school team at San Mateo last night by a score of 82 to 28.

Died.—In this city, January 18th, Detlef Clements, aged about 60 years. The funeral was private. From his talk while alive to some of his friends, it is thought that deceased had some property interests in Victoria, British Columbia. He also told friends that he had some money hid in his room, but after some searching, nothing was found.

At an important meeting held in the city hall last Thursday evening. The members of the Metropolitan Entertainment Association voted to change the name of the organization to the Metropolitan Club of South San Francisco. Six new members signed the charter roll, and a spirit of enthusiasm pervaded the proceedings. It is the intention of the club to raise enough money through entertainments and debates to furnish an up-to-date club-room in this city. The dramatic committee presented several plays for the consideration of the members. After much discussion it was decided to present the "Order of the Sons of Mars" as the first offering, rehearsals of which will commence at once. During the week a permanent meeting place is to be secured, and applications for membership will be considered at the next meeting.

The fifth annual installation of officers of Francis Drake Lodge, No. 376, F. and A. M. of this city, was held in its lodge room, Metropolitan building, last night. The master of ceremonies was Past Master J. J. McDonald, and the installing officer was Retiring Master F. P. Edwards. The following were installed for the ensuing year: F. A. Cunningham, worthy master; G. W. Holston, senior warden; E. P. Kauffman, junior warden; Andrew Hynding, treasurer; E. N. Brown, secretary; T. H. Allen, senior deacon; Frank Nunes, junior deacon; Tim Bresnan, senior steward; C. L. Kauffmann, junior steward; Frank P. Edwards, marshal; Charles Young, chaplain; John Guerra, tyler. At the close of the installation ceremonies, those in attendance proceeded to the large hall and partook of a splendid banquet, which was interspersed with music and speaking. A dance followed the entertainment.

FOURTH OF JULY.

Last year this city gave way to Redwood City, where a successful celebration was given. At that time the understanding was that this year's celebration would be held in this city. The Enterprise would suggest now that the local board of city trustees call a mass meeting of citizens in the near future to organize and prepare for celebrating Independence Day.

METHODIST CHURCH.

The Sunday school hour is 10:15, and all the officers, teachers and children are asked to be present punctually. The preaching service at 7:30 p. m. by the pastor. Come. We hope our sidewalk will soon be completed so we can enter the church more readily, as many are looking forward to to another social time, anxious to hear the postponed program. We hope to have this entertainment on the 2d of February. Watch for the program in next week's issue. Rev. D. Ralston, pastor.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

Petition For Incorporation of Daly City at North End Presented and Laid Over Two Weeks.

The county board of supervisors met in regular session at Redwood City last Monday, with all the members present.

Bids for the purchase of the San Mateo high school bonds to the amount of $50,000 were opened.

It was found that Rollins & Son had made the best offer, $1850 premium, and that firm's bid was accepted.

Attorney Harry E. Styles presented a petition signed by seventy-five or more residents of the first township, asking that an election be called to vote on the proposition of the formation of an incorporation to be known as Daly City. The territory embraced in the proposed city includes Hillcrest, Mission Tract, Vista Grande, numbers one, two and three, Wigginton Tract, Knowles lands, the Abbey, Crocker and Crocker Estate Tracts, Westend Homestead and Concordia Land Co., and extends from School and Price streets, near Colma, northerly to the county line.

A large delegation of citizens from the north end were present in the interest of the proposed city.

After some discussion by various speakers, upon motion of Supervisor Casey, seconded by Supervisor Brown, action in the matter was laid over until the next meeting, February 6th.

Wm. T. Ford was granted permission to transfer his liquor license from San Bruno to Tanforan., upon motion of Supervisor Casey, seconded by Supervisor McEvoy.

District Attorney Swart appeared before the board and stated that although the law did not permit him to employ a stenographer regularly, the county is frequently called upon to pay heavy bills for stenographic services in the lower courts. His office is congested with work and ought to be relieved in some way. He suggested that an assistant be provided for him to be called a "purchasing agent." The law permitted such an office. The purchasing agent, besides doing the office work for the district attorney, would do the county's buying and could scan the bills and see that they are not higher than the prices established by the board. He also suggested that the board observe the law by calling for bids for stationery.

The members agreed that the employment of such an officer as the district attorney suggested would be an economical move. It would relieve them of the impossible task of properly auditing the county bills. The matter will be given earnest consideration by the board.

Supervisor Casey was given authority to employ the surveyor to definitely locate the San Pedro road in the first township.

School Superintendent Cloud presented a petition signed by E. H. Dannmann and others, representing seven families, and eighteen children of school age, asking that a new school district be formed from a portion of San Pedro district to be known as Tobin district.

Mr. Cloud stated that he had approved the petition. It was ordered that the matter be taken up for hearing at the next meeting.

NEWS NOTES FROM BUSTLING SAN BRUNO

Mrs. A. A. Green's health is improving.

Peter Bollinger is at work again after about ten days in the hospital.

Joseph A. Venable, third addition, has returned home from the hospital where he has been since last October.

Geo. Roy is showing some splendid pictures at his show and deserves good patronage by the people of San Bruno.

Don't forget the date. The Fig Leaf Club will give a grand masquerade ball in Green's Hall on Saturday evening, February 4th. Tickets 25 cents.

Geo. Hatfield visited his home in San Bruno last Saturday and Sunday and returned Sunday night to Sacramento where he has been working for the past year.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather last week and the absence of some of the members from home the Yeomen postponed their banquet until next Tuesday evening. Everything is ordered for the event and everyone is notified to be on hand at 7:30.

Any person contemplating laying cement sidewalks, foundations for buildings, or plastering, should consult D. J. Lynch, as he has suitable sand and gravel for the purpose and will furnish the same at reasonable rates.

The wet weather is probably responsible for a plethora of tramps who have during the last few days taken shelter in the unused sheds around town. They sally forth in quest of food from door to door and by their insistent and insatiable demands the women are in constant dread of their presence. Fire wood is also one of their necessities, and as they believe that the world owes them a living anything not nailed down mysteriously disappears.

San Bruno Council, Y. M. I., will give its first grand minstrel show and dance at Green's Hall, on Tuesday night, February 21st. The Y. M. I. orchestra will furnish the music. Admission, 25 cents. A splendid time is assured all who attend.

As everyone in these days are imbued with the belief that athletic exercise is necessary to the promotion of good health, our townspeople were not surprised to see Dr. F. H. Smith and a portly friend run a 400-yard

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

IN THE SENATE.

Nothing of an unusual or exciting nature occurred to mar the one hour session of the Senate Wednesday, and only the introduction of new bills provided thought, food and entertainment for the Senators.

All told, twenty bills were introduced in the regular order of business and a supplemental batch of four by Senator Sanford calling for appropriations for the Mendocino State Hospital. In the other bills changes were proposed relative to banking, to mining laws, to schools, to Grand Juries, to the manner of building State highways, to fish and game and to the liabilities of employers.

At 11 o'clock the Senate adjourned until Thursday, in order to give the committees an opportunity to get at work on the bills. Four hundred and thirty-four bills, in addition to resolutions and constitutional amendments are before the committees for consideration.

THURSDAY'S SESSIONS.

Twenty-six bills were introduced in the Assembly Thursday—the smallest number for the session.

Assemblyman Jones has a bill for the formation of a reclamation district in Contra Costa County, on the San Joaquin River.

Assemblyman Denegri of San Francisco has a measure awarding pensions to employes in State Insane Asylums who have reached 60 years and have served twenty-one years or more. The pension amounts to 50 per cent of their wages.

Assemblyman McGowan of Stockton introduced a bill providing for industrial education in the public schools.

Assemblyman Mullally of San Francisco introduced a bill preventing the payment of discharged, resigned or working employes with anything but United States coin. This measure aims at the time-check system.

Assemblyman Denegri of San Francisco introduced three bills, changing September 12th from "Discovery Day" to "Columbus Day" on the list of State holidays.

Assemblyman Sutherland introduced bills providing for the care of children neglected by parents. Power is given to the authorities to take children away from parents in cases of neglect.

Assemblyman Gaylord of Auburn introduced a bill making it a misdemeanor to kill or take beaver. He also has a measure prohibiting hunting at night.

Assemblyman Randall introduced a bill repealing the present vaccination law.

The following bills on the second reading file of the Assembly were advanced to third reading:

No. 108, Chandler, relating to holding School Trustees' conferences.

No. 22, Mendenhall, relating to the use of animals as blinds for hunters.

No. 45, Smith, to create municipal sewer districts.

No. 255, Crosby, to provide the lighting of public streets, lanes and alleys.

IN THE SENATE.

Panama-Pacific Expositions for 1915 were given attention in the Senate on Thursday, when Senator Wright introduced a measure asking for an appropriation of $500,000 for a fair in San Diego.

Twenty-Four Bills.

Twenty-four bills were introduced during the morning session and these with the committee reports and consideration of the daily file completed the day's work, which was without further incident.

Committee Reports.

The County Government Committee recommended the passage of Senate Bills No. 268 by Senator Strobridge, relative to duties of Boards of Supervisors to furnish statistical reports; No. 132 by Senator Larkins increasing the number of judges in Tulare County; No. 289 by Senator Hans permitting unincorporated towns to establish public libraries; No. 237 by Senator Lewis relating to compensation for Boards of Supervisors who attend State Conventions.

The Finance Committee recommended the passage of Senator Cutten's bill to provide two steam boilers for the Napa Asylum. It referred Senate Bill No. 18 by Holohan relating to a Board of Managers for the Redwood Park, to the Senate and asked that it be placed on file.

The Municipal Corporations Committee recommended for passage Senator Burnett's bill relating to the use of the same street or tracks by two lines of street railway.

The Judiciary Committee reported back with a recommendation that they be passed Senator Cutten's Constitutional Amendment relative to rights of property and to the law of eminent domain; Senator Campbell's bills 76 relative to estate accounts and 83 relative to sale of property for delinquent taxes, and Senator Raseberry's bill No. 297 to amend the codes relative to homesteads.

Bills Passed.

Two measures were given third reading and passed. One is by Senator Sanford, No. 102, relative to permitting killing of wild geese. The other is by Senator Boynton, a resolution endorsed by the Sacramento Valley Development Association, calling upon Congress for appropriations for river improvement in the State.

DID HIS BEST.

He Followed Instructions, Yet the Result Was Very Discouraging.

There was a man who kept a small draper's shop and who had an assistant who was new to the business. One day an old lady came in and asked for some silk. The youthful assistant showed her some, saying:

"We can do this for you at 6s. 6d. a yard."

The master then came forward and said:

"I'm surprised at you showing this lady stuff of that quality. Take it away and put it back on its shelf."

Then, turning to the customer, he said: "You must excuse my assistant, madam—he is new to the business. But if you will allow me I will show you something very superior."

He went away and returned, bringing the same piece of silk. "This, madam," he said, "is a very superior article, 10s. 6d. a yard. If it were not for the fact that I bought it some time ago we should have to charge you 15 shillings, for, as you are doubtless aware, owing to the recent epidemic among the silkworms the price of silk has increased enormously of late."

The customer took the silk, paid for it and went away. The draper thereupon lectured his assistant, saying:

"You've no commercial adaptability. Mark my words and remember what I said for next time."

A few days later the draper was having his dinner, leaving his assistant at the counter. Hearing a noise, he looked out and saw the same old lady belting his assistant with her umbrella. He separated them and asked the assistant what he had been doing.

"Oh," said the assistant, "I was merely carrying out your instructions. She asked for some tape, and I showed her some. I said: 'We can let you have this at eightpence the dozen yards. If it wasn't for the fact that we have had it in stock some time we should have to charge 1 shilling, for, as you are doubtless aware, owing to the recent epidemic among the tapeworms the price of tape has gone up enormously of late.' Then she hit me with her umbrella."—Pearson's.

Doing Nicely.

One of the good fellows of Broadway is a really good fellow, except that he sometimes inclines an ear to the tempting of the demon rum, says the New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Times-Star. When that happens his wife sends out a hurry call for him, claps him in a Turkish bath and takes the stewed remains home a day or so later full of remorse and echoes. The other night he failed to appear at the domestic hearth at his usual hour. Some time later his wife began making queries by telephone. Eventually she got on the wire of a friend of the periodical souse.

"Have you seen Harry lately?" she asked.

The friend assured her that he had just parted from her spouse. Yes, Harry had been drinking a little. The friend very reluctantly admitted it.

"Is Harry drunk?" asked the wife.

"Oh, no, ma'am," said the friend in tones of horror. "Oh, no, not at all. By no means. When I left him he was able to get along very nicely—on his hands and knees."

FOUNDERS OF THE CITY OF SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

THE SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO LAND AND IMPROVEMENT COMPANY designed in its original plan to make of South San Francisco a great manufacturing center. With that object in view, it originally purchased 3500 acres of land in San Mateo County, on the bay front, five miles south of the City of San Francisco. Since the original purchase, the company has added greatly to its holdings by the purchase of large tracts of adjoining lands, giving to it a perfect environment for the complete development of a great manufacturing city.

The faith which this Company had in its enterprise has been manifest to everyone by the large expenditure it has made in the development of this property. Every foundation which goes to make a perfect condition for manufacture has been already solidly installed, and is a rapidly growing city; it is a railroad terminal; it is on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and accessible to all railroads; has deep water communication; owns and operates for its industries a railroad connecting with the Southern Pacific and the water front; has electric street car service from factory to Town, and direct to San Francisco; has an Electric Light and Power Company; owns an independent Water Works, and has an abundance of fresh water for factory and house; has wharves and docks; a perfect sewerage system; a Bank and a Town Hall; and a population of over 3000 people an extensive and fine residence district, where everyone may secure lands at reasonable prices and on favorable terms, as homes for themselves and their families.

FACTORY SITES

can be obtained from the South San Francisco Land and Improvement Company on most reasonable terms.

The completion of the Bay Shore Tunnels has placed South San Francisco on the main lines of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and forty passenger trains per day connect it with the outside world.

With the completion of the Dumbarton Bridge and Cutoff, now rapidly being constructed, South San Francisco will have all railroads which center in San Francisco passing through its midst.

Many industries are already established here, chief of which are the Western Meat Company, the Wool Pullery, the Soap Works, the Baden Brick Company, Pacific Jupiter Steel Company, the Steiger Pottery Works, the W. P. Fuller White Lead Works, the South San Francisco Lumber and Supply Company, and other enterprises, all of which are in full operation to-day. The American Smelting and Refining Company has purchased over 300 acres of land in South San Francisco for the purpose of erecting a great plant, which they estimate will cost upwards of $5,000,000. The Doak Sheet Steel Company has purchased a large tract of land and has already commenced the construction of a large rolling mill. Other factories have recently made purchases, and South San Francisco is plainly destined to fulfill all that its promoters had hoped.

GET YOUR CONGRESSMAN TO VOTE FOR SAN FRANCISCO-1915

This is not a valedictory. It is only an old man's love letter to old friends. It is written for all readers of The Enterprise, and is to be printed on the editorial page. The entire Enterprise family may read it, and all who like, have a share in it, but the LOVE is for the South San Francisco branch of the family; and the very best is for the old-timers of the town; who came first, stood steadfastly, and are still here.

These founders of the town have stood by its fortunes through foul, as well as in fair weather; and when this town shall have blossomed and bloomed into the full-blown fair city that is to be, here on this splendid site, with its beautiful setting, on the shores of this wonderful bay; then, the names of these fathers of the future "city beautiful" will stand first on the roll of honor in the city's annals; and so it is that these choice spirits have the best love of this letter. I have worked with these old-timers, and we have worked together all the time, for nineteen years, for our home town, and all have loved the work, for it has been always a work of love. Our local newspaper has been part of the work and always a worker with us.

It was born November 9, 1895, four years after the founding of the town, and from its birth I have been its editor. I have written every line and word printed on its editorial page for more than fifteen years. To many this may seem a trifle, but those who know, will understand that such work is not a light task. I have loved this work, too, for it has been mostly work for our town. The only trouble I have found is, that this part of my work has not always pleased me. Copy that looked good fresh from my pencil, often failed to suit me when I saw it in cold type. However I have tried to do good work, and failure to make good has been through no fault of mine, other than my own lack of ability or equipment for this sort of effort.

My old friends have never mentioned my faults or failures to me, and knowing that they must have noticed them, as I have, or even more, I can only credit their forbearance to personal kindness, and maybe a sort of feeling closely akin to love for an old fellow-townsmen and neighbor who has done the best he could always, for his town and his neighbors.

I passed the age of three score and ten, allotted as the life of man, nearly two years ago. I have worked constantly and faithfully and to the best of my ability, for more than fifteen years as editor of The Enterprise. I feel that I have earned the right to rest; and I also realize that we old fellows are not fully in touch with the modern ideas and movements, and that our work can be better done by younger men.

This is not a valedictory. It means that I will continue to work in my own way for my own town, but that I claim a right to rest, and that someone else will take my place as editor of The Enterprise. I wish the new editor and the old newspaper the greatest success. I feel no pleasure in this parting. I confess it is painful. But I must rest, and as I go to find it, I am sure of one thing above all others, and that is that my town and its old-timers will always have first place in the regard and love of E. E. CUNNINGHAM.

WANT A MEDAL FOR AVIATOR ELY

The officers of the army and navy stationed in and about San Francisco have joined with the members of the Citizens' Aviation Committee in requesting Congressman Julius Kahn to father a bill providing for government recognition of the daring aviator. In addition to the officers of the service a large number of private citizens called or telephoned to the aviation committee on Thursday and suggested that some action of the sort be taken. Accordingly President Frederick E. Scotford of the committee sent the following telegram to Kahn Thursday evening:

"San Francisco, January 19, 1910. Julius Kahn, Washington, D. C.—Army and navy officers detailed to San Francisco aviation meet, the business men's aviation board, as well as thousands of other San Franciscans, suggest Eugene Ely should receive national recognition for epoch-making flight yesterday to deck of cruiser Pennsylvania, making new era in military science. Respectfully suggest you father bill providing for special congressional medal.

—FRED. E. SCOTFORD.

CALIFORNIA INVENTORS.

The following patents have just been issued to California inventors, reported by D. Swift & Co., patent lawyers, Washington, D. C., who will furnish copies of any patent for ten cents apiece to our readers:

Charles J. Best, Oakland, ore furnace; Burton Black, Orcutt, pump; Henry D. Brown, Los Angeles, electric light receptacle; J. E. Corbis, Alameda, vacuum supporting device; Joseph L. Fredhip, Madera, belt loop; Robert A. Gibson, Emeryville, music leaf turner; Robert H. Kenton, San Francisco, non-skid tire; Arthur Kempston, electric signalling box; Charles R. Kittle, Los Angeles, spring fork for wheeled vehicles; Charles E. Maud, Monterey, two cycle inter-combustion engine; Percy C. Petrie, Simons, lawn mower; Anders Ponten, Berkeley, centrifugal sluicing machine.

We take pleasure in announcing that our readers can secure a valuable 96-page diary for 1911 by sending four one-cent stamps to D. Swift & Co., patent lawyers, Washington, D. C. This diary is worth 25 cents and contains a memoranda and date for each day in the year; the census of 1900 and 1910 of the States; nearly 300 of the largest cities; synopsis of useful everyday information; business laws; patent laws and how to obtain and sell a patent; business forms; postage rates; and the amount of corn, wheat, oats, tobacco and cotton produced in each State.

U. A. O. D.

South San Francisco Grove, No. 172, received the grand officers of the grand grove of California at its regular session Saturday evening last, when the local officers conferred the ovate degree on three candidates, and the perfect manner in which the work was put on proved a revelation to the visitors. Without a ritual and letter perfect the local team outdid all previous records. The Grand Noble Arch was represented by Grand Guardian V. Capargno of Oakland, Deputy Grand Arch Forest Coburn, Grand Secretary C. A. Guglielmini, Trustees Peiree and J. T. Quirk, all of whom made eloquent speeches for the good of the order. Past Arch Harry Edwards, representing Olive Grove, No. 116, also addressed the grove. The response of the local officers was apt and well received. Then came the banquet. It was good to be there. Brother Lind certainly put on an elegant spread. It was midnight before the grand officers separated themselves from the local grove, with three cheers for the success of 172.

White Eagle Circle, No. 50, United Ancient Order of Druids, welcomed the grand officers to the local circle Monday evening last. This was the official visit of the new grand arch druidess, Bertha Reeg, accompanied by practically all of the grand circle officers. The local members turned out in force, and a very interesting evening was spent. The advice and counsel of the grand officers was well received, the condition of the circle was discussed, and plans made for advancement. Undoubtedly the local members will become active in the work which lies before them. Watch White Eagle Circle grow. It is the only ladies' order in South San Francisco paying sick benefits of $5.00 per week during sickness. Dues are fifty cents per month. Druids may belong to the circle on equal terms, and the family would be well protected, the same order protecting the home. But, by the way, we must get back to the circle meeting. Sister Laborde, the arch druidess of the local circle, presented the grand arch druidess with a Battenberg center piece, on behalf of the circle. Then came the closing ceremonies and banquet, the like of which has not been seen before. It was a splendid spread, and was enjoyed to the full. The local circle intends giving a social dance Monday evening, January 30th, in large hall, Metropolitan Building. It will surely be a success.

ANNEXATION FAILED.

At the annexation election in this city and Visitation precinct the vote resulted as follows: San Francisco—For, 68; against, 139. Visitation—For, 21; against, 19. Not receiving a majority vote in favor, as required by law, the proposition of annexation of the Visitation district to this city failed.

Water Scarce in Grass Valley.

Because the water in the city reservoirs is so low that any use whatever would drain them dry, the residents of Grass Valley are without water. This action was adopted because there were but thirty inches of water coming into the city and one of the reservoirs is already empty. Water was not even permitted to be used for domestic purposes. As a result of the water famine the North Star and Central Stamp mills have closed down, laying off more than fifty men, and the Empire, Union Hill and Maryland mines have decided to close. The freezing cold weather which prevails has only intensified conditions and warm rains are needed. The snow is frozen so hard at Bear Valley that it is impossible to remove it, thus causing a blockade of the flumes.

Things He Didn't Know.

Artemus Ward was once making a railroad journey, dreading to be bored and feeling miserable, when a man approached him, sat down and said, "Did you hear the last thing on Horace Greeley?"

"Greeley? Greeley?" said Artemus. "Horace Greeley? Who is he?"

The man was quiet about five minutes. Pretty soon he said: "George Francis Train is kicking up a good deal of a row over in England. Do you think they will put him in a bastille?"

"Train? Train? George Francis Train?" said Artemus solemnly. "I never heard of him."

This ignorance kept the man quiet for about fifteen minutes; then he said: "What do you think about General Grant's chances for the presidency? Do you think they will run him?"

"Grant? Grant? Hang it, man," said Artemus, "you appear to know more strangers than any man I ever saw!"

The man was furious. He walked up the car, but at last came back and said, "You confounded ignoramus, did you ever hear of Adam?"

Artemus looked up and said, "What was his other name?"

Humanity.

Of all the graces of the mind and heart, Nature's best gift or excellence of art, Higher than all—yea, man's divinest part— Is sweet humanity.

Blessings upon the man whose forehead wears The seal of tenderness to hoary hairs, God's imprint! 'Tis a blessed fate who cares For sweet humanity.

Chaplet of flowers immortal for the friend Who loves his servant, horse and would defend A dog, would spare oppression and mercy lend For sweet humanity.

O bond of all religions, new and old, Divine beneficence that can enfold All living things, whatever be the mold, In sweet humanity! —Mary Woodward Weatherbee.

The Weird Excuse.

Mrs. Parkison of one of the main line suburbs met Mrs. Brown at a social function the other afternoon and in the course of their talk told her this story on Mr. Parkison:

"Don't you know, Frederick did a very peculiar thing the other night. He came home from the club rather late, and of course I had retired. I didn't hear him go to bed, but some time during the night I heard a noise in the room. I awoke and was startled to trace the noise by sound to the floor under the bed. I was so frightened I screamed.

"Just then Frederick poked his head out from under the bed.

"What's wrong?" he asked.

"What on earth are you doing there?" I asked in return.

"I must have been dreaming," he explained, "dreaming that I was fixing the blamed automobile." Wasn't that funny?"

"Very," replied Mrs. Brown. "That was the night Mr. Brown and Mr. Parkison went to the theater together. Mr. Brown came home late, too, and went to sleep standing up in the umbrella rack, but he didn't have any weird excuse!"—Philadelphia Times.

An Important Postscript.

George Washington Primrose, thinking of matrimony and trembling on the edge, wrote to his married brother Rufus for advice.

"Dear Jawje," wrote Rufus in reply, "every man shud marry. A wif is a man's gratest gift. She suthes his troubles, dubbles his jys and helps him every wich way. The marid lif is the oney lif. spechully when you is forchunate enuff for to git a jool of a wif like mine. P. S.—Mandy has jess stept out. You blame fule you, STAY SINGLE."

Too Much Economy.

An eminent musician tells of a trip when he and a butter merchant of Philadelphia crossed the ocean on the same steamer. There were few passengers on board, and the musician was glad of the quiet, so that he could compose. Often he would sit down at a table by himself in the smoking room and busy himself for six or seven hours at a stretch with pen and manuscript paper. The butter dealer watched the musician's doings with great interest and one day tried to coax the musician to take a walk on deck. The musician declined courteously, offering the excuse that he had a great deal more music to write.

"But, my dear man," said the man of butter, "what are you doing that for? Economy is all right, but one must not go to extremes. Why don't you buy the pieces instead of copying them off this way? Music is so cheap nowadays!"

A Misunderstanding.

They were man and wife, says the Cleveland Leader. They were also trying to catch an East Cleveland car as it rounded the turn in front of the Williamson building.

She was the first to see what she took to be their car and started in hot pursuit. But her husband saw that 'twas a Shaker Lakes car and began to yell lustily, "Shaker Lakes!"

The woman seemed to run faster than ever instead of slowing down. "Didn't you hear me tellin' you that was a Shaker Lakes car?" he inquired breathlessly and a bit roughly.

She looked at him and gasped: "I thought," she said, "that you were trying to get me to hurry. It sounded as if you said, 'Shake your legs!'"

GENERAL NEWS EVENTS

The Assembly of the State Legislature of Nevada has introduced a bill appropriating $50,000 to be used for a Nevada exhibit at the Panama Exposition in 1915 should it be held in San Francisco, and adopted a resolution memorializing Congress to designate San Francisco as the place for the exposition.

The Supreme Court of Rhode Island has decided that it is "a reasonable regulation" that passengers be required to insert nickels in the automatic fare collectors used by street-car companies in pay-as-you-enter cars. The question arose in a suit brought by a passenger against the railroad company for being put off a car after he had refused personally to put his fare in the hand register. It is believed that this is the first time this question has been decided by the courts in this country.

The customs returns from 1910, just issued, show that the importation of champagne into the United States has decreased 47 per cent, compared with the previous year. In 1909, 480,000 cases were imported from France and last year the number amounted to only 250,000.

GOLDEN PLATE IS GIVEN TETRAZZINI

School Children of San Francisco Sing for the Singer

Graven on California gold, San Francisco Thursday afternoon presented to Mme. Luisa Tetrazzini words of appreciation and love. More enduring than love graven on fine gold were the sweet voices of children, raised in songs of Italy and America.

"How many a tale their music tells Of youth and home."

Dreamland Pavilion was filled. Rain did not keep the people at home, nor dampen the ardor of an hour whose charm will live long in the memory of those who were fortunate enough to share its wealth of youthful emotion.

Only the songs the children sang could have accomplished it. It was art, but it was the youth of art that knows not the burden of time. On the back of the stage the children were seated in ascending rows. In front of them were the orchestra led by Alfred Roncovieri, and the grand piano, beside which Accompanist Benoist sat.

Waves Hand to Audience.

When Tetrazzini entered from the Post-street entrance she waved her hand to the audience almost before her coming was discovered. It was a signal so personal that it brought a spontaneous shout from the crowded hall and a salutation from the children that had all the abandon of a school yard cry. It was the keynote of an hour in which every one became as young as the children, or, perhaps, it would better express what happened to say as young as Luisa Tetrazzini.

With the orchestra playing and the children throwing cascades of flowers from their high seats, Tetrazzini walked to the front of the platform, waving her handkerchief and throwing kisses and smiles of recognition.

Then the audience and the diva composed themselves to listen to the introductory remarks by Supervisor J. Emmet Hayden, who told briefly how San Francisco had discovered Tetrazzini in the old Tivoli days; of her triumphs since then; of her promise that, rather than not to sing in San Francisco, she would sing in the streets of the city, and of how she had fulfilled that promise on Christmas eve.

San Francisco Shows Its Love.

"With the echo of her magical notes still in their hearts," Hayden continued, "the people of San Francisco determined to show their love and appreciation for the singer and her priceless gift by a concrete token of their regard."

A flutter of applause punctuated the sentences, but it was when the school children stood to sing "The Stars and Stripes Forever" that the emotions of the crowded hall began to break down the formal barriers. As they sang the children waved banners of red in the left section, white in the center seats and blue in the right section. Tetrazzini waved back to them from where she sat on the front of the stage.

The intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana" followed, rendered by the children with a sweetness and confidence as they watched every signal of their leader with eyes that spoke devotion.

It may be safe to predict that through all her future triumphs Tetrazzini will carry the memory of Thursday afternoon in her heart and cherish it as San Francisco will.

Aldrich's Bank Scheme.

Senator Nelson W. Aldrich's long-awaited "plan for the revision of the national banking legislation," as he calls it, has been made public. He does not contemplate the establishment of a central bank. It is so far from what most people have expected Aldrich to propose that it may come as a surprise. The plan was submitted to the National Monetary Commission at a meeting called for the purpose, but Senator Aldrich was not present. Far from recommending the institution of a central bank, Aldrich expressly disclaims belief in it as calculated to meet the needs of the situation. What Aldrich proposes is the establishment of the reserve association of America, representing what might be called a federation of local associations formed by national banks. He says in his letter to the Commission that he believes this association would not be subject to the domination or influence of any political or financial group.

The annual meeting of the Mill Valley and Mt. Tamalpais Scenic Railway Company was held Thursday afternoon. It was announced that the company had enjoyed a prosperous season and the regular quarterly dividend of 5 per cent per annum was announced.

At the last meeting of the faculty committee on graduation, at Stanford University, sixty students were granted the degree of bachelor of arts, two received the master's degree and one was granted the degree of juris doctor. The list of mid-year graduates was unusually large.

Dr. F. W. Browning, the physician in attendance, has announced that the condition of Captain B. H. Madison, the ship builder, who was shot in his home at Hayward by Gustave Borries, is greatly improved. Within a week or two it is expected that Captain Madison will be entirely recovered, which is remarkable when his age, 76, is considered. Gustave Borries, who shot Madison, believing the latter had defrauded him of many years' savings, has refused to discuss the shooting with anyone.

The officers of the Army and Navy stationed in and about San Francisco have joined with the members of the Citizens' Aviation Committee in requesting Congressman Julius Kahn to father a bill providing for Government recognition of the daring aviator, Eugene Ely. In addition to the officers of the service a large number of private citizens have called or telephoned to the Aviation Committee and suggested that some action of the sort be taken. Accordingly, President Frederick E. Scotford of the committee sent a telegram to Kahn asking for Congressional medal.

George C. Goucher, formerly State Senator and ex-District Attorney of Madera county, passed away at Madera Tuesday night after a long illness, which grew serious within the last few days. Senator Goucher was one of the best-known criminal lawyers in that section of the State, and while a member of the Legislature was mentioned frequently as a likely candidate for Governor on the Democratic ticket. The funeral will be held in Madera.

The reconstruction of San Francisco is to be fittingly commemorated by a monument to cost not less than $10,000 to be placed at the junction of Market street, Grant avenue and O'Farrell street. The monument will be paid for by the people of the city, and a subscription list has been opened by the Downtown Association, which is behind the project. It is already evident that there will be no difficulty in raising the amount specified, and the limit of cost will be increased if more than $10,000 is subscribed.

Eleven thousand acres of Southern Pacific lands in townships 31, 23 and 11-23, in the west side oil fields in Kern county have been filed on by prominent Los Angeles oil men, among them J. M. Danziger, an attorney, and C. A. Canfield, the wealthy Southern California operator. Eight mining locations were filed with County Recorder Charles A. Lee. They were dated January 10th, when the alleged "jumping" is said to have taken place.

Cholera Epidemic Spreads.

The epidemic of cholera at Funchal, Madeira, is becoming worse. Hitherto there have been 1646 cases of disease and 535 deaths.

Colombian Troops Invade Peru.

Colombian troops, under General Gamboa, have occupied the region of the Yapura River, invading Peruvian territory.

ELY "GETS THERE" -- AND BACK AGAIN

Lands on Cruiser Pennsylvania and Leaves Without Mishap

According to program, Eugene Ely, the daring aviator, made a successful flight from Selfridge field in a Curtiss biplane, gracefully landing on the cruiser Pennsylvania at 11 a. m. Wednesday.

Just before 11 the aeroplane came sailing at a thousand feet high directly from Tanforan to the Pennsylvania, and when a few hundred feet away made a direct dive toward the water and then flew between two cruisers, circling towards Goat Island, then around to the stern of the Pennsylvania on a level with her funnels, and at an apparent high speed lighted on the platform and stopped without a mishap.

After an hour's entertainment the aviator started his motor and left as successfully as on landing. The biplane made a direct flight along the water and then gradually reached the same level as on arriving, making a bee-line for the aviation grounds.

The experiment was a success in every way and delighted crowds along the water front and on the hilltops, with men on the cruisers, added their cheers to the blasts of whistles and sirens from the fleet of boats celebrating the event.

A platform had been built on the stern of the vessel, covering the entire quarter-deck and extending forward as far as the after-turret. This platform was built high enough to clear the hatches, ventilators and turrets, and necessitated the after end of the platform being placed eight feet above the deck and the forward end thirteen feet above, giving a pitch of about 5 degrees. The platform was thirty-two feet wide for its entire length of 130 feet, and at the lower end completely covered the quarter-deck.

To prevent the aviator falling on the deck, in case of accident, the quarter-deck awning was stretched over the space not covered by the platform, so that should the aviator be thrown from his machine in landing he would fall upon the awning and thence into the water. The whole idea was to avert his striking the deck or any obstruction in case he should be pitched out in the sudden stop.

At the rear or lower end of the platform there was built an overhang, extending out ten feet beyond the stern, having a drop of four feet. The purpose of this was to retard the speed of the aeroplane with its first contact with the platform. Starting ten feet from the stern, small lines, having a breaking strain of 200 pounds each were stretched across the platform two inches above the surface at intervals of ten feet. A claw fitted in the center line of the aeroplane was to catch these lines in its progress, one after the other breaking in turn, and thus slacking the speed.

Twenty-five feet from the upper end of the platform a strip of canvas two feet wide was stretched, and ten feet further along a similar barrier was placed finally as a rigid barrier to bring the aeroplane to a complete stop, a beam twelve inches high and four inches thick was placed nine feet from the upper end. Beyond was a canvas screen, extending from the searchlight platform to the landing platform, and loosely hung, so that it would make a sort of hammock to catch the aviator should he not be brought to a stop before reaching the rigid barrier, and to prevent his being thrown into the military mast.

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

The official schedule meeting of the Northwestern Baseball League, which was to have been held at Seattle January 25th, has been postponed to February 2d.

Arrangements are under way for an aviation meet at the San Jose Driving Park following the San Francisco exhibition. Eugene Ely, Glenn H. Curtiss and James Radley are among the man-birds with whom representatives of the Santa Clara County Aero Club have been in communication and it is believed that arrangements will be perfected early this week. The Santa Clara Valley Aero Club has been organized but two weeks, but has already initiated plans for several interesting aerial events to be held here in the near future.

Assemblyman J. W. Struckenbruck is preparing a bill which will make it a misdemeanor for California sportsmen's clubs to bait duck ponds on preserves, thus luring hundreds of wild game to the feeding ground for special slaughter by the club members. A constituent has written the "honest blacksmith" Legislator from Acampo pleading for the introduction of a measure that will prevent the baiting of ponds, thus letting the ducks go where they will without let or hindrance so that the people who are not members of the gun clubs may have a chance to get a duck once in a while.

CRIMES AND CASUALTIES

The discovery of twenty five-tael tins of prepared smoking opium on the Pacific Mail steamer Korea by Customs Inspector E. E. Enlow, brings the total seizures made on that vessel since she has been in port this time up to 795 tins, with a local value of $31,800 and a value in Hongkong of $6360. This is the largest seizure that has ever been made on a single vessel, and has led the customs authorities to believe that the illicit traffic is increasing rather than diminishing.

Choosing the dense underbrush, a mile and a half west of Martinez, as the scene, an unidentified man committed suicide by hanging himself from the branch of a redberry bush. The lifeless body, with the feet touching the ground, was found by members of a band of Greek section workers. The authorities were notified and the body was taken charge of by Deputy Coroner J. J. Houser, who is holding it for identification.

W. Lewis, Pete Murphy, H. Shaffer and Thomas O'Dell have been arrested by Chief of Police Browning, Captain of Police Brown, Detective Pender and Sheriff Harrison at Ogden. The officers believe that they have the men who planned and committed the hold-up and robbery of twenty-five passengers on the Overland Limited at Reese, nine miles west of Ogden, on January 1st, when William Davis, a Pullman porter, was killed, and A. W. Taylor, another porter, wounded.

INSURANCE PRESIDENT DIES

Paul Morton Dies Suddenly in New York.

Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society and Secretary of the Navy under Theodore Roosevelt, died of cerebral hemorrhage in the Hotel Seymour, New York, on Thursday night. He was stricken in a hallway of the hotel and died an hour later without regaining consciousness.

His wife and his elder brother, Joy, were called, but he died before they arrived. His close friend, E. J. Borwind, arrived ten minutes before Mr. Morton breathed his last, but the stricken man was unconscious from the moment of the stroke, and neither recognized those about him nor spoke. The body was removed to the house tonight, but no statement of funeral plans was given out.

The Coroner's office is satisfied that death resulted from natural causes, and there will be no autopsy.

Morton himself had no idea that his life was in danger, but his family, his physicians and a few close friends knew that his condition was precarious.

EIGHT MEN KILLED ON THE DELAWARE

Boiler Explosion Spreads Death on the Battleship

Eight men met instantaneous death and one was so horribly burned that he probably will die as a result of a boiler explosion aboard the battleship Delaware at 9:20 o'clock Tuesday morning, the cause of which is yet unexplained, according to a wireless message to the Navy Department from Captain Gove.

The Delaware was on her way to Hampton roads from Guantanamo, Cuba, and had been designated to transport the body of Senor Cruze, late Chilean Minister to the United States, to Chile, instead of the South Carolina, whose propellers met with a mishap.

The victims were on duty in the boiler-room when the accident occurred. A terrific shock sent the crew scurrying below and nine bodies were dragged from the cloud of hot steam.

Captain Gove wired the Navy Department the names of the eight men killed, but the identification of the ninth victim, who was carried from the boiler-room with traces of life in him, was designated "Unknown" in Captain Gove's message.

A board of officers of the vessel was appointed by Captain Gove to investigate the accident. Captain Gove's message to the Navy Department follows:

"At 9:20 a. m., January 17th, three backheaders, Nos. 8, 9, 10, of boiler 'O' in fireroom No. 4, blew out explosively, killing eight and injuring one, who probably will die, these being all the men on duty in the fireroom. Board of officers appointed immediately to investigate and report. Not yet reported. Extent of damage is ten backheaders injured in boiler 'O.' Cause not yet placed."

The dead are: Charles Henry Harp, William Morris White, Columbus Porter Watts, Herbert Anderson Brewer, all firemen; Lewis Addison White and Clare De Witt, coal passers; Christian Jensen, water tender; unknown man; Eugene Phillips, a fireman, was badly injured.

IMPORTANT FOREIGN NEWS

Sir Francis Galton, the noted explorer and writer on eugenics, died in London recently.

Three hundred members of the Queue-cutting Society publicly cut off their queues at Shanghai. A thousand Chinese witnessed the ceremony. Wu Ting Fang, formerly Chinese Minister at Washington, who is president of the society, had his queue cut off privately.

Word has been received from London that the wedding of Miss Vivien Gould and Lord Decies is set for February 7th. No announcement of the date has been made by the Gould family as yet. The original announcement of the engagement of the couple came from relatives of Lord Decies.

Seeking Dynamiters in Canada.

Immigration Department officials of Ottawa have received notice from the United States that David Caplan, M. A. Schmidt and J. B. Brice, wanted in Los Angeles for complicity in conspiracy to dynamite the Los Angeles Times building, will probably try to enter Canada. The department has asked all police officers to assist the Immigration Department in patrolling the frontier along the Niagara River and at other points where it is thought the men might try to cross the border.

Grandma Turner's Beau

How Love's Afterglow Came to Doxie Turner

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Miss Doxie Turner opened the door wide to admit the bulky figure of her neighbor.

"My land, but it's come off cold, Doxie," shivered Beulah Norton as she hovered close to the warm kitchen fire. "I thought my knitted shawl would be plenty warm enough, but it seemed like I had nothing on."

"Sit down, Beulah; here's my rocker. Don't you want some hot spiced cider? I was just going to fix some for myself." Miss Doxie brought a jug of sweet cider from the cellar and poured a quantity into a stone pitcher and set it on the stove to heat. She added some nutmeg and ginger and stirred it carefully. When it was hot and steaming she poured the cider into two large china mugs and brought out a plate of doughnuts.

"When I passed the old Bunderman place the wind was howling in those locusts fit to drive you crazy. I wonder at Howard wanting to go back there to live again." Beulah watched Doxie's startled face with furtive eyes.

"I didn't know Howard had come back, Beulah. I thought he was settled in Omaha."

"So he was, but—you know Lucy died most a year ago and left him with those two little girls on his hands. I guess he found it hard work doing for them and keeping at his job, too, so he came east a few days ago, thinking Estelle would take care of them so's he could get work in the shipyard. She's lived alone there so much I guess he thought she'd be glad to have him back home again."

"Didn't he know she was married?" asked Doxie curiously.

"No more than any of the rest of the village suspected it might happen. Captain Lees, he's been real mousy about courting Estelle, and then their streaking off to the city and getting married last Saturday was the biggest surprise Fernville ever had. 'Twasn't like a boy and girl elopement—you expect that—but Estelle Bunderman and from sight Doxie turned back to the sunlit room and sat down once more.

An attack of neuralgia had confined her to the house for several days, and consequently she had not heard of Howard Bunderman's return to Fernville. Nearly every pleasant day when she went down to the postoffice she passed the Bunderman place, and whenever she saw Estelle's pale face at the door or window she would wave a hand in greeting, and sometimes Miss Bunderman would come out to the gate and chat for awhile. But she never mentioned her brother nor anything about his affairs to Doxie Turner. Indeed, no one in Fernville dreamed of repeating Howard's name in Doxie's hearing.

If they had only known, Doxie would not have minded their mentioning the name of Howard Bunderman, to whom she had once been almost engaged to be married, nor of Lucy Moore, who had been the village belle and madcap who had got Howard away from Doxie and married him, some said, out of pure love of mischief. It was known that Lucy bitterly repented of her wickedness, for her husband did not love her as dearly as he did Doxie Turner, yet never by word or deed did he betray himself. But Lucy Bunderman knew. The postmistress said that Lucy had written a letter to Doxie once after her marriage, when she had gone out to Omaha to live, and that a letter from Doxie Turner had passed through the office in reply. That was all. Nobody ever knew what Doxie Turner thought about the matter. She always looked the same, tall and fair and sweet, with wistful blue eyes that never overlooked a duty undone.

Now she suddenly arose from her chair with a little exclamation of dismay. She opened the door into the sitting room where Grandmother Turner sat in the sunny bow window knitting furiously at a long white stocking.

Apple wood logs were singing and sizzling in the drum stove, and there was the pleasant odor of cedar from the old lady's open cedar chest.

"About time you took your tonic, grandma," suggested Doxie. "I forgot all about it. Have you been lonesome in here?"

"Not a mite, Doxie. I'm too busy to be lonesome. I heard Beulah Norton's voice in the kitchen, and I was scared to death afraid she'd come in here. I can't abide her!" Mrs. Turner jabbed her needles into the wool and paused for breath. Her black eyes sought her granddaughter's face with a keen inquiry.

"What's the news, Doxie? Something's happened—your face is real pink."

"I guess it was the spiced cider I've been drinking," evaded Doxie as she moved to and fro preparing the tonic. "Beulah was real cold when she came in, and I heated some cider, and, besides, the kitchen's getting most too hot."

"What's the news?" persisted Mrs. Turner, making a horrible face over the medicine.

"You know Estelle and Captain Lees went to the city and got married last Saturday."

"Of course I know, Doxie Turner! You told me yourself! I guess I know what Beulah Norton came up to tell you." She looked narrowly at the younger woman.

"What then?" asked Doxie defiantly. Mrs. Turner folded her wrinkled hands and looked out of the window.

"Beulah came up to tell you that Howard Bunderman had come back. I've known it ever since he came. Doxie. Somebody run in and told me when you was down to the postoffice. I feel dreadful sorry for that poor fellow. I guess he had a hard row to hoe with Lucy Moore, though I bet he tried to do his duty by her. And after she got him I guess she wasn't real happy over the way she'd treated you. They say before she died she named the second little girl after you."

"After me?" Doxie's face radiated with a strange glow. "Did Lucy name her little girl after me?"

"Yes," snapped grandmother sternly. "Twas the least she might do after making so much trouble all around. Lucy wanted to marry Jim Turrell, but he didn't care for her, so she got around Howard and married him for spite. She was a clever one. She fixed it so he couldn't get out of it, and first thing Howard knew he was engaged to her instead of you."

"How did you know?"

"It came direct from Lucy herself," returned Mrs. Turner with dignity.

Doxie opened the stove door and looked at the fire. The red glow shone on her sweet face and discovered her blue eyes wet with tears.

"Something else I never told you, Doxie," resumed Mrs. Turner, knitting busily. "Before Howard married Lucy Moore he came here and told me all about it. He said he knew it looked as if he was a coward and a villain, and he asked me what to do. He said he didn't like anybody but you and he'd never be happy if he married anybody else. I advised him to go and tell Lucy what he told me. He told her, and she said she'd rather marry him even if he didn't love her a bit, and so he did. Doxie Turner, Howard Bunderman is a hero! What are you going to give me for supper?"

"I'll cook you a poached egg, grandmother," said Doxie in a queer little tone as she kissed the gray hair beneath the old lady's cap.

"I'd like it kind of early," went on the indulgent old voice. "I'm rather expecting a beau tonight. He came last evening and talked to me through this window when you was across the street. I told him he better come tonight. I hope you don't mind my having a beau, Doxie! What—say?" she called after her granddaughter.

Doxie turned suddenly and came back. Kneeling beside Mrs. Turner, she dropped her head against the bent little shoulder.

"Isn't it beautiful, grandma?" she whispered. "It's wonderful after doing all those things Lucy should be sorry and then name the little girl after me—after me! Somehow it seems as if I'm happier now than I was before anything happened at all. I wonder why it is."

Mrs. Turner was looking out at the red and gold sunset that crowned the short November day. "After suffering comes the purest joy, and it comes just when you've settled down to dreariness. Hark, was that the gate? Hurry, Doxie. I believe my beau is coming now!"

"ISN'T IT BEAUTIFUL, GRANDMA?"
Captain Lees are both over forty, and nobody cared whether they ever got married or not."
"Who's taking care of the little girls?" asked Doxie rather diffidently.
Beulah reddened and for the first time appeared flustered. "I am," she said bluntly.
"You are? I didn't know you cared much about children," remarked Doxie slowly.
"I don't especially, but I have plenty of time, and ma said we might as well help Howard out till he got a house-keeper. You can't guess what that young one's called?" she repeated.
"I can't guess unless it's after Lucy's Aunt Hyacinth Moore," suggested Doxie, rising to her slender height. "I remember when Lucy and I went to school together she used to think her aunt had the loveliest name in the world."
"She wasn't named after her mother's Aunt Hyacinth Moore," mimicked Beulah, rather crossly. "Lucy Bunderman was awful tender hearted, and I guess her—conscience kind of bothered her the way she'd acted toward some folks, so she named the second little girl after one of her old school-mates. I must be going now. Good-by."
When Beulah's red shawl had flick-

foot race on San Mateo avenue last Monday evening, and beat a San Mateo car to the station. Although the doctor was beaten by a few feet by his friend, he had the satisfaction of knowing that his wind is all right. His close friends say that the doctor will engage in a knot tying episode next Thursday in San Francisco, and will be a sure winner of a beautiful prize. All hail to the doctor for his acquisition to the benedict-elect will be greeted with acclamation by multitudinous friends.

Rumors were prevailing this week that a new weekly newspaper would soon start publication in San Bruno, to take the place of the Banner, that ceased publication a few weeks ago.

Workmen are busy endeavoring to solve the problem of recalcitrant stove pipes in the new school house. The teachers and children have been "smoked" out every day since the rain commenced, causing a dismissal of school in the afternoons.

A unique holdup was perpetrated on Chas Scelkoph our tonsorial artist here last Tuesday by two youths giving their ages at 16 and 17 respectfully. One of the boys had a hair cut and the usual tonic applied and the refused to pay. When the barber insisted on payment the older one produced a revolver and threatened to pay the bill in lead. As Scelkoph wanted silver coin he called on A. A. Green who happened to be close by who responded and disarmed the young disciple of Dick Turpin. They were taken to Vista Grande and appeared before Justice Johnson and when pressed closely for their true names and homes finally after many subterfuges admitted they were from Sausalito. Justice Johnson telephoned to the officers of that town and received instructions to hold them as they were wanted there. An officer was detailed to take them to the ferry where he was met by a constable and thus ended another sequel of which might have been something of an alarming character had the obdurate disposition of the boys had time to follow out their inclinations of lawlessness.

ROYAL ARCH BANQUET

Wednesday night of last week there was served at Maple Hall the annual banquet of the Knights of the Royal Arch. The organization is composed of the retail liquor dealers of the coast.

The local chapter which gave the banquet is named for Redwood City, and its jurisdiction covers the county of San Mateo.

The toastmaster was Chris Stader of Christadero, president, who was in his happiest vein.

The banquet was served jointly by C. Stader and M. Sabadin, and they were given three cheers and a vote of thanks for the perfect service and excellent fare.

The committee in charge of the affair was composed of B. Sheehan, Jr., J. Rogers, Andy Buerck, M. Sabadin and R. Setter, to whom much praise is due.—San Mateo Leader.

Where Did She Come In?

"Your divorce came out all right, Mrs. Brassy. I congratulate you on your success."

"Yes, but it came off the day of the big fight, the aviator accident in France and that preacher's elopement. What chance did I have?"
