UNITED STATES MARINES READY TO LAND IN CHINA

FORCE READY TO PROTECT AMERICAN CITIZENS

Rival Factions of Chinese Troops Being Assembled And Clash Threatens

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—United States marines are preparing to land at Shanghai to protect American lives and property in the revolutionary attack upon the city, said a despatch to the state department from Consul General Edwin S. Cunningham at Shanghai.

By BERT KUHN For International News Service. SHANGHAI, Sept. 3.—Telegrams received tonight at Chekiang headquarters from Canton and Mukden indicate the opening of hostilities today at Huang Tu between the rival forces of Kiangsu and Chekiang provinces may be the spark which will set all China afire.

Canton reports that Dr. Sun Yat Sen, ruler of South China, is organizing an expedition of 20,000 for an immediate drive northward.

Chang Tso Lin, Manchurian war lord, is reported moving a big force southward beyond Shanghai Kuan for an attack upon Wu Pei Fu's Chihli forces.

Wu Pei Fu has been supporting the Kiangsu movement to regain Shanghai and Chang Tso Lin is believed seizing the strategic moment for another drive to secure control of Peking.

The foreign settlement remained quiet here tonight. The French volunteers were called out late today and preparations for the defense of the settlement are going on quietly.

Two hundred Japanese marines are expected from Japan tomorrow aboard the cruiser Tatsuta to reinforce the international forces now here.

Prepare Defenses With severe fighting between Chinese troops reported in progress at Hungtu, twenty miles from Shanghai, the consular corps rushed plans today for the defense of the international settlement.

French bluejackets were landed this afternoon and quartered in the police station, the schools and the French concession. They will be used to strengthen the police in case of necessity.

Railway officials confirmed earlier reports of the outbreak of hostilities between the forces representing the provinces of Chekiang and Kiangsu who are contending for control of the Shanghai district.

Favorite In Air Race Meets Death by Fall DAYTON, Ohio, Sept. 3.—Military and commercial air circles today were speculating on what effect the tragic death of Lieutenant Alex Pearson may have on the international air races the first week in October.

PRICE OF ICE FALLS LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—Ice prices struck new low level of 40 cents per 100 pounds delivered here today, as the price war between thirteen ice companies continued.

Golf Club Objects To Mules Making Use of Its Course

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—The Rancho Golf club today brought suit against C. Minnotti, neighbor rancher, for damage done by mules which wandered over the course and literally tee-holed the fairway, according to the complaint.

The inalienable right of mules to wander where they wish is denied by the club, which seeks to recover $6000 damages done their championship course.

BOND ISSUE CAMPAIGN PLANNED

Plans for an intensive campaign to precede the special election called for September 30 by the City Council when ten projects dealing with civic improvements and additions, will be made during the next few days by members of the executive committee of the Citizens' Bond committee. It was decided at a meeting of the Citizens' Bond committee held this morning at the Harvard High school.

The meeting lasted nearly two hours and was featured by a lengthy discussion on the proposed bond issue of $35,000 for a park site in the south part of Glendale. A motion to recommend that the City Council increase this bond issue from $35,000 to $75,000 was defeated after considerable debate, but a motion defining the "south side" to be that portion of Glendale south of Windsor road, east of the highways was submitted by the southern city limits and west of the eastern city limits, was passed unanimously.

Site Not Selected The question of the south side park was brought up by Dr. Jessie Russell, representing the Business and Professional Women's club. Dr. Russell asked if a site had been chosen for the proposed park, and when informed that it had not, wanted to know where the tract of land could be secured in the southern part of the city for $35,000.

"We have no site in view, but have been trying to get one," said L. H. Wilson, a member of the City Park commission, and representing the San Fernando Valley Improvement Association. "I don't think we can get a big park for $35,000. Perhaps we can get a site for a playground. We don't need a big park on the south side, anyway."

Question Legality Roy L. Kent, representing the Rotary club, suggested that the sub-committee on parks investigate and report to the committee as a whole. The question was then raised as to the legality of the proposed bond issue, inasmuch as no site was mentioned in the recommendation of the sub-committee.

City Manager V. B. Stone, who telephoned City Attorney Roy Morrow for an opinion, reported back that Attorney Morrow said the statement that the park was for the south part of Glendale should make it legal. The change

Woman and 3 Men Escape In Gun Duel

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—In a gun battle following an attempted robbery of the Arthur Asher Dry Goods store at 406 Myrtle street, Monrovia, one woman and three men escaped after wrecking their light car and leaving a trailer full of loot behind in an alley back of the store, according to reports received this morning by the sheriff's office.

Night Patrolman Carter of the Monrovia police force discovered the robbers at work and the woman lookout who was sitting in the car warned her confederates of his approach. They made a break for the car and in a rain of bullets making a getaway only to wreck the machine. Then they took to their heels.

SOLDIER IS ACCUSED

MANILA, Sept. 3.—Frank Cola, a private of the Thirty-first infantry of Polish-Mexican descent was arrested by military authorities this afternoon and charged with the attempted sale of a confidential map of United States army fortifications on Corregidor Island guarding Manila.

CARPENTIER SAILS

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Georges Carpentier, French heavyweight fighter and his manager, Francois Descamps, sailed this afternoon for France. Carpentier said he would return in two months. He said he is anxious for another fight with Gene Tunney.

Rush for Divorces In L. A. County Is Swamping Courts

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—The divorce mill of the Superior court grinds on. Judge J. W. Summerfield, sitting in department No. 3, today calendered 179 cases for disposal in the month of September, 1924 and March, 1925. What the five intervening months will bring forth he does not know, but the rush for legal separation is so great that he allows an average of fifteen minutes to a case, the calendar indicates.

M.B. Towman Reads Decision Affecting Ownership of Automobiles

A recent decision of the state supreme court, declaring that the name of the legal owner on the certificate is valid proof of ownership, was cited at today's meeting of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association that met at the Oakmont Country club, with Lyman P. Clark, president, in the chair.

The certificate of ownership, Secretary M. B. Towman declared, takes precedence of all other liens, except a mechanic's lien, and also takes precedence of a chattel mortgage, provided that the mortgage has been made subsequent to the issuance of the certificate.

Instances brought up by the members present raised several points that will have to be more fully elucidated, and the matter will be taken up at next week's meeting after Mr. Towman has had time to investigate the court's decision at greater length.

Report on Towing The report of the committee appointed to investigate the question of the removal of wrecked and abandoned cars from the highways was submitted by R. E. Corrigan, who stated that Pellegri Brothers garage, that now does the greater part of this work on instructions from the police department, is best equipped to handle the work, and he and his associates refused to make any recommendation looking to any change in the present system.

Chief of Police J. D. Fraser will be notified of the action of the association in adopting Mr. Corrigan's report.

Don H. Packer, chairman of the used car committee, asked that the dealers present furnish him with lists of the cars that they now have on hand in order that he may compile the data required by his committee.

Porter A. Kelley, Hudson and Essex distributors who is ill, will receive a bunch of flowers from his associates in the organization. The association approved the application of E. M. Balisch, of Montecito, who is now applying to the State Railroad Commission for permission to run an automobile stage line between Pasadena and Santa Barbara.

Indorse Y. M. C. A. The drive of the Y. M. C. A. for $275,000 to erect a building here was indorsed by the association, and President Clark also called attention to the approaching open forum meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and to the plans for Defense Day and urged that the association support both projects strongly.

Charles McDaniel, Nash dealer, was admitted to membership in the association, succeeding Adolph Nydegger, former dealer.

AVIATORS ON LAST LAPS OF TRIP

Make Plans for Journey of Craft Over U. S. to Field at Seattle

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 3.—The American round-the-world flyers were approaching Pictou, N. S., shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon after a successful flight from Hawkes harbor.

On receipt of radio dispatches, Commander Tulphoe of the Canadian air force, left Pictou to pilot the Americans into Pictou harbor, according to word received here.

Great throngs were gathered along the Pictou waterfront to greet the American airmen, Pictou dispatches said.

ON BOARD U. S. CRUISER RICHMOND, OFF CAPE GEORGE, N. S., Sept. 3.—The American round-the-world planes passed over the destroyer Coughlan, off Cape Ray, Newfoundland, at 2:17 eastern standard time this afternoon, having been in the air about four hours, and covered slightly more than half of the 400 miles from Hawkes bay to Pictou, N. S.

The flyers at this point had been averaging about 60 miles an hour. They passed over the cruiser Richmond, according to Brazos, stationed 120 miles from Hawkes bay, at noon.

Flyers Nearing Close of Their Lengthy Air Journey

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Lieutenant Lowell Smith and Lieutenant Erik Nelson, the American "round-the-world flyers, hopped off this morning from Hawkes bay, Newfoundland, according to a despatch to the navy department.

The departure of the flyers at 10:12 a. m., eastern time, was reported to the navy department by Admiral Magruder, commanding the cruiser Richmond. Their objective is Pictou harbor, Nova Scotia, 420 miles from Hawkes bay.

Lieutenant Smith and Lieutenant Nelson, accompanied by Lieutenant Wade, who will get a new plane at Boston, are expected to arrive in Washington next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Plan Route Home They will land at Bolling field, and will rest there for a day, their next hop being to McCook field at Dayton, Ohio. After a day at Dayton they will fly to Chicago for one day, arriving there September 12 or 13.

The route out of Chicago will be via Cheyenne, Wyo., to the Pacific coast, the flight to end at Seattle, Wash., where the flyers left Continental United States.

Crews Battling to Gain Control of San Gabriel Fire

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—One of the worst forest fires in the history of Southern California threatened to develop today as 1000 men of federal fire crews fought to beat back the conflagration raging in San Gabriel canyon since Sunday.

Re-inforcements were rushed to the front from Monrovia and Azusa, and unless the fire is under control tonight, additional fighters will be dispatched from Los Angeles.

Several summer resorts in the canyon were threatened, forestry officials said, and all campers have been ordered to leave the vicinity.

LOCAL REALTORS FOR 'Y' PROGRAM

Members Pass Resolution at Luncheon; Discuss Plans For Convention

The Glendale Realty board today endorsed the development program of the Y. M. C. A., which contemplates a drive for $275,000, from September 16 to 23, with which to erect a permanent building here. The meeting was held at the Alley Inn, 210 1/2 South Brand boulevard, President Peter Hanson presiding.

E. P. Hayward was appointed chairman of a committee to secure attendance of board members at Burbank on September 9, which has been set aside as "Glendale Day" at the San Fernando Valley Industrial exposition to be held there opening on that day.

Change Headquarters It was announced by President Hanson that headquarters at the forthcoming annual convention of the California Real Estate association, to be held in Pasadena from October 8 to 11, inclusive, have been changed to the Maryland hotel. F. W. Cunningham, field secretary of the association, now stationed in Los Angeles, addressed the gathering. The "small town" tryouts will be held the night of September 18, at a place to be announced later, it was reported by W. S. Kirk, chairman of this committee.

Report Is Read A copy of the report of the legislative committee of the California Real Estate association, sent by H. Bloodgood, chairman of the committee, was read by Mr. Hayward. It outlined a number of proposed changes in the state law among them a provision that the cost of brokers' surety bonds be reduced.

The board voted to have copies of the proposals ailed to the members in the form of a questionnaire, with a blank for noting opinions, these opinions to be checked before any action is taken.

Prince of Wales Is Again Late to Bed

SYOSSETT, N. Y., Sept. 3.—David Windsor, otherwise H. R. H., the Prince of Wales, arose late again today after a crowded day and night. He did not leave the princely bed chamber of the Burden home until shortly before noon. Later Captain A. F. Lascelles, the prince's equerry, said Wales had no definite plans for the next two days and may rest up.

As was the case the day before the prince returned home between 5 and 6 o'clock this morning after spending the night dancing at the homes of Henry R. W.throp, in Woodbury, Long Island, and Mrs. Vincent Astor, not far from here.

18 CENT REDUCTION OVER AMOUNT PAID LAST FISCAL YEAR ON LOCAL PROPERTY

Lower Sum Comes In Making Up Budget For School Purposes; Increase In Assessment To Bring Greater Amount of Revenue

The total city and county tax rate for Glendale this year is 18 cents lower than last year, it is revealed in the new tax rate statement just issued by the Los Angeles county Board of Supervisors. The 1924-25 total city and county rate is $3.81, per $100 of assessed valuation, compared with $3.99 for the fiscal year of 1923-24.

The cut is in the various items which comprise the tax for school purposes. Last year this total was $2.14. This year it is $1.95, a reduction of 19 cents. This cut is reduced 1 cent in the total tax by the fact that the Glendale city rate of $1.11 for the present year is 1 cent higher than the $1.10 city rate of a year ago.

The other county items are the same as for the 1923-24 fiscal year, as evidenced in the following table of comparisons:

Total Glendale Tax	1923-24	1924-25
City tax	$1.10	$1.11
School tax	2.14	1.95
County tax	.68	.68
Flood control tax	.07	.07

Sets Forth Items Making Up School Tax

The various items comprising the school tax are made up as follows:

Elementary school	.31
High school	.13
Elementary school special	.28
High school special	.25
Kindergarten special	.75
Elementary non-operative bonds	.17
High school non-operative bonds	.12
Elementary operative bonds	.01
High school operative bonds	.01
Elementary school building fund	.06

County Budget Total Set At $17,304,752

The basic rate for Los Angeles, Glendale and all points within the county is computed by the Board of Supervisors from a total assessed valuation of $2,375,150,555. The total 1924-25 county budget calls for an expenditure of $17,304,752.

The Glendale city tax rate for 1924-25 is based on an assessed valuation of $47,061,355, an increase of 56.4 per cent over last year's assessed valuation of $30,092,460. The Los Angeles city tax rate for 1924-25 is based on an assessed valuation of $1,374,750,555, an increase of 72.8 per cent over last year's assessed valuation of $999,950,520.

PICNICKERS STAGE WEIRD BASEBALL
Hour Long Inning Halted by Call to Lunch With Score at 42-0

SUNLAND, Sept. 3.—Picnickers community has been invited by John Vista park provide strange and interesting amusement for Sunland people, but probably the best laugh handed the natives was a ball game Sunday between picked teams of the Cannon Ball Express company of Los Angeles. Nearly fifty employees and their families held forth during the day, it being the third annual outing given by J. H. Noyes, proprietor of the business.

The alleged ball game started before noon, for no visible reason, and was called at 1 o'clock by unanimous proclamation by the spectators. The game was still in the first inning, score 42 to 0. Only one team got to bat, but the game will be continued at the next picnic next summer, when the other team confidently expects to tie the score in their half of the first inning. Joe Noyes had a field day at bat, getting three strikeouts in three trips up. In fact, if it hadn't been for him, his team might have been batting yet.

Ground Rules Prevail
Following the suspension of the game the manager further demonstrated his good qualities by calling the meeting to order at the lunch table. Ground rules were declared and some plain and fancy eating was done by all hands. Jack Littlejohn dispensed refreshments in a capable manner. A keg of punch on tap all day, was well patronized.

Following the big feed there were races and games for everybody from the babies to the grandparents. Novelty prizes furnished the crowd as well as the winners with amusement. A few of the winners in the races were: Gregory Newhouse, men's race; Lorena Barraclough, Elaine Rugg, girls' race; Elma Noyes, Helen Brinkus, little girls' race; Mrs. Hendrix, first prize and Mrs. Roy Noyes, consolation prize in "stout" women's race; Hoffman, Conover, flatfooted race; Harry Rugg, fat men's race.

Fumes of Gas Engines Kill Three In Tunnel
KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Sept. 3.—James White, George Sander and Perry McGover, construction laborers, were asphyxiated while working in the Southern Pacific tunnel at Odell lake, according to a report received by Coroner Earl Whitlock, who has left for the scene. Fumes from gas engines used for power are believed to have snuffed out the lives of the men.

Recall Old Days
In days gone by, San Pasqual, today is known as South Pasadena, was popular with the dark-eyed señoritas and the youthful swains of the ranchos that dotted the undulating plain at the foot of the Sierra Madre range.

An industrial show, open air and many local stunts are being given.

The entire new athletic field, across the street from the present field, where the fiesta is held, is being used as an auto park, thus insuring all visitors satisfactory and safe parking of their cars.

On K. C. Program
Miss Ruth Thompson, talented pianist-composer of Eagle Rock, and Virgil Drenghers, violinist and instructor, also of Eagle Rock, appeared recently at the Knights of Columbus hall, San Pedro, on a brilliant program under the direction of Dr. Francis A. Magnin. Miss Thompson is coaching with Dr. Magnin, who is now opening a series of master classes in Southern California, preparatory to organizing the Euterpean Camera, College of Musical Arts. It is Dr. Magnin's aim to institute a system of training in the new musical conservatoire whereby character building will become the foundation for development of beauty and individuality in the perfect interpretation of all musical compositions.

Mrs. W. L. Douglas and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Douglas, arrived here last week from Bridgeport, Conn.

ADMISSION DAY PROGRAM VARIED
Grand Chapter of Golden Scroll to Be Formed at San Fernando

SAN FERNANDO, Sept. 3.—John Steven McGroarty will play a prominent role in the "Admission Day" celebration at the old Mission on September 9.

The Kwanan clubs, Chambers of Commerce, Women's clubs and other civic organizations of the San Fernando valley, as well as the Native Sons of the Golden West and Native Daughters of the Golden West, throughout Southern California, have joined forces to make this occasion memorable on the pages of California's history.

Stirring Program
Beginning at 11 o'clock there will be a continuous program of vivid and colorful events. A tableau portraying the signing of the historic treaty between General Andres Pico and General John C. Fremont will be staged and the various characters will be played by actors of world-renowned fame. One of the world's greatest singers will render a California song. Practically the entire cast of the Mission Play from San Gabriel will perform throughout the day.

The program of the Golden Scroll will be organized in the historic assembly room of the old mission, and San Fernando chapter, No. 17, will also be organized.

Highway Needs
President A. Z. Taft, Jr., in a recent interview said that the plans of the Greater San Fernando Valley association are maturing in a very concrete way, and that as the many phases and situations are considered that the one dominant and immediate need is better transportation—both highway and rail—and that it is the purpose of the association to soon have its program well defined and ready for aggressive launching.

An important series of joint conferences will result in a well-balanced outline, and that highways, transportation, parks, sewers, flood control and industrial zoning will be clearly defined and that the San Fernando valley will then have an ideal program before it.

Find Man Branded and Bound In Lowly Spot
WAUKEGAN, Ill., Sept. 3.—Branded with the letters "K. K. K." on his breast and believed to have been tortured for days, an unidentified man, aged about 38, believed to be Thomas Stalp, of Cudahy, Wis., was found bound, gagged and blindfolded, in a deserted cottage at Winthrop Harbor, Ill.

Less Than Half of Voters Cast Ballots
TUJUNGA, Sept. 3.—Registration of voters for the primary election showed a total of 1030, divided among three precincts as follows: No. 1, territory west of Sunset boulevard, 419; No. 2, territory east of Sunset, north of El Centro street, 264; No. 3, territory east of Sunset, south of El Centro, 347. These figures show an increase of nearly 100 per cent in the number of registrations since the last election, when but 500 were registered for Tujunga.

The number of votes cast was less than 50 per cent of the registration, being 503. In but one precinct did the vote amount to more than 50 per cent of the number registered and this in precinct No. 1, where 227 votes were cast out of a possible 419. Sunland had a light vote, 230 out of a possible 522. In the Montrose district precinct No. 1 had 135 registrations and 57 votes cast; precinct No. 2, 214 registrations and 65 votes cast; No. 3, 287 registrations, 82 votes; No. 4, 348 registrations, 105 votes cast.

Business, Weather In East Slow and Hot
TUJUNGA, Sept. 3.—"Slow and oppressively hot," is the way H. Breit, president of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce, described business and the weather in the middle west on his return from a business trip to Chicago. Mr. Breit was unavoidably prevented from attending the August meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, but returned in time to vote at the primary elections. "I wanted to get back before election time, because a lot of the voters here said they were going to defeat Wright for supervisor, but I notice they didn't do it. To hear them talk now they were for him all the time."

WINNER IN QUEEN RACE ANNOUNCED
Mrs. Harry Kendig to Reign At Valley Exposition Opening Sept. 9

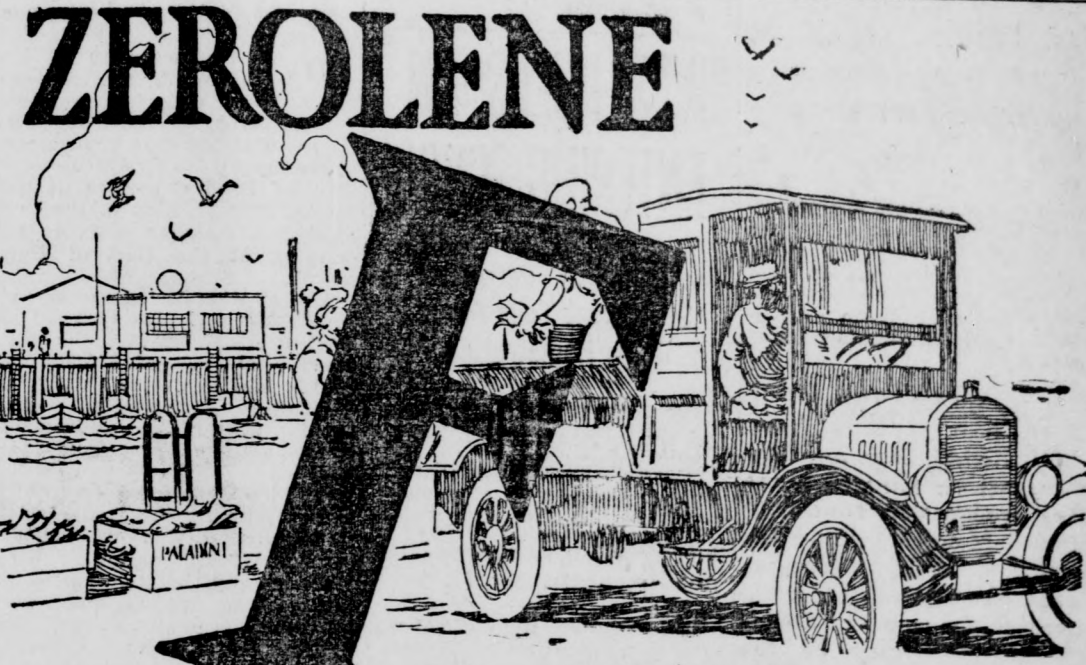

BURBANK, Sept. 3.—Mrs. Harry Kendig has been acclaimed "Queen" of the forthcoming San Fernando Valley Industrial exposition, receiving 494,200 votes to the 410,800 of Miss Caroline Muschiano, runner-up. Miss Helena Christman was third with 312,250 votes. The exposition opens September 9, which is to be "Glendale Day," when prominent officials of the sister city will be present as special guests of the Chamber of Commerce.

This announcement comes from Manager J. W. Charville of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce, who states that, in addition to her honor as Queen, Mrs. Kendig is to receive a beautiful diamond ring as a permanent token of her popularity. The exposition will end on Saturday, September 13, which will be anything but an "unlucky" day, is the general belief.

School Starts Soon
Children and teachers have less than one week of freedom from school tasks, because on September 8 the schools of the city will re-open for another year of work. On Monday night there was a dinner dance at the Sunset Canyon Country club. Charming music and other features contributed to a delightful occasion.

Mrs. W. J. Williams of Long Beach was a guest of her friend, Mrs. Estella Ervin in this city recently. Mrs. Ervin also had as a guest today Miss Bertha Lewis of Los Angeles.

ZEROLENE
for FORDS
"leaves nothing to be desired"

Fords seldom work harder than they do in the fish business of A. Paladini, Inc., which has offices in San Francisco, Oakland, Monterey, Eureka and Pittsburg. This company writes: "We have used Zerolene 'F' for Fords in our Ford cars, which you know are operating continuously under the most trying conditions, and find it superior in every respect to any of the numerous oils we have used in our Ford equipment. We are glad to offer this recommendation as we know that Zerolene 'F' for Fords leaves nothing to be desired in Ford lubrication."

Improves Gas Mileage
Zerolene "F" for Fords gets to the parts requiring lubrication. That is why Ford owners who drain their crankcases and start out fresh with this new oil find that their gasoline mileage is considerably improved and that the car runs more smoothly and has more power.

Lubricates Better—Costs Less
Incidentally, Zerolene "F" for Fords, which represents a definite advance in Ford lubrication, costs not more but actually less than other special Ford oils on the market.

A Ford is an A-1 transportation investment. Protect your investment by proper lubrication.

L. A. COUNCIL APPROVES LOS FELIZ BRIDGE PLANS

GLENDALE DEPOT AIDS TRAVELERS

Passengers Save Time and Avoid Traffic Congestion By Coming Here

The advantages offered north and south-bound travelers since the erection of the new Glendale depot and the adoption of the new train schedules on the Southern Pacific are shown by F. S. McGinnis, assistant passenger traffic manager...

"Until a few months ago," says Mr. McGinnis, "he would either pack his bag in the morning, take dinner downtown and then board the train in Los Angeles; or, he would leave his office earlier than usual, go home, have dinner at home, pack his bag and then come in to Los Angeles."

Comes to Glendale "He now leaves his office as usual, goes home, has dinner with the family, and, if he takes the Lark, for instance, about 8 o'clock he puts on his hat, climbs in his car and his son or his wife drives him over to our Glendale station. At 8:21 p. m. the Lark stops for him at Glendale and he is on his way. He figures an average of about 12 minutes from his home in Hollywood to the Southern Pacific station in Glendale."

"There is also a business man living in Pasadena who follows identically the same procedure. Instead of coming in to Los Angeles to board his train, he drives straight over to Glendale and catches the train there, saving himself no end of time getting away from any traffic congestion along the way."

Trains Stop Here "All of our fast trains between Los Angeles and San Francisco, except the Daylight Limited, stop in both directions at Glendale. "I might go on and tell you how these same business men coming back from San Francisco detrain at Glendale, and reach their offices not a great deal later than usual. The Pasadena man says he can be home and in his bath by the time the train reaches Los Angeles, and the Hollywood man can beat that."

CAT CLUB PLANS TO HOLD EXHIBIT

Date Fixed for First Week in December; Judges to Be Selected Soon

Plans for the annual show of the Glendale Cat club the first week in December in the Hahn auditorium, 109-A North Brand boulevard, were made last night at the club meeting at the home of Mrs. B. O. Holbrook at 425 West Harvard street. Dr. Libbie Asheroff, president of the club, was unanimously chosen show manager; Mrs. Walter Ross, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Maude Durnford, entry clerk; Mrs. Frank Buncy, Miss Claribel Grim, Mrs. F. C. Cooper, Mrs. B. O. Holbrook, Norman Asheroff, members of the show committee.

Several well-known judges are being considered and selection of a judge will be made at an early date.

A long list of prizes is being arranged for the show, which is to be open for all cats, long and short-haired, and of any color.

Surgeons Operate on Patients at Hospital

The following had their tonsils removed this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital: Burton Kuntzner, 4019 Ross street; Ardis Wadelich, 634 North Kenwood street; Roy E. Brinkman, 125 South San Fernando road; Richard L. Bicknell, 514 Golden street, Los Angeles; Miss E. Scott of 702 North Jackson street underwent major surgery at the same institution.

Gas Heater Is Cause Of E. Harvard Blaze

A blaze said to have been caused by a leaky gas heater brought the fire department shortly after 9 o'clock last night to the house at 111 East Harvard street, occupied by J. Dailey. The flames were confined to the bathroom and were quickly extinguished. Chief A. H. Lankford reports that the damage was slight.

CHANGE IN DATE FOR C. C. FORUM

Gathering to Take Place on Sept. 11; Advertising Campaign Planned

The date of the Chamber of Commerce open forum meeting, that had been tentatively set for September 15, was changed at last night's session of the board of directors to Thursday, September 11, in order to avoid conflict with the plans that have been perfected for launching the drive of the Y. M. C. A. for a $275,000 building fund.

All civic organizations and service clubs will be notified of the change, and will be asked to make their reservations for the dinner that is to be held at the Oakmont Country club as a part of the program. Reservations must be made two days before the date set for the forum meeting, which will be open to all the citizens of Glendale, whether members of the Chamber of Commerce or not. It is also planned to provide transportation for those who may be unable to reach the club in their own or in their friends' cars.

To Resume Advertising The early resumption of the city's advertising campaign is planned, following the action of the Glendale City Council in agreeing to make and pay for advertising contracts in fulfillment of the pledge of the city to the fund, according to Paul E. Stillman, chairman of the advertising committee, and with money coming in from the pledges that are in the hands of the officials of the organization Mr. Stillman recommended that some one be secured to devote his entire time to this branch of the work. This matter will be settled at a conference between Secretary Howard I. Wood and the members of the advertising committee.

The directors and a large delegation of members will attend the San Fernando Valley exposition that is to be held at Burbank September 9 to 13, the opening day having been set aside as Glendale Day. The Chamber of Commerce membership card will admit to the exposition on that date, and only one person will be admitted on the card. Glendale is to have a booth at the exposition, under the charge of the Chamber of Commerce advertising committee.

Board Meets at Noon In order to permit the directors to attend the exposition next Tuesday night, the weekly board meeting will be held at noon of that day in the Alley Inn.

A request of the Glendale Realty board to the board of control for a contribution of $250 toward the fund being raised to advertise Glendale at the Pasadena convention of state realtors was referred to the advertising committee. The City Council has already set aside a similar amount for this purpose.

A letter from the Glendale Ad club, urging an arrow be placed under the electric sign on San Fernando road and Brand boulevard, and pointing along the latter street toward the business section of Glendale, was referred to the advertising committee. The letter also recommended that signs be placed on the main high ways leading into the city, giving details of Glendale's growth and other points of interest to possible investors and visitors.

Chosen as Delegate George H. Bentley was appointed to act in place of P. J. Hayselden at today's meeting of the Citizens' Bond committee, in the absence of the latter from the city.

The directors, who had planned to take up the question of the proposed bond issue for city parks, decided to postpone action until after today's meeting of the bond committee.

The directors endorsed the plans for Defense Day and also endorsed the Y. M. C. A. drive for its $275,000 building fund.

Broadway P.-T. Board Enjoy Beach Holiday

Members of the executive board of the Broadway Parent-Teacher association and their families spent the past week-end together at Ocean-side. They motored south Saturday, spending the three days camping on the beach. Swimming and special motor trips were features of the vacation. With but few exceptions all officers of the Parent-Teacher association were present, and plans were informally discussed for the coming year.

The party included Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reese, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Post, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Lottus, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Rettberg, Joseph Van Ripper and Wilbur A. Baller.

Gloria May Wed Again

Rumor is busy linking the names of GLORIA SWANSON, film star, and JASCHA HEIFETZ, the noted violinist, in a report that the screen beauty's third marriage is imminent.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The ever busy little gossip birdies are saying that Gloria Swanson, noted film star, will soon take unto herself another husband, and that No. 3 will be none other than Jascha Heifetz, famed violinist.

Neither is having anything to say about the matter. Both have just returned from Europe. Gloria's first husband was Wallace Beery, screen villain. Her second was Herbert Somborn, a Pacific coast business man. She has a daughter by Somborn.

VIOLIN TEACHER TO OPEN STUDIO

Julius Kranz Is Organizing Classes for Students To Start Sept. 15

Julius Kranz, well-known Glendale violinist of 115 West Eulalia street, has returned home from a two weeks' motor trip north as far as Portland, Ore., and is now making preparations for opening his studio in the new building of the Glendale Music company at 108 South Brand boulevard.

Mr. Kranz reports a wonderful vacation trip, during which he covered 3500 miles. He visited the Redwoods and spent several days in Portland and San Francisco.

While away he wrote several violin selections, which he will present during the fall and winter.

Mr. Kranz is now organizing his classes and will open his studio September 15. He will also resume his orchestral work in the South Pasadena High school.

Teacher Spends Part Of Vacation In Study

Mrs. Frederic A. Field and Miss Bessie L. Field, 538 North Louise street, have just returned from an enjoyable motor trip north. They left Glendale July 17, and went directly to Palo Alto, where Miss Field attended Stanford University for the last month of the summer quarter. Her work of the most interesting under Dr. William Westernman of Columbia university, also Dr. Alfred E. who has just recently returned from travel and study in Europe.

HENRY S. PARKER FUNERAL SERVICES

Final Tribute to Be Paid On Thursday Afternoon At Forest Lawn

Funeral services for Henry S. Parker, brother of Mrs. A. T. Cowan of 324 North Central avenue, who died yesterday morning in Highland Park, will be held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Little Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn Memorial park.

Mr. Parker was born May 12, 1857, in Grand View, Ohio. At the age of 9 years he moved with his family to Whiteside county, Illinois, where he lived for thirty-six years. On December 28, 1892, he married Miss Mary A. Cowan. They had one daughter, Miss Bessie H. Parker, who resides at the family home in Highland park.

Besides his widow and daughter Mr. Parker leaves a brother, James R. Parker of Ramona, Oklahoma, and two sisters, Mrs. A. T. Cowan of Glendale and Mrs. J. E. Drake of Council Grove, Kansas.

The Parker family moved in 1901 to El Reno, Oklahoma, and September 9, 1918, they arrived in Glendale. Five years ago they moved to Highland Park.

Mr. Parker had many friends in Glendale, where he was engaged in the realty business, having offices on West Broadway and South San Fernando road.

DIVIDE PROPERTY IN CABIN SITES

800-Acre Tract of Mountain And Valley to Become Huge Playground

Development of a mountain playground that will be primarily for the people of Glendale is planned by the Frazier Mountain Park & Fisheries company, formed of local realty men and capitalists, who will prepare their incorporation papers at a meeting scheduled for tonight.

The company is composed of A. L. Baird, 211 East Broadway, president; W. L. Twining, 108 West Broadway, vice-president; Harry G. MacBain, 634 East Broadway, secretary; and L. H. Myers, 108 West Broadway, treasurer.

N. T. Baird, a brother of A. L. Baird, who has been employed as efficiency expert in one of the largest Chicago firms, is now on his way here to take charge of the Glendale office of the company.

The tract that has been acquired by the company consists of 800 acres lying partly on the north slope of Frazier mountain and embracing a stretch of fertile meadow land on which a series of springs rise and where it is planned to construct a chain of lakes extending almost three quarters of a mile in length.

Water to Cabins The company's plans call for the division of the mountain slope into cabin sites, and a spring that rises 450 feet above the floor of the valley will furnish water sufficient to supply the needs of all site owners, the water to be piped to each cabin site.

In the lakes that are to be constructed, the company will have a fish hatchery stocked with trout and other fish, and the owners of sites will be allowed to fish there in the year round, on payment of a $3 maintenance fee, which will be paid into the hatchery fund.

Other recreation features will be a plunge, croquet and tennis courts, dance hall and radio, boating and fishing, but hunting on the tract will be barred. The adjacent forest reservations, Mr. Baird states, will afford excellent hunting of all kinds, however.

Plan Fire Break A fire break 100 feet wide will be built entirely around the tract to protect it from forest fires, and a store of water will be held to permit the occupants of the cabins to secure supplies or to eat outside their cabins if they so desire.

Who Will Convey Aged Woman to Old Folks' Picnic?

There's a dear old lady in Glendale, past 83 years old, who wants to go to the "Old Folks'" picnic Saturday in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, but who will be unable to go unless some one takes her in his or her car.

Although unusually active for one of her age, she does not think it wise for her to undertake the trip on the street car alone, and her daughter is unable to go because she must remain at home to care for her aged father.

Anyone in Glendale having an extra seat in the car, who would like to take this dear old grandmother to the picnic outing can get in touch with her by calling The Glendale Evening News office, Glendale 4000, and ask for the social editor.

FARM PROSPECTS FINE FOR IDAHO

Publisher Claims State Will Support Republican Ticket In Fall

Agricultural prospects in Idaho, particularly in the Upper Snake River valley, have never been better, declared C. J. Read of Idaho Falls, Idaho, owner of The Idaho Falls Daily Post, and The Intermountain Farmer. The Daily Post is published morning and evening, while The Intermountain Farmer is a semi-monthly publication.

Mr. Read is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Read, of 478 Vine street, and while here took advantage of the opportunity to inspect the new plant of The Glendale Evening News, and see the modern equipment recently installed.

Favor Wool Tariff Idaho will vote the Republican ticket this fall, Mr. Read said. Practically every resident of the state favors the tariff on wool, since one of the leading industries of the state is the raising of sheep, he said.

Mr. Read is president of the Kiwanis club of Idaho Falls, and is planned to attend the meeting of the Glendale Kiwanis club Friday noon.

NEW NIGHT ROBES

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The night robe de luxe at present is of blue silk crepe, with a sash of reversible, narrow ribbon in blue and lavender. Tinty pink rosebuds are strewn the length of the sash and a large pink rose decorates each ribbon end.

"We are going to offer the people of Glendale the first chance to buy these robes," says Mr. Baird. "This park is going to be a paradise for the man of moderate means who wants to insure for himself and his children a vacation ground among the most attractive beauties of Southern California at a price within his means."

PARIS, Sept. 3.—Not so many flowers appear on the fall fashions now. Here and there a large capeline may have a single bright blossom snuggled against the brim. But for the most part the trimmings are bow ends and hands of silk or felt.

CONCRETE STRUCTURE COST APPROXIMATELY $160,000

Board of Public Works To Call For Bids On Improvement; Greater Safety In Traffic Now Assured, Authorities Assert

Bids for the construction of a new concrete bridge across the Los Angeles river at Los Feliz boulevard are to be called for by the Board of Public Works of Los Angeles, following the approval of the Los Angeles City Council yesterday of plans for a structure to cost approximately $160,000, to be paid for from the $1,000,000 bridge bond issue recently voted by the people of Los Angeles.

The specifications, as approved by the Los Angeles City Council, call for the completion of the new bridge within 200 days after the contractors start work on it, which, it is estimated, should be within the next sixty days. The new bridge is to be 300 feet long and seventy feet wide, which will include the sidewalks on each side.

Owing to the fact that the present bridge across the river at Los Feliz boulevard is in such a precarious condition as to render its use unsafe for traffic any longer than is absolutely necessary, the old structure will be removed as soon as the new one is completed. At the present time the approach to the bridge site from the Southern Pacific tracks to Los Feliz road is being widened to 100 feet.

Construction Plans It is planned to build the new bridge up-stream from the old one, and the two structures will be about five feet apart. The wide span that the new bridge is to have will, it is stated, do away with the danger of washouts in the event of floods, while the elimination in the new bridge of the curve that is such a pronounced feature of the old bridge will make for greater safety for traffic.

As the site of the proposed bridge lies entirely in the city of Los Angeles, Glendale will not be asked to bear any share in the cost attached to its construction. Plans for the construction of a bridge across the river at Glendale boulevard are also under consideration, it is stated by Virgil B. Stone, city manager, but they have not progressed to a point that makes any definite announcement possible as to the time when work will start or as to the nature of the bridge that will be built. The board of supervisors and the engineers of the flood control board are driving piling to protect the flood control channel of the river, from the Los Feliz bridge on down to the Glendale boulevard bridge, and when this is completed, and the channel has been defined and thoroughly protected from the possibility of flood menace, a bridge will be designed to meet present day traffic conditions, Mr. Stone says.

QUEEN IS NAMED FOR EXPOSITION

Ruler to Lead Parade Along Route Through Valley On Admission Day

With the election of Mrs. Harry Kendig as queen of the San Fernando Valley Industrial exposition and the selection of Misses Caroline Mussano and Helena Christmas as queen and honor, plans are rapidly nearing completion for the opening of that affair with the parade of decorated automobiles on the morning of next Tuesday, Admission day. This parade will be through Burbank, Glendale and Hollywood and will have the queen and her court in the lead, with music by the Burbank and Van Nuys bands.

The opening day of the educational fair being so near at hand, the exposition building is just about the busiest place in the entire valley, with the exhibitors rushing operations in putting the finishing touches on their hundred booths and installing the exhibits and adding the decorations. There will not be an idle inch of the 50,000 square feet of floor space. Of this one whole section has been pre-empted by the automotive industry, with certainty that cars of many makes of the latest designs will be there to add a high light to the festival. And then there will be the motion picture industry, which pledges a surprise display of some description, with stars and near-stars present in person.

The products of the soil will be exhibited by seventeen different valley Chambers of Commerce, and manufacturing concerns with valley plants will have on display manufactured articles of a thousand different kinds, all proving to the public that the valley is rich in resources, opportunities and advantages.

SELLS REALTY WORTH $21,000 IN 7 DAYS

R. N. Greenlaw, of the Glendale Realty company, 131 1/2 South Brand boulevard, has almost recovered from the attack of flu that kept him confined to his home for several days. In the week before he was taken ill Mr. Greenlaw sold houses and lots to the value of $21,000, and he declares that the length of the sash and a large pink rose decorates each ribbon end.

FEWER FLOWERS

"We are going to offer the people of Glendale the first chance to buy these robes," says Mr. Baird. "This park is going to be a paradise for the man of moderate means who wants to insure for himself and his children a vacation ground among the most attractive beauties of Southern California at a price within his means."

Another Boost For Us

A few months ago "The Magazine of Wall Street," printed an article in which it classified investments relative to their safety. In their List No. 1 three kinds of investments were listed as safe, namely: Building and Loan Associations, Savings Banks, and United States Treasury Certificates. Thus you will see that in this form of saving you have the ideal combination, the highest degree of safety with the highest rate of interest.

WILL OLD PARTIES UNITE?

There has been much comment and criticism, both from Republicans and Democrats, of the fact that the differences between the two old parties have been gradually ironed out and that they are so much alike today it makes little difference with which one we ally ourselves. There are a great many people who have stood loyally for the principles of one party or the other all their lives who are now very much at sea as a result of these changed conditions.

From a reading of the platforms of the two parties it is evident that they stand for the same things. The tariff is the only question upon which Democrats and Republicans are not in almost complete accord. The candidates of the two parties are both conservatives, men who are very much alike, and honest people of both parties are forced to acknowledge that either would make a good president.

In view of this there are Republicans and Democrats who see in La Follette's deflection something significant for the future. They say if he should succeed in gathering together all the radicals of the country in one political organization it would be a good thing for the country. This would compel a union of all the conservatives who have remained divided between the Republican and Democratic parties. We should still have two parties, the Radicals and the Conservatives, each one standing for something.

As it is now, we have two great parties standing practically for the same principles, each one divided into a radical and a conservative group and hampered in its activities by this division.

VOTE OR ANSWER TO WOMEN

Warren G. Harding was elected president of the United States by a tremendous plurality. It would seem from the result that nearly every one in the country must have participated in that election. But the fact is, 51 per cent of the electors of the country did NOT vote at the presidential election in 1920. The affairs of this country are being managed by an actual minority.

The League of Women Voters has pledged itself that this condition shall not prevail again this year. The league is determined that we shall vote. It is a non-partisan organization and is not telling us how to vote, it is just insisting that we vote. It is determined that at least 75 per cent of the electorate of the country shall cast a ballot for president this year. The man or woman who stays away from the polls November 4 will have to answer for it to these women.

Other organizations beside the League of Women Voters, and newspapers and journals are working with the same end in view. The Glendale Evening News is aiming at a 100 per cent vote for Glendale.

Some people are naturally patriotic and wide-awake when it comes to exercising their voting privilege. Others for one cause or another are apathetic. It will be the duty of the former class not only to vote itself, but to assist in waking up those who are less energetic and urge them toward the polls.

MENTAL POISONING

We are careful what we take into our stomachs. We insist that our food be clean, we want to know what we are eating and where it came from. If a stranger should offer us food and bid us eat it we would not dream of doing so until it were analyzed and we were satisfied it was neither poisonous nor unclean.

But we are not so insistent that the things we take into our minds be clean and wholesome. We accept statements made by anyone and everyone as gospel truth, not stopping to analyze them and discard what is untrue, unclean and poisonous.

When it is considered that mental poisoning may be much more disastrous than physical poisoning, it is difficult to explain why we use so little discrimination in regard to the things we take into our minds.

TIME WILL TELL

Democrats are declaring that La Follette will get more Democratic votes than Republican, and Republicans are claiming the reverse. Some believe that Wheeler's desertion of the Democratic party will take with him enough Montana Democrats to make Republican victory in that state sure. It is also predicted in some quarters that La Follette will take with him a large part of the disgruntled Smith following.

Others see La Follette's greatest strength recruited from the Republican party, since he still professes to be a Republican.

It is interesting to speculate as to the result of the third party movement, and predict the outcome, but no one is in a position to do much more than make a guess. La Follette's candidacy, at least, will add spice, color and interest to the campaign.

PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

With the beginning of September the speech-making campaigns of the presidential candidates open. It is said that President Coolidge will not make any campaign tour, preferring to explain his position on various issues on occasions that present themselves for speech-making, aside from the campaign. General Dawes will tour the middle west, and Republican leaders are placing much reliance in his forceful and attractive personality to win votes. Mr. Davis expects to make extensive use of the radio in his campaign, but considerable pressure is being brought to bear upon him to go out among the people also. La Follette and his running mate, Wheeler, are both planning vigorous speech-making campaigns in eastern industrial centers as well as in the middle west and north-west.

HOME OWNERSHIP DIVORCE CURE

A Los Angeles judge who hears thousands of divorce cases and who tries to reconcile couples who are seeking divorce, says the first question he asks them is, "Do you own your own home?" He finds that marital differences are more rare among those who live on a piece of land or lot of their own. The home tie is binding even though the house is no larger than a dry goods box.

This is a new slant on the divorce problem, but a perfectly reasonable one at that. If every newly married couple could move into their own home they would have more in common and there would be less likelihood of differences developing.

LOOKS LIKE HISTORY IS GOING TO REPEAT ITSELF

The Vampire

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Few crimes have been recorded in recent times equal to those of a German, Frederick Haarman, local butcher, and police stool-pigeon of Hanover. He broke down finally, after a third degree of the local police, and confessed to a long career of blood-lust and degeneracy.

He confessed, however, to murdering "only fourteen" victims, whereas he is suspected of twenty-two persons.

He is a gorilla-like figure and refuses to confess the motive which led him to the crimes. It seems that he lured his victims to his den, homeless-looking young boys, offering them a meal free at his house, where they were slaughtered by cutting their jugular veins, whereupon the vampire fastened his teeth into them and sucked their blood.

Haarman and his confederates lured these boys into his house under the promise of food and lodging and, while they were asleep, they were murdered and their bodies were either buried in the cellar or thrown into the river.

He raved wildly after making his confession, crying: "Behold me if you will, but for God's sake, don't take me into the street. I cannot stand their glances and the way the people glare."

The Hanover police received hundreds of pitiful letters from heart-broken mothers, begging more detailed descriptions of the gruesome skulls and bones found in Haarman's meat shop and thrown up by the river, hoping that these would reveal whether their missing sons were among Haarman's victims. Scores of mothers arrived from all points of the country to view the clothes found in the vampire's dwelling, in the hope of identifying those as the garments their sons wore when they were last seen. Some of these women have already identified some of the clothes as belonging to their missing sons. Sobbing and fainting, they have confronted Haarman in his cell, who, however, without being definite, mumbles wildly: "Yes, yes, I suppose I killed him," or "Yes, I knew this boy, but I was sorry for him, so I did not kill him."

It is difficult to see how a man could be guilty of such unnatural and cruel crimes. The only explanation was that he was insane. For it is difficult to imagine how a man in his right mind would do such things.

As far as that is concerned, however, it is a question whether every criminal is not insane, to a degree. Sanity implies conformity to an established order and those who give themselves up to unnatural appetites are in a fair way toward insanity.

If, however, this case is a form of insanity it should be looked into and society should suppress the victim for its own sake.

Just what is the cause of such unnaturalness is difficult to say. It is doubtless a lack of imagination; the insane person cannot picture to himself the suffering of his victims and, having adopted an insane idea, all his energies are bent upon the gratification of his unnatural lust. Society exists and continues only because of the certainty with which human nature reacts to given conditions. It is but right and proper that those who do not so react should be isolated and cured, if possible.

That human beings should indulge in such unnatural crimes is unbelievable were it not that the facts brought out in investigation furnish proof more incontrovertible than could the imagination.

Horoscope

Contrary influences rule this day, according to astrology. When Mars and the Sun are in benefic aspect, Uranus and Saturn are adverse.

Under this sway hospitals will benefit and they are likely to be overcrowded, surgical cases multiplying as autumn advances.

During this rule all the physical and material forces may be dominant and victorious.

Again emphasis on the baser instinct of mankind may be expected, but novels and motion pictures will offer better presentations of social relations.

Attacks on the established order of things may be effective at this time than they would be under a different planetary government.

Elderly persons of both sexes may suffer exceedingly at this time, for the young will not profit by their experience.

Muddled thinking is supposed to be encouraged by this rule and there will be much wavering of opinion in religion as well as politics.

Military matters again come under a direction of the stars, making for widespread discussion. An army officer will gain a conspicuous position and may cause many to dissent their votes in the coming election.

All the influences appear to encourage scandalous reports both secret and published. The seers warn that Uranus, under which radio activities are believed to be directed may bring trouble for a candidate.

Labor is still subject to influences making for discontent and workers will gain greatly in power, but disappointment awaits them.

Persons whose birthdate it is should safeguard the health in the coming year. They should avoid speculation and by caution they may gain financially.

LOVE CAME BACK AT FALL OF DEW
Love came back at fall o' dew,
Playing his old part;
But I had a word or two,
That would break his heart.

This the word that made us part

This the word that broke his heart
—Yet it broke mine, too!

Who's Who

Reports from Hungary, now in political chaos, state that a movement is well under way to restore the monarchy there and crown Count Laszlo Szechenyi, now Hungarian ambassador to Washington, king.

Such a move, if achieved, would automatically make the former Gladys Vanderbilt, an American woman, a queen of one of Europe's realms.

The report brings as much interest to New York social circles as it does to Washington political and diplomatic circles.

The count married Miss Vanderbilt in 1908. His coming to Washington as ambassador created a social flutter.

The count served in the army of his native land during the war and his wife was known as a hospital "angel." She gave personal service for the wounded and was the most pathetic of the American "dollar princesses" who had been taken by marriage to the camp of the enemy.

The count visited America frequently before the war and came again shortly after the armistice. When the United States entered the war, Countess Szechenyi became an alien enemy and the alien property custodian took over nearly $9,000,000 worth of stocks and other property owned in this country by her.

The countess made a visit to her family while the war was in progress, being admitted by special permission of the state department.

Letters From Election Day Aliens

Some reasons why men and women do not vote:

Editor The Evening News—Why did I not vote at the primaries? Well, the primaries are really not important, you know. Candidates are not elected at the primaries, you understand. The primary is just to determine whose names shall be printed on the ballot for election. As you intimated, some of the candidates we might wish to vote for in November were eliminated in the primaries but then I was perfectly satisfied with the result. I am not one who is hard to suit. I am optimistic and I feel that everything always turns out for the best. I think the men who are elected usually do as well or better than those who are defeated would do if they were elected. At least, that is the way I like to look at it.

I think the old U. S. A. is a pretty good country and things are moving along here just as well as we can expect. No one or no thing is perfect, so we cannot expect perfection in our candidates, our officeholders or our laws. Let well-enough alone is my motto.

Things are not nearly so bad as they are sometimes painted. I think a lot of this talk about trying to get more honest and efficient men in office and to clean up politics is for effect. Some people are always trying to butt in where they have no business. We don't appreciate our government enough. Things would move along much more smoothly if there were not so much criticism of those in office.

I know there are cases where conditions might be improved, where officeholders might be a little more honest and efficient and a little more interested in the people but on the whole I think this is a pretty good old world and I am very well satisfied with things as they are.

You never hear me kicking because a certain man was elected or defeated or because a certain measure passed or did not pass. I am always satisfied and I take things as they come without complaining.

I may vote in November. I don't know. It will depend upon where I am and what I am doing. I am a Coolidge man but he will be elected anyway whether I vote or not. At any rate, the old world will move along just the same no matter who is elected. My vote wouldn't count for much among so many millions anyway, would it?

Three cheers for the good old U. S. A.

Yours,
O. P. TIMISTIC.

PREDICT RECORD TOURIST SEASON

Visitors to Spend Huge Sum in Southland, Declares Railroad Agents

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—Based on predictions made by trans-continental railroads, hotel men and Chambers of Commerce in the Southland, not less than $100,000,000 will be spent by tourists this winter season. Hotel men anticipate the greatest season in the history of the state if advance registrations run true to form. The Southern Pacific, Santa Fe and Union Pacific passenger departments are making preparations to handle record travel which has been held in reserve by many false rumors in the east.

Publicity given the dry season and hoof-and-mouth disease has been counteracted, and those visitors to Southern California who have returned east and told of the pleasant summer on the coast will send thousands on their way to the sun-kissed land for the winter holidays.

More Facilities
Santa Barbara, Pasadena and Los Angeles hotel registrations are more than gratifying, and, increased facilities, it is expected that all will be cared for. Many new homes and apartments are available for the wealthy, a will be filled by the new year, when the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena officially welcomes the visitors.

Motor car dealers, tourist agencies and others catering to the tourists are being forewarned by the Chamber of Commerce to anticipate the demands which will be made upon them.

CAMPAIGN FUNDS WORRY MANAGERS

Coolidge Issues Orders No Contributions Assure Political Favors

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special correspondent of the Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Money, the all-important commodity without which a national political campaign can hardly be waged is giving the managers of all parties plenty to worry about. Not only are campaigns more expensive nowadays than they have been but scrutiny of campaign funds is unusually sharp.

Both John W. Davis and President Coolidge have announced that contributions will be received only with the understanding that they will incur no promise to dispense political or governmental favor later on. Mr. Coolidge has gone even a step farther in insisting that his campaign management incur no deficit, for he realizes that much of the irregularity connected with campaign contributions in the past has occurred after election, when large sums are easily obtained from men who had had experience in the administration. The Democrats who were left with a deficit in 1920, were able to clear it up only after four years of patient effort culminating in their sale of box seats in Madison Square Garden last June.

Reward Expected
The Republicans had one of the largest deficits they ever incurred in 1920 after the election of President Harding and it took the personal intervention of Mr. Harding to prevent the contribution of excessive sums from individual sources.

Looking back over the last few campaigns of the Democratic and Republican parties, it is an open secret that men of wealth who contributed to the campaign chest usually received some reward. Some of the ambassadors and ministers who were appointed to diplomatic posts, although they never had had experience in the service, owed their positions to their political influence as developed through the financial aid they gave.

Even with Democratic officials the same story was repeated. They never would have gotten to first base in public but for their generosity during campaign sessions.

Hard to Fix Fund
Mr. Coolidge's insistence that no deficit be incurred is not an easy command to fulfill. And yet, everybody who knows practical politics is aware that in a two months' campaign waged through the several states it is almost impossible to know in advance what things will cost and that authorization to spend frequently has to be given and the bills footed later.

Some of the last ten days of a campaign are critical ones. Money has to be sent in a hurry to certain sections of the country. Under the Coolidge plan, the managers are not supposed to spend a cent they haven't collected. What usually happens is that two or three wealthy men underwrite the expenses at the last minute. The managers confidently expect that they will be able to pay the funds back from the contributions of small contributors. What often happens, however, is that the managers become discouraged and accept the large contributions and thus "lose" become contributions in the end.

Ticklish Matter
The subject of finance is a ticklish one to all parties. None of the managers like to discuss it or let it be discussed. They all need the money and they are not always particular about where it originates. The respective nominees alone are the ones who really worry, for when investigating committees set to work it is they who are embarrassed.

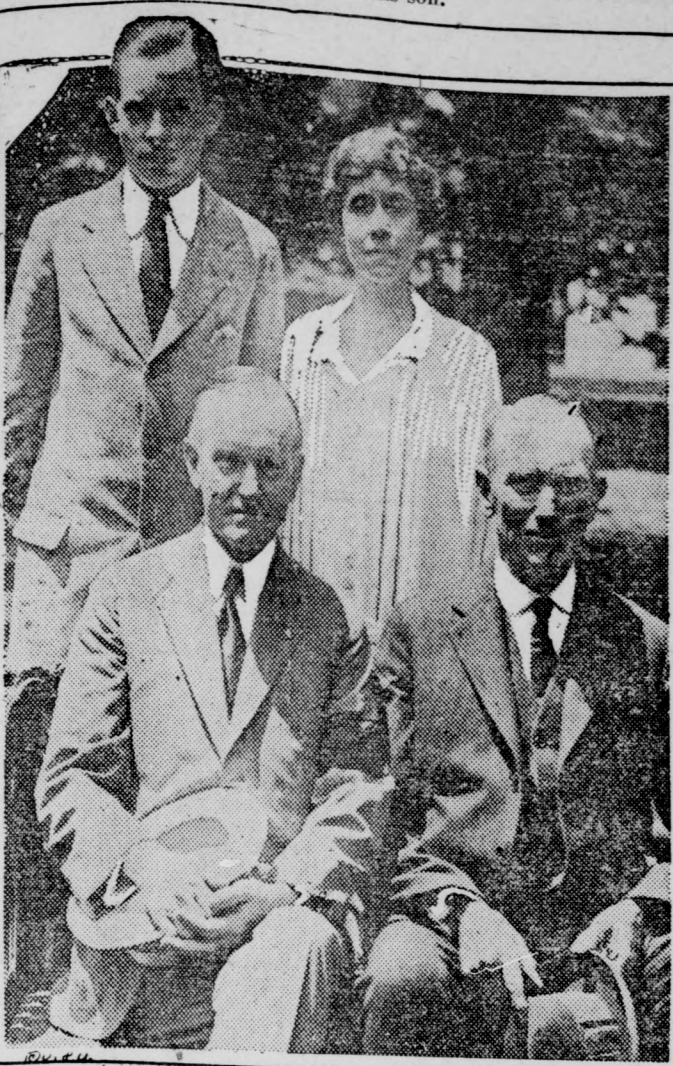

There is one way that has been followed in the past and may be in the present campaign to avoid complications in connection with the collection and distribution of campaign funds. It is the state committee plan. The federal government has jurisdiction over funds contributed specifically for the election of federal officials. It has nothing to say about money spent in state campaigns. If a man wants to contribute $200,000 for the national campaign he may find himself in the public eye and subject to call by an investigating committee later on as that sum is considered excessive, but if he feels like contributing $10,000 to the campaign in twenty states, the matter may not even be reported by the national chairman to the investigating committees of Congress.

The money is presumably given for state purposes, the election of governors and legislators. But there is no law to prevent a state committee from spending any amount of money for national purposes. Money spent for national purposes, within the jurisdiction of state tribunals. No money is spent anyhow. It is lumped under general head such as advertising, publicity, promotion of "workers at the polls" is frequently camouflaged, though as ten and fifteen dollars have been distributed on election day to thousands of voters whose business it is to persuade members of their families and friends to vote as they do. No line can be drawn as money is given to for national tickets at the same time that they take care of local

It is not easy to gather statistics of what is spent in a national campaign. The records in Congress show only the sums collected through the Republican and Democratic national committees and dispensed by them. It might be a campaign if all money handled by state committees were under the same scrutiny.

PREDICTS HIGHER PRICES FOR MEAT

Hog Production Lower Than In Recent Years; Corn Crop Also Light

By J. C. ROYLE
Special correspondent of the Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924
NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—American producers of meat and home the bacon" during the remainder of this year probably will have to dig deeper into their pockets for it than they did last fall. Hog prices are up sharply, and this is taken as indicating that the record-breaking receipts of 1923 and the first half of 1924 are at an end. Shipments to market from now until New Year's are expected to be much lighter than in 1923.

It was inevitable that the four record-breaking crops from 1920 to 1923, inclusive, would be reflected in an enormous increase in the output of pork, since hogs furnished the most profitable method for marketing corn. It has become evident, however, that hog production has caught and the raising of hogs is on the decrease.

Smaller Receipts
This became apparent with the pig crop of last fall, which was about 7 per cent under the preceding year. The survey of the rural mail carrier showed the spring crop fell off about 20 per cent. Since marketings for any year are limited chiefly by the size of the pig crops of the preceding spring and fall, the outlook for the next twelve months points to much smaller receipts at markets than have been shipped in the last twelve months. Some experts fix this decrease as high as 20 per cent.

With the corn crop showing a decrease and the pig crop lower, the proportion of corn to hogs in the next annual period seemingly would be about the same as last year were it not for the amount of soft corn likely to result from late planting and unfavorable weather during the growing season.

Prices Higher
Soft corn does not put fat on hogs like hard corn and therefore a very considerable reduction in the average weight of hogs marketed would not be surprising. Higher prices are forecast for pork by meat experts, they say, that are not so certain, they say, that this will result in a higher gross income from the sale of hogs.

One expert estimates gross receipts for hogs from July, 1924, to July, 1925, at $875,000,000. The receipts for the year ending July, 1924, were $860,000,000, or an increase of 2 per cent to the farmer.

When it comes to cattle and sheep and the prices which must be paid for the sirloin steak and the succulent lamb chop, many of the price factors are conflicting. There have been persistent rumors that many herds from the range country will be forced on the market, but this is not supported by government figures on livestock population on the ranches or by assessors' reports and dipping records.

Drought Blamed
Severe drought has affected some western ranges and the certainty of high feed prices next winter may cause liquidation from these areas. In other sections, pasture conditions are very favorable and Texas is well stocked with young stuff. Meat men, however, express the belief that the same number of cattle will arrive at stock yards in the next year as in the last. The amount of soft corn may encourage feeding this fall, but the advance in grain prices and barrenness of some ranges will probably reduce the demand for stockers and feeders, which, in turn, will make smaller the number of well fattened cattle. The natural reflection from this would be higher prices for choice cuts and the higher prices and smaller supplies of pork would tend to increase the demand from the commoner grades.

Leather Men Speeding Up Plant Production
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2.—Leather manufacturers who have been working at about 25 per cent of capacity report an increase of orders and are preparing to speed up production.

Lambs Active
There is no threat of over-production in the sheep industry, although high lamb prices have prevailed since 1922. But fully as many lambs may be expected on the market in the next twelve months as were received in the past year. There is an active demand for breeding stock development among corn belt farmers, and this will tend to benefit western sheep men with a surplus of ewes.

In general, it is the conclusion that the meat situation for the coming year will be moderately encouraging for the producers, but the reduced pounds marketed and the higher level of prices may be expected to have an equally strong effect on the consumers' pocketbook, but in the opposite direction.

HIGHWAY INCOMPLETE
RIVERSIDE, Sept. 3.—The Jackrabbit trail, which was expected to be completed several weeks ago, will not be open until about October 1, it is believed here. There still remain two of the seven miles from Moreno valley to Beaumont on which the surfacing must be laid.

MERCURY CLIMBS
BANNING, Sept. 3.—A long delayed "hot spell," which was increased by a desert wind, visited here recently, sending the thermometer to 106 at Banning. A visitor reported that in Palm Springs 122 degrees was reached and a high wind from the east blew for about two hours, tearing fruit and almonds from the trees. As harvesting is well under way, no great damage was done.

INJURE MAIL BOXES
SAN PEDRO, Sept. 3.—A number of residents of outlying districts recently complained to Postmaster Wright of San Pedro that mail boxes are being tampered with. An investigation led the authorities to believe that children who do not realize the seriousness of the offense are causing the nuisance. The postmaster has asked all parents to warn their children in the matter.

STICKS TO ONE JOB
SAN PEDRO, Sept. 3.—Thirty-nine years on one job may seem like a long time to most of us, but not so with Charley Powers of San Pedro. During these years Mr. Powers has been employed by a local lumber company, starting as a lumber handler, stepping up through many jobs and then mill foreman. He believes a man with continued employment is better off than a brilliant runner and running only part of the time. Mr. Powers was guest of honor at the First Methodist church here last Sunday.

ELKS WILL CONVENE

Will Arrange Survey Of Water Resources

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 3.—Plans for completing the survey of the water resources of California will be decided at a meeting of interested groups at the Hotel Senator in this city, Friday, September 5, in response to a call issued by C. A. Barlow, president of the California Irrigation association. It is expected at this time to turn over to State Engineer A. C. McClure $100,000 raised by the San Francisco and Los Angeles Chambers of Commerce for completion of the water survey.

Believed Sheriff to Be Highwayman, Said

NAPA, Sept. 3.—When he appeared before Justice of the Peace C. H. Snow on a charge of speeding, Dr. F. Burton Jones of Vallejo vehemently maintained that he thought Sheriff Joseph R. Harris was a highwayman and vigorously protested against the alleged injustice of entering a plea of guilty. The physician finally was persuaded to enter a plea of guilty and received a one-day suspended sentence.

Building In Atlanta Passes $2,000,000

ATLANTA, Sept. 3.—August building permits have passed the $2,000,000 mark and the moving of families which postoffice authorities say has been heavier than usual, has stimulated sales of furniture and household goods. Rents have been reduced 10 to 15 per cent.

MONTROSE C. OF C. ELECTS OFFICERS

J. L. Brown Chosen President At Annual Meeting of Foothill Body

MONTROSE, Sept. 3.—With only eighteen of its eighty-three members in attendance the Montrose Chamber of Commerce held its yearly election of officers. Mark Collins nominated C. J. Reinhard for president, while J. L. Brown, who has served as president of the Chamber since its inception two years ago and who was re-elected last night. Mr. Reinhard will serve as vice-president.

Secretary Kaune was re-elected to succeed himself and as assistant secretary L. Quakenbush was elected. Mr. Quakenbush will assist the Chamber in gaining new members and advertising the town of Montrose.

Directors Chosen
G. Merritt of the Montrose bank will be treasurer for the coming year. The following will serve the people of Montrose as directors for the year: Mark Collins, C. L. Mead, G. Hickey, T. O. Potts and A. L. Sullivan.

To facilitate the working of the Chamber the board of directors will meet every Friday night before the regular monthly meeting and every one who has a question to place before the board will be asked to do so in writing or in person. This step is taken to save time at the regular meeting. C. J. Reinhard asked that a committee of three be appointed by the president to go over the constitution and look into the matter of the chamber's membership in the valley council, a body formed of picked men from Montrose Chamber of Commerce, La Crescenta Improvement association and the Verdugo City Association of Commerce.

Mr. Reinhard was of the opinion that Montrose interests could and would be better served if the Chamber of Commerce concentrated its efforts on Montrose.

A bill was presented for payment from C. J. Young, who did the towing when the fire engine had to be hauled to the last fire the La Crescenta Improvement association paying one-half and the Montrose Chamber of Commerce the other.

Want Street Lights
The matter of a new street light on the corner of Orangedale and Montrose avenue was brought up by Rev. Durr. Mark Collins will act to procure proper lighting for this and other dark corners at the street railroad crossings.

Mail delivery from house to house is now desired and the assistant secretary was instructed by the president to look into the matter and report at the next meeting. A request will be presented the Glendale-Montrose Street railroad to instruct their motormen to stop at the Ocean View avenue crossing going east only.

On account of the condition of Honolulu avenue, business men in Montrose find the bulk of travel is now using the dirt road which is the continuation of Los Angeles avenue. The Chamber of Commerce will request the supervisors to resurface this street from Los Angeles east to Montrose avenue.

Bank Deposits Show Drop In Middle West

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Savings deposits in federal reserve banks of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin, fell off one and eight-tenths per cent during the past month, now totaling $906,083,770. They are still 4.5 per cent over this time a year ago.

IN YOUR KITCHEN—what transformations the paint brush brings! Like the waving of some fairy wand, it transforms unwelcome dinginess into bright, clean, cheerful surroundings.

And you can be the good fairy yourself. The effect is like magic. It's fun to apply Washable Wall Finish, Silkenwhite Enamel and Rubber Cement Floor Paint.

Washable Wall Finish is a varnish paint made in white and several attractive light colors. And because of the high-grade varnish it contains, surfaces can be easily cleaned with a damp cloth. Can be applied over rough or smooth plaster.

Silkenwhite Enamel on walls, woodwork and furniture produces a rich satin-like finish of unusual durability. It comes in white, ivory, and other delicate shades.

Rubber Cement Floor Paint is a high grade varnish paint which dries overnight. It forms a long-lasting, tough, elastic film. Color or gloss uninjured by frequent washing. Fourteen colors to choose from. Ask any Fuller Dealer about these products and let him advise you about painting of your kind.

Mid-Western Plants Show Improvement

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3.—Moderate improvement is in evidence in various lines of industry. Reports from road salesmen following the opening of the spring line of worsteds by the Cleveland Worsted Mills show textiles are in a better position. The Cleveland Mills prices are 7 1/2 to 10 per cent under those of a year ago. Plants are operating full time for the first time in two months.

Pullman Fares to Be Modified, Is Belief

ST. PAUL, Sept. 3.—Railroad officials here forecast the removal or modification of the sur-tax on Pullman fares by the interstate commerce commission following a hearing in Washington September 26. A hearing on the matter has just been concluded here. American hostelry is being extensively worn in India.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

SPOTS ON NAILS
Mrs. W.—White spots on otherwise healthy nails are usually due to injury to the root while manicuring. Those who have will disappear as the nails grow, but you must be careful when you push back the cuticle in manicuring your nails; if you are you will probably find they will not appear again.

JIGGERS
E. E.—The scars you have left after scratching your jiggers (or chiggers) all last summer, may lessen somewhat in time. Small scars such as result from acne, scratches and smallpox, can be relieved by peeling the skin if they are not too deep. This treatment should be given by an expert skin specialist. The jigger is a little beast that resembles a flea, but, instead of eating and hopping as a flea does, it is fond of its host and its dinner, that it digs under the skin and will not be ousted until it is dug out with a blunt needle or sumpin'. Instead of harboring jiggers so long, you should have dispossessed them.
Did you ever hear Eugene Ware's verse on the subject. You will appreciate it.

"If the chigger were bigger, As big as a cow, And, if bigger, had vigor Like a subsolar plow, Can you figure, picnicer, Where you would be now?"

ERYSIPELAS
"Dear Doctor Lulu—I have been reading your articles with interest. The one this morning on styes is just what I have been waiting for.
"Will you please write something on erysipelas soon? A friend of mine has it and doesn't seem to get any relief, so I am asking our fairy godmother (that is what you have been many times) for help.—Mrs. J."

I am getting nice new names all the time. To those who have never been afflicted with styes, boils, overweight and a lot of the ordinary things that I talk about so often, it may seem that I am designated, f. g. m. is a too glorified title; but I hug it to my soul with complacency, for I know it is in aiding in the common disorders of life that I am being most helpful.

Every thrifty housewife keeps her beef suet, mutton tallow and pork fat for soap. Chop it coarsely and "try it out" in a pan over a fire either in a pan in your oven, or else in the top of your double boiler over rapidly boiling water. Strain it through cheesecloth laid in a wire strainer, then add to the strained fat twice its bulk of water and let it boil for five minutes. Let stand till cold, and remove the solid cake of fat floating on the surface. Wipe this dry, and store it till ready to use it. This method may be used also for purifying fat and drippings to be used for cooking.

If grease and scraps become tainted before they can be tried out a pot with three times their bulk of water and add permanganate of potash (a poison) in the proportion of one teaspoon of potash to six pounds of fat. Dissolve the permanganate of potash crystals in a little boiling water, mix well with the fat and boil till the fat is well tried out. Then strain through cheesecloth and cool. Remember, fat prepared in this way with permanganate must be used for soap purposes only, never for cooking purposes.

To Make Laundry Soap: Dissolve one pound of lye in three pints of cold water and set aside to cool (for the action of the lye in dissolving makes the solution hot). Now melt five and one-half pounds of trierout fat and stir in two tablespoons of broax. When the fat is cool, but not solidified, and when the lye solution is cold, add the lye to the fat very slowly, stirring as you do so, and continue to stir steadily till the mixture is as thick as honey. For Miss Yarik

Miss Marjorie Yarik, who is to become the bride of Hoyt Curtis of El Monte September 11, was prettily honored last night at a shower affair at the J. H. Adair home at 618 North Isabel street.
As the first alto of the "Virginia Four" quartet, Miss Yarik is most popular, and the affair last night was a special honor, arranged by other members of the quartet, Miss Gladys White, Mesdames Arthur Kirbs and Gretna Cordary; the director, Virginia Freeman; and the accompanist, Mrs. Roberta T. Young. Miss Yarik was the recipient of many lovely gifts.
There were present Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Adair, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hendry, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kirbs, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Yarik, Mr. and Mrs. Tom White, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Erdary, Miss Gladys White and Marjorie Yarik, Mesdames Virginia Freeman and Roberta T. Young; Hoyt Curtis and Roy Andrews of El Monte.

Elect Officers

Election of officers was the feature of the meeting held last night by the members of the J. O. C. class of the First Methodist church. The meeting was held in the church parlors with Mesdames Pearl Bolton, Laura Brewster, Ada Burn, Lynch Baker, Sarah Brown, and Mabel Blankenship, as hostesses. The business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. Bell Kuehny. At this time the following officers were elected: Bell Kuehny, re-elected president; Laura Binker, first vice-president; Alice Payne, second vice-president; Ingrid Wolber, third vice-president; Onah Caldwell, secretary; Edna Thiessen, assistant secretary; Lottie Jahns, corresponding secretary; Margaret Malareky, treasurer; Gertrude Lusby, recorder; May Knox, absentee secretary; Hattie Jarl, financial secretary; Pearl Bolton, teacher; Rev. C. R. Norton, substitute teacher.
After the business meeting a program, arranged by the J. O. C. class, was presented, which included vocal duets by Irma Lucas and Margaret Clark and humorous readings by Velma Bolton. Mrs. Bolton was presented with a beautiful basket of red roses by Mrs. Kuehny, president, in behalf of the class, for their appreciation of the work done by her during the past year.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, October 7. At this time the newly-elected officers will be installed by a national J. O. C. Receive Deputy Members of Ionic Club, Order of the Amaranth, are looking forward to receiving the grand deputy, Honored Lady Rose Klepper, at the meeting Tuesday night, September 16, it was announced at the meeting last night in the Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard. The program will be given by the Emerson School of Self-Expression. Announcement was also made of the meeting Friday afternoon in the lodge hall of the afternoon club.

All Day Meeting

The Women's Missionary society of the Broadway Methodist church will hold its regular all-day meeting Thursday, September 4, at the church, beginning at 10 o'clock. All members and friends of the church are extended a cordial invitation to attend. Each one attending is asked to bring her own lunch. During the afternoon a specially arranged program will be presented.

Wed at Church

Miss Agnes Algie of Eagle Rock and Amos E. Dow of Los Angeles were married Saturday morning, August 30, 1924, at 10 o'clock, by Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church. The ceremony was performed in the pastor's study. Miss Dorothy M. Algie of Eagle Rock, sister of the bride, and Archie Bradley of Los Angeles were the only attendants.

Board Meeting

Activities of the Tuesday Afternoon club for the fall months began yesterday, when the executive board met at the clubhouse, at the J. H. Adair home at 618 North Isabel street, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery.
A list of department curators and committee chairmen was read and approved for printing in the clubhouse. Another matter considered was the engagement of the Dobinson Players for a season in the clubhouse theatre. The first play will be given beginning October 1.
The club is looking forward to being hostess in November to the presidents' council of the Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's clubs.
Reciprocity day for the club will be in April, and plans were made that the first meeting in October should be a get-acquainted luncheon, at which officers, curators and chairmen will be introduced.

Ninth Birthday

The ninth birthday of Lucy McCormick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Ford McCormick, was celebrated one afternoon recently with a jolly children's party at the McCormick home at 408 North Kenwood street. Mrs. McCormick was assisted in entertaining the kiddies by her sister, Miss Anne Powers.
At the close of the afternoon a birthday luncheon was served on a table, bright with rainbow colored, cunning yarn dolls and rosebud baskets were favors at each place. Before Lucy's place was a beautiful birthday cake in pink and white.
The little guests were Jane Phillips, Mildred E. Ardis Wardelich, Bobby Sietz, James Wardelich, Emmy Lou and Dicky Sawtelle, Jean Lyons, Eleanor Allebrand.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

PREPARE YOUR HAIR

What about next winter's hair? How will it look? Perhaps you are too busy or too lazy to think as far ahead as snow, fog, damp, dark days, warm hats and the theatres and parties that always go with the winter. The beauty of your hair next winter, though, depends on its treatment now.
Make use of the sunshine. Give your hair a fortnightly shampoo with beaten eggs and castile soap, and dry it out-of-doors, parting it with your comb so that the sun reaches every bit of it. Use rain water, or soft water of some kind, even if you have to buy special water softeners. You can't rinse hair properly with hard water, nor wash it properly either.
Make use of the warm weather and the general informality of dressing now to wear your hair in some new and easier fashion. Let it hang when you can, that rests it; and when you do it up, use as few pins and combs as possible.
Never wear a hat if you can avoid it; when you do, be sure the crown is loose and light. A parasol for shade, and the head bare, is a healthy and pretty hot weather combination.

Begin now to use a good hair tonic, and massage the scalp a little every night. If you want the formula for the Tonic Hair Tonic, which is still the best tonic I know, I will gladly mail it to you. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your letter.
This tonic stimulates new hair growth and particularly acts upon the color cells, curing many cases of premature grayness, preventing premature graying and improving the color in faded hair.

Mrs. J. H. C.—Do everything possible to improve the health of your scalp and it will only be a few months before your hair will have grown long enough to do up, so it will not look as if it had been bobbed. Massage the scalp thoroughly several times each day and include a hair tonic treatment several times each week. Air the scalp by shaking the hair loose while you are massaging it.
Elsa—Edith T. Z.—I will be glad to send you the formula for the scalp on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the mailing.
Brunette—Yellow, and especially orange, will be very becoming to a person with brown eyes, black hair and a dark skin.
Pansy F.—In using lemon juice as a bleach it should be somewhat diluted if it smart the skin. Your own sensitiveness to it will decide this.
Always apply a cream or a fine oil after using any skin bleach, as the natural secretions have been neutralized through the acid in the bleach.

Dempsey Appraises Beauty Candidates

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 3.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, and his new nose, the result of a plastic surgeon's work, has arrived here to see the most beautiful girls from eighty-three cities all over the country, gathered for the national beauty tournament which opened yesterday afternoon.

Dempsey, eagerly looking over new arrivals in the congress of beautiful women assembling for the pageant, denied he was engaged to any one or had any such intentions.

"They'll marry me off yet without me knowing anything about it," Jack laughed.

Questions concerning his rumored engagement to Miss Estelle Taylor, moving picture actress with whom he left Los Angeles, Dempsey asserted she was merely an old friend and that when he stopped over in Salt Lake to see his father and his new stepmother Miss Taylor came over to Wilmington to visit her mother, Mrs. Harry Boylan.

PLAN TO BOOST FOR BOND ISSUE

Publicity Campaign to Be Started; Election Takes Place September 30

(Continued from page 1) In the amount could be taken care of, City Manager Stone said, if the suggestion reached the City Council before the council meeting tomorrow.

R. Belcher, representing the Southeast Glendale Improvement Association, then offered a motion defining the boundaries, which passed. The vote on the proposed raise from $35,000 to $75,000 was lost after several members had expressed their opinion that such a move would jeopardize the entire bond issue.

Mr. Kent, in asking that plans for the campaign be made, suggested that the chairman of each sub-committee be named as members of an executive committee, and the executive committee members select members of a ways and means committee and publicity committee.

Mr. Kent read a letter from H. C. Saulsbury, city controller, in which Mr. Saulsbury said the proposed bond issue would mean only $176 on each $100 valuation necessary to meet interest and retire the bonds.

The assessed valuation of Glendale for 1924 and 1925 amounts to $47,061,355. Mr. Saulsbury said in his letter, "The amount needed on each project for one year's interest and redemption fund, according to Mr. Saulsbury, is:

- Additional fire equipment, $.01
Fire alarm system, .012
Police alarm system, .006
Civic center, .11
Bridges over Verdugo wash, .003
Park for north part, .02
Park for south part, .006
Garbage disposal plant, .009

Total, $.176 The bonds for improvement to the water system and purchasing additional water-bearing land would be paid from the revenue of the water department, Mr. Saulsbury said in his letter.

Copies of the letter will be printed and circulated in accordance with the instructions of the members of the executive committee.

Committee Members The members of the ways and means committee, selected by the executive committee, are: O. M. Newby, representing the West Broadway Improvement Association; Charles Marshall, representing the Central Avenue Improvement Association.

NOTICE OF MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS OF THE MCGOUGH GLASS COMPANY, a corporation, called by the Board of Directors to consider increase in the Capital Stock of said Corporation.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that under and pursuant to a resolution adopted on the 18th day of August, 1924, of the McLaughlin Glass Company, a meeting of the stockholders of said corporation will be held on the 27th day of October, 1924, at the hour of 2:00 o'clock P. M., of said day, at the office of the Company, Room 317 H. W. Hellman Building, Los Angeles, California, being the principal place of business of said Corporation.

The object and purpose of said meeting is to consider and act upon the proposition of increasing the capital stock of the McLaughlin Glass Company $100,000.00 in excess of its present capital stock of $100,000.00, making a total capital stock of $200,000.00, to be represented by 1,000 shares of common stock of the par value of $100.00 per share, and 800 shares of preferred stock of the par value of $100.00 per share.

Said preferred shares to be on a parity with and on the same preferences as the present preferred shares of said corporation. DATED: This 18th day of August, 1924, and published by order of the Board of Directors.

Could you blame the king for being angry? RETURNING from the wars, one of the ancient kings of England, found that his strong box, containing the royal fortune, had been pilfered from its hiding place. The King raged and threw the keepers into prison; but the great iron bound, chained and heavily locked chest was never found.

TODAY those of even most moderate circumstances can afford absolute protection for their valuables. A safe deposit box at the Pacific-Southwest Bank, protected by mighty steel and concrete walls and ingenious locking devices, will guard them for a year or a lifetime. A few boxes are now available.

Let's Keep Those Fat Bonuses in Glendale

True, it's not very dignified for a company specializing, like Royalties Investment Company, in the finance of real estate, loans and home-building, to talk about fat bonuses.

By the same token, however, it's not very profitable to Glendale to permit the thousands of dollars annually taken in the form of bonuses on loans to depart forever for parts unknown. Let's keep these bonuses right here in Glendale. Let's participate in them by investing our surplus money in Glendale enterprise.

The one big way to stop the flow of bonus money FROM Glendale is to support Glendale Banks, Glendale Building and Loan Companies, Glendale Merchants and such specialty finance companies as Royalties Investment Company.

Ownership in the Royalties Investment Company is still possible as long as the limited balance of common stock now offered for subscription by this Company is available. Every dollar invested in Royalties Investment Company goes toward the building of a GREATER GLENDALE.

Wise investors can gain all further desired information relative to stock ownership and dividend participation in Royalties Investment Company by mailing attached address coupon or calling at the Company Offices—420 East Broadway.

Royalties Investment Company, Glendale, Calif. I am interested in keeping Glendale bonus money in Glendale. I am also interested in sharing in part of this bonus money through investment in the common stocks of your Company. Please see that I get further complete information regarding your Company.

BUTTERFLY

By KATHLEEN NORRIS. Copyright, 1924.

CHAPTER XLII. "No, Butterfly," she said in her heart, slowly sipping her iced drink, "you shan't play with him. You shan't hurt Craig and me and yourself with any such nonsense! He doesn't love you and its ridiculous to pretend about it. And I like him—Mother and Father told me about him when you were only a baby. He's mine."

"And now what?" Hilary Collier asked herself, when a hot damp, breathless, and sunless morning, succeeded the night, and she found herself still oddly happy in the memory of that amazing hour with Kronski. For the mysterious emotion lasted, and deepened, and strengthened, going with her like an invisible aura throughout all the commonplace of her day.

She dressed with a certain electric interest; there was something new in life. She found herself consciously enjoying the touch of silk stockings, the brushing of her masses of hair, and the frail stiffness of her dark office dress. She dreamed smilingly over her breakfast, and as she went through the garden, in her wide, shady hat, pinned a great, heavy-headed rose against her frilled collar.

The day steamed with sickening heat, and the workers in the packing plant panted and grew pale in the heavy, sweet odors of cooking peaches and tomatoes. Great vans of tomatoes were aligned in the shady street; the ranged boxes giving a brilliant note of color, between the white fences, and under the drooping trees. Hilary, from her office window, could look down and see the packers coming out for occasional whiffs of the cooler, or rather the less stifling air; now and then somebody went for ice, and they laughed and danced about awkwardly with their melting frozen particles on their fingers.

Craig, cool in brown linen, was in high spirits. His stewardship of the Mount Holly offices had been remarkably successful, and now that his uncle was beginning to come down to regular hours again, he felt that he had earned a vacation.

"I've got a great plan, Hilary," he said, boyishly. "I'm going to take Butterfly to Hawaii in October, we've been sweltering here for four months, and it'll do us both good! Now why don't you make arrangements to be transferred to the city office? Miss Rosenkrantz is going to be married; I was just asking Uncle

John if I might have you. Now that we've moved so much of the office work to town. You live with Dora and me; she works like a tiger with Kronski. You and she can keep up your music as you always have—"

Hilary, who had heard the first of his speech with a slow shaking of her head, was arrested by Kronski's name. Again she felt last night's odd little pleasant prick at her heart. In a sense, he did belong to her; her mother had been his mother's friend. And he was such a boy—he would get into all sorts of troubles in the strange city, Butterfly, too. What could be more wholesome for Butterfly than to have Hilary there, gradually weaning her to care less for the artist and more for the art? What music—what glorious floods and oceans of music they would have!

"Craig—if you're sure you want me?" It was as simple as that. By night, the hot sticky night that closed the smothering day, everybody in the office knew that Miss Collier might be going to the city office, soon, to be nearer her sister. Hilary felt as if it was all predestined, and Dora, drifting idly into the plant at half-past four, showed only an apathetic interest.

"It's the only sensible thing for her to do. Honolulu? I don't believe there's any really cool place in the world!" fretted Dora, who looked listless and pale. The evening that had so exhilarated Hilary had left Dora vaguely depressed; the reality of her dream, the actual flesh-and-blood Kronski, was infinitely less satisfying—or at least had been so last night, than the summer's wonderful thought of him! Last night he had seemed so far away, so much the peasant, so healthily interested in them all—

That was it. Dora could not forgive him for not singing her out, for not meeting her in the reverent mood of devotion and tenderness in which they had parted. That parting—! How it had thrilled her, for days after his ship had sailed! She had gone down to the vessel without telling Craig of her intention, a demure little figure in white linen with roses wreathing her brown hat, and while the reporters and the moving picture men, and all the casual crowd of his friends—his manager, his professional associates—had taken their turns at saying farewell, Dora had been near him, smiling that wise, cryptic smile.

Theatres News Notes

George M. Cohan's great comedy, "The Girl in the Case," is creating a sensation at the tent theatre of Mahurin's Players (Murphy's Comedians) on Central avenue and Stocker street, Casa Verdugo, where, at 8 o'clock each night the curtain rises on this funniest of plays.

"The Girl in the Case" has almost as many thrills as laughs. Horace Murphy, manager of these players, has discovered that this laugh-thrill combination is hard to beat as an audience getter. J. A. Menard, house manager of Mahurin's Players, declares that the tent is packed every night now, and that the only sure way of seeing the show is to come early.

Since their vindication in court recently, their popularity has grown until now the tent is crowded every night, and Mr. Menard urges patrons to purchase tickets in advance at Schulte's drug store, corner of North Brand boulevard and California avenue.

"THE GATEWAY" "Open All Night" shows at the Gateway Theatre today only.

"THE SIGNAL TOWER" concludes today at the Glendale theatre. Tomorrow only, "Just Off Broadway" is the feature.

"THE T. D. & L." Today and tomorrow, "The Man Who Fights Alone" is the feature at the T. D. & L. theatre.

Explosion of Dust In Mill Causes Big Fire

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BUNTY'S LESSON

As Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods one day, not far from his hollow stump bungalow, the rabbit gentleman heard the sound of crying.

"Some one is in trouble," thought Mr. Longears, with a kind and gentle twinkle of his pink nose. "That is too bad! I must see if I can not help them—oh, is it if it isn't the Wolf or Fox?"

To make sure of this the bunny gentleman looked around the edge of a sassafras bush. He saw no Woolly Wolf, nor did he see the Fuzzy Fox. Instead he saw Baby Bunty, the little rabbit girl, sitting on a grassy green bank. Bunty was crying real tears! Not the kind that rag dolls cry, but real wet, watery, salty tears.

"My goodness, Bunty! What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily, hopping over to the little orphan rabbit girl. "Did the Bob Cat or the Bushy Bear frighten you?"

"Oh, no, Uncle Wiggily," answered Bunty. "I'm crying because I can't learn this hard lesson. I go to the Hollow Stump School, you know, and this afternoon the Lady Mouse Teacher gave me a book with hard words in it. She said I was to learn a lot of hard words, and tell her how to spell them when she asks me tomorrow."

"What kind of hard words are they, Baby Bunty?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, all kinds of hard words," answered Bunty. "Words like stone, and iron, and rock and diamond and gum drops." "Gum drops aren't hard!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "They are a very soft candy."

"Yes, I know gum drops are soft, themselves," sighed Bunty, "but they are hard to spell and they're hard to get in the candy they're hard to get in the candy. 'Ha! Ha!' laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I guess that's right, Bunty. But it isn't hard for me to get gum drops. I have one penny and part of another. So I'll buy some gum drops for you and then I will help you study the hard lesson."

Bunty felt a little happier after she had eaten some of the soft, sticky gum-drop candy, and then she and Uncle Wiggily sat down on a soft, mossy green log to study the hard words in the spelling-book.

The rabbit gentleman was teaching Bunty how to spell dog, which is one of the easy hard words, and Bunty was looking at the book to remember the word better when, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily shut the book quickly (though he didn't mean to) and caught Bunty's paw between the covers.

"Oh, you're pinching me!" cried Bunty. "Excuse me," cried Uncle Wiggily, quickly opening the book so Bunty could pull out her paw. She only laughed, for she wasn't much pinched, and then the rabbit went on with the lesson.

"Spell nose, Bunty!" said Uncle Wiggily. "I can't spell NOSE, but I can spell EARS!" suddenly cried a savage voice, and out of the bushes burst the Bushy Bear.

"Oh! Oh, dear!" screamed the little rabbit girl. Did Uncle Wiggily run away and leave Baby Bunty for the Bear? Indeed he didn't! Quickly stepping up to the bushy chap, with the open book in his paw, Uncle Wiggily quickly shut the book with a snap and a bang, just as he had done by accident, on Bunty's paw, only much harder.

And in snapping together the covers, the bunny caught the soft and tender nose of the Bear in the book, and the tighter the bunny squeezed the book on the Bear's nose, the louder the Bear howled.

"Let me go! Let me go! Don't pinch my nose and I won't nibble your ears!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny. Then, giving the book an extra squeeze and the Bear's nose an extra pinch, Uncle Wiggily opened the book and let the Bear lumber away. So the bunny didn't have his ears pinched after all, and Bunty soon learned her lesson and was at the head of her class next day.

And if the little dog doesn't run and hide under the bed when he hears the postman's whistle, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily having a tumble.

City Attorney W. E. Evans is being heralded as the knight who aids beauty in distress. Monday afternoon he was motoring down Central avenue with Miss Light, a trained nurse, in his machine. Their attention was attracted by a crowd at the corner of Colorado and Central avenues, recently the scene of a number of accidents. Beauty was lying prostrate on the pavement. Attorney Evans and Miss Light jumped from the machine to render any aid possible. Hardly had they reached her side when they found themselves directly in front of a camera, the operator diligently turning the crank. These good Samaritans thought better of their impulse to aid the injured one and retired in some confusion.

National Memorial Is Planned by Sculptor

STAMFORD, Conn., Sept. 3.—Gutzon Borglum, world-famous sculptor now engaged in carving the proud record of the Confederacy on Stone Mountain in Georgia, is planning an even more stupendous and colossal undertaking commemorating the idea of the Union, it was learned today. Sitting in his picturesque studio on the old Wire Mill road five miles from here, Borglum said his plans called for the most gigantic enterprise in sculpturing ever conceived but said that as they were not yet complete he could not give the exact location or prospectus of the herculean task of creating a national memorial in sculpture.

Starting with $100, an English aviator won $30,000 at Nice and Monte Carlo within a short time recently, while another Englishman lost that amount in one evening.

GIANTS IN LEAD BY SINGLE GAME

Pirates, in Second Place, Are Idle; Senators Also Take Day Easy

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The New York Giants were in first place in the National league by the margin of a single game today, following their double-header with the Braves, in which they won one game and lost one.

The Pirates, in second place, were idle because of the rain. The Dodgers, in third place, gained a full game on the Giants and Pirates by winning a double-header from the Phillies. They now are two games behind the Giants and one behind the Pirates.

The Washington Senators, leading the American league race, were idle yesterday and profited when the Yanks could do no better than break even in a double-header with the Boston Red Sox.

Detroit was practically knocked out of competition from the American league pennant when the Tigers lost two games to the Chicago White Sox.

BEES TAKE FIRST ON ANGEL ERRORS

Seraphs Drop Contest After Holding Five-Run Lead Seven Innings

By C. R. SIMMONS For Southland News Service. LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—Throwing away a five-run lead piled up in the first seven innings, the Angels lost the opening game of the series with the Salt Lake Bees, 7 to 6, at Washington park yesterday. Three errors by Marty Krug's crew helped the Mormons in overcoming the Seraphs' lead.

For six innings Doc Crandall pitched remarkable ball for the home squad, shutting the visitors out until the seventh frame and held Duffy Lewis' hired men to three scattered hits until things started happening in the eighth, when the Bees rallied, pouring in four tallies, gathering a like number of runs.

Victory was turned into defeat for the Angels in the last two spasms. In the eighth three singles, a double and a pair of boots netted the Bees four runs, bringing their total to five, just one score behind the Seraphs. Then came the ninth, and the Mormons drove in two more runs, taking a one-run lead. For a starter, Peters doubled to the fence. Combe sending him to third on a hit to right. Frederick's double to center sent the pair across the plate. Try as they might, the Angels couldn't do their stuff in the last act—and that's that.

Two home runs and a triple, together with good twirling by Shea, were responsible for San Francisco's victory over Sacramento yesterday, 6 to 2.

The Portland Beavers won the first game of a series with Vernon at Portland yesterday in a ten-inning struggle, 7 to 6. "Truck" Hanna hit error in the tenth gave the Beavers the winning run.

The Seattle Indians triumphed over Oakland in a closely contested game yesterday, 2 to 1. Oakland's lone tally came in the ninth inning.

Wills May Lay Off; Fear of Going Stale

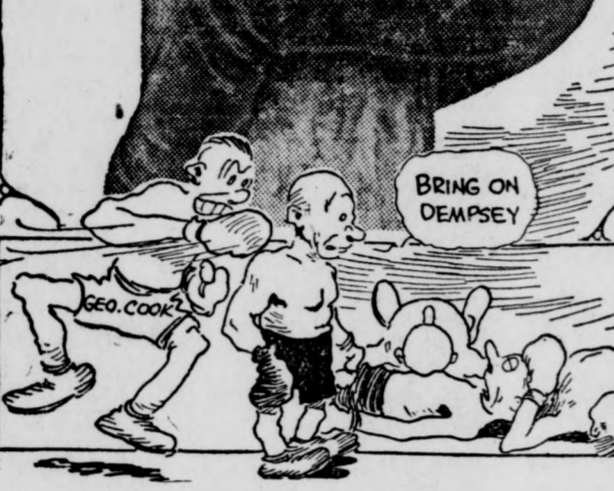

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Sept. 3.—Harry Wills is training down so fine right now that he was seriously considering laying off all work this afternoon. His strategy board, consisting of Paddy Mullins, his manager, Jeff Clark, a shrewd old veteran, and Captain Bill Jones, an expert on dirt, believe the negro heavyweight is at the top of his form and they fear he is likely to go stale if he keeps up the pace he has been setting.

Dempsey Says He Will Marry Soon; Later Denies It

Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, is going to marry Estelle Taylor, noted screen actress and beauty of the films. Jack Dempsey is not coming to marry Estelle Taylor. You can take your pick, folks, believe whichever statement you want to, for both are credited with originating with Jack, the first in Philadelphia and the second in Atlantic City. The second statement was made by Jack when he was looking over the contestants in one of those numerous Atlantic City beauty contests, which might explain something.

After Europe's Heavies

GEORGE COOK, Australian heavyweight, is the most talked of fighter in Europe today. Ezudin Paolino of Spain knocked out Paul Journee of France, Marcel Nilles, his countryman, and Arthur Townley of England, then Cook came along and took the honors away from Paolino.

DARIO RESTA IS KILLED IN CRASH

Noted Automobile Driver is Victim of Death While Trying for Record

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Dario Resta, one of the most famous automobile racing drivers in the world, was killed in a smashup on the Brooklands track today.

Resta, driving a Sunbeam car, was trying for a world's speed record and had made one lap of the course when the machine struck an obstacle and got out of control. It swerved sharply, crashed into an iron fence. The petrol tank broke down and the wreckage caught fire.

Resta appeared in many of the best automobile races in the United States and was recognized as one of the world's greatest drivers because of victories at the Indianapolis speedway, Sheepshead bay and other tracks. The crash interrupted his visits to this country and he had not been seen here for several years.

WALKER TO STAY IN WELTER CLASS

Denies He Will Try to Land Crown in Middleweight Division Next

By FAIR PLAY Special Correspondent, The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924. NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—In a talk with the writer, Mickey Walker pronounced as bunk the stories that he will abandon the welterweight class, if he defeats Benny Leonard, and go after the middleweight crown.

"I weigh only about 155 pounds right now," said Mickey, "and that is before I have done any training for the bout with Leonard. Of course, I am playing baseball, tennis and swimming a lot, but that is the sort of life I always lead. What I want to point out is that I have not really done any training as if for a bout. "Next week I'll get busy with that respect and will have no trouble at all in coming down to the class limit. Just now I'm not looking for honors in any other class. I figure I'll be busy enough defending the title I hold."

Leonard in Training There never was such a power plant as Mickey Walker. He has and so far as the writer can see, the only man under the middleweight division who might be capable of doing this is Benny Leonard. Leonard may—and then again he may not.

That the lightweight champion realizes the sort of contract he has undertaken is best indicated by the fact that he is already up in the Catskills hard at work in preparation for the coming fight.

May Waltz Away How will he engage the ferocious Mickey when the two meet? The best hope is that he will at toe him up and then, just when Mickey has got his head down, prepared for a strenuous period of infighting, Benny will wait away, teasing Mickey into following him with all the ardor of a bull making after a red shirt.

The speed and beauty of Leonard's waltzing after Walker has connected with his stomach and ribs several times remains to be seen. The lightweight champion's fight will tell here, because a condition's legs are first to feel the effects of solid rib-roasting.

Tilden Ties Larned For Annexing Title

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Tennis followers were agreed today that William T. Tilden, II, of Philadelphia, who yesterday won his fifth consecutive tennis singles championship never played a stronger or more scientific game than when he won the final round from Willem A. Larned. Tilden is now tied with Larned, who won five consecutive national titles and is one shy of the record made by Richard Sears.

Jeffries Latest Ring Favorite to Work in Pictures

Another mitt-slinger has succumbed to the Kleig lights. This time it is Jim Jeffries, former heavyweight champion of the world, who will forsake his ring near Burbank to appear in comedies with Larry Semon, an adieu with an announcement made today at the F. B. O. studios.

Missing Letters

To Light Heavyweights, One and All:

In answer to insinuations that my boxing gloves are gradually becoming enmeshed by a row of cobwebs, I hereby serve notice that I will take on the six leading challengers for the title in a gigantic boxing rodeo, to be held at Shelby, Montana. I will dispose of these pretenders as fast as their seconds can throw towels into the ring.

MIKE M'TIGUE.

To All Baseball Fans: I realize that many fans who threw their straw hats on the field in a burst of enthusiasm probably regretted it when they got home and faced the wife's inquiries. These cads have been collected by the groundkeepers, and will be restored to the owners upon identification.

JUDGE KENESAW M. LANDIS.

To Harry Wills: Apropos of our coming bout, I would like to make it purely a sporting proposition. How about letting the winner take all, and make the loser go penniless?

LUIS ANGEL FIRPO.

To All Cash Customers: If the Giants play in the world's series we cannot afford to have them disturbed by hostile fans. All those who do not wish to root for the home team will not be admitted to the Polo grounds.

JOHN J. M'GRAV.

Senators Proving Strong Contenders, Says Foster

By JOHN B. FOSTER Special Correspondent, The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924. NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The Washington Senators continue in the race the better it is able to make its percentage—a fact which is interesting to the attention of those who are insisting that Washington is purely an accident and holding its position in the fight because the remainder of the league is weak.

Washington dropped as low as 55.9 in percentage in the month of July, and the Yankees announced that Washington was a false alarm, its pitchers having blown, and that the real team the Yankees had to thrash was Detroit. Ruth was very sure that the Senators were greatly overrated and that the pennant must be won by defeating Detroit and St. Louis.

So far as Detroit and St. Louis were concerned, he was accurate enough, because they did have to be defeated if the Yanks were to win. But he was all out of the way in regard to Washington. Just recently the Senators have been vacillating around 57.0. In July they were as good as 59.4, their nearest approach to 60.0 in this superheated race of the American league.

Marching Back They did not hold the 594 pace, but they are marching back to it again, and that is a good thing. It shows that the Washingtons are not accidental, that they have recuperative power and that they will be a dangerous lot right down to the finish, if they do not meet with accident.

Don't overlook the fact that the Washingtons have won the year's series from New York, Detroit and Chicago as they stand right now. Three rather good teams to thrash in intercity duties. The Sox, of course, are tail ending every now and then and they need a powerful lot of looking over for another year, but even if they are disposed to hang around the cellar of the circuit they are not as easy a team to defeat as baseball teams are traveling this year.

The Senators are almost certain to defeat the Athletics in the series with them, but they can't defeat St. Louis because the Browns hit that series won. St. Louis also has won the series of the year from Detroit. The Browns can win the year's series from New York because they have put away ten games of it already. They need another to tie and two to win.

Then what a record they would have, if Washington should win.

FOUL GIVES SAGE BOUT WITH BERT

Colima Disqualified Early In First Round After Low Blow Struck

A low blow in the early part of the first round gave Bob Sage of Detroit a win over Bert Colima, king of coast scrappers. In their battle at Vernon arena last night, Colima had been doing most of the landing up to the time Referee Blake called the blow foul, and awarded the bout to Sage.

Jimmy Darragh won easily over Sailor Ritter in the semi-final. Both boys mixed it pretty fast, but Darragh swung too many lefts and right to the stomach for the seaman. Eddie Macey got the decision over Trench King in the special spot bout.

George Gilmore and Sid Marks battled four rounds to a draw. Marks substituted for Frank Tierney. Mike De Pinto scored a knockout in the third round when he hung a wicked right on Tony Gregory's chin. Young Garcia punched Jimmy Young around the ring for four rounds and copped the decision easily. Kid Suppy was on the canvas in the first, again in the second and twice in the third before the fight was stopped and Johnny Otis declared the winner.

WRESTLERS MAKE RECORD IN PARIS

Yank Mat Artists Win World Championship for First Time in History

By LAWRENCE PERRY Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924. NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Paris was because of the fine showing made by American and Finnish athletes in the Olympic games, track and field division, the extremely creditable showing made by the United States sent to France has been pretty completely overlooked.

The writer even suspects that a great majority of the American people are not aware that the United States was represented by the very powerful team which won the world's championship for the first time in the history of the game.

As a matter of record, it might be interesting to note that prior to this year, throughout all the Olympic games, the United States won only two first places in wrestling. In 1920, Ackley, Cornell, won first place in one of the weights at the 1904 meet in London.

Reid Proves Star So poor has been our showing, in fact, that this year foreign wrestlers did not consider the United States seriously as a contender. Yet, the American team won 48 points, taking the meet, with Switzerland second, and Finland third.

In the catch-as-catch-can bouts the team won four firsts, receiving 10 points for each. Robin Reid of the Oregon Agricultural college, won the 134-pound bout and was regarded as the greatest wrestler that ever participated in the games. Reid stayed with him in the ring more than three minutes in all the eleven bouts in which he figured.

Russell Vis of the Los Angeles Athletic club won first place in the 145-pound class. In his six years of wrestling he has yet to be thrown. Harry Steel, a member of the Ohio State football eleven last fall, won the heavyweight championship and John P. Spellman, a member of the Brown varsity club last year, won in the 174-pound class.

C. W. Street, Jr. of Birmingham, Ala., to whose indefatigable energy as the manager of the team much of its success was due, believes that Steel and Spellman won their championships as the result of the coaching given them by W. E. Cann of Elizabeth, N. J., the coach of the outfit. Spellman and Steel were both very powerful but needed knowledge of the sport which Cann gave them in full measure.

The football tactics they employed in their bouts, such as flying tackles and charging were very effective and did not please the foreigners one bit. Chester Newton, representing the Multnomah Athletic club, a high school athlete, won the 134-pound class and is regarded as a great wrestling prospect.

So here is one sport which, in the course of four years, through wise management and excellent coaching, became an asset rather than a drawback to our Olympic ambitions.

SPORT WISDOM

By WALTER CAMP Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924. NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Before we forget the tennis lessons of the season let us give credit to the Kinsey brothers for sticking to their guns and lobbing to Patterson and Wood in their doubles match, despite all the dire predictions of their friends that such a course would be suicide. And this is the lesson:

A man like Patterson or anybody else as accomplished as the Australian may kill one of them and another and another—but when men as skillful as the Kinseys keep feeding lob after lob, the opponent's head is in the air so much that he may at any moment lose his bearings and smash into the net or out of the court. It becomes a problem of repeatedly orienting one's self while looking at the stars. And that is the way it worked out for the Kinseys.

Seals Smother Bears In Three-Man Match

When Leuther rolled 247 in the last game of a three-game match between the Seals and the Bears, three-men teams, last night at the Recreation alleys, the Bears began to look for a new place to hibernate this winter. Roger was high score man on the losing team, getting 229 in the second game and putting the Bears in a tie with the Seals.

Table with columns for Game, Player, and Score. Includes Seals and Bears teams.

FIRPO'S LAWYERS ISSUE STATEMENT

Do Not Contemplate Trip To Washington In Probe Of Perjury Charge

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Attorneys for Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine fighter, following arrival of the Firpo party in New York today from Saratoga Springs, issued the following statement:

"We have no idea of going to Washington at present. We scout the idea that the United States commissioner here might set an earlier date for Firpo's hearing on charges of perjury, preferred by Rev. William Sheaf. Chase in connection with Firpo's entry into this country."

Firpo, it was said, had laid plans to finish training here for his bout with Harry Wills on September 11 when he first went to Saratoga Springs. He plans to use the ring at Madison Square garden and the public will not be allowed to watch him.

May Not Halt Bout WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The inquiry looking to the possible deportation of Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine prize fighter, will be completed at New York within two days, according to a radio-gram to the department of labor today from Immigration Commissioner Curran at Hills Island.

Curran has reopened the case at the direction of Secretary of Labor Davis, following a demand by Canon William S. Chase of New York for Firpo's deportation. Labor department officials believe the proceedings would not interfere with Firpo's fight with Harry Wills, September 11.

TAGGING THE BASES

Brooklyn pulled two games out of the fire in Philadelphia, and advanced to within two games of the Giants and within one of the Pirates, who were idle. The Dodgers came from behind to win the first game in the tenth, 13 to 9, after Dazzy Vance had been sheltered from the firing line and won the second, 4 to 3, in five innings.

The Giants lost to the Braves, 7 to 3, but kept in the lead by the snake's eyelash by copping the nightcap, 10 to 2.

The Red Sox dusted the cobwebs off their bats and swamped the Yankees, 14 to 6, but the champions stayed within a game and a half of the idle Senators by winning the second, 5 to 2.

The White Sox got one leg out of the cellar by lamming the Tigers twice, 6 to 2 and 8 to 5.

CITY PRINTING NOTICE OF PUBLIC WORKS

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Council of the City of Glendale, on the 21st day of August, 1924, at its meeting on that day adopted Resolution No. 2655 to order the following improvement made on a portion of Columbus Avenue in the City of Glendale:

Paint Job on Auto Is Prized In Contest

C. H. Arbenz, proprietor of the Gene Morris One Day Auto Paint plant, Glendale, at 747 South San Fernando road, is announcing a novel contest which starts immediately. The plan is for owners of cars or their families to submit in writing the best reasons why their car should be painted and Mr. Arbenz states that all car owners and their families are eligible to enter the contest. The prize is a paint job on the winner's car.

Whether your car needs painting now or later is immaterial, says Mr. Arbenz, as they will do the painting at the close of the contest or later, at any time to suit the winner.

Cotton Receipts at Texas Ports Lower

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 3.—Texas ports so far this season have received 140,000 bales of cotton for export. This compares with 230,000 on the corresponding date of 1923. The lateness of the crop caused the decline.

COMMENT That's All

New Faces In Films
Ninth Inning Rally
The Right Training
Two Sporting Events

By Gil A. Cowan

Interesting to note that another film company has selected an 18-year-old girl without a name of fame for a featured player in a forthcoming Hollywood production.

All of which calls to mind the fact that many of the stars whose names scintillate on the silver sheet are growing old, Maggie dear. And they are losing their popularity.

So it remains for a new crop to be developed who will last longer than marriage to some wealthy broker.

With a great program of production scheduled in southern California film plants, there is no doubt but what many will get their chance.

Yet one must agree with Harry Carr, critic of the Los Angeles Times, that the film factors need to do something more original than the stereotyped picture plays turned out during the last two years.

Were it possible to discharge all executives, disregard tradition (young as it is) and let some wideawake young men produce picture plays, there might be a change for the better.

Incidentally, the foregoing thought is not original, for Douglas Fairbanks discovered that his aides will do better work if they have a young man's ambition to do something better.

Of course, those who have reached the age of discretion have their place in the world, but they are inclined to be self-satisfied and bound by past performances. Which is enough said.

Perhaps you attend the baseball games. Those who were at Washington park yesterday will recollect a ninth inning rally on the part of Salt Lake which spelled "the cellar" for the Los Angeles team.

A ninth inning rally, like a Garrison finish, is a fabled term. There are many who depend on a ninth inning rally to carry them to success. Henry Ford was the product of such.

By it is not safe for a young man to depend on a ninth inning rally. Better score a little right along. It matters not if others get ahead as long as one keeps going.

Some of the greatest successes in American business have been achieved after four or five failures. That is, the first trails were followed out and steps retraced until the highway to success was finally located.

Talking with a recent graduate of Occidental college at luncheon yesterday, conversation led to the inability of many college trained men to make good. The writer suggested that it be compulsory that the young men attending college support themselves.

That opened a wide field of discussion joined by others, and it was the opinion of all that the fellow who learns to work at the same time he learns the academic things in life is better fitted to put the letter to practical test.

While the conclusion is open to debate, yet the writer believes it is worth passing along at this time when many are contemplating college and university study.

There are two big questions interesting readers of newspapers in the course of the next week.

First of all, will the American flyers continue their successful trip around the world and safely return to Santa Monica?

Second, what will Judge Caverly's decision be in the Chicago "boy slayers" case?

Healthy sporting interest may be taken in the first issue. In the second, however, the morbidly curious will want to argue whether or no the judge is right or wrong.

The German payment of reparations has given rise to a new international economic problem. By paying France in manufactured products the latter will suffer economic distress unless they can find market for them.

England has its colonies supplying it with every need. America also is self-sufficient. Now it appears that France will be loose. What do you think of that?

MAKE HARDER CONCRETE

Germans claim to have discovered a process for making harder concrete from Portland cement in two or three days than is made in the usual way in as many weeks.

Your Fingers Control It!

I'd like to show you how easy it starts and stops with just a finger's pressure—your hands control the whole operation—the natural way—no heavy foot levers of any kind. I'd like to show you its all-aluminum construction, its adjustable pressure from 10 to 500 lbs., and its many other features that make it the most practical and economical of all ironers for the home.

Depression Banished By Farm Prosperity

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 3.—Sales of wholesalers for the fall season have been the largest in years. Visiting retailers say depression has been banished by improved agricultural conditions, particularly in the wheat and cotton sections. Sales have exceeded the expectations of wholesalers. The Rice Stix Dry Goods company says its sales have been the greatest in the history of the concern. The Curlee Clothing company expects to break all records. Confidence has been increased by the prospect of the operation of the Dawes plan. Declines in commodity prices have halted and increases are apparent in grain, cattle, hogs, cotton goods, wool, rubber, sugar and flour. Iron and steel are dull but there are indications of improvement.

GATHER SEEDS AND PODS

To pick up scattered alfalfa seeds and pods from mowed fields vacuum apparatus to be mounted upon and operated by a tractor has been invented.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 3.—The annual convention of city and county superintendents of schools will be held at the Hotel Fairmont, San Francisco, beginning September 29, and continuing for seven days, it was announced by Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction.

Among the topics to be discussed by request of delegates will be "The Rising Tide of Tobacco," "Bobbied Hair and Teachers," "The Crime Problem" and "Methods to Halt the Slaughter of Innocents by Automobilers."

NEW BLASTING POWDER

British experimenters have produced a blasting powder of the safety type that does not absorb moisture or freeze and that generates non-poisonous gases.

CENSUS WAS TAKEN

A census at the first of the year gave Cuba a population of 3,143,210, of which 2,217,592 were classed as white.

Man Drowned In Well When Ladder Breaks

DORRIS, Sept. 3.—Alarmed at his non-appearance, neighbors made a search for Ben Graham and finally found him dead at the bottom of a well forty-five feet deep which he was engaged in cleaning out. The ladder in the well was broken some twenty steps from the bottom and it is supposed he fell and was injured. Evidences that the isolated man had made desperate attempts to scale his prison were numerous.

Fresh milk was unknown in Penang, Straits Settlements, until recently.

CONCERNING WHEELS

Noise coming from the hub indicates trouble in the wheel bearings. Unless promptly attended to, a burned-up wheel bearing may result, and there is danger of what drivers call a "hot box," which is likely to lock the wheel on the axle and burn the axle in half, permitting the wheel to roll off.

CAUSES TROUBLE
Dirt permitted to accumulate on the outside and around an engine will be drawn into the carburetor and stop it up. It may even pass into the engine and cause rapid wear on the valves and pistons and, working through the oiling system, result in injury to the bearings.

More Oil Wells Are Started This Year

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—The State Petroleum Institute reports that 990 new wells were started in California from January 1 to August 23 as compared with 960 in the corresponding period of 1923. Abandonments to date this year have been 311 compared with 177 a year ago.

AIR CUSHIONS FOR AUTOMOBILES
The Cincinnati inventor of air cushions to replace the usual elliptical spring on automobiles claims they afford greater resiliency and act more quickly.

Wisconsin to Raise Bumper Potato Crop

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 3.—The potato crop in Wisconsin is generally good, with a yield of 28,000 bushels estimated. This compares with 26,000 bushels more than last year.
